Our Town...

By JOE BELL

HOLIDAYS ARE right down our alley, so to speak. We welcome them as a break from the business routine, a chance to loaf, to travel, to fish or swim, take it easy with the family.

We welcome holidays so eagerly, in fact, as a respite from our hurry-up living, we often forget what they really are for... what they commemorate.

Take Saturday, for instance. Call it Independence Day or Fourth of July. It doesn't matter much any more, because for too many of us it will carry little more significance than the loud bang of a firecracker. And come Monday, it may be no more than a sunburned memory for a hot, partly cloudy day when the highway death toll hit or missed a record.

ONE HUNDRED eighty-three years ago, the July 4th of 1776, weather was clear and cool in Philadelphia. At 6 a. m. the temperature was 68 degrees and at 1 p. m., 76 degrees — a farcry from what the thermometer will register Saturday at Lake Colorado City.

But though the weather was cool and calm, the political climate that day, 183 years ago, was turbulent. And the future held probably more uncertainty for life, home, business and country to those concerned than does the atomic age for us today.

That's because rebellion against government is a serious, life or death matter. And July 4, 1776, in Philadelphia was the birth of a rebellion — proclaimed in the Declaration of Independence.

INDEPENDENCE DAY here Saturday — modern USA style — is little more than holiday from business-as-usual. But it is the anniversary date of that declaration which sought to proclaim to the world the cause of American rebels and to rally support of world opinion by supplying moral and legal justification for the revolution.

And we might pause long enough Saturday in our quest of relaxation and recreation to ponder why this cause was important and different from any other rebellion which had swept ruling governments and cliques and classes from their pedestals throughout history.

The difference was proclaimed in the Declaration of Independence with its basic premise that men, all men are "endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights."

Pure and plainly, this means the source of these rights of man is from God. Not from governments nor man-made power nor theories, but from God.

When our government adopts rules or measures which protect civil liberties, government does not confer rights. Instead, it only confirms those rights which belong to man as the son of God.

READ IT in the Declaration of Independence: "That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men."

And notice that in the Constitution, the Preamble states it, too: "We the People of the United States, in order to secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution..."

No, not from government. But from God. Governments, if they are just, only underwrite or secure or safeguard these rights.

GIVE IT a thought, this Fourth of July, if you can... above the roar of the outboard motor, above the clink of glasses, in between romps with the kids or the nap under the air-conditioner. It is this concept, this cause which is the big difference between democracy and totalitarianism. For the Communist in Russia... See OUR TOWN, Pg. 5

JULY FOURTH EVE

Lindley Speaks At Park Event

Annual community-wide Independence Day observance in Christian worship is scheduled Friday night in Ruddick Park's amphitheater.

Special for the special event at 8 p. m. will be Dr. D. Ray Lindley, educator, minister and writer, president-elect of Texas Christian University.

In event of inclement weather, the service will move indoors to First Baptist Church.

An event that has become traditional here in recent years on the eve of July the Fourth, the all-community service is sponsored jointly by Colorado City Ministerial Alliance and Chamber of Commerce.

Seven local ministers representing five different denominations will lead in the special service with Dr. Lindley. Two of these, new ministers in Colorado City, will be making their first public appearances outside their congregations.

Rev. John Brand, ordained and installed Sunday as minister of First Presbyterian Church, will deliver the call to worship. And invocation will be by Rev. Allen Conley, new vicar of All Saints Episcopal Church.

Leading the congregation in litany will be Rev. Kenneth Address, pastor of Buford Baptist Church.

Rev. Jack Selcraig, pastor of First Baptist Church, will lead the evening prayer. Offertory will be Rev. P. D. Sullivan, missionary for Latin-Americans.

Introducing the guest speaker, Dr. Lindley, will be Rev. Don Mecoy, minister of First Christian Church. Benediction will be by Rev. C. C. Beck, president of Ministerial Alliance and pastor of Mt. Zion Baptist Church.

Vocal music will be a quartet composed of Postmaster and Mrs. Arlene Morris, Mrs. Richard Montgomery and Elmer Pickens. The quartet will sing "God of Our Fathers," and Mrs. Montgomery will sing "One World." Accompanist will be Mrs. Curtis Baker.

Prelude and postlude for the service will be organ music by Neal Weatherhogg of Roscoe.

Dr. Lindley, regionally and nationally recognized in the field of religious education, was named vice president of TCU in 1953, appointed executive vice president in 1948 and now has been named to take the office of president at TCU Sept. 1 as Dr. M. E. Sadler becomes chancellor.

He is a native Texan with bachelor of arts degree from Phillips University, a bachelor of divinity degree from TCU and M. A., B. D. and Ph. D. degrees from Yale University. At TCU he was awarded graduate fellowship in Bible two consecutive years and at Yale was graduated magna cum laude.

Coahoma Girl Joins Lake's Injury List

Casualties continue to increase from cuts at Lake Colorado City.

Eleven-year-old Judy Aberegg of Coahoma is the latest on the accident list.

And she remained in Root Memorial Hospital Wednesday as she received treatment for a badly cut knee.

She was cut while in the water at Lake Colorado City Wednesday afternoon. Her injury was severe enough to require hospital attention.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Aberegg of Coahoma, she was on an outing at the lake with friends.

A check at the hospital revealed the girl was the 10th person to be treated there this summer for cuts received at the lake. Others have been treated in doctor offices.

Mrs. Aberegg reported Wednesday her daughter did not know what object in the water injured her Tuesday. The object was not found.

However, in similar accidents some of the cuts have been attributed to broken bottles thrown into the lake.

City Manager R. K. Sneath said it appeared that bottles and other sharp objects had been thrown into the lake when water level was high. Now, that the water is down several feet, broken bottles are being stepped on by people wading in shallow areas.

8 Teams Complete For Industry Drive

Team Work

Checking plans with Bob Robinson, right, for Industrial Team Inc. drive are G. D. Foster, Max Caddell, J. Rolph Lee and James Boyd.

Campaign To Open Monday

Twenty-five business men have accepted assignments on contact units for organization of Colorado City Industrial Team Inc.

They were announced Wednesday by eight unit captains who will serve with them in the organizational drive opening Monday and continuing through July 17.

All but one unit had been completed Wednesday. Staffing of the ninth and final unit was nearing completion.

The eight units already staffed are: Dick Wistrand, Joe M. Gunning and Lewis Williams with unit captain Charles L. Root. Paul Boyd Hunter, Roy Warren and Jay Adams with unit captain O. C. (Osie) Roberts. Jeff Taylor, J. S. (Jay) Craddock Jr. and Bill Carter with unit captain James Boyd.

John T. Merritt, Raymond Perdue and Bud Everett with unit captain Philip Berman.

Jimmy Harrison, Max Caddell and Ernie Larmer with unit captain Ross Daniels.

J. W. (Bill) Randle, Ray Noble and Brady (Pete) Warren with unit captain G. D. Foster.

Sam L. (Buzz) Majors Jr., R. B. Baker and Garlan Green with unit captain George Witten.

R. F. (Bob) Fee, Bob Rely, Henry Lewis and Marvin Miller with unit captain J. Ralph Lee.

Team captains will meet Friday morning at 7 a. m. at a breakfast in Baker Hotel's Colorado Room to check final details for the Team Inc. organizational drive.

Plans also will be mapped earlier — Thursday night — when Chamber of Commerce directors meet.

Industrial Team Inc. is being sponsored by Chamber's industrial committee as a non-profit corporation to assist with industrial development within the community.

Overall campaign chairman for the organization is Charles C. Thompson, president of City National Bank.

Tourists Can Be Industry, Clubs Told

If Colorado City is looking for a new industry, all it has to do is to stop 25 tourists cars.

And those 25 cars of tourists — stopping here for a full day every day for a year — would equal an industry with $100,000 annual payroll.

The tourist-industry statistics were emphasized Friday for Lions and Tuesday for Kiwanians at their luncheons in Civic House by Chamber of Commerce Manager Ernie Larmer.

"Here we are on a transcontinental highway and missing one of our best industries," Larmer said.

"There's money flowing up and down Highway 80. "And we are not getting that money unless we stop those tourists," Larmer added, "and get them to spend their money here."

Larmer said we have everything in our community to get more tourist dollars than we do.

"These are immediate dollars," he explained, "these are new and working dollars every day. And we don't have to wait until we entice a new industry, build and get into production."

Larmer pointed the need for promotion — with local interest and support — for U. S. Highway 80, now being developed into Interstate 20. Promotion of U. S. 180 and others with financing from businesses along the routes "sells" those routes to tourists traveling across the nation.

He also pointed to the Colorado City Museum project as an opportunity for "development." See TOURIST, Pg. 5

65 HERE IN C-CITY

2-Inch Rain Drenches County's North Half

July showed up on the calendar soaking wet Wednesday for Colorado City and a big area of Mitchell County.

Rain that began in the county's northern area Tuesday night, last day of a wet June, extended southward Wednesday morning.

In the county's northern areas rain measurements totaled as high as 2.7 for the night and day moisture.

Here in Colorado City the official measurement was .65. And farther south of the city, the rain dissipated into light showers through Wednesday afternoon.

Wettest place in the county was in the Fairview vicinity, where rain measurements at the home of Mrs. Lon A. Strain was 2.5 inches Wednesday and 20 Tuesday night for a soaking total of 2.7.

Northeast in the China Grove area where farmers have replanted after wind and hail storms, J. D. Hill reported two inches of rain Tuesday night and Wednesday morning.

It was a soaker, too, at China Grove with farmers reporting rain falling slow and steady without damage to crops.

That was the same pattern as reported in the Fairview area.

Louis Small said rain amounted to one inch Wednesday morning at his place in Buford community, just north of Colorado City.

Lorraine reported only a light rain Wednesday, a 10th of an inch. However, two miles north of Lorraine and extending northward the moisture ranged from one to two inches, according to K. L. Taylor at First State Bank in Lorraine.

South of Lorraine the rain gave out with only light showers reported.

Westbrook reported 1.2 inches in total moisture for the day.

Woman With Forgery Gang Gets Probation

Third member of a check forgery gang operating throughout West Texas has been sentenced here.

Mrs. Iona Hucks of Odessa pleaded guilty in 32nd District Court last week and was placed on probation for two years.

She admitted joining in the forging and passing of a $190.09 check here Feb. 21 at Gary Grocery. The check was drawn on a John Drilling Company of Fort Worth.

'PART OF LIFE'

Wife Tells Disadvantages Of Husband On 24-Hour Call

"We're used to it now so we don't think too much about it," stated Mrs. Jimmie D. Bolin of 949 East 15th Street, when asked how it felt to have a husband whose job required 24-hour call duty.

Bolin is employed with Dowell Company in Colorado City, one of the several businesses with 24-hour call.

Mrs. Bolin added that no wife particularly likes to have the phone ring any hour of the night calling her husband to work, but that it was just part of life.

Another somewhat disadvantage in 24-hour duty — when the Bolins leave home, they have to report where they can be reached in case Bolin is needed.

Employees are called to their jobs on the average of three or four times a week between three and five a. m., and they always report at eight o'clock a. m. regardless of night duty.

Mrs. Bolin explained that the wives of the Dowell employees met when their husbands were doing night work and played cards, etc., to pass the time away. She concluded that they especially enjoyed their two-week vacation each summer—because there were no disturbed nights.

Good Reading Opportunities Offered By Local Library

Mrs. Dru Cook, age 88, was named as the oldest borrower from the Colorado Federation Library by Mrs. Roy Dozier, librarian.

As for the youngest, no one receives that honor. There are too many the same age — so young that their mothers have to both select and read the books to them!

Circulation during the later part of May and June has increased by over one-third. Ten days during June the number of borrowers has topped 100 with the number in the 80's and 90's for most of the other days.

As an example of the increased circulation, during the first ten minutes of library hours Tuesday afternoon, 18 books were borrowed and one new member was received.

The oldest book in the library is "Epictetus His Morals with Semplicius His Comment," an English translation from Greek, by George Stanhope, D. D., published in 1700.

Several other antique books are in the files of the library, including "Capital Almanac," 1891; "Travels of World," 1887; "British Arts," 1880's; and "Pilgrim's Progress," 1804.

Mrs. Dozier says that the library strives to obtain the new books, and keep the old favorites, so as to have what the general public wants to read.

The inspirational books receive recognition for both the largest and the smallest books in the local library.

And the most requested book is "Home from the Hill" by William Humphrey, a Texas author, of course.

22 Drivers' Ed Students Enrolled

Twenty-two drivers' education students of Colorado High School are now practicing driving, according to Ron Gurdley, instructor for the eight-week course.

Will We Pass?

Four of the drivers' education students are waiting their turn for the written examination of their driving test. All of the students enrolled in the course passed the examination. These students are, left to right, seated, Charlotte Nuckolls and Sandy Landau, and standing, David Lewis and Bobby Nobles.

TOURIST ...
Local citizens are prone to consider the lore and historic items that would be housed in the museum as things we take for granted. But he reminded the Lions and Kiwanians of the various stops they've made on the highway to tourist sites only because they were there and advertised.
"I believe with a permanently operated museum here with the hundreds of articles I know we could display," Larmer said, "we could stop 1,000 tourists per month."
He listed the Permian Basin discovery oil well at Westbrook as another tourist attraction that is being publicized in pamphlets being prepared for distribution by the Chamber of Commerce. One thousand copies of the discovery well story were distributed first as a test program and the demand for the pamphlets was quick.

Funeral for Brother of Mrs. Sandusky

Funeral service was conducted recently in McAllen for William C. (Rube) Geers, brother of Mrs. L. W. Sandusky, 340 E. Fifth St. and former U. S. Marshal.
Geers, 86, died at his home in McAllen and interment was in that city.
He was U. S. Marshal for western district of Oklahoma during the period of the Urshel kidnaping and bank robbing exploits of Pretty Boy Floyd.
And he was the marshal who placed George (Machine Gun) Kelly and Mrs. Kathryn Kelley in jail after their capture for kidnaping the Oklahoma City oil millionaire, Charles F. Urschel, in 1933.
A native of Denton, he published newspapers in several small Texas towns before becoming editor of Tishomingo Capital-Democrat in Oklahoma in 1920. A printer's devil in his Tishomingo printing shop was Johnston Murray, who later became governor of Oklahoma.
After serving as marshal from 1933 to 1937, he ranched near Denton and then purchased orchards in McAllen, where he moved, 10 years ago.
Survivors, in addition to the widow and Mrs. Sandusky are two other sisters, Mrs. John G. Rix of Dallas and Mrs. A. E. Ewell of Memphis.

sia or Red China, his government is the source of his rights. His government grants his rights or takes them away.
But with you and I—under this concept of government declared on that cool Fourth of July 183 years ago—the rights of man — all men — are unalienable.
These come from the Creator — not from a president nor a congress nor a court. And, therefore, they cannot be sold, conveyed or made over to another.
This concept in government can be more powerful than bombs and bullets — all around the world — if we can really grasp its significance and live it for all to see and feel.

WHITE SOX MOVE UP

Athletics Keep Warm Pace in Pony League

By RONNY GURLEY
Record Sports Writer

The Athletics continued their torrid pace with a 11-7 victory over the Cards in Pony League slugfest Monday night.

The last game of the evening the White Sox made it two straight by rapping the Braves 8-6.

Last Thursday encounters saw the Athletics rally past the Braves on a bevy of walks and a two-base smash by Dale Walker to help keep the Athletics an unblemished record and give them a 7-4 victory. In last Thursday's nightcap the White Sox staged big-run fifth and sixth innings to overcome a four run deficit amassed by the Cards in first frame and, thus earn a 12-8 triumph.

Monday's initial game saw the power packed Athletics collect seven hits and capitalize on three Card miscues to surge past the faltering Cards, settling them deeper into third place. The Cards did a creditable job at the plate collecting seven hits, featuring a two run triple by shortstop Carlton Fisher in the first.

Tonight's contests pit the league leading Athletics against the improving White Sox. The third place Cards will tangle with last place Braves to round out this week's action.

Dillard swept the first two sets against Grubbs and appeared on the way to the tourney title. But the State Highway employe made a determined comeback to sweep the next three sets.

Grubbs turned the tied with a 6-2 margin in the third set, then squeezed through with a 7-5 count in the fourth set.

And in the fifth and deciding set, he breezed along without the loss of a game, winning 6-0.

Up and down was the pattern for the championship match between Reece-Brown and Lady-Berman in the doubles competition. It was one of the most closely contested matches of the entire tournament.

Reece and Brown opened with a 6-3 margin in the first, then dropped the second by the same identical score.

However, Lady and Berman couldn't keep the victory streak going and Reece and Brown earned a 6-3 margin in the third set.

After Reece and Brown had led four games to one in the fourth set, Lady and Berman rallied to take the final five games for a 6-4 edge.

In the final and deciding fifth set, Reece and Brown jumped to a 2-0 lead, then were tied 2-all. But Lady and Berman couldn't quite muster the power and Reece and Brown emerged with another 6-3 margin for the championship.

Second St.—No Picnic For Pedestrian

This is the season for extra emphasis on traffic safety for the highway traveler. Prompting the special warnings, of course, is the Fourth of July weekend which is upon us.

Motorcade on our highways merits the astute attention of traffic and safety engineers, the concern and do-something-about-it attitude of the general public. For this fatal "disease" kills more than wars.

But while the accent for publicity spotlights the dangers of cross-country traffic upon our highways, we need attention right here in town with cross-country traffic zooming along our city's No. 1 downtown thoroughfare.

And a second look could be taken, too, at the same problem on State Highway 208 route on Hickory.

Huge transport trucks, especially, make a habit of zooming along Second St., the downtown U. S. 80 route, with little regard for pedestrians, shopping traffic or, much less, the traffic signals which flash red across their path.

More than one citizen, too, has reported checking the speed of big trucks on Hickory St. at more than 60 miles per hour in the vicinity of Colorado Junior High.

We would be the last to discourage highway traffic within the vicinity of Colorado City because it is part of us here on the coast-to-coast route that is to be Interstate 20.

But at the same time a pedestrian should be able to cross main street without jeopardizing his life.

Labor's Cancer

The Record would be the last to support union-busting legislation on state or national level. For organized labor, on the whole, has served well its cause and, thus, accomplished fine service for our nation's industry and society.

But there are those who are unscrupulous and who do not play by the rules. These breed rackets in labor which become entrenched and which soak up profits.

The issue now is before Congress and the American people and we agree with those who declare this issue is something more than just labor reform. It has reached the point of how to eliminate from our economic and social system a deadly cancer that thrives on force, threats of force, illegal agreements and secret doing without competition.

There is serious doubt racketeering unions could ever exist without the aid of collusion of unethical business and industrial interests.

So it resolves to this: Congress needs to take action on this cancerous problem. And it appears that law-abiding labor and law-abiding business will have to raise a louder voice if that action is forthcoming now.

Medical doctors here are concerned with the increasing number of persons being severely cut on broken bottles being wading or swimming at Lake Colorado City. These injuries are serious. And a campaign is in order to keep careless persons from discarding bottles and the likes in the water.

It Ought to Be Some Contest

WASHINGTON REPORT

Farmers Are Left Holding the Bag

By CLINTON DAVIDSON
Record Correspondent

Barring something entirely unexpected now, this Congress will adjourn in a couple of months without having taken any positive action toward solving our most critical domestic problem.

It will leave the problem of an ineffective farm program almost untouched. It will have appropriated almost $7 billion to continue a program a lot of people think is neither working or workable.

Some taxpayers are grumbling and farmers are not happy. Food prices have been rising for some time while, at the same time, farmers' prices and income have been going down. No one is getting his "money's worth" out of the tax dollars being spent.

What happened, and why? In the first place farm production has been increasing for several years more rapidly than demand for those products. Result: Almost $10 billion worth of excess supplies, mostly owned by the government.

The failure to make a substantial revision in farm laws this year leaves both taxpayers and farmers "holding the bag." No one benefits from the failure to act.

President Eisenhower sent Congress a message in January outlining in general the kind of farm legislation he would accept and what he would veto. The essence of the message was: Get the government out of price supports and production controls.

Congress refuse even to consider such a course. To do so, it insisted, would bankrupt farmers and plunge the country into a farm-led and farm-fed depression.

Congress blames Agriculture Secretary Ezra Benson on two counts. First, his insistence that it accept the President's suggestions or face a veto. Second, his unwillingness to cooperate in working out compromise legislation.

Benson, on the other hand, charges that Congress is derelict in its duty in not sending a "workable program" to the White House. Probably, there is some justification for both the opposing views.

No one here expects any improvement in the farm situation during the next 12 months. Rather, the expectation is that surpluses will increase, farm prices will continue to go down, and farm program costs will go higher.

From 1933 to 1952 Agriculture Department expenditures totaled $25.2 billion. From 1953 to date Congress has appropriated $35 billion for USDA operations. Even that failed to prevent a one-third decline in farm income.

The inevitable result of inaction will be a continued drift toward lower farm income and higher government costs. Millions of people in both small towns where farmers trade and in big city factories that sell to farmers will feel the pinch to reduced farm buying power.

Action must be taken soon to meet the crisis on the farm if we are to avoid a continuation of the present deplorable situation. The need is for more farm statesmanship both in Congress and the Administration.

Results in Special Session To Reach far Beyond Taxes

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association
Much more than just taxes is being written now at the State Capitol.

Political careers are being shaped — or broken. Climate is being determined for business development — or freeze. Cost of living for every Texan is involved.

That's what the edginess, temperament, fussing and name-calling is all about right now.

Seldom, if ever before, have lawmakers been so sensitive to criticism — from governor, from press, from public.

For the first time in years, the House met on a Saturday (June 20) to work on the long overdue tax bill. Knuckling down had come reluctantly — but surely — after governor and press had chided lawmakers for long Thursday-to-Monday recesses during the short 30-day special sessions. Lawmakers fused back earlier in that week — but they stayed late.

For the most part, the fussing was all bark and little bite. House members who threatened to evict Capitol quarters and House floor press table in reprisal weren't taken seriously. Reporting of legislative affairs is fundamental to the democratic processes — and no one realizes it better than do law-makers.

In brief: pressures mounted . . . a safety valve blew . . . and work was resumed in earnest.

NEW TAX PROPOSAL — A 2 per cent "luxury tax" on items costing more than $50 was a principal new feature of a House committee-approved revenue bill.

Tax committee voted 12-to-6 to send the bill by Rep. Frates Seelingson of San Antonio to the House floor. But on the floor, House members voted it into defeat.

Like several previous bills, it was an attempt to compromise — the conflicts between the "sales taxers" and "business taxers." It would raise an estimated $170,000,000 for the biennium.

About $36,000,000 would have come from the luxury sales tax. About $6,000,000 would come from a one per cent severance beneficiary tax on natural gas, and about $13,000,000 from increased franchise taxes on corporations.

Rest would come from increased levies on gross receipts of utilities and sales of automobiles, tobacco, wine and liquor.

In the showdown on taxes last session, the House refused to approve a bill heavy on sales taxes. Some committee members voted disapproval of loading too much of the new burden on business. They feel heavy business taxes would shut out industry and cut off the source of new prosperity.

SPENDING BILLS — Both houses re-passed the appropriations bills that went through the first special session.

They went to same conference committee that against this bill on grounds that a 2 per cent sales tax, even though it was only on $50 or more items, would be ruinously unpopular.

A majority of the Senate, worked before to adjust differences. House bill was $100,000,000 higher.

Conference committee reportedly did most of the re-line work on the bills and set them aside until a tax bill could be passed to make spending possibilities more definite.

STILL FEUDING — Abandoned property bill, which provoked some of the most heated legislative debate this year, is having its third round.

Rep. James Bates of Edinburg, sponsor, told the House tax committee the bill wouldn't change the escheat laws that have been on the statute books for years. He declared it would make the old law more workable.

Bates' bill, as introduced this session, would require banks and others holding money or property unclaimed for seven years, to report it to the state within 60 days after passage of the bill.

It also would give state agencies authority to examine the books and records of businesses to see if they are holding such property. Bankers labeled it a "free hunting license into all bank accounts" and "unconstitutional search and seizure."

Bill was sent to subcommittee.

STUDENT FEE BILL — Making progress in its second legislative round is a bill that would allow state colleges to require students to pay an activity fee. Similar bill died in the first special session.

It would allow the colleges to make mandatory a student fee of $2.50 monthly. This would pay for campus services as hospital and medical care, book rentals, student publications and tickets to athletic and cultural events.

College presidents are supporting the bill. Those from smaller schools, particularly, say they need the extra revenue to stay in the black on these activities.

Spokesmen for student groups opposed. They said proper students would rather do without these services than pay the fees.

Senate Finance committee, leaned toward the president's view, voted the bill out by a 2-to-1 majority.

NEW BEACH BILL — Senate has a simplified substitute for Rep. Robert Eckhardt's bill to protect public beaches.

New bill says that no one shall get in the way of the public's right to go to and from public beaches. It leaves to the courts the job of defining where the line is between public and private ownership along the coast.

At first glance, this might seem like a sound idea. A man's loafing on the job, make him pay back part of his wages. A Legislature takes six months to pass a tax bill when it could have been done in three, sue the members for half their pay.

But there are other angles to it. For example, take a Legislature. It takes six months to pass a tax bill when it could have been done in three, it's true the government loses three months of taxes, but on the other hand, you've got to remember, the taxpayers gain three months. This is worth thinking about.

And just because a government worker is working is no sign the people are better off than if he was loafing. A lot of people for example object when a bunch of Congressmen go off on a trip to Europe, but I've sometimes felt it was cheaper in the long run to keep some Congressmen in Europe than Washington.

It's not how long a session of the Legislature takes that worries me. It's how much it takes, when the tax bills are written.

You start suing people for not working and I know one farmer and occasionally some editors who'll be looking for the best defense lawyers they can find.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Overtime Pay for Work Not Done?

Editor's note: The Shinnery Flats Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Bone Hollow Creek sounds like he's afraid somebody may try to make him work. We doubt it.

Dear editor:

I'm not opposed to new ideas, as long as they're sound, and you and I both know by sound I mean any idea that's convenient for you and me to live with. But when a new idea is hatched up by some smart-aleck that threatens the very way of our existence, it's time to strike back.

I read in a newspaper yesterday afternoon which blew off my tractor seat while I went to the house for a drink of water — the paper was left to keep the sun off the seat while I was gone and since by then the seat was too hot to use and no chance of a cloud coming by to change it, I took it to a shade tree and read.

At any rate, to get on with this sentence, I read where the Federal government has sued an employe for $4,000 in wages he'd gotten but didn't work for. According to the trial testimony, the employe spent half his time loafing in a nearby club, and the government fired him and sued him for half his wages for the past year.

LOCAL BUSINESS

Business Has Its Hitchhikers, Too

By ROY V. FOX
Record Co-Publisher

What is an advertising hitchhiker? The manager of a department store in a small city recently identified an advertising hitchhiker as a merchant who exists on the advertising of his fellow retailers.

"For instance," he said "a couple of shops adjoining my store do a scant survival trade by hitchhiking on our advertising. Their business consists mainly of incidental purchases made by customers which our advertising draws to that side of the block.

"Strangely enough," the store owner said, "both of the stores carry good lines and maintain low prices. We don't begrudge them the free ride, but we do think they are foolish.

"Even a small amount of advertising would bring some primary shopping to their stores. The increase in traffic would help us as well as themselves," he explained.

The retail executive added that every community has a large number of advertising hitchhikers. He said that the typical advertising hitchhiker did not realize that he was taking a ride on the promotional efforts of other merchants.

No one here expects any improvement in the farm situation during the next 12 months. Rather, the expectation is that surpluses will increase, farm prices will continue to go down, and farm program costs will go higher.

The non-advertiser seems to think that a trade center is created by an act of God," the executive said, "and that shoppers drift into a store by a process of osmosis. They can't understand the fact that activity in a trade center is a reflection of the combined advertising effort of all progressive retailers."

Like other hitchhikers, the advertising hitchhiker may be identified in most communities as an enterprise which is being passed by prosperity — and, too often, here today and gone tomorrow.

The merchant who can not understand that consistent investment in promotion helps his business and the whole community, cannot expect a full share of prosperity.

BIBLE COMMENT

Jesus' Humanity Recorded in John

It is noteworthy that the Gospel of John, which proclaims the divine nature of Jesus of Nazareth as the eternal Christ, the Word which was in the beginning with God, and which was God — doctrinal facts which it is hard for the human mind to comprehend — presents the human Jesus, the man among men, in incidents as vivid as and even more revealing than any thing in the former three synoptic Gospels.

Perhaps the most striking incident in the human contacts of Jesus, recorded only in John's Gospel, is the long story of the meeting of Jesus with the Woman of Samaria. The most significant point of the story is in what Jesus

Day and Lemmon In Palace Feature

Doris Day, film's top comedienne today, combines with funnyman Jack Lemmon and Ernie Kovacs in Columbia Pictures' delightful new Eastman Color romance, "It Happened to Jane," opening Sunday at the Palace Theatre.

A heartwarming, sometimes roistering and always enjoyable story of a girl from Maine who tangles with a railroad tycoon from New York, the new comedy is said to be a felicitous entertainment indeed, warm and human and memorable as "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town" and others of that classic vein.

The fight starts when a shipment of lobsters from Doris Day is mishandled as a result of railroad tycoon Kovacs' penny-pinching; Doris wants triple damages, sues and wins.

This is too much for Kovacs; he plans an appeal. Doris and her lawyer, Lemmon, attach one of Kovacs' locomotives. Kovacs promptly gives the dilapidated old engine to the girl but he just as promptly charges her rent when it remains on his tracks. To raise the money, Doris goes on network television.

From here on in, "It Happened to Jane" reportedly gets wilder and funnier by the minute. Or, since a railroad is involved, by the mile!

Screen Romancers

Richard Quine produced and directed, with Martin Melcher as executive producer of the Arwin Production. Max Wilk and Norman Katkov wrote the original story for "It Happened to Jane" and Katkov penned the screenplay.

for Want of a Nail

*For want of a nail, a shoe was lost;
For want of a shoe, a horse was lost;
For want of a horse, a rider was lost;
For want of a rider, a kingdom was lost.*

THROUGH the centuries this bit of philosophy has been used to bring home a fact we've all observed . . . how an insignificant event can lead to more and more important occurrences . . . and eventually to great calamities . . . or to great good.

Trade in Colorado City

so your dollars will work longer for you

The casual purchase of a pair of shoes . . . a garden hose . . . an occasional chair . . . a tube of toothpaste . . . multiplied thousands of times . . . is the base upon which the prosperity of every community is erected.

Better-paying jobs, more profitable business, more valuable property . . . better schools, stronger churches, fuller living . . . depend on these thousands of little transactions . . . each important as each brick is important in a great structure, and as the fabled nail was important to all the people of a great kingdom.

One drop of water out of the ocean makes the ocean smaller; every penny of local money that is spent in some other town makes this community smaller and less prosperous . . . and every penny that is spent here at home means a little better living in a little better place to live for all of us who make our homes here.

By VEEN SANFORD

We are in the midst of the fishing season, but there is no better time to talk about quail. The size of our quail crop for next season is being determined right now.

Already young birds are being hatched off and are beginning to run around. Their future depends on many things. First, the weather must be favorable. If they are able to survive the elements, there is the predator problem. House cats are about the worst.

After a quail is grown, or nearly so, it becomes a food problem. By that time usually the hot dry weather has begun. The quail requires cover and protection. It has been living almost entirely on green stuff. Seeds haven't ripened as yet.

All this adds up to the quail having a pretty rough time surviving. Then by September, when the dove season begins, there'll be a few trigger happy, reckless and irresponsible hunters who'll pot a few for the skillet.

Texas is lucky to have a favorable quail season. Some states still consider them as song birds and do not permit their harvest. Strangely enough, the quail survival and carry-over in those states is no greater than in the states where we do have a legal harvest.

Landowners have done a great deal for the quail within the last few years. They have realized that quail can be a money crop.

They have planted cover crops and feed. They watch over the birds and try to prevent predation. In addition, several thousand birds are produced each year at the state game farm in Tyler. These quail are available to land owners at 50 cents each. That's about half the price of production.

Still another asset is the shooting resort which produces pen hatched quail for release to shooters during the breeding season. During the past year these resorts became more popular, and for the next season there will be a number of them scattered throughout the state.

If you are interested in increasing your own quail stand, get in touch with your game warden. He can tell you just what to do.

Another surprising, yet pleasing, report on the quail situation comes from North-Central Texas.

There was a heavy rat infestation in that area during the late fall and early winter. They were in direct competition with the quail for food. The rats usually got to the table first, and as a result, the quail suffered heavily.

Fortunately, however, the winter wasn't too severe. The carry-over has been much larger than expected, according to wildlife workers. If the reproduction this season is good, we may have another bumper quail crop this fall.

A word of advice to motorists. Be careful in driving along the roads, to let mother quail and her covey of chicks get across the highway. Some automobile drivers plow through these little broods, killing off almost an entire hatch.

Game department biologists predict a heavy population of furbearers this year, too. In fact, it looks like we may have a good hunting season all around.

Speaking of hunting, Raymond Davee, game warden at Zapata, recently called a mountain lion with one of the Burnham Brothers wolf calls. He and another man were working in known wolf territory. Davee was working the caller when the lion came into view. His companion snapped a shot, but missed.

The Burnhams, hunting in Mexico earlier in the year, had a similar experience. Looks like the mountain lion has a fix on these callers. Incidentally, the Burnham call is made at Marble Falls. They are sold nation-wide and have been responsible for the death of many predators.

We might also drop the hint that snakes are just about as plentiful this year as we've seen them for a long time.

Use utmost care when going afield, or even in the water. There are only four real poisonous snakes in Texas — the moccasin, rattler, copperhead and coral. The others may give you a scare, but generally they are considered harmless.

Many woodmen carry a snake bite kit with them, and I don't mean the kind that comes in a bottle pocket size Gutter Kit . . . not whiskey. Doctors warn strongly against the use of whiskey. By all means don't take a drink of liquor, as alcohol speeds up action of the heart. This moves the venom-filled flood faster through the body.

If you are bitten by a snake, get to a doctor quickly. (But don't run or get overly excited.) He can save your life, although you may be a very sick person for a few days.

Have you dropped a few flower seeds by the wayside yet this year? Last year we mentioned a fellow who carries a packet of flower seed every time he goes onto the lake. He scatters them at some likely looking spot along the shore.

Right now the wild flowers are in profusion. Later in the year however, some zinnias along the lake shore will be very attractive.

Another fellow we know spread out a few yellow canas. He says next year he plans to set out a few running roses on the creek bank. Sounds like a good idea.

WOOL, LAMB PAY SET

Excess Cotton's Rate Set at 19.1

Rate for excess cotton and incentive payments for eligible shorn wool and unshorn lambs were announced here Saturday by Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office.

Allen W. Worley, ASC office manager, said the rate for excess cotton in the 1959 cotton program will be 19.1 cents per pound.

This rate is for all cotton in excess of either Choice A or B in the marketing and acreage allotment program.

Incentive level for eligible shorn wool during the current marketing year is 70.3 cents, Worley reported.

Payment for unshorn lambs marketed during the same current period is $1.02 per hundred weight. The wool and lamb payment levels are on net proceeds basis, less market deductions and other costs.

Worley reminded farmers and ranchers that the annual wheat referendum is scheduled for July 23.

And July 1, Wednesday, is the last day to request a new grower wheat allotment for 1960. A producer who intends to seed wheat for 1960 on a farm on which no wheat was seeded for harvest as grain in either 1958 or 1959 and who desires to be considered for an allotment, must make application in writing to the ASC office by July 1. Applications forms are available at the ASC office.

"TIME WILL REVEAL EVERYTHING"

Quotation by Euripides

Scientists predict the recently perfected "miracle drugs", are just the beginning of the many new discoveries time will reveal to us.

Up to 10% of the sales of prescription medicines is set aside by the pharmaceutical manufacturers for research to create better drugs. Every prescription you get is helping in the discovery of future drugs.

How wonderful that modern prescriptions, which already saves so many lives, lessens sickness-time and cost so little for what they accomplish, are also helping future generations. Your children will live longer, healthier lives because of today's research.

Mr. Tax-payer:

Which of these pipes will your city use?

Texas-made Lone Star cast iron pressure pipe will last over a hundred years!

The use of cheap substitutes, such as foreign-made cement-astbestos pipe, is wasteful and means probable replacement in a very few years. (This pipe was taken from a Texas city's water system. Photo is unretouched.)

Officials of most Texas municipalities know that when they buy and install cast iron pipe they are helping to support the American economy and the high standard of living we all enjoy. They are buying products made in America for use by Americans. They are not fooled by the slightly lower initial cost of foreign goods because they realize that this "paper savings" will be more than offset by the cost of excessive maintenance.

Domestic cast iron pressure pipe is time-honored, centuries-proved, and is backed by strong, resourceful American companies that will be in business for years on end to guarantee their product.

Really, who backs foreign-made pipe? Who answers for it when it fails? To whom will the few ill-advised pipe-buyers look for the answers to these questions when trouble develops? Were they penny wise and pound foolish?

Take a look at some of these important factors back of the initial price tag, then pick up the telephone and call the first city official you think of and tell him you appreciate his good judgment in buying American-made cast iron pipe with your tax dollars. If he has been buying Lone Star pipe, tell him that we, too, appreciate the business!

Cast iron pipe, such as Lone Star's dependable pressure pipe, will last for over a hundred years. It saves millions in tax dollars by eliminating repeated repairs that are inherent in cheap, foreign-made substitutes. Lone Star pipe bears the "quality check" of the Cast Iron Pipe Research Association and the approval of Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc.

Be on the lookout for mildew and hoppers in the dahlia bed. Where mildew appears on crapemyrtle, dust it with sulphur.

The violet border often is the first casualty of red spider. If the leaves are beginning to turn brown it is a good sign that the pesky red spider is there and has started the attack.

If not cared for immediately, these old-fashioned favorite plantings will be lost.

Cut off the foliage to the ground and give the new leaves a chance to grow. Mulch violets along with the other garden plants. Even if they are watered regularly they need protection from the heat.

Peat moss is a good mulch for small plants as it is easily handled and sifts down easily without becoming too heavy.

Sweet peas and bachelor's buttons require continual picking and watering to prolong their flowering.

Roses need thorough watering and mulching. Mildew attacks often come from poor soil or drought; dusting with sulphur may help to clear it up.

When watering do not simply sprinkle the plants. This inadequate method of watering brings the roots to the surface looking for moisture. They are injured by the hot sunshine when they are too close to the surface. Cut off faded roses regularly, leaving at least two leafy joints where more blooms can develop.

Bird baths are so well patronized these days that they need daily care.

Plant zinnias, asters and marigolds for the second time if there is a border in need of fall color.

Iris can be transplanted now — if you can find them after their foliage wilts. Watch the market for a new variety of iris you have been wanting and plant it. You will be glad you did next spring when it blooms.

Poinsettias will take a light feeding and regular watering. It is too early for chrysanthemums to start budding, but they often do become over zealous and their first buds should be removed.

Annuals will be slightly the worse for the weather now with their flowers going to seed as fast as we can catch them. To rally a second crop, deprive them of all blossoms, cultivate lightly, and nurture with liquid fertilizer.
