WEST TEXAS GETS RAINS

Solons Asked For 'Prompt' Action Today

Income On All Future Bond Issues And Government Salaries Would Be Taxed

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 25—President Roosevelt asked congress today to remove "promptly" tax exemptions on income from all future government bond issues — federal, state and local — and on all government salaries.

Existing exemptions, he said, resulted from judicial decisions and could be eliminated by "a short and simple statute" which he predicted the courts would uphold.

Claim Amendment Necessary

Some advocates of ending such exemptions have claimed a constitutional amendment would be necessary ebcause of judicial decisions holding the federal government could not tax state bonds, nor the state government federal bonds.

Mr. Roosevelt said, however, that recent decisions indicated the courts were following a different line of thought from that which produced the earlier rulings.

Surprise To Many

The president's request for "prompt" action came as a surprise to many legislators and added to the problems of administration leaders trying to reach adjournment by the latter part of May.

The president asserted exemption of securities from taxes, had created "a vast reservoir of tax exempt securities in the hands of the very persons who equitably should not be relieved of taxes on their income."

Constitutes Serious Menace

"This reservoir now constitutes a serious menace to the fiscal systems of both the states and the nation," he added.

Similarly, he said, tax exemptions claimed by officers and employes of state and local governments had become "a serious defect in the federal systems of the states and the nation, for they rely increasingly upon graduated income taxes for their revenues.

Treasury experts have estimated that removal of security and salary exemptions would produce in-

Lamesa Man Killed Sunday

Jess Morton, 46, of Lamesa was killed in an automobile accident in which several persons were injured at 9:45 o'clock Sunday morning on highway 34 near Fort Worth.

Higginbotham Funeral home of Lamesa said this morning the body had not been sent there.

A pickup truck driven by Morton was in collision with an automobile driven by R. V. Hyatt of Midland. The machines met squarely in the middle of an intersection. Mrs. Morton, 46, was able to climb from the window of the truck after the accident, and was the only person in the two vehicles conscious.

Proposal To Require Approval By Congress Of Public Works Made By Foes Of Spending

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 25.—A proposal to require congressional approval of Public Works projects originated today among senate opponents of the administration's spend-and-lend program.

Senator Burke (D-Neb) declared the amount spent is not so important as the way it is spent.

Opposes Blank Check Funds

"I am opposed to voting blank check appropriations," he said, adding that he also favored turning the administration of relief back to the states, a change supported by most Republican legislators.

A house sub-committee, considering the administration's relief and pump-priming proposals, heard testimony this morning from Farm Security administration officials.

Talk Of Scrapping

Some opponents of the president's recommendations talked of scrapping entirely his proposal for a billion dollar renewal of public works loans and grants to city and state projects.

They contended with Chairman Glass (D-Va) of the senate appropriations committee that the reconstruction Finance corporation could handle all essential lending in a businesslike manner. They said the R. F. C.'s lending power could be increased, if necessary, from the new $1,500,000,000 total to $3,000,000,000.

Passage Is Predicted

The president's lieutenants, on the other hand, declared the entire program would go through congress in its original form.

Senator Wheeler (D-Mont), who has been conducting investigations of railroad financing, said financial aid for the railroads should be included in the general pump-priming program.

Declaring this would be the best method of helping the carriers at the 1938 session of congress, Wheeler sought an early conference with house leaders and representatives of railroad management and labor to work out details.

Joe DiMaggio Signs His Contract Today

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP) — Joe DiMaggio signed his $25,000 contract with the New York Yankees this morning, with the baseball season just one week old, but his pay will not begin until he has satisfied Manager Joe McCarthy he is in condition to play.

The slugging outfielder and major league home run king stands to lose at least $1,300, for being A. W. O. L. for eight days, including today, and may be "docked" a total of $2,000 before he re-enters the lineup.

At his own suggestion DiMaggio did not accompany the Yankees to Philadelphia today but arranged, instead, to work out at the Yankee stadium.

"There's just one thing I want to make clear," said Col. Jacob Ruppert, Yankee owner, after he and his star player affixed their signatures to the contract. "There's no bonus. That's right, isn't it, Joe?"

"That's right," said DiMaggio, "and another thing: this is the first contract I've signed for 1938."

Bernsteins Add Press Agent To Coogan Court Embroglio

HOLLYWOOD, April 25 (AP)—Like so many other Hollywood superproductions, the Coogan court embroglio had a press agent today.

Dave Epstein, film publicist, has been retained by Mrs. Lillian Coogan Bernstein, mother of Jackie Coogan, to interpret his client's case to a palpitating public.

"All I know about this case is what I've read in the papers, and what Mrs. Bernstein told me when I was hired," said Epstein.

Epstein scheduled a press conference for today.

Coogan, one-time child star of the silent films, has sued his mother and stepfather, Arthur L. Bernstein, for an accounting of his screen earnings. He estimates he earned about $4,000,000, and has not seen any of it since he came of age.

FREIGHT REVENUE GAINS

CLEVELAND, April 25. (AP)—Texas & Pacific railroad freight revenue last year registered a 9.08 per cent increase over 1936, President J. L. Lancaster said in the road's annual report.

'Short Timer'

When George Jamerson of St. Louis went to jail it wasn't for long, 24 minutes to be exact. Justice Louis L. Hicks fixed the sentence for Jamerson, charged with $2 theft, on the same ratio as the sentence for Richard Whitney, former New York Stock Exchange head. Jamerson is shown below watching his sentence tick away.

City's Permits Top $700,000

Lubbock building permit totals for 1938 leaped well beyond the $700,000 mark, displacing Amarillo in eighth position among cities of Texas, with authorization of $28,900 in new construction this morning according to records at the city building inspector's office.

The total of $720,935 in 1938 permits for Lubbock compared with $700,176 for Amarillo, which owes approximately half that amount to one large permit. Biggest permit in Lubbock this year was $30,000.

The only cities in Texas out-ranking Lubbock are Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth, Austin, Galveston, Corpus Christi and San Antonio, all of substantially larger population than Lubbock.

Two permits accounted for $27,700 of this morning's total, both for business structures. One for $15,000 to Charles Bacon, owner, and Sampson Brothers, contractors, was for a three-compartment masonry building at 1205-7-9 Thirteenth street. The other, for $12,700, was to B. F. Brewer, owner, and J. B. Maxey, contractor, for alterations and the addition of a second story to the building at 1312 Avenue K. Other smaller permits were to P. B. Gilson for a box residence costing $700 at 812 Avenue C, and to L. E. Davis, owner, and Sampson Bros. contractors, for repairs costing $500 to the residence at 2203 Seventeenth street.

New construction total for April was lifted to $176,969, comparing with $122,094 for the whole of April, 1937.

The new total for the year is less than $7,000 short of the $727,853 which had been issued to Aug. 1, 1937.

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANGELO, April 25—Drenching rains in half a dozen West Texas counties yesterday brightened crop prospects and sent streams on sharp rises.

The downpour touched Tom Green, Runnels, Coke, Concho, Sterling, and Coleman counties, and was regarded as assuring a good grain crop and a good planting season.

HIGHWAY IS CLOSED

AUSTIN, April 25 (AP)—The highway department reported today high waters caused by heavy rains necessitate closing highway 29 between Lockhart and Austin and between Cuero and Hobeim. A similar condition existed on U. S. 80 between Luling and Belmont.

Traffic Held Up

Waters rose in the north, middle and main Conchos and the Colorado rivers. Small streams in all sections of the six county area were out of banks, and held up traffic in several places.

The North Concho was out of its banks for a short time yesterday morning and water was waist deep in sections of Lake View, immediately north of San Angelo.

Three Men Die In Pennsylvania Chair For 43-Cent Holdup

BELLEFONTE, Pa., April 25. (AP)—Three men died in Pennsylvania's oaken electric chair early today for a "lover's lane" holdup slaying that netted them 41 cents.

They were Edward Rose and John Oreszak, both 21, and Theodore Dumn, 20, all of Chester, Pa. members of a gang which the judge who condemned them to die called "the worst that ever came out of Chester."

The state charged the trio surprised Floyd Tranon, 38-year-old negro, and a girl friend parked in a car on a lonely road near Chester in July 1936. They shot Tranon as he attempted to flee after surrendering all his money, and then attacked Tranon's companion.

Co-Eds Post Rules For The Eds

KALAMAZOO, Mich., April 25. (AP)—Co-eds at Western States Teachers' college fired right back at men students who critized their dress as "dowdy."

The girls posted these suggestions for the men on a bulletin board:

1—Shave. Why increase blue Monday with a blue beard?

2—Wash your neck daily.

3—Wear a shirt under your sweater and have the sweater cleaned occasionally.

4—Press your trousers so they will look less like burlap sacks.

5—Carry a handkerchief.

Man Charged After Child's Wounds Fatal

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, April 25.—William Sullivan, 4, died in a hospital here today, victim of a brutal beating for which Cicero Tuttle, 24, was charged with murder in justice court of Raymond Gerhardt.

The child's battered body was found yesterday in underbrush beside Menger creek on the eastern outskirts of the city after an all-night search. His skull was fractured.

Arrested After Search

Tuttle, held in the state school for feeble-minded at Austin from March 15, 1930, until May 31, 1934 was arrested Saturday midnight while search for the boy continued. Several children had told their parents they had seen the child with a man.

Detectives arrested Tuttle and took him to the neighborhood in an effort to have the children identify him. The officers fled with the suspect when neighbors in an evident surly mood gathered. Officers said the suspect's arms were scratched and torn.

A girl helping hunt the child found a bloody bottle and handkerchief. The boy was found near-

Texas Oil Allowable Decreased For May

AUSTIN, Tex., April 25 (AP)—The basic Texas oil production allowance for next month was fixed today at 1,307,914 barrels daily, a decrease of 10,523 from the April figure.

The railroad commission's allowance to all districts other than West Texas either was left unchanged or increased, the net decline being brought about by the five Sunday shutdowns next month instead of the usual four.

Production will increase during the month due to well completions. The bureau of mines estimated May demand for Texas oil at 1,322,500 barrels per day.

Excessive Speed And Drinking Drivers Blamed For Accidents

Child Near Death Here After Suffering Mysterious Blow

While two-year-old Robert Lloyd Haddock lay near death this morning at West Texas hospital, manner in which he suffered a blow that fractured his skull Sunday afternoon remained an emigma to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Haddock of 611 Avenue D.

The child had answered a call from his mother about five minutes before he was found lying unconscious near the base of a windmill at the residence of Mr and Mrs. Ardis Adams two miles south of Shallowater.

Relatives said theories were that the child climbed to the top of the windmill and fell, or that some object fell from the windmill and struck him on the head. They said attending physicians explained that the severe fracture could have been caused only by a extremely forceful blow.

It was unlikely that he could have suffered the injury through a fall unless he fell from the top of the windmill, said Mrs. E. H. Bell of Abernathy route 1, sister of Mrs. Haddock. She explained

WTCC Embarks On Stirring Program Of Work And Play At Wichita Falls Session

BY HOWARD MARSHALL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WICHITA FALLS, April 25 — To the music of blaring bands in flag-decked streets, the annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce embarked today on a stirring program of work and play.

Even as religious services marked the formal opening yesterday, eager crowds of visitors were arriving by train, bus, and automobile as West Texans united to sound again a note of progress.

They had the assurance of President Milburn McCarty of Eastland and General Manager D. A. Bandeen of Abilene that the condition, not only of the organization but of West Texas in general, was excellent, the outlook for the future bright.

No Expression In Area

Noting the range was in fine shape, cattle were doing well, and oil development was active, Bandeen added that "far as the depression is concerned West Texas doesn't have it."

McCarty said the chamber included about 185 cities and 5,000 individuals as members, had more cash on hand than at the end of last year, and in all ways was a healthy going concern.

A 14-point program was studied by the work committee composed of

Suspects Held At Lovington

(By The Associated Press)

HOBBS, N. M., April 25—A man and a 20-year-old girl were held in the county jail at Lovington today on suspicion in connection with the three-weeks old West Texas desert slayings of Mrs. Weston G. Frome of Berkeley, Calif., and her daughter, Nancy.

They were held by local authorities pending the arrival of officers from El Paso, Texas, to question them.

Girl Becomes Hysterical

Arrested in one of the city's leading hotels after officers became suspicious, the girl, a "peroxide blonde," became hysterical when questioned about the Frome murders.

They gave their address as Bakersfield, California, but their car carried Texas licenses and various articles and identification cards in their possession indicated that they had spent the past several weeks in or near El Paso.

Dark, slim and bearing a tattoo mark on his left forearm, the man had hurriedly packed his clothes and was ready to leave when Sheriff Will Kerley entered his room in a cheaper downtown hotel.

Charles G. Dawes Undergoes Operation For Appendicitis

He was in his suite at the Waldorf-Astoria when he was stricken, and was removed at once to the hospital. The announcement from the hospital did not say when the operation was performed.

Unfair Share Said Borne By Real Estate

(By The Associated Press)

WICHITA FALLS, April 25—The important works committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce declared today real estate in Texas was bearing an unfair share of governmental cost and the ad valorem tax on such property for state purposes should be abolished.

A resolution to this effect was one of a number adopted for submission to directors of the convention which began its 20th annual convention amid a fanfare of blaring, marching bands and with thousands pouring into town for a big program of work and play.

Reduction Won't Relieve

The first resolution approved by the committee said it was impossible to give relief to the taxpayers through a reduction of local public expenditures and the state had many sources of revnue to partially ease the burden on real property.

"Property representing only one-third of the wealth of the state is carrying practically 75 per cent of the taxes raised in the state for support of state and local governments," it said.

Opposes 'Punitive' Taxes

Another closely related resolution meeting committee approval declared opposition to punitive taxes tending to stagnate oil and business development.

Referring especially to efforts to increase taxes on crude oil, the resolution stated that from time to time proposals calculated unfairly to tax capital and business were offered

Pact Is Signed By England And Ireland

LONDON, April 25. (AP)—Neville Chamberlain and Eamon de Valera, prime ministers of Great Britain and Ireland, today signed an agreement intended to end old enmities between the two countries and solve their trade and defense disputes.

The agreement, which fails to touch on the largar issue of the partition of Ireland, was signed formally in the cabinet room at No. 10 Downing street.

The pact, to be published tonight, is expected to put farm products of Ireland, the former Irish Free State, on the same preferential basis as Britain accords the dominions.

It is believed the two countries have agreed to abolish all retaliatory duties, product of their long economic conflict, and reduce tariffs.

Britain is expected to waive the land annuities, amounting to 5,000,000 pounds ($25,000,000) a year, and other payments on condition that Ireland spend a substantial amount on defence.

Czechoslovakia Germans Ask For Autonomy

Hungary Calls For Return Of Upper Hungary Given After World War Pact

(By The Associated Press)

The European stew simmered close to a boil today from the heat to revolutionary demands on Czechoslovakia from her powerful Germanic minority and from a land-hungry league in Hungary which called for return of upper Hungary, given to Czechoslovakia in the World war settlement.

To season this goulash of discord a powerful military and diplomatic pact between France and Britain seemed in the making, promising to allay British misgivings over weakness in preparations for aerial warfare.

Calls For Autonomy

Political ministers of the Czechoslovak cabinet, meeting today, were expected to discuss a Sunday address by Konrad Henlinen, "Fuehrer" of 3,500,000 Sudeten Germans, who had called for self-government along Nazi lines for his followers, most of whom live along the Czechoslovakia-German border.

Previously he had conferred in Berlin with Adolf Hitler's first lieutenant, Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, and it was believed the German government stood behind his sweeping demands, one of which was:

"Revision of the (Czechoslovak) foreign policy whereby the state up to now has lined up in the ranks of Germany's enemies."

More Than Coincidence

The Praha government saw more than a coincidence in a Sunday meeting of the Hungarian revision league which by resolution "solemnly swears not to rest until this sacred aim (return of upper Hungary) has been fulfilled."

The Henlinen Nazis have formed a loose federation with other minorities in Czechoslovakia to advance their causes in the Praha parliament. Observers pointed out that the Hungarian and Polish as well as the German press had been attacking Czechoslogakja in recent weeks.

Talks Are Scheduled

Impending birth of a strong Anglo-French pact was seen in a visit of British War Minister Leslie Hore-Belisha to General Marie Gustave Gamelin, chief of the French army general staff, and plans of Premier Eduard Daladier and Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet to fly to London Wednesday for talks with Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax.

Bend Effort, Avoid Being Waistful

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer

The woman who wants to look youthfully smart this summer begins right now to get rid of the extra weight she took on around her waistline during the winter months. The loveliest of the new evening gowns as well as the prettiest form-fitting bathing suits call for a flat stomach, even flatter diaphragm, trim hips and a tiny waistline.

Your stomach is the first place to show the results of a diet which includes less food than you have been eating. For three weeks, have only fruit and a hot beverage for breakfast, salad more fruit and another beverage for lunch and notice how much flatter your stomach is. Naturally, during this period, study the dinner menu carefully, too, trying to choose dishes that are low in caloric content, skipping rich desserts and second helpings of anything.

Plan an exercise routine right now, and stick to it for two months. From the following list of exercises that are wonderful for the waistline, pick three, then do each of them five times the first day, six the second, seven the third, and so on until you are doing each routine at least twenty times a day.

Do It Slowly

Stand with feet together, arms raised, hands clasped above head. Without moving hips, bend your torso to the right as far as possible, then back, to the left, then forward. Do each step slowly, deliberately. Later on, you can increase the speed a bit, describing a huge circle with the upper half of your body.

Lie flat on the floor with arms at sides, ankles together. Without moving hands or arms and without bending knees, raise legs straight up until they are perpendicular with your body. Lower them very, very slowly. Feel stomach muscles stretch and pull. As a matter of fact, you may not be able to do this correctly for several days. But keep on trying. It's one of the best exercises on record.

Lie flat on the floor with arms above head and feet together. Raising arms and torso from the floor, bend forward trying to touch toes with fingers. Do this slowly and as rhythmically as possible. You might try it to soft, low music.

H. F. Scales of Waco spent the week-end here visiting friends.

Carl Sedarholm spent Sunday in Sweetwater.

Hips Must Be Slim For Swim Suits

Here are several exercises, especially designed to reduce hips and thighs. Pick any three, then stick to them:

Lie flat on the floor with arms at sides, ankles together. Without moving shoulders, roll to the left until left thigh is pressed against the floor. Now roll to the right as far as possible. Roll from side to side ten times the first day, eleven the second, and so on until you are rolling back and forth fifty times each morning.

Lie on the floor or your left side with left arm up-stretched—head resting on it. Place right hand on the floor in front of you — palm down. Now lift both legs off the floor. Keeping knees stiff, move legs back and forth rapidly—as if you were running. Notice the pressure this puts on the thigh that rests on the floor and how it makes hip muscles work. Repeat ten times. Turn over on your right side and repeat.

Bicycle Exercise

The tried and true riding-the-bicycle exercise is fairly simple to do and most effective. Simply lie on your back on the floor. Then raise legs as high as possible, bending knees and supporting weight with hands placed under hips. Now make believe that your feet are on the pedals of a bicycle and that you are trying to win a race. Repeat fifteen times the first day, twenty the second, and so on until you have reached sixty.

Lie on the floor with hands at sides. Keeping knees straight and shoulders flat, raise right leg, cross it over the left one and touch toes of right foot to the floor. The higher you can raise the leg and still keep toes touching, the more good the exercise will do. Repeat, crossing left leg over right.

New Engine To Be Shipped Here Soon; To Step Up Power

Shipment of a new $130,000 diesel engine ordered by the city nearly a year ago will be started from Nordberg Manufacturing company of Milwaukee within the next two or three weeks, according to information received at the city hall this morning.

The engine will increase the capacity of the city power plant by approximately 30 per cent and will make service available to approximately 1,200 additional electricity users, officials said.

Present Plant Adequate

While the present plant is adequate to meet needs for several months to come, officials said, need for the additional power will have developed by time the engine can be put into operation. One immediate cause for a sharp increase in the demand will be the completion of a federal rural electrification project in the county which is to be supplied with power from the city plant at usual industrial power rates.

Indications are, officials said, however, that the city must immediately plan steps looking toward the further expansion of the power plant. When the new engine was bought, belief was in spite of the city's rapid growth that it would solve power needs for at least five years. Growth and building, however, have far exceeded expectations with nothing to indicate a slackening of the pace.

Will Total 5,200 Kilowatt

The new engine will generate, officials said, approximately 1,200 kilowatt hours of power, which will be added to the present 4,000 kilowatt hours. The city now serves more than 4,000 connections.

Expansion of the plant will represent an investment of approximately $150,000. John J. Graham, superintendent of the power plant, supervised the construction of the heavy foundation required by the machinery and a building costing $12,500 was built to house the machinery by Virgil Shell, contractor.

Terms of the purchase contract call for payment of warrants issued for the engine out of power earnings. Warrants will draw 4 per cent interest. The city, however, will have the option of a 2 per cent discount if the total amount is paid within 30 days. That probably will be done with money from the interest and sinking fund which now produces no interest.

Mexican Oil Dispute Revives Talk Of Lower California Purchase

Area May Be 49th State

By Associated Press Feature Service

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25—Will Uncle Sam gain a 49th state out of his current oil negotiations with Mexico? Well, maybe not—but . . .

With the southern republic facing a $400,000,000 bill for seizure of foreign petroleum lands, a 90-year-old idea has been revived — that Mexico sell the long, wriggling peninsula of Lower California to the United States.

Resolution Is Pending

Col. William H. Evans, of Los Angeles, has broached the project in a telegram to President Roosevelt. Representative Charles Kramer, also of Los Angeles, has a resolution pending in the house looking toward the purchase.

Mexico so far has turned a cold shoulder to the proposal. In 1931, when Sen. Henry F. Ashurst, of Arizona, tried to get action on the matter, derisive Mexican delegates introduced bills calling on Uncle Sam to sell the senator's home state to Mexico and to throw in Texas, New Mexico and California for good measure.

On the other hand, Lower California admittedly has not been of much comfort to the mother country.

Supports Only 62,000

An irregular finger of land stretching 760 miles southward from California, it supports a population, according to available figures, of only some 62,000 persons. Many of these live along the Americanized northern border. Repeal of prohibition in the United States and repeal of gambling in Mexico shut off the rich whoopee tourist trade the residents relied on. Since then their economic condition has been serious.

Riots, demonstrations and clamors for government relief have been numerous.

Further to the south life goes on much as it has for centuries. Surveys by the U. S. Bureau of Commerce show that agriculture in small, irrigated valleys separated by vast stretches of desert is the peninsula's chief industry. Fishing is second andmining third. Trade is unimportant and is largely in the hands of Chinese.

There's Copper There

The principal business development at Santa Rosalia. There are other minerals, including a vast iron deposit near the American line.

In some quarters, acquisition of Lower California has been urged as a defense measure. The peninsula has three excellent harbors—Ensenada, Magalena Bay and La Paz.

On the commercial side, many westerners believe that in American hands the "Mother of California" would become a great rescrt and residence area comparable to its namesake to the north.

Fifty years will be required to chart the coast of Labrador, according to estimates. The British Navy has started the job.

Real Heart To Be Beating In Radio Dramatization Of Poe's 'The Tell Tale Heart' Tonight

WACO, April 25 (AP)—When radio listeners tonight listen to Baylor university theatre of the air's dramatization of Edgar Allen Poe's "The Tell Tale Heart," they need not wonder how the sound effect of a heart beat was made. They will hear a real heart.

Technicians James Bryant and Kimmey Smith worried much during the past week about how the sound effect could be produced. They tried beating a coconut shell against a pillow and that didn't sound right.

They stuffed the pillow into a barrel and beat it with the coconut in hopes of adding depth of sound to the beat. But neither did that do.

Eventually, they hit upon the idea of trying to actually record the beat of a human heart. Taking the microphone from its rack and pressing it against a student's manly chest, they were able to obtain faintly the beat. it had to be stronger.

The heart beat donor then was made to walk down and run up the several flights of stairs leading to the third floor speech department.

That worked and the sound was recorded for broadcasting.

It would oppose "Punitive" taxes hampering business and oil development, and reductions in tariffs detrimental to West Texas livestock and agricultural producers as well as to potash, gypsum and other mineral development.

Other points called for pushing soil and water conservation, seeking capital for industry, obtaining a government agricultural research laboratory for West Texas and continuing to publicize and work for solidarity of the area.

Highlights of the program were the addresses by E. L. Kurth of Lufkin on "Newsprint from East Texas Pine" and by William H. Zeller of Manchester, N. H., on "The City That Refused to Die."

The convention officially opened yesterday with a band concert on the lawn of the Gregg county court house. Last night special services were held at six churches with laymen as speakers.

Throughout the day visitors thronged into the East Texas oil city by train, bus and private conveyance, to attend what chamber of commerce officials and Longview citizens believed would be one of the greatest conventions in the organization's history.

Commissioners Aid In Loans Dispatch

To assist farmers in executing seed loans at the emergency crop loan office in the Federal building, county commissioners court this morning authorized expenditure of $75 for a month's service of Mrs. Velma Hudspeth.

She will remain in the office when Fred Warren, district manager of the four counties of Lubbock, Lynn, Swisher and Hale is out of the city.

More than 100 loans have been made. Two hundred fifty, approximately, were authorized last year. Since 931, when loans first were made, Lubbock county has maintained a record of more than 99 per cent payment on loans, said Warren.

Contribution Is Raised

Commissioners voted to raise their contribution to the county agent's department $200, to the former level of $600 paid annually. That action was done in recognition of work being done for farmers of the county in a constructive program. The plan will become effective May 1.

Joe Y. Boyd, county auditor, made a quarterly report and his annual report, referred to the commissioners for the first time although it had been completed several weeks, was approved.

Commissioners approved bond of Marie Jackson, public weigher.

A supplemental tax roll for 1937 covering intangible assets of the Fort Worth and Denver City railroad, made by H. B. Bryan, county tax assessor-collector, was approved.

All commissioners, P. B. Penney of precinct 1, Ben Mansker of 2, T. L. Holt of 3 and B. O. McWhorter of 4, were in their places. County Judge J. J. Dillard presided, deferring work of his court until this afternoon. Louie F. Moore, chief deputy county clerk, acted as secretary.

Congress Declared War On Spain 40 Years Ago Today

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—Congress declared war against Spain 40 years ago today in one of the most tense sessions of its history.

It was silence that brought about the historic vote—silence from Spain after the United States had sent her an ultimatum demanding she get out of Cuba, then torn by revolution.

The ultimatum expired on noon of April 23, but already there was a virtual state of war. On the previous day president McKinley had proclaimed a blockade of Santiago, Cuba, and of the north Cuban coast.

Rainy weather brings in as many as 500 umbrellas a day to the lost property office of the London Passenger Transport Board.

Cooperation Is Assured

Assurance of full cooperation in the annual cleanup-paintup campaign by the city was given Cleanup Chairman W. B. Irvin this morning by W. W. Stafford, city sanitation superintendent.

Stafford announced that as many additional workers will be employed as are necessary to expedite the removal of trash and rubbage gathered by citizens cooperating in the campaign.

Should Get Cans

He urged especially that those who have not already supplied themselves with garbage cans with tight-fitting tops, as required by the sanitation code, do so at once. Cans of that type, he explained, will improve the appearance of alleys aside from providing a health safeguard at a season when exposed garbage will become a breeding place for flies and mosquitoes.

Trash and rubbish, he said, should be put in boxes or sacks so that it can be collected more readily. He suggested also that alleys be cleared of weeds, Johnson grass and other unsightly growths.

12-Grade Plan Is Favored

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, April 25 — Teachers of district one, Texas State Teachers association, went on record Saturday as favoring statewide 12-year grades in public schools. They so voted at the close of their regional convention.

They recommended that the office of state superintendent of education be appointive instead of elective and that the appointment be made by the state board of education.

Apportionment Approved

They urged that the present $22 per capita state apportionment be retained as the minimum for state support of schools, and commended the work of the state board and the state association for their work in obtaining this year's apportionment and endorsed the teacher retirement act.

The teachers also asked that the state revise the certification law to meet the demands for better teachers; urged the adoption of a state tenure law, the creation of a public school land board; adoption of a definite, balanced taxation, and that there be appointed supervisors for rural schools.

Cooperation Requested

The group requested that the state association cooperate with the state in providing free library extension service; the adoption of a single salary schedule for all teachers; that a county school administrator be required to have at least four years of college work and that the schools be allowed time off during the state and district conventions.

The teachers favored the equal pay-equal training schedule, and that every effort be made to raise the teaching standard. They endorsed the plan of granting free text books in all subjects to all public schools, and asked that the classroom teachers be allowed to have adequate representation in the state association.

Automotive "Alligator" Out To Bite Off World's Land Speed Record

As in an alligator, it's hard to tell where the tail ends and the body begins on this new super-streamlined racing car built at Brooklands, England, for John Cobb's attempt on the world's land speed record at Bonneville on the Utah salt flats next August. As the rear view above shows, the long-tailed streamline effect is broken only by the turret in which the driver sits. The new speed dragon was designed by Reid Railton and contains two Napier engines of 1250 h. p. each which drive the front and rear axles independently, making two racing machines in one. Weighing over 3 tons, the car is 4 feet 3 inches high and has a wheelbase of 13 1-2 feet. The aluminum body weighs less than 500 pounds.

Shoes Are Costly For Young Giant; $100 Pair Price

ALTON, Ill., April 25. (AP)—Putting shoes on Robert Wadlow, the 20-year-old Alton giant, is no ordinary matter.

This lad, who stands 8 feet, 8 1-2 inches tall and weighs 460 pounds, needs two pairs a year at a cost of more than $100 a pair.

Each of Robert's shoes is 18 1-2 inches long and nine inches high and weighs three and one-half pounds as compared with one and one-third pounds weight of the normal man's shoe.

It takes Missouri shoemakers four times longer to finish a pair of the Wadlow shoes and they use four times more material than is required for normal shoes.

Robert's shoes have seven eyelets and five hooks for the lacings, which are 96 inches long. A normal length lacing is 36 inches long.

Robert usually needs two pairs of shoes a year. A die for the rubber heel of his most recent pair cost $65.

Insist On Tillyer Lenses

Nature, unfortunately, gave us only one pair of eyes. Marvelously delicate and sensitive organs which, when normal transmit visual objects quickly and accurately to our nerve centers.

Eyes have been called "windows of the soul." The condition of the eyes is in most cases a true index of an individual's general health. Clear, sparkling eyes denote a healthy and alert mind and body. Inversely eyes that look tired damage the natural charm of a face in repose. Such tell-tale signs are indications of a drain of much needed nervous energy.

Be careful of the only pair of eyes you will ever have. Have them examined regularly by your oculist.

Pitching Features National League Play

Four Hurlers Turn In Fine Performances

BY GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

National league pitchers evidently are beginning to take a liking to that new ball with its slightly raised seams. In four games yesterday they turned in a series of remarkable performances, Hal Schumacher of the Giants showing the way with a one-hit, 1 to 0 victory over Brooklyn's Dodgers.

There's no doubt the National league ball affords a little better grip than the American agate and enables a pitcher to get maybe a little more stuff on his deliveries, though tests have proved it travels just as far when swatted soundly. There is no difficulty in distinguishing the two balls when one is held in either hand.

Only Hit A Roller

The only hit off Schumacher was by the first man to face him at Ebbets field. It was a dinky roller past first base by Rosy Rosen, Brooklyn rookie. Thereafter only three reached first on the Giants' right-hander, all on walks.

Meantime, Van Mungo of the Dodgers was doing all right, himself. He gave 10 hits, but it took Mel Ott's home run in the second inning to beat him.

Danny MacFayden of the Boston Bees produced a three-hit gem in blanking the Phillies, 2 to 0. Just before game time he had been advised of the death of his foster father, but he insisted upon pitching.

Dizzy Dean gave a little additional proof that he isn't going to do the Chicago Cubs any material harm as he shut out his old chums, the St. Louis Cardinals, 5 to 0, on four hits. The Great One had only a single strikeout, but he looked a lot like his old self.

Chicago fans to the number of 34,520 turned out to see their new $250,000 beauty, and Dizzy didn't disappoint them. His curve, which is wider than in former years, had the Cards swinging frantically. To top it off, he singled for one of the Cubs' eight blows off Max Macon, a youngster making his first big league start.

The Cub players rushed to congratulate Diz after the final out, and thousands of fans waited outside the gate to glimpse him. He told autograph seekers, modestly: "Only 28 more wins to go."

Jim Tobin kept the undefeated Pirates tearing along at the head of the procession as he bested Peaches Davis of Cincinnati, 2 to 1, in a brilliant. He allowed five hits; Davis six. The Pirates were due for some tougher competition as they opened a series with the Cubs today.

Cleveland climbed into the American league lead with its fifth straight triumph and third in a row over Detroit, 9 to 4. Bob Feller, who hurled a one-hit shut-out in the first start of the season, came back to hold the Tigers to three safeties and no runs for the first eight innings. They popped him five times in the ninth to break his scoreless string.

CHICAGO, April 25.—The $185,000 right arm of the great and only Jerome Herman Dean is virtually perfect. Nothing whatever is wrong with it.

That was the opinion of Charley Grimm, manager of the Chicago Cubs, and Charles Leo Hartnett, the Cub's great catcher, as they watched Ole' Diz with the greatest of ease mow down his former companions 5 to 0 on a yield of only four hits. Dean pitched against the Cardinals with a loose, free motion, giving no indication there was anything wrong with his arm that was supposed to be injured last season and which has been employed in only 17 innings of spring games.

Grin Splits Gabby's Face

Hartnett, his tomato-red face split from ear to ear with a grin, beamed after the Cubs reached the dressing room.

"There is nothing the matter with that guy's arm," Hartnett said. "He pitched just like I told him to, throwing the ball just where I wanted it, and he will get better right along. He is bound to improve with more work. When the warm weather hits us Mr. Dean will really do his stuff. He didn't cut loose only three or four times. He had to pitch to Johnny Mize when he made him pop out in the sixth with two on."

Grimm said that Dean's performance of turning in two victories in five days had convinced him.

Looks Like Million

"He looked like a million dollars," Grimm said. "He just kept fooling those guys, pitching free and easy. He wasn't pitching his head off at any time, but when he had to bear down he did it."

Conquering the Cardinals was of tremendous importance to Dean.

"That was one I just wanted to get over," Dean said after the game.

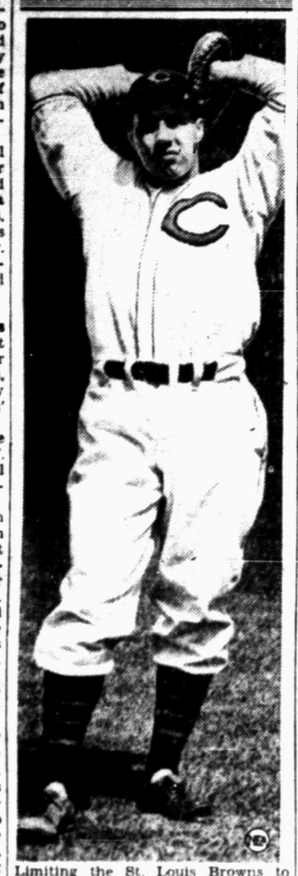

"And a shut-out too," he smiled.

"My arm feels just swell. I was throwing my fast ball all the time, first just a little, then pretty hard. I was loosened up from the start."

"It looks like you are going to win 30 games alright," someone piped up. Old Diz shook his head and grinned.

"I don't know," he modestly replied, "I won't say that yet, but I am going to do my damndest."

Same Young Feller

Limiting the St. Louis Browns to a scratch hit—a bunt which he handled himself and which resulted in a debatable decision by an inexperienced umpire—Bob Feller, above, 19-year-old right-hand wonder of the Cleveland Indians, gave notice that American league batters will have to hop on someone else to fatten their averages. He made his second triumph against Detroit Sunday.

Beaumont Exporters Still Tops Despite Loss, Tie Sunday

(By The Associated Press)

Beaumont's Exporters moved over to Houston today, still tops in the Texas league by a good margin despite a 5-3 loss and a 1-1 tie in a double bill at Beaumont yesterday against the Buffs.

The Tulsa Oilers, their hold tightened on second place by two victories, 8-3 and 3-2, over an invading Dallas club yesterday, waited to meet the Steers again tonight. Yesterday's wins by the Oilers dropped the Steers to sixth place.

Indians Scalp Cats

Oklahoma Citys Indians blanked the Fort Worth Cats 6-0 in the first of two games yesterday, then took the second 6-5 in a seventh inning spurt. The Indians, in fourth place behind Houston's Buffs, meet the seventh place Cats again at Oklahoma City tonight.

San Antonio and Shreveport, occupying fifth and last places, respectively, meet at San Antonio tonight. Their scheduled encounter in the same city yesterday was postponed because of wet grounds.

A crowd of 6,000 saw Jim Winford and Cooper, the latter a newcomer, team up to hurl the Buffs to victory over the Exporters in yesterday's opener. In the nightcap Houston trailed one down at the start of the sixth, but bunched a couple of hits and a sacrifice for the run that tied the score. The encounter was halted in the seventh by darkness.

Second Game Is Close

Schino and Parker worked together in a batting act in the first game between the Oilers and the Steers to make Max Thomas' pitching assignment easy and break Pitcher Collin Lancaster's winning streak. The second game was nip-and-tuck until the sixth when the Oilers rushed around two runs to win.

Ashley Hillin's five-hit pitching gave the Oklahoma City Indians their easy victory in their first game with the Fort Worth Cats, but the second half of the bill was hard fought. Mike Christoff's home run with a man on in the third to send the Indians ahead, and his single in the seventh breaking a tie and providing the winning run, were features of the close win.

Nashville Vols Are Thinking About Hiring Unusual Fan

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 25 (AP)—The Nashville Vols, off to a limping start in the Southern association flag chase, are thinking about hiring J. P. Hardison.

Hardison, a business man in Columbia, never has seen the Vols lose in ten years of rooting. He usually attends 15 or 20 games a season.

The Vols have won two of eight games this year. Hardison was on hand both times.

Business Manager Jimmy Hamilton met Hardison for the first time yesterday and promised him a lifetime pass.

"I want you to be on hand every day if possible," said Hamilton.

Tyler's Trojans To East Texas League With Perfect Record

Tyler's Trojans topped the East Texas league with an unblemished record today after winning a fourth straight victory, 7 to 3, over the Palestine Pals at Tyler last night.

Henderson's Oilers, victors 4 to 2 over Texarkana's Liners, rode in second place. Marshall, in third position, was fresh from plastering the Jacksonville Jax 3 to 1 in a holiday tilt at Marshall.

Longview, loser of four games, winner thus far of none, was at the bottom of the log, having gone down again last night before fourth place Kilgore.

The stands are the same for tonight.

"Rollicking Rollie" Hemsley Is In The Dog House Again; He Celebrates After Victory

(By The Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, April 25—"Rollicking Rollie" Hemsley came home today in the dog house again, while his team mates, the Cleveland Indians, moved into Chicago in first place in the American league.

Manager Oscar Vitt suspended Hemsley indefinitely and fined him $250 for breaking training.

Hemsley caught for Bob Feller at Detroit Sunday while the Indians spanked the Tigers for the third straight time, 9 to 4. Vitt saw Hemsley celebrating in the Indians' hotel at Detroit last night.

Second Of Season

The incorrigable playboy of the league immediately was given his second suspension of the season. He was sent home for a week during the spring training for the same reason.

With the St. Louis Browns last year he lost $5,000 in payless suspensions and fines. Vitt stated after the Indians obtained Hemsley that the 30-year-old veteran could be handled with kindness and a new chance. He has caught only two games since the season opened.

Co-Ed Betty Opposes Vets

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, April 25—Co-Ed Betty Jameson started out in quest of her third consecutive Texas Women's golf title today against a field of veterans which, with one or two exceptions, offered no barrier she couldn't take in stride.

The 18-year-old University of Texas freshman, considered a certain nominee for the United States Curtis cup team, had only a couple of tournament veterans she has trounced before to worry over.

Crisp iron play and good putting in the mixed foursome event yesterday labelled Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite of Fort Worth, present Curtis cup player, as a possible upsetter of Miss Jameson's titular plans.

Wins With Emery

Teamed with Walter Emery, former Walker cup star and winner of the recent Houston Country club invitation tournament, Mrs. Goldthwaite toured the par 36-35—71 Country club course in 38-35—73 to win the mixed event. Her play was outstanding. Miss Jameson paired off with Ed White, another former cupper, to tally a 78.

Mrs. Goldthwaite's putter was working, and it was that stick which caused her to fold up before Miss Jameson in the finals of last year's state title by a top-heavy score.

Mrs. Hury Hits Tem

Long-hitting Mrs. E. R. Hury of San Antonio, a fine player who hasn't yet acquired the "tournament" touch, was the other outstanding challenger in Miss Jameson's road.

Soggy condition of the course made the "big three" of Jameson, Goldthwaite and Hury standout entries in the field of 130 for all hit tremendous distance shots.

Not unlikely to sneak in and upset a bit of dope here and there were such veterans as Miss Hilda Urbantke of Austin; Mrs. C. M. McCullough of Amarillo and Miss Jo Henson of Paris, a brilliant young prospect.

Match play starts tomorrow with one 18-hole match daily and the 36-hole championship match on Saturday.

BREAK 23 OUT OF 25

Jake Hancock and Ralph Keeton broke 23 out of 25 targets in competition Sunday at Lubbock Skeet and Gun club. Lawrence Banks and Sidney Keeton respectively knocked down 22 and 21 targets. Four women competed.

Since Clovis, N. M., has challenged Lubbock marksmen to compete there Sunday, there will be no shoot in Lubbock May day.

Texans Eye Drake And Penn Relays

LAWRENCE, Kas., April 25 (AP)—Sun-nurtured sons of the West and Southwest are eyeing the Drake and Penn relays this weekend as opportunities for more smashing track triumphs.

Texans claimed four of the eight new meet records established in the Kansas Relays here last Saturday; two more went to Oklahomans, and California and Colorado set up one each.

All of the Texans will compete at Des Moines or Philadelphia.

Fred Wolcott, Rice ace, hopes there won't be any wind at Drake. He wants a chance to hang up an unquestioned record in the 120-yard high hurdles. He set a new Kansas record of 14.2 and a Texas relays mark of 13.9 recently—but each time he was aided by spring breezes.

Beefus Bryan of Texas, who deserted baseball when Coach Clyde Littlefield told him "you'll clear 14 feet if you devote all your spring energies to the pole vault," came within 1-4 inch of that height. He boosted the record to 13 feet, 11 3-4 inches.

Other new records were established in the team mile by Blaine Rideout of North Texas Teachers and spring medley relay by Rice.

Lubbock Downs Borger, 11-7 Before Packed Stands Sunday

BY COLLIER PARRIS
Journal Sports Editor

To the tuneful tom-tom of base hits, the Hubbers of Lubbock "arrived" yesterday in all their professional glory — and at this time there is probably more baseball conversation being made in Lubbock than has been the case since Sled Allen's famous semi-pros of the middle '20s.

With ambition and realism the youthful Hubbers unslung their heavy war clubs and went into battle with all the deliberation and poise a team of professionally scouted, play-for-pay baseballers are supposed to have, mixing in enough boots and bobbles to make it interesting and displaying tremendous hitting power so essential to victory.

Found Three Pitchers

Before an overflow crowd that filled all available seating accommodations nearly half an hour before game time, the Hubbers pounded away at three pitchers to bang out a 11 to 7 victory over the veteran experienced Hubers of Borger.

The same teams play at Borger tonight, starting at 8 o'clock, and if the news of yesterday's game here spreads over the Panhandle in time, the Borger park won't begin to hold the customers.

Dawn of a new and beautiful baseball era for Lubbock was indicated by yesterday's crowd of nearly 1,500 fans, all of whom must have gone away tingling, and with much respect for the Hubbers, who open their West Texas-New Mexico league campaign Wednesday at Clovis. If the club continues to function—and it should even improve—and if the other clubs of the league stack up accordingly, it's going to be a fast league indeed.

Needed A Push

Once more the Hubbers needed a push to get them started, and they came through again as a great "clotch" team when the Borgers scored three runs in the second inning.

Lubbock came right back in their half of the inning, their big bats waving, and tied the score, added four more in the third, another in the fourth, which would have been enough to win. They added three extras in the seventh and eighth. Borger got its other four tallies in the eighth when the Hubber defense momentarily cracked and when Lefty Blanchard started pitching "batting practice" balls over the platter.

Game Had Everything

The game had nearly everything in the way of baseball excitement, long hits and short ones, home runs and fence-rattling doubles, and some very nice defensive work.

Against a couple of left handers the Hubbers, five of whom are forkhanded swingers, scored eight runs. The veteran Luke Coburn, who has been fooling batters for years with a righthanded "nothing" ball, stopped the Hubber power after the fourth, except for a spree in the seventh.

Lefty Blanchard went the distance for Lubbock, giving up but three hits until the eighth, but having trouble getting his offerings near the plate. Wildness cost him two runs in the second, another in the eighth; he walked nine batsmen during the game.

Taylor Miller Not Out

Two-thirds of the Hubber batting order had a field day at the platter, the first three men of the list having perfect records until the seventh and eighth. Johnny Taylor, third baseman, and Manager Hack Miller haven't been "out" yet. Taylor had a sacrifice, two walks and a brace of singles to his credit, and Miller three walks, a home run and a single.

Three Hubbers poled the apple over the boards. Joe Gedzius blasting a long one over left in the seventh. Miller in the fourth and Boyd Watkins one in the second. Until he flied out to center in the eighth, Gedzius had a double, a homer, a single and two walks in five strolls to the plate. Al Carr hero of Saturday at Amherst, had no chances to display his fielding courage and ability, but continuted to hit. Three singles in a row followed a walk after Carr's name. Watkins, besides his homer, hit two singles and scored three times. Young Malcolm Stevens, second sacker, singled twice and doubled once. In all, the Hubbers collected 17 singles.

Woodrow Wilson Wildcats Are Favorites Again To Cop State Track, Field Meet

(By The Associated Press)

The Texas Interscholastic league track and field campaign entered the home stretch today with strong indications pointing to a repeat performance by the Woodrow Wilson Wildcats of Dallas.

Approximately 400 athletes will gather at Austin May 6 and 7 for the state meet and a wholesale assault on the 14 records built up over two decades.

Star To Succeed Hill

The Dallas team repeated with regional 3 honors Saturday and will go to the final show at Austin highly favored to come through with its second championship in two seasons. And the Wildcats will bring forth an outstanding star to take the place of the illustrious Lonnie Hill, who almost single-handed won the title last year.

Arthur Bowman, a shot putter and discus thrower of the first rank, will lead Woodrow Wilson into the state meet and he will have a well-balanced team behind him. Bowman last week put the shot 51 feet and hurled the discus 131 feet 6 inches, which indicate he is probably the best in the state in each event this season.

One Record In Danger

One record will definitely be in danger when Mikeska of Seymour begins to throw the javelin. The present mark, set in 1934, is 196 feet 8 inches. Last week Mikeska hurled the spear 194 feet 1 inch in the regional meet at Denton.

Roberts of Kenedy is due to give the 100-yard dash record trouble. The mark is 9.6 seconds. Roberts, who is also a star in the 220-yard dash, ran the event in 9.8 Saturday at Kingsville.

The mile run mark of 4:31.2 is also in danger before the onslaught of Fred Smith of Fort Worth Poly, who stepped it in 4:38.3, and Paschal of Fort Worth aims at the mile relay record of 3:25.6. Paschal made it in 3:29.2 last week at Denton.

Double Plays Featured

Snappy double plays featured defensive work on both sides. The crowd cheered Lubbock's keystone combination, Gedzius and Stevens, for a nifty one in the fourth. Borger's infield, featuring the splendid action of Al Summers, pulled off three very neat double executions. Summers brought a gasp and a cheer from the big crowd by charging a hopper to second, scooping it up on the dead run and tossing to Dingman to start a double play.

It was Summers who started the fireworks in the second inning with a booming triple to right, scoring Catcher Courtney, who was safe on a bobble at third. Pitcher Blair and Shortstop Dingman, who had walked. Two were out, and Blanchard bore down to fan Hack Wilson.

Hubbers Go To Town

Three behind, the Hubbers buckled up and went to town in their half of the inning. Watkins hitting the first ball pitched for a home run over the left wall. Stevens singled sharply through short, took second when Wilson let the ball roll, third when Dingman missed it. Somewhat rattled, Lefty Blair walked Gedzius, who had doubled in the first inning to start a base-filling but no-scoring half, and Carr singled through second to score Stevens. Lefty Jim Carithers took over the mound then, walked Taylor, Pope Mize stuck out to the second consecutive time, and Miller waited out a walk. There was no place to put him, so Gedzius scored, tying the count.

Blanchard settled down and pitched effective ball then for five goose-egg innings, a double play cutting off a rally in the fourth and some nice outfielding by Watkins in left helping in the fifth.

Kept Taking Their Cuts

Not content with a tied score, the Hubbers kept bearing down and taking their cuts in the third. Watkins led off with a single to left, Stevens beat out an infield hit, Blanchard laid one on the altar to advance the runners, and Gedzius came through with a wallop to right, scoring Watkins and Stevens. Gedzius got to third on Carr's second consecutive single and they both scored on Taylor's mighty wallop to center. Mize had a rally and grounded into a double play that caught Taylor at second.

Miller met Carither's fast ball with a free swing and the ball cleared the left wall by nearly ten feet to start Lubbock's fourth and send Carithers out and Coburn in. Carithers went to left field. Coburn started by striking out Mosel and

Hubbers Win

Watkins and Stevens grounded to second.

The Hubbers loaded the bases in the fifth, after Blanchard had grounded to second, Gedzius walking. Carr getting his third single and Taylor walking. But Mize again hit into a double play, Mosel duplicated the Mize stunt in the sixth, but in the seventh, after Blanchard had grounded to third, Gedzius got his homer. Carr struck out, and Taylor, Mize and Miller singled in succession, filling the bases. Mosel grounded to Spencer at first.

No doubt feeling safe, Blanchard let up a little in the eighth, and the Borgers batted around, after Brown fanned. Spencer was safe on Taylor's miscue at third, and Courtney doubled sharply to left, advancing on Mosel's bobble at first, as Spencer scored. Coburn singled to center, made it to second on the throw that missed Courtney, went to third on a wild pitch. Carithers walked, Dingman struck out and Summers singled, scoring Coburn. Wilson singled, scoring Carithers, but Ross grounded to Gedzius.

Stevens Forces In Run

Carithers misjudged Watkins' lazy fly to left in the Lubbock eighth, and Watty made it to second, but failed to score on Stevens' double. While Blanchard was striking out, Stevens pulled a "Brooklyn" and started to steal third, which was occupied at the moment by Watkins. It gave the fans a thrill and the Hubber management a chill, but in the mix-up, Watkins came tearing home and Stevents got back to second safely, while befuddled Hubers threw the ball around to each other in the infield.

Blanchard bore down to strike out Brown and Spencer to start the ninth, but Courtney and Coburn walked before Carithers lined out to Stevens, ending the contest.

Man pats himself on the back because he has learned to propel an automobile at speeds in excess of 200 miles per hour, and airplanes at better than 400 miles per hour.

No, The Plainsman doesn't understand that any better than the average reader—but he does know that's lots of speed and that man hasn't even begun to dream of going as fast as old Ma Nature is taking us all the time!

GOODNATURED George Garrett, Highway Department Division 5 boss here, reports that progress is being made toward the eventual hardsurfacing of the highway from Brownfield to Plains and over to the New Mexico line at Bronco. When the work is completed—probably within a two-year period—New Mexico likely will meet Texas at Bronco and give this section of the Lone Star State another paved shoot into Hobbs via Tatum and Lovington.

We can use it— and so can our New Mexico neighbors.

TUESDAY night The Plainsman plans to be in Post, in attendance at the Post Rotary club's 13th annual party for the oldtimers of the section.

The Plainsman is no oldtimer, but the generous, hospitable people of Post always see that he has an invitation to the oldtimers' party. That he appreciates, because he has a world of admiration and respect for the pioneers who laid the foundation stones of this great country so that we younger ones could come along and enjoy life without the drawbacks which faced the early settlers.

It has been more than a decade since the writer attended his first oldtimers' party at Post.

Since then he has been at several.

And with many another, he can't help but notice that many of the pioneers who used to be regular attendants at the Post Rotary club's annual affair are no longer to be seen there.

Many of them—too many of them—have answered the call to the Last Roundup.

HOWEVER that must be expected, no matter how hard it is to face.

And for those oldtimers who still remain, it must be said that they are still holding up their end and that for them, as well as for so many of their admirers, the annual gathering at Post is a great occasion.

The Post Rotary club is doing a great work in remembering the pioneers and the affair has become such that it takes the aid of almost the entire population of the Garza county capital in putting it over.

It is a fine, fine gesture and one which doubtless will be carried on as long as there are pioneers left among us.

Constance said in a moment of recklessness, at which she was to wonder later, "I still have no reason to think you're not insane, but—well, it will take me a half hour to pack."

Before she got out of the car in front of her own house, Dr. Rogers took a wallet from his pocket.

"Since this is a business arrangement, Miss Maidwell," he said, "and since I don't imagine you habitually carry airplane fare to California around in your purse, I'd better give you something on account."

He stripped some bills from a roll and handed them to her.

"Here's enough to buy a round-trip fare — I don't want you to listening? I want to call my wife!"

SHORTLY after Col. Ernest O. Thompson announced his platform in his race for governor, the esteemed Dallas News came out with the suggestion that the Amarillo redhead was "in favor of everything that will catch a vote."

Now Attorney-General Bill McCraw, the other important candidate for governor, has announced his platform, and the same can be said of it.

But, what of it?

What does the Dallas News expect?

Any man smart enough to be governor of Texas is too smart to come out with a platform which will hurt him with an appreciable number of voters.

We may not like the idea of fence-riding on the part of candidates, but whether we like it, or not, a candidate has to do that sort of thing, or beat himself before the voters ever go to the polls.

The Plainsman doesn't blame Ernest Thompson, Bill McCraw or any other candidate for being in favor of the things he thinks most of the voters are for, and against the things he has reason to believe most voters are against.

If he followed any other plan, he'd be a sap—and not worth anybody's vote.

SOME people collect stamps. Others collect old coins. Still others collect pottery, china or other knicknacks.

But over in Matador G. S. "Doc" Craven, who along with genial Fred Simpson has the drug business sewed up in a sack, collects autographs. That is, autographs on checks which have been bounced back from various and sundry banks.

Posted in a conspicuous place in his pill-rolling emporium, "Doc" has something like 120 checks totaling in the neighborhood of $350 to $400, which have been sent back to him as souvenirs. Some of them bear the well known "insf", meaning insufficient funds. Others are marked "no acct.", meaning that the giver had no account in the bank on which the check was drawn. And several are marked "forgeries."

The checks cover about a 10 year period and most of them are small. None is over $10 and many are for $1 or even less.

The display is quite interesting to Matador folks as well as to visitors there. And it also serves as a warning to "Doc" and his employes when a strange — or a too well known — customer says "Lemme give you a check."

THE other day a critic of the Texas Department of Public Safety remarked that he had driven a great distance—almost from one end of the state to the other—and had not seen a highway patrolman.

Perhaps he was telling the unvarnished truth.

Last fall The Plainsman drove from Lubbock to Laredo, which is 535 miles via Del Rio, without seeing a state patrolman.

But as we see it, that fact is no argument against the Department of Public Safety.

Instead, it is an argument for a better appropriation for that work, so there can be more patrolman hired and trained.

The Plainsman wouldn't be one bit surprised if, in 25 years, Governor Allred looks back upon his two terms in the capitol and says something like this:

"Of all the accomplishments of my administrations, installation of the State Department of Public Safety was No. 1."

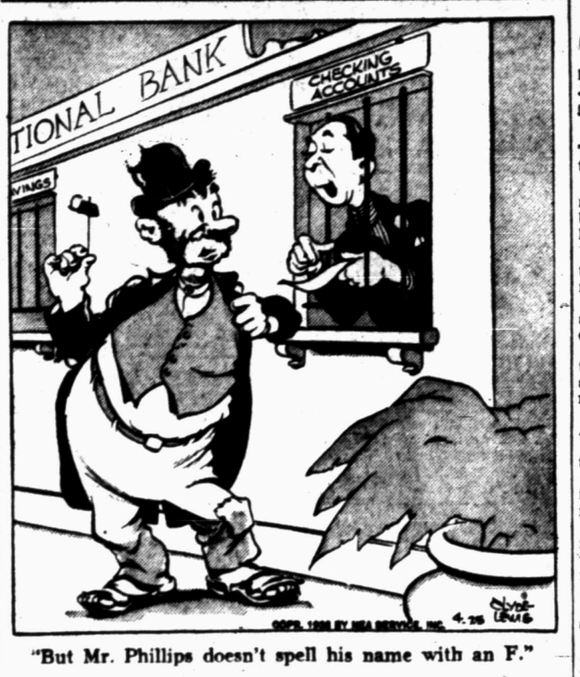

And we wouldn't be surprised if the people of Texas honor the governor for making possible that organization.

The State Department of Public Safety is young. It's barely started.

But it's going to be a big thing some day, unless peanut politics sidetrack it.

PURCHASE OF LOWER CALIFORNIA

Revival of agitation that the United States seek the purchase of Lower California from Mexico has been one of the results of that nation's seizure of oil properties valued at more than $400,000,000 from British and American owners.

Like similar agitations of the past, it probably will come to nothing. However, it has not yet aroused the derisive storm in Mexico which greeted a similar proposal by Senator Ashurst of Arizona seven or eight years ago. On that occasion, mock resolutions were offered in the Mexican congress proposing that Mexico buy Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California from the United States.

Although Lower California would make a highly desirable addition to the United States, we shoud acquire it in one way only. That would be a transaction which would be to the advantage of Mexico. The possibility of a deal mutually satisfactory is not as fantastic, perhaps, as may seem. Lower California has been of little value to Mexico. The Mexican government is not far from bankruptcy. An advantageous sale might be wisdom, though wisdom would be ignored if it should conflict with national pride.

Advantages of the purchase to the United States are obvious. Lower California is about the same size as Florida. It isn't as arid as most persons imagine. It has extensive mineral resources. It borders on the gulf side a sportsman paradise. And—most important of all — there are several harbors for bases which probably would protect the United States for all time to come against invasion by enemies landing on the Pacific coast of Mexico and marching north.

imagine you're being shanghaied — and a little for incidental expenses. Take a taxicab to the airport. You'll find a ticket waiting for you in your own name. I'll meet you in the plane."

He might, Constance thought, have been instructing a nurse in the operating room, in full confidence that every command would be implicity obeyed.

"Aren't you taking a rather long chance?" she asked.

"If I thought so," he said with a short unmirthful laugh, "I'd bundle you up in a sack and carry you along as excess baggage."

And he looked for an instant grimly capable of doing it.

"You needn't be concerned about taking the money," he added a little impatiently as Constance looked uncertainly at the bills in her hands. "The boy's fath er will make it good, and be only too glad to pay you for any inconvenience this may cause you. . . . Now you'd better run along. Allow at least a half hour to get to the flying field. . . . And, oh yes! Better take along some lightweight clothing. It will be much warmer there than here. Please don't be late. I've got enough to think about without walking the floor with a watch in my hand."

Well . . . Constance thought, I'm ge . . . ahead in life — from substitute for a clothes model to stand-in for a screen star—or am I?

She ran upstairs, her thoughts racing ahead of her. . . . Lightweight clothing. . . . But all of her lighter clothing was still stowed away in the basement locker—except, of course, for the new things for her wedding journey. She and Derek had been going south.

Well, she had bought them and paid for them, hadn't she? And this was the only journey she seemed likely to make for some time. . . . There wasn't much time to choose with discrimination. Better take some sports things, anyhow. . . . In the end, she put in any number of things she would probably never need, just because there was room.

She would wear the dark tailored suit with the silver fox fur and the cherry hat and bag. As she settled the hat over her hair, she smiled a little wryly at her reflection in the mirror, remembering that other occasion, in Derek's studio, when she had planned in a moment of happy delusion, I'll wear the tailored suit on the plane. I'm so glad I got the red hat and bag.

She was in her seat in the plane when Dr. Rogers came in. He greeted her very much as if he had unexpectedly recognized a pleasant acquaintance, chatted impersonally for a few moments; and then he went with an air of finality back to his own seat.

Constance, who had never flown before, and who was in that phase of excitement that craves companionship and self-expression, felt piqued and defrauded.

I suppose he's afraid someone will think he's eloping with me, she thought maliciously. But no, I don't believe that man really cares what anyone is going to think.

Then she saw that he had taken a telegram from his pocket and was studying it with bent brows, the line between his eyes deepening as he read. He wrote a reply and settled down in his seat, quite as if he had forgotten her.

Presently, however, with an air of suddenly remembering a duty that should be attended to, he came over and took a vacant seat opposite her.

"Do you know," he began with a rueful grin, "I don't believe it's occurred to me yet to say 'Thanks,' I—"

"Don't." Constance cut in. "I'm just beginning to realize that you're staking a good deal on me. I'm not an actress, you know. I'm only a clothes model—an amateur at that."

"You're an unusually adaptable young woman, if I'm any judge of human nature." . . . He'd be the last to deny that he is, Constance thought with a flutter of irritation. "Elsa O'Dare, in whose judgment I have a lot of confidence, happens to be an old friend of ours. You don't suppose," he added, with a brief twinkle, "that I dragged you into my private practice without taking the precaution of finding out something about you, do you?"

That, Constance realized, feeling a little foolish, was exactly what she had supposed.

"And just what," she demanded, "did Miss O'Dare tell you?"

"Not all she knew, I suppose. . . . Only that when you walked into Daimler's that day, you had no more idea of modeling in a fashion show than — well, than I had. But that you slipped into the situation with such engaging impudence and such amazing poise that she couldn't resist hiring you on the spot. . . . And," he added thoughtfully, "that she, personally, likes and respects you."

And that, Constance felt sure, was all Elsa had told him.

"And now" — his friendliness suddenly merged into a briskly professional manner — "I think you'd better get to bed as soon as the stewardess can get your berth ready. I'll call her and—"

"Bed?" Constance said blankly. "But I never go to bed so early. . . . Oh, you needn't take the trouble," she went on with malicious amusement as his hand moved in what she had come to know as an habitual gesture, "I have a watch, too."

She found herself disproportionately annoyed by his brusk shift from friendliness to this impersonal matter-of-factness.

"Though you may not guess it,"

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, April 25 — The Three Little Pigs are returning to the screen.

Walt Disney has shelved "Pinocchio" temporarily, and "Bambi" will be his next feature-length cartoon.

Ferdinand the Bull will be ready to stage his sitdown strike this summer.

Leopold Stokowski will be billed above Mickey Mouse in "The Sorcerer's Apprentice."

These facts make more news than is to be found right now in all the rest of fear-stricken, stagnant Hollywood.

Animal-Demand

The Disney outfit is working full-tilt and at full capacity, with 700 people thinking, sketching, painting, tracing and photographing like mad.

Even with the staff and equipment assembled by Disney, and with a world market already pleading for another animated feature, there's scarcely a chance that "Bambi" can be ready until the spring of 1939.

Some time ago the report got about that "Pinocchio," the story of a puppet that wanted to be human, would be Disney's next full-length animation. This isn't true. In fact, world rights to the yarn have not yet been purchased. First published in 1904, "Pinocchio" is in the public domain for America, but foreign copyright laws would make necessary the purchase of the rights from dozens of the author's heirs.

Deer-Auditions

"Bambi" was Disney's first and greatest enthusiasm anyway. This story of a deer, written by Felix Salten, an Austrian, was translated into English in 1931. Director Sidney Franklin read it and told Disney that he just had to make it. Disney read it and agreed. Preliminary work began long before "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" was completed.

For plot and characters, it is considered a perfect cartoon vehicle. Probably not a single human being will be shown, although the principal menace throughout the yarn is Man. And Bambi's deer little cousin gets shot.

All the animals will talk, of course. Lately there have been auditions for the voice of Bambi, and the studio has been besieged by hundreds of small boys convoyed by their mothers. It has been agreed that a boy must speak for Bambi, but some of the other animal characters will present tougher problems.

Peace In The Afternoon

The story of Ferdinand, the pacifist bull who'd rather smell flowers than fight, will be an eight-minute short. It's an adaptation of the short-short-short best-seller written by Munro Leaf and so marvelously illustrated by Robert Lawson.

This is the first story ever purchased by Disney for a short. And the resulting film probably will be the first Disney production to be banned by censors of some of the more militant European countries.

The animators have had a pretty tough time with Ferdinand, anyway. He has big, limpid brown eyes, and long, heavy eye-lashes. When he walks he swishes. And in the bullring he tries to eat the daisy that is tattooed on the matador's chest.

M. Mouse is working in a couple of pictures now — "The Brave Little Tailor," one of the Grimm tales, and "The Sorcerer's Apprentice," which was a folk tale made into a ballad by Goethe, and more recently into a "symphonic tone poem" by Paul Dukas.

Both are shorts, and the latter is the one for which Stokowski at his own request, conducted the score. He did not, as has been reported, use his Philadelphia Symphony for the chore. He used a pick-up orchestra of Hollywood musicians. The actual recording was done late one night in three hours.

The billing will read: "Walt Disney presents
LEOPOLD STOKOWSKI AND MICKEY HOUSE
in 'The Socerer's Apprentice.'"

What with Snow White, Bambi, Donald Duck, Ferdinand and assorted Silly Symphonies at work in the studio, Disney has been conscious-stricken about his neglect of the famed Mouse. Mickey will get his share of attention hereafter, but he'll have to step aside just once more for the second bow of the Three Little Pigs.

This one will be called "The Practical Pig," who builds a lie detector and uses it on the big, bad wolf. When the wolf denies knowing the whereabouts of the Pratical Pigs impractical brothers, a couple of mechanical hands pop from the lie detector and wash out his mouth with soap.

All Roads Lead To Rome

New Roosevelt Spending Program Is Caught Between Two Extremes Of Critics--Dutcher

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 25 — One immediate aim of the new Roosevelt spending-lending program is the creation of another inflationary boom which will revive business activity.

Obvious already is the fact that Mr. Roosevelt is not going to get the united front against the depression which he hoped to align behind this program. His consistent enemies will be reinforced by an army of as yet indeterminate strength which is composed of those who believe that pumping more federal money into the economic system is not a way to end the depression.

Some See Boom

At one extreme are critics who argue that the new Roosevelt program is sure to put the country on the rocks and at the other are New Dealers who confidently anticipate a really spectacular boom. In the latter category, for instance, are one or two members of the SEC who have anticipated such a rapid stock market rise that they have been discussing amendments to the SEC rules.

Rodney Dutcher.

But whatever happens in the next few months seems most likely to be based on good or bad psychology, since an effect of the program's monetary maneuverings admittedly will be a psychological effect and the first real big new money to get into the stream of purchasing power will be that involved in the public works phase, which can hardly get operating before late summer or fall.

Seeking to avoid undue pessimism or undue optimism, this writer can report government economists believe the program's chief immediate effect will be to halt deflationary forces which until now have been spiraling at an alarming degree.

This group happens to include those who accurately foresaw the present depression. Members of the group also thought there would be a "spring rise" in business and when that failed to materialize went running to the higher ups to urge inflationary action to prevent what they feared might be a real panic.

Hope For Leveling

The most these experts really hope for the next few months is that there may now be some "corrections" in certain lines of business which will level off the previously down-curving chartlines of business activity and employment.

Business customarily has an upturn in the spring and a downswing in the summer as a result of what are called "seasonal" factors. But instead of an upturn in March, business actually took a dip.

The hard-headed boys now hope that, as a result of the spending-lending program, the traditional summer downswing can be avoided. Even that, they believe, would be a real gain and would leave a better foundation for the pickup which nearly everyone in the administration fondly anticipates in the fall.

If nothing had been done to avert it, the economists are sure, the summer slump would have been quite pronounced. The outlook for retail trade, an extremely important factor in the business picture, was especially bad.

Program Psychological

And of course if the spending-lending program is not in any way effective, the obvious inference is that business will keep right on slumping into the summer.

But the economists interviewed by this writer think that many industries will be infected by the hope of new business, that many plants which might soon have been on the verge of closing will take new heart and that administration promises of reinforced purchasing power will keep business off a lower bottom until new PWA contracts begin to affect the situation.

All this assumes that Congress will pass those items of the new program which require its approval. The chances are that it will. But chances of the Supreme court plan, the reorganization bill and wage-hour legislation also were, at one time or another, very bright.

He went on perversely, "I've really been out of boarding school for some time."

For a moment he examined her with that curious, tolerantly amused look she had come to recognize. . . . As if, Constance thought with growing resentment, he were trying to decide just what kind of unpredictable bug I might turn out to be.

Finally he said — obviously trying to be patient — "Perhaps I'd better remind you that you may have a hard day ahead of you. You'll need all the rest you can get."

"Please don't worry about me, Dr. Rogers," she said; "I thrive on sleepless nights."

Without a word he turned stiffly back to his own seat.

Indeed! Constance thought, watching him with covert malice. We get a lot of fun out of standing off and feeling superior and amused, don't we? But it isn't so funny when people refuse to take us as seriously as we do ourselves, is t?

She took a great deal of satisfaction out of sitting up a good hour after her usual bedtime.

Snuggled into her amazingly comfortable berth, Constance began to realize for the first time in that dream-like evening, exactly what was happening to her.

Once in California, it was inconceivable that she should not see Derek. And once she had seen Derek, all the doubts and petty fears of the past few weeks would drop away like mist. She would lose that feeling which had begun to possess her that Derek had gone away into another and different world, and by that very act, had become different, himself; so that he no longer even spoke a language she understood. She fell asleep dramatizing those first few moments with Derek.

There was a car waiting for them when they landed. The chauffeur, who seemed to know Dr. Rogers well, said, "I am to take you directly to the ranch, sir. Miss Thorvald asked me to say she was sorry not to—"

"Miss Thorvald?" Constance said faintly. "Does he mean — is it the Thorvald ranch we're going to? . . . But I can't do that."

Are you blonde, beautiful and ready to join men in the trenches in the next war? It's the last chance to save this idiotic man's world. Jean Colwell, 124 West 55th. Go where society women send their furs for bleaching—We have done their furs.

When Hitler went into Austria, Jean Colwell, actress, young, blonde and beautiful, was "hurt terribly." She started thinking—but seriously. About this silly war business, you know, and how to stop it. Presto, came the big idea, embodied in the above "personal" ad she inserted in a New York paper. All you need to do, she says, is recruit a brigade of beautiful blonde bomb-shells, set them down in No Man's Land. The soldiers go for the blondes, and phfft! there goes your war. Miss Colwell is awaiting answers to her ad so she can form her war-squelching organization. She did not comment on the possibility of any of the boys in the trenches being killed in the rush.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP)—Cotton futures opened 9 to 11 points off on lower Liver- pool cables and under May liquidation and foreign selling. May 8.79; July 8.86; Oct. 8.93; Dec. 8.96; Jan. 8.99; March 9.07.

Prices rallied partially and shortly af- ter the first half hour the list was 7 to 9 points net lower. July, which had sold up from 8.85 to 8.88, was quoted at 8.87.

Prices held at partial recoveries after foreign and scattered buying had absorb- ed the early offerings. The trade continued as a buyer and at midday July was sell- ing at 8.90, with the list 4 to 6 points net lower.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, April 25 (AP)—Cotton fu- tures opened 6 to 9 points net lower here today under long liquidation and selling induced by easier foreign markets.

May contracts opened at 8.95, July at 9.02, Oct. at 9.09, Dec. at 9.09, Jan. at 9.11 and March at 9.17.

Near the end on the first half hour all active months showed net losses of 9 points.

Liverpool said business was dull there. Reports from dry goods centers said mill stocks have been considerately depleted.

Offerings were absorbed at declines of about 9 points and near mid-session May recovered to 8.94, July to 9.02, Oct. to 9.11, Dec. at 9.13 and March to 9.20, or 5 to 7 points under the previous close.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, April 25 (AP)—Wheat de- clined a cent a bushel in Chicago early today. The chief selling incentive was fa- vorable weather conditions in domestic winter crop territory.

Opening ¼ to 1 cent lower, May 83¾-⅞, July 81-81¼, wheat futures then held steady. Corn started unchanged to ¼ off, May 59⅛-¼, July 60¾-⅞.

WTCC Resolutions

and the result was to confiscate busi- ness for the benefit of government.

Still other resolutions declared for a soil and water conservation con- test, apportionment of public school funds on an attendance basis, es- tablishment of the Big Ben park, a campaign to interest capital in West Texas, creation of a government agri- cultural research laboratory to be lo- cated at Texas Technological col- lege in Lubbock and amendment of state laws to place venue of land vacancy suits in counties where the land is situated and give the posses- sor prior right of purchase.

Most discussion centered on the resolution pertaining to activities of vacancy hunters, a vacancy being a strip between faulty surveys. Where it originally disposed of the land, the state claims title to vacancies, and an enormous amount of litiga- tion has developed in efforts to es- tablish titles.

There was considerable discussion over whether the resolution favor- ing an agricultural research labora- tory should advocate location at Texas Technological college or should merely urge placing it in Texas. The idea of some was to obtain the lab- oratory for Texas first and to locate it later, but the committee declared for location at Texas Tech, as the convention has done in the past.

"Economists generally have re- garded them as wholly inconsis- tent with any rational system of progressive taxation," he said.

"Therefore, I lay before the con- gress the statement that a fair and effective progressive income tax and a huge perpetual reserve of tax exempt bonds cannot exist side by side."

Shocked upon finding the child injured, Mrs. Haddock and Mrs. Adams did not notice whether any object which might have fallen upon him lay near, said Mrs. Bell. A hole was torn in the skull. No livestock were in the yard, which was surrounded by a high fence.

Adams and Haddock were in a field and a passerby took the wounded child and then the mother to Shallowater and then to the hospital here. He entered the hospital at 6:20 o'clock.

Europe Facing New Trouble

War developments brought an in- crease in the insurgent offensive all along a 100-mile, zig-zag battle- front from Teruel to the Mediter- ranean in eastern Spain and sent 15 Japanese troop trains down from North China to power a Japanese push against the central Chinese front.

Other developments in a world of bickering:

Japanese authorities continued to grill a 27-year-old American, Melvin Gibbon, about his activities with the Chinese air force.

Egypt's young King Farouk sum- moned Premier Mohammed Mah- moud Pasha to his country estate to straighten out discord over the makeup of the cabinet.

Britain protested to Russia over detention of a British subject, Reve Cohen, 44, former foreign editor of the Moscow Daily News, arrested last August 13 on charges of espionage and conspiracy.

"The line," said Hellmich, "forms on the right."

Joe DiMaggio has something to say about how different cigarettes can be!

"Any all-cigarettes-are-alike talk doesn't jibe with my experience. There's a big difference. I've smoked Camels steadily for 5 years, and found that Camel is the cigarette that agrees with me, in a lot of ways. Good taste. Mildness. Easy on the throat. And Camels don't give me jumpy nerves. Like a lot of other people I know, 'I'd walk a mile for a Camel!'"

BILL GRAHAM, seeing Joe DiMaggio pull out his package of Camels, asked his opinion on smoking. Joe came straight to the point: "There's a difference, a big difference, between Camels and the others." You, too, will find in Camels a matchless blend of finer, more expensive tobaccos—Turkish and Domestic.

PEOPLE DO APPRECIATE THE COSTLIER TOBACCOS IN CAMELS

THEY ARE THE LARGEST-SELLING CIGARETTE IN AMERICA

JOE KEEPS his hand in on mending nets. His family are fisher folk. DiMaggio is 6 feet tall—weighs around 185 pounds. His nerves are h-e-a-l-t-h-y!

IN THE KITCHEN of his picturesque water front restaurant, Joe says: "I eat pretty much what I like all season long and smoke Camels with my meals and afterwards, 'for digestion's sake.'"

CLOSE-UP OF JOE'S GRIP. "Ball players go for Camels in a big way," he says. "I'm a steady smoker myself. Camels have real mildness all right—don't irritate my throat."

ONE SMOKER TELLS ANOTHER "Camels agree with me"

"TOBACCO GROWERS FAVOR CAMELS FOR THEIR SMOKING!" —is the majority opinion in a survey of well-known tobacco planters

"When Camel says 'costlier tobaccos' I know it's right," says Mr. Edward Estes, capable young planter, who knows tobacco from the ground up because he grows it. "Take my last crop, for instance. Camel bought all the best parts—paid me the most I've ever gotten. The men who grow tobacco know what to smoke—Camels!"

"Last year I had the dandiest crop ever," says Mr. Roy Jones, another experienced planter who prefers Camels. "I smoke Camels because I know they bid higher and pay more at the auctions for the choice lots of leaf tobacco. They paid the highest price I ever got from anybody. Considering that Camel uses finer, costlier tobaccos, it's not surprising that Camel is the leading cigarette with us planters."

Mr. Harold Craig, too, bases his preference for Camels on what he knows about the kinds of tobaccos that go into the various cigarettes. "I get the check—so I know that Camels use more expensive tobaccos. Camel got the best of my last crop. That holds true with most planters I know too. You bet I smoke Camels."
