Arguments On Tidelands Open Today

By GORDON BROWN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Five Gulf Coast states and the Federal Government square off in the Supreme Court today for another—and possibly decisive—round in a long dispute over ownership of the oil-rich submerged off-shore lands in the Gulf of Mexico.

Attorneys for the United States and for Texas, Louisiana, Florida, Alabama and Mississippi have 13 hours—an unusually lengthy period—in which to present their arguments.

Since the court sits only four hours daily, starting at noon, the arguments could extend into next Thursday.

At stake in the case are great riches in royalties from oil which lies in pools beneath parts of the submerged lands in the Gulf.

The nub of the arguments are these:

By the states—That Congress gave states ownership of adjoining offshore lands out to their historic boundaries and thus the five states should be declared owners of lands out as far as 10 to 20 miles from shore.

By the United States—That the boundary of the United States extends seaward only three miles. Inasmuch as state boundaries cannot extend beyond boundaries of the country, the state can own only out to the three-mile line. That the government, under previous court rulings, has paramount rights to and control over submerged lands beyond that three-mile limit.

Solicitor General J. Lee Rankin is representing the United States in the case.

Spokesmen for the states include:

Texas — Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, James P. Hart and J. Chrys Dougherty; Louisiana—Atty. Gen. Jack P. F. Gremillion and Victor A. Sachse; Mississippi—Atty. Gen. Joe T. Patterson and John H. Price Jr.; Alabama—Asst. Atty. Gen. Gordon Madison; Florida—Atty. Gen. Richard W. Ervin and Sen. Spessard L. Holland (D).

Litigation over ownership of the oil rich submerged lands has been in the courts, off and on, for more than 10 years.

In a series of cases several years ago the court ruled against California, Texas and Louisiana in their efforts to claim ownership of the offshore submerged lands.

The court said, in effect, that Congress could decide the question of ownership but that the Federal Government has paramount rights to and control over the submerged lands.

Congress, in 1953, enacted a law giving states ownership of adjoining offshore lands out to the extent of their historic borders, generally regarded as three miles. The act also gave states the opportunity to prove that their historic boundaries are beyond three miles. They claim ownership out to three or six leagues—10 to 20 miles. Three leagues equals 10.4 land miles.

After Congress acted, the Justice Department claimed lands beyond the three-mile mark off the Louisiana coast.

The court heard arguments in April, 1957, in a government case directed against Louisiana but the following June directed that all five Gulf Coast states be brought into the dispute.

New arguments were set for Oct. 13, 1958, but a year ago the court delayed them and last Feb. 24 set the case for hearing today.

The government's principal contention is that a state's boundary cannot extend beyond the country's boundary, which is three miles. It said that Congress did not recognize any state ownership beyond three miles but merely gave the states the right to press their claims in court.

The states contend that the government has attempted to transform a domestic controversy over property rights into an international question to be controlled by foreign policy.

Arguments starting today actually are on the government's motion for judgment and on its motion to dismiss Alabama's cross-bill.

BEAUTY QUEEN GUARDS TREASURE—Standing guard over a "pirate" treasure here is CavOILcade Queen Ann Brannon of Port Aruthur. CavOILcade is Port Arthur's annual community festival, sponsored Oct. 15 to 18 by the Chamber of Commerce, and a treasure hunt is conducted each year in connection with it. Clues will be published in the local paper beginning Oct. 12, and judging by past performances, several hundred persons are expected to be on the scene the day of the final clue, Oct. 18, digging for the $250 prize. Steel Fact-Finders Open Session Today

By STANLEY MEISLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — A fact-finding board opens hearings today on the nation's longest steel strike, hoping to produce a settlement rather than just some advice for President Eisenhower.

Acting under the Taft-Hartley law, the President appointed the three-man board to recommend whether he should seek a federal court injunction to stop the walkout for 80 days.

The Steelworkers Union plans to fight issuance of such an injunction.

Board chairman George W. Taylor, who does not think much of the Taft-Hartley law, said Sunday that he and his colleagues would use the hearings to try to help management and labor reach a voluntary agreement in the 90-day-old strike.

"I think it's our responsibility to do everything within the limits of our authority to settle this dispute," said Taylor, known as a skilled arbiter of labor-management disputes. He is professor of business at the University of Pennsylvania and was chairman of the War Labor Board during World War II.

Help from the panel was welcomed by David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers Union. If the panel can help achieve an agreement, he said, "we will be most happy."

Officially the board must determine whether continuation of the strike would cause a national emergency. In the open hearings, the steel companies were expected to argue that it would. The union was expected to argue the opposite.

The union argument apparently would follow these lines:

1. The non-union plants, 15 per cent of the industry, have continued to operate and can supply the nation's defense needs.

2. Although the strike has caused unemployment of 800,000 national unemployment still is below five million, a total that the President has not considered an emergency in the past.

McDonald said Sunday the union would show "that there is absolutely no need for an injunction and that if one is issued it will only serve to prolong the unnecessary conflict brought about by the greed and selfish economic amorality of the steel industry."

The board is to file its report with the President by Friday. Taylor, however, hinted the panel might seek an extension of the deadline if he felt time would help mediate the dispute. Under the law, the President would not be bound by the board's recommendation.

Taylor said nothing would be settled if Eisenhower were forced to seek a court order halting the such a procedure would prolong the dispute, Taylor added.

His colleagues on the panel, John A. Perkins, president of the University of Delaware, and Prof. Paul N. Lehoczky of Ohio State University, agreed with Taylor.

"We intend to do everything we can to narrow the differences between the parties," Taylor said. "We certainly will seek to avoid procedures which would widen those differences."

In a copyrighted interview in U.S. News & World Report today, Taylor said the emergency strike procedures of the Taft - Hartley law are inadequate to deal with big strikes. Taylor had been interviewed by the magazine before he was appointed to head the board.

"I think that employers and unions in disputes that seriously affect the public interest have to develop, somehow or other, their own machinery for arbitration," he said.

Two basic issues separate management and labor in the strike—wages and contract changes. The steel companies say they have offered wages and benefits worth 15 cents an hour over a two-year period. The union says it wants an increase of 15 cents an hour for each year.

Failing Romance Blamed In Slaying

BRACKETTVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Investigators today blamed a tottering romance for the knife slaying of a personable young actress here on location to make a movie.

Blonde LaJean Ethridge, 26, from Hollywood, Calif., died with a hunting knife in her heart early Sunday. She had just packed to leave a house she shared with five men in her summer theater troupe.

Witnesses told County Atty. John J. Tobin she gasped "I love you" to the man who stabbed her before collapsing on the living room floor.

Sheriff John Sheedy jailed Chester Harvey Smith, 32, a slight 140-pounder from Hollywood on a murder charge. He was working as an extra in the film "The Alamo."

"She was getting a better part in the movie," Sheedy said, "and she was moving out on Smith and the others. He thought he was going to lose her."

Smith told questioners his memory was blank for several hours before and after the slaying, Sheedy said.

Miss Ethridge, known professionally as LaJean Guye, and her company rented a house at Spofford, nine miles south of here, after landing jobs in the film being produced by actor John Wayne.

A spokesman said Wayne liked the work of Miss Ethridge and cast her as the wife of one of the soldiers of Gen. Sam Houston, leader in the war which liberated Texas from Mexico.

Sheedy and Tobin said that the actress, accompanied by a waitress from a Brackettville cafe and two other men, went to her quarters about 2 a.m. Most of the other tenants were asleep. Several in the group had been drinking but none appeared to be drunk.

Smith angrily declared she could not leave. As she emerged from her bedroom, he met her in a hallway. Her companions said Smith, apparently unarmed, suddenly drew Miss Ethridge toward him and thrust a five-inch hunting knife into her chest.

It was then that she stared fixedly at Smith and cried, "I love you." She died a few minutes later. Smith was sitting on the floor beside the body when the sheriff arrived 15 minutes later.

Justice of the Peace Albert Postell ordered Smith held without bond pending grand jury action on the murder charge.

In Hollywood the victim's mother, Mrs. Jewell Wilkins, collapsed shortly after learning of the stabbing.

She said Miss Ethridge had been interested in drama from childhood in Hobbs, N.M., where she went through grade school.

"When she was just a little thing she would dance by the hour," the mother recalled.

"Only yesterday one of her teachers brought some props here that they had used in summer stock. He told me, 'Your daughter makes friends so easily, and is so popular everywhere she goes. Everybody likes her.' That was only yesterday."

Court To Review Union Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today agreed to review a decision that compulsory union membership is unconstitutional if dues money is used for political purposes without the consent of union members.

The decision was given by the Georgia Supreme Court in a suit by six employes of the Southern Railway System.

It was appealed to the highest tribunal by 15 unions, among them railroad brotherhoods at whose insistence union shop contracts have been signed by many railways.

Under union shop contracts, employes are required to join unions within a specified time. In the Georgia case this was 60 days.

The six Southern Railway System employes said they did not want to join unions and should not be forced to pay dues when part of the money was used to support political candidates and doctrines they opposed.

A time for argument will be set later.

The issue is one of far-reaching import. If the Supreme Court agrees with the Georiga court, unions could not use any general funds for political activities, or else they would have to give up the union shop.

The Georgia Supreme Court affirmed a decision by Judge O. L. Long in Superior Court in Macon, Ga., that a section of the Railway Labor Act is unconstitutional to the extent that it permits union shop agreements under which dues money may be spent in part for political purposes.

Long's decision also held union shop agreements as so enforced were contrary to the constitution, law and public policy of Georgia and other states; their enforcement and the section of the Railway Labor Act violate sections of the U.S. Constitution which guarantee to individuals "protection from such unwarranted invasion of their personal and property rights—including freedom of association, freedom of thought, freedom of speech, freedom of press, freedom to work, and their political freedom and rights."

Congress in 1951 amended the Railway Labor Act to authorize union shop agreements. The Supreme Court in a decision announced May 21, 1956, held the amendment was legal. But the court said then it reserved judgment as to validity or enforceability of a union shop agreement if dues money was used "as a cover for forcing ideological conformity or other action" in violation of constitutional guarantees.

This is the amendment involved in the Georgia case.

Gail Dinner Ducats Ready

Arrangements were being completed here today for a substantial number of Snyder business men to attend the "return engagement" of a dinner held earlier in Gail.

Food for the Tuesday evening dinner, scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Gail school, is to be prepared by the Gail Parent-Teachers Ass'n.

Among those to entertain will be a group of teachers, under the direction of Bob Clinton, school choral director.

Tickets are on sale at the Snyder Chamber of Commerce at $1.50 each.

According to information reaching here, each local businessman is being asked to buy a ticket for himself and a ticket for some rancher or farmer at Gail.

Tickets should be purchased no later than noon Tuesday, it was stated.

Persons from Snyder planning on attending are asked to meet at the local chamber office by 6:15 Tuesday evening to leave in a body for Gail.

Abilene Man In Mishap

Jack Wills, 21, 802 Sycamore Street, Abilene, suffered burns from an electrical shock he received on the east highway today.

Wills, an employe of the Thomas Neon Sign Co. of Abilene, reportedly was preparing to work on a sign at the Phillips 66 Super Station when he backed his truck against a power line.

When he stepped from the truck he was burned on his left side from his face to his foot.

Wills was carried to Cogdell Memorial Hospital in a Bell ambulance. He was reported in shock at noon today.

FTC Chief Says His Agency Can't Curb 'Rigged' Shows

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Federal Trade Commission said today deceptive entertainment such as rigged TV shows is not something his agency can regulate.

Earl W. Kintner, the FTC head, told House investigators his agency has never gone beyond control of advertising which results in unfair business practices.

The House subcommittee on Legislative Oversight has heard testimony that questions and answers were supplied in advance to some contestants on such programs as "Twenty-One" and "Tic Tac Dough."

In reply to questions, Kintner conceded that this constitutes "a gray area in the law."

He said Congress could enact a law making it a criminal offense to rig a TV show. "It would have a salutary effect," he said.

Kintner also suggested broadening the rules of the Federal Communications Commission, which is the federal regulatory body for television and radio.

Kintner said the courts have held that where no misrepresentation of products is involved, the commission has no jurisdiction.

But he said the commission staff in 1956 conducted a preliminary investigation of a complaint involving the TV quiz program, "The Big Surprise." The program went off the air, Kintner said, and the investigation never got to the question of the commission authority to act.

He described the complaint as having come from a woman contestant. She alleged that the quiz show's producer questioned her in advance on her knowledge of certain subjects, purportedly to "choke her off" the program.

There still was no word on whether Charles Van Doren, a big winner on the "Twenty One" show, would accept an invitation to testify before the House Legislative Oversight subcommittee.

Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) declined to comment on whether a subpoena would be issued for Van Doren, who won $129,000 on the quiz show three years ago. Van Doren consistently has disclaimed any knowledge of the show's being rigged.

Other "Twenty One" contestants have testified that they were given answers in advance.

As the hearing moved into the home stretch, a Presbyterian Church official said the television industry had sacrificed "ethics, morality and honor" for high audience ratings on the quiz shows.

The Rev. Lawrence McMaster Jr. of New York, executive director of the Department of Radio and Television of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., said in an open letter to the networks and the federal communications commission:

"The only criterion of right and wrong was last night's rating. All was geared to this. The one thing the show had to be was popular. Morality and truth were completely sacrificed to popularity."

A spokesman for the Mutual Broadcasting System replied that the integrity of Mutual's former quiz shows has never been questioned. Other networks have said they did not know some shows were being rigged by individual producers.

Testimony by FCC chairman John Doerfer was attacked Sunday by Robert W. Lishman, chief counsel for the subcommittee.

Doerfer said Saturday the rigging of quiz shows is a fraudulent and deceptive practice. He added "neither the prosecuting attorney in New York nor I have been able to pinpoint any violation of the law."

Lopez Mateos Meets Press

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mexico's President Adolfo Lopez Mateos has both lunch and dinner today with Washington reporters.

At noon he was guest at a National Press Club luncheon. He'll address the group and later answer questions.

In the evening, Lopez Mateos will attend the annual stag dinner of the White House Correspondents Assn. with President Eisenhower.

The Mexican leader leaves Tuesday morning on a tour that will take him to Chicago, New York and Canada. He also plans to stop for a night at the Texas home of Sen. Lyndon Johnson.

Lopez Mateos and his wife entertained Eisenhower Sunday night at an embassy dinner. Mrs. Eisenhower was unable to attend because of a sore throat.

The visiting President and his family cruised down the Potomac River Sunday to Mount Vernon, George Washington's home.

Eisenhower and Lopez Mateos went over a variety of economic and trade problems during Saturday's overnight visit to Camp David, Eisenhower's Maryland mountain retreat. No decisions were announced.

City Council Session Set

Snyder's city council is scheduled to resume deliberation at city hall at 7:30 this evening on the annexation of nine areas proposed to be taken into Snyder city limits.

Although the meeting is open to the public, it will not be a public hearing, such as was held last Monday night when those for or against the measures—which were considered individually—were allowed to express their views from the floor.

Specifically under consideration will be the possible alteration of some boundary lines outlined at last week's first reading.

Requests had been made by some of those present that boundaries be extended in some instances, shortened in others.

Residents of the areas which asked to be left outside city limits had — in some case — presented petitions to substantiate their requests.

Council said it would take all requests under consideration.

Twisters Cited In Gulf Coast Areas

By The Associated Press

Tornadoes twisted down from black clouds near Texas City on the Gulf of Mexico Coast Monday and twisting winds caused minor damage 200 miles southwest at Corpus Christi.

Police Chief H. G. Whitmire of La Marque, five miles west of Texas City, reported two funnels definitely were tracked to the northwest. He described them as "good sized."

One apparently struck the ground about 8:45 a.m., but the site was not immediately determined and no apparent damage occurred.

The second tornado was seen at 9:15 a.m.

Several persons in Texas City reported seeing funnels during a steady rain.

At Corpus Christi, also on the coast but 200 miles southwest of Texas City, what witnesses called a "whirlwind" caused minor damage. It tossed lumber about and rolled garbage pails down the street.

Heavy rain limited visibility at Corpus Christi to a half mile.

Most of Texas enjoyed comfortable temperatures and partly cloudy skies.

A stationary front, lying along a line from Lufkin to Austin to Salt Flat, separated two groups of mild temperatures. Early morning temperatures were in the 70s to the south of the line and in the 60s and 50s to the north.

The northwestern Panhandle had temperatures in the 40s with the states extremes represented by a 45 reading at Dalhart and a 78 at Brownsville.

An extended forecast for the next five days indicated little or no precipitation except in East Texas where moderate rainfall in scattered showers and thundershowers was expected.

U. N. Deadlocks On Poland-Turkey Issue

By MAX HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly ran into a stubborn deadlock today as it balloted indecisively on Communist Poland and Western-backed Turkey for a seat in the Security Council.

The 82-nation assembly quickly elected Ecuador and Ceylon to fill two of the Council's vacancies, but the hot East-West contest for the third seat appeared headed for a long series of ballots. The deadlock could last for weeks.

On the first secret ballot, Poland received 46 votes and Turkey 36. A two-third majority is required.

A U.S. spokesman said the United States would stick to Turkey indefinitely. Chief U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge said he was optimistic that Turkey would win eventually.

Poland and Turkey are contesting to succeed Japan, whose two-year term on the Security Council ends Jan. 1.

Ceylon was unopposed to succeed Canada as a British Commonwealth member, and Ecuador was the sole candidate for the Latin-American seat now held by Panama.

One contest also was listed for the Economic and Social Council, between India and Japan to take the seat held by Pakistan. Unopposed candidates were Brazil, to succeed Mexico; Denmark, to succeed Finland, and Britain, Poland and the Soviet Union for re-election. The ECOSCO terms, also starting Jan. 1, are for three years.

The rival Security Council aspirants were outwardly optimistic, but both expected considerable balloting.

Polish delegate Jerzy Michalowski said he hoped his country would lead from the first ballot onward and "get in, but we don't know after how many votes."

Seyfullah Esin of Turkey said he thought his country had "a fair lead" and certainly would win, though some balloting might be necessary.

Other delegates predicted neither would get the necessary two-thirds majority in the 82-nation Assembly and that after five or six fruitless ballots, the Assembly would postpone further voting to next week.

In 1955, the Philippines and Yugoslavia went through 35 inconclusive ballots spread over two months before they finally agreed to split the two-year term. This time both Poland and Turkey served notice they would not split.

A deadlock could persist indefinitely if hard-core backers of the two rivals held firm. This might result in a compromise dark horse.

Tax Valuations For County Are Okayed

The Scurry county commissioners, meeting as a board of equilization, this morning accepted the figure of $121,851,652 as being properly representative of county property for tax purposes.

The figure will be used for the 1959 tax year for the 1960 budget.

For state taxing purposes, $119,907,514 was the acceptable figure. The difference between the two figures is represented by homestead exemptions.

Oil properties were rendered at $94,449,690; unrendered oil properties were $13,926,000 and utilities at $5,387,935.

Two Liquor Cases In County Court

Two separate cases involving the alleged transportation of alcoholic beverages in excess of the amount allowed by law resulted in county court this morning with one defendant—Sam Green of Andrews—pleading innocent to the Oct. 12 charge and the second—Pedro Martinez Sanceda—entering a plea of guilty to the Oct. 10 allegation.

Both defendants appeared before Judge Martin on Greens bond of $750. Green was arrested early Monday morning by Snyder police officers who said he was carrying eight half-pints of whisky at the time. The case was transferred to the county for prosecution.

The second defendant, according to Deputy Harry Camp who testified for the state, was arrested the night of Oct. 10 about two miles from Snyder. According to his testimony, the defendant had passed the officer's car and was, stopped because of a defective tail light.

The deputy said seven cases of beer and one pint of whisky were found in the defendant's vehicle.

After the defendant declined an opportunity to testify, Judge Martin entered a judgment of $200 fine plus 10 days in jail with credit to be give for time already incarcerated.

Two bad check cases were processed in county court during the same Monday morning session.

A plea of "nole contendere" was entered by John E. Harry, charged with issuing a $10 worthless check to Scott's Humble Station. He was fined $10 and faxed $23.50 costs. It was the first case of the day's docket.

The last case was that of W. R. Belyeu, who had been charged with giving a $10 bogus check to the Snyder Drug. He entered a plea of guilty and was fined $15 plus costs of $23.30. Two checks were involved, but he was prosecuted on only one. He was attempting after court to make arrangements to pay the fine, costs and the checks which totaled a little more than $50. Belyeu's case had been filed March 11, 1959, and covered a check dated Dec. 27, 1958.

Ex-Bellhop Confesses To Third Murder

JERSEYVILLE, Ill. (AP) — A third cold-blooded murder has been admitted by James Palmer, 21, recent bridegroom, ex-soldier and former bellhop.

Palmer, gaunt, mild-mannered and red-haired, was captured Saturday after breaking into a Jerseyville cement plant and holding eight men at bay with a rifle for an hour and a half. He got $2,000 in the plant and told the eight he was going to shoot seven of them and take owner Louis Gorman hostage.

But Palmer glanced away for a moment and Gorman, husky Jerseyville police commissioner, slapped the rifle away and knocked Palmer down.

Palmer confessed, apparently without remorse, the killing of Thomas L. Nelson, 40, proprietor of a St. Louis County, Mo., bait and tackle shop, Sept. 12, and a waitress, Hazel Riley, in nearby Wood River, Ill., Sept. 15.

Sunday night he said to Deputy Sheriff Mel Leach, "I think there is something else I ought to tell you."

He said he shot a filling station attendant in Humboldt, Tenn., on Sept. 24. A telephone check disclosed that a Billy Marshall, 22, was found shot to death in a Humboldt filling station Sept. 24.

All three persons were shot in the back of the head with .22-caliber weapons. Nelson and Mrs. Riley were each shot six times with a semi-automatic rifle. Palmer said he used a semi-automatic pistol on Marshall.

Police Are Seeking 'Yellow' Burglars

Snyder police today were looking for a thief, or thieves, who "turned yellow" while burglarizing a local firm.

Personnel of the Fina Service Station, Twenty-third and Ave. S, reported Sunday morning that the place had been entered, 87 cents in pennies taken and a back wall sprayed with yellow paint.

Entry was gained through a broken window on the east side, the report stated.

Motor Scooter Found At Station

Snyder police were notified this weekend that a green Cushman motor scooter was left Saturday at the Fields Service Station, 2100 Twenty-fifth, and was still on hand Monday noon.

An employe of the station said a youth rode the scooter into the station Saturday and left it.

It bears license 9J57.

REPLACING STRIKE SIGN WITH T-H HEA DLINES—Pickets of a Pittsburgh local of the United Steelworkers Union, replace a strike sign at the gate of Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp. plant with headlines in a local newspaper after President Eisenhower invoked the Taft-Hartley law to break the deadlock in the 87-day old strike. Speeding Cars In Fatal Accidents

By The Associated Press

Speeding cars under hot pursuit by police were involved in crashes that killed seven persons over the weekend as the violence toll in Texas rose to 30 dead.

Twenty persons died in traffic, and bursts of gunfire killed six. Two died under a train. An actress was stabbed to death and a man was suffocated in a fire.

One of the police pursuit crashes killed five persons near Cotulla. Two teen-agers died at Houston when a driver lost control while running from pursuing officers.

The three-car crash near Cotulla, 90 miles southwest of San Antonio, occurred as a Highway Patrol car chased another auto at speeds up to 120 miles per hour.

Officers could not identify the driver of the fleeing car.

Also killed were Roy Garcia, 23, of Devine, driver of a car met head-on by the pursued auto; Ysabel Flores Gallegos, 30, and Jesse Patino Chacon, 25, of Devine, and Ernesto Bustos, 24, of Brooks AFB at San Antonio.

Garry Heard, 20, a patient at the Brown School in San Marcos, was killed in a one-car crash Sunday near Waxahachie.

LaJean Ethridge, about 26, of Hollywood was stabbed to death at Spofford near Bracketville early Sunday. She was an actress in "The Alamo" now being filmed in South Texas. Charges of murder were filed against Chester Smith, 32, also of Hollywood.

A Texas & Pacific passenger train struck and killed two youths sleeping on the railroad track one mile west of Baird Sunday.

David Walker, 16, of Clyde told officers he roused barely in time to escape.

His companions killed by the train, also from Clyde, were Maxie Ramos, 17, and Dean Harris, 18.

Janet Wogan, 12, and David Greer Jr., 16, were killed at Houston and two other teen-agers injured when their car failed to make a sharp turn Friday night.

Joe Hart, 36, died in a fire at a Houston rooming house where he lived Saturday.

Johnny Martinez, 21, was killed when struck by a hit-and-run driver in Houston Sunday.

Mereljildo Salazar, 58, of Lyford was killed Saturday night when he was struck by an automobile near Lyford.

Midwest Has Cold Wave

By The Associated Press

A mass of cold air propelled by strong winds moved into the mid-continent today.

Many North Dakota communities showed readings in the 20s.

Minneapolis, Minn, had 33, Chicago 36.

Many communities in the Ohio Valley also had readings in the 20s.

Strong winds over the Great Lakes brought gale warnings. The warning was lifted over Lake Michigan late Sunday night, but was still in effect over Lake Superior and Lake Huron.

Some rain, mostly under a tenth of an inch, fell over the area from Washington State eastward to Montana, in the northern Great Lakes, the New England states, the Carolinas and Oklahoma.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Chapman, 102 Milburn, are parents of a son weight six pounds, one and three-fourths ounces born in Cogdell Memorial Hospital at 2:14 p.m. Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bridges, 2209 Avenue O, are parents of a six pound, 14 ounce, daughter born at 6:35 p.m. Sunday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Reaves Snyder, are parents of a son weighing eight pounds and two ounces born in Cogdell Memorial Hospital at 3:57 p.m. Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Lock, stationed with the 10th. Airforce Band in England, became the parents of a six pound, one-ounce son on Sept. 15. The baby born in England is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Davis, Hermleigh, and Mrs. J. E. Lock, 703 Thirty-first Street. Mrs. Lock is the former Willeen Davis of Hermleigh.

Separated Twins Perky

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Perky Jeanett Stubblefield moved ahead a shade again today, the sixth since surgeons separated her from her Siamese twin sister.

Both Jeanett and Denett remained on the critical list at the University of Oregon Medical School Hospital, but Denett's provement has been steady all along.

Jeanett's condition Saturday night dipped to the lowest point since the operation last Tuesday by 17 surgeons. It led a spokesman to say that without a break she probably wouldn't make it.

But Sunday the 3½-month-old was a bit perky, and followed persons about her room with her eyes. She took formula on a regular basis.

Two Cars Collide On Town Square

Snyder police officers were called to the west side of the square Sunday about 6:30 p.m. to investigate an accident involving two north-bound vehicles.

According to their report, the 1958 Ford driven by Hoyt Jean Pylant, Box 733 Fluvanna, was in collision with the 1959 Chevrolet driven by Alexandra M. Rodrigues, Route 2, Hermleigh.

The Pylant car, damaged about $200, was towed from the scene and the other car, which received only minor damage, was driven off.

Blind Woman Gets Sight Suddenly

BURBANK, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. Emogene Harris was washing dishes in her ranch home at Justin, Tex., when her telephone rang at 9:35 a. m. on Saturday, Sept. 12.

At 2 p.m. that day she boarded an airliner for Los Angeles.

At 11 o'clock that night she entered a hospital here, and at 10 o'clock Sunday morning she was wheeled into surgery.

On Sunday, Sept. 20—one week later — bandages were removed and Mrs. Harris, 49, could see for the first time in 22 years.

She had undergone a corneal transplant. The cornea, or outer covering, had come from the eye of a woman who died the day before that telephone call came to the Harris' Denton County stock breeding farm.

Today her vision is still blurred, but doctors say it will improve gradually during the next month or two. In about a year another healthy cornea will be transplanted to her other eye.

Her trouble began when she was 13, with pain and discomfort in both eyes. At 20 her sight was failing. At 27 she was blind. The pain continued to increase.

Oddly, nothing was organically wrong with her eyes.

The ailment is known technically as interstitial keratitis, and its effect is the clouding of the cornea. Doctors liken it to a technically perfect television set which has an opaque pane of glass in front of the tube. The TV functions perfectly — but it imge can't be seen.

Mrs. Harris is recuperating at the home of her son, Troy, in nearby Santa Ana, where her greatest joy is the ability to see her three grandchildren.

What does she regard as the most exciting prospect when she goes home?

"Just being able to take care of myself," she says.

Jim Hickey, new head football coach at the University of North Carolina, began his career at John Marshall High School in Richmond Va.

Cub Leaders Set Course

The Cub Leaders Training Course is slated to begin tonight at 7:30 at the M. E. Stanfield School here.

It will be under the direction of Earl Perser, Cub Leaders Training chairman, according to D. V. Merritt Jr., leadership training chairman.

The course is offered to all Cubmaster, Denmothers committeemen and parents of Cub Scouts of the Lone Buffalo District.

Filmstrips will be used together with charts and games of action. New Denmothers and Cubmasters will learn how to serve boys in their charge and most questions on responsibilities will be answered by the filmstrips and discussions.

Certificates will be presented at the close of the training course, which is scheduled for three Monday nights—tonight, Oct. 19 and Oct. 26.

The Boy Scout Leaders Training course is scheduled to get underway Thursday, Merritt said.

SALUTE TO CHANEL .. Pretty Ghislaine Arsac, favorite mannequin of Mlle. Gabrielle Chanel, wears Chanel-inspired American adaptions to be shown in cities throughout the country. Fr. Model Discovers America

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

AMERICANS in more than 100 cities throughout the country are having a close-up view this fall of a real, live Paris model—no ordinary model, but the blonde and lovely Ghislaine Arsac, favorite mannequin of Mlle. Gabrielle Chanel, the French designer who has influenced world fashions for more than 30 years.

Ghislaine is in this country to show Americans how Chanel clothes should be worn. She has brought with her a complete Chanel wardrobe, consisting of 10 suits, two coats and two evening dresses. She was invited here by Leonard and Andrew Arkin, father-and-son dress-manufacturing team of New York, to take part in a nationwide Chanel tribute during the month of October, in stores from coast to coast.

Ghislaine was a devoted Chanel fan before she applied for a job modeling her clothes. The usually hard-to-please "Coco" took one look at the slender figure and casual air of this pixy blonde and hired her on the spot. Says Ghislaine:

"She's wonderful to work for—sometimes 'difficile' because she's a super-perfectionist. Nothing ever wholly pleases her and she changes things up to the last minute before a collection opening."

It takes stamina to be a Chanel model, for the designer works on the living model. The body of a costume, worn by a mannequin, is presented to Chanel starkly undercorated. Then the famous hands go to work, adjusting pockets, trimmings, buttons and bows. The model stands for hours as she works.

"After hours," says Ghislaine, "Chanel is charming and gay. I frequently lunch and dine with her."

The pretty young Parisian also is a starlet, having appeared in a number of French movies. She speaks five languages, loves to travel and is having the time of her life on her American tour.

moved the surplus material into new positions on the road-front of my lot. There I let it get as tall and as broad as it wished to contribute to the shrubbery screen.

Most evergreens are more tender in fall than they are in spring, so they must be handled with great care. But fall is a much better time to move them because they can develop their roots well into the cold months.

It is a good idea, however, to keep transplanted material pruned back rather sharply for a year so that top growth won't get ahead of root growth.

When transplanting, dig up the evergreen as carefully as possible with as many of the roots intact as possible. Put it into a large, carefully prepared hole.

After transplanting the most important items are plenty of water—but not enough that the shrub drowns—and careful staking so that wind, snow, and ice don't tug at the roots.

Turkey Stuffing Without Tears

It's satisfying to prepare a real old-fashioned Thanksgiving dinner, but lots of trouble too. A short-cut which saves lots of time but sacrifices none of the flavor is in the making of the stuffing. Use of packaged prepared herb seasoned stuffing either by itself or combined with your own favorite ingredients provides an unequalled taste treat to complement your turkey.

Sage and onion predominate in the stuffing as it comes from the package, and by following a few simple directions, it is ready to use. However, here are some variations which may be preferred:

Parsley Stuffing: Mix Stuffing, add ½ cup snipped parsley, per package.

Water Chestnut Stuffing: Mix Stuffing, add 1 cup sliced canned water chestnuts, per package.

Cranberry Stuffing: Mix Stuffing, add 1 cup chopped raw cranberries, per package.

Giblet Stuffing: Simmer turkey giblets with celery stalk, onion, sprig of parsley, about 4 hours, or till tender. Drain, chop, add to mixed stuffing.

OUR VIEW

No Demand For An Encore

Although it may appear to be a case of hair-splitting to the general public, there is, on occasion, a difference between the law and conventional ethics.

The case of the TV quiz shows is a current example. Federal Communications Commission authorities, following a search of their own regulations and conferences with prosecuting attorneys, say they have found nothing to indicate that "rigged" quiz shows violate the law. Such shows, presented by independent producers, do hoodwink the public, but the public pays nothing more than a twist of a nob to absorb its hoodwinking, they reasoned.

According to the reports released to the public so far, neither the networks nor the sponsors of shows in question were in on the "fix." Both sides have suffered chagrin, however, as a result of the revelations which have been made in the wake of hearings and investigations.

The producers, although they may not have violated any law, are paying a penalty. It is a penalty that may be far more stringent than any that could evolve from the law. It is a penalty that astute politicians and public relations men fear most and one that should be considered as an elementary pitfall by anyone associated with the entertainment world.

Adverse public opinion is a powerful antidote to any evil. In this country, to lose the confidence of the public is "curtains" without a ghost of chance for an encore. The fabulous quiz shows have had it.

Markets Reflect Impact Of News

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the quickest ways to see how big is a bit of news is to watch the markets.

Three security markets here and abroad—each in its own way—mirrored last week's big financial and business news.

The New York stock market did it by simply marking time while waiting for something to break in the steel strike. That's how big the strike is in the economy.

The New York bond market bid up prices in response to the bold venture of Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson in tapping individual savings in a move that some think may halt the rise in interest rates. That's how big the financial world deems tight money and the counter fear of more inflation.

The London Stock Exchange ran wild because of a Conservative party election victory. That's how big in the British economy was the threat of a return to socialism.

British stock prices made the biggest daily increase ever recorded. The Labor party's defeat was interpreted as removing the threat of further nationalization of industry, the imposition of a capital gains tax, and of stiffer controls on business.

The Conservative victory made a summit conference look nearer to the British investor who thought this would bring a thaw in the cold war and more trade with the Communist bloc.

He also thought the increased Tory majority in Commons would lead to more effort to keep wage increases from exceeding productivity gains.

British stock buying enthusiasm didn't cross the ocean. American investors could see little but the steel strike uncertainty.

In the banking world the big furor was the Treasury 5 per cent marketable notes aimed at the small investor for a change, instead of at the banks and the big financial institutions and funds.

A lot of money was taken out of savings accounts in banks and savings and loan associations—and out of U.S. savings bonds, too—to buy the notes with the highest interest rate in 30 years.

The banks weren't happy at losing the deposits. Competition in luring savings was keen enough as it was among all the institutions needing deposits so they could make loans without having Uncle Sam come in as an added starter.

But to the extent that the Treasury raised money from individual savers instead of banks it was taking a tiny step forward halting inflation.

And to the extent it was getting out of the congested short-term money market it was easing the pressure that has been sending interest rates up.

Prices of other bonds rallied on the strength of that.

Sword Swallower Has Rough Night

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Sword swallower Henry A. Burns got the hiccups during his act Friday night. And a mighty sore throat, too.

Burns decided to use 21-inch neon tubes instead of swords.

He placed the tubes, half an inch in diameter, in his throat. Then he took wires dangling from the tubes and plugged them into a socket.

Presto! the neons glowed.

Then Burns hiccuped and caused a short circuit. One of the tubes burst.

He quickly removed the good tube and spit out what he could of the other one. He was rushed to a hospital, where doctors removed minced glass from his throat. His condition was good.

Soviets Ask More Consumer Goods

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP)—Quiet but persistent public pressure for more consumer goods has shown itself in recent weeks. The Soviet government is seeking to meet it to some extent.

Premier Nikita Khrushchev made clear last week that his government will continue pushing ahead with its industrialization scheme, thus limiting the supply of consumer items. But some improvement is promised.

Some declaration on the subject may be expected at the meeting beginning Oct. 27 of the Supreme Soviet, the Soviet parliament. Khrushchev set the tune when he publicly discussed consumer goods on his recent tour of Siberia.

He ordered a better supply of consumer goods to Vladivostok, the port on the Pacific which is icebound for three months a year.

In a speech he told his people to dress better and get away from drab grays. He said the Soviet Union must produce more consumer goods of better quality and lower price.

What perhaps is as important as the speeches is the appearance of letters and discussions about prices in the newspapers.

Such subjects are still handled gingerly. But the Moscow paper Soviet Russia printed a letter from a worker complaining: "I am fed up with this covering up with Sputniks and airliners.

"Come down to the level of the most ordinary shoes. I have only one pair of shoes which have already lasted four years.

"Why? Because they come from the West and have a brand from abroad.

"I am not personally in need of a TU114 (airliner). I manage with the help of the tram. But I want to lead a good life, to be well clad."

A member of the paper's staff investigated. He reported the writer's fellow workers were angry at what he had written, but the reporter went on to quote other workers as saying they, too, would like more things.

"Yes, the time has come," the reporter commented, "for us to ask all those who are engaged in making suits, furniture and television sets to give us more of them and make them better."

The Soviets were advised to learn from America how to produce goods and raise more on the farms.

"That is not idle curiosity," the article said. "Why not adopt that which is good and valuable, that which has been created by the hands of the talented American people?"

A week ago Moscow streets were filled with people rushing to the stores to begin buying goods on the installment plan, which had just been made legal.

One Moscow store advertises shoes for 258 rubles. The basic wage of factory workmen is about 800 rubles a month, so one pair of shoes would take a third of a worker's monthly pay.

Soviet production has not begun to match foreign production of consumer goods, either in quality or quantity. An increasing number of people are becoming aware of it.

Red Chinese Say Moscow Big Boss

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

Moscow, say the Red Chinese loudly and clearly, is the big boss.

Peiping's Communist party has gone out of its way to emphasize that the Soviet Union is the undisputed leader of the world Communist movement.

The remarkable performance more than justifies the expressed conviction of Secretary of State Christian A. Herter that the Kremlin is responsible for the actions of China and the whole Red bloc. It underscores Undersecretary Douglas Dillon's contention that the U.S.S.R. should be held responsible for any Peiping aggression.

If there are differences on the ideological or the strategy level between Moscow and Peiping, the Chinese party seems to have buried them in an extravagant bow to Moscow's unquestioned leadership.

As if to dispel any notions among the world's Communists of a Kremlin-Peiping rift, the most important Red Chinese newspaper, the Peiping People's Daily, has just published an editorial important enough to be chorused by the whole country's provincial press. Its theme also was broadcast in foreign languages.

It was not a long editorial. But no less than eight times it stated unequivocally that in matters of the world revolution and the strategy of the revolution, the Soviet leaders were the bosses.

Here are pertinent excerpts:

"China has become a component of the Socialist camp headed by the Soviet Union."

"The entire Socialist camp, headed by the Soviet Union, has grown in strength and closer unity with each passing day."

"In the past 10 years, the great unity of the Socialist camp, headed by the Soviet Union, has made tremendous contributions to safeguarding world peace and in socialist (by which the Reds mean Communist) undertakings."

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's recent disarmament proposal "clearly illustrates that the Socialist camp, headed by the Soviet Union, is the strong pillar of peace."

"The Chinese people have always regarded it as their sacred international duty continuously to consolidate and develop the solidarity of the Socialist camp headed by the Soviet Union."

"Today the Socialist camp, headed by the Soviet Union, is more united and stronger than ever."

Red China will "promote the unity of the Socialist camp headed by the Soviet Union."

And the last line of the editorial: Long live the great solidarity of Socialist countries headed by the Soviet Union!"

The Chinese Communists hardly could make their meaning clearer.

Between You And Me

By JERRY JACKSON

As Ed Sullivan would say, "We had a reelly big show Friday night." And so it was over Breckenridge way. For the Tigers went up against the top-rated AAA team in the state, matching them in power and finesse and no doubt scaring the livin' daylights out of them before being eked out by a heart-breaking 22-20.

The game was a jim-dandy all the way...one which was clean, aggressive, and hard-hitting from the opening whistle to the final gun. A very fine team effort on the part of all concerned, too, as Snyder played an inspired, purposeful brand of ball.

Interceptions Take Toll

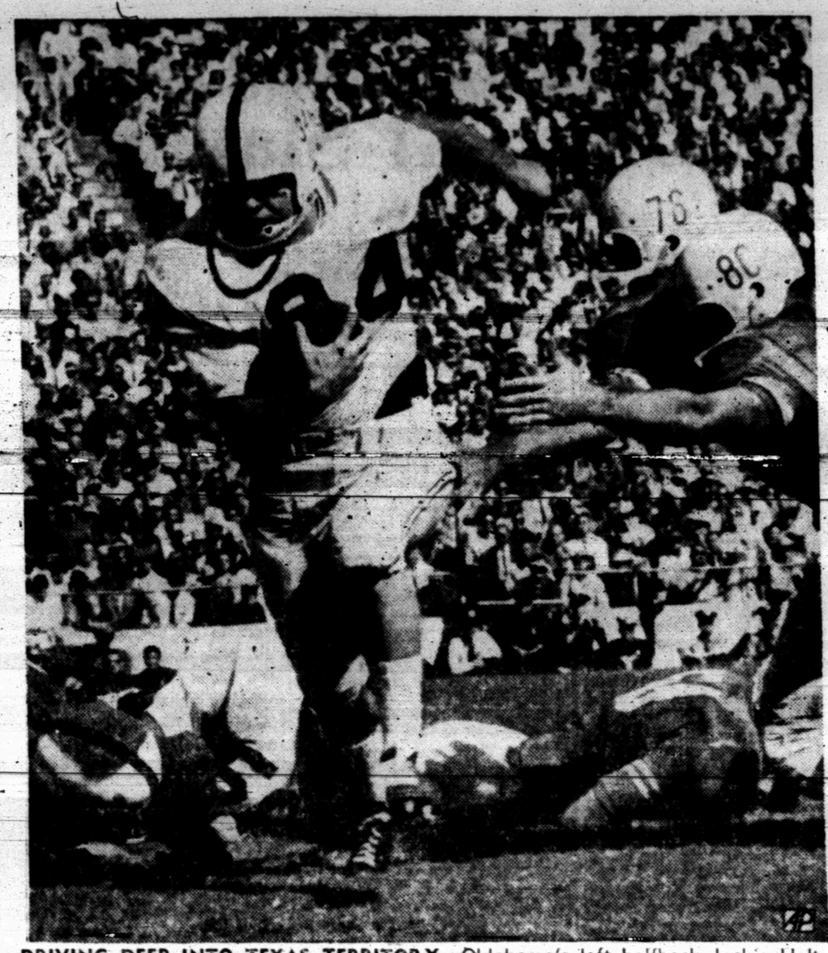
TWO INTERCEPTED passes ultimately burst the Bengal upset bubble, both coming at especially inopportune times. The first came into evidence just prior to the ending of the first half and soon after the Tigers had scored their second touchdown and evened up the count at 14-14. Seemingly temporarily frustrated by Snyder's upsurge, Buck halfback Troy Kennedy bobbled the kickoff, the ball being recovered by the Tigers' Jim Robinson on Breck's 25-yard line.

The psychological advantage belonged to Snyder exclusively at that point, as the Bucks would have no doubt had to mentally "reach up to touch bottom" when faced with this turn of events. Two short-order first downs put the locals well inside Breck's 10-yard line where it was no more than a short putt to paydirt. But then the fickle hand of fate moved in to deal the Tigers a telling blow, as Buckaroo linebacker Dickie Rogers gathered in a pass on his one-yard line from the good right hand of quarterback Dick Hayes and ran it out to his 23 before being pulled down. That interception changed the complexion of the tilt and kept the Tigers from going into halftime with a touchdown lead.

The other unfortunate aerial theft occurred early in the third quarter, and took place on the third play which the Bengals ran following the half - commencing kickoff. Guard Jimmy Martin leaped up to snare this one, and was flipped on the Snyder 33-yard line after the damage had been done. With this break to spur them on, the Breckenridge boys scored what was to be the game-winning tally a few plays later, and went eight points up on the successful two-point conversion.

Those two turning points sewed up the contest for the Bucks, although a last-second Tiger TD almost made a tie game out of it.

The locals are itching for another crack at mighty but beatable Breck. If the Tigers continue to display the type of football which characterized the Buckaroo fray, then that wish should come true...in the state playoffs.



DRIVING DEEP INTO TEXAS TERRITORY—Oklahoma's left halfback Jackie Holt, No. 34, returns a Texas punt 27 yards to put the ball on Texas' 24-yard line in the second quarter of their game in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas. The Longhorns, however, stopped the Sooner threat and scored two touchdowns to forge into a 13-12 halftime lead. (AP Wirephoto)

Buckaroos Retain Top AAA Ranking

By The Associated Press

Seven teams stand out as the Texas schoolboy football race whirls past the halfway mark but at least one of them will take a tumble this week.

Four teams—Abilene, Wichita Falls, Highland Park and Corpus Christi Ray—are given the top rankings of Class AAAA where the undefeated, untied list has shrunk to 11. Highland Park and Ray clash at Corpus Christi Friday night to not only drop one from the ranks of the perfect record but, establish sectional strength.

Breckenridge of Class AAA, Stamford of AA and Stinnett of A are the other standout teams in the state. Breckenridge and Stamford are safe this week because they have open dates. Stinnett plays lightly regarded Lefors.

Only 60 teams are undefeated and untied at the midway mark while eight teams are unbeaten but have ties on their records.

AAAA's 11 are Abilene, Amarillo, Lubbock Monterey, Amarillo Tascosa, Arlington, Dallas Adams, Highland Park, Corpus Christi Ray, Galena Park, Bryan and Harlingen. Abilene plays Waco at Abilene and Bryan may have trouble with Class AAA Brenham but none of the others appears in much danger.

Wichita Falls, unbeaten but once tied — by Breckenridge — hosts Odessa.

Class AAA has one game matching undefeated, untied teams—Kermit at Littlefield—while Class A sends two unbeaten outfits against each other when Bishop clashes with Tuloso-Midway.

Conference play dominates the schedule this week, with each division having important games. Conference action is heaviest in Class AA where every district will be in competition.

BC Headaches Are Steadily Mounting

By BOB WOOD

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Five Border Conference football teams face inter s e c t i o n a l opponents Saturday and a weak 8-11 record against outsiders is expected to dip much lower.

Border clubs will be underdogs in four of the games and only a slight favorite in the other.

Also, New Mexico State University, which has accounted for one-half of those eight victories, will be idle.

Arizona State University, the league's last unbeaten team, is given the best c h a n c e for a triumph. The Sun Devils meet Colorado State of the Skyline Conference. ASU had an open date last weekend while Colorado State was beaten 23-0 by Wyoming.

The University of Arizona could provide an upset victory, over favored New Mexico University. Arizona rested last Saturday and New Mexico clobbered Utah State.

From there on the going gets rougher.

Ambitious Hardin - Simmons faces a tough university of Tulsa; Texas Western tangles with Trinity University and West Texas State hosts Mississippi Southern. All three are expected to take solid beatings.

In last Saturday's schedule, Texas Western won a conference game over West Texas State, 13-12; New Mexico State edged Trinity 20-18 and Hardin-Simmons was crushed by Georgia, 35 - 6.

Western moved into a deadlock with Arizona State and Arizona for the border lead with a 1-0 record.

Round Table And Dancer Set To Meet

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Round Table, having taken another trip to the bank after winning the $58,200-Manhattan Handicap, loafed in his stall at Aqueduct today while his owner planned a second crack at Sword Dancer in the $100,000-Jockey Club Gold Cup Oct. 31 at the Long Island track.

Travis M. Kerr's five-year-old is nearing the end of a remarkable racing career, and his convincing one-length triumph over Bald Eagle Saturday in the tough 1¼-mile Manhattan added another track record to his list.

Round Table has broken or equalled 16 track world or American records — more than any horse in the history of the sport. His Manhattan clocking was 2:42 35 - under 132 pounds, compared with the 2:44 2-5 record set Sept. 30 by Middle Brother with 120 pounds in the Lawrence Realization. The Cain Hoy stable's Bald Eagle carried 10 pounds less than Round Table.

Moneywise, the Table netted $37,230, boosting his world record to $1,727,749. This is far ahead of Nashua, who retired with $1,288,565 after the 1956 season.

"I'm leaning towards the Jockey Club Gold Cup as his next start," said Kerr the wealthy Oklahoma City sportsman.

Castoff McHan Leads Packers To Top Rung

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Green Bay Packers, long dormant in the National Football League, have catapulted to the top of the heap on the shoulders of a hand-me-down quarterback and a shrewd new coach.

Suddenly the only stable element in the upset-prone circuit, the Packers won their third straight Sunday, edging the San Francisco 49ers 21-20, in a battle of the league's only undefeated clubs.

The main offensive threat for the Packers—who haven't won a division title since 1944—was Lamar McHan, picked up without fanfare from the Chicago Cardinals on a trial basis.

The former Arkansas star clicked on a 21-yard scoring pass to Gary Knafelc early in the fourth quarter for the deciding toss of the game and sixth of the young season.

A clever offensive tactician, new coach Vince Lombardi began juggling the downtrodden Green Bay outfit as soon as he took over. One of the moves that has paid a large dividend was the shifting of Paul Hornung to halfback.

Hornung has turned into one of the league's most elusive runners, making the Packers a threat on the ground as well as in the air. Against the 49ers he scored once on an eight-yard scamper and gained 138 yards in 28 carries.

The Packers next meet the Los Angeles Rams, who won their first game in convincing fashion by upsetting Chicago's Bears 28 - 21.

In other games, defending champion Baltimore rallied to defeat Detroit 31-24, New York edged Cleveland 10-6, Washington upended Chicago's Cardinals 23-14 and Philadelphia turned back Pittsburgh 28-24.

Using the pass only in key situations, McHan completed six of 14 heaves for 94 yards while the Packer running game netted 284 yards.

Ollie Matson, acquired by the Rams for nine players, was the decisive factor as Los Angeles, now 1 - 2, came from behind against the Bears (1-2). Matson ground out 199 yards in 31 carries and set up three touchdown strikes by quarterback Billy Wade. Joe Marconi scored the winning TD in the final period, plunging one yard to cap a 63-yard drive.

Johnny Unitas hailed the Colts (2-1) out of danger. He threw three touchdown passes, including a 54-yarder to Ray Berry that put Baltimore out front in the last quarter. It was the 28th consecutive league game in which Unitas has thrown at least one scoring aerial. A trio of TD flips by Tobin Rote to Howard Cassady kept the Lions (0-3) in contention.

Don Chandler's booming punts kept the Browns (1-2) deep in their own territory most of the day and the Giants (2-1) won despite gaining only 250 yards to Cleveland's 343. Charlie Conerly engineered the deciding thrust in the second period, scoring himself on a one-foot plunge at the end of an 80-yard drive.

With Ralph Guglielmi moving in for starting quarterback Eddie LeBaron, the Redskins (2-1) had little trouble with the fumbling Cardinals (1-2). Guglielmi hit on seven of nine tosses and connected for one touchdown. Quarterback King Hill scored twice for Chicago.

Defensive back Jimmy Carr starred for the Eagles (2-1). He intercepted two passes, and deflected a TD-bound Pittsburgh aerial late in the game. Carr's final theft led to the winning tally, an 18-yard pitch from Norm Van Brocklin to Tommy McDonald. Bobby Layne scored once, threw for two tallies, kicked a field goal and three extra points for the Steelers (1-2).

30,000 Persons At Texas Prison Rodeo

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP)— A capacity crowd of 30,000 cheered convict performers here Sunday at the annual Texas prison rodeo.

Teenage rock 'n' roll idol Tommy Sands sang "The Huntsville Blues" and other songs between rodeo acts that saw several bronc and Brahman bull riders leave the arena on stretchers.

Most of the injured convicts returned to take part in later events. Only Leon Abbott, serving 99 years from El Paso, was hospitalized. His bronco bucked him off against a fence post.

Proceeds from the unusual show go to the prisoners' welfare fund.

Conference Attendance A Mite Down

By The Associated Press

The Southwest Conference is down more than 2,000 per game in attendance this year.

Sixteen home games played in the first month of the football campaign drew 485,500. The same number of games for a comparable period in 1959 drew 520,500.

The average last year was 32,531. This year it is 30,344.

Texas A&M, Texas Tech, Texas and Southern Methodist are up in attendance. A&M drew 43,000 for two games last year, has drawn 55,000 for two this season. Texas Tech had played only one home game at this stage last year and drew 23,000. This year three home games have pulled in 36,005.

Texas drew 140,000 for three games in 1958, has drawn 142,500 this year.

Southern Methodist got 61,500 for one game last year and has drawn 76,000 for two this season.

Arkansas drew 79,000 for three games last year, has drawn 73,000 for three this time.

Rice drew 86,000 for two games last year, has drawn 34,000 for one this year.

Baylor drew 41,000 for two games last year, has had 34,000 for one this season.

Texas Christian drew 47,000 for two games last year, has drawn 25,000 for one this year.

No. Texas Cast As Favorite

By The Associated Press

Still champion and the team to beat for the Missouri Valley Conference football crown.

That's North Texas State.

The defending champion Eagles opened their new league campaign last Saturday 21-6 over the Cincinnati Bearcats in Cincinnati. They did it with a powerful ground game that marked off 249 yards rushing and held the Bearcat to 8.

While North Texas State figures to rack up its fifth victory of the season at the expense of Pensacola Naval Air Station in Denton next Saturday, the Wichita Shockers will be making their move into the league race against Cincinnati at Wichita that night.

Wichita has won its first three non-conference games. The Shockers beat George Washington 21-0 last Friday.

Houston, trimmed 28-6 by Texas A&M last Saturday, will meet tough Oklahoma State in Stillwater. Tulsa, beaten 26-0 by Oklahoma State last week, will play Hardin-Simmons in Tulsa.

Experiment With Helicopters Set

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Aviation Agency said Saturday it will start an experiment Dec. 1 in the operation of helicopters in all kinds of weather.

The experiment is planned as part of a program to permit all weather operation of helicopters in airline service.

Hog-Steer Tilt Tops Lone Star Scramble Shaping Up

By The Associated Press

Texas A&I felled favored East Texas State 7-0 last week and it brought visions of a terrific scramble in the battle for the Lone Star Conference football championship.

Three teams are tied for the lead—Southwest Texas, Lamar Tech and Sam Houston—but no team has lost more than one game thus all still are in the race.

Lamar Tech is the only undefeated, untied team for the season but the Cardinals had a tight squeak last week in maintaining that position. They managed to beat Stephen F. Austin only 7-6.

East Texas State and Southwest Texas State were falling from the unbeaten ranks. Southwest Texas took a 20-7 licking from independent McMurry.

Sam Houston beat Howard Payne 13-7 in a conference test.

East Texas State meets Sam Houston at Commerce, Southwest Texas and Stephen F. Austin battle at Nacogdoches and Sul Ross plays Lamar Tech in conference games Saturday. Texas A&I meets independent Arlington State at Kingsville and Howard Payne takes on independent Abilene Christian at Brownwood.

Hog-Steer Tilt Tops

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Four short weeks ago, teams like Auburn, Oklahoma, Southern Methodist, Army, Ohio State and North Carolina couldn't wait for the college football season to get under way.

They were loaded, ready for bear.

Today, they are lagging among the also-rans and a new group of powerhouses—the likes of Northwestern, Georgia Tech, Texas, Southern California and Syracuse—have emerged.

This Saturday, still another outfit could bulldoze its way into the national limelight. Arkansas, lightly regarded in the Southwest Conference, has eight victories in a row and has moved into contention for the championship.

The Razorbacks face their big test of the season when they entertain Texas in a night game. This one could decide the league championship and the host team in the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day.

Arkansas cut down Baylor, 23-7, last week, while Texas was taking the measure of Oklahoma 19-12.

This was the second straight year Texas has whipped Oklahoma. The Sooners now have lost two games. Never before since Bud Wilkinson took over as head coach in 1947 has Oklahoma lost more than twice in one season. The Sooners go against Missouri in a Big Eight game this week.

Auburn showed signs of snapping out of the doldrums by whacking Kentucky, 33-0. This week, the Tigers fact another formidable foe in Georgia Tech, No. 3 in the current Associated Press weekly poll. Tech spilled Tennessee 14-7.

Southern Methodist goes against Rice, while Army, beaten 17-11 by unbeaten Penn State, takes on Duke. Ohio State, which has scored only two touchdowns in three games, has the unenviable task of facing Purdue. The Boilermakers sat on Wisconsin, which had been making threatening gestures in the Big Ten, 21-0, last Saturday. Ohio State lost to Illinois 9-0, its second straight shutout.

North Carolina, which had been regarded as the heir apparent to the Atlantic Coast Conference throne, has broken even in four games and tangles with Maryland Saturday.

Two teams that have lived up to their preseason estimates are Louisiana State and Mississippi, both of the Southeastern Conference. LSU, riding atop the AP poll, whipped Miami, 27-3, last week for its fourth victory without defeat. The Bengals from the bayou should have no trouble against Kentucky this week.

Mississippi boasts a 3-0 record and furthermore, hasn't been scored on. Ole Miss' latest victim was Vanderbilt, 33-0, with Tulane next in line.

Among the upstarts, Northwestern perhaps has provided the biggest surprise. The Wildcats have spent many a year in or near the Big Ten basement, but now are batting their heads against the wall, though they mean it. Despite the loss of Dick Thornton, they toppled tough Minnesota, 6-0, Saturday with Bob Eickhoff, a pee-wee scrub, spearheading the drive for the touchdown. This week: Michigan.

Southern Cal likewise has proshows a 3-0 mark. Syracuse, also 3-0, rates now as perhaps the best in the East — by a shade over Penn State — after crushing Navy 32-6.

While no dollar-lined bowl bids hinge on the outcome, even the staid Ivy League has produced a surprise. Penn, shoved from pillar to post in recent years, finally has asserted itself, and not only is undefeated but unscored on.

SWC Eyes Annual Merry-Go-Round

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Southwest Conference gets down to the real business of deciding a champion this week and a little fracas in the Ozarks matching unbeaten Texas and Arkansas might furnish an immediate answer.

The Longhorns and Razorbacks, each winners of four straight games, get together at Little Rock Saturday night. This one game can not settle the title, of course, but the winner will become an outstanding favorite.

Texas became the choice when it wound up a great intersectional schedule with a 19-12 victory over Oklahoma Saturday. The Longhorns had beaten Nebraska, Maryland and California previously.

However, Arkansas was winning its eighth straight game when it trounced Baylor 23-7 in a conference tussle at Waco. The Razorbacks were carrying a winning streak over from 1958.

General opinion is that Texas has its hands full against the tough, versatile Razorbacks.

Southern Methodist, still considered a strong title threat although losing its opening game of the season to Georgia Tech, and winless Rice clash at Houston.

Texas A&M, driving back from an opening loss to Texas Tech, and Texas Christian, which has failed to live up to its pre-season reputation, get together at Fort Worth.

That means all the teams that can are mixing in conference warfare. Texas Tech is a member but isn't playing for the championship. Texas Tech will go to Waco to entertain Baylor while the latter is waiting for another opening to play a conference game.

The conference did well in intersectional warfare last week what with Texas' victory over Oklahoma, a 23-2 triumph by Southern Methodist over Missouri and a 13-13 tie by Rice with unbeaten and highly rated Florida. The latter game was taken as an indication that Rice was finally getting ready to move. The Owls usually are the slowest to develop, a Rice team in late October and November always it to be feared.

Arkansas won its second conference test of the season with the decision over Baylor. The Razorbacks had beaten Texas Christian the week before.

Texas Christian, which had lost two in a row, got on the winning track at Lubbock where the Horned Frogs plastered Texas Tech 14-8. It was Tech's first loss after winning three straight.

Texas A&M, getting better each week, romped on University of Houston 28-6. The Aggies are being given a good chance of upending Texas Christian and thus thoroughly ruining the Christians' hopes of repeating as champions.

Pair Dead In Gun Battle

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — A 52-year old West Baton Rouge deputy sheriff and a 36-year-old Galveston, Tex., man were killed last night in a blazing gun battle outside a night club.

The officer was Junius Marchand and the other man was Tommy Lee Spoon. They fired 11 bullets in a sudden shooting spree that flared as the deputy tried to break up a fight at Port Allen, La.

A West Baton Rouge Parish deputy, Belvin Bergeron, said the shooting took place on U. S. 190 about 2 miles west of the Mississippi River bridge around 10 p.m.

Marchand, on a regular night patrol, spotted a fight in front of a night club and stopped, Bergeron said.

Bergeron said Spoon was fighting with a woman and when Marchand got close to them, one shot was fired. The deputy reeled backward with blood dripping from his face.

Merchand emptied his six-shooter and Spoon slumped in the road with a bullet in his heart. Spoon fired five rounds before he died.

The Galveston man died at the scene. Marchand was dead on arrival at a hospital.

NFL's Bert Bell Dead At Age 65

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Commissioner Bert Bell of the National Football League died of a heart attack Sunday, leaving a void the men he served say they never really can fill.

The 65-year-old Bell collapsed in the seats of the very stadium in which he started his rise from college player to czar of professional football. He was watching a league game between the Philadelphia Eagles and Pittsburgh Steelers, teams he once owned and coached.

He was pronounced dead 10 minutes later in University Hospital, a stone's throw from Franklin Field where thousands once cheered him as Penn football captain.

Around the league, owners and coaches paid homage to the man under whose guidance the league prospered beyond anyone's wildest dreams. Professional football under Bell became respected as a major sport.

George Hallas, a pioneer of the pro game, probably summed up best the feeling of his colleagues when he commented:

"Bell was a great leader, a genius in fact.

"All his contributions to pro football will never be forgotten. He brought pro football to its present heights and we will all miss him."

Bell's three children, Bert Jr., 23; Upton, 21, and Jane, 17, were with their father when he died. They attended the game with him. The commissioner also is survived by his widow, the former Frances Upton, a one-time musical comedy star.

Bell suffered a mild heart attack last February. He had been under a physician's care ever since. His travel had been limited, and a great deal of the league work he did at his suburban Narberth home.

John Brown Delivered 1st Blow At Slavery

Editor's Note — A century ago the gulf between North and South was rapidly widening. But the smoldering animosity over slavery was yet to be ignited by one dramatic, emotionally charged incident. This was provided by a stubborn, passionate man and the setting he chose was Harper's Ferry. Here is the first of two stories on John Brown's momentous raid 100 years ago.

By JOHN LUNDQUIST

HARPERS FERRY, W.Va. (AP) — The men were eager to get going. For weeks, most had been hiding by day in the farm house, venturing out only at night.

Now in the chill rain of an October evening, they loaded a wagon with a sledge hammer, crowbars and a quantity of pikes — long-handled poles with sharp metal tips.

A bearded old man with fierce, burning eyes mounted the wagon and tugged at the reins. It creeked onto the narrow Maryland road. Eighteen men fell in two abreast behind, rifles on their shoulders and two revolvers in each belt.

The date was Sunday, Oct. 16, 1859, and John Brown was beginning a march that led to the scaffold — and immortality. His target: Harpers Ferry and its federal arsenal four miles away across the Potomac in Virginia. His mission: to free the slaves, everywhere. The men trudging through the darkness a century ago next Friday prepared to kindle emotions that would burst into the great conflagration of the Civil War.

Next weekend Harpers Ferry, with a present population of 1,500, will hold a commemorative observance of the event.

When Brown struck his blow at slavery, the town was a community of some 3,000. It was still in Virginia; not until the Civil War did the western part of the Old Dominion split off and became a new state, West Virginia.

Then, its industry was mainly weapons, an important factor in Brown's choice. Harpers Ferry had an armory for general arms manufacture, rifle works, and a federal armory containing substantial amounts of munitions and military equipment.

The town is located on a point of land that slopes harply down between the arms of a Y formed by the confluence of the Potomac and Shenandoah rivers. In those days bridges stretched from the city across the Potomac on one side and the Shenandoah on the other.

John Brown had the look and manner of a leader. Although 59, he was vigorous in step and bearing. His firm, white-bearded face was topped by a shock of thick hair.

Most of Brown's raiders, including three of his sons, were young. Their average age was 25. Five were Negroes or had Negro blood. Several had been with Brown in Kansas. Three stayed behind at the farm house as the main contingent marched towards Harpers Ferry.

There is an argument about Brown's precise plan, but apparently he expected that both antislavery whites and Negro slaves in this border region would rise to his support once he had struck fervently at slaveholders. Some of his statements indicated that he envisioned a slave uprising that would spread, under his direction, throughout the South.

His band crossed the Potomac bridge at Harpers Ferry, captured its civilian guard, and moved in on the arsenal, armory and rifle works without opposition. Telegraph lines were cut, temporarily isolating the town.

Soon the town was awakening to the intrusion, and the 34 hours that Brown's raid lasted were crowded with pathos, revenge and courage. There was also irony. A raider guarding the Potomac bridge mortally wounded Heyward Shepherd, a free Negro baggagemaster who had failed to obey a command to halt.

Other victims included the town's beloved mayor, Fontaine Beckham, who was shot peeking around a water tank Monday afternoon to see what was happening to his community. Two raiders captured by citizens were killed.

There were also examples of courage and brotherly compassion. A Mr. Brua, among Brown's hostages in the fire engine house where the raiders holed up when they met resistance, braved the chance of being mistaken for a raider, went out and rescue one of Brown's wounded men in the street. He carried him to the Wager House Hote, then, true to his pledge, returned to his captors.

As day broke Monday, Brown's chances to get away with booty from the arsenal slipped by. No support came for his crusade. Militiamen quickly recaptured the Potomac bridge and left Brown without an escape route to Maryland. Snipers occupied positions on the heights above the fire house and arsenal. Other militiamen occupied the Shenandoah bridge and Brown's forced was trapped.

By Monday night, Marines under Col. Robert E. Lee—later to command the Confederate armies in the Civil War—arrived from Washington to spell the militia which had rushed in from nearby towns. Lee's assistant was Lt. J. E. B. Stuart, who would soon be plaguing Union armies as the South's ablest cavalry leader.

John Brown and his remaining men were boxed up in the small brick fire engine house, only five among them still unwounded. Among those dying on the cold floor were two of Brown's sons, Oliver and Watson. Oliver, just 20, died Monday night. Watsen lay moaning nearby, beseeching his father to end his sufferings.

"If you must die, die like a man," John Brown said. By next morning, Watson, 24, was dead.

Death in his family was no stranger to Brown. Seven of the 20 children by two wives died in childhood. Another was accidentally scalded to death. His first wife died after bearing her seventh child.

And now as he crouched with his helpless raiders and about 10 prisoners in the fire house, death drew near to John Brown himself.

Shenandoah National Park in northwestern Virginia covers 193,473 acres.

Ambitious Young Man Held In Murder Of Wife, Parents

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Edmund Gray, so ambitious that he once held two jobs while attending college, was arrested on a murder charge Sunday, caught when he paused for his first meal in 56 hours.

Gray, 20, accused of killing his wife and her parents with a rifle after she sued for divorce, was captured in an all-night cafe at Ritzville, 70 miles away.

Cold, dirty and soaked by heavy rain, he claimed to be a sailor on leave, then tearfully admitted he was the object of one of the year's biggest manhunts in eastern Washington.

He told police he roamed the hills and had nothing to eat for more than 56 hours after the wild shooting spree at the home of his in-laws, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Maier, early Thursday night at nearby Colbert.

The shooting shocked his mother, his neighbors and friends who knew him as an intelligent young fellow who worked his way through high school by fixing up old cars, and took two jobs at once while studying business and economics at Whitworth College.

He married Donna Rae Maier two years ago, saved his money and bought a house. She worked days in an office, he worked nights in a service station. Gray kept close tabs on every penny. One day she subscribed to a magazine without telling him.

"It caused quite a fuss," said officer Walt Mathers of the state patrol. "I was called to investigate and found she had welts on her back. He had beat her with a belt. He was mad about the money."

She sued for divorce last month and moved in with her parents. Armed with a rifle, Gray went there after dinner Thursday night. He told police he "just went berserk." Mrs. Gray, 19, was shot with a 30-caliber rifle and stabbed six times in the back.

Scores of police scoured the hills for him and threw up a drag-net in this city of 190,000. Saturday afternoon officers surrounded the biggest theater in town on a report Gray was inside watching a movie.

But Gray was far away. He said he stole a bicycle and rode in the rain to a farmhouse, then got a ride to Cheney, 16 miles from here, where he telephoned his divorced mother. She pleaded with him to give up, then went on the radio Saturday pleading "Please, Eddie, give up or your mother and sister will crack." Sister Barbara, 22, is a spastic.

Gray, heading for the coast, to give him a ride early Sunday from Tyler, Wash., to Ritzville, a 50-mile trip. Then he walked into the cafe and ate his first meal since the shooting — coffee, two eggs, stack of hotcakes, 85 cents.

Ottmar told police. They grabbed Gray as he dozed at the cafe counter. Prosecutor John Lally called in two psychiatrists to help question him at Spokane and said the youth is sane. Gray was then taked to bed in jail where he'll sleep. Lally said the case won't come to court until January.

No Clues Found In Dallas Jewel Theft

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Police were without clues today, they said, in a $39,500 gem theft blamed on publicity in a still unsolved $200,000 burglary.

Police questioned servants in the home of attorney and Mrs. Ethan B. Stroud to no avail. The $39,500 in jewels vanished while the Strouds attended a Saturday afternoon football game.

Mrs. Stroud blamed the theft on publicity last January when the home of her mother, Mrs. Bruno K. Graf, was burglarized of $200,000 in gems while the Grafs attended a social event in nearby Fort Worth. None of the Graf jewels have been recovered.

Young Doctor Admits Slaying

MONTERREY, Mex. (AP) — The district attorney's office says a young surgeon confessed he put a male friend to sleep in his office, slew him, dismembered the body and buried the pieces.

Asst. Atty. Alejandro Garza Delgado said Sunday night that he is filing murder charges against the surgeon, Dr. Alfredo Balli Trevino, 28. The victim was Jesus Castillo Ranjel, 26.

Officials said the doctor confessed Sunday.

Castillo Ranjel went to the surgeon's office Thursday afternoon, said he was not feeling well, told the doctor he was moving to Mexico City, and asked him for money.

The men had been friends on the homosexual level, police said. The doctor was angry at the demand for money. He told Castillo Ranjel he would give him an injection for grippe.

Instead, he injected a powerful dose of medicine that put the victim to sleep almost immediately.

The surgeon then pulled the sleeping man into the bathroom, held him over the tub and slit his throat.

He then carried the body to the operating table. There, the surgeon cut the body into eight pieces and packed them into a big cardboard box with blankets.

The surgeon called a taxi driver friend and said he wanted to get rid of waste from operations. They took the box into the county and buried it.

But officials said a shepherd happened to see the burial. Friday, he dug up the box and found the gruesome remains.

Officials were led to the scene that night. Police started hunting somebody with medical knowledge because of the expert dismembering. They also learned of the relations between the two men.

The surgeon was arrested Saturday.

Police said the doctor tried to commit suicide by jumping from a second story window after giving his statement yesterday but he was restrained in time.

Emphasis Is On Economy

DALLAS (AP)—The taxpayer must get his dollar's worth, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) said Sunday in his weekly broadcast over Texas radio stations.

The Senate Majority Leader read letters sent to him after he had sent out questionnaires. He said a number of the letters stressed economy.

"The Congress cut where it had control—in appropriations—about $1,800,000,000 from the President's budget. In socalled 'back door' spending, we slashed another 800 million dollars," Johnson said.

"The majority of the people voiced about the same idea. They said it's necessary to spend more money to assure the security of our nation—then we're ready to spend it. But they want to know the taxpayer is getting his dollar's worth from every dollar that's spent. That's not only right and proper, it's essential."

In answer to one letter written him, Johnson said he believed the test of time will determine "pretty quickly" whether the labor bill passed in the last session of Congress is "still inadequate" as his correspondent stated.

Revolving Charge Account Plan Is Featured At Wards

Would you like to purchase winter school clothing for your children, without the bother of having to pay for it immediately?

That is just one of the thousands of purchases which can be made at Montgomery Ward Co.'s, order store here under the firm's new revolving charge account system.

The customer merly makes the purchases, anytime he or she chooses, then may pay for the purchases in 30 days— or over a period of months if he desires, Doris Gibson, manager, said.

The new revolving charge account system is only one of several ways in which purchases may be made at Montgomery Ward.

Lay-away purchases are always welcomed by the store, and now is the ideal time to make lay-away purchases of items for Christmas giving to permit paying for them a little at a time without any large payments unbalancing the family budget, she said.

Montgomery Ward also has a convenience time payment plan for its customers in which any purchase may be made and paid for over a period of months.

The time-payment plan is especially good for purchases of large items such as television sets, refrigerators, washers and driers, and hundreds of other items, the manager stated.

We invite everyone to check our many purchase conveniences, and the money-saving possibilities for quality merchandise of all types, she said.

She added that anyone who does not have the firm's latest catalogue may do so by calling at the store and asking for one.

Townsend Still Has A Problem

BRASSCHAAT, Belgium (AP)—Religious troubles still plague the romantic life of Peter Townsend, former suitor of Princess Margaret. He now plans to wed a Belgian heiress.

The romance with Princess Margaret foundered because he is divorced. Now it appears unlikely the handsome 44-year-old British air ace will be able to wed his fiancee, a Roman Catholic, within the church. But he says they will be wed soon, regardless.

Townsend presented newsmen to his fiancee, Marie-Luce Jamagne, 20, Sunday.

"I am not sure when exactly we will get married, but I hope it will be within the next three months or so," he said.

Townsend was asked whether he planned to marry the dark-haired daughter of a wealthy Belgian tobacco executive in a religious ceremony.

"I would rather not discuss that point," he replied. "It is too delicate a question."

Townsend is an Anglican and was married in the Church of England. The wife he divorced in 1952 is still living and has remarried.

A Belgian priest said today it was unlikely Townsend could marry in the Roman Catholic Church.

Marie-Luce, who toured the world with Townsend as his secretary-photographer after his broken romance with Princess Margaret, proudly displayed a sizable diamond engagement ring.

CONTEST MODEL—One of the models to be used by students of Jessie's Beauty College of Snyder in the Great Plains Beauty Show in Amarillo on Nov. 14, is Mrs. Juanita Farquhar, above. The show will have an open division for stylists from salons throughout West Texas as well as the student competition. (Lee Watson photograph)

Beauty College Students Set To Enter Great Plains Show

Students of Jessie's Beauty College are preparing for one of the highlights of their beauty student careers, the Great Plains Beauty Show in Amarillo on Nov. 1.

Many of the students of the school are now spending much of their time on Mondays and Tuesdays working on their models for the show.

Mrs. Jessie Hampton, owner and operator of the beauty college, said that several of the students are planning to enter the contest, and that she believes they will produce styles in the show which will compare with the styles the stylists from salons all over West Texas do in the open contest of the show. The show has two contest divisions, the open show for stylists, and the student category.

The students of Jessie's Beauty College are also preparing for the show later in November to be held here in Snyder and sponsored by the Kiwanis Club. The students will have an opportunity then to show the local public what progress they have made since entering the school.

Mrs. Hampton said that new students may enroll in the college at any time and get the complete beauty course with personal instruction from the experienced instructors all during their course. Tuition for the 1,000-hour course which prepares the students to become licensed beauty operators is $250, or can be paid with an initial payment of $75, and $40 per month for the remainder of the six-months school.

Mrs. Hampton added that students are taught all the basics of both hair styling, and all other beauty care, with special emphasis being placed on scalp treatment and facial massage, two aspects of beauty salon work which has become neglected in practice recently.

"We train our students to be top beauty operators, and give them actual experience—under strict instructional supervision—here in the school," she said, adding, "we hope to form good habits in them which will make them outstanding beauty operators when they go into shops after graduation."

Some of the nationally known hair stylists who will give demonstrations at the Amarillo show will include Peggy White, Detroit; Buddy Francis, Hollywood, and Don Martin, Fort Worth.
