Cases Stacking Up On Snyder Negro Resident

Criminal cases began to stack up this week against James Leslie Floyd, 30-year-old Snyder Negro man.

Two of those cases are now out of the way, however, as Floyd begins six months in the county jail. Still pending is one felony case Floyd was sentenced this week in county court, given two county jail sentences of six months each, to run concurrently, when he pleaded guilty to petty theft charges. One count was for theft of hub caps from the car of Carl Ballard, the other for theft of hub caps from a car being transported on a truck through Snyder by Robert Hendrickson of St. Louis.

The case still pending against Floyd is one of felony theft. He was indicted April 5 on the felony after being arrested by the sheriff's department on March 11 on the charge of theft of green stamps valued at more than $50 from the Rex Fields Service Station. He was out on bond when he was arrested by the sheriff's department again on the petty theft charge.

County attorney Wayland Holt and district attorney Renal Rosson have in their records on Floyd's previous convictions one five-year suspended sentence in 1951 in Midland for burglary and one conviction on two counts of burglary in Scurry County in 1953, for which he received a two-year penitentiary sentence.

In the felony case still pending in district court, Floyd could, if found guilty, be sentenced to from two to 10 years in the penitentiary.

Russia Gives Slow Signal

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — A highly placed Western diplomat said today that Soviet leaders are so deeply concerned over President Eisenhower's illness that they have decided to go slow in dealing with the West.

The diplomat said Kremlin leaders told him in Moscow they do not want to make any long-term foreign policy commitments until they learn when and whether Eisenhowr will return to active leadership of the United States.

The Russians, he said, are especially suspicious of Vice President Richard Nixon.

The diplomat, who asked that his name not be used, is visiting Europe on leave from his post in a foreign embassy in the Soviet capital.

"President Eisenhower," he said, "is very highly regarded by such men as Bulganin, Khrushchev and Molotov. In my talks with them since Stalin's death they refer to him as the same sort of friend they had in Franklin D.Roosevelt.

French Premier Backs Present Security Plan

By MAX HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — France declared today that it would firmly oppose any European security system which would mean the dissolution of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the withdrawal of United States forces from Europe.

In a major policy speech, French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay also told the U.N. Assembly his government considers the re-establishment of German unity is "the essential condition for a return to a normal situation in Europe."

"The division of Germany," he said, "constitutes, in the very heart of Europe, a permanent factor of insecurity."

He also declared once more that France recognizes only one legitimate German government—the West German governmnt at Bonn.

"It does not consider it possible," he said, "to place on an equal footing a legal government and de facto authorities."

The French leader firmly ruled out the Soviet proposal for the reestablishment of German unity by stages.

"The Soviet formula cannot, for practical reasons, be put into effect," he said.

He also declared there could be no European security based simply upon an all-European defense pact without solid guarantees, such as those contained in the NATO pact and the Paris agreements which permit West German rearmament.

Pinay expressed particular objections to any security arrangement which might freeze the present division of Germany into a permanent arrangement.

REUNION WITH MISSING BABY—Dr. Sanford Marcus and his wife, Hanna, hug their 11-day-old son, Robert, after the child was returned to them in Stockton, Calif. Police said the baby, missing from a San Francisco hospital for nine days, was surrendered to a priest by a woman identified as Mrs. Betty Benedicto, of Stockton.

Soviet Russia Gets Warning

By A. I. GOLDBERG

NEW YORK (AP)—Two strong warnings by the West to Russia on Berlin and Middle East arms stood out today as the most significant outcome of the Big Three foreign ministers' meetings here.

A caution to stay out of an arms race for Middle East favor and stern notice that Russia's recognition of East Germany does not relieve her of responsibility for the Soviet zone of Germany proved, one authoritative informant said, "that we are not being lulled by words about the spirit of Geneva.

"When one party at Geneva by its acts starts muddling up tensions all over again, in other quarters, then the spirit of Geneva is being violated and we must say something about it," he added.

The U.S., British and French foreign ministers concluded their talks yesterday on the framework for the Big Four foreign ministers' meeting in Geneva beginning Oct. 27. Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov agreed readily to procedural details in private talks and at social meetings with his Western counterparts.

He even promised to tell his government of British and U.S. displeasure over reports that the Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia figure in deals on arms for Egypt—arms the Egyptians said they could not get from the West because of excessive conditions they said the West demanded.

There were later reports that the Russians have offered to supply Saudi Arabia with arms.

But on his side Molotov has served notice that he may ask the Big Four meeting in Geneva to agree to take up other questions besides the ones set for the ministers by President Eisenhower, Premier Bulganin, Prime Minister Eden and Premier Faure at the summit meeting in July.

A hint of that showed last night when the Soviet foreign minister talked with British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan for an hour and 25 minutes in a meeting requested by Molotov, and opened up the question of pushing an election to unify Indochina.

Western sources also fully expect the Russians to demand a seat at the council table for East Germany—which the Russians announced last week would be recognized as a country—when the Big Four meets in Geneva.

That is a balking point for the West. In the official communique issued by the ministers after three sessions, they said that first priority is given unification of Germany by the West.

"West Germany is the only government we recognize in Germany," one authoritative source said. "We will do nothing that will force us into any makeshift recognition of the regime in the East zone. If further Geneva talks depend on any such recognition, the talks end right there."

Although West German Foreign Minister Henrich von Brentano sat in with the Westerners in their short final session, there was no official word forthcoming on what part they will take at Geneva.

Freed Texas Prisoner Weak

HOUSTON (AP)—Dilmus T. Kanady, freed prisoner of the Chinese Reds, is so ill "he can take only a few steps," a member of his family said today.

Kanady is scheduled to arrive in San Francisco tomorrow. He was released by the Reds after being a prisoner for five years.

Kanady was representing a Boston, Mass., cotton firm at the time of his arrest.

"Dilmus will be taken immediately to a hospital when he arrives home," said Mrs. William E. Kanady, a sister-in-law. "We've heard he can take only a few steps by himself. He needs seclusion and rest. He will be placed under the care of a psychiatrist."

A brother and a cousin will meet Kanady in San Francisco. The brother is William E. Kanady of Houston. The cousin is Dr. Aubrey Cox of Wichita Falls.

State To Get Cloudy Skies

By The Associated Press

Another cool front was moving into Texas Thursday while the lower south coast was preparing for some of the effects of Hurricane Janet.

At 6 a.m. CST the mass of cool air from the northwest had reached the Texas-Oklahoma Panhandle and was moving along with fairly good speed. The cool front, lowering temperatures some 10 degrees was to extend by Friday morning along a line running in the vicinity of Lufkin, College Station, Junction and Wink. The Weather Bureau predicted the cool front would become stationary as it moved south.

Although the cool front was expected to bring partly cloudy weather through Friday, no rain was forecast.

In South Texas, small craft warnings were up south of Por O'connor, and tides were rising as Hurricane Janet made her way across Mexico.

The heaviest rainfall the past 24 hours in the state was .20 of an inch at Del Rio. Smaller amounts were reported at Sherman, Van Horn, Cotulla, Salt Flat and Beaumont.

Seven Jurors Picked In San Angelo Trial

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP)—Two more jurors were picked today to bring to seven the number chosen in the car-bomb murder trial of Harry L. Washburn.

The new jurors are Mrs. H. G. Collard, 52, the third housewife selected, and Claude R. Seals, 41, a carpenter.

Eleven veniremen were left for attorneys to try and pick the remaining five jurors needed.

Middle East May Create First Class Crisis For United States

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has the makings of a first-class crisis on its hands in the Middle East, with the danger of a new Arab-Israeli war in the background.

That is the reason Secretary of State Dulles has sent George Allen, his asistant for Middle Eastern affairs, on an urgent mission to Cairo.

Allen has the evident task of trying to persuade Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser not to import such a volume and variety of arms from Communist Czechoslovakia as would upset the delicate power balance between the Arab states and Israel.

Dulles is understood to have sought to impress the dangers of the situation upon Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov in New York. He reportedly argued that a flow of Soviet bloc arms to the Middle East now would violate the spirit of the Geneva Big Four meeting and create new tensions in the world.

Allen was prepared to warn the Egyptian government that if it brought about a radical change in the Middle East power balance the United States would be compelled to review its policies of cooperation with Egypt in the field of economic development—the current U.S. aid program is 43 million dollars—and in policies governing world cotton supplies. The major part of Egypt's foreign income is derived from cotton exports.

At the same time Allen was in position to argue that the United States had offered to sell Egypt arms in small quantities which it was believed here would not create new Middle East tensions and enlarge the dangers of a new war in that area.

Allen left for Cairo, by way of Athens and Beirut, Lebanon, yesterday afternoon. In Athens he was to urge the Greek government to seeking to ease the dispute of the two nations over the island of Cyprus—a source of Middle East troubles unrelated to the Egyptian arms problem.

In Beirut it was understood that he would seek to dissuade Syrian leaders from joining Egypt in an arms race with Israel.

Dulles, returning here from New York shortly after Allen left, minimized the importance of the Allen mission. He called it "more or less routine."

Premier Nasser said Tuesday that his government had made a deal with Czechoslovakia to trade cotton for arms. He said Egypt could not accept the restrictions imposed on arms shipments from the West. The United States had offered limited supplies for cash and for defense use only.

Boiling Killer Hurricane Strikes Coast Of Mexico

Hundreds Are Killed By Damaging Storm

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The Weather Bureau announced that Hurricane Janet, with an estimated death toll of 350 to 400 already, lashed at the Mexican coast today, a little north of Veracruz.

It said winds of 119 miles per hour blew along the coast at daybreak, with the eye of the storm not due for several more hours. The bureau said 16 inches of rain had fallen in 12 hours but that the apparent course of the year's 10th hurricane will carry the center past major populated areas. The region north of Veracruz is sparsely populated.

The U.S. Weather Bureau at Miami reported Janet nearly at a standstill at midmorning, suggesting a possible change in direction.

The U.S. Navy dropped a battery operated radio on Swan Islands, off the Honduran coast, and received reports that the islands suffered no deaths or serious injuries but that almost all buildings had been destroyed. The U.S. Weather Bureau and Civil Aeronautics Authority maintain stations on the islands, which asked for food for 82 persons.

Reports from Belize said British Honduras had come through the storm in good shape but that some fears were felt for northern portions of the country.

The U.S. Weather Bureau at New Orleans said in its midmorning advisory that Janet was centered about 40 miles east of Nautla a tropical seaport of 7,000, 100 miles north of Veracruz. Highest winds were estimated at 125 to 150 miles an hour near the center with hurricane force winds extending 60 miles from the center and gales 200 miles to the north and 100 miles south.

The advisory said the indications were that Janet would break up over the mountains tonight, after moving inland. High tides and torrential rains were forecast, with high tides and rough seas as far away as Port O'Connor, Texas.

Nixon Duties Increase After Illness Of Ike

By WILBUR ENNINGS

WASHINGTON (AP)—It is all work and no play these days for Vice President Nixon.

The sudden illness of President Eisenhower thrust the vice president into a new prominence in the public mind. More and more people want to see him.

He has assumed additional official chores although there has been no formal delegation of new authority.

Nixon is working a tough schedule. For instance, yesterday he left home shortly after 8 a.m. and did not get back until after 10 p.m. He went straight to bed.

His two daughters and wife have seen him only briefly since the President was hit by a heart attack Saturday.

Short days ago, reporters sought only occasional contacts with the vice president. Now, they trail him everywhere and record his every word.

Nixon is polite to them, and usually stops to answer their questions. But at times he shies away.

Last night he attended an informal dinner with Secretary of State Dulles and Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams at Dulles' home. He hurried to his waiting automobile after it was over and once at home swept into the house. Reporters didn't get a chance to ask what had gone on.

Once in the house, the lights went on in an upstairs bedroom for only a few minutes and then everything was dark.

As vice president, Nixon has had a Secret Service man either in his Capitol Hill office or with him at times. Now during the day, four are assigned to him. One rides in the front seat of his chauffeur-driven limousine. The other three travel in a car directly behind his.

At night, two Secret Service men take up duty in a car parked directly across the street from the Nixon home. On the rear seat, beside an agent, is a tommy gun. The agents make frequent checks of the grounds surrounding the home.

Reporters take up an all-night vigil in parked cars. If anything should happen to the President, Nixon would be one of the first to know.

A few days ago Nixon said he would let newsmen use the basement "maid's room" during the night. The maid was going away for four days, he explained. He also said they might use his color television set which he had never had time to watch.

But Wednesday night, the reporters were told the maid was staying on. Apparently, the Secret Service liked it better that way. But Nixon said the room would be available tonight.

Nixon's white brick home, for which he paid around $40,000, is in the Spring Valley area of northeast Washington. However, the house is on the outer edge and the neighborhood is not quite so high-priced, on the average, as that of the "Canyon" area a few blocks away. Nevertheless, it would take a good chunk of cash to buy a home anywhere near the Nixon home.

Neighbors who regularly walk their dogs about 11 o'clock at night are no longer attracted by the presence of the Secret Service, reporters and photographers.

The vice president and Mrs. Nixon took their cocker spaniel, checkers, for a late walk Monday night but since then the dog has been going it alone.

San Antonio Sergeant Is Freed By Jurors

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Sgt. 1.C. Rob Lee Paxton was released from custody today after being found innocent of slaying his 4-year-old stepdaughter, Brenda Kay, by a federal district court jury yesterday.

Paxton left for the Texas mission home to see his Japanese wife, Tsukiko, who is expecting a child in October.

Mrs. Paxton was jointly indicted with her husband in the death of her first daughter, and is scheduled to go on trial at the next term of court. The couple were alleged to have caused the death of Brenda Kay by whipping and beating.

Although Paxton was tried on an indictment charging first degree premeditated murder, which carries the death penalty, Judge Ben H. Rice ruled the prosecution failed to make a case of first or second degree murder and directed the jury to consider only the offenses of voluntary and involuntary manslaughter.

Indonesians Prepare For Voting Today

By LARRY ALLEN

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Protected by steel-helmeted troops and national police from terrorists and extremists, Indonesians began voting today in their first popular national elections.

The big question: Will the anti-American Communists fulfill their promise to win a majority.

Voting is by stages in the 3,000 scattered islands that form the republic of 42,320,000 registered voters. Final results in the contests for 260 seats in Parliament may not be known for six months, but the general trend may emerge in two or three weeks.

A Communist victory would have serious repercussions throughout Southeast Asia.

The voters, a little more than half the country's population of 80 million, are largely illiterate. Confronted with ballots the size of a newspaper page, they entered rough wooden booths to stick nails through the symbols of the parties of their choice.

Under this system, the Communists maneuvered themselves into a specially favorable position. They succeeded under the election law passed two years ago in having their hammer and sickle emblem adopted not only as the Red symbol but also for "all non-party people." This meant thousands of Indonesians who are not organized politically would consider the hammer and sickle their emblem.

D. N. Aidit, fiery 32-year-old Communist leader, boasted his party would win more than half the vote in the big key islands, Java and Sumatra. The Reds, who control the big industrial unions, have waged a thorough election campaign for two years.

But Indonesia is 90 per cent Moslem, and leaders of the principal religious parties insist the people are basically anti-Communist. The leading Moslem parties, Masjumi and United Islam, are confident they will beat the Reds.

One fanatical group, the outlawed Darul Islam, was responsible for the security precautions at the voting booths. Claiming 200,000 members, it wants to overthrow the present government and set up a religious state. It warned the people not to vote.

'GET WELL' MESSAGES DELUGE SUMMER WHITE HOUSE —Wayne Hawks, left, chief of records for the White House, and Carroll Linkins, Western Union representative attached to the White House press corps, look over a portion of a day's batch of "get well" messages sent from all parts of the world to President Eisenhower. The summer White House has been deluged with letters, cables, and telegrams wishing the President a speedy recovery.

Adlai Spends Night At Johnson's Ranch

By DAVE CHEAVENS

STONEWALL, Tex. (AP)—Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson said today President Eisenhower's illness would not bring any change in Democratic policy in Congress.

Johnson said the Democratic leadership would nevertheless try to "hammer out a program" on which next year's Democratic candidate could win.

He talked informally with reporters here while his overnight guests, Adlai Stevenson and Speaker Sam Rayburn, snoozed upstairs in his ranch home on the Pedernales River.

Johnson said he wanted to make it crystal clear Stevenson's visit had no significance in Democratic politics. He said all those whose names have been mentioned as possible candidates for president were "good men," and he was not "going to turn the Senate into a nominating convention."

He said he was not going to make the senators "precinct captains even if I could, which I can't."

Johnson said he hoped whatever the Senate did in its legislative scars on whoever the candidate may be.

Johnson said that he was feeling fine, that his weight was down from 220 to 175, and that he was optimistic that the doctors would permit him to take over the active leadership of the Senate Jan. 1.

Johnson said the Senate would not act on a partisan basis but on the basis of "what is best for the country" and that there would be no change as a result of the President's illness. He expressed great sympathy for Eisenhower and said he could understand his illness very well since they both have suffered similar heart attacks.

The senator looked trim and tanned. He, Stevenson and Rayburn ate breakfast together — Pecos cantaloupe, venison sausage, scrambled eggs and popovers. They made a mid-morning tour of the Johnson Ranch to see his cattle and sheep.

It was assumed the three men had a lot to say about politics during the morning. Stevenson is titular head of the national party, and Rayburn has high hopes of getting the South back into the Democratic column in 1956.

Reds May Pull Out Troops In Korea

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China said today it will pull six Red army divisions out of North Korea next month.

The Chinese divisions usually have about 10,000 men each.

Hopes For Second Term By Ike Rising

By FRANK O'BRIEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Cabinet member was reported today to have told a group of important fund raisers for the Republican party there is no definite reason at this time to think President Eisenhower cannot run for a second term.

They were told, said one who attended, that Eisenhower alone can and will decide whether he will run in 1956.

The Cabinet member was not named.

His report was echoed within hours from a number of top-level administration and GOP quarters, in a sudden lifting of the gloom that settled over the Republican 1956 presidential outlook after Eisenhower was laid low with a heart attack Saturday.

The outburst of optimism that Eisenhower might yet lead the party's ticket in the 1956 presidential race was based on an assessment in high administration quarters here that Eisenhower's heart attack was "the lightest kind that a man can have."

This did not jibe with the medical bulletins from Denver, which at first described the attack as "mild" and later as "moderate—neither mild nor severe." Also, it appeared to ignore the fact that Dr. Paul Dudley White, Boston heart specialist, told reporters that fingers must be kept crossed for the first two weeks after the attack, due to the possibility of complications.

The optimistic outlook did not jibe, either, with reports from Denver, where personal friends said it would be "unthinkable" to subject Eisenhower to the burdens of a 1956 political campaign and another four years in office.

But the widespread nature of the belief—or hope—that Eisenhower may run again was indicated by an Associated Press poll. Of 116 GOP state chairmen and national committee members reached, only 12 said firmly Eisenhower should not run again. Five said he should; the others awaited further developments.

There were perhaps practical political reasons for the optimistic reports here. They could head off any major quarrel over continuing present policies, or keep up the level of campaign contributions, or calm any major business worries, or dampen any party-weakening scramble for the 1956 presidential nomination.

Nevertheless, the optimism seemed genuine, whether or not well founded medically.

A participant at the fund raisers meeting, involving chiefly big New York money names, said the Cabinet member told the meeting:

"The President has not per se been knocked out of the 1956 presidential race by his heart attack. The President has had the lightest kind of this sort of attack that a man can have.

"There is no reason why, with a few changes in his manner of living, he should not go on. There is no reason in the attack why he should not be a candidate next year. He must stop thinking of himself as an iron man, and get more rest.

"Whether he will be a candidate or not will be entirely up to him. He and he alone will decide, and there is plenty of time for that. But there is nothing in what has happened to eliminate him as the 1956 GOP candidate."

Meanwhile, it was learned that at today's National Security Council meeting and tomorrow's Cabinet meeting the Cabinet and chief Cabinet advisers expect to be able to put the administration in order for the duration of the President's absence.

AREA OIL ROUNDUP

Nolan Field Gets Reef Lime Opener

Skelly Oil Co. No. 30 Cox has been completed to open Strawn reef lime production in the West Lake Trammell (Canyon) sand field of West Nolan County.

The strike finaled for a 24-hour flowing potential of 1,545.68 barrels of 40.3-gravity oil through ½-inch choke and perforations from 6,229 to 6,269 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 785-1.

Potential was based on a three-hour gauge of 193.21 barrels of oil.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 85, block 23, T&P survey, eight miles southwest of Sweetwater.

Murray Petroleum Co., San Angelo, No. 2 George Foster Rust, wildcat in Southeast Tom Green County, swabbed oil and water on production tests of the Strawn lime.

The project swabbed 120 barrels of fluid in 24-hours, 50 per cent water and 50 per cent oil at beginning of test. Water decreased toward end of the test.

The fluid was swabbed through perforations at 4,547-4,562 feet after 1,000 gallons of acid and 500 gallons of mud acid. Testing continued.

Site is four miles southwest of Van Court, 660 feet from north and west lines of section 169, district 11, SPRR survey.

D. W. Varel of Dallas will drill his No. 1-D Guitar as a one and stepout from the proven area in the Varel (San Andres) field of West Howard County.

It is eight miles northwest of Big Spring and 330 feet from north and west lines of the southeast quarter of section 15, block A, Bauer & Cockrell survey. The project is contracted to 3,100 feet.

Texas Crude Oil and Fryer & Hanson No. 1 O.M. Smauley, wildcat in Central Fisher County, five miles west of Roby, reported gas and shows of oil on drillstem test of Canyon sand.

Twenty-minute test was taken from 4,995 to 5,012 feet. Recovery was 1,700 feet of gas and 130 feet of oil and gas-cut mud. Flowing pressure was zero, and shut-in pressure in 15 minutes 1,100 pounds.

Drilling continued below 5,085 feet in lime and shale.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 2, block 2, H&TC sruvey.

John W. Murchison and Meredith Mallory, Midland, No. 1 Southland Royalty Co., is to be drilled as a 12,500-foot wildcat in Northeast Yoakum County.

Drillsite is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 84, block D, J. H. Gibson survey, 11 miles northeast of Plains.

Drilling will start at once.

F. Kirk Johnson, Fort Worth, No. 1 W. C. Orson, is to be drilled as a 7,600 - foot wildcat in West Borden County.

Operator staked location 660 feet from south and east lines of section 11, block 33, T-5-N, T&P survey.

One and a half miles northwest of the Cedar Lake field of Northeast Gaines County, Souther Union Gas Co., No. 1 Bingham, was bottomed at 4,943 feet and preparing to set 5½" casing for completion.

Four cores from 4,770 to 4,927 feet revealed showed oil from 4,855 to 4,905 feet and from 4,905 to 4,927 feet.

Location is 60 feet north and west lines of section 12, block H, D&W survey, 16 miles east of Eagraves.

1929 Ghosts Not Scaring Wall Street

By ED MORSE

NEW YORK (AP)—An air of confidence returned to Wall Street today as the ghosts of 1929 scampered back to their closets.

The market rebounded for the second straight session yesterday, recouping another 2½ billion dollars in the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

This meant that more than 40 per cent, or 5½ billion dollars, had been regained of the estimated 13-billion-dollar loss Monday in the frantic sell-off on news of President Eisenhower's illness.

In fact, some stocks had already exceeded or come within fractions of their highs for the year reached before the market skidded on Monday for its worst break since Oct. 28, 1929.

If not for the start of the World Series, observers said, yesterday's market might have continued even further on a strong rally in the afternoon which brought gains up from $1 to $6 a share.

As soon as "Play ball!" was shouted in the Yankee Stadium, activity slowed considerably on Wall Street and this, itself, was a healthy sign of relaxation.

But in the mild trading that followed, prices were shaded to below their best for the day, bringing the range of advances from $1 to $5 a share.

The Asociated Press 60-stock average advanced $2.00 to $175. Trading volume slid to 3,780,000 shares from 5,500,000 the day before and 7,720,000 on Monday. Early yesterday the ticker tape ran late for almost an hour in reporting transactions.

Steels, motors, rails and oils were the pacemakers of the continued recovery but all major divisions of the market were affected. Of the total issues traded, 837 advanced and 215 declined while there were 13 new highs for the year and only 7 new lows.

Officials Of National Guard Visit In Snyder

Two National Guard officials yesterday spend the day and part of last night in Snyder on a routine administrative inspection visit.

The two were Maj. Willis F. McDonald, regular Army advisor for the 2nd Battalion, 112th Armored Cavalry Regiment, and CWO Julius J. Cleveland, administrative assistant for the battalion. Both the men are headquartered at Pecos. They spent the day working with CWO L. B. McCravey, administrative assistant for Co. D, the Snyder unit.

Womack Gives Address Here

Tips on public relations for business firms were cited by S. H. Womack in an address at Wednesday's meeting of the Snyder Kiwanis Club.

Womack, a representative of the University of Texas division of extension, is in Snyder conducting a special course on public relations for personnel of local business firms.

A firm's personnel are responsible to a large degree for its public relations, Womack said. He rated personnel, personal letters and telephone contacts as the top three medias for building good public relations in a local business firm.

Large busines and industrial firms devote considerable time and money to promotion of public relations, Womack said, and smaller, local, firms can profit by their research and activities.

"Industrial concerns have learned that they must become a part of the community when they move into a city or town," Womack said.

Womack was introduced by Dan Martin of the Snyder High School faculty. Bob Crowell was in charge of the program.

Suit Against Gene Fowler Is Dismissed

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A $600,000 damage suit filed against author Gene Fowler last March 30 by the daughter of the late Sadakichi Hartmann, eccentric German-Japanese poet, has been dismissed.

Hartmann was a leading character in the latest of Fowler's books of reminiscences of his old old friends, "Minutes of the Last Meeting."

In filing the suit as administratrix of her father's estate, Mrs. Wisaria Linton charged that Fowler had appropriated material from a manuscript of her father's, entitled "Autobiography." In a statement released yesterday by her lawyers, she stated the book was entirely the original work of Fowler and he had full and exclusive rights to everything contained therein.

Quint Marie Dionne Returns To Convent

QUEBEC (AP)—Marie Dionne, one of the quintuplets, is back at the Roman Catholic convent she left 16 months ago.

Authorities at the convent of the Sisters of the Blessed Sacrament said Marie, now 21, had been permitted to return Sept. 12 as a novice instead of starting again as a postulant. She also resumed her religious name, Sister Marie Rachel.

WOMEN

Altrurian Daughters Have Program On American Music

The Altrurian Daughters Club met Wednesday at the Country Club with Mrs. Charles Cooper as hostess. Twenty-one members attended the meeting, during which Mrs. Ophelia Blackard, president, presided.

The club voted to cooperate with the AAUW by contributing merchandise for sale in the Thrift Store, which the AAUW operates.

As a project in international relations, names of women in foreign countries were distributed to club members for correspondence. Replies from the letters will be read at a future meeting.

Mrs. Blackard and Mrs. Novis Rodgers presented a program titled, "Music To Lighten Our Lives." Mrs. Blackard reviewed the history of music in the United States, beginning with the first Puritan hymns and African slave chants, covering the period of immigrant musicians, gentleman amateurs and finally modern music. She gave details of the evolution of the banjo, which originated in the United States. In the beginning, she said, it was made of a gourd, or box, over which a coonskin was tightly stretched by the slaves who used it.

Concentrations of population, wealth and liesure are three things cited as contributing most to the development of music, particularly group music, in the 20th century.

Mrs. Rodgers presented a discussion of women composers and their contributions in other phases of music. She gave brief personal sketches of such personalities as Rise Stevens and Carrie Jacob Bonds, who composed "The End of A Perfect day."

Following the talks, the program chairman directed a musical game in which members participated. Mrs. P. W. Cloud won the prize presented by the members.

A dessert course was served to the club and two guests, Mrs. Julian Hendren and Mrs. Ross Carrol. The meeting room was decorated with a mass arrangement of of dahlias.

Plainview 4-H Leaders Named

The Plainview 4-H Club met Monday, Sept. 26, in the home of Mrs. T. J. Hillis.

Charlotte Weller called the meeting to order. The members said the 4-H Club motto "Pledging Prayer." Betty Staton called the roll and read the minutes. The minutes stood approved as read.

The 4-H clothing and food leaders were selected. The clothing leaders are Alma Nell Hillis and Barbara Thornburg with Sadie Fern Hillis as a substitute leader. The food leaders are Joyce Rodgers and Ruby Marsh with Patsy Hammit as a substitute.

The members decided to have "pals" and to give their "pal" a birthday present on her birthday.

Games were played and Miss Butts gave a demonstration on Butterscotch cookies.

There were nine members present and three guests. The guests were Gayle Thornburg, Mary Ellen Hillis and Mrs. Butts.

Helps For Homemakers

Send your questions to "Helps for Homemakers," Snyder Daily News, or call 3-5486.

Leafing through the Alpha Cook Book the other day we ran across a recipe by Mrs. J. D. Scott for chutney. Remembering how good chutney is, and that not many people know about it, we thought we'd phone Mrs. Scott and find out where she had gotten her recipe.

It seems she and Mrs. Jack Yeaman (the former Mrs. Lucy Enfield, sister of Mrs. Lila Dodson and daughter of Mrs. R. H. Curnutte) spent some time in California where she picked up a delicious Chicken Curry recipe. Well, one time Mrs. Endfield and Mrs. Scott were having a buffet together and they decided to serve Chicken Curry. But Mrs. Enfield pointed out that the dish would be nothing without chutney to go with it, and chutney could not be bought in Snyder.

At this point most of us would have settled for hamburgers, and would never have discovered how to make chutney, but not these two culinary virtuosos. Mrs. Scott said that by tasting a small jar of commercial chutney, by piecing together some old recipes, and by guess and by gorry, she evolved the following chutney recipe and that "it's really very tasty."

CHUTNEY
12 apples, cored
12 green tomatoes
4 large onions
1 cup raisins
2 large green peppers
1 small bottle each of red and green cherries, or 1 package each of candied cherries.

GRIND ALL THESE TOGETHER
1 quart white vinegar
2 cups sugar
2 tablespoons mustard
2 tablespoons salt
teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cinnamon

Mix all together and heat over medium flame. Seal in sterilized jars. Makes 6 pints.

If you are planning to use the chutney quickly, add walnut meats to the mixture.

Try using chutney with any kind of meat and we think you will agree it is an unusually tasty condiment.

If you would like to have the recipe for Chicken Curry, or any other chutney recipes (we've got 2 Peach Chutney, 1 Peach and Apple Chutney and an English Chutney recipe) let us know.

Chutney would make an unusual and welcome Christmas gift.

4-H Club In Snyder Elects New Officers

Ginger Austin was announced today as newly elected president of the Snyder Elementary 4-H club.

Other new officers, elected at a meeting in the county extension office, were:

Barbara Floyd, vice-president; Lois Sellars, secretary - treasurer; Mary Ann Moffett, reporter; Carolyn Ivison and Goldie Allen, recreation leaders; Barbara Floyd and Mary Ann Moffett, food leaders.

Two new members present were Nelda Pevehouse and Bettie Boren.

Jennie Woodyard, new assistant Junior leader, and Miss Ruby Butts, County Home Demonstration Agent, met with the club.

Snyder FHA Chapter Elects New Officers

The Snyder FHA met yesterday and elected new officers for the year. They are Joan Morgan, president; Cecile Hayes, vice-president; Beth Wyman, secretary; Judy Green, treasurer; Carolyn Murphy, reporter; Judy Duncan, parlimentarian; Clinta Blackard, song leader; Carolyn Smith, historian; and Doris Lewis, social chairman.

The chapter also elected Dickie Hardy as the FHA sweetheart.

The chapter sponsors are Mrs. Vera Periman and Mrs. Joel Hodges.

During the dark ages, cats were roasted alive and dropped from high towers in an effort to do away with the spirits of witchcraft, says the National Geographic Society.

Bridal Shower Honors Miss Jo Ann Henderson

A miscellaneous bridal shower was given at the Union Methodist Church in honor of Jo Ann Henderson, daughter of H. W. Henderson, 1905 Thirty-first Street, bride-elect of Billy Prince, son of M. and Mrs. R. A. Prince, 512 Thirty-third Street.

Mrs. Howard Hogue gave a reading on "What is Man". A poem, "Recipe for Happiness" was given by Mrs. E. M. Powledge. The game was directed by Mrs. Paris McPherson.

The chosen colors were pink and white and were carried out in the centerpiece of flowers, which were pink and white zinnas. White cake and pink punch was served to 50 guests. The cake was served by Mrs. Powledge and the punch was poured by Mrs. Jackson. Double rings tied with pink and white ribbons were used as plate favors.

The hostesses, who were Mrs. Luna Jackson, Mrs. C. L. Jeffery, Mrs. Jack Ramsey, Mrs. Dawson Moreland, Mrs. Jo Ann Everton, Mrs. R. J. Rosson and Mrs. E.M. Powledge, presented the bride-elect, her mother and the groom's mother with corsages of pink and white carnations.

WHAT'S GOING ON

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Harrell of Fayetteville, Ark., visited last week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Taylor, 2807 Avenue X, and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Patton, 2209 Twenty-seventh Street.

Mrs. W. W. Hawthorne of Abilene spent the weekend in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E.M. Powledge, Southwest of city.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Robinson, 128 Milburn, recently spent the weekend in the home of her sister and her family in Seminole. They are Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Brewster.

Mrs. L. R. McCollum, Diana, and Steven Ray, of Kermit recently spent several days in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Reddin, 3018 Thirty-eighth Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Quinlan, Patrick, and Vincent, Lamesa Highway, returned home Monday from their vacation. They visited in the home of his mother, Mrs. Irene Quinlan in Allegany, N.Y. They also visited in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Ogden in MerRouge, La. They were gone about two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Short of Hemet, Cal., are spending the week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Robinson, 128 Milburn.

Lee Carter of Victoria spent Tuesday and Wednesday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Crabb of the Lemons Lease Camp. Mr. Carter and Mrs. Crabb are brother and sister.

Healthier And Wiser

The stock market had been defying the lightning for months. Half-hearted but not very effective methods of cooling ardor had been tried, including a rise in marginal requirements, but nobody paid much mind. Then, like a small boy caught with his hand in the cookie jar, the market turned red in the face and reacted like a spooked horse to President Eisenhower's illness.

Monday, the first business day after the President's heart attack became known, stock market values tumbled from the rarefied air of recent pinnacles to take a beating of $14 billion—the greatest overnight deflation in stocks in any 24 hours in history.

There wasn't the slightest doubt what had spooked the wild horses of the exchange here and in half a dozen major nations of Europe. It was the news that the President was seriously sick, the knowledge that human affairs are transitory, and that we are not out of the woods yet.

The post-Geneva optimism had led to a fresh pyramiding of stock values, in expectations of peace. Now by all the systems of logic we ever heard of the prospect of peace and disarmament should have sent industrial stocks down, not up. But that's not what happened. They continued the dizzy climb. We said stock values; we should have said stock prices, for there is a very distinct difference.

This stock market performance is just the small boy getting his hand out of the cookie jar is quickly as possible. He had stood on tiptoe to reach inside the treasure chest, and now he is in process of getting his whole foot back on the floor.

He probably will be better, in the long run, for this violent reminder that while cookies are nice to eat, especially when ingested on the sly, they are not the bread of life.

Having made this discovery the naughty little boy will re-discover an ancient fact: that bread and meat and potatoes are the staff of life, and one can get along very well on those staples when one has to.

From this flurry the stock market may emerge healthier and wiser.

Sunday School Perforce

If the number of professing but non-church-attending Christians who say they don't go to church because their parents made them go to Sunday School as children were laid end to end today they'd stretch from Genesis to Revelation.

It's a handy alibi, and we must confess without pride that we've used it ourself. But deep down in our heart we know that the reason we do occasionally go to church today, instead of not at all, is because we were required to go to Sunday School as a child.

Someone has handed us a clipping from some publication purportedly written by J. Edgar Hoover of the F.B.I. on this very subject. Though it doesn't seem to us to be couched in the chief G-man's polished literary style, we quote it here nevertheless:

"Shall I make my child go to Sunday School and church? Yes! And with no further discussion about the matter. Startled? Why? How do you answer Junior when he comes to breakfast on Monday morning and announces to you that he is not going to school anymore? You know! Junior goes. How do you answer when Junior comes in very much desmudged and says, 'I'm not going to take a bath.' Junior bathes, doesn't he?"

It was Alexander Pope who said, "'Tis education forms the common mind:

Just as the twig is bent the tree's inclined."

Even so. Character is largely formed in childhood. By precept and example partly, by practice partly. By education in one form or another. And no form of instruction has more effect for good on impresionable minds than religious instruction. It may be reparted from, but it is never forgotten—and one who remembers is apt to find the path again after much stumbling in the dark.

Under our Constitution religious instruction is virtually barred from the public schools, though that need to preclude moral teachings. There are two places a child can get instruction in the religious side of life: in the home and in the church. If he gets it in neither, he has no light to guide his pathway through the dank forests of doubt and indecision, past the pitfalls and the gins.

Water Requirements Of Nation Are Moving Alarmlingly Close To Available Supplies

By ROGER D. GREENE

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's "dust bowl" disaster of the 1930s showed what can happen to a land parched for water.

Today scientists warn that water shortages are becoming a serious problem in many parts of the United States—and will become more acute from year to year.

Why is water getting scarce? Is the weather turning hotter? Is America's once abundant rainfall beginning to dwindle?

Meteorologists say there is little question that winters have been warming up over the last 50 or 60 years, averaging about two degrees in most U. S. cities. Since 1870 the mean annual temperature has risen 4 degrees in Philadelphia and 2½ degrees in Montreal.

That doesn't sound like much of an increase, until you realize that an average annual drop of only 10 degrees would put us into another ice age.

As for rainfall, there are violent regional fluctuations from year to year, but the nationwide average remains almost constant at 30 inches annually—some 4,300 billion gallons a day.

Why, then, isn't there plenty of water as usual?

"Except for recurring droughts, our water supply is pretty stable," says Carl G. Paulsen, chief of the U. S. Geological Survey's Water Resources Division. "But it could well become critical with a further vast expansion of population and industry."

Scientists explain that about 70 per cent of the water that falls on the land as rain returns to the atmosphere by evaporation or evapotranspiration action by vegetation. The other 30 per cent—some 1,300 billion gallons a day—is either "consumed" or flows into rivers en route to the sea.

The 1,300 billion gallons is thus the maximum quantity of water "available" in the United States, unless fresh water can be obtained from other sources than normal rainfall.

At present, the U. S. Geological Survey says nationwide usage totals about 200 billion gallons daily. By 1975, it is expected to rise to 400 billion or roughly one third of the total "available" supply.

That's getting uncomfortably close to the limit, considering the vast and unwieldy problem of distributing the water where it is needed.

So it is that scientists, subsidized by government and private industry, are anxiously searching for new sources of supply. The long-range possibilities include:

1. Artificial rain making.
2. Distilling fresh water from the sea.
3. Pollution abatement (since pollution of the nation's streams and lakes robs us of clean water by making it unfit for use).
4. Increased storage capacity (dams, reservoirs, ponds).
5. Recirculation of water, particularly in factories, so that it is used again and again instead of being replaced by fresh supplies.
6. Tightening up on waste and leakage.

The loss from leakage in municipal water systems, for example, is estimated at 10 to 20 per cent of the total pumpage. Chicago sent leak-hunting squads through its 130-mile maze of underground water supply pipes a few years ago and discovered leaks which were costing the city 10,635,000 gallons a day.

Americans today use more than half again as much water as they did in 1890. Here are some of today's common household water requirements: bathtub or shower, 30 gallons; toilet flush, 4 to 6 gallons; automatic home laundry, 13 to 30 gallons per minute; lawn sprinkle (100 square feet, ¼ inch of water), 16 gallons lawn soak (100 square feet, one inch of water), 64 gallons.

Most Americans in recent years have become familiar with summertime restrictions against lawn sprinkling and car washing. As a further move to save water, the government is now urging farmers to replace open irrigation ditches with evaporation proof pipes.

Industry, the nation's No. 1 water user with an intake of 80 billion gallons a day, is also seeking new ways to cut down its usage.

A steel Mill at Fontana, Calif., found it could produce a ton of steel with only 1,700 gallons of recirculated water compared with the nationwide average of 65,000 gallons per ton.

And Bethlehem Steel's plant at Sparrows Point, Md., conserves fresh water by purchasing 65 million gallons of treated sewage water daily from the city of Baltimore.

About two dozen firms in this country, operating under government contracts, are experimenting with various methods of removing the salt from ocean water to make it drinkable. It's still an expensive process.

Rain hungry farmers in our Western Plains still hope that artificial rain making experiments will bring them water from normally rainless skies.

Dwight Kline, U.S. Weather Bureau expert, says the government still has an "open mind" about rain making.

"We've seen rain fall from treated clouds, but we have also treated 200 clouds and the quantity of moisture that reached the ground was practically nil," Kline said.

"There are so many unknowns that we need more basic research to find out if we are on the right trail at all."

Center Of Power Not Likely To Shift To Vice President

By DON WHITEHEAD

WASHINGTON (AP)—The center of power in the Eisenhower administration remains firmly rooted in the White House today with no foreseeable likelihood that it will be shifted to Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

A White House source says there is "absolutely no reason" for any delegation of presidential powers to the vice president at this time because President Eisenhower is fully capable of making any major decisions necessary.

There has been a good deal of speculation here that Nixon very likely would take over a large part of the burden of the presidency until such time as Eisenhower is able to return to his desk. But this talk is now diminishing.

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty had announced in Denver that the attorney general's office would be asked to prepare an opinion on the legal problems involved and the extent and means by which presidential authority could be delegated temporarily.

The Constitution says the vice president takes over in case of the President's removal, death, resignation, or "inability to discharge the power and duties of office." But it does not spell out the extent of the inability, say who shall determine it, or specifically provide for any temporary delegation.

Atty. Gen. Brownell said on arriving in New York yesterday from Spain that he would repare an opinion on the powers of transfer of authority as soon as possible.

But a short time later in Washington, after staff discussions en route, he said there was "general agreement" no such action was necessary at this time.

The general change of attitude coincided with a rising optimism that Eisenhower is on the road to a quick recovery.

The sequence of events suggested to some political observers, however, that top administration people had quickly closed ranks gainst the idea of giving Nixon extraordinary powers which might enhance his chance to win the GOP presidential nomination in case Eisenhower doesn't run again.

But one White House source disclaimed any such intent, adding: "We've been so shocked by what has happened that we haven't even thought of sorting out the political implications that are involved. There has absolutely been no political discussion around here so far as I know.

"If something further should happen to the President—that would be another matter. The President's death would mean the vice president would take over.

"But as things now stand, the President is recovering. There is no reason to delegate his powers to anyone. Even now he is able to talk for a few minutes each day to visitors. His mental powers are not affected in any way. He still is able to make the decisions that are necessary—and as his recovery progresses, he will be increasingly able to give more time to his duties.

Two Winners Of 'Brightest Boy' Title Differ On Scholarship Value To Career

By The Associated Press

Suppose that upon graduation from high school you won one of the most famed scholarships of all time, were headlined throughout the nation as "the brightest boy in America," and educated accordingly.

Would it have any significant effect on your later career?

Two men, now in their early 40s, had that unique experience. One says it was a significant factor in landing him in his present job as an aeronautical research scientiest. The other, a physics professor, says he believes his career would have been pretty much the same without the scholarship.

Wilber B. Huston and Prof. Arthur O. Williams Jr. were the only winners of a scholarship set up nearly three decades ago by Thomas Alva Edison. Newspapers hailed the winner as the nation's brightest boy. He was selected from candidates quizzed by a board of prominent men.

The scholarships were awarded in 1929 and 1930, then discontinued because of Edison's death.

The first winner, in 1929, was Huston, then 16 and freshly graduated from Lakeside High School in Seattle, Wash. Williams, who had just completed his studies at East Providence (R.I.) High School was chosen in 1930.

Both automatically won an all-expense education at Massachusetts Institute of Technology and received widespread publicity.

Where are they today?

Huston is a civil service scientist, engaged in research for the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics at Langley Air Force Base, Hampton, Va.

Williams is teaching a few courses and specializing in theoretical physics at Brown University in Providence.

Says Williams:

"I think my career would have been pretty much the same even if I hadn't won that scholarship. I don't believe it would have made much difference."

One difference that it did make, however, was that Williams received his undergraduate education at MIT. He later returned to Brown for graduate study, and it was in this period that he decided to devote himself to an academic career. He took his Ph.D. in physics at Brown in 1937.

In the fall of 1937, he joined the faculty of the University of Maine. Five years later he returned to Brown, and now lives quietly in Barrington, R.I., with his wife and a 12-year-old daughter.

Huston joined a small research laboratory run by Theodore Edison, son of the inventor, after his graduation from MIT in 1933.

The background of the Edison scholarship caught up with Huston while he was in the Army during World War II. The ranks of scientists working for the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautic had been depleted by the war, and in 1944 the committee sought to fill the gaps with especially qualified service personnel.

Huston was chosen because of his education under the scholarship. In 1945 he was given an honorable discharge and continued his work under federal civil service.

Today Huston's job is with the maneuver loads branch of NACA, which tests the strength, buffeting ability and air speed measurement of military and civilian planes in the planning stages. He is married and the father of four boys.

Even though 25 years have passed, Williams still winces at the label, "America's Brightest Boy."

"That was a purely publicity label," he says, "and really had nothing to do with the Edison scholarship. I have always known I was not a prodigy. As far as I can see, I'm just a fellow of average career in academic work."

Huston, similarly modest, says only that the past 26 years have been extremely kind to him and "I shall always be greateful to Mr. Edison for the opportunity he afforded me."

Danes Inventors Of Green Thumb And Contented Cow

BY INEZ ROBB

AARHUS, Denmark. — Denmark is delicious, delightful and delovely! For five days I have been motoring through the neat, tidy countryside of Zeeland, Funun and Jutland with the countryside always rolling away in an endless vista of peace, plenty and pastoral loveliness.

"These Danes!" I keep saying admiringly. With 500 islands but scarcely a natural resource to their names, they have within the last 100 years turned their not-too-fertile soil, by dint of ingenuity and hard work, into such rich acreage that this nation is today the pantry of Europe.

If the eggs, bacon, butter, cheese and hams of Denmark have enriched tables around the world they also have enriched the homefolk. For five days I have been riding through a countryside that looks rich as Danish butter, and dotted on all sides by huge brick houses and enormous brick barns, neatly whitewashed and topped by the steepest red-tile roofs I have ever seen. And the whole smothered in flowers!

At this point, I am certain that the Danes invented (1) the green thumb and (2) the contented cow. And over and above that, they also have perfected the stream-and-assembly line pig and the hen with the built-in rubber stamp.

The streamlined pig is the result of the demand for a lean porker that will produce lean bacon for lean Englishmen, who consume a major portion of Danish bacon. In this land, the lean porker (no razorback he!) is a reality. When he is six months old and weighs 130 pounds, he is ready to give his all for Denmark and for England, and he does.

Danish pigs are white, and every time I glimpse one he looks as if he had just been scrubbed and put out in the sun to dry.

As for the Danish egg, it inevitably bears an individual stamp on its snowy shell. If, perish forbid, an Englishman should buy a Danish egg that turns out be addled or elderly, he can return the shell to the English grocer, who returns it to the English wholesaler who sends it to the Danish government, who traces it to the responsible farmer who then goes out and warns this particular hen not to make a second mistake or the family will have pot au feu come Sunday.

The fact that Denmark exported 88,500 tons of eggs and 218,600 tons of bacon last year gives you some idea of Danish production. And this, mind you, in a nation, that is just two thirds the size of West Virginia.

Danish cows butter the bread of much of Europe, and no wonder! These big, red, intelligent beasts have been trained to give practically nothing but cream. And agricultural experts are now working to proluce a cow that will just give butter, thus eliminating one step in the farm-to-market process. If anyone can do it, the Danes can.

"Much from little" might well be the national motto of the Danes, who have a gift for making the most of everything. The higrest point of elevation in Denmark is 600 feet above sea level. Yet, the Danish guide book speaks enthusiastically of the "mountains" of Jutland.

And so rolling and beautiful is the lightly wooded countryside that when I look off into the distance across the lovely landscape, darned if I, an old, Rocky Mountain character, don't see mountains!

These Danes! They can do anything; even make mountains out of mole hills.

There's Not Enough Babies To Go Around

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP) — There just aren't enough babies to go sound for all the pople who want to adopt them.

Some people want the 10 and 12-year-olds. But most couples are asking for babies.

One way agencies are trying but meeting the demands for babies is to arrange for placements at an earlier age, setting three months as the goal for the placement. According to the Children's Bureau, agencies are scruitinizing their practices and their past experience and have called in specialists, psychologists, geneticists and psychiatrists. Gleaning their knowledge, they have learned that the advantages of early placement (under four months) to the child and to the adoptive parents, usually outweigh the risks that are involved. These risks were the ones formerly eliminated by observing the child over a extended period to be sure he didn't develop physical, mental, or health problems.

"Agencis today do not attain the three-month goal placement for all children by any means," Miss Margaret Thornhill, Children's Bureau consultant, tells me. "The fact that the goal is three months instead of six months, as it was few years ago, indicates a tremendous change. This has grown out of a real willingness to study and analyze the best knowledge, and a real willingness to experiment too. It's working out very well."

The older child is harder to place, Miss Thornhill says. Finding a home for these is a matter of stimulating interest in them and then helping couples to see them in the light of adoption.

"Many adoptive couples dream of a blonde, curly-haired, blue-eyed little girl, or a tough little boy. Often it's a fact that these children do not exist. If their real desire is to have a child, they can discard these qualifications, but it takes a lot of skill to help them discard them."

The Negro child who comprises a large percentage of the children available for placement is a different problem. Here you are looking for a Negro home and as a group Negro couples have not asked for children. Agencies are looking for homes that will accept Negro children, but Miss Thornhill points out, it takes a lot of effort, sheer hard work, and a tremendous lot of staff time.

What Happens In Stores Is Most Important To Economy

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Without minimizing the role of the stock market many businessmen hold that what happens in the next few weeks in the nation's stores will be more important to the economy than the daily ups and downs in stock prices.

Merchants have been getting a larger share of the public's money this year than last. They expect this yen to buy will continue into the Christmas season. They look for the biggest Yule trade ever.

How important this buying psychology is can be seen in the repor of the Commerce Department that at the present stage of the economy an advance of only two per cent in consumer buying adds five billion dollars to total demand for goods and services in the United States.

This year the public as a whole has been saving only six cents of each dollar left over after taxes, and spending 94 cents of it. In the first half of 1954 the public was salting away eight cents of each dollar and spending 92 cents of it.

The buying splurge is credited with having bolstered industrial production. This in turn has meant higher employment and incomes. The public's buying mood makes business men boost their inventories and causes industrialists to plan for new plants and to buy new equipment.

Buying dropped off very little during the summer. It revived with cool weather and retail sales in September have been substantially ahead of last year.

Although Americans are saving fewer pennies out of each dollar this year than last, the total of these pennies mounts up in the banks, and the total of savings continues to grow.

As one exampie, the National Assn. of Mutual Savings Banks says its 527 members report deposits rose by 122 million dollars in August and now stand at a new record of 27½ billion.

RADIO-TV REPORT

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Omnibus launches its fourth year on CBS-TV Sunday, Oct. 9, with plans that show just how mature television entertainment can be. First program of the season will concern itself with the renaissance, that era of history that has well been called the birth of modern times.

Robert Saudek, director of the TV-Radio Workshop of the Ford Foundation, which produces Omnibus, recalls that he and his staff have been kicking around the idea for a program on the Renaissance for more than three years.

Omnibus has many other big plans for this year. One is a three-part study of the present state of civilization.

"It will be a World's Fair without walls," says Saudek. "Viewers will go and see the real thing directly instead of replicas of the real thing. We can't undertake this without the scope of three full programs since we plan to view such things as the state of industry, science, entertainment and many other aspects of life."

In television these days, Saudek says, "bigness of concept is important in itself. 'Bigness' means ambitiousness in planning. It has an impact on people. The test we give an idea is whether it is exciting to us. If it is, we've learned that it will be exciting to many others. The difference between Omnibus and most other programs is that its concepts are not handed down from above. Its ideas are actually generated by the staff."

LITERARY GUIDEPOST

THE MOTH AND THE STAR; A Biography of Virginia Woolf. By Aileen Pippett. Little, Brown.

The story of Virginia Woolf, who had a tragic, perhaps a too tragic, understanding of the world in which she lived, bears telling and retelling for numerous reasons:

Because, born in 1882, she was the goddaughter of James Russell Lowell, U.S. ambassador to Britain; because she was the daughter of Leslie Stephen, editor, writer—whose first wife had been Thackeray's daughter; because she lived so close to the center of literary Bloomsbury; because her husband Leonard has been a distinguished man of letters and, with her, co - founder of the Hogarth Press, and her sister Vanessa's husband Clive Bell a distinguished art critic; and above all because of her novels, which had as enthusiastic a following in this country as in England: "Jacob's Room," "Mrs. Dalloway," "To the Lighthouse," "Orlando," "The Waves," plus of course that eloquent and persuasive feminist document, "A Room of One's Own."

Mrs. Woolf is an elusive subject, as she herself appreciated, and it is to this biographer's credit that she realizes how far beyond mortal reach is some of the Woolf mystery; occasional passages, it seems to me, intended as interpretive, nevertheless are pretty remote from the core of the matter. But Mrs. Pippett happily had access to Mrs. Woolf's wonderfully revealing letters to Vita Sackville-West, and if there were nothing else, they alone would make this biography worthwhile.

There are considered estimates of the novels and the shorter pieces. There is no index.

SPORTS

BUCKIN' THE LINE

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

GUESS THE FIRST THING we should do as the new sports editor of the Snyder Daily News is to make a confession.

And when we make this confession, we hope we don't get run out of town.

It all came about the middle of last summer while we were pounding the keys as the sports editor of the Pampa Daily News.

We were asked, as were all other scribes around the Panhandle and West Texas, to predict the outcome of various district and conference races for the 1955 football season, which included District 1-AAA.

Well, as you know, no one is thinking too much about football in the middle of the summer. But these sports magazines, which conduct the football polls, have to start early in order to get off the press by the time football season arrives.

So, in making predictions during July on the coming football season, it is purely guess work (if it isn't, anyway.)

Sweetwater Given Nod

When it came time for us to predict the outcome of District 1-AAA, we had only one thing to go by. Having been born and raised in West Texas, we knew that Sweetwater almost every year comes up with a pretty fair "country" team.

So, Sweetwater was our pick to cop the 1-AAA flag.

We had very little to go on on the rest of the eight teams in this huge district, since, at that time, we were in District 1-AAAA of which the Pampa Harvesters are a member.

It's a pretty good job within itself to keep close tab on your own territory without going outside of your area.

Well, in the final analysis, we were forced to use the "eeny meeny miny mo" system in ranking the other eight teams in 1-AAA and who do you think came out holding the No. 9 card (which, of course, would be the cellar spot.)

Yep, you guessed it. "Snyder."

We remember making one reservation in the column that included our predictions. It reserved that we would be permitted to change our minds before the actual conference races began.

And since that time, we have learned, of course, that the Snyder Tigers aren't bound for the cellar.

We rather imagine, however, that Tiger coach John Conley would just as soon for us to stand pat on our mid-summer predictions.

But we can't hold to that prediction. We understand that the 1-AAA coaches got together at the coaching school in San Antonio last month and picked Snyder to win the pennant despite all Conley could do.

And then Herb Owens of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram followed suit by selecting the Bengals as the favorite.

There's no getting around it, Conley is in the "hot seat."

Favorite Plays Under Handicap

There's an extreme disadvantage of being the district or conference favorite.

Every team likes to knock off the "big dog." And the district favorite, of course, automatically adopts the "big Dog" tag.

So, you see, the Tigers will have to be ready for each game for the remainder of the season since all will be conference contests.

It'll be a big task for the Tigers to live up to their pre-season billing and from all indications, they will.

Just as a brief introduction, yours truly comes to Snyder after 3 years at Pampa which was preceded by 15 years at Abilene, three of which were spent writing sports for the Abilene Reporter-News—my wife is the former Joyce Warren of Abilene and we have three children, Deena, 6; Bruce, 4; and Glenn, 2.

Claassen Picks USC Over Texas

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK (AP)—Everyone says says pitching contributes 80 per cent to the success of a team in baseball's World Series. The winners pitched you in last week's forecast came to .796 with 39 correct guesses and 10 loses.

That brought the season't taosl 86 right, 18 wrong (.759).

Here are this week's picks:

OKLAHOMA OVER PITT: The Sooners didn't exactly sparkle last weekend and Pittsburgh did but Oklahoma is a strong favorite to extend college football's longest current winning streak to 21 games.

ARMY OVER PENN STATE: Lenny Moore is an established backfield star for Penn State and Don Holleder still is a question mark at quarterback for Army but the Cadets get the nod.

IOWA OVER WISCONSIN: The day's upset special. Two well-equipped teams both in the line and in the backfield but Iowa has Calvin Jones in addition.

MARYLAND OVER BAYLOR: The country's No. 1 team will discover that they grow them rough and ready in Texas.

SOUTHERN CAL OVER TEXAS: A Friday night contest. Jon Arnett gambles before the home folk.

COLGATE OVER CORNELL: In the belief that Colgate found itself in that fourth quarter last week when it stormed through for 21 points and a victory over Dartmouth.

GEORGIA TECH OVER SMU: Tech has won the last four meetings and no indication that either team has changed its habits.

NAVY OVER SOUTH CAROLINA: South Carolina, with Mackie Prickett the hero, spilled Army a year ago. Prickett is injured this year and Navy has been fully alerted to the Carolina dangers.

MICHIGAN OVER MICHIGAN STATE: Ron Kramer, Michigan's great end, is riding the glory road.

TCU OVER ARKANSAS: Texas Christian slated to win this one, and also to replace the Porkers as champions of the Southwest Conference.

Texas Tech over Oklahoma A&M, Hardin-Simmons over New Mexico A&M, Rice over Louisiana State, Texas A&M over Houston.

Huskie Lad Top Lineman

By TED MEIER

NEW YORK (AP)—Minnesota was a two-touchdown favorite over underdog Huskies chalked up a Washington last Saturday, but the 20-0 upset sparked by the superb play of veteran end Jim Houston.

For his smashing performance Houston, a 6-1 senior, was named today as Football Lineman of The Week by The Associated Press.

Minnesota was on the Washington 6-yard line early in the game when Houston made the first of his many alert plays that put the Gophers back on their heels for the rest of the game. Minnesota's Don Swanson faded back to pass, but Houston broke through, blocked the attempted aerial, grabbed the ball in the air and ran 54 yards to the Minnesota 34. This set up a 27-yard field goal by Dean Derby.

Before the game was over Houston had scored two touchdowns himself.

Another end, Ron Kramer of Michigan, played a bang-up game against Missouri and was a close runner-up to Houston.

Kramer, a 6-3 junior, caught three touchdown passes and kicked 5-of-5 extra points as Michigan romped to a 42-7 triumph.

Two centers, Bob Pellegrini of Maryland and Steve DeLatorre of Florida, received high praise.

Chuck Yonkers, of Tulsa, also was nominated.

It's Not Moonshine But It's Illegal

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Steaming old barrels to get whisky is illegal, especially if you fail to pay the federal taxes on the liquid obtained.

A federal grand jury returned indictments charging 15 men bought more than 18,000 used whisky barrels, took them to farms in Nelson and Anderson counties and obtained a gallon of whisky from each by steaming.

The conspiracy deprived the government of approximately $188,000 in taxes, the indictment charged.

7 Lettermen In Monterey Starting 11

Seven lettermen off the 1954 Lubbock Westerner team will be in the starting lineup for the Monterey Plainsmen Saturday night against the Snyder Tigers at Jones Stadium in Lubbock.

The game will open the District 1-AAA schedule for both teams.

Monterey, a new school making its first start in football, inherited the seven boys who won letters for the Class 4A Westerners last fall.

The seven Westerner lettermen who are now Plainsmen are ends Milton Daniel and Robert Herrin; tackle Jerry Blair; guard Joe Anthony; center Jimmy Snider; halfbacks Bryan Baxter and Delman Hilton; and fullback Don Cathey.

Cathey is the leading Plainsmen ground gainer.

The Palinsmen, coached by Bill DuBose, a member of the University of Texas coaching staff last year, runs off the straight - T formation, the same formation that is used by the Texas Longhorns.

Snyder will hold a three-pound per man weight advantage over Monterey in the line. The Tiger up-front men average 177 pounds per man to 174 for the Monterey linemen.

The Tigers hold a big weight edge in the backfield the Bengals averaging 171 per man in the secondary to 157 for Monterey.

Both Monterey and Snyder will carry 1-1 season records into Saturday's game. Monterey has defeated El Paso High, 27-7, but has lost to Borger, 13-0.

Snyder dropped a 14-7 decision to Breckenridge in its season opener and then bounced back to trim Weatherford, 39-13.

Both the Tigers and Plainsmen had open dates last week.

U.S. Planes Getting Close To Russians

YUMA, Ariz. (AP) — Sharing a radarscope with a Soviet fighter pilot is a little close, but its old stuff for members of the Alaskan Air Command's hot rocketry team now in Yuma.

Headed by Col. Ronald D. Hubbard of Warren, Ohio, the team carries the Alaskan Air Command's hopes against seven other crack units in the U.S. Air Force worldwide air-to-air rocketry competition scheduled here Oct. 3-7.

"When we are on the job in Alaska," Col. Hubbard said, "Siberia is only 28 miles away. If they go out over the Bering Sea, so do we. And that puts us even closer together."

Intelligence reports put Russian air strength east of the Ural Mountains well in excess of 10,000 aircraft of all kinds and some of them are as close as they can get to the North American continent for what Col. Hubbard termed frequent "spoofing" missions.

These are runs into the Alaskan radar surveillance to see what kind and how quick a reaction results. The purpose is to test the alertness and probe for weaknesses in the defenses.

As director of operations for the Alaskan Air Command 11th Air Division, Col. Hubbard is very conscious of this.

"We always scramble when we pick up Soviet aircraft on our radarscopes," said expert radarman Capt. Patrick F. Donnelly of St. Louis, Mo.

"While we are keeping them in sight, it is easy for both our flight and the Russians to be within an inch of each other on the glass." He did not say exactly how close they would be but even 28 miles is close for a couple of jets.

Col. Hubbard said:

"As we would probably be the first to be tried if this country were ever hit by an air attack, I'd feel a lot better if we took first in this meet."

Boyd Contends For Middleweight Title

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—The Windy City, which hasn't produced a title contender in the ring since the days of Johnny Bratton, may have one in middleweight Bobby Boyd.

Boyd, a lanky 21-year-old Negro managed by Bernard Glicklan, a Chicago awning company executive was in the ring with a hornet at Chicago Stadium last night and handled himself well, all things considered.

His opponent was stubby Gene Fullmer, 23, a ranking middleweight from West Jordan, Utah, by way of Ogden. From opening bell, Fullmer acted like a blacksmith trying to take out his ire on an anvil.

His crowding, flailing style placed Boyd under continuous bombardment. Boyd, with good combinations, shot across sharp rights and wicked lefts that caught Fullmer as he charged, opening a cut under his eye and bloodying his nose.

There was plenty of action for the national television audience and the sparse ringside gathering of 1,573 that contributed to a net gate of 1,896. Boyd, outweighting his vicious - swinging foe 161¼ pounds to 155, gained a well-earned unanimous 10-round decision.

The edge was close on all three official cards. Referee Tony Zale favored Boyd 97-96, Judge Harold Marovitz 97-94 and Judge Lou Capperelli, 96-94.

Bill Stits, Detroit Lions halfback from UCLA, works as a movie extra in Hollywood during the off-season.

The University of Mississippi has blocked at least one punt each game against Vanderbilt since 19-51.

Texas PGA Starts Today

EL PASO (AP)—The Texas PGA Tournament got underway today with Ray Gafford of Fort Worth a hot favorite to cop the major portion of the $5,000 prize money.

Seventeen amateurs were scheduled to tee off with 56 professionals in the 72-hole grind over the El Paso Country Club course.

Gafford and Frad Bedford, Richmond, Tex., pro, won the pro-pro event yesterday with a best-ball 63. Gafford's medal score was 33-33—66.

An unattached professional from Brownwood, Joe Lopez, trailed Gafford with a 67 and Fred Atkins, former Vernon golfer now playing out of Carlsbad, N.M., shared third place among the pros with the Abe Beckman, Midland; and Jack Hardin, El Paso, the defending champion.

Byron Nelson of Roanoke shot a 70 and complained that his game was rusty, but he remained with Gafford and Lopez a strong favorite to win the event.

Dick Forester of the Houston Country Club yesterday was elected president of the Texas Sectional Professional Golfers Assn, Warren Smith, Oak Hills Country Club, San Antonio, was named vice president. Jack Smith, Amarillo Country Club, was elected secretary.

Sectional vice presidents named were Bob Morris, Dallas; George Aulbach, Houston; Todd Menefee, San Antonio; Dode Forrester, Hobbs, N.M.; and Ralph Morgan, Tyler.

Texas Investigator Files $53,000 Suit

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—An irate Texas private investigator filed a suit in district court here yesterday for $52,000.

The detective, James W. Massey, formerly of Paris, Tex., said he contracted last June with the Central Bureau of Investigations at Oklahoma City for its franchise at Waco.

He claimed it wasn't until he had moved to Waco and hired a secretary that he discovered the company isn't authorized to do business in Texas. Massey claimed he had been promised $50,000 in business a year.

Two Men Are Killed In Car-Train Mishap

VELASCO, Tex. (AP)—Two men were killed near here today when their automobile, apparently traveling at high speed, crashed into a Missouri Pacific freight train that had stopped across a farm-to-market road.

The dead were Elewyn Eason, 41, Cleveland, Tex., and the unidentified male driver of Eason's automobile. Both Eason and the other man were believed to be shrimpers.

The accident occurred about 1 a.m. on Farm Road 523 in Brazoria County about a mile from the Velasco city limits.

Tiger Frosh Meets Lamesa Here Tonite

The undefeated Snyder Freshmen will meet the Lamesa freshmen tonight at Tiger Field, starting at 7:30.

Coach J. P. Ward's Frosh have won both of their starts to date, winning over the Sweetwater freshmen in their first game, 23-6, and coming back last week to down Colorado City, 19-0, both on local soil.

Two other Snyder teams are in action today. The seventh and eighth grade teams are in Lamesa today for activity. The eighth graders of the two schools were slated for action in the first game at 2:30 with the seventh graders of the two schools meeting immdiately following.

Rounding out the week's activity among Snyder 11s, the B team takes on Sweetwater here Saturday afternoon at 2:30, and then the Tigers meeting Monterey at Lubbock Saturday night.

The B game with Sweetwater was originally set for Saturday night but was switched to the afternoon to avoid conflict with the Tiger-Monterey game.

In area games, Hermleigh hosts Rochester in a crucial Class B game tomorrow night. In Six-Man, Hobbs goes to Blackwell tonight and Gail hosts Ackerly tomorrow night.

Cattle To Be Shipped To Russia Next Week

HOUSTON (AP)—Sixty three head of Santa Gertrudis cattle, recently purchased for $65,000 by Russia's Amtorg Trading Corp., will leave Port Houston next week.

The State Department and the Federal Maritime Board have authorized shipment from Houston to Odessa. The SS Helen Lykes will take on its cargo here Monday.

A Lykes Bros. Steamship Co. spokesman said he has received assurance from Russia the ship will be free to sail from Odessa 24 hours after discharge of the cargo begins. Port officials here said it will be the first United States commercial cargo ship to call at a Russian port since World War II.

145 Schoolboy 11s Still Undefeated

By The Associated Press

Texas schoolboy football's final big weekend of practice games sees 144 unbeaten teams in action.

At least 29 will fall in a schedule of 266 games, many of which test sectional powers. The big ones match Amarillo with Wichita Falls and Corpus Christi Miller with once-beaten Houston Austin.

Wichita Falls, Miller and Austin are considered leading contenders for the Class AAAA championship. Amarillo can brand itself as one of the top teams by knocking over the powerful Coyotes in a battle at Wichita Falls Friday night.

In eight instances undefeated, untied teams get together over the state. There are 121 unbeaten, untied teams and these games have them scrapping each other:

Class AAAA—Amarillo at Wichita Falls, Houston Austin at Corpus Christi Miller.

Class AA—Wills Point at Terrell, Lampasas at LaVega, Bay City at Angleton, Clarksville at Gladewater.

Class A—White Oak at Canton, Bastrop at Granger.

Class AAA has no games involving unbeaten, untied teams but South Park of Beaumont and Alice reached down to battle undefeated, untied teams of other classes. South Park plays Nederland of Class AA at Beaumont and Alice takes on Freer of AA at Alice.

Livingston, Rusk, Karnes City and Mercedes of Class AA play undefeated, untied teams of A—Woodville, Troup, Three Rivers and Lyford respectively.

As the field moves through the first month of play these teams are undefeated and untied:

Mobile Bears 'Toast Of Town'

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—If you had bet in late June that the docile Mobile Bears would finish the Southern Assn. season in fourth place, everyone would have laughed at you.

But the June misfits are the September toast of Mobile. The Cinderalla Club climaxed a steady march upward by taking a last-day doubleheader to step into the league's fourth place.

Then, as if by inspiration, the entire team turned into sluggers and captured the Southern playoffs and the Dixie Series in a storybook finish.

The Southern crown didn't come too easily. It took seven games to dispose of pennant winning Memphis, and six to eliminate second place Birmingham.

But against Shreveport, La., the Texas League playoff winner, the Bears scored 40 runs in four days to ride over the sports in four straight games.

It was Mobile's first Dixie title in 33 years, and the first time a Southern club had taken the Dixie in four games since 1941 when Nashville breezed by Dallas.

ROBINSON STEALS HOME — Dodgers' third baseman Jackie Robinson slides into home-plate on an eighth inning steal in the opening game of the World Series as Yankee catcher Yogi Berra reaches to tag him.

Dreary Dodgers Out To Keep Hopes Alive

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Dreary indeed was the Brooklyn outlook today as the Dodgers, striving to win their first world championship, again came to grips with their nemesis New York Yankees in the second game of the 1955 World Series.

Downed in yesterday's opener by a left-hander, the kind they've blasted all over the National League during the regular season, the Dodgers faced the same south-paw dose today. Yankee Manager Casey Stengel, encouraged by lefty Whitey Ford's victory despite an admittedly mediocre pitching performance, came right back with Tommy Byrne (16-5).

Manager Walter Alston of the Dodgers was shaken somewhat by the Yankees' savage home run barrage that blasted his ace right-hander Don Newcombe off the hill and powered them to a 6-5 victory. But he decided to entrust Billy Loes (10-4), another right-hander, with the "get even" assignment.

Fair and sunny weather was predicted.

With one game in the bag, the odds went up on the Yankees to make it six straight series victories over the Dodgers. The American League champions are now 9-5 to take all the marbles and 6-5 to take today's game despite the continued absence of Mickey Mantle from the starting lineup.

The ailing center fielder, still unable to run hard on his torn right thigh, reported after a light workout before yesterday's game that he didn't think he'd play at all in the series.

Yesterday's 63,869 cash customers saw a whale of a game.

Five home runs were blasted by both sides, one short of the record for one game. Three of them were hit by the Yankees, two by first baseman Joe Collins and one by left fielder Elston Howard. They drove in all but one of the Yankee runs.

Newcombe, Brooklyn's pride and only 20-game winner, was the victim of all New York's homers and runs and all but one of their nine hits before finally shuffling off the mound in the sixth inning.

Ford was the winner, but he was no ball of fire either. The compact little 18-game winner was tagged for nine of Brooklyn's 10 safeties, including home runs by Carl Furillo and Duke Snider. He also issued four passes but was good enough when he had to be except in the eighth inning when the Dodgers struck back for two runs to cut the Yankees' lead to one run.

The last Brooklyn run was an electrifying steal of home by Jackie Robinson that ignited the only real argument of the afternoon. Yankee catcher Yogi Berra argued Plate Umpire Bill Summer's decision, insisting he had tagged Robinson but the American League umpire stood firm.

The turning point of the game came in the fourth inning. With two on and one out, Yankee Billy Martin made a dazzling stop of Pee Wee Reese's wicked smash to his left and turned it into a double play.

Ford, who now has a 2-1 series in the seventh and eighth but after weathering a storm in the eighth, was removed by Stengel.

Bob Grim sealed the victory with a scoreless ninth.

Feud Brewing Between Cappy And Martin

NEW YORK (AP)—A bitter feud is developing between Brooklyn catcher Roy Campanella and New York second baseman Billy Martin and if they happen to come in contact with each other in today's second World Series game, it wouldn't surprise anyone to see them come up swinging.

It all started when Martin proclaimed a couple of days ago that Campy was gun shy—that is, he fell back on contact plays. Campanella laughed that one off, but when Martin tried to steal home unsuccessfully in the Yanks' opening 6-5 victory yesterday, the Brook catcher really got annoyed.

"Any time that shrimp thinks he's going to run over me, little as he is, I'll break every bone in his body," growled the usually amiable Campy. "Just let him take two steps toward me and I'll take care of him. He's been too smart for too long."

When Martin came out of the dust after being tagged out, he made a threatening gesture toward Campanella, but Roy was on his way to the dugout by then, so it didn't mean anything.

"If it had been a regular-season game instead of a world Series I'd have punched him in the nose," snarled the scrappy Martin. "That was the second time he hit me in the neck with a tag."

Martin was referring to an incident in the '53 series when he ran into Campy, only to be tagged out.

Appraised of Martin's remarks, Campanella grunted:

"I missed tagging him where I wanted to by about three inches. I'd like to have tagged him in the teeth."

Yankee Odds Climb 9-5 In Series

NEW YORK (AP)—It was 9 to 5 today that the New York Yankees would win their 17th World Series after defeating the Brooklyn Dodgers 6-5 in the first game.

The Yanks also were favored at 6 to 5 to win today's game and take a 2-0 lead into Ebbets Field for the third game on Friday.

Rice Five Schedules Games On Coast

HOUSTON (AP) — Rice Institute basketball coach Don Suman announced yesterday that contracts have been signed for games with Oregon State and the University of Oregon. Suman said negotiations are under way to schedule games with UCLA and Southern California.

It will be the first trip to the West Coast for a Rice basketball team.

MARTIN IS NIPPED—Yankees' Billy Martin slides between the legs of Dodgers' shortstop Peewee Reese in a futile attempt to steal second in the opening game of the World Series. Catcher Roy Campanella's shrow was in plenty of time to make the out. Umpire Jim Honochick calls the play.

DP Turned Tide In Opener--Furillo

By TED SMITS

NEW YORK (AP)—What was the decisive factor in the first game of the 1955 World Series: the three Yankee home runs? The pitching of Whitey Ford and the relief work of Bob Grim?

It was none of these, in the opinion of Carl Furillo of the beaten Brooklyn Dodgers. A great many baseball men such as Manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees agreed with him.

"The turning point was that ed in the fourth inning," said Furillo, "It looked as if we had Ford on the run and then boom—"

The score was tied at 3-3 and home runs by Furillo and Duke Snider as well as a booming triple by Jackie Robinson had perhaps unsteadied Ford a bit. Then in the fourth Don immer drew a base on balls. Don Newcombe forced him, but Junior Gilliam worked Ford for another walk and the Yankee dugout began to stir.

Up came the always dangerous Pee Wee Reese. He cracked a sharp grounder deep to Martin, and the peppery Yankee second baseman made a clean stop and a fast throw to Phil Rizzuto. Despite Gilliam's hard slide into second, Rizzuto's peg reached first ahead of Reese.

The Yankees went on to win 6-5 and gain a jump that has proved vital in the series nearly two times out of three. The team that won the opener has won the series 32 times and lost it 19.

To baseball men this sparkling double play at the precise moment it was needed was all important. It overshadowed the five home runs and Jackie Robinson's spectacular steal of home in the eighth.

Little World Series Title To Millers

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Lean Bill Rigney turned over his glossy credentials to the New York Giants today, a Little World Series championship that climaxed one of the finest managerial jobs of the season.

Named to succeed Leo Durocher as the Giant skipper just five days ago, the 37-year-old Californian last night brought Minneapolis its first junior series title in history in a 9-4 victory over Rochester of the International League. The game was the deciding seventh of the series.

Shaw Named Coach For AF Academy 11

DENVER (AP) — A step toward pulling the U.S. Air Force Academy into the ranks of the future football powers was taken with the signing of Lawrence T. (Buck) Shaw as head coach yesterday.

Shaw, a 56-year-old veteran of college and professional coaching, was signed to a five-year contract at an undisclosed sum. It takes effect Jan. 1, 1956.

The academy's football blueprint calls for stepped up varsity competition starting in 1956. It is to culminate in annual games with Army and Navy and the scheduling of major opponents.

8 Cities Bid

BEAUMONT (AP) — Eight cities have been contacted because they showed an interest in obtaining the Beaumont franchise in the Texas League but none has made a definite money offer, Allen Russell, owner of the faltering franchise, said today.

Russell has until Oct. 10, when the Texas League meets, to work out a plan for operating the franchise, either here or elsewhere. It has been considered certain to be moved because of failing attendance that got it in debt.

Russell said he was asking $150,000 for his holdings.

He has visited Austin, Odessa, Lubbock, Amarillo and Corpus Christi, Tex.; Baton Rouge, La., and Wichita, Kans. Russell said he also had considered Miami, Fla., but Texas League directors were not very interested in such a location although he said Miami might underwrite added travel expense.

Russell said that if Beaumont could guarantee an advance ticket sale of $85,000, with $21,250 raised immediately, he believed the Texas League would consent to the franchise remaining here. But there was no indication that such a ticket drive would be attempted.

Russell said he had a working agreement with Milwaukee of the National League to furnish up to 90 per cent of the playing personnel but that Milwaukee was not interested in buying half of the franchise.

Corpus Christi, Baton Rouge and Austin are the three cities considered at the top of the list in moving the franchise, Russell said.

Corpus Christi general manager Bob Hamric has said he will make a concrete offer for the franchise at the Texas League meeting.

Womack, Kelley To Guide Steers

By The Associated Press

The University of Texas Longhorns were in Los Angeles Thursday for their Friday night encounter with Southern California as the other six Southwest Conference members tapered off the week's training for Saturday games.

The Longhorns named Delano Womack and Ed Kelley co-captains for the USC battle after their final workout in Austin. They concentrated on a defense for Southern Cal's single wing ground and air attack.

At College Station, Coach Bear Bryant warned his Texas A&M Cadets they "won't even be in the game" unless they play as well as they did last week when they took the measure of Louisiana State. Houston is bigger and faster than LSU, Bryant told his charges.

Coach Abe Martin started easing off on preparations for the conference opener in Fort Smith, Ark., Saturday with the Arkansas Razorbacks, unlefeated this year and the loop's defending champs.

Martin reported his Texas Christian Horned Frogs in good physical condition for their start against the champions from the Ozarks.

The news from Fayetteville was that the Porkers' stellar Preston Carpenter, halfback who missed the first two games because of a pre-season injury, would be ready to go against TCU, conquerors last week of highly regarded Texas Tech. The Razorbacks practiced indoors Wednesday, the first time in their new fieldhouse.

Jess Neely, veteran coach of Rice's Owls, said two new players probably would be in Rice's starting lineup Saturday against Louisiana State. Jean Barras has replaced injured Co-Captain Eddie Rayburn at right tackle and Don Gillis has replaced Jerry Strickland Harris at center. Gillis, a 225-pounder, moved in after fine defensive play against Alabama.

Baylor's Bears, handicapped by an injury to their No. 1 speedster, worked Wednesday on their alternate threat—passing. Baylor has a date with the nation's No. 1 team Saturday, Jim Tatum's mighty Maryland Terrapins.

The injured player is Del Shofner, who Coach George Sauer says will play Saturday against the Tatum-coached team but definitely will not start.

Another on Baylor's long ailing list is regular left guard Dugan Peace who is suffering from a sinus ailment.

Southern Methodist, still peeved at themselves for last Saturday's loss to Notre Dame, drilled hard for Saturday's game in Atlanta with Georgia Tech. Mostly, the Methodists concentrated on attack.

Michigan State football teams have scored 100 or more points four different times in their gridiron history the last being an even 100 against Ripon in 1931.

Del Ennis has led the Phillies in the runs batted in department eight of the last nine years.

Hopeful Air Grows Over Ike's Illness

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

DENVER (AP)—An atmosphere of growing but still subdued optimism over President Eisenhower's heart condition spread through the Denver White House today.

James C. Hagerty, the President's press secretary, said that Eisenhower has suffered no pain since Tuesday, that he no longer is running a temperature, that his morale is high, appearance good and there is no feeling of depression.

For 13 hours yesterday there was no need of an oxygen tent for the chief executive. At times during the day he listened to soft recorded music.

None of the outstanding heart specialists here or on call across the country is discounting the possibility of a relapse or even another attack. None will say, at this point, that the President is out of danger, "over the hump," or even that he is improving definitely and steadily.

But for five consecutive days, they say, Eisenhower has been reacting normally and "without complications" to a type of heart attack from which the large majority of victims eventually recover.

The words "without complications" are the key, significant phrase. The absence of complications is encouraging to Eisenhower's physicians.

Dr. Paul Dudley White, the Boston heart expert who was flown in Sunday to examine the President, says that complications can come any time in the first two weeks after a heart seizure. That is the period in which an afflicted heart is discarding damaged muscle tissue and forming a scar.

Eisenhower still has nine days to go on that critical two weeks' period. His "moderate" coronary thrombosis—a blood clot in a heart artery—struck in the early morning hours last Saturday.

Some of the bulletins from the presidential bedside at Fitsimons Army Hospital mention satisfactory "progress." Others speak only of a satisfactory "condition." Consistently they include the phrase "without complications."

Hagerty disavowed any significance in the use of "progress" in all of Tuesday's bulletins and the first of four yesterday, then a shift to "condition." He said it merely represented an effort to vary the wording.

He told a news conference last night that "of course" the President's progress still was satisfactory.

In Boston, Dr. White said last night that the latest report on Eisenhower was "good" and the return of the President's blood pressure "toward its usual level" was a "particularly good sign".

Hagerty disclosed that Eisenhower is being held to 1,600 calories of food a day because the doctors are "trying to keep him from putting on too much weight while he is inactive and lying in bed." Lately, Eisenhower has weighed around 175 to 180 pounds—SLIGHTLY above the 172 pounds of his cadet days at West Point.

White, who is kept informed constantly of the President's condition, said that "we want to take a pound or two off." He said the chief executive "has a hearty appetite and we'll have to restrain it."

For the first time since he went to the hospital, Eisenhower rested and napped yesterday outside the oxygen tent. The tent was removed, and taken from the hospital room, at 6:30 a.m. Last night's medical bulletin said at 9:15 p.m.:

"The President spent a comfortable day without complications.

"He returned to the oxygen tent at 7:30 p.m. this evening. The use of the oxygen tent is a routine measure to assure rest for the President for the night."

Mrs. Eisenhower, who has remained at the hospital since Saturday night, saw her husband during the morning, lunched with him at noon, and spent 10 or 15 minutes with him around 7 p.m.

At the President's request, a tape recorder now is beside his bed and he can listen to music or recordings of Western and mystery stories—as well as Shakespeare.

So far aides have made no effort to discuss any official business with him. Yet the feeling is growing here that within another month the chief executive once more may be able to start picking up the reins of government.

Shivers Hits Supreme Court

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Gov. Allan Shivers of Texas says the Supreme Court justices "stepped out of their judicial robes" when they ruled segregation in public schools was unconstitutional.

"When the Supreme Court basing its opinion on sociological studies . . . said how the cities of Houston and Woodville were going to operate their schools it stepped outside the role of judicial interpretation . . . Nine men sitting 2,000 miles away are not going to tell Crossroads, Tex., how they are going to run their schools."

Concerning the small number of school districts in Texas that have desegregated, the governor last night said:

"I will not argue with the right of a particular locality to integrate, although I might doubt their judgment."

Basically, the governor said, the segregation issue is a "political problem" and only one in a long series of attempts to bring about the centralization of government.

In his opening remarks of a 10-minute speech to a meeting of oil well drillers, Shivers took a wry slap at Adlai Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic candidate for president who spoke last night at the University of Texas in Austin.

Without naming Stevenson, Shivers, smiling, noted the reason for his absence from Austin:

"Pressing business and important visitors in Austin caused me not to be there. I'm sure they will have a wonderful time."

Promise Of Fall Brings Hint Of Simmering Bean Pot

Each gust of false fall seems to raise the hopes of all the true southerners down here. Their imaginative noses seem to smell lima beans or black-eyes peas simmering with salt pork and mingling with cornbread baking or frying.

One of the most southern of recipes is Hopping John, a delicacy to black-eyed pea lovers. We've gone modern and are making it with frozen peas.

HOPPING JOHN

1 box (10 ounces) quick-frozen black-eyed peas
2 cups boiling water
¼ cup (about 2 ounces) diced salt pork or bacon
1½-2 cups hot cooked rice

Drop frozen peas into briskly boiling water. Add salt pork or bacon. Cover. Bring quickly to a boil over high heat. When water boils again, reduce heat and cook gently until peas are tender——about 40 to 45 minutes. Just before serving, mix with the hot rice. Makes 4 or 5 servings.

Lima beans are another southern favorite, especially when cooked with side meat or some type of bacon. Most southern cooks claim the secret to good beans is "to cook them three hours after they're done."

BARBECUED LIMA BEANS AND SPARERIBS

2 cups (1 lb.) dried lima beans
6 cups (1 large can) tomato juice
3 teaspoons salt
2 lbs. spareribs
1 teaspoon salt
1 medium-sized onion, chopped
¼ teaspoon black pepper
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon tabasco sauce
½ cup molases

Wash beans; soak overnight in 5 cups tomato juice. Add the 3 teaspoons salt. Cover. Simmer until beans are tender. Pour half the beans into a casserole. Rub the 1 teaspoon salt over spareribs; place over beans. Add onion. Mix remaining ingredients with remaining 1 cup tomato juice; pour over beans. Cover. Bake 1½ hours in moderately slow oven (325 degrees F.). Uncover; bake until brown (20 to 30 minutes). Yield: 10 to 12 servings.

HAM AND CHICKEN CASSEROLE

1½ cups water
⅓ cup dry milk
3 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1 tablespoon Worchestershire sauce
¼ cubed American cheese
2 cups cooked rice (2-3 cup uncooked)
1 cup diced cooked ham
1 cup diced cooked chicken
1½ cups cooked lima beans
1 can (3-oz.) mushrooms, drained
2 tablespoons diced pimiento

Pour water into top of double boiler. Sprinkle milk powder, flour, salt and pepper over surface and add Worchestershire sauce. Beat with rotary beater until smooth. Add cheese. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until slightly thickened. Combine remaining ingredients in a 2-quart casserole. Pour cheese sauce over mixture; stir until just blended. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 30 minutes or until mixture begins to bubble.

CORNED BEEF VEGETABLE CASSEROLE

1 12-ounce can corned beef
2 cups lima beans
2 cups cooked, cut asparagus
4 tablespoons butter
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
½ cup shredded sharp cheese

Cube corned beef. Arrange vegetables and beef in layers in large well-buttered casserole. Melt butter in a saucepan over low heat and blend in flour and salt. Add milk slowly and cook, stirring constantly until sauce is smooth and thickened. Pour cream sauce over all. Blend mashed potatoes and cheese. Top vegetable beef mixture with mashed potatoes, arrange in peaks and swirls. Bake in moderately hot oven, 375 degrees F., for about 25 minutes or until browned. Serves 6.

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 chopped onion
1 pound hamburger
1 can condensed tomato soup
1½ tablespoons brown sugar
2 teaspoons vinegar
¼ cup Sherry wine
3 cups cooked dry limas

Heat butter. Add onion and hamburger. Cook and stir until onions are soft and meat loses red color. Stir in tomato soup, brown sugar, vinegar and Sherry. Heat through and pour over limas in casserole. Top with grated cheese. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 to 45 minutes. Serves 4.

LIMAS IN GREEN PEPPERS

4 large green peppers
2 cups cooked dried large lima beans
½ cup canned tomatoes
½ cup bread crumbs
¼ cup thinly sliced green onion
¾ cup grated American cheese
Salt
Black pepper

Remove stems from green peppers, cut into halves lengthwise and remove seeds. Cook peppers in boiling salted water 5 to 10 minutes. Drain. Combine lima beans, tomatoes and onion, ½ cup grated cheese and ¼ cup bread crumbs. Season to taste with salt and pepper, and heap into pepper halves. Top with the remaining crumbs and cheese. Place close together in shallow baking pan or place each in shallow custard cup or muffin pan. Bake in moderately hot oven 375 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Serve 4.

LIMA BEANS AND SHORT RIBS

1 package frozen lima beans
2 pounds short ribs of beef
1 small onion, sliced
Flour
Salt and Pepper, to taste
1 teaspoon paprika, optional
2 tablespoons fat
1 cup water

Cut ribs into serving pieces. Heat saucepan and add fat. Flour ribs, crown on all sides in hot fat. Season with pepper and paprika. Add onion, brown slightly. Add water, place cover on saucepan. Cook for 25 minutes after proper pressure has been reached. Reduce steam. Add enough boiling water to make about 1 cup of liquid——add frozen lima beans, and follow instructions for building up proper pressure. Cook for 2 minutes. Reduce pressure immediately. Thicken liquid according to taste.

OREGANO LIMAS

1½ cups dry limas
1 10½-ounce can consomme
½ cup tomato juice
1 minced clove garlic
1 finely diced carrot
1 diced onion
1 diced stalk celery
½ teaspoon oregano
¼ pound salt pork

Rinse limas, cover generously with boiling water and boil 2 minutes. Cover and let stand 1 hour. Drain and add undiluted consomme, tomato juice, vegetables, oregano and sliced salt pork. Boil gently until tender, 1 to 1½ hours. Turn into baking dish, arranging salt pork on top. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 1 hour. Makes 5 to 6 servings.

BAKED LIMAS WITH CHEESE

1¼ cups grated cheese
1 cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
teaspoon garlic salt
1 teaspoon paprika
¼ teaspoon garlic salt
1 teaspoon allspice
1 teaspoon Worchestershire sauce
2 tablespoons chopped onion
3 cups cooked dry limas

Melt cheese in milk over hot water. Add seasonings and spices. Worchestershire sauce, chopped onion and cooked lima beans. Pour into six greased ramekin dishes. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes or until top of beans are brown.

LIMA BEAN AND FRANKFURTER CASSEROLE

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 medium onion, chopped
1 garlic clove, halved
3 tablespoons flour
3 tablespoons flour
1 tablespoon curry powder
4 instant chicken bouillon cubes
2 cups water
Dash Tabasco
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon paprika
1 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
4 cups cooked lima beans
1 lb. frankfurters

Melt butter or margarine; add onion and garlic; cook until onion is soft but not brown. Remove garlic. Blend in flour and curry. Crumble bouillon cubes; add with water, tabasco, Worcestershire sauce, paprika and monododium glutamate. Stir over low heat until thickened. Add lima beans. Slice frankfurters. In a 1½ qt. casserole arrange alternate layers of lima bean mixture and sliced frankfurters, ending with lima beans and a ring of frankfurter slices. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees F., about 20 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

TOSSED SALAD

1 head Bibb lettuce
½ head lettuce
½ pound sorrel
¼ head celery-cabbage
½ pound dandelion greens
½ cucumber, sliced
½ cup peas
½ cup carrots
½ cup lima beans
2 tomatoes, cut in wedges

Arrange salad greens and vegetables in salad bowl and serve with French dressing.

MEXICAN LIMA SALAD

1 cup dry limas
Salt
2 tablespoons wine vinegar
2 tablespoons salad oil
Freshly ground black pepper
2 large tomatoes
Salad greens
1 medium-sized avocado
1 teaspoon lemon juice
Dash Tabasco sauce
Grated onion

Rinse limas, add water to cover and soak several hours or over night. Add 1 teaspoon salt and simmer until tender, about 1 to 1½ hours. Drain and add vinegar, oil, salt and pepper to aste. Allow to stand until cold. Slice tomatoes and arrange in salad greens. Top with chilled limas. Cut avocado in half and remove seed and skin. Mash fruit and mix with lemon juice. Season to taste with salt, Tabasco sauce and onion. Heap on limas. Serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

LIMA SUCCOTASH HASH

½ pound hamburger
1 tablespoon bacon drippings.
2 cups fresh or canned cream style corn
2 cups cooked dry limas
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon crumbled dried sweet basil

Brown beef lightly in bacon drippings. Stir in remaining ingredients. Simmer very gently 20 to 30 minutes, stirring often to prevent sticking. Serve hot with crisp salad.

BEEF AND LIM. SOUP

1½ cups dry limas
3½ cups cold water
2 pounds beef brisket or chuck
1 No. 2½ can tomatoes
Celery leaves
Parsley sprigs
2 cups chopped celery
3 chopped onions
2 diced cloves garlic
1 tablespoon salt
Pepper to taste

Soak limas in the water several hours or overnight. Add beef, tomatoes, and celery leaves and parsley tied in a bunch. Cover and boil gently 2 hours. Stir in chopped celery, onion, garlic, salt and pepper. Simmer 1 hour longer or until meat is tender. Slice meat and serve with soup or at a later meal if desired. Serves 6.

GOLDEN LIMA BAKE

2½ cups cooked dry limas
2 eggs
½ cup milk
¼ cup melted butter or margarine
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup chopped parsley
1 cup grated American cheese

Drain limas and turn into shallow baking dish. Beat eggs and stir in milk, butter, salt, parsley and cheese. Pour over limas. Bake in moderate oven 350 degrees F.) 30 to 35 minutes, until set in center. Makes 4 or 5 servings.

LIMAS A LA QUEEN

½ pound Canadian bacon
1 small chopped onion
3 tablespoons chopped green pepper
3 tablespoon butter or margarine
3 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
½ sliced pimiento
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
3 sliced hard cooked eggs
Hot biscuits or toast

Cut bacon into strips and cook with onion and green pepper in butter. Stir in flour and add milk gradually, cooking and stirring until mixture boils and is thickened. Stir in drained limas, pimiento, salt, pepper and eggs, and cook slowly for five to ten minutes. Serve on hot biscuits or toast. Serves 5 to 6.

SPANISH LIMA BEANS

1½ cups dry lima beans
1 small clove garlic
1 chopped onion
1 cup chopped green pepper
¼ cup salad oil
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon chili powder
1 cup canned tomatoes
1 cup ripe olives
1 cup grated American cheese

Cook lima beans in salted water until tender; drain. Cook minced garlic, onion and green pepper in salad oil until lightly browned. Stir in salt, chili powder, tomatoes, beans, olives and ¾ cup cheese. Pour into baking dish and sprinkle top with remaining cheese. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F) about 30 minutes. Serves 6.

SKILLET LIMAS

2 cups dry limas
5 cups water
4 to 6 slices bacon

Boil limas in water 2 minutes. Set aside and let soak 1 hour. Boil gently until very soft and tender, about 1½ to 2 hours. Add about 2 teaspoons salt last ½ hour. Snip bacon with shears or shop into bits. Fry until crisp. Add limas to skillet. Cook and stir over very low heat until delicately browned and somewhat the texture of thick mush, about 15 minutes. Add up to ½ cup cooking liquid at the start of cooking if needed. Serve with hot tomato sauce or catsup if desired. Serves 4.

CREAMY LIMAS

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ teaspoon dry mustard
Dash black pepper
Dash cayenne pepper
Salt to taste
1-3 cup thick sour cream
2 cups drained cooked dry limas
½ cup grated American cheese

Melt butter and blend in seasonings. Stir in cream and limas. Turn into 1 quart baking dish and top with cheese. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F) about 30 minutes.

Papers Used For Jailbreak

CHICKASHA, Okla. (AP)—Making their second successful break in two months, three prisoners escaped from the Grady County jail last night after overpowering jailer Ray Markham with "paper" blackjacks.

A state-wide alert was broadcast for the trio—a woman murder suspect and two male companions.

Sheriff Hack Perrin identified the escapees as Flora Mae Giddings, 25, Marlow woman charged with murdering her son; W. R. Garrett, 29, charged with burglary, and Cornelius Cook, 29, serving a 1-year sentence for disturbing the peace.

Markham said Garrett and Cook attacked him with blackjacks made from rolling magazines tightly and soaking them in water. He said they locked him in a cell, taking his keys.

Perrin entered the courthouse, which houses the jail, as the fugitives started to flee, causing them to dash into the basement. Officers first thought they were trapped in the building but later discovered the trio had escaped through a window.

As the Netherlands East Indies, Indonesia was a Dutch colony for 350 years.

Argentine Politics To Get Shot In Arm

By BRUCE HENDERSON

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—The Argentine provisional government moved today to broaden its support and give a shot in the arm to the nation's slowly reviving democratic political life.

Interior and Justice Minister Eduardo Busso announced a four-party "consultative junta" would be formed to advise Provisional President Eduardo Lonardi and his Cabinet until a new Congress is elected.

Busso said four parties—the radical, Democratic, Socialist and Progressive Democratic — had agreed to serve on the junta. Each was expected to contribute four representatives.

The minister made no mention of ousted dictator Juan Peron's Peronista party or of the Communists. But he added that representatives of labor, business and industry probably would be included on the junta.

In the 10 years after Peron seized power, the dictator's steady war on his opponents all but killed off the opposition parties. In the last 189-member Congress, 12 Radical deputies were the only non-Peronistas.

It appeared that the junta would serve for some months. Lonarli has promised to hold elections as soon as the electoral process can be arranged, but this is expected to take considerable time. The more delayed the election, the more chance the anti-Peron parties will have to reorganize against any Peronista attempt to get back in.

The government's roundup of potential troublemakers continued. Federal police last night arrested Alejandro Leloir, wealthy, 49-year old president of the Peronista party's Supreme Council. Reliable sources said several other Peronista party leaders would be picked up soon.

Peron himself still was a virtual prisoner on a Paraguayan gunboat anchored three miles off Buenos Aires. As yet there was no explanation of the delay in his departure for Asuncion and exile, promised him earlier by Lonardi.

Lonardi issued a promised decree of complete amnesty for all civilians and military men sentenced for political crimes and uprisings against the Peron regime.

Sixteen Persons Hurt By Typhoon In Japan

TOKYO (AP)—A mighty typhoon rolled toward Japan's southern island of Kyushu tonight as the ricerich area battened down in a fearful wait.

Sixteen persons were already reported injured by advance winds with two small vessels sunk and several houses smashed.

The typhoon's heart, with winds up to 125 miles an hour, was expected to hit in the early morning.

Prosecution Promised In Kidnap Case

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Vigorous prosecution was promised today for Barbara Jean Benedicto, blonde wife of a Filipino lodging house keeper, who snatched 2-day-old Robert Marcus from his crib at Mt Zion Hospital here 10 days ago.

Robert was returned in good health to his deliriously happy parents, Dr. and Mrs. Sanford Marcus, in Stockton early yesterday. That was shortly after the 27-year-old Mrs. Benedicto had been spotted with the baby by a sharp-eyed deputy sheriff at the prize fights in Stockton Tuesday night.

While the deputy investigated her story that the infant was hers, Mrs. Benedicto telephoned Dr. Marcus in San Francisco that she would deliver Robert to him in Stockton.

Their heartaches past, Dr. and Mrs. Marcus, parents of two other children, planned to take their baby home today to suburban Daly City.

Mrs. Benedicto said remorse and guard in a psychiatric ward in San Francisco Hospital after collapsing.

Her story of motherly love and an irresistible maternal instinct was denounced yesterday by her own mother, who said Barbara Jean had abandoned her only natural child—a daughter—10 years ago.

Mrs. Benedicto said remose and sympathy for Robert's mother, Mrs. Hanna Marcus, 29, who was desperately ill, prompted the return of the child.

Dist. Atty. Thomas C. Lynch and his chief deputy, Norman Elkington, said they would seek an indictment for kidnaping when the county grand jury meets Monday night and would prosecute vigerously.

The only reason Mrs. Benedicto returned the child, they declared, was because she was convinced that her capture was imminent.

Mrs. Benedicto said she took the child after telling her husband Marcus a series of lies, leading him to believe she had borne a child in a southern California hospital late in August.

She told him the child was ill and she had had to leave it in the South, but he insisted strongly she had to bring home a baby or confess her hoax, she said.

"I had to have a baby. I had to have a baby," she said over and over.

Dr. Marcus said he entertained no antagonistic feeling toward Mrs. Benedicto.

"She is purely an abstraction to me," he said. "I do feel grateful that she took such wonderful care of the baby."

It's A Bloody Shame, That's What It Is

STORRS, Conn. (AP)—The nurse on duty at the University of Connecticut infirmary jumped to her feet when a student walked in, his white shirt splotched with red.

"What's wrong?" she cried.

"I'd like to have this sliver removed," the student said, holding out his hand. He explained the red on his shirt was strawberry syrup. He works in an ice cream shop.

Sweden Alters Liquor Laws

STOCKHOLM (AP)—With a sign of relief, Sweden is giving up its system of liquor rationing. Next week Swedes can buy all the booze they want and can afford.

Sweden has never tried total prohibition. Instead, 36 years ago, Swedes imposed on themselves a complicated system limiting the quantity of liquor they might drink and when.

Time has proved to the government's satisfaction that making it difficult to obtain liquor does not necessarily curb drinking. The authorities therefore decided on a new course of action to fight alcoholism, with emphasis on large-scale temperance propaganda.

With the rationing system, this nation of seven million consumed 11.1 million gallons of liquor at a cost of 200 million dollars in 1954. The country had 60,000 advanced alcoholics.

Under rationing, two thirds of an ounce of hard liquor went with a restaurant meal, which had to be a hot one and cost at least 45 cents. Women got half the men's liquor ration. In package stores, men could buy three quarts a month. Married women got no ration but single women over 30 could buy one quart a month.

The psychology of the system was such that many persons bought their ration regardless of need or financial ability.

Under the new law, package stores sell any amount and restaurant patrons can get a prediner drink.

15 Seaman Missing

ROTTERDAM, Netherlands (AP)—Fifteen seamen were reported missing today after the sinking of the 398-ton German trawler Elbe in the North Sea 80 miles northwest of the Dutch island of Texel. The trawler collided with the 8,066-ton Norwegian tanker Havprins, which radioed she had picked up only two of the Elbe's crewmen. The tanker said she was not damaged.

Denver Police Hold Texas Murder Suspect

DENVER (AP)—Police today held a 32-year-old Texan who was indicted more than a year ago for the murder of his common-law wife in Texas.

Detectives said Raymond Parr was free under bond pending an appeal of a morals charge conviction in Denver when picked up.

Houston, Tex., police said Parr was indicted by a Harris County grand jury July 7, 1954 for the slaying of Mary Scott, 20. She was stabbed to death June 20, 1954, Houston police said, in a house where the two had lived together before they separated.

The intensity of the luminescence that some rocks give off when heated is an indication of their geologic age.

Oil Painting Not For Sale

CHICAGO (AP)—A Chicago interior decorator says he will not sell his newly discovered Da Vinci oil painting of Madonna and child, but adds that "sooner or later I will donate it to an American museum.

"I will keep it and enjoy it awhile," said Hanns R. Teichert of his $450 purchase now valued at more than one million dollars.

Teichert said he had not decided what museum he would give the painting.

Dr. Hans Huth, curator of research at the Chicago Art Institute, has not seen the painting but has expressed doubt that it is really the work of Leonardo da Vinci, famed for his Mona Lisa.

The painting, now kept in a vault, was identified as a Da Vinci by Dr. Maurice H. Goldblatt, director of the art galleries at the University of Notre Dame.

Teichert, who specializes in church and theater interiors, bought the painting in a New York antique shop a year ago for $450.

He said he had a $500,000 offer for the painting before it was attributed to Da Vinci.

"I will never sell it," Teichert said. "I am collector and I am not in the business of selling paintings. I have other paintings that I could sell at a profit, but what would I do with the money?"

Woman Found Innocent In N.M. Robbery Case

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A federal court jury has found 31-year-old Mrs. Sara Mobley Dages innocent of receiving and concealing most of $111,168 taken in a New Mexico bank robbery that her husband helped commit.

The jury deliberated the case of the slender, attractive blonde about 7½ hours before it returned the verdict yesterday.

Mrs. Dages, the last witness, testified she did not know the money had been stolen when her husband turned it over to her.

The robbery was committed in daylight Sept. 14, 1954, at the Bank of New Mexico's Five Points Branch in Albuquerque.

Mrs. Dages' husband, Dennis, 32, and the other holdup man, Henry Rixinger, 27, were among earlier defense witnesses. They were brought here from the federal prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

Police Chief Has Long Duty

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP)—Deputy Police Chief William V. Mc Laughlin, transferred from an eight-hour day job to a 12-hour cruising night shift, is taking the change philosophically.

Mc Laughlin, 60, who has been feuding with Public Safety Director Lawrence Whipple and refused to buy a ticket to a $100-a-plate Democratic dinner, said yesterday:

"I've done everything around here except sweep the floors and I'm prepared to do that."

At police headquarters, he joked with newsmen and said he would "work 12 hours, sleep 6 hours—my God, I'd be able to watch the opening game of today's World Series, and have enough time to eat and get back to work."

In an unpublished order Saturday night, reportedly initiated by Whipple and signed by Acting Police Chief Michael Cusack, Mc Laughlin was ordered to work from 8 p.m. to 8 a.m., in full-dress uniform, and must regularly sign the blotter of the city's six precincts.

Whipple was not available for comment on the matter and Cusack was out of the city attending a convention.

Mc Laughlin was a backer of former Mayor Frank Hague. His new hours go into effect Oct. 1, the day of the $100-a-plate dinner for which he refused to buy a ticket.

Stratford Man Fined For Reckless Flying

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Roy Harris, 35, Stratford, Tex., pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge of reckless flying and was fined $100 and court costs by Common Pleas Judge Carl Traub.

Harris was arrested last July after making an unauthorized landing at Tinker Air Force Base here. Base officers said his small plane barely missed a collision with a B-26 bomber taking off.

He originally was charged with operating an aircraft while under the influence of intoxicating liquor but the charge was modified to reckless flying because of lack of evidence.

SOLDIER ON THE HOOK

Prisoners Reach House Of Death

In this article, the fourth in a series of twelve, Sgt. Lloyd W. Pate tells of the horrors of life in a P. W. camp in North Korea and of his first meeting with Sgt. James C. Gallagher, who was convicted Aug. 19 of the murder of two fellow prisoners and of informing and collaborating with the enemy. Sgt. Pate who organized resistance to Communist brainwashing at the camp, was a leading witness in the court martial of Sgt. Gallagher.

In yesterday's installment, Sgt. Pate told of the grueling 600-mile death march from the 38th Parallel to Camp 5 and the struggle of the prisoners against starvation and freezing.

Here, in his own words, is his story as told to Hearld Tribune writer B. J. Cutler:

By Sgt. Lloyd W. Pate

Camp 5—the Pyoktong P. W. camp we'd been marched to — was on the end of a peninsula jutting into the backwaters of the Yalu River. The men on the march with me took one look at it and right there lost the will to live. It turned out the the Chinks were glad to accommodate them.

It wasn't the buildings that depressed us, it was the prisoners. The buildings were the regular Korean mud huts with thatched roofs and torn paper windows. We had been on a death march for a month and a half, but the men in the camp were in worse shape than we were.

They were much skinnier. Their clothes and shoes were practically gone. Starvation was written all over their faces. People wouldn't believe that men could get like that and still be alive. Some of them were well over six feet tall and they couldn't have weighed a good 100 pounds.

The guards marched us through the camp. As we came to certain buildings, they would drop some men. They put twelve of us in a room and as we were filing in, the Chink in charge pointed to me and said, "You'll be squad leader and monitor." We sat around for a while and then went outside to look the camp over.

We saw a lot of barefooted men. A lot them were running to the latrine without any pants on. Some men were so swollen by beriberi they couldn't get pants on. Filth was all over the place, in the rooms, on the ground, on the porches. Almost every man had dysentery from the filth he had to live with and the disease caused more filth.

On our first day there, they called for a burial detail and we went to the death house. The bodies were stacked up or thrown around the room. Some had clothes on; most didn't. What got us was the expression on their faces. Every one had his mouth open. They were nothing but skin and bones and hearts.

Most of them were just young kids, seventeen, eighteen, nineteen. They had been starved to death. To know that they died so damned unnecessarily put more hate in you than you thought a man could hold. If they had been fed, they would still be alive.

We loaded the bodies on stretchers made of rice sacks wrapped on poles and took them across the Yalu River on their last ride. We got over to Boot Hill, managed to dig graves a few inches deep in the frozen ground an covered them with dirt and snow and loose rocks. We had no crosses, or nameplates or dog tags to mark the graves.

Later when the big thaw came, it washed the snow and dirt off the bodies, exposing them to the elements and the animals that foraged around there. It was the most sickening sight a man could see.

Every morning a Chink or North Korean would throw open our doors and ask in a halfbaked English how many dead. If you didn't have any dead, he'd stand there letting the cold in and curse and raise hell. If you had one dead he wasn't too bad. If you had two, he might even smile at you. If you had three or more, he'd keep saying "Ding Ho, Ding Ho." It means very good. And you'd want to reach up and grab him by the throat and watch his eyeballs pop out.

The second day I was there I saw a guy come by. He was a fairly big guy and I noticed him because he looked to be in pretty damn good health. He was fully dressed in a Chinese padded uniform. We were dirty but this man was three times dirtier than the rest of us. You could just barely tell his hair was strawberry blond under the dirt.

A couple of days later, I was standing with some men at the end of a building. We heard someone enter the room and say, "Move the hell over." A few seconds later we heard the same voice, in a heavy Brooklyn brogue, say, "Odd dammit, when I tell you to move that's what the hell I mean." And we heard blows and moans in the room.

We gathered around a window and looked in. The first thing I saw was this man I noticed before in a Chinese uniform. He picked a man up off the floor, carried him over to a corner where there was a steel peg sticking out from the wall and hung him on the peg.

I don't know whether he hung him by the belt, the pants, the shirt or even by the flesh. All I know is that the man was suspended off the floor. Then the man stepped back and laughed. "There, find damn you," he said. "That'll teach you when I say move, that's what I mean." And then he started messing around in the room.

I turned to this other kid and asked him, "Who in the hell is that?"

"That s. o. b. is Gallagher," he said.

We held a brief conversation about this man. I asked why they permitted such things and if this man was such a barbarian why some one didn't kill him. They said he was too strong for one of the men to take on, that he had killed two sick G.I.'s by throwing them out in the snow, and that almost everybody was afraid of him.

All this time I kept looking at the man hanging on the wall. I could see he was dead. In a few minutes Gallagher came back, put his hand under the man's chin and snapped his head up. He held it there for a few seconds just looking at it. Then he let it fall. The head just lolled around when he dropped it.

Then he took the man down off the wall and carried him toward the door. I lost sight of him but I heard the door slide open and one of the men with me said, "The s. o. b. threw him out."

We went around to the front of the building and turned the man over on his back. That's when I got my first good look at him. He was nothing but a rack of bones. He looked at least forty, but from my experience with these men, I would say he was eighteen or nineteen. He hardly had any beard.

Five of us carried him to the death house. I asked the man if they knew him. They said "No." I went through his pockets and searched his clothes for markings, for some means to identify him. I never found out who he was.

That afternoon they called for another burial detail. When we got to the death house, the kid was still there. Over at Boot Hill I threw snow and dirt on him and said a prayer. It was then I made a vow to this boy and to his God and to myself that if God permitted me to live, to get back home, I would see that the man who had done this would pay for it.

A few days later, there was a big shakeup and I was sent to another company in another part of the camp. I never again saw any of the men who were with me outside of Gallagher's window that day. We were losing up to seventy-five men a day in that camp and they may have died.

Around this time the Chinks started their indoctrination program. Their instructors gave us short lectures about how the American capitalists were getting rich from the Korean War, how we were getting killed and maimed, how we were killing poor civilians who were the peace-loving peoples of the world.

We didn't know what the lectures were all about. We were standing there in the cold and we were too damn miserable to pay any attention.

Then we started getting reading material, newspapers, pamphlets and magazines from China, Russia, Czechoslovakia and the United States. It was too much trouble for them to bring food in for us but they managed to get newspapers from the United States not more than a few weeks old.

It was pretty rough to pick up a newspaper, "The New York Daily Worker" or "The Peoples' World," printed on the west coast, and read how Monica Felton, and Englishwoman, had visited the prison camps and written how well we were being treated.

She wrote that we were living in wonderful buildings, wearing good clothes issued by the Chinese and eating meat, eggs and fish three times a day. We had good medical care, sports facilities and libraries with good books, according to her, while I thought I was living in a mud hut, sleeping on a mud floor and being eaten by lice on the outside and worms on the inside.

It would make us feel actually sick to have fought the Communists, to be captured by them, to watch our friends die from malnutrition, to expect to die ourselves at any moment, and here were people back in the United States, just as bad as Communists, writing junk like that for the American people—stuff that was nothing but a pack of madeup lies.

Copyright, 1955, N.Y. Herald Tribune Inc.

In a fifth article, to appear tomorrow, Sgt. Pate tells how the Chinese Communists first subjected him to brainwashing and how he helped to resist it.
