TAX RATE CUT LIKELY, STATE CITY OFFICIALS

Economical Operation of City Affairs Will Allow Decrease

RATE IS NOW $1.50

Little Probability of Increase in Rate of Assessments

Belief that economical operation of the city's affairs and an increase in property valuations which the new tax assessing system will give would permit a well-defined cut in the tax rate for next year was expressed Friday in official circles. Municipal officials who have been figuring on budgets for the coming year have proceeded far enough to see the approximate arrangement of Wichita Falls' financial structure for the coming 12 months, and as it now stands, things are shaping up about as they had hoped for.

Perhaps the most optimistic of those in a position to know was Mayor R. E. Shepherd who declared after a study of all the budget recommendations now on hand that a cut in the rate was "practically assurred." How much of a reduction might be expected he declined to say, but from other sources it was hinted that a 10 per cent slice might be forthcoming. The rate now, as it has been for the last two years, is $1.50 per $100 valuation for the city tax, and $1 for the school.

Two Factors

The reduction when it comes can be attributed to two factors primarily —economical operation of all municipal departments and a larger property valuation on which to make assessments. The city now has an appraised real estate and improvement value of more than $48,000,000, not counting its personal property valuations. Last year it was about $35,000,000. The same proportionate assessment, it is presumed, will be made this year at last, which will mean a two-thirds basis of the entire valuation will be used for figuring taxes. Hence, it is seen that the same tax rate would bring in considerably more money.

To Cut Rate

Because of this the city plans to cut the rate and still get as much if not a little more actual cash than it has. Constant expansion and need of improvements require that the yearly budget for 1925-26 be larger than that of 1924-25.

Departmental heads were given orders when the budget calls when out to keep their expense recommendations at the lowest point possible consistent with reasonable development. In this economy program lies the other factor that will mean a saving.

Former Mayor Frank Collier, when budgets were being prepared a year ago, was exceedingly anxious that a rate reduction be made; but in view of the immense amount of improvements he knew would be necessary for the year could not see his way clear to approve such action. Other members of the council, too, desired the cut but in the facts and figures as they then stacked up could not find justification for allowing it.

Petroleum Decree Wipes Out Town Of 1,500

CHEYENNE, Wyo., March 6.—The town of Lavoye was literally wiped off the map of Wyoming today and its 1,500 residents deprived of their homes by a ruling of federal Judge L. Blake Kennedy, who ordered that the entire village and its populace must be moved in order to make a clear path for a giant of industry—petroleum.

Public buildings, business houses, homes—everything—must go. For Judge Kennedy decreed that the Ohio Oil company, which leased the land on which the town is located from the government for oil development is entitled to full possession within 60 days from today. On April 21, 1924, he held that the town had been established without legal basis but lid not provide for enforcement of a removal order.

Today's decision means that if any sign of the town is left in 60 days, those responsible will be subject to citation for contempt of court.

Lavoye is a modern incarication of the typical boom mining town of the old west. Prosperity has been general since the town was established in 1920 and the hundreds of men employed in the breatbless rush for oil spent as freely as they earned.

Lavoye is located in the heart of the big Salt Creek oil field. It puffed up between patches of alkali and sage brush almost over night. 40 miles north of Casper when oil drilling demanded hundreds of men in that vicinity. In 1922 it took on another spurt of growing which continued until 1923, and it still is the same bustling village, having one large mercantile establishment, three weekly newspapers, numerous motion picture theatres, automobile agencies and other institutions of work and play which fortune seekers demand.

Like the mushroom town that it is, its buildings are flimsy—hastily thrown together shacks for the most part—and can be easily demolished. It is expected that the business interests of the town will be transfered mostly to Salt Creek a nearby oil town.

CHICAGO WHEAT SUFFERS HEAVY DROP IN PRICE

Two Dollar Bushels Do Not Materialize in Market

CHICAGO, March 6.—Wheat suffered its most violent set back in price today since last summer when $2.00 a bushel and above began to dazzle the speculative world. An extreme break of 12 3-8c today to $1.80 for the May delivery accompanied selling that amounted far into millions of bushels and that many traders regarded as the end of the scare about a dearth of bread material this season.

The semi-panic followed reports of unusually heavy shipments of wheat from the southern hemisphere, the market effect of which had been dramatically emphasized by word of widespread rains over the drouth stricken crops of India and by forecasts of rain and snow for the dry portions of the winter wheat belt in this country.

Almost total absence of new export business in the United States today tended to knock down values, and to flurry the confidence of friends of higher prices.

Navy Is "Defending" Coast From Attack

ABOARD U. S. S. SEATTLE, March 6.—(AP)—Bloodhounds of the navy are loosed upon the Pacific today in the first maneuvers ever held in these waters by the scouting fleet. This arm of America's sea power co-ordinating speed unit of the naval forces designed to seek out an enemy forces, is moving up the coast from Panama in the role of the defense blue fleet. It is engaged in a war problem to prevent the mighty black fleet force of 51 war craft of the United States battle fleet from reaching the Pacific coast.

A great network is spread over the sea by 58 vessels of scouting fleet as it speedily advances. Its chief arms of destruction are on the alert with a division of light cruisers which form the fundamental basis of scouting. These cruisers move in wide formation covering a large area and maintaining constant watch for aircraft. Destroyer and battleship radio operators listen in on wide bands of wave lengths on guard for signals from the black fleet, which, if intercepted, would betray their location.

LOFTIN OF CLAY SLIPS IT OVER AMNESTY FOES

Henrietta Man Obtains Lead Position on House Suspension Calendar

COMES UP MONDAY

Opponents Think Parliamentary Truce Dates Fight for Later Time

AUSTIN, March 6.—(AP)—A bit of sub-amnesty secrets came to light tonight when it was learned that Representative Ruben Loftin, of Henrietta, floor leader of the proponents of amnesty held "an ace in the hole."

It was said that Loftin, by a bit of trading, had obtained the lead position on the house suspension calendar and intended to introduce the amnesty bill the first thing Monday morning.

Every member in the house is allowed one suspension position, to be considered in the order of their filing. It was also said that the proponents of amnesty had intended to adjourn tonight with the secret knowledge that their bill would come up Monday, and not next senate bill day, as the opponents expected.

Agreement Entered.

However, they entered an agreement to the special setting for Tuesday afternoon "in the interests of harmony and economy." At no time were the proponents uneasy, it was said.

The dove of peace was thought to have flown over the opposing camps in the amnesty war and a truce struck until Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The sponsor of the little bird was Speaker Lee Satterwhite of Panhandle, who, seeing the amnesty actions in the house fruitlessly skirmishing for a parliamentary advantage to the expense of general legislation, left his seat, met the opposing sides, and induced them to come to terms.

The truce was planned to break a tension of three days in which the house factions had been ready to fight on the slightest provocation, one to hurry consideration, the other determined to delay. Each side has charged the other with "iniquitous filibustering" and each has as readily denied the implication.

Discuss Constitutionality.

A ruling by the speaker just before lunch recess opened discussion of a resolution as to the constitutionality of the amnesty bill and the afternoon session opened with the house expectant of further fireworks.

Here again a surprise was registered when Representative Loftin declared the resolution "does nothing, gets us nowhere, and in view of the fact the amnesty bill has been thoroughly discussed, and to save time, I move that the resolution be laid on the table." The motion carried 79 to 48.

Opponents of the amnesty bill declared tonight, in a public statement, that they had agreed to a special setting of the measure for Tuesday in order to save the educational appropriation bill. They charged that pressure is being brought from sources "that hold arbitrar ypower" to compel passage of the bill and that though they consented to the special setting they still believe the business of the whole state should have precedence over "private bills."

REMEMBER ALAMO'S FALL

San Antonio Holds Two Sessions on 89th Anniversary

Oil Town to Fight Order of Removal

CASPER, Wyo., March 6.—The oil town of Lavoye will fight for its existence in the United States circuit court of appeals, Alfred S. Beach, counsel for the Lavoye townsite association said here tonight on receiving word that Federal Judge Kennedy had decreed today in Cheyenne that the little village must be wiped off the Salt Creek oil field in 60 days.

Mr. Beach and the townsite officials have sought to stave off "judgment days" for Lavoye in the hope that congressional relief might be obtained, but with the adjournment of congress March 4, their plans were shattered. An appeal to the circuit court and a restraining order from the appellate body will be asked in order to make ineffective, temporarily, at least, Judge Kennedy's ruling, Mr Beach announced.

Maybe His Toast Was Scorched

Wonder why the peeved expression on Cal's face? Maybe his electrical hobby horse threw him for a few bumps that morning on his way to the inauguration or perhaps Mrs. Coolidge has just finished telling him his tie is crooked. Anyway, this thing of being inaugurated president probably isn't what it is cracked up to be.

DEMPSEY TOLD BY BOARD TO FIGHT OR ELSE

Athletic Commission Gives Him 24 Hours to Answer Harry Wills

NEW YORK, March 6.—(AP)—The New York state athletic commission today wired Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion at Los Angeles, demanding that he reply within twenty-four hours to the challenge filed by Harry Wills, negro contender, for a title match here.

The commission, taking action to force Dempsey to meet his negro challenger before taking on any other opponents within its jurisdiction notified the champ that Wills' formal challenge had been filed February 17, last, a week prior to the one filed by Tom Gibbons, St. Paul heavyweight.

The action on the heavyweight situation followed an expected shake-up in the organization of the commission by which James A. Farley of Stony Point, N. Y., replaced George E. Brower as chairman. Farley was elected by the votes of himself and the remaining commissioner, William Muldoon at a meeting which was not attended by Brower.

Wait and See.

Asked what the commission's attitude would be if Dempsey attempted to side step the Wills challenge and accepted the Gibbons challenge, Commission Chairman Farley said:

"We will cross that bridge when we come to it."

The commissioner said this was the first step taken in a campaign to force all inactive champions to fight or give up their crowns.

The telegram to Dempsey follows:

"There are filed at this office two challenges to you to box for the heavyweight championship —your title; first, Harry Wills, filed February 17, 1925; second, Tom Gibbons, filed February 24, 1925. These challenges are supported by a forfeit of $2,500 each.

"The period of time fixed by the law of this state—six months—in which you have to defend your title has expired. You are requested by the commission to accept or decline these challenges in the rotation in which they are filed.

"Please wire your answer to this office within twenty-four hours."

JACK WILL FIGHT ONLY FOR RICKARD

NEW YORK, March 6.—(AP)—"If Jack Dempsey fights in 1925 it will be under my promotion." Tex Rickard, Madison Square Garden promoter, said tonight after a long conference with Teddy Hayes, Dempsey's trainer and personal representative.

"Hayes gave me definite assurance from Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, that the champion will risk his title in a match promoted by me in 1925 and no other promoter in the East can get his services.

"Kearns expects to arrive here next week. We will definitely close articles at that time."

Rickard said his idea was to have Dempsey meet the winner of the Wills-Gibbons match which he intends to promote at the Yankee Stadium some time this summer. The Dempsey bout, he said, would be held some time in September, probably at the Yankee Stadium.

Hayes is in New York to answer to an indictment charging him with alleged conspiracy to transport motion picture films of the Dempsey-Carpentier fight. His case has been called for next Tuesday.

JACK'S MANAGER BUCKS THE BOARD.

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 6.—Dictation on the part of the new state athletic commission as to who Jack Dempsey, heavyweight boxing champion, shall and shall not fight is out of the question, Jack Kearns, the title holder's manager, declared here late today in answer to a demand by the New York commission that Dempsey reply within twenty-four hours to the challenge of Harry Wills, the negro contender.

WIVES TRADED BY FARMERS; LAW OBJECTS

Queer Matrimonial Tangle Comes to Light at Mother's Protest

BLOOMFIELD, Mo., March 6.—A remarkable love tangle in which two young farmers traded wives came to light today with the arrest of Mr. and Mrs. Curt Wallace and Mr. and Mrs. Otis Cravens. They were held in the Stoddard county jail pending trial in circuit court on statutory charges.

Wallace, 27, and his wife, Cora, 24, were married seven years ago. They have three children, Bertha, Owen and Loren, ranging in age from 6 to 2 years. Cravens, 30, and his wife, Nellie, 22, were married eight years ago and they have two children, Marie, 5, and Lee, 3.

"We just lost our hearts for each other," Cravens declared. "I fell in love with Cora and Curt found that he loved Nellie. The two women decided their love for the other man had developed and they no longer cared for their real husbands. We were just mismated."

The decision to trade wives was made on February 2, the couples said, adding they did not think it was anybody's business but their own.

Wallace sent his three children to stay with their grandmother, Mrs. Ida L. Wallace of Greenbriar, and Cravens sent his two children to live with their grandparents at Cline's Island. Wallace's mother did not think so well of the proposition and immediately notified the officers.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace and Mr. and Mrs. Cravens who will face Judge T. J. Vaughan in circuit court here next week on charges of trading mates will plead guilty, they announced.

"We will pay the penalty for violating the law," Wallace said.

"We will get our divorces as soon as possible, then we will correct the marital error of exchanging husbands and wives by marrying our soul mates."

—WACO METHODISTS DIFFER.

Ministers Take Issue With Each Other on Unification.

WACO, Mar. 6.—W. W. Lastington and William Lambdin, members of the official board of the Austin Avenue Methodist church, tonight issued a statement in which they took issue with the pastor of the church, Rev. C. H. Booth, who is leading Waco Methodists favoring the proposed plan of unification between the Northern and Southern Methodist churches.

The statement defended the personnel at the state meeting held here Tuesday and ended by asking how Dr. Booth received his information as to "what Jesus would think of unification."

Pershing to Attend Memorial Dedication

HAVANA, March 6.—(AP)—Participation by General John J. Pershing in the dedication of the memorial to the men who died when the battleship Maine was sunk in Havana harbor seemed assured tonight. His aides asserted that there was a slight improvement noted in the general's condition this afternoon.

Tomorrow General Pershing expects to make an official call on President Zayas and on Sunday to witness the unveiling of the Maine memorial, and if his health permits, attend a state dinner and reception in the presidential palace Sunday night.

The battleship Utah arrived in Havana harbor today. The vessel will leave here next Tuesday for New York with General Pershing and the members of his party.

The bill proposed admitting the klan in this state without a Kansas charter.

PILOTS SMASH IN AIR, SAVED BY PARACHUTE

Both Fall 5,000 Feet to Safety After Horrifying Experience

NEAR SAN ANTONIO

Aviators in "Battle" 600 Feet Above Clouds As Planes Met

SAN ANTONIO, March 6.—For the first time in the history of aviation, according to local army aviators, parachutes today saved two lives of two flyers who crashed at an altitude of 5,000 feet and 600 feet above the clouds. The pilots were Lieutenant C. D. McAllister, and Cadet Charles A. Lindbergh, students of the advanced flying school at Kelly Field.

The two student pilots are in the pursit section of the advanced school and were flying in a nine-ship formation at the time of the accident.

The pursit formation was gaining battle experience by attacking a DH-4B observation plane flown by First Lieutenant Russell L. Maughan, several hundred feet above the clouds.

The pursuit fliers came down from above in diving attack, three ships attacking in V-shaped formation. The first and second formation had pulled away and the third formation with Cadet P. R. Love in the lead divided for the attack. As Cadet Love pulled away from the slower observation ship, Cadet Lindbergh passed almost directly beneath it, while Lieutenant McAllister attacked from the left side at the same time.

The ships came together as the pilots began to regain altitude approximately 200 yards in front of Lieutenant Maughan's plane. Cadet Lindbergh who had made several parachute pumps prior to the Friday morning jump, was the first to clear the falling ships.

The pilots fell for several hundred feet before they pulled the rip cords of their parachutes. The chutes opened out and a moment later the wrecked ships shot by them. Upon reaching the ground, the planes burst into flames and were totally destroyed.

This is said to be the first time that two pilots have saved themselves by use of parachutes after a mid-air collision.

Five Kelly Field officers and cadets have saved their lives by the use of chutes since Lieutenant W. W. White jumped following a collision a year ago. Fifteen users of chutes have escaped death in this country within the past two years, Kelly Field officers say.

An investigation of the cause of a mild typhoid fever epidemic at Petrolia was made by Mr. Ehlers but no announcement given as to his findings. He did state, however, that the malady there was not attributal to the Wichita River. He also visited Iowa Park in connection with the recent damage suit filed against that community by reason of alleged unsanitary conditions created by the sewer system and disposal methods.

Dr. A. H. Douglas, head of the city health department, accompanied Mr. Ehlers on his inspections.

DISTRICT AND LAY ATTORNEY SENT TO JAIL

Dallas Official and Lawyer Refuse Apologies to the Judge

DALLAS, March 6.—Shelby Cox, Dallas county district atorney, and W. L. Crawford, attorney for E. D. McDearman, on trial charged with killing H. E. Guynes, were sentenced to jail from midnight tonight until Saturday morning at 7 o'clock by Judge Felix D. Robertson. The court said at noon the sentences would stand unless the two lawyers apologized to the court at the afternoon session. Each attorney intimated he would rather go to jail than apologize.

The sentences followed a clash between the two lawyers concerning whether a question was proper and the answer admissable. The court first instructed the district attorney be locked up between 12 and 2 o'clock this afternoon and Crawford to go to jail at 1 p. m. When Crawford said his time was required by McDearman, his client, the court changed the hour to midnight and also ordered that the district attorney be held at the same hour.

SHALL TEXAS BE A SKYSCRAPER?

Shall Texas become a skyscraper and fulfill its destiny? Or shall Texas remain a two-story structure and fail to take its place as designed in the beginning by the master architect of the universe? This is for the lawmakers of the thirty-ninth legislature to answer.

What is known as the carbon black bill was reported out of the committee by a tie vote. It is inconceivable that a legislative committee with all the facts before them should have scored a tie vote on a matter of such vital importance to Texas.

That bill should have been killed by unanimous vote of the committee? Now it should be the duty, the sacred duty, of the lower house law makers to kill the bill should it ever come before them.

Texas built its first house or rather the first story of its skyscraper in the long ago when the cattle industry became the basic wealth of the commonwealth. It built the second story of the invisible skyscraper when agriculture became the second basic structure of its wealth producing civilization.

Now there are other stories of the gigantic industrial structure to be constructed as time rolls by or else Texas must stand still. First the great cities are in evidence. They have been created in recent years. They are the consuming home markets of the products of the farm and orchard and garden.

Now Texas is on the verge of becoming a great manufacturing state. To become a great manufacturing state Texas must have a cheap fuel to furnish heat and power and light to its vast urban population who are the consumers of all the products of the tillers of the soil.

Texas has only small beds of coal, Texas has vast fields of natural gas. Now why should this natural gas be wasted, sold for a song, to the makers of cheap carbon black? Why should the future of Texas as a manufacturing state be blotted out?

All the farmers are interested. Rapidly growing cities and towns furnish a home market for all their products and these consumers must have the natural gas for heat and light and power or a finish will come to their expansion.

Texas has the longest line of gulf sea coast of any American state.

Texas, if the conservationists win their way, is certain to become a great maritime power, with the ships of the seven seas arriving and departing from the gulf ports and carrying the products of Texas to all the bargain counters of the world.

This can not be if the chief natural resource we have for heat and light and power is dissipated by law makers who are indifferent or uninformed as to the future development of their state from a three-story structure into a skyscraper that will almost touch the sky. Now Texas cannot be a great maritime power unless Texas first becomes a great manufacturing state—the consumer of the cotton, the wool, the mohair, and all other raw material which are turned into the finished products for the buyers of all nations.

Ships of the seas must carry cargoes to other lands and they must return laden with the products of other nations which meet with the ready sale in our own country. Texas has the lumber and the cotton and the wool for export to foreign nations but this will not suffice. The wealthy states of America and the wealthy nations of the world are the manufacturing states and nations.

This is the reason why the future of Texas is interlinked with this carbon black proposition. If carbon black wins then the state loses. There will be no great future in a manufacturing sense or from a maritime viewpoint for a people who will sit idly by and permit law makers to sell for a mess of pottage their greatest asset in the making of a vast civilization which combines all the industries of the earth with agriculture and the livestock industry.

All the law makers from the farming districts should realize the importance of defeating this carbon black bill. All the representatives from the cities and towns which are ambitious to become manufacturing centers should see the importance of killing the bill. And if the representatives from the coast district wish to see their maritime importance grow and reach its fullness they should be arrayed against the bill almost to a man.

If the law makers and the people are wise Texas is certian to be the tallest skyscraper in the sisterhood of states. And the law makers will not be wise if they destroy an asset which should be conserved to furnish heat and light and power for domestic and manufacturing purposes—if they permit it to be wasted for the benefit of a few individuals as this bill provides.

Shall Texas be a skyscraper or shall Texas be a three-story structure? Shall Texas be the foremost of manufacturing and maritime states or shall Texas be at the tail end of procession of states? The defeat of the carbon black bill will be a verdict for the skyscraper plan; the passage of the bill will be a victory for the tail end of the procession plan which is of tallow dip origin.

This newspaper is for the skyscraper. Kill the carbon black bill. Place Texas at the head of the procession of states by conserving the natural gas asset. Vote to make Texas first, always first, and posterity will point with pride to the thirty-ninth legislature for its share in the making of an empire under Texas skies.

SHORT WHEAT CROP IN RUSSIA

Russia has had a mild and snowless winter and the new crops have a poor outlook. Russia had a famine grain crop last year. Now another short wheat crop is promised and the leading newspapers of Slav land say that Russia will be compelled to import wheat in 1925 to feed its hungry millions.

This is bad news for Russia but good news for the American wheat grower. If the latter is blessed with a bumper crop this year he will be tame on election day and vote the straight republican ticket.

When he isn't tame he refuses to vote the straight republican ticket. It must be true that if you touch a man's pocket you shape his politics.

A VALUABLE COUNTER-TESTIMONY.

The testimony given against a unified air service by Rear Admiral Sims is all the more valuable because the admiral is in his own way an aircraft extremist. He agrees in the main with General Mitchell about the importance of the airplane in warfare. He is a disbeliever in the capital ship and an avowed opponent of those who think it the decisive factor in fleet engagements. Moreover, he is a warm admirer of General Mitchell's efforts to secure recognition for aircraft.

But, Admiral Sims has been a navy man and Mitchell has not. While the navy may be obsolete, it is still fit, in Sims opinion, to train men to handle planes over the water. "The air force from the shore out," says the admiral, "must be commanded by the navy, and I think with the submarine and aircraft properly developed, not necessarily excessively, we can protect ourselves from an enemy coming across the sea." The phrase, "not necessarily excessively" is a great concession of the admiral's. It shows that he is willing for the present organization of the navy to remain intact although he does not hesitate to predict that the capital ship of the future will be an airplane carrier.

Believing as he does that the airplane supported by under-water craft is destined to prove supreme, Admiral Sims yet cannot close his eyes to the fact that sea-fighting imposes its own conditions and that planes must be parts of an effective organization that can operate as a unit. This means that the navy alone can carry on naval operations whether in the air or on the water. Even though it may be obsolete as presently constituted, it can survive with its new weapon, the airplane, and demonstrate a continuing usefulness by the skill with which it manages this instrument of sea warfare.

AN INNING FOR THE RANGER

Chief Justice Key, of the San Antonio Court of Civil Appeals saved the life of the Texas Ranger when he declared the Ranger law to be constitutional. A district judge of Bexar county had declared the law null and void and had granted an injunction putting the ranger out of business.

Now General Mark McGee and his men will continue to function but in future the Ranger will be employed on the Rio Grande border instead of officiating as a police officer in the cities and towns of Texas.

Chief Justice Key delivered a most scathing rebuke to former governors and adjutant generals who employed the rangers for police purposes or rather for political purposes in many of the cities of the state.

This newspaper did not make the criticism. It is not concerned with the doings of former higher ups. Chief Justice Key did make it and his words are scorching to say the least.

For two years to come if a city or county needs the service of the ranger then the mayor or sheriff must make the appeal direct to the governor for ranger assistance.

It is understood however that in a city or county where the loyal officers are unable to cope with a serious situation the governor will use her own best judgment or the best judgment of her advisers.

Don't blame the ranger. He is not responsible for having been used as a petty police officer or private detective. It is his business to obey the orders of his superiors without asking the reason why.

For sixty or seventy years the Texas ranger was kept in the saddle, then he was dismounted. Now it is back to the saddle again.

AMONG THE BUCKEYES.

Ohio has a republican legislature and the senate has a large republican majority. By a vote of 30 to 4 the Ohio senate adopted a resolution asking the United States senate to act favorably and promptly on the proposal for American adherence to the world court.

This buckeye resolution never budged the United States senate and now the leaders say that the congress will adjourn without taking action on the world court proposal.

Like the league of nations the world court proposal appears to be a very punk issue. Americans refuse to agitate themselves over an abstract question and yet it is the most important now before the people of the civilized world.

About 25 years hence the warlike nations of the earth will be ready for another carnival of fire and blood.

MUSCLE SHOALS.

The gist of the Muscle Shoals controversy is that this big enterprise is for the purpose of creating power and nitrates.

Nitrates are necessary to the soil of farms and gardens. They are needed because crops consume nitrogen, and soil without nitrogen will not produce good crops.

The crops take the nitrogen from the soil and in order to replace it for further crops we must use things like manure from horses and cattle, and nitrates from Chile, which contain nitrogen.

Chile contains the greatest nitrate beds in the world. They are made by the offal of birds which live there.

Germany produces much material containing potash, but the war told us that we cannot depend upon Germany. We ought to make our nitrates ourselves. In the great war our farmers were unable to buy fertilizer in Germany and Chile on account of the submarines.

When there is not enough fertilizer, or when it is too high, the farmers cheat their soil. They produce, therefore, less crops. Too litfle fertilizer means a food shortage.

Muscle Shoals, therefore, is the means by which these nitrates can be easily manufactured from nearby rock and with the power of the great dam there, and supplied to the farmers.

In addition to this it will be a great source of electrical power.

The three propositions to utilize it were, first, the Norris plan, which provided that the government should manage the matter; second, the Underwood plan, which provided for public and private operation; and third, the proposition which was that a new commission be appointed to examine the whole subject.

Of all matters now before the public, Muscle Shoals is probably the most important. It is a political problem, a romantic opportunity, and the beginning of some sort or other of great things.

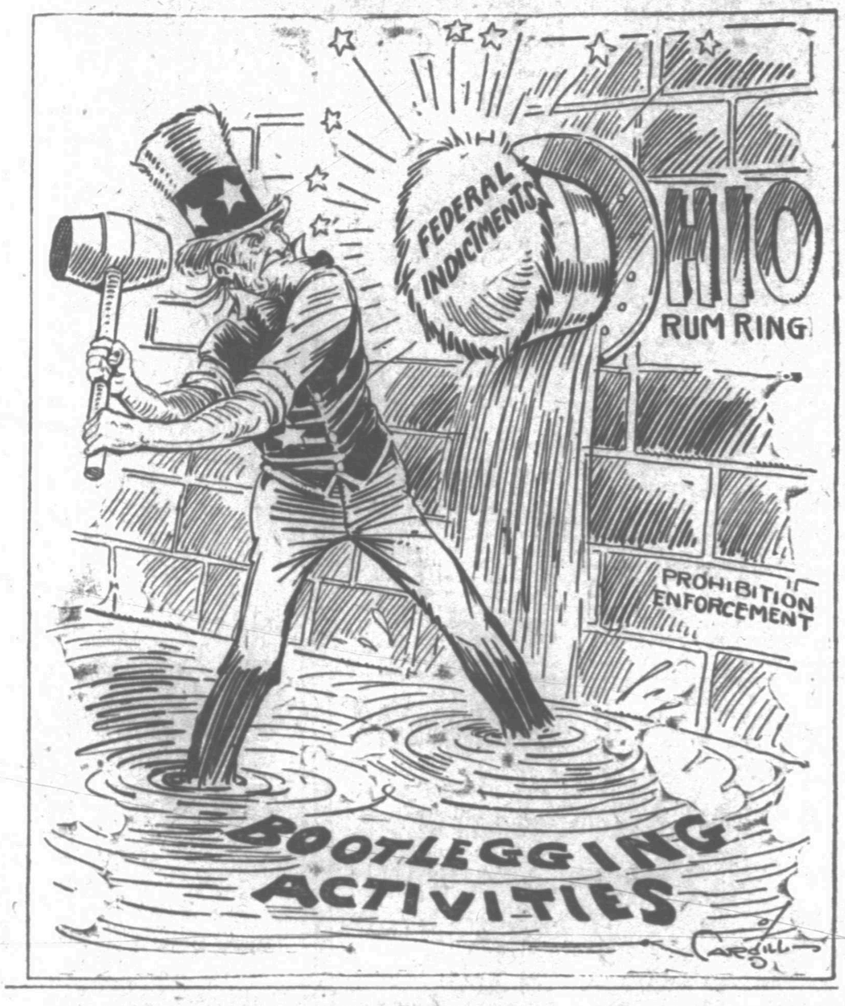

In any case the president will be praised or blamed for what is finally done.

Cross-Word Puzzle

GARDNER NO. 4-5

Every number in the form represents the beginning of a word, reading either horizontally or vertically. If there is a black square to the left of the number the word is horizontal; if above it, the world is vertical. The same number may of course begin both a horizontal and a vertical. The definitions for the correct words to fill the form are found below, with numbers corresponding to those on the form. Run through the definitions till you find one that you recognize, and put it in its proper place on the form one letter for each white square. This will furnish several cross-clues to the words linking with it at right angles. Continue in this manner till the form is completely filled. If you have solved the puzzle correctly it should read both horizontally and vertically with words corresponding to the definitions.

Irrigation

FARMING LARGE TRACTS UNDER IRRIGATION.

Tell them to co-operate closely with their farmers and urge them not to try to cultivate too much land, as that will be wasteful of labor, land, and water."

The above is a message a Rio Grande irrigation farmer sent through Dr. Youngblood to our business men.

This Rio Grande man no doubt thought that our local conditions were the same as on most irrigation projects. That is, the land would be owned by a multitude of small farmers. In which event his advice would be very pertinent.

As a matter of fact the land on the project is held in large part by absentee owners residents of Wichita Falls, Iowa Park, and other cities in Texas. The greater part of the land which will be farmed this year will be handled by tenants onthe holdings of these business men.

There has never been a lack of co-operation here between the land owners of the project and other citizens of the city. It is this co-operative spirit at work which has made the project what it is so far. This spirit is an admirable thing and we hope it continues.

We don't know how cotton farming under irrigation on a large scale is going to work out here. On other irrigation projects the advice to not try to farm too much land would be very good.

In practically every instance where large farming operations have been undertaken under irrigation they have been failures. In fact we do not know of any exceptions. Maybe it will be different here.

The Goodyear Rubber company undertook to farm a large tract to cotton on the Salt river project in Arizona. It was a failure. They had millions back of them and employed the best talent available.

Irrigation farming is highly successful on comparatively small tracts when farmed by the owners of the land themselves.

MATTERS OF HEALTH

To your children teach the truth,
Lest they learn from foul-mouthed youth.

When the beef is rare the tapeworm isn't.

Surface sewage,
Rural school;
Hookworm children
Are the rule.

In rural communities, surface sewage disposal and shallow wells are the sole sources of water-borne diseases.

Boasting, as we do, of our Twentieth Century civilization, it is about time for us to regard the insane man as a patient and not as a prisoner.

And they used to catch people
And jail them for debt,
But jailing insane
Is medieval yet.

Incarceration behind steel bars, with criminals for companions, doesn't seem to us to be the proper treatment for one suffering from a disease of the mind.

In overheated rooms, either deficient or excessive moisture has a deleterious effect upon the health of the occupants. A temperature of about 70 degrees and a relative humidity of about 65 per cent is the proper proportion for comfort and good health.

Better that the father should instruct his son in the way that he should go than for the gangster to instruct him in the way he should not go.

Sore throats, fevers, "colds" or rashes are very good reasons for keeping children home from school. All of these are symptoms of diseases that are communicable from the sick to the well.

It may be well in passing to observe that the typhoid oyster derived its infection from some careless man.

More Truth Than Poetry

MAUD MULLER—AS IT WOULD HAVE BEEN WRITTEN TODAY
Two hundred thousand American women are successful farmers

Maud Muller, on a summer's day
Raked the meadows, sweet with hay.

The judge, arriving upon the scene
In a 1919 limousine,

Paused by the fence, and blushed and sighed
And asked the maiden to be his bride.

But Maud, with a frown in her fishy eye,
Replied in an icy accent: "Why?

"I sell more hogs in a single day
Than you could buy with your monthly pay.

"A thousand acres of land I till
And wheats' two dollars, and rising still.

"Go back to the county seat, old sport,
To your battered bench in your dingy court.

"And find some girl who won't have to smear
At a couple of thousand or so a year.

"Who will be content with a modest flat
And a played out limousine car—like that—

"And the scrimping and saving and worrying life
That must be the lot of a judge's wife.

With which she bid him a kind good-day
And he stepped on the throttle and drove away.

And as he bumped down the muddy lane,
His thoughts were fashioned in this refrain:

"I must marry some poor little household drudge
For after all, I am just a judge!"

Word 6. A large ocean vessel that carries passengers.
Word 7. Muddle. "The engineer knew that liquor would—his brain."

What Today Means To You

By MARY BLAKE

Pisces.

Today's planetary aspects do not, during the early part of the day, counsel any forceful action, or effort of a radical nature. Rather do they presage success for work done in the routine way. There will probably be experienced a feeling of mistrust in one's own efforts, and a desire to seek the counsel and advice of others. Under such conditions, prudence suggests the advisability of deferring the final making of any important agreements or contracts, or the assumption of any financial obligations, until the signs are more propitious. In the afternoon, conditions show a decided change for the better, but, even at this, they rather favor social and recreative enterprise than that of the commercial variety. Any social function or athletic gathering will be successful and productive of good results.

A child born today will, in spite of many infantile ailments, yield very readily to proper treatment, and will develop more than normal physical strength and prowess. It will excel in all sorts of outdoor sports and pastimes and, whilst it will not wilfully neglect opportunities for the acquisition of learning, it will always consider these of secondary importance. Its disposition will be happy, and its character will be a good one, and very resentful of and sensitive to any act that savors of unfairness or injustice. Its affections will be deeply rooted, and giving much love and loyalty, it will demand just as much in return. If not forthcoming, it will show a disposition to sulk. It should never be engaged in any work of a sedentary or humdrum character.

If today is your birthday, you have a very calm and cool disposition, and rarely, if ever, allow excitement to get the upper hand. As a matter of fact, you feel as deeply as others, but always have your feelings under perfect control. This gift, quite exceptional in its way, has enabled you to acquire quite a satisfactory degree of material success. It has not, however tended to create for you that feeling of happiness which is experienced by many of those who are not creatures of suppression. Yielding within reason to natural impulses—even though it sometimes brings untoward results in its train—is sometimes more productive of the actual joy of living than snuffing them out with the extinguisher of affected indifference.

You are of a very saving disposition, but are generous to those whom you love. A little more affectionate demonstration, even though accompanied by less lavish expenditure would cause more pleasure and happiness.

Successful people born on this day are:

Richard M. Upjohn, architect.
Galusha Anderson, educator.
Daniel Giraud Elliot, scientist.
James M. Thoburn, M. E. bishop, first missionary bishop to the Philippines.
Henry Draper, scientist.
Luther Burbank, horticulturist, "The wizard of horticulture."

Food Needs Of Persons Found Through Tests

Little Is Known, However, Regarding Mineral Constituents

By MRS. IDA M. CHITWOOD
Written Especially For the Record News.

Through scientific research work, the food needs of a person of different age, sex, and occupation are so well known that general statements can be made as to the number of calories of energy and the amount of protein, fat, and carbohydrate that should be provided for each. In this way have been gathered data about how much energy are furnished by the common food materials, and simple statements of these facts are fairly common. There are, however, other essentials in the diet which can not be explained so easily. For example it has been difficult to make helpful statements about mineral constituents, the more important of which are iron, calcium, and phosphorus. It is fairly well known how much of these are needed by the body and how much are found in different food materials, but in both cases the quantities are so small (only a few grams or milligrams per man per day or per pound of material) that it is impracticable to measure them by pounds or ounces as we do the food material that supply them.

Compare Common Foods.

In general, my plan is to make a comparison between a pound of some of the common foods and the daily needs of a man who does moderately active muscular work. No one would think, of course, of trying to live on one food alone, but the comparisons which I am making are helpful to any one in combining food material so as to prepare a meal for your family filling all requirements.

A pound or a pint of whole milk is a good illustration. If you were to drink a pint of milk per day it would supply your body with 9 per cent of the energy or fuel, 15 per cent of the protein, 80 per cent of the calcium, 32 per cent of the phosphorus, but only 6 per cent of the iron needed daily if you are doing moderately active work. Or to put it another way, if a pint of milk is used in the daily dietary of a man, the remaining foods must supply 91 per cent of energy needed, 85 per cent of the protein, 20 per cent of calcium, 68 per cent of the phosphorus, and 94 per cent of the iron. To speak in particular only of the calcium and the iron, which offer a striking contrast, the remaining 20 per cent of the calcium would almost inevitably be supplied by the other foods even if they were selected at random, while it might require some thought to supply the other 94 per cent of the iron.

Group Three.

One pound of cabbage supplies about 120 calories of energy, 6 grams of protein, 0.17 grams of calcium, 0.11 grams of phosphorus, and 4.1 milligrams of iron. It would furnish therefore 3 per cent of the energy a man needs daily, 6 per cent of the protein, 25 per cent of the calcium, 8 per cent of the phosphorus, and 27 per cent of the iron.

Wichita Patrons Are Pleased By Wells And Bundy

Tucker and His Orchestra Prove Favorites on First Night

Gilbert Wells, the Texas favorite, is back again, this time with the charming Florence Brady in a red hot singing and dancing act. Gilbert Wells plays the piano while Miss Brady sings the blues. Then he gives a jazz version of the shooting of Dan McGrew, "Insufficient Sweetie" and "Red Hot Mama," two of Mr. Well's own compositions are well received. Since "Red Hot Mama" has grown a little old, Mr. Wells sings his latest, "Hot Tamale Mama."

Al Tucker, and his society orchestra mingle comedy and music. Dressed in ragged uniforms, covered with medals, they present a comic appearance. Their music is the latest jazz and their act contains plenty of surprises.

Florence Everett, the girl at the Cloak Room and John Ray, the breezy reporter from the Evening Breeze who gets wind of everybody who blows into town have clever dialogue, some songs and a little dancing. Mr. Ray reads the latest news that's bound to please when you read it in the Evening Breeze, and as its arranged in clever rhyme, he wins applause.

Gehan and Gerritsen mingle classical music and syncopation. Mr. Gehan matches his operatic singing against Miss Gerriton's blues in a contest for popularity. Judging from applause, jazz wins out. Both have good voices and the act is highly pleasing.

Mel Klee, "The Prince of Wails" chatters to the audience, and tells jokes on the other actors. He gives a lecture on love in which he says that "Love is a sugar coating on the cake of trouble."

Amazon and Nile first appear as a couple of huge crocodiles in a jungle setting. They prove to be clever contertionists. There will be three shows today at 2:30, 7:30 and 9:30 p. m.

There couldn't have been more interest in getting Collins out if he had been a girl murderess.

Airguns Practice But Score Few Hits Of Target

High Winds Trouble the Gunners in Their Shooting

FORTRESS MONROE, Va., March 6.—Two anti-aircraft three-inch guns, manned by men of the sixty-first anti-aircraft battalion fired thirty-nine times today at sleeve targets towed by Martin bombers from Langley Field, without scoring an actual hit. The targets measured ten feet in length and four in diameter. They were towed at elevations ranging from 3,000 to 6,000 feet.

After the three-inch rifles ceased fire eight thirty calibre Browning machine guns took up the target work with the plane dropping to altitudes averaging about 1,000 feet. They were joined later by the anti-craft fifty calibre machine guns. The single hit found by inspectors when the target was examined proved to be that of a thirty calibre bullet fired by the Brownings.

Coast artillery officers who plotted the bursts of the three-inch guns, however, pronounced three of the thirty-nine shots as "estimated hits". They declared that more would have been effective against an enemy bomber had the shells fired been of the high explosive rather than the shrapnel variety.

A troublesome factor for the gunners was the high wind over the waters.

The anti-aircraft gunnery exercises featured a day of thrills for the official delegation invited by Secretary Weeks to witness the demonstration by aircraft at Langley Field and anti-aircraft firing by the Fort Monroe troops. It began with spectacular exploits of the aviators at Langley Field. They flew virtually everything the post possessed, from the big bombers to the smallest craft; simulated attacks on enemy ground batteries and battleship silhouettes; laid smoke screens over the ground and dared high winds in executing a variety of stunts of a sort that usually feature actual conflicts.

Another outstanding event of the day was the machine gun firing against toy balloons freed in the winds. Again it was the Browning thirty caliber that scored.

Both army and navy ordinance and aviation officials seemed impressed, particularly by the work of the machine guns and said the development of these weapons as aircraft defense instruments held great future possibilities.

Brigadier General William Mitchell, assistant army air chief who will be replaced on April 27 by Colonel James E. Fechet, was on hand at every occasion to cheer on the flyers. He appeared enthusiastic over the selection of Colonel Fechet declaring "they could not have selected a better man for the job."

STATE DESTROYS ITS CASE

Judge Condemns Prosecution of W. E. D. Stokes For Unfair Tactics.

CHICAGO, March 6. — Less than two hours after it had begun its cross examination of W. E. D. Stokes, wealthy New York apartment hotel owner, on trial charged with conspiracy to defame his wife in an effort to obtain a divorce, the prosecution was warned this afternoon by Judge W. N. Gemmill, that it probably had destroyed its case.

The court was so emphatic in his denunciation of the methods of Milton D. Smith, assistant state's attorney, that after warning the prosecutor that a court of review probably would throw out a conviction of Mr. Stokes, he added he was not certain but what the trend of the cross examination transgressed so far he himself would have to reverse a jury verdict against the aged millionaire.

BANKER'S HOME IS ROBBED

Burglars Get Valuable Jewelry From Residence of Waco Financier.

This burglary brings the total amount of jewelry and other valuables stolen in this immediate neighborhood by burglars in the last two years to approximately $25,000 among the articles taken from the Lacy home were jewelry owned by Mrs. Lacy including her wedding and engagement ring, a dinner ring, two or three other valuable rings, and a platinum bracelet with diamond settings.

AIR CRAFT EXPONENTS WIN

Guns Fail Against "Invasion" of "Hostile Fajnes, Officers Admit.

FORTRESS MONROE, Va., March 6.—Officers of the anti-aircraft defenses here admitted defeat tonight in tests participated in by Langley Field aviators to demonstrate the effectiveness of their weapons.

The demonstration was arranged by the war department as an outgrowth of the recent air power controversy at Washington, when the house aircraft investigating committee was told that anti-aircraft guns had given aviators during the war little cause for apprehension.

The tests were witnessed by members of congress and high army and navy officials and officers, including Brigadier General Mitchell.

Dallas District Attorney Saved Night In Jail For Contempt.

DALLAS, March 6. — The order issued Friday morning sentencing District Attorney Shelby S. Cox and Judge W. L. Crawford to serve a night in the county jail for contempt of court by Judge Felix D. Robertson, in the murder trial of E. D. McDearman, today, was rescinded late today. The attorneys were given the choice of apologizing in court for alleged "side bar remarks" or the jail sentence.

Henrietta Must Elect Aldermen And New Mayor

City Election Called for April 7; Councilmen Will Be Unopposed

HENRIETTA, March 6.—A mayor and two aldermen are to be elected in the general city election to be held April 7. Interest centers in the situation regarding the mayor's office, and there is considerable speculation as to who may enter the race, for the chief executive's job.

Friends of Mayor T. K. Howard are still urging him to become a candidate to succeed himself, in spite of his announcement that he desired to retire, having been connected with the city government for over seven years in various capacities. If Mr. Howard consents to run again, it seems likely that he will be unopposed. His administration has been highly successful.

If Mayor Howard persists in his determination to retire, who will be elected? That's the question that is receiving the attention of local citizens.

Frank Bunting, manager of the Henrietta Abstract company, and F. O. Moore, manager of the Neville Furniture company and undertaker, have been most prominently mentioned as prospective candidates. Neither of these, it is stated, will oppose the present mayor.

The terms of A. J. Oheim and A. B. Staggs as aldermen also expire this year. Both are expected to be candidates to succeed themselves and apparently they will be unopposed.

Educational Bill Is Amended To Increase Funds

Senate Changes Act and Passes it Within Three Hours

AUSTIN, March 6.—(AP) — The educational appropriation bill emerged from the senate today after its passage, within the space of three hours, amended to exceed by $464,800 its original appropriation of $15,600,951. The bill provides $16,065,751 for maintenance of educational institutions during the biennium. This figure exceeds a similar house bill coming up tomorrow by $2,321,773.

Differences are expected by chairman of finance committees in both houses to be rapidly adjusted.

Approve Dormitory.

Its approval of $150,000 for a dormitory at the North Texas Agricultural college at Arlington, precipitated a bombardment of the bill with amendments by Senator Wirtz of Seguin for appropriations for a dormitory and other building improvements for the Southwest Texas State Teachers' college at San Marcos which aggregated $185,000.

Amendment providing for a girls' dormitory costing $150,000, increasing the appropriation for a science building from $175,000 to $200,000, and increase of the funds for a summer school were adopted.

The item for the dormitory for Arlington was vigorously opposed by Chairman Davis of the finance committee on the ground that it was bad precedent to begin a dormitory program at a time when state funds would not permit dormitories at all schools.

—to regain Strength

—brings joy to you and your friends.

EVERY man, woman and child wants to have strength and correct weight. It means the joy of living. To be minus strength and underweight often proves low fighting-power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red cells in your blood, minus health, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plus. That's why S.S.S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women a plus in their strength. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firmer, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body.

More red-blood-cells! S.S.S. aids Nature in building them by the million! There are no unproven theories about S.S.S., the scientific results of each of its purely vegetable medicinal ingredients are admitted by authorities. Begin taking S.S.S. today. It will give you more energy, vitality and vigor and a more up and going appearance.

Lives Five Years With Millionaire; Sues For Estate

Common Law Wife Says He Settled $50,000 On Her.

NEW YORK, March 6.—Asserting that for five years she had lived as the common law wife of Fields S. Pendleton, millionaire ship builder of Brooklyn, Mrs. Dorothea V. Conner, of Providence, R. I., today appeared in Brooklyn surrogate court in an action to recover $50,000 from the Pendleton estate.

Mrs. Conner based her claim upon an agreement she said Pendleton made at the birth of her child, Alice Barbara Conner, who was with her mother in the court room.

She alleged that although Pendleton failed to provide her with the stipulated $50,000 he kept a part of the agreement by arranging for her marriage with Harrison W. Conner, in order that the child, now four years old, might have a name.

The still was located on the south bank of Red river about 12 miles north of Electra and had been concealed in a large dugout in the sand and brush. BUD WINS HIS FIGHT.

Skipper Bud Tanner in his war on obesity now holds the upper hand by a goodly margin. The Skipper by turning out for spring training earlier this year than usual has already knocked off a fraction more than ten pounds, slapping Demon Fat for a goal, more or less.

Al White, infielder and the other Spudder who wintered in Wichita Falls, has almost forgot that anything like a tonsil operation ever happened to him last Saturday.

WHITE BORES IN.

White took his turn yesterday with the rest of the Spud pre-spring trainers, and worked at a mighty fast clip. For a while this winter the stove leaguers were worried to an extent as to whom President Harvey would obtain to take care of the third sack. No need for worry now. With Tanner and White already in the well-known pink, and each seeming sure of a better season than any of the past several, that hot corner will be more than well taken care of.

* * *

Not one of the Spudders now enroute for the camp showed up yesterday which augurs that they'll be flocking in in droves pretty soon.

* * *

BARKER SHOWS UP.

Mark Barker, tall and fairly rugged semi-pro hurler from Burkburnett, signed by Tanner a month or so back, swooped down on Athletic park during the afternoon for his initial workout. Barker was one of the stellar lights last year with the fast Burk Magnolias, managed by Dutch Cashion. He's a right hander.

* * *

BROWN NOT OVERWEIGHT.

Speaking of superfluous weight, Lefty Lloyd Brown, southpaw youngster on whom Harvey is banking strongly to come through this year with flying colors, hasn't much to worry about., Lefty Lloyd's but two pounds heavier than he should be.

* * *

Lefty Windel, formerly of the Alamo-Peck Indians, San Antonio semi-pro aggregation, but now residing in Wichita Falls, hopes to give some of the regulars a terrific struggle for a mound berth. Windel has been training seriously for the past several weeks with Tanner and White, and from appearances should be ready to cut loose just as sono as the weather gets warm and stays that way for a period.

Illini Escape Calamity.

Hearts of Illini supporters have been in their mouths. Red Grange has returned to college to resume his studies after recovering from an attack of mumps. The most famous of all the undergraduates, had he not succeeded in throwing off his illness in time to get back and make up his work, might have been forced to drop back a class. This would have meant his absence from the football field next fall, a calamity that other than Illini ungraduates would feel.

UNITED STATES IS PROMISED STRONGEST DAVIS CUP TENNIS COMPETITION IN MANY YEARS

Patterson, Anderson, and Hawkes Line Up As Most Formidable Team of Challengers Yet

The personnel of the Australian Davis cup team, which will try for the fifth successive time to regain the famous tennis trophy lost to the United States in 1920 has been officially announced and assures a bitter struggle in the challenge round, provided, of course, the Anzacs get that far.

But this seems a virtual certainty, as a combination composed of J. O. Anderson, Gerald Patterson and J. B. Hawkes is not likely to bow to any rival, except the United States.

Anderson is back in the form that gave him a victory over William M. Johnston of California, in the singles of the 1923 challenge round, as he proved when he beat Patterson handily in the final round for the Australian championship, fought out last month.

Patterson managed to reverse this verdict on Saturday, when he trimmed Anderson in a test match for a place on the Anzac cup team; but evidently the Australian selection committee did not take this match very seriously. The official communique sent out stated that Anderson would captain the team.

It is probable that young Dick Schiesinger will be brought along also, and that Norman Brooks, that "grand old man of the courts," will likewise make the trip as an adviser. At that, Brooks may play in some of the big tournaments preliminary to the Davis cup clashes.

American critics believe that Schlesinger has great possibilities and have predicted that in a few years he will be the ace of the Australian team.

✣ ✣ ✣ ✣

His showing in the Anzac national tourney was not as good as that of Hawkes. Therefore the latter earned the third place on the team that will officially represent the Antipodes.

✣ ✣ ✣ ✣

Pat O'Hara Wood Erased From Picture

No mention was made of Pat O'Hara Wood in the official announcement as to the Anzac cup team and it looks as though the man who took Brooks' place as Patterson's doubles partner had passed out of the tennis picture.

It was evident to all onlookers at the Germantown Cricket club last September that Wood had slowed down and was no longer able to hold his own in fast company. His volleying, usually the strongest feature of his game, had become erratic, his anticipation faulty and his court-covering uncertain.

No details have been received in this country as to how he fared in the Anzac national tilt, but it is known that he was being considered for the team. Now, however, it would appear that he is not to be brought along even as an alternate.

But Anderson, Patterson and Hawkes will provide formidable opposition no matter how they line up. Unless he gets sick again, as he did in 1922, Anderson is more than likely to win his singles matches from Little Bill Johnston or Vincent Richards or whoever happens to be chosen to pair with Tilden. That is, of course, provided Tilden plays in the cup contests.

If Tilden does not play or is off form, Andrson will probably win both his singles contests, and that would put the issue up to the doubles.

✣ ✣ ✣ ✣

It is very unlikely that Tilden will lose top form or not be a member of the American Davis cup team, but such misfortunes might occur and the selection committee will have to figure on what to do to meet a contingency like that.

✣ ✣ ✣ ✣

Patterson and Anderson in Doubles

No definite word has been received from Australia as to whether Patterson will play in the singles or in the doubles with Hawkes as the other singles entry. But it seems logical to suppose that Patterson will play second singles and pair with Anderson in the doubles.

Patterson was the big mystery of last tennis season. When the Australian team first arrived here for its preliminary workouts he appeared in the best of shape and he played wonderful tennis.

As the season wore on he grew worse instead of better, and in the national tournament at Forest Hills, L. I., Little Bill Johnston bombed the big Anzec off the court. Then in the Davis cup challenge round at Manheim Patterson acted as though he was stale—stale both mentally and physically. He was grouchy, did not care to discuss tennis and when on the court was slow and slothful in his play.

Many of the American critics took the view that the Australians had been here too long in advance of the cup clashes and had indulged in too strenuous a preliminary campaign.

This year they are scheduled to leave Australia June 4, but whether they are coming straight to San Francisco and from there to New York for the round of tournaments held along the eastern seaboard during July and August or by way of England has not been stated.

If they sail direct from Australia to the Golden Gate and thence by rail to Gotham, they will arrive around July 1 or 2. But it takes about seven weeks to go from Australia to England by way of the Suez Canal, so that route is automatically ruled out of the reckoning. They would not reach America until around September 1, and that would be entirely too late.

On the other hand, by getting here around July 1 they will have about two months and a week of tournament and Davis cup preliminary-round play in which to get tuned up for the challenge round at Manheim on September 10, 11 and 12 and the national singles, which open at the West Side Tennis club, Forest Hills, L. I., on the following Monday, September 14.

✣ ✣ ✣ ✣

As at least a week of rain can be counted on during July and August combined, it means the Anzac invaders will have just two months in which to become acclimated, to get in the pink of physical condition and work up their respective games to concert pitch.

✣ ✣ ✣ ✣

France, Spain and Japan Real Rivals

Of course, France, Spain and Japan block the march of the Australians toward the challenge round, but the way it should work out will be that either France or Spain will be killing the other off while Australia will be disposing of Japan, and then the Anzacs will probably be called on to tackle France in the interzone final.

For France, with Henri Cochet, Rene La Coste, Jean Borotra and Jacques Brugnon ought to trounce Spain, even though Manuel Alonso will be playing for his native land again. Jose Alonso and the Count de Gomar are not quite good enough to give Manuel the support he needs to win the doubles.

So even if Manuel does grab both his singles matches, neither his brother nor De Gomar can be counted on to win a singles match, and Spain probably will lose by dropping the doubles.

Of course, there are a lot of "ifs and buts" about all of this. Some other country might surprise by whipping France and Spain. Japan might take the measure of Australia.

✣ ✣ ✣ ✣

But the odds are strongly in favor of another Davis cup challenge round with the Kangaroo facing Uncle Sam from the other side of the net.

✣ ✣ ✣ ✣

Cup in Good Old U. S. A. Since 1920

Australia first won the Davis cup in 1907, when Norman Brookes and the late Anthony Wilding ended the long reign of the Doherty brothers and took the coveted trophy from England to Anzacland.

The cup was successfully defended against three assaults by the United states, but in 1912 England regained it when that remarkable player, John Cecil Parke, came to the front in British net circles and led a team to Australia that recaptured the trophy.

In 1913, however, with Norris Williams and Maurice McLaughlin going at top speed, the cup was brought back to the United States. It remained here only one year though, for in 1914 Brookes and Wilding set forth to win it back for Australia and did so after a sensational final, in which "Red Mac" beat both Brookes and Wilding in the singles, but Williams failed in the pinch and lost both of his matches. Then Brookes and Wilding trounced McLaughlin and Tom Bundy in the doubles and the cup went back across the Pacific.

The world war came shortly after the 1914 matches and so the cup remained among the Kangaroos until the greatest of conflicts ended. The United States did not challenge in 1919.

In 1920, however, this country was successful in regaining the cup. Since then Australia has tried annually to lift the cup.

Last year the Australians once more fought their way to the challenge round, beating the French more on grit than superiority in skill in the interzone final, but made a miserable showing against the United States at Manheim.

✣ ✣ ✣ ✣

Patterson and Wood lost both the singles matches to Tilden and Richards and then, as a team, bowed to Tilden and Johnston. This year, however, the battle should be much more evenly waged.

The Champs At Bay!

Almost six years ago this rugged heavyweight mauler won the championship of the world by licking the giant of them all, Jess Willard.

Five times since has Dempsey entered the ring to defend his title, and five times he has held it—with apparent ease.

Now, with back to the wall, so to speak, given a spare 24 hours in which to show his cards and either accept or reject the challenge of a man who long has been pursuing him for a chance at his crown, what will his answer be?

Will Dempsey, the champion, come forth at the order of the New York boxing commission and give Harry Wills, negro heavy who has trailed him for more than two years, the chance he seeks? Or will he still evade the black man, possibly retire from the game as has been rumored he would?

Dempsey has declared willingness to meet any man. But will he do it?

HARRIS, PLAYING IT SAFE WITH HIS CATCHING STAFF, TO HOLD RUEL FROM SERIES 'RENEWAL'

Champs' Efforts to Obtain Receiving Talent Through Winter Fail—Coveleskie and Reuther Bear Mound Burden

NEW YORK, March 6.—(AP)—There is a hint from the training camp of the championship Washington club that Harold Ruel will not be seen much behind the bat in the much discussed "renewal" of the world's series that the Senators and Giants will play in the south this spring. Ruel virtually is the Washington team's sole dependence in the catching line for the 1925 pennant campaign and Manager Harris intends to conserve him for that work.

Washington's efforts to obtain more catching material during the winter failed and as a result the champions are left with the trio they had last year. They are Ruel, Bennett Tate and Billy Hargrave. So little was seen of the last two that many fans have difficulty in recalling them.

The bulk of the pitching against the Giants in the "world's series renewal" will be done by Walter Reuther and Stanley Coveleskie, assisted by some of the younger members of the staff. Walter Johnson, Vean Gregg and Jack Ogden are not likely to appear against the National league champions except when there is a demand for Johnson's appearance now and then.

Manager McGraw of the New York Giants at Sarasota, Fla., still is having troubles of his own. He is, among other things, without a first baseman in the training camp. Bill Terry hit the first home run of the Giant season yesterday; but Bill has not yet signed a contract and such things tend to make holdout ball players more stubborn. George Kelly has not reported, neither has he signed although he is expected to do both next week.

The troubles which attend McGraw have also been visited upon the heads of his neighboring monarchs—Miller Huggins of the Yankees and Charles Ebbets of the Robins.

Babe Has Boils.

Bob Meusel and Miller Huggins exchanged ultimatums at the American league camp at St. Petersburg. The wind blew so mightily across the field that only John Levi, bulky Indian recruit, was not loosed from his moorings. Babe Ruth disappointed by not appearing at all. Ruth was excused on several counts, including a slight indisposition, two boils on the back of the neck and a flock of calluses on what are politely known among athletic gentlemen as "dogs" or feet.

"Squire" Ebbets heard the salary dispute case of Dutch Henry, southpaw hurler, at Clearwater, Fla., after which Henry signed. The case of Dazzy Vance is still being considered.

With the exception of Ray Blades, outfielder, every St. Louis Cardinal is in perfect physical condition and plenty far enough advanced for the time in camp, according to Manager Branch Rickey.

Southpaw Joe Giard and infielder Bob Lamotte are now among the St. Louis Browns at Tarpon Springs, Fla., both men swinging into action yesterday for the first time this year.

The axe has fallen in the Shreveport training camp of the Chicago White Sox and the Chicago Cubs conditioning on Catalina island, have added two exhibition games to their list of 25.

Clyde Rentfrow, shortstop, and John Tyronny, semi-pro, were lopped from the White Sox. Rentfrow, who signed a contract with the Salina, Kansas, club before affixing his signature to a White Sox document, was ordered to report to Salina. Manager Eddie Collins decided Tyronny needed two or three years more of minor league experience.

Cubs Too Many Pitchers.

Manager Bill Killifer of the Cubs, who announced that the Salt Lake club of the Pacific Coast league would come to the island camp March 17 and 18 has the problem on his hands of trimming his squad of 13 pitchers to eight.

The Athletics, divided into two squads, have played two six-inning games this week with the regulars and yannigans each winning one.

Reports from the Phillies' camp in Bradentown, Fla., told of a number of new arrivals and said that Manager Fletcher's men gradually were rounding into form. The squad now includes 24 players.

Nine members of the Boston National team are still missing from their training camp at St. Petersburg, Fla. Michael O'Neil, Stuffy McInnis and Jimmy Welsh haven't appeared because of dissatisfaction with salary arrangements.

Howard Ehmke, Red Sox pitcher, worked out for the first time this season at New Orleans yesterday. Bobby Veach, Ike Boone and Danny Williams arrived at the Red Sox camp.

The last of Cleveland Indians left tonight for the spring training camp at Lakeland. Several go from Cleveland and are due in Florida at about the time the detachment which has been working out at Hot Springs reaches the camp.

Manush Still Absent.

Biting winds failed to slow up action in the Pittsburgh Pirates' training camp at Paso Robes, Cal., and the Buccaneers went through the first workout that gave opportunity for study of the rookies.

Kiki Cuyler attracted no mean bit of comment when he duplicated his feat of the last training season by hammering the ball over the left field fence, a distance of 400 feet.

Basketball was placed on the ban by Manager Jack Hendricks at the Cincinnati Reds' Orlando training camp when several of the Athletics proposed staging an impromptu contest on a newly found basketball court nearby. Hendricks had witnessed some wild scrimmages the previous day and decided high salaried ball players wearing spiked shoes had no business in the cage game.

Announcement in the Augustra training camp of the Detroit Tigers by Manager Ty Cobb that Earl Whitehill and Kenneth Holloway are under contract leaves only Heinie Manush, left fielder, still not present nor accounted for. Manush had not yet agreed to terms.

In the fly snagging workout there were several flashing catches turned in by the lads. Rawls, Dosch and Caskey were the real fly hawks of the day turning in a number of beautiful stabs.

Coyote Track Squad Rounds Into Condition

Baldwin Will Be Missed, But Youngsters Working Hard

Bud McCaluum's Coyote track squad is rounding into shape speedily and seems slated for a fairly successful season. Of course, Leo Baldwin of last year's runners, the greatest all-around athlete ever turned out by Wichita Falls now attending Texas university, will be missed, but on the whole the present gang of youngsters doesn't look so bad.

Bob McCallough and Dempsey Moore look good on the weight tossing and should improve as the days roll by.

W. J. Howard, Perk Ray and Bob West are doing fine work with the javelin. Frank Rugeley, Bob West and Walter Pinney look good on the low hurdles. William Miller and Rufus Neel are progressing nicely on the long running. Harley Herndon, Bob West, Roy Porter, Fleetwood Blightinship and Jurome Kennedy are bright prospects for the 100 and 220-yard dashes.

Eddie Kadane Is Star Of Comedy "Am I Intruding"

Junior College Students Score Hit in 3-Act Play, Friday

Eddie Kadane, Junior college student, scored a decisive hit Friday evening when he starred in the comedy lead as the "hick" hero in the play, "Am I Intruding?" presented by Junior college dramatic students under the direction of Miss Juanita Kinsey.

Kadane, who has made many successful appearances in musical and straight roles, proved himself a versatile actor of ability when he appeared in character as a country rube with a bayseed laugh and dialect that brought good hands at every entrance.

Evan Harris, who has established a reputation in local amateur circles for his ability to play the role of elderly men, was seen in the character of Horace Vare, father of the pretty heroine, "Margie," played by Miss Ethel Pennington.

Bowman Also Enjoyable.

Carlton Bowman was enjoyable as "Blair Hoover," the adventurer and villian, his rich voice giving a convincing touch to his portrayal. Yancy Cummings was seen as "Dicky Waldron," an admirer of all the girls in the cast, and Conan Cantwell drew laughs as "Peter," the school boy sweetheart of "Vi," mischievous little sister of the leading lady.

Miss Janice Maloney plays "Vi," and Miss Kathleen Mullat plays "Dora," her inseparable chum, whose discouragement over her love affairs is laughable.

Miss Ora Pennington plays the studious niece, "Jane," and Stanfill Bailey is her serious minded secretary.

Miss Vaughn Buchanan, playing "Mrs. Hasty," Vare's housekeeper, requires constant watching on the part of Jerry, who beside his other difficulties is forced to flee from the wiles of the attractive French maid played by Miss Thelma Cain.

Jerry Succeeds.

The play, a three-act drama, deals with Jerry's attempts, and final success, in diverting a financial disaster for Vare, which saves the day for the Vare family and wins Jerry the hand of the fair Mcrgie.

The comedy, developed by the efficiently trained cast, is natural and sparkling. Rapid action is handled well and the play proved highly entertaining. The development of the comedy just as it would occur in a typical modern household, gave opportunity for the introduction of several musical numbers by Yancy Cummings, tenor, and Conan Cantwell, pianist.

The Junior college stage was beautifully set, achieving one of the finest effects of recent amateur productions. Furniture was from McConnel Bros., and draperies from Freear's. On the walls of the set hung several fine tapestries and paintings loaned to the students by Emil Hermann, local artist. Costuming was attractive and added much to the performance.

Music preceding the play and between acts was furnished by the high school orchestra, under the direction of Miss Winifred Alvis.

Business Council Discusses Need Of New Schools

All Buildings in City Are Crowded Beyond Capacity

The erection of new school buildings immediately to meet the grave situation of congested which is facing Wichita Falls public schools is the most important problem which has come before the city in a long time," stated J. T. Harrell, president of the chamber of commerce before the business council of that body Friday noon at the Kemp hotel, following a statement of conditions in the schools by Dr. J. W. Cantwell, school superintendent.

"Wichita Falls cannot hope to become a real city until the school children from her homes are adequately taken care of.

"There is not a moment's delay to spare on this matter of new buildings, as the city is rapidly increasing in population. Last week, 200 homes were in the process of erection, and building activities are increasing. This is a most important matter in the welfare of the city, and school officials are to be congratulated on the fine work they have done under this handicap."

Schools Crowded

Harrell spoke following the statement by Dr. Cantwell that every school building in the city with the exception of the small Bowie school was crowded far beyond capacity, many rooms built to care for 36 students are caring for more than 50. The new Junior college, it was stated, was crowded by the junior high school students who could not be cared for in the small buildings where over 1,200 children are trying to attend classes.

The policy adopted by the local board of education, Dr. Cantwell stated, was to build permanently instead of erecting temporary shacks, and the plan of action provided for the issue of bonds with the consent of the citizenship for the immediate erection of a new junior high school, a new ward school and the enlarging of existing ward schools.

This, Dr. Cantwell explained, would care for the great number of junior high students in the Junior college, leaving only senior high school and junior college students in that institution to work unhindered.

"Property values are continually increasing and the school district is getting the highest rate of tax possible. To issue bonds, the board must have the consent of the city. Money will not be needed and the tax rate will not have to be raised as the school board can vote to set aside a certain amount of the tax money each year to retire bonds issued," the superintendent stated.

Priddy Speaks

Walter M. Priddy spoke briefly, praising the standard of work being done by the local Junior college, and urging members of the school board to get busy immediately and start construction of new buildings in order that they might be ready for occupancy this fall. He stated that the bond issue would certainly go over, and that local banks should be willing to finance the work until the bonds are sold.

Jack Barnard, chairman of the council announced that the first 30 minutes of the next session Friday, noon March 13, at the Kemp luncheon, would be devoted to the discussion of the proposed school program. Local citizens interested are invited to attend the meeting.

Judge A. H. Britain offered a resolution of sympathy on the illness of Hubert Harrison, manager of the chamber which was adopted by a rising vote.

Major Ray C. Rutherford, of the field artillery of the United States army addressed the council on the value of national guard unit of the city. He estimated the financial value to be about $20,000 a year.

Mayor R. E. Shepherd, following the discussion of several members on the new traffic ordinance stated that the city was exerting every effort to ascertain the best system for use.

"Big Hand Shake" Features Council Feast Of Chiefs

Pale Faces and Sioux Leaders Meet at N. Y. Luncheon

WASHINGTON, Mar. 6.—Chiefs Standing Bull, Antelope and Hollow Horn, Yankton Sioux Indians held a council feast today at the exclusive Metropolitan club.

The guests, who numbered a hundred or more, and included many high officials, ate tado-wahanpi, wak-maheza-ujapa, omnica-kmiyanyan, waskuyeca and wakadyapi, which means plain beef stew, maize and hominy pudding, baked peas, meal cakes and honey.

"Big talks were given by Acting Attorney General Breck, and the three chiefs followed by the 'Big Hand Shake'."

Those attending the feast which was given by Jennings C. Wise, the Indians' counsel in their contention for rights in the Pipestone quarry and Black Hills, included Secretary Mellon, "the great pale face chief money guarder." Secretary Weeks, "the great pale face war chief," and Assistant Secretary Robinson, of the navy, "the little pale face chief of the war canoes."

PREPARE FOR HOPPER WAR

Farmers of Tillman County Are Ready For Annual Invasion.

FREDERICK, Okla., March 6.—Residents of Tillman county are preparing for a war with the grasshopper pest immediately in an effort to avert the danger of another such invasion as was experienced in the eastern part of the county in 1924, which destroyed practically all cotton in that section.

Warnings have been sent out by the Frederick chamber of commerce and Tillman county farm council telling farmers of the county of the danger of another infestation of the pests and asking everyone to co-operate in the burning of fence rows and all grass on the farms, especially in the valleys and draws, for it is here that the insects harbor throughout the winter.

The loss incurred by the devastation of the hoppers last year has been conservatively estimated at 25,000 bales and it is hoped that such a tragedy as this can be avoided in the future.

CUMMINGS TO SPEAK.

Good Program Arranged for Bar Luncheon.

Judge B. Y. Cummings will speak at the noon luncheon of the Wichita County Bar association to be held at the Kemp hotel Saturday noon, it was announced Friday.

The program committee explains that the program will not run over the allotted hour and attorneys will be able to return to their work at the appointed time.

Widow May Lose Insurance From Suicide Clause

Finger Prints on Gun to Determine If Man Killed Self

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., March 6.—Harry Leitner, wealthy Tarrytown wholesale meat dealer, found dead yesterday on Briar Cliff road near the home of John D. Rockefeller, with a bullet wound in the right temple, took out insurance policies totaling $200,000 recently. Coroner Snowden revealed today. Each contains a "suicide clause" depriving his widow and two children of benefit if the coroner finds that Leitner took his own life, Mr. Snowden said.

The coroner admitted today that his early theory of murder has been somewhat broken down by the finding of powder marks on Leitner's hat, indicating that the fatal shot was fired at close range. Finger prints found on the handle of the weapon may explain who fired the pistol beside the body. Ownership of this pistol has not been determined.

When a rich man dies he leaves no more than a poor man. They both leave everything.

Playing with Fire
The Story of a Social Climber
by Lucille Van Slyke

"You will kindly," he said jerkily, "let me do the talking. Get this clearly in your mind. I'm through. I don't want you to get the idea that I'm competng wth that young jackanapes for the—er—honor of your affections. I know enough to admit it when I've made a mistake. I made a fearful one when I married you. But this much I am asking, just to save my own face in the matter—my own good name, and the name that is still yours. I want to ask you if you will consent to go out to Briarcliff this morning with Nannette. She's only a little girl, she's had a rotten time. Dee won't be back for a few days yet. I want to ask you to stay there quietly with the child until I can send Dee out to get her. Maybe my sister can suggest some better plan than the one I am proposing, I don't know," he rubbed his hands dazedly across his bruised forehead. "But just now a few days more or less won't make much difference. I'll see some lawyer and find out what's the decent way to do this. I don't know how they fix it. I rather imagine that if I stay away, I'll have to go out west again soon, anyhow you could bring action on grounds of desertion. Don't imagine that takes so very long or has much approbrium attached to it. Let this chap know, somehow, that jumping off wild way like the heroine in a melodrama is foolinsh. That you know it will make a mess of both your lives. Tell him you want time to divorce me quietly. That you'll marry him when you're free to do so. But in the meantime—for heaven's sake, don't plunge into a mess that will smirch up your whole life. No matter how much you love him, no matter how much he loves you, don't do it, Rosalie, don't!"

Nannette was racing back to them. "They've brought our breakfast!" she called shrilly. "The orange juice for daddy and strawberries for Rosy Lee and me!"

Somehow Rosalie stumbled to her feet. She winced at the sound of the girl's voice.

"We're coming," said Nannette's father, almost crossly. "Don't yell so!" he added irritably, as he steadied Rosalie by slipping his hand under her elbow, "Rosy Lee has a headache, she is very tired."

But at breakfast he ratcher pointedly ignored Rosalie and talked with enforced cheerfulness to Nannette.

"Greachin is coming here for you about half past ten," he told her cheerfully. "I want you to promise me to be a good little girl and not be too silly about your monkey. You and Rosalie can ride in back and Geachin will keep the box with the monkey in front with him. When you get out in the country the gardner's boy will help you dig a hole to bury the poor beastie. Daddy is too busy to go out today."

"Cause it as nices as you please!" his voice had a pleasantly teasing tone. "Find a stone and some flowers and have a grand time! Don't bother Rosalie, let her lie down and rest her head. Aunty Dee will be out in a day or two."

"You're not going away again!" the little girl wailed.

"Eat your oatmeal!" he commanded.

He walked resolutely out to the desk after he had paid their breakfast check. He settled the bills for the night, consulted his watch and held out his hand to Rosalie.

"I'll send Hendrickson omt tomorrow or next day," he said quite casually, "take good care of yourself."

"And he was gone, briskly, without a backward glance. Alert. Well-groomed he moved away from her, out of her life forever, she thought. She caught at Nannette's hand. For one wild moment she came near crying.

"Call him back, Nannie. Tell him I'm sorry!"

But she didn't. She just said quietly.

"We'll go back upstairs and be sure everything is packed."

Following Quim's cue she tried to keep things as normal as possible for the child's sake. When the telephone girl announced that Chet was down stairs she asked the little girl quietly,

"Nannie, will you wait here for me a few minutes I have to see a man from my home town a little while, I'll come back up very soon."

She found Chet pacing up and down the dingy reception room. His countryfied clothes looked rather rumpled. He hadn't taken the time to shave. His bloodshot eyes showed his sleepless night. He caught her hands in his, his lips trembling.

"Rosie, I nearly went crazy last night."

There was a small settee near the window. All her life, Rosalie would remember that dreary room and the stale, hateful atmosphere of it. She pulled him toward the still little sofa and sat down.

"Quim told me what to do," she said woodenly. "He says I'm to go to Briarcliff and—"

"You're coming with me," Chet ordered bluntly.

"Wait until I can get a divorce decently. He's gone," she ended stupidly. "He didn't say goodbye at all. He knows the way to do it." She parroted things he had said, rather gravely. "He said no matter how much you loved me we shouldn't—smirch things. We should do things decently. That's Quim's way," she ended suddenly,—"to do things decently."

"And you're letting me know that my way hain't, Chet" lapsed into Emsville vernacular in his excitemen. "Well, who was crazy to go galumphing off to South America the other night? Whot suggested the whole business? You got me to race off and get these tickets and they cost me about four hundred dollars and I've had to lie as I've never lied before—to my father—to your sister— to those men down in the steamship place to—" his voice was rising. "If you weren't going through with this what did you get me into such a mess for—get me all stirred up till it seemed like I couldn't wait another day for you? I guess you never meant to go through with this. Or if you did, the minute you saw him and got it in to your head again that he could do more for you than I could—"

"Oh, stop," she begged him pitcously. 'He doesnt want to do anything for me! He's quite through with me He just didn't want it to be sordid—so—" she seemed to find no words of her own, only uims words came to her lips.

CHAPTER 78.

Obsequies.

She got rid of Chet finaly. How, she didn't quite know. She remembered afterward that she had suggested that as they weren't going to use the much discussed ticket to South American, it might be a good idea if he went down to the steamship office and found out if he couldn't cancel their passage and get his money back.

Both hands jammed in his pockets, he had towered above her, saying thickly:

"Well, maybe if that's the way you feel, I better do that. I suppose there's no sense throwing away all that money—we're liable to need it later on."

He had strolled about the room restlessly and came back to sit down beside her and catch hold of her arm.

"How Holnig! will all these doing take?" he asked.

Poor Chet! Even when she looked at him she pities hid ineffectual manner, his bewildered way of letting the decisions be hers!

He was like a blundering school boy!

"I don't know," she told him, "Quim is going to send his secretary out to tell me just as soon as he finds out. I think we'd better do whatever Quim says. He always knows the best way to do things." Again she fould herself doing things Quim's way! Holding out her hand in imitation of the casual way he had bade her goodbye, she bit her lips as she heard herself saying, "You take good care of yourself, Chet."

"You'll write?"

She nodded.

"Well, then, I guess maybe that's what we better do. I'll go on up home. I might as well go ahead with the Meadsport branch. I'd go crazy doing nothing." He cast a glance into the hallway almost deserted in mid-morning.

Suddenly she found herself in his arms, found his lips on hers and heard him saying,

"Rose, don't stop loving me."

Then he brushed past her out through those hideous faded green curtains and was gone.

"Miss-us—Quimby!" droned a bell boy, "Call for Miss-us Quimby! Call for Miss-us—Quimby—"

It was Geachin, very correct in his uniform, touching his hand to his cap respectfully. But his friendly household-servant manner was a blessed thing at which to grasp.

"Morning, ma'am," he said with a furtive grin," I got the remains out in the car. I guess they was quite a fracas over to Miss' Perry's place yyesterday."

She managed a wan smile.

"I think so. Have that box put the bags in the car while I get Miss Nannette."

It was startling to find that the morning was glorious, that the sun was shining and the sky a blue, blue wonder. They drove through the park, gay with forsythia and flowering fruit trees; secure i nthe shelter of the trim little sedan, Rosalie leaned back to let her weary nerves relax.

Nannette babbled excitably.

"Just think! Winter's all gone and summer is coming! And we're going home! Do you think the tennis court will be dry enough to play on? Do you think it will be warm enough to swin soon? Suppose there's croucses out? Shall we have Gwen's funeral right after lunch? Do you think luncheon will be ready?"

Luncheon was ready, thanks to Quim's thoughtfulness. Her dear old enemy, Stimson, hunching himself into a stiff pew house coat, met them at the door with the formal news that it was ready.

"Mr. Quimby said to have it ready for 12:30, madam," he reported.

She stood quite still in the wide hall looking about her, inexpressibly soothed by its serenity and sweetness. Gone was the still old formality and the heavy decorations. A charming land scape paper in soft greys and greens made the walls seem more friendly. Great baskets filled with flowering branches of spring things seemed to fill the whole place with sunshine.

"How just sweet!" Nannette pranced about, "Oh, Rosy Lee! Isn't home the nicest placi nthe whole world!"

A trig little maid hurried out to meet them. Geachin was lugging the bags upstairs—through the opened door to the terrace Rosalie caught a glimpse o fth espring-fragrant garden.

Home! Was ever words more ironical than in this poignant moment when she realized how wonderful a home it had been!

They had luncheon. They went out into the garden and chose a spot to bury the monkey. And not even Nannette could pretend to be very grief-stricken in the dazzling sunshine. The gardener boy's droll comments made the chil giggle, even while he dug the grave.

"It's me as wouldn't have minded chucking them yippers of your grandmama's under the sod," he told her. "Funny thing, hain't it, the way they keep healthy."

His cheer patter as he dug and the sweet moist smell o fthe earth and the shrill excited tones of Nannette's voice made the forlorn Rosalie smile.

"Not much ashes to ashes or dust to dust," he commented as knelt to lower the little box, "Because the dust is mostly mud. But here's to your monk, Miss Nannette. It's going to be a long time dead, eh?" He swinked at Rosalie." It was a sensible cuss and had a good time while it was alive, same's as we all ought to have. I says always, take your good times whilst you're sure of them."

THE STATE OF TEXAS.

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Wichita County: Greetings:

You are hereby commanded to summon John S. Dobbins by making publication of this citation once each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the 89th district court of Wichita County, to be holden at the court house thereof in Wichita Falls, on the first Monday in April, A. D., 1925, the same being the 6th day of April, A. D., 1925, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 6th day of March, A. D., 1925, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said court No. 16705-C, wherein, Floyd F. Hardesty and George Birkman are plaintiffs and John S. Dobbins, J. C. Haynes and Joseph F. Long, Jr., are defendants and said petition alleging:

Plaintiffs allege: That they are entitled to possession of lot 7 in block 52 of the Floral Heights addition to the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, according to the recorded plat thereof; that the defendants unlawfully withhold said possession from plaintiffs and for damages in the sum of $1,000.00, and that plaintiffs have a superior right to defendants in said property.

And in the alternative plaintiffs show that S. B. Wilson executed three vendor's lien notes to John S. Dobbins and wife, and that said Dobbins transferred said note to J. C. Haynes who in turn transferred same to Joseph F. Long, Jr., and that said notes and lien constitute a cloud on the title to said property, although said notes have been fully paid.

Wherefore plaintiffs sue, pray for service upon each of defendants, for judgement for title and possession of said property, and for writ of restitution and for their damages, and in the alternative plaintiffs pray that the notes and lien be declared void and satisfied and that the cloud be removed from plaintiffs' title and for all costs of suit.

DUN'S REVIEW

NEW YORK, March 6.—Dun's tomorrow will say:

"After several months of business expansion, the chief interest now center in the probable results during the spring season to open soon. On the whole the outlook is distinctly favorable and prospects for the longer futures have been strengthened by the stress laid on the need of tax reductions in the president's inaugural address. There is a solid basis for further commercial progress this year, wholesome conditions having been maintained since the trade recovery began last autumn and confidence having become firmly established. The absence of a rapid rise of prices except where special causes have brought about sharp advances as in the grain markets is reassuring because there is a strong resistence among consumers to higher prices for commodities. This phase is also being evidenced in primary channels and in certain quarters a decided easing has recently occurred.

STOCKS

NEW YORK, March 6.—Stock prices displayed a strong tone in the early part of today's market but developed irregularity towards the close as a result of the customary week end profit taking and bear selling, inspired by the sharp break in wheat prices. Excellent support was provided, however, for most of the high grade industrial shares, many of which closed 1 to 8¼ points higher.

There was a large accumulation of overnight buying orders on the retention of the 3½ per cent rediscount rate and the prospects that several large industrial companies will follow the example of the American Locomotive directors in making a generous distribution to stockholders during the coming year.

Heavy accumulation of United States common which crossed 125 and closed just under that figure for a net gain of 1¾, was one of the day's features. Baldwin was strong in brisk demand, being bid up to 144 and then easing to 142¼, where it was up 3¼ points on the day. American Can established another record top at 185½ and then slipped back to 183⅝, up 2¼. Studebaker closed fractionally lower at 44¼. A bullish demonstration in General Electric carried that stock up to 262½ but it slipped back to 260¼ on realizing, showing a net gain of 8¾ on the day.

Further accumulation of the low priced petroleum shares was based on merger reports and expectations of an early advance in mid-continent crude prices. California Petroleum advanced 2¾ to a record top at 32¾. Independent Oil and Gas touched a new top at 33¾ and then reacted abogt half a point. Barnsdall "B", General Asphalt and Houston Oil showed net gains of 1 to 2½ points.

Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis continued to respond to rumors of its acquisition by another road by soaring 7 points to a record top at 155.

Call money held steady at 3½ per cent. The time money market was somewhat firmer with leaders not disposed to make any loans below four per cent even for the shorter maturities. Commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchanges displayed a firm tone Demand sterling held steady around 4.76⅛ and French francs rallied about 6¼ points to 5.16 cents. Most of the other European exchanges showed nominal gains. Japanese yen touched a new high on the movement at 40⅝.

Opening: March 25.83; May 26.01; July 26.35; October 25.23; December 25.20 bid.

NEW ORLEANS, March 6.—The cotton market today was reactionary almost from start to finish and such rallies as were brought about from time to time were short lived. Most of the day's developments were of a constructive character but sentiment was bearish and indications on the may of possible rains in the west by tomorrow overshadowed all other influences. Even bullish mill takings and much smaller fertilizer sales so far this season than last year exerted but a momentary influence. The low points were reached during the afternoon, showing net losses of 29 points on May and 25 on October. A slight rally at the close cut down the loss of two points on October and 9 on May.

At the start the market was barely steady notwithstanding the fact Liverpool was higher than due and spot sales there totalled 10,000 bales. Although the weather map was dry the market rallied but slightly to 26.06 for May and 25.23 for October, or 1 to 3 points below the previous close. These levels were the high points of the day. The market then started downward on barometer indications of unsettled weather coming in the western belt and although there were slight rallies on Hester's showing of smaller fertilizer sales so far this season and on large mill takings for the week 303,000 bales against 263,000 last year, the downward trend was soon resumed and the low points of the session were made in the late afternoon with May 25.78 and October 25.01 or 25 to 29 points lower.

The afternoon decline was largely in sympathy with the slump in wheat. The close showed net losses for the day of 13 to 23 points.

Among the constructive influences during the day was a wire from New York to the effect there was a report that between 40,000 and 50,000 bales were to be shipped out of the stock there almost immediately. Hester made the total sales of fertilizer for the season 1,017,300 tons against 1,416,346 last season for a like period that is to the end of February. Exports for the day 17,246 bales, for the week 216,250 and for the season to date 6,226,625.

Wool

BOSTON March 6.—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say:

The wool trade is in a bewildered frame of mind, although some few are still holding out against the decline. The market, however, has not been made by the strong holders. On some descriptions it is hardly possible to quote a market at all. There is a disposition to await the London opening Tuesday and the resumption of the Australian sales, together with the showing of dress goods lines by the American Woolen company on Tuesday which it is hoped will stimulate the market. Up to the present moment the demand for goods has been undoubtably slow although woolen lines have had the best of it.

"The foreign markets are barely steady. Adelaide yesterday suffered considerable withdrawals and prices sagged a bit from the previous Australian level. A decline of 7½ to 15 per cent is predicted for the opening at London over January rates, the larger decline being for the finer wools.

"Mohair is fairly steady with limited business." Quotations:

GIVEN CONDITIONAL PARDON.

Governor Frees Man Who Must Support Child and Obey Law.

AUSTIN, March 6.—On condition that he "support his child and obey the law," H. A. Kolb of Houston, convicted in Harris and Tarrant counties of forgery and embezzlement, was granted a conditional pardon today by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson. He had served three years of a seven-year sentence.

Clemency was recommended by practically every member of the trial jury and the manager of the Shaw farm where Kolb was a prisoner.

FIRE RATES DECREASED

Chillicothe Gets Greatest Insurance Cut In Last Announcement.

CHILLICOTHE, March 6.—Chillicothe was one of the twenty-nine Texas cities to receive a reduction in fire rates, announced during the past week by the state fire insurance board. This city was given a reduction of fifteen cents, the greatest decrease given.

Livestock

FORT WORTH, March 6.—It was very late in the day before the hog market became established Friday. Most of the day's receipts were in the hands of two salesmen, and they crowded packers for every cent that could be realized. The general market averaged around 40 to 60c higher, the gain being the most pronounced that the trade has developed on any day since prices have been jumping so rapidly. The top was $14.40. Most of the run cleared at a spread of $14.00 to $14.35.

Receipts amounted to 2,500 head and included 550 that came direct to packers. Pigs remained steady, only, the best butcher grades going at $10.50, but sows were 50c up again, and sales were as high as $13.00.

The cattle market was an uneven affair, some classes being steady and others unevenly higher. Fleshy cows again displayed an advance, the appreciation amounting to 10 to 20c, but canners were no better than steady. Steers remained unchanged. Yearlings were purchased at values that indicated a slightly higher trend. Calves were 25c better than on Thursday. Receipts amounte dto 2,000 head of cattle and 700 calves.

One car of choice steers of a fairly weighty type went at $8.60. Most of the receipts cleared at 5.50@6.50. The market made fair progress, but sales were no better than steady.

Consignments of fleshy cows went scalawag with freedom at the rate of 10@15c higher, and the canner deal was about steady. A larger number of cows, in less than carload lots, ranged around 5.00@5.50. Canners went at 1.75@2.00, mostly.

Yearlings met with a better demand than was observed earlier in the week, and prices were strong to a shade higher. The top end of the run found an outlet at 8.00@8.75.

Receipts of bulls were purchased moderately early at rates that carried a steady appearance. The top end of the run went at 4.00@4.25, but most sales ranged from 2.50 to 3.50.

Calves were wanted and prices were slightly upward. Nothing in carlots could be compared with the 9c yearlers of Thursday, but small lots ranged up to 9.00.

No quotable change developed in the sheep trade. Receipts consisted of three decks of lambs of which were feeders.

Cattle, 2,700 including 700 calves; market steady on steers and canners, 10@15c higher on cows; 25c higher on calves; beeves 3.50@7.50; stockers 3.25@7.25; fat cows 3.00@5.50¾; cutters 2.25@2.75; canners 1.75@2.10; heifers 3.25@7.50; yearlings 3.50@8.75; bulls 2.50@4.50; calves 2.50@9.00.

Hogs, 2,560 including 550 direct; market 40@60c higher; top 14.40; bulk 14.00@14.35; best medium weight 14.35@14.40; good mixed 14.25@14.35; good light 14.00@14.25; fair mixed 13.75@14.00; fair light 13.00@13.75; common 9.00@10.50; packing sows 11.50@13.00; pigs 6.00@10.50.

Sheep, 500; market steady; lambs 13.50@16.50; feeders 12.50@15.00; yearlings 10.00@11.50; wethers 9.00@10.50; ewes 8.00@9.50; culls 1.50@3.00; stockers 8.00@5.00; goats 1.50@5.00.

Produce

CHICAGO, March 6.—Butter, higher; creamery extras 47c; standards 46½c; extra firsts 44@45½c; firsts 39½@42c; seconds 34@36c.

Eggs, lower; receipts 15,522 cases; firsts 20¾c; ordinary firsts 25@25½c.

CHICAGO, March 6.—Poultry alive, lower; fowls 26@27c; springs 30c; roosters 19c; turkeys 25c; ducks 27c; geese 14c.

AUSTIN, March 6.—While eggs on the exchange continue to fluctuate Chicago this morning being easy to quarter cent lower and New York steady to firm at unchanged prices, the Texas trade was distinctly firm, the wholesale price to producers advancing to 6.75 per case of 30 dozen.

Poultry is firm, hens selling for mostly 20 to 21c; springs 25c; old cocks 9c; turkeys 25c pounds liveweight; geese $1. 146 cars of cabbage, 62 of 80 cars of spinach, 1 of 154 cars of lettuce, 3 cars of beets, 12 of carrots and 50 of 139 cars of mixed vegetables.

Loading station markets were very inactive and weak, spinach being quotable on a cash track basis of 30 to 40c bushe. Laredo and 40c usual terms basis.

Cabbage brought growers $8 per ton, wagon loads and the usual terms trade mostly $13 to $14. Beets and carrots on a mixed car usual terms basis sold for $1 for the former and 75c for the latter per bushel basket.

AUSTIN, March 6.—Eastern spinach markets appeared in improved tone today, New York and Philadelphia in particular firming under a more active demand. The St. Louis clearance in the day was somewhat heavy, some 52 cars in all, but this reduced track holdings to 26 cars, a very moderate supply for this clearance point. Cash cars today at Laredo to sold for 30 to 40 cents bushel fob, under a very unsatisfactory demand. Jobbing markets follow:

Kansas City, Texas arrived, 8 track, steady, unchanged.

Chicago, 6 Texas arriverd, 38 track, weak, 75c to 1.00.

St. Louis, 6 Texas arrived, 26 track, weak, 40 to 60 cents.

Cincinnati, 3 Texas arrived, 12 track, weak, 50 to 60 cents.

Cleveland, 1 Texas, 15 track, weaker, 50 to 75 cents.

Detroit, 1 Texas arrived, 10 track, weak, mostly 75c.

Denver, 2 Texas arrived, 5 track, weak, unchanged.

New York, 17 Texas, 9 other arrivals, stronger, 1.00 to 1.12½.

Washington, no arrivals, 3 track, dull, mostly 1.00.

Minneapolis, 2 Texas arrived, 2 track, weaker, 75 to 85c.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

HOW TO CURE A LAZY BROTHER OF SPONGING ON HIS SISTERS —CAN THERE BE FRIENDSHIP AND NOTHING MORE BETWEEN A MAN AND GIRL?—IS THERE ANY WAY OF MEETING A NICE GIRL WITHOUT FORMAL INTRODUCTION?

Dear Miss Dix—I am a young married woman and have a brother 21. He is big and healthy, and handsome, and husky, but he will not do a lick of work. He has been married and divorced, and my sister and I had to take care of both of him and his wife when they were living together. My mother is a widow, and she lives with me part of the time and the balance of the time with my sister, and wherever mother goes brother has to go too. She takes every bit of the money that we give her and buys him fine clothes with it.

Do you think it is right for us to have to take care of such a boy? If not, what would you advise? We have told our brother what we think of his conduct and have forbidden him to come to our houses, but he comes right along. JUST A GIRL.

Answer—I think you are very foolish to let your lazy, loafing brother sponge on you, and that you are putting a grave imposition on your husbands by forcing them to support him. Also you are doing your brother a wrong by encouraging him in being a parasite, and the sooner he is thrown out and forced either to work or starve the better chance there is of making a man of him.

Depend upon it, he won't starve. He may make a bid for your sympathy by coming around looking seedy and shabby, and telling you that he is hungry, and has no place to sleep of a cold night. It will take courage to refuse him; but if you have the nerve to do it, it will be the turning point in his career. He will see that he really has to earn his living, instead of grafting it, and he will go to work.

In a great many families there are these black sheep, who perpetually feed upon the others. They have no shame, and they will take the last dollar of a poor old mother or let a frail girl work to support them. Their only possible salvation is being kicked out of the door and having it barred against them, and the pity of it is that so few persons have the hardihood to apply this drastic remedy.

In your particular case, you will probably have to summon the police to put out your brother, as he seems willing to swallow any insult in order to get a free dinner. But you will never have to do this but once, and to be rid of him is worth what it will cost. If your mother gives him all the money you give her, refrain from presenting her with cash that she can turn over to him. Buy her whatever she needs herself.

Why the prodigal son should always be mother's favorite, and why she should be willing to sacrifice her good children to him, nobody knows, but it is invariably the case. DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I went with a girl for about seven months. I cared for her very much and told her so, but also told her that I could not consider anything serious at this time, as I am the head of a family, supporting my mother and sisters, and that my mother comes before any girl with me. The girl admitted that she liked me very much, but we somehow seem to have drifted apart and I seldom see her, although I would like to be friends with her, even if we cannot be anything more. What do you think of the situation? PUZZLED.

Answer—I should think that the girl realized that she was falling very much in love with you and felt that, under the circumstances, it was best for you both to nip the romance in the bud.

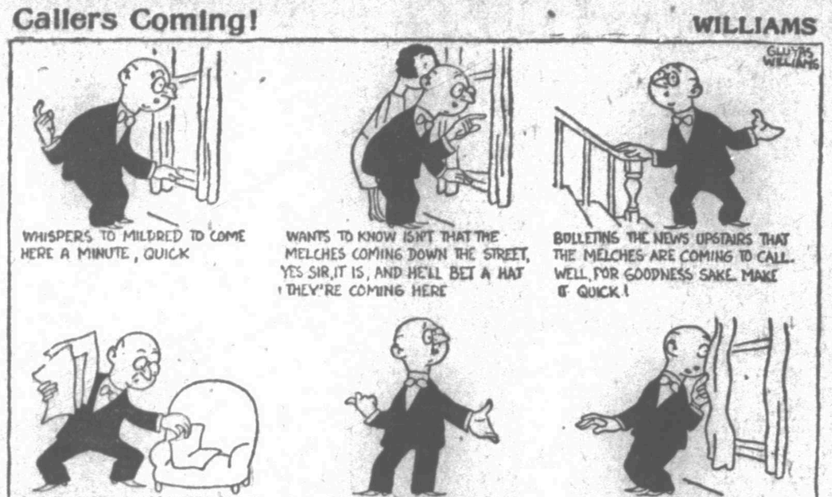

In this she was wise, as there is nothing which is so wearing on both a man and a woman as a long-drawn-out engagement. It is an unnatural situation that gets upon the nerves of both. They are nstither bound nor free. They have neither the rights and privileges of husband and wife, nor yet the liberty of the single man and woman. It is filled with suspicions and jealousies and anxieties and the hope deferred that maketh the heart sick.

So any young man who cannot name the wedding day should adopt the Washingtonian maxim in his dealings with women: "Friendship and good times with all, entangling alliances with none." And the girl who refuses to be drawn into keeping company with a man who has his own family on his shoulders is wiser still, for a girl's time for making a good marriage is while her youth and beauty shines. That period is short and she takes a terrible risk if she spends it on a man who very likely will have grown tired of her before he ever gets ready to marry.

Of course, the idea of a platonic friendship between you and the girl is intriguing, but you are too young to indulge in that pastime. A platonic friendship between a man and woman is only possible when they are hovering around the frosty sixties. When they are as young as you are, it is only the poorest sort of camouflage for love. And evidently the girl is clever enough to realize this. It is only men, anyway, who believe in the possibility of a platonic friendship. No woman ie credulou enough to put her faith in it. She knows it for what it is. DOROTHY DIX.

Mayor Shepherd Files Petition With City Clerk

Action Spikes Rumors That He Will Drop From Race

Filing of his nominating petition with City Clerk W. E. McBroom Friday afternoon effectually spiked persistent rumors here yesterday to the effect that Mayor R. E. Shepherd would withdraw from the race for that office.

It was reported on the streets and in a number of other places that Mr. Shepherd was considering retiring from public life, but in turning in his petition he emphatically denied that he was entertaining any such idea. "This petition ought to be the best answer to that," he declared. "You bet I'm going to be in the running when election day comes around."

Mr. Shepherd's was the fifth petition to be filed with the city clerk. Seven others must be turned in Saturday if names of the men they represent are to go on the official ballot.

Candidates who have already qualified by obtaining the proper number of signatures for their petitions are Mr. Shepherd, for mayor; Frank Queisser and W. C. Conn, for police commissioner, and J. M. Patton and W. H. Hunt for park and health commissioner. Petitions that must come in today are those of R. E. Huff, for mayor, and L. G. Stogner, J. W. McCormick, J. B. Fitts, Dave May, Frank Johnson and R. N. Wells for police commissioner. Oral Jones, unopposed thus far in his race for finance commissioner, will also file his petition today.

The city charter requires that petitions of all candidates be filed with the city clerk 30 days before the date set for the election, and today happens to be that time. Mr. McBroom's office is open until 5 o'clock.

GRASS FIRE CAUSES ALARM.

A grass fire in the 1700 block Seventh street caused a run for the fire department at 1:45 Friday afternoon. The blaze was extinguished without difficulty.

Fire Chief McClure has issued a warning that open fires of all kinds are unusual menaces in these days of high winds, and has cautioned that anyone who burns trash, grass or anything of any nature in a place exposed to the breeze, observe the utmost care in watching of the flames.

Each Department Preparing Budget For City Council

All But Five Reports Are in Hands of City Clerk

All department budgets of the city with the exception of the police, fire, library, water and engineer, have been prepared by the respective heads and turned in to the commissioners under whose jurisdiction they fall. It is expected that all will be finished by next Monday night when, possibly, some consideration of them will be made by the city council.

J. T. Young, police and fire commissioner, has indicated his two budgets will be prepared by Monday evening and F. M. Rugely, city engineer, will have his in shape by the same time, it is thought.

The city's 1925 working appropriations must be properly classified and distributed before the first of April when the new fiscal year begins.

CANNOT CHANGE LICENSES

County Attorney Warns People Against Transferring Plates.

A warning that automobile license plates purchased for one machine can not be transferred to another has been sounded by County Attorney Wayne Somerville, who says that a number of violations of this ruling are being found. Numerous instances have come to light in which one license plate has been placed on one car and the other on another car or truck. The law provides drastic penalties for infringement of this statute and orders have been given motorcycle and other officers to make prompt arrests where any such instance is found.

The stork brought another. "Aha!" said the law maker. "A new source of revenue."

Still, if none were ignorant, think how many clever people would have to go to work.

Police Arrest Four Who Confess Thefts

Two men and two women were being held in the city jail Friday following their arrest about 3 o'clock in the morning on suspicion of complicity in several robberies near this city recently. They were taken in custody on Lee street by Officers Carmichael and Perskey and, after a close grilling at the hands of the police, are said to have admitted taking part in the thefts.

About $3 in pennies, some inner tubes and a new gasoline blow torch were found in the automobile which, police say, the prisoners admit having taken from filling stations near Walters, Okla., and Burkburnett. The automobile in which they were riding was also found to have been stolen from Snider, Okla., several weeks ago. Oklahoma officials are expected to arrive here Saturday to claim the machine.

FRIENDLESS MAN DIES

Officers Are Making Effort to Locate Relatives of J. H. Southern

Efforts are being made to find relatives or friends of J H. Southern, a man about 60 years of age, who died at 10 o'clock in the general hospital after an illness of about three days. The remains are being held at the Meckle funeral parlors while the search is conducted.

Mr. Southern was taken to the hospital early in the week from the county jail where he was being confined. He was taken ill there and ordered removed to a place where medical attention could be given. The sheriff's department has no information as to his home, nor do hospital authorities.

It is known that he came here from some place in Oklahoma, but otherwise his identity remains a secret.

LAKE KEMP GIVES WATER.

City Would Have Been Dry if Big Lake Had Failed.

Had not Lake Kemp been able to supply Wichita Falls with untold quantities since last September, this city would have been dry, according to P. A. Welty, chief engineer of the irrigation project.

During the last year Wichita Falls has had slightly more than 16 inches of rainfall, and Mr. Welty explained that this would not have been nearly enough to supply the city.

Water from Lake Kemp is furnished the city via Lake Wichita, a supply being turned in only when needed.

WANT COTTON GIN

Frederick Farmers Circulate Petition For New Building.

FREDERICK, Okla., March 6.—With the circulation of a petition this week for the building of a cotton gin in Frederick by S. D. Mitchell, the number of plants will be increased to ten if enough signers of the petition are secured. The number of gins here last year were not capable of handling the run which was brought to Frederick, and neither were other towns in the county able to handle the cotton, with the result that much ginning was carried out of the county.

Reconstruction work on the Hope gin and the Simmons gin, both of which were destroyed by fire last fall, is going forward rapidly. The Hope plant is practically completed, while work on the Simmons gin is being speeded up.

The Simmons plant is to be one of the most up-to-date and completely equipped in the southwest. It will be absolutely fireproof, being constructed throughout of brick and steel with concrete floors.

KRAUSE GETS CONTRACT

FREDERICK, Okla., March 6.—A. H. Krause, a Frederick contractor was Thursday awarded a contract by several Electra investors for the construction of a one-story brick building to be occupied by the Buick Motor company in Electra.

OLD HOME TOWN

Marriage licenses issued Friday by the county clerk's office were as follows: Paul C. Bundy, Dallas, and Miss Josephine Tucker, Wichita Falls; Jeff Huddleston, Olney, and Laura Alexander, Olney.

Six cases were called for trial Friday morning in the police court session. Two were for disturbing the peace and the balance were for traffic violation.

H. N. Dorsey, an attorney of Houston, was in the city Friday on legal business.

District Attorney James V. Allred has returned from Graham where he has spent the past three days with a grand jury of the 30th district court which opened the March term there last Monday.

J. O. Sibert who was recently injured at the Wichita Mill and Elevator, is reported doing nicely.

RECOVER FOUR AUTOS

Two of Machines From Okahoma; Others From City

City police Friday recovered four automobiles that had been stolen in this and other nearby communities within the past month. All have been or will be returned to the owners.

Two of the machines were taken from points in Oklahoma—one from Snider and the other from Temple, while the other two disappeared from business streets of Wichita Falls.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflammed membranes and kills the germs.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Adv.
