Austin — Legislators by the hundreds are assembling in Austin to tackle a mountain of inherited and new problems in a hastily-remodeled State Capitol.

Workmen barely completed their renovation of the new offices of Senators and Representatives before the occupants (for at least the next 140 days) moved in.

There is little indication, of course, where the 62nd Legislature is heading, but nearly everybody agrees it faces a major fiscal crisis. Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes says the session may well be "the most difficult in Texas history."

Estimates of needed taxes range from $645 million to $850 million, and even higher in some cases. Barnes says he would be surprised if the sales tax rate and range were not both hiked.

James McGrew, head of Texas Research League and an outstanding tax authority, thinks that a state income tax may be necessary despite lawmakers' commitments to the contrary.

A welfare fund shortage may force a $55 million to $70 million tax bill early this year as an emergency measure.

Legislative and congressional redistricting, threatening an end to many political careers, may be necessary because of the new census. And this job could keep lawmakers overtime if the tax bill doesn't.

A federal court decision last week knocked out Texas' annual voter registration requirement and, as House Speaker Gus Mutscher commented, it "added urgency" to pressing election code reforms.

Liquor-by-the-drink legislation, environmental pollution, auto insurance, education, judicial reform, utilities legislation, and penal code revision are only a few of the issues which will be making headlines at the capitol during the next five months ... or more.

HOUSE CHANGES URGED — Speaker Mutscher applauded recommendations of his blue ribbon "Committee of 100" for House of Representatives reforms as offering national leadership in legislative modernization.

This committee concluded that lawmakers are underpaid (at $4,800 a year, plus $875 a month expense account for Representatives, $1,700 for Senators) and suggested the appointment of a six-member commission to set maximum salary levels.

Fearing for the safety of legislators in an era of demonstrations — the glassing in of the House galleries and use of metal detectors to discover concealed weapons.

One of the Committee's top reform proposals called for a strict new code of ethics governing legislative conduct.

Other recommendations ranged over a wide field — from publicity services for House members to a suggested new $3.75 million underground addition to the capitol and a long-range capitol area parking plan.

COURTS SPEAK — A three-judge federal court in Houston knocked out Texas' annual registration for voting requirement but retained jurisdiction while awaiting the Legislature's response.

State Supreme Court declined a new hearing of its December decision where it held that a Denton land developer was entitled to $10,000 damages for libel because a newspaper erroneously stated he had filed bankruptcy proceedings.

Reversing lower courts, the Supreme Court concluded that a Houstonian who developed lung disease (silicosis) from breathing silica sand while on his job is entitled to workmen's compensation.

In another reversal, the High Court ruled that a construction worker from Houston and his widowed mother should draw workmen's compensation for a 1967 auto accident in which his father was killed.

AFL-CIO filed a district court suit here to set aside the State Board of Insurance order directing a 14 per cent increase in auto insurance rates.

AG OPINIONS — Six months' prohibition on remarriage after a divorce applies only to persons who secured divorces from Texas courts, Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin has held.

In other opinions, Martin concluded that:

• Maximum compensation for chief sheriff's deputy and first assistant county attorney is $9,226; for other sheriff's deputies and assistants, $8,073.

• In the absence of conferred authority from the President, state officers may not execute a federal search warrant under the Comprehensive Drug Abuse and Control Act.

• Counseling service for debtors requiring disbursements from a bank account constitutes forbidden "debt pooling."

• City of Pearland does not have authority to appoint auxiliary police.

MOVIE CURBS EYED — Senate committee, after hearing testimony that Texas is No. 1 in the number of theaters showing sex films, proposed the establishment of local motion picture licensing and review boards.

Committee promised additional recommendations. First proposal is aimed at making it possible to revoke licenses for theaters which show films unsuitable for minors.

Prosecutors, at the Austin hearing, claimed they are without adequate legal tools, as the result of court decisions, to make effective cases against distributors of "skin-flicks."

SHORT SNORTS
Governor Smith was hospitalized briefly with stomach ulcer.

House historical preservation committee recommended acquiring historical sites in Val Verde County, at Sabine Pass and Fort Velasco.

State Board of Education adopted a statewide plan to comply with East Texas federal court's integration guidelines.

Committee on uninsured motorists recommended a penalty of up to $60 against drivers who carry no insurance.

State tax revenue from cigarette smoking increased $413,707 from December, 1969, to December, 1970, climbed to $15.8 million.

Wright Patman's Weekly Letter

First Congressional Dist. of Texas "Heart of the Gulf Southwest"

EXTREMELY SAD BUT TRUE. It is too often the case that human greed, stupidity, or inefficiency, or a combination of all three, block the best efforts of our Federal Government to help people who are most in need. A recent investigation by the staff of the Banking and Currency Committee under my supervision has disclosed shocking and widespread abuses of Federal low-income housing programs. Copies of the 180-page investigative report, with 16 photographs of actual conditions disclosing these abuses, will be sent free to interested constituents upon request to my office.

THIS WAS A BI-PARTISAN INQUIRY and our staff study was given full approval by the ranking Republican member of the Banking and Currency Committee, whose statement to the press as well as my own comments will be included with the report itself for those requesting it.

COIN COLLECTORS often express an interest in the more than 3 million rare silver dollars held by the Treasury. In this connection, the Congress has recently authorized the transfer of these silver dollars to the General Services Administration for sale to the public in such a manner that any interested person will have an opportunity to bid on one or more of the rare coins. As soon as detailed procedures are developed, information on how to submit bids will be reported in this newsletter for the benefit of East Texas coin collectors.

NON-SERVICE-CONNECTED PENSIONS for veterans and their families will be increased by an average 9.5% effective January 1 of this year as the result of Congressional approval of H. R. 15911 (discussed in my 1724th newsletter). The new veterans law, (P. L. 91-588) also improves benefits for dependent parents qualified for indemnity compensation and will remove income reporting requirements, effective January 1, 1972, for persons age 72 or over who have received a pension for at least two years and whose incomes have not changed during the two-year period.

THE FIELDS OF TEXAS BLUEBONNETS portrayed in two oil paintings which hang in my Washington office attract the attention of visitors who often ask if the bluebonnets in the paintings are the official State Flower. Actually, experts tell me there are four different species of Texas bluebonnets which share the Latin designation of Lupinus. Two of these, L. conchensis (2 to 4 inches high) and L. harvardii (up to 20 inches high), are found only in extreme western parts of the state. The third species, L. texensis (up to 2 feet tall) is native to Texas prairies blooming in early summer, and this is the variety most commonly thought to be the true Texas bluebonnet.

BUT THE OFFICIAL STATE FLOWER is L. subcarnosus (up to 15 inches high, blooming in early spring) which is native to East Texas and the Gulf Coastal section of the state. While some floriculturists feel that L. subcarnosus is the least attractive of the four bluebonnet species, I personally admire our own East Texas variety which has in fact been designated as the State Flower by the Texas Legislature. East Texans are always welcome to come by my office when in Washington to view the paintings and decide for themselves whether they are viewing L. texensis or L. subcarnosus.

Womack - Storey Vows Exchanged

First United Methodist Church, Paris, was the setting Tuesday evening for the formal double wedding when Miss Shelley Lynn Storey became the bride of Larry Carl Womack. The couple pledged vows at 7 o'clock.

The Rev. Felix Kindel, minister of the church, officiated.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Kelley Storey, 2950 Hubbard, and Mrs. L. C. Womack, 544-7th N. W., Paris.

She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Storey of Deport.

At the church altar, votive candles in five seven-branched candelabrams and two fifteen-branched candle trees, amid palms, commodor fern and camelia foliage, were accented with mass arrangements of white chrysanthemums and gypsophila. Centering the scene was a white brocade pillow, where the couple knelt.

Each of the stained glass windows of the church was highlighted by votives and the aisles and pews were marked with geranium foliage and white satin roses.

Mrs. Verlin Stewart, organist, presented a program of music including the traditional wedding music.

Mr. Storey escorted his daughter to the altar and gave her in marriage.

For her wedding, the bride was attired in a formal creation which she designed and which was created for her. Of white crushed velvet, entirely lined in white silk, the gown was designed with a high waistline and deep V neckline, outlined in tear drop seed and baroque pearls. She wore a choker of matching velvet and pearls. The gown's sleeves, which emphasized a puffed Victorian style, were deeply cuffed at the wrists. A row of tiny velvet buttons fastened the back of the gown and the creation's controlled skirt swept into a full cathedral train. Her slippers were white satin Mary Janes.

The bride's veiling of imported pure silk English illusion and encircled with a wide border of peau de ange lace, framed the hairline and created a mantilla effect. She kept the tradition of "Something old, new, borrowed and blue with a sixpence in her shoe" the same sixpence her mother had worn in her slipper in her wedding. She also wore her mother's wedding ring and she carried a colonial bouquet of white roses.

Miss Jenny Harlan was maid of honor and Mrs. Mike Brisco of Denton was matron of honor.

The bridesmaids were Miss Vicki Woolston, Miss Connie Sterling, Miss Devon McKinney of Lubbock and Miss Lucy Nail of Houston.

The attendants wore full-length royal purple crushed velvet creations.

The cathedral candles on the altar were lighted by Lee Ann Stinson of Deport, cousin of the bride, who was dressed as the adult attendants, and Joe Nail of Houston, cousin of the bride.

Larry Don Jordan was best man. Groomsmen were Rock Rollins of Dallas, Johnny Crawford, Tom Brosseau of Dallas, Garry Davis and Monty Nowell. The ushers were Stephen Storey, brother of the bride, Mike Womack, brother of the groom, Ger-

Two Dallam County Youths Attend Chicago 4-H Congress

Two Dallam County 4-H'ers are back at their high school senior classes after attending the National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Nov. 29 through Dec. 3.

Judy Florida, 17, of Kerrick, won her expense-paid trip to the congress in the bread program sponsored by Standard Brands Incorporated. Tommy Bezner, 18, of Dalhart, received his educational trip award from The Santa Fe Railway System.

They were selected for their state honors by the Cooperative Extension Service which directs ects and traveled 80 miles to help a new club with food projects. After teaching her brother to make cinnamon rolls, he won the bake show contest.

The high school senior served as secretary of the Dallam County 4-H Council and editor of the county 4-H Newsletter in 1970.

Beef is the favorite project of young Bezner, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Bezner. He has carried the beef project six of his nine years in 4-H and has won county, state and tri-state awards.

"Studying livestock subject matter units has been very educational," he said. "The knowledge gained here assisted me in making the livestock judging team five years."

In his field crops project he has raised milo and soybeans since 1964 and displayed the re-

4-H work. The awards program is arranged by the National 4-H Service Committee.

Miss Florida, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Florida, won her 1970 state award with the help of German brown bread. She previously won the district food show awards with doughnuts and coconut pound cake. She also has exhibited rolls, muffins, pies, loaf breads, biscuits and cookies at food and bake shows.

"I have saved a lot of money on our food budget by baking cakes and things from scratch rather than by box. I also saved a lot on my college education when I won a $500 scholarship," said Miss Florida, a seven-year 4-H'er.

She helped 168 younger members with baking and food proj-sults at the Tri-State Fair. He gave soil and water demonstrations at county and district contests.

In 1968, Bezner was honored as Gold Star boy at the 4-H achievement banquet. He has served as president of his club and is a member of the county 4-H council. He assists younger members with beef and swine projects and at county and state livestock shows.

ald Jack, Bill Ware of Ft. Worth, Bob Modley of Dallas, Mike Dorough and Robert Acuff of Dallas.

In charge of the registry in the entrance of the church prior to the ceremony was Miss Camille Holmes.

The bride and groom are graduates of Paris High School and she attended Texas Tech University for two years. Prior to her marriage she was employed by the Department of Public Welfare at Austin. The groom, who attended Texas Tech for a year and a half, was a member of the Red Raider football squad and Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

The Hometown Newspaper — Worth Anything To You?

What do you think of your hometown newspaper? Do you think enough of it to support it with your advertising dollars? If you will think about it and vision not having one — even though it does not come up to your standards — you will see where it is a pretty valuable asset. We know of a few small towns in this area which would give most anything to have a medium to record their visitors, births, marriages, deaths, church and social gatherings. At Detroit, in Red River County which has been without a newspaper since their editor, Claud Council died many years ago, Miss Edyth DeWitt, who had no previous experience in newspaper work, is giving of her own time and money to try to supply the town with a local paper to identify Detroit as a town. In Lamar, Red River and Titus Counties there is but one local paper located outside the county seats. The local newspaper does not try to keep up with national affairs, usually does not try to tell you how to vote; how to run the city government and cannot afford to have special reporters or special columns. It only serves as a place to print your notices, cards of thanks, local happenings—things your daily papers would not be interested in reporting. Those who try to print a small town newspaper usually work with old fashioned equipment that no one in a daily newspaper office nowadays could operate. But by hard work they remain in the small town and supply a service that is of great importance to readers even though not very rewarding financially. The hometown newspaper must have the support of the advertisers to survive and is the best place in which to place your ad if you want the local people to read it. A small town without a newspaper or means of communication does not have much identity. If your town has one it had better try to keep it, for they are hard to replace, and it takes something besides subscription money to keep it going.
