Texans Next To Vote On Repeal

STATE SENTIMENT TO BE SOUNDED IN NEXT SATURDAY'S VOTING

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Aug. 21—Texas will make up her mind this week whether she shall join in the unbroken line of states voting for repeal of the Eighteenth amendment or head a revolt in the other direction. Sentiment will be sounded in a state-wide vote on next Saturday.

United States Senator Morris Sheppard is doing everything in his power to have his native state be the first to speak against taking prohibition from the nation's basic law. It was he who wrote the constitutional amendment that was submitted by congress to a vote of the states and ratified 14 years ago.

Speakers In Field

Senator Sheppard is in the midst of an intensive speaking campaign, exhorting Texans to stick by federal prohibition. On the opposite stump are Congressman Joseph Weldon Bailey of Texas, former Governor James E. Ferguson and others. Upholding Sheppard's hands are former Governors Dan Moody and Pat M. Neff, in addition to scores of ministers.

One year after the Texas legislature ratified adoption of the Eighteenth amendment in 1918, the voters of the state adopted an amendment to their constitution providing for prohibition within its border.

Simultaneously as they express themselves on national prohibition, Texans will say whether their state basic law shall be altered to permit the manufacture and sale of 3.2 per cent beer, thus giving the voters a double-barrel prohibition proposition to pass on.

Campaign Quiet

The campaign has been comparatively quiet. The speakers have not been listened to by large crowds. The numbers of qualified voters in

LEADER TRIES TO RECONCILE OPERATORS

NRA CHIEF NOT READY TO ISSUE A "TAKE IT OR LEAVE IT" EDICT

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Hugh S. Johnson and his recovery administrators strove today to hear away the obstacles blocking admission of the bituminous coal industry to membership in the long array of businesses that are following the blue eagled banner.

Determined that no time should be lost in lining up coal with steel, oil, lumber, and cotton textiles, the recovery administration drafted its own code of competition for the mine operators and planned to present it to them some time during the day to be used as a basis of discussion.

Seeks Reconciliation

It was understood, however, that Johnson was hesitating about issuing an edict of "take it or leave it." Rather, indications were that the recovery chief was continuing his efforts to reconcile the operators on a code of their own writing.

A hearing on a trade plan for the leather industry was started with labor representatives presenting demands for a 30-hour work week and higher minimum wages than proposed in the code submitted by the leather manufacturers.

In the next ten days more than 20 such hearings will be held, and recovery officials said that more than 100 additional temporary agreements for industries were expected to be approved before September 1.

While Johnson and his staff work-

LAWYERS FOR BOTH SIDES AGREE IT WAS A "RECIPROCAL KISS" THAT MAN GAVE TO WIFE OF BUSINESS PARTNER

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Aug. 21—Attorneys for both sides agreed in court today it was a "reciprocal kiss" that Eric Scudder, 49, gave to Mrs. Emily King, the wife of his business partner.

The agreement regarding the nature of the embrace was reached as Albert Cleveland King, 49, was arraigned on a charge of assault to kill his wife a few hours after the kissing episode.

Mrs. King was not in court, and witnesses informed Judge Joseph H. McGarry she had collapsed from nervous strain. Mr. and Mrs. Scudder also were absent, and the case was continued until Friday.

The statement that Mrs. King kissed back when Scudder kissed her as they stood near the swimming pool at a country club Saturday night were made in response to a question from the judge.

"They were kissing each other," said Attorney William Kailes, counsel for King. Assistant State's Attorney Julius Sherwin said: "It was a reciprocal embrace."

King sat mute, staring at the floor. He has been freed on $2,500 bond.

"You can imagine Mr. King's feelings when he saw his wife in another's man's arms," said Attorney Kailes. "They had left the dance floor and my client had followed them.

"When he reached home, he got a gun, without knowing quite what he was doing. He never intended to injure his wife. It went off accidentally when he slipped on the floor."

Mrs. King told police she ran down 14 flights of stairs from her home after the shot was fired. Then she went to the Scudder home.

Scudder said he thought no more of it than he would "kissing a baby." Mrs. King said it came as a surprise to her. Mrs. Scudder: "The affair is just too silly."

FOUR DEAD IN TRUCK CRASH

STRAW RIDE BECOMES AN INFERNO AFTER GUNCOTTON BLAST

(By The Associated Press)

WILMINGTON, Del., Aug. 21—The crash of two trucks, one loaded with picnickers, the other with guncotton, early today turned a straw ride into an inferno, killing four persons and injuring a score of others seriously enough to require hospital treatment.

Police said that the truck carrying the cellulose nitrate, part of a freight shipment bound for New York, crashed into the rear of the merrymakers' truck.

Explosion Follows

Fire followed instantly and a moment later there came an explosion which aroused the countryside.

Young people were strewn over the roadside, but it meant the saving of their lives. The four who burned to death were trapped in the straw-strewn picnic truck. Firemen and state police braved the peril of more explosions to drag out the bodies, but the fire raged too furiously for them to be brought out alive.

All of those killed and injured were from Chester and Marcus Hook, Pa. They had been on a picnic to White Crystal Beach, Md., and were on their way home at the time of the collision seven miles north of this city.

Those killed were listed by state police as:

Henry Cummings, 27, Chester.
Daniel Mahoney, 26, Chester.
Francis Gaskil, 25, Chester.
Jennie Cheasta, Trainer, Pa.

POLICE GUARD CONFESSIONS

AGENT SAYS SEVERAL URSCHEL SUSPECTS ADMIT KIDNAPING

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Aug. 21—Confessions obtained from suspects held in Dallas for the kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel were guarded today for the eyes of a grand jury alone—for the protection of the signers themselves.

Department of Justice Agent Frank Blake, in saying "several confessions" had been obtained from among the five persons held here, refused flatly, for fear of reprisals, to reveal just how many had been made and just what they contained.

To Go To Grand Jury

The confessions, Blake said, would be in the hands of federal authorities in Oklahoma City when the grand jury convenes there Wednesday to go into the Urschel case.

"Keeping these things in confidence," the agent said, "is essential to convince prospective witnesses—whether co-defendants or not—they will be protected against reprisals. When a statement is given us we must protect it; even if it tears the hide off. It might be bad indeed for certain persons on the outside to find out who made this confession and that confession, and what they said."

He did not mention George Kelly, sought over a wide area, as one of those "on the outside," but it was recalled federal authorities have named Kelly and Albert Bates, held in Denver, as the actual kidnapers of the wealthy Oklahoma City oil man, who was released only after payment of ransom reputed to have run as high as $200,000.

Missing Woman Is Found In New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 21. (AP)—The Sheepshead Bay police station reported today that Mrs. Minnie Johnson Fullen of Waco, Tex., who disappeared Thursday from the Manhattan home of her sister, was found this morning.

Austria Abandons Friendship Policy

VIENNA, Aug. 21 (AP)—Political circles, taking cognizance of Chancellor Englebert Dollfuss' hurried visit to Italy for a conference with Premier Mussolini, inclined to the belief today that the chancellor has abandoned his policy of friendship with Germany.

Rather these quarters think, Dollfuss is trying to win the Italian premier to concerted action by big European powers against what the government characterizes as German interference through broadcasts with Austrian internal political affairs.

AGREEMENT ON EXPORTS TO BE SOUGHT

REPRESENTATIVES OF 29 NATIONS ATTEND LONDON MEETING

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Aug. 21. — Repreesntatives of 29 countries, including the principal wheat exporting nations—the United States, Canada, Argentina and Australia—met here today in an effort to solve the world's pressing wheat problems.

The assembly will endeavor to arrive at an international agreement for the adjustment of exports to demand, with the object of eliminating the abnormal carryover which has been depressing the wheat market the last four years.

It will also try to increase and stabilize wheat prices at a reasonable level, which will be remunerative to farmers and fair to consumers of breadstuffs.

The conference will complete conversations begun by delegates from the chief exporting countries in Geneva May 10 and continued throughout June and July while the world economic conference was in session.

The overseas exporting countries had achieved an agreement in principle on a two-year program for the crop years 1933-1934 and 1934-1935 and an understanding with the Danubian exporters for a restriction of their combined exports which would allow the export of their present surplus but which would not permit any expansion in acreage.

"Big four" delegates also have been conducting negotiations with Soviet Russia with a view to its cooperation in the pact.

Agreements thus far reached between the various groups of exporting countries are conditional on the receipt of assurances of cooperation from importing nations, such as France.

The latter will now be asked, in effect, to agree to place a limitation upon their wheat acreage and adopt measures to increase the consumption of the cereal and to remove as rapidly as possible different barriers now impeding international trade in wheat.

BAILEY TO SPEAK HERE ON FRIDAY

Congressman Joseph Weldon Bailey, jr., who is touring the state in the interest of repeal of the Eighteenth amendment and legalization of beer in Texas, is to speak here Friday night instead of Tuesday night as previously announced, it was stated today at the local headquarters of the Texas Liberal legion.

Bailey, son of the late Texas senator, was elected to congress from the state at large last year and was one of the leaders in the recent anti-prohibition convention at Austin. He will likely speak at the southeast corner of the courthouse lawn, E. H. Robertson, district chairman of the legion, said.

KIDNAPERS OF MAN SOUGHT

ABDUCTORS RUN WHEN CAR STALLS AT A GRADE CROSSING

(By The Associated Press)

TEXARKANA, Ark., Aug. 21—Two kidnapers who fled from the automobile in which they had abducted Dr. E. L. Beck, wealthy Texarkana surgeon, after the car had stalled on a railroad crossing in the path of an onrushing train, were hunted in this section today.

Warned by a train whistle of his imminent danger, Dr. Beck tore a blindfold from his eyes and leaped to safety, just a fraction of a second before the train demolished the car.

Fingerprints Found

The only clues to the identity of the kidnapers, beside Dr. Beck's description of them, were fingerprints taken from the car, which belonged to Dr. Beck.

Relating details of the unsuccessful kidnaping, Dr. Beck said he was taken captive in front of a Texarkana hospital about 10:30 o'clock Saturday night just as he was backing his car into the street.

One of the kidnpers, armed with a pistol, leaped on the running board of his car and ordered him to "sit still." This man climbed in the back seat while his accomplice came out of the dark and sat beside

FEAR ANOTHER HALF DOZEN ARE LOST

COMPARATIVELY CALM SEAS TOSSED INTO A FURY SUNDAY

(By The Associated Press)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 21. — Seven persons were known to have drowned during a terrific northeaster that lashed the Jersey coast yesterday, suddenly tossing comparatively calm seas into a fury and catching scores of fishing craft off guard.

Coast guardsmen feared another half dozen fishermen aboard the craft Gertrude may have perished. The boat was the only one unreported late this morning of all those known to have been at sea when the storm broke.

The wind sent huge combers tumbling against the beach from Absecon to the tip of Cape May.

Four Bodies Found

The bodies of four dead were recovered.

They are Capt. Theodore Van Sant, 58, veteran captain.

Louis Williams, 55, of Margate.

Harry R. Schmidt, 33, of Camden.

Dr. Charles McArthur, 58, of South Orange.

Those given up for dead but whose bodies were not recovered, are:

Richard "Soph" Bruner, 58, Memora captain.

Wilbur Lukens, Philadelphia.

Storm Hits Suddenly

At least 100 craft—many of them carrying amateur fishermen—were off this coast yesterday when the storm struck suddenly. With the violence almost of a hurricane, but without a drop of rain, it sent gigantic combers crashing to shore.

Boats were overturned and bathers overwhelmed in the waves. Only heroic rescue work, in which the coast guard took a leading part, prevented a much longer death list.

TWO ARE HELD IN HOLDUP, DRUGGING OF AMARILLO MAN

FORT WORTH, Aug. 21 (AP)—A man and a woman were questioned in the district attorney's office today regarding the kidnaping of J. H. Slade of Amarillo, drugged and robbed of his automobile and clothing here last week.

Another man, who broke away from police yesterday, was sought.

Slade recovered three suits of clothing from a downtown pawnshop after the man in custody admitted he had sold them.

LAMSON GOES ON TRIAL FOR MURDER OF "JULIET OF AN IDYLLIC ROMANCE"

(By The Associated Press)

SAN JOSE, Calif., Aug. 21—David a Lamson, 31, Stanford University press representative, goes to trial today on a charge of murdering his wife, Allene Thorpe Lamson, "the Juliet of an idyllic college romance," in the words of the chaplain who married them.

Criminologists, who have made scientific studies of the physical evidence, are expected to play an important part in the trial.

The prosecution, conceding there was no eye-witness to the slaying, charges Lamson killed his 28-year-old wife by striking her on the head with a blunt instrument.

Her unclothed body was discovered in the bathtub of their Stanford campus home last Memorial day. There was blood on the floor, the walls, the ceiling and on the walls of the hall leading to the bathroom.

A length of pipe found in a bonfire, which Lamson had been tending shortly before the tragedy was disclosed, has been examined by both prosecution and defense criminologists.

Dr. Frederick Proescher, county pathologist, testified at the coroner's inquest there was blood on the pipe and on pieces of cloth picked from the ashes of the fire. He was unable to say if it was human blood. Professor F. Q. Heinrich, defense criminologist, has examined the pipe and questioned the findings of Dr. Proescher.

CLAUDE, Aug. 21 (Special)—The home study course of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers consisting of 6 lessons and 54 questions is a veritable "College from the Homes" in which many parent-teacher leaders have enrolled these vacation days. Presidents of local units together with presidents of councils and districts, and members of the state extension committee, as well as the new members and groups of interested child welfare workers from the 2200 congress units in Texas, are zealous workers in this study course.

Parent-teacher leaders are conscientiously endeavoring to be of definite aid to hampered schools and educational systems. Their attention is being centered now on the openings of their schools and the cooperation of all patrons in seeing that schools are opened. The parent-teacher association serves as the best medium through which school maintenance and improvement may be effected.

This course is prepared for leaders, potential leaders and individual members in order to familiarize them with the technique of the parent-teacher organization. Each summer the revised course is publicized and offers new methods for efficient leaders and better informed members.

Know Procedure

"Leaders then begin the regular activities of the association, when school opens, armed with a better understanding of the function of the parent-teacher movement, a sympathetic interest in all children in the school, an eager ambition to serve the needs of the community through offering a program of parent education, and a definite will to lead the local association as the 'Front Line Defense for Education' in the community and the state," comments Mrs. E. H. Marek, Yoakum, first vice-president of Texas Congress and director of extension

The handbook of the national congress and these seven leaflets—General Information, Parliamentary Procedure, Publicity, Council, Parent Education for Study Groups, Bylaws of National Congress and Bylaws of Texas Congress—form the basis for this correspondence course.

Register At Austin

Registration must be made through the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, Capitol Station, Austin. The course is given free to presidents of local parent-teacher associations and councils upon request. All other registrants are asked to pay a fee of one dollar ($1.00) and all carrying charges on the papers. Those whose papers are rated as satisfactory will receive certificates.

Presidents of local units are required to complete the course before March 1 while all other registrants are extended a time limit of twelve months after registration. papers of graduates who anticipate receiving certificates at the district conferences are required to be in the hands of the state director of extension on or before March 1.

Where groups wish to study this course, each member pays the registration fee of one dollar($1.00) and carrying charges on his papers, attends meetings regularly, participates in the discussions but formulates his own answers to the questions. The leader may register for the entire group, send registration fees accompanied by each registrant's name, receive the lessons, forward to state director and indicate time and place for delivery.

NRA Marshals Nation's War-Time Spirit In Peace-Time Drive On Depression; Every Citizen Is Asked To Do Bit

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21—Dust off your old wartime spirit!

The NRA is going over the top to chase the Huns of depression.

Remember the Liberty Loan drives—the meatless days and the gasless Sundays?

Well, here's Uncle Sam again, asking each one of us—125,000,000 of us—to do his or her bit in the nation's unprecedented attempt to bring back prosperity by increasing buying power.

The other effort was a mere war. This one is the most ambitious economic experiment in history short of Russia's revolution. It is designed to put 6,000,000 persons back to work by Labor Day.

The men who promoted and put over the Liberty Loan drives have returned to Washington. They describe themselves as "sales managers of the New Deal." They will hurl the gospel of recovery at us through every avenue of publicity and every vehicle of public opinion.

An avalanche of propaganda is being unleashed to convince us that the employer with the NRA blue eagle membership insignia in his window is entitled to our support.

Stickers By Millions

Such an employer — your local merchant, for instance—will have signed President Roosevelt's blanket agreement providing a 35-hour week and a $14 weekly minimum wage for industrial employes and a 40-hour week with a $12 to $15 minimum wage for white collar workers.

Business men are to be convinced that only by coming in on this plan can they put more money in circulation and assure the purchase of more goods.

Twenty million NRA "consumer" stickers—showing the blue eagle and the motto "We Do Our Part" in red, white and blue—have been made by 30 factories on rush order. NRA members will distribute them, one to each customer who signs a pledge card promising to support and patronize employers operating under the plan.

Those stickers are for rear windows of automobiles and windows of homes. The theory is that few employers will have the nerve to refrain from membership, although NRA officials frown on suggestions of "boycott" or "coercion."

Speakers Recruited

The war's Four-Minute Men will be succeeded by NRA's "two-minute men," armed with a speaker's manual and a speech. You will hear them, according to present plans, in theaters, churches and schools, before every organization which holds meetings and "in every public place."

Speeches will be along this line: "In the general deflationary process profits were narrowed by declining business. Wages shrank and knocked down consuming power. That hit the retailer and damaged the manufacturer. Unemployment rose enormously. Then landlords found their property values going down and all investments tumbled in value. The way to restore prosperity is by spreading employment and raising wages, which can't be done unless everybody does it."

Tons of literature—code agreements, instructions, textbooks for local campaigns, prepared copy for newspapers—are being poured out of Washington. Broadcasting stations, beginning with the president's address to the country will plug the theme song continuously.

Movie companies have been recruited and one is doing a two-reeler with newspictures, plot scenes and animated charts to show how the depression developed, to shew our interdependence on our neighbors' prosperity and how we can "do our part." Short NRA subjects will be available for all theaters.

Local "NRA campaign committees" already are being organized in nearly all communities of more than 10,000 population, representing business civic welfare, labor and all other important groups. This is the present plan of local organization:

Each local committee will appoint a man as "general," and a woman as "co-general." Under them will be as many "captains" as may be needed, depending on the city's size. Each "captain will command ten persons.

The duty of these "troops" will be, first, to make block canvasses of merchants and other employers and make a census of compliance with the blanket code; second, to make a census of the unemployed, catalog them by trades and study expanding industries with an effort to get the unemployed absorbed.

Huge "Selling" Task

The other chief task of the local committees will be the education of small business men and consumers. The NRA estimates that about 80 per cent of business men belong to no trade associations and that most of them will have to be "sold." There are about 5,000,000 employers in the United States and the campaigner will be after nearly all of them.

Above the local committees will be special regional and state recovery boards.

Among ambitious plans under consideration is one through which the 17,000 automobile dealers would try to canvass more than 20,000,000 automobile owners in an attempt to get NRA stickers on every motor car.

Organizers of the great drive insist that they will avoid "ballyhoo" and spectacular stunts. They promise to make no appeal to mass hysteria and say that they will appeal conservatively to "self-interest" rather than to any spirit of sacrifice.

Quartet Directs Drive

Director of Public Relations, in charge of campaign: Charles F. Horner of Kansas City. A veteran Chautauqua executive, Horner became commander of all the Liberty Loan speakers and kept 20,000 of them moving and talking. He has been a rancher, banker, lawyer and newspaper editor.

Chief of Organization: Frank R. Wilson of Sioux City, Ia., former newspaperman, who sold the Federal Farm Loan system to the agricultural west in the campaign year of 1916 and was director of publicity for the last three Liberty Loan Drives. He was associated with D. W. Griffith and now owns a motion picture financing and distribution corporation.

Director of Newspaper Division: Labert St. Clair of New York, former Washington newspaperman who was assistant to Wilson in the Liberty Loan campaigns and lately has been associated with Barron Collier.

Director of Speakers' Bureau: Louis J. Alber of Cleveland, Horner's Liberty Loan drive assistant, who is also an old Chautauqua man.

Working with these four as laison man to interpret administration policies for tradesmen and the public is Gen. Thomas S. Hammond, of Chicago, president of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association. General Hammond has been given the title of executive director of the unemployment program.

"Sales managers of the New Deal" are these four strategists in the NRA propaganda campaign, pictured in Washington shaping plans to enlist 125,000,000 Americans in the drive to rout the depression. Left to right, seated, Louis J. Alber and Charles F. Horner; standing, Labert St. Clair and Frank R. Wilson.

CHARGES HELD A FRAME-UP

CECIL SMITH HELD AT CHICAGO AWAITING ASSAULT TRIAL

CHICAGO, Aug. 21 (AP)—His pending arraignment on charges of criminal assault held Cecil Smith, San Antonio, Tex., leader of the west's victory over the east in an intersectional polo series, in Chicago today. He branded the charge a "frame-up."

Smith, one time cowboy now the nation's second ranking polo player, was accused my Miss Eugenia Rose, 23, a nurse who attended an injured teammate of the Texan.

Last night Silas Strawn, internationally noted attorney, announced that as he provided bond for the sportsman's release it would not be ethical for him to represent Smith at the arraignment before Police Magistrate Willis R. Brightmore of Evanston. It was indicated a member of Strawn's legal firm would appear in his place.

Meanwhile, date of the arraignment remained uncertain. Originally set for next Friday, it was advanced to today and then to tomorrow.

The alleged attack, Miss Rose said, occurred last Friday night as Smith was driving her home from a hospital.

KIDNAPERS

Dr. Beck. Both men were masked.

They blindfolded the surgeon with his own handkerchief after driving to a deserted street. The surgeon said he pleaded with them to take his money and car and free him but they told him "don't be a fool."

Dr. Beck was placed in the back seat with one kidnaper while the other drove about the Texarkana area for a "long time, turning many times."

"Just as we got on a railroad crossing, the driver killed the engine. I guess he was excited. He kept trying to start the car, but he must have flooded the carburetor. Then I heard one of them say in a low tone, 'we've got to get of here.'

"I could hear them get out of the car and just then a train whistled close by. I jerked the blindfold down and opened the left door. It seemed that my foot had not touched the running board before the train struck the car."

REPEAL VOTE

the state is smaller this time than in many years, because it is an "off election" season and because a poll tax of $1.75 is exacted of every person between the ages of 21 and 60 years who registers, and money has been scarce.

REPEAL POSSIBLE BY NOVEMBER 8

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP)—Prohibition could be voted out of the constitution by November 8.

Twenty-two states, including Missouri in Saturday's election, already have given ballot approval to the Twenty-first constitutional amendment which repeals the Eighteenth. None has voted the other way.

With 36 states needed to repeal, the following additional election dates have been definitely set:

Texas, August 26; Washington, August 28; Vermont, September 5; Maine, September 11; Maryland, Minnesota and Colorado, September 12; Idaho and New Mexico, September 19; Florida, October 10; Utah, North and South Carolina, Pennsylvania and Ohio, November 7.

Plans also have been made to obtain special elections in several others.

COAL CODE

ed at the multitude of problems presented by coal and other lines of work, word was received of an expected visit at the NRA headquarters of a group described as communists. Police were stationed outside Johnson's office to avert any demonstration or disorder.

The outstanding difficulty surrounding the drafting of a coal code was the question of minimum wages. Johnson has been told that miners throughout the country were expecting a $5 a day wage, with some slight differential for the south, and that labor strife would be likely if any smaller wage were provided. On the other hand he has been told by a large part of the coal industry that the $5 a day wage would mean their economic death.

Local Woman Meets First Lady Of Land

This local woman was Miss Lida B. May of 2316 Fourteenth street, who was attending a house party in Bristol, Tenn., as the guest of Misses Sue and Beth Copenhaver.

Mrs. N. H. Copenhaver, sister-in-law of the hostesses, was the Tennessee hostess to the Roosevelt party.

Miss Fay, who teaches in Borger, is visiting her parents Dr. and Mrs. Olin May here this summer. She has just returned from Tennessee.

DIVIDEND DECLARED

HOUSTON, Aug. 21. (AP)—The Humble Oil and Refining company today declared its regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share payable October 1 to stockholders of record September 1.

DAILY MARKETS

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 21 (AP)—Cotton today had a quiet but steady opening. Cables were rather better than due and first trades showed gains of 2 points on October and six points on December. The market continued to improve on buying due to the closing strength of wheat Saturday. October traded up to 9.46, and December to 9.66, or 6 to 8 points above Saturday's close.

Prices eased 5 to 6 points a little later to 9.40 for October and 9.61 for December, but the market showed little disposition to fluctuate until the opening of the grain market. The tone remained steady owing to the firmer opening of stocks.

The market was rather quiet during the morning. Early in the second hour prices rallied some in sympathy with a steady opening of wheat and stocks. October traded up to 9.51 and December to 9.74, or 13 to 14 points above Saturday's close. Later, as wheat and stocks eased off and as there was more or less hedge selling, prices declined to 9.28 for October and 9.52 for December, down 22 to 23 points from the earlier highs and 8 to 10 points under Saturday's close. Near midsession the market rallied 5 to 7 points from the lows on shorts covering.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Aug. 21 (AP)—Cotton opened steady, 10 to 12 points advance in response to higher cables and on trade buying. Oct. 9.50; Dec: 9.72; Jan. 9.83; March 10.01; May 10.16; July 10.30.

The opening advance met some local and New Orleans selling. This was absorbed on reactions, however, and the market held fairly steady during the first half hour, although prices were influenced by small orders either way. December fluctuated between 9.66 and 9.76 and was holding around 9.71 at 10.30 o'clock or about 10 points net higher. Selling was restricted by further talk of inflationary possibilities or less favorable crop advices, but demand was limited.

There was a sort of selling after the opening of the grain market which sent prices off several points. Trading later in the morning was quiet with fluctuations narrow and irregular. The bulges met scattering liquidation or local selling, however, December sagging to 9.57 and general list showing net losses of about 4 to 5 points at midday.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Aug. 21 (AP)—Financial markets generally settled down to routine performances today.

Stocks moved up rather briskly for about half a nhour after the opening, then dropped back to a steady and featureless jog. Some early gains of 1 to 3 or more points were pared or eliminated, but there was little important selling pressure apparent. Grains were fairly firm at the start, but later drifted moderately lower. Cotton was little beter than even an dother commodities were slightly mixed. The dollar was a bit easier at one time in foreign exchange dealings, although it did not display unusual weakness. Bond market prices held to a narrow range.

Shares of the alcohol companies, reflecting the repeal vote in Missouri, were in demand. Gains of 1 to around 3 points were recorded by Schenley Distillers, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, American Commercial Alcohol and National Distillers. Advances of 1 to 2 or more were held by Case Threshing, Celanese, Sears Roebuck, Great Western Sugar, American Sugar Refining, United Aircraft, Consolidated Oil, Standard Oil of New Jersey and Union Pacific.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Aug. 21. (AP)—Grains sagged wearily today after a moderate advance at the opening. Trading was erratic, sporadic selling forcing prices gradually backward with each succeeding rally failing to gain back all lost ground. Lack of interest by outside buyers forced both wheat and corn back at one time to three cents below Saturday's finish but rallies wiped out part of this loss. Provisions were moderately active and slightly higher with hogs.

Wheat closed fairly steady, steady to 5-8 cent lower than Saturday's finish, corn steady to 1-2 cent down. Oats steady to 1-4 off, and provisions steady to 10 cents higher.

Warning Issued On Cleaning Cow Lots

Lubbock residents having cow lots must clean them and have the manure hauled away each week, the City department of sanitation warned today. Unless the requirements are met, prosecution will be undertaken, a member of the department said.

Attention again was called to a practise of taking rubbish to the edge of town and scattering it, instead of hauling it to the City dump grounds. Although it has decreased, illegal disposal of rubbish still is a problem which may result in prosecution, it was said.

RUDY VALLEE UNHURT

BODY REMOVED FROM GRAVE

PUNISHMENT WILL BE SOUGHT FOR CRAZED MOB IN HAVANA

HAVANA, Aug. 1 (AP)—Punishment for leaders of a hate-crazed mob which took from its new grave the body of Gerardo Machado's police chief and burned and mutilated it was demanded today by several departments of the week-old Cuban government.

As the cabinet of Carlos Manuel de Cespedes tried to solve the hard problems of economic peace, there were other evidences of continuing hatred of the previous regime.

Manhunt Continues

A manhunt for the few remaining Machadists went on; leaders of the opposition who had been forced into exile were coming back, and soldiers and members of the ABC secret society began digging again in Atares castle for bodies of those who died because of opposition to the Machado regime.

Antonio B. Ainciart, villified as the director of bloody and repressive measures under the deposed president, committed suicide Saturday night while soldiers and ABC men closed in on his hiding place.

As soon as soldiers left his place of burial 2,000 shouting persons opened the fresh grave, took the body in a truck to Havana university, mutilated it, and hoisted it to the cross bar of an electric light pole.

Thousands watched the mob pour gasoline over it and apply a match. Finally the crew of an ambulance scattered the crowd and took the remains to a morgue.

"Dump It Into The Sea"

"Dump it into the sea!" shouted the mob. "Dump it into the sea! He is not fit to be buried in a cemetery with other human beings!"

Shortly before the mob began forming Juan Sampol, nephew and body guard of Ainciart, shot and killed himself after being recognized by a boy on a street corner, First however, Sampol had killed Jose Aquirre Leon, ABC member.

Also fanning popular indignation over the regime against which they rebelled a week ago was the funeral yesterday of four men whose remains were found Friday in a stable at Atares castle. Tens of thousands attended the impressive ceremony.

COTTON CHECKS EXPECTED SOON

Cotton farmers who sold a portion of their crop to the federal government may expect checks in payment for their contracts, "almost any day now," according to O. G. Tumlinson, county agent.

"Last advises I had from Washington, a week or ten days ago, were that the checks would be mailed direct to the farmers," Mr. Tumlinson added. "Since then I have seen press dispatches which said that checks would be mailed through the county agent's offices, but I have had no direct advices to this effect."

More than 2,000 acceptance blanks and other papers from farmers have been forwarded to Washington. About 400 more blanks are expected this week. None had reached here today.

Ire Of Aimee Is Still Unrequited

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., Aug. 21 (AP)—The ire of Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton, famed woman evangelist, continued to burn today against a description of her as "a good actress and a clever showman."

Her immediate retort after an introduction including that phrase by George Claassen, president of the Linn County Bar association at a lawyers' dinner, was "I have never had such an introduction before in 26 years as an evangelist and I am cross."

Claassen also referred to her as "the most widely advertised woman evangelist in all history."

At a religious gathering later, she said: "If it had been me I would have just curled up and nearly died; but when they attack Christ, all the blood of my ancestors for generations rises in my veins, and I must stand up and defend my faith."

Gandhi Weaker On Sixth Day Of Fast

POONA, India, Aug. 21. (AP)—The Mahatma Gandhi grew weaker today during the sixth day of his fast in protest against the government's refusal to grant him privileges to carry on his campaign for the untouchable class.

He was taken from Yeroda jail to the civil hospital, still in custody because of his one-year jail sentence for civil disobedience. It was believed an acute attack of kidney trouble brought about the removal.

Hearings On Pipe Line Rates Delayed

AUSTIN, Aug. 21 (AP)—The Texas railroad commission postponed to August 30 hearings scheduled for today on oil pipe line rates and oil storage conditions.

Absence of Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson was given as cause for the continuance. Thompson has been in Washington attending sessions of the oil code conference.

Thought For Today

God judgeth the righteous, and God is angry with the wicked every day.—Psalms, 7-11.

* * *

Wickedness resides in the very hesitation about an act, even though it be not perpetrated.—Cicero.

Coal Code Real Test

The bitter argument now going on in the coal industry over the terms of the proposed blue eagle agreement provides about as good a test case for the whole recovery program as could possibly be arranged.

It tests the patriotism, the social conscience and the intelligence of all parties involved—the owners, the miners and the government itself.

It brings into the spotlight a sector of the industrial front which needs government regulation, probably, more than any other, and gives us a chance to see whether reforms which have been urgently needed for years can finally be applied under the pressure of a national emergency.

* * *

Here we have an industry which cannot possibly do justice to its owners or to its workers without some sort of far-reaching and drastic corrective being applied from above.

The country has more coal miners than it needs and more coal miners than it can ordinarily employ. Even a sudden return to 1929 levels of business activity would not involve consumption of all the coal that can be mined annually, nor would it provide jobs for all of the miners.

The industry, in short, has managed to concentrate within itself nearly all of the major evils of present-day industrialism. This has happened naturally and through force of circumstances, and it is idle to try to blame any one man or group of men; but it has happened, and there is not the slightest sign that the industry can solve its troubles by its own unaided efforts.

The blue eagle program offers a way out—the first that has ever been opened to the coal industry since its troubles became acute.

Here, at last, is a chance for the industry to become stabilized, for its production to get geared to consumption, for an arrangement to be made by which owners can get decent profits and miners can get a decent living.

* * *

But the first response of the industry has not been encouraging. It has split into factions—no fewer than 27 codes have been submitted by different groups of bituminous operators. Certain groups have apparently been ready to forego he benefits of co-operation rather than relax their archaic anti-union traditions. Others have insisted that they will submit to no government supervision under any circumstances.

It will be a national calamity if some sort of order cannot be brought into this chaotic field. Those individuals who stand in the way are shouldering an extremely heavy responsibility.

Norman Thomas' statement that "This country has just passed through a revolution" should surprise no one. Everybody knows that for three years we've been going around in circles.

Strangely enough, that Nebraska congressman who is charged with misbranding gas is not accused of putting a misleading caption on one of his campaign speeches, but of violating the state gasoline law.

Paris dispatch reveals Marlene Dietrich has now substituted red trousers for black ones. Just like a lot of business men—out of the black and into the red.

Recent dismissal of 1800 federal prohibition agents throughout the country came so quietly that the event passed almost unnoticed—even by the bootleggers.

The Plainsman Says:

That Girl on Broadway says an undeveloped people is one which has to depend on natural causes for its death rate.

* * *

Said Sandy McTavish to his girl friend: I'll meet ye, lass, at 7 at the Lindsey theater—inside!

* * *

UNLESS all signs fail there will be a larger influx of new citizens to Lubbock and the South Plains this fall than there has been for several seasons.

Why?

Because Avalanche-Journal papers are getting daily letters from various parts of the country asking for sample copies of the paper, subscription rates and usually containing the remark that "'I am thinking about moving to your section."

* * *

Here's one, typical of the letters, that came in the other day:

"Editor, leading Newspaper,
"Lubbock, Texas.

"Dear Sir: Will you please send me several sample copies of your paper, for which I have enclosed stamps. Also would like to know your subscription rates for one and three months.

"I am thinking about moving to the Lubbock country this fall as I hear things are fairly good there considering the times.

"Very truly yours,
"Walter Brothers, Route 2, Conway, Kansas."

* * *

THE Plainsman can remember when letters like that were much more frequent than they are today; why, they used to come in a half dozen at a time in almost every mail just prior to the fall 'rush for the Plains'.

But during the past several years they fell off to almost nothing and the pick-up just began a month or so ago.

The condition indicates that there will be a better land and real estate business this fall than for several seasons as practically all the letters have rural addresses.

Very few of them are from business people, farmers predominating in the seekers after information.

* * *

Reports the Boston Transcript:

"A garden party on a large scale is to be held at Los Angeles. We understand that tickets will be issued to admit 'Bearer, And One Wife'!"

* * *

READING recently in an eastern newspaper. The Plainsman noticed where someone had told President Roosevelt that he would turn out to be either "'the greatest president or the worst president the country has ever had."

* * *

The president is reported as having answered that he "'will be either a very successful president — or the last one!"

* * *

That is not such a far-fetched statement; at least not as far-fetched as it sounds.

Unless the Roosevelt administration accomplishes needed results there is every likelihood of a change in our form of government.

* * *

THERE probably will be no bloody revolution but the present bloodless revolution—or, perhaps it is better characterized as a 'governmental evolution'—will go even further.

Republican and Democratic parties will be forgotten and new ones, with new objects, will take their places.

He's not trying to fool himself, or the people, as he drives ahead to stave off ruin.

A Scotchman got on a train at Amarillo the other day without a ticket and the conductor came around to collect. The passenger was told the cost of his transportation to Lubbock but began to haggle with the trainman in an effort to get it cut down.

Finally the conductor became so angry that he seized the Scotchman's large valise and threw it off the train.

"Mon, mon!" the Scot screamed in anguish. "Ye're not satisfied with trying to hold me up on my fare. Now ye have to go and try to kill my ten-year old boy!"

That Man on Avenue Q says people always worry over something. A month ago they were worrying over how long they'd keep their jobs and now they're worrying over how soon they'll get a raise.

Nobody cares whether your reasons are patriotic or not so long as you 'buy now'!

STIRRED by reports that criminals planned to kidnap his aged grandmother, Governor Arthur Seligman, of New Mexico, has declared war on lawlessness.

New Mexico, he avers, has passed the 'wild west' stage and the state will not be a haven for lawbreakers.

* * *

It is no secret that many modern 'bad men' look at New Mexico as the happy hiding grounds, leaving there to slip into other states to commit their crimes and then scurrying back.

A good cleanup of New Mexico would be beneficial to the South Plains. Not so many hijackers would be plying their trade in the neighborhood.

* * *

THERE was no secret to the fact that during boom times Hobbs, New Mexico, was a hotbed of thugs.

Bootlegging hijackers of Lubbock and Lamb counties kept in connection with their brethren in the Hobbs section and the two groups more or less worked together to the detriment of society.

Governor Seligman's war on criminals is coming a little later than many persons would like to have seen it but it can still do a great deal of good.

Now We'll See Some Real 'Muscling In'

John Lawson, Hero In Labor Union History, Comes To The Bituminous Code Hearings As A Colorado Coal Operator

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Evening Journal's Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21—John Lawson, a hero in union labor history who used to be shot and shot at by coal company gunmen, came to the bituminous code hearings here—as a coal operator.

Butcher

Twenty years ago he was sent to prison on an indictment charging him with 13 murders.

Today he is vice president of the Rocky Mountain Fuel Co. That's the concern made famous by Miss Josephine Roche, who assumed its presidency five years ago, invited the United Mine Workers to organize her mines and has since operated successfully while paying top wages in Colorado's only unionized coal area.

• • •

Co-operates With Union

Miss Roche and Lawson came to help formulate and to support the general coal code which Rocky Mountain and other companies worked out with President John L. Lewis of the U. M. W. Miss Roche told how greatly reduced operating costs and increased production per man had been achieved in her mines despite increased payrolls.

Lawson, a tall, gray-haired, spectacled, rugged but soft-spoken man who has always worked for working men, has direct charge of Rocky Mountain's labor relations.

In 1913-14 he was on the U. M. W. international board and had charge of the Colorado strike. Many attempts were made on his life and once he was shot up rather badly.

• • •

Sentenced for Life

When militiamen began bombarding the strikers' tent colony at Ludlow he made his way through a shower of explosive bullets, then went out again to bring reinforcements for the miners. In his absence 23 miners, women and children were killed or burned to death; militiamen departed after burning the tents.

Many more were killed in the warfare through Colorado which followed. Lawson was one of dozens indicted for murder in company-controlled courts. As strike leader he was tried first and sentenced for life. He was imprisoned six months. Edward P. Costigan, now U. S. senator, proved his innocence at a dramatic appeal trial which attracted national attention.

Lawson's victory resulted in freedom for all other striker defendants and in his last campaign Costigan's hand was shaken in several coal towns by persons who said he had saved their lives.

Won Against Conservatives

Lawson testified before Frank P. Walsh's federal industrial relations committee and a special congressional investigating committee. Later he devoted himself to constructive labor programs such as worker education and industrial legislation. He was attached to the state mine inspectors' office when Josephine Roche, who had worked with Lawson and Costigan in the 1913-14 strike days, obtained control of Rocky Mountain and made him a coal operator. Lawson saw a chance to realize some of the hopes of a lifetime.

Each of that trio of intimate friends—Roche, Costigan and Lawson—has achieved success against bitter opposition from conservative interests.

How F. D. R. Does It

Louis Howe, presidential secretary, was asked how Roosevelt had developed capacity for such an enormous amount of brain work.

"While you and I are out playing golf or week-ending," Howe replied, "that man has to sit still, thinking or reading."

BETTER ANTIDOTE AGAINST MONOXIDE POISONING FOUND

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, Aug. 21. (AP)—Discovery of a sulphur-sodium antidote more effective against carbon monoxide poisoning than anything previously known is claimed in a report published here by John H. Draize of the University of Wyoming.

The antidote likewise surpasses anything else in effectiveness against cyanide poisoning, he says. He credits the cyanide discovery to B. Foresti, an Italian scientist.

The antidote is sodium tetrathionate, a well known synthetic chemical. Its constituents are sulphur and sodium. Draize used it by intravenous injection on poisoned rabbits.

He compared the sulphur compound with the dye methylene blue, which was used successfully to treat a human case of cyanide poisoning at the University of California last year. For both kinds of poisoning he found the sulphur better than the blue dye.

"Animals can be revived," he stated in his report which receives first publication today in the official Journal Science, "from definitely more severe stages of carbon monodixe poisoning with tetrathionate than with the methylene blue.

"Carbon monoxide will always be more or less of a serious source of poisoning as long as the automobile, the illuminating gas and the coal-burning appliances are used by man."

Enthusiastic proprietor of a tailor shop in New York has had the blue eagle tattooed on his chest; but he'd better be careful, for the NRA won't stand for any skin games.

With 'Whiz' BARRY Under The Capitol Dome

BY R. W. BARRY
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Aug. 21. (AP)—The evolution of highways in Texas is strikingly illustrated on a three-panel plaque at the entrance of the state's new highway department building.

Interior Disappointing

The highway building is a pretty thing to behold from the outside but arrangement of the interior is somewhat disappointing to many visitors. The hearing room is a big improvement over the stuffy basement space occupied in the old land office building.

The usual confusion that attends hearings of delegations which come to discuss road matters with the commissioners still is present, however. The commissioners seem to be unable to arrange any system of hearing the delegations that will permit all those who might want to be spectators to get an intelligent conception of what is going on.

Difficulties Encountered

Newspaper reporters who cover those hearings have tough experiences trying to keep up with the proceedings—so does the official recorder of the commission, Miss Magda Cuenod, who is supposed to take in shorthand everything everybodys says so here will be a record of what really happens.

There's a spic-and-span flag pole atop the building from which floats a Texas flag. Perched on the flag pole is a red light that keeps birdmen clear of it when they are out for a spin at night.

As Brought Over Associated Press Wires Today

Sleep Is Fatal

NORTH VERNON, Ind. — Carl Olds, 35, Newcastle, Ind., is dead because he went to sleep while hunting squirrels.

Before his death in a Seymour hospital, he said he lost his way in the woods as darkness fell, lay down to rest, and fell asleep. Daylight wakened him. He stretched his legs. A foot struck his shotgun, sending a charge into his shoulder and arm.

She Runs, B'Gosh

"Bet she won't run," said Jesse, climbing in.

He pressed the starter, the truck ran—right into the East river, with Jesse screaming: "Where's the brakes."

He swam to shore and got a summons for driving without a license.

Wins The Fight

GALVESTON—William Aldridge, a fisherman living on North Deer island, was bitten by a rattlesnake.

Although suffering intensely, he rowed his skiff seven miles to Virginia Point. An ambulance took him to a hospital. Aldridge had tried to give himself first aid by cutting away the poisoned flesh with a knife.

NRA Tamales

FORT WORTH—Celso Puente placed the blue eagle of the NRA on his hot tamale cart and until customers began to smile and ask questions he was perfectly happy.

"No speeka English much," he explained, and added, "maybe you theenk I should pay something?" He threw open the tamale cart to show where he'd found the big blue eagle.

He had torn it out of an advertisement.

SYNTHETIC CHEMICAL WHICH IMITATES SPREAD OF BACTERIA IS DISCOVERED

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, Aug. 21. (AP)—Success in another medical goal, the discovery of a synthetic coal tar chemical which imitates a bacteria's method of spreading infection, has been announced from the Rockefeller institute.

Bacteria, it has been known for some time, produce a mysterious chemical which rapidly spreads in body tissues, breaking down the natural resistance against disease. Behind this spreading chemical germs advance with their infection.

Medicine also has known that some of the body's own tissues can be made to produce a chemical, likewise of unknown nature, but just as effective as the bacteria product in opening pathways for infection.

Synthetic Chemical Sought

Therefore search has been on for a synthetic chemical, of known composition, which would do the same thing. It was hoped that such a find could be used to discover how the natural resistance is so easily penetrated.

One such chemical, a combination mostly of nitrogen, oxygen, carbon, hydrogen and sulphur has been found at the Rockefeller institute. Its scientific name is p-diazo-benzol-sulfonic acid. How it spreads in the skin is described by Dr. Albert Claude in science for the information of other medical research workers.

The chemical is dissolved in water. A little india ink is added to make visible any movement of the mixture under the skin. Also added is either egg albumen or horse serum, which prevent the body's own water from washing away the mixture too rapidly.

Spread Is Sudden

When this "marked" acid is injected into the skin, the spread is reported as "sudden and complete." It may cover more than a square foot just under the skin.

Thirty times smaller than this area is the spread of india ink when injected without the chemical. The ink alone shows how the skin's normal resistance retards the spread of infection. Adding the chemical illustrates how the resistance is broken down.

The next step at Rockefeller institute is to try to learn which group of molecules in the synthetic acid is responsible for the spreading power.

"B. C." Relieves Your Headache In 3 Minutes

Realizing that no one drug can relieve all headaches, as they come from so many causes, a North Carolina pharmacist has developed a combination of several ingredients, so blended and proportioned as to relieve almost any headache in a few minutes. You can get this formula wherever drugs are sold under the name "B. C.," 10c and 25c packages, and when you have one of those violent nerve-racking headaches, from inorganic causes, "B. C." will give you soothing relief in three minutes. "B. C." should also be used for the relief of muscular aches and pains, common colds and neuralgia, reducing fever, and for quieting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics or such habit forming drugs. John Munn Wins Plains Tourney

YOUNG COUNTRY CLUB ACE SHATTERS PAR BY SEVEN STROKES

Touring the 18-hole layout twice in 133 strokes, John D. Munn, youthful ace of Lubbock Country club, trimmed par by seven strokes to win the third annual South Plains Invitation tournament at Meadowbrook yesterday over a field of 75 golfers from the territory.

Manson Allen and Allan Ferrell, Meadowbrook and Slaton representatives respectively, finished in a tie for second place with 135's—five under par—and Charles Quails of Post, veteran campaigner of Texas links, came in with a 64 on the afternoon round for a total of 136 for a tie for third place with Clinton Bussey, who posted a 71 and a 65.

Edgar Doherty, Lubbock High school and Country club star, and championship defender, finished in sixth place with 139—the identical score he shot to win the 1932 tournament.

First Six Break Par

Joe Bihl, former Meadowbrook caddy, shot 137 for fourth place and Cotton McAfee, Lubbock Country club hotshot, finished fifth with 138. Thus the first six players broke par by from one to seven strokes in a tournament that required 72 or better to make the championship flight.

Ten clubs of the South Plains were represented in the tournament, said to be the most successful and hardest fought event in the history of the tournament.

The Meadowbrook team of Joe Bihl, Manson Allen, Clint Bussey and Alfred Holton won the four-man team play prize with an aggregate score of 276—four under par. Bihl shot a 66 in the morning round, Allen a 68, Bussey a 71 and Holton a 71. The same team finished the 36 holes three under par.

Allan Ferrell fired a 64 on the morning and qualifying round to take medalist honors. Two strokes behind was Bihl. Munn was third with a 67 and Allen fourth with his 68.

McIlroy, Slaughter Tied

Howard McIlroy of Meadowbrook and Jo Dick Slaughter of Lubbock Country club tied for second flight honors with scores of 140. They plan to play off the tie this week.

Jess Lockhart, Country club player, took third flight honors with scores of 83-72—155.

Fifth flight honors went to E. W. George, who posted 98-90—188.

The two rounds of 64, fired by Ferrell and Quails, lacked one stroke of equalling the course record held jointly by Mendall Hughett and Clinton Bussey.

Munn's card:

Morning round:

Par out	434	445	443	—35
Munn out	334	436	443	—34
Par in	443	434	445	—35—70
Munn in	342	434	535	—33—67

Afternoon round:

Out	342	345	434	—32
In	443	335	445	—34—66—133

Clubs represented at the tournament were: Lubbock Country club; Meadowbrook, Brownfield, Post, Littlefield, Slaton, Spur, Crosbyton, Petersburg and Idalou. All of the South Plains league clubs with the exception of Plainview were represented.

BUFFS DEFEAT HERD AGAIN

HOUSTON IS IN FRONT WITH FOUR AND HALF GAME MARGIN TODAY

(By The Associated Press)

The Houston Buffs were out in front in the Texas league pennant race Monday with a four and a half game margin after humbling the Dallas Steers again, 9 to 2.

A flock of Dallas errors and nine timely hits, four of them two-baggers, gave the hustling Buffs their second straight victory over the Steers.

Missions Advance

The loss sent Dallas skidding down into fourth place as San Antonio walloped Tulsa in both games of a double-header, 4 to 1, and 2 to 1, and moved up a notch.

Erratic fielding and inability to get enough base hits explained Tulsa's disastrous encounter with the Missions.

Galveston had a tough time with the Fort Worth Cats, losing the first game of a double-header 5 to 3 and winning the other, which ran into extra innings, 5 to 2.

For five innings of the nightcap the Cats led, 2 to 1, but in the sixth the Buccaneers tied the score. In the extra eighth inning Galveston broke loose to score three runs and win.

Beaumont, Indians Split

Beaumont and Oklahoma City divided a pair of games. The Indians took the first, 3 to 2, and lost the final, 4 to 3.

A four-run rally in the second inning enabled the Exporters to cinch the short second game, although the Indians nearly tied the score in a last-inning rush that netted three runs.

SENATORS AND GIANTS HOLD TO MARGINS

BRAVES AND INDIANS NOW APPEAR TO BE TEAMS TO WATCH

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR., Associated Press Sports Writer

Although they haven't yet caused any qualms for the New York Giants and Washington Senators, who built up their leads to 7 1-2 and 8 1-2 games respectively over the past week-end, the Boston Braves and Cleveland Indians appear to be the teams to watch at the present stage of the big league pennant races.

The Braves inflicted painful damage upon two western challengers for the Giants' lead last week and finished off yesterday by climbing into a virtual tie for second place as they trounced the Pittsburgh Pirates in a doubleheader. Cleveland, which has been showing steady improvement under Walter Johnson's guidance, found the batting range a little over a week ago and has stormed up from fifth place to third in the American league, winning its last six games in a row.

Leaders Boost Margins

Despite the wholesale shifts in the ranking of the lower clubs in both leagues, Washington and the Giants have steadily improved their positions. Going out 8 1-2 games in front of the New York Yankees Saturday, held that lead yesterday by whipping the St. Louis Browns, 2 to 1 and 4 to 3. The double victory extended Washington's winning streak to 13 games.

The Yankees acted like their old selves as they overwhelmed the Chicago White Sox 14-3 and 11-3 with the aid of two homers by Lou Gehrig and five hit pitching jobs by Johnny Allen and George Uhle, but they couldn't gain an inch.

The Giants, with Hal Schumacher winning his 14th game, trounced the Chicago Cubs 6 to 1 as their share in a big improvement in their standing. Boston, meanwhile, whipped the second place Pittsburgh club 5-4 in an eleven inning clash and 8 to 1, and the St. Louis Cardinals bounced the Brooklyn Dodgers around twice, 6-2 and 5-0 to gain a third interest in the second place deadlock, two percentage points behind the Pirates and one behind Boston.

Berger Gets Homer

Wally Berger's 21st homer, which tied up the first game in the eighth and lanky Ben Cantwell's pitching in the second to gain his 17th victory of the season were the big spots in Boston's double victory which made it five out of six against the strong western invaders.

The Phillies and Cincinnati, whose games don't affect the pennant race much, had the day off.

Cleveland held third place in the American safe from Detroit's bid by pasting the Boston Red Sox two more times, 14-6 and 9-4. The sixth inning settled the opener as the Indians smacked Lloyd Brown for ten runs. A four-run sixth clinched the second argument behind the seven hit flinging of Wesley Ferrell, who won his first game since June 21.

The Detroit Tigers broke their fourth place deadlock with the Philadelphia Athletics with a double victory, 5-4 and 4-1.

MORTON PLAYERS DEFEAT AMHERST

MORTON, Aug. 21 (Special)—Manager Woods' Morton club defeated Amherst, 10 to 3, here yesterday for its fourth victory of the second half, and protected second place in the league standings of the northern division of the South Plains league.

Burks and Rose pitched for Morton, allowing a total of five hits. Green was Morton's catcher; Bradley and Dickinson gave up eleven hits. Both teams committed numerous errors that resulted in runs.

Fistic Flowers Turn Into Seed

PROMISING SEASON IN BOXING FADES AWAY AS INTEREST DIMS

BY EDWARD J. NEIL, Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 21 (AP)—The fistic flowers that bloomed in the spring have gone definitely to seed, leaving the most promising outdoor season since the heyday of Tex Rickard to fade away in one lightweight title duel and bits of assorted minor milling.

Barney Ross, the 23-year-old Chicago boy, who edged out Tony Canzoneri for the lightweight title two months ago, risks it for the first time against he former champion over the fifteen round route in the Polo grounds Sept. 12.

Success Doubtful

With little hopes of success, promoters are trying to lure Maxey Rosenbloom into an outdoor ring with John Henry Lewis, the western negro who recently bounced the light heavyweight champion all over the carpet, or Lou Brouillard, the chunky Worcester southpaw who won himself middleweight recognition by blotting out Ben Jeby in seven rounds.

But beyond this, and even these possibilities are weak, promoters here see nothing.

The marvelous set-up that sprung up overnight among the heavyweights in June when Max Baer knocked out Max Schmeling in ten rounds and Primo Carnera flattened Jack Sharkey to take the big title in six has been neglected. Promoters feel that the enthusiasm and interest resulting from these upsets will have to be stirred up all over again.

The crowning "natural" of the summer was a title battle between Carnera and Baer, and there were visions in promoters eyes of a return of the $1,000,000 gate.

Schmeling Goes Home

To add to the exciting possibilities, Schmeling left for Europe muttering that it was all a mistake, that he'd be back in six weeks, ready to fight anyone. Sharkey glowered back to Boston demanding a fight a month through the fall in his comeback campaign. There has been nothing but silence from them since.

Schmeling returned to Germany, married Anny Ondra, German actress, and seems content to remain in the Black forest, independently wealthy. Sharkey's lust for battle has cooled. There have been five postponements of the first comeback bout he sought, a match with King Levinsky in Chicago next month. It is doubtful whether he or Schmeling will ever fight again.

As for Baer and Carnera, instead of heading into training, they're in motion pictures together, preparing for scenes in which they box a draw for home consumption in one bout while in the other Carnera, for the foreign trade, knocks out the challenger. Then Carnera will go to Italy to nudge over Dan McCorkindale, of South Africa, in October.

ONE SINGLES AND ONE DOUBLES SEMI FINALS TODAY IN WOMEN'S TOURNEY

BY GAYLE TALBOT

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 21 (AP)—The women's tennis championships went into their second week today with one singles and one doubles semi-final on the program.

Both were postponed from yesterday, due to Dorothy Round's scruples against playing on the sabbath. The British star was slated to meet Helen Jacobs, defending champion, in a singles duel, and later was to pair with Mary Heeley of England, in a doubles engagement against Mrs. Helen Wills Moody and Elizabeth Ryan.

Whatever happened today promised to be something of an anti-climax after the exciting goings-on of yesterday, when Betty Nuthall of England captured a set before bowing to Helen Wills Moody in their semi-final match.

Some 6,000 spectators were amazed when Betty jumped on the world's No. 1 player with both feet in the first set and won it by the lopsided score of 6-2.

Betty couldn't hold such a terrific pace and, in the course of events, fell victim to Mrs. Moody's calm, purposeful play by scores of 2-6, 6-3, 6-2.

It later was reported that Mrs. Moody was competing in direct disobedience to her physician's orders, but she was the first to deny it. She admitted she had been advised to take a rest before the present tournament began, but made it clear she was advancing no alibi for loss of the set to Miss Nuthall.

Miss Nuthall returned to the court a few minutes later to pair with Freda James and advance to the finals of doubles. The British pair eliminated the defending champions, Helen Jacobs and Sarah Palfrey, 6-4, 4-6, 7-5.

EASTERN POLO DOMINATION IS ENDED

BAND OF RIDERS FROM CALIFORNIA, TEXAS DOWN EASTERNERS

CHICAGO, Aug. 21 (AP)—The east's traditional domination over American polo had vanished today—wrested away by a band of riders from California and Texas.

These rough riders from the western plains, battered and beset by hard luck, won the final match of the country's first intersectional series, 12 to 6, before 30,000 spectators.

West Wins First

The west, with Aiden Roark, Elmer J. Boeseke, jr., Cecil Smith and Hubert W. (Rube) Williams, won the opening match, 15 to 11. Tommy Hitchcock, the world's only 10-goal player, and leader of the forces from the cradle of American polo, altered his lineup for the second match Wednesday, and the new combination swept through to a 12 to 8 triumph, squaring the series.

Not only did the west lose the second battle, but Williams, its great back, suffered a fracture of his right leg below the knee. Smith was badly hurt in the opening match and in the second, appeared to be anything but the polo player a nine-goal man should be.

Pedley Drafted

Then, Eric Pedley, whom Hitchcock had called the finest number one in the country, was called from California for the final match. He flew to Chicago, with a day of practice, jumped into the battle at number one. Roark was shifted to back, while Boeseke and Smith remained at two and three, respectively.

Yesterday the east was able to keep up with the terrific riding and daring play of the west for less than three periods. Winston Guest scored for the east in the first and second periods to give the east a 2 to 0 lead, but the three goal splurge at the end of the second chukker, as the the westerners found themselves, just an indication of what was to come. Guest, who scored four goals, tied it up early in the third period, but Secil Smith put the plainsmen out in front again, never to be stopped, scoring six goals.

Net Tournament Set Here Today

FAST PLAY LOOMS AS LOCAL, SECTIONAL STARS ENTER

This section's major tennis event of the season was scheduled to start here late this morning or early this afternoon as raqueteers from Lubbock, the South Plains and other localities gathered here for the Northwest Texas tournament.

Indications this morning were that the field would not be as large as had been expected. Unfavorable weather conditions in certain parts of the state and in New Mexico from which tennis players were expected kept several hotshots away, but a fairly fast tournament was assured with the registration of a number of local and sectional stars.

To End Tomorrow

Renford Taylor tournament manager said the tournament probably would be concluded tomorrow rather than Wednesday. Six courts, especially groomed for the tournament are available, and it was thought that all first round matches and several second round matches would be concluded today.

Fans are admitted free to today's matches. Bleachers will be erected around the central courts and the public is invited to attend.

Among the latest entries were four players from Hamlin, entered in singles and doubles. John Boyd, Richard Feagan, T. C. Arnett and Truett May are the Hamlin entries.

Rushing Enters

W. B. Rushing, winner of the recent City Open tournament here, is entered in the Northwest Texas joust. Other luminaries entered today who played in the City Open are James Cullar of Slaton, former No. 1 man on the Abilene Christian college team; Gordon May, seeded No. 1 at Texas Tech and runner up in the City Open; Larry Taylor and Renford Taylor, the latter former T. I. A. champion.

Ozona Wins Second Half Championship

SAN ANGELO, Aug. 21 (AP)—Ozona won the second half championship of the West Texas Independent Baseball league Sunday, finishing a half game ahead of Texon at Texon.

Texon, first half champion, won the first game, 5 to 2, Ozona taking the second, 4 to 1, behind the pitching of Lefty Lybrand. The championship play-off series starts next Sunday at Ozona.

Sunday's scores:

Ozona	010 001 000	2	10 5
Texon	100 030 010	5	8 0

Harn and Boggess; Harris and Guerra.

Ozona	200 010 1	4	10 4
Texon	010 000 0	1	7 3

Lybrand and Boggess; Haven and Barbee.

Stoops Bryant Writes Letter to Sport Editor

There comes in yesterday's mail a newsy letter from Norval "Stoops" Bryant, who is with the big bunch of Texas Tech military students and others of the 131st Field Artillery unit at their summer camp near Palacios. The letter is self-explanatory, and we copy it verbatim:

Camp Hulen
August 17

Dear Sport Editor:

This may be an army camp, but it has its share of sports—especially in the guards from Lubbock. At present they are the softball champions of the 131st F. A. and urge you to find us an opening in one of the leagues when we get home. We'll be ready to play by the 22nd.

Coach Pete Cawthon may be pleased to know that a battery of his football men won the camp grid-iron championship by whipping the 132nd F. A., 13 to 0. Johnny Walker and Malcolm "Moon" Martin scored the touchdowns on passes and long runs. Toby Greer, Eli Harris, Lefty Sollis, Woodrow Wilson, Matt Hitchcock, Double-Ugg Curfman, Elmer Fortner, Carlton Luper, Earl St. John, "Razz" Barlow, Professor Butts were outstanding stars. The men are keeping in fine condition for the approaching season and from all indications they are ready to go.

Manager Moco Cogdell's baseball team went into the finals to be nosed out by the 111th Engineers. Moco had such notable stars as Junior Hackney, Lefty Sollis, Lefty Bryant, Walker, and Harris.

Kid Guthrie has reached the finals in the championship boxing tournament, and Hitchcock still is campaigning for the wrestling title.

Yours truly,
Stoops Bryant.

And was Meadowbrook's face red yesterday? Boy, that golf course took plenty of punishment, and par was just a word in the dictionary as a fast field of shot-makers pelted the little white pellets far and straight to burn up the layout.

• • •

John D. Munn, the Amarillo high shooler whose residence is Lubbock Country club now, whacked only seven strokes off par to win the joust. Felicitations are extended him for winning the last two journeys in which he has participated. He took the Ruidoso joust, you know, a couple of weeks ago. Manson Allen, who had to set a new course record not so long ago to beat out Munn in the Country Club invitation, was a second placer on his home course yesterday, tied with Allan Ferrell of Slaton for that honor. They trimmed par by five strokes. The Old Man toppled hard yesterday. It took 72 or better to get into the championship flight, and that's sumpin'.

• • •

Congratulations and best wishes are extended Harold Crites, charging fullback of Texas Tech who stampeded over and against Matador opponents last year and the year before to bring football honor and glory to the alma mammy. Professional football has called him, and he'll answer. Maybe the congratulations should go to the Chicago Cardinals, who have sent Crites a contract for a try-out. If Crites takes to the professional game like he takes to the collegiate adaptation, it'll be more than a try-out.

• • •

Pete Cawthon, Tech mentor, was one who recommended Crites to the Cardinals, which means that Coach Pete doesn't harbor any grudge against pro football. It's likely that he agrees with Andy Kerr, Colgate coach in this respect. Kerr told this writer that professional football was improving because it was drawing older men and better athletes—men from high class college ranks. And Kerr holds nothing against it.

• • •

Further to you, Crites, the second Tech man to hear the pro-fessional call. Gene Alford, who starred for Tech in 1926 and 1927, was the first. He played with the Portsmouth club last year.

• • •

By the way, Crites is looking for a lift up Chicago way this week. If you happen to be going over that way and need a driver or an extra passenger to help share expenses, or if you know of anybody in such circumstances, let Harold know about it. He can be found around and about his filling station at 13th and J. He'd like to go late this week, Saturday or Sunday.

Owing to the great advance in labor and woolens, we are expecting a wire any minute telling us to raise our prices on suits 25 to 35 per cent. The makers of our Tailored-To-Order clothes are co-operating with our President to bring back better times for all.
We want to save you money on your new Fall suit or overcoat, so we are making you this offer.
We will order any reputable cotton farmer, who has plowed up his cotton, a new suit or overcoat WITHOUT any down payment whatsoever, and you may pay us when you get your check.
Our prices are still very low and there is no doubt but what they will rise rapidly, so come in today and make your selection from the largest and most complete stock of fine woolens in West Texas.

ARE YOU?

Did you realize that in approximately three more weeks your children will be starting to school again?—now is the time to be planning and making their school clothes—we have just received bany bolts of new cotton prints bought especially for the school season—see them today and start at once on your children's school wardrobe.

BACK TO SCHOOL IN PRINTS

If you want school frocks that will stand the rough treatment that a school dress naturally gets and at the same time be economical enough that you can afford several dresses, we suggest this group of new cotton prints—shown in many new fall shades and patterns and are absolutely fast colors—priced the yard—

EVERFAST GINGHAM PRINTS

39c

NEW FALL PIQUES

Piques will be very good this fall (especially in very dark colors)—and what could be smarter than a school frock of pique—fall colors in navy, dark blue, dark brown, and orange—prices—

AUSTRIA SEEKING TO ADD TO ARMY

PARIS, Aug. 21 (AP)—Austria is understood to be sounding out the governments about a plan to increase her army by 8,000 men to the treaty figure of 30,000.

(Earlier this month Rome dispatches said that Austria had privately asked Italy, Great Britain and France for permission to increase her military strength by shortening the enlistment period. The treaty of St. Germain provides that non-commissioned officers and privates must enlist for not less than twelve years. A shorter term would make it possible for Austria to train more men.)

The present Austrian army is 22,000 but before increasing the number to treaty strength the nation prefers to have the approval of France, Great Britain and Italy.

The additional men, to be used as gendarmes to guard the frontiers against German Nazi activities, would be only temporary.

BOND SUPPORT IS SOUGHT

STATE SENATORS ASK FOR APPROVAL OF RELIEF ISSUE

DALLAS, 21 (AP)—A group of state senators, after a meeting here Saturday, issued a statement advocating support of the $20,000,000 bond issue in the election a week hence.

They suggested that the people vote for the issue because:

"Community chests are wholly inadequate to meet the increasing demands for relief.

"Cities, counties and municipalities find it impossible to provide adequate employment and relief funds.

"State Powerless"

"The state under the existing constitution is powerless to appropriate money to care for the needs of the destitute.

"The federal government through its authorized agencies has stated with emphasis that further relief funds will be withheld from Texas after September unless Texas makes a substantial contribution to partly match federal funds.

The statement was approved by Clint Small of Amarillo, Will Martin of Hillsboro, John Hornsby of Austin, Julian Greer of Elkhart, Grady Woodruff of Decatur, Walter Woodul of Houston, Ben O'Neal, of Wichita Falls, T. J. Holbrook of Galveston, George C. Purl of Dallas, Margie Neal of Carthage, Will Pace of Tyler, Nat Patton of Crockett, Walter Woodward of Coleman, Ernest Fellbaum of San Antonio, John Redditt of Lufkin and Arthur Duggan of Littlefield.

The senators pledged themselves to expenditure of relief funds equitably over the state on well-planned and worthy projects.

BRITISH SEEK TO END FUSS

OVER 600 CHRISTIANS OF ASSYRIA KILLED BY THE KURDS

BAGHDAD, Iraq, Aug. 21. (AP)—The killing of more than 600 Assyrian Christians in conflicts with the Kurds and the Iraq forces in northern Iraq has climaxed an international situation in which Great Britain, as the former mandatory power over Iraq, has been moved to take a hand.

A total of 315 bodies has been found at the village of Simel and 300 more were discovered in different places in the vicinity of Doguk, following Kurdish raids on Assyrian communities.

Asylum Offered

The British government offered an asylum in Cyprus to the Assyrian leader, Mar Shimun, who with his father and brother was deported by the Iraq government. It was charged that he was responsible for a recent Assyrian outbreak which led to the deadly conflicts.

Sir Francis Humphrys, the British envoy, is hurrying back to his post from a holiday in Europe and diplomatic quarters are seeking to straighten out the situation as speedily as possible.

King Feisal had planned to return to Europe to resume the cure in Switzerland, but upon urgent British representations he decided to remain in Baghdad to await the arrival of Sir Francis and, presumably, to learn the outcome of an investigation into charges of massacre against Iraq troops and Kurdish irregulars. The British are strongly asking that such an investigation be held.

Shrouded In Mystery

The situation in northern Iraq in the last few weeks has been shrouded in considerable mystery.

It has been charged that the Kurds massacred hundreds of Assyrians, of whom the Kurds are the traditional enemies. On the other hand, this is strongly denied, the official Iraq contention being that the Assyrians were killed in a battle after a group of them crossed the Tigris a fortnight ago and wiped out a force of Iraq troops.

Dallas Man Gets First Home Loan

DALLAS, Aug. 21 (AP)—To Bert J. Jones of Dallas went the first loan made by the Texas Home Owners' Loan corporation.

It was the forerunner of hundreds of others to be made over Texas under the direction of James Shaw, state manager of the corporation, and F. C. Branson, his assistant. It was estimated that similar loans to harassed home owners might reach the total of $30,000,000.

STRANGE SLEEPING SICKNESS MALADY SPREADS; ELEVEN DIE AT ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 21. (AP)—The monkey has been enlisted in St. Louis' fight against encephalitis, the strange "sleeping sickness" which took its eleventh victim here Saturday.

Assistant City Health Commissioner Paul J. Zenta said monkeys would be innoculated with the virus of the disease in an effort to develop an immunizing serum.

"There is no serum of any kind available now for use in encephalitis cases," Zenta said.

Dr. J. P. Leake, senior surgeon of the United States public health service received telephoned authorization from Surgeon General Hugh S. Cumming in Washington to purchase the monkeys for laboratory use here.

The surgeon general also offered additional help to Dr. Leake, from the Washington staff if the outbreak assumes any greater proportions.

The crest of the disease appeared to subside several days ago, but the death of three Friday, and a negro woman, Mrs. Clara Green, 43, at St. Louis county hospital Saturday, led physicians to believe a new strain of "sleeping sickness" had started.

SLEEPING SICKNESS IS GROWING DISEASE

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

Although known for two or three hundred years, it is only since the World war that this fatal malady has been reported of world-wide occurrence.

Started With Flu

Little of it was known in the United States until after the flu epidemic which swept this country in wartime 1918.

The proper name is epidemic encephalitis. It also is known as encephalitic lethargica, infectious ophthalmoplegia and acute encephalitis and nona.

The cause is a specific virus, which has escaped isolation and identification. The virus is invisible even under microscopes. Its effects are similar somewhat to those of infantile paralysis. Like the paralysis the sleeping sickness virus attacks or has a special affinity for the central nervous system. Paralysis and the sleeping sickness, however, attack different areas.

In one form which produces progressive lethargy and stupor the virus attacks in or about the third pair of cranial nerves. This pair is one of the large nerve channels. It controls the movement of the eyes. The sleepiness which gives the disease its popular name does not, however, come from the fact that these eye nerves are affected. The stupor is induced by general brain involvement.

Vision Distorted

The direct affect of the virus upon the eye motor nerves is distortion of vision. The distortion is the "ophthalmoplegia," which is one of the names of the disease. Dr. Milton J. Rosenow, one of the authorities on sleeping sickness, says that this ophthalmoplegia occurs in about 75 per cent of the cases.

According to Dr. Rosenow, the mortality is high, the "incidence" of the disease low, but this incident is growing slowly. He says that almost no other infection is so irregular and has so many different forms. This is due to the fact that various parts of the brain, of the spinal cord and of the meninges (brain coverings) are involved in the virus attack.

In various epidemics resembling grippe or colds in the past, medical literature occasionally mentions sleeping sickness as an aftermath. There was such a "pandemic" of colds in Europe in 1889 and 1890. Afterward sleeping sickness appeared in northern Italy. It was called nona. This nona spread successively to Hungary, Germany, and France.

Repetition After War

There was a repetition of the nona or sleeping sickness again after the 1918 and 1919 flu outbreaks. Dr. Rosenow states that it was reported in the United States at that time and that since "it has spread to the four corners of the globe"—also that "it is becoming a problem of serious magnitude.

Outside of the apparent indications that it is a virus disease the cause is unknown. It is supposed to be an infection entering the body through the nasopharynx. At first it was considered a disease of late winter months. More recently it has showed the power to arise in midsummer.

IT TAKES HEALTHY NERVES TO FLY EIGHT DAYS AND NIGHTS WITHOUT A STOP

● FRANCES MARSALIS AND LOUISE THADEN set the world's endurance flight record for women when they brought their plane down at Curtiss Field, Long Island, after flying more than 196 hours without a stop through fog, rain, blinding sun, and pitch-black night.

● IN ADDITION to their astounding endurance flight, Miss Marsalis (Left) and Miss Thaden hold many other flying records. Miss Marsalis is the women's champion stunt flyer of the world. It takes healthy nerves to fly...doubly so to fly like these two young women. It is significant that both are enthusiastic Camel smokers.

STEADY SMOKERS TURN TO CAMELS

MISS THADEN says: "Flying is a terrific strain at times. I frankly don't know what I should do without cigarettes. But I've found that different cigarettes have different effects on my nerves. For some years I've smoked Camels. They taste better. They're much milder. And I've noticed that they never upset my nerves."

MISS MARSALIS says: "I started smoking Camels because most of my friends who were flyers seemed to prefer them. I've never changed because I can't afford to take chances with my nervous system."

* * *

Camel's costlier tobaccos do make a difference...in taste, in mildness. They never jangle the nerves. Your taste and your nerves will confirm this. Turn to Camels.

IT IS MORE FUN TO KNOW

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand. You will find Camels rich in flavor and delightfully mild.

A MATCHLESS BLEND

● WHAT A THRILL! And how a good smoke adds to its enjoyment! Light up a cigarette. And for the sake of your nerves, make it a Camel...the milder cigarette that's made from costlier tobaccos.
