November 23 Thanksgiving Perryton

Perryton will join with the greater part of the nation in the observance of Thanksgiving on next Thursday, Nov. 23. For the past few years, due to President Roosevelt's advancing Thanksgiving one week earlier than traditional last Thursday in November, there has been much confusion in the cities and states followed by President's proclamation, others observed the last Thursday, but this year it appears that the Nov. 23 will be observed by most of the nation.

W. Woodward, president of the Chamber of Commerce, announced that the board of directors of the organization have gone on record as favoring the Nov. 23 date. Officials concur in this decision. As a result of the joint action of the Chamber of Commerce directors and the city council, business will be closed Thursday in Perryton and the next Thursday in Perryton will be Thanksgiving. None but business houses will be closed.

Independent J. A. Anderson of Perryton Public Schools announced that the schools will close Friday afternoon for a 4-day Thanksgiving holiday, resuming school Monday morning, Nov. 27.

October Bond Quota Exceeded by $15,911

Ochiltree county scores another victory on the home front with a big over subscription on Series E, F and G war bond sales during Oct. The assigned quota was $35,200. Sales were $51,111.25. Ochiltree county people are consistent and regular bond buyers. Most counties spent up and manage to meet the special War Bond Loan drives and then fail to buy their regular monthly quotas. For the three months, August, September and October, Ochiltree county had a combined quota of $105,600. Sales in Ochiltree county for the three months were $210,960.

J. R. Thomas Farm Auction, Nov. 20

J. R. Thomas, who recently sold his farm and is moving into Perryton to devote his entire time to his real estate and insurance business, and the Baldwin combine dealership, is holding a public auction on Monday, Nov. 20. The sale will start at 1:00 p.m. Mr. Thomas' farm is two miles north and one mile west of Perryton.

Mr. Thomas announces that if inclement weather prevents the sale, it will be postponed to Monday, Nov. 27.

Onas Littleton will do the auctioneering and Thomas will clerk his own sale.

The sale consists of about 50 head of cattle, three saddle horses, and a large listing of both farm machinery and furniture.

Library Holds Open House

In observance of National Book Week, November 12-18, the Perryton Public Library will hold open house Saturday afternoon, November 18, from 3 to 5. At this time, members of the Library Board will entertain with a Book Tea. The public is invited to visit the library, located in the Ochiltree building across from the courthouse.

The purpose of the tea is to give everyone an opportunity to inspect and help build up the library by donating a book. Many persons have books that they have read and cast aside, bring these and give them to the library. Give some one else a chance to enjoy your book. Of course, any cash contributions will be acceptable and will be applied on new books for the library.

Members of the Library Board and Mrs. Mays, the librarian, urge every citizen of this county to visit the library.

JUST HERE and THERE

"Bomb Blast" is the name of the service publication at the Childress Army Air Field. Jack Phelps sends us a copy for our collection.

From Sgt. Wilford L. Lance of the Headquarters Squadron of the 26th Bomber Command comes a copy of "Sahib." It's date lined from a Conquest Base Area, but is China, India or Burma. Your guess is as good as ours.

Cpl. Walter G. Nies sends us a copy of "Salvo" from the army camp, Stoneman, at Pittsburg, Calif. Walter is an overseas veteran, making the invasion of North Africa.

W. W. Adams, Sp. (A) 2/c, is at the United States Naval Training Center, Sampson, N. Y. He sends us a copy of their official newspaper, the Sampson News.

Aviation Cadet Billy L. Mays sends us a copy of "The Eagle Screams." It is published at Eagle Field, Calif., where Billy is working toward a commission as an army flyer.

V. R. Coon, former manager of the Goodrich Store, now in the U. S. Navy, is a third class petty officer. Mrs. Coon informs us that he is doing Radar work. He is in the Pacific area.

In these days of high living costs and high wages, there is one group that is working harder than ever, yet they are paid no more than they drew many years ago. We are talking about the United States postmen.

A bill is now pending in Congress which would increase the pay of the men who so constantly perform their duties in the delivery of the mail. It should be made into a law at once. The mailmen are entitled to more pay.

If you appreciate the service that your mailman gives to you and if you feel that he is underpaid, then set right down and write your Congressman and Senators. Their vote on this measure will be guided very much by expressions from voters.

And here's a plug for the Stewart Printing Co. As Christmas approaches, we want to remind you that it's time to think about Christmas greeting cards. Verdict for Pugh in District Court

The jury in the case of the J. H. Scott estate vs. T. O. Pugh returned a verdict in favor of the defendant last week. This case was called in a special term of the 84th District Court with Judge W. R. Ewing, Pampa, judge of the 31st district, presiding.

Judge Ewing substituted for Judge Jack Allen who was disqualified due to the fact that he drew the original papers upon which the suit was based.

Boyer & McConnell, attorneys for the plaintiff, gave notice of appeal and also filed motion for a new trial.

Mr. Pugh was represented by R. T. Correll of this city and Cussens & Hoover of Canadian.

The Ochiltree county quota of $390,000 can be raised without personal solicitations. The people of this area have the money to put over the quota without a noticeable depreciation in the bank deposits of the county. It can be put over on a strictly volunteer basis if every person in the county will do their share. This was the decision made this week by Carl Ellis and Van W. Stewart, co-chairman of the United States Treasury Committee for Ochiltree county. No special 6th War Loan chairman or committee will be appointed.

Mr. Ellis and Mr. Stewart realize that the people of Ochiltree county are financially able to subscribe the full quota assigned to the county and they believe that they are patriotic enough to voluntarily go to their banks and postoffices and buy sufficient bonds to go over the top again. Ochiltree county has never failed on a single phase of the war effort and they will meet this call.

Military and naval authorities recently made the grim statement that it will take at least a year and a half to defeat Japan after Germany is beaten and this will only be accomplished if we put every bit of American strength behind the war effort. The cost of a full size war must be borne until the treacherous, brutal enemy who attacked us at Pearl Harbor is completely knocked out.

The European war is expensive but almost everything in the Pacific war will cost more.

Freight transportation costs alone will be 25 per cent more to the Pacific than to France. In addition it takes twice as many cargo ships in the Pacific to support a task force of a given size due to the tremendous distances.

More equipment of nearly all kinds will also be needed... more B-29 Superfortresses at $600,000 each, more P-47 Thunderbolts that cost $50,000 each, more M-4 tanks with bulldozer blades that cost $75,417 each, more amphibious trucks, more aircraft carriers, more supply ships, more gasoline and oil that it took for the invasion of Europe.

We will need more battalion aid stations, more clearing stations, more convalescent hospitals, more hospital ships.

For many years sick, wounded and otherwise disabled veterans will require medical care and attention as well. That is the least America can do for them in appreciation for what they have done for her.

To the People of this Community

The Victory Volunteer goes by many names in the Sixth War Loan. Sometimes he or she is called a Gallant, sometimes a Blue Star Brigadier or perhaps a Bondadier. Whatever the designation, he or she is performing a practical patriotic service. In this community in the next few weeks you will meet many of them at work, in the banks and in your homes.

Remember one thing, you do not do an extra favor when you buy an extra War Bond. You help your country, your fighting friends and your neighbors. The Victory Volunteer gives great cause. He or she makes it easy for you to do your duty by buying at least one extra $100 War Bond over and above your regular bond purchase.

Our Defenders Speak!

World asks that men and women from this community in the armed forces write letters to this department for publication. Letters to relatives that would be of interest to the public will be published under this heading.

Following two letters are to Raymond from her two sons, and Raymond McCurdy, in

S. S. Cape Mohican, November

and Gus:

Write you a few lines to let you know I am alright and hope you are the same. It was pretty cold out here and last night and today was blowing like a Texas wind. I am lying in bunk writing to you and six of us in this room are fixed pretty nice. Each has a light in it so we can write all night if we want. We have an electric fan. I don't think we will need it for months.

Since I was home we were asking me and I told you we wear them all the time. The gun crew is in 2 sections and we are on a C-1 ship and it will make you know we won't be ground.

I have a letter waiting for me when I got back. I had hoped I never had a letter from you. I had hoped he must have written to me.

Whether there isn't much to write about, so be good to my babies if you can. Don't worry about me, I am back.

Lots of love,
Lloyd

Mother, Gus, and all:

I would drop a line or let you know I am fine. You are the same. There is much to write about. I get Sundays off now and that letter as it gives us a little to write. Have you heard from Jerry? One thing he will get home once in a while, being back. The war will probably be over I get to come home and that isn't too long. As far as I will be over here two some changes are made.

Course it looks to folks there like it is practically over now. But they don't know these Japs. They are not human, they are more like wild animals. I am getting used to this now and it doesn't bother me much anymore. In fact I don't know how I would act in civilian life. Anyway I know what Mrs. Roosevelt meant when she wanted to get a school started for Marines that come back from overseas. We get used to casing, as about every other word is a cuss word I guess.

Has Gus still got his farm or did he sell it? If he had the equipment we have here he could have a real sand pit. Who is running the sand pit now?

Well mother I can't think of any more to write for now. Maybe I can think of more next time. Tell everybody hello and write soon.

With lots of love,
Your son,
Pvt. Raymond L. McCurdy

SACRIFICE BUY WAR BONDS—
(From somewhere in France, Lt. Fred McQuary, former Northwest Division sales manager, Community Public Service Company writes friends an interesting account of his experiences and the country where he is stationed. Lt. McQuary has been in Perryton many times and has many friends here.)

August 12, 1944
I have been farmed out, so to speak on a little detached service detail. I cannot say that I am altogether displeased about it as it meant moving in off the ground, living in a pup tent, and more or less out of one's helmet, as we use those things as a general utilitarian piece of material; shaving, washing, bathing, doing the laundry, and sometimes even cooking is done with them. It—the moving—did mean some disadvantages to one who loves the peace of the countryside as I do.

It meant coming into a congested area where the natives are not exactly hep to the latest in sanitation devices. The war has had no effect one way or the other in this respect. Open sewers run to the side of the streets, it is not a one horse town, or one oxen town either, for that matter, stray dogs are all over the place, and one lives in close communion with the fleas, bed bugs, lice and other species of the smaller animal kingdom.

Last night at supper I sat at a table with a French Colonel, a British Captain, an American Lt. Colonel, two foreign correspondents of U. S. papers—one a gal looking very much like Katy Hepburn—a Red Cross nurse and an army nurse. The town has a certain rustic charm and the war has not done too much damage that it can not be repaired when materials and labor are available. There is really much of the picturesque. Quaint buildings, one horse bays, and carts pushed by pantalooned men and pulled to some extent by a dog or two hitched into a harness under the cart. The civilians are fairly streaming back into the town, making it more crowded than ever.

Here, then, I have the advantage of a roof over my head, a cot to sleep upon, the assurance of three hot meals each day, and once or twice a week a hot bath in one of those long, narrow deep French bath tubs with three degrees of water: cold, tepid, and hot. Wonderful. But I do miss my fellow officers, and the apple orchard where we were bivouacked, even if we did frequently have to roll out of our beds at night and into a fox hole because of an air raid nearby. Here, we sometimes have to go to an air raid shelter, but not so often. And we do not see so much of the big show. We do see and hear an endless stream of vehicles of all sorts and men moving up—more than I ever thought existed. The big parade of the last war was a Boy Scouts' road march compared to this. I have no idea of how long I will be here, but I am rather anxious to rejoin my own organization. The work here is interesting enough, however. Our office acts in a liaison capacity to the Navy in certain operations. That means being inside much of the time and that is exactly what I have been trying to get away from.

We have seen a lot of destruction since coming here. Such a terrible waste, but necessary, I suppose, to blast the Hun out of his four years of entrenchment. One town not far from here is completely a shambles. Hardly anything left of value except for filling material. But right in the center of the plaza stands a bronze statue of Joan of Arc with but a few scratches upon it, the head held high defying any army. Somehow, although it is merely one of those chance things, this was tremendously significant to me.

I have seen planes, both ours and Jerry's knocked out and completely disintegrated in the air, and have wondered at the last terrible moments of the crew. I have smelt death heavy upon the air of recently taken pill boxes and small fortresses. At salvage dumps I have seen helmets with heads, and shoes with feet in them, and blood-stained clothing. I have heard the roar of heavy field artillery hour after hour and knew that out there men were dying and being maimed for life. I have watched the fireworks of anti-aircraft batteries at night like a huge Fourth of July celebration multiplied a thousand times over. And I have seen the wounded and the dead being brought back from the front. Not pretty sights, my friend. I have also seen the faces of these French people when they saw our soldiers in their streets and knew that at last the enemy was driven from their town and was being driven from their beloved France, and I felt that the price was not too high. I fervently pray to God that this is so and that this war too will not have been in vain.

It is hard to believe that only two months ago I was surrounded with all of the safety and convenience of an army camp, and mightily could walk down city streets much the same as they always were and watch the populace enjoying the fruits of the war boom, hardly aware—or so it always seemed to me—of what was going on in the battlefields around the world. This is a far cry from all of that, a very far cry. Since we are not a fighting unit, we have comparative safety, but we are exposed to the danger of air raids and snipers and all of the ingenious little devices of a cunning Jerry to catch the curious or the careless: land mines, booby traps, and such.

France, 11 October 1944
Did you get the last very long letter in which I attempted to describe life in some of the fruit orchards and forests of France? I can now say, since we have long since departed from and are far away from that vicinity, that it was written from Chalons. Anyhow, your letter was enjoyed and appreciated very much, and as with all of my letters, it was read and re-read several times. Letters mean so very much, especially over here. And especially now that the new is wearing off and one French town looks very much like all of the others; quaint and colorful from a distance, but pretty grimy and smelly when you get into their muddy streets where the live stock roam at random, where the natives live right under the same roof with the stock, large manure piles line the front streets and send their smelly secretions into the open sewers, and all of the other old and rusty and acrid odors mix with the odor of cooking cabbage, garlic, onions and other seasonings. I still love the countryside, however. So clean and neat and well cared for, and so much vegetation. Perhaps I am just growing a little tired of this daily tedium and the ever present consciousness of the dire business at hand. But I have a good job, as Army jobs go, and just about the finest group of chaps under me that anyone could ask for. I would fight to the finish for any one of them, all be it I have to chew them out now and then. They come from the Bronx, from Brooklyn, from Jersey, from Michigan, from Idaho, and one from Pinos Altos, New Mexico. Some of my most anxious hours are spent at night waiting for some of these chaps to return from their courier runs bringing in messages and reports. Have they been shot by snipers? Have they met with an accident driving their jeeps with no lights or with dim-out lights? They always return. It seems odd that, with all the modern inventions and developments in radio and telephone, that we still have to depend upon the courier as our most reliable means of transmitting messages and reports. Like the old pony express, they always come through.

You were very fortunate in having another visit to New Mexico, and I am glad for you. I understand Texas has had one of its hottest summers. I spent several moments in reverie motoring up toward Glenwood and on up to Magdalena by way of Reserve, and vividly and pleasantly recalled one return trip from the coast when I came down through Springerville and Datal to Silver City. Punny, it was a Labor Day, too—that is, a very significant Labor Day, too. Early the Sunday morning before as I was driving into the entrance to Grand Canyon National Park the guard was very excited and exclaimed: "Well, the so-and-so's have done it, they marched into Poland, and Britain and France declared war this morning." That was 3 Sept., 1939.

Summer over here has been anything but hot. Most of the real summer was ideal, warm and balmy and nice, cool nights. But autumn comes with the calendar, or a little sooner. We have so very much rain and wade in mud most of the time. The temperature is about 90, but it is the cold penetrating dampness that makes me stack on the clothes, including a wool lined field coat, and still I get chilled to the marrow, especially when I have to go anywhere in the jeep.

Last Sunday was our first decent day in many. Warm and bright, so I sneaked away in the middle of the afternoon and had my driver take me to a shower unit of one of the medical outfits nearby. There I shed several layers of some of France's choicest soil and sprawled in the sun to dry myself and talked all the while with a chaplain who had just been up front. He told me many tales of his experiences, very recent experiences. The front is not far away. The last few days the artillery fire has been tremendous. It chatters the windows of the city hall in the little village where we are now stationed. We finally moved out of the tents and bad weather, and will move into villages with each move during the winter. Clothing is very slow in coming through and there is a real shortage of warm, winter clothing, blankets, overshoes, bed rolls and such, and many of the men actually do not have sufficient clothing to keep them warm.

Three sad things happened today in our little village. One old lady received the news that her son had died in a German concentration camp. A little girl died with infantile paralysis after five years of suffering. We were awakened at down by the church bells tolling and announcing this news. The little girl was also buried today. The procession moved through the streets, with young women pallbearers carrying the small, white linen draped casket, the altar boys and priest at the head of the procession and all of the women—no men—following, and on in to the church. After the mass was said, the procession moved into the churchyard to the rear, and there the body was buried beside several generations of her family. One of our sergeants attended the service as a tribute of respect, and the villagers were touched. The last event was the death of our mascot, a little black and white terrier called Nellie. Nellie's feet had touched only the soil of France. Born on an LST our men carried her from the LST when she was no larger than a moment, and when we landed on the beaches of Normandy. The town has no newspaper and but one telephone. All such happenings are announced with the other news by a little, portly man who struts to the village square, beats a roll upon a small drum, throws out his chest and reads the news and any proclamations.

You perhaps know that I have been in and out of Paris a few times

SPEND, SUCKER, SPEND!

Ralph De Castro in Waterville, (N. Y.) Times

The last war . . . remember?
Silk shirts . . .
Pink ones, green ones, blue ones with white stripes—millions of them.
And silk stockings for the women—on legs that had never felt anything but cotton before.
Wrist watches . . . rings . . . bracelets . . . hand-tailored suits . . . ten dollar felt hats . . . better, larger, swifter apartments.
Then it happened.
1918 and the Armistice. The war began petered out. In factory after factory the wheels turned slower—slower—then stopped.
The cuffs on the silk shirts were frayed and the colors were faded . . . and the silk stockings were gone, and the rings and watches were in pawn shops . . . and people moved back where they'd come from. But . . .
"Don't let it get you down, Bud! You can't hold this country back. God's country! Don't sell America short—why with our natural resources—and the way we work . . ."
So we started on the second lap, on the same circular track.
1923-1929 Prosperity. Nothing ever like it before in the world.
Stocks—up 30 points in a week—thousands, millions—billions of dollars of profits—on paper.
Bookleggers . . . parties . . . automobiles . . . more silk shirts . . . new suits . . . radios, refrigerators, real estate, furniture, diamond rings, boats, shoes, hats . . .
Then—1929 and Crash again!
"Sorry, Mr. Jones . . . more margin, or we'll have to sell you out . . ."
Dear Mr. Jones . . . unless you send us a check to cover two unpaid installments on your furniture . . .
Dear Sir . . . In the hands of our attorneys, unless . . . mortgages unpaid . . . worry . . . worry, Jones, better look around for a new job . . . no help wanted . . .
Remember?
Broad lines . . . the Bonus Army . . . ex-soldiers selling apples on street corners . . . "brother, can you spare a dime?" . . . stocks going down—down—down . . . business failures . . . suicides . . . Relief . . . NPA . . . WPA . . . CCC . . . and no jobs yet, and shoes run down at the heels. And the kids—undernourished—crying a lot—and "the last generation . . ."

How come? How did we get that way—again? Why did it happen here, when it couldn't happen here?
Well, let's look back—let's see how it did happen.
Bonds weren't good enough for us. Savings banks weren't as safe as "brokers' offices."
We were trying to compress our lives—to squeeze the juice of three score years and ten into a decade. We wanted for next to nothing the things our fathers had worked and sweated and saved for.
My wife's clothes had to be better, smarter—more expensive than your wife's—and her jewelry, too.
You spend a thousand dollars for your car? So what? I'm spending thirteen hundred for mine. (On time.)
And say—look at my new radio! Twenty two tubes, three loud speakers, record changer, home recorder and three short-wave bands!
The old one? Oh, I traded it in when I bought the new one—and the new refrigerator, and the dining-room furniture—sleek, eh?— "modern," they call it.
How much? What's the difference?—Twenty-four payments of eighty dollars instead of sixty-five! I'll never miss it . . .
Hold on a minute, brother . . . Did we "miss it" when some fifteen million men walked the streets—camped out—lived in huts and shacks and lean-tos? Did we "miss it" while brave women scrubbed and scoured and patched and mended until their finger tips were raw, their hands rough—and their hearts dull with the pain of abandoned hopes?
Hold on a once more . . .
This time chances are we won't bounce back again! Many people now realize that a close shave it was the last time . . . how desperately near we were to chaos and national ruin.
MUST we come down with another crash? MUST we ignore, not one, nor two, nor three—but the dozens of lessons taught us by history?

In the Groove

Things happen fast, once a flyer gets in the groove: Comdr. David McCampbell, top, of Los Angeles is the gent who shot down nine Jap fighters in an hour and 35 minutes in Philippine fighting, turning his tail to Lt. Sheldon K. Anderson, lover, of Kenosha, Wis., got five German planes in five minutes while escorting bombers to Vienna—his first kill!

MUST we head straight along the road-to-ruin we took the last time? It's what's beginning to happen, right here—now—in our country.
People are making more money than they ever did before and spending it. Spending it faster than they ever did before.
The old "short-life-but-a-merry-one" story is back with us. But how merry is it?

Where's the money coming from—"prosperity"? No . . . war. From the Business of Death we've been forced into. From things made to kill people. From things made to kill other people so they won't kill us.
Win, lose or draw, the war will end some day. No war has lasted forever.
Then what?

Those same war-factory wheels will again slow down and stop. Men will walk out of factories, and hear the gates grind closed behind them—many of them to stay closed.
And maybe the green grass will grow between the stones of the factory courtyards before the men will come back to work again . . . slowly a few at a time.
The same as the last time? And the time before that?
Well, it shouldn't be, but it will be even worse—unless we use our common sense now!

There's no special Providence watching over this country, in spite of all our songs and slogans.
We're people—just like any other people.
Luckier, yes. Our land is fairer—endowed with more riches than other lands. And we've worked hard—or used in anyway. Nobody knows how much is left of American spirit and guts—yet. We think it's greater than before. The Japs and the Germans will find that out.

But listen, Mister . . .
Don't fool yourself! The time's going to come when you'll need those dollars you're throwing around now.
If hard times catch up with you, it isn't that night-club proprietor who's going to return the money you spent in his place—no, not any part of it!
And all the unnecessary gimmicks and gadgets you think you need now won't be worth a dime on the dollar then.
And when your pockets are empty it won't be because you'll be taking money out of them—but because no money will be going into them.
How about those bright kids of yours? Will they have to work instead of going to high school or college?
And those beautiful rings you bought your wife? Supposing you lose your job . . . how long can you last before pawing those baubles for a fraction of what they cost you?
So look . . .
When you want to spend money or buy something new, just imagine you're spending your next-to-last dollar.
Don't ask how happy you'd be with what you get for your money—but whether you'd be miserable without it.
That's the only test. Otherwise you're just kidding yourself. Lighting matches to ten dollar bills you're going to need—sure some day.
What? Oh, you're making more money? Then save more—don't spend more!

Because the money we all save now will play a tremendous part in the after-war economy of our country. The money we save now will be a cushion of buying power—those sorely-needed dollars to "start things up again" in our civilian economy to keep us from national bankruptcy until the wheels start moving again. The dollars you waste now may be the dollars you'll need then—yes, perhaps even for such matter-of-fact things as bread and milk and meat.
Why do you suppose your government urges you to save it? It's perfectly simple—to ward off disaster. To make sure that the crash that "couldn't happen here" doesn't happen again. So that possible (if not probable) after-war depression does not find you at the tail end of a bread line fifteen-million-people-long. So that war we win by fighting won't be lost by waste.
Remember, we're at war! Dollars are needed just as much as men—to give your boy, your brother, or your pal the stuff he needs to beat the Axis, and come back alive.
Money wasted on foolish luxuries won't do this. Once spent, it's gone and neither you nor the boys fighting for you are any better off for the spending.
But the dollars you save in War Bonds, in your savings account, or by buying life insurance, will help Uncle Sam buy the guns, the tanks, the ships and the planes we must have to survive and win.
And those savings will guarantee your future—the financial future of you, your family, and the boys who are fighting for us all.
Nobody can tell you what's going to happen after the war or its serious effect on the nation.
But somebody can tell you what will happen to you . . . You can. Make a plan and stick to it. Guarantee your own future. So many dollars every payday into War Bonds, into your savings account, and for life insurance. Then come hell or high water, follow your plan. Protect your family. Build up reserves. Create a stock of money and make it grow. Your money. Your Bonds. Your protection.
And the bigger the stock of savings you create, the better off you'll be—to buy the good things you will want when the war is over—that new car, that refrigerator and radio you can't get now—things that make American life the best in the world.

Meanwhile, helping yourself, your savings money will go to work helping your country, to provide fighting equipment for your boys to lick the Axis—homes for war workers—roads, railroad equipment and ships to transport war materials from the factory to the front. Your dollars working for Victory and Peace!

So, when you save wisely, you're helping your country and yourself at the same time.
Honest, now . . .
Could you ask for anything better?

Santa Fe Resumes Car Construction

TOPEKA, KANS., Nov. 14—Reconstruction of box cars has started at the Santa Fe Railway shops in Topeka for the first time since 1942 when materials were restricted. H. B. Lautz, general manager, Eastern Lines, announced today. The current program calls for 1,500 cars of 100,000 pounds capacity.
"These cars," Lautz explained, "are in no sense second hand equipment. True, considerable salvaged material is being used, but everything going into the cars will be in first-class condition. Trucks and underframes are completely overhauled and new A-B brakes are being applied. They will be suitable for any high-class cargo."
Rebuilt cars will go into service immediately to relieve the severe shortage of equipment for handling grain, flour, and other high-class loads.
The Santa Fe always maintained a large number of high-class box cars suitable for flour and grain loading. War demands have taken

Mr. and Mrs. Alf Pittman returned Sunday from a three week stay at Hot Springs, New Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Cox met Mrs. R. T. Correll in Amarillo, Thursday evening. Mrs. Correll had been visiting with her daughter, Virginia at Austin.

When the 36th Division went on the Louisiana maneuvers of 1941, the post office went along to perform its usual functions. Now some distance from home, the volume of mail showed signs of an increase. By Christmas, registered parcels and letters were coming in regularly to give a boost to the morale of the men who were seeing their first Christmas away from their families.

At Camp Blanding, Florida and Camp Edwards, Massachusetts, the men from the APO found themselves with more than a full time job to perform. Letters and packages took up the greater part of their time, but many men were also sending home or cashing money orders. The last Christmas at home found the men swamped with all kinds of mail both first class and fourth class. The number of packages and letters distributed reached a new high.

On April 13, 1943, the 36th Division with the APO landed in North Africa. Three days later, mail was in the process of distribution to the Division personnel. By May 1, the mail delivery became a regular part of the doughboy's daily routine.

On September 9, 1943, the 36th Division had its first battle experience when it spearheaded the Fifth Army's invasion of the Italian mainland. The APO remained in Africa forwarding mail to the men fighting to establish a beachhead. Finally on September 26, the APO left North Africa and docked at Naples ten days later.

The first army post office was set up in the mountain village of Altavilla, scene of the heaviest fighting of the first few days of the Italian campaign, and the same town where "Commando" Kelly made his heroic one man stand against the counter attack of the Nazis.

During the following two months, Christmas mail began to flow to the front line troops. More than 13,700 pouches of parcels and 700 bags of letters were received and distributed to the veterans of Salerno. To take care of the enormous burden of handling all the incoming and outgoing mail, more men were added to the section.

Working conditions were often difficult. The Germans destroyed everything in their hasty retreat northward. Electricity was often lacking. Therefore it was often necessary to work by candlelight. But even the most adverse weather conditions failed to stop the mail from going through.

After the 36th Division went into action at Anzio and during the rapid advance from Valterri, past Rome, to the hills overlooking Pisa, the mail arrived regularly.

When the 36th Division as a unit of the Seventh Army invaded the shores of Southern France, the APO went along, landing with the first elements to hit the beach. The rapid advance north from the Riviera failed to stump the veteran mail handlers. Daily schedules were maintained to assure a quick and efficient delivery of the greatest morale build-

It belongs to the world. And the provinces are provincial, indeed. I had always heard that, but hardly realized its real truth and meaning. As one French Lieutenant told me, "The French never travel. They remain at home. Many of them live their entire lives within a circle whose radius is no more than 30 miles or so. The English and the Americans travel, but we remain at home. More Americans have seen Paris than Frenchmen outside of Parisian themselves."

This is my night of duty, every other night now. I alternate with my new major. Otherwise, he gives me free run of the section and I see little of him. I have a very good set-up and the work is interesting. Statistical and historical and has to do with the diverting and movement of traffic and supplies up front. We work with air, rail, and truck transportation, with all of supply services and directly with the Army. It is a bit too confining. I have to sit far too many hours per day. So, it is late and about time for the night couriers to return and for us to get to work consolidating reports. My two night men are standing by; they have a good log fire going in the very old fireplace, the coffee pot is boiling, we have a few sandwiches brought up from the mess tent after supper, so we will take our midnight snack and get back to work. I will get to bed at something after two in the morning.

Some time, if you have more of the pralines or other candy which could stand the long journey over, send it along, and I will send you something small but very, very nice from Poree, or perhaps Berlin, and we are headed in that direction. We all crave sweets and get nothing but stale, bitter chocolate or life savers. You see, this far up front there are no PX's and the French do not have no candy, no sweets. We get great while as they come in the afternoon to serve doughnuts and coffee. Bing Crosby, Fred Astaire and Dinah Shore have been in the vicinity recently.

Au Revoir,
Lt. Fred McQueen

...or getting along in Guatemala

Music makes friends among our Latin-American neighbors, just as it does here at home. There's another custom that helps make friends even faster. It's the pause that refreshes with ice-cold Coca-Cola. Have a "Coke" is an invitation of welcome as quickly understood in Guatemala as in Georgia. In many lands around the globe, Coca-Cola has become the same symbol of friendliness that it is in your own living room.

A business survey shows that farmers will buy heavily after the war's end; that as a group they will have more money to spend than ever before; that per capita they have more savings than city people; that their savings are about 18 billion dollars plus another 6-10 billions in liquid assets; that farmers' debts are low, only 9 billions; and that farmers' gross worth is at an all time high, 85 billions.

The Farm Bureau is strong in this part of the country, the Farmers Union not so strong. It is something that can happen during the next four years of the Roosevelt administration. The Farmers Union, through a tie-up with CIO-PAC, is sitting tight in the saddle with the administration. The Farm Bureau was not too hot for a fourth term. We can look for a divorce of the close relationship between the Farm Bureau and the federal-state extension service. Farm extension agents will return to the agricultural education field and devote less time or none at all to the administering of federal agricultural programs, promotion and organizational work.

Cpl. Balzer Cited For Achievements With 36th Division

Cpl. Lyndon Balzer, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Balzer of Perryton, who is now in France, has been congratulated on his magnificent achievements in battle. Cpl. Balzer is with the 11th Medical Bn. and the 36th Infantry (Texas) Division. Before going into France, he was in Italy.

This citation, signed by Fred L. Walker, Major General, U. S. Army Commanding, was dated June 16, 1944. It was issued to the men of the 36th Infantry (Texas) Division and reads as follows:

"It is with great pride that I congratulate you on your magnificent achievements in battle to date. Nine months ago you landed on the hostile beaches of Normandy, the vanguard of your country's Army, to crash the gates of Hitler's European Fortress. In that your first action of the war, fighting courageously against well-trained enemy forces of long combat experience, you established the first American beachhead on the European Continent, the first to be established anywhere by Americans against German opposition.

"For this achievement alone, you have a right to feel justly proud. Later on, while subject to hardships that have never been exceeded by any troops anywhere, you drove the enemy from his well-organized, stoutly defended positions in the hill masses of Camino and Summucro; from Mt. Maggiore, Mt. Lungo, Mt. Rotunda and San Pietro.

"Then came your gallant effort on the Rapido. Let us bow our heads in reverence to the fallen comrades who crossed that bitterly contested stream and put up a great, if losing, fight—as great from the standpoint of sheer gallantry and determination as any recorded in the annals of our Armed Forces.

"At Cassino and Castellone Ridge you were severely tested. After a well-deserved rest you were ordered to attack again—at a critical time and at a critical place near Velletri, to break the stronghold of the enemy defenses east of Rome. History will record forever your outstanding success. In a week of brilliant maneuvers and relentless assaults on one position after another, Belletri, Rocca, Di Papa, Marino and beyond, you killed and captured well over three thousand of the enemy; routed him from his strong, well-organized positions and drove him across the Tiber in disorder.

"Your brilliant performance on that famous battlefield was a major contribution in the capture of the first European capital to be recovered from Nazi occupation. For your magnificent accomplishment here, General Marshall sent a personal message of congratulation to you and to me. The German Army is still reeling from your blows. The relentless pressure of your attacks will substantially shorten the duration of the war. Your victorious march through the streets of the cities of your enemy cannot be long delayed."

15th AAF IN ITALY—First Lieutenant William H. Fulton, 24, bombardier on a flying fortress operating from an advance air base in Italy, was presented the Air Medal "For meritorious service and achievement in aerial flight" by Col. Paul L. Barton, base commanding officer.

Lt. Fulton, son of W. D. Fulton, 800 S. W. Fourteen of the bombers failed to return, but they destroyed 65 enemy planes and destroyed the target, as a result of which the group was awarded the distinguished unit citation "for outstanding performance of duty in armed conflict with the enemy."

Lt. Fulton, who attended Perryton high school and the Central Oklahoma State College where he majored in business administration, was engaged in the air corps. Recently, he was promoted to the rank of first lieutenant.

OUR GENERATION TO COME

By Rosa Lee Reed
We are engaged in a war of nations, a cruelly constructed man-made war, involving the global sphere. Our nation is contributing its time and effort to the war. America is striving to maintain that which her forefathers so gallantly fought for. Our soldiers are fighting a courageous battle, and living up to the gallant names inherited by them, from America's first builders.

Ours is a responsibility of vast importance. We must do that which is ours to do. Our fathers, sons, husbands and brothers are fighting to preserve freedom and democracy. It is America's duty to maintain our democratic standards at home, while American boys prove to the enemy what is meant when we say "Our America!" But is America keeping watch over the things she loves most? Does the nation she loves make any statement proving America's people are doing their part in making the future generation a strong, pure, spiritual-minded nation? Is America forgetting that the present generation cannot exist forever? Every day newspaper headlines blaze with Juvenile Delinquency; zoot-suits, and night club riots.

A child is not born lawless but becomes so through neglect. Men and women are working in defense factories, striving toward international peace and neglecting their homes and families. I ask you and you especially you! Can we be contented and rest assured that the standards we believe in; a strong, righteous people and a peace loving nation, will live for centuries yet to come? Can we say when this world tumult is over that our boys have not died in vain? If America is what I know she is, we can rest assured that the future will be a glorious one!

On Friday afternoon Nov. 10, at 2:30, on the Panthers' home gridiron the Panhandle Panthers defeated the Perryton Rangers with a score of 40-6.

The Rangers battled hard with the kick off until the beginning of the second quarter when the Panthers scored four touchdowns and kicked three extra points putting the score 27-0.

After the half, the Panthers began with hard blows while the Rangers were driving hard to even the score. Again the pig skin was passed over pay dirt to ring up the score for the Panthers and the kick for extra point was good.

The Rangers came into the final quarter with everything they had. Several passes were attempted, but were unsuccessful, until Dwayne

Great Magician

Prince Zogi, sensational performer of magic, will appear Friday 17, at 8:00 p. m. in the High School Auditorium to present one of the most magnificent feats of magic ever to be presented on this stage.

He will produce many spooky apparitions, skeleton dances, table raisings and rappings—that will at times make your hair stand on end.

Admission prices will be 30 and 60 cents.

Trospier struck pay dirt and scored for the Rangers. Try for the extra point failed. The Rangers kicked off again to Panhandle with the ball going out of bounds on the 30 yard line. The Panthers were penalized and in the last few minutes of the game another touchdown was made, which ended the Panthers victorious score 40-6.

October Report on School Cafeteria

For the first time this year, the school cafeteria is being managed on government basis. This makes it possible for every student to have a good, hot lunch, for only 20 cents. Every student is taking advantage of this as is evident by the 8,839 lunches that were served in the month of October. The food that was served in October cost $1,200.90 and labor amounted to $675.00. New equipment expenses amounted to $450.00 which makes the total expenses amount to $2,325.90.

The money that was taken in for lunches was $1,767.80 and the government reimbursed the school $713.73 which makes a total of $2,481.53 taken in.

The new equipment which has been added are two large new stoves and a very nice refrigerator. New chairs and tables have been ordered but have not yet arrived.

These new and distinct features, along with the managers of the cafeteria, go to make this cafeteria one of the finest in the county.

Meet the Seniors

On July 7, 1928, in Cheyenne, Oklahoma, Weldon Bull first opened his smiling hazel eyes in this amazing world. With his 5' 11" topped with brown hair, he has a love for horses and beef steak. When he finishes school, he plans to be a farmer, which he fully understands. Upon inquiry as to his favorite book, he quickly replied, "Smoky." Football is Weldon's best liked sport; he plays left end on the Ranger squad.

If you're new around the Perryton schools, you'd like to know the little lady with the peaches and cream complexion, the green eyes and the reddish-blond hair. Lois Burger was born on April 22, 1928, and lives in Waka. Lois stands a neat 5' 2 1/2" and has a smile for everyone. Lois has lots of favorites; favorite actor, Eddie Brackner; favorite actress, Bette Davis; favorite show "See Here, Pvt. THE TEXAN'S SHARE in the WAR

Marine Capt. Ralph Mayfield of Cameron has been awarded the Air Medal for "meritorious achievement while on cargo dropping missions in the Solomon Islands area." Risking his life to save the lives of men fighting on the ground, Captain Mayfield kept the men below supplied with ammunition during a particularly bitter battle against the Japs on New Georgia island.

In Italy, 1st Lt. Dan Cunningham, 22-year-old native of Corsicana, received the Air Medal for his many exploits aboard a Flying Fortress. And back in Texas, Mrs. Shirley Quillen of Taylor received the Distinguished Flying Cross during ceremonies at Bergstrom Field. The coveted decoration was won by her husband, Maj. Monroe B. Quillen, during heroic flights against the Nazis in Europe. Major Quillen was shot down and now is a prisoner-of-war in Germany.

To keep busy until he returns, Mrs. Quillen works in the office of the United War Chest of Texas, helping with the state-wide campaign for the National War Fund.

How would you like to discover a 14-ft. snake beside you, while flying a plane many thousand ft. in the air? That happened to a Texan, Lt. Bob Wicker of Slaton, and the situation was further complicated by the presence of Jap planes, too. Wicker was flying over New Guinea when he discovered the big snake in his cockpit. It was a python.

Needless to say, the Texas flyer landed quickly and disposed of his unwanted passenger.

Ernie Pyle's Slant on the War:

History's Greatest Armada Landed on Normandy Coast

Nazi Pillboxes Wreck Tank But Crew Wanted to Return

By Ernie Pyle

(Editor's Note): Pyle retells some of his experiences while he was with the Doughboys during the French campaign. He is now taking a long-needed rest in New Mexico.

NORMANDY BEACHHEAD, D DAY PLUS TWO.—I took a walk along the historic coast of Normandy in the country of France.

It was a lovely day for strolling along the seashore. Men were sleeping on the sand, some of them sleeping forever. Men were floating in the water, but they didn't know they were in the water, for they were dead.

The water was full of squishy little jellyfish about the size of your hand. Millions of them.

Ernie Pyle

The good luck emblem, Sure, Hell, yes.

I walked for a mile and a half along the water's edge of our many miled invasion beach. You wanted to walk slowly, for the detail on that beach was infinite.

The wreckage was vast and startling. The awful waste and destruction of war, even aside from the loss of human life, has always been one of its outstanding features to those who are in it.

For a mile out from the beach there were scores of tanks and trucks and boats that you could no longer see, for they were at the bottom of the water—swamped by overloading, or hit by shells, or sunk by mines.

You could see trucks tipped half over and swamped. You could see partly sunken barges, and the angled-up corners of jeeps, and small landing craft half submerged.

On the beach itself, high and dry, were all kinds of wrecked vehicles. There were tanks that had only just made the beach before being knocked out.

In the water floated empty life rafts and soldiers' packs and ration boxes, and mysterious oranges.

On the beach lay snarled coils of telephone wire and big rolls of steel matting and stacks of broken, rusting rifles.

On the beach lay, expended, sufficient men and mechanism for a small war. They were gone forever now. And yet we could afford it.

We could afford it because we were on, we had our toehold, and behind us there were thousands of enormous replacements for this wreckage on the beach that you could hardly conceive of their size total.

A few hundred yards back on the beach is a high bluff. Up there we had a tent hospital, and a barbed-wire enclosure for prisoners of war. From up there you could see far up and down the beach, in a spectacular crow's-nest view, and far out to sea.

And standing out there on the water beyond all this wreckage was the greatest armada man has ever seen. You simply could not believe the gigantic collection of ships that lay out there waiting to unload. Looking from the bluff, it lay thick and clear to the far horizon of the sea and on beyond, and it spread out to the sides and was miles wide.

As I stood up there I noticed a group of freshly taken German prisoners standing nearby. They had not yet been put in the prison cage. They were just standing there, a couple of doughboys leisurely guarding them with Tommy guns.

The prisoners too were looking out to sea—the same bit of sea that for months and years had been so safely empty before their gaze. They didn't say a word to each other. They didn't need to. The expression on their faces was something forever unforgettable.

The hospital was in our hands, but just barely. On up the street a block there seemed to be fighting. I say seemed to be, because actually you can't always tell. Street fighting is just as confusing as field fighting.

One side will bang away for a while, then the other side. Between these sallies there are long lulls, with only stray and isolated shots. Just an occasional soldier is sneaking about, and you don't see anything of the enemy at all.

About a block beyond the hospital entrance two American tanks were sitting in the middle of the street, one about 50 yards ahead of the other.

I got within about 50 feet of our front tank when it got its 75-millimeter gun. The blast was terrific there in the narrow street.

As the tank continued to shoot I ducked into a doorway, because I figured the Germans would shoot back. Inside the doorway there was a sort of street-level cellar, dirt-floored.

I went back to the doorway and stood peering out at the tank. It started backing up. Then suddenly a yellow flame pierced the bottom of the tank and there was a crash of such intensity that I automatically blinked my eyes.

A second shot ripped the pavement at the side of the tank. There was smoke all around, but the tank didn't catch fire.

Grim as it was, I almost had to laugh as they ran toward us. I have never seen men run so violently. They ran all over, with arms and heads going up and down and with marathon-race grimaces.

I spent the next excited hour with them. We changed to another doorway and sat on boxes in the empty hallway. The floor and steps were thick with blood where a soldier had been treated within the hour.

What had happened to the tank was this: They had been firing away at a pillbox ahead when their 75 backfired, filling the tank with smoke and blinding them.

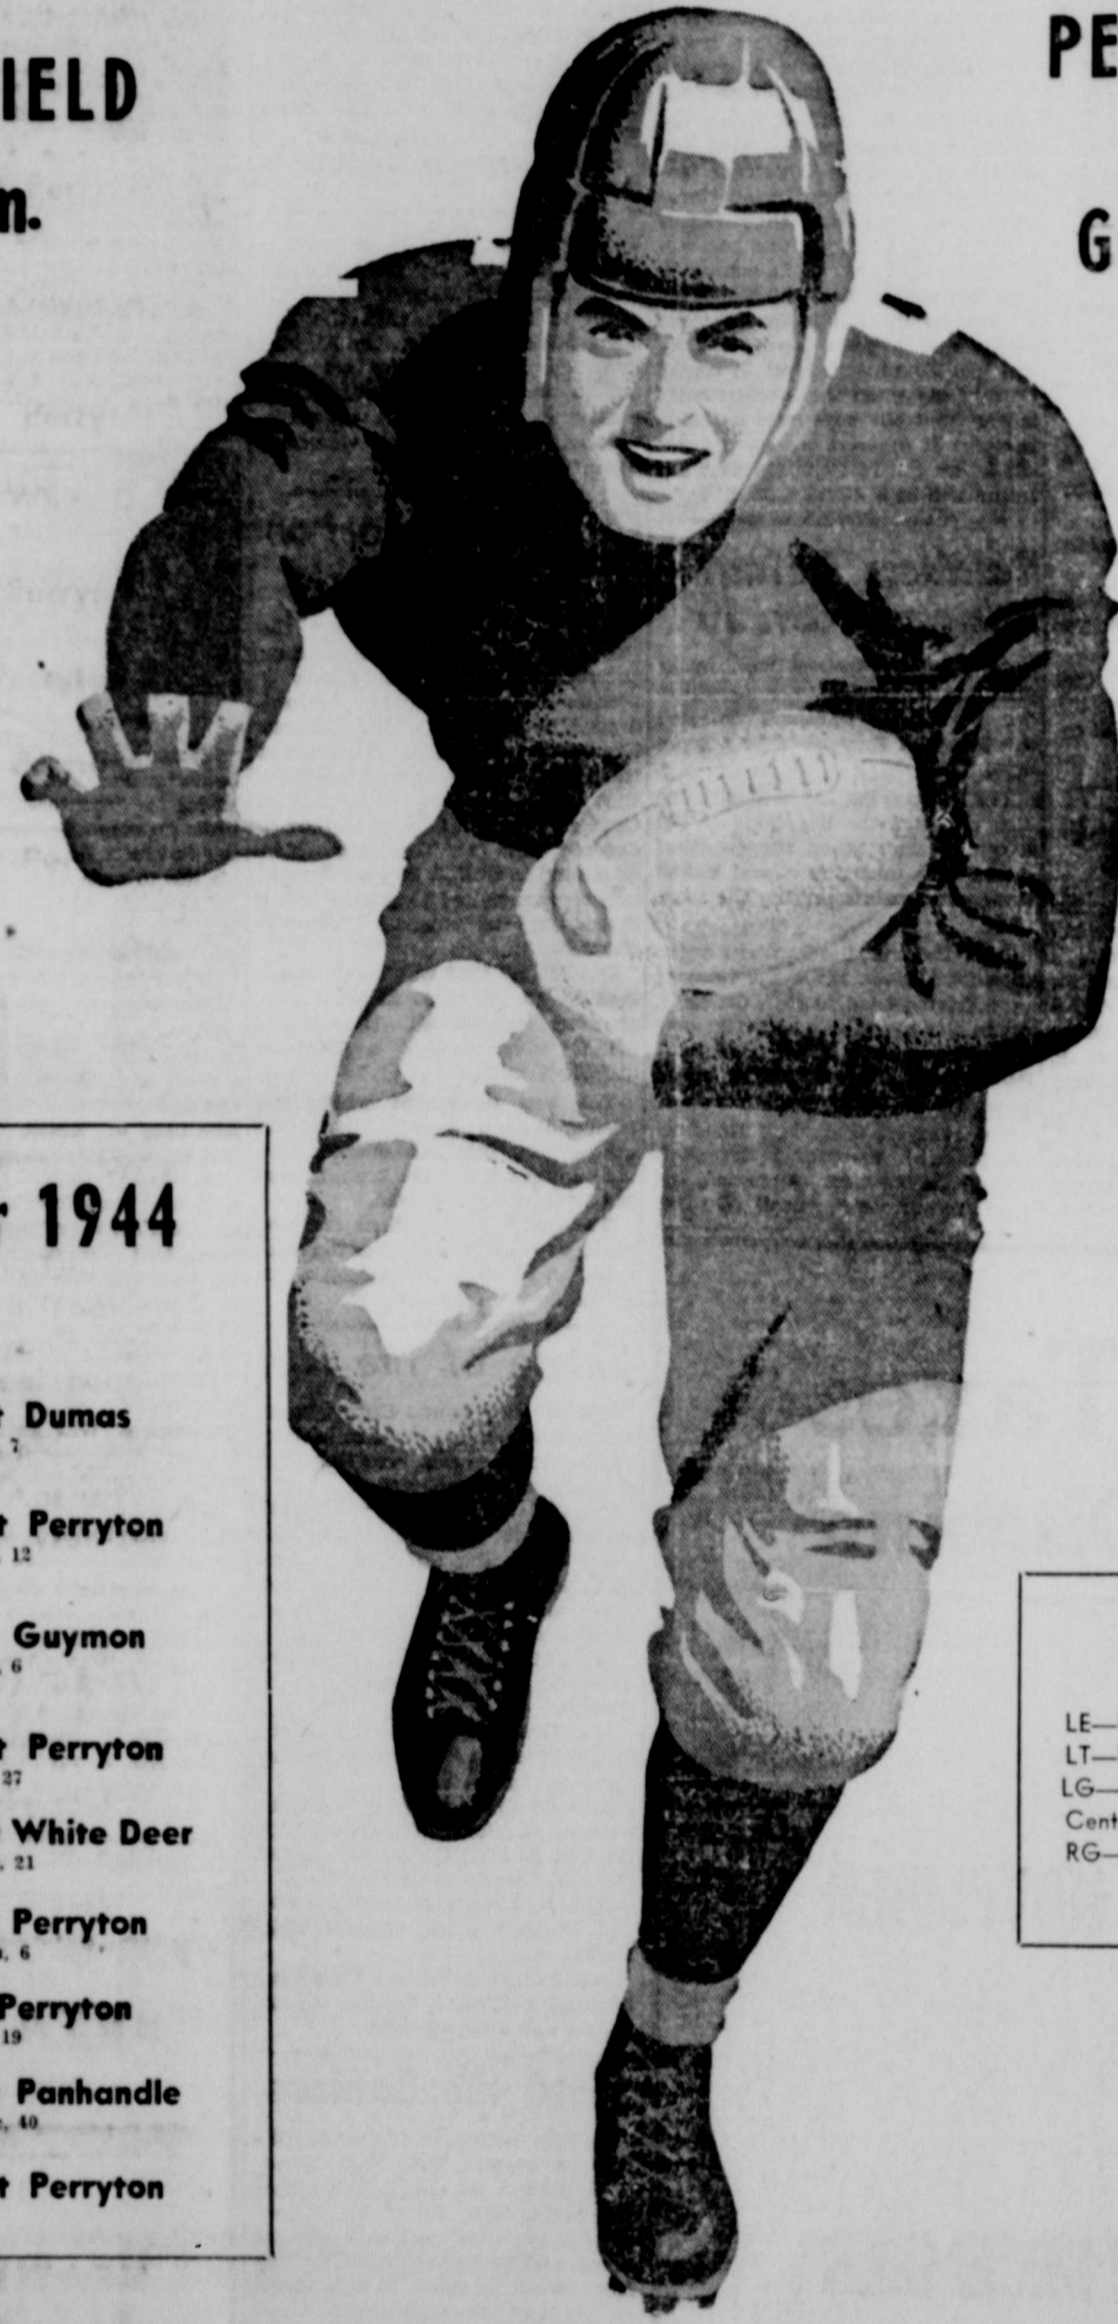

Dinner guests of Miss Moira Caldwell, Sunday evening, were Miss Verma Harris, Miss Madeline Colbert and Miss Mary Dean Donier.

Crew Worried About Running Engine

The first shot hit a tread, so the tank couldn't move. That was when the boys got into a bit of a panic.

The escaped tankers naturally were excited, but they were as jubilant as June-bugs and ready for more.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Burton, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Evans, Rev. O. C. Curtis and Rev. Elmer Holt left Monday morning for the 10th Annual Baptist convention held at San Antonio.

tank had been shot up three times. Each time it was repaired.

The main worry of these boys was the fact that they had left the engine running. We could hear it chugging away. It's bad for a tank motor to idle very long.

OUR PART HAS BEEN EASY...

Let's PROVE Our Thanksgiving!

This is a BIG farm year—Now Buy BIGGER Bonds!

Here are 6 big reasons for buying the most you can—$100, $500, $1,000 in the big 6th War Loan. War Bonds give you:

1. The best and safest investment in the world.
2. At maturity, $4.00 for every $3.00 you loan.
3. The convenience of cash—plus increase in value!
4. Funds to replace and restore worn-out farm equipment, soil fertility, and buildings.
5. Funds for educating your children; a nest-egg for your own security, travel, retirement.
6. The increased purchasing power vitally needed to win the Peace.

THEY still die—will YOU buy?

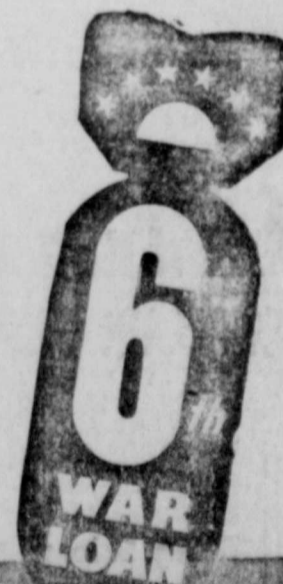

You've had bigger profits—NOW BUY BIGGER BONDS

FARMERS have much to be thankful for this year. Before you sit down to that big turkey dinner, ask yourself if you've done the best you could. Lending money is the easiest part of the war effort—but it is as essential as fighting. We don't need to ask if they're fighting enough. Are you lending enough?

It's been a mighty good year for farmers. So far it's been an easy war in general for us in the United States. But it isn't over yet. Not by a long shot. The biggest part of the job is still ahead. The war against Japan will probably be history's costliest. One average Navy task force costs two billion dollars—and we need many of them. Even one torpedo costs $12,000! And one Superfortress to bomb Tokyo, $600,000.

Your dollars are urgently needed—now more than ever—to speed victory and insure America's future. Prove your Thanksgiving. Buy the biggest War Bonds you can—NOW!

TOWN and FARM in WARTIME

Prepared by OFFICE OF WAR INFORMATION

Potato Higher Price

Producers of early white potatoes will receive ceiling prices assuring them of the same average return as a year ago and about 17 cents a hundred weight above the legal minimum price. It is announced by the Office of Price Administration. At the same time, however, consumers will find that the average cost of this early crop of potatoes will be the same as retail prices of last season. The action was needed to maintain production at a level sufficient to meet estimated demands.

Net Ceiling Price Lists

Supplemental ceiling price lists that will include all the changes that have been made in the prices of dry groceries since issuance of the current quarterly community ceiling price lists will soon be forwarded to food retailers in most areas, the Office of Price Administration announced. Objectives of the additional lists is to make it easier for retailers and consumers to keep track of changes in ceiling prices. Under this plan it will only be necessary for grocers to post two lists for dry groceries—the quarterly list and this supplement—instead of the larger number of separate postings previously required. Thus it will be easier for housewives to find the price of an item.

Vacuum Cleaner Price

Makers of new household vacuum cleaners and attachments may agree to sell these products at prices that can be increased up to maximum prices that will be in effect when the cleaner is delivered, as a result of action taken by the Office of Price Administration. Thus buyers can place orders for the new cleaners and manufacturers agree to deliver them at the maximum price that will be set by OPA when production begins. However, the action specified that no seller may deliver or make an agreement to deliver new vacuum cleaners at prices to be adjusted upward in accordance with a maximum price to be set after delivery unless so authorized by OPA. But no such authorization will be given at retail.

More Low Cost Shoes

An increased production of low cost shoes of rationed types for men, women and children is anticipated by the War Production Board through relaxation of quality and quota restrictions. It is expected that better values will thus be made available to the public. The amended order eliminates price line and quota restrictions on footwear under certain price levels. The order affects shoes selling about $4 to men, $3 to $3.50 for women, and $2.75 to $3 for children.

Distillers' Alcohol

Facilities of the nation's grain beverages distillers will not be needed during January for making industrial alcohol, states J. A. Krug, Chairman of the War Production Board. The distillers, however, will return to industrial alcohol output in February 1945. The January release reflects the cut in requirements of alcohol for synthetic rubber during the fourth quarter of this year, due to the nearing of capacity rates by synthetic rubber plants producing

Use Less Paint

LOWE BROTHERS HIGH STANDARD HOUSE PAINT costs less per square foot of surface painted and outlasts ordinary paints—both of these merits are due to its high quality. Some low-grade paints analyzed by recognized laboratories were found to contain 63% of water and other evaporating liquids. This left only 37% of film-forming solids to protect the surface. Lowe Brothers High Standard Liquid Paint contains 90% of protective film-forming solids. Be sure of better results and more pleasing effects before you paint. How can you afford to advertise in twelve newspapers every week? Doesn't it cost you a lot of money? People also tell me they see NALL on road signs everywhere.

Well Friends

NALL

Through advertising and maintaining a huge stock ships tires all over the United States. I ship thousands of dollars worth of tires from Guymon monthly to dealers in practically every state in the Union.
