Cotton Promotion Day
The Mitchell County Extension Homemakers will present a cotton promotion day on Thursday, June 13 beginning at 10 a.m. at Fort Wood Pavilion. Exhibits will be on display from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m., and there will be a style show from noon until 1 p.m. Bring a sack lunch and come see why cotton is king!

TAP Public Forum
The environmental concerns group Texans Against Pollution will sponsor a public forum with State Senator Steve Carriker on Saturday, June 29 at 7 p.m. in the Civic Center. The subject of the public forum will be recent environmental legislation.

Commodities
Commodities will be distributed on Tuesday, June 11 at the following times and locations:
Loraine: 8:30 until 10 a.m.
Ag Barn: 8:30 until 10 a.m.
Wallace Center: 9 until 11 a.m.
Trucks will be unloaded at 7:30, and distribution workers should be ready by 8:15. New applications will be accepted only after 9:30 a.m. There is another big load, so help is really needed. This program is operated without discrimination, regardless of race, color, sex, age, handicap, religion, or national origin. If you think you have been discriminated against, notify County Judge Ray Mayo.

July 4th Fest Booths
Anyone interested in renting a food or games booth for the July 4th Fest is asked to call Sheila Plagens at 728-3403 or 728-3413 to reserve your space now! Food booths this year will be authorized to sell soft drinks. Booths will rent for $20 each.

The Pool is Open!
The Ruddick Park Pool is open, and the hours are as follows:
Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday - 12:30 until 6 p.m.
Sunday - 2 until 5 p.m.
Wednesday - closed for cleaning.
Ladies night - Tuesday 6:30 until 7:30 p.m. No children allowed.

Lake levels rise

Recent rains have filled both Lake Champion and Lake Colorado City practically to capacity. Measurements at Lake Colorado City show that that lake has caught 1.3 feet of water over the last several days. The lake level is currently at 2062.0. When full it is at 2070.3, and therefore it lacks just over eight feet from being completely full. Lake Champion has risen four feet over the last several days. Currently that lake level is 2077.5. When full it is at 2083.0, and therefore Lake Champion lacks just over five feet from being completely full. This is the first measurable rainfall for the last several months. Farmers and water sports enthusiasts, along with most other Mitchell County citizens, are delighted with the rain.

Heather Craven and Scott Galey won the grand prizes at Project Celebration. Miss Craven will be going to Disneyland, Galey will take a $1500 certificate of deposit for use toward funding his college education.

255 students attend Project Celebration

Project Celebration was held on May 24-25, 1991 at Mitchell County Ag Barn from 10:00 pm to 4:00 am. There were 255 high school students there and lots of adults to help run the games and supervise activities. Some of the activities available were volleyball, arm wrestling, ping-pong, casino-style games, cowboy quick draw, balloon dart throw, ring-the-bottle, pop-a-shot, movies, foosball, hot shot basketball, football throw, and a DJ playing music for dancing. This year there was also a baby picture contest where students guessed whose baby pictures were displayed. There were hourly drawings for prizes and a large assortment of prizes was available. Also free food was furnished all night. Hamburgers, fried fish, french fries, vegetable trays, nachos, chips and dips, and a sundae bar were available for everyone participating. At the end of the night the two senior grand prize winners names were drawn. The winners were Heather Craven and Scott Galey. Heather has decided to take the trip to Disneyland and Scott Galey is going to take the $1500 certificate of deposit to help him with his college costs. This year's Project Celebration was a great success and everyone had a wonderful time. The decorations were super and all the See PROJECT, page 2

Premier performance is planned in Colorado City

Tumbleweed Smith, the renowned Texas storyteller, has chosen the Historic Opera House of Colorado City as the location for the world premier of his one-man stage presentation, "Texas Stories." The production, which is directed by Tim Haynes, features Tumbleweed's comments on Texas life, along with tape recorded segments of Texans relating humorous first person experiences. Tumbleweed has been interviewing residents of the Lone Star State since 1969, when he started his daily syndicated radio show, "The Sounds of Texas." He See PREMIER, page 2

Governor to sign Carriker's hazardous waste legislation

(AUSTIN)--Gov. Ann Richards will sign Sen. Steve Carriker's hazardous waste policy legislation Friday at the State Capitol. The omnibus package, SB 1099, contains the Governor's environmental priorities as well as several Carriker initiatives to safeguard communities which are targeted by hazardous waste disposal companies.

Carriker (D-Roby) represents 30 counties in North Texas and filed the legislation in response to increasing concerns within his district to questionable hazardous waste disposal ventures aimed at rural areas of North and West Texas. SB 1099 was one of Gov. Richards' top three legislative priorities and was hailed by environmentalists as one of the session's best bills. "This bill requires more disclosure from companies, puts common sense requirements on siting of facilities, and gives much greater protection to communities which host hazardous waste management facilities," Carriker said. The new law prohibits the Texas See GOVERNOR, page 2

Maddox asks economic board to withdraw support

Peggy Maddox, president of the environmental concerns group Texans Against Pollution, addressed the Mitchell County Board of Economic Development on Friday morning. Maddox requested that board members consider withdrawing the support they had given in 1990 for the hazardous waste facility which has been proposed for Mitchell County. She cited several reasons why TAP felt the board might wish to reconsider that support. She cited an outcry by members of the community against the facility; resolutions passed by governmental bodies in surrounding communities opposing it; the findings of a legislative task force which has allegedly exposed the hazards of such facilities, along with the motives of some people who run them; the moratorium called for by Governor Ann Richards on the permitting of such facilities; Senator Steve Carriker's attempts at legislation concerning the placement of such facilities in Texas; and a statement Ms. Maddox said was made recently by a representative of National Waste and Energy Development, Inc., that the corporation no longer intended to build a landfill on the site, but only a hazardous waste incinerator. Ms. Maddox added that she did not want to announce to the world that West Texas is willing to take all the waste. She also said that she felt that the proliferation of hazardous waste disposal facilities removed the incentives for industry to cut down on its production of hazardous waste, and she said she felt the solution lay in the decrease in production rather than the increase of disposal. She asked whether board members would wish to have such a facility located near their homes or their land, and she said, "We don't want our children to look at these facilities someday and ask why we did this to Mitchell County."

Rotary Club to sponsor art auction

The Colorado City Rotary Club will sponsor an art auction on Thursday, June 27 from 6:30 until 9:30 p.m. in the cafeteria of Colorado Middle School. The auction will be presented by the firm of Marlin Art, Inc., a New York firm which has put on many such auctions throughout the country. Doors will open at 6:30 p.m. for viewing of the many pieces of artwork, original and prints, created by international artists. The auction itself will begin between 7 and 7:30 p.m. Hors d'oeuvres and punch or coffee will be available during the viewing period. Make plans now to attend this unique and exciting event, and bid on original oils, original watercolors, Chinese prints, See CLUB, page 2

Micah Brannon, Elizabeth Penland and Cade Carlock raise the flags of Texas and the United States at the start of the day Wednesday at the Wallace Center Summer Recreation Program. Thirty-five students are participating this summer.

Summertime program keeps children busy

Wallace Center's Summer Recreational Program is under way, after a shaky start when, on Monday morning, there was no electricity for several minutes. Margaret Trulock, center director, said that lightning had hit a nearby transformer, causing the power outage. Officials from Texas Utilities Electric, however, realizing the urgency of the situation, came and restored power quickly so that the business of having summer fun could begin at the center. There are 35 children from kindergarten through the fifth grade registered for the summer program, Ms. Trulock said. She said that she and Margaret Ann Conaway, program director, along with Mendy Conner and Theresa Martin, were looking forward to having as much fun as the children. Participants in the program will be swimming, skating, visiting the library, going on field trips, making crafts, exercising, and playing sports and table games this summer. Ms. Trulock said that there were many individuals and civic organizations which had added their donations to the Wallace Center funding provided by Colorado City, Mitchell County, and the Colorado Independent School District to help make the summer program a success. This is the first time the program has been available for the full two-month period since 1989. Helping with donations so far have been the Colorado City Optimist Club, Kiwanis Club, Kiwanianes, Noon Lions, Mitchell County Retired Teachers' Association, Colorado City Garden Club, Fairview, Looney, and Buford Extension Homemakers, Business and Professional Women's Club, and Tandy Curlee.

Water Commission (TWC) from granting any permits for new commercial hazardous waste management facilities until the TWC and the Texas Air Control Board adopt new, strengthened rules mandated by the new law.

SB 1099 requires that sufficient emergency response equipment and personnel must be available in the area targeted by the waste company to reasonably respond to a worst-case accident associated with the facility. If insufficient emergency response exists, the applicant company must pay for the personnel and equipment needed.

The bill requires that workers who operate the facility must be certified by the state as qualified to operate the particular size and type of facility.

"Texas law requires that city landfill workers must be certified to run the landfill, but current law did not require any qualification of people handling hazardous waste," Carriker said, "SB 1099 was designed to address glaring errors like that."

MADDOX

Board members seemed to agree in general that there was a problem with industrial production of waste, but that the reality remained that there was waste, and that it needed to be disposed of now.

"What would you have us do with hazardous waste?" asked board member Bobby Lemons. "What will we do with the waste, for example, which has been discovered at the old Col-Tex Refinery site?"

Lemons said that he trusted state lawmakers when it came to the regulations they would place on facilities like the one in question, and trusted that such regulations would ensure that those facilities would be safe.

"If the operators fail to comply with the regulations," he said, "the facility can always be shut down."

Board member Gay Houston said that the site which has been chosen for the potential waste disposal facilities is an excellent one, and she said there is a need for good facilities, and for good locations to dispose of waste.

She added that Ms. Maddox might not hear from those members of the community who support the facility, but that board members do, indeed, hear about that support.

Board member Mike Hemphill said he did not feel that there was enough evidence for the board to withdraw its support for the proposed waste disposal facility at this time.

Board member Woody Anderson, and Board Chairman Elmer Martin, said that they believed the board had agreed to endorse only the landfill portion of NWED's proposal.

Indeed, the pertinent portion of the minutes of the meeting in question, which took place on March 9, 1990, reads as follows:

"The following resolution was passed: The Economic Development Board has gone on record in offering their unanimous support to the planning and implementation of the development of a regional landfill to be projected by National Waste and Energy Development, Inc."

Martin said that members would take Ms. Maddox's information into account, attempt to verify it, and would consider their previous endorsement should her information be found valid.

In other business, Martin informed board members that several proposals for community improvements have been submitted thus far from Mitchell County to the Resource Conservation and Development District, and that the program is going very well.

He said that plans are currently underway for the installation of dry hydrants at both Colorado City Lake and Lake Champion.

Dry hydrants are simply pipes which extend from land into untreated lake water. They can be accessed for use by road crews or by firefighters. Their cost is minimal.

Representatives of the RC&D brought the possibility of dry hydrant installation to the attention of Mitchell County officials, who were quick to see the potential benefits.

Board members also voted to extend for two months the contract with Robert Lemons, who is currently serving as a liaison between Representative Rob Junell and his Mitchell County constituents.

Bobby Lemons abstained from that vote.

25er's tourney set

Father's Day weekend, June 15 and 16, is the weekend local golfers always look forward to. It's the annual 25th Partnership Lowball Tournament hosted by Wolf Creek Golf Course. Recent rains should have the course in great shape. Golfers need to start signing up. Entry fee is $110 per team which includes a free meal for the golfer and a guest Saturday night. Any golfer wanting more information call Wolf Creek at 728-5514. Also the 1991 West Texas Chapter PGA Jr. Tour Golf Tournament is scheduled for Tuesday, June 25 at Wolf Creek. For more information and eligibility requirements call Wolf Creek.

Food-borne illness is big problem in summer

COLLEGE STATION -- Spring and summer are seasons for picnics and cookouts, but also a peak time for food-borne illness.

"Food-borne illness is a big problem during hot, hazy days because bacteria thrive in temperatures above 60 degrees," said Dr. Peggy Van Laanen, nutritionist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. More than 25 million cases of food poisoning are reported each year.

Such illnesses can be prevented, Van Laanen said, by taking proper precautions when food is prepared, stored or transported.

She offered these tips for preparing and packing food safely for outings: "Keep everything that touches food clean. Stop and wash utensils, bowls and counter tops -- everything that touches food -- between working on each dish. To avoid cross-contamination, never handle raw foods and cooked foods together. When eating outdoors, using disposables is a good idea."

"Use a fork, not your hands to mix meat, macaroni, egg, tuna or green salad. Your hands continually pick up germs that get into fingernails and skin creases. Only vigorous washing with hot, soapy water prepares hands to safely deal with food."

"Cook meat, poultry and seafood thoroughly to kill bacteria."

"Refrigerate foods prepared the night before. Store perishables -- meat, poultry or fish sandwiches, hard-boiled eggs -- in the refrigerator until time to leave on your picnic."

"Giving the ice chest a good washing. Use baking soda to eliminate odors."

"Use an ice chest to keep foods cold while traveling to the picnic area. Don't pack the chest too full; use enough ice to maintain a temperature of 40 degrees or below. Use shallow containers so food will stay chilled throughout. Keep the cooler in the shade, never in a hot car."

"If bags are used to pack food, use only new, clean ones. Bags that have been used to carry groceries can pass insects or bacteria to foods."

"When planning the menu, remember some foods are safer to take along than others," Van Laanen said. "Certain 'red flag' foods that need special care are moist, protein-containing foods such as dairy products, meats, eggs, poultry and seafood. Fried chicken and hard-boiled or deviled eggs are two foods that pick up bacteria quite easily. Cream pies and custards also may be difficult to transport safely."

Good choices for outings are meat, fish and poultry in cans that can be opened and eaten immediately, she said. Another good standby is peanut butter. Nuts, dried fruits and cereal mixtures, hard cheeses and crackers also are good choices.

Recycling advice available

The Texas Department of Health (TDH) has begun a toll-free information service to help ease the state's growing glut of reusable trash. Now, anyone needing advice or materials about recycling programs can call 1-800-458-9796 to reach to Solid Waste/Recycling Clearinghouse for help.

T.A. Outlaw, Chief of the TDH
Bureau of Solid Waste Management, said, "A lot of concerned people and communities are seriously interested in recycling their trash. But until now, there has not been a central source of information on how to go about it."

Since February, the information line staff has answered the public's questions about markets for recyclable materials, and offered guidance on starting recycling programs. The staff also distributes "how to" posters and brochures, and makes referrals to existing programs.

The information line (1-800-458-9796) operates weekdays from 8 am to 5 pm.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

It appears that the citizens of Colorado City once again are going to allow one of our elected boards to cost us tax money. I am referring to the hospital administrators' plan to fire all of our local people in the laundry dept. and the people in the maintenance dept. No matter how much he says can be saved in contracting out these services, we still lose in the end. These are our friends and neighbors, working to earn a living, paying taxes, supporting our local business's.
The bottom line is: while it may cost a nickel more to work our own people, at least that nickel stays in Colorado City and doesn't go to Abilene or Lubbock. Plus, taxes will never go down. Call a board member today.

Arlington, Texas -- Kelly Gerald
Hearin, a resident of Brownwood, TX, son of James Hearin of Colorado City, TX and Debbie Chambliss of Brownwood, enlisted in the Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program today, according to Sergeant Chuck Holbrook, Air Force Recruiter located at Heartland Mall, 300 Early Blvd., Brownwood, TX.

Kelly, a 1991 graduate of Bangs High school, is scheduled for enlistment in the Regular Air Force on September 19, 1991. Upon graduation from the Air Force's six-week basic training course at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas, he is scheduled to receive technical training in the Munitions Specialist career field.

He will be earning credits toward an Associate Degree in Applied Sciences through the Community College of the Air Force while attending basic and technical training schools.

Hardy presides at meeting

The Ladies Auxiliary of Wilson Wyatt VFW Post 9178 met on Thursday, May 23, at the Post Home with President Lyn Hardy presiding.

Those attending were Allene
Hill, Audrey Wilson, Joan Huff, Lou Williams, Estella Rivera and Bonnie Storey. Jean Farrar was voted in as a new member.

A donation was made to Camp Sanguinity to help children with cancer.

An afghan made by Nellie Bunch was recently raffled off, with the proceeds going to Ms. Bunch as a love gift. We would like to thank everyone who participated.

The Memorial Day flag raising ceremony was planned. All members were urged to attend.

June 13, at 8 p.m. at the Post Home is the scheduled time and place for the next meeting of the auxiliary.

Mission offers thanks

The Community Mission Board of Directors would like to thank each person who donated items for the recent sidewalk sale.

Those donors included: Deanie
Elliot, Buck Ellis, Dale Lindsey,
H.W. Crawford, Mae Farlane, Eppy Mendoza, Rachel Perez,
Abbie Northcutt, Lone Wolf
Electric, J.A. Thompson, Bonnie
Brown, Pena Orano, John Clifton,
Debbie Schulze, V. Mayo, A.
DeLoera, Peggy Ratliff, Carolyn
Brown, J.O. Dockrey, N.H. Bell,
John DeLoera, Clay Yancy,
Carmen Gonzales, Rev. Bracy,
Richard Mayo, First Methodist Church, Roy Turnbull, and Jon
Farris, all of Colorado City.

Our thanks to Leon Light for the use of his trailer; to Wayne Pierce and Darrell Shurtleff of Westbrook for the materials and labor for the new clothes racks; and to the volunteer workers Emmitt Jerrell, Ray and Peggy King, Shonda Enroe and Dot DeLiglio from Colorado City; and Carmen Romero of Hermleigh.

A total of 147 hours were volunteered.

Plans are progressing for the mission's move to another location, but the "thrifty shop" will remain in the present building.

New business hours are Tuesdays, Fridays, and Saturdays from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m., with Tuesday being "brown bag day" -- all the clothing you can get into a grocery sack for $1.

Farewell to our P.R. man, the Reverend Jon Farris, who has accepted the position of Methodist Chaplain at the Philmont Scout Ranch in Cimmaron, New Mexico.

We say, "God bless you for a job well done. We are going to miss you."

Mission Director Wilma

HELPING YOUR CHILD TO WRITE

Learning to write is an important task of childhood. The U.S. Department of Education has noted that "children who are encouraged to draw and scribble stories at an early age will later learn to compose more easily, more effectively, and with greater confidence than children who do not have this encouragement."

Parents can assist their children in acquiring writing skills in a number of ways:

*Provide a special place for writing and drawing which is equipped with paper, pencils, crayons, felt pens, envelopes, tape and staples, so that children can explore writing at any time.

*Provide bank forms, memo pads, prescription pads and pads for taking orders in restaurants for make believe play. Make believe play of this type will stretch the child's imagination and broaden his experience.

*Help the child in writing letters to grandparents, sick friends, authors of books and famous people.

*Put little notes in lunch boxes and back packs. These can be picture notes or simple messages like "Hi! I hope you are having a good day. I love you!"

*Helping children write and illustrate their own books by stapling the pages together.

*Model writing for children so they will recognize the importance of writing. You can encourage this by writing them private notes, writing letters to family and friends (be sure to allow the child to draw a picture or write a letter to include), letting them observe you writing grocery lists or recipes.

*Praise children's attempts to spell as these show they are learning the relationship between writing and speech. "Correct" spelling will come later.

*Avoid criticizing neatness, spelling, or grammar. It is important that children learn that writing is communication and that it is fun.
