Tshombe Sealing End To Katanga Secession

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—President Moise Tshombe returned to his old Katanga capital today and at once plunged into talks with U.N. officials that should seal the end of his secession.

The meeting was called to work out details of a peaceful United Nations entry into Katanga, his last bastion in the province.

Tshombe seemed ready for complete capitulation. He had not come to Elisabethville from Kolwezi to negotiate, he said. He was here only to discuss arrangements for U.N. troops to occupy the big industrial center.

Plans for blowing up the copper mines and big Union Miniere refinery at Kolwezi have been suspended, he told newsmen.

Tshombe added he would stay in Elisabethville long enough to insure that his orders giving U.N. forces free movement throughout Katanga are carried out.

The meeting with U.N. officials took place on the third floor of the towering U.N. headquarters on the outskirts of town.

Once the U.N. entry into Kolwezi is arranged, a U.N. spokesman said, talks can begin with Tshombe on arrangements to put U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant's plan for Congo reunification into full effect.

Thant's unity plan calls for a 50-50 sharing of Katanga's mining revenues with the central regime in Leopoldville, a merger of the armed forces and adoption of a federal constitution.

With an end to Katanga's secession in prospect, sources at U.N. headquarters in New York City believe he can begin reducing the 19,000-man U.N. force in the Congo in a month's time.

But in South Kasai Province, a diamond-mining area northwest of Katanga, factional fighting appeared to be still raging, and on a scale worse than anything that has occurred in Katanga. The U.N. Command has ignored the situation in South Kasai so far, contending that it is a problem for the Congolese army.

"There are many dead, many dead, many dead," said an African priest who came from Lubumbashi to Leopoldville.

President Proposes Biggest Budget Yet

Military Due $51 Billion In JFK's Outlay $98.8 Billion Asked; Keyed To Tax Cut Economy Boost Kennedy Plan Stirs Storm In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today outlined military spending of $51 billion for next year.

With related programs such as building of fallout shelters and atomic energy activities, the defense outlays for the coming fiscal year were estimated at $56 billion, $2.6 billion more than this year and about $10 billion more than in 1960.

"There is no discount price on defense," said Kennedy in his budget message. "The free world must be prepared at all times to face the perils of global nuclear war, limited conventional conflict, and covert guerrilla activities."

FLEXIBLE, BALANCED

"The 1964 budget," he added, "carries forward this administration's policies to develop and strengthen the flexible and balanced forces needed to guard against each of these hazards."

American military strength, the President said, is "the free world's principal bulwark against aggression. Our military forces are mighty but they must be further strengthened and modernized if we are to be able to resist any opponent whatever his choice of weapons."

"What will the huge military package buy?" Kennedy ticked off these items:

—Additional land-based Minutemen ICBMs to be placed in dispersed sites, capable of withstanding a surprise attack and hitting back.

—A defense spokesman said 150 additional Minutemen will be provided by the fiscal 1964 budget, to lift the planned total in the Minuteman arsenal to 950.

POLARIS SUBS

—The financing for the last six of a total of 41 Polaris submarines by the end of next fiscal year. 24 of these submarines will carry missiles in their tubes which will be in operation. The present Polaris fleet numbers 10.

—Improved air and missile defense forces. "High levels of effort will continue on developing a defense against missiles, including further testing of the Nike Zeus antimissile missile and initial development of the more advanced Nike-X surface-to-air missile," said Kennedy.

—A Civil Defense fallout shelter program which the President said would improve the chances that a large portion of the U.S. population would survive a nuclear attack.

—Strengthened counterinsurgency forces to help American allies deal with Communist subversion and covert aggression within their frontiers.

AIR FORCE DOWN

For the first time in years, the budget recommendation for the Air Force decreased, while those for the Army and Navy increased. In part this reflected Kennedy's view that there is need for "more powerful and flexible conventional forces—ground, sea and air—to increase the range of nonnuclear response to aggression."

The Air Force spending estimate for the current year is $20.06 billion, for the new year $19.9 billion. The Army total would increase from a present $11.87 billion to $12.17 billion. The Navy recommendation goes up from $14.19 billion to $15.10 billion.

Boy Is Identified As Girl's Killer

BOSTON (AP)—Police Commissioner Edmund L. McNamara said today a 15-year-old boy has been identified as the strangler of a 16-year-old Roxbury girl on Jan. 5.

The body of Daniela Saunders was found in an alley not far from her home in the Roxbury District the night of Jan. 5.

She was the ninth female strangling victim in Greater Boston in the past seven months. None of the slayings has been solved.

Police have said they doubt there was any connection between the slaying of Miss Saunders and those of the other women.

Kinfolks Held In Baby Beating

FORT WORTH (AP)—A 23-month-old girl, her head and body broken and bruised from apparent repeated beatings, was in critical condition today.

Police jailed an aunt and uncle, in whose care the blonde child had been entrusted.

The baby had sustained a head injury, fractured ribs, a dislocated shoulder and bruises over her entire body.

Officers said the uncle, 21, admitted whipping the child with a belt and "punching her in the chest" with his fingertips while trying to toilet train the girl.

A hospital spokesman said some of the bruises were not fresh.

"She has bruises all over her little body—the old ones as well as new ones," the attendant said.

The screaming infant was taken to the hospital shortly after 10 p. m., accompanied by the aunt and uncle.

POLL TAX BOX SCORE

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy proposed today an unprecedented $56.8-billion budget keyed to deficit-reducing tax cuts which he said would spark the nation toward full employment, production and purchasing power.

Kennedy's spending program for the year starting July 1 would top even the highest of wartime budgets, $98.3 billion in 1944-45, and shoot the public debt to a record $135.6 billion.

Nonetheless he insisted it was shaped to put new life into the economy and insure "efficient and frugal" conduct of the government.

In a message sending his mid-term budget to Congress, Kennedy acknowledged the $13.5-billion, three-year tax cutting plan he unveiled earlier this week would at first add red ink to federal finances. He estimated the deficit would rise from the $8.8 billion now anticipated this year to $11.9 billion.

ITEMS LISTED

Recommendations Kennedy sent to Capitol Hill included:

—Over-all defense spending of $55.4 billion, up $2.4 billion from the current year, emphasis on a strong retaliatory force, flexible conventional forces, better air and missile defenses.

—Space programs costing $4.2 billion, an increase of $1.8 billion; manned space flight efforts to get most of the total, with the goal of getting a man to the moon.

—Foreign aid totaling $4,945,000,000 with special attention for countries willing to help themselves.

—Another bid for medical care for the aged financed through Social Security taxes, a new request for a Cabinet-level Department of Urban Affairs. Detailed recommendations will be made later for aid to education farm and other programs.

—For peacetime the anticipated $11.9 billion deficit would be second only to the $12.4 billion incurred under former President Dwight D. Eisenhower in 1958-59. But Kennedy argued a 1963-64 deficit is unavoidable even at the present level of taxes. The choice, he said, lies between accepting a "chronic deficit of inertia due to inadequate economic growth" and a temporary deficit caused by programs designed to generate the economy, increase revenues and eventually achieve budget surpluses.

TWO TYPES

The first type of deficit is a sign of waste and weakness," he argued. "The second is an investment in the future."

Kennedy foresaw receipts of $86.9 billion. He offered this reasoning to conclude that reduced taxes will start producing new revenues in the year ahead.

Tax cuts taking effect in 1963— he didn't say when—would by themselves decrease government income for the fiscal year some $5.3 billion. But two factors trim the net loss from what might have been expected to $2.7 billion. These are a speedup in collection of corporation taxes, which now lag six months, and the advance in taxable income anticipated from the stimulus of a cut in rates. And despite this loss, receipts actually will increase $1.4 billion from the 1962-63 estimate of $85.5 billion because of an enhanced economy.

Thus Kennedy sought to rebut conservatives in Congress who denounce rising deficits as fiscal irresponsibility and are reluctant to cut taxes when the government ledger is in the red.

HERE'S WHERE YOUR TAX DOLLAR GOES

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ever wonder where your tax money goes? Here's how President Kennedy plans to split up your tax dollar in fiscal 1964.

Defense and foreign aid, 38 cents; space, 4 cents; interest on federal debt, 10 cents; agriculture, 6 cents; veterans, 6 cents; all other, 16 cents.

And this is where each budget dollar will come from:

Individual income tax, 47 cents; corporation income tax, 24 cents; excise taxes, 11 cents; government borrowing, 11 cents; other sources, 7 cents.

Bible Or Jungle, Graham Tells Baptist Meeting

DALLAS (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham said Wednesday that "it's back to the Bible or it's back to the jungle" for the world.

More than 17,000 people heard him speak to a Baptist evangelism conference.

Urging acceptance of the Bible as the literal word of God, Dr. Graham said:

"If the Bible says that Jonah swallowed the whale, let's accept it and believe it is scientifically possible."

"Let's get on with the job of proclaiming the Gospel and get off this fighting over stories in the Bible," he said in reference to recent controversy over Message of Genesis, a book by Prof. Ralph Elliott of Midwestern seminary.

You can debate until 2000 A.D. and not solve the problems in Genesis," he said. "We can only accept this book by faith."

Graham said there is a movement in America to take God out of the country.

"When the Bible goes down, anarchy will rear its head," he warned.

State Legislative Board Urges $3 Billion Spending

AUSTIN (AP)—The Legislative Budget Board made public today its budget recommendations calling for more than $3 billion spending in the next two years.

The figure is about $274 million higher than the appropriation for the current two-year state fiscal period which ends Aug. 31.

The recommendations of the board, composed of legislators, go to the Legislature for consideration.

The total compares to a budget of $3.1 billion recommended by former Gov. Price Daniel.

The budget estimates that $2,281,772 in additional money will be needed and could be obtained from extending the present corporation franchise tax for another year.

The House expected action today on its first two bills—both of them spending measures.

Gov. John Connally asked Wednesday in his address to the legislature emergency appropriations of $217,772.

The House Appropriations Committee met immediately and approved a package bill calling for the expenditures.

Rep. Bill Healy of Paducah, committee chairman, said he would ask the House to suspend the rules today so he could bring the bill up for consideration without placing it on the calendar.

The other bill involves paying $40,000 expenses incurred in the education, housing and community development. Others—farm, postal and shipping subsidy programs, for instance—were lower, and the decreases more than offset the increases.

Proposed over-all defense spending of $55.4 billion would absorb 55 cents of every tax dollar, but Kennedy asserted: "There is no discount price on defense."

The total up $2.4 billion from the current year, includes $51 billion for the Pentagon, $2.8 billion for the Atomic Energy Commission, $1.45 billion for military aid abroad and the balance for stockpiling, selective service and the like.

SPACE PROGRAM

If Congress approves, expenditures aimed at landing a man on the moon in this decade and exploring faraway planets will go up 75 per cent, from $2.4 to $4.2 billion.

Pending a separate message, Kennedy withheld details on his education program. He didn't tell whether he again will recommend federal aid for school construction and teacher salaries, a proposal he spiked on the religious issue in the last Congress. But he said spending should rise $165 million to $1.5 billion and he requested a doubling to $3 billion of appropriations for immediate and future use.

In another controversial field, he suggested total spending of $3.75 billion on foreign aid. This would include $2.3 billion for economic assistance and represent a net decrease of $100 million in the entire program. He asked for an appropriation, however, of $4.9 billion. That's just about what he asked for a year ago. Congress cut out a billion.

GOVERNMENT COSTS

For all functions of government, Kennedy requested new appropriations of $96.5 billion. These are the figures Congress debates. Appropriations control much of current spending, although part of the nearly $90 billion Kennedy proposes to spend has been previously authorized.

The President faces opposition to both his spending and tax plans because of the debt they will create.

Last year Congress raised the temporary limit to $300 billion, providing for a drop to $285 billion next April 1, to $300 billion on June 25 and back to the permanent ceiling of $285 billion on July 1.

To cope with conditions as he sees them, Kennedy urged a prompt extension of the $300-billion limit through June 30. He said he would seek a further increase for the next 12 months. The present outlook, he said, is for a debt of $135.6 billion at the end of that period. He postponed making a specific request, however, until a more reliable estimate is possible.

Before getting into the next fiscal year, Kennedy called on Congress to appropriate another $3.9 billion for the current year. He said that much is needed to pay for legislation passed in 1962 without adequate financing.

ADMINISTRATIVE

For 1963-64 spending, he made these additional recommendations in what is known as the administrative budget:

Agriculture—$5.7 billion, down $1.1 billion.

Natural resources—$2.5 billion, up a billion.

Housing and community development—$300 million, down $200 million.

Health, labor and welfare—$5.6 billion, up $700 million.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's budget sailed into stormy congressional seas today.

There was a clamor that unless some spending was jettisoned, its cargo of tax cuts would never reach port intact.

Much of a chorus of alarm about the budget's deficit—practically drowning out other comment—came from Democrats, with Republicans adding their denunciations.

"Incredible," "ridiculous," "Entirely too big" were some of the harsher comments of critics.

Many argued that the estimated $11.9-billion deficit would badly hurt the President's tax reduction proposals.

GOP leaders generally gave the budget a blistering reception.

Nor did many key Democrats express warm regard for the spending plans.

Blasts Shake Three Villages

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (AP)—A series of explosions blew a magazine plant into bits and shook three Long Island villages today.

People were thrown out of bed, and lights suddenly flashed on in homes in the New York City suburban area with a population of about 80,000.

Hempstead and Mineola, the Nassau County seat, were shaken in addition to Garden City.

Ninety families were evacuated from two apartment houses temporarily.

Police said the seven explosions—of ever-increasing intensity—were in fuel oil tanks in the basement of the one-story brick magazine plant.

No one was believed to have been in the magazine plant, and no injuries were reported.

BLIND BARTIMAEUS
By T. B. Tarbel, Preacher
Church of Christ, 2000 West Highway 80

"Thy faith hath made thee whole," Jesus said, in giving sight to blind Bartimaeus (Mark 10:32). This was a glorious miracle wrought by Christ, but the miracle was not the conversion of the man. It was a miracle which gave him physical eyesight. After the miracle he did "follow Jesus in the way," which meant he stayed in his presence physically. There is no reason to believe he was not a follower of Christ's teaching before this.

The fact that a man is blind physically, does not prove he is blind spiritually. The Bible tells us nothing of the conversion of Bartimaeus. Hence, we cannot use

SHIRLEY CHIEF BULLDOG THREAT

Longhorns Visit Midland Gym Seeking First Win

Delnor Poss takes his Big Spring Steers to Midland tonight, where the Steers resume District 2-AAAA basketball play against Midland High.

Midland is 13 in league play and stands 4-12 overall. That record is deceptive, however. The Bulldogs are capable of playing splendid ball, as they proved in defeating Odessa Permian not long ago.

Midland has averaged 63 points in each of its conference games to 68.5 for the opposition. Chief Midland threat is Ed Shirley, tied for fourth among conference scorers with a total of 82 points.

East Records 115-108 Win In All-Star Game

By BOB MYERS Associated Press Sports Writer LOS ANGELES (AP)—The East congratulated itself with utmost justification today on its 115-108 victory over the West in the National Basketball Association's annual All-Star game.

What happened was that Oscar Robertson, Bill Russell and a host of less renowned pros of the East simply ran, passed and scored the pantaloons off the West.

At halftime it was 56-50, and the score was much closer than the contest. For example, 3 minutes and 20 seconds before that buzzer the West's great Elgin Baylor had scored his first and only field goal of the entire first half.

Forsan Teams Win Three Games Over Coahomans

COAHOMA — Basketball teams representing Forsan High School swept three games from Coahoma representatives here Tuesday night.

The Bulldogs Hayden Norris and Yogi Cunningham each tallied nine for Coahoma. The Forsan boys now have a 13-4 overall record.

Robertson went on to lead the East in scoring with 21 points. Russell, who had 19, bottled up the West attack and won the Most Valuable Player award for the evening.

Bob Hope Christmas Show Sort Of Delayed Present

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The Bob Hope Christmas show, arriving about three weeks after the holiday, has become a sort of annual delayed present from television. This year Hope and his troupe (as usual consisting primarily of pretty girls like Lana Turner, Janis Paige and Anita Bryant) journeyed from an icy outpost on the North Korean border in sight of Red patrols to the sun-baked deck of the carrier Kitty Hawk, everywhere entertaining thousands of American servicemen. Bits and pieces from many shows were edited into an hour-long program on NBC Wednesday night. Hope rattled off his steady stream of wisecracks "inside" GI jokes and snide comment on everything from local weather to the top brass. The boys loved it all, particularly the girls. But for the home audiences, soldiers and sailors were the real stars of the show, as the cameras showed their young laughing faces. Hope and his friends are nice people.

A young pianist named Andre Watts, only a few hours after a network television debut, is causing comment in knowledgeable musical circles. Watts, 16, was tremendously impressive—another Van Cliburn, one member of the audience declared—when he played Liszt's Piano Concerto in E-flat on Tuesday night's CBS "New York Philharmonic Young People's Concert." Soloists and conductors were all young performers. Watts, son of an Army enlisted man, lives in Philadelphia and has been a soloist with the Philadelphia Orchestra.

DEAR ABBY
Enjoy Your Good Fortune

DEAR ABBY: I suppose I should be the happiest boy in the world today but I am not. Here is what happened: I started taking violin lessons at school from a teacher who is hired by the school to teach whole classes. I used a violin owned by the school because my father hasn't been able to work much lately and we couldn't afford to buy one. Well, this morning the violin teacher (GAY) received a wonderful violin. He said the father of a student who refused to practice called him and told him to give the violin to anyone who would use and appreciate it. He chose me. I love the violin but I know whose it was, and I feel terrible taking it. What should I do?
FEELS BAD
DEAR FEELS: Don't feel bad. If the boy who first owned the violin valued it, his father would not have given it away. Master the second-hand fiddle and one day you might make concert master.
DEAR ABBY: Is it wrong to send a single girl (age 19) a wedding invitation and write on the bottom of it, "Bring Mac" (Mac is her boy friend)? My future mother-in-law said it was wrong and I should have sent Mac a separate invitation. What is your opinion?
GETTING MARRIED
DEAR GETTING: To be proper, one should send a separate invitation to each unmarried guest. Handwritten notes on formal wedding invitations are out of place. These include, "No gifts, please," "No children under 12," and "Bring Mac."
DEAR ABBY: Our son has been in the Army for a year. At first he saved almost all his pay. He'd bank it where he was stationed and send home his bank book to prove it. Lately he hasn't been sending home his bank book. We are afraid he is spending his money on his buddies to become popular, and in no time he will be bled dry. He is very immature and has no sense of responsibility. Can we get the government to send us his pay so we can save it for him? We will, in turn, send him an allowance to live on. He doesn't need much as the Army is housing and feeding him.
SOLDIER'S PARENTS
DEAR PARENTS: In only very rare and exceptional cases will Uncle Sam step in and protect the loot from a man who's profiting his country. Impress upon your son the importance of saving, and pray he does.
CONFIDENTIAL TO MRS. D.: A spoiled child never loves his mother. You had better get some professional counseling before it is too late.
What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Nature-Loving Father Arrested

RAY CITY (AP) — A father who took his two children to bleak Matagorda Peninsula for 47 days "to get them close to nature" wound up in jail. William Berry, 47, an unemployed salesman, his son Steven, 9, daughter Bonny, 14, and two cats were taken off the peninsula Wednesday after they were spotted by the pilot of a light plane. Sheriff J. B. Cole said the boat used by Berry to reach the peninsula was reported stolen. Berry was jailed on a charge of theft. He said he left his car as security for the boat but didn't discuss this arrangement with the boat's owner. The three had only a tarpaulin windbreak for shelter on Matagorda, where temperatures dropped to the low 20s on two occasions. Cole said the three were "unbelievably dirty and ragged" but apparently in good health. They were provided baths and food. As the children dined on hamburgers and milk shakes, they said the experience "was fun until it got cold." The children were placed in private homes. Their father, who said he was ready to leave the peninsula when a deputy sheriff showed up, called the experience "kind of bitter and kind of sweet." Berry said they took along some canned goods and supplemented their diet with oysters and crabs. They kept warm by building a fire in a pit and lying on coals covered with sand. Berry said he went to Houston seeking work last July and left for the peninsula Nov. 30 after he lost his job with an insurance company. His wife and five other children live in Portland, Maine, he said.

Communism In Trouble

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
An AP News Analysis

BERLIN (AP)—The world Communist movement is in trouble and its leaders are alarmed. The current congress of Communist leaders in East Berlin can only widen the rift between Peking and Moscow.

The alarm showed through Premier Khrushchev's major speech Wednesday. His bombast, his branding of nuclear might, his boasts of coming Soviet superiority—all seemed just to be window dressing.

What frightens the Communists? It is the prospect of polarization of authority—two Communist seats of power instead of one, with the world movement ripped apart.

leader, and there should not resort to arms even in a revolutionary movement if the seizure of power can be achieved less riskily.

DON'T AGREE

The Chinese don't agree that both sides will suffer catastrophe in nuclear war. There are three quarters of a billion Chinese; Mao Tse-tung contends plenty of them will be left after the United States and the U.S.S.R. toss bombs back and forth.

Khrushchev was both pleading and threatening.

The Soviet leader does not want to see world communism weakened by an irreparable schism. If it is possible, he undoubtedly would like to see the argument patched up. But perhaps the Red Chinese want too much.

CASTRO, TOO

Even Fidel Castro, the newest addition to the ranks of Red leaders, seems to be leaning in the direction of the Chinese deviation these days. He could influence many a Latin-American Communist to do likewise.

Castro, annoyed since Khrushchev suddenly yanked away his hope for nuclear weapons in October, chose the day of Khrushchev's big speech to denounce the Communist division and issue a fiery call to revolution all over Latin America. His attitude had a Chinese sound.

Castro likely is not alone in his impatience. Khrushchev's cautious policy, while it may be good for the Soviet Union, leaves many a Communist party out on a limb, looking forward to long years of serving Soviet interests without concrete rewards. The more reckless, belligerent Chinese policy likely would suit many in the world movement much better.

THEY JUST MIGHT

But Premier Khrushchev told the Chinese Communists Wednesday that if they will not listen to his logic, they will have to go their own way. From the looks on the faces of the Red Chinese delegation, Peking might consider doing just that.

Khrushchev rejected Peking's idea of a meeting of world Red leaders on Chinese terms. If the Chinese want to talk about ending the dispute, says Khrushchev, they first must stop the name-calling in public. It has been going on for a long time now and is rising in violence.

Khrushchev accused the Chinese of wanting to spread communism by war, without regard for the widespread destruction that course might bring. There are other ways, says the Soviet

Court Stands By Jr. College Ruling

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Supreme Court refused Wednesday to reconsider its Dec. 19 decision that Texas junior colleges have the right to levy and collect property taxes.

The court overruled a motion for rehearing in a case brought against San Jacinto Junior College by Leon Shepherd and other Harris County property owners.

S.M. SGT. HAROLD L. WISE

Sgt. Wise Now Serving In Air Force On Okinawa

S.M. Sgt. Harold L. Wise, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Wise, 1400 Johnson, is now serving as first sergeant of the 613th Support Squadron on Okinawa. He arrived there from a previous assignment at Lincoln AFB, Nebraska, in July, 1961.

Wise is a native of Odessa but worked as a car inspector for the T&P Railway here following his discharge from the Armed Forces in 1946 until 1949.

He attended Toyah High School from 1935 until 1939, where he lettered in basketball, tennis, track and field and baseball.

Sgt. Wise has been in the service 23 years. At the beginning of World War II, Wise, then in the U.S. Navy, was with the Enterprise Task Force on the Destroyer Dunlap. The Task Force had just finished supplying Wake Island and was one day out of Pearl Harbor when a storm delayed them from entering Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7. They received word of the attack on Pearl Harbor while at sea one or two hours after it happened. The Task Force pulled into a charred and smoke-covered Pearl Harbor Dec. 8 to take on supplies before setting out to hunt the Japanese fleet. However, the fleet was never found.

In February, 1942, Wise was in the heat of battle as the Enterprise force attacked the Marshall and Gilbert islands. This was to be the first attack on Japanese-held territory during the war. He and his ship then proceeded to Guadalcanal and New Guinea.

Wise was also on the famed destroyer attack in the Vella Gulf where four Japanese heavy cruisers fell victims to 36 torpedoes launched by six destroyers. All the Nip craft were sunk within 45 seconds after the battle started.

Not long after that incident, Wise was married on July 19, 1942.

He came back to the continental United States in August, 1943, to attend commissary school and made chief in January, 1944. Then he proceeded to Camp Bedford, Va., for amphibious training. He eventually was assigned to duty on an LST.

His ship took him to Africa and Italy, where Naples became his home port. Wise saw the landing craft of U.S. forces hit the beaches of Southern France.

Still later, he was re-assigned to duty in the Pacific and was to take part in a landing at Okinawa. There he found out how terrifying a typhoon can be and what a Kamikaze attack is like.

Harold was discharged from the service in 1945 but re-entered in January, 1953, this time as an airman. He reported to Randolph Field, San Antonio.

He was on duty in Korea from 1954 until 1955. Re-assigned to the states in July, 1955, he went to Dallas on a charge of robbing the Republic National Bank in Dallas.

He is William Whitten Cecil of Corpus Christi, named in a complaint filed earlier at Dallas, FBI agents seized him.

July 1 Target For Starting Income Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Next July 1 is President Kennedy's new target for personal income tax cuts starting his three-year, $12.5 billion tax reduction program, his budget message indicated today.

The retreat from Kennedy's original hope of cuts retroactive to Jan. 1 apparently was forced by the go-slow reaction of key members of Congress. They dislike the towering deficit that goes along with Kennedy's record $98.8 billion spending schedule.

The legislators' caution, combined with the sheer workload of writing perhaps the most sweeping tax overhaul in history, could result in an even later starting date. Some members of Congress want to wait until Jan. 1, 1964.

SECOND STAGE

That is the date on which Kennedy proposed to begin the second stage of his program—corporation rate cuts, further individual rate reductions, and some of the "reforms" which are supposed to recoup $3.5 billion of the lost revenues.

Such a six-month delay would reduce the near-record deficit of $11.9 billion which the President foresees for fiscal 1964, the government year which starts next July 1.

But some government economists fear that, in the meantime, the slow advance of the economy may stall. Kennedy hinted at this possibility, he gave warning that a business slowdown would mean sinking revenues.

"This would indeed be unfortunate," he told Congress, "both because of the effect on government finances, and because of the lost opportunities and the human suffering that would accompany a sluggish economy and growing unemployment."

CLEARLY IMPLIED

Nowhere in the message did he state that July 1 is now his target for tax relief. But it was clearly implied in the projected budget estimates, as well as in the omission of any reference to the old Jan. 1 date. Kennedy said merely that some cuts "would start in the calendar year 1963."

The budget assumed very modest business gains this year. Its forecast of $96.9 billion of tax collections was based on an estimated national output of $578 billion. This would be only a $24 billion increase from 1962, smaller than the disappointing gains of the past year.

Personal income will increase $19 billion from last year to a 1963 total of $459 billion, the message predicted, and corporation profits will advance by $2.1 billion to $53 billion.

POTENTIAL RECORDS

The production, income and profits estimates are all potential records. But the rate of increase would hardly be sufficient, according to government economists, to prevent further increases in unemployment.

Kennedy blamed the nation's slow economic growth in part on "the restraining effects of the tax system." Tax reduction now will bring budget surpluses in the future, he argued.

"This issue must be faced squarely," the President went on. "Our present choice is not between a tax cut and a balanced budget."

"The choice, rather, is between chronic deficits arising out of a slow rate of economic growth, and temporary deficits stemming from a tax program designed to promote fuller use of our resources and more rapid economic growth."

"The latter choice is the only sensible one. Adoption of the tax program I am proposing will strengthen our nation's economic vitality, and by so doing, will provide the basis for sharply increased budget revenues in future years."

SMALL BUSINESS

Kennedy disclosed that his special message to Congress due later this month will contain a proposal for special tax help for small businesses. He gave no elaboration.

Pending the proposed reduction of corporation rates next Jan. 1, he said, the present 52 per cent rate should be extended until that time. Without extension, it would drop to 47 per cent on July 1.

Present excise rates should be extended for another year beyond their present mid-1963 expiration date, Kennedy said, along with the 5 per cent passenger tax on airline fares.

More Dam Work

WASHINGTON (AP)—A request for $8,354,000 to continue work on the Amistad Dam on the Rio Grande near Del Rio, Tex., came today from President Kennedy in his budget recommendations for fiscal 1964 to Congress.

Special Gift Establishes H-SU Holman Scholarship

A special gift of $25,000 has established the Eugene Holman Memorial Scholarship Fund at Hardin-Simmons University. The gift came from Standard Oil Company of New Jersey which the late Mr. Holman, an H-SU alumnus, served as board chairman and chief executive officer for many years. Making the presentation Monday during assembly exercises was Wallace E. Pratt, retired Standard director and former vice president and chief geologist of Humble Oil & Refining Company. Mr. Pratt presented the memorial check to Mrs. Isalou Moody, Hardin-Simmons staff member and sister of Mr. Holman. Mrs. Theo Andrews, Big Spring, also is a sister. The veteran oil executive told H-SU students and faculty that Standard determined to establish the scholarship fund out of appreciation for what the university meant to the career of Mr. Holman and as a means of providing "opportunity for socially constructive and rewarding careers" for deserving and financially needy students. A surprise presentation of a 16-piece silver punch service to Mr. and Mrs. George L. Graham on behalf of H-SU faculty and students was also made in appreciation for Graham's service as chief executive officer of H-SU during the past year when the university has been without a president. He is executive vice president. Mr. Holman, who died last Aug. 12, was a native of San Angelo and was reared in Monahans. He graduated from H-SU (then Simmons College) in 1916, then secured his master's degree from the University of Texas. After service with the Texas Company in Cuba in 1917 and World War I military duty, he joined Humble as a geologist. In the early 1920's he joined the Standard exploration and production staff, subsequently headed the company's operations in South America, and was elected to the firm's board of directors in 1939. He was elected vice president of the company in 1942, became president in 1947, and was named chairman of the board in 1954. He continued as chairman and chief executive officer until his retirement in May, 1960.

Harry Adams, Oil Pioneer, Is Dead

MIDLAND (AP) — Harry Adams, 80, a prominent West Texas independent oil operator, died Wednesday after a long illness. Adams and a partner were credited with opening three of the largest pools in the oil-rich Permian Basin of West Texas and New Mexico years ago. He had been a resident of Midland since 1932. His wife survives. The veteran oil operator began as a drilling contractor in Wyoming in 1917. He moved to Loving County in West Texas in 1927. For several years he was a partner with C. H. Bradley, now of Stephenville.

Big Boost In Space Agency Spending Is Recommended

WASHINGTON (AP) — A big boost in spending for the U.S. space agency was recommended today by President Kennedy to blaze a trail for American landing on the moon by this decade's end and put more thrust in the space race. He asked Congress to approve

$4.2 billion for fiscal 1964—$1.8 billion more than in 1963 and more than triple the amount spent in 1962. "The space programs of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration will continue to expand as this nation strives to maintain a position of world leadership in the exploration and utilization of space," Kennedy said.

In addition, the administration sought Congress' okay for $184,880,000 spending by the Atomic Energy Commission for space projects—an increase of some $40 million over this year. This would cover a stepped up effort to develop nuclear powered rockets and advanced devices for supplying communications and other satellites with auxiliary nuclear power.

Thus, for all space projects by the two agencies, the administration sought approval for spending $4,384,880,000 in the coming fiscal year, compared with $2,544,449,000 in the current one.

In his budget message to Congress, Kennedy noted that defense spending and the growth in the space program had accounted for the major part of the increase in the budget since his administration took office.

As to the space program, he said: "The accelerated programs for the exploration and use of outer space moved ahead vigorously during the past year, and further significant advances are anticipated in the year ahead."

"This budget provides for an increase of $2 billion in appropriations for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to proceed with the top priority manned lunar landing program and with its side range of programs of scientific investigation and development of new applications such as communications and meteorological satellites."

TWO PROJECTS
The President added that efforts are being concentrated on the continued development of the complex Apollo spacecraft—the vehicle slated for the lunar mission—and the giant advanced Saturn rocket needed to boost the Apollo to the moon.

He also said the budget provides for strong research efforts aimed at developing the technology needed for advanced space missions "including future manned space flight and unmanned explorations of Venus and Mars."

Declaring the recent Mariner fly-by of the planet Venus proves U.S. progress in unmanned space investigations, the President said that during the coming fiscal year, the development of geophysical, astronomical, meteorological and communications satellites would also continue.

NEARLY DOUBLE
Kennedy recommended spending $2,713,000 for manned space flight, compared with an estimated $1,376,000,000 for the current year, and $547 million in fiscal 1962. For unmanned investigations of space, spending of $583 million is asked, compared with $441 million this year.

Kennedy gave top priority to "the vast effort required for a manned lunar landing."

"Funds during the current and coming years in the budget explanation added, 'provide for experiments with Gemini flights—the two-man spacecraft for earth orbital flights which is the next step after the Mercury program—for continuing development of the Apollo spacecraft, and for beginning the development of the lunar excursion Module.'"

The Module is the craft which is being designed to carry the explorers from the Apollo to the moon's surface.

OTHER ITEMS
Among other highlights:
1. Development of larger Mariner-type spacecraft for future planetary explorations will be undertaken.

2. In the field of communications satellites, efforts will be concentrated on developing high altitude "synchronous orbit" satellites—satellites launched so that their orbital periods would be synchronized with the rotation of the earth, thus always above the same point on the earth.

3. In the field of weather-eyes satellites, primary emphasis will be placed on developing the "Nimbus" satellite—a more sophisticated follow-up to the famed Tiros satellites.

4. "Significant resources" will be devoted in fiscal 1964 to the unmanned lunar exploration program, including the Ranger and Surveyor projects to land instruments on the moon.

Condiment Cupboard

Condiments are a must when Mrs. Kenneth Somers makes a meal. Creole cooking is the kind that she does best, being a native of Louisiana.

Cajun Cookin' Claims Distinction In South

Southern cookin' is larrupin good, but Cajun dishes have an eloquence all their own. True, cooks of the Deep South have taken from the Acadians' art of cooking to improve upon their standard methods, particularly in the use of rice and seafoods.

A native of the lush Louisiana Cajun country, Mrs. Kenneth Somers, 49-A Chanute, was born at Oberlin, Allen Parish, between Lake Charles and Alexandria. Her parents, both French, owned a farm and a mercantile store in the parish, where livin' was good. Memories of her childhood are treasured by Mrs. Somers, who recalls that little had to be brought from the store for meal preparation.

"We raised our own meat and vegetables, and my mother was an excellent cook," she said in her quaint manner of speech. "My mother didn't measure ingredients when she cooked. She knew just about the right amounts, and when she cooked rice she added water to reach the first knuckle of her forefinger, which was the way I was taught."

- 1 cup of chopped green onions, parsley, green peppers and celery
- 1 tsp. sage
- Salt and pepper
- 3 hard boiled eggs
- 1 can chicken consommé or chicken gravy
- Bake your favorite corn bread in a 13 1/2 by 19 1/2 pan. Boil giblets with salt and pepper until tender. Then crumble corn bread in a large bowl. Add chopped giblets, onions, parsley, celery, green peppers, sliced boiled eggs, sage and mix. Add the giblet drippings and can of consommé and mix well. Resolutions

With the approach of the New Year, now is the time to make a few resolutions. Resolved. To serve your family bigger and better breakfast meals from January through December. To do this, learn how the various meat cuts can be included in a breakfast menu.

Not only are sausage and bacon breakfast boosters, but ground beef, ham, chops, Canadian style bacon, bologna, luncheon meat, corned beef hash and many other meats can serve as breakfast fare. Meat at breakfast will give your family a high-quality protein meal that sticks to the ribs.

Stock Low Prices Up In Market

Shorter supplies and higher prices rule Texas wholesale markets this week on most fruits and vegetables.

Last weekend's cold wave in Texas, Arizona, New Mexico, California and Louisiana, plus last month's Florida freeze, is the main reason.

The cold hampered the harvest and shipping and did considerable damage. Still, the Agricultural Marketing Service says actual damage to crops, at least in South Texas, was less than feared.

Grocery shoppers can look to roasts, affected less by the cold, for their best buys this week. These include onions, carrots, potatoes, sweet potatoes, turnips and rutabagas. All are available in abundance.

Cabbage, priced higher, still is a good buy. Cauliflower is in excellent supply.

Apples, red grapes and lemons remain abundant at reasonable prices at most markets. Canned and frozen red tart cherries and fresh winter pears are plentiful.

Bananas are higher due to the dock strike. Also higher are broccoli, brussels sprouts, cucumbers, white onions, peppers, squash and green beans. Lettuce is much higher.

Sweet potatoes are the only item with slightly lower prices. Bananas are higher due to the dock strike, but better cuts of beef are selling for a bit more. Supplies of all dairy foods are fully ample.

Influences In Southern Cooking Art

When in 1772 the peaceful green wilderness and quiet bayous of Louisiana were invaded by the French, followed by the Spanish, and later, the Negro slaves, an entirely new art in food preparation was developed.

Creole cooking came into being from the cultural influences of these races. Just as they became accustomed to living under one flag, so they learned to intermingle the arts of cooking which led to the origin of the now world-famous Creole Cuisine, which blends the rich sauces of France with the hot, spicy Spanish foods, accented by touches of the Indian and Negro influences.

From the kitchens of the Negro cooks came the gumbo, etouffee, bisque, mock shu, rich pastries, hot sauces and rich gravies poured over fluffy white rice.

From the Indian was borrowed jambalaya, a mixture of leftovers, sassafras and file (pronounced fee-lay), the magic ingredient which transforms a soup to a gumbo.

And in more recent times, the Italian and Syrian influence can be seen on Acadian dressings, spiced meats and fillings, spaghetti dishes and fried pies from Southern Europe have become popular in South Louisiana.

Apple-Cheese Quick Bread Will Be Popular

More than any other time of the year, baking comes into the spotlight during winter months. The tasty goodies are given as gifts served to company and inevitably recipes are exchanged.

Here's a new recipe in the quick bread line that's sure to be in demand among your friends. It's for Apple-Cheese Bread, an easily mixed bread that you'll enjoy serving at almost any kind of affair—breakfasts, coffees, buffets, fancy dinners. Apple-Cheese Bread is not one of the sweet-type quick breads that can double as desserts. This one goes best with the main course.

The shortening is lard. Reba Stages, home economist, calls your attention to the advantages of using lard. It creates light quick breads and cakes and crisp cookies. When it comes to pie baking, lard makes flakier, more tender pie crusts than any other shortening.

- APPLE-CHEESE BREAD
 - 2 cups sifted enriched flour
 - 1 tsp. baking powder
 - 1 tsp. salt
 - 1/2 tsp. salt
 - 2/3 cup sugar
 - 1/4 cup chopped walnuts
 - 2 eggs, beaten
 - 1 cup grated unpeeled apples and juice
 - 1/2 cup grated cheddar cheese
 - 1/2 cup melted lard
- Grease a 9 x 5-inch loaf pan. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Add apples. Beat eggs, add apples and apple juice, grated cheese and melted lard. Add to dry ingredients. Stir until flour is moistened. Bake in loaf pan in a slow oven (325 degrees F.) 1 hour. Yield, one 9 x 5-inch loaf.

New Cook Books Are Of Interest

New cook books of interest include "Cooking for Many" by Charlotte Turleton, "The Art of Spanish Cooking" by Betty Wasson, and "Dutch Oven," a collection of traditional recipes from Nova Scotia.

"Cooking for Many" had its appearance been made earlier would have made an excellent cook book for holiday giving. Its many fine holiday menus and recipes could have been used by cooks and hostesses.

"Dutch Oven" is the seventh edition of a hand-written collection of recipes by the women's auxiliary of the Lunenburg (Nova Scotia) Hospital Society.

Betty Wasson's latest book follows on the heels of her notable "Cooks, Guitons and Gourmets," a history of cooking.

Weather Beaten Fruit And Vegetables High

By DARDEN CHAMBLISS
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Household fruit and vegetable budgets are taking a beating because of weather on both coasts.

Freezes have boosted orange prices by as much as 100 per cent in some places.

The dockworkers strike along Atlantic and Gulf coasts also has contributed to the price-pushing shortage.

Trade sources say there is little hope for relief from higher fruit prices until new crops come in next fall.

Vegetable prices also have been affected, but because it takes only a few weeks for a new crop to progress from seed to market, the price effects are more temporary.

The Florida freeze in December that destroyed about a third of the state's citrus crop is the heaviest influence in rising prices.

Florida produces much of the nation's citrus crop.

The extent of damage is still being evaluated. It is still not known how many trees were damaged permanently or how much fruit now on trees will turn out to be unsatisfactory.

A Department of Agriculture spokesman estimated that the Florida freeze means the nation's supplies of oranges and grapefruit will be only about 70 per cent as great as a year ago.

Julius Letzter, a trade spokesman, said that the combination of the Texas, Florida and California freezes with bad weather in Europe is generating a worldwide citrus shortage.

These shortages already have been translated into marketplace jumps.

One national supermarket chain gave these comparisons for Dec. 15 and Jan. 15 in its New York outlets: Oranges were 12 for 49 cents, rose to 7 for 49 cents; frozen orange juice concentrate sold at 6 six-ounce cans for 85 cents, rose to 2 cans for 45.

$5 Billion Asked For Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy asked Congress today for nearly $5 billion in foreign aid money, declaring it would bolster U.S. security while helping nations that are willing to help themselves.

Last year he requested about the same amount and got about $1 billion less.

In his budget message, the President estimated that actual foreign aid expenditures for the fiscal year starting July 1 will total $3.75 billion—a drop of $100 million from the current fiscal year. The remaining $1.25 billion would be kept in reserve for aid programs on which bills do not become due this fiscal year.

The reason for the $100 million drop is a $200 million boost in economic assistance will be more than offset by a $300 million cut-back in overseas arms deliveries, which hit a peak this year.

Focusing on selective aid to self-helping, developing countries which can make the most use of it, Kennedy said bigger outlays for economic development loans and spoke of growing aid efforts by other Western countries.

The President's $4,945,000,000 budget requests for fiscal year 1964—$3,465,000,000 in economic aid and $1,480,000,000 in military assistance—sounded the opening gong in what is expected to be another round in the annual executive-legislative tussles over the politically unpopular program.

Kennedy termed the sums vital to the U.S. security and essential to American commitments and purposes abroad. He promised increased efficiency in administering the program, stressed reforms by aid receiving nations and spoke of growing aid efforts by other Western countries.

"We are steadfast in our determination to promote the security of the Free World, not only through our commitment to join in the defense of freedom, but also through our pledge to contribute to the economic and social development of less privileged, independent peoples," Kennedy said.

The message did not give a breakdown on how much any particular country will get.

Kennedy listed as of special concern the Alliance for Progress program. In addition to earmarking more than $1 billion for Latin America next year, he said the Peace Corps will give priority to the area. The Peace Corps plans to raise its spending to $80 million from last year's $47 million.

The President also:

- Announced he will seek a five-year renewal of the Export-Import Bank, whose authority is to lapse next June 30 and a $2 billion increase in its loan powers. The bank finances U.S. exports.
- Called for the creation of a national academy of foreign affairs for the schooling of U.S. diplomats, similar to the war colleges established for military officers.
- Proposed to increase from $10 million to $15 million the funds for the disarmament agency, which guides the U.S. disarmament effort.

Rain, Cold Hang On

By The Associated Press

There was occasional light rain or drizzle in southern areas of Texas while the rest of the state continued to shake off a week old cold spell Thursday.

Sub-freezing temperatures again were felt in the Panhandle Plains and far West Texas, where skies were clear. It was cloudy everywhere else.

Fog enveloped the Wink area in West Texas. It was drizzly at Brownsville, McAllen, Corpus Christi, Alice, Cotulla and Laredo. Forecasts called for more rain or drizzle in South and East Texas continuing through Thursday night and early Friday.

The Weather Bureau predicted cold air would start pushing back into northern areas of the state while there was further warming in the southern sector.

Temperatures hit highs ranging from 43 at Dalhart to 69 at Brownsville Wednesday afternoon. Readings early Thursday varied from 11 degrees at Dalhart to 63 at Brownsville.

A Devotional For The Day

The Pharisees and the scribes murmured, saying, "This man receives sinners and eats with them." (Luke 15:2. RSV.)
PRAYER: Our Father, we are thankful for the preservation of the words and deeds of Thy Son. We pray that we may heed His words each day, as we strive to become more merciful neighbors. In Thy blessed Son's name we pray, Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

Our Civil Service Family

In Big Spring and across the nation this is being observed as Civil Service Week in recognition of the part that these career workers play in public service.

Big Spring feels the impact of civil service in a pronounced manner, for a healthy cut of our working force fits into this category. Based on labor reports through the TEC, the number of employees in all federal agencies or connected with federal establishments and services is well over 1,100. In all probability, about 1,000 of these are under civil service.

Webb AFB civilian personnel services has over 650 civil service employees with a $3,700,000 annual payroll.

The VA Hospital has 281 full-time employees, most of whom are under civil service. The post office lists 65. Then there are a scattering few from the social security, internal revenue, Farm Home Administration offices and from the bureau of labor security, bureau of entomology, USDA experiment farm, US Soil Conservation Service. Likely the overall civil service payroll is near $5,500,000.

But the economic importance is matched or exceeded in the type of citizenship represented in civil service. While the civil service code protects individuals from political and similar pressures, it also imposes on the members certain requirements. The result is that civil service employees are more likely than the average to be upright individuals, participating in community affairs, stable and solid, paying their bills, supporting the churches and otherwise doing their part to make their home town a good one. We're certainly proud of the quality we have in Big Spring.

Ambitious Program

It would be difficult to fault Gov. John Connally for not laying out an ambitious program before the legislature. As one press account observed, it covers the spectrum of state activity.

Wisely, he singled out the major issues as those of "greater importance." Perhaps this will help avoid the danger of attempting too much and thereby accomplishing too little.

However, a lot of the program he proposed is organizational and with the purpose of tightening administration for the sake of economy and administration.

Not all of the proposals will become law, and indeed, some of them may never get out of committee, but the governor has by his program outlined steps for action. In his inaugural address, he made plain that one of the best ways to avoid dependence upon a central federal government was for the states to face up vigorously to their own responsibilities. Evidently he wants Texas to face up.

David Lawrence

Problems President Didn't Face

WASHINGTON—President Kennedy's annual message to Congress is inaccurately entitled "the state of the union." For Mr. Kennedy omitted reference to some of the most important subjects confronting America today, particularly how the national economy shall be saved from disintegration due to the monopoly power being exercised by a bloc of labor unions. Millions of people in two major cities—New York and Cleveland—have had their newspapers suppressed. Financial losses to persons in business and to individuals out of work are heavy and are irreparable.

NOR DID the President mention the strike that has tied up shipping for more than three weeks now in the ports of the East Coast and the Gulf of Mexico. Senator Everett Dirksen of Illinois, Republican leader, at least introduced a bill the same day to provide for compulsory arbitration of strikes in the maritime industry.

Not a single word appeared in the President's message, moreover, concerning the plight of the rank and file of American workers who are the victims of a lack of intelligent leadership.

THE PRESIDENT has failed to come to grips with what has really been ailing America the last decade or more—the power of a single group to force prices upward and the inability of the country immediately to absorb such price increases.

Basic economic ailments will not be cured by indifference. Mr. Kennedy in his message talked fluently about the economic development of the countries of Europe and of the problems faced by the underdeveloped countries. He spoke in generalities about social-welfare legislation in this country, but didn't make specific recommendations on many of the worthwhile objectives he mentioned.

THE PRESIDENT seemed to think that, by giving his support to a project for the reduction of taxes, he would be winning applause in the country. To promise a tax cut and to achieve one are, however, two different things. The voters will get little comfort out of a tax cut if economic uncertainty prevails and if government spending continues as indicated, with the prospect of a record-breaking deficit in the U.S. Treasury next year.

Oddly enough, Mr. Kennedy seemed preoccupied with the idea that the nation at present may not be taking its problems seriously. He said, "In short, both at home and abroad, there may now be a temptation to relax." One wonders whether the country is, after all, really in a relaxed mood and is indifferent to the dangers both at home and abroad.

AS FOR THE YOUNG people out of work, Mr. Kennedy seems to be despairing of ways to find productive jobs for them. He appears to be reverting to one of the ideas of New Deal days, when the Civilian Conservation Corps was organized to take care of many of the younger persons who were unemployed. The President thinks that the Peace Corps can do something of the same job. He spoke of the million young Americans who are out of school and out of work and suggests that a domestic Peace Corps of some kind would serve "our own community needs in mental hospitals, on Indian reservations, in centers for the aged or for young delinquents, in schools for the illiterate and the handicapped." He said all this might enable these young men to serve the cause of "domestic tranquility."

THE PRESIDENT had a heading on one section of his message which read: "We need to strengthen our nation by making the best and most economical use of its resources and facilities." But he did not really delve into this highly controversial field beyond stating that new transportation facilities are needed and that the stockpile of goods, including farm products, must be reduced. In that phrase, "most economical use" of American resources and facilities, is rooted the present-day difficulties of the whole economic system.

The labor unions themselves are the biggest single organized group of voters in the country today and contributed not only energy but money to help the President win his election in 1960. Mr. Kennedy no longer attacked businessmen for trying to raise their prices. Yet he has never taken a positive stand with reference to the extreme demands of labor-union leaders, evidenced for instance in the big strikes in New York City and other parts of the country.

AS LONG AS one economic group can control the American system by fixing costs of production which inevitably affect prices, there will not be a free-market system in the United States, and the law of supply and demand will not operate effectively to bring prosperity. The government will find itself compelled to intervene as between labor and management if it really wants to stop recessions. But such intervention will compound the evils of the present-day system unless it is impartial, objective and fair as between the rival forces.

Measured Hospitality

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—Many large homes in early Kentucky had a vagrant's chamber where strangers could stay overnight.

The residents did not wish to turn away a stranger—but also did not want to give him access to the entire house.

Thus, the vagrant's chamber was designed with a separate entrance and no doorway to the rest of the home.

HIALEAH, Fla. (AP)—Palm Ave., one of Hialeah's main streets, soon will live up to its name.

Councilman F. A. Benedetto campaigned long and hard to have palms planted on the street. He even placed a potted palm in front of his barber shop.

Finally other councilmen gave in and 1,200 palm trees will be planted.

Churchill Knew The Russian Mind

WASHINGTON (AP)—The time was 1946. In an almost giddy rush the United States was dismantling its wartime armaments. It was enough to make a man like Winston Churchill shudder.

He was 72 then and at Fulton, Mo., in a speech whose wisdom it took years to learn, he said he was convinced the Russians admired nothing so much as strength.

BUT THE United States didn't get the point until the cold war began. It began in a new world of weapons: nuclear warheads on weapons. Without warheads the missiles are hardly more than arrows. Time was needed, and money and science but above all a determination not to be overwhelmed in a "trial of strength." Through the Eisenhower years there was worry the Russians were ahead. Democrats talked of a missile gap. President Kennedy in the 1960 campaign mentioned a missile gap at least five times. Eisenhower, who knew better than Kennedy then, was unshaken. In his last State of the Union message to Congress Jan. 12, 1961, he recalled some history, reassured his countrymen on their power.

"NO GUIDED ballistic missiles were operational at the beginning of 1953," he said, but now "the explosive power of our weapons system for all purposes is almost inconceivable."

It had to be assumed, for the missiles to mean anything, that each one had its nuclear warhead. Neither Eisenhower nor anyone else in this country, before or since, has given total figures on missiles or warheads.

Even after Eisenhower's farewell reassurance there were doubts. The Democratic talk of missile gaps had cut deep, left a biting question: No matter how much we had, were the Russians ahead?

THE FIRST one in the Kennedy administration to suggest the missile gap was a myth was Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara at a news conference Feb. 6, 1961, just shortly after he took office.

Kennedy two days later at a news conference toned down the McNamara talk, said the Defense Department hadn't yet finished a study which could say, one way or the other, whether there was a missile gap.

But in a few months doubt was swept away when McNamara's deputy secretary, Roswell L. Gilpatrick, on Oct. 21, 1961, at Hot Springs, Va., told the world:

"SOVIET BLUSTER and threats of rocket attacks must be evaluated against the hard facts of United States nuclear superiority."

"The fact is that this nation has a nuclear retaliatory force of such lethal power that an enemy move which brought it into play would be an act of self-destruction."

He put the number of "delivery vehicles"—missiles, intercontinental bombers, Polaris submarines, overseas bases—in "tens of thousands."

It still wasn't an exact figure. But it was the closest any official had come to indicating the total of nuclear warheads. Probably no one knew better what Gilpatrick was talking about than Premier Khrushchev.

WEDNESDAY in East Berlin he told the world the United States has 40,000 nuclear warheads, enough "to kill 700 or 800 million people. Countries would be wiped out. World socialism win by a thermo-nuclear war." No.

He sounded impressed, was no longer belligerent. It indicated that Churchill 16 years ago understood the human mind well, including the Russian.

PEREZ JIMENEZ is officially "wanted" at home to stand trial for his crimes. He is imprisoned as part of the extradition proceedings. But, as I have learned, he is unofficially a very "unwanted" person in Venezuela. Betancourt is having troubles enough with Communists on one side and Right Wing militarists on the other.

What is the administration's solution? To keep Perez Jimenez under lock and key lest he "embarrass" Betancourt. Mr. Kennedy has staked his left-of-center, anti-dictator policy for Latin America on the Betancourt experiment.

THERE IS ANOTHER angle. Perez Jimenez has put up $100,000 bail and last month was sunning himself at Miami Beach, when the bail was revoked. It stayed revoked, through a complicated series of court decisions. Though it hasn't been stated, the reason for the revoked bail is also an international political ploy. The ex-dictator is said to have a stolen fortune of better than one hundred million dollars. He could well afford to jump bail, as he is suspected of planning, and go to Europe. If he did that, the anvil chorus of anti-Yankeeism in Latin America would accuse the U.S. of being soft-on-dictators.

NO DOUBT, it is convenient for the administration to keep this disgraced and unsympathetic character in the jug. I am told that the legal case for denying him bail is the work of the best lawyers in government and is "air-tight," although the U. S. Court of Appeals in New Orleans is still reviewing the documents.

Convenient, but is it Constitutional? What about this exile's right to be promptly and openly brought to the bar of justice, the right called habeas corpus? It is guaranteed in the Constitution. It ap-

Marry The Homely Girl

NEW YORK (AP)—The young man was in a quandary. "I am tired of being a bachelor and want to settle down," he told me. "But I'm in love with two girls."

They have the same physical measurements, uh, 37-23-35. I think both have the same amount of money—none. Each has a six-year job that holds promise of advancement.

But one is beautiful. Everyone comes up and wants to meet her when I take her out. She is wonderful to look at.

The other one is homely. No body bothers us when I'm with her. But she is so much fun to listen to.

"Tell me, which one should I marry?"

Well, the next morning I put the question to five married male philosophers gathered around the office water cooler. The vote might surprise the average woman. It came out four-to-one in favor of recommending that the young man wed the homely girl.

"A beautiful dame is always holding the mirror up to herself," said the first. "A husband to her is only a landscape. He just serves as background while she holds the center of the stage."

Said the second man, "It boils down to a matter of expense. Give me a homely girl every time. You'd think it would cost more to keep up a homely girl, because she needs so much improvement. Actually, it works the other way. It's the beautiful women who are never satisfied with how they look. They'll keep any man broke spending his money so they'll look even better—not to him but to other women."

"A homely woman is better because she doesn't mind giving a real belly laugh if something strikes her as funny, and a fellow likes a gal who can let go with a real belly laugh and enjoy herself," said the third man.

"That's true," broke in the fourth man. "But that's only part of it. There are other arguments. 'If you marry a beautiful woman, you wind up jealous of her. But if you marry a homely woman, she always worries about where your eye is wandering."

"Also, a beautiful woman never gets more beautiful but marriage makes a homely woman prettier every year."

Indignantly the fifth man broke in. "I must disagree with every crack word you fellows have uttered. Why I married the most beautiful girl in the world, and I'd like to say—"

"How long you been married, son?" interrupted the first man. "Three months, sir."

after a varicose vein operation isn't too miserable. Recently I stopped in to see a man who had an operation on his heart the day before. He was rather quiet, naturally. The incision was tender if he wiggled around. But when I asked him how he felt he grinned cheerfully and said, "Pretty good. And I'm glad the job is done."

In his case it was a matter of life and death, and the surgery was five times as tedious as for varicose veins. He went to the hospital for a serious problem and he felt quite comfortable the next day. But when you go for elective surgery feeling good at the time but a little sore and tender when you come back from the operating room, it's different.

Yes, I know. But while there are some few painful operations that I'd just as soon miss, and by the law of averages probably will, I'm not worried about surgery if I need any more. It's not bad.

To get to your case, the unsightliness of the veins, the risk of acute phlebitis and also of ulcers on the ankle and lower leg are factors. I'd rather have a day or two of soreness, and then know that the trouble is behind me.

It's similar to going swimming. You stand around and shiver and dread getting into the water. The first plunge feels cold. But then you're in and it's over, and you start hollering to the others on shore, "The water's fine." But they don't believe you until they've plunged in, too. So you won't really believe me. Not until after you've "taken the plunge."

Note to Mrs. S. G.: Yes, being substantially overweight can make menstrual periods irregular. It isn't always so, but it can happen.

Of all the problems that pediatricians encounter in children, pinworm is the commonest. To learn the newest methods of treatment for this pest, write for the booklet, "The Commonest Pest, Pinworm," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope a $20 cents in coin to cover handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

Please, May I Knock On Your Door?

I read where the Colorado City Council is considering an ordinance to require that house-to-house peddlers have permission of the householder before they come calling. Now there is a good, forthright and downright necessary law. Normally opposed to any more restrictions of whatever nature, I can give wholehearted support to such a law and hope that our own enlightened city fathers follow the precedent.

For some reason, there seems to be a reasoning that most of us have front doors just so that salesmen can pound on them with some variety of bric-a-brac for sale. In our neighborhood, these fellows wait in line at the corner, so they don't meet each other on the front porches. Of late, they are almost in military ranks as they march up and down the street.

NOT ONLY THAT, they seem offended when we insist they are not coming in the house and that we don't have time to hear them report on some curious "survey" they are supposed to be taking. There seems to be no end to the excuses they will use to get a foot in the door. And there seems to be no end to the discourtesy to which they are prepared to resort.

For instance, they roam our neighborhood in the late night-time hours. Frankly, we prefer not to have unknown persons prowling around the streets, peering in windows and over fences at night. If the council cannot see its way to prohibiting these rascals all together, it seems the hours at least could be limited.

THEY EVEN PERSIST in calling when we have friends over for the evening. I was asked recently if I thought a resident should be rude to these unwanted, uninvited two-penny hucksters. This, from a harassed householder who had one knocking at his door about 10:30 p.m.

I could only advise that since a shotgun blast might disturb his neighbors, and was against the law anyway, rudeness is about the only protection left the homeowner, left to his own devices. I have considered using the old bucket of water trick; that is, when I open the door, water falls on the guy standing outside. But this might backfire sometime when I forget my key and have dangerous consequences.

ALL-IN-ALL, I find the best defense is to call police when a pair of these characters—they usually run in a brace—enter the block. Police officers will oblige by checking them out for a permit, weapons, etc. If they don't measure up, officers will hustle them away. Unfortunately, at the rate these guys multiply their trade in Big Spring now, there are many more of them than there are police officers.

But, unless the commission takes some steps to curtail the activities of these street prowlers, it is about all the protection we have.

Streamlining Congress

If a galloping poll were taken on the way Congress does its work, it's a foregone conclusion most citizens would say that it is a waste of time.

(1) Congress meets in January and dawdles until June 15, lint-picking and politicking the months away.

(2) On June 16, Congress throws itself into a frantic, inefficient scramble to pass certain "must" legislation that has been nudging it since January.

(3) ON JULY 15 Congressional leaders prayerfully announce that Congress may adjourn on August 15, if members knuckle down to the work ahead.

(4) On August 15 Congressional leaders pleadingly predict that a final rush of work could lead to adjournment by Labor Day.

(5) A week after Labor Day Congressional leaders regretfully say that Congress will adjourn on October 1 without finding time to consider major legislation early in the session.

THE AVERAGE citizen, in the meantime, can be pardoned for deciding that this is a preposterous way to run a railroad. However, at long last some of the passengers on the train have come to the same conclusion. Or that would seem to be the right inference since some United States senators believe that the nation's legislative machinery needs overhauling.

Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-N. J.) and Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa.), a brace of highly respected solons, have announced that they will introduce a bipartisan measure to recommend means to improve legislative procedures. The Case-Clark plan would call for a bipartisan commission of 12 persons, six of whom would be members of Congress and six members chosen from the public.

THIS MIXED dozen would be charged with making a study of methods that would lead to (1) simplification and (2) acceleration of the present Congressional modus operandi. It would, in effect, be a little Hoover Commission asked to streamline the legislative train and get it back on the fast right-of-way.

That Congress is aware of its own shortcomings and its inherited inefficiencies is underscored by the fact that Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, deputy Democratic leader, was making a similar suggestion at the very moment Senators Clark and Case were announcing their bipartisan plan.

SEN. HUMPHREY'S suggestion calls for the appointment of a Senate-House committee to modify Congressional practices so that members can spend "their time more effectively handling the increased demands on Congress." Obviously, the Case-Clark measure has the same goal.

It is easy to make fun of Congress and its maddening — to many businessmen — way of doing its work. But much of its inefficiency is hallowed by tradition that only a tough-minded outsider will dare attack.

IT WILL TAKE an outlander to slice ruthlessly through the lush jungle of time-hallowed Congressional practices that may have been all right in the 19th Century but are ridiculous in a world rapidly hurtling into the twenty-first.

Such a committee must consider and be sympathetic with the "increased demands on Congress" mentioned by Senator Humphrey. Once upon a time a Congressman may have represented his district, but today he is at the mercy of every voter, whether he seeks a personally guided tour of the Capitol or a missile plant for his constituency.

THE PUBLIC ITSELF could work a miracle in Congressional reform and speed up legislative work if it would stop pestering Congressmen for personal favors. In the meantime, only an optimist would hope that Congress could reform, speed and streamline its operations within the next year or so. But at least some of the boys seem to be trying to head the train in the right direction.

Justice Managed By Diplomacy

WASHINGTON—Managed news, to which our Defense Department has pleaded guilty, is had enough, but now there's the administration doing something still worse—call it managed justice.

Langushing in a Dale County (Florida) jail is ex-President Perez Jimenez of Venezuela, and coming to visit Mr. Kennedy on February 19th is the incumbent Venezuelan President, Romulo Betancourt. The latter reached power by democratic means when Perez Jimenez, a horseback dictator and public purse pirate, was thrown out.

PEREZ JIMENEZ is officially "wanted" at home to stand trial for his crimes. He is imprisoned as part of the extradition proceedings. But, as I have learned, he is unofficially a very "unwanted" person in Venezuela. Betancourt is having troubles enough with Communists on one side and Right Wing militarists on the other.

What is the administration's solution? To keep Perez Jimenez under lock and key lest he "embarrass" Betancourt. Mr. Kennedy has staked his left-of-center, anti-dictator policy for Latin America on the Betancourt experiment.

NO DOUBT, it is convenient for the administration to keep this disgraced and unsympathetic character in the jug. I am told that the legal case for denying him bail is the work of the best lawyers in government and is "air-tight," although the U. S. Court of Appeals in New Orleans is still reviewing the documents.

Convenient, but is it Constitutional? What about this exile's right to be promptly and openly brought to the bar of justice, the right called habeas corpus? It is guaranteed in the Constitution. It applies to everybody, foreigner and native alike. The language is plain:

"THE PRIVILEGE of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, unless when in cases of rebellion or invasion the public safety may require it."

John Pennekamp, editor of the Miami Herald, who is close to the scene of incarceration and in daily touch with events, wrote on last December 20th:

"I HAVE DEVELOPED some misgivings about the daily and futile efforts of his attorneys to get a hearing for him. Lawyers tell me that despite the court's ruling, all of his legal recourses have not been exhausted. . . . I am disturbed. . . ."

We should all be disturbed when the heavy hand of international politics falls upon the scales of justice.

Railroad Retirement

CENTRALIA, Ill. (AP)—Louis A. "Bo" West will continue to be a railroad man in retirement.

He worked for 40 years at the Chicago Burlington and Quincy Railroad roundhouse here and spent a goodly part of the time wiping and polishing railroad engines.

Now he will enjoy his labor of love during retirement as the new custodian of Engine No. 2500 at Fairview Park. The full-size locomotive is the central figure in Centralia's Age of Steam Memorial.

His chores will include painting spots of rust that appear on the locomotive, being host to visitors to the locomotive and keeping tabs on the number of people who tour the 96.9-foot long, 229-ton giant.

He even has the floor of the engine deck inside the cab covered with wall-to-wall carpeting.
