2 Americans Receive Nobel Peace Prize

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The Nobel Prize for medicine was awarded jointly today to Dr. Robert Sperry of California Institute of Technology and professors David Hubel, also American although Canadian born, and Torsten N. Wiesel of Sweden.

Sperry received one half of the prize — this year worth a record 1 million kronor, the equivalent of $180,000 — for discoveries concerning "the functional specialization of the cerebral hemispheres (brain halves)," the Karolinska Institute of Medicine announced.

Hubel and Wiesel shared the other half for discoveries concerning "information processing in the visual system."

Wiesel is a former member of the Nobel awarding body but is now a professor at Harvard University.

The prize for medicine was the first to be announced in this year's Nobel series.

For the eighth consecutive year Americans have won a share of the coveted medicine award.

Sperry, born in Hartford, Conn., in 1913, is a Harvard alumnus who worked at the University of Chicago from 1946-53, at the National Institutes of Health and, since 1954, as professor of psychobiology at Cal Tech.

Through his studies, Sperry has "brilliantly succeeded in extracting the secrets from both hemispheres of the brain and in demonstrating that they are highly specialized and also that many higher functions are centered in the right hemisphere,' the awards committee said.

David H. Hubel, 55, born in Windsor, Ont. and graduated from McGill University. In 1954, he joined Johns Hopkins University, and went to the Harvard Medical School in 1959. He became professor of neurophysiology at Harvard in 1965. He has served as the George Packer Berry professor of neurobiology at Harvard since 1968. He won the Albert Lasker Medical award in 1979.

Torsten N. Wiesel, born in Uppsala in 1924 and still a Swedish citizen, has also worked as a professor at Harvard Medical School since 1960 and succeeded Hubel as chairman of its department of neurobiology in 1973. Since 1974 he served as the Robert Winthrop professor in that specialty. He is an alumnus from the Karolinska institute where he graduated in 1954.

Hubel and Wiesel have studied the visual cortex of the brain showing how it analyses the coded messages from the retina of the eye.

Certain cells read the simple letters in the message and compile them into syllables that are subsequently read by other brain cells which in turn compile the syllables into words. These, finally are read by other cells which compile words into sentences that are sent to the higher centers of the brain, where the visual impression originates and the memory of the image is stored, Karolinska professors explained.

Keeping tab on our neighbors:

Danny Hukel of the Gatesville Messenger says this story proves that it pays to try harder.

There was this vacuum cleaner sales named Ben who was showing a friend the ropes of the trade.

One day, when the friend and Ben were canvassing a neighborhood, a woman answered her doorbell, saw the vacuum cleaner in Ben's hand and started yelling at both of them to get off her property. She "wasn't buying nothin'."

As she slammed the door, Ben grabbed his friend's arm, took him quickly around to the back of the house and knocked on the door.

"Hi, mam," said Ben as the same woman opened the back door. "I hope you aren't as mean as that lady who answered the front door."

With a sigh of dismay and a reluctant smile, the woman opened the door and let them come in and demonstrate the vacuum cleaner. Then, as the friend stared in disbelief, she bought a cleaner.

Hermleigh Man Dead In Mishap

A Hermleigh man was dead and three other persons were hospitalized in two major traffic accidents Thursday in Scurry County.

Robert Eugene Lee, 91, of Hermleigh, was dead at the scene of a two-car crash at 2:50 p. m. on U. S. Highway 84 at Hermleigh.

Department of Public Safety Trooper Bob Clark, who investigated, said Mr. Lee was driving a 1972 Chevrolet that was in collision with a 1981 Chevrolet Citation driven by Acie Earl Dietering, 68, of Lubbock. Dietering and his wife, Mary Katherine, 70, were taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Scurry County EMS where they were reported in stable condition. Both were reported to have fractures and bruises.

The highway patrolman said Mr. Lee had just purchased gasoline at a service station and was in the process of driving onto U. S. 84 when the crash occurred. There was some speculation that Mr. Lee might have suffered a heart attack prior to the crash.

In another highway crash at 11:10 a. m., a 1979 Honda driven by Mrs. Alvera Wood Tredennick, 60, of Abilene, collided with the back of a pickup truck 10.7 miles north of Snyder on U. S. 84.

She was taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Scurry County EMS and was reported being treated for fractures.

James Allen White, 26, driver of the pickup, was not injured, officers said. Both vehicles were headed

Snyder Woman Shot Thursday

A Snyder woman was reported in serious condition in a Lubbock hospital this morning following a shooting here Thursday afternoon.

Snyder police reported that Corene Armstrong, 84, of 2110 26th St., suffered a gunshot wound in the right temple. She was taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital and later transferred to St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock by Scurry County EMS.

The police report stated that Mrs. Armstrong was shot with a .22 caliber revolver which was found at the scene in a room in the home.

Police received a call at 3:50 p. m. reporting the shooting and found Mrs. Armstrong and the weapon when they responded to the call.

U.S., Israel Vow To Continue Peace Process

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — The United States and Israel vowed to continue the peace process with Egypt today as high-ranking delegations arrived in Cairo amid tight security for the funeral of assassinated President Anwar Sadat.

As the declarations were made, the official Middle East News Agency reported that Egypt's new leader, Hosni Mubarak, accepted President Reagan's invitation to visit the United States and "review all aspects of bilateral relations, and discuss in detail the situation in the Middle East." The trip is tentatively set for early next year.

Unrest continued to simmer in a Moslem fundamentalist hotbed south of Cairo, and exiled opposition leader Gen. Saadedin Shazli warned that Egypt was "unsafe" for foreign dignitaries attending Sadat's funeral. But Egypt's undersecretary for foreign affairs, Ossama El-Baz, said Egypt was safe and that the foreign dignitaries "will be protected."

Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. told reporters at Cairo airport that the United States would continue the search for a "full and comprehensive peace" with the new Egyptian government.

Haig was accompanied by former Presidents Jimmy Carter, Gerald R. Ford and Richard M. Nixon, former Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger and others.

Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin, in a separate arrival statement, said that his government and people took "great satisfaction" in the news that the Mideast peace process undertaken by Sadat will continue.

Many Events Scheduled...

White Buffalo Takes Spotlight Saturday

The white buffalo will be in the spotlight tomorrow in Snyder.

Phase II of "White Buffalo Days," a special autumn event sponsored by the women's division of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce, is scheduled to begin at 10 a. m. with a downtown parade.

The parade, which will feature public school groups, junior college groups, horses and other entries is scheduled to circle the Snyder square at 10 a. m.

The high school band had to forego a parade appearance Saturday because Oct. 10 is the nation-wide date for Scholastic Aptitude Tests (SAT), and pupils planning to enter college next year must take the test at this time.

Following the parade, activity will shift to the Scurry County Coliseum grounds, where events will get underway at 11 a. m.

The sponsoring women's division of the chamber will operate a booth selling barbecued buffalo meat and they also will be selling special White Buffalo T-shirts during the day.

The buffalo meat, contributed by Riley Miller, is being prepared by Dub's Barbecue.

Another highlight will be an auction at 3:30 p. m. of souvenirs, including a facsimile of an early-day Creedmoor buffalo gun Also, the gun used by J. Wright Mooar to kill a white buffalo on Deep Creek northwest of Snyder Oct. 7, 1876, will be on display.

There will be many more food and drink booths in operation, including a German sausage booth by Historic Scurry County, Inc.; sandwiches by Brownie Troop 203; cookies by Brownie Troop 84; Frito pies by Snyder Jayceettes; baked good by the Musical Coterie; corn-on-the-cob by the Newcomers Club; a cake walk by the Scurry County Historical Commission; candy and popcorn by the Snyder High School Student Council; Dr. Pepper by the American Businesswomen's Association; lemonade by the Lucky 13 Club; and coffee by the women's committee.

Special entertainment will feature the Western Texas College Jazz Band and Choir at 11 a. m, the Nashville Gamblers western band at 1 p. m., and Robert Allen and The County Boys at 2 p. m. and 5 p. m.

Also, there will be square dancing at 3 p. m. by the promenadors, and from 6 p. m. to 9 p. m., sponsored by The Sparkle City Squares. Snyder Jaycees will sponsor a dance beginning at 9 p. m. as the closing feature on the program.

There will be a display of buffalo and Indian relics owned by Riley Miller, and a puppet show will be presented at 1 p. m. by a group from First Baptist Church.

Competitive events will include tricycle races at 1 p. m.; horseshoe and washer pitching at noon; a watermelon seed spitting contest at 1 p. m.; foot races and a buffalo chip throwing contest at 2 p. m.; a sponge throw at 3 p. m.; stick horse races and egg races at 4 p. m.

DISPLAY--Several items commemerating area history and the white buffalo will be on display Saturday at Scurry County Coliseum. Bill Warner, chamber manager, is wearing Riley Miller's buffalo coat and holding a picture of J. Wright Mooar and his wife. The gun on the left was the one Mooar used to kill the white buffalo. The gun on the right will be auctioned off Saturday. Other items pictured are the White Buffalo Days tee-shirts, four rolls of buffalo nickles (to be auctioned off), and the bullet mold which was used to make the bullet which killed the white buffalo. Several items belong to Judy Hays, Mooar's granddaughter. (SDN Staff Photo)

20 Votes Short

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan is 20 votes short of saving his sale of AWACS radar planes to Saudi Arabia in the Republican-controlled Senate, an Associated Press count shows.

If the vote were now, the tally found, Reagan would lose 57-30.

He needs 50 votes to assure the $8.5 billion sale of five Airborne Warning and Control System planes plus F-15 jet weaponry — the largest U.S. arms deal in history.

The AP count found just 21 senators firmly in favor of the sale as of Thursday and nine leaning for it, while 50 senators were committed against it and seven were leaning that way.

The other 13 were undecided, and Reagan would have to win all of those votes plus convert seven opponents to be sure of victory in his first major foreign policy battle on Capitol Hill.

Congress has until the end of this month to veto the deal, and the decisive Senate showdown is expected in two weeks.

Target Of Inquiry

TYLER, Texas (AP) — The Tyler police chief has become a target in the current federal grand jury investigation into alleged corruption in connection with a sweeping drug bust here three years ago, sources told a Dallas newspaper.

Grand jurors are investigating allegations made by two former undercover narcotics officers that Police Chief Willie Hardy was "directly involved" in a plot to frame former nightclub owner Kenneth Andrew Bora on a cocaine delivery charge, a source close to the investigation told the Dallas Times Herald.

The panel also is investigating whether Hardy committed perjury when he testified as a character witness for the two former officers, who have admitted they fabricated evidence against Bora, the Times Herald reported.

Hardy declined comment Thursday night.

Creig Matthews and his wife and former partner Kimberly Ramsey Matthews admitted Tuesday in federal court they had falsified evidence in the drug charge against Bora. The couple had been indicted on charges of violating Bora's constitutional rights.

Four Presidents Together

WASHINGTON (AP) — For 36 minutes, Richard M. Nixon, Gerald R. Ford and Jimmy Carter were back at the White House, walking to the cheer of a crowd from the green and white presidential helicopter, up a red carpet and into the mansion they once knew as home.

Ronald Reagan, who lives there now, was waiting on the South Lawn to greet them, just as each had done dozens of times in presidencies past for other dignitaries.

United by tragedy, they formed one of the most extraordinary gatherings of American presidents in history, the first time in this century — and possibly ever — that four of them got together.

The past presidents were there so the present president could wish them a safe journey to Cairo to represent the United States at Saturday's funeral of assassinated Egyptian leader Anwar Sadat.

She's Also A Policewoman

Woman Is Target champion

DALLAS (AP) — Flushed and a little sweaty, Cathy Compton hurries into her air-conditioned office, takes a long pull on a cold can of Diet Dr Pepper and studies her bleeding hand.

Peeling back a small bandage, she scowls at her wound, caused by resting a revolver there for several hours, and apologizes for her glamourless policewoman's uniform. She knows, of course, that she would look prettier out of uniform and with a less severe haircut.

But then, let's not bring up any of those hackneyed ironies about pretty girls who do masculine things. Cathy Compton is pretty, with her strong cheekbones and thick-lashed green eyes, but what's most impressive about her is her steely self-confidence: She has the look of a woman who knows she can hit anything she shoots at.

That's what she's been doing this particular afternoon, shooting at human-shaped targets with a .38 caliber Smith and Wesson custom-made revolver. At 28, Cathy can shoot that revolver better than any policewoman in the country. She recently won the women's division of the National Police Revolver Championships — for the fourth time.

When she's not shooting, Cathy works as a police officer with the Department of Public Safety at Dallas-Fort Worth Airport or spends time at home with husband Jerry, a 17-year veteran of the Dallas Police Department. There are lots of things she likes to do — needlepoint, scuba diving, sky diving — but, she says, they don't call for the teeth-gritting intensity shooting does.

Cathy likes to do things that call for teeth gritting. "I never played basketball or softball or any normal sports," she said. "I was a warped child."

She grew up in Marietta, Ga., left home to study photography at the University of Georgia for a couple of years, then went to work as a bank teller in Cobb County. A policeman came to her window one day, told her there was an opening in the police department and suggested she apply.

"How much does it pay?" she asked him. When he told her 600 something dollars, she stopped counting money and strapped on a gun.

"I was making only 400 something at the bank," she explained.

Cathy never had held a gun or even seen one up close before she entered the police academy in Georgia. "It was natural to me," she said of the first time she held a revolver. "It was no mystery."

In 1975, in her first year as a police officer, Cathy decided to try her skill with a revolver against other policewomen in the national championship. She and three fellow officers went to Jackson, Miss., for the contest and, Cathy said, "I did terrible. I shot horribly. But I knew I had the potential and if I buckled down, I'd be good some day. That's when I decided to work on it."

The next year, she placed third in the women's division. She didn't compete in 1977: After meeting Jerry Compton at a pistol match in Alabama that year, she married him, moved to Dallas and entered the police academy here. There was no time for the national championships. When she tried again in 1978, she won the first of what would be four national titles. That's a record, she said.

Cathy shares her interest in guns and shooting with her husband. Jerry is a gunsmith — he made the gun she uses in competition — and the two go deer and antelope hunting together. They both shoot at the National Rifle Association's high master skill level and in the municipal police category in the competitions.

Cathy says it's a coincidence that her favorite pastime and her job both call for good shooting skills. "In my work, I shoot for survival. In competition, I'm out there to punch tiny holes in paper — that's all. I separate the two completely."

As many paper targets as Cathy has hit, she has yet to shoot at a human being. "If I had to do it, I could. I don't want to shoot anyone, kill anyone, but I wouldn't hesitate if it was a life-or-death situation. I don't doubt that I can and would do it," she said.

It's easy to learn the skills necessary to shoot a gun, Cathy says. You need good vision and a firm grip. That's 40 percent. The other 60 percent is mental, Cathy says.

"You have to have desire. Sacrifices have to be made. No drinking or partying before you shoot. And I do physical training."

The three-day police revolver competition is strenuous: Cathy had to shoot 150 rounds (bullets) at seven, 15, 25 and 50 yards standing without support, kneeling, with her gun in the right hand and then in the left, sitting and lying down. Every phase was timed and called for reloading.

In this year's revolver competition, in Des Moines, Iowa, Cathy competed against 1,000 other police officers. Forty of those officers were women. She placed first, of course, among the women, and 13th in the overall competition.

And yes, someday she would like to be the first woman to place first overall.

Students Are Learning Mathematics Can Be Fun

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — His eyes widening in amazement, Brett Moore smiled as the bank teller's terminal buzzed, beeped and flashed numbers as he made a "withdrawal" from a savings account.

At a nearby table, Johnny Simmons pulled $1 and $5 bills from a stack of money on a table and waited for his change as a young girl added up his "food bill" on an adding machine.

In the quiet, dignified atmosphere of the Connecticut Savings Bank and nine other financial institutions around the city students from New Haven's inner-city schools are learning math can be fun.

"I like it very much, I like getting involved in the bank," said Brett, a 10-year-old fifth grader from Helene Grant School. "It's as if I went to a store. It's the same thing. I like using the adding machine. I also like using the money and being the merchant."

Added Johnny, a classmate at Grant: "I like it a lot because I learn a lot of things about the bank. Math is my favorite subject because it's not that hard."

In what sponsors say is one of the only programs of its kind in the country, some 1,000 students from 12 inner-city schools are learning about banking and other industries from some 30 different private businesses and public agencies.

According to Yale University research, the bank program, which concentrates on improving a pupil's math skills, seems to be working.

Thomas Berndt, an associate professor of psychology, said his research indicated students in the program showed a 47 percent gain in achievement scores compared with students who did not participate.

"The improvements were concentrated mainly in the area of mathematics, which is most stressed in the program," Berndt said. "There was improvement in their ability to do word problems, where the information is given in words and figures, and there also were large gains in computation skills.

"I think it also is important to stress the program has a demonstrable, significant effect because it is a long-term relationship between the school and a resource," the Yale psychologist said.

"It is carried out through personal relationships between people in the bank and people in the schools, teachers and bank personnel who work together to set up a program and adapt it to what the situation requires at the time."

Sammolene Patton, the children's fifth-grade teacher, said students who have completed the program are "highly motivated as far as math is concerned," and also have increased language skills.

"When they talk about money, they talk about crediting an account, not adding," Mrs. Patton said. "They talk about debit and know that's the same as subtraction....When they use money they use those terms."

The classes at the bank are taught by three bank employees — Nancy Ronne, Helen Conaty and Liz Vaught — to three groups of six to eight children each. Each group from Grant goes to the bank once every three weeks for about an hour.

This week, they learned how supermarket checkers operate adding machines. As one girl punched prices for various groceries, Johnny counted his money. The bill came to $6.55 and he handed over $7. With a little coaching from Ms. Vaught, the girl counted back four dimes and a nickel in change.

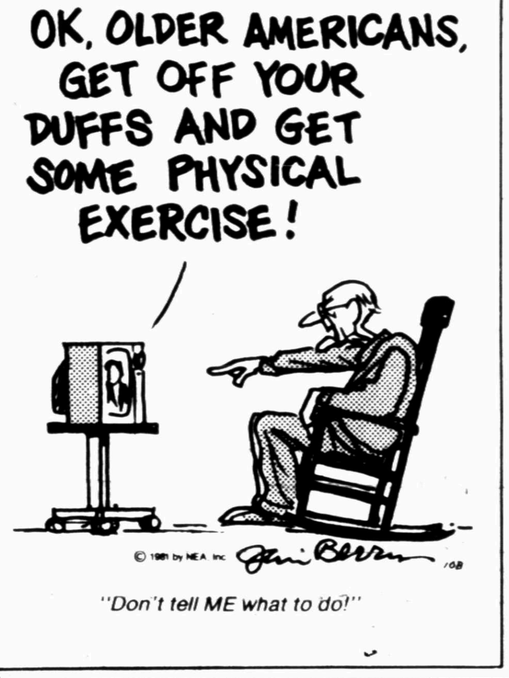

On the teller terminal, the computations were a little more complicated. Ms. Conaty handed Brett a savings passbook with $500 in an account and asked him for a $225 withdrawal. He went through the motions smoothly, entering numbers into the terminal and placing the passbook correctly in the machine so the new balance could be printed.

"It's a pleasure to see this much excitement in children," said Mrs. Ronne, the personnel director.

It's hard getting old, at best; it's hell getting old alone.

Hattie keeps herself prisoner in her West Side Chicago apartment; the door, locked, dead-bolted and peepholed -- but she thought the man who knocked was a neighbor in trouble.

He raped her.

Hattie is seventy.

"He threatened to kill me. He pulled the phone off the wall. He threatened to harm my great-grandchildren. He took my money. He threw me on the couch. Then he bothered my body."

endquote.

It's open season on anybody who dares to get old.

On public transportation their purses are snatched.

On the street they are mugged, beaten, killed.

From nursing homes, retirement homes, housing projects - they are disappearing five a day.

Some run away from depression, frustration, loneliness. Some are kidnapped.

Any many of the one-in-ten Americans past 65 now huddle behind the barricaded doors and barred windows of their own homes, apartments or rented rooms -- prisoners -- while outside the streets and parks their taxes paid for are taken over by trash-people.

A congressional panel on aging has been hearing horror stories from anonymous elderly afraid even to testify in public: "I'm afraid all the time; afraid those men who killed my neighbor will come back.."

To leave their solitary confinement for necessary banking, shopping or doctor visits is to run a gutter gauntlet of punks on drugs who prey first on the most feeble.

If there is a more enlightened time ahead for civilization, it will have to reflect on our time with shame and incredulity...

Convicts made comfortable; grandparents left vulnerable.

The barbarians who vandalized Rome were less callous than these who chain-whip old women.

Harriet Gunningham of Chester, Pennsylvania, 77, went downtown to sign some tax papers, was mugged.

"The only thing I remember it opening my eyes and seeing my left hand lying on the curb. I knew it was my hand only because the rings were mine. I didn't remember anything else until nearly two weeks later."

Her shoulder was so badly injured it had to be replaced with metal. Her arm is useless. The pain is ceaseless.

Americans take pompous pride in celebration-day speeches enumerating equal rights, equality of opportunity, liberty, justice and freedom...

When are our elderly emeritus to be emancipated? When can they hope to be set free?

Your Birthday

October 10, 1981

Two important new friends who will be very helpful to you where your work or career is concerned will be made this coming year. One in particular will have considerable clout.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your willingness to be helpful to friends today will do much to enhance your image. Should you later need their assistance, they'll be quick to respond. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't be too surprised today if you are the center of attention socially, particularly with members of the opposite gender. Your sex appeal is showing.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Seek companions today whose conversation and ideas awaken your enthusiasm and inspire you. Something will be unleashed which you will use later.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) A condition which has been causing problems for you will change for the better today. It also includes someone else, as well as yourself.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You should be rather fortunate today in material matters, especially those where some type of partnership is involved. Pair-up for profit.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your basic nature is compassionate and helpful and today you could do considerable good for yourself through your desire to be of assistance to others.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Two parties working on your behalf behind the scenes today may arrange something advantageous for you which you couldn't pull off on your own.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) This is a good day to get together socially with persons who are important to your work or career. Why not invite them over to your place?

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You'll do well in things today where there is a little friendly competition. Challenges stimulate your urges to win, but you'll be a gracious victor.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Because you are imaginative and resourceful financially today, your possibilities for gains are quite good. Look around for ways to turn a profit.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You're adept at looking out for your own interests today and are also very capable in helping others sort out their affairs. Your talents will be used in both areas.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) In matters where you and your mate are pulling in unison, your chances for success are better than usual today. This is especially true if money is the issue.

With Perfect Attendance...

Beta Sigma Phi Holds Annual Model Meeting

Lambda Kappa chapter of Beta Sigma Phi had perfect attendance at the annual Model Meeting Tuesday night, October 6, at the Martha Ann Woman's Club. Twenty-four members were present to welcome transfer member Jackie Bucklynn and guest Betsy Griffin. A program entitled "Everything You Wanted to Know About Beta Sigma Phi but Were Afraid to Ask" was presented and featured a play in five acts depicting various aspects of sorority membership. The play was written by Laura Greene and starred Mona Bryan, Mickey Baird, Gloria Myers, Judy Grimmett, Dena Ellis, Carolyn Greene, and Carol Kelley. Hostesses for the evening were the membership committee members.

In the business meeting, Wanda Early, president, asked several committee chairmen to briefly outline upcoming activities for the chapter. Donna Fowler, membership chairman, announced that the Yellow Rose Tea will be on November 1 instead of October 25. Laura Greene told the chapter about the West Texas Area Beta Sigma Phi Convention held in Midland October 2-4. Gloria Myers, co-chairman of the Christmas wrapping paper sales, announced that the paper and ribbon will arrive soon and members will have it ready to sell before November 1. Final plans for the White Buffalo Day pancake breakfast were made and the chapter discussed participation in the parade October 10.

The next meeting of Beta Sigma Phi will be October 20 at 7:30 p.m. at the Martha Ann Woman's Club. Hostess will be Dena Ellis and the program will be on marriage by Mona Bryan.

Opening lead. ♦2

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

South wasn't proud of his notrump overcall and considerably less proud after he saw dummy. His opponents were playing five-card majors and he read West's deuce as the bottom of three. He ducked the first spade and won the second after noting that East had played the 10 of spades to trick one.

Obviously East held every point-count card with the possible exception of the club jack for his aceless vulnerable opening bid. Maybe his queen of diamonds would be singleton or doubleton. Should he attack diamonds first?

No need to. He could play a top club or two as a preliminary so he led his ace of clubs and continued with the king after East dropped the queen. When the jack fell also South started to cash the 10 to put pressure on East, but suddenly realized that he would be putting more pressure on dummy.

So South led his last spade. East cashed the spades — it was pointless not to — to come down to a six-card ending. Dummy held A-Q of hearts and K-J-9-6 of diamonds. South held 10-8-5 of hearts, A-7 of diamonds and the 10 of clubs.

A diamond lead would make all the diamonds good so East led a low heart.

South cashed dummy's A-Q of hearts, led a diamond to his ace and played the good 10 of clubs to squeeze East out of either his king of hearts or the guard for his queen of diamonds.

20th Century Club Hears Drug Program

Drug Awareness was the theme of the program given for the Twentieth Century Club in its October meeting. Martha Moore, leader, opened the subject with a quotation from "The Edgar Cayce Handbook for Health Through Drugless Therapy," by Harold Reilly and Ruth Hagy Brod.

Luella Stoker spoke on several aspects of the illegal drug problem in the United States. She displayed two booklets which are available free from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Resources. One is entitled "For Kids Only: What You Should Know About Marijuana." In brief, well-written and illustrated paragraphs the author tells what marijuana is; what it does to the body of a boy and to the body of a girl; and how it affects ones thoughts and actions.

The other booklet, entitled "For Parents Only: What You Need to Know about Marijuana," is written in more detail on the same topics for parents. Suggestions are made for identifying symptoms of drug use among children and their associates. Constructive alternatives to drug use should always be provided for children, preferably as family projects. Parents may work together to establish some uniformity in rules for the children's use of time, their spending habits, and their curfews. The author says, "This will also develop a sense of an extended family in the community where the parents cooperate and the young people are treated alike."

Single copies of other suggested readings may be obtained free from National Clearinghouse for Drug Information, P.O. Box 2305, Rockville, Maryland 20852.

In group discussions, several warnings were emphasized. Know how your medicines react when used together. Don't hesitate to question your doctor or pharmacist. Even such ordinary household drugs as aspirin and common antacids can have harmful effects when taken with certain other medicines. Books showing how to avoid these problems are readily available.

Mrs. H. O. Beard was hostess to nine members. Luella Stoker, president, conducted the meeting.

A sprinkle of nutmeg on buttered carrots or string beans adds an intereting new flavor.

BRIDE COMPLIMENTED—A bridal shower honoring Mrs. Tim Ketchersid, nee Jeane McCormick, was held October 5 at East Side Church Christ Multi-Purpose Building. For lovely, limber hands and fingers, try this single pianists' exercise. Curve your fingers down on a flat surface, as if you were playing the piano. Now, try to lift each finger separately as high as possible, 10 times. Try to keep the other fingers touching the table as you lift one at a time. Repeat the exercise with all fingers.

WINNING COSTUMES—The sponsoring women's division of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce is urging employees of local business firms to wear costumes of the 1880s during the White Buffalo Days celebration. These personnel of Fenton's took first place honors. From left are Kay Farmer, Naida Garza, Vicky Whitson, Joy Cotton and Romana Cain. The committee hopes to make this an annual event.

RUNNERSUP—These employees of Glover's were runnersup in the 1880s costume contest for White Buffalo Days. From left are Mildred Blair, Myrel Bell, Donna Wilson and Jill Kidd.

Fugitive Charge Filed Against Male Suspect

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Investigators filed a fugitive charge against Donald Michael Corey after the carnival follower accused of abducting two girls from the State Fair of Oklahoma was sighted in Mississippi.

Oklahoma City police confirmed two detectives were on their way to Jackson, Miss., Thursday night, where Corey was treated Oct. 2 at a hospital.

A federal charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution was filed Thursday against Corey, FBI spokesman Gene Pogue said.

Corey is charged with kidnapping Charlotte Kinsey and Cinda L. Pallett, both 13. The Oklahoma City-area girls disappeared Sept. 26. Investigators said Corey had worked briefly at the fair in Oklahoma City. A fair opens today in Jackson.

Police Lt. Adam Edwards said the girls were not sighted with Corey in Jackson.

"That's one of the things that concerns us. We don't have anybody with him," Edwards said. The sighting of Corey in Jackson is the first to be confirmed since Sept. 25, when he was treated at an Oklahoma City hospital.

"I felt somewhat relieved to know that he (Corey) hadn't disguised himself to the point where he was unrecognizable," Edwards said. A photograph of Corey, circulated nationwide, shows a dark-haired man with a beard.

Police disclosed that through the use of hospital records they have been able to piece together a rough map of the drifter's travels through Oklahoma. Corey, who suffers from a chronic ulcer, often needs injections of Demerol.

Police said they have found 25 instances of Corey receiving Demerol treatments at 18 Oklahoma hospitals.

The latest treatment was in Sulphur, Okla., at 4 p.m., Sept. 25, the day before the girls disappeared. Three hours earlier on the same day, he was treated at an Oklahoma City hospital.

Oklahoma cities in which Corey has been sighted at hospitals and clinics include Clinton, Shawnee, Sallisaw, McAlester, Wagoner, Ponca City, Pawhuska and Marietta. All those sightings were before the girls were reported missing.

Deliveries Were Up In September

Deliveries by the Colorado River Municipal Water District rose substantially in September over the same month a year ago.

The total was 1,686,042,598 gallons, an increase of 16.68 percent, or 24,000,000 gallons for the month.

Gains were balanced between municipal and oilfield uses. The municipal total for September was 1,445,950,000 gallons, up 133,000,000 gallons or 11.04 percent. Oilfield totals were 240,091,798 gallons, up 68.07 percent, or 98,000,000 gallons.

Through September, the district had delivered 13,767,726,427 gallons, up 430,0000,000 gallons, or 3.22 percent for the year. Oddly, due to a few cool and wetter months than usual, municipal deliveries were 11,907,907,800, down 64,000,000 gallons, or .53 of one percent. On the other hand, oilfield deliveries of 1,859,818,627 gallons were up 473,000,000 gallons, or 36.15 percent.

If all remaining months equal last year's demand, the district will top 17 billion gallons for the year, and if the percentage increase through nine months holds good for the year, the total will approach 17½ billion gallons.

3 Accidents Occupy Police

Three minor traffic mishaps, including a hit-and run, were investigated Thursday by Snyder police.

Also, local police recovered an abandoned automobile that had been reported stolen in Dallas.

At 7:39 a. m., a 1981 Ford pickup driven by Clifford Wayne Hale and a 1973 Pontiac driven by Diamantina Munoz were involved in a mishap at 1800 13th St.

At 2:24 p. m. at 3100 College Ave., a 1978 Honda driven by Michael Douglas Venable of Midland and a 1974 Pontiac driven by Danita Dawn Roe of Ira were involved in an accident.

A 1972 Dodge pickup owned by Bobby Hataway Sr. was hit by a vehicle which left the scene at the Texaco Truck Stop at 11:30 p. m.

At 1:53 a. m. today, a 1974 Ford was found abandoned in the 4500 block of Ave. V. It had been reported stolen earlier in Dallas.

At 6:15 a. m. today, Richard Simmons of 3790 Ave. V reported a 1973 Ford pickup was missing. It had been taken between 6 p. m. and 6 a. m.

A television set was reported missing in a burglary reported to police at 6:28 p. m. Thursday by Darin Manlief of 1305 24th St. Missing was a 12-inch black and white TV valued at $80.

Texan Hit By Bullet

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — An Austin native who was in Iran when the Shah's regime fell was among three U.S. military men wounded in an attack in Cairo that killed Egyptian President Anwar Sadat.

Air Force Lt. Col. Charles Loney, 42, was wounded in the shoulder when a group of assassins opened fire on Sadat, officials said.

Disabled Controller Ordered Back To Work

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — An air traffic controller who says he has violent episodes and takes eight kinds of medicine, including tranquilizers, has been ordered back to work at the Fort Worth Air Route Traffic Control Center in Euless.

Larry McDargh, 44, of Bedford, says he's afraid he might "lose my cool and hurt somebody" if he has to stop taking the drugs — some of which are prohibited if he goes back to being an active controller.

"I'm scared to come off that medication until I can get hold of myself," he said.

But Federal Aviation Administration spokesman George Burlage says, "It's a classic example of a high-paid government employee trying to get all these goodies for free."

Burlage says the order to return to work is only to determine if McDargh is mentally and physically able to work, and ultimately, to see if he should be allowed to collect the government disability retirement benefits.

Burlage says the order has nothing to do with the strike by the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization, of which McDargh is a member, although he is not participating in the strike.

A PATCO official said the FAA is desperate to fill a staff depleted by the two-month-old air traffic controllers' strike.

"In my opinion, it's just one more warm body they're trying to force into the place," said Charles Josey, who is representing McDargh in PATCO applications for workers' compensation and disability retirement benefits.

McDargh went on disability leave in March when two FAA physicians recommended he be permanently medically disqualified.

One of them, Dr. Jack L. Judson, described McDargh as an "absolute threat" to the air traffic control system. But the recommendations from Judson and Dr. Lynn C. Barnes were overturned in Washington, Burlage said. He said Federal Air Surgeon H.L. Reighard ruled the controller had a personality problem, not a medical problem.

Since officials began pressuring him to return to work, McDargh said, he has become so agitated he may have to be hospitalized again.

"I don't know what to do," he said. "I'm too rattled."

McDargh was ordered to report for work Wednesday morning, but he did not show up on the advice of his psychiatrist. He also did not show up Thursday.

Burlage said McDargh first will be considered absent without leave, then will receive a short suspension. Next will be a longer suspension, and last, he will be terminated if he doesn't comply, Burlage said.

One FAA report described McDargh as a "technically excellent controller who is conscientious."

But McDargh said the FAA is "playing on the fact that I'm a perfectionist and that if I would give up the drugs and plug in, I would do a good job."

Dr. Ralph Hodges, an Arlington psychiatrist who examined McDargh for the FAA in May, said he suffered from a "passive-aggressive personality disorder, aggressive type," had fantasies of killing some of his FAA supervisors and was threatening suicide.

In his report, Hodges wrote: "My personal feeling is that it is absolutely urgent and essential that he be removed from the vicinity of the Fort Worth Federal Aviation Center as quickly as possible to prevent his carrying out some of his fantasies."

Burlage said a flight surgeon "would prescribe medication that would not be disqualifying" for McDargh, although he said he was uncertain what allowable medications could be used.

McDargh would have to be retrained before being given air traffic controlling responsibilities, Burlage added.

"He would be closely watched, he would be re-evaluated," Burlage said. "You could judge whether he could hack it or not ... If we brought this man back and he could not perform and wanted to stay, there are administrative jobs that he could perform very well without having to control traffic."

IN MUSEUM DISPLAY—Mrs. Herbert Reed and Mrs. Roy Baze are shown with some of the objects from the Middle east which will be displayed in the Scurry County Museum in conjunction with an oriental rug exhibit. The new exhibit is being coordinated by Mrs. Gene Dulaney. A reception marking the opening of the rug exhibit and of photographs of Cindy McAnally is scheduled from 1 p. m. to 5 p. m. Sunday and the public is invited to attend.

Snake Tries To Swallow Head

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Monty the python was great at parties and had been a friend to Bennett Boggess for years until it opened its jaws and tried to swallow his head, leaving him in shock and with teeth stuck in his forehead.

Rosemary Russell heard an "agonizing scream" and rushed out into the living room where she saw the 14-foot-long snake wrapped tightly around her boyfriend's head.

The python was digging its teeth into Boggess' forehead, Ms. Russell said, and as she watched, it widened its jaw to take in Boggess' entire head.

Ms. Russell and Richard Frank, one of Boggess' roommates, said they were convinced they would have to kill Monty to free Boggess. But after a bloody struggle that lasted a few minutes, the snake relaxed its grip and Boggess got free.

Boggess, 23, now says the next time he feeds his snake he'll make sure two people are on hand.

Monty was still living at home today, but in a cage with 30 pounds of barbells stacked on top for security.

"I've been awake three nights watching the snake cage to make sure it doesn't get out," said Frank, adding that he would love to give the snake away and is trying to talk Boggess out of getting another snake when he eventually gets rid of Monty.

Although Boggess said after the Sept. 30 attack that the snake had just become ornery, a Gainesville expert said the python's behavior was characteristic.

Dear Abby

Resort Owners Tired Of Role as Brother's Keeper

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1981 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Three years ago my husband and I bought a motel and restaurant in a resort area 300 miles north of our hometown. We are both from large families. Our problem is our relatives who come to visit us all summer long.

We give them half-price on rooms and food, but they come when our tourist business is at its peak, and they take up all the rooms that could be rented to tourists for full rate.

Ours is a small but prospering business, and my husband and I run it together. Abby, our parents are welcome anytime, but carloads of aunts, uncles, cousins and their children pile in on us, taking up most of the rooms. Also, after driving so far to see us, they stay for several days expecting us to entertain them in the evenings after we have put in an exhausting 14-hour day!

Is there a nice way to ask them not to come at the height of the season? We just can't find the words. We do love them and don't want them to be mad at us.

US AT THE RESORT

DEAR US: The words you used in your letter say it all — and very well. Love is usually a two-way street. Tell them. If they love you, they will understand.

DEAR ABBY: I want to share with you and your readers an activity my wife and I find to be excellent for releasing tension: boxing!

My wife and I each own a pair of boxing gloves. On those infrequent occasions when we've had a bitter argument over something, we clear out the living room, lace on the gloves and have a go at each other. It enables us to blow off steam and keep our self-defense skills sharp.

We recommend boxing for couples who have lost something in their marriages. It'll put the zip back in!

MIXING IT UP IN MINNEAPOLIS

DEAR MIXING: I'm all for blowing off steam and keeping one's self-defense skills sharp, but wouldn't a couple of punching bags serve the purpose? To each his (and her) own. Me? I'd rather kiss and make up.

DEAR ABBY: Recently a Seattle lawyer wrote to you concerning the problem of aliens marrying U.S. citizens. Your response could be misleading.

A sham marriage, as it is known, involves a conspiracy to avoid the immigration laws, and the alien and/or the citizens can go to the penitentiary for up to five years. Regardless of whether the people say "I love you" to each other, if they are married in name only and not living together ... people know. When the U.S. citizen spouse starts demanding blackmail from the alien ... people know. When people testify against each other because they have had a fight and the citizen spouse is looking for a "cheap divorce" (i.e., deportation) ... people know.

By the way, there is also a statutory presumption in our immigration law, that if a marriage is dissolved within two years after obtaining the immigration benefit, there is a presumption of fraud.

This is a very serious matter, and your response indicated to me that you did not understand just how serious it might be.

HOUSTON LAWYER

DEAR LAWYER: You're right. I didn't. Thanks for setting me straight.

For over 40 years, The Western Company has been providing the kind of service to the energy industry that has earned us the nickname..."The Pacesetter". In order to maintain our leadership role, we need hardworking, dependable, promotable people.

Right now, we have openings for experienced mechanics to maintain our well servicing equipment. You must have at least 2 years experience in diesel, auto or agriculture mechanics, or have a certificate of completion from a trade school. You should also have your own tools and be able to pass a physical exam.

Western has excellent salaries and benefits including a complete dental plan. If you would like to become a "Pacesetter" then we urge you to call 573-2646, Monday through Friday, October 5 through October 9, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and speak with our maintenance supervisor. An equal opportunity employer, m/f.

Funeral arrangements for Mr. Lee were pending this morning at Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

A native of Arkansas, he had lived in the Hermleigh area since 1905.

He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Carrie Lou McQuaid of Hermleigh; a niece, Mrs. Marlene Richburg of Hermleigh, and two great-nephews, Quaid Richburg of Burkburnett and Jay Richburg of Sweetwater.

The New York Mets won the rights to bid for pitcher Tom Seaver's services in 1966 when the then baseball commissioner William Eckert picked their name out of a hat in a special drawing.

Businesses Won't Give More Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's businesses aren't planning substantial increases in contributions to social service and cultural groups despite President Reagan's call for private efforts to make up for government budget cuts.

"It's unrealistic to expect that private corporations and foundations by themselves can replace the total funds groups formerly received from the federal government," said Carl Meyerdirk, director of media relations for Standard Oil Co. (Indiana).

William M. DuVall, president of the Borg-Warner Foundation Inc., said he is convinced business will take up some of the slack, "but no way is private philanthropy going to come up with the amount of federal cutbacks."

Their comments were echoed at other big businesses and private foundations responsible for tens of millions of dollars in donations each year to the arts, humanities and other charities.

Reagan wants the private sector to make up for some of the money being slashed from federal programs and grants. Earlier this week, he announced formation of a task force to "promote private sector leadership and responsibility for solving public needs and to recommend ways of fostering greater public-private partnerships."

The president personally donated $1,000 Thursday to a fund-raising drive supporting 237 charitable causes and used the Oval Office occasion to say: "I think this is part of the whole voluntarism thing we're stressing."

Many business spokesmen interviewed said their companies plan slight increases in contributions to community groups, but most said the increases will not be directly tied to the federal cutbacks.

Others said their firms' giving is linked to earnings; if profits go up, so do contributions. And still others noted that businesses, like the federal government, are trying to tighten their budgets.

Some fear the federal cuts will pit social service organizations against those supporting cultural activities in a new quest for private funds.

8 O'clock In San Angelo...

Tigers Challenge Lake View Tonight

SAN ANGELO -- It's a matter of one team keeping alive and the other earning some pride here tonight as the Chiefs of San Angelo Lake View play host to Snyder's Tigers at 8 o'clock.

The Chiefs are 3-2 on the season. Snyder is 0-4.

Lake View, which narrowly lost to state-ranked Andrews 21-16 for its only defeat in 2-AAAA this year, wants to keep in the title race. Snyder, though not mathmatically out of the running as yet, simply needs a victory.

The Chiefs offer the league's No. 1 defense and No. 5 offense. San Angelo is allowing only 154.4 yards per opponent an outing, and 8.4 points.

Snyder ranks seventh in offense and ninth in defense, giving up 306.8 yards - most of those in their last two outings.

"I still believe we have a good defense," said Snyder Coach George Byerly. "We're giving up the big play too much, though. We'll hold someone for two downs, but on the next play they'll break one on us. A lot of it is inexperience."

Inexperience and lack of depth will make Snyder's challenge a tough one this evening, but, said Byerly, one which the Tigers are capable of overcoming.

Snyder continues to be plagued with injuries, and could suffer from the loss of three starters, who quit the squad after the Sweetwater game. Both have led to some changes in the Tiger lineup, including the quarterback spot where Brent Beck will take over for an injured David Nicholson.

"There wasn't that much difference between Brent and David in the first place," said Byerly. "We just wanted to settle on one quarterback at the start of the season. Brent has had some minor injuries and things that have kept him from being 100 percent."

Despite the fact that Nicholson drew the starting role, Beck has seen frequent action during the season, and is capable of running the Tiger offense. Most of the damage has been done to the defensive unit where coaches will fill holes with Bryan Limmer and Mark Shaw at linebackers, and Glenn Parham and Chad Peterson in the secondary. Ronnie Lindsey, who started at linebacker last week and suffered a strained shoulder, will be able to play tonight, but had not been listed as a starter. He will probably see some action, however. Coaches also plan to test David Delce and Norman Malone at running back on occassion, and Malone at cornerback.

The key to the game may be depth, and Lake View has plenty of that.

"Lake View keeps fresh kids coming at you all the time," said Byerly. "They've got good depth and they use it to their advantage. Hardly anybody plays both ways."

The Chiefs are guided by a quarterback tandem of Rodney Black and Drew Whipple. Black started the season, but Whipple got the nod when Black suffered an injury, and is expected to be the starter tonight.

This evening's contest dates back to 1950 when the Tigers thrashed the Chiefs 34-7. Since that time, the teams have met 25 times, with Snyder holding a 17-7-1 edge. Lake View however, has beaten the Tigers in five of their past six meetings.

Series' Could End Sooner Than Expected

(AP) -- First-half champions Oakland and New York in the American League and second-half winners Houston and Montreal in the National League are one victory away from advancing to the semifinals of major league baseball's first three-tiered playoff season.

The A's and Yankees appear to have the advantage over their NL counterparts with 2-0 leads in the divisional playoffs because they won their two games on the road, at Kansas City and Milwaukee, respectively. New York beat the Brewers 3-0 Thursday and return to Yankee Stadium tonight with Tommy John facing either Pete Vuckovich, hampered by the flu, or Randy Lerch in the East Division playoffs.

Oakland, which beat the Royals 2-1 to take a two-game advantage in the AL West series Wednesday, is at home tonight with Rick Langford opposing Larry Gura.

In the NL, Houston had to travel to Los Angeles, where the Astros lost three games in a row at the end of the 1980 season to force a one-game playoff at Dodger Stadium, won by Houston.

8th Graders Hold Off Lamesa Here

LAMESA -- Snyder eighth grade football teams tied one and won one here last evening. The Black team locked with Lamesa 0-0, while the Gold team won 12-0.

Outstanding offensive players for the Black were Mike McWilliams, Michael Carter, Patrick Malone, Mitch Page, Jackie Anderson, Brent McFarland, Robert May and David Johnson.

Snyder Gold scored one TD as Jimmy Velasquez returned a punt for 55 yards and the other when Justin Webb crossed over from three yards out on a quarterback option.

Top offensive standouts were Webb, Ricky and Jimmy Hunter, Reggie Price, Mark Thompson, Tony Romero, Velasquez, Arturo Martinez (blocked punt), Robert Patterson and Eddie Titus. Outstanding defensive players were Webb (two interceptions), Price, Mark Thompson, Donel Davis, Martinez, Titus, Jake Menix, Kevin Harrison, Velasquez (one interception), Todd Pollard, Patterson, Rusty Radican, John Hamlett and Joe Rodriquez.

The Gold team is 4-0 and has scored 92 points to its opponents' 6.

Cats Blank Lamesa In Two Tilts

Snyder ninth grade grid teams blanked Lamesa here last evening, 34-0 and 22-0. The Cats will host Big Spring next Thursday.

Snyder B defeated the Tornadoes 34-0 as Eddie Ramos broke on three runs. Ramos scored the first TD on an 80 yard run, then ran over the PAT. He then scored on a 65-yard jaunt to make it 14-0.

Snyder then scored on a reverse by James Powell for 45 yards, and a 55-yard scamper by Kenneth Gill. Ramos got the final TD on an 85-yard punt return.

The A squad started off quickly in its 22-0 victory as the Cats sacked a Lamesa ball carrier in the end zone for a safety. Jimmy Cain then ran back the ensuing kickoff for 55 yards and a touchdown. Paul Thompson ran over the extra points.

In the third quarter, Cain hit Willie Greathouse on a 23-yard toss for another TD. Snyder closed out the scoring on a Cain to Abey Munoz pass for 55 yards.

Ira Entertains Eager Coyotes

IRA -- Borden County's Coyotes look to be the first area team to find a victory in the 2-A six-man league here tonight when they take on the Bulldogs of Ira at 7 o'clock.

Elsewhere, Hermleigh hosts district favorite Highland, also at 7.

Borden County, 2-2 for the season, comes into tonight's game with a 2-0 winning streak and a weekend of rest, while Ira is 1-4, having lost its loop opener to McCaulley last weekend.

The Bulldogs, still in contention for the race, need a victory tonight to stay that way, while the Coyotes look to start off the "new" season with a win also.

Hermleigh drew what preseason forecasters expected to be the toughest two 2-A teams around for their opening district games. The Cardinals played Trent tough last week despite falling, and now must entertain last year's champion Highland tonight.

Hermleigh is also 1-4 for the season.

Rodeo Team Set In Sul Ross Event

ALPINE -- Western Texas College rodeo teams are competing in the Sul Ross State University NIRA Rodeo this weekend.

The event began yesterday and continues through Saturday, with a final go-around on Sunday.

WTC men's team will be trying to take an out-right lead in the region after tying with Tarleton State University in the first rodeo of the season.

A rodeo planned for last weekend at Canyon (WTSU) was cancelled.

According to coach Bob Doty, no one will miss the Sul Ross rodeo because of injuries. However, Dave Appleton has a sore knee, resulting from an injury last weekend at a PRCA rodeo at Oklahoma City.

Several team members placed last weekend in the open division of a junior rodeo at the South Plains Fair.

Tommy Poyner won the bareback riding and Russ Smith and Travis Rinehart placed first and third in calf roping. Smith also placed in ribbon roping.

James Zant was 13th at the O.S. roping at Post and Deborah Lewis made the top 10 finalists in the barrel race.

Sul Ross teams usually have dominated their home rodeo's but Doty said the team hopes the change that this year.

Lady Tigers Top 'Stangs

SWEETWATER -- Snyder's Tigers had little trouble winning their ninth District 2-4A volleyball match of the year here last night as Sweetwater succumbed 15-2 and 15-2.

The Tigers return home Saturday to face Fort Stockton in a double-header which could earn them the first-round district championship.

"We played well," said Coach Joyce Elrod, of Snyder's work here last night. "We were able to try some new things out on them and it worked fine."

Snyder was led in serving by Sabrina Robinson with 15 points, followed by Becky Harrell with 6, Kathy Northcott and Shana Koonsman with 3 each, Becky Pylant with 2 and Toni Elrod with 1.

Snyder junior varsity also won here, 15-7 and 15-6. Mona Green served for 9 points, Lisa Loyola 8, Susan Brini 6, Wendy Hodge 4, Lisa McNew 2 and Tracy Fortune 1. Patricia Gregory also played in the match.

The Tigers are 7-0 for the first round of district play and 2-0 for the second. They can increase those numbers by one each Saturday when they meet the Pantherettes in an afternoon two-match session. The first match, a 2 p.m., will count towards the first-half district season and a win for Snyder would give SHS the first half crown. The later match, at 5:30, will count towards the second half of the season.

Snyder JV also plays Fort Stockton on Saturday, at 1 and 4:30 p.m.

"Fort Stockton has been up and down all year, but they've played some good matches," said Elrod. "They beat Lamesa, but later lost to Pecos. They are capable of playing us a good match, but we'll be out to win both of them. We want to win the first half outright and be 3-0 in the second half."

Bears In Must Win Situation

by The Associated Press

The defending champion Baylor Bears, who swept through the Southwest Conference unbeaten a year ago, face virtual elimination Saturday night unless they can rebound against unblemished Southern Methodist in Texas Stadium.

The Bears were eight-point underdogs to the 14th-ranked Mustangs, who are third in the country in scoring offense with an average of 40 points per game.

SMU is third nationally running the ball with an average of 333 yards per contest behind Eric Dickerson, who is averaging 136 yards and Craig James who is averaging 117.

In other SWC matchups, Houston was a field goal choice over Texas A&M at Kyle Field; rejuvenated Texas Christian was a three-point pick over Rice in Houston; and Arkansas was a touchdown favorite to bounce back from the TCU upset to beat Texas Tech in Lubbock.

No. 3-ranked and unbeaten Texas was a field goal underdog to No. 10-rated Oklahoma in the only intersectional game of the weekend.

The Baylor-SMU series has become one of the SWC's wildest with the last six games decided by a total of 27 points.

Baylor overcame a 21-0 deficit last year to beat the Mustangs 32-28.

Frosh Whip Sweetwater

SWEETWATER -- Snyder freshmen advanced their volleyball record to 10-2 with a 15-2 and 15-12 victory over Sweetwater here last evening.

Serving for points were Shana Hart with 11, Sabrina Sullivan with 6, Connye Davis with 4, Lisa Rosas and Shrunda Richardson with 3 each and Becky Gray, Audra Blackard and Linda Martinez 1 each. Jackie Parham, Susan Tully, Roseila Aguirre and Gina Vaughn also played.

Snyder V-Ballers Are Ranked No. 1 In State

Coach Joyce Elrod's Tigers have been ranked No. 1 in the state by the Texas High School Girls Coaches Association (THSGCA).

The defending state champions are 21-4 for the season and 9-0 in District 2-AAAA play.

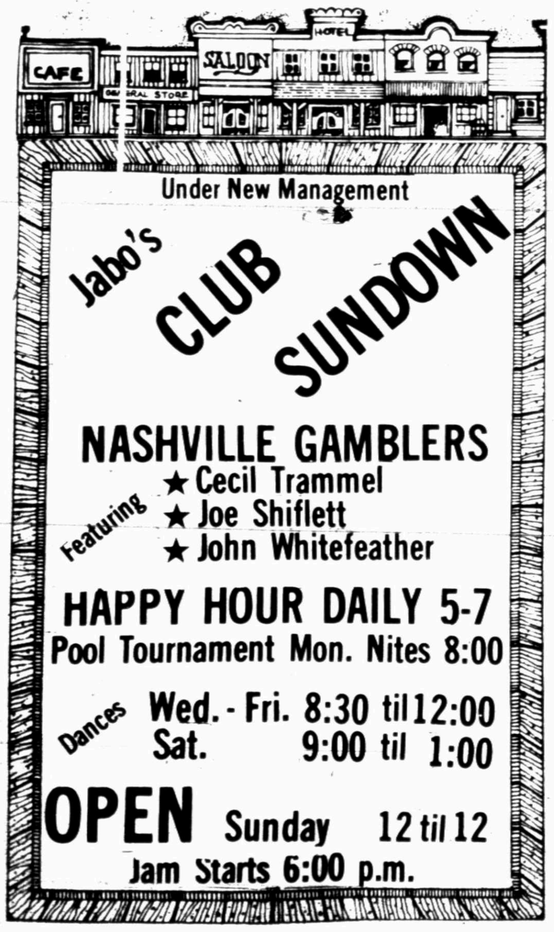

"It has its advantages and disadvantages," said Elrod, who reported the news following Snyder's 15-2, 15-2 victory over Sweetwater last evening. "It boosts our confidence a little to know the other coaches picked us, but everybody always tries to knock off the No. 1 team. I'm sure Monahans is one team that will be out to prove it wrong."

Monahans, top contender in 2-AAAA this year, is ranked No. 5 in the state. Snyder defeated the Loboettes in round-one of district play at home, and must travel to Monahans for their second-round meeting on Oct. 17.

"I think with the kids we have it (the ranking) will be to our advantage. I think they'll be up to the challenge. Some teams would tend to let up a little, but our kids know that what's on paper is one thing, and what happens on the court is something else. But we should handle it well. We've been there before."

The THSGCA Class 4A Top Ten Volleyball Standings:
1. Snyder, 2. Waxahachie, 3. Del Valle, 4. New Braunfels, 5. Monahans, 6. Fort Worth Castleberry, 7. Beaumont South Park, 8. Laredo United, 9. Everman, 10. Gregory-Portland
