TRAIN WRECK: Chris Majors was treated for minor injuries as a result of the accident involving his pickup, shown, and a Union Pacific railroad train. The incident occurred on county road 264 and was reported to the Department of Public Safety at 4:55 p.m., Wednesday afternoon.

Pick-up, train collide

The driver of a pickup involved in a collision with a Union Pacific railroad train on Wednesday was released from Mitchell County Hospital after being treated for minor injuries.

Chris Majors, 17, of Rt. 2, Colorado City, was traveling north on county road 264 in a 1984 Ford F150 pickup when he came to the grade crossing located southeast of the Chevron station at Westbrook.

According to Department of Public Safety (DPS) reports, the amount of foliage growth at the scene prevented Majors from seeing the eastbound train until the last moment.

Train engineer Ron Lewis of Fort Worth, reportedly saw the pickup when the train was approximately 100-yards from the grade crossing and began 'emergency lock' procedures to halt the train, said DPS trooper Frank Costabile.

According to reports, the General Motors freightliner caught the back bumper and spun the pickup around and then hit the vehicle broadside.

The train came to a stop at a point 250-yards past the railroad grade crossing, said Trooper Costabile.

Majors was transported to the Mitchell County Hospital for treatment by Don Ginkinger, owner of the Westbrook Chevron station.

First ranch tour is a big success

The '1st Ranch Tour' held on Friday was deemed a success and plans are to make the tour an annual event in Mitchell County.

The emphasis of the 'Ranch Month' focuses on the impact that ranching operations have on the history and the economic base of Mitchell County.

The ranch tour recognized progressive ranch operations that are being conducted in Mitchell County.

Over 75 people attended the tour that was sponsored by the Colorado City Area Chamber of Commerce.

The first stop of the tour was at the Maddox Ranch.

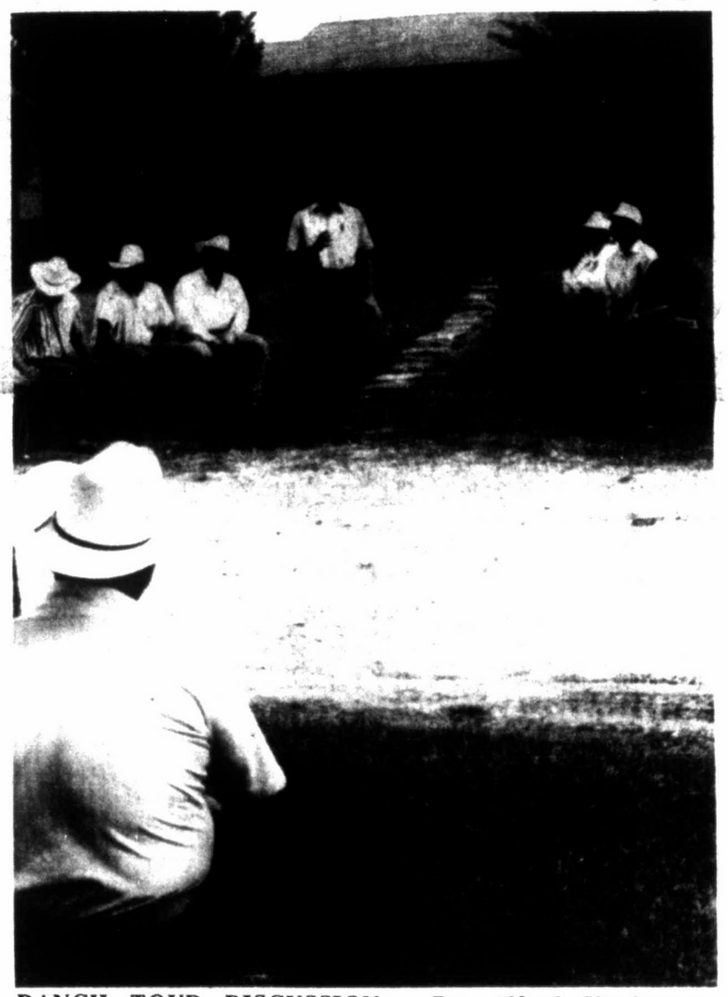

Peggy Maddox spoke of the ranches history and explained the grazing methods, holistic resource management and the ecosystem programs which are used at the Maddox Ranch.

The next stop on the Ranch Tour was at Bill Everett's '96' Ranch.

Toni Everett spoke of the history of the ranch at the tour stop.

Also speaking at the '96 Ranch' were Dr. Alfred Vardeman, who spoke about current animal health issues and David Stubblefield, the county's American Breeders Society

Sentencing delayed in FWS&L cases

Sentencing on former First Western Savings and Loan employees has been 'continued indefinitely,' according to sources with the Dallas Bank Fraud Task Force (Task Force).

A recent phone call to the Task Force attorneys had indicated that sentencing dates for the former employees Neva C. Turner, Roy and Katy Byrd and Marilyn Roberts would be announced this past Friday.

The Department of Justice announced on Sept. 11, 1991, that a two-count information had been filed against Neva C. Turner in the Dallas based U. S. District Court, charging her with bank fraud and conspiracy to commit bank fraud.

Turner was the former Chief Executive Officer and Executive Vice President of the financial institution located in Colorado City.

Employees Roy and Katy Byrd and Marilyn Roberts were also charged in the information and agreed to plead guilty to the charges which resulted from a investigation by the Task Force.

The Task Force reported that Turner and others associated with or employed at First Western Savings and Loan, including Roy and Katy Byrd and Marilyn Roberts, initiated a scheme to use First Western funds to make personal investments in the stock market and keep the profit

Jury settles branch issue

A lawsuit involving a 34-inch mesquite branch was settled in Small Claims Court on Wednesday -- with the jury awarding $500 to the woman responsible for having the branch cut down.

The suit arose from an incident that occurred on May 19, the day that Betty Jean Bird's trailer house was being moved onto her lot near Lake Colorado City.

Head coach / AD interviews next week

Interviews will be conducted by the search committee with those listed on the narrowed list of 10 applicants beginning on Tuesday, as the committee continues the process towards recommending a new head football coach/athletic director to the school board.

The search committee has scheduled interviews with the applicants during the week of June 16-20.

From these interviews the search committee plans to present three names to fill the position to the school board, who will make the final decision.

The committee hopes to present their final list to the board trustees before June 30.

The Colorado Independent School District (ISD) committee which was organized to search for a new head football coach/athletic director, recently met to narrow the field of 58 applications which had been received.

Superintendent Don Nimmo said that 71 requests for applications had been received by the Colorado ISD and that 58 applications had been received before the application deadline.

The field of applicants includes coaches with experience in every level of football programs, said Supt. Nimmo.

The range of applicants includes college coaches, college assistant coaches, junior college head coaches, head coaches at class 4A-1A schools and assistant coaches at class 5A-3A schools.

Members of the football coach search committee include Don Nimmo, James McSwain, Jesse Munoz, Larry Blassingame, Roxie Strain, David Woods and Bob Reily.

Justice dept. finds no criminal violation

The Civil Rights Division of the U. S. Department of Justice has completed its review into an alleged criminal violation of federal civil rights, concerning the May 13, 1988 death of Sammy Gomez.

"After a careful review of the investigative reports in this matter, and based upon the information currently available to this Department, we have concluded that this matter should be closed and that no further action is warranted," said John R. Dunne, Assistant Attorney General, Civil Rights Division of the Department of Justice.

Billy Ray Williamson was notified of the decision this week in a letter received from Dunne, which brings an end to the criminal aspect of the allegations.

Officials at the Federal Court in Abilene noted on Friday that a date has not been set for the civil trial of Gomez versus Colorado City.

The attorneys in the suit have been notified that the 'discovery' -- disclosure of facts related to the case -- of evidence is due by August 1.

DPS tint meters now in use locally

Four tint meters were recently purchased by the county and are now being used by the local Department of Public Safety troopers.

The meters test the amount of 'light transmission' and 'luminous reflectance' of sunscreening devices which have been placed on the glass of a vehicle.

Trooper Kenny Wadsworth explained the use of the newly received tint meters.

Sunscreen material which is dark enough that someone standing outside the car can not make out the driver of the vehicle is the type that is usually in violation of state law, Trooper Wadsworth said.

The Texas Traffic Laws defines the terms 'sunscreening device,' 'light transmission' and 'luminous reflectance' as:

--"Sunscreening device means a film, material or device meeting

Remote camcorders in local police vehicles

A video system has been purchased by the Colorado City Police Department and includes two camcorder/monitor units to aid in law enforcement procedures.

"We anticipate that the units will be used to the greatest extent in traffic operations," said Police Chief David Montgomery, "but the units are portable and will be used at crime scenes or to document interviews with the witnesses or suspects of crimes."

The equipment was purchased from Video System Plus of Bryan, the company which designed the system that has been used by the Department of Public Safety for the past 18-months.

Components of the system include a portable JVC camcorder and a black-and-white monitor.

Funding for the purchase of the equipment -- costing $3300 -- came from monies in the department's drug seizure account.

Video tapes which are used in the camcorder are being supplied by the office of District Attorney Frank Conard.

DEAN WILLIAMSON

If you don't know what it is -- don't buy it!

That's part of the secret discussions that have been going on at various locations in preparation for next weekends holiday.

I probably shouldn't, but I've decided to go ahead and break the code of silence.

You need to be forewarned.

Buy Dad an inconsiderate gift and he is going to return the gift to you, wrapped up and under the tree this coming Christmas.

So if you are the type person who sets out to go shopping for someone and find yourself drawing a blank and can only find things you'd like to have for yourself -- you better be aware.

Don't wait till Saturday afternoon to go shopping for your Father's Day present.

You might not even know about the movement being made by the organization D.A.D.S. (Dads Against Dumb Stuff) which is being mounted by members across the nation this year.

For years, D.A.D.S. members have been sitting back and taking the abuse which has been dished out.

The members have been called "inconsiderate slobs" when they've forgotten a birthday, "unloving" for overlooking an anniversary and "dead meat" when they forgot to buy something on a Mother's Day.

Members of the D.A.D.S. organization say, "It's no wonder that we sometimes forget an occasion or two -- look at how we get treated!"

"I just couldn't think of anything you need," a member reported to be a common reply instead of a meaningful gift -- which is followed by, "You already seem to have everything a man could want!"

"So then," a disappointed D.A.D.S. member said, "I am given a thoughtless gift which is something which I would have never bought for myself -- because I never buy anything unless I know what it is."

In an effort to help with this year's campaign, a dad that you know is probably dropping some hints and you've probably been noticing that he has been a little easier to get along with lately.

He's probably been telling you about cars and golf clubs and fishing lures and power tools.

Dad is making sure that everyone knows what is on his 'wish list' this year, so that no one will have an excuse to say that they had no idea of what he would want when they set out to go shopping.

The members I talked to want this year's gift to meet the following guidelines which include: be recognizable and able to be used sometime in the year other than the day after Father's Day.

Dad doesn't want to go to work the day after have everyone in the office snickering and saying, "You must have gotten that for Father's Day!"

And whatever you do, don't buy Dad underwear or socks -- unless you want to get the same thing in return next Christmas.

With all the things that Dad does, even if he never complains -- there is bound to be something out there that he hasn't bought for himself that he would love to have.

He may have a car and a fishing pole and golf clubs, but surely you can put your heads together and come up with something to brighten his day.

If not, the D.A.D.S. organization is planning to organize to ruin the next event that comes up.

Everyone doesn't have to rush out and buy a new pickup or a complete new wardrobe for Dad, even though that probably wouldn't hurt his feelings at all.

If you can't think of anything that Dad would genuinely appreciate getting -- ask him!

It could save Christmas!

Law also states that a sunscreening device must have a label, containing information standards adopted by the Department for reducing the effects of the sun."

--"Light transmission means the ratio of the amount of total light to pass through a product or material to the amount of total light falling on the product or material and the glazing."

--"Luminous reflectance means the ratio of the amount of total light that is reflected outward by a product or material to the amount of total light falling on the product or material."

Texas law states that the required by the Department regarding the levels of light transmission and luminous reflectance of the device, that is permanently installed between the material and the surface to which the material is applied or affixed and is legible.

The tour is one of the highlights of 'Ranch Month' which is being recognized throughout the month of June.

➤JURY

Susan Bird filed a $5000 suit as a result of the incident, claiming that her ex-sister-in-law Betty Jean Bird had caused the destruction of private property by cutting trees she was told before moving to not touch and by trespassing on private property to get to the trees.

Betty Jean Bird filed a counter-suit for the same $5000 amount, noting the mental and emotional distress caused from the hold-up in moving of the mobile home.

Getting the 16-foot wide mobile home to the property involved backing the trailer down the one lane private road.

The progress was stalled because the trailer reached an impasse, with a fence on one side of the road and a tree branch on the other side that would not permit the trailer past.

Both obstacles were on property belonging to Susan Bird.

According to testimony heard by the three men and three women on the jury, offers were made by Betty Jean Bird to pay Susan Bird for the expenses of moving a corner-post from the fence row to make room for the trailer to pass or for the right to cut a branch from the tree.

These offers were not accepted according to testimony.

Betty Jean Bird then paid truck driver 'Big Bob' Clevland of Abilene, $4 to cut a 34-inch portion of the mesquite branch which was preventing the trailer from being backed down to her property.

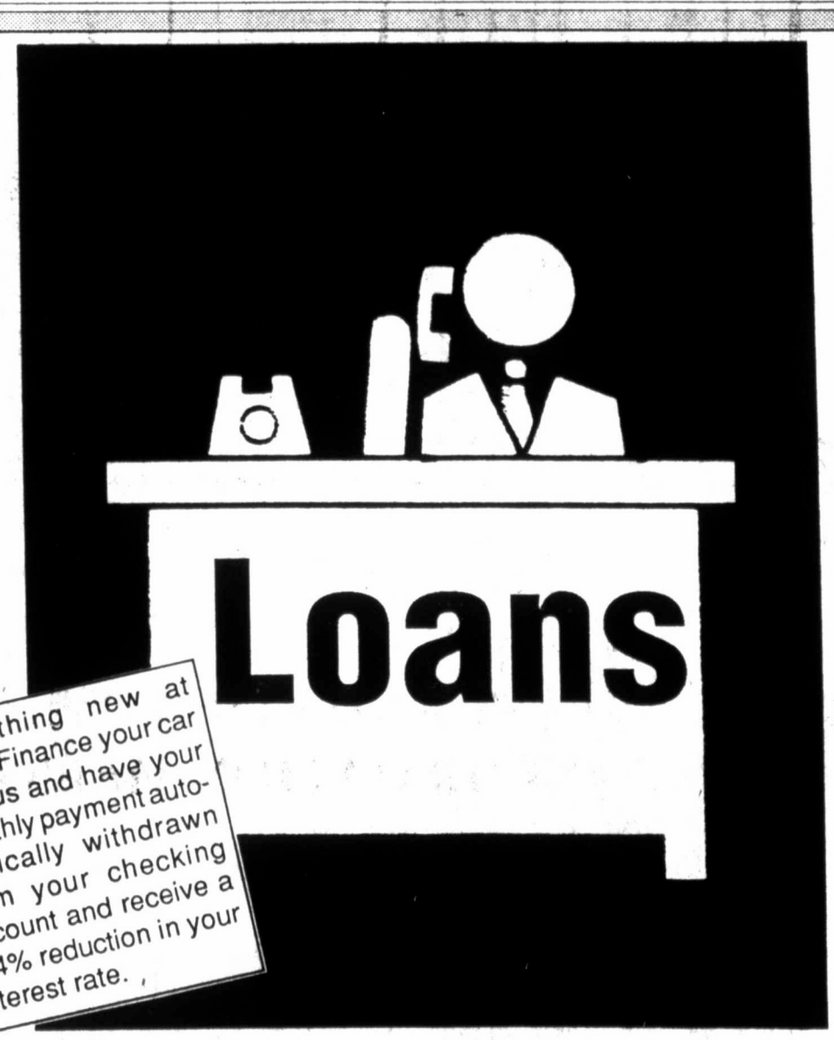

During the presentation of the case the jurors were given an opportunity during a break to look at the branch which was brought to the courthouse and was setting in the hallway.

The three men/three women on the jury deliberated for an hour-and-a-half before delivering the verdict to Justice of the Peace Keith Ruddick who presided over the court.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

This letter is in response to Mr. Eliodoro Reyes' letter appearing in the June 7th edition of the Colorado City Record.

I did speak with Mr. Reyes concerning the problem he wrote about and in our conversation, I did mention I cannot control Mother Nature (meaning the amount of rainfall, in this case over eight inches, the manner in which it falls and the lay of the land.) Another thing I cannot stop, is soil being washed out of the fields, which lie above this road. Since, Mr. Reyes farms, he should be aware of the fact that when these fields wash, soil is carried into waterways, roads and bar-ditches.

I must differ with Mr. Reyes, in his statement, that the bar-ditches are not kept clean. Precinct Two employees have cleaned this particular bar-ditch numerous times. Even clean bar-ditches fill-up with silt during periods of rain. Mr. Reyes seems to imply I wasn't willing to correct the problem. I spoke with both Mrs. Daniels and Mr. Reyes during the first weekend of these storms (Memorial Day Weekend) and I told them I would see what I could do. On Tuesday after Memorial Day I sent Precinct Two Employees to the area to make temporary repairs, until conditions allowed for more permanent improvements. Evidently, this is not enough for Mr. Reyes.

Mr. Reyes also mentions bosses. Yes, I have many bosses. They include each and every taxpayer in Precinct Two. Hopefully, Mr. Reyes will realize he is not the only taxpayer who needs something done. All parts of the precinct received field, road and bar-ditch damage during these storms. Besides repairing the damaged roads, I receive many other requests from my bosses. Citizens want an all weather road to Iatan Cemetery, parents want roads built due to bad material being placed on them in the past, residents of the lake want paved roads, oil companies need culverts reworked and installed to allow trucks access to leases, cattle guards on county roads need to be cleaned, so cattle will not stray, paved roads need maintenance and the list continues. These requests are all part of my job and I am trying to fulfill as many of them as possible. It takes time to get all of these things done.

We are currently rebuilding county road #238 and when we complete this we will start working on another road. The crews have rebuilt some roads in nearly all areas of the precinct. We have also worked on bar-ditches, low water crossings and culverts trying to ease the problem of flooding and erosion. But I can see this is not enough. As I have been told by numerous people, no matter what you do, it will never be enough. It should have been done sooner and it should have been done better.

Respectfully,
Carl Guelker, Commissioner
Precinct Two

Dear Editor:

On June 7, 1992, S.L. Morris expressed his feelings to you in regards to a tractor purchase. I am in agreement with Mr. Morris's opinion. Did the City ask for a buy back plan on the bid?

I doubt very much that the city will ever benefit on a buy back plan by any company.

I agree with Mac Morris on this issue.

CAMCORDER SYSTEM: The Colorado City Police Department recently purchased two portable camcorder/monitor systems from drug seizure funds. The equipment will be used in traffic operations, at crime scenes and for interviews with witnesses or suspects of crimes.

LANGUAGE WORKSHOP: Colorado Independent School District's elementary school teachers took part in a Whole Language Arts Workshop held Thursday and Friday at Colorado Middle School. New methods of teaching and textbook applications were discussed at the workshop.

Tips to use during emergency situation

No one plans on having an emergency, but statistics show that each year more than 77 million people receive treatment in emergency rooms across the country. Knowing what to expect in such a situation can prove helpful in a time of crisis.

When faced with an emergency, people are sometimes unsure whether a trip to the hospital is needed. According to Chuck Barton, M.D., medical director of Methodist Hospital's Emergency Room, when in doubt, it's always best to seek emergency treatment. "A medical emergency exists anytime a person feels they are in need of immediate medical treatment," Barton said.

When calling for emergency help, give the dispatcher the following information:

* name
* telephone number
* an exact location

Do not hang up, the dispatcher might need additional information.

If there is time available before going to the emergency room:

* gather up all medications the patients currently is taking
* try to obtain a signed medical authorization form if you are not the patient's legal guardian.
* locate all medical insurance policies

Upon arrival at the emergency room, remember that patients receive emergency care in order of the severity of the injury of illness, not in the order of their arrival. A member of the emergency department them will briefly evaluate the patient's injury or illness to determine how quickly treatment is needed. Be prepared to relate information concerning any and all symptoms, how and when the emergency happened, and all medical histories which relate to the present condition.

Libary movies listed

The following movies will be shown at 10:30 on Wednesday, June 17 at the Mitchell Co. Public Library.

Spooky Boos and Room Noodles. Spooky boos are scary things in dark bedrooms; monsters, darkness and spooky noises. But you learn those noises are really friendly sounds made by room noodles as they wrap up and banish the monsters. Room noodles can be summoned by saying, "Room noodles, room noodles, I hear spooks, it must be youdles." 7 minutes.

A World is Born. This excerpt from the 1940 motion picture, Fantasia, depicts the first two billion years of earth's existence, showing its early convulsions and upheavals and the first prehistoric monsters who inhabited it. Set to the music of Stravinsky's Rite of Spring. 20 minutes.

There is no admission and all children are welcome to come see the movies.

Expansion

After it's foundation in 1878 The Salvation Army rapidly expanded in World wide growth. From that small beginning in the slums of London the Red Shield began to appear world wide with each new Corps.

One year later in 1879, a Lieutenant Eliza Shirley went from England to America with her parents. She saw a need and called for Booth to send help. In January 1880 the General reluctantly sent a fact finding committee to meet with Lt. Shirley in Philadelphia.

By March 1880 the first Corps Officer arrived in the United States at New York. The work flourished and grew to where it is one of the largest Religious Charities in the United States. It encompasses 4 territories, dozens of divisions, hundreds of Corps Centers and thousands of service Units in every state. Who would believe it would be this vast within a 100+ years! The Salvation Army has been in Texas for over 100 years.

The Salvation Army spread to over 90 nations world wide from the United States with it's unique local operations by Advisory Boards to develop and expand the programs based on local needs. Today The Salvation Army touches every type of work related to people in a modern technological Social order. For Example:

The Adult Rehab Centers are known world wide (Alcohol Recovery Units) to redeem men and women from the destruction of alcohol.

Family and Children Care Centers that deal with the modern scourge of wife and child abuse, also rape and adoption centers over the United States. The recently added Drug Abuse work is equally successful.

Youth Corps for reaching Children normally unreached by most programs using Sunday Schools, Vacation Bible Schools, Adventure Clubs, Music, Athletics, Arts and a full Corps program plus so much more it would be impossible to list them.

Family Assistance which provide aid with emergency cash for rent and utilities, counseling, social service, location of missing persons, delinquency, Christmas Programs, Home League, Senior Citizens and many more.

Early Release Programs for prisoners ready for parole to rehabilitate them into society. Jail service, family help, job training, job securing are also a part of the program plus much more. Christmas Programs so vast it is impossible to list them. Every Christmas Program is geared to help Children and families have a good Christmas.

Emergency Disaster Service. Who has missed seeing the famous coffee truck at a disaster site? They are always there delivering help and care.

Military Outreach is one of the best known activities of The Salvation Army program. The "coffee truck" has been seen in every war since WWI. The USO was formed with The Salvation Army assistance during WWII.

The programs are reaching millions world wide on a daily basis. It's in every poverty stricken area in the world that will allow the Army to function. The only hindrance to our helping people materially and spiritually is volunteering People and Money.

If you would like to help in a small or big way now or in the future, please contact me.

Rural land values should increase

Rural land values in Texas should rise gradually throughout the 1990s after decreases in the previous decade, according to Texas A & M University agricultural economist.

"Barring some unforeseen economic problems, it would appear that between now and the year 2000, we're going to have appreciation generally in farm land values across Texas," said Dr. Ivan Schmedemann, a professor of agricultural economics at Texas A&M and a researcher with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Much of that increase will be caused by improved net returns to the land. That, Schmedemann said, in turn depends on what happens to demand for agricultural products.

"Indications are that demand will increase somewhat during the 1990s," he said.

Farm subsidies also will have a positive impact on net returns and land value, he said, although they will be reviewed by the federal government during the 1990s.

"I'm assuming that energy costs and other production costs will continue to rise, but we probably won't find an exorbitant rise in the cost of production between now and the year 2000," he added.

Energy costs that began spiraling in the 1970s, other production costs, inflation and rising interest rates all contributed to falling land prices, he said. The statewide average cost per acre of farmland peaked at approximately $1,050 in 1985, but fell to just more than $600 an acre by 1991, figures at the Real Estate Center at Texas A&M indicate.

"The only thing that could give was land values," he said.

Some regions began bottoming out by 1988, he said. While the center's 1991 figures are not yet complete, indications are that the statewide average price per acre will not rise for the year.

This means that over the long term, investors could find the rural land market attractive, he said.

"Prices have fallen to the extent that net returns are competitive with many alternative conservation investments, such as certificates of deposit and treasury bills," Schmedemann said. "Land is one of the few virtually indestructible assets available to balance a portfolio."

The rural recreational land market in some areas, primarily the Hill Country and parts of South and East Texas, may be slower in recovering, he said. That's because land values depend primarily on demand created by buyers from major metropolitan areas, but declining net per capita income means many buyers no longer have the resources to enter the market, he explained.

Still, a new wave of buyers could come from the "baby boom" generation born between 1946 and 1964 as assets are inherited by that generation over the next 10 to 15 years, he said.

"The only question about whether this is going to drive the market is whether their value systems have changed to the extent that they're more interested in buying consumer goods, like BMWs or bigger houses, than rural land," Schedemann said.

Another major question is how environmental legislation will affect rural land use, he said. Already, some Hill Country ranchers are forbidden to clear mature cedar because it is home to the golden-cheeked warbler and other endangered bird species, Schmedemann noted.
