Two Men Shot To Death And Another Hurt

Unidentified Slayer Escapes In Detroit Hotel; Double Shooting Traced To Gangster Warfare In Chicago

DETROIT, July 3.—Two men were killed and one wounded today by an unidentified slayer who shot them as they sat in an automobile in front of the La Salle hotel, then walked into the hotel lobby and lost himself in the crowd. The victims were identified as Detroit men.

Seated In Auto They were seated in an automobile bearing Illinois license number 1-154-454, shortly before 7 p. m. when the slayer stepped alongside and began shooting. Cannon was killed instantly. Collins died before he could be taken to a hospital.

No one interfered with the killer as he walked into the lobby and early efforts to identify him among the persons found there when police arrived were unavailing. While all three men had Detroit addresses, police expressed the belief that the double slaying had its inception in a Chicago gang feud. Police learned that Collins and Cannon came here from Chicago only a week ago. Cannon wore a badge marked "private detective." Collins had a "special police" badge. None of the three carried guns.

Washington's head is the first of four figures which Borglum, who started a memorial to the confederacy several years ago on Stone Mountain near Atlanta, Georgia, plans to carve on the granite escarpment of Mount Rushmore. Already some drilling has been done on the face of Jefferson, figures of Lincoln and Roosevelt are to complete the work.

Independence Day May Be Holiday For Many But Not Gubernatorial Aspirants

IF THEY were playing baseball instead of trying to be elected governor, the 11 aspirants to the democratic nomination, probably would be given a fresh start about July 4, so the "cellarites" could get their heads above water once more. At any rate, national Independence Day generally is regarded as the halfway point in the first-primary race, the two leaders (provided one comes out with a clean majority) to stage a sort of Dixie series a month later to see which will carry the banner in November.

Gangsters Undaunted By Chicago Cleanup

Political Ties Are Held Too Strong To Be Broken

By BRUCE CATTON
NEA Service Writer
CHICAGO, July 3.—The boys who control the Chicago gangs are lying low—cautious, but not particularly worried.

While civic organizations, newspapers and public officials are uniting enthusiastically to give Chicago the greatest clean-up campaign it ever had, gangland is confident that "everything will blow over" before long.

There have been other clean-up drives in Chicago, and not one has been permanent. To be sure, the city today is aroused as never before. It is giving every indication of being in dead earnest at last. But the gangsters remember the past and are quietly waiting.

Protected by Politicians
Their confidence may be justified. The chance that a real house-cleaning will result from the present furor is very small. There are too many things in the way. The invisible ties that bind gangland and politics together are too strong to be cut overnight; and until they are cut, Chicago's gangs will continue as they have in the past—bold, defiant and insolent.

Right now the big shots have either gone out of town or have dropped into hiding. But the quiet is only temporary. Gangland is waiting for things to blow over. The friends who have

When newspaper writers said that Alfred J. Lingle, murdered Chicago newspaper reporter, has for years "brushed shoulders with gangsters" while getting crime news, they were speaking literally. This interesting picture, snapped by an NEA Service cameraman as Al Capone was emerging from the federal building at Chicago in February, 1929, after being questioned by federal officials, shows Lingle interviewing Capone who has his head bowed to dodge the camera. Notice the gang chieftain's alert bodyguards, their hands deep in their coat pockets.

shielded it, in the past still have the political power they always had. Here is the way one man in touch with underworld conditions expresses it:
"The boys are lying low right now, waiting to see how the police captains are going to be shifted around. As soon as the shake-up is over, they'll know where they stand and go ahead again."

The big point to bear in mind is just this: Chicago has gangs, and these gangs are powerful and unrestrained, simply because the gang leaders have close, profitable connections with the city's political overlords. The man who runs a speakeasy, the man who is in an sort of racket—all have these "connections."

Here is a case in point. Not long ago a certain patrolman—a red-headed cop with an Irish name—was assigned to a beat in one of the city's negro wards. This patrolman discovered that his district was full of small gambling houses, and began raiding them.

One day he happened to enter a gambling joint owned by a colored woman who was a friend of a Chicago alderman. This woman followed the officer to the police station, poured a shower of profane abuse on him there, boasted of her political connections and announced loudly that she would have him removed from the force.

The next day the officer was ordered to appear before the police trial board to answer a set of trumped-up charges. It just happened that a civic-spirited lawyer heard of the case, volunteered his services and threatened to make such a vigorous defense that the charges were dropped; but if this had not happened the patrolman probably would have lost his job.

That is just a sample. It is the sort of thing that happens over and over again. It is a small-scale illustration of the thing that keeps gangsters out of jail.

Gangs Swing Elections
Another problem arises from the fact that political control of Chicago shifts back and forth between the two parties. Mayor Thompson is a Republican; he proposed, the late Mayor Dever, was a Democrat. Neither party has anything approaching a permanent grip on the city.

As a result, the gangs come pretty close to holding the balance of power. They ally themselves with one party, or with one faction in one party; if that party or faction tightens up on them, they shift to the other side. In New York City, by contrast, one party—Tammany Hall—has things its own way. The result is that the gangs in New York can be, and are, controlled—as much as gangs can be.

You could sum it up by saying that in New York the politicians control the gangs, while in Chicago the gangs control the politicians. Capone failed. Rivalries Besin
There is still another complication—arising, oddly enough, out of the fact that Pennsylvania, a year ago last winter, put Al Capone in prison for a year.

At that time Chicago's gangs were enjoying an era of comparative peace. The booze, gambling and vice rackets were working full tilt, but there was harmony in the air. Murders were relatively few.

Then Capone was jailed. Immediately his Chicago rivals concluded that the time had come for self-expression. One after another, they began to "muscle in." the Moran gang, on the North Side, began to extend the scope of its operations. In the west, the O'Donnell did likewise.

But Capone had left his affairs in the hands of his right hand, Jack Guzik. Guzik, according to the gossip of the underworld, is "just as tough as Capone, and twice as smart." The challenge was not very promptly, with the usual gang-land weapons in the usual way.

Lingle Murder Is Climax
The muscled retaliated. Scates and Anselmi, two of Capone's most prized shot-gun artists, were killed. Rapsigs were speedy, including the famous St. Valentine's Day massacre. Free and unrestricted killing became the order of the day. The reign of harmony died speedily, and the resultant epidemic of shootings continued down to the murder of Alfred Lingle, reporter.

Right now, Chicago is more aroused than ever before. The new police commissioner, John Alcock, has given the customary pledges of a relentless war on the gangs. State's Attorney Swanson is planning to establish a downtown office where all investigating agencies—his own, headed by the famous Pat Roche, the "secret six" of the Chicago Association of Commerce, and the police—can work in unison, coordinating their efforts.

But it is very, very hard to be optimistic about the clean-up efforts. The longer one looks at the situation here the harder it gets. The evil is too deeply entrenched.

One thousand children attended a recent memorial service at the cathedral at Glasgow, Scotland.

On July 2 a resolution was adopted declaring the colonies free and independent States, and on July 4, the Declaration of Independence was agreed to, engrossed on paper, and signed by John Hancock, President. ### Illinois Man Shot Down By Machine Guns

Gang Shooting Is Traceable To Bootlegging, According To Police; Victim Killed At Wheel Of His Car

WOODRIVER, Ill. July 3. (AP)—George Williams, 48, of Dood River, a fisherman proprietor, was slain by machine-guns shortly before midnight last night in what police believe was a gang shooting traceable to bootlegging.

Williams, known to officers as a former bootlegger, was killed at the wheel of his car by a volley of machine-gun bullets fired from a speeding machine that passed his car on the outskirts of Wood River. His companion, Herbert L. Culp, 50, a farmer, was not hit by any of the forty or fifty bullets fired into the car, but was injured when the machine crashed against a lamp post as Williams collapsed.

The assailants sped away and Culp, taken to an Alton hospital, was unable to give a description of them or their car.

It was the second gang shooting of the night in the "East side" district of Illinois opposite St. Louis. Earlier Joseph Nesser, 36, alleged gambler and associate of Cuckoo gangsters of St. Louis, was marked for death, but the gunmen's bullets missed their mark. Nesser was fired upon from another car as he sped along a street in East St. Louis, Ill., but received only a minor wound in the left leg. He refused to make any statement other than he was shot by men in a car which overtook him.

Reports Say Nationalists In Crushing Defeat At Hands Of Southern Rebels; Over 20,000 Claimed Dead

SHANGHAI, July 3. (AP)—Nationalist dispatches today claimed government troops overwhelmingly crushed southern rebels in a three-day battle near Hengchow, Hunan province. Fifteen thousand rebels and 5,000 nationalists were reported killed.

The major portion of the rebels were caught between nationalists advancing both north and south.

Government dispatches asserted the battle crushed rebel resistance in Hunan, and would release 50,000 nationalist troops for service on Hoang and Shantung province fronts against the northern alliance and insurgent armies.

Konjola Ended Two Years Of Stomach Misery

Again This New And Different Medicine Shows Why It Has Become Famous

MRS. BERLIE COWAN

Strange, but absolutely true—Konjola, the new and different medicine seems at the very peak of its power when pitted against the stubborn cases that have held on with bulldog-like tenacity. Take for example, the experience of Mrs. Berlie Cowan, 614 West Second St., Fort Worth, Texas, who says:

"For two years the lightest of foods caused misery. At times I had to gasp for breath, and I belched my bile of undigested food. I took soda constantly. My kidneys gave me trouble too. I had back-ache and had to rise many times at night. But Konjola ended all this and today my back is free from pain, my nerves are steady, I sleep soundly and wake up every morning rested and refreshed."

Thus Konjola works, swiftly yet surely. It is strongly recommended to every one that a complete treatment of from six to eight bottles be used if best results are to be obtained.

Konjola is sold in Lubbock Texas at Bowen's Drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section. Adv.

Agreement Is Made On Vets Pension Bill

Senate And House Conference Decide On Lower Rates As Response To Written Plea From President Hoover

WASHINGTON, July 3. (AP)—Responding to a written plea from President Hoover, senate and house conferences on World War veterans measure today reached an agreement on the lower pension rates provided by the house bill.

The house provided a maximum of $40 for veterans with permanent disabilities as opposed to $80 voted by the senate.

The conference agreement retained the house language which withheld disability pensions from those who are able to pay income taxes.

The senate amendment allowing compensation to veterans who suffered disability from venereal disease contracted in service also was eliminated.

The agreement was reached just as the house was assembling for what leaders hoped would be the last day of the session and the conference report was hurried to that chamber for consideration.

Police Charge Into Strikers

Demonstration Near Fisher Body Corporation At Flint Broken Up As Officers Halt Parading Workmen

FLINT, Mich., July 3. (AP)—State police charged into a crowd of striking workmen who were parading back and forth in front of the Fisher Body corporation's plant here today and broke up the demonstration.

One man, Ivar Hoops, a striker, was treated for injuries inflicted by a police club and was taken into custody.

The crowd, estimated at about 1,500, gathered after the attack and its leaders had urged the men to move on to a meeting place outside the city limits. Five pickets left behind were not molested.

Neither company officials nor strike leaders would make an estimate of the number of men at work at the factory. The strikers denied a claim of officials that a large number had returned to the plant, where about 5,000 men normally are employed.

The strike started Tuesday through a disagreement over wage rate adjustments.

How I coaxed him to eat
"ONCE I was worried. Meal-time was getting on my nerves. I prepared many appetizing dishes, but John simply would not eat—just missed at his food. Perhaps sometimes a little grouchy, I began to fear he was 'slipping.' What was I to do? Love, home, happiness, business success—all depended upon an improvement in his condition. The blood- tonic idea suggested itself to me. My Druggist recommended S.S.S. He told me that S.S.S. was a great blood- tonic—that it had been successful for over 100 years; that it was made from strictly fresh vegetable drugs and was beneficial to the most delicate system. Also that it would build up the blood and improve the processes by which the body is nourished. I brought home a large size bottle. John agreed to try it. Well, in just a few days I could see the difference. His improvement has been so rapid he is going to take several more bottles, and not only that, but he is now telling his friends to take S.S.S."

YOU ARE WELCOME TO LUBBOCK

Welcome Postal Workers!

Cities are part of the growing scheme of Mother Nature—growth and development is well-balanced and never out of focus, as the stripling sends out roots and branches in perfect synchronization, so does the modern city grow industrially, socially, commercially and educationally.

So has this city maintained an even symmetry in its steady growth through the years. Largely because the builders of the city themselves have kept an even program of expansion and have correlated their own impetus so that development is gradual and smooth.

To those who visit Lubbock, and especially to the postal workers today, we extend the hand of welcome with Fourth of July greetings. Correlated with the Spirit of 1776 is our feeling of Democracy and Freedom today—to every visitor we say "Welcome!"

C. C. To Invite Women's Derby Through Here

Organization Agrees To Appropriate $500 For Lap Prizes If National Aerial Race Routed This Way

Agreeing to appropriate $500 for lap prizes for contestants, directors of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce in meeting Thursday unanimously voted to invite officials of the Women's National Air derby to route the flight through this city and make Lubbock a stopping point. It is understood that Amarillo is appropriating $1,000 for lap prizes. George E. Benson, chairman of the aviation committee of the board, outlined the proposal before the body and stated that the hangar at the municipal airport, five miles north of the city, will be complete when the derby is held, date for start being August 20. "Both an event would be an appropriate occasion for dedication of the local airport," said Mr. Benson. "In addition to the 20 or more entrants in the derby, there will be at least 25 attendant planes, of various types, and relatives of the fliers. By virtue of the thousands who will flock to Lubbock for the event, business men of the city would receive adequate returns for the Chamber of Commerce's investment in cash prizes."

Dead Man's Bones Will Be Evidence

MUSKOGEE, Okla., July 3. (AP)—A dead man's bones will be produced in United States court here next Monday as the central exhibit in a scientific and legal battle, with an oil fortune at stake.

Davis and Rhina Jackson, Seminole Freedman couple, will contend that the remains are those of their long missing son, Raymond Jackson, and they therefore are entitled to his land allotment now rich in oil. The body is that of a negro who was killed in a train wreck near Blue Mountain, Arkansas, in 1921 and was unidentified for years. It was claimed about two years ago by the Jacksons as that of their son. The defendants, principally the Carter Oil company, which has been developing the Raymond Jackson allotment, will contend that the bones are not Jackson's but those of another man.

Missing Girl Is Recovered

Fifteen-Year-Old Girl Found In Dallas Tuesday Night After Disappearance Last Saturday Night

PORT WORTH, July 3. (AP)—Ellen Porter, 15, missing since Saturday night, was located in Dallas Tuesday night, according to word received by police here. The girl is the daughter of Police Chief and Mrs. V. C. Porter of Goose Creek. Late Tuesday night Mrs. Porter telephoned police that she had received a message from her daughter in Dallas. Investigation developed that the girl had been taken to the home of the manager of a Dallas Taxi company, and is being cared for there pending arrival of her parents. Her father had returned to Goose Creek and could not be located Wednesday. The girl disappeared in Fort Worth Saturday night after W. N. White, Baytown taxicab driver, was arrested here on a charge of abducting her. Chief Porter struck White with his fists when the former arrived here to return the prisoner to Goose Creek. White later was turned over to county authorities for return to Goose Creek.

put your Telephone on Half-pay during Vacation

You'll save money... and spare yourself inconvenience when you return.

The Rumseys are going vacationing. The milk's been stopped, the ice man has been called off, and the Man Who Delivers the Newspaper has been instructed to bring no more until further notice. But the telephone will be left at home, drawing full pay in an empty house! Something should be done about this!

Vacation rates for idle residence telephones

One solution (provided you're planning a vacation of 30 days or more) is to place your telephone on vacation half-rates while you are away. It's a convenient way to save money. And this is to folks who sometimes have their telephones taken out—it spares you inconvenience on your return.

That's because:

- 1. You pay just half the regular rate.
- 2. Service is reconnected quickly after you return—usually within 24 hours after you notify us.
- 3. You keep your present telephone number. (You'd lose it if you had your telephone removed.)
- 4. Your name remains in the telephone book.

If you wish, while you are away we will refer your calls to another telephone—that of relatives, for instance.

"Something should be done about this"

Vacation rates are available for periods of more than 30 days, but not over four months. They apply only to residence telephones.

To obtain them, mail the coupon below or telephone the business office.

ONE MINUTE PULPIT

Then I was with him, as one brought up with him, and I was daily his delight, rejoicing always before him; Rejoicing in the habitable part of his earth; and my delights were with the sons of men.—Proverbs, viii, 30, 31.

INDEPENDENCE DAY

FOR more than one hundred and twenty years from the founding of the government down to the close of the Spanish-American war, which started us on an imperialistic course, it was the universal custom in this country to celebrate the Fourth of July as "Independence Day." It was known by that name. The reading of the Declaration was always a feature of the celebration.

But it is different today. Thomas Jefferson's grand formulation of the doctrine of human liberty is no longer read. And what is infinitely more to be regretted, there are large elements of our population who are no longer saturated with its noble principles. In his masterly address on American Democracy, delivered just seven years ago, Tim. Charles E. Hughes said there is a growing tendency to suppress the great principles of liberty and human rights which lie at the foundation of our government, and to exalt the mere symbols and lusts of things to the place which should be held sacred to the things themselves.

"Freedom is in danger of being slain at her own altars if the passion for uniformity and control of opinion gathers head," he affirmed. There is no doubt that a marked change has come over the American scene. The drift toward centralization and bureaucracy has been unmistakable. Modern political tendencies have eaten deep into the traditional American ideas of individual liberty. It is sadly true that individual counts for less today than in any former period of our history. He has become the victim of autocratic control. "Unfortunately the federal government has strayed far afield from its legitimate business; it has trespassed upon fields where there should be no trespass," declares that oracle of conservative thought, Calvin Coolidge. This change has all come since the country became a "world power" as a result of two world wars. It is as if some evil fairy had waved her hand over the republic, and in the ensuing transformation scene Americans had turned their backs upon their former selves and adopted new slogans to sustain them in their new and strange imperialistic undertakings.

And so we say there is urgent call today for a reaffirmation of the principles of the Declaration—for a rededication to the ideals and policies of the Fathers. In the farewell address is this solemn adjuration: "Towards the preservation of your government and the permanency of your present happy state, it is requisite that you resist with care the spirit of innovation upon its principles, however specious the pretext."

This is why we need to have the grand old Declaration read everywhere, in the hearing of all the inhabitants of the land. And it should be read by men who believe in it as the men of 1776 believed in it, and who can throw their souls into the reading as they did, and who would, if necessary, stand as courageously for its principles.

For if we are to achieve our destiny as a nation we must never forget our origin or the principles approved to us through a century and a half of experience. If our democratic form of government has aroused greater expectations than it has fulfilled, we should remember that that is also true of all kinds of government. Peace we enjoy today with all the rest of mankind, and we have good will for all the nations; we are happily free from dangerous entanglements, and we have a National Administration that will avoid them and all incitements to international trouble.

And above all we should remember that, in spite of the governmental aberrations of these latter years, this is still the best of lands to live in, and that it is our task to make its greatness perpetual by guarding well the institutions that have wrought such beneficence to men.

In our great cities the poor try to live on bread and coffee, or on bread, milk and coffee, and find that their diets are deficient. An exclusive meat diet is consistent with life, but an exclusive muscle meat diet is inconsistent with health. Animals prefer the blood, the heart, the lungs and the viscera when they capture and kill for food, and eat muscle meat only when the viscera are not available. The glandular organs provide vitamins and the chewing of the bones supplements the calcium deficiency.

In her investigations, Doctor Roberts found that foreign races of high physical quality not infrequently deteriorate when they come to this country, because they try to change their diets to the American pattern. At home they eat freely of bread, milk, eggs and vegetables, and coming to this country they change their diet to bread, meat, coffee and sugar, and their health suffers.

STRONGER CANDIDATE WINS CONTEST WHETHER FOR OR AGAINST PROHIBITION CAPITAL CORRESPONDENT CONCLUDES

By CHARLES P. STEWART, Central Press Staff Writer

ASHINGTON, July 3.—Old as he is, former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri really looks like a reasonable possibility for the next Democratic presidential nomination. Due to the two-term precedent, with President Hoover on his first four years in the White House, Dwight W. Morrow does not look like so much of a 1932 possibility at the head of the Republican ticket—but only just enough of a bare possibility to be thrilling.

However, the point is sure to be raised that they are impossible opponents anyway, because both are strictly speaking, are they? either of them.

Reed certainly displayed a disposition to flirt with prohibition in 1928 and undoubtedly would have done it, if it had showed sufficient promise of giving him an adequate majority in the Houston convention. To this day wets growl about his attitude there.

Morrow is on record as unopposed to dry legislation in principle, having declared against it only on a national scale; not as a statewide proposition.

Still, admit that they are wets—for argument's sake.

As has been recognized hitherto, the nomination of Jim Reed and Dwight Morrow on rival presidential tickets (supposing such a thing) would upset some theories which at present are accepted almost as gospel.

One of them is the theory that the wet-and-dry issue overshadows nearly if not quite every other issue in this country today.

Undeniably it intensely interests the whole country. But politically? How many large scale candidates does it decide? Little ones, yes—spotlily. But those of the first magnitude?

The theory is that a bad wet invariably defeats a good dry in a wet balliwick; that a bad dry always beats a good wet in a dry one; that whenever any other problem needs to be solved, the wet-and-dry problem regularly gets in the way and obstructs it; thus that every election hinges on the elector's amendment and vote-ism; that no progress can be made in the face of prohibition.

Let's test this theory. Assume (for purposes of our test only) that Dwight Morrow and Jim Reed, as wets, both should oppose one another in 1932 on the Republican and Democratic tickets, respectively.

The dries assuredly would put a dry independent into the field.

Does anyone believe that any very formidable number of Republicans and Democrats would desert Mr. Morrow and former Senator Reed to vote the dry third party ticket?

I doubt whether anyone except a few ultra-dries will say that, in such a situation, the dry candidate would get, in proportion to population changes, a materially larger vote than the third party dry used to poll in pre-prohibition days.

In those days the third party dry was a negligible consideration.

Under the prohibition regime a third party wet would have been and would yet be a negligible consideration—regardless of the intensity of wet-and-dry sentiment—and the wets know it, or they would have put one up long ago.

And if a couple of wets were to be named now by the two major parties, would not the third party dry candidate again be a negligible consideration?

Your Health

TESTS SHOW MAN CAN'T LIVE ON ANY SINGLE KIND OF FOOD

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN, Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

More and more as we begin to realize the nature of man and the material from which he is built and maintains himself, the question arises whether or not it is possible to prepare some single food which will serve every dietary purpose.

In a recent consideration of the subject, Dr. Lydia J. Roberts points out that the average man, weighing about 70 kilograms or about 150 pounds, must have 3,000 calories a day, of which 75 grams must be protein, 0.87 gram must be calcium, 1.22 grams phosphorus, 0.015 gram of iron, and which must contain liberal quantities of vitamins, and enough bulk and similar materials to permit the intestines to function properly.

Sugar will not serve the purpose, because it will require four cups of sugar to make the 3,000 calories and all of the necessary factors will be deficient. Sugar, fat and fats generally are essentially energy foods and have little value for body building or health maintenance. Perhaps the best of the fats are butter and cod liver oil, but if one wished to live by butter alone, he would have to have two cups of butter a day and this would give only four grams of protein and hundreds of grams of fat instead of the quantities needed of the mineral salts. Butter is rich in vitamins A, but quite deficient in vitamins B and C.

In order to live by cabbage or spinach alone, one would have to have 40 cups per day; of oranges, 40; of bread alone, 30 large slices, but again the vitamins would be deficient; of oatmeal, 20 cups of cooked oatmeal, and the vitamins would be deficient. If one were to live on eggs alone, he would require 40 eggs per day and some of the vitamins would be deficient, and the proteins would be too much in amount, and the salts would be beyond the body's need.

It thus becomes obvious that man cannot subsist on any food alone, but that it is necessary for him to eat varying quantities of all of the important foods.

In our great cities the poor try to live on bread and coffee, or on bread, milk and coffee, and find that their diets are deficient. An exclusive meat diet is consistent with life, but an exclusive muscle meat diet is inconsistent with health. Animals prefer the blood, the heart, the lungs and the viscera when they capture and kill for food, and eat muscle meat only when the viscera are not available. The glandular organs provide vitamins and the chewing of the bones supplements the calcium deficiency.

In her investigations, Doctor Roberts found that foreign races of high physical quality not infrequently deteriorate when they come to this country, because they try to change their diets to the American pattern. At home they eat freely of bread, milk, eggs and vegetables, and coming to this country they change their diet to bread, meat, coffee and sugar, and their health suffers.

DANCING JUDITH

By CORALIE STANTON and HEATH HOSKEN COPYRIGHT 1930 BY CHELSEA HOUSE

BEGIN HERE TODAY Judith Grant, beautiful Greenwich Village artist's model and dancer, shares her apartment with Clarissa Morley, known as Chummy, a beautiful girl who lost her memory seven years ago when Alan Steyne, artist, her lover, abruptly disappeared, and who has been affected mentally ever since. Steyne reappears, and Judith and Bastien Dumont, another artist, bring him to Chummy; but Chummy falls utterly to recognize him, and a dealer tells him that she probably will never regain her memory. Steyne, who has inherited enough money to make him fairly prosperous, provides medical attention for his former sweetheart and tries to bring her memory back to her, but Judith's disloyalty seems more interested in Judith than Chummy. Finally he tells Judith frankly that he is not in love with Chummy, explaining that he had been infatuated with her in the old days but that he has never dreamed that his disappearance would affect her as it did. He cannot marry her, he says, unless she recovers her memory and feels that he is honor bound to do so.

Letters To The Editor

Editor of Lubbock Morning Avalanche: From an Avalanche editorial that I hold, I quote: "No other American industry is fostered, encouraged, protected, mothered and fraternalized by the government as it is now proposed to deal with agriculture. Which in its essence is government favoritism in behalf of a special group or class. "Since the day of Bryan and free silver (coinage) the cry of agriculturists has been 'special privileges' and 'class discrimination.' Now the farmers are now organizing and have been promised a brand of fraternalism. How long will it be before manufacturers, the power interests, public carriers, bankers and professional men will demand similar government protection?" We well know why all intelligent people know that these have been fraternalized the above mentioned fraternalism ever since long before the noble career of the great, clean and honest man, and great statesman and orator, William Jennings Bryan. No, not I, but the orator of the cent date. These "would demands" have long since demanded and been most graciously and generously granted such favors and special privileges, and at the great expense of the producers and consumers. Now the farmers, who get so little return on their investments, as who have always had to hold up the short end of the pole and carry much the greater part of the load while pleading for a balanced budget and equal rights, are now organizing and are demanding, as these above favored classes have done, and by so doing has so wonderfully succeeded and amassed such great wealth, and who now have such great advantages over the farmers. The farmers just want to close the great upward curve—that's all! Can anyone blame them? Can those dependent on them and the patronage begudge a little fairness and equal rights to them? T. J. Estes, Lubbock, Texas.

DANCING JUDITH

By CORALIE STANTON and HEATH HOSKEN COPYRIGHT 1930 BY CHELSEA HOUSE

Chummy told him he was an ugly man, and he was the Punch. He was a sport about it, though, didn't seem to mind a bit. The musical passed like a dream. Judy, sitting in one of the best boxes, felt like a queen. Steyne said a little behind her. They talked and laughed like children. Judy gave a great sigh when it was all over. They drove back in a cab. She had a key to open the big doors with. Alan used it, and they stepped into the house. He had dismissed the cab, saying that he would walk home. "Oh, I've had such a lovely time!" Judy said with a catch in her voice. "It is good of you. I don't know when I've enjoyed myself so much. "The next morning she got up, looking to illuminate the cavernous looking staircase. At the foot of it she turned and held out her hand. Steyne took it, muttered something almost inarticulate, and turned away; but the next moment he was back. Judy was kissing her eyes, her hair, her lips—which met his with an irresistible response. "Judith, little Judith!" he whispered triumphantly. "I love you—I love you! And you love me! She was as white as death. "You mustn't! Oh, how could I let you? You can't love me—you mustn't love me! You belong to Chummy. Do you think I'd steal you from my pal?"

SCHOOLBOYS INJURED

BOMBAY, July 3. (AP)—Four school-boy demonstrators were injured seriously and ten others received slight wounds in a series of encounters with police today. The turbulent junction of two important streets in the Fort area, opposite the White Way and Laidlaw's stores, where crowds collect daily was the scene of the fighting. Police patrolled the streets after yesterday's trouble, but schoolboys and ordered today's parade to disperse. They refused. The sidewalk crowd jeered the officers, who charged, wielding their staves and injuring fourteen.

Long Struggle Is Nearing An End

"A Few Bottles Of Argotane Have Done Me More Good Than All Else Combined," Says Valley Mills Farmer

"I've had a long hard struggle with ill health but by the help of Argotane I have found relief at last," said Mr. O. H. Pezold, a farmer at Valley Mills, Texas.

"I had gall bladder trouble and indigestion so bad for two years that my life was miserable, but I'm a whole lot better since I began taking Argotane and a medicine that is doing so much for suffering people can't be praised too much. I've spent lots of money trying to get some case but it's the truth, that Argotane has done me more real good than every thing else I ever took combined."

"When I first began taking it I couldn't eat anything without hurting me. Any of the heavy or nourishing foods would sour on my stomach and I would be very bilious. I was fearfully nervous and when I fell asleep at night the least noise would wake me. My head would get so dizzy at times that I would almost reel."

"What caused me to take Argotane was reading so many statements about others in the papers and now I'm taking Argotane every chance I get. I can eat just anything I want and enjoy it and never feel the slightest bad effects from it. I sleep fine every night and as to my gall bladder trouble it is so much better that I hardly notice it any more. I'm still improving every day and it's a pleasure to tell others about the medicine that has done so much for me."

Through the courtesy of the lumber yards immediately adjacent to highway No. 9 a sign 16x24 feet has been placed with the scene of the mountain over which the road leads and the following slogan: "Big Spring Scenic Mountain Enjoy the Hospitality and Scenic Beauty of our City." The Scenic Mountain is probably the least known of any State Park in the State having been deeded to the State for Park purposes several years ago. The mountain is so named because of the incomparable view to be had from its flat stone top.

Fliers Have Troubles
Many troubles were in the way of the fliers. The motor of the plane continued to hum like a new one.

Went to the Refueling Plane
Wednesday night newspapers were sent up to John and Kenneth by way of "Big Ben," the refueling plane. That started a storm.

Still Another Worry of the Boys
Kenneth says himself, quoted as saying he was tired of the flight and that he wanted to land.

But John, the ground crew brother explained, was angry because his note had been made public.

Senator Thomas B. Senator Earle B. Mayfield had a double header on his hands, speaking at Denton and Decatur. Former Congressman Jim Young was to be the headliner at his home town of Kaufman. Dean J. M. Gordon, of Texas Technological college, and a representative of the Y. M. C. A., was a visitor at the meeting and spoke briefly to the assembly. He stated that the Y. M. C. A. organization had gone on record as heartily approving activities of the community chest, and that it is the desire of that body that charity and philanthropic work for 1931 be carried on through the same medium.

Those attending the gathering yesterday were E. L. Klein, A. H. Leidigh, J. W. Gamel, J. I. Kilpatrick and Chas. Nordyke.

That would mean we would have to land Monday night, wash, wash and bathe and shave," wrote Kenneth. "We want to stay up as long as we can."

Suggest Court In Aid
So they suggested that Judge Michael Feinberg move his court to a 21-passenger plane next Tuesday and hear their testimony via two-way inter-communication radio.

Judge Feinberg put their minds at ease with a message that court would wait until they landed.

Not until the resolution of adjournment which was adopted earlier in the night by the house had finally been approved by the quarantine senate was there definite assurance that the close of the session which began last December was at hand.

President Hoover will immediately call the senate back into session on next Monday to consider ratification of the London naval agreement.

While plenty of votes to assure ratification are in sight there is no certainty when the vote will be reached.

WASHINGTON, July 3. (AP)—Congressional action on the World War veterans pension bill was completed today and it now goes to President Hoover.

Senate acceptance of the lower house rates, as agreed upon in a conference between the two branches, ended the dispute.

The report of the conferees had been approved 942 to 3 by the house.

Hoover Gives Warning
In response to a veto warning from the president early today, senate conferees on the legislation gave up the higher pension figures put into the bill by senate democrats and republican independents. The house then quickly approved the report, but there was a deep well of protest from the senate.

The chemical stocks were also weak.

Otto Sanhuber Found Guilty

Timid Attic Lover Convicted Of Slaying Fred Oesterreich, Milwaukee Manufacturer; Death Penalty Asked

DOS ANGELES, July 3. (AP)—Otto Sanhuber lies huddled in his cell today convicted of manslaughter for the alleged slaying of Fred Oesterreich, Milwaukee manufacturer in whose attic he dwelt eleven years to be near Mrs. Oesterreich, his sweetheart.

slumped into his chair when he heard the verdict last night which will send him to prison for one to ten years. Apparently dejected, and speechless, he was led to a cell to await pronouncement of sentence tomorrow.

Asked Death Penalty Although the prosecution asked the death penalty, not one juror, Mrs. Rita Harlan, forewoman said, voted for a first degree murder verdict in the seven ballots taken.

Kearl Waxman, defense attorney, said he would seek to have the verdict set aside on the ground that statute of limitations had outlived a manslaughter verdict.

Sanhuber's plea of not guilty because of insanity remains to be disposed of. Mrs. Oesterreich, jointly accused by Sanhuber, won a separate trial, which will open in a week.
