GILBREATH MAKES BOND IN COURT ROOM SLAYING

LAYS ACCUSED MAN IN ATTACK ON DAUGHTER

BOND FIXED AT $10,000 AND TRIAL IS SET FOR OCTOBER 3

(By Associated Press) DUNCAN, Okla., June 23.—A murder charge was filed today against Arch Gilbreath, who late yesterday killed R. F. Cox as the stepfather of his daughter started in district court.

Gilbreath, a 42 year old farmer, was afterward released on $10,000 bond, furnished by ten of his friends. The farmer waived preliminary hearing in county court, where he was arraigned, and county Judge John W. Scott bound him over for trial in state district court, setting his trial for October 3.

Gilbreath immediately to district court, Gilbreath was granted bond and his trial set for October 3. The amount of bond was approved by H. L. Long, county attorney, and he was freed.

T. A. Ault and J. M. Jackson, two of the ten friends who signed Gilbreath's bond were on the panel of jurors that was being examined when Gilbreath shot Cox in the back three times, almost instantly killing him. Ault and Jackson, however, had not yet been examined when the shooting took place. All had been excused.

Shots From Crowd Charles Schick, the eleventh juror, was being questioned by District Judge, E. L. Richardson, who gave spectators an opportunity to ask questions and Gilbreath, who was sitting in the crowd when suddenly produced a revolver and killed Cox.

Court officers said they considered the case against Cox closed. The court reporter did not plan to describe the case, but he said that the case was 22 years old, and accused of holding up three people near Duncan in April, assaulting two women, attempting an assault on a third and robbing their men escorts. He was wanted in several other towns on similar charges.

U. S. OFFICIALS CONCERNED IN WOOD'S HEALTH

PHILIPPINE GOVERNOR GENERAL CONFERS WITH COOLIDGE

(By Associated Press)

RAPID CITY, S. D., June 22.—Philippine conditions involving the physical ability of Leonard Wood to continue as governor general of the islands, were under the scrutiny of President Coolidge today with General Wood himself and Representative Wilson of Connecticut, a recent visitor to the islands, in touch with the president.

General Wood, who reached the United States a few days ago, was on the engagement list of Mr. Coolidge late today, and Mr. Wilson came to the state game lodge last night.

Concerned Over Health

Some concern is felt by both the president and Representative Wilson over the health of General Wood, but they hope and expect that he will be able to return to his post. The governor general was operated up before leaving for this country.

It is the first personal report General Wood has been able to present to the president on conditions in the insular possessions. Mr. Wilson described conditions there as very favorable, particularly from an economic standpoint.

Representative Wilson, who is republican leader of the house, also brought with him some ideas about the next session of congress, expressing the view that tax reductions and appropriations should be given the right of way.

While he is not convinced of the necessity for a special session Mr. Wilson is holding an open mind on this question.

Gifts Totalling $150,000 Made To Flying Colonel

ST. LOUIS, June 22 (AP)—An exquisitely cut diamond airplane, patent fish hooks, a silver loving cup, soap, lotions, balms, gold medals and scores of other articles received by Colonel Charles Lindbergh, was being opened here today. A value of $150,000 has been placed on the aggregate.

The colonel this morning accepted his second gift automobile, a sports sedan. He previously had accepted a roadster, painted silver grey the color of his own spanning monoplane, Spirit of St. Louis.

The gifts were being unpacked in the safe deposit vaults of the Mississippi Valley Trust company, to be placed on display, under heavy guard, at Jefferson memorial building in forest park. The other gifts received in the mails at the Chamber of Commerce were held there until the flier could look them over.

HOUSTON, June 22 (AP)—Mrs. R. Meschick is the oldest pupil in the Council House, a recreational and educational center maintained here by the Council of Jewish Women. She is 64. The youngest is Shirley Hochstein, 14 months.

Mrs. Meschick is learning to read and write. Shirley is learning how to play in the kindergarten class. They represent extremes in the council's Americanization work which also provides night classes for men of foreign birth.

The school, according to Mrs. Max Nathan, president, is for the benefit of the foreign born, irrespective of faith or creed, who labor under the disadvantages of previous environment.

BEAUMONT, June 22 (AP)—Lack of an eraser sent Percy McGuire back to the Louisiana penitentiary from where he recently escaped. The eraser was arrested here in giving out an identification card he forgot and wrote his right name. Realizing his misfortune he found he had no eraser and wrote a fictitious name over his real name. Keen eyed officers noted the error.

A CONVINCING ARGUMENT

MOSCOW—Desperate after three years of fruitless effort to win recognition of his improved method of card board manufacture, Gregory Serchbrovski bludgeoned his way to recognition recently with a roll of his own product.

As a last resort Serchbrovski went to professor of the scientific department of the supreme council of public economy. He asked for aid, but was refused a hearing and was told to get out. The infuriated inventor seized a roll of his samples and struck the professor in the face.

Two months later he received a subsidy of $1,000 for further experiments, less a fine of $12 for damage to the professional nose.

SICKLY, PEEVISH CHILDREN

Children suffering from intestinal worms are cross, restless and unhealthy. There are other symptoms, however, if the child is pale, has dark rings under the eyes, bad breath and takes no interest in play, it is almost certain that worms are eating away its vitality. The surest remedy for worms is White's Cream Vermifuge. It is positive destruction to the worms but harmless to the child. Price 3c. Sold by Hall-Benson Drug Co.

ANKS WIN TWO MORE; CARDS REPLACE CUBS IN SENIOR RACE

FOURTH IN ROW ST BY CUBS D. BUCS WIN

ALEXANDER IS HERO IN CARDS' LAST WIN OVER CUBS

(By Associated Press)
While the Yanks strode far ahead in the American league pack with wins in two days, the Cardinals today were replacing the Cubs as the imminent threat to Pirate supremacy after falling to beat the Cubs in their two game duel for lead, the Cubs, who recently had won 12 games straight, have now won four in a row, three of them against the Cardinals. The latest won yesterday 11 to 5 and gave Cards a clean sweep of the Cubs. It was a personal triumph for Grover Cleveland Alexander, veteran Sox's ex-teammate, for the chance to pitch against the club that sent him down.

Jim Bottomley's Big Bat Helps To Keep St. Louis In The Big Chase

Three hits in three trips was the record hung up by Jim Bottomley, Cardinals first sacker yesterday, as the St. Louisians again battered the Chicago Cubs, this time by a count of 11 to 5 and held second place in the National League race. One of his hits was a double and another was a triple. He scored three of his team's runs during the melee, which was staged with Grover Alexander on the well known hillcock.

Facing the lowly Reds in a series, the Cardinals have a fine chance to make things even better for the Pirates. Still out in front and holding their own, the Pirates unloosed their hitting power and dropped the Reds 11 to 9 in a game that saw eight pitchers, four for each team.

Yanks Win Second Double
The Yanks second double win in two days over the Red Sox featured a full-day in the American league with three double headers. The history of the previous day repeated itself in that while the Yanks won both, their nearest rivals marked time by breaking even.

Babe Ruth's 23rd and 24th home runs of the game helped the Yanks to their 7 to 4 victory and made him all even with his home run showing for the same point 1921, his home record year. The 3 to 2 decision in the second game was won on a minimum of hitting with Shocker out standing his opponent Ruffing, although the latter granted only three safeties in both games the Sox made the more hits, but couldn't cash them for runs as effectively as the league leaders.

Thomas Wins 11th Game
Al Thomas scored his 11th victory of the season in pitching the second place Sox to an 8 to 5 victory over the Browns in the second game of their double bill. The first was lost in 19 innings 3 to 2.

Fighting the Athletics for their third place rung, the Senators beat them in the first session 4 to 2 on the pitching of the rookie, Lisensker, who has now won nine games, then lost the advantage in a 13 to 7 defeat as the A's slugged 15 hits off two less potent pitchers.

Washermen Take 5 To 4
Game From Embalmers;
Tilt Full Of Thrills

With the cellar position yawning before them the Rix Embalmers and the Laundry entry in the City league yesterday tied up in a thrilling game which ended with a 5 to 4 victory for the Washermen at Merrill park. Sensational plays and free hitting, especially on the part of the leading athletes, were features of the contest.

Two double plays, one of them for the Washermen by Second baseman Pipkin, and the other started by the outer gardens by Bussey. Rix rightfielder, were made. Ector, rancy Rix utility man, in the role of a pinch hitter, rapped the agile for three sacks when he came in to bat for Griffith, sans a ball. The Embalmers made ten hits to four by the Laundrymen and committed but one error as compared to a quartet of mis-plays by the victors.

RICKARD WILL MAKE HIMSELF TWO MILLIONS

HIS OUTDOOR FIGHTS THIS SUMMER TO NET FORTUNE

By JIMMY POWERS
NEW YORK, June 23.—Wherever there's gold you'll find a good miner.
A long, long time ago a smart fellow named Snookum Jim made a strike on Bonanza creek out in the Klondike. He had a pal named Tex, who didn't amount to much as a pookahander. But Tex opened the biggest gambling house north of 53 and became famed as keeper of the "Northern" saloon.
But deep down in his heart Tex longed to be a successful miner like his pal, Snookum Jim. He dealt cards, raked in chips and bought whiskey in wholesale lots for many a year.
Then one day he mad a strike. He mined a nifty little bit of gold out in, appropriately enough, Goldfield, Nevada. He promoted the Gans-Nelson fight and drew down a lot of pay dirt.
"There's gold in them thar boxing hills," mused Tex, whose last name was Rickard.

This summer, to bring our little yarn up to date, this miner is swinging his pick into the juiciest outdoor season of bouts the boxing world has ever seen.
He will take in, he says, more than $2,000,000 in receipts.
He has certain nose busters lined up, among whom are Jack Dempsey, Mike McTigue, Jim Maloney, Jack Sharkey, Paulino Uzcudum, not to mention champion Gene Tunney, who will draw a steady stream of dollars into the chalice he has staked out in wood-en arenas.

During his life Rickard estimates he has taken in more than $10,000,000 in boxing receipts alone.
Fifteen of his fights have drawn wages of more than $150,000, eleven more than $200,000, nine more than $300,000, six more than $400,000 four more than $500,000, three more than $1,000,000, and one twice that sum.

More than half of these receipts have been clear profits.
The velvet in other sports has been nearly as high. The last six day bike race, for instance, drew receipts of $400,000 and his expenses were only $100,000.
Because Tex has been such a competent miner, his associates in the Madison Square Garden corporation gave him a big testimonial dinner at the Commodore here May 16.

Famous figures in finance, politics, the professions, sports, all kinds of notable were there.

IT'S a good record worth talking about, this one of 23 knockouts in 39 fights credited to Tom Sayers. He just turned 21 and weighing 195 pounds, is Detroit's entry in the heavyweight ranks. outdistanced the Texas league field early in the year the wise-ones were surprised. "The flowers that bloom in the spring, tra-la, have nothing to do with the case," they said. A glance at the Lone Star league's figures, however, show the north Texans still up there on top and showing very little chance to be displaced. Wichita Falls has been getting good pitching and good fielding all year, which, coupled with that murderer's row—Laporté, Jenkins, Fitzgerald, Lamb, Fargson and Lapan—has been plenty of power all around. Barring accidents and with pitching holding up, Wichita Falls will be harder to beat for the flag than any club in the loop.

HUBBERS MEET LOBO TEAM IN BATTLE SUNDAY

HONORS NOW EVEN AND HARD TUSSLE WITH LAMESA EXPECTED

With this season's scrum between the two clubs, Lamesa at 500 the highly touted Lamesa Lobo will journey to Lubbock Sunday for their third appearance against the Lubbock Hubbers. The game will get under way at four o'clock at Merrill park, and, according to advance information from Skipper "Woman" Sanders, homing boss, will be a battle from the cry of "Play ball" until the last out is chalked up.
Each Win Game
In the first game of the season between the two aggregations, Lamesa certainly for a Cardinal victory. The Old Master has been in there every game he has worked and when his curves falter his team mates seem to rap out enough extra tallies to assure a final victory. There is a whole lot in the way of curves, speed and control will win more games due to better offensive and defensive support. Take Cincinnati, for instance. While Pete Donohue, ex-T. C. U. star was hampered from the hillcock yesterday, such is not usually the case. Pete can lose more games by a one run margin than most anybody, yet hurt good baseball all the time. Jackey May, diminutive wrong arm, is leading Red hurlers at the present time. Yet most anyone will agree that fundamentally he is not the hurler that Donohue is.

The New York Yanks are showing up their critics. With a punch in every position the champions of the American circuit compose one of the best baseball teams in recent years and should have little trouble in breezing home to another flag.

Because Tex has been such a competent miner, his associates in the Madison Square Garden corporation gave him a big testimonial dinner at the Commodore here May 16.

No Progress Toward Agreement Is Made At Conference Of American And British In Geneva Sessions

(By Associated Press) GENEVA, June 22.—Lord Robert Cecil, British delegate to the tripartite naval conference and Hugh R. Gibson, chief of the American delegation, today held a private meeting to discuss the proposals of their respective countries for further naval limitations.

No advance toward an eventual agreement was made at the conference, the most reliable information that both confined themselves to an explanation and defense of their respective proposals.

Accompanied By Expert Mr. Gibson, who was accompanied by Allen W. Dulles, juridical expert for the American delegation, emerging from the meeting told newspapermen, however, there was no reason for being less optimistic about the outcome of the conference.

He said that the peoples of the United States, Great Britain and Japan were all anxious to find an agreement and were convinced that only patience and good will among the delegates were needed finally to work out a common basis for an accord.

Questioned by an English correspondent as to why Washington permitted convocation of the conference and proclamation of divergencies in public without having negotiated with London and Tokyo confidentially in advance in an endeavor to work out some sort of an agreement beforehand, Mr. Gibson answered that such a procedure would have provoked a general outcry because it would indicate that the United States was not participating openly for the discussion for the various problems involved.

Mr. Gibson emphasized that he and Viscount Cecil had examined the British and American proposals in an attempt to understand their mutual positions and added that nothing had occurred thus far which would justify less hopefulness in achieving a final agreement.

"Some difficulties lay in the fact that our navies have different missions and different problems," he said, "so we must find a common denominator for everybody and solutions acceptable to everybody."

English Junior Champ Defeats U.S. Title Holder

(By Associated Press) WIMBLEDON, England, June 22.—Mrs. Mollie Mallory, seven times American national women's tennis champion and present holder of the title, was defeated today in the Wimbledon singles by Miss Betty Nuthall, English school girl player and junior champion. The score 2-6, 6-2, 6-0.

Betty Nuthall won the British junior singles championship in 1924, 1925 and again last year. Last year she also paired with Gwendolin Stacey, she won the British women's hard court doubles championship. She is sixteen years old.

Miss Nuthall is a year younger than was Helen Wills when the latter defeated Mrs. Mallory for the American national championship in 1923.

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, June 23 (AP)—Uncle John "Salty" Johnson claims to be the oldest person in Walker county. He is 104 years old and is "still jumpin' high" as he expressed it.

"Old Salty" as every one knows him was born June 2, 1821, in Rusk county, Texas. "Salty" sometimes explains his age thusly: "Captain I don't know exactly how old I am, but when the Trinity river was a little bitty stream I was a little bitty boy."

"Salty" was once a preacher, he owns several places in Huntsville, and several acres of land out from Huntsville. He now works for Colonel A. T. McKinney, sr., sole survivor of the signers of the constitutional convention of 1835. "Salty" worked for General Sam Houston as a stable keeper, when Houston was a resident of Huntsville.

Uncle John married last year. He married Rosie Hill, an 18 year old negro girl, but they are now separated. Uncle John said that he still loved her and that if she wants to come back he is waiting with open arms for her.

There, serving with Minister Brand Whitlock, he endeavored himself to the people of Belgium by his ceaseless efforts to protect the interests of Belgian citizens during the days of the German occupation. Only recently Gibson was appointed ambassador to Belgium and on the occasion of his visit there to present his credentials, was acclaimed by the people as he walked through the streets of Brussels, for his services during the war had not been forgotten.

Gibson is only 44. His wife is a Belgian, formerly Miss Ynes Reyliens, who served as a nurse at the Belgian front during the war. Before going to Belgium as secretary, Gibson served at Honduras, at London, at Washington, at Havana and later was on duty with Herbert Hoover, now Secretary of Commerce, in general war relief work.

He has held many positions. Subsequently he was appointed minister to Poland and then minister to Switzerland. He was vice-chairman of the American delegation to the international conference for the control of the traffic in arms held at Geneva in 1925 and presided over the American delegation which has been participating in the conference.

TARIFF SYSTEM SAID CAUSE OF FARM TROUBLE

IMMIGRATION LAW ALSO ASSAILED BY COOK AT T.C.E.A. MEET

(By Associated Press) SHERMAN, Texas, June 23.—The present tariff system and the immigration laws passed shortly after the end of the Great World War were held up as two of the principal causes of the farmers' present-day difficulties by W. B. Cook, Houston, agricultural agent of the Missouri Pacific Lines, in an address before the 21st annual convention of the Texas Commercial Executives Association today.

The tariff and the proposed Box Bill, which would restrict immigration from Mexico, were assailed in the course of a general discussion of the problem of farm marketing and its relationship with the work of Chambers of Commerce.

After pointing out that the cost of production is the most important factor in the farm marketing problem today, Cook asserted that the tariff and the high cost of the farmer's labor supply are active boosting that cost of production.

"The fact that the farmer buys in a free world market undoubtedly is having a very serious effect upon the agricultural situation in this country, and no amount of tariff restrictions on farm products coming into this country will help the situation, because the farmer is essentially an exporter," said Cook.

"No doubt, however, there could be revisions made on some products that the farmer uses in producing his crop that would materially aid him in reducing the cost of production, and at the same time not encourage foreign competition to any marked degree."

Cook attacked the labor problem in positive terms, asserting that "cheaper farm labor is absolutely necessary if the cost of production is to be reduced," and that the cost of production must be reduced if the farmer is to get out of his present wilderness.

The farmer suffered heavily from the immigration laws passed after the war, Cook declared, because the laws caused a demand for labor in the industrialized regions of the North and East with corresponding high prices.

"The supply of industrial labor was far too inadequate to meet the demand, so industry went to the farms for the labor that was formerly obtained from Europe," Cook said.

"The farmer raised the farm laborer's wage, but soon found that he could not compete in the bidding, because the industries could pay more, being better organized, having better distribution systems, and being protected from outside competition using cheap labor. As a result, the farmer has been compelled to run up his cost of production beyond the price the consumer is willing to pay for his products."

"The farmer's last source of cheap labor is now threatened in the proposed Box Bill, scheduled to come before the next Congress, Cook declared.

Brownwood Dam Project Hearing Continues Today

(By Associated Press) AUSTIN, June 23.—Hearing of the Brownwood dam project to erect an irrigation and water dam on Pecan Bayou was resumed here today before the state board of water engineers with G. W. Ross, engineer for the Brown county irrigation district, still on the stand.

Ross yesterday told the hearing that the dam would not injure the irrigation practices of the rice growers along the lower reaches of the Colorado river of which the bayou is a tributary.

The rice growers, representing about 30,000 acres in Wharton, Colorado and Matagorda counties, are opposing the application.

Wade Defends City Homer D. Wade, manager of the West Texas chamber of commerce, took Brownwood's side yesterday as a cause more or less common to West Texas, where scanty rainfall demands conservation.

He held that natural use of water for irrigation of all crops, stock raising and the like should supersede the use of it for power, or for only the crop of rice, although declaring the latter should be protected to a reasonable extent.

Power interests are planning to build several dams near Marble Falls below the bayou mouth and are opposite the Brownwood dam.

BANKERS SEE REAGAN FIELD

Eastern Capitalists Pleased With Prospects In West Texas Oil Fields

(By Associated Press) SAN ANGELO, June 23.—"From the standpoint of oil I feel that West Texas today has prospects perhaps unequalled in the world," said M. L. Denodum of Pittsburgh, New York, Baltimore and Chicago bankers and brokers—most of them stockholders. In the Plymouth Transcontinental or Big Lake Oil companies had inspected the Big Lake oil company's part of the Reagan county field.

"That's optimistic, but true," added Mr. Denodum. "These thirty-eight years' search for oil—oil—virtually has covered the globe. Associates seated with him about a table in a private car echoed his opinion."

175 Wells Producing Over 115 wells of the Big Lake Oil company, all on land owned by the University of Texas, had produced 15,668,078 barrels of oil through May 31, between 250 and 300 locations remain to be drilled on the sixteen sections and the extent of the Reagan area to the northeast and northwest has not yet been determined definitely, yet Mr. Denodum said he considered that the shallow but heavy producing Yates pool in eastern Pecos county has greater potentialities than the Big Lake field.

Three Of Fishing Crew Missing In Boat Collision

(By Associated Press) TULSA, Okla., June 23.—Three members of the crew of the Surge A Boat trawler operated by the Bay State Fishing Company of Boston were missing and believed drowned after she had been sunk in collision with the Clyde line steamer Ozark five miles off Cape Cod early today.

The other 19 were rescued by the Ozark, which was damaged and beached 1500 yards off the Pamet river coast guard station.

Collide During Fog Two of the rescued fishermen had severe cuts about the head. The collision occurred during a heavy fog. A large hole was smashed in the side of the Ozark and she was reported to have 25 feet of water in her forward hold.

The Ozark, a freighter, in command of Captain Anderson, was bound from Jacksonville for Boston.

The Pamet river coast guardsmen went to the beach as soon as they saw the steamer racing toward shore and after she had come to rest on the sandy bottom they sent a boat out to her.

Dog Trainer Is Outstanding In Life At Prisons

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, June 23/27

—Since the opening of the State Penitentiary in 1849, the most outstanding of the prison officials on all the prison farms and at the "cells" at Huntsville, is the Dogman that handles and trains the long-eared bloodhounds that trail escaped convicts to bay.

One of the custodian Dog-Serjents to ever run the deep-mouthed bloodhounds in the Texas Penitentiary system is Captain Gus Grey, who has the dogs in charge at the Gores State Farm for women.

Grey who is a young man in years but old in experience has been running bloodhounds in the prison system for eight years and during that time he and his vicious men-dogs have captured some of the most notorious criminals in the prison.

In 1921, May 12th at ten o'clock about fifty convicts heavily armed made good their escape from the Wall at Huntsville. Grey was dispatched to round up the fleeing prisoners. Grey caught the "bad six" that included G. R. Anderson, who was sent up from Harris County for twenty-five years for robbing a bank.

Captain Grey has twelve trained bloodhounds and says that he could catch any man that would stay on the ground. He said that today the automobile is the greatest menace to the bloodhounds, because a man or woman escaping can catch a car and the bloodhounds are useless.

AMONG THE GREAT

NEWARK, N. J.—A common, ordinary mortal enrolled himself among the famous recently by trying to escape from a pen here owned by Myron W. Morse, collector of autographs. Morse guards his pen most jealously, not even permitting his wife to write her name with it. When he discovered that a plain man had used it, he immediately accounted the man famous for having written his name along with Thomas A. Edison, Theodore Roosevelt, John Philip Sousa, General Pershing, Guizot Gorgium, Helen Keller, Ralph Connor, Charles M. Schwab and others.

COOLIDGE AND PARTY TAKE TO WESTERN LIFE

PRESIDENT ENTERS NEW LIFE EAGERLY AND APPRECIATES IT

(By Associated Press)
HARDY CITY, N. D., June 22.—The spirit of the west seems to have completely overtaken President Coolidge and before he returns to Washington he will have shared in large measure the life of South Dakota, which in many ways is typical of the great bread-basket of America.

Not only has he entered eagerly into the activities of the new life surrounding him, but he has taken a taste for its clothes as well, and to the ten-gallon hats, which he wears frequently around the summer White House. There have been added a pair of walking or riding breeches and some boots. In those he likes to go fishing or sit in the early evening before dinner on the porch of the state game lodge.

But while these will give him a glimpse of the great farming regions of the country, his trips to Deadwood and Bellefourche, S. D., will provide scenes of the diversified life of the west. At Deadwood, the old gold mining days of 1874 will be re-staged and in Bellefourche the President and Mrs. Coolidge will witness one of the most extensive rodies the west knows. The Deadwood trip will be made in early August and the summer in the rodie city passes on July 4. Mr. Coolidge's 55th birthday.

Meanwhile in their mountain retreat Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge are finding complete rest and diversion. The days are of even temperature and the nights are cool enough so that plenty of blankets are laid on their sleeping porch. During the day time there is falling for both of them and now that Mrs. Coolidge has been initiated to the rod and reel, there is a prospect of pleasant hours together at the side of a single creek—about the only place where photographers, newspapermen, and visitors dare not peek them out.

Entertain Guests

Last night the president and Mrs. Coolidge had with them their first overnight guests, Sara R. McKelvie, former governor of Nebraska, and Mrs. McKelvie. The visit gave Mr. Coolidge an opportunity to receive a sympathetic report on conditions in the west. Mr. McKelvie endorsed the veto of the McNary-Haagen farm relief bill.

Census takers estimated that the Coolidge family had with them their first overnight guests, Sara R. McKelvie, former governor of Nebraska, and Mrs. McKelvie. The visit gave Mr. Coolidge an opportunity to receive a sympathetic report on conditions in the west. Mr. McKelvie endorsed the veto of the McNary-Haagen farm relief bill.

Flashes Of Life

(By The Associated Press)

Ought To Win

DETROIT—Betsy Carstairs, English sports woman, is to drive one of her speed boats in the Detroit river regatta in September against American, French, German and Canadian male drivers.

Nice Pacemaker

KIRKSTON, N. Y.—A seal, which is being trained for a swim across the channel, is to be used as pacemaker for the Zierfield twin sisters, who are swimming from Albany to New York in preparation for the channel.

All Said Equal

GENEVA—As a gaffer Admiral Earl Pellicce is a good naval strategist and Hugh Gibson an excellent diplomat. Therefore their match on the links ended all square, so far as they were able to determine.

Fright And Joy

WINBLEEDON—Tears and fright can be due to joy. Such was the case when Fraulein Cecilie Aussem when defeated at tennis. She was frightened by the cheering throngs and fearful in pleasure over the reception given a representative of Germany.

May Be True

NEW YORK—Distances between atoms are being measured by a new x-ray micrometer, the institute of chemistry announces.

Quite Different

SIoux CITY, Iowa—As a prize breeding bull he brought $50,000 nine years ago; as beef today he is worth $92. Richard Fairfax, famous Hereford, has been sold to be eaten.

Radio Is Taboo

TIFLIS, Georgia—Radio is taboo in Svanetia, Caucasian mountains, as a devilish invention of the enemies of the prophet. A set recently was publicly damaged by Mohammedan priests and thrown down a precipice.

Forbidden Wine

LAREDO—Girls are forbidden to line up at the bar in the Mexican town of Nuevo Laredo. They have been excluded from saloons by the police.

PROMPT IN WASTE PAPER

KANSAS CITY—Even in waste water there is a profit. A Kansas City jewelry manufacturing company recycles $2,000 annually in previous metal by filtering the water in which its workers wash their hands.

MANY ATTEND REVIVAL HERE

Rev. E. T. Wilson Is Speaking Nightly At Adventist Tabernacle

"A Chinese philosopher once said, 'Many people died yesterday, and many more died today; but no one ever died tomorrow.' This is the day of your death. And how true this is, so what we do must be done today, for tomorrow never comes," said Rev. E. T. Wilson at the Adventist tabernacle, corner 15th and H, last night in his opening remarks on the subject of "The Time of the Judgment."

Continuing the speaker said, "The wise man of the Bible declares there is a time every work and purpose of God, and the Apostle Paul says a day has been appointed to judge the world, and Peter declares the judgment must begin with the house of God, or the church, and the Rev. E. T. Wilson says that the judgment hour is upon us, and the books open, and the last writer of the Old Testament reveals the fact that a book of remembrances is kept and that God will spare His people."

The health lectures given from the desk in no way savor fanaticism, but are confined to suggestions on diet, and health habits such as are practiced by the leading sanitarians conducted by the Adventist people all over the world and which this people believe to be a part of the gospel, he said.

MENTAL AGE OF DRIVERS

HARTFORD, Conn.—The Connecticut motor vehicle department, in recommending a law permitting the issue of drivers' license to persons as young as sixteen, makes what it considers "a startling statement." This statement is that "an examination of all operators could be given and the mental age determined on the basis of such an examination, it would be far below sixteen."

Discovered—the famous four corners

Finding the particular four corners of the earth where the finest food-stuffs grow, is one of our achievements.

For instance: In Smyrna, figs become plumper and juicier than anywhere else. So Smyrna figs are used in Brown's Fig Bars. They are crushed with honeyed sugar into the mellowest of jams—a jam that retains its luscious moistness long after most fig bars have become dry and unpalatable.

Aggie Alumni At Amarillo Active

The organization of a Panhandle A. & M. Club at Amarillo was announced today by L. Wright, representative of Portland Cement Association and member of the club.

The alumni of the Aggie school meet every Monday at noon in the Amarillo Hotel, with about fifty members forming the initial club. Former Aggie students of Lubbock have been extended an invitation to meet with the organization when in Amarillo.

About 100 former Aggies of Amarillo and surrounding towns will attend the Tech-Aggie game this fall in a body, says Mr. Wright. Weight is a former classmate of Coach Grady Higginbotham of the Tech. He was a baseball letterman while in college.

There is a sun dial in Baltimore that indicates sun time in other countries.

Road Firm Given Mandamus Permit

AUSTIN, June 22. (P)—The supreme court Wednesday granted mandamus to the Sherman-Youmans construction company, Houston, for leave to file petition for mandamus against State Treasurer W. G. Hatcher, to force him to pay several thousand dollars claimed to be due the company for road maintenance contracts obtained during the Ferguson administration and continued by former Attorney General Dan Moody.

Forks were first used in Italy in the sixteenth century. Queen Elizabeth was the first English sovereign to use one and it was considered a great affectation. Religious leaders even preached against their use, saying that fingers were given us to eat with.

old age Insurance for your motor

THE way to keep your car young is to keep it properly lubricated.

And the sure way to know that it will be properly lubricated is to specify Conoco Motor Oil.

It never pays to feed your car unbranded "mystery" oils. They may cost a little less than Conoco and they're worth a great deal less.

You play safe when you insist upon an oil that has proved its merits by passing every lubricating test. That oil is Conoco—friction's deadly enemy.

There's a grade of Conoco Motor Oil for every type of motor. You'll find the correct grade for your car on the Conoco chart which will gladly be supplied by any Conoco dealer or at Conoco Service Stations.

NEW ORLEANS TRADING

NEW ORLEANS, June 23 (AP)--Moderate rallies followed declines in the cotton market today but the price trend was mainly downward. After fluctuating broadly in the early trading late months duplicated their early lows in the afternoon while October made a new low at 14.68, 16 points down. Renewal of July liquidation was the dominating influence with the weather also a depressing factor. Exports for the day were only 213 bales.

NEW YORK TRADING

NEW YORK, June 23 (AP)--A more favorable view of the weather outlook seemed responsible for an easier tone in the cotton market today, but declines were held in check by covering or trade buying below the 17 cent level for October contracts. That delivery sold off to 16.92 or 15 points down. Renewal of July liquidation was the dominating influence with the weather also a depressing factor. Exports for the day were only 213 bales.

Which will it be—Desirable assortments in standard qualities or odds and ends of indifferent make? Many times the price is the same.

Modern merchandising stresses many features much more than the matter of price. It is the appreciation of this fact that has had much to do with the growth and prosperity of this institution.

When you are disappointed in not finding what you want, either in the matter of quality, variety or price think of this store. In most cases the exact item in just the wanted shade is to be had and at a price just as low as that quoted in "sales".

In every class of wearing apparel there are many nationally advertised items. How many of these labels do you see at greatly lowered prices in "sales"?

CONVICTS SET NEW RECORD IN HUNGER STRIKE

328 MEN, BARRICADED IN MINE, DEFIANT AFTER 38 HOURS

(By Associated Press) LANSING, Kan., June 23.—A new state penitentiary endurance record against the "hunger cure" was established today 328 convicts who barricaded themselves and captive guards in the prison coal mine at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning and remained defiant after more than 38 hours of self-imprisonment.

In three previous strikes in which prisoners shut themselves in the mine in successful efforts to obtain special privileges, 38 hours was the longest time the leaders could hold the men below the surface. On all occasions the guards, held in dump dungeons on the 729 foot level, were unharmed.

Request is Refused
A telephone call from the mine to Deputy Warden R. H. Hudspeth, in asking that wives of the guards be permitted to talk to their husbands, was received last night and was interpreted as the first indication the mutineers were weakening. The request was refused, however, and the unidentified spokesman for the prisoners informed the warden they desired no concessions.

All remained quiet above ground following a near riot last night in which a guard was stabbed and a prisoner believed to have been wounded when more than 300 prisoners in B cell overpowered their guards and attempted a break with the reported intention of burning the prison twice factory. Hudspeth quelled the uprising by firing his pistol into the cell house and ordering out extra guards.

Authorities are Firm
In line with the policy to refuse concessions to the strikers, authorities remained firm in their refusal to approve a cigarette issue, which caused a demonstration ending in the mutiny. Hudspeth announced the authorities were undecided as to final action on the convict ultimatum—"no cigarette, no coal."

Salary Slash In Movie Industry Is Made By Lasky

LOS ANGELES, June 23 (P)—The first economy move in the motion picture industry, which is predicted ultimately to have far-reaching effect, came today in the form of a 25 per cent cut in all salaries which now exceed fifty dollars a week, announced by Jesse L. Lasky for the Paramount Famous Players Lasky organization. The first hint of an approaching drastic move toward retrenchment in paramount expenses came last week upon Lasky's return from New York. At that time he said he would spend a long time in determining in what manner expenses could be reduced without cutting salaries.

WOMAN'S BODY FOUND IN IRRIGATION CANAL

EDINBURG, Texas, June 22 (P)—Mrs. W. H. Moore, 35 years old, of Archer City, was found dead in an irrigation canal east of Edinburg late Wednesday afternoon. She had been missing from the home of her brother, E. H. Hoberston, since morning. The woman's eye glasses and a wrap were found on the canal bank. Members of the fire department recovered the body.

Jubilee Ticket Sales Will Open Friday Morning

Ticket sales for the Peddler's Jubilee will open at 9 o'clock Friday morning when committees from the Chamber of Commerce will go out to sell tickets to Lubbock business men for the annual stag party. Lubbock business firms will be expected to buy several tickets to be used by the managers and employees of the store and extras to be handed out to traveling men.

Financed by Tickets
The free entertainment offered the visiting salesmen each year is financed by the sale of tickets. A ready response is expected due to the favorable publicity gained by having the annual stag parties.

Other details of the jubilee have been arranged. A parade at 3:30 Saturday afternoon, a ball game at 4:30, a chicken barbecue at 7:30 and a meeting of the K. O. R. E. following the barbecue are the features of the program.

Several hundred "Knights of the Grip" will attend the jubilee.

TEXAS VALLEY IS FLOODED BY HEAVY DELUGE

MUCH DAMAGE CAUSED AND MANY HIGHWAYS ENTIRELY CLOSED

(By Associated Press) BROWNSVILLE, Texas, June 23.—Flooding of lowlands on both sides of the Rio Grande as a result of cloudbursts for a distance of several hundred miles up the international stream, in both Texas and Mexico, threatened today. Highways in many instances were closed in the lower valley and only the paved roads were negotiable.

Big Damage in Mexico
Greatest damage was reported at Carmago, in the state of Tamaulipas, Mexico, which was said to be under water from a 35 foot rise in the San Juan. Washouts of railroad tracks on the Southern Pacific at Sanderson and Del Rio were reported repaired last night and traffic resumed.

Highway travel over the valley, however, was cut off temporarily by heavy rains on the sole overland route, between Hidalgo's pavement and Palmaria. Flood control gates were being put into place last night by workmen to protect the lower sections of Hidalgo county. Trucks of the Missouri Pacific railway branch from McAllen to Hidalgo were taken up and the pass between the great dikes was closed.

Deluge at Roma
Rio Grande City reported heaviest rains in 14 months. Five inches fell at Roma and three inches at Edinburg in three hours.

Unless the rains continue no damage was expected here, although there was a possibility that Santa Rosa, a suburb of Matamoros, might be flooded when the crest of the rise reaches here. The river meanders slowly through a very flat country here, which would delay the arrival of the crest for some time.

BYRD PLANS JUMP FRIDAY

Plane Taken From Hangar And Prepared For Hop At 4 a. m. Friday

(By Associated Press) ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., June 23.—The tri-motored monoplane "America" will be taken from its hangar tonight and down to the top of the runway preparatory to a hop off for France at 4 o'clock tomorrow morning. "There is a general clearing up in the weather that has delayed the flight so far," Commander Richard E. Byrd told newspapermen today, "and while there is no certainty just yet as to the time of the morning we are going to get all ready and if we can't leave tomorrow, we will probably be able to go the next day. The American will be taken to the runway tonight in preparation for a hop off at 4 in the morning if the weather man will let us go."

Deli Believed At End
Commander Byrd's optimism, combined with a report from the weather bureau in New York that fog between here and Newfoundland was clearing up in the morning, led to a general feeling at the flying field that the long delay was almost at an end.

"The low pressure area in the Atlantic is improving," Commander Byrd said, "and if it continues clearing up we will be ready to fly in the morning."

Fog Bank Now Only Hindrance

NEW YORK, June 23 (P)—A fog bank between New York and Newfoundland was described this afternoon as "the only remaining impediment" to the trans-Atlantic flight of the monoplane American. James Kimball, weather bureau meteorologist, reported a tendency to clear on his charts and said the weather from Newfoundland on was clear.

LINDY IS BACK IN WASHINGTON

Will Confer With Officials Of Government On Views Regarding Aviation

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, June 23.—Charles A. Lindbergh landed at Bolling field at 11:27 a. m. today, having flown here from Dayton, Ohio, in an army plane.

The New York to Paris flier was met by officials of the war, navy and commerce departments who will confer with him on his future plans and obtain his views on the development of aviation abroad.

No Ceremonies
About 300 persons, including a dozen or more women, had gathered to see Lindbergh's arrival. There were no ceremonies at the landing.

Major Thomas F. Lanphere, commander of the first pursuit group of Selfridge field, Michigan, and Lieutenant St. Clair Street, flew here with Lindbergh.

Goes to Burwell's Home
Upon leaving his plane, Colonel Lindbergh went to the home of Major Harvey R. S. Burwell, commandant at the field.

After this, his first engagement was a luncheon given by Secretary Hoover at the Metropolitan club. The invited guests were the three air secretaries, J. Walter Drake, assistant secretary of commerce, and three of the flier's backers; W. B. Robertson, Harry H. Knight and Charles Bixley of St. Louis.

EXPORTERS TO HEAR OF TRADE PLANS IN EAST

TRADE COMMISSIONER IS TO BE INVITED TO TELL CONDITIONS

(By Associated Press) BOSTON, June 23.—D. C. Bliss, United States foreign trade commissioner, will be invited to come to Texas and tell domestic exporters about conditions in the far east. Ernest T. Tutt, Houston manager of the department of commerce, announces.

Mr. Bliss has been in the service of the department in Tokio, Bataavia, Bombay and Alexandria for four years and has just returned to this country.

"Unchanging East" Changes
The "unchanging east" of tradition is changing steadily, according to Mr. Bliss, not only socially but economically, and adds that the process of transition the old to the new is being accompanied by a growing demand for American products.

"Increasing world demand for the products of the Orient," he writes Mr. Tutt, "has improved the living conditions of the inhabitants of the vast territory that extends from Japan to the Suez canal. Higher wages are being paid to the natives and a surplus is thus provided for the purchase of the commodities which formerly were regarded as luxuries.

American goods are finding wider markets among people where once it was thought that bare poverty presented an insurmountable obstacle in the way of marketing such things as raisins, chewing gum, canned goods, cigars and dozens of other articles."

Mystery is Dissipated
Trade contracts and interest in American possibilities have dissipated much of the "mystery" of the east, according to Mr. Bliss. The peoples of the orient he says are modeling themselves more and more according to the continental and American standards and the easy tempo of tropical life is being quickened. The process is slow, the trade commissioner asserts and in many respects the wide gulf fixed by radical and climatic conditions will never be bridged but the observer, he thinks, can not fail to be impressed by the many evidences of modern development.

American merchants and exporters, he says, are availing themselves of the opportunities presented by larger oriental purchasing power. He has noted considerable success in marketing such American products as petroleum products, automobiles, sewing machines and many others which have been given a trade prestige through popular motion pictures. They are competing successfully, Bliss asserts, with British products in India and with Dutch manufacturers in Java, even securing government contracts in those countries where once the sole producers of raw material and of manufacturers for which cheap and abundant labor is required.

Expect Big Producer
Mr. Bliss expects that this tendency will continue for many years and that eventually the tropical regions of Asia will become the great producers of raw material and of manufacturers for which cheap and abundant labor is required.

"As this development progresses," he said, "the United States will find in those regions one of the best markets for the high grade articles of the production of which this country has shown itself to be especially fitted."

ROPES SCHOOL CASES CALLED IN COURT HERE

THREE SUITS CHARGING BREACH OF CONTRACT OPEN FOR TRIAL

Three cases, in each of which the Ropes Independent School district is named defendant, were brought to trial in Judge Clark M. Sullivan's court this afternoon. In the first suit, E. J. Hood charges that he had contracted for services as principal and superintendent of the Ropes School for the nine-month session of 1925-26 at a stipulated salary of $2,000 for the year. He further claims that he taught during the months of May, June and July of 1925 for which the school agreed to pay him $500, and which he charges was never paid. In the injunction, he charges breach of contract and seeks to collect $2500 for damages.

Woman Asks $1,200
Miss Thelma Hastings charges that the Ropes school was under contract with her to the amount of $1200 for the 1925-26 school period, and that the trustees employed a new faculty and breached their contract. She is trying to collect $1200 for damages on the grounds that the agreement was broken so late in the school season that she was unable to secure employment elsewhere.

Mrs. Jewell H. Kelley in a similar suit to that of Miss Hastings is suing the same school for $1200, alleged to be due her for damages resulting from a breach of contract.

Now we must congratulate the German government. For is there anyone under the sun who could have received Chamberlain and Levine more politely than Dr. Curtius?

POOR FARMS, FINE FORESTS

A few years ago much anxiety was expressed about the growing number of abandoned farms in New York State and other sections of the country. It has since been discovered that those farms were wisely abandoned. Their soil was not really fit for profitable farming. Nevertheless, they had their usefulness and it was discovered.

In the state of New York alone 2,147,102 acres of unprofitable land have been turned into public parks and forests. Private owners of land are setting out forests. The state forestry department expects to set out thirty million trees this year at a cost of $10,000,000.

What with private and municipal planting, the forest situation in that state is looking up rapidly. It is a development that carries a useful hint to other regions of poor farming land, which is often fine for tree-growing—Gainesville Register.

Turns Backward

CRITICS of the sex that once wore petticoats have been worried about the young women seeking careers, fearing that if the dear girls ever got a liking for careers they would abandon matrimony altogether. It was good tidings, therefore, when a senior in Swarthmore College wrote the other day that, given a choice between matrimony and a career, most of the girls would choose matrimony.

A case to prove this assertion is presented by one Katherine Toy, a New York girl won a traveling scholarship worth $1500 a year. That prize would have enabled the young lady to see most of Europe, never, fearing that if she did not. The thing she chose, instead was a husband and a career in a home. Just how the alarmists will explain this choice remain to be seen.

Jungle Breaths

THIS HAS HAPPENED. LINCOLN NUNNALLY, elderly American chemist, is summoned to the little jungle bordered town of PORTO VERDE, in west central Brazil, by his young friend, VILAK, who is concerned for the safety of his beautiful cousin, MISS MARRBERRY, owner of a coffee plantation and other property near Porto Verde.

Several mysterious deaths have occurred, including that of TONY BARBETTA, one of Elise's foremen, and the girl herself has received warnings to get out of the country.

Vilak believes GAYLORD PRENTISS, a reticent and forbidding man, known to be an enemy of Elise, may be involved some way in the deaths. Accordingly, he and Nunnally set out for Prentiss' house, which is surrounded by barbed wire fences and a vicious dog. Elise insists on joining them. Prentiss sets the dog on them and Vilak saves his companions' lives by chloroforming it into unconsciousness.

The next day Elise's two-year-old orphaned nephew is kidnapped. Vilak finds the trail and in a few hours they come upon the child deserted by its captors and being cared for by a gang of railroad workmen. Returning with the baby, Vilak gravely tells Elise he has bad news for her.

CHAPTER XVII

"Bad news?" Anxiety was evident in Elise's voice. The old man, too, who had been bent over his saddle so absorbed that the passenger by he must have seemed asleep, looked up with a start.

"I hate to be a kill-joy just when you are so happy," said Vilak. "But if you want to keep on being happy you'll get Tinky away from here as quickly as you can. Take the boat that leaves here next week."

Her dark lips tightened. "What do you mean?"

"Persons don't steal babies merely for the fun of dropping them on the ground. I don't know just what happened this afternoon, but as I told you I have a theory. And that theory prompts me to the certain belief that Tinky will not be safe until he is far from Porto Verde."

She gazed directly into his keen blue eyes. "You're not telling me that merely to make me leave?"

"No."

"She hesitated. "Very well, I'll take him away. When the boat comes next Thursday. But as soon as I have put him somewhere where he'll be safe I'll come back. I personally will not stay away from Porto Verde. No matter what happens, I belong here."

"If a person happened to own an active volcano, he wouldn't necessarily be called upon to live inside its crater. I tell you again that your life is in danger every moment here and the danger is increasing constantly. This affair of Tinky's may be just a development of that. I don't know. But I've given up arguing with you. My only regret is that there is no way of getting you out of here before Thursday."

It was dusk when they neared the fazenda and the two spreading castanhe trees marking the entrance already had begun their melodious whispering in the evening breeze.

"I don't like those Indians. Er—Indians," the old man remarked suddenly, after half an hour's silence.

Vilak looked at him amusingly. "What Indians, Nanny?"

"Those half breed and Indian laborers who work for—D'Albentarra. Not nice faces. Vilak. Not nice. Er—ratty. And that foreman with the big nose is ugly as a—er—er—he's ugly. How can a nice fellow like D'Albentarra live with them? It would put my health completely out of order—yes, quite completely."

"You can't saw down a tree with a razor blade," Vilak responded. "Section blades aren't house maids. D'Albentarra takes what he can get."

"Which reminds me that I've got to do something for him to show my appreciation. Elise put in 'What'll I send him?'"

"A little er—wine is always welcome," the old man answered.

"An excellent idea, Mr. Nunnally. I'll send him over a case of my best champagne, that Pommery 1912, and some other wine for the men. They'll all be glad to get a change from the dreadful stuff they drink here all the time. Better for them, too. If Vilak will be good enough to take it over to them after dinner I'd be awfully grateful."

"I'll be delighted," Vilak responded. "I have a particular reason for wanting to go back anyway."

After dark the two men set out on their horses again. Behind them rode one of Elise's ebony faced servants, driving a little cart which contained one of the heavy stone jars used to transport wine in the region and a wooden case from whose cracks peeped fragrant wisps of straw. They reached the camp and delivered the presents. D'Albentarra was highly pleased. Giving the jar of wine to his foreman to be distributed judiciously among the men, he opened a bottle of the champagne and drank the health first of Elise, then of his guests. They chatted about engineering, chemistry, the competition of the Brazilian railroads with the steam boats and the question of which would eventually win out, the cruelty of the jungle and its weakening effect upon the white man, the value of the jungle land when an overpopulated world would have to reach out for new fields to supply its workers, the myriad motley subjects that any sane man of scientific instincts would talk about with a jungle encircling them.

As they chatted, the Indian and half breed laborers who had ceased their work for the night also talked and sat around the crackling fire and noisily drank the heavy wine out of their battered tin cups. But the old man could not understand their loud, sometimes shouted conversation, for when it was not an Indian dialect it was usually some perverted Portuguese patois of which he knew nothing.

The conversation of the white men finally drifted to the repairs on which D'Albentarra was engaged. Vilak inquired whether he might see how they were proceeding with the fill where the river had cut dangerously into the banks. The engineer gladly assented. Calling over his foreman of the enormous nose, whose breath now reeked strongly of wine, they walked toward the river's edge. Here the soil was wetter and mossier than elsewhere and the stone which occasionally appeared above it was covered with a slimy algae which made walking very difficult.

They had gone only a few yards when Vilak, usually so agile, slipped on one of those stones and pitched forward. Grasping for support, he caught the hand of D'Albentarra, who was at one side and the arm of the foreman who was at the other. But the movement did not check his fall. Instead it brought the foreman sprawling to the ground as well. Vilak was the first to gain his feet. He aided the foreman to arise and began brushing off his clothes. "Terribly sorry," he murmured apologetically. "I don't know what the devil made me so awkward."

The half breed's shifting eyes glared angrily a moment. His dwarfed, knotted fingers seemed to start to the knife at his belt, then he smiled and gave an affable grunt.

"Togas does not mind," D'Albentarra murmured as Vilak still sought to repair the damage he had wrought. "It is nothing. All that goes up must also fall down. Is it not so? Once I heard an English sailor say this. And it is true."

The incident forgotten, they strode on to the tracks where the engineer explained in detail how the piles were driven, a retaining wall built of rocks, and earth piled into the vacant spaces between, half an hour later the two visitors made ready to leave. The Indians and half breeds still sat around the fire drinking and shouting more lustily than ever.

"One or two of them look as if they might be getting a tiny bit tipsy," Vilak declared to the engineer, as they shook hands. "I hope Senhorita Marberry's wine isn't going to have any bad effects."

D'Albentarra laughed. "Have no fears of that, amigos. The stomachs of my men are as iron. Good night."

They walked toward the road. "I feel proud. Quite er—proud," the old man declared, as they plodded through the marshy turf. "You fell and I er—didn't."

Vilak chuckled. "Sorry to put a pin in the bubble of your self-factory, Nanny, but it happens that I slipped purposely in order to pull our Indian friend, the foreman, down with me."

The old man looked bewildered. "But why should you want to do—such a thing? You almost ruined your suit."

"Look at this," Vilak responded. He withdrew a small object from his pocket and flashed his light upon it so that the other might see. It was a ring, consisting of a thin gold band, set with a large black stone. The stone was carved in the fashion of so much of the jewelry seen in the remoter parts of the globe, jewelry crudely wrought but nevertheless masterpieces of craftsmanship, now depicting some mythical personage or animal, now a stiff conventionalized tree. In this instance the design consisted of what appeared to be a bird-like or perhaps fish-like figure with a single claw or fin. "Make anything of it?"

"Er—nothing. Where did you get it?"

"From the finger of the Indian foreman. I saw it and wanted to study it at my leisure. I picked him down and felt sharply on his arm so that the pain I was causing him would allow me to wrench the ring away without being noticed."

The old man brushed a mosquito from his scanty fringe of beard. "It looks to me quite like, er—quite like the other native rings I've seen here. Do you know what it is?"

"No, amigos. But I intend finding out. What are you getting so desperate about that little mosquito for? Are you afraid that he'll destroy that feeble trace of a beard you're so proud of? Now I'm going to town for a few minutes, and then to come back to Elise to spend the night, again. Events are approaching a climax. I feel sure, and I want to be there every minute I can."

SPECIAL GROUP

MEN'S SUITS

$19.75

Most of these suits were tailored by such well known concerns as Kuppenheimer, Society Brand and Kirschbaum. The trouser legs are slightly narrower than today's styles and the coats fit somewhat closer. This group will appeal to many men who look with disfavor on the wide leg trouser vogue. This lot of suits formerly sold from $35.00 to $50.00 and are real values at the low price of $19.75

BOYS' SUITS

With Two Pair Knickers $9.85 only

This group of suits ranges in size from 13 to 17. The materials are all wool and formerly sold from $15.00 to $25.00. This special price offers a substantial saving to the boy who prefers knicker suits.

The Professors

LIFE for the lowly college professor seems to be looking up, and it is about time. For years and years the poor creatures never called
their houses their own and seldom
were able to call their souls
their own. Economically, they were grossly underpaid. Intellectually,
they were directed to by boards of trustees, all too often made up of food barons, political princes, commercial counts and the lesser royalty who won their degrees by
building new gymnasiums and clock
towers. If an anemic professor dared after an institution contrary to the placiditudinous precepts of these over-
stuffed trustees, the professor lost
his job.

Now, however, a college professor can almost say what he thinks
and get away with it. We have, in fact, approached a state of affairs
where university faculties form a super-governing class, telling the official lawmakers, law-givers and lawenforcers what to do and when
to do it.

Nicholas Murray Butler, president
of Columbia, is perhaps the best
leader of this modern crew. On prohibition, party conventions, peace
pacts, international law, affairs internal or in the thin air of the fourth dimension, Mr. Butler has his opinions, and does not hesitate
to give them.

The Princeton faculty recently
tried to tell Mr. Mellon what he should do about war debts. Professor Fisher of Yale and Professor Ripley at Harvard enable in financial matters and have their opinions
lent to President Frank, who resistless writes a daily paragraph or two as his contribution toward this seemingly endless business of making the world a better place to live
in, and the country is all but cluttered up with learned opinions. Professors even take to the air and
bombard the unthinking by radio.

All this, of course, is a symptom
of health. It can be accounted for,
perhaps, in the report of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, which shows that the professional payroll has been doubled since 1913, while the cost of living advanced only 74 per cent.

This margin of difference may enable the professor to get a square
meal once in a while, and so strengthen him to give his opinions. And
the opinions should be encouraged.
At the worst, they can be no greater
than the opinions of many congressmen, and most editorial writers, and at best they may do some good.

Wyoming To London

IN Owen Wister's great novel,
"The Virginian," there is a dramatic incident where a westerner calls
the hero a rather nasty name which reflects upon the chastity of the hero's mother. The hero thereupon uttered his famous command, "When
you call me that, smile!"

Not long ago, an Australian from
the bush country was brought to trial for calling a Britisher a "mongrel." The attorney for the defense
may, or may not, have read "The Virginian," but he argued that in the bush country the people did not take offense at such names of en-
dearment as "mongrel."

A jury in Wyoming or Australia
might have found the Australian not guilty of slander, but a jury in London could see no love or affection
in the epithet, and they fined the Australian the equivalent of $500.
That fine, as no other thing could possibly do, shows the difference in temperament between the over-
refined civilization of London and the heartier and halter customs of the newer countries.

Love Flourishes

IN Spite of wars and rumors of
wars, romance in this vale of tears
still seems to be functioning fairly well, thank you. In Washington, a 70-year-old man and 66 year old woman who plighted their troth
when they were 20 and 16 are married. Also in Washington, an army
captain who was cared for by the
same nurse in 1918, 1921 and 1927,
up and took her to wife.

As long as these healthy things
are still happening the country is still safe. For the fiction writers and the movie plot makers can still find
material to ply their oh-so-necessary trades.

THE PLAINSMAN

Says:
The Plainsman hates to keep
harping on the same thing all the time but he feels that in this case
he can well afford to put his personal views to one side for the good
of Lubbock and her trade territory.
For the past several days the Avalanche-Journal publications have
printed extensive articles concerning the establishing of air lines
through Lubbock and in addition,
The Plainsman has commented favorably on the proposition. He believes, along with some of the leading business men of the community,
that there are various and sundry
reasons why Lubbock should turn
its attention to the aviation field,
and he will continue to boost the plan.

Lubbock's business men formed
teams, took the streets and raised
money to build a modern hotel, one of the city's greatest needs. They did
the same thing to assure a bonus
for the Fort Worth and Denver City. South Plains railroad, another necessity. Facing us today is another community need
—one, which in future years,
will be as great or greater than
the two mentioned above. Why can't we get some action on it?

The Plainsman doesn't advise the team and donation system on the airline proposition. It is not necessary. He believes that a group of far-seeing business men should and
eventually will organize the project
and by so doing will kill two birds
with one stone. They will invest their money in a project which will pay dividends—a just return on the dollar—and they will assure Lubbock's future as an air port and as
the capital of a great, resourceful territory.

An air line operating between Dallas and Roswell, with headquarters in Lubbock as suggested, is not a pipe dream. Lubbock does not need it as a donation or as an expression of civic pride. Lubbock
needs it for BUSINESS, organized
and operated by BUSINESS MEN.

Colonel Charles Lindbergh
told the Texans with the "All-Texas Special" in St. Louis on Tuesday that Texas should immediately "wake up" and plan to be in on a nation-wide system
of air lines. The Lone Star
state as one of the nation's greatest markets, should look
to commercial aviation to promote and increase business. The "Lone Eagle" said, and he was
quoting a truth when he said
it. Lubbock, as the Hub of the South Plains—that great virgin
territory which is destined
to become even a more important part of the state than it is today—
should heed well those words of wisdom and be galvanized into action.

Pleasure, served as a steady diet,
soon becomes tiresome.

work of espionage maintained by
the nations of the world always
comes when a spy is caught red-handed. Ordinarily it works very quietly and then, every year or two,
evidence of its operations comes to
light and one is immediately met
with the informed comment—often
defensive—that all governments employ spies to gather military and
other secrets from other countries.

The latest instance of this followed the British howl of virtuous
indignation against Russian espionage.
The British presumably found
much less than they expected to find in the Arcos raid, and the assumption also is that they would have found more had they suddenly
raided the flabbergasted embassy
of one or more of the other great powers.

At any rate, Lloyd George, who knows a great deal about the British government as well as about
other European governments, was only one of several who pointed out
publicly that all governments spied
upon each other and stole each other's documents.

There is no indication that our own government can lay claim to
any pleas freedom from such tactics. It would be asleep on its feet
if it could.

You'll hear, in confidence, strange
yarns about the international spy
system as it affects the United States.

Some of the stories probably are
not true—but some of them probably are. There is enough evidence even on the surface to indicate that
military and naval attaches in world
capitals manage the clearing houses
for subterranean information bought
and otherwise obtained from spies.

The likelihood is that they haven't
anything much else to do.
It will be recalled that our own
military attaché in Mexico City was recently in the limelight when important documents which had passed
through his hands were obtained
by the Mexican government. A splendid job of international fishing was performed and the incident
seemed a turning point in relations
between the two countries, but in all fairness it should be said that
no official proof was ever produced
to show that the attaché had done
anything that wasn't open and aboveboard.

It was obvious, however, that
there had been certain military espionage along the border which seems to have been practiced by both sides.

Some months ago a State Department employe was relieved of
his job and it has since been understood that he was connected with
a leak to the Mexican embassy here.
An argument as to who started the
active espionage by the two countries is not likely to get anywhere.
Incidentally, there seems to have been few instances where American citizens were suspected of selling
out to agents of foreign governments.

UNUSUAL but rather piquant,
was a recent instance where the espionage system was turned loose
on the Chilean embassy here. The naval attaché came out, the Chile-
an naval and military attachés

TELLING ABOUT TEXAS

The All-Texas Special carrying a passenger list of over 100 representative Texans will leave the Lone Star State Sunday, carrying a message of Texas' greatness to the East and North. This project of constructive advertising of the state, its people and the unlimited natural resources, is by far the greatest event
of its nature ever attempted by any
group in the state, and the results
will be felt in the years to come.
It is a most opportune move, for capital of the East and North is just awakening to the vast possibilities of Texas, and this tour will increase the interest of those now taking notice of the investment opportunities awaiting the magic touch
of capital which will start a development of unprecedented magnitude.

This tour of Texas will differ considerably from journeys in the past. There will be no "wild and wooly west stuff." It is to be a dignified business proposition with a purpose, and that purpose is to sell Texas. The passenger list, headed by Governor Dan Moody, numbers
many of Texas' most prominent citizens. The speakers with the party will deal strictly with facts and figures concerning Texas, and when the
party has completed its tour,
the residents of the major cities of the East and North will have a wealth of valuable information concerning Texas the like of which has not been available to them before.
Texas has the brightest future of any state in the Union. It has more to offer and with the proper exploitation, such as is being made
by the tour business and population will increase in the years to come, beyond the dreams of all—Corsicana Sun.

THE ALL TEXAS SPECIAL

The All Texas Special which is carrying 150 San Anthonios on the trip through the north and east is certain to have a wonderful effect
upon the business interest of these
more settled countries.

Business is roren in the middle-
west and in a good part of the north and east. Crops have been poor—high water—cold winters—
one disaster after another, has crumpled the big part of the area thru
which this train will go.

New distributing houses are sure to be the outcome of this trip. And when big business goes to making a survey of Texas, West Texas and San Angelo are sure to get their share.—San Angelo Standard.

Justajingle

The missus made a lemon pie.
"Treat, please her mate, no
doubt.
He never guessed what kind it was.
She left the lemons out.

This was a matter of domestic politics, for the husband general had
just set up shop as a military dictator in Santiago and there was some doubt as to the future status of the ambassador here. At any rate, it appears that there was much rifling of pouches, searching of desks and the like, which finally ended when the
naval attaché came out, the Chile-
an naval and military attachés

EX-AIRMEN OF CITY PROPOSE TO START CLUB

MEETING TO LAUNCH ORGANIZATION MAY BE CALLED SOON

The organization of an air club
in Lubbock looms favorably, following the wave of popular enthusiasm
for aviation resulting from discussion of the feasibility of the Roswell-Lubbock-Dallas and El Paso-Lubbock-Oklahoma City air lines.

Local veterans of the air expres-
ed a desire this afternoon for the union of Lubbock airmen and it is likely that a meeting will be called
within the near future.

Nucleus Is Enthusiastic
Prof. A. H. Walte, of Texas Tech;
Joe Hilton, owner of Joe Hilton
company; H. H. Griffith, employe of Rix Furniture Company; E. T. H.
Oxford, head man of the Sinclair
oil and Gas Company, and James Cole, of the Oakland Sales Company,
form the nucleus around which the
club might form.

E. T. H. Oxford, former member of the Canadian Royal Air Corps,
who first made the suggestion for
the organization of veterans, is of the opinion that there are many
more men within the city and county who were in the aviation service during the world war, and who would unite with the club when
they have a knowledge of its formation. Mr. Oxford advocates the establishment of an airport in Lubbock as a preliminary measure to
the realization of the air lines which would connect with Lubbock.

Would Be Profitable
He stresses that Lubbock with a
five air club, coupled with the advantages of an airport, would result in much advertising through the enthusiasm that is now sweeping America.

REVERSED ENGLISH

Today the intelligence test game
is reversed. Below are ten answers.
See if you can give approximately
the correct questions, which are printed on the classified page.

1. "T. Duca"
2. "Half Moon."
3. Ryan and Bellanca.
4. King John of England, in 1215.
5. Gutenberg.
6. Dec. 21, 1820.
7. "Josephine Ford" and "Norge."
8. In 1000 A. D.
9. Francis Scott Key.
10. Plutarco E. Calles.

A LITTLE brunet "trick" trips
into a cabaret for rehearsal. She is dressed completely in black, but
with a rather chic swing to the suggestion of mourning.—And then someone tells her the story.—She learned most of her best steps from
a young Italian who used to coach
a chorus group. They fell in love and were married. Last winter he got the flu and went on working.
Most of his work was indoors and at night. Suddenly the doctor told him he would have to go west for his health.

The girl, in the meantime, had lost her job and had gone back to stay with her parents in California.
More prosperous friends were taking up a collection to send her husband away when he died.

Now his wife is back on the "big
street," starting again at a small
chorus job and getting along—
somehow—

GOING down the street is a snappy model, who doubles just how in
a show.—She's a little heavy, too.—
The first time I saw her she was posing for a Greenwich Village art
class.—A pretty, curly haired youngster was playing outside in the street and every now and then a bread would peek out the door to see
how he was getting along.—The artist later told me her story.

She had been in a chorus and was rushed by a young man whose father
had money.—The family had objected and he had cut loose to be
with her.—There was a beautiful
year.—But he wasn't accustomed to work and the baby came, and they drifted from bad to worse.—His family refused to do anything about it
and eventually she had to go to work.—She took to modeling.—One
night the husband went to a studio
to call for her and found her modeling in the nude.—He created a scene.—She protested she had to support the baby somehow or other.—
The quarrel led to a break.—
He went back to his family.—And
she is rearing the baby.

She works day and night to make money and the youngster may have a good chance.—Yet there are people who, watching her pose, are quite shocked and disturbed as her husband—

Happy endings on Broadway—

NOT many this season anyway,
with hundreds of actors out of work
and summer coming on. Of all the professions, the acting profession
must put on the bravest front. They must always look their best. And no work in five months and none in sight. Nothing to do but pound the pavement and stand on the corner
wrapping hard luck stories and trying to borrow a dollar.

thusiasm, comes the announcement
today from St. Louis that Colonel Charles Lindbergh told Texas to get on its toes in staking out national air lines in addressing the 125
Lone Star delegates on their way to the East. One of the lines, connecting Texas and New York,
should go West into El Paso and Los Angeles, Lindbergh said. This line would place Lubbock as a heat landing station and an overnight stopping place.

The most densely populated state
in the union is Rhode Island, with more than 50 persons to the square mile. Nevada is the least dense populated with only .7 persons a square mile.

The Most Important ANNOUNCEMENT

This Big, Ambitious Store Will Ever Make!

OUR WHOLE FUTURE
DEPENDS ON THESE—

We realize that our whole future depends on the manner in which we live up to every expectation you have. We know that it is your approval or disapproval of our store policy, our fairness and method of doing business that will either make or break us.

We recognize, fully, the importance of our FIRST STORE-WIDE CLEARANCE. In our opinion it is the biggest step to be taken by us. It means that we MUST do more than ordinary things; that our stock must be complete and values far overshadowing anything offered or to be offered this summer. So we have planned carefully for the announcement of Grollman's first Store-Wide

Mid-Summer Clearance

11 Days !!
Only !!

Beginning, June 24th.

Friday morning, June 24th, at 9:30, we open our doors on this event. Each and every article in this big, newly stocked store will be priced for one final Mid-Summer Clearance. Every department in the store will be included. Clearance prices will be displayed prominently.

If you are skeptical as to its importance we only ask that you read the following pages which contain honest description of the merchandise and prices. Should you wish more expert advice as to the values mentioned we urge you to ask any merchant you may know. This merchandising step must reflect the experience of nearly a life-time. It must be better and more important than any like event to be held this year by any store. And we say these things knowing that the manner in which we live up to them determines our future.

Tell your friends of the values herein contained. Keep in mind eleven days only—beginning June the 24th.
