Observers Say Disaster Has Hit Forces

More Than Fifty Per Cent Casualties Reported To Have Been Suffered

(By The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, April 15—The Japanese army's spokesman today refused to deny or confirm the conclusion of most neutral military experts here that the Japanese army suffered a major disaster, its first in modern times, in the recent battle in southern Shantung province.

The experts said conservative estimates indicated Japanese forces had suffered more than 50 per cent casualties in fighting of the past ten days, in which they were thrown back from Taierchwang on the Grand Canal to Yihsien, 20 miles to the northwest.

Speeding Reinforcements

Japanese reports indicated the Japanese command was speeding reinforcements from the north, northeast, south and southeast toward the Shantung battlefield.

The foreign experts believed that of 50,000 Japanese engaged in the fight for Taierchwang 7,000 to 10,000 were killed and 20,000 wounded. Jubilant Chinese claims of 20,000 Japanese killed were believed too high.

Detachments Destroyed

Chinese losses, the foreigners estimated, were two or three times as large as the Japanese, since the Chinese had much larger forces engaged and won in the final phase by smothering their foe by weight of numbers, cutting off and destroying Japanese detachments in hand-to-hand fighting.

Chinese said more than 100 Japanese tanks had been captured after they had run out of fuel and their crews wiped out as they fought to the death.

Admits "Bitter Fighting"

The Japanese army spokesman, facing correspondents in a tense conference, tried to ignore the recent past by insisting the tide had turned. Concerning the foreign experts' estimate of the Taierchwang battle he said he had "no state-

PREMIER MAY RESIGN

TOKYO, April 15 (AP)—Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye was said today to be ready to resign because of a split among his ministers over mobilizing Japan's full military strength in an effort to achieve a quick and final victory in China.

Current dispatches from Shanghai indicate the Japanese drive in central China has been stalled, at least temporarily, and that Japanese have suffered sharp reverses.

The army and navy were said to be strongly opposed to any cabinet resignation at this time, fearing the effect upon troops in China.

Putting Japan upon a full war time basis would involve invoking the national mobilization law, which gives the government unlimited power to draft Japan's manpower and economic resources in a war emergency.

Elderly Man Is Saved From Enraged Mob

Body Of Seven-Year-Old Is Found In Patch Of Weeds; Neighbors Attack Man

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, April 15—Sheriff's deputies rescued an elderly man from a mob of enraged neighbors early today after the crushed body of Jenny Moreno, 7, was found in a patch of weeds near her Downey home.

Cries of "lynch him" were heard as officers shouldered through the crowd to Charles A. McLachlen, 55, who was being mauled and beaten.

Bloodstained Clothing Found

Excited neighbors told Sergeant Frank O. Smith that bloodstained clothing was found in the smouldering embers of a fire in McLachlen's backyard shortly after the girl's body was discovered.

John Moreno, who had sought his daughter for hours, finally discovered the scene of the slaying only 100 yards from his house. Jenny, her head bludgeoned, was lying face downward in tall grass.

Hammer, Knife Recovered

She was last seen about noon when she went out to play with children in the neighborhood.

A hammer and butcher knife, spotted with blood, were recovered near the scene and reputies sought to trace their ownership.

The Moreno girl, her clothing torn, died of a fractured skull and may have been ravished, investigation disclosed.

Rare Picture Of The Penitente Lenten Rite

This picture, showing the climax of the Penitente Lenten ceremony, was made by an amateur photographer who waited all day behind a log to obtain one of the few camera records ever made of the strange rite. Still observed in the Southwest hills before each Easter, it remains virtually the same today as when this picture was made several years ago. Members of the Brotherhood who wish to do penance for sins are tied to the cross. Others, like those shown here, chant and beat themselves across their bare backs with rope whips. Blood splotches can be seen on the backs of several.

Penitentes Of New Mexico, In Self-Torture Rites, Reliving Christ's Good Friday Agony

BY JOHN E. BAKER
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., April 15—Caught in the fanaticism of a forgotten age, "Los Hermanos de Sangre Cristo" are enduring once again the fearful self-punishment of a cult which believes that only man's blood can atone for his sins.

Deep in the hidden mountains of northern New Mexico and southern Colorado, the brothers of the blood of Christ — The Penitentes—are preparing for their annual re-enactment of Christ's crucifixion.

All Through Lent

The shrill, eerie note of "pitos" — slender reed flutes — the dread sound of yucca whips thudding against bare flesh; the slow agonizing tread of unshod feet on the sharp, cold rocks of mountain heights — these are the accompaniment of Penitente rites.

All through Lent the preliminary ceremonies go on in the little Spanish-American Penitente villages.

Hermanos lash themselves, swinging the whips in measured cadence over their shoulders onto their own bleeding backs.

Others find their self-flagellation by throwing themselves upon mounds of thorny cactus. The initiate receive the cruciform

Jerusalem Leads Christendom In Mourning Death Of Christ

Austere Ceremonies Conducted In Rome

VATICAN CITY, April 15 (AP)—The Crucifixion and death of The Redeemer—and the confusion of nature at his passing—were symbolized today in austere ceremonies in the capital of Catholicism.

All Italy assumed an aspect of mourning and devotion, with amusements halted by law and gaiety by inclination. The townsfolk of many communities followed the practice of their forefathers in participating in Good Friday pageants.

Eighteen cardinals and many other prelates and dignitaries attended a mass celebrated by Eugenia Cardinal Pacelli in the Sistine chapel, bare of its decorations and with a violet cloth covering its crucifix.

As part of the ceremonies cardinals banged their prayer books on the benches to signify the confusion of nature at the death of Christ in which, according to scripture, the earth shook, the veil of the temple was rent and graves gave up their dead.

After the mass Cardinal Pacelli led the traditional Good Friday procession to the Pauline chapel where the cardinal made personal money offerings to the church, placing velvet purses on a cushion.

Pope Pius, conserving his strength for Easter's elaborate ceremonies, did not participate in today's services.

(By The Associated Press)

JERUSALEM, April 15 — The City of Jerusalem today led all Christendom in mourning the death of Christ.

Long before dawn, pilgrims in their thousands hurried to the old city along the worn, cobbled lanes leading to the Chapel of Calvary for the first somber, age-old ceremonies of Good Friday.

Enter At Own Risk

Because of structural damage to the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, authorities at first forbade congregations to assemble there, but later altered the orders to permit pilgrims to enter the church in groups of ten, at their own risk.

(An earthquake last October damaged steel and wooden supports of the church.)

Promptly at 6:30, great doors of the chapel swung shut upon those kneeling in the pale glare of oil lamps and candles hung from the dark roof.

All Christendom Represented

All Christendom was represented in the congregation which heard the celebrant begin the ceremonies of the mass.

Then they looked up for the adoration of the cross as they heard the words: "Behold the wood of The Cross on which hung the Savior of the world."

The ceremonies continued until late tonight.

Early this afternoon thousands in procession trod the Via Dolorosa, visiting the stations of The Cross—the usual ceremony in every Roman Catholic church — along the road of crosses struggling steps to Calvary.

And like the Roman centurions of

Allred Calls Safety Meet

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, April 15 — Governor James V. Allred today called for statewide cooperation in staging a mamoth traffic safety convention in Fort Worth June 18.

Five thousand persons are expected to attend the meeting which will be held under auspices of a committee of citizens appointed last year by the governor to study traffic problems. George Clarke, the governor's secretary and also secretary of the committee, said the convention would be the largst mobilization of traffic safety-minded persons Texas has ever known.

Special caravans from as many cities as possible will be run to the gathering particularly from 50 towns where local safety committees have been organized. They will converge at Fort Worth into a parade several miles long and including numerous motorcycle officers, bands and floats.

Connecticut Brewer Insists Hitler Is Seven Years Older

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., April 15. (AP)—Fritz Grunscheder, local brewery employe, insisted today that Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler is seven years older than reference books indicate.

Grunscheder, who said he was born in the same Austrian town as Hitler, maintained that the Fuehrer is 56 years old, although encyclopedias say he will be 49 next Wednesday.

Both boys were born in Brennau, an inn on the border line of Austria and Germany and went to school together until they were ten years old, Grunscheder said. He was born in March and Hitler in May of the same year, he recalled.

VEGETABLE CROPS AIDED

AUSTIN, April 15 (AP) — Commercial vegetable crops in Texas were aided last month by favorable weather, the United States department of agriculture said today in a monthly report.

Search For Frome Suspects Is Futile

LAREDO, April 15. (AP)—An aerial search over Southwest Texas brush country for slayers of the Fromes failed to reveal any trace of two suspects reported in this area.

State highway patrolmen made a five-hour search from the air yesterday over the territory between Laredo, Mission and Zapata. They failed to sight an automobile, reportedly used by a man and a blonde woman.

The automobile and its two occupants had been reported seen at a sandwich shop at Roma.

The man became talkative about the slaying of Mrs. Weston G. Frome and her daughter, Nancy, near Van Horn, and officers started in pursuit. Border Patrolman Jesse Perez said he was convinced the couple was not involved.

American Women Like To Be Spoiled, First Lady Says

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP) — American women on the whole rather like to be spoiled, Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt told a group of congressmen's wives yesterday. That explains, she said, why there aren't more women in public life where they must stand up under unpleasant criticism.

New Method For Treatment Of Glandular Disturbances Is Reported By Scientists

By STEPHEN J. McDONOUGH
Associated Press Science Writer

PITTSBURGH, April 15 — An effective treatment for some types of glandular disturbances by merely rubbing a lotion containing sex hormone into the skin was reported today before the American Association of Anatomists.

In one of the outstanding medical papers delivered before the association's 50th annual meeting, Dr. Carl R. Moore and his assistants, Jule K. Lamar and Naomi Beck, of the University of Chicago, declared that the powerful hormones, ordinarily injected normally by the [illegible] are much more effective when [illegible] on the skin than when [illegible] into the body.

It had already been discovered that [illegible] hormones can be absorbed through the skin. Dr. Moore said, but the multiplied effect compared with injections is a new discovery. This method of administration was declared by members of the association to open a new field of treatment of [illegible] human diseases.

Triple Warning Is Handed Dictators By United States

BY DE WITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Writer

NEW YORK, April 15—The United States, speaking through the president and two of his foreign envoys, has handed the dictatorships a triple warning, the burden of which is that the old Monroe doctrine is still in force and that outsiders are to keep hands off the Americans.

It was a neat piece of team-work, timing and all, with the chief executive finishing the play by declaration that the American nations would not permit peace in the western hemisphere "to be endangered from aggression coming from outside."

Lest there be any misunderstanding as to how far the United States would go in defense of principles, Hugh Wilson, our ambassador in Berlin, had already pointed up Mr. Roosevelt's remarks, said Mr. Wilson in an address which called for no interpretation:

"I know there are some things our nation would fight for."

United Front Asked

Meantime, down in Lima, Peru, Ambassador Steinhardt, in a broadcast to all Latin American countries, urged that the American nations present a united front against old world "predatory forces" seeking "new or lost fields to conquer."

Doctrine Still Lives

If any doubt existed as to whether America had tossed the Monroe doctrine into the waste-basket, that doubt would seem to have been removed. The doctrine still lives, and the president has placed it on an inter-American basis.

The declaration comes at the moment when the Washington state department is trying to iron out the crisis revolving about Mexico's confiscation of American oil wells.

Possibilities Are Obvious

The possibilities of some foreign nation or nations trying to take advantage of this situation are obvious. Already Japan is said to have been looking into the feasibility of some pact with the Mexican government which among other things would give Nippon access to this oil.

The declaration also comes at a time when the three so-called Fascist powers—Japan, Germany and Italy—are making strenuous drives to strengthen their already very considerable foothold in South American countries, notably Brazil and the Argentine.

Speech Is Broadcast

President Roosevelt's speech was a contribution to the celebration of Pan-American day. It was broadcast to all 21 of the American republics with their vast population of 300,000,000.

While the address carried its very pointed warning, it did far more than that. It was a plea for peace and understanding and honor among nations.

And what is of vast importance, it was another step in the direction of consolidation of the American republics into a really effective union for mutual benefit.

H. H. Jons Is Illness Victim

H. H. Jons, 56, who has been in the sign business here 20 years, died at 11:12 o'clock this morning at his home at 1312 Main street after several months' illness.

Buying Is Heaviest Since Christmas

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP)—Retail buying this week, stimulated by preparations for Easter, was the biggest since last Christmas, Dun & Bradstreet reported today.

Retail sales averaged 5 to 15 per cent above last week at leading centers of distribution throughout the nation, and 2 to 5 per cent above the corresponding week last year.

Colorado Area Digs Out Today From Record Fall Of Snow

ALAMOSA, Colo., April 15 (AP) — The San Luis valley of southern Colorado, an area as big as Connecticut, dug out today from one of the worst snowstorms of its history.

Less than 200 miles eastward, residents of southeastern Colorado's dust-tortured plains emerged choking from one of the longest and most severe series of "black blizzards" they have ever suffered.

A warm sun today broke through the clouds which had dumped snow ranging from eight inches to two feet in depth over the San Luis valley.

House Leaders Are Fired By Confidence

Strength Is Placed Behind New Wage And Hour Bill; Chances Said 'Good'

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 15—House proponents of wage-hour legislation, fired by greater confidence of victory, put their strength today behind a new bill, stripped of differentials and providing a graduated minimum wage starting at 25 cents an hour.

The labor committee approved the measure at an overtime session last night, and Chairman Norton (D-NJ) said its chances for reaching the president's desk were "good."

The committee acted only a few hours before Mr. Roosevelt told the nation in his "fireside chat" he hoped congress would exact a wage-hour bill at this session to "insure a better distribution of our prosperity."

Represents Compromise

The Bill, representing compromise on many points of conflict, would fix the minimum wage for workers engaged in interstate commerce at 25 cents an hour but would require annual increases of five cents an hour until the minimum reached 40 cents.

It also would provide for a maximum work week of 44 hours, to be reduced to 40 hours in two years.

MAY ASK TEST VOTES

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP) — Deadlocked congressional negotiators may ask the house and senate to take test votes on the controversy over including an undistributed profits levy in the tax revision bill.

House members of the joint committee trying to compose tax differences reaffirmed their decision today to stick by a modified profits tax and a graduated capital gains levy. These were approved originally by the house and endorsed by President Roosevelt.

Unionization Is Planned

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, April 15 — Plans to unionize several thousand state employes will be discussed at a meeting here tentatively scheduled for next Tuesday.

P. M. Burroughs, chairman of the Texas chapter of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, newly-formed organization announced the meeting.

Would Endorse Civil Service

Burroughs, an employe of the Texas State Employment service, said objectives of the organization were enlargement of civil service and extension of social security benefits to state workers ineligible under current statutes.

Membership would include all employes not otherwise affiliated with unions but limited only to appointive positions.

To Establish Office

Burroughs said a state regional office would be established here to issue chapter charters to county and municipal organizations and work for legislation which would permit members to enjoy social security benefit privileges.

Locals at Houston, Beaumont, El Paso and Amarillo for city employes, affiliated directly with the American Federation of Labor may be taken into the new organization, he added.

The state organization is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

Ten Americans In Shanghai After Enduring Hardships

SHANGHAI, April 15 (AP) — Ten Americans arrived safely at Shanghai today after enduring four months of guerrilla warfare about Mokanshan, Chekiang province.

They reported the entire province overrun by guerrilla bands, necessitating a garrison of 400 soldiers at Mokanshan.

They included Mrs. L. Sone and two children of Chillicothe, Tex.

Congress Will Be Asked For More Laws

Anti-Monopoly Laws To Be Strengthened; Bonds And Salaries To Be Taxed

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 15 President Roosevelt, pressing his drive for business recovery, said today he would ask congress shortly to strengthen anti-monopoly laws and to permit taxing the income from all future government bond issues and government salaries.

He plans two messages to congress on those subjects, he told his press conference.

The president, in his message yesterday asked congress to be "definitely aware" of the need for eliminating exemptions on future bond issues of all kinds of government agencies and for subjecting salaries and wages of all kinds to federal and state income taxes.

State employes are now paying a state income tax are exempt from the federal levy and federal employes paying fderal tax are exempt from state levies.

Campaign Goes Forward

The president talked to the large gathering of reporters while his recovery campaign went forward on many fronts.

He told the nation last night that existence of "our democratic institutions" depends on defeating the forces of depression.

The president expressed belief at the press conference that taxing the income from future issues of bonds of government bodies could be accomplished without a constitutional amendment. He said the constitution permitted taxation of income from whatever source derived without exception.

Should Be Consolidated

Asked about his suggestion for simplifying supervision of banks, the president pointed out there were three federal agencies now examining national banks — the Federal Reserve board, the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation and the comptroller of the currency. He indicated such examinations should be consolidated.

The chief executive said he had not looked for the telegraphic responses to his message and last

NEW CORPORATION LIKELY

WASHINGTON, April 15 (AP) — A new government corporation may be formed to finance the public works portion of the administration's new spending program.

The long-idle PWA, it was learned today, may incorporate and borrow directly from the public its $1,000,000,000 share.

As one alternative, PWA could borrow the money from the reconstruction finance corporation, which in turn would sell securities. If PWA chose to issue its own securities, the RFC presumably would buy them first and resell them to the public.

Britain Plans Buying Planes

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Great Britain intends to buy approximately 1,000 war planes in the United States, a highly authoritative person said today.

Most of them will be high-speed bombers with medium range, this person said, expressing the belief American factories will be capable of filling the order without interfering with the war plane building program of the United States army and navy.

Doesn't Need Type

American experts say Britain does not need the long-range type of bomber used by the United States because of geographical differences, but can buy in this nation plenty of planes capable of meeting any needs on the continent.

A six months lag must intervene between delivery to the American armed forces of the second plane of a certain type before other planes of the same type can be sold abroad. Even after this date, the army and navy must give their consent through the national munitions control board of the state department.

The person disclosing Britain's intentions said he did not believe the army and navy would object seriously.

Wool Is Sold At Roswell

(By The Associated Press)

ROSWELL, N. M., April 15 — More than 400,000 pounds of wool, comprising the clips of 15 ranchers, was sold at a sealed bid auction at the Bond-Baker warehouse here Thursday.

The wool brought prices ranging from 15 and one half cents a pound to 20 and one quarter cents, with the average price bid for the wool running between 17 and 18 cents.

A few of the clips offered were holdovers from the 1937 clip, and the low price was for one of these clips.

Representatives of 12 buyers participated in the bidding.

Bridge Party Is Given For Entre Se Club Thursday

Bridge games were enjoyed at a party given by Mrs. Powell McWhirter for Entre Se club members Thursday afternoon. Mesdames Wilbur Cooper and G. W. Parkhill made high scores.

Guests were Mesdames Raymond Flanagan, J. D. Sanders and Parkhill. Members attending were Mesdames Robert Cooper, Hugh V. Newton, Cliff Widener, George Germany, Wilbur Cooper, Ernest Ohnemus, Ray Johnson, and Ben Jenkins.

The club will not meet again for a month.

Raindrops vary in size from about 1-20th of an inch in diameter to 3-10th of an inch.

Versatile Actress

Bette Davis' history—the fact that she was born in Lowell, Mass., went to the Cape Cod Playhouse to act but ended up by being an usher, flopped in pictures, then was discovered—all this is well known. However, few realize that this wicked woman of the screen is one of the best liked actresses in Hollywood. Though she can be more beautiful or glamorous than any other woman, she doesn't mind looking disheveled or being dragged around before the camera. Naturally thin, she eats everything she likes, especially mashed potatoes. She swims, plays golf, and is married to Harmon O. Nelson, a childhood sweetheart.

Rotarians Meet At Sudan Last Night

SUDAN, April 15. (Special) — An inter-city meeting of Rotary clubs will be addressed tonight by Clinton P. Anderson of Albuquerque, N. M., past president of Rotary International.

The banquet session will be held in the Sudan High School auditorium. Accommodations are for an expected 250 Rotarians and their guests.

Headed Body In 1932-33

Anderson was president of Rotary International the club year of 1932-33, said Arnold Purtell, president of the club here.

Delegations are expected from Portales, N. M., Ralls, Lubbock, Brownfield, Seagraves, and Levelland. Approximately 50 persons are expected from Lubbock.

The past president is expected to arrive about midafternoon Friday and remain here until after the program that night.

Billy Biggers, superintendent of Sudan public schools and a member of the club, will be master of ceremonies. No program has been planned other than the address by the honor guest.

King Blames Department Of Education For Slowing Rural Aid Claims

Assistants To Speed Work

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, April 15 — State Auditor Tom C. King assigned eleven assistants to the state department of education today to speed approval of valid rural aid claims filed by Texas schools.

Blaming the education department for the slowness in distribution of rural aid, King said his staff would make every effort to have all claims ready for final action by the board of education at its next meeting May 2.

Situation Is Serious

"The situation is serious," the auditor said. "Many schools are thinking of closing because they have no idea how much state aid they will receive."

About $750,000 in teacher salary aid and $1,780,000 in transportation aid have not yet been disbursed, King said. Auditors calculated the state would be able to pay around 75 per cent on eligible salary aid claims and between 80 and 85 per cent on transportation claims.

Thomas Scheduled To Go To Trial In Meter Case Today

L. D. Thomas was to go to trial early this afternoon, to mark the second person hailed before corporation court since a so-called parking meter sit-down strike was initiated in Lubbock.

C. O. Harvey, Lubbock barber, was fined $5 when convicted by a jury Thursday. Appeal was announced. Opponents of the meters had signified the case may be appealed successfully to the highest courts if necessary.

The session got off to an incautious start. A person who had not been called on the jury panel was sworn with the other 11 and the oath had to be administered a second time, after the error had been discovered.

Refusal to deposit a nickel in parking meter 99 after he had parked his car there Wednesday morning was crux of the complaint, which specifically charged infraction of section 16, ordinance 564.

W. D. Girand, jr., represented Harvey. E. A. Blair prosecuted for the city. Tom Cannon, patrolman, was a witness for the prosecution, Jess Hardy and Roy Sanford, patrolmen, for the defense.

Objections were raised by counsel almost continually.

It earlier had been announced the intention of defendants to carry the case into the highest court possible, in order to test to the extreme the validity of parking meters.

Former Mayor Ross Edwards Is Off Today On Long Trip

Former Mayor Ross Edwards early this morning went west. With him went a covered wagon a la modern style—with zippers on it.

The sportsman is en route to California where he will fish several days before he goes to Alaska for a year's sojourn within the Arctic circle.

Leaving Early Today

Hesitantly, in his 1219 Fourteenth street room, the sportsman-musician talked. On walls overhead were heads of trophies of numerous chases or casts. In the hall outside—the same.

Will Purchase Boat

Borne out in subsequent talk, the ex-mayor plans to go to Seattle. There he will purchase a 25- or 30-foot boat that will allow of his surviving the 40-foot waves of Cook inlet after he has run the torturous hundreds of miles from Seattle along the inside passage.

In the trailer, with the zipper-controlled rear canvas shield, will be 1,000 pounds of steel traps, cooking utensils, equipment for deep sea and rapids fishing, guns—all sorts—and camera and a supply of color film and ammunition and the rest of the duffle required for a year away from habitation.

Dream Of His Life

He will satisfy an urge nurtured "all my life." His acting as head of the Lubbock city government and as director of an orchestra did not detract from his forays into the Texas gulf or the Gulf of California or Don Martin lake for fishing—or into deep Mexico or nearby Slaughter ranch property for trapping and hunting. But his success last winter in trapping almost 100 coyotes was only a bracer against the ambition he had to "really get away from what I've known all my life."

As a matter of fact, "the only thing I'm afraid of is that that country (somewhere in the almost uncharted wilds of Alaska) may have been settled up."

He will fish 30 days off Seattle, buy his boat—and disappear.

He believes, he said, he will enter Alaskan wilds in time to trap for the gray wolf that annually destroys millions of dollars worth of Alaskan wild game. Twenty dollars a pelt (and you keep the skin) is offered for bounty.

To Carry Several Guns

He will carry, mixed somewhere in the trailer a .30 calibre, 1906 issue Springfield rifle, using 220-grain bullets for bear and 180-grain for moose and other game. He will have a .250 calibre rifle with a 3,000-foot muzzle velocity for deer. In addition, there will be a .22 rifle and a six-shooter (simply for protection from game at close quarters.) The Springfield, manufactured to kill man in army combat, is accurate at somewhere close to 1,000 yards.

Edwards, apparently jittery to get going (although he said, "It's just another trip, in one way") came to Lubbock in 1908 from Crowell, his birth pace. He had a tailor shop a year; went to Spur when the lot sale resulted in establishment of that town; subsequently to Post, and came back to Lubbock in 1922 and entered business. He became mayor in 1934 and served two terms.

But he admissably is "long gone now, unless I don't like it."

Expensive Fun

CHICAGO — There was a mad rush to use a coin telephone at the University of Chicago when students found their money was returned after each call.

One student phoned his girl at Vassar twice at $2.80 a call. Others phoned out-of-town sweethearts and parents. Each time the money came back.

Then the telephone company did some checking, and presented a bill for $138.50 to the university. Twenty-five students paid.

High-Priced

BLACKWATER, Mo. — Votes cost the citizens of this town almost $1 each at the annual city election.

Sixteen votes were cast during the 1½ hours the polls were open. Three judges and two clerks served as election officials. The stimated cost of the election was $15.50.

Sabotage

TRAIL, B. C. — They have a nightwatchman now to guard channel pipes carrying East Trail creek past a school here.

Children made two attepmts in three days to clog the pipes, flood the school — and get a holiday.

Easter Treat

AMES, Ia. — Skunk River fish took delivery on their Easter eggs a little early. Here's how it happened:

S. C. Tokheim of Story City, Ia., was taking a load of eggs to market, but his truck overturned on a bridge spanning the river. He estimated that 24,000 eggs were scrambled in the highway, and the river was the nearest place to dispose of them.

Sold!

ARKANSAS CITY, Kas. — County Assessor J. P. McGraw has a new watch.

"I'll bet you wouldn't take $5 cash for it," he told a citizen who contended the watch was not worth the $5 minimum required for listing property on tax rolls.

"That's what you think!" the citizen replied. "Even $4 cash will buy it."

"That's a deal," said McGraw.

Sabotage Is Still Theory

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, April 15.—Commander Charles E. Rosendahl, veteran champion of dirigibles for commercial and military use, says in a book published today that the possibility of sabotage in the destruction of the German airship Hindenburg last May "has not been eliminated."

The volume, published by Scribners, quotes Capt. Ernst Lehmann of the Hindenburg as he lay on his death bed as saying, "it must have been an internal machine."

Rosendahl advances the same conclusion in the first chapter of the volume, an exposition or airships using non-inflammable helium.

Stan Laurel's Plea Wins Sympathy Of Los Angeles Judge

LOS ANGELES, April 15. (AP)—Stan Laurel's plea that his support of a wife and two former mates was keeping his nose to the grindstone won sympathy from Superior Judge Leslie E. Still.

He denied the plea of Mrs. Lois N. Laurel, wife No. 1, for $1,355 a month for support of their daughter Lois, 10.

"It seems to me that Mr. Laurel has been paying out huge hunks of money without himself getting anything for it," observed Judge Still. "He's been made the victim of chiseling activities, but he also was victimized himself by throwing away money he should have saved."

Judge Still ruled Mrs. Laurel must continue to support her daughter from the income of $274,000 in trusts and property.

Traffic Lights May Go In At Slaton

SLATON, April 15 (Special) — Traffic lights probably will be installed at three intersections in Slaton.

Capt. W. W. Legge of the Texas Highway patrol district headquarters in Lubbock discussed traffic lights and recommended the number and type for the intersections at a meeting, also attended by Lewis Kittrell, of the police department of Lubbock. The meeting was attended by directors of the B.C.D. and chamber of commerce.

Webber Williams, who had been appointed chairman of the public utilities committee of the B.C.D. by Fred H. Schmidt, president, invited city commissioners and the mayor besides Lubbock visitors.

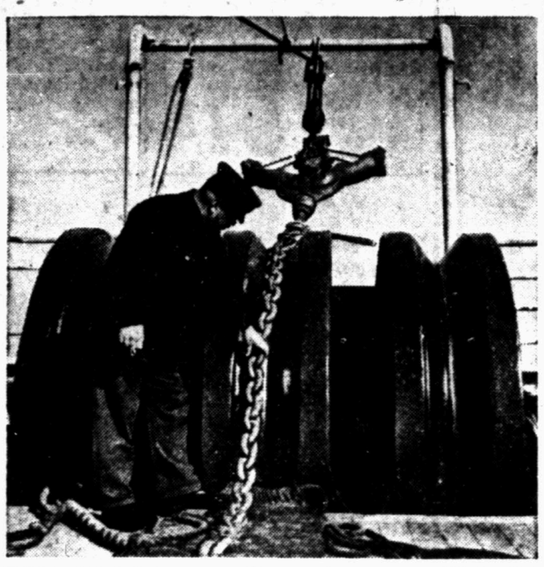

Claud F. Anderson was elected Slaton's West Texas Chamber of Commerce director for the ensuing year.

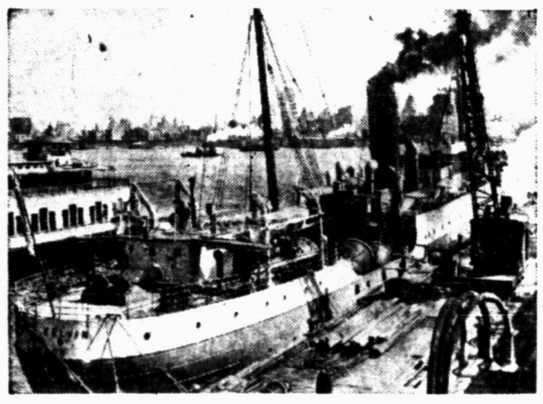

JENKINS IS WINNER

TEMPLE, April 15 (AP) — Grady Jenkins was the only candidate to get a majority in a run-off city election Thursday for three places on the city commission. W. H. Tucker and George Yates placed second and third, respectively, in the voting.

Ready To Plow Ocean's Floor

Because heavy drags attached to fishing nets of steam trawlers off the Irish coast cause $500,000 annual damage to the combined cable systems of the world, the Western Union Telegraph Co. decided to "plow under" their transatlantic lines to protect them. Engineers developed a device that cuts a furrow in the ocean bottom, feeds the cable into it and closes the furrow, all in one operation. Unique feature of the seagoing plow is the world's largest chain, shown at left. It is a 4200 foot line of 12,500 nickel steel links, each weighing 3 1-2 pounds. The chain weighs 42,000 pounds and will withstand a stress of 65,000 pounds. It will be paid out over gigantic spools or "sheaves," seen at top right, from the cable ship Lord Kelvin, shown right, bottom.

Chicago Rail Official Is To Talk To Agents Here Tonight

J. F. Duesenberry of Chicago, manager of the American association of Railroads, will be principal speaker at a meeting of railroad agents of the area at the courthouse here at 7:45 o'clock tonight, according to announcement Thursday.

J. R. Skillen, Slaton, division superintendent of the Santa Fe, will preside. Agents of the division have been invited and all those who have a competing line have been asked to bring their competitor.

Traffic department officials of the Fort Worth and Denver and the Santa Fe will be on hand, said R. H. Forbes, division freight agent of the company. Duesenberry is on a tour of the Southwest, explaining regulations governing car service, to railroad employes, Forbes explained.

VERNON MAN DIES

VERNON, April 15. (AP)—R. B. Sherrill, 72, pioneer insurance man here, died last night after a six months illness.

Custody Of Son Is Sought By Couple

OAKLAND, Calif., April 15 (AP) — Custody of a youth billed at a circus as the "pin-headed wild boy captured in the wilds of Yucatan," was sought today by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph I. Candelaria of Alburquerque, N. M., who claimed he was their long-lost son.

Superior Judge Lincoln S. Church issued an order that Arthur Brothers circus bring the boy into court to show cause why he should not be returned to the Candelarias.

Candelaria told the court that his son, Albert, 12 years old, disappeared two years ago. The Candelarias arrived here yesterday and said they discovered their son advertised as the "pin-headed wild boy" at the circus.

The father said his son was signed with a circus at Alburquerque in May, 1936 for six months. He explained the circus went bankrupt and his son, one of the assets, was transferred to another circus.

Plainview Gets Reduction In Fire Insurance Key Rate

AUSTIN, April 15 (AP)—The board of insurance commissioners today announced fire insurance key rate reductions effective tomorrow including:

Kilgore, reduced from 35 cents to 33 cents for reduction in the number of shingle roofs in the city limits.

Plainview, 29 to 25 for water works changes and completion of street paving program.

Taft, 37 to 35 for installation of new fire fighting equipment.

McCRAW AT NACOGDOCHES

Lubbock Woman Has Unusual Experience; Meets One Of Her Half-Brothers

Mrs. Fred C. Wendt, 1911 Twenty-seventh street, has added to her unusual experiences the meting of a half-brother whom she never had seen before.

Mrs. Wendt's half-brother, Jesse O. Pate, and Mrs. Pate of Herman, Minn. came here on a visit April 5. They left home in November and since have spent only one night away from relatives—either his or Mrs. Pate's—on the journey here.

"Although I had never seen him, he seemed like his two brothers whom I know. He did not seem like a stranger at all," Mrs. Wendt said.

Besides the fraternal kinship, Mrs. Wendt and Pate are third cousins. Their mothers were first cousins, their fathers the same. Pate is 60 years old.

Mr. and Mrs. Pate left Wednesday for Phoenix where they will visit his brother, Elmer Pate, who is ill.

TEXAS WOMAN DIES

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 15 (AP) — Mrs. Elizabeth Sherman Marlar, 26, wife of George Marlar of Kerrville, Tex., died here Thursday at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. A. Ransome. She was a native of Goodwin, Ark.

ROUND-UP PERFORMER DIES

PENDLETON, Ore., April 15. (AP) — Kenneth Kennedy, 36, well-known Pendleton round-up performer, died here yesterday of heart disease.

Kennedy placed third in the world's championship cowboys' race at the 1937 round-up.

'Message to Garcia' Carrier Is Injured

Rowan

IN a San Francisco hospital suffering from a broken rib is 81-year-old Col. Andrew S. Rowan, famed as the carrier of the "Message to Garcia," which informed the commander of the Cuban army that the U. S. would aid in the war against Spain.

GOLDEN RAIN

OROVILLE, Calif. (AP) — In this gold country they know what to do after heavy rains such as California has been experiencing. Hunt of streambeds from which the overburden of sand has been washed away has resulted in discovery of a number of gold nuggets. One picked up by J. D. Bragger was valued at $80.

Estimated 7,000 Barrel Well Blows In Near Vernon

VERNON, April 15 (AP)—An estimated 7,000-barrel producer, looming as one of the biggest oil wells in Wilbargar county's history, blew in Thursday in the Rock Crossing field, 15 miles southeast of here.

The well, Phillips Petroleum company's V-4 on the W. T. Waggoner estate, made 50 barrels of oil in 10 minutes before being shut down for a railroad commission test.

MILK IS NATURE'S SEDATIVE

Quitening Nervous Irritation and Irritability.

Before

When the baby looks like this every wise mother knows just what to do—she heats the milk . . . and, does the baby like it! It must be pasteurized.

After

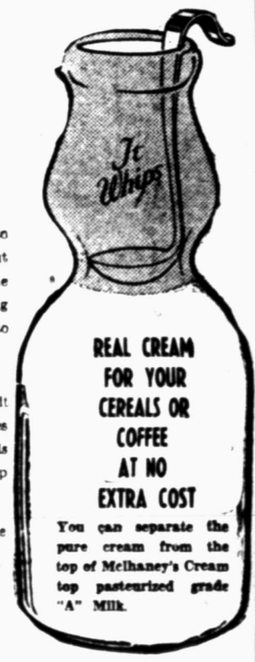

. . . after the baby has had his warm pasteurized milk, his ragged nerves are again quite and sleep is a pleasure.

IF YOU CAN'T SLEEP---

. . . it is not necessary for you to cry which is a form of exercise, but we do suggest that you have one minute of exercise before drinking your hot milk and then retiring to bed.

. . . milk is nature's sedative and it quickly relaxes the ragged nerves and you too, will find that sleep is a pleasure, and counting of sheep is not necessary.

. . . the most ideal exercise is the bicycle exercise.

"Love at First Sight . . . Oil Hugs Metal"—that's how a newspaper editor might headline the story of what happens when you fill the crankcase with Phillips 66 Motor Oil.

It forms a film that is more than tough, a film that becomes practically a part of the metal. The high heat of high speed, even in summer, doesn't tear down this high-degree oiliness given by Phillips 100% paraffin base crude.

So there is extra thrift in the extra stand-up-ability of this longer-lasting oil. Less carbon, too. Less wear and noise. More protection against overheating and motor damage.

Next time, drain and refill with Phillips 66 Motor Oil, the economy champion. It's concentrated! . . . This year's big value in car lubrication. Look for the Orange and Black 66 Shield.

A GRAND LITTLE COIN BANK for the CHILDREN—FREE!

Now at all Phillips 66 service stations . . . while they last . . . you can get a miniature replica, in colors, of the Phillips 66 Motor Oil can. It is 3 inches high, with a coin slot in the top. A useful toy which will teach and please the children. Put a coin in the bank every time you buy Phillips 66 Motor Oil, to represent what you save. Drivers everywhere say that "It's money in the bank" to use this scientific lubricant. But don't wait or delay. Get your coin bank before the supply is exhausted.

Coogan Plans Court Fight

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, April 15.—Jackie Coogan said today he was ready "to reveal the whole story of my boyhood" in his suit against his mother and his stepfather, Arthur Bernstein, to recover the millions he said he earned as a child actor.

"If my father were alive this suit would not be necessary," Coogan said.

Dreads Court Action

"It was his intention that the money I earned should be held in trust for me until I became of age. He often told me that.

"I dread to go into court. I have shrunk from this action which I now must take. But I am ready to reveal the whole story of my boyhood in order to protect the interests which my father, while he was alive, safeguarded for me."

Defense Is Indicated

Attorneys Frank P. Doherty and William Rains, representing Coogan, were preparing to take depositions from Mr. and Mrs. Bernstein. Charles J. Katz, the Bernsteins' lawyer, indicated their defense will be the California law which provides that all earnings of a minor belong to the parents.

Coogan now lives with his actress-wife, Betty Grable, in a modest home, but declares the Bernsteins have four servants and two large automobiles. His father was killed in an automobile accident three years ago.

"He purposely gave me a meager allowance," Coogan said, "because he often told me that when I became of age I would be a rich man and he wanted me to know what a dollar is worth."

Harvard Is Pat On Hicks Appointment

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 15. (AP)—Despite criticism of veterans' organizations, Harvard university stood pat on its appointment of Granville Hicks, a Communist sympathizer, to the post of extra-curricular counselor in American history.

State officers of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and of the Grand army of the Republic criticized Harzard's move, while the Harvard Crimson, undergraduate daily praised the appointment editorially.

Patrick S. O'Donnell, state V.F.W. commander, termed it a revolution of how "subversive movements have developed to a point where now the doors of universities are being opened to them, placing them in positions to shape the thought of American youth and future citizens."

The G.A.R. in convention at Boston, adopted a resolution opposing Hicks' appointment.

The Crimson's viewpoint was:

"Granville Hicks is better known as a scholar than as a political radical, and on an academic basis only should the merits of his appointment be judged."

Official Harvard kept mum, but implied outside pressure would not influence its educational policy.

ALLRED PROPOSES BORROWING

AUSTIN, April 15. (AP)—Governor James V. Allred said today he would recommend to the next legislature creation of an authority to borrow money from the federal government and erect an office building and a courts building on capitol grounds.

Town Wakes Up

Every morning for 14 years Charlie Hughes has awakened the citizenry of Baxter, Tenn., at 6 o'clock by blasting a reveille on his bugle from atop a 20-foot perch. Charlie, pictured above performing his morning duties, hasn't been late since he first replaced the alarm clocks of Baxter. He is 50 years old and will marry soon, but won't let that stop his daily tootling.

AIR MAIL COMES FREE

LA PORTE, Calif. (AP)—Residents of this snowbound mountain town received letters, newspapers and even circulars by airmail without extra postage.

With snow balking his winter deliveries, Warren Shingle, mail contractor, hired a private plane to drop the bundles from the air. Residents spread a red blanket on the snow as a target.

For Defense!

By AP Feature Service

Most man-made weapons are equally effective for defense or offense. (Pacifists say that's one trouble with the slogan, "Millions For Defense.") In the plant world, however, nature has evolved defense weapons which never are used for aggression. These pictures, from the American Museum of Natural History, show some of the forms of armament with which plants protect themselves against man and beast.

Rail Clerks To Fight Cut

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, April 15.—The western regional association of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks last night, in a formal statement, announced a vigorous fight would be made on any attempt of the railroads to slash salaries.

H. W. Harper of Houston, vice chairman of the association, which is meeting in convention here, said as the statement was released that "the troubles faced by the railway industry do not grow out of wages and can not be cured by wage reductions."

Program Deflationary

The association, in its statement, admitted the railways had felt the effects of the decline in business. The statement contended the program of the railways "is deflationary in both directions."

"The railroads recently demanded and obtained an increase in freight rates, which in the opinion of some reliable economists may drive off additional business and they are now seeking to lower wages, which would dry up purchasing power," the statement read.

Workers Will Not Submit

"The railway workers will not submit to this program of deflation. The railways represent one of the largest single industries in the country and their demands for lower wages, if realized, would likely inspire a nation-wide attack upon the entire American wage structure. This, in our opinion, would be about all that would be needed at the present time to produce national chaos.

"Only a few mosths ago we concluded national wage agreements with the railways in which recognition was given by the carriers to the need for wage increases. Their demands for wage reductions at this early date are wrong in principle, as well as being socially unsound and economically disastrous.

Cannot Be Panhandlers

"The generosity showered upon the railways during depression years by the government and by railway employes cannot be permitted to encourage the railways to adopt a permanent policy of panhandling.

"Railroad wages are not high. Workers as a whole are receiving annual wages today below those of 17 years ago. The railroads, of course, do face problems—some of them permanent and others of a temporary nature. Their top heavy debt burden, the inescapable necessity for financial reorganization, bus, truck and other forms of competitive transportation, an unwise over-development of plant and facilities, insufficient traffic, have all had their effect upon the industry. But reducing wages will not correct these evils."

Cheese Making Is Side Issue In Area; Three Plants Are Operating Over Territory

Cheese making is a side issue on the South Plains, with three plants in the area turning out between 225,000 and 250,000 pounds of cream cheese per month.

A Lubbock plant is estimated to average 150,000 pounds of cheese each 30 days. It barely can supply the demand.

At Abernathy, the pioneer plant of the area will run between 50,000 and 60,000 pounds monthly. Its entire output is taken by a nationally advertised produce house and when milk supply is enlarged the concern will handle all that can be turned out.

At Lamesa a plant is handling about 250,000 pounds of cheese annually, mostly the concentrated product put up in half pound packages.

Seven-Day Shutdown Ordered For New Mexico Potash Plant

CARLSBAD, N. M., April 15. (AP)—A seven-day shutdown has been ordered by the Potash company of America, the reason stated as being due to uncertainty over new agricultural control measures and the depressed condition of American markets.

About 400 men were affected, and it was said plans for future operations of the mines here would be held in abeyance until next week. Nearly all New Mexico potash production is sold as fertilizer in cotton producing states.

night's radio speech appealing for a "united will" to support the program, but that a secretary had informed him there were several hundred messages. These ran about seven in favor to one against, he said.

"All the energies of government and business must be directed to increasing the national income, to putting more people into private jobs, to giving security and a feeling of security to all people in all walks of life," Mr. Roosevelt said in a "fireside chat" broadcast throughout the nation."

Seek Immediate Authorization

Congressional leaders sought immediate authorization of the $4.500.000.000 lending and spending program which Mr. Roosevelt recommended.

Federal Reserve board officials, following the treasury's release of a $1.392.00.000 gold credit, were expected promptly to reduce bank reserve requirements by $750.000.000 in order to provide a $2.150.000.000 expansion of the nation's credit base.

Hopes To Check Trend

With these activities Mr. Roosevelt expressly hopes to check the downward trend of business and restore the national economic health which he said in his radio speech last night is essential to the preservation of democracy.

"In recommending this program," he said, "I am thinking not only of the immediate economic needs of the people of the nation, but also of their personal liberties — the most previous possession of all Americans."

Cites Dictatorships

Democracies have perished and dictatorships sprung up, Mr. Roosevelt continued, under the pressure of unemployment and insecurity and confusion, weakness and lack of leadership in government.

"Not only our future economic soundness," he said, "but the very soundness of our democratic institutions depends on the determination of our government to give employment to idle men.

"We are a rich nation; we can afford to pay for security and prosperity without having to sacrifice our liberties into the bargain."

"Going To Cost Something"

His program for getting out of the recession, he said, "is going to cost something" but the "profit of getting out of it will pay for the cost several times over."

The president, seated at a desk in the oval room of the White House, spoke slowly. His 40 minute talk—longest of his 11 "fireside chats" came at the close of an unusually busy day, and many listeners thought his voice sounded tired.

Tone More Moderate

The tone of his remarks was regarded by many commentators as more moderate than some of his past speeches. Without giving any indication whether he had in mind any specific setback his legislative program has received, Mr. Roosevelt said:

"Because I do not expect too much, I am not disappointed. But I know that I must never give up—that I must never let the greater interest of all the people down, merely because that might be for the moment the easiest personal way out."

Describes Daily Visitors

Describing how he talked with great and small who called daily at his office, he said it was his constant hope that "neither battles nor burdens of office shall ever blind me to an intimate knowledge of the way the American people want to live and the simple purposes for which they put me here."

Most of the talk was a review of the message he sent to congress yesterday noon proposing a three-fold recovery program.

This program contemplates use of $3.050.000.000 for lending and spending on work relief and allied projects, including the new RFC business loan program; $1.462.000.000 for various public works, and a $2.150.000.000 expansion of bank resources to be brought about by desterilization of $1.392.000.000 of gold and the $750.000.000 reduction in federal bank reserve requirements.

Trigger For Private Spending

The proposed resumption of public spending which the president described as a "trigger to set off private activity" brought a variety of reactions on Capitol Hill but there appeared to be no doubt that the program would be approved. Republicans and some Democrats criticized it, while other Democrats expressed support.

Senate Democratic Leader Barkley said he and Speaker Bankhead would meet "in a day or so" to decide whether to cover it entirely in a single bill or to write separate measures on the various phases.

The president told the nation that "this new program adds $2.062.000.000 to direct treasury expenditures and another $950.000.000 to government loans—and the latter sum, because they are loans, will come back to the treasury in the future.

"The net effect on the debt of the government is this—between now and July 1, 1939—15 months away—the treasury will have to raise less than a billion and a half dollars of new money.

"Such an addition to the net debt of the United States need not give concern to any citizen, for it will return to the people of the United States many times over in increased buying power and eventually in much greater government tax receipts because of the increase in the citizen income."

Harks Back To Depression

Harking back to the depression days of 1933, Mr. Roosevelt said that "five years ago we faced a very serious problem of economic and social recovery."

"For four and a half years that recovery proceeded apace," he continued. "It is only in the past seven months that it has received a visible setback.

"And it is only within the past two months, as we have waited patiently to see whether the forces of business itself would counteract it, that it has become apparent that government itself can no longer safely fail to take aggressive government steps to meet it."

On Her 9th Wedding Day

After no less than eight marriages, at the end of which she renounced matrimony forever, Mrs. Virginia Cogswell celebrated Valentine's Day appropriately by tripping to the altar at Elkton, Md., with Charles R. Bromley. They are pictured after ceremony.

How Good A Prophet Are You?

Professional predicters are in the doghouse these days. A whirling world has discredited many of their most careful prophecies in recent months.

Probably you feel you could do as well or better than the experts. Well, here's your chance to try. And you're really better off than the professionals, because you have no "reputation" at stake.

Write your answers on the chart below. Clip out the list and put it away. Then take it out again on July 1 and see how good a predicter you are. Here are the questions:

1. Will a widespread "world war" have begun?
2. Will Greta Garbo be married?
3. Will business be better or worse?
4. Will Hitler have seized Czechoslovakia?
5. Will the Spanish war be over?
6. What team will be ahead in each major league?
7. Will a Scarlett be chosen for "Gone With the Wind?"
8. Will Louis or Schmeling be world heavyweigh champ?
9. Will the Sino-Japanese war be over?
10. What horse will have won the Kentucky Derby?

If you get all those questions right, you're a wonder. If you get six out of 10 of them right, you're good. If you get three right, you're pretty fair. If you get only one correct—well, you'll still be about as good as the "experts."

The ease of administering the hormones is in itself a danger, however, Dr. Moore declared, because unsupervised dosage will cause radical and harmful changes in the sex glands of both men and women.

There is already a preparation on the market containing female sex hormones which is recommended for removing wrinkles, he said. This substance is "very injurious" when improperly used, the Chicago scientist said, but if used when hormone treatment is necessary, it is very effective.

Proposed Bond Issue Will Be Talked At Levelland Today

LEVELLAND, April 15 (Special)—Climaxing feature of Levelland Schools' open house will be discussion by school board members of a proposed bond issue to remodel the interior of West Ward school and to make other improvements within the school plant at a public meeting this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

Increases in scholastics of the district have caused crowded conditions which are expected to become even more congested next year, according to information received from B. F. Minor, schools' superintendent.

Divisions of the schools will exhibit special features of work done this year and will be hosts and hostesses to patrons all day Friday.

REBELS REPORTED KILLED

MEXICO CITY, April 15. (AP)—Dispatches from Ciudad Guzman, Jalisco state, reported today the rebel leader, Jesus Gonzalez, alias El Coto, and four of his men, were killed in a battle with soldiers near the border with Colima state.

Erosion has destroyed more than 25,000,000 acres of farm land in the United States alone.

Double Murder Committed Among City's New Squirrel Colony; One-Eye Is Killer

Double murder, that's what it was!

As a consequence, the city of Lubbock is the possessor of only five squirrels, one of them a one-eyed murderer.

That tragedy was enacted at the home of K. N. Clapp, chairman of the city park, who has been attempting for months to secure squirrels to be placed in Courthouse park.

His efforts resulted in a shipment of eight squirrels Thursday from Lampasas county from "Uncle Andy" Gillespie, who became interested in Clapp's endeavor while visiting his daughter, Mrs. W. H. Rodgers, 1906 Broadway, last winter.

Among the eight squirrels were three young and a one-eyed, battle-scarred, ill-tempered old veteran of many battles.

Of the eight squirrels, one was so badly injured when he arrived that he was destroyed. The others were placed in separate compartments at Clapps' home. In some manner, One-eye broke from his compartment into that of the two young and killed them both.

Clapp plans to release the survivors probably today.

Tech Service Is Scheduled

Trumpet playing from the east tower of the administration building will open and close program of the 12th annual Easter sunrise service to be conducted at 6:30 o'clock Sunday morning at Texas Technological college.

Jack Turner and Carroll McMath, both Tech students of Lubbock, will play trumpets.

Alves To Speak

Rev. J. Hodge Alves, pastor of St. Pauls Episcopal church, will speak on "The Victorious Christ."

George Dupree, jr. president of the YM-YWCA for the present college session until a recent election, will deliver the invocation and scripture reading. Douglas Hardy and Mary Lee Jones will sing "The Palm," accompanied on the piano by Mrs. C. E. Hereford.

The service will be conducted in cloisters of the administration building where it is held each year when weather permits. Last year it was conducted inside.

Penitentes Rites

slashes cut with broken glass across the back and the wounds rubbed with coarse salt.

The climax comes on Good Friday, when one brother, chosen for his piety, takes the coveted role of "Cristo," shoulders a heavy wooden cross and begins the awful ascent to El Calvario.

In other years the "Cristo" was nailed to his cross, and often a pair of blood-stained shoes was to be found the following morning on his doorstep, mute symbol their owner had died the most desirable of Penitente deaths—on the cross.

Now, however, the "Cristo" is tied, not nailed, a sufficiently agonizing practice. But it is seldom if ever fatal. Even that extreme no longer is praticed in some of the more moderate villages.

Jealous Of Their Rites

The Penitente sect, a lay order of Catholicism, not recognized by the mother Church, had its origin in medieval Europe as the "Third Order of St. Francis."

Brought to the New World by devotes who accompanied the Conquistadores, it took root and flourished while the sect from which it sprang gradually died away.

Once a powerful and feared organization — one which politicians and businessmen joined to gain its backing—it is slowly losing its influence in this, its last stronghold.

Its membership is almost entirely made up of Spanish-Americans in isolated mountain villages, jealous and secretive of their rites.

Still, however, the slender Penitente crosses dot the mountains as fanatical reminders of a disappearing sect.

Congressional leaders had not decided, however, whether to attempt to incorporate the entire recovery program in one big bill. Senate Democratic Leader Barkley said he planned to confer with house chieftains promptly about the course to be followed.

House Democratic Leader Rayburn said legislators who had discussed the program with the president received the impression no new legislation would be necessary for the Public Works administration.

Scouts To Be In Contests

Boy Scout first aid teams from Lamesa and Lubbock will leave early Saturday for Sweetwater to compete for the scout first aid championship of West Texas, according to information given this morning by R. E. Stroup, chairman of the safety committee of the Kiwanis club.

Kiwanians were sponsors of the recent South Plains council first aid meet at which the Lamesa and Lubbock teams qualified for the Sweetwater contests. Expenses of the boys will be paid.

Troop 23 Is Winner

First honors in the council meet were won by the team representing troop 23, sponsored by Lamesa First Methodist church. Leslie Pratt is scoutmaster and Cotton Lindsey assistant scoutmaster and coach. Team members are Elmer Ireton, Aubrey Hardwick, Paul Cameron, Elwood Jackson and Harold Pickens.

Troop 5, sponsored by Lubbock First Christian church, won second place. Team members are Maurice Hood, Earnest Thaxton, Francis Bearden, James Stevenson and Richard Cornelius. Osco N. Cole is scoutmaster.

May Go To Regional

Winner of the inter-council event at Sweetwater will qualify for the regional contest at Dallas April 30 where the championship of Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and western Arkansas will be decided. Should the South Plains council team win at Sweetwater, expenses of the boys will be paid to the Dallas contest.

Earl M. McClure, council executive, will accompany the boys to Sweetwater. Contests are scheduled to begin at 2:30 p. m. at the junior high school there.

Traffic Training To Close Monday

Traffic safety school sponsored by Lubbock Safety council will be brought to a close at the session in Junior high school auditorium Monday night, according to announcement this morning by Mrs. H. F. Godeke, member of the arrangements committee.

F. L. McRee, associate professor of civil engineering at Texas Technological college and instructor of the school, will call the session to order at 8 p. m.

He and Mrs. Godeke joined in extending a special invitation to attend to school pupils and Girl and Boy Scouts. The program, which will include motion pictures, will be of special interest to them, Mrs. Godeke said.

McRee asked also that those enrolled in the school bring their attendance cards.

Hosts and hostesses of the occasion will be members of Athenauni, Twentieth Century, Shakespeare, Delphian, 1933 Study, Rotary and Kiwanis clubs and Lubbock chapter of A.A.U.W.

"I have no information to give. Even if the figures mentioned were accurate, this would not be the time to announce them since they might indicate the strength of the Japanese forces.

"I can go no further with the south Shantung situation than to say it is progressing favorably from the Japanese standpoint."

Foreign military observers agreed that the major factor in China's Shantung victory was the incessant guerrilla campaign against Japanese supply lines between their Tsingtao and Tsinan bases and the front, leaving advanced units without adequate food, munitions or fuel for their mechanized weapons and preventing arrival of reinforcements before it was too late.

Urges Cooperation

"I especially want to urge the cooperation of all cities, counties, state departments and organizations in arranging for safety exhibits at the convention. Particularly helpful will it be to other cities to see exhibits showing just how a particular city has lessened its traffic toll.

"Certain safety pointers should be gained from Beaumont for only this week that city was awarded first place by the National Safety Council for the best safety record in cities of 50,000 to 100,000 population.

"I am 100 per cent for this statewide safety convention, and I know that much can come of such a mammoth rally."

The committee will present reports on needed traffic safety legislation for submission to the next legislature and recommendations for greater traffic law enforcement in Texas.

Crowley's resignation as solicitor becomes effective April 19, the fifth anniversary of his appointment to that office.

Army Platoon 'In Trouble'

(By The Associated Press)

EL PASO, April 15.—A platoon of 30 cavalrymen, two officers and their horses, sent out by Col. I. P. Swift, commander of the second provisional cavalry, en route to war games at Balmorhea, on a scout tour late Thursday had been theoretically cut off from supplies, Colonel Swift was advised.

The second provisional cavalry's commander, advised of the precarious situation of his soldiers, reported isolated in the vicinity of Fort Quitman, ordered supplies sent to them by air.

The men will receive rations for themselves and mounts sufficient to feed them for a day. Deliveries of rations will continue as long as necessity demands. Colonel Swift said he believes the platoon may be reached with regular army trucks within four days.

Air corps officers, attached to the second cavalry, after being advised of the isolation of the troops, Thursday afternoon made tests preparatory to dropping supplies to the platoon.

The tests at Biggs field were successful, according to Major Guy Kirksey, commander of the air force.

It was determined that food for the men and horse should be dropped to the force with use of parachutes. Hay and firewood it was found, could be dropped without use of the devices.

Each day Major Kirksey will drop seven bales of hay, two sacks of grain, five metal containers with raw provisions for the soldiers, two sacks of firewood. Provisions will be dropped twice daily, it was ordered because the huge bomber which will be used for delivering the rations is not large enough to carry the complete load on a single flight. Supplies will be dropped from an elevation of 300 or 400 feet.

Two opposing cavalry forces, it was reported Thursday, one under the command of Colonel Swift the other commanded by Brig. Gen. Kenyon A. Joyce, fast were approaching Balmorhea, where an imaginary supply of war materials have been stored.

Both forces were assigned to capture the materials as the first test in the army's use of streamlined cavalry division.

STATE DEPARTMENTS CLOSE

AUSTIN, April 15. (AP)—State departments planned to close for three hours this afternoon, in response to a request from Governor James V. Allred, to permit those who wished to attend Good Friday church services.

Lazy S Ranch In Martin To Be Colonized

Plans Told In City Thursday

Ninth of the ten 25,000-acre ranches that once comprised the 250,000-acre ranch founded by Col. J. C. Slaughter in 1879 will be broken up in the next few months with the sale to Behemian and German farmers of the Lazy S in Martin county.

C. C. Slaughter, owner of the Lazy S and son of the founder of the ranch that extended into Martin, Howard, Dawson and Borden counties, related plans for colonization of his ranch in Lubbock Thursday.

Only One Remains

With the sale of the Lazy S, the Indian Canyon ranch will be the only part remaining of the former 250,000-acre unbroken ranch. Others have been broken up into farms, said Slaughter. Mrs. Carrie Dean of Dallas is owner of the Indian Canyon. Col. Slaughter's ranch had been divided into ten parts after his death in 1919.

Contract Is Signed

Slaughter has signed a contract with F. Z. Bishop of McAllen, who was the leading figure in settling a big section of the Rio Grande valley, and after whom the town of Bishop in the valley was named. Bishop plans to sell the land to approximately 125 Bohemian and German families from South Texas and Minnesota and Nebraska, by specification by Slaughter.

Have No Connection

The Lazy S ranch has no connection with the U Lazy S ranch owned by J. B. Slaughter estates of Post. The Lazy S headquarters are located 20 miles south of Lamesa and the Indian Canyon ranch 20 miles east of the town.

Bishop announced in Lamesa that he hoped to have the land settled within the year.

The entire Lazy S is virgin land, said Slaughter. He said he has approximately 2,500 cattle on the ranch. By his agreement with Bishop, he will dispose of his cattle as land is sold. After sale of the first 11 1-2 sections, he will begin sale of cattle. After sale of the next plot of 24 sections, he will sell more cattle.

He will retain 640 acres on which the ranch home is located and many improvements have been made.

Soil on the ranch is much like that in Lubbock immediate vicinity, but at present is heavily covered with mesquite, said Slaughter. He said cotton and feed likely would be raised principally.

He referred to Bohemian and German farmers as "very successful and hard workers," capable of breaking raw land and making a successful living. An area at Sparenburg, between Lamesa and his property, is farmed by Bohemians and Germans, he said. He referred to the willingness of their women to work in the fields.

The land is not for sale on the open market, he said.

He said details of arrangements between himself and Bishop had not been completed. He did not know when actual sale of land would begin. The land must be appraised and agreements reached on prices. Prices will vary in different parts of the area, he said.

Here's How To Tame A Lion

If you ever want to tame a lion like the snarling rascal above, here's how to do it, according to Capt. Ronald Stout of the New York zoo. Just scratch its tummy until its eyes droop dreamily, as in the photo at right, and soon you'll be able to re-enact the touching scene below, in which the wild jungle beast reposes tranquilly in the arms of the slumbering trainer. MISSION SAN JOSE at San Antonio

The Illustration

San José is properly acclaimed one of the most inspiring and beautiful of ancient edifices, where the art of the Old World mingles with that of the New. It was [illegible] but not completed until 1731. Recent restoration [illegible] a good idea of its original magnificence.

Beauty was interwoven with practicality in the building of San José, gem of all the Texas missions . . . Coffee, too, serves a double purpose. A delightful beverage in itself, it has a mildly stimulating quality that brings relief from fatigue. Admiration Coffee is roasted to just the right degree to preserve the essential oils that give this "lift," and its oven-freshness insures against staleness. Try Admiration today. You cannot buy a finer coffee.

Tighter American League Flag Chase Is Predicted

Indians Rank Second And Tigers Third

First of two articles on the major league races.

By HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor, NEA Service

New York's Yankees won the American league pennant by 19 1-2 games in 1936 and 13 games last season.

That they'll have any such margin next October is doubtful, but anybody picking any other outfit to beat them would be convicted of being a long shot stabber.

American league hasn't had a close race since 1922, when the Yankees finished one game ahead of the St. Louis Browns, and as I see it, the bulk of the competition once more will be confined to the scrap for second place.

WRITERS DIFFER ON PICKS

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP) — Detroit and Cleveland are the only clubs conceded even an outside chance of upsetting the World champion New York Yankees in this year's American league pennant race, so far as the major league experts are concerned.

Notwithstanding skepticism expressed in some quarters as to the ability of the Yankees to make it a runaway, 52 out of 60 sports editors and writers participating in the 12th annual Associated Press poll pick the champions to repeat.

Six critics cast their ballots for Mickey Cochrane's Tigers. The remaining two votes went to Cleveland's Indians.

Otherwise it looks like just a scramble for positions, with the Chicago White Sox favored to complete the first division quartet. The Boston Red Sox are rated the only other threat. Cleveland and the St. Louis Browns are the only clubs picked to improve their positions.

Should Be Improved

Cleveland should show improvement under Old Oscar Pepper Vitt. Detroit packs tremendous power. Pitching would enable the Boston Red Sox to stir up considerable trouble. Jimmy Dykes can be depended upon to keep the Chicago White Sox in or within striking distance of the first division until Luke Appling's broken leg heals, but—

Yankees again should make every post a winning one, as they say at the track, when Charley Kurtsinger gives War Admiral his noble noggin.

Here's how the clubs finished in 1937, and my guess as to the final standings in the fall:

1937	1938
1—New York	1—New York
2—Detroit	2—Cleveland
3—Chicago	3—Detroit
4—Cleveland	4—Boston
5—Boston	5—Chicago
6—Washington	6—Washington
7—Philadelphia	7—St. Louis
8—St. Louis	8—Philadelphia

New York matches or outstrips all rivals in all departments. The Cleveland pitching staff is heralded as the finest in either big league, but young Bob Feller will have to have a 20-game campaign to make it as fool proof as that of the Ruppert Rifles.

No Long Losing Streaks

Yankees were somewhat disappointing in the Grapefruit league, for a change, but will tighten up when the boys start playing for keeps.

They haven't lost more than four games in succession since Joseph Vincent McCarthy assumed command in 1931. This largely has been due to the presence of Vernon Gomez and Red Ruffing. The great Gomez took a salary cut a year ago, following two poor seasons, and it was feared that he had lost his stuff. Ruffing, a violent holdout, was absent or the first several weeks.

Both On Job Early

Both were on the job early this spring, and never were sharper. Monte Pearson's arm again has the old zip. The Yankees should get plenty of pitching from this trio, not to mention Bump Hadley, Johnny Murphy, Ivy Paul Andrews, Kemp Wicker, and two or three to be selected from Spurgeon Chandler, back from Newark; Steve Sundra, Joe Beggs, and Atley Donald, all up from the same farm; and Joe Vance and Lee Stine, yanked in from the Kansas City subsidiary.

Joe DiMaggio, the most persistent holdout of 1938, will report in shape, giving the Yankees the same wrecking crew that has dominated the big show for two seasons—Red Rolfe, George Selkirk, Lou Gehrig, DiMaggio, and Bill Dickey.

Another point in the Rifles' favor is that the shoulder that limited Selkirk to 78 engagements in 1937 now is sound.

Bill Knickerbocker is to act as a backstop for the rather frail Frank Crosetti at shortstop and the new second baseman, Joe Gordon. Versatile Babe Dahlgren further fortifies the men of Manhattan in reserve strength.

Yankees may feel the loss of Tony Lazzeri's leadership in the field, but there is vastly too much intelligence in the infield for it to go to pieces.

Outside of Gehrig, Dickey, and Selkirk, the world champions are a young club, and one with unlimited resources. Gehrig is 35, but has all the enthusiasm he possessed when he started his amazing consecutive game string in June, 1925. Dickey is 31, and Selkirk 30, but take perfect care of themselves, and should be around for several more years.

Hemsley May Help

Wayland Rollie Hemsley may help the Cleveland pitchers to live up to their reputation.

Vitt is trying to make his sluggers hit to all fields instead of pulling for the short right field wall in Cleveland, which is something they can't take with them when they hit the road. The Indians appear to have something in Third Baseman Ken Keltner and Outfielder Jeff Heath, both of whom starred for Milwaukee in 1937.

Vitt is depending on Bad News Hale to acquire enough polish at second base to round out the infield.

Mack Requires Patience

With all their vaunted artillery, it would appear at the moment that the Tigers will be fortunate to wind up third.

Schoolboy Rowe has yet to demonstrate that his once mighty right arm is all right. Tommy Bridges is on the sidelines with a chipped bone in his elbow. Rudy York is a question mark as a catcher. Bill Rogell went to a hospital, and another shortstop, Frank Croucher, up from Toledo, broke his leg. Mickey Cochrane's outfit needed Vernon Kennedy, but may miss the devil-may-care spirit of Gerald Walker.

Boston, with Joe Vosmik pasting a friendly left field wall, may get somewhere if one or two of Joe Cronin's young pitchers show anything.

Sox Are Handicapped

White Sox will be handicapped at the outset without Appling. Vernon Kennedy is gone, and Monte Stratton came up with a lame arm. Luke Sewell can't go on forever, and Zeke Bonura's punch now is the property of Bucky Harris in Washington.

Nationals are banking on old men in key positions, and their pitching in uncertain.

Browns hit and fielded well in 1937, and Gabby Street is a pleasant relief to the hired hands on the heels of the domineering Rogers Hornsby, but the club obtained more quantity than quality in the deals that deprived it of Vosmik and Knickerbocker.

Connie Mack has little more than patience in Philadelphia. He'll need it.

NEXT: The National league scramble.

Postponed District Meet Opens Today

Once more an effort was to be made to conduct the District 3 interscholastic track and field and tennis meet at Texas Tech today, weather permitting.

Preliminaries in all events except the mile and half mile, mile relay and javelin throw, were scheduled for this afternoon, as well as first rounds in tennis and the entire running of the rural pentathlon. Finals in all events are scheduled for Saturday.

Saturday's schedule:

1:30 p. m.—120-yard high hurdles, pole vault and shot put.
1:45—100-yard dash.
2:00—440-yard run, discus throw.
2:15—220-yard low hurdles, high jump.
2:30—880-yard run, javelin throw.
2:45—220-yard dash.
3:00—mile run, broad jump.
3:15—Mile relay.

Lowrey Is Starter

Huffman reiterated that no one would be allowed on the field except officials and competitors, and asked cooperation of coaches and fans in this respect.

E. J. Lowrey, veteran track official and starter, will be the man behind the gun in all track event starts.

Various schools over the 14 schools comprising District 3 are expected to send worthy contestants here, although from the team standpoint, the Lubbock Westerners are favored to retain the championship won last year.

No records were broken last spring, and none is expected to fall today, under ordinary circumstances, although certain schools boast outstanding performers in some events.

Preparations For Olympics Are On

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP)—American Olympic officials, backed by the assurance of Avery Brundage that nothing short of a World war will keep the 1940 international games from being held "somewhere," today were ready to begin serious preparation "for adequate United States representation in the Tokyo games."

Organization meetings of the games committees which have jurisdiction over American participation in the 27 sports on the Olympic program will be the first step. These meetings will be held in New York and Chicago as soon as convenient.

Meanwhile Japan is going ahead with its own program to hold the games at Tokyo under the new dates, Sept. 21-Oct. 6, adopted at the International Olympic committee meeting in Cairo, from which Brundage returned yesterday.

Brundage said that the I. O. C. had advised Japan of its "grave responsibilities," had "pointed out that a small entry in the games would likely result if the present situation in the Far East continues," and had requested Japan "to relinquish the games in time, so that they could be organized elsewhere, in the event that it became impossible to stage them properly and successfully in Tokyo."

Dallas And San Antonio Boys To Battle For State Title

DALLAS, April 15 (AP)—Earl Stewart, jr., of Dallas and Joe Moore of San Antonio's Texas Military Institute match strokes today in finals of the state high school tournament.

Stewart, defending champion, defeated a teammate, Turner Baxter, 6 and 4, and Moore won over James Moon, Gilmer, oneup, for the privilege of entering the 36-hole finals.

Championship consolation honors rested between two Dallasites Jack Spencer of Sunset and Frank Carvey of Woodrow Wilson. Spencer downed Bob White of Woodrow Wilson One-up, while Carvey defeated Eugene Keeney, Texarkana, 8 and 7.

Triumphs Are Repeated In Texas Loop

(By The Associated Press)

Winners in three initial games of the Texas league repeated their triumphs yesterday. Tulsa and Oklahoma City were rained out.

Beaumont whipped Shreveport 10-9. Fort Worth again turned back the Dallas Steers, 4-1. The Houston Buffs trounced the San Antonio Missions 6-3.

Greer Holds Steers

Ed Greer, pitching for the Fort Worth Cats, held the Dallasites to six hits last night. Fred Frick, Cat centerfielder, hit a home run in the first inning, scored Shortstop Flippen and then collected three singles in succession.

Shreveport used four hurlers, including Manager Claude Jonnard, but could not stop the Beaumont Exporters, who, in the fifth and sixth innings, bunched seven of their nine hits.

Game Goes Ten Innings

San Antonio and Houston went 10 innings before the Buffs slammed in three runs. Ira Smith, who relieved Brechen in the sixth when the Missions chased across two runs, received credit for the victory. The Missions' rookie southpaw pitcher John Cordell allowed five hits from the second through the ninth and erred thrice.

Rain threatened to wash out the Fort Worth invasion of Dallas while Shreveport moved into Beaumont for a scheduled day game. In other night games, Oklahoma City was at Tulsa and San Antonio at Houston.

Hubbers Play Amherst Next

The weatherman prevailed, and there was no ball game yesterday.

The professional Hubbers, who made a pleasing debut, under unfavorable weather circumstances, Wednesday with a 7-3 victory over the National Baseball School All-Stars from Los Angeles, went back out shortly after noon yesterday, indulged in a session of batting and fielding practice with the All-Stars, but both sides declared it "too rough to play" the second game of the series.

The All-Stars went on to Big Spring, where several of the graduates from the California school are to remain with the Big Spring entry in the West Texas-New Mexico league.

No game is scheduled today, but the Hubbers will hold their regular "skull practice" and field workout, the latter starting around 1 o'clock this afternoon.

Next game is scheduled for Sunday, when the Amherst Reds, handled this season by John Bradley, invade the local park for a swat at their Hubber foes. Lubbock-Amherst rivalry has increased during the past two seasons of semi-pro ball, and it'll be the same old thing with Lubbock's professional team.

The Hubbers go to Sweetwater next Wednesday, playing the Sweetwater semi-pros, and return here to play Littlefield on Friday, April 22. They battle the powerful Huber Carbons of Borger here on Sunday, April 24, before opening the league season at Clovis on April 27.

Judge Landis To Get Details Of Longview Game Forfeit

CHICAGO, April 15 (AP) — Judge K. M. Landis, high commissioner of baseball, will leave tonight for Cleveland where he said he would "get full particulars" on the recent exhibition game at Longview, Tex., which the Cleveland Indians forfeited to the New York Giants.

The clubs meet at Cleveland tomorrow in another exhibition and Landis said he would consult both managers — —Bill Terry of the Giants and Oscar Vitt of the Indians.

BIKE PUMPS ORGAN

BENENDEN, England (AP) — Necessity still is the mother of invention.

After having difficulty finding a human being to do the job, the local vicar rigged up an old bicycle to pump the organ.

A driving belt runs from a small electric motor to the back wheel. Then the crankshaft is coupled to the pumping handle of the organ so that with every revolution the handle moves up and down, filling the bellows.

During the Civil war, conscientious objectors could buy their way out of the army for $300.

The invention of the clock is ascribed to Pope Silvester II in 996 A. D.

Chile's nitrate fields give employment in normal times to about 40,000 men.

Sweetwater's Lew Jenkins Is Man To Watch; San Antonio May Get Next Texas Open

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Staff Writer

DALLAS, April 15 — Lightweight Lew Jenkins, a fighting gentleman from Sammy Baugh's Sweetwater, will either be a man Titleholder Lou Ambers should start thinking about or just another kid with a bad right hand, ere long. . . . Recipient of a "hometown" decision in his last out against Brooklyn's Lew Feldman, the former cavalry trooper and carnival fighter gets his next shot against Wes Ramey of Grand Rapids, one of the division's better sluggers, at Dallas on April 29.

Jenkins laid away seven straight foes with a vicious right jolt and now his left hand is almost a total stranger to him. . . . It waves and dangles there and seldom is poked in anybody's direction. . . . The right is always cocked and if it lands, all is well. . . . but against Feldman, a clever boxer, he missed repeatedly and badly damaged his right trying to ease across the K. O. blow. . . . His hand was injured during the fight and it will continue to be unless he uses it for a feint and works his left at least occasionally. . . . He's a great prospect, a puncher who seemingly can take them, but good one-handed fighters are rare. . . . Against Ramey, who fights his own style, Jenkins rates as a possible knockout winner.

Open To San Antonio

Back to San Antonio, where big-time open golf tournaments started in 1921, may come the Texas open next winter. . . . Enthusiasts of the San Antonio Golf association, a group that started from scratch several months ago and now has 700 members, will gather Monday night to decide whether a $5,000 tourney will be held. . . . National P. G. A. officials, recalling the bulging purses San Antonio once offered, have approved the tournament and said they would hold a spot open on the circuit scheduled.

State Boxing Commissioner Fred Nichols is considering a law to keep fighters from entering the ring at least two days before a fight. . . . Seems as if the mitten boys are making the South Texas circuit, fighting on Monday, Tuesday and Friday nights. . . . Uncle Tom Holland, who fed such tennis stars as Berkely Bell, Bruce Barnes, Bobbie and Karl Kamrath and Sterling Williams to the University of Texas while coaching the game at Austin high school, is now 70 years old and —still coaching tennis, down at Robstown. . . . He once held the Texas title seven years in succession.

Club Has Entertainers

San Antonio's ball club boasts of a group of entertainers; John Berardino, who takes off on Charles Laughton; Milt Byrnes, who is tops on Joe Penner impersonations and Ed Gackstone) Silber, quite a magician . . . Texas Tech's Red Raider football team — the 1938 edition all say will be the best—plays a spring game against Sul Ross as the climax to the annual athletic fiesta at Lubbock on April 30.

Man bites dog dept.: Gene Taylor, former Daniel Baker football coach, has rescinded his previous action in accepting the head coaching job at John Tarleton Agricultural college. . . . His plans are unknown. . . . Ralph (Hebe) Dorsey, the little giant who ran considerable interference for the Aggies' Joel Hunt, has been named coach at Fort Worth's Jennings High school. . . . He comes from Mineral Wells.

Tip: Charlie Sprague, the Southern Methodist footballer who started at center as a sophomore; played his junior year as a tackle, will be one of the Methodist's ends next fall. . . . And Lee Dunivant, the Texas Christian pole vaulter who failed at 11 feet six inches with his own pole in a recent meet, borrowed a fellow contestant's "stick" and did 12 feet six inches in pratice during remainder of the meet! P. S. TCU Coach Mack Clark bought the borrowed pole.

Washington And California To Test Rowing Supremacy Again

SEATTLE, Wash., April 15 (AP) — On the fickle waters of Lake Washington tomorrow the University of Washington will risk its world rowing supremacy against its oldest rival, California, in the 35th renewal of the Pacific coast crew regatta.

Out of the classic event, one of the most colorful spectacles of the West, will come a national championship contender, for between the two navies they have won the last five Poughkeepsie varsity titles.

Remember Gus H. Fan? Savoldi To Go In For 'Straight'

BY SID FEDER
(Pinch-Hitting For Eddie Brietz)

NEW YORK, April 15 (AP)—A radio program arranger called up Bill Brandt in the National league offices for information on some of the old timers for a sports broadcast . . . Asked about Buck Ewing, Home Run Baker, etc. . . . Then queried: "And who's this guy Gus H. Fan?" . . . Mr. Brandt fainted quietly away.

Man-bites-dog dept.: Jumping Joe Savoldi, coming back from a twoyear world tour rich enough to quit anytime, tells you he's through with "gag" rassling . . . "No more hair-pulling, gouging and sticking fingers in the other guy's eye for me," says the ex-Notre Damer. "I'm strictly a straight man from now on" . . . Red Sox lineup boasts six batters with 300 lifetime averages . . . But the poor old Sox only hit into ten double plays in three straight days this week . . . tsk, tsk . . .

Young Bruce Hobbs, who brought Battleship home in the Grand National, is coming over for jockey jobs at Delaware park, Belmont, Aqueduct and Saratoga this spring. . . . Will be aboard Mrs. Marion Dupont Scott's hosses, as usual . . . Joe Gould leaves for England in a week to arrange three fights for Tommy Farr in deah O' Lunnon . . Probably against Walter Neusel, Ben Foord and Jack Doyle, the Irish thrush . . . while Jim Braddock stays behind to handle the crowds packing their restaurant . . Jim Carroll, the St. Loo betting commish, reports the Browns are getting some play at 200-1 for the American league pennant, largely around southern Illinois, southwest Missouri and western Kentucky . . . Babe Ruth Is To Be There For Openers

BY GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 15—Baseball's most illustrious outcast, Babe Ruth, has changed his mind about never entering a ball park again and has consented to attend the respective openers of the three metropolitan clubs, the Yankees, Giants and Dodgers.

Not that the Babe doesn't still feel bitter about the treatment he has received from organized baseball. It's left a lasting scar on the big fellow, one that all his money cannot remove. He thinks he should be out there managing a big league team, hearing the cheers of the crowd again and maybe taking himself a few licks during batting practice.

Swore To Sever Tie

During the past winter, when it seemed suddenly to occur to him that he was out of baseball for good, the Babe became bitter and swore to sever his last tie with the game that made him famous, and for which he did more, perhaps, than any player ever has. He had seen his last contest, he declared.

But now, as a member of the sports committee of the coming New York World's fair, he finds it among his duties to attend at least the openers, and he's promised Grover Whalen he will be on hand with a flower in his button-hole.

The Babe probably will see some more games after that, too. However much he loves his golf and his hunting and fishing, he's going to find it difficult to stay away from Yankee stadium ("The house that Ruth built").

Mustangs To Face Baylor In Southwest Contest At Waco

(By The Associated Press)

Southern Methodist university, victim of the University of Texas' fourth consecutive Southwest conference baseball victory yesterday moves back to Waco today to tackle Baylor, Texas Christian, with four losses and no wins, takes on the Texas Aggies again at College Station.

Uncle Billy Disch's Texas Longhorns made seven errors in the infield, but his ace hurler, John (Lefty) Garnett went the route and allowed the Methodists only six hits in the 5-2 victory for the Dischmen. The Methodists made one error while Billy Dewell permitted 11 hits.

The Aggies' left-hander, Harry Cohn allowed four hits while his mates ran wild for a 12-1 victory over Texas Christian. The Aggies nicked Durwood Horner for 10 hits and waited him out for as many walks. The Christians made their lone tally in the ninth off Johnny Spreen.

The victory was the Aggies' fourth straight win.

IN FINAL WEEK-END

CHICAGO, April 15 (AP)—The last major invasion of the American Bowling congress began today when teams from 26 states and Canada arrived for the final week-end of competition in the 48-day tournament.

Teams from Montreal, Oklahoma City, Tulsa, Galveston and Denver will attempt to alter the standings tonight.

Coaches Like Lubbock!

By Collier Parris

A RECORD RESPONSE is claimed by Weldon Chapman and the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce for high school football coaches of the state . . . First individual invitations to the Texas High School Football Coaches association coaching school were mailed last Monday by C of C officials . . . Yesterday's mail brought nearly 140 answers, 92 of them definitely registering for the school, others asking for a little time to decide, a few on the doubtful list . . . If they keep coming like that, there'll be a record enrollment at the August school. . .

Climaxing the school will be the annual football game between picked stars from the southern half of Texas and those of the northern half . . . Harry Stuhldreher, former "horseman" at Notre Dame, now coach at Wisconsin, and Lynn Waldorf of Northwestern, will coach the teams, direct the instruction for the school . . . It's one of the BIG ITEMS on Lubbock's summer sports program . . .

Another big item is the football game between Texas Tech and Sul Ross to be played at Tech Stadium night of April 30 . . . That climaxes spring training for the schools . . . and Tech's annual Fiesta . . . An impressive letter of invitation has been written by President Bradford Knapp and mailed to 87 high schools of this section. . . .

". . . Again we wish to extend our most cordial invitation to your high school seniors, athletes and faculty to be the guests of the college on this occasion.

"A football game between Tech . . . and Sul Ross . . . will climax the program . . . Other feature of the Fiesta will be demonstrations by the women's physical education department, men's intramural sports, military science department, and the Texas Tech band in full regalia . . ."

The good doctor's letter continues:

"An added attraction this year is an invitation from Mr. Harry Faulkner, general manager of the Lubbock baseball team, to be his guest at the Clovis-Lubbock game at 3 p. m. You can use your Fiesta tickets for admittance to the baseball game. This will enable you to see the first professional baseball game in West Texas in many years."

Another attraction that day, starting at 2 o'clock, will be the tennis match between Texas Tech and West Texas State Teachers college, at the Tech courts.

Application for Fiesta tickets should be made to T. E. "Bo" Williams at the athletic office.

TO MR. BOB TARLETON, general manager of the Dallas Steers and the Chicago White Sox farm last night went Harry Faulkner's report of "arrival and acceptance of the Lubbock Hubbers . . . and request for funds with which to improve the local ball park . . . Faulkner was most pleasantly surprised Wednesday when a crowd of more than 400 braved the stormy elements to watch the Hubbers in their debut . . . The present grandstand will accommodate less than 600 fans . . . Right away Faulkner said, "we've gotta build some more grandstand and bleachers."

He has presented his plans to carpenters and lumber companies, and if they are accepted by the responsible parties, there'll be a mighty nice little baseball plant out on the College Avenue and Second Street lot afore long . . .

Thanks to the Hobbs boys, chiefly DeWitt Reid, for the kind invitation to attend the re-opening of professional boxing in the New Mexico city tonight . . . Bob Wilson, 208 pounds, from Oklahoma City, to meet Frankie "Cyclone" Lynch, 189, of Broadhead, Colo., in the main event of a well balanced card . . . Both the lads have fought Max Baer and Lynch put up a nice battle against John Henry Lewis, light heavyweight negro sensation who is "gaining" on the heavyweight group . . . It ought to be a swell card, and we'd like to see it . . . As soon as the fighters recover completely from the rigors of Golden Gloves and AAU tournaments, it is hoped to have some more boxing here . . . of the amateur variety . . . Amarillo fighters, who made nice marks in the Southwestern AAU, have challenged the Lubbock team, which did well in the Golden Gloves.

National advertising in a big way already has been registered for Lubbock because of its entry in professional baseball . . . The Sporting News, the nation's baseball journal which goes into every town and suburb of the United States has carried three nice stories about

(By The Associated Press)

L PASO, April 15.—Release on ri of William N. Fink, Amer- official of the Maguarichic ing company, held in the Chi- hua state penitentiary on an etment charging implication in bomb-assassination of Mayor Borunda of Juarez, will be de- d today by Judge Elias F. Oax- of the Chihuahua penal court, patches from Chichuahua City icated.

request by Fink's attorneys t he be released under bond, s presented to Judge Oaxaca ursday morning. Reports that the uest had been denied were term- false by Chihuahua official.

State Department Investigating

Meanwhile United States de- tment of state officials put into tion machinery for an investiga- n of Fink's imprisonment.

ee R. Blohm, American consul Chihuahua told the Times by phone he had been instructed state department officials at shington to render all possible istance to Fink, and to nego- te for his release from prison.

Indicted On Statements

Fink, vice-president and general nager of the mining company, s indicted on statements made Efren Escobar, also held, that k on several occasions had sug- ted that "Borunda be elimina- ." Escobar's statements were de to Ignacio J. Lomeli, state torney general investigating the e.

Eduardo Enriquez, superintendent the Maguarichic Mining com- y one of the richest in the state, ued a statement asserting:

"Neither the company nor Fink d anything to do with the bomb- g. It will be proved that Fink, a n who has lived in Mexico 36 years, is innocent in every respect."

Mayor Borunda was killed April 1, when he opened a package in his city hall office. The package, containing a bomb, had been expressed to him from Chihuahua City. Domingo Barraza, a city hall employe also was killed.

Negro Is Told To Be There And He Was—Out Of Breath After Beating Motorcycle

The negro took the suggestion, literally.

Lewis Kittrell, attached to the police traffic squad, and Owen Boyd, motorcycle patrolman, asked the man in arrears with the city on a fine:

"You know the way to the police station?"

"Yas, suh."

"How far is it?"

"'Bout four blocks."

"Well, we're riding over there on a motorcycle. You better be there."

He was—but how he beat the motorcycle was something else. He was too out of breath to explain.

East Texas Jury Rules Man Must Serve Robbery Term

LONGVIEW, April 15. (AP)—A jury in Judge C. E. McGaw's district court here found that Norwood McCall, convicted in December, 1935, for robbery and sentenced to 10 years imprisonment, must serve the sentence because he regained his sanity.

The jury revoked a verdict by a former jury that McCall, one of the four men who escaped the Gregg county jail in May, 1937, was insane.

Good Friday Services Held In Three Lubbock Churches Today

Good Friday this morning was commemorated when services were read at St. Joseph's church, at 100 Avenue O, by Rev. Fr. Gabriel Diamante.

"The Seven Last Words of Christ" and "The Way of the Cross" will be read at 8 o'clock tonight at St. Elizabeth's church, at 2301 Main street.

"The Joy of the Cross" was discussed at St. Paul's-on-the-Plains Episcopal church at 11 o'clock this morning; a children's service was to be this afternoon, and communion services were read Thursday night.

BANK CLEARINGS DROP

NEW YORK, April 15. (AP)—Bank clearings in the United States for the week ended April 13 dropped to the lowest level since October, 1934, Dun & Bradstreet reported today. It was the twenty-second consecutive decline from the total a year ago.

Films Of Leather Carving By Lubbock Man Released Soon

Motion pictures of Dr. W. A. Maddox engaged in the hand-tooling of leather is scheduled for immediate release by Paramount Pictures, according to notification announced Thursday by Maddox as having been received by Jerry Fairbanks, president of Scientific Films, a subsidiary of Paramount.

The films were taken here last November and showed Dr. Maddox at work on several pieces. Other views were of completed pieces. The reel is known as release Lw75.

Lindsey Theaters expect the pictures to be in Lubbock about May 1. They will be shown at the Palace theater.

Spry Wins In Lubbock

Local women flock to new shortening—3 million users all over the country!

Just read what
Mrs. N. H. Munn, 2108 Ave. O, says

"MY FRIENDS are all talking about Spry. It does make baked and fried foods twice as delicious. And it's so nice to use. Spry is whiter and purer-looking, blends ever so smoothly. My cakes made with Spry are downy-light and have a perfectly wonderful flavor. And I've never had such luck with pie crust. (I call it Spry-crust now.) It always turns out the same—always delicious!"

MRS. N. H. MUNN
2108 Ave. O,
Lubbock, Texas

FREE PROOF! Spry gives doubly delicious cakes, pies, biscuits, fried foods—or

WE COULDN'T make an offer like this if Spry were "just another shortening." But Spry is utterly different. You'll see it is the moment you open the can.

Spry is whiter, smooth as satin. It's ALL-vegetable, contains not an atom of animal fat. You don't need to keep it in the ice-box. Spry stays fresh right on the pantry shelf, soft and ready to cream in a jiffy. Fries without smoke or unpleasant odor. And fried foods are as easy to digest as if baked or boiled.

Do all your baking and frying with Spry and see the difference. Cakes and biscuits will be lighter, finer. Pastry will be flakier, fried foods crisper. Try Spry today at our risk!

DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK

Buy a can of Spry from your grocer. Give Spry every test in pies, cakes, biscuits, fried foods. If you don't find Spry the best shortening you ever used, write to Lever Brothers Company, Cambridge, Mass., stating briefly your reasons for not preferring Spry. Send your name and address and the strip of tin that the key takes off when you open the can. You will promptly receive back twice what you paid for Spry. This offer is limited to one can to a family.

TRY SPRY NOW—offer expires April 30

Auction Sale
TUESDAY AND FRIDAY

The market this week closed with prices remaining steady to strong. We had plenty of good live buyers with us at both sales this week and if we are to keep these buyers coming to us all the time, we must have the cattle to sell them. The prospect for good butcher cattle remains active, and we can get you the full market value. We wish to thank those who have sent us cattle to sell, and we wish to solicit the business of those who have not. We can get you full market prices. Remember that we have the fastest growing market in West Texas.

City Commission Assures Something To Be Done Soon About Cowlots In Lubbock

Assurance that something will be done soon about cowlots within the city limits and to protect property owners against unsightly buildings was given a delegation of housewives by the city commission at its semi-monthly session at the city hall Thursday afternoon.

New Mayor Carl E. Slaton informed them that a special meeting of the commission is planned early next week, probably Monday night, to consider a revised building code which probably will include strict zoning regulations. An ordinance now being prepared by City Attorney Durwood H. Bradley will be submitted at the meeting, and will form the starting point from which the commission will work, he explained.

To Adopt Ordinance

Mayor Slaton and other members of the commission expressed the frank opinion that the ordinance will be adopted on first reading when the special meeting is held.

Joining with the mayor in declaring that something will be done without delay were Commissioners J. A. Fortenberry, W. B. Price and Hub Jones. Commissioner W. B. McMillan was out of the city. For Slaton and Jones, the commission meeting was their first regular session since their election April 5. For Price, it marked the official start of his second term.

Also present were City Manager W. H. Rodgers, City Secretary Lavenia Williams; City Engineer M. R. Smith, jr., and Walter D. Wilson, acting as city attorney in the absence of Bradley, his law partner.

Two Major Phases

The new ordinance, as sketchily outlined as to fundamentals, probably will include two major phases.

One of them, officials said, will be an attempt to give the builder of a home some assurance as to the type of structure which may be erected on the adjoining lot or upon the property in front of his place.

The other will be either to outlaw the keeping of milk cows and other livestock within the city limits, or, which is more probable, to divide the city into zones. If the zoning alternative is chosen, it was explained, the residents of each zone will determine by their majority whether or not cows and other livestock may be kept within that particular zone.

Protect Other Sections

The zoning plan, as outlined to the commission, might legalize the keeping of cows in sparsely settled edges of the city, but would protect other sections of dense habitation.

It likewise would protect neighborhoods against types of buildings to which the residents object and which would be unsightly. Two incidents were related emphasizing the need of regulations of that kind.

Commissioner Price told of having received a telephone call Wednesday night from a housewife whose pride is an attractive, though modest, home. Sobbing so that she could hardly talk, Price said, she reported that a lumber shed was to be erected directly across the street from her home.

City Is Powerless

"She asked if there wasn't something we could do," Price continued. "It humiliated me to tell her that the city of Lubbock was powerless to assist her under existing ordinances, despite the fact that she and other home-owners should be protected. This is a situation which must be corrected."

The second incident related to a group of citizens who dug into their pockets to forestall the establishment of a tuberculosis clinic in their block.

Those in the delegation who, as numerous other delegations previously have done, urged that something be done about cows in the city limits included Mrs. M. C. Overton, 1808 Broadway; Mrs. Eugene Gunn, 1919 Sixteenth street; Mrs. E. Murray Jones, 1915 Sixteenth street; Mrs. I. M. Robinson, 1916 Seventeenth street; Mrs. Earle Thompson, 1911 Sixteenth; and Mrs. C. C. Jobson, 1918 Seventeenth.

Other Business Routine

Other business transacted at the commission session was routine, but some of it was of major importance. Among others were several actions to protect the city against water shortage, authorization for two important extensions of sanitary sewage lines, and action upon two ordinances to clear the way for paving approximately four miles of residential streets in areas where they will reduce loads on thoroughfares now congested.

Actions dealing with the water problem included the purchase of two pumps and 3,860 feet of 10-inch cast iron pipe which will tie production of newly completed wells into the city system.

Successful bidder for the pumps was Peerless Pump company. The city will pay $1,552 for one pump of 750 gallons per minute capacity and $1,116.50 for another of 300 gallons capacity. Peerless was low bidder among five for the larger pump and among four for the smaller.

Total Bid Is Given

The pipe was purchased from U. S. Pipe and Foundry company on a total bid of $6,389.60. The commission decided against a proposal to buy cheaper fabricated pipe until its premanency has been more thoroughly demonstrated.

One of the sewer extensions authorized was in the alley between Paris avenue and Avenue Q from Fourth street to Second street, a distance of 1,272 feet, costing $901; and in the alley between East Avenues C and D from Twenty-second to Twenty-first, thence west to the alley between East Avenues B and C, and thence north to Twentieth street, to cost $883.

In authorizing the improvements, city commissioners explained that no money is available immediately, but that the work will be done as soon as possible.

Ordinance Is Passed

Of the two paving ordinances, one passed on third and final reading provides for the surfacing of the following streets: S from Twenty-third to Twenty-ninth; Twenty-second from S to V; Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth, from S to T; and Twenty-sixth, from S to X. Sixteen blocks are involved.

The other ordinance, passed on first reading, provides for paving the following: X from Nineteenth to Twenty-seventh; Twenty-third from Q to S; Q from Nineteenth to Twenty-third; Twenty-seventh from Q to X; and College from Twenty-second to Twenty-sixth, an aggregate of 25 blocks.

All were included among 175 blocks of paving for which WPA allocations were authorized several weeks ago. All will be completed before winter, the commission was informed.

Other Routine Actions

Other routine actions at the commission session were:

Acceptance of newly completed paving on Twentieth street from Adams to Van Buren avenues.

Instructions to the city manager to investigate a proposal by Post Refining company of Rotan, Texas, to supply fuel oil at a rate which might mean an annual saving to the city of more than $6,000; the company has offered, Rodgers said, to supply oil at $1.31 and $1.64 per barrel, depending on gravity, which compares with $1.69 and $1.793 now paid for the same grades.

Appointment of J. L. Combs, a journeyman plumber, as a member of the city plumbing board, other members of which are D. P. Fox, City Engineer Smith, City Plumbing Inspector H. B. Hamilton and Dr. J. W. Rollo, city health officer. Combs succeeds Roche Newton, who resigned because of press of private business.

Appropriation Is Made

Appropriation of $1,000 to match a $2,000 county appropriation for current operation expenses of the County-City Welfare association.

Instructions to the city manager to ask bids for the annual independent audit of city financial records.

Routine approval of errors in city assessment rolls, of which there were only 21 among many thousand items.

Approval of bonds of office of Mayor Slaton, Commissioner Jones and City Recorder Walter Whorton.

Approval of the following license bonds: C. M. Anderson and H & H Electric company, as electricians; and Terry and Childress and Sherrod Bros., as gas line mechanics.

No. 25,000 Is In Field

(By The Associated Press)

KILGORE, April 15.—Another oil well came in Thursday. That's an old story to East Texas, but the flow of this well was of special significance — it marked the completion of well No. 25,000 in the East Texas field.

The M. W. McCey No. 3 Roy Laird, Kilgore townsite on the Mary Van Winkle survey of Gregg county, flowed 20 barrels in 30 minutes of the first test.

Drilling of the 25,000th well does not halt the activity in the world's largest oil field. Oilmen could not estimate when drilling will be completed. New producers come in at an average of about five per day.

The East Texas field has a potential daily producing total of 15,031,597 barrels and an allowable of 503,600 barrels. Since Sept. 8, 1930, it has produced 1,223,008,303 barrels of legal oil.

The field is 42.8 miles long by airline and 9.7 miles wide. At the present rate of withdrawal, it is estimated 19 years will be required to deplete it.

NYA Training Unit To Be Sponsored

AUSTIN, April 15 (AP)—A resident training project for 150 boys from rural areas will start May 2 at Buchanan dam under sponsorship of the Lower Colorado River authority, J. C. Kellam, state youth director, announced today.

The National Youth administration director said the authority would house the boys and provide a training program in subsistence agriculture and farm mechanics.

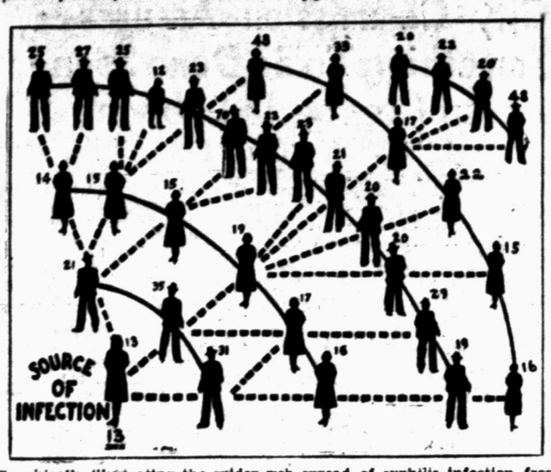

Kellam said the boys would aid in construction of a federal fish hatchery and an administration building on the authority's lands.

The boys, between the ages of 18 and 25, must be eligible for employment on the NYA work program.

The project will be the seventh put in operation this spring. Others are at Southwest Texas State Teachers college, the Luling Foundation farm, Texas Technological college, at Prairie View and at Center Point.

It is estimated that half a million or more Chinese Communists, bandits, and irregular troops harrass Japanese lines of communications and supply in North China.

$271,000,000 War On Syphilis

Graphically illustrating the spider-web spread of syphilis infection from one girl until it included no less than 32 other individuals whose ages ranged from 12 to 70, the chart above—together with testimony of leading health authorities—so deeply impressed a Senate sub-committee that it gave unanimous approval to the LaFollette Bill to provide $271,000,000 of government funds for a long-range program of syphilis control. The chart was introduced at the Senate hearing by Health Commissioner Herman Bundesen of Chicago.

Four important witnesses whose testimony caused a Senate committee to unanimously approve the $271,000,000 LaFollette Bill for a 13-year syphilis control program are, left to right: Judge Anna M. Kross, magistrate of the Women's Court in New York; Dr. Thomas Parran, Surgeon-General in the U. S. Public Health Service; Dr. William Snow, general director of the American Social Hygiene Association, and Mrs. Bruce Gould, editor of a national women's magazine. All were pictured at the hearing.

Homer D. Grant Is New Club Leader

At a banquet conducted after annual observance of Maundy Thursday ceremonies, Homer D. Grant of Lubbock was elected president of the South Plains Scottish Rite club, a masonic order.

Approximately 30 Scottish Rite Masons were present at the gathering, held at Hotel Lubbock. They represented consistories from Juneau, Alaska, to Miami, Florida, and from Columbus O., to Santa Fe, New Mexico.

Other Officers Elected

Other officers elected included Tom May, of Brownfield, vice-president, and Ec Parker, Lubbock, who was re-elected as secretary.

Rev. J. Hodge Alves rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, delivered the banquet address, which dealt entirely with organization matters.

Invocation was offered by Dr. Jack M. Lewis, pastor of First Presbyterian church.

The group sent a telegram of felicitations to Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Texas Tech, who has been an active member during his residence in Lubbock and who is now in San Antonio, recuperating from an illness. A similar telegram from Doctor Knapp to the club was received, the two messages having "crossed" between here and the Alamo City.

Peace Movement Is In 'Big Business' To Keep America Out Of War

Three Groups Are Spending

By SIGRID ARNE
Associated Press Feature Writer

WASHINGTON — Peace has jumped into the "big business" category. More than $2,000,000 will be spent this year to persuade Americans that the rattling of sabers in Europe and the Orient should find no echo here. Millions of people have bought common stock in the enterprise.

Peace societies have snapped their programs into businesslike patterns. Here's an example: a report from one paid worker for the National Council for the Prevention of War (and the Council has 50 such):

He took a 15-day speaking tour, traveled 4,834 miles, spoke at 25 meetings, and talked to 51,795 people. He even reduced the report to the expense of "per individual reached." It was $.003 — three mills.

It's difficult to estimate how many people have signed peace pledges, joined peace groups, paid dues or just given donations. But a recent survey of peace groups shows:

Clearing Houses

There are three huge federations that serve as clearing houses for their affiliates.

1. The National Peace Conference, which is just starting a campaign to back up Secretary of State Hull's trade treaties, has 39 societies under its wing.

2. The Council for Prevention of War unfits 19 organizations.

3. The National Committee on the Cause and Cure of War unites 11 women's groups under the direction of that famous crusader, Carrie Chapman Catt.

Organized For Sole Purpose

Some of these groups are organized for the sole purpose of spreading peace talk. Some, like the Association of University Women, simply have peace programs.

Most of them are beginning to show a significant change of technique. They are turning from just talking to direct political action.

Their most tantalizing problem right now is to make the intangible concept of peace dramatic.

Bruce Barton Helps

Bruce Barton, the advertising man who is a new member of Congress, found one answer.

"Let's advertise the horrors of war," he said.

So he wrote the page ads that have been appearing this year under the name of "World Peaceways," and Estelle Sternberger of New York undertook to get free space for them. Peaceways now has branches in 10 foreign countries.

"Peace caravans," were another answer. They were organized by the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom. This group has a comparatively small budget, but it drew attention through the efforts of its dramatic leader, the young Dorothy Detzer, whose campaigning zeal was whetted in post-war Europe where she worked for the Quakers.

Work Through Other Groups

The very practical National Council for the Prevention of War, headed by Frederick Libby, works through ready-made groups such as labor unions, farmers' clubs and students councils. The council's staff includes Jeanette Rankin, the former congresswomen, whose "No" vote the night congress put us into the World war was a dramatic climax in the roll call.

Together these peace societies have loosed a flood of literature on the country. Just to name a few: Peaceways sends out half a million pieces of literature a year, the League for Peace and Democracy, 400,000; and the Council for Prevention of War, 1,300,000.

A cat sent by Dr. W. Dean of Uppingham, England, to a friend at Framingham, 100 miles away, disappeared from its new home and was discovered 6 days later sitting outside Dr. Dean's home.

At Compensation Hearing Of "Living Death" Victims

Hearing a doctor testify that she was certain to die from effects of radium poisoning, Mrs. Catherine Donohue collapsed, right, as four other women, above, also believed victims of the "living death," fearfully looked on in a courtroom at Ottawa, Ill. Mrs. Donohue, who now weighs only 70 pounds, told an arbiter for the Illinois Industrial Commission that her superiors in a radium watch dial plant at Ottawa said to her in 1931, "Your limping will cause talk. We're sorry, you'll have to go." Along with 13 other women, she seeks compensation for incapacities attributed to work with radium in the factory. Nine women already have died. The young women in the above picture are Frances O'Connell, Margaret Glacinski, Helen Munch, and Marie Rossiter.

Air Is 'Squeezed' In Latest Method For Air Conditioning; Termed 'Pasteurized'

(By The Associated Press)

SPOKANE, Wash., Apr. 15. — "Pasteurized" air conditioning, achieved by an air "squeezing" process so simple its inventor hesitated to apply for a patent, has been developed by a Spokane theater engineer.

Using an ordinary air-compressor, an expansion tank and sundry other pieces of equipment already on the market, Vernon L. Hickey devised the revolutionary compressed-air-conditioning principle.

Hickey achieves his cooling through expansion of the compressed air, eliminating the use of ice or other cooling agents.

Regulates Humidity, Too

Temperatures rise from 240 to 400 degrees when the air is compressed, killing the germs and performing the pasteurization.

The compressed air is released into an expansion tank where it "unsqueezes" and drops water and other foreign particles. Pipes from the expansion tank go directly to the rooms to be conditioned.

The principal advantage of his system, Hickey says, is the complete control of humidity and temperature. The humidity may be held to any point from zero to the dew point and the temperature anywhere between zero and 120 degrees.

Little Power Needed

Through conservation of compression heat, Hickey believes he will be able to air-condition modern buildings and homes on a year-around basis, cooling them with sterile air in the summer and heating them by the same method in the winter.

He estimates a three-fourth horsepower motor would air-condition, cool and heat the average eight-room house.

That Girl on Broadway says some women decide not to marry until they're 30, but she's decided not to be 30 until she is married.

Tax-collecting is not necessarily a full time job. Consider the filling station man. He also sells gas and oil!

EVEN worse than the guy who calls on the phone and says "Guess who this is," is the fellow whom you haven't seen for many years and who stalks unexpectedly into your office saying "You don't remember me, do yuh?"

He's a real man-killer.

None of us enjoy being embarrassed, and we doubt if there is any embarrassment worse than having an old, but almost forgotten, friend show up and not be able to fit his face and name together.

It's really hard to take.

THE Plainsman has that sort of embarrassment every once in awhile.

The last occurrence came only yesterday, and was particularly painful.

We were beating away on the typewriter when a vague, familiar individual entered the office with "You don't remember me, do you?" We remembered his face, all right, but not the name, and said so.

"O. K.," he replied, settling himself in a chair and lighting a cigaret. "I'l just let you guess awhile!"

Five awkward minutes passed and then the face clicked with a name. The visitor was an old fraternity brother of college days, now an army colonel who stopped to say "hello" en route to San Antonio. We then had a happy and interesting visit.

The Plainsman had never seen the old friend in civilian clothes—which he was wearing on the road—until yesterday.

And he hadn't seen him since 1923—just about 15 years ago.

Yet never-the-less he felt badly about not being able to recognize the colonel right off the bat.

Remember this the next time you drop in on an old pal.

Don't make it hard on him. Don't embarrass him.

Your visit, then, will be more pleasant—and a lot easier on you both.

Remember, time erases a lot of things we all should remember.

IN connection with the recent furore here concerning parking meters, it occurs to The Plainsman that a town's in pretty healthy condition when parking places are in demand.

Former President Herbert Hoover came back from an extended tour of Europe the other day and the first thing to catch his eye was the scarcity of parking places in this country, as compared with the lands across the sea.

"There are plenty of parking spaces everywhere in Europe," he observed.

It makes The Plainsman as provoked as any one else to have to drive around the block time after time, hunting a convenient parking place.

But when he stops to consider the matter, he remembers that a scarcity of parking places auguers well for business and proves Lubbock to be the great trading center we want it to be—and so essential to the prosperity of us all.

Let our curbs be lined solid, block by block, every day in the week.

That means better times for us all!

That Man on Avenue Q says the national administration's plan to spend billions for relief and pump-priming embodies all the advantages of the oldfashioned gold rush—without the rush!

Some of our most progressive citizens wear last year's suit, drive this year's car—and live on next year's income!

Pennsylvania politics are becoming so complex that Philadelphia lawyers are consulting their own attorneys in an effort to figure 'em out!

WHEN Joe Kennedy was shifted from the chairmanship of the Maritime commission to the Court of St. James, The Plainsman commented that President Roosevelt had made a nine-strike in his selection of our new ambassador to Great Britain.

Redheaded, double-fisted, practical Joe Kennedy has thus far conducted himself just as his host of friends and admirers expected he would. He has chucked ambassadorial monkey-business out of the historic windows of London, put away the frills and furbelows of the office and generally has substituted common-sense for flub-dubbery.

Ambassador Kennedy's latest departure from the usual is fairly typical of his tenure of office thus far.

Without asking anybody for an "aye" or a "nay," he flat-footedly ruled out the non-sensical "appearances at court" of American women.

So long as Mr. Kennedy is ambassador, rich American women will not be led like prize calves before the king of England, will not be "presented" to the king and will not be permitted to go through the ceremony of kneeling and kissing the hand of the monarch of England.

"PRESENTATIONS" have for many years been a bane of the existence of our ambassadors to Great Britain.

Meaningless to the nth degree, they have taken a lot of our ambassadors' time and have racked up considerable expense, both on the part of the embassy and the individuals.

And unless we miss our guess, King George will be as happy as anyone over Ambassador Kennedy's new ruling, for it will mean just that much less ceremony he will be forced to go through.

From every angle, save that of a few women who seek to increase their social prestige, the new Kennedy ruling is a highly acceptable one.

The young farmer, in town doing some buying, was asked by his banker how much success he was having with several swarms of bees which he had recently installed.

"Pretty good," said the young farmer. "Pretty good."

"How much are you making off them?" asked the banker.

"Well," answered the farmer, "I haven't made anything off of them yet, but they've stung my mother-in-law twice!"

WE'VE been hearing a great deal about the smashing success of Adolf Hitler and it is true that the Chaplin-moustached dictator has been raking up some victories of late.

But it's not all beer and skittles in Germany, despite successful seizures of other lands and overwhelming "votes of confidence."

As a matter of fact, Germany's financial condition in recent months has been growing steadily worse—and it has been years since it has been what it should be.

Germany's imports, month-by-month, have been much greater than her exports and the reich is badly handicapped in the world trading marts.

Rolling drums, blaring bugles and oratory from Hitler and his pals are one thing—and Germany's precarious financial condition is another.

We'll be hearing more about that later.

The young lady answered the ringing phone.

"Hello," she said.

"What are you doing?" asked the voice at the other end of the line.

"Getting ready for church."

"Sorry," came the return remark, "I've got the wrong number!"

CAST OF CHARACTERS

CONSTANCE MAIDWELL—heroine; the stand-in.

DEREK MANTHON — an artist who loved money first.

HILDEGARDE THORVALD—Derek painted her portrait.

DR. ROGERS — he met his most difficult case.

Yesterday: Connie gets a line on on a job, finds her prospective employer ill, and is sitting down to dinner in the exclusive restaurant when a lady asks her the price of her coat!

CHAPTER VII

"Price?" murmured Constance, monosyllabic in her amazement at the matter-of-fact bluntness of the the question.

"Why, yes . . . This is a Bartlett model, isn't it?" the plump lady pursued, mentioning the name of the designer from whom Constance had bought the gray coat. She reached out to test the fabric between her fingers.

"Yes . . . Why, yes, it is."

"You wear it beautifully."

"You are very kind," said Constance between amusement and surprise, and mentioned the price she had paid for the coat.

"Thank you." The lady sat back with what almost amounted to a nod and smile of dismissal.

The man had lighted a cigaret, meanwhile glancing from his companion to Constance with a faintly raised eyebrow, as if savoring something delightfully humorous in the situation.

Constance swept him with a chill grey-blue glance that went completely through and beyond him, and turned away.

The line ahead of her had broken up. She advanced — the bouffant skirt of the gray coat rippling with her buoyant, high-headed walk — toward the table near the stage.

As she crossed the floor, a beautifully dressed blond girl who passed her in a leisurely saunter murmured, "Gosh, kid! You'd never have got that model if I could have worn it."

Hardly believing her ears, Constance went on toward the dark little man who still waited for her.

"I am Miss Maidwell," she explained. "Miss Constance Maidwell. I was told—"

"But yes, of course," he cried impatiently. "You took your time about getting here . . . Hm! Constance! . . . The name will do very nicely. And you wear the model well. The hat a bit more tilted, perhaps . . . Thank God you can walk!"

Walk! Constance thought feebly Took my time?

For one blank moment she wondered if every one in this place were crazy or only she, herself.

"I began to be afraid," the little man was going on hurriedly, "that Miss O'Dare would not be able to find anyone to take Lucille's place—the height—the coloring—the carriage—the distinction. To model her things, none of the others have the—shall I say 'the atmosphere'?"

Slowly the true absurdity of the situation was dawning upon Constance. Now, at an almost imperceptible nod from the little man, a slinky red-haired girl with sultry dark lashes and a sulky mouth mounted the little stage in a vivid green evening gown with silver sequins and strolled gracefully across—turning this way and that—and then descended the short curve of stairway at the other end to make her leisurely way among the tables. At last Constance understood.

"I'm afraid" she began, suppressing a giggle.

"Do not worry." The little man patted her arm reassuringly. "When I saw you come in, I said to myself, 'That one—she has what it takes' . . . But I tell you what: since you have not rehearsed with us, follow Gertrude among the tables for a while—the tall blond one there in the tailleur with silver fox. She is an old hand. Watch what she does, and you cannot go wrong . . . Always remember to smile—just enough, but not too much. Never, never let the muscles of the face freeze . . . Later we shall try you on the stage."

"But—" Constance began . . . This was preposterous.

"Come, come!" he cut her off curtly. "We waste too much time. And you have yet four costumes to model . . . The bag in the left hand, lightly, please. And—yes, the gloves are quite correct."

It was preposterous—but what of it?

Constance knew that she walked beautifully. Derek had often told her so. And all her life she had a gift for mimicry which had been the delight of her friends. Surely she could saunter, turn and smile—saunter, turn, and smile as easily as those other girls. . . . After all, one was paid real money for this sort of thing. And for the first time in Constance's life money seemed desperately important. Suppose she showed him that she had what it took?

Without finishing the protest that was on her lips, she joined the little group of girls who circled among the tables, strolling, turning, reversing, and smiling—just a little—not too much."

Several times she wondered what Derek would say if he saw her here—Derek, who had brought her here because it was a good idea to go where the best people were.

Once the blond model the little man had called "Gertrude" stopped to chat briefly as she passed in her measured stroll.

"Papa Anton likes us to group sometimes," she explained in an undertone. "He wants us to seem as informal and natural as possible."

"Papa Anton," Constance gathered, was the bearded little man in charge of the fashion show.

"He was fit to be tied," Gertrude went on, "when no one showed up at rehearsal to stand in for Lucille."

"What made him—how did he know I had come to take Lucille's place?" Constance asked guardedly.

"Oh, I suppose because Lucille modeled that coat in the store the day it came in . . . Well, I'll be seeing you."

The girl strolled on.

Constance took time to wonder about the other girl who was to have taken Lucille's place. Suppose she came yet?

But no one did appear. So Constance went on and on, watching the more experienced models carefully at first, until she knew that she was letter perfect.

There had been four costumes set aside for the absent Lucille—all of which admirably suited Constance's proudly held little figure and the clear petunia-pedal of her skin and blue-black of her hair. There was a trim knitted sports frock of a soft bright blue; a demurely girlish evening frock of corn yellow; a mannishly tailored black cocktail gown with a devastating white plaited vestee and pearl studs. With that, Constance carried a long jade cigaret holder and a green lacquered bag.

She modeled them in turn—first across the little stage slowly—her dark head high—turning first to the right, and then to the left, to smile over her shoulder; then down the turn of stairs and among the tables, stopping from time to time to answer questions with snatches of patter she had picked up from the other girls:

"Yes, Madam, isn't it a nice frock? I love wearing it." . . . I wonder what Derek is doing now . . . "The price? Only $85 with the bag, Madam" . . . There's the waiter who served us the last time I came here with Derek . . . "Why, yes, Madam. Now that you suggest it, I do think black pumps with buckles would be quite as smart with this frock as the silver sandals." . . . Derek would love this frock.

But Derek was in California by this time, setting down to the business of getting acquainted with Hildegarde Thorvald.

Once Constance noticed that the man with the quizzical brown eyes was watching her as if something were puzzling him.

She was modeling the black cocktail frock, pausing by the table on the stage to light a cigaret in the jade holder as Papa Anton had directed her when she saw a trimly tailored young woman come swiftly across the room to speak to the director of the show as if in troubled inquiry. Papa Anton turned to her a startled face, Constance's heart sank as she saw that they were both watching her with narroweyed attention.

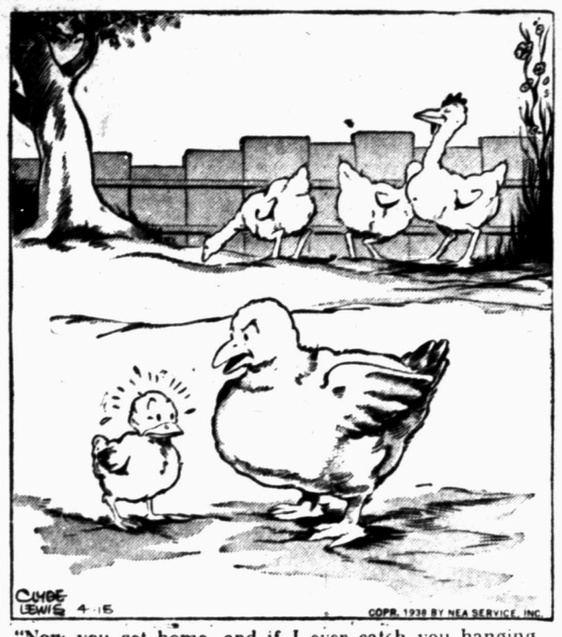

Could this be the girl who was to have substituted for Lucille? But no. This girl was too tall to have worn Lucille's models; and she was definitely no dress model. There was about her an air of authority that convinced Constance that she used her very ornamental head for other purposes than wearing hats. . . . The young woman and Papa Anton talked together for a moment longer; then she turned and made her way decisively out of the room.

Constance watched her go with an uneasy feeling that she had not seen the last of her.

WHY SHOULDN'T THEY PAY, TOO?

President Roosevelt's proposal that all government employes be required to pay income taxes on the same basis as other citizens will strike a chord which The Evening Journal believes will prove popular. The Journal is decidedly in favor of the suggestion.

Just why government workers should be exempt from the taxes always has been a mystery. The theory of the exemption is, of course, that those who derive their incomes from federal taxes should not themselves be required to pay such taxes. The theory further is that if they should be required to pay income taxes, it would be necessary to levy additional taxes so that they could pay them; that to levy a tax upon them would be a process of taking tax money out of one pocket, so to speak, handing it to the employe, then taking it back and putting it in the other pocket.

The theories, of course, are fallacies. Most civil service employes, additional to the comparative security of their jobs, are receiving larger salaries than they would earn for similar work in private industry.

They are as well able to pay the tax as any other group of our citizenship. It is not fair that they should be permitted to remain a tax-exempt class wholly apart from all others.

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, April 15. — The tension, speed and prosperity of life in the movie colony result in the establishment of some odd households reminiscent of the Sycamore family in "You Can't Take It With You."

Necessary secretaries and servants, and unavoidable relatives, bring a lot of people together under the same roof. To this combination add a few strange hobbies, and you've got something. The big houses occupied by many screen celebrities are scarcely more than adequate.

Edgar Bergen has a big house full of secretaries and servants. It's a busy place.

Phones are jangling; radio people and all sorts of agents are constantly bustling in and out; messenger boys and mail men bring bushels of telegrams and fan mail in tribute to the skyrocketing success of the ventriloquist and his stooge.

Meanwhile, out in the back yard, Bergen devotes himself to the joys of taking motorcycles apart and putting them back together.

Writer Grover Jones maintains a household which is perhaps a little more than typical of Hollywood. There are his wife and their adopted child, two cousins, two maids, a cook, a nurse, a butler and valet, and an eccentric uncle who lives in a small house in the rear and sometimes doesn't talk to anybody for weeks at a time.

Mrs. Jones raises English sheepdogs and has 12 of them now, all amiable creatures who try to get in the same lap at the same time.

Mr. Jones goes in for fine printing, and has his garage and a separate little shop full of equipment. He writes his stories on a typesetting machine.

He installed a motion picture projection room in his house, and once had a cook who quit because he refused to show double features.

I can give you only the vaguest idea of what goes on in the home of the unpredictable John Barrymores. Miss Barrie's mother has been with them ever since the Caliban-Ariel incidents, and now the mother's parents are coming out to live with them.

Mrs. Jacobs is an enthusiastic experimenter in horticulture, and always is trying to cross cucumbers and honeysuckle, or roses and onions, or something. She and her son-in-law generally are on the best of terms, although Barrymore would be quite a trial to any orderly housekeeper because at any moment he's likely to drag down a lace curtain, clap a lampshade on his head, and play a scene from Shakespeare. He and Mrs. Jacobs play parchesi for hours, and bicker happily over each toss of the dice.

Martha Rave's household has been clouded by some bitter dissension, what with her own quickie marriage and divorce, her mother's antagonism to a couple of her romances, her mother's pending divorce and her father's complaint about the size of his allowance.

Her mother's boy friend also was sued recently for alienation of affections. As if this were not enough trouble, Miss Rave has an attractive girl secretary who's so busy with her own dates that she gets her employer's appointments mixed up.

Alice Brady's big house is not crowded with people, but it's well filled with dogs.

There are five regular dogs and usually there are four or five transient guests. Most of these animals are furiously jealous and don't get along together at all. Result is an elaborate scheme of isolation that reminds you of the puzzle involving the six bulls in seven pens.

The house is beautifully furnished—from the floor up. The floors themselves are covered with linoleum, because the dogs are not housebroken. Between the pets and the push-button system for summoning servants, Miss Brady has a hard time keeping help. She never has been able to keep the signals straight, and is forever rousing out the chauffeur when she wants her maid.

FDR Now Paying Off For "Thumbing Down" Of Pat Harrison And John O'Conner--Dutcher

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 15. — Pat Harrison of Mississippi sought the majority leadership in the Senate and John J. O'Connor of New York went after the same post in the House.

Rodney Dutcher

They were ambitious to reach the highest points in their political careers. And in each case Franklin D. Roosevelt turned thumbs down. Harrison and O'Connor were too conservative for the New Deal.

But they got there just the same. While the men whom the administration preferred to lead its forces have pleaded desperately but impotently for Congress to stand by the President, Harrison and O'Connor have appeared conspicuously as leaders of a new majority in Congress — the anti-Roosevelt coalition.

Both are popular and known generally as "good fellows." So their recent triumphs have been enjoyed by many friendly colleagues who smarted with them when the administration in its palmer days blasted their aspirations.

Celebration

After the historic defeat of the Roosevelt reorganization bill, O'Connor had some of the correspondents, photographers and others up to the sanctum behind the Rules committee room and opened the door of an electric refrigerator which contained champagne, whisky and beer. Perhaps he wasn't thinking of the days of late 1936 when he and his cronies sat in that sanctum and had to mourn collapse of his campaign for the leadership. He had a right, however, to recall those days.

An often turbulent, alternately gruff and genial, but keen-minded, red-haired Irishman O'Connor had incurred New Deal wrath when he opposed abolition of the Democratic two-thirds rule at the 1936 convention and when, as chairman of the Rules committee, he balked the White House desire for a record vote on the holding company bill's "death sentence."

Administration propagandists made much of the fact that O'Connor's brother Basil had accepted a $25,000 fee from the Associated Gas & Electric Co. during the holding company fight.

Back On Top

Although O'Connor did not rate the leadership through seniority, his chairmanship of the Rules committee made him the third most powerful leader in the House and it had been traditional that when a Southerner—in this case Will Bankhead of Alabama—was to be speaker, the leader should be a northerner.

But the administration chose Sam Rayburn of Texas, who had piloted the holding company bill and other of its legislation. Roosevelt persuaded Vice President Garner to come to Washington before the session began and put Sam over. That was the end for O'Connor.

But today O'Connor is still chairman of the Rules committee—the committee which stands in the way of wage-hour legislation. And it was O'Connor who led the anti-reorganization bill fight, providing strength for the opposition which undoubtedly was responsible for the bill's burial. When the House voted down his first motion to kill the bill by 22 votes and it looked as if the measure would win, O'Connor said: "There'll be no reorganization bill passed."

Pat Pleased, Too

Meanwhile Harrison, still powerful as chairman of the Senate Finance committee, was triumphantly steering through the Senate a tax bill which wiped out practically the last vestige of New Deal experimentation in the taxation field. Already Roosevelt and the House had bowed to pressure for drastic modification of the undistributed profits tax. Harrison insisted upon complete repeal and on drastic revision of the capital gains tax.

Long a Democratic leader and caustic critic of Republican administrations, Harrison had swallowed many New Deal measures in which he did not believe, meanwhile shak-

Short Wave Radio Is Major Weapon In World War Of Words Today

Europe Shoots All Over Map

BY WILLIAM McGAFFIN
AP Feature Service Writer

LONDON—The short wave broadcast, little more than a toy 10 years ago, is today a major weapon in the world-wide propaganda war of increasing bitterness.

Italy is adding power, England is adding transmitters and, once the effectiveness of these improvements is established, you can be sure other nations will rush to bring their space-annihilating propaganda mills up to the new standard.

At Peak Recently

The ether battle reached its highest pitch recently when Italy's anti-British broadcasts to Arabic speaking sections of Africa and Asia spurred John Bull to action.

But for more than six years, the short wave war has been increasing in fury until now England, Germany, Italy, France, Spain and Russia are sending out daily multi-language broadcasts that virtually cover the world.

German Station Greatest

Most powerful short wave stations in Europe are the German station at Zossen, about 22 miles from Berlin, and the British Broadcasting company station at Daventry, England.

From Zossen, the nazis keep up a steady stream of German propaganda. Six to eight hours a day the broadcasts are directed at North, Central and South America. The programs, though full of political harangue, are considered more palatable than some others because of their good music and entertainment.

From Rome an Italian short wave station, soon to be increased in power, has been flashing daily programs of biased news and entertainment to the Arabic-speaking Near East, to Ethiopia, Eritrea, Italian Samaliland, Australia, the Far East, Russia and the Americas. Two medium wave stations in Rome and Bari complete the fascist propaganda network with daily broadcasts in Arabic, Rumanian, Bulgarian, Serbian, Albanian and Greek.

Russia Broadcasts Daily

Russia broadcasts daily from an all-direction short wave station at Moscow. The programs, in English, French, German and Italian, usually describe Soviet achievements, give the Soviet view of foreign affairs, and a glowing picture of life under communism. Apparatus is lacking, however, for concentration on any one country, and the broadcasts scatter out in all directions.

France transmits news and propaganda from Paris daily in French, English and German to the Americas, Africa, Egypt, the Antilles, Australia and the Far East, with special emphasis on Indo-China.

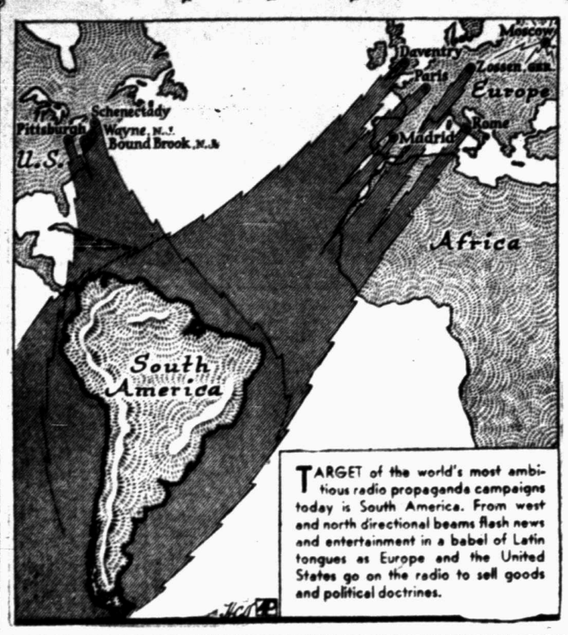

In All Principal Languages

Government Spain sends news of the war and anti-fascist propaganda daily from Madrid in all principal European languages, concentrating its focus on Germany, Italy and the Americas. Approximately 200 letters reportedly are received monthly from American listeners.

Last to get into the short wave war, Britain today is broadcasting in all directions. Six transmiters have been functioning at Daventry and two more are being added especially for South and Central American programs, intended to counteract German and Italian broadcasts held harmful to British interests there.

Daily Arabic broadcasts of 'objective' news and music were started in January. Since 1932, the BBC has been sending daily Empire programs of news and entertainment to Australia, New Zealand, the Far East, South Africa and Canada and occasional programs to the United States.

In European countries, a favorite method of counteracting radio propaganda broadcasts is "jamming"—simply drowning out the offending program by transmitting a static hum on the same wave length. Russia, Italy and Germany all have practiced jamming.

TARGET of the world's most ambitious radio propaganda campaigns today is South America. From west and north directional beams flash news and entertainment in a babel of Latin tongues as Europe and the United States go on the radio to sell goods and political doctrines.

South Plains Area Adapted To Growing Of Broom Corn

South Plains land is adapted to the growing of broom corn and this crop has been a factor in farm income in several sections for more than a decade.

Broom corn is grown in several counties, particularly Lamb, Hockley, Lynn, Terry, Yoakum, Cochran, Gaines and Lubbock. A number of farmers who have come into the section from Western Oklahoma have taken to growing the corn here.

As many as 30 to 40 carloads of corn has been shipped in a single season, in addition to many truck loads shipped to points over the state.

CIVIC-BOOSTER NOTE

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—Fearing there are a lot of postcards for sale that show San Jose as it was a few years ago, instead of the metorpolis it is today, the chamber of commerce is trying to call them all in. It will distribute up-to-date postcards in their place.

Japanese have reopened the Lungyen iron mines in Chahar, North China.

Alfalfa Is Good Crop For Area's Irrigated Farms

Alfalfa is a good crop for irrigated land over the South Plains and farmers in Hale county get five and sometimes six cuttings from a single season, depending on the length of the season.

Growing alfalfa for seed cuts down the number of cuttings to about three a year. The seed brings a good price and many farmers have a portion of their acreage set aside for seed growing.

During the past year the yield averaged nearly a ton per acre per cutting. Some farmers reported a full ton average.

Seed production is 300 to 400 pounds per acre. There is a steady demand for seed and more could be handled by dealers.

Wool Loans Announced

(By The Associated Press)

SALT LAKE CITY, April 15.—Wool loans, under the $50,000,000 fund of the Commodity Credit corporation, will be available to woolgrowers throughout the nation on April 15, F. R. Marshall, secretary of the National Woolgrowers' association, announced today.

Loans can be obtained up to Oct. 31 of this year, Marshall said. They will be made, for the most part, through banks and loan agencies situated in principal producing cities.

Must Be In Warehouse

"In order to be eligible for a loan," Marshall said, "a clip must have been placed in a warehouse recognized for the purpose by the commodity credit corporation. The grower, however, has the option of obtaining a loan direct from the corporation. In this case, he must present an acceptable warehouse receipt and sign the prescribed note, sending both to the loan agency of the Reconstruction Finance corporation for the district in which he is located."

Owners of warehouses desiring to handle wools to be held under government loans will make their arrangements by communicating with loan agencies now functioning under the RFC. These agencies include Houston and San Angelo, Texas.

To Stabilize Market

Principle of the loans is that growers receive compensation prior to marketing of their wool, the loan act is designed to stabilize the market by preventing glutting.

Notes will bear interest at four per cent. Wool under loan may be released at any time upon payment of the note, Marshall said.

Loan prices, all based on scoured prices at Boston, will range from 59 cents per pound on very choice fine wools to 50 cents per pound on poor and inferior. Half-blood wool loans are from 52 cents on class X to 51 cents on class X1.

Wool or mohair produced in 1937 or 1938 to which the producer still holds title is eligible for loans, Marshall explained.

Loans on mohair begin at 30 cents for Texas-kid hair and drop to 19 cents for all other states-adult mohair.

LIVE ON $22 A MONTH

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Eighty college boys are living on $22 a month for board and room at Brentwood Cooperative hall at the University of California at Los Angeles.

The students manage the small budget by doing all their own housework.
