JV Champs In District 2-AA Play

Wellington Junior Varsity won the district 2-AA JV football championship with one game left on the schedule. Then the team underscored the title with the 11-0 win over Canadian on Nov. 12, which closed the 1981 season for the Rocket JV.

Wellington finished with an 8-0-2 record.

Memphis came in 2nd, two games behind Wellington. Clarendon was 3rd, Canadian 4th, Shamrock 5th and Wheeler 6th.

Jimmy Barber made the touchdown on a two yard run in the first quarter to put Wellington on the scoreboard. The try for extra point failed, said Coach Curtis Smith.

Joe Bill Munn kicked a field goal from 34 yards out five minutes before half time.

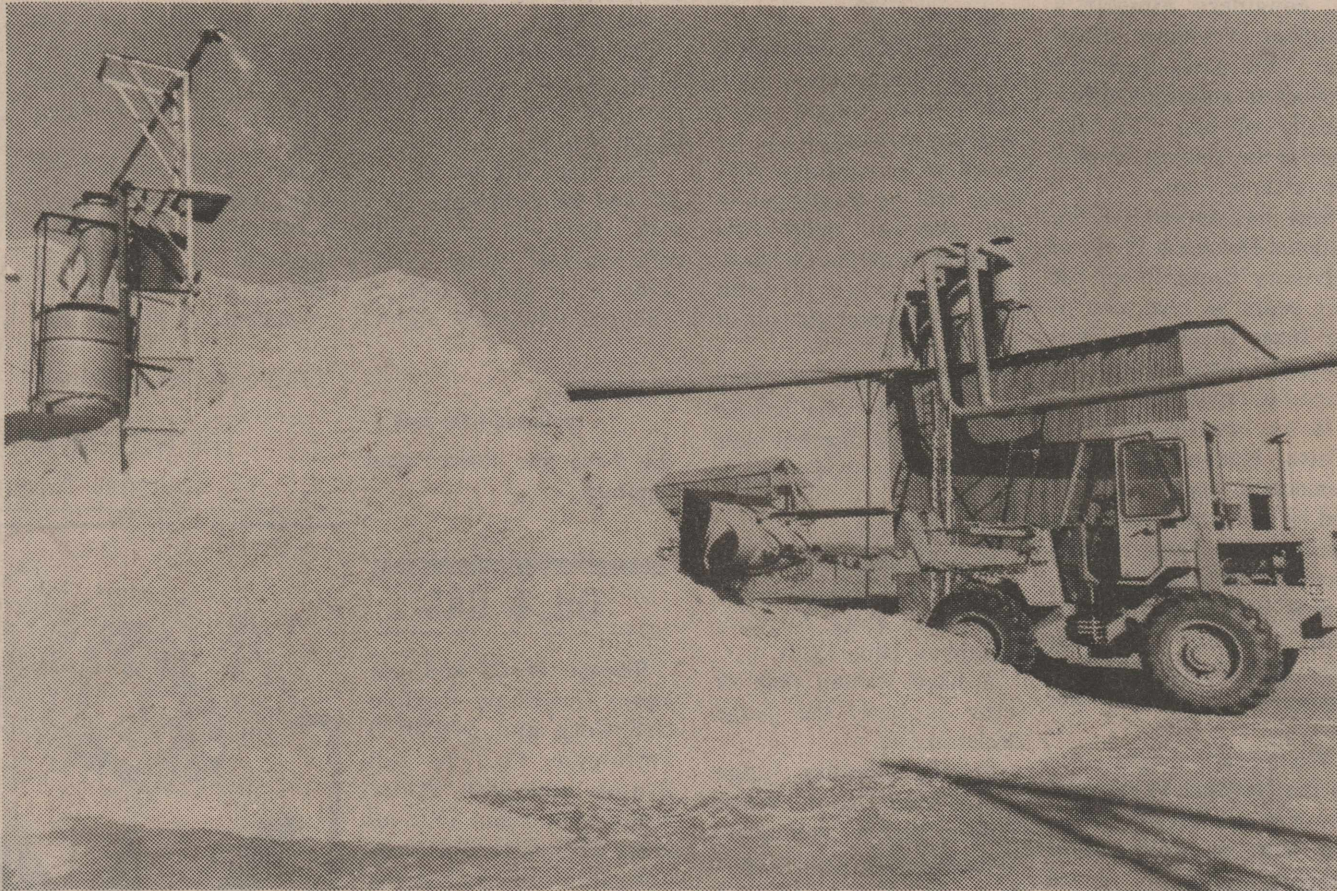

The last two points came on a safety, which occurred when Dwayne Curry blocked a Canadian punt that went out of the end zone.

There were other exciting plays. James Benton intercepted a pass and returned it for 25 yards, said Coach Curtis Smith.

A Canadian drive put the ball on the Rocket 10 when Jimmy Barber intercepted a pass on the goal line.

Jay Warrick caught two passes for 45 yards and set up the Rocket touchdown, then he helped with a pass which set up the field goal. Canadian's only threat was

WTU Asks 15.4% Rate Increase For Wellington, Dodson, Jan. 1

West Texas Utilities Company has filed for a general increase in its retail rates, citing inflation, high interest rates and an essential major construction program as the reasons for the action.

The official filing was made Wednesday in Wellington and Dodson by Tommy Hudson, local manager.

Hudson said the application is a systemwide request for higher rates. Simultaneous filings were made in other incorporated towns for retail customers within their jurisdiction and with the Public Utility Commission of Texas for an increase to retail customers outside incorporated towns. The filing with the PUC also includes customers in eight incorporated towns which have ceded jurisdiction to the PUC.

WTU filed October 15 with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission for a rate increase to wholesale cooperative and municipal customers.

The proposed rates would produce an increase in total revenue of $32,256,983. This amounts to 15.4 percent based on adjusted revenues of $209,402,398 for a 12-month test period ending September 30, 1981.

WTU requested that the new rates become effective January 1, 1982. Hudson said that a rate increase granted WTU last year "did not get the job done." That increase was for an average of 8.3 percent and was only the second in the Company's entire history.

"The relief you granted us has been overrun by inflation and high interest rates and the need to build additional facilities," Hudson said.

Nuclear Tests Here Condemned

Collingsworth County Commissioners, in an emergency session Monday, Nov. 23 at 1 p.m., passed a resolution condemning test drilling for possible storage of spent fissionable materials now or in the future.

Information has come to the commissioners and County Judge Bob Watson that Collingsworth may be the site of drilling, either now or in the future.

"I am going to be deeply involved in working to make sure Collingsworth County is not a drilling depository site for nuclear waste," declared Watson.

The first step will be to determine if it is true that drilling is under way.

The court's action follows a similar resolution passed by Swisher County, and action taken by the Texas Panhandle County Judges Chemical Abuse Service System, of which the county is a member.

The resolution passed by the Commissioners Court Monday contained this information:

"We are of mutual concern that the test drilling now taking place or planned for Collingsworth, Donley, and Swisher Counties of the Texas Panhandle is not being conducted with the full knowledge and consent of the citizens of the Panhandle.

"Such exploratory drilling could result in parts of these counties being permanently set aside by the U.S. government for use as a storage point for some of the most toxic wastes ever known to mankind, and

"Such wastes must be transported over the roads of the Panhandle where the possibility of accidents and resulting contamination of the countryside and the atmosphere is a real and present danger, and

"The storage of such wastes could lead to the contamination of the valuable ground water supply of this rich agriculture area by means beyond the power of science to predict and control, and

"Such contamination could adversely affect the lives of generations yet unborn for thousands of years to come, we, the members of the Collingsworth County Commissioners' Court being ever mindful of our obligation to be concerned for the health of all citizens of Collingsworth County and of the Texas Panhandle.

The Resolution reads:

"That the test drilling and any attendant activities being conducted or about to be conducted cease immediately and that no further such drilling take place at

Cotton Harvest 17,000 Bales Tues.

Collingsworth County's 5 gins had tagged in 17,261 bales of the 1981 cotton crop Tuesday evening, Nov. 24, with a little more than half of it being ginned during the Nov. 17-24 week.

Grades, poor at the beginning of the season, have improved considerably, gin managers say, and in most areas the crop could be double that of 1980, growers, however, are still hurt by the price. Low micronaire is also causing much cotton to be docked.

Few farmers are selling their cotton, but ginners reported the price of cotton and the loan price were not far apart.

Strict low middling light spot with inch staple was bringing from 42 to 44 cents Tuesday to those who wanted to sell.

J.N. Glasgow of Farmers Co-op Gin said the cash market broke even Tuesday. "Some growers are going to the loan, some are selling, but most haven't done anything," he said.

Glasgow said some yields were not making what growers had expected, but they are still a lot better than last year.

"With pretty weather, we can get the cotton off the stalk a lot faster than we can gin it," He estimated the Farmers Co-op is a couple thousand bales behind.

There are more module builders in the Wellington area this year, and he estimated around 20 of that gin's customers are using them.

"These module builders can get it gathered in a hurry.

Bonnie Guthrie of Wellington Gin said most of their customers were receiving grades of middling light spot with good micronaires. She believes the crop could be double that of 1980 season.

Yields north of Salt Fork River range from one half to three quarters bale per acre for dry land cotton, according to a Lutie gin spokesman. Some shortages of cotton trailers have been reported.

Much of the cotton is grading strict low middling light spot, with inch staples and 3.5 averaged micron.

The cotton harvest is reported "in full swing."

Both grade and turnout are improving in the Dodson area, according to John Barton of Farmers Co-op Society and Grover Graham of Davis Gin.

Some of the dry land cotton is making a bale per acre, and not a lot of the irrigated cotton has come in yet.

"The mike is still a little low on most of the cotton," Barton said. But he believes it is possible for this year's crop to be twice that of the 1980 crop.

"We've already tagged in as much cotton as we ginned last year," said Barton. He believes the crop may be 30 percent harvested.

Bumper Crop of Quails Beckons Hunters

Collingsworth is one of the Texas counties with a bumper quail crop, and the season in this and three other area counties opens Tuesday, Dec. 1.

There is another bonus for those hunting in Collingsworth, because of the abundance of birds, the bag limit is higher than usual, 20 birds per day and 60 in possession.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission discovered this quail population explosion during its annual count completed in late August. The population is especially heavy in the eastern part of the Panhandle.

The quail season for Collingsworth, Wheeler, Hardeman and Cottle Counties is December 1 through January 31, for all other Panhandle counties, the season has been under way almost a month.

Because of this, some confusion has existed

among hunters who come from out of the area to try their luck in the four counties with seasons opening Tuesday.

P&WL biologists believe the rainy spring and early summer over most of Texas resulted in the larger than usual bird population.

In addition to the Panhandle, the South Plains and a portion of North Central Texas will also have a 20 bird per day, 60 in possession bag limit. In other sections of the state, the daily limits will be 12 or 16, depending on the quail population.

Several other hunting seasons are also under way. The duck and coot season will be open until January 31, for the High Plains Mallard Management unit. (That part of Texas west of US 81 and US 183 which runs north from Vernon)

A federal migratory waterfowl stamp is required and these are available at most post offices.

The duck bag limits are based on a 100-point system with values assigned to various species and sexes of ducks. The point value is the same as last year.

The goose season west of US 81 will be open through January 17. Daily limit is 5 geese with possession limit of 10. The daily bag limit cannot include more than two dark (Canada and white fronted geese and the possession limit may not include more than four dark geese).

The Turkey and deer seasons opened Saturday, November 21 and will continue through Sunday, December 6.

The Sandhill crane season is basically unchanged from 1980-81. Zone A season opened October 31 and the Zone B season will open Dec. 5. Both will close January 31.

Frank Reyes at Family Center

Frank Reyes, a licensed psychotherapist, has been appointed clinical services supervisor for the Wellington Family Services Center, an arm of the Amarillo Mental Health Mental Retardation.

He will continue to live in Amarillo and besides Collingsworth County, he serves Armstrong, Donley and Hall Counties. Reyes is in the Wellington office from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. each Monday, Tuesday and Thursdays but he can be contacted in other offices or in Amarillo should an emergency arise.

Reyes explained that his work in the Wellington Family Services center will include work with children and teenagers as well as adults and will include:

-Screening individuals who may need hospitalization or emotional psychiatric type problems.

-Counseling individuals or families concerning family, marital, personal or school problems.

-After care group counseling will include those who are out of hospitals to assist them.

-Occupational therapy.

The Texas Department of Mental Health Mental Retardation has mandated that any one in need of hospitalization be screened and evaluated to determine the extent of the problem and to determine if he can be served locally in the least restrictive environment," Reyes said.

Reyes grew up in Turlock, in California's San Joaquin Valley. He has a B.A. degree from West Texas State University and master of social work degree from

FRANK REYES

Worden School of Social Service at Our Lady of the Lake University, San Antonio.

He is a member of the Academy of Certified Social Workers, and is chairman of the Amarillo unit.

Reyes also serves on boards and committees related to his profession.

Mama Coleman Resigns Demo Chair

The Democratic County Chairman, Ethel Coleman, offered her resignation as county Chairman of the Democratic Party in a called meeting of the Democratic Executive Committee Monday night, Nov. 23.

Her resignation was accepted, and with Rudie Tate serving as temporary chairman, Douglas (Doug) Seal was nominated and then elected Democratic Chairman to succeed Mrs. Coleman.

Both her resignation and Seal's assuming office was effective immediately.

In her letter to the Executive committee, Mrs. Coleman said her resignation was offered "with tears in my eyes."

"I have served since the Democratic Primary in 1968. I have enjoyed serving as your County Chairman--in fact it has been a labor of love and devotion.

"With new leadership from a new generation we may have a rededication of party loyalty with more people participating. The need is great for volunteer workers who really CARE."

Thirteenth District Congressman Jack Hightower, upon learning of Mrs. Coleman's resignation, said:

"It's with real regret that I hear the news because Mrs. Coleman has been an outstanding leader for Democrats in West Texas.

"I think she's earned the right to a more leisurely political participating, but those of us who are still involved will miss her very much.

"The only consolation is that she tells me that she is not going to resign her interest or involvement but just her responsibility. And I'm not going to let her resign as being my good friend and contact and coworker in Collingsworth County.

"She is widely known statewide for her involvement and is known and respected; she's one of the people that are sought out by Democrats everywhere for her contribution."

Mrs. Coleman, upon

Texas Honey Queen Speaks At Quail Monday Evening

Jacquelyn Edmondson, Texas Honey Queen for 1981-82, and a nominee for American Honey Queen, will present a program for Quail Young Homemakers Monday, Nov. 30.

This will be in the Quail community building starting at 7 p.m.

She will be accompanied here by a former Quail-Wellington area resident, Jamesie L. Colson of Lubbock, secretary of the South Plains Beekeeping Association.

Miss Edmondson is scheduled to present a demonstration of the many uses of honey. Recipes will accompany her demonstration. Husbands of the members are invited.

The 22-year-old Texas Tech Business Management and Apparel Design major from Mathis, is the first state queen from the High Plains region. She is sponsored by the South Plains Beekeeping Association and Bill's Bees, which is owned by Bill Colson, son

JACQUELYN EDMONDSON of James and Jamesie Colson.

She will be competing for the American Honey Queen title January 17-22 at the American Beekeeping Federation Convention in Savannah, Ga.

The former Texas Farm Bureau Queen and Miss Texas Tech enjoys all facets of beekeeping, from the production of honey to the importance of pollination on agricultural crops and the nutritional value in cooking.

During her stay in Collingsworth County, Miss Edmondson will visit in the homes of Maudie Clay and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Colson.

by old customers, is forcing WTU to expand its facilities.

WTU's newest power plant was completed in 1977, and since then the summer peak demand has grown to a point termed "uncomfortably close" to the system generating capacity.

The current construction program includes a coal-fired power station at Oklaunion, near Vernon. Although ownership of this plant will be shared by two sister companies in the Central and South West Corporation, Oklaunion will be the most costly project ever undertaken by WTU.

So far, WTU has lagged well behind most of the industry in increasing its rates, Hudson said. A recent report from the Public Utility Commission shows WTU's rates to be second lowest in the state among investor-owned companies and fifth lowest among all utilities.

Under the proposed rates, an average bill for basic residential service would be increased by 19.1 percent. For example, a residential customer using 600 kilowatt-hours per month would pay $40.95, compared to $34.39 under the present rates—a difference of $6.56. This would include fuel costs.

MAMA—

announcing her resignation, recalled that there has never been a fight within the county organization as some counties have had, during her tenure as county chairman.

"In traveling through the state, I have found Mrs. Coleman most highly respected and well liked by the Democrats in Texas. She is known all over the state for her contributions.

Seal, a Wellington farmer, considers himself a "student of Mama Coleman," the name by which Democrats statewide affectionally call her. "I'll take pride in the training the past two or three years.

Seal has served on the National Democrat Platform Advisory Committee; for four years as chairman of the Texas Democratic agriculture Caucus, which he helped to organize.

He has been invited to the White House twice on Democratic party matters; and he was state campaign director for Farmers and Ranchers for John Hill.

Seal has been active in fund raising and has donated both his time and money to the Democratic Party.

When Seal ran for a place on the National Democratic Committee, although he did not win, he had strong support from many of the Texas Congressional delegation and from Senator Bentsen.

His support came from those who wanted the moderate view, and who wanted someone who would bring agricultural issues into the party.

In continuing her letter of resignation, Mrs. Coleman said:

"May I express my appreciation for the dedicated support you have given me. It has been a very peaceful group.

We were able to do together what we as individuals could not accomplish.

"Yes, I will miss YOU, the members of the Executive Committee and the political contacts which come with the office of County Chairman, however, I think my resignation is best for me and also best for our county.

We need to develop New Leadership. The time is NOW!

With all my love to you, I thank each of you for being kind and extra good to me. Your political "Mama", Ethel Coleman.

Mrs. Coleman recalls that she attended her first State Democratic Convention in 1956, at El Paso, when other county delegates were the late Dan Henard, Goat Hopper and the late Hiram Cudd.

"What I like best about being county chairman is helping local people get their problems solved through elected officials," said Mrs. Coleman, as she turned over the chairmanship to Seal.

"I do not like holding elections with local filing fee money and the state telling us how we can use the money. We do not need state money to hold the election. We do it on filing fee money, which comes from local people," was another of her comments.

Members of the county executive committee present for the called meeting Monday were Rudie Tate, temporary chairman; Willie Knoll of Samnorwood, Mrs. Robert Patrick, Mrs. A.J. Fires, Mrs. Olan Farris of Dodson; and Cary Don Neeley of Quail. Unable to attend were Mrs. Ernest Harwell and Raymond Horton.

Under the Texas election laws, Seal will serve until the next Primary election, when he will file for and run as a candidate for the office.

"That no such drilling for the aforementioned purposes take place until absolute assurances can be given in perpetuity that there will be no danger to the general population resulting from the transportation or storage of spent fissionable materials now or in the future."

Judge Watson is urging county people who oppose nuclear waste disposal sites in Collingsworth County to write:

Dr. Jeff Neff

U.S. Department of Energy, NWTs Program Officer, 505 King Avenue, Columbus, Ohio 43201.

A hand written note or letter is best, the judge declared.

Swisher County Judge Leroy Saul told Judge Watson that in addition to Collingsworth, Donley and Swisher Counties, future test drilling may be made in Castro, Deaf Smith and possibly Lamb County.

Present were Watson, Commissioners John R. Henard, Bill Lowe, Raymond Neeley and Joe Frank Knoll.

Copies of the resolution are going to the U.S. Department of Energy, Governor William P. Clements; U.S. Senators John Tower and Lloyd Bentsen; U.S. Congressmen Jack Hightower, Kent Hance; Texas Senators; Bill Sarpaulis, E.L. Short and Ray Farabee; and Representatives James E. Council Opens Bids On Street Markers

Wellington City Council has accepted bids on 408 street marker signs and 475 channel posts on which to mount them, at a total cost to the city of $9,911.75.

The street signs come from the Texas Department of Corrections and will include 250 stop signs, 151 yield signs and 7 school advance signs.

The Channel posts will come from the Sa-So (Sargent-Sowell, Inc.) of Grand Prairie.

Stop signs will be 30" x 30" and the yield signs 36" x 36". Both will have bead reflectorized copy and border on 16 gauge steel.

School advanced signs will be 3' square and with baked enamel finish, according to Tiny Taylor, city manager.

The council agreed to delay the purchase of street name signs, but the channel posts will be put up and the other signs mounted so that adding the street name signs will be little trouble.

Curb and gutter work has been finished on streets which will be paved next summer, the city manager said.

Taylor went over with the mayor and council the Texas Aeronautics Commission approval of $10,000 in funding for continued improvement of Marian Airport.

This will cover application of a 6" base with 2-course surface treatment to the 4,000 foot runway and installation of underground cable and runway lights. This will be done early in the 1982 summer, Taylor said.

What was started as a two-year project has been extended to three, due to a cutback in funds to TAC. Funding for the Wellington airport improvement has come through the Texas Airport Aid Program.

Present for the Monday, Nov. 16, council meeting were Mayor Ralph Owens, Councilmen Lyndon Crella, Gary Brewer, Willie Gragson, John Rainey and Sam McGill, City Manager Taylor and Nell McKinney, city secretary.

Student Achievement Scores Higher

The first grade classes were administered the "SRA Readiness Test" in October. The results of these tests are now available and parents of first grade students should contact the child's teacher for an interpretation. If the parent chooses or if referred to the school counselor, an evaluation can be made to predict problem areas or learning disabilities, Supt. Kenneth McKay announced.

Grades two, three, four, five, seven, and nine were administered the "Science Research Achievement Series" during the month of October. Grades three, five, seven, and nine were also given the Educational Ability Series to see if the student was functioning at a level that would be expected on the achievement and in the regular classroom.

These test results are available to the parents of the child that took the test. "We have been encouraging parents to come by for an interpretation of test results so they may be aware of their child's educational strengths and weakness. This will also give the parent a chance to see how we predict the child will score on the "Texas Basic Skills" test administered in February of 1982 to grades three, five and nine", McKay said.

"The achievement scores for this year are higher than they have been since the late sixties. All grades tested scored higher on the projected achievement level in reading, math, and reading maps, graphs, and charts than we had predicted on the "Five Year Plan for Educational Improvement" for the Texas Education Agency.

"We have been placing emphasis on these areas since 1978 when the "Five Year Plan" was initiated. Our next step in developing the educational curriculum will be to look at the 1980, 1981, and 1982 skills on the Texas Basic Skills "assesment to decide on which skills need stressing," the superintendent continued. Parents or guardians may see the results of their child's test scores for this year by contacting the school counselor for interpretation of scores for the seventh and ninth grades at his office in the high school building from 8:30 to 2:00 and from 2:00 until 3:30 in the elementary building for grades one, two, three, four and five.

PSA Region Has Meeting Here

Mayor Ray Thomp-

son of Pampa was named to the PSA board.

Jerry McGuire, PRPC director, was the speaker.

Counties which are members of this sub-district are Gray, Wheeler, Collingsworth, Donley, Hall and Briscoe.

City Sales Tax Rebates Higher

Wellington's sales tax rebates through the period ending Oct. 10 are up 5.07% from the comparable period of 1980, information from the office of State Comptroller Bob Bullock, reveals.

So far this year, the City of Wellington has received $56,070.78, a year ago the total was $53,367.26.

The sales and use tax allocation for the one-month period ending Oct. 9 was $2,349.15, and this was up from $1,143.50 a year ago.

The Sales Tax receipts go into the city's general fund for the operation of its services.

Statewide, the sales tax rebates are up 16 percent over the same 10-month period in 1980, according to Bullock's office.

The one percent optional city sales tax is collected by merchants and businesses in the cities where it is levied and rebated on a monthly basis by the Comptroller's office.

Famous San Diego Chicken Working for Capitalism

The 1924 Study Club met November 19 in the Heritage Room with Mrs. Truett Holland as hostess.

A film "Chickenomics, a Fowl Approach," was presented by Tommy Thomas of Thomas Nursing Home. The film used the successful career of the famous San Diego Chicken to illustrate, in an entertaining manner, the working of a capitalistic economy.

Everywhere they went at the spring markets, Reagan Red, such as the first lady Nancy Reagan wears, was featured, Hatch said.

Asked about the length of dresses, Hatch advised that whatever is most comfortable should be worn.

Mr., Mrs. Jim Cook Honored On 60th Wedding Anniversary

Forty-six direct descendants of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cook were present in Lubbock when these former Wellington residents celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary on Saturday, November 14, at the Southcrest Baptist Church.

In addition to their children, Mr. and Mrs. Cook have 32 grandchildren, and 19 great grandchildren.

Color Your Wardrobe "You"

Color your wardrobe "you" by knowing the special meanings of colors, says Ann Vanderpoorten, a clothing specialist.

Ms. Vanderpoorten is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Color is important in fashion -- and in other aspects of life, she says.

"Colors cause physical and psychological reactions in people.

"In fact, clothing colors send emotional 'messages' about the wearer," the specialist says.

Light colors are generally seen as more cheerful, active and feminine than dark colors.

Dark colors, on the other hand, are viewed as sophisticated, reserved and "business-like."

True colors are more exciting and cheerful than subdued or grayed colors.

Warm colors, such as red, orange and yellow, are lively.

Cool colors -- such as blues and greens, and neutral colors are restful and soothing. Cool colors have a receding effect, while neutrals may appear reserved or aloof.

Colors also affect apparent size and shape -- dark colors are slimming, while light or bright colors make the figure appear larger.

Stay Young, In Health

Wish you could "stay young" in "health?"

Practice six health steps, and you'll go a long way toward that goal, says Dr. Mary Ann Shirer, a health education specialist.

Six habits or practices can significantly influence your health and life expectancy -- to the extent that a person who practices all six has the health of a person 30 years younger who ignores all of them, she says.

Here are the six steps she recommends:

- 1) Three regular meals a day with few snacks -- make sure breakfast is one of the meals.
- 2) Moderate exercise two or three times a week.
- 3) Not more than seven or eight hours of sleep every night.
- 4) No smoking.
- 5) Maintaining moderate weight.
- 6) Little or no alcohol consumption.

Couple Plans Holiday Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Milburn Derryberry, 1203 West Avenue are announcing the approaching marriage of their daughter, Beth to Scotty Ingram, also of Wellington.

Parents of the prospective bridegroom are Clyde Ingram of 1308 Belton Street and Mrs. Betty Vines of Detroit, Michigan.

The couple plans to be married Friday, December 18.

Miss Derryberry is a

Did you know there really was a Granny Smith, for whom the large, green-skinned apples with the delicious tang and juicy crunch were named? She was Maria Ann Sherwood Smith, who emigrated from England to Australia with her husband in 1838. She grew the first apple tree which bore the fruit which made her name famous among apple lovers the world over.

graduate of Wellington High School and attended Clarendon Junior College.

Her fiance attended Wellington High School and is currently employed by Leo Popwell Custom Harvesting.

Unlike many apples, Cape Granny Smiths don't have to be eaten the day you bring them home from the store. They will stay crisp and fresh in the refrigerator from four to six weeks, without becoming mealy. Granny Smiths are not ripened after they're picked, but are plucked from the tree only when they're mature.

According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, apples are good for you. A medium apple weighing about a third of a pound has only 87 calories, yet provides many healthful nutrients--ash, fiber, pectin, iron, sodium, niacin, thiamin and riboflavin, to name just a few.

Mrs. Swift Hosts EHC

Mrs. Ross Swift was hostess to the Dodson Extension Homemakers Club, when Mrs. Fred Boyd presented a knitting lesson and displayed two afghans she has made.

Mrs. Wayne Reynolds gave the Homemaker Council report.

Upcoming events will be a Christmas idea program at the Heritage Room Tuesday, Nov. 24, at 2 p.m.; Mrs. Motesenbocker will work with others on the yearbooks at the meeting and the Council Christmas Party will be on December 14 in the Heritage Room.

The Dodson Club party will be on Thursday, Dec. 3, at 7 p.m. at the A.V. Lowry home.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Motesenbocker, Mrs. Reynolds, Mrs. Lowrie, Mrs. Bob Cochran, Mrs. Boyd, Mrs. Thurman Crownover and Mrs. Swift, the hostess.

Thanksgiving

May the Good Lord bless and keep you,
whether near or far away,
May you find that long awaited golden day today.

May your troubles all be small ones, and your fortune ten times ten
May the Good Lord bless and keep you till
we meet again.

May the Good Lord bless and keep you,
whether near or far away,
May the good you wish for others shine on you today.

May your heart stay tuned to music, that will cheer the hearts of men,
May the Good Lord bless and keep you till
we meet again.

---Meredith Willson's "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You"

---From a program Friday, November 20 by Wellington elementary 5th graders to the Wellington Kiwanis Club

Sometimes a little magic exists between a performer and his audience.

The magic, I think, doesn't originate in a performer's polish or glitter. It has to come from both the singer and the listener's hearts. It's a two-way communication, and the emotion that the performer beams to the audience refracts through each listener's ear and bounces like light through a prism to the hearts and minds of others in the room.

Wellington Elementary 5th graders and the Wellington Kiwanis Club got to share a little magic last week as the 5th graders presented a Thanksgiving program of recital and song that left some businessmen with damp eyes and lumpy throats.

Kiwanis Club members, especially those who've attended for years, have seen it all as far as club programs are concerned, and the following applause is always polite but rarely enthusiastic.

But last Friday the Kiwanians interrupted the program with applause after every song, and it brought them to their feet at its conclusion. Said Mack Saied, Jr.: "Our congratulations on the finest program we've had at this club in decades."
As the serenade progressed two thoughts came to mind.

The first was admiration for the two 5th grade teachers, Lorhae Morgan and Evelyn Carter, who, in addition to their regular duties, had been the talent scouts, organizers, directors and piano players for the program. There was no doubt that this no-nonsense pair was in control when the students entered the room, but there was also no doubt that their classrooms were open and free enough to allow a spark of creativity and joy to flash in their students' eyes. Mrs. Carter and Mrs.
Morgan each have 34 students with widely varying learning skills jammed into their classrooms, and last Friday they seemed to symbolize all the best in elementary teachers: men and women who are willing to go the extra mile for low pay in sometimes overcrowded conditions to perform one of the most important tasks in our society--the molding of the next generation.

And as the next generation performed I wondered where the paths of life might lead them. A recent interview with Robert Strauss in The Dallas Morning News came to mind. Strauss, to whom a Governor, a Senator and the President of the United States have all turned for advice, is now being courted by some Democrats to make a run for the presidency himself. Strauss grew up in the West Texas community of Stamford, a town similar in many ways to Wellington. And I wondered if a future Bob Strauss might be lurking on the back row of 5th graders, or if a future astronaut might be singing the lead.

We were reminded that there was much to be thankful for in this nation this Thanksgiving Day.
Perhaps we should be most thankful that in an open society, a youngster from Wellington, Texas, with the help of his teachers and parents, is free to soar to whatever heights his mind and spirit can take him.

LETTERS from the People

Dear Editor,
People are too busy thinking about Christmas and getting presents that they forget about Thanksgiving and how thankful
they should be.

Karla Morris
Age 9
Wellington, Texas

Dear Editor:
I woke up in the middle of the night and swore that I would then and there write this letter responding to Rita Lowrie's thoughtful letter reminding the people of this community that her mother, Mrs. Z.T. Lowrie, had donated a very valuable tract of land near Marian Air Park on State Highway 338 to be used as a MEMORIAL PARK with growing trees to forever memorialize the young men from this county who gave their lives in World War II.

Having lost two brothers in that war, and having come close to dying myself.
I identify with the 68 young men who gave their lives. In fact, twice I thought I was going to join them under their white crosses.

That is why I appreciate Rita's letter. As a man that spent 2½ months in the British hospital and who was twice almost killed, I agree with Rita. The very least we can do is show this tiny bit of appreciation. Not only for Mrs. Lowrie's generous donation, but also to show our appreciation to all the young men who died to keep us free.

Thank you Rita, for reminding us. I for one will donate all the trees needed to fill that Memorial Park full of long lived beautiful trees to memorialize our heroes and at the same time to beautify our community.

The trees should be
pecan, walnut, and apricot, trees that is, that can live 100 years. I have such trees and I will gladly give them to the VFW to be planted in this Memorial Park, provided the city make arrangements to have R.L.
Hunnicuttt plant and take care of them. He has a "green thumb" and a love
of trees and growing things.
Since R.L. Hunnicutt works for the Texas Highway Department, just across the highway from this Memorial Park, I think the VFW should make arrangements to have him handle this. If they do, then I can assure you, it will be well done.
Thank you Rita.

Sincerely,
R.L. Templeton

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Within the next few weeks, a new wave of political fortunes will be made or broken in Texas as the electoral process begins to hurtle towards Election Day, 1982.

The last-minute jockeying for position in the various state races may be anti-climatic for voters who have grown used to the hullay-gully excitement of redistricting and special sessions of the Legislature. Few new faces are expected to surface in the speculation about potential candidates, although one surprise occurred last week.

But voters who enjoy the rough and tumble world of Texas politics can look forward to a real slugfest this season.

Heading up the ballot
will be Republican incumbent Gov. Bill Clements, who announced last week to no one's surprise that he will seek re-election to a second term.

The Democrats will field
a conservative from Tyler,
State Sen. Peyton Mc-Knight.

Clements will focus his campaign on tax relief promises and his anti-crime record, while McKnight will probably try to show that Clements hasn't been all that effective in dealing with the Legislature.

Last week Clements referred to two of his unkept
1978 promises: to cut 25,000 state jobs and to return $1 billion in state surplus to taxpayers. He admitted no state surplus was returned, but he claimed he cut 3,000 jobs from the state payroll.

Two days later, McKnight said the number of state workers on the payroll figures released by the comptroller's office has actually increased by 9,000 since Clements took office.

Campaign Dollars

Speaking practically, the real issue on which the gubernatorial race will hinge is campaign dollars: a new record is in the making.
Both candidates are wealthy men who made their fortunes in the oil fields. In 1978, Clements spent a record $7 million on his election, and may spend as much as $10 million this time. Mc-Knight has said he can win
if he can raise $6 million.

Still to announce whether he will enter the race is outgoing Land Commissioner
Bob Armstrong, a moderate Democrat. Armstrong's problem is a split Democrat camp: backers of former Atty. Gen. John Hill want Armstrong to carry their banner; but other Democrats want to avoid a bloody and expensive primary battle, channeling their dollars
instead to beat Clements.

Armstrong is apparently awaiting the results of a poll to determine whether he should enter the Lt. Governor's race.

Brown-Hightower

One of the most colorful races on tap should be the Agriculture Commissioner's race, where incumbent Democrat Reagan Brown finds himself challenged by Jim Hightower, who ran for Railroad Commissioner two years ago.

Brown is a humorous
after-dinner speaker who spaces his jokes with unabashed patriotism, motherhood and apple pie, and
"we're number one" philosophy. Brown also announced for re-election last week and promised to tower over the sawed-off Hightower, a fiesty, folksy populist and consumer advocate.

Right out of the gate,
Brown made a mistake by claiming the endorsement of former Agriculture Commissioner John C. White, now a Washington-based lobbyist. By telephone, White told reporters he is staying out of all races.

Undaunted, Brown also said "We beat the Medfly and now we're going to beat the Gaddy." Capitol observers remembered that the gaddy tactics of Hightower

two years ago gave veteran campaigner Jim Nugent all the competition he wanted.

Land Commissioner

The political surprise of the week was the revelation that Midland State Sen.
Pete Snelson might enter the Land Commissioner race.
Many leaders in the Democrat Party are unhappy with already announced candidate Garry Mauro and potential candidate Speaker Bill Clayton. Mauro, a former party executive director, still has party squabbles to settle, and Clayton's Brilab credibility is still questioned.

For months now, Democrats have searched for an alternative candidate of Snelson's appeal. Snelson is expected to decide his plans in the next two weeks.

That news may prompt Clayton to speed up finalization of his plans. Although he had intended to wait until January, Clayton may announce his intentions earlier. Sources say Clayton considered other races, but has made up his mind on the Land Commissioner seat.

New Water Plan

The Texas Water Development Board last week authorized its staff to undertake a new effort to review and revise the Texas Water Plan, and to develop recommendations for the governor and legislature relating to long-range solutions to the state's water needs.

"While the proposed constitutional amendment relating to water did not gain voter approval on November 3, it did generate extensive public dialogue and resulted in vastly increased awareness of our growing water problems," Board
Chairman Louis Beecherl,
Jr., said.

Conservation Program Out for Public Review

The Secretary of Agriculture has invited the public to comment on the U.S. Department of Agriculture's proposed soil and water conservation program. The Secretary's preferred program features expanded roles for local and state governments and the targeting of USDA dollars and personnel to conserving critical resource problem areas.

People who are interested in the program, or potentially affected by it, are urged to comment. Responses will be accepted through January 15, 1982, and can be mailed to State Conservationist, Soil Conservation Service (SCS), P.O. Box 648, Temple, Texas 76503.

Tommy Powell, district conservationist for SCS at Wellington said the Secretary's proposed program would concentrate more USDA assistance in areas where soil erosion and other problems threaten to reduce agricultural productive capacity and to increase agriculture production costs. Basic USDA technical and financial assistance would continue in all areas.

The program would establish local and state conservation coordinating boards to identify critical problem areas, set priorities, and develop programs for local and state action to solve the problems. These boards would be based on existing organizations--conservation district boards, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) committees, extension advisory boards, and other groups.

Based on the recommendation from these local and state boards and national priorities, more USDA assistance would be aimed at reducing the most serious soil erosion and related problems.

Powell said the program is the Secretary's proposed response to the soil and Water Resources Conservation Act of 1977 (RCA). It is contained in an RCA Program report and a summary leaflet with response form that can be reviewed at the local SCS or Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office.

The basis for the program is an appraisal of the condition, trends and natural resource problems of the nation. Published in two reports, the appraisal is also available for public reference in the two USDA offices.

Kenneth Wyatt Paintings Featured in New Book

Dr. Kenneth Wyatt and Charles L. Allen have combined talents to prepare a book called Kenneth Wyatt's Western Art Interpreted by Charles L. Allen.

The 100 page inspirational book contains color copies of sixteen Wyatt paintings with each painting creatively interpreted by Allen.

His book will be for sale in Wellington by United Methodist Women, said Mrs. Gorman Owens.

Dr. Wyatt is giving the UMW a portion of the proceeds from the books sold here.

The book will be featured at the bazaar and dinner sponsored by the women of First United Methodist Church.

Dr. Wyatt, one of the best known of current cowboy artists, has close ties to Wellington, and for many years he has visited here frequently.

His wife is the former Veda Mae Kiker, and he is a brother-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Kiker.

Off the press in October 1981, the two editions of the book are now available through the United Methodist Women of First Church.

The Regular Edition costs $14.95. The Deluxe Edition, which is boxed and signed by both author and painter, costs $22.95.

Dr. Allen has been a popular Christian writer for many years. His best seller, God's Psychiatry, sold over 2 million copies. Some of his other well-known books include The Touch of the Master's Hand and All Things Are Possible Through Prayer.

Dr. Wyatt has established himself as a Western artist with a widening circle of appreciation outside the Southwest. His paintings are owned by many, including President Ronald Reagan and Queen Elizabeth, actors Ken Curtis and Milburn Stone, Congressman Jack Hightower and former Congressman Bob Price.

Dr. Wyatt grew up in Stephenville and received his bachelor's degree from McMurry College, Abilene, his degree in theology from Iliff School of Theology in Denver, and an honorary doctor of fine arts degree from McMurry.

An ordained Methodist clergyman, he was pastor of churches at Bardwell, Paducah, Chillicothe, Texline and Morton and conference evangelist when he began painting his western scenes full time.

An after dinner speaker of wit and humor, Dr. Wyatt has spoken throughout the southwest and appeared twice at Collingsworth Chamber of Commerce banquets. He has had two shows of his paintings here.

Kenneth and Veda Wyatt have two children, Mark of Houston, and Jill, a senior in Hardin Simmons University, Abilene.

Another Square Needed for Dance Lessons

One more square (8 people) is needed if square dance lessons are to be given on a break-even financial basis, Tommy Thomas, president of Texas Twisters announced Tuesday.

Enough dancers for two squares have said they are interested in lessons.

The cost of 20 lessons will be about $60 per couple, Thomas said.

The lessons will be given on Thursday nights, beginning December 3, and anyone interested should contact Thomas.

County Spelling Bee Announced

The director for the 1982 Collingsworth County National Spelling Bee has been named by the Amarillo Globe-News and West Texas State University (Canyon), sponsors the annual educational program.

In charge of the county's bee arrangements will be Mrs. Dollie Mae Wilson, appointed by the Collingsworth County Retired Teachers president. The group serves as county sponsors. Mrs. Wilson served in this capacity for the 1981 event.

The director will choose a date for the county contest and name a winner prior to April 3, 1982. The county champion will participate in the 34th Regional Spelling Bee in Amarillo on April 24 and will compete for numerous awards, including the top prize--an all-expense paid trip for two (courtesy of the newspaper) to Washington, D.C. in early June for the national event.

Rules for participation are established by the national sponsors, the Scripps-Howard Newspapers, Cincinnati, Ohio. DPS Head Urges Caution On Holiday

LUBBOCK - Major C. W. Bell, DPS Regional Commander, is asking drivers to be cautious during the Thanksgiving holidays.

"Thanksgiving is a time for us to rest and be grateful for many things. Each individual has his own feelings about Thanksgiving, but those drivers who practice good driving habits can be truly thankful that they were not involved in a traffic accident during the year," he said.

Major Bell pointed out that Texas is well on its way to a record number of traffic fatalities this year. "Last year 4,424 people were killed and 1981 is going to be another record year unless motorists take special precautions to protect themselves and others," he said.

"Many of these deaths could have been avoided if people would stay sober, drive at reasonable speeds and use their seat belts," said Bell. "Putting on a seat belt only takes a few seconds, but that simple act can add years to one's life," he emphasized.

Trespassing Law Changed In Texas

With the approach of hunting season in Texas, both property owners and sportsmen should be aware of recent changes in state law regarding trespassing, according to the Texas Farmers Union.

A person has committed criminal trespass if he has entered or remains on property or in a building and was notified that entry was forbidden or received notice and failed to leave the premises.

The law states the notice can be any oral or written communication from the property owner or a person who is acting under the owner's authority. Also, any fence which is designed to contain livestock is described under Texas law as a notice to a potential trespasser.

Signs which are posted on property or a building indicating trespassing is not allowed is sufficient notice of a violation.

Persons who violate the trespassing law are subject to a Class B misdemeanor if found guilty. However, if a person carries a deadly weapon in his possession and found guilty of trespassing, that violation is elevated to a Class A misdemeanor.

These changes in the trespassing law became effective Sept. 1, 1981.

TURNER REUNION

This 101 year old log house, with a more modern addition, at Pikeville, Tenn. was the setting of a family reunion honoring Doc Turner. Built by his grandfather, it has never been out of the family.

Turner Visits in East

Doc Turner returned recently from a trip to Pikeville, Tennessee that took him back to the house he was born in. He made the trip with his daughter, Mrs. Jackie Withey of Denver Colorado and his grandchildren Jim and Carol Gibbons and their son Kevin of Ft. Meade, Maryland.

This was the first trip Doc Turner had made back to his birthplace in 15 years and a family reunion was given in his honor. At the reunion, Turner was able to visit with relatives, some of whom he had never met before.

Approximately 75 people attended the noon meal "or at least that was as many as we could count," Turner said. He was also excited to show off 4 generations of his own family with daughter Jackie, her son Jim and his son Kevin.

The house where the reunion was held was built by his grandfather around 1880. Captain James Seals built the original log cabin which is still a primary part of the house, and it has been added onto over the years. Turner's cousin, Minnie V. Mills, and her husband Haskel currently live in the house and he was their guest for several days.

The house has been in the family continuously since it was built. Turner and his family also stayed with other cousins, Colonel Jim Seals his wife Jean and their daughter and her husband Eddie and Michele Roberts of Crossville, Tennessee. After leaving Tennessee, Doc, Mrs. Withey and the Gibbons drove across Tenn. and Virginia through the Blue Ridge Mountains. This was a first for all of them and was described as spectacular.

All the trees were beginning to turn shades of yellow, orange and red. Even pictures couldn't capture the amazing beauty of the mountains, they say.

Turner and his group also visited another grandson, Chester Gibbons and his family, Ingrid, Collen, Christopher and Andrea (whom he had never seen) in New Port News, Virginia. While staying in Virginia he also visited Williamsburg much of which has been restored to its colonial state.

Many of the people who live in the town work in the restored businesses and wear period costumes which really adds to the atmosphere. "The tour was very interesting and gave some appreciation for the luxuries we have now as well as some yearning for a more simple life style," Turner said.

In route back to Maryland they continued their drive up the Blue Ridge Mountains and through the Shennandoah Valley. Turner said "I'd always heard about the Shennandoah Valley and all my life I've wanted to see it. I wasn't disappointed because it was gorgeous and peaceful with all the dairy farms, rivers and small communities." Doc and his group were surprised to find that through this 45 mile valley they did not pass through one large town."

Upon returning to Maryland, Turner stayed with the Jim Gibbons another week and visited several places in Washington, D.C. One of the highlights of this was the visit to the U.S. Capitol Building.

"Standing in the Capitol Building Rotunda gives you a really awesome feeling seeing the history of our country abbreviated around the walls," he stated.

Another life long desire was fulfilled with a visit to Arlington Cemetery where he saw the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier and the grave of President John Kennedy.

Before returning home Turner flew to Denver, Colo. to spend some more time with his daughter Jackie Withey and her husband Bob. While there the Witheys took him to Leadville, Colo. "the 2 mile high city."

They visited friends there, where the Witheys had lived previously and where Turner had visited on several occasions.

The first television cook was Marcel Boulestin who demonstrated how to cook an omelet on English TV in 1937.

One of the islands of the 200-mile-wide mouth of the Amazon River is the size of Switzerland.

A HAPPY THANKSGIVING TO ALL!

Please accept our sincere thanks for letting us serve you. Too often in the rush of business life we fail to say "Thank you" loud enough for all to hear.

Santa Claus: the facts of life

One of the first facts of life that a little child must come to grips with is the question of Santa Claus. It's up to you, the parent, to give the Santa Claus fable as much or as little embellishment as you want.

Some parents like to stimulate young imaginations with wonderfully elaborate tales of Santa; others prefer to go easy on the Santa stories in order to keep things in perspective.

The truth is that, even if you deny the fantasies of Santa and the elves, your child will not. The parents of one little boy, who reared him without fantasies, told their babysitter to forget about pacifying their boy with any Christmas stories. "Teddy," they announced, "has never believed in Santa Claus." The second after they left, however, Teddy beamed and said that even though his folks pretended that they bought the presents, he knew better.

Children will believe in fairies, elves and Santa, if they want to believe and as long as they are happy believing. It makes no difference when a child accepts the truth, because most children are clever enough to see the Santa story for what it is--another reflection of your love.

The only confusion seems to be caused by the department store Santas who misinterpret their jobs. Despite the fact that most children will rationalize without your help--that this man isn't the real Santa--it might be better to tell your brood beforehand that all the Santas in the stores and on the street are only "helpers."

Almost without exception, on Christmas eve your children will be fretting over Santa's approval, no matter how much reassurance you give. When this happens it helps to tell them how wonderful they are, then let them help you prepare a midnight snack for Santa.

The Hollands Feature Best in Western Wear

Western wear is the trend, remind Frances and Kent Holland, owners of Livestock Supply and Western Wear.

The Western wear clientel has changed from the traditional farmer-rancher type to the everyday person who wants the comfortable easy-going look that western wear affords.

Go to the big cities, Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, San Antonio, etc., and you will see western hats, boots, or suits on nearly everyone.

All of this means that western wear is now the "in" thing and manufacturers and retailers are striving to take care of the demand.

The Hollands are no exception.

Their store includes only the best in the western wear. Top of the line names such as Resistol, Tony Lama, Panhandle Slim, Wrangler, Comfy, Walls, Justin and Acme are the key to their business.

"A lot of 'imitation' merchandise is everywhere, but the key to satisfied customers is to carry the best in western wear," Holland says.

In addition to this department, they also carry a complete line of tack. Saddles and tack at Livestock Supply and Western Wear is made in Clarendon by people living in this area who know what cowboys of this area want.

A complete line of animal health supplies feature name brands that include Cutter, Franklin, Pfizer, Rachelle. Cattle handling equipment from Power River, branding irons from L&H Manufacturing Co., and many more.

"Come by and see us for your western wear, animal health and equipment needs," says Frances and Kent Holland. We open at 7:30 a.m. and close at 5:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday. There is always a parking spot. Master Card and Visa credit cards are accepted and the store offers layaway plans.

Livestock Supply and Western Wear, in its distinctive western style building, is located on Highway 83.

Tune the piano, break out the sheet music, and brush up those golden oldies. Holiday time is sing-along time, and if you own a piano, you're in luck.

It takes a little imagination to make the most of your piano at parties. These tips from the National Piano Manufacturers Association should help:

• The more people that can gather around the piano and sing, the better—so move it away from the wall and into the center of the room.

Merchants Christmas Drawings Begin Dec. 5

Wellington's Christmas promotion program opens at the hour Santa Claus reaches Wellington, Saturday, Nov. 28, to visit this area's children.

Back by request of many merchants is the series of 5 Trades Day drawings plus a special children's drawing. The holders of lucky tickets will receive $100 in script at each drawing.

The dates are Saturday, Dec. 5 at 4 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 12 at 4 p.m., Wednesday, Dec. 16, at 4 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 19, at 4 p.m. and the regular drawing and children's drawing Thursday, Dec. 24 at 2 p.m. A gift will be given in the children's drawing.

Santa Clause in a special interview told The Wellington Leader this week that he will arrive at the court house at 2 p.m. and remain until 4.

He will visit with the children around the square, then return to the chourt house where the children will come by and visit at their leisure. They can sit on his knee and tell him all the things they want him to bring for Christmas.

This is a traditional visit, one to which all this area's children look forward.

Wellington merchants are already giving Trades Day tickets for merchandise bought.

Script totaling $500 will be given by the Wellington merchants, cooperating with the Chamber of Commerce in the Christmas promotion, given as $100 at each drawing.

Script will be in $5 denominations and must be spent at the participating Wellington merchants.

Individuals will be responsible for placing their own tickets in the hopper, and it is emphasized that they must retain the ticket stubs.

It is up to the individual merchant if he wants to hold a separate drawing in his own store.

Drawing rules are:

1. You must be present to win.
2. In order to win, a person must be 18 years of age or older.
3. Tickets are now being given away.

THE FIRST CHRISTMAS CARD

What probably was the first Christmas card appeared in 1843, and was designed by John Collcott Horsley.

Horsely was a fashionable artist of the day, and also a strict Victorian who led a campaign against the use of nude models.

His first Christmas card was commissioned by Sir Henry Cole, and took the form of an oblong sheet with three illustrations. In the center was a drawing of a middle class Victorian family at Christmas dinner.

On one side, was a depiction of a good Samaritan feeding the hungry. On the other, a drawing showed another good soul clothing the naked, though in this case the supposedly naked figure was drawn fully clothed.

Horsley presented his card to Sir Henry Cole with the inscription: "To his good friend Cole/Who's a merry young soul/And a merry young soul is he/And may be for many years to come/Hooray!"

Hatch Dry Goods Serves Area for 42 Christmases

Hatch Dry Goods, with a store filled by merchandise that is perfect for Christmas giving, celebrates the 42nd holiday season that it has served the people of the Collingsworth trade area.

The Christmas wishes of every member of the family--and all the kin and friends--can be served at one stop in Hatch Dry Goods.

But there's more reason for coming to Hatch's. You can shop leisurely, with the help of sales people who are interested in your needs, and who know your preferences.

You'll shop in a store that's convenient, with merchandise arranged and displayed for your convenience.

"We have one of the largest stocks of merchandise in the store's history. Some was chosen especially for this holiday, but much is the attractive stock we feature throughout the year, that brings customers from all over the southeast Panhandle and southwest Oklahoma," say Bil and Zelda Hatch the owners.

Customers of Hatch Dry Goods are drawn by the quality of the merchandise and the genuine friendliness the owners and their staff extend to every customer.

As a complete department store, there is clothing and shoes for men, as well as women and children. An entire section of household linens, feature lines and patterns you will find only in the exclusive department stores of the country.

Because Hatch customers enjoy living in this part of the southwest, Hatch fills their need for distinctive western style clothes. At the same time, they feature other lines that are casual and classic.

Hatch has assembled a section of gifts suitable for the bride, with emphasis on linens for the bedroom, bath and for dining.

Hatch Dry Goods was established by Bill's parents, Mrs. F.A. Hatch and the late Mr. Hatch, who came here from Eldorado, Okla.

Six years later Bill Hatch returned from Army service in World War II and bought one-third interest in the business.

His service had included a year and a half in the European Theatre of Operations with the 740th Tank Battalion.

Bill and Zelda Hatch have on their sales staff Mrs. Goldie Barnett, Mrs. Henry Langford and Mrs. Pearl Harwell and another longtime employee now working part time is Mrs. Hezze Jones.

Happy Holidays

During this holiday season we want to tell all of our customers and neighbors how much we appreciate your business.

Come see us for tires and car care to make sure all of your holiday trips are safe and happy ones!

We're looking forward to serving you throughout the holiday season and for many seasons to come.

The Holidays are Festive At Wellington Florist

Wellington Florist opened its Christmas season with their 10th annual open house, featuring the latest designs and colors for the 1981 holidays.

The dazzling display of materials and flowers, both real and silk, used in the arrangements that charmed the visitors. Never had there been such an array! Each design was original and bore the individual touch of the owner-designer.

Christmas weddings are especially festive, and Wellington Florist offers a wedding service that includes Swedish steel and brass wedding equipment. This would please any bride-to-be!

Alliene Shanks, owner, attended design schools in Lubbock, Amarillo and Abilene this year.

The Christmas rush is already under way at Wellington Florist, but Mrs. Shanks reviewed briefly the firm's history.

She and her husband,

Cecial Shanks, opened the business in May 1972. Growth began immediately.

Their daughter, Mrs. Don (Peggy) Hendrix, joined them in December 1975. She remains with the business although she has returned to her other profession, teaching.

Wellington Florist is associated with Florafax, Teleflora, AFS (American Floral Service) and FTD, which enables their customers to send flowers anywhere in the world.

But the primary interest is to fill the needs of the people at home, and in May 1973, the first greenhouse, on the north side of the existing building was opened. The second greenhouse opened in August 1975. This made possible the handling of a wider selection of green and blooming plants and expansion of its wedding service.

It also enabled Mrs.

Shanks to offer green plants, starter plants, cacti, garden and yard plants.

But here are other services which fill the needs of Wellington customers:

Popular with customers are repotting plants and babysitting plants during the winter or when a customer must be away for extended periods.

Bedding plants of all kinds, both flower and vegetable bulk seed and lawn and garden insecticides are offered.

Ace Hardware Spotlights Zenith Sales and Service

Ace Hardware's Buster Hughs can't talk about anything for Christmas except Zenith TVs, and he has an extra word for Space Phone, the TV that is also a telephone. Only Zenith has it.

Ace Hardware which Buster and Frances Hughs' own is the long-time approved agency for Zenith, and he takes pride in not only selling these televisions, but offering service to his customers. Associated with him with television service is Clyde Ingram.

Turning his attention back to the Space Phone, Hughs says:

"It's the hot item that Zenith has right now. It lets you make and receive phone calls without leaving your easy chair. The TV set is readily connected to any telephone line to function as a full-service telephone. It's especially popular with women.

They can sit in their chairs, watch television and talk to a friend."

In addition to this, Hughs reminds that Ace Hardware is also a general hardware store and features a wide variety of electronic items.

Ace Hardware takes its place among the long-time business houses in Wellington. It has carried this name since the late 1960s, but its Hughs-owned predecessor White's Auto Store, and a Hughs glass shop which he established in 1947.

Buster Hughs moved here with his family in 1937 from Quanah. Served in the famed Texas 36th Division in World War II.

In these 44 years, Buster Hughs has been a member of the Wellington Volunteer Fire Department 43 and was chief three. He has been president of the Panchhandle Firemen's Association.

sociation.

He is an active member and past commander of Glynn Moore Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and one of his concerns is that the men who have served the nation in its wars, especially World War II, are remembered.

Buster and Frances Hughs are members of First United Methodist Church.

INFORMAL HOLIDAY FESTIVITIES

"Tis the season to be jolly"—but just how jolly is often the question. You would really like to entertain friends and relatives but, if the thought of a sit down dinner for 20 gives you a case of the jitters, you'd probably be better off planning something relaxed and informal.

A traditional tree-trimming party is a get-together everyone—including you—is sure to enjoy.

You, as hostess, should provide the eggnog and cookies, tinsel, and baskets of popcorn and cranberries for stringing.

THIS FIRST TIME EASY Libby's Pumpkin Pie is the first time pie maker's answer for a holiday dessert. It's the fool-proof way to serve or give "I care" flavor at holiday get-togethers with family and friends.

Good news for first-time pie makers: yes, you can!

Tantalizing home-baked desserts add a special "I care" flavor to holiday get-togethers. Yet, for the first time pie maker the holiday season can add an extra case of the jitters.

Many doubts and fears come to mind as you recall some of the horror stories you've heard.

Will my crust be flaky? How long do I bake a pumpkin pie? How do I spice it?

Perfect every time

To ease your nerves and make your pumpkin pie a mashing hit for a family holiday feast or as a gift for a friend, here is a fool-proof recipe for perfectly mouth-watering results every time.

It's a variation of Libby's Famous Pumpkin Pie recipe which features delectable taste. It's extra easy to prepare with a no-roll pastry crust and one-bowl Libby's pumpkin filling.

Tasty holiday touch

The spoon-on garnish of whipped topping with a holiday touch of orange liqueur or brandy, if you so choose, can be an elegant special touch complementing the pumpkin which is rich in Vitamin A, plus lesser amounts of iron,

Vitamin C and other nutrients. This holiday home-baked pumpkin pie for enjoying at home or giving as a gift to a friend is especially prized at holiday time and bound to bring you pleasure and praises!

FIRST TIME EASY PUMPKIN PIE

- 1/2 of one 11 oz. package pie crust mix
- 3 to 4 tablespoons cold water
- 1 can (16 oz.) Libby's Solid Pack Pumpkin
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
- 1 1/2 teaspoons pumpkin pie spice
- 1 can (13 oz.) evaporated milk (1 1/2 cups)
- Spirited Whipped Topping (optional)

Preheat oven to 425° F. Prepare pie crust mix with water according to package directions for no-roll crust. Pat into bottom and sides of 9-inch pie pan. In bowl, combine pumpkin, sugar, eggs and spice; stir in milk. Pour into pie crust. Bake 15 minutes. Reduce oven temperature to 350° F; bake an additional 45 minutes or until knife inserted near center comes out clean.

Jake's Has a Suzuki for Everyone This Christmas

Suzuki!
There's a model for everyone!

This year Jake and Jane Maxwell urge purchasers to look at Suzuki. We have the cycles, parts and the experience to keep them going.

There are the F550, FA50 and FZ50 Scooter for the young and the older men and women. You'll get about 100 miles per gallon of gas.

"They're great for running errands," say Jake and Jane, owners of Jake's Cycle Shop.

"We have a bike for the mini-motocrosser, the RM60."

The RM80 is a way out in front this year, single shock suspension, full floater RM125 water cooled full reed engine and full floater rear suspension. You can bet it's a winner again.

Looking for a single shock water cooled RM250? "We have it. The RM465 full floater single shock. This machine is built to shut down competition.

"We have a good stock of street bikes, also used dirt and street bikes."

Besides motorcycles, Jake's has other things for Christmas. There's oil, tubes, tires, helmets, gloves, jerseys, goggles and accessories for the street bike.

"We encourage motorcycling as a family recreation.

"Come down to Jake's and make your boy or girl happy this Christmas."

MISTLETOE MYTH

Before cornering your sweetheart under the mistletoe, consider this. In olden times, it was believed that the girl who got kissed under that mystical branch would be married before the year was out.

Santa will love these stocking stuffer ideas

Having trouble thinking of goodies to stuff into your family's Christmas stockings? Here are a few suggestions that might add to the holiday fun.

Children always enjoy crayons and small coloring books, and there are plenty of small toys—from yo-yos to miniature cars to doll's house furniture—that are sure to bring a light to their eyes.

The chef of the house might enjoy some small kitchen utensils and some pretty bottles filled with herbs and spices.

Mom will be sure to appreciate bath salts and soap in the same fragrance.

And for Dad, how about a miniature tool set or a subscription to his favorite magazine?

Don't forget that everyone from Grandma to Junior enjoys sweets: candy canes and chocolate Santas wrapped in bright foil make a nice finishing touch.

Christmas Gift Needs Are Filled at Vernell's

The 1981 Christmas season opened with the first open house held by Vernell's Jewelry.

This featured the latest designs for the holidays, both for the fall and for Christmas.

Guests from out of town and from Wellington were amazed with the dazzling display of silk and dried floral arrangements. Each design was original, from the inexpensive to the extravagant.

New to the store since last Christmas is Mekasa fine china and crystal. Refinement and elegance are to be found in the unusual patterns, and these may be bought as any other fine china, by the set, the place setting or the single piece.

Brass remains the gift choice for many, and Vernell's wide range of items are sure to please the most discriminating.

Also to be found at Vernell's are the beautiful Keepsake and Our Love diamond rings and necklaces. There are fine watches for men and women, including Timex and Seiko watches.

Art glass in a variety of styles make delightful gifts. Vernell features pieces by the famous American glassmakers, Fenton and Westmorland.

Figurines, baby gifts, wooden pieces, Oriental pieces and kitchen accessories round out

EAT RIGHT BEFORE AND DURING HOLIDAYS

With all the shopping and preparing for the upcoming holiday season, you may be inclined to eat improperly.

Catching a quick bite on the go while searching for that "perfect gift" may leave you ravenous, causing you to overeat at dinner time.

You may also be tempted to snack on high calorie goodies for a quick lift.

Take time to eat a balanced diet. Try to include something from each of the four food groups—meat, dairy, fruits and vegetables—in every meal.

Complex carbohydrates, such as rice, pasta, and whole grained breads and cereal, are not fattening when eaten in small amounts, and they will supply you with the energy you need to get those happy holiday tasks done without gaining preholiday pounds.

Take a break from your hectic schedule, put the shopping list away and relax.

A cup of tea with lemon or perhaps a piece of fruit will ward away that hungry feeling you may get at mid-day.

Then, when the holiday festivities begin, you'll fit perfectly into that new Christmas dress and you can enjoy a little overindulging, knowing you look and feel great!

one group of gifts.

Vernell has not forgotten the customer who is searching for a distinctive card. The Ambassador and western Leaning Tree lines are carried.

Vernell's can fill all your wedding needs, from gifts for the wedding, to the wedding itself. Vernell's can supply you with silk or real flowers.

D.C. and Vernell Hale have owned Vernell's Jewelry in Wellington since 1977. Vernell Hale chooses merchandise with care and with knowledge of the Wellington customer's preference in mind.

To get a wide variety, she attends major markets of the area.

The Wellington staff includes Pam Sherwood, manager, Melinda Martindale and Vickie Jackson, all trained by Vernell to assist the buyer with selections, whether they are buying for themselves or for giving.

DON'T FORGET YOUR FAITHFUL POOCH!

The kids' presents are wrapped, the bottles of perfume for the aunts are labeled, the stockings are stuffed, the cards are made out.

But, haven't you forgotten someone? Old Spot, that loyal canine, should receive something too. Hasn't he been a faithful friend and confidante all these months?

Doggy stocking

Include him in the festivities by making a stocking for him in the shape of a dog bone, and filling it with dog or puppy biscuits.

This can be done easily with a piece of red felt about 9" by 10". Fold it in half and trace a bone pattern on paper.

Then, use the paper as a guide to cut the felt. Stitch around the sides and bottom leaving an opening at the top for the biscuits.

The finishing touch? A loop of ribbon sewn on the top so that it can be hung on the tree, or with the rest of the stockings on Christmas eve.

TASTY YULE TREAT

OYSTER STEW

- 1 stick butter or margarine
- 3 cups oysters
- 2 cups milk
- 4 cups medium cream
- Salt and pepper to taste
- Cayenne pepper and paprika

Melt butter and sauté the oysters until the edges curl, about three minutes. Add the milk and cream and bring to a boil. Season with salt, pepper and cayenne and sprinkle with paprika. Makes 16 small servings.

Seasons Greetings

Charming stocking stuffers made of gold

Santa couldn't have it any easier this holiday season. He's giving clever little bits of gold jewelry, the perfect stocking stuffer.

With today's increasing insistence on quality and the Reagan budget cut, more Christmas shoppers are expected to join Santa in gifting their loved ones with karat gold jewelry.

According to the Gold Information Center, lower gold prices and the fashion emphasis on dressier, more elegant looks have rekindled the gold rush.

Jewelry stores around the country are reportedly well-stocked for the holidays, with a greater variety of gold jewelry gift choices.

There's something for everyone, in all price ranges, from the most luxe, opulent 18-karat gold designs, to fanciful and affordable novelties and charms in 14-karat gold.

So, this year say it with gold jewelry and your sentiments will be cherished for years to come!

All about firewood: cutting, splitting, stacking and using

The look and sound of a roaring fire and especially the mood it creates are enjoyed by many. However, the energy crunch has also changed some thinking, and the inclination is to look toward the fireplace and firewood as a source of inexpensive heat.

If so, then which wood is best? Softwoods, such as pine, fir and spruce, are easy to ignite and burn very fast with a hot flame. But, the very speed with which softwoods burn is what makes this wood the least desirable fireplace fuel of all.

Such a fire needs constant attention and frequent replenishing. On the other hand, a softwood fire, say the people at Homelite, can be the perfect answer when a warm-up fire is desired just to remove a chill.

In general, avoid using scrap lumber and refuse. These materials, especially when excessively dry, produce a great deal of sparking which escapes up the flue and becomes a fire hazard.

The best fire—one which is longer-burning with a good amount of heat—is produced by combining softwoods with hardwoods such as oak, maple, birch and ash. The hardwood species burns less vigorously and with a shorter flame; thus they burn slower.

How much energy does wood produce? According to Homelite, one cord of average hardwood such as white ash provides fuel equivalent of 165 gallons of oil... very dense wood such as live oak as much as 244.55 gallons... and softwoods such as eastern white pine the equivalent of 86.9 gallons.

For the right scent, add woods from fruit and nut trees. Apple, cherry, hickory and pecan, for instance, all give off extra-pleasant aromas. In most cases, fruitwood smoke resembles the fragrance of the tree's fruit.

Firewood is sold by the cord—a stack measures 4' x 4' x 8'. Today a cord of wood sells from $75 to $150 depending upon the wood species ordered and the locale.

The price of firewood alone is ample reason and argument in favor of homeowner cutting, and this is the season to buy that new chain saw. Once slightly more than a cord of firewood is cut, the price of the chain saw is virtually paid.

Given care, a quality chain saw will be cutting fireplace logs for many years. Homelite's popular VI Super 2 chain saw, for example, allows cut logs up to 20 inches in diameter.

The saw, with a Safe-T-Tip® protective device to eliminate possibility of kick-back, features a triaxial anti-vibration system, deluxe safety hand guard and single trigger with safety interlock.

Try to pick out straight grained, knot-free logs too. These are much easier to split than those with crooked grain. Also keep in mind that green or wet woods are more easily split than seasoned wood. And, softwoods, in general, split with less effort.

SNACKS FOR SANTA'S VISIT

Getting ready for Santa's visit is a ritual in many homes, and one thing children love to do is to leave out those famous treats for Santa to nibble at during his long night's labors.

This year, before bedtime, put that excitement to work and let the children participate by making a batch of cookies for Santa. It's an excellent way for them to learn the joys of giving.
