Menace To U. S. Is Reduced For Time, Stimson Asserts

WASHINGTON, June 18 (AP)—Secretary of War Stimson said today the losses inflicted on the Japanese in the Pacific had temporarily but substantially reduced the threat of an attack on the Pacific coast which he has repeatedly said might be expected.

War and navy department information is, he said, that the Japanese thus far had made only a "very small landing" in the Aleutian Islands off Alaska but he stressed that fog and unfavorable weather obscured developments in the North Pacific.

New Soldiers To Get Plenty Of Practice

WASHINGTON, June 18 (AP)—Four months of intensive war time field maneuvers, stressing desert and jungle fighting and joint operations by air and ground forces, will open for a large portion of the expanding army July 13.

Secretary Stimson announced this schedule today. Six army corps, each of two or more divisions, will undergo the training, in the south and west.

Aimed at providing "the most thorough training ever developed for American troops," the maneuvers will help condition troops "both mentally and physically for the job that lies ahead," the war secretary said.

The schedule for the maneuvers, Stimson said, was arranged so that use of air and armored forces would not conflict in the different areas. Only more seasoned troops will take part.

The schedule:

Second army corps, July 13-September 6, Louisiana area.
Eighth army corps, August 3-September 20, Louisiana area.
First army corps, August 17-October 11, Louisiana area.
Seventh army corps, August 24-October 18, desert training area.
Third army corps, September 14-November 8, Camp Forrest, Tenn.
Fourth army corps, September 21-November 8, Louisiana area.

Efforts Renewed For Ceiling Subsidies

WASHINGTON, June 18 (AP)—The administration today renewed efforts to obtain legislation permitting payment of government subsidies to keep price control ceilings intact in the face of rising production and transportation costs.

Senator Brown (D-Mich.) said he would confer with Price Administrator Leon Henderson and Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones next week on a bill designed to permit the government to help finance the production and distribution of certain vital commodities, such as sugar, gasoline and coal, that otherwise could not be sold in some areas at a profit.

TRIALS TO RESUME

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), June 18 (AP)—France's Riom war guilt trials are expected to be resumed in about two months according to dispatches from Vichy today.

Bergen Really Can Afford To Pay Charlie 75c Week

PHILADELPHIA, June 18 (AP)—Edgar Bergen, whose lively "dumpty" friend, Charlie McCarthy, has been pleading for an increase in a 75 cents a week allowance, was paid $282,000 for his radio work in 1941 by Standard Brands, Inc.

Bergen's income was almost four times the payment made by the company to its former president and present chairman, Thomas L. Smith, who received $75,000, additional annual reports filed with the securities and exchange commission revealed today.

Many of the late reports showed executives of firms now engaged in war production were given substantial increases last year. Included in this group were Charles B. Lough, president, treasurer, general manager of the Hercules Motor Corporation, Canton, Ohio, who received $80,000, including $35,000 as bonus or share in profits, a $21,000 increase over his 1940 income, and Parker F. Williams, president of the Pittsburgh Steel Foundry Corporation, who jumped from $21,024 in 1940 to $46,350 last year.

Other remunerations included: Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway company—E. J. Engel, president, $60,000; American Zinc Lead and Smelting company—H. I. Young, $50,385; Texas and Pacific Railway company—J. L. Lancaster, chairman and president, $50,535; Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad company—Matthew S. Sloan, chairman and president, $50,000; Union Electric company of Missouri—William McClellan, president and chairman, $55,500; Texas and New Orleans Railroad company—H. M. Lull, vice president, $40,000; Lone Star Cement Corp.—Charles L. Hogan, president, (died) $42,500; Lone Star Gas Corp.—D. A. Hulsey, president and director, $35,625.

When discharged they leave a trail of sparks like the tail of a comet.

Where Allies Struck—British convoys which fought under heavy axis air and naval attacks delivered necessary supplies "at considerable cost," London announced, despite engagements with Italian air and naval units. In one engagement an Italian naval force, sighted south of Taranto and attacked (1) by U. S. bombers and RAF striking (white arrows) from Malta and Africa, was turned back with heavy losses. Another Italian force south of Pantelleria (2) was hard hit by Royal Navy torpedo planes and the RAF.

War Expenditures Now At Rate Of Billion A Week

WASHINGTON, June 18 (AP)—Budget Director Harold D. Smith revealed today that America's arms factories are rolling so fast now that government war expenditures have climbed to approximately $1,000,000,000 per week.

"That shows," he said in an interview, "how we are going into action against the axis."

The accelerated pace of war production, Smith continued, "assures our hitting on the nose our estimate of $28,000,000,000 of war expenditures for the fiscal year which ends this month."

He said the pace also made possible his estimate that $70,000,000,000 would be spent for war in the coming fiscal year.

Treasury expenditures for war purposes alone, Smith explained, have climbed steadily from $409,400,000 in the week before Pearl Harbor to $944,100,000 last week.

The $1,000,000,000 a week pace not only is the biggest spending figure in American history, but it also overshadows every other belligerent's cost. Sir Kingsley Wood, chancellor of the British exchequer, said yesterday that his country was spending $337,000,000 a week. German, Russian and other totals also are lower although exact figures are not available. Foreign money totals, however, are not necessarily comparable to American figures because of differences in resources and price levels.

Not counting about $6,000,000,000 of other federal expenses that have to be paid for, the current fiscal year's war costs will be about twice as big as all federal tax revenues, estimated by Smith at $12,700,000,000. Sale of war bonds and regular government securities finance the balance.

Added Excise Taxes Slated

WASHINGTON, June 18 (AP)—A sales tax was conceded by its advocates today to have only an outside chance of approval as the house ways and means committee began putting the finishing touches on a tax bill which probably will produce about $6,650,000,000 in new revenues.

Hoping to end its work in a week, the committee still has to vote formally on a sales tax and two other subjects—a post-war credit for corporations which pay excess profits taxes, and withholding of individual income taxes at the source.

The administration was reported to be exerting "terrific pressure" against what sales tax sentiment remained in the committee, and one of those who has been advocating it to make up the difference between the present bill and the treasury's revised $8,700,000,000 tax goal observed "it looks like we're locked."

The current committee trend toward increased selective excise taxes instead of a general retail sales tax was emphasized yesterday when the bill's total revenue from that source was boosted $408,000,000 to $971,000,000.

The largest gain approved tentatively was a 5 per cent tax on transportation of freight and express by common carriers, estimated to produce $300,000,000.

FRENCHMAN WOUNDED

VICHY, France, June 18 (AP)—State's Attorney Falk was wounded seriously yesterday afternoon by the explosion of a package which was handed to him just as a court session opened at Beaune. Authorities blamed someone bent on personal vengeance.

Messerschmitt 'Bombards' New York—This Nazi Messerschmitt, piloted by Major Elmer McKesson of Richmond, Va., "bombarded" New York with leaflets urging the purchase of war bonds. Here, it is at LaGuardia airport after the flight. The plane, bearing swastikas but also RAF markings to prevent erroneous identification, was brought to the U. S. from England, where it was shot down. The pilot was killed but the plane landed safely and was salvaged.

U. S. Bomber Command For China Set Up

Col. Caleb Haynes Is Chief; Japan's Invasion Unchecked

CHUNGKING, June 18 (AP)—Col. Caleb V. Haynes has been appointed chief of the American bomber command in China, it was announced today.

Just where and when the new American force would go into action naturally was a military secret.

(It was not disclosed what force would comprise the American bomber command in China. There have been reports that United States air units and personnel had arrived there, but these were without confirmation. Already operating in China are Big Gen. Claire L. Chennault's Flying Tigers—the American volunteer group with the Chinese air force—but these are scheduled to be taken back into the army air force July 6.)

Col. Haynes recently led personally the aerial evacuation of Burma. While stationed in India as commander of the Assam-Burma-China ferrying command, he repeatedly risked his life to fly gasoline to the American volunteer group of fliers in Burma and bring out refugees and military personnel.

The news from the China fighting front again was dark.

Chinese headquarters acknowledged that Japan's invasion armies now had seized all but 50 miles of the 450-mile Chekiang-Kiangsi railway which feeds supplies into the heart of China.

This offensive is an important part of the Japanese campaign to tighten their cordon around the still free regions of southern China and thereby strangle Gen. Chiang's war-time capital at Chungking.

Informed Chungking quarters said they believed Japan might attack Russian Siberia before the summer is over, but declared that at the moment the Japanese were concentrating on reinforcing their air strength in the China and Burma theatres.

Chinese army intelligence reports indicated that the Japanese had now massed 500 planes in Burma—perhaps for an attack on India or on far southwest China—and had increased the number actually in China to 200.

3,000,000 Dutchmen To Be Transferred

MOSCOW, June 18 (AP)—A German plan for the transfer of 3,000,000 Dutchmen to Nazi-occupied districts of eastern Europe is part of a vast scheme for resettlement of the conquered peoples with the aim of opening choice areas for Germans and weakening resistance to the forces of occupation, Tass reported in a Geneva dispatch today.

War Bond Prize For Top Rubber Collector

COLEMAN, June 18 (AP)—A $25 war bond, purchased by the Lions club, will be the prize for the individual who brings in the most scrap rubber from this county. Lions club members voted to use money they obtained from sale of scrap to buy cigarettes for soldiers in foreign service.

Ft. Worth Base For Air Corps Supply

PORT WORTH, June 18 (AP)—Selection of Fort Worth as the administrative center for a supply system for United States army air forces based in six southern and southwestern states was announced yesterday.

Approximately 20 officers and 50 civilians will comprise the initial complement assigned there by the second air service area command headquarters. Its territory will include Texas, Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas and that portion of Louisiana west of the Mississippi river.

GERMANS PUSH INTO PORT'S INNER RING; BRITONS WITHDRAW

By ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press War Editor

Grave new threats to the British armies in North Africa and the Russian defenders of Sevastopol were reported today as the German high command asserted that Nazi troops had driven into Sevastopol's immediate defense ring and had split the British Libyan armies into two parts.

A bulletin from Adolf Hitler's field headquarters said the German siege armies storming Sevastopol, the last big Soviet stronghold in the Crimea, had captured Fort Maxim Gorky and driven within two miles of the harbor entrance.

The communique described Fort Maxim Gorky as "the most modern and strongest bastion of the whole fortress."

While the Germans pictured the great Black Sea citadel as crumbling under the battering of shock troops, bombers and big siege guns, Soviet dispatches declared that close artillery fire had thrown back wave after wave of tank-led Nazi attacks.

"The enemy attempted by every means to break through our defense, but failed," said Pravda, official newspaper of the communist party.

"All enemy attacks were successfully beaten off with heavy losses. . . . Even tanks did not help the Germans; they retired, being unable to stand our artillery fire. . . . Besides capturing Fort Maxim Gorky in the main fortifications north of the city, the axis assault forces also drove back stubborn Red army troops on the southern fortifications; the Hitler command said.

In the Libyan desert struggle, British imperial headquarters acknowledged that British troops had withdrawn from two key defense points at Sidi Rezegh and El Adem.

The German high command said the British forces had been split into two parts.

One part has fallen back on Tobruk, while strong German and Italian tank formations are pursuing other British forces fleeing in the direction of Bardia, the high command said.

Sidi Rezegh is 25 miles southwest of Tobruk and 50 miles from the Egyptian frontier; El Adem is 18 miles due south of Tobruk.

An Italian war bulletin asserted that aerial reconnaissance disclosed the British were beginning a general withdrawal toward the Egyptian frontier.

Last year, the British withstood eight months of violent siege at the Mediterranean coastal fortress until relieved by a new expeditionary force striking out of Egypt.

The Reuters (British news agency) correspondent at Cairo, headquarters of Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck's imperial command, said Tobruk was "practically surrounded" with the coastal road the only route left open to the east.

Despite axis armored supremacy, the British declared they still maintained superiority in the air.

The setback at two vital points on the half-moon front apparently meant that the British were now falling back on Tobruk's main defense works, where British Tommies, Australians, New Zealanders and Indian troops made history with their stand against axis siege armies last year.

The fascist command said axis warplanes and blasting at British troops and lines of communications between El Adem and the Egyptian border, apparently seeking to prevent the arrival of reinforcements from the east or a retreat from the area toward Egypt.

On the Kharkov front, Soviet dispatches said new attacks in Field Marshal Fedor von Bock's week-old offensive were bloodily repulsed.

"The enemy left 600 men killed on the battlefield, nine damaged tanks and a large quantity of arms," a Soviet communique reported. An earlier communique listed 1,500 German casualties and 15 tanks destroyed.

Airport Outlet To Be Changed

Plans are almost complete for narrowing the entrance of the road leading from highway 80 to the airport, according to County Judge Walton Morrison.

At present the entrance is much wider than needed, and the action is being taken as a money saving measure. By keeping the road entrance up to its present width it would be necessary to purchase potential business property.

Blueprints of the proposed plans have been turned over to the state highway department and property holders along the right of way have been consulted.

No further action has been taken concerning the new road from scenic mountain to the airport.

City Rubber Collection At 110,000 Lbs.

Second wind came Thursday to the salvage rubber campaign in Big Spring as the total collection sprung forward to more than 110,000 pounds.

More and more, the service stations about the city were coming in with reports of collections and many anticipated that rural folks would throw in a real blow Saturday when they come to town with their old tractor tires and other rubber goods about the place.

Reports compiled from bulk station agents and from scrap dealers by the chamber of commerce showed 43,025 pounds which ran the total to 110,710 pounds since the first was turned in Monday afternoon.

John Matthews at Firestone reported that J. B. Dempsey turned in a little rubber doll and rubber rats which Dempsey's three-year-old son charged him to bring to town for the campaign.

More and more automobile floor mats were being found in the collections over town, but this source of salvage rubber hardly had been tapped, collectors said.

Some individual stations were really going out after the salvage. Of the 14,000-pound total collected by Howard County Refining Co. from its stations, 10,255 pounds came from the City Tire Exchange.

Conference On Housing Set Monday

Chamber of commerce officials tentatively set Monday at 8 p. m. as the time for informal meeting looking toward construction of badly needed housing units here.

H. L. Willeford, Lubbock, evaluator for the district FEA office, said on a brief visit here Thursday morning, that either he or J. A. Raley, in charge of the Lubbock office, probably would be on hand to answer questions raised by would-be builders.

At the same time, chamber officials were planning to invite organizers of corporations in surrounding areas so that they may answer questions put by those interested in a similar procedure here.

Willeford said that while getting materials was always difficult in current times that he believed that "if the War Production Board went into your case and awarded you 70 housing units (as was the case in declaring the city as a "critical" housing area), you will be able to get materials for that many units."

Should there be a failure locally to provide for the housing units, Willeford indicated that other builders in the territory were anxious to come in and install as many of the units as possible. One concern, he ventured, had materials on hand to build some 80 houses.

Local lumber companies had materials for around 20 to 25 houses, a survey showed.

Mexico Helps In Sub Search

By The Associated Press

News of aid to the United States in the war on axis submarines came from Mexico City today, with the announcement that Mexican patrol planes are scouring the Gulf of Mexico and the Pacific under orders to "sink on sight" all prowling submarines.

While the officially announced toll of ship sinkings since Pearl Harbor amounted at 276 in the Atlantic and adjacent waters, Gen. Robert Fierro, chief of Mexico's military aviation, said:

"Our pilots are winging far out to sea, searching for the enemy everywhere. We have no news of any encounters yet, but our fliers hope it will not be long before they have an opportunity to fire their machine guns and lose their bombs against an enemy."

Mexico declared war on the axis powers three weeks ago.

Fierro said 12 modern patrol planes have reached Mexico in recent days and already are in service. Acknowledging difficulty in obtaining more ships speedily from the United States, he said Mexico is expanding its own manufacturing and repair facilities.

The torpedoing of an unidentified allied merchantman was disclosed last night with the landing of 14 survivors at an eastern Canadian port.

Safety Class Exams July 6

Nine more class meetings remain before final exams for the industrial safety class being held evenings at the high school under direction of King Bides.

Final tests will be taken on July 6th and those in class who successfully pass the course will receive certificates from the sponsor college, Texas Tech.

The course, which is sponsored jointly by the United States office of education and the Department of Labor through the national committee for conservation of manpower, includes 12 lessons. There are ten men and two women enrolled and meeting each Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 7:30 o'clock.

Visits to several plants including an oil mill, printing office, creamery, airport, high school, highway warehouse and machine shops have been made during the class for inspection and study of safety methods.

Lessons in the course include study of safety movements, the psychology of safety, safeguarding machinery and correct lighting. The enrollees studied machine maintenance, housekeeping, protective clothing and equipment and eye injuries. Study of explosives, electrical hazards, health, diet and first aid are all included in the course.

Crop Progress Is Normal For Texas Areas

AUSTIN, June 18 (AP)—Progress of crops and farm work was about normal in most of the state last week except in much of North and East Texas where rains kept fields too wet and in the southwest where crops were suffering from dry to drouthy weather, the U. S. department of agriculture and Texas agricultural extension service reported today.

Conditions in the northwest favored continued planting of row crops and as grains moved toward harvest rains brought relief to much of an area previously dry. The critically dry portions of south Central Texas were considerably reduced also by rains.

Wheat was ripening under favorable conditions throughout most of the Panhandle and harvest in the low plains revealed better than average yields. Hail accompanying recent rains in the northwest destroyed some acreage. Harvest of wheat, oats and barley was well advanced in all other parts of the state including those where acreage had been severely reduced by drouth and greenbugs in the spring.

Rices was practically all needed and the crop was making better than usual progress on a greatly increased acreage.

The cotton crop progressed satisfactorily during the week in all areas except in north Central Texas, including the blackland area, and in East Texas, where it was mostly too wet for completing planting, for cultivating and chopping the acreage already up.

No Time-Table On War, Official Says

DALLAS, June 18 (AP)—Undersecretary of Commerce Wayne C. Taylor warned today that "one of the most useless of current mental pastimes is attempting to guess how long the war will last." "You can't establish a time table for victory, it has to be long enough to win, and the sooner the better," he declared in an address prepared for delivery before delegates to the national junior chamber of commerce convention.

He pointed out that "this war isn't a ten-round exhibition match with time out between rounds. It's a fight to a finish, with all that implies. It will be over only when the axis armies are defeated and disarmed."

The halibut fishery of Newfoundland has not been fully developed because of lack of cold-storage facilities, the department of commerce reports.

The famous tunnel of the Trans-Andean railway which unites Argentina and Chile has recently been opened to motor traffic, according to the department of commerce.

Naval Aviation Manpower Coming From Bases Like The One At Grand Prairie

Identifying Planes— The Grand Prairie navy cadets get lots of schooling, including identification of all types of planes, models of which are suspended from wires and studied. Cadets following the supposed flight of a big bomber are, from left, Gene Ritter, Ardmore, Arthur Payton, Jr., Fort Worth, Lester Stout, Edinburg, and Michael Leahy, Austin.

HENSELEY FIELD, GRAND PRAIRIE, June 16 (AP)—The Navy is winning its battle of production, too, and this naval reserve aviation base proves it. Out there on the broiling flatlands near aptly-named Grand Prairie are evidences today of prodigious efforts the U. S. Navy is exerting to smooth out a bottleneck in producing peerless combat fliers.

The bottleneck was in manpower—developing when under war's demands huge training schools at Corpus Christi and Pensacola, Fla., were charged with producing more fighting pilots.

Hensley's naval air base, given New York, will ease the load and help increase the output to 30,000 pilots a year. Hensley Field is no new military establishment freshly sprung, like some of the Army camps, from the raw Texas soil. It has been here for years, serving as a minor Army base. When war approached the Navy "borrowed" part of the field.

The field here is in midstream. New barracks, gas pits, runways and greater flying field acreage are in the midst of construction.

New Thrift-T-Lids On Jars Aids To Home Canning

Glass packed foods are doing double duty today in the housewife's arsenal—the kitchen—through the introduction of the new No. 63 Thrift-T-Lids. These ingenious lids work just like two-piece lids women have already been using for sometime. But now you buy only one piece and use it under the screw cap that comes on the coffee jar.

With the No. 63 Thrift-T-Lids, now on sale at most grocers, there is no need to buy rubber rings or jar caps. The Thrift-T-Lid fits the jar with a smaller size opening. The opening of this approved jar is less than 1-4 inch smaller than mason type jars, so it is easy to pack any kind of fruit or vegetable.

The Folger Coffee company is helping in the distribution of Thrift-T-Lids in this area. The suggestion is that you save your coffee jars, buy Thrift-T-Lids at your grocers and be all set for any home canning this summer, whether it be pressure cooker, water bath, oven, or open kettle!

Light Plus Noise May Equal Meteor

ABILENE, June 18 (AP)—Many West Texas residents speculated today on whether a brilliant light and a loud explosion heard in this vicinity might have been caused by a meteorite. Reports were received here and in other nearby towns last night of a brief glare which passed across the sky in a northwesterly direction, followed by a thunderous report. An observer at Lake Pauline estimated that a meteorite might have plunged to earth farther north, possibly in Oklahoma.

The enlargement will cost well over a million dollars.

What is the uproar about? Hensley is getting set to handle its share of the new, case-hardened aviation candidates who soon will pour from pre-flight schools in Georgia, Iowa, North Carolina and California.

These students, toughened in the severest physical training program ever devised, will come here for primary flight work. They will start right off the bat learning to handle planes in the air.

From the beginning they will give half their time to ground school, half to flight training. When they finish they will be ready for the stiffer, basic instruction offered at Corpus Christi, where they get their wings.

Things are done a bit differently now at Hensley.

The student pilots get a month of ground schooling before they fly. They drill and exercise. They go to classes, learning to identify all kinds of planes they work with wood models made by boys and girls; they learn to read and receive messages by code, blinker, semaphore and voice, what makes planes tick and how to get in and out of a parachute.

Lieut. L. E. Rosenberg, in charge of the ground school, makes it clear the Navy teaches its students only the practical things of combat flying. Useless theory—"The things that wouldn't help a pilot get himself out of a pinch"—is passed over.

The Navy is shooting at a pilot-production rate of 2,500 a month, but Corpus Christi and Pensacola could not bridge the gap between that and the present pilot production pace, where there no feeder schools like Hensley.

The "NRAB" soon will be filling up its new barracks with twice the number of men it now trains, and this greater stream of tough, smart young men will be fed to the basic schools.

Then, with their new-won wings, they will be about ready for the enemy.

Jap Loses 10 To Our One In Coral Sea And Midway Battles

We'll Deliver Harder Blows, Nimitz Says

PEARL HARBOR, June 18 (AP)—American air power exacted a stunning toll of 10 Japanese men and planes for every one lost by the United States in the Coral Sea and Midway Island battles and rapidly is being bulked for even greater sledgehammer blows.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz made the cheering disclosures yesterday aboard a fighting ship in an address to his Pacific fleet during which he urged the heroic veterans of the two titanic sea-air fights "to hold the line until our reinforcements are ready to take over."

Acknowledging that losses to United States carrier air groups have been heavy since the war opened, due to initial Japanese air superiority, the commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet strongly hinted that the picture was changing rapidly.

"Whereas the personnel on aircraft carriers had to fight on with little rest or relief in the first stages of the war, Admiral Nimitz said "it will soon be possible to organize additional carrier groups and to rotate them."

"Although we feel keenly the loss of many fine officers and men, we take pride in knowing they gave their lives to turn back grave threats to our country," he declared.

"We can take satisfaction in the knowledge that in every meeting with the enemy since Dec. 7 his losses have greatly exceeded ours, and that in the Coral Sea and Midway actions his personnel losses were at least ten times greater than ours, and his plane losses in almost the same ratio."

"We are greatly increasing our battle strength. Our ships, planes and pilots are being added in constantly increasing numbers."

Admiral Nimitz praised the teamwork of the army, navy and marines in achieving the Midway victory, and announced medal awards to personnel of the aviation corps and the submarines.

But he pointed out that air power has played the leading role both in the Coral Sea and off Midway "and will continue to do so as the war progresses."

"The Coral Sea and Midway battles are the first in history in which great aerial duels were fought by carrier fleets," he added.

"Our air groups have proved, by their skill and courage, the superiority of our forces. They have shown that in our ships, in our planes and in personnel is the stuff that makes for victory."

Rommel: Germany's Desert Daredevil

Wide World Features
Blond, blue-eyed Marshal Erwin Rommel, commander of the Afrika Corps, holds Hitler's friendship, and the professional respect of British military strategists. When his men go into action, the 51-year-old fighting commander goes with them in Africa as he did in Australia, Poland and France, a gold-braided dress cap on his head, his face clean shaven, his eyes sparkling with excitement.

Truman Calls For Changes In WPB; Criticizes Delays

WASHINGTON, June 18. (AP)—A gravitation to their own industries. The senate conclusions differed widely from an earlier report by a house military affairs subcommittee which commended efforts of the dollar-a-year men and said Guthrie's charges lacked proof other than an evidence of sharp differences of opinion among war production officials.

"The WPA has not fully measured up to this responsibility," Truman said in a statement.

He went on to say that "fulfillment of this responsibility will require a change in both the organization and personnel of some branches and divisions in the WPA."

The 32-page printed report upheld part of the charges made against WPB by Robert P. Guthrie, who resigned March 14 from the WPB executive staff with a protest that some dollar-a-year men had impeded the war production program because of private interests.

Recommending additional restrictions on business executives now serving in the war production effort, the senate committee said it believed that "the Guthrie case points to the conclusion that certain dollar-a-year men within the bureau of industry branches (of WPB) are unable to divorce themselves from their subconscious."

Machine Speeds Up Aviation Exams

WASHINGTON, June 18. (AP)—The navy has turned out a quiz machine to test aviation cadets on aircraft and ship identification. When a control button is pressed, a question card pops out of a small window. The cadet studies the question and then presses one of a row of buttons corresponding to a variety of possible answers. A light panel flashes "correct" or "incorrect."

The cadet is scored both on the accuracy and speed of his answer.

Drying Methods Listed For Food Preservation

Drying is coming back under the press of war as a means of preserving food, and farmers who are accustomed only to putting up a few shelled beans may be in for some surprises.

To begin with, food drying is so exacting a process that the job probably will have to be turned over to the wife. Drying today means drying. There's no limit to what can be put up—fruits, vegetables and certain cereals and root foods. Apples, pears, peaches, apricots, cherries, plums, figs, dates, berries, sweet corn, mature beans and peas, sweet potatoes, green snap beans, okra, asparagus, greens, etc., all may be stored well in this manner.

According to Winifred Jones, food preservation specialist for the Texas A. & M. extension service, the best process for drying foods now involves blanching the item in most cases. Blanching, however, is better stated as steaming, the currently favored procedure which follows washing and precedes the actual drying.

Vegetables and some fruits require this step. To prevent discoloration and loss of certain flavor, some fruits are subjected to a solution of tiosulfamide and some to salt and vinegar before starting drying operations.

While the sun is still perhaps the most economical means of drying food, it no longer is the only or the best. Today the washed and blanched food is placed over a heated surface, a stove plate or the oven and subjected to proven temperatures. Usually these range from 100 up to the top of 180. By starting slowly and increasing the temperature, foods dry from the inside out and the process is thus hastened.

When properly and completely dried, fruits lose their stickiness and under finger pressure tend to resume their original dried form. Well dried vegetables may be fairly accurately told by the "feel."

There is an amazing loss of weight and volume. Green snap beans will shrink to almost nothingness—or 25 pounds of the dried product. Corn shrinks to bird pebble size, and beans look scarcely bigger than shot.

Consequently, space requirements for storage are small. Any small compartment that is cool and dry will do. When the time comes for a varied meal, haul out a handful of dried vegetables and fruits, soak in water and watch for a miracle in restoration. Corn, beans and other items swell back to almost fresh fullness, resume color of freshly picked food and present fairly good flavor.

Use of soft water—of which there is extremely little in this country—works wonders in restoring tenderness to products.

Drying may not be the best method, and indeed Miss Jones says it ranks behind freezing, canning and fresh storage in quality, but when one can't get cans, jars and rubbers and sugar, then drying comes in handy. All the new tricks and short cuts may be learned from Fostilia Johnson, county home demonstration agent.

He is a military opportunist, clever at exploiting the breaks like a smart quarterback. He goes with his front line units in armored car, plane and motorcycle, calling signals by radio, shouting orders, spurring laggards by his energetic presence, standing erect and defiant under fire. He has been described as boastful and addicted to twitting prisoners about their bad strategy.

Rommel learned military discipline at the Danzig War Academy, became a lieutenant in the Kaiser's old Prussian army in 1910. His obvious distrust of Italian soldiers may date from 1917. Rommel chased them on horseback at Cimolais, on bicycle through Bajont Gorge, forded the Piave river in pursuit. Captured in house-to-house fighting before Langarons, he escaped and was promoted to captain.

When Rommel was put in charge of the panzer division for the attack on France, he rode inside an armored car. He found the columns tangled up when centrifugal force slew the heavy cars around on close-clipped curves. Thereafter, under Rommel's orders, panzer drivers stuck to the middle of the road and the columns rolled smoothly and quickly without traffic jams over the Low Countries and France.

Ability to relax and two-hour naps give him an incredible capacity for hard work. Each night over a glass of red wine he plans his maneuvers and orders for the next day. Next morning he rides in the front line to see they are carried out, checking map centers and attack points from a memory as accurate as his headquarters charts.

Rommel is married, has one daughter. After soldiering, his principal interest is photography. He poses for photographs by his men and has escaped capture and death by seconds because he stopped to snap battle scenes and spectacular explosions. Although he was wounded at the Arzonne in 1914, his men are turning him into a bullet-proof legend.

Benefits For War Victims Advanced

WASHINGTON, June 18 (AP)—With full administration approval, Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) sought senate action today on a broad measure designed to provide government benefit payments for the civilian victims of warfare in the United States and its possessions, including military bases all over the world.

Despite republican efforts to narrow the measure's scope, Pepper predicted early approval by the senate in its present form.

Providing monthly cash payments for the injury, disability, death or enemy detention of civilians, the measure would establish the machinery for co-ordinated relief of wartime civilian distress on an emergency basis in areas which had suffered from bombing or other attacks.

As now provided, the widow of a citizen killed or detained by the enemy could receive monthly compensation ranging from $30 to $35, depending on the number of her children.

Disability payments to injured persons would range from $10 to $35 a month, depending on the extent of injuries, but no payments would be made for less than one-third disability.

Scouts Advised To Rush Applications For Summer Camp

Boy Scouts who are planning on attending the council camping expedition at Philmont Scout Ranch near Cimarron, N. M., were advised today to hurry the applications for an exploration trip while in the mountain region.

During the regular camping period, July 14-22, there is to be an exploration trip open to scouts of 15 years and over who have passed rigid physical examinations. Applications for this special trip must be in the council office at Sweetwater before July 4 since only 15 beds can be accommodated. Scout officials said they anticipated that around 100 boys would attend the regular camp in the picturesque northern New Mexico country.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking waste acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, stiffness under the eye, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there's something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Miss Laneous Notes

By MARY WHALEY

If you were invited out to some one's house and they slipped sand in your food, gave you either lukewarm drinks or cold potatoes, let loose a few ants to bite you, and sat you down on the floor without anything to lean against, you'd be pretty mad about the whole thing.

In fact, it's doubtful that you'd even go back again and the barrage of complaint you'd lay down when you got home again would stir up the air.

But all these things and more happen to you on a picnic and you don't even care. You have a wonderful time, and start planning on another one as soon as possible.

You shoo flies out of your cup of coffee and around the sandwich you are eating and it doesn't spoil your appetite a bit. When something bites, you just scratch and move over.

You eat enough food to kill a horse and suffer no ill effects. You get grass stains and chiggers mixed together with sunburn and freckles and yet you are first one to suggest going on another picnic.

Maybe it is something about the great outdoors that brings out the pioneer in city folks. You eat squashed stuffed eggs, limp sandwiches, hot lemonade, and cold beans and declare it is a veritable banquet.

But just let somebody try picnic fare and treatment on their guests indoors at a table! The hosts would be socially ostracized by everybody.

Glasscock County Girl Due To Show Profit From Rabbit-Raising Hobby

Having passed the experimental stage, Miss Harry Ethel Mubbell, Glasscock county farm girl, is ready to turn her hobby into a small business with profitable promises.

It all started about two years ago, she never had any experience raising rabbits, but she decided she wanted to try this as a hobby.

Unlike most folks, Harry Ethel wrote to Washington, D. C., and to other points getting all information she could about rabbits. First she secured a lone doe on July 1, 1941 at a cost of 50 cents. Since then she has increased her holdings to 10 bucks and does of the chinchilla and New Zealand hare breeds. From this bunch she sold a buck, used one for food and lost two does by death. Thus she has six adult rabbits at a cost of $5.50.

Her only other expense has been for equipment. Hutches were made from wooden boxes which she got from a grocery and scraps from a lumber yard. Hardware, cloth for bottom of the hutches and small mesh netting to go around the hutches cost $3.00.

For water fountains she used one pound coffee cans. Food has been no item as yet, for rabbits readily eat farm products. In summer she feeds weeds, which she washes, a maize or hogear head. In the winter Harry Ethel feeds a bundle (with heads) of sudan, or hogear. Each week she gives the hares orange, grapefruit or lemon peelings and has found they also like banana skins and onions. Brer Rabbit, however, draws the line at a persimmon.

The doe, as it were, is a handful of mesquite leaves. Sanitation is the big requirement in rabbit raising, according to Harry Ethel. Hutches and water cans must be cleaned daily, and the hutch should get a brisk rub with a steel wool brush. Quite frequently both hutch and can should be disinfected, and in the summer the hutch should be kept cool.

At the present, she has nine little rabbits four weeks old and figures each doe should litter four times during the year, giving her four rabbits successfully raised. Thus she ought to have 70 to 80 hares ready for the market, returning around $35 on her capital investment of $5.50.

It's easy, she says, requires little time, little cost and in the absence of feed costs, ought to be encouraging to other farm youngsters.

$5,000 Contest Is Announced By Armour Company

Armour and company has announced the opening of "Vegetable's Big Victory Jingle Contest" with 142 prizes in War Bonds totaling $5,000 in maturity value. The grand prize is a $1,000 bond.

In discussing the contest, one of the sales officials of Armour and company said: "The jingles are easy—and since this contest is just for the people in the Southern section of the country, everyone has a good chance to win. Somebody down here is going to get a big thrill when they win that thousand dollar bond."

Anyone can enter the contest by following the simple rules on the entry blank, which may be obtained at any store where Vegetable shortening is sold. Contestants for the 142 prizes in War Bonds are urged to get their entries in at once.

Cubs which formerly produced from 35 to 40 million coconuts annually now have a yield of only from 5 to 8 million, says the department of commerce.

Ham 'n Pineapple

SCORE AGAIN

ALTHOUGH Ham and Pineapple have been "going together" in the hands of good cooks for years, there are still new ways to combine the traditional twosome. One of the very newest is to arrange alternate slices of Canned Pineapple and cured boneless butt in a loaf pan, cover with a raisin sauce made with the syrup drained from the Pineapple, and bake until tender. It's a prize in any man's language.

In selecting a boneless butt for such a purpose, it is best to choose one that is uniformly large throughout, rather than one which is chunky at one end and tapering at the other. The largest size of Canned Pineapple Slices, which is as large as the standard size of a 2-pound boneless pork butt, will work admirably. These slices come 4 or 8 to a can, depending on the size of the container, and need only to be drained before using.

This ham and Pineapple dish capitalizes on easy service. Since the meat is sliced into serving-size pieces as part of the preparation of the dish, all the person who serves must do is to lift the slices onto the plates and spoon out the tangy, Pineapple Raisin sauce. On occasions where "the guest helps himself" is the prevailing rule, no hostess need fear that even the most unhandy guest will have difficulty in serving himself from this delicious "Slices-in-Sauce" combination. Not when it is as well-loved a flavor twosome as ham with Pineapple!

And in feeding a mixed group of people, there is no hostess who will not feel more peace of mind because she knows that the food she has planned and prepared is as universally liked as are the uniquely refreshing flavor of Canned Pineapple and the rosy tender slices of well-cured pork. Directions for preparing the dish are given below.

BAKED HAM AND PINEAPPLE SLICES

(Makes 8 servings)

10 slices Hawaiian Canned Pineapple (3 15-ounce cans)
1 boneless smoked butt (about 2 pounds)
¾ cup brown sugar (firmly packed)
1½ tablespoons cornstarch
¾ cup liquid (syrup drained from Pineapple slices and water)
3 tablespoons vinegar
¼ cup raisins

Drain Pineapple Slices and reserve the syrup. Add water to make ¾ cup. Cut the smoked butt in slices of the same thickness as the Pineapple Slices. Arrange Pineapple and ham slices alternately in a loaf pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) for 30 minutes. Meanwhile, mix the brown sugar and cornstarch in a saucepan. Add the Pineapple syrup and water mixture and vinegar and cook until the sauce thickens (about 5 minutes). Add raisins and pour over the ham and Pineapple Slices. Bake 30 minutes more, or until the ham is tender. Serve hot.

10th Member Quits Legislative Post For Defense Work

AUSTIN, June 18. (AP)—The resignation of State Representative S. F. Weatherford of Kaufman was on Governor Coke Stevenson's desk today, the 10th resignation from the house since the war began. Weatherford resigned to accept employment with an aircraft manufacturer at Long Beach, Calif. Numerous other house members have quit to enter the military service or defense work.

Special elections to fill all vacancies—including one in the senate—have been ordered for July 26, concurrent with the state democratic primary election. This was ordered by the governor in order to cut down some of the expense of a special election.

The governor has asserted the special elections do not mean that he contemplates a special session of the legislature.

Armored Divisions To Be Increased

DALLAS, June 18. (AP)—Major Gen. Jacob L. Devers, commanding officer of the armored forces, Fort Knox, Ky., said today that an increase in armored divisions of the U. S. army could be expected right away.

Such divisions now number eight. "There's plenty coming up," said General Devers, but any further announcement should come from Washington.

With his aide and pilot General Devers arrived late yesterday from an inspection of the sixth armored division at Camp Chaffee, Fort Smith, Ark. He said his party would go from Dallas to Camp Hood, near Temple.

Horse Training Is Not So Simple

COLUMBUS, O. — The silent art of pulling milk wagons is a hard one to revive.

Horses are not difficult to find, according to George L. Harper, divisional engineer for the Borden dairy company, but teaching them to work between the shafts in city traffic is a patience-wracking process.

After you "learn" them the old tricks it's a problem to find wagons—and if you get the wagons you have to manufacture your own gear.

Horse blankets, harness, and nose-bags are nearly as hard to obtain as the shoes. Antique shops have been ransacked for old style oil lanterns for the early-morning milk rounds.

The dairy has assembled a weird assortment of odds and ends from junkyards and warehouses. The company is manufacturing wagons by hand, using scrapped auto wheels, hand-made shafts, and brakes forged in company shops.

Engineer Harper says the old saw, "Get a horse," is not as funny as it used to be. He can list 37 reasons why milkmen are still delivering by truck.

Here 'n There

Take it from Pvt. Robert Winlow, Co. E, 38th Armored Reg., Ft. Knox, Ky., the armored force is the swiftest place in the service.

"The spirit and morale is far superior to any I have ever seen. The boys do everything with a determination that is hard to beat. A tank crew learns to fire every weapon from a .45 calibre pistol to a 75 m.m. artillery piece. This includes sub-machine gun, 30 calibre machine gun and 37 m.m. cannon." And—this is a fine thing, too—Robert adds that "with the fine equipment the workers of America are turning out, the United States will win this war in short order once we get started."

USO Is Near $4200 Quota

Ben LeFever, county chairman, Thursday issued what he hoped would be "a final appeal" to contribute to the USO fund.

"We are getting so close to our $4200 quota that just a little more giving, particularly by those who have not yet had a part in this worthy war responsibility, will put us abreast of our quota," he said.

Some funds came in from outlying sections where it had been collected but not reported. The chairman urged that if there were more like this that it be sent in immediately.

"Let no one hold back because they haven't been asked to give," he continued, "for consider this: a share in this great effort to provide wholesome recreational facilities for our fighting men. Leave your gifts at the chamber of commerce—and leave them there quickly so you won't forget."

Another Call For Negro Selectees

Another call for negro selectees during July has been received by the Howard county selective service board, it was announced Thursday.

Thus far, the board has been fortunate in having negroes volunteer to fill quotas, said Bruce Frazier, chief clerk, who was hopeful that this quota would prove no exception. The call is for July 28.

There is an excellent opportunity for negro volunteers to receive officer training, the selective service has advised the local board.

Living Costs At Standstill

WASHINGTON, June 18 (AP)—Price Administrator Leon Henderson reported today that, for the first time since November, 1940, the steady rise in living costs had come to a standstill—actually, declining slightly—and he credited the government's over-all ceiling on retail prices.

Henderson declared that a special survey of 21 cities, made by the bureau of labor statistics for the period from May 15 to June 2, showed that "if we are really serious about it, the battle against inflation can be won."

From the outbreak of the war in Europe until imposition of the general maximum price regulation May 18, the cost of living had climbed 17 1/2 per cent, his office said.

The survey showed the greatest reported decline came in rents, which OPA reported had dropped 1.2 per cent as the result of or in anticipation of rent-freezing regulations. Clothing prices also declined 1-2 of 1 per cent while food prices increased 3-10 of 1 per cent.

The ceiling prices must be backed up, Henderson said, by a reduction in consumer buying power, including increased savings, more purchases of war bonds, higher taxes, and stabilization of wages and farm prices.

These lists must be prepared by the merchants and filed by July 1 with the county war price and rationing boards, McGee said, pointing out that the two important steps for a merchant in the price ceiling program are the posting of a price ceiling list in his store, and filing of the list with the county office.

Eleven More Days On Ceiling Lists

FORT WORTH, June 18 (AP)—Retail merchants have only 11 more days in which to file their price ceiling lists covering more than 400 "cost of living" commodities, State Administrator Mark McGee warned today.

These lists must be prepared by the merchants and filed by July 1 with the county war price and rationing boards, McGee said, pointing out that the two important steps for a merchant in the price ceiling program are the posting of a price ceiling list in his store, and filing of the list with the county office.

Oil Industry Is 'All Out' In The Rubber Campaign

TULSA, Okla., June 18 (AP)—The oil industry has plunged into the scrap rubber collection campaign with the goal, as one executive put it, of "getting in every ounce possible."

"We have been told," this executive said, "that the war effort needs all the scrap rubber that can be uncovered."

"We feel that this campaign is one of the industry's major war contributions. We hope that it supplies the needed rubber for war uses."

"If enough rubber is gathered to delay nationwide rationing of gasoline, or to make any rationing less severe that will be just an incidental benefit."

This executive's view was shared by others. It brings out a feeling among many oil executives that the rubber situation is such that regardless of the scrap drive, nationwide rationing of gasoline still is a distinct possibility.

But, pending a clarification of the rubber supply situation, the industry feels it has a job to do whether it receives any direct benefit.

Cooking Fats Next On Salvage List

WASHINGTON, June 18. (AP)—A salvage campaign to recover household cooking fats will be launched by the war production board sometime in early July.

Leslie J. Rosenwald, chief of the bureau of industrial conservation, announcing this today, asked that housewives save cooking fats and to sell them, when the drive starts, to neighborhood chain food stores, meat markets, and frozen food locked plants.

Fats are essential in the war effort as a source of glycerine for explosives and the W.P.B., Rosenwald said, "hopes to secure over half of a billion pounds a year of wasted cooking fats from the kitchens of American homes."

Collection centers would pay for the fats at a yet undetermined number of cents per pound, Rosenwald said.

Lutheran Group Names President

GIDDINGS, June 18. (AP)—The Rev. E. A. Heckmann of the Trinity church at Riesel was elected president of the Texas District of the Missouri Synod Lutheran church yesterday after rejection of a proposal to choose a president exempt from congressional duties. Others elected included the Rev. O. Harms of Houston, first vice president, and the Rev. J. A. Birnbaum of Vernon as second vice president.

Make Father's Day Memorable With A Sunday Dessert He'll Like

SUMMER ICE CREAM . . . Father's Day Special

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE
Wide World Food Editor

Most men think it's a party meal when a frozen dessert appears. So why not make a real function when Dad's day turns up and serve a luscious ice cream or sherbet as last course for dinner?

Here are some frozen dairy recipes, worked out with Dad in mind.

APRICOT MOUSSE: Mix together 2 cups cooked mashed apricots, 2 1/2 cup honey, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 1/4 teaspoon finely grated lemon rind, 2 beaten egg whites and 1 cup thick cream, whipped. Freeze 4 hours, without stirring. Serve, piled up in sherbet cups and sprinkle with pecans or other nuts.

GOLDEN ICE CREAM: Mix together 1 1/2 cups sweetened condensed milk, 2 1/2 cup water, 3 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 cup mashed bananas, 1 1/2 cup crushed pineapple and 1 cup orange juice. Chill and fold in 1 1/2 cups thick cream, whipped. Freeze about 4 hours.

National Oats Co. Offers Relief On Ceiling Prices

The National Oats company, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, manufacturers of National 3-Minute oats and National oats, has offered the wholesale trade special prices ranging from 10 cents to 15 cents per case under their established list prices. Their action is for the purpose of granting relief to those wholesale distributors whose ceiling prices on National Oats company products, when compared with replacement costs, did not permit a suitable profit margin.

The company's current list prices, before the voluntary decline, were in each and every instance the legal ceiling price and therefore the action was not mandatory.

In stating the reason for relief, the manufacturer explained that, "It is the spirit of the price ceiling regulation that the manufacturer, wholesaler and retailer, alike, shall each bear his share of the burden produced by the price ceiling, and this is our contribution to the sharing of that burden."

The company further advises that since their action is prompted by the effect of the price ceiling, rather than by reason of lower costs, floor stocks are not protected against decline.

Spokesmen for many leading wholesale grocers, corporate chains and trade associations have already commended the National Oats company highly for this costly and substantial contribution to maintaining fair profits for distributors, reasonable prices for the consumer, and the furthering of a successful war effort.

DRUGGISTS HEAR GOVERNOR
FORT WORTH, June 18. (AP)—The importance of pharmacists to community health and therefore to the war effort was stressed by Gov. Coke Stevenson in an address last night before a banquet that closed the Texas Pharmaceutical Association convention.

Young Will Rogers Entering Army, Must Let Others Campaign For Him

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., June 18 (AP)—Will Rogers, Jr., bears a strong resemblance to his father, but unlike his famous dad, he's going into politics.

Young Will is a candidate for congress—the same congress Will, Sr., used to kid in his kindly, humorous way.

Young Will is also a candidate for the army, and is slated to go into service today, so it will be up to friends, some of them old cronies of his father, to wage his campaign.

"I have been interested in politics and good government for a long time. I think everyone should be," said 28-year-old Will, or Bill, as his friends know him, in an interview.

He filed to run against the incumbent, Leland M. Ford, two-time winner of the office. Rogers is a democrat. Ford is a republican. Both have the endorsement of their respective parties.

"The incumbent is an arch-republican," said Rogers. "He isn't even a Willie republican. If he were, I probably wouldn't run against him."

"The incumbent," continued Bill, never referring to his opponent by name, "is also an obstructionist. Some have classed him among the first ten obstructionists in the country. I don't believe he's quite that, but if they would make the list 15, he'd be in it."

Rogers, owner and publisher of the Beverly Hills Citizen, a weekly newspaper with 4,000 circulation, speaks thoughtfully but without hesitation. He has none of the slow drawl, nor does he incline toward the soft humor, of the late Will Rogers.

He does have that unmanageable parted-on-the-side hair style.

The government of the Dominican Republic is rationing existing stocks of motor vehicles, tires and tubes, the department of commerce says.

and that firm underlip characteristic of his father.
A graduate of Stanford University, an eyewitness observer of the war in Spain in 1937, and a writer-student of world affairs since, Rogers describes himself as a "true internationalist."
Ford, he said, is "provincial, and always has been."

How To 'Stretch' Sugar Supplies In Food Preservation

By FONTILLA JOHNSON

Interest of homemakers now centers around canning of fruits and making the sugar allowance go as far as possible. Miss Winifred Jones, food preservation specialist, gives the following suggestions for "stretching" sugar.

By careful planning the homemaker can meet the needs of the family food preservation budget, despite the limited amount of sugar she can obtain. A new OPA regulation allows home canners to obtain one pound of sugar for every four quarts of finished canned fruit. An additional pound per year for each person in the family may be obtained for making jams, jellies, preserves, and fruit butters.

Stretch your sugar allowance by: Thinner syrups for canning fruits and fruit juices will have to be used; it will be necessary to dry some fruits; fewer jars of preserves and jams than usual will be made; and jelly—use the least nutritious of the list—should be made last after the remainder of the budget has been filled.

By using corn syrup or honey the limited amount of sugar can be made to go farther. Both of these can be substituted for some or all of the sugar in almost all of your favorite recipes.

Corn syrup: Corn syrup is quite good for canning because it doesn't mask the flavor of the fruit. To make a light syrup use 1-3 cup corn syrup to 1-2 cup water. Other directions in canning fruit are given in B-85, Canning Fruits and Vegetables, which may be secured from Fontilla Johnson, home demonstration agent. Corn syrup is fair in making preserves and jams when it is used with an equal amount of sugar. It is not so good for jelly because it takes longer to set and is then somewhat sticky.

Honey for canning: When honey is diluted sufficiently it is good for canning. About 3-4 cup of water and 1-4 cup of honey make a good syrup for canning most fruits. First, bring the water to the boiling point, add honey and stir. Again let come to good boil, remove scum and pour over fruit. Follow other directions for processing in B-85.

For preserves and sweet pickles: Honey is much better in preserves and jams than in jelly. If possible, use at least one-third sugar and two-thirds honey for preserves. Honey is especially good in sweet pickles, probably better than plain sugar.

For jelly: Honey makes a good texture of jelly. Substitute it for sugar cup for cup. The color of the jelly is darker, however, and it takes a minute longer to cook. The flavor is in most cases strong with honey. If it is necessary to use honey in making jelly, it is best to use one-half sugar and one-half honey. Be sure to use a large kettle because honey foams considerably and there is danger of its boiling over.

Consider the cost: When bought, honey is two and one-half or three times as expensive as sugar, and corn syrup is about twice as expensive.

How to make invert sugar: A Florida experiment station scientist recommends making invert sugar to make it go farther. To do this, mix one cup of sugar and 14 tablespoons of water. Add 1-4 teaspoon of tartaric acid (which you can get at any drug store). Cover this sugar, water and tartaric acid mixture and boil gently for 30 minutes. Allow it to cool. Then you have invert sugar syrup. Each cup is equal sweetening to a cup of sugar. In other words it is about 1-3-4 times as sweet as the same weight in plain sugar.

Use of invert sugar: This syrup is excellent to use in canning, and it may be diluted one-half syrup and one-half water. It is also good in sweetening fruits, cereals, ice cream and beverages.

Farmers Urged To Cooperate In Use Of Their Trucks

The Howard county USDA war board this week urged farmers to comply with the spirit of the CDR order restricting transportation by making the best possible use of their trucks.

The board urged pooling of facilities, best possible care of equipment—especially tires, and elimination of all unnecessary driving. Farm trucks are exempt from the office of defense transportation order requiring truckers to carry at least a three-quarters load on all return trips. L. H. Thomas, chairman of the board, explained, but farmers are expected to comply with the order voluntarily insofar as possible.

HERE ARE RUBBER ITEMS THAT ARE WORTH SALVAGING

Before you throw in the sponge on this rubber deal, perhaps a "refresher" course on what contains rubber might revive your spirits.

Most households will come under some part of a list of more than three score common items, each containing enough rubber to make them worth salvaging.

Compiled by an oil company, the following list may be of help to many:

Rubber shoes, rubbers, bike pedals, fruit jar rubbers, nursing bottle caps, rubber balls, rubber bands, baby bath tubs, rubber belts and belting, rubber boots, rubber corset foundations, rubber covered dolls, rubber covered wire, rubber dolls, rubber gloves, rubber heels and soles, rubber hose (garden, gasoline, washing machine, etc.), rubber mats and flooring, rubber plugs, rubber sheets, rubber sink sets, rubber soap dishes, rubber stamps and type set, rubber stoppers, rubber tape.

Tires and tubes, rubber gaskets from drums and cans, rubber boats, rubber rain coats, rubber rain cushions, rubber hose washers, lawn mower tires, bicycle tires, hot water bags and hospital supplies, syringes, galoshes, bathing caps, rubber bathing suits, garters, golf balls, rubber collars, rubber brushes, football and basketball bladders, rubber aprons, rubber pants, rubber bands, rubber gun ammunition, rubber playthings, etc.

Insect Situation Not Serious In County Now

County Agent O. P. Griffin made trips through both the northern and southern parts of the county this week, investigating the insect situation in crops.

According to Griffin, the cotton flea hopper is well under control in areas visited. There are a few to be found but they are not in sufficient quantities to cause alarm. Some of the older cotton now making squares appears to have had a slight infestation about ten days ago, but few squares were killed in the terminal bud.

Unless the lady bird beetles play out the lice and flea hoppers can be kept down, Griffin said. He advises farmers to look over their cotton at least once a week for dead squares in the terminal bud. If there should happen to be some locality with flea hoppers, they can be controlled with dusting sulphur.

Grasshoppers in the southern part of the county, which two weeks ago were feared to be jump-bos have turned out to be mostly a common hopper usually found in grass at this time of year.

Griffin also emphasizes that farms without late feed crops should plant some corn now to trap the cotton boll worms. This pest is not expected to be here in large quantities this year, but protective measures should be taken in advance.

Rice is one of the main articles of diet for a large part of Venezuela's population, according to the department of commerce.

Rich Rubber Lode Uncovered And Chicagoans Rush To Reclaim It

CHICAGO, June 18. (AP)—City-bred prospectors excitedly dug through a rich vein of scrap rubber yesterday to work the most wealth from their claims before the vein's estimated yield of 400 tons was exhausted or their blisters broke.

The rubber lode was discovered

Monday on Chicago's near North side at the site of an old rubber scrap pile that had been covered with earth after repeated fires several years ago.

News of the bonanza spread quickly across back fences. Men, women and children hurried in with picks, spades or just tough, eager fingers to tear into the vein covering an area 50 by 100 feet and 6 feet deep.

Families staked out old claims with rotting pillars for markers. Some prospectors brought their lunches so as to waste no time.

Diggers turned up scores of rubber truck tires, each weighing 55 pounds, hundreds of inner tubes, rubber hoses, fire hoses, galoshes and scraps.

Two-wheeled carts, baby carriages, wagons, bushel baskets, bags and pails were used to haul the diggings to nearby gasoline stations where it was assayed and bought for a penny a pound.

The site is owned by the First National Bank which gave diggers permission to remove the rubber.

Tires Retrieved From Deep Canyon

PRESCOTT, Ariz., June 18. (AP)—For many years a service station disposed of old tires by rolling them into a 1,000-foot deep canyon.

Now the proprietor has hired eight boys with burros to bring them back.

They've brought up seven tons.

Looking 'Em Over

With WACIL M'NAIR

James Lawson, newly selected head coach at Stanford, probably gave up a great deal, maybe his chief ambition, to join the navy. Lawson has coached at Stanford teams come and go while serving in the role of assistant coach, and usually an assistant's highest dreams are of becoming head mentor. However, the job might have had its drawbacks. Stepping in immediately following Clark Shaughnessy's sensational teams might generate some pressure from fandom if things did not turn out exactly right from the very beginning.

By popping up on the sports pages again yesterday, the name of Tex Carleton reminds us that he is another pitcher the Brooklyn Dodgers relieved from the scrapheap and got a wee bit of good mound work from. National league fans all but finished with Tex in 1933 when he was with the Chicago Cubs and he repeatedly threw wild pitches at the New York Yankees while the bombers crossed the plate with run after run. Yet the Dodgers took a chance on him for a short while and the ex-TCU athlete bowed out of major league ball by hurling a no hitter against Cincinnati in 1940.

Reports from Dallas say that S. M. U. is ready to do something about their coaching situation, which has been left in somewhat of a snarl since four of the staff, including head coach Matty Bell, have gone into the service. No announcement from the school is expected for several days. Jinx Tucker, the Waco scribe, advises that the Mustangs could not choose a better man than Paul Tyson, late of Waco high.

Harry Hayes, the Hardin-Simmons field representative, stopped off here Tuesday night, stopping from a swing to the north and west in search of football talent for Warren Woodson's Cowboys. According to Hayes the Cowboys will have a fair team on the gridiron next fall. "We should have a good conference season, and if Baylor and S. M. U. blink their eyes once or twice we may sneak right past them," he said.

H. F. Malone, recreational supervisor, tells us that nothing definite has been decided about adding two more teams to the city softball league, but there is still a possibility that it will be done. One team planning to enter was composed of Magnolia workmen, and at present they think they may be transferred in the near future. However, a team from Foran has expressed desire to get in the league.

Philadelphia papers are making plenty of sport over the Phillies holding down their traditional cellar spot in the National league. Last week a paper inverted the National league standings, which naturally placed the Phillies on top, and this week another sheet placed the Phillies percentage in a spot of its own, labeling it the "bush league."

Fred Perry Is Retiring

MEXICO CITY, June 18 (AP)—Fred Perry, world's professional tennis champion and former top-flight amateur player, announced today retirement from the sport "because I just can't play any more."

The slender Englishman who was ranked as No. 1 tennis player of the world when he was winning amateur championships, said he was stepping out because of an arm injury suffered in a fall at Madison Square Garden, New York, last winter.

Perry, who has been in Mexico about a month after taking extensive treatments in the hope of nursing the arm back to its old strength, said he tried to play last week "and I'm no good at all."

War Charity Funds Aided By Tourney

CHICAGO, June 18 (AP)—Golf's biggest wartime show got under way at the Ridgemoor club today as more than 100 of the nation's top-ranking linksmen teed off in the opening round of the 72-hole Hale America tournament, total proceeds of which will go to service charities.

For four days the stars will scrap it out, until on Sunday evening one will draw down the winning prize of $1,000. The galleries, judging by the number who pursued Bob Hope and Bobby Jones around the fairways yesterday, should be among the largest ever to witness a golf event in this country.

To all intents and purposes, it really is the national open championship. Practically all the big players are on hand and playing the regular open route of 72 holes. The winner, though, will not go down in the golf records as an open champion.

All will go the full distance. The tournament directors, dreaming of a total gate of more than $100,000, did not want any of the gallery attractions eliminated at the end of 36 holes, as is customary in open championships.

The nature of the Ridgemoor course, too, promises to make it a spectacular tournament and to draw the crowds. The players themselves are predicting openly the winner will need to shoot a quartet of 69's, and the most popular guess is that he will have to shoot a 75-hole total of not over 275.

The lowest card of the practice round was turned in by Herman Barron, 32-year-old White Plains, N. Y., pro whose 65 tied the 5-year-old course record. Henry Picard had a 6 after taking six strokes on one hole.

Yesterday's exhibition, in which Bob Hope and Ed Dudley played to a 15-hole draw against Bobby Jones and Gene Sarazen, proved nothing except that the modern golf fan will pay good money to watch a comedian play passably good golf.

Racing Resumed On California Tracks

LOS ANGELES, June 18 (AP)—Horses will run again in California starting Aug. 1 after eight raceless months, but on a small scale compared to the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap and other rich stakes events.

The state racing commissioner has granted John W. Marchbank operator of Tanforan track near San Francisco, a license to conduct a 45-day meeting at the once-abandoned Pleasanton county fair track in Alameda county.

Seeded Netters Face Stronger Opponents

HOUSTON, June 18 (AP)—After coasting through early rounds, seeded players in the men's and women's doubles faced stiffer opposition today in the Texas state and sectional tennis tournaments.

Southwest conference netmen emerged with wins yesterday to keep pace with the top-seeded quartet of Ted Schroeder and Larry Dee, both of Stanford, and George Littleton Rogers of Ireland and George Ball of El Paso.

The University of Texas, led by John Hickman, Southwest conference champion, placed four in the round of 16 while Rice had two—Jack Rodgers and Ray Gladman, conference doubles champions.

India is the largest producer of rice in the world and the principal source of chief strategic types, according to the department of commerce.

Santone Edges Up On Buffs For 2nd Spot

By The Associated Press

The San Antonio Missions threatened the Houston Buffs, recently installed in second place in Texas league standings, by eking out a 2-1 decision over Tulsa last night, while the Buffs were losing 8-4 to Oklahoma City. Only one game separates the Missions from the runnerup spot.

The top league spot is still securely in the possession of Beaumont, although the Exporters met their second consecutive reverse at the hands of the Dallas Rebels, coming out on the small end of an 8-4 score.

Shreveport clipped the Cats in both ends of a doubleheader at Fort Worth, winning the opener 7-6 and the nightcap 3-1.

The Missions, playing at Tulsa, collected only four hits, but made them count for two runs in the second inning. Tulsa pushed across its lone run in the first.

Merv Connors came roaring out of a batting slump to lead the Rebels to victory over Beaumont at Dallas. Connors slammed out two homers, one with the bases filled.

Diszy Dean's little brother, Paul, fared badly against the Indians at Oklahoma City. He was forced to leave the game in the sixth for his third defeat, compared with eight wins for the season.

Market Weaker For Stockers

Lack of grass was considered a factor in a weaker market for stocker stuff, at Wednesday's trading at the Big Spring Livestock Commission company. While prices were weaker on stockers, the market for fat cattle remained steady.

Wednesday's sales amounted to about $13,000, with 600 head going through the ring.
Stocker brought $10-12, as compared with a top of a few weeks ago of $13-14. Fat cows sold up to $9 and bulls to $8.35. Canners and cutters brought $5-7, fat yearlings $11-12, and common yearlings $8-10.

ROUNDUP SPORTS

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

Wide World Sports Columnist

NEW YORK, June 18 — Has your softball team played a "magazine game" yet?

The idea comes from Louisville's Bonnycafe club and it sounds like a swell way to make a big little contribution to the armed forces.

The club merely established an admission price for its Saturday night doubleheaders of "one or more" copies of a current issue of a good magazine....First night's receipts were 2,149 pieces of reading matter which went to the air base unit at Bowman Field.

Today's guest star—

Flem Hall, Fort Worth Star-Telegram: "If the professional coaches of college athletics continue to pour into the services at their present pace, the volunteers 'grandstand coaches' (unappreciated in other years) may have to get off their second guest seats and show what they can do on the field with a first guest."

Service dept—

After playing in Baltimore's Navy Relief game against Bob Feller and Co. the other night, Shortstop Jack Conway of the Orioles decided to enlist in the navy himself....Other Greens, former Des Moines, Ia., Golden Gloves lightweight, claims to be the first A. E. F. member to fight professionally on the other side. He stopped, Airmarshman Frank Gulliley in three rounds at Belfast, Ireland....Reports from the marines' recruiting offices show that a good many athletes prefer green uniforms to khaki or whites. The Mississippi U. football team has contributed five members while the Quantico includes Peanut Hull, Florida Inneman, and Gus Tunnell, Southern Methodist end.

Sportspurs—

The West Side Tennis club at Forest Hills is recruiting debutants as usherettes for the pro tournament starting Saturday instead of the vacationing college boys who used to do the job....Golfing coast guardmen may have warned not to tangle with that new recruit, Clark Hinkle. As a farewell salute, the old Green Bay Packers' fullback played at the Appleton (Wis.) country club on Hinkle day and holed a 150 yard approach for an eagle on the 15th hole....Dwight (Dyke) Edleman, the Illinois schoolboy who will make his first eastern appearance

St. Louis Gang Adds Seventh Straight Win

By JUDSON BAILEY

Associated Press Sports Writer

To St. Louis Cardinals, riding the crest of a seven-game winning streak, will move into Brooklyn today for a five-game series with the Dodgers that may throw the National league pennant struggle back into a two-way battle.

Through quirk of the weather these two fierce rivals have met only four times thus far and of these games the Redbirds have won three—proving to the satisfaction of St. Louis, at least, that the Dodgers' 4-3 game lead is an uncertain bulwark.

The Cardinals warmed up for today's important tussle (a twilight affair) by white-washing the New York Giants, 3-0, on the five-hit hurling of big Mort Cooper, who pitched no-hit ball till the seventh inning.

The Dodgers showed no qualms at the approach of their challengers, turning back the Chicago Cubs, 5-1. Kirby Higbe pitched four-hit ball for his sixth victory and would have had a shutout except for a homer by Rip Russell in the second stanza.

At Detroit Paul (Dixie) Trout, who had been beaten five times in a row, hurled a five-hitter to hand the world champion New York Yankees their first shutout of the season as the Tigers won, 1-0.

Phil Marchildon, the strong right-hander of the Philadelphia Athletics, also ended a five-game losing streak by pitching five-hit ball to beat the Chicago White Sox, 4-3.

Elden Auker stopped a nine-game winning streak for the Boston Red Sox and a seven-game losing streak for the St. Louis Browns by hurling a six-hit 6-3 victory. George McQuinn drove in three St. Louis runs with a homer and a single. Mike Charlat also homered for the Browns and Bobby Doerr connected for his 11th of the year for Boston.

The Cleveland Indians nosed out the Washington Senators, 5-4, in a night game, with Ken Keltner driving in the tying and winning runs on a seventh inning single with the bases loaded.

The Cincinnati Reds captured both ends of a doubleheader at Boston, 4-3 and 4-3, the latter game going 11 innings.

The Pittsburgh Pirates bunched their hits for two three-run innings to down the Phils, 6-1, in a night game.

15-Year-Old Editor Runs Town Paper

SACRAMENTO, Calif.—At the age of 15, Julius Fehrer of West Sacramento is an experienced newspaperman.

He is editor and publisher of the Weekly Reader, West Sacramento's only newspaper. In addition, he edits his junior high school newspaper, The Student Statesman.

The Weekly Reader, on which Julius is the entire editorial, advertising, printing and circulation staff, has been published continuously since April 24, 1938. From two pages it has grown from five to seven pages.

Julius' newspaper reports highway construction work, real estate deals, personals, construction activities, sports and other news of interest to adults. The Weekly Reader has a circulation of 175.

There's A Reason For This Decision

FORT LEAVENWORTH, Kan., June 18 (AP)—Red Custerbender hit a double and slid into second, 5 feet ahead of the throw, in an arm-poy-post game here.

The umpire called him out. Red didn't complain. The umpire was a sergeant.

Lieut. Pay Flynn, Brooklyn, N. Y., coach of the team, stormed over to the umpire.

"Aw, I know," the ump whispered. "But Red and I have to be in Topeka by 6 o'clock."

Patronage Up At Municipal Swim Pool

Whether it's the war, weather, or a trend toward more exercise is not certain—but one thing is sure, the city is experiencing far greater patronage of its swimming pool in the city park this year.

During the month of May, over 700 more people used the pool than for the same month a year ago. Revenues were up by more than $135 for the month. Even suit rentals were up to the level of $41—rather amazing since most swimmers have suits.

May produced 515 adult swimmers and 1,653 children bathers. A year ago only 506 adults went swimming along with 1,250 children.

While figures for June are not available, a continuation of the trend was indicated. Recent scorching days have sent citizens scurrying by the scores to dip in the cooling waters. Only drawback is the presence of some cool cloudy weather on weekends, normally the time when the natatorium hits the customer jackpot.

Boxing Tournament Opens At Santone

SAN ANTONIO, June 18 (AP)—Seventeen bouts are on the initial card of the three-night TAAF district boxing tournament opening here tonight. Boxers from 18 counties will compete for the right to enter the state TAAF meet in Austin in August. Finalists in the several weight divisions will be decided Saturday night.

Crain To Play In 'Guest' Appearance

DALLAS, June 18 (AP)—The Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor halted temporarily the great gridiron career of Cowboy Jack Crain, but he's coming back as a guest artist.

Finishing three stellar years at the University of Texas, he enlisted in December to help the naval air cadet selection board sign up prospective cadets.

Now he's accepted an invitation to play with the college all-star team, meeting the professional Chicago Bears in August.

Taking A Grip On Movie Job

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD - Another side of Hollywood:

On the set of "Love and Kisses, Carolina" Diana Barrymore is playing an actress who masquerades as a 13-year-old girl. For some of her scenes Diana wears a short skirt and a white middie blouse - and the white blouse made one of the jobs of a "grip."

Lester Kahn, 38, did it. He stood offstage and held a framed bit of gauze between the spotlight and Diana's blouse, moving it as she moved and making sure that only the middie was "dimmed" and never Diana's face.

"Grips" work under the cameraman's direction. They lay the tracks for the camera for moving or "dolly" shots, and pull the "dolly" back and forth. They adjust the various shades and reflectors to the lights. On exterior shots they set up the silvery reflectors. They put cup-blocks under furniture to raise it to the level desired by the camera. They build platforms for the camera when needed. They do many jobs. But they are not carpenters, nor electricians, nor camera assistants, nor property men. They are "grips."

Here is the story of Lester Kahn, one of them:

He went to work in the Universal mailroom 12 years ago, while still in school, at $15 a week. He became a grip seven years ago, after working in the cutting and various other departments.

On this film he is "best boy" or second man. First grip is selected by the cameraman. Les has been first man on other productions, can be again. First man is the choice spot among grips, for the higher wage scale and longer work week. Other grips make

Diana Barrymore and Grip Les Kahn

$1.55 an hour for a six-hour shift. Les Kahn figures his current intake between $50 and $60 a week - but I'm lucky to be working almost all the time. Some of us, not regularly with any one studio, get only six months a year, some not that much."

Eight months ago Les took a 9-day vacation to marry a non-movie girl he'd known for years. They live in a single apartment in Hollywood, had planned to build a house but gave it up because of "uncertain times."

Les has passed his tests for air corps training, is now awaiting call.

In 1937 he was jobless for four months, studied a real estate course and got a license, but movies opened up again. He also took a night course in bookkeeping as an ace in the hole.

The Kahns operate on no formal budget, but figure how much they can spend for what. Vacation tests - set them back $300. They've averaged a War Bond a month since bonds went on sale. Nights, he bowls, goes to a wrestling match, a movie, or reads. He "shops" for movies, but likes to see those he's worked on. Occasionally they go to night clubs, but Les prefers a good steak house. He has never been to Ciro's nor, in 12 years in pictures, has he glimpsed Greta Garbo.

Man About Manhattan - Here's How To Buy War Bonds With Speed

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK - The subject of today's essay, friends, concerns a Moroccan named Ahmed Mohamed Riffi. He is a 45-year-old cold meat cook at a Manhattan hotel. Citizen Riffi is a colorful character, for he is a relative of the late Abdul Krim, the Rif war chieftain who retired to the Rif hills some years ago and defied the whole might of Catholic Spain. For his pains Friend Riffi was shot twice, but managed to emerge from his experiences with a few scars and an exulting longing for the peace and tranquility of the United States.

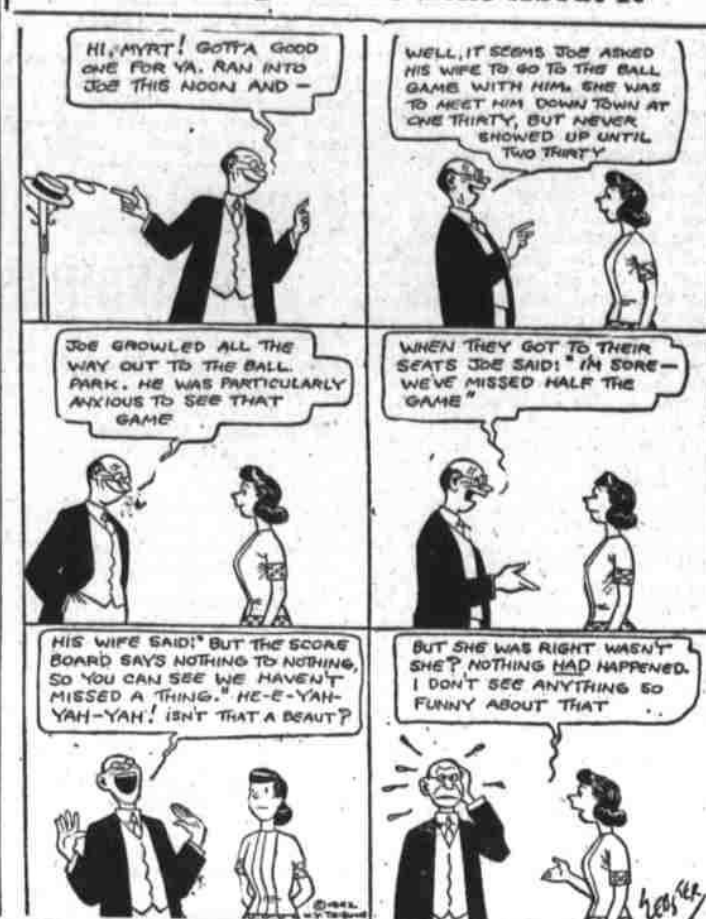

So today he is a cold meat man in a Manhattan hotel. He makes $25 a week. So appreciative is Riffi of his newly found security that he has worked out a private little War Bond arrangement with his employer's bookkeeper that goes like this. Every week for four weeks he has $18.75 held out of his $25 a week salary. On the fifth week he receives the whole $25. Then he starts all over again, buying $18.75 worth of stamps out of his $25 a week salary.

How does he manage? Riffi explains it this way: "Well, I'm a bachelor, so I haven't got a wife and kids to worry about. Then I have a room in 9th avenue. I share this room with a friend of mine, and in this way it costs us only a couple of bucks a piece. Outside of that, I don't have anything to spend money for. I don't have time to go to the movies. I get my meals at the hotel. So I got plenty reason to buy a few stamps. I've already had one country shot out from under me. Now I got a new country. I don't want that to happen to this country too."

We fail to ask for your rationing card. Allen Prescott, the actor, displaying press clippings - not about himself, but German communications which report the "annihilation" of the Russian army. He had seven pages of these "annihilations." Judith Anderson being dragged down 46th street by her two dachshunds. Katharine Cornell being dragged across Sutton place by her three dachshunds. . . . Gasoline to permit travel of 400 miles monthly is the basic starting point of a rationing system just started in the Union of South Africa, the department of commerce says.

And Nothing Can Be Done About It

MRS. MURDOCK TAKES A CASE by George Harmon Coxe

Chapter Four

QUARREL

"Has that man met anything to do with it?" Della asked. "Perry Clarke?" His voice went cold, and there was a pause before he said: "Why - no."

"You knew him?"

"He reminded me of something unpleasant that happened to me once. It's hard to explain, but -"

"I understand," Della interrupted. "I just thought that our love was the important thing - our happiness."

"Our love is the important thing," he cleared his throat and she could hear him draw a breath. "Happiness is something else. When I stand out with you I've got to be sure that everything on the debit side is wiped out."

"Oh."

"Something happened in South America. I had a little trouble."

"You told me," Della said. "And I told you I didn't care."

She waited. The fear was still with her, gathering into a tight little knot inside. But she was calm now and strangely hurt because she could not quite understand the still small voice that kept hinting at something she dared not express. This woman Perry Clarke had mentioned - Hester Losado. Suppose that she - She shook the thought aside. "So it's just your pride that's most important after all," she said finally, her voice cool and even.

"Now we're quarreling," Ward said. And we shouldn't. Dee. Not about this. Give me a little time -"

But she had opened the door, and was on the sidewalk. He caught up with her at the apartment house entrance and she turned, one hand on the door-pull. "I'm sorry, darling," she said. "Good night. I had a lovely evening."

He looked at her, his blue eyes miserable and his mouth twisted. "Good night, Dee," he said. That was all. He made no move towards her and she, who had so wanted to comfort him had been given her the chance, turned quickly and went inside, eyes brimming as she hurried up the stairs.

Drink With Hester

Joyce Murdock was coming out her hair when she heard the door open in the living room. She had about finished at the dressing table and was tying a yellow ribbon about her head when her husband entered, trailing smoke from a freshly-lighted pipe.

"Hello," he said. "Have a good time?"

"Very nice," Joyce said. "How's the expectant father?"

"Still expecting the last I heard."

Kent Murdock bent down to kiss her and grinned. "You look cute," he said.

"Do I?"

"With that ribbon in your hair."

Joyce remained at the table, sitting things that hardly needed such attention. "We waited for you," she said presently.

"I'm sorry. I got tied up."

She followed him with her eyes as he took off his coat and vest and began to empty things from his pockets to the top of the chest. He did all this slowly, rather absently, a frown biting at the bridge of his nose, a thoughtful faraway look in his dark eyes. Recognizing the signs, she knew something was bothering him. She waited.

When he had finished with his pockets, and there was a nice taper from shoulders to hips. His brows were bent now and the pipe, clamped firmly in his wide mouth, warped the solid angular jaw.

Presently he removed the pipe, shook out some ashes and came over to the chaise-longue.

"How was the play?"

"Very good," Joyce said. "It's a shame you couldn't make it."

"Yes," Murdock said absently. "You must have been awfully busy."

"Yes - I was."

Joyce turned slightly, crossing her knees. She picked up an orange stick and idly fooled with her nails, keeping one eye on her husband's face. She saw the frown bite deeper. His gaze traveled all over the room - taking care to miss her - and he tapped the pipe stem against his teeth. Whatever it was that bothered him was coming to the surface, and she began to hum softly until she heard him clear his throat.

"Hester's in town."

"Who?"

"Hester. You know -"

"Who?"

"Hester. You know -"

"Oh, yes. I knew she was."

"He looked at her sharply."

"Knew she was what?"

"Why - that she was in town."

"We met husband number two in Hugo's."

"Oh," Murdock said, and looked vaguely troubled as he listened to his wife's account of the meeting.

Joyce kept busy with her orange stick after she had finished. She knew there was more to come. He was fidgeting now, but she did not help him out and presently he spoke again, his eyes still avoiding her.

"Did she? Wasn't that nice of her?"

He looked up quickly, dark eyes suspicious, but Joyce was busy with her nails.

"I had a drink with her," he said abruptly, and rose and went to the other side of the room, where he began to undress.

Joyce put down the orange stick.

"Is that why you couldn't meet us after the show?"

"She kept after me," Murdock said. "She called me up and said she understood I was doing some portrait work now and how about doing some of her. I told her I'd think it over."

"But why?"

"Apparently she can pay about any price you want to ask and -"

Difficult Story

"Now wait a minute," Murdock said. "Let me tell it, will you?"

He stopped to look at her, a grin at the corners of his mouth and embarrassment in his eyes. "She called me up. She said she wanted to see me and I said - well, you know how it is -"

"Of course I do," said Joyce sweetly.

"Will you stop that?" Murdock growled; then, good-naturedly: "I said I'd like to see her but that I was busy, and she said all right, then she'd come to the office. Well, that wouldn't have been so good, would it? So I said okay. I'd have a drink with her later."

He looked around to see if she was believing him and she nodded and said: "And what was she like?"

He told her with a masculine lack of detail and she sat there watching him and thinking of many things. She was grateful for his honesty, but looking back, she realized that it had always been this way. Even from the first she had known that this man would be completely honest with himself and, because of this, honest with her.

He was just a newspaper photographer then - he still was, although he now was picture chief for the Courier-Herald and had more time for outside interests - but even so he measured up to the man she'd had in the back of her mind since girlhood.

She realized he had finished. He had slipped into his pajamas and was standing there, his eyes quizzical. She smiled at him.

Mule Trading Booms; Even Army Is Turning Again To 'Missouri Jack'

ST. LOUIS, June 18 (AP)—Ask army veteran mule trader and he'll tell you the army can't win the war without Missouri Jack.

Mules, the motive power for the AEF in France, fell into disrepute with the surge of the motorized German blitzkrieg, but are coming back again, even though for more menial tasks than formerly fell their lot.

Dealers in the National Stockyards have been informed the army plans to replace more than 1,500 automobiles and trucks with animal drawn vehicles as a means of having $15,000 pounds of rubber annually.

Civilians already are a jump ahead of the army in turning to horses and mules because of the tire situation.

Farmers, suburbanites and business concerns are booming the market, paying prices 25 per cent higher than last year.

Six hundred animals were sold one day this week at the Sparks, Morris Commission company's auction, compared with a day's sales of only 100 two years ago when the business went into the doldrums after the fall of France.

Good work horses are bringing as much as $150, saddle horses as high as $200, colt mules $150 and common mules $85.

Business would be even better, but for one bottleneck, says W. F. Sparks, partner in the commission firm.

"People can't get buggies or wagons. If that industry would do a comeback, we'd have a land of office business."

Battleship Still Has Its Day, Says Naval Chm. Vinson

WASHINGTON, June 18 (AP)—Continuing construction of battleships was described by Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the house naval committee today as "essential insurance" against a possibility that future carrier losses might turn sea warfare into an "old-fashioned slugfest."

He offered that observation in making it clear that the day of the big battlewagon was not done, despite the havoc wrought against them recently by torpedo planes, and that the navy intended to continue work on battleships already started.

At the same time Vinson reiterated his contention that the aircraft carrier had become the "backbone of the fleet" as he went before the rules committee seeking a go-ahead signal for an $8,550,000 fleet expansion measure which emphasizes floating aerial striking strength.

Army Has New Way Of Telling Time

WASHINGTON, June 18 (AP)—The 24-hour clock system has been adopted as the official time system for all army official messages, dispatches, orders and reports. Time is expressed by a group of four digits running from 0000 to 2400 for the 24 hours after midnight, the first two numerals representing the hours after midnight and the last two the minutes after the hour. For 6:25 a. m., the figures would be 0625.

Shrub May Supply Quinine Substitute

ALBANY, Ga.—A substitute for quinine may be found in an American shrub known as Georgia bark. Dr. James C. Andrews, of the department of biological chemistry of the University of North Carolina's school of medicine, has been experimenting with the medicinal properties of the plant.

Other scientists also are studying Georgia bark, known botanically as Pinckneya pubens, and orders for as much as 100 pounds have been received by the department of agriculture. The bush, now in full bloom of pink and green, grows best in the damp wooded places between here and the Florida line.

No machine has ever been invented to replace skilled hands in joining cocoon ends in winding silk.

Cowgirl Sponsor At Post Rodeo

As Big Spring's cowgirl sponsor to the first of the 1942 rodeos, Louise Ann Bennett was in Post Thursday to compete in special events for girl riders.

Louise Ann, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. M. H. Bennett, made the trip Wednesday, and will remain through the conclusion of the Post program Friday.

Named by the chamber of commerce as "Miss Big Spring" for the western shows again this year, Miss Bennett will attend other rodeos over West Texas.

Former Nazi Officer Taken In Custody

LAREDO, June 18 (AP)—A former captain of artillery in the German army, recently employed in a bed factory at Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, was taken into custody by Mexican authorities last night, and will be taken to Mexico City today.

A Japanese cafe operator who has been in custody several days will be taken to Mexico with the German, who served in the army during the first World war.

Call For Materials Essential To Health

FREEPORT, June 18 (AP)—Suspension of priorities on materials essential to public health was asked in a mass meeting of citizens here seeking to remedy conditions in parts of this booming defense area.

Public health service and state board of health officials attended the meeting. Copies of the resolution passed at the session were sent Rep. J. J. Mansfield and Senators Connally and O'Daniel.

WAAC CHIEF IN UNIFORM—Mrs. William P. Hobby, director of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps, wears her uniform at her office in Washington, D.C. It's the WAAC summer officer's uniform of cabardine. Her rank corresponds to major in army.

Death Takes M'Mahan Baby

Death came early Thursday for Shirley Beatrice McMahan, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garland McMahan, who had been ill since her birth last March 23. The baby succumbed in a local hospital at 3 a. m.

Funeral services were to be conducted at 2:30 Thursday afternoon at the Eberley chapel by Rev. H. W. Smith, First Methodist church pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. McMahan moved here a few months ago from Lamesa, and operate the Cap Rock cafe. Besides the parents, survivors are a brother, James Barnard McMahan; the paternal grandmother, Mrs. J. A. McMahan of Lamesa; and the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Liner and Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Liner. There are also several aunts here to attend the services, all residents of Lamesa: Mrs. Bob Van Wie, Mrs. A. C. Grisham, Mrs. Maxie McMahan, Mrs. R. G. Reagan and Mrs. R. E. Echols.

Government surveys show that tobacco is produced on one-eighth of the nation's farms.

Trucks Get Most Of Tires Issued

Certificates for the purchase of 27 new tires and 40 retreads were issued by the ration board this week, with trucks accounting for most of the applications heard.

Twenty-five of the 27 new tires issued were for trucks, while only two were for passenger cars. Trucks also hold the edge in retreads with 27 to 13 for passenger cars.

Only 21 new tubes were issued, 14 for trucks and seven for passenger cars.

Pre-Fabricated Bins For Wheat Storage

COLLEGE STATION, June 18 (AP)—Texas wheat farmers faced with storage and transportation problems incident to the war are turning to pre-fabricated wheat bins.

The AAA reported today that farmers have already ordered this week 930 of the bins to store part of this year's crop.

Orders for the bins, which were contracted for by the Commodity Credit corporation, are being transmitted daily to lumber yards in Austin and Houston which are doing the construction work. Farmers place their orders at their county AAA offices which also will handle deliveries of the bins.

B. F. Vance, chairman of the Texas USDA war board, indicated that more bins may be ordered if the initial supply of 2,000 small bins and 500 medium bins is exhausted.
