Lunar Explorer Goes Into Moon Orbit

SANDRA WARD LINDA BOLLINGER

Five Beauties In FB Queen's Race

Five candidates have entered the Scurry County Farm Bureau Queen contest scheduled for Thursday night in the Snyder High School auditorium.

Entries in the contest will be accepted at the Farm Bureau Office on the East Highway through Monday. The contest is open to girls between the ages of 16 and 22, and each contestant's father, or brother, must be a member of the Farm Bureau and be actively engaged in farming.

The five candidates so far are:

Sandra Ward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis L. Ward, Route 2, Snyder; Linda Bollinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dorwin Bollinger, Route 2, Snyder; Renoka Hooker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hooker, Ira; Susie Rasco, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Rasco, Ira; and Renee Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Patterson, Route 1, Snyder.

The contest is set for 6 p.m. Thursday and it will be followed by a barbecue in the Towle Park Barn at 8 p.m. Master of ceremonies will be Horace McQueen of Lubbock.

Miss Ward will be a senior at Hermleigh High School this fall. During the summer she is attending beauty school. She is a member of the National Beta Club and president of the Hermleigh High Future Homemakers of America Chapter. Following graduation she plans to attend McMurry College.

Miss Bollinger, 17, also will be a senior at Hermleigh High. She is a member of the Beta Club, the FHA chapter and has participated in the pep squad, basketball and track. She plans to attend Texas Tech and major in homemaking.

Miss Hooker, a graduate of Ira High School as highest ranking girl in her class, is now attending Hardin-Simmons University where she played on the varsity basketball team. She also was a candidate for Farm Bureau Queen in 1966.

Miss Rasco, 16, will be a junior at Ira High School this fall. Her hobbies include sports in school and horseback riding.

Miss Patterson, 16, will be a junior at Snyder High School. She is a member of the A Cappela Choir. She is pianist at Union Baptist Church and is secretary of the Mitchell-Scurry Baptist Youth Rally Association. Her hobbies include writing, sewing and playing the piano.

Jimmy Joe Key, chairman of the Farm Bureau Young People's Committee, also is chairman of the Queen's contest committee. Other members of the committee are Mrs. Billie Jean Sterling, Mrs. Della Light and Mrs. Billie Jo Sterling.

PASS THE BABY, PLEASE — No, baby wasn't on the menu. It just turned out that Mr. and Mrs. Chris Holder of Portland, Ore., couldn't get a babysitter. But that didn't stop them from going to a company picnic at Oregon's Champoeg State Park. (AP Wirephoto)

Investigates Radiation

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Slowed by a jolting blast from a braking rocket, America's Lunar Explorer satellite swooped into an orbit about the moon today.

The spacecraft, launched is designed to investigate radiation and other potential hazards to moon-bound astronauts.

At 5:19 a.m. today, as Lunar Explorer neared the end of its age, a station at NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center, Greenbelt, Md., sent a radio signal to trigger the retrorocket.

The motor fired with a 23second burst to slow the speed of the 230-pound payload from 5,440 to 2,040 miles an hour. The slowdown enabled the moon's gravitational field to tug the Explorer into an orbit about the mon.

Two hours later a Goodard spokesman reported the craft had settled into the lunar surface. The satellite requires 11.4 hours to make each circuit.

"All experiments are working, and it looks beautiful," the spokesman reported.

The retrorocket was ignited when the payload was about 4,200 miles from the moon.

For the next two to three years, the craft, officially named Explorer 35, is to radio information on radiation, cosmic dust, solar winds, the strength of the moon's magnetic field and other properties of the lunar envionment. No camera is aboard.

The information could help perfect a warning system to protect moon-bound astronauts from radiation-producing flare explosions on the sun; detemine if solar winds create a potentially dangerous shock wave near the moon and learn whether the earth's long magnetic tail could serve as a "cocoon" to shield spacemen from radiation.

The space agency planned to use the data in plarning project Apollo manned lunar landing flights. It could tell what type shieding is needed against radiation and also plot the safest periods to schedule astronaut trips.

Rodeo Pace Faster

Clearing skies brought out a large crowd for the second performance of the 31st annual Scurry County Rodeo Friday night and the spectators cheered the contestants on to better performances.

Firmer turf in the arena also contributed to the better times.

Jim Whitfield, Big Spring cowboy, tallied a 61 in the bareback bronc riding event. He was the only contestant to score in the second night, and his score was better than any posted the previous night.

Such ornery critters as Mexican Joe, Black Magic and Jessie James proved to be too wild for the contestants to ride. Six entrants failed to score: Johnny Back of Abilene, Leland Raley of El Paso, Rust Manning of Snyder, Roy Alexander of Odessa, and Dewayne Richters and Ronny Walker, both of Coahoma.

Saddle bronc riders made their debut Friday night with Johnny Gass of New Deal staying aboard "B-8" long enough to post 57 points. He edged Lubbock's Sam Groves, who rode Yellow Jacket for 56 points. Snyder's Jack Goswick failed to score on Big 3.

Competition in the bull riding event was close with only four points separating four riders who scored: Bobby Ball, Lubbock, 55; Charles Northcutt, Colorado City, 53; Jerry Harris, Lubbock, 52; and, Roy Wallace, Midland, 51.

Ball's 55 points topped the 54 high posted Thursday night by Odessa's Gary Wood.

Seven riders did not post any points in the bull riding event: Russ Manning, Sam Head and Emmitt Hataway, all of Snyder; Jerry Kidd of Odessa, Melvin Lewis of Abilene, Wendy Stoneman of Lubbock, and Leland Raley of El Paso.

Competition in the girls barrel race couldn't have been much closer with four girls bettering 20 flat. Times recorded in this event the previous night did not count in the official standings due to the muddy condition of the arena.

Gladys Pinkert of Ropes and Jo Lene Gleghorn of Levelland shared the lead Friday night with identical times of 19.1. Jenny Voss of Snyder recorded a 19.4 for second place, and her mother, Marie Voss, took third with 19.7.

Post's Jo Myers was credited with a 20.3 while two Snyder girls, Donna Parks and Luann Parks, posted 21.6 and 22.9 times respectively. Connie Springer, also of Snyder, had a 24.5 after her horse knocked over a barrel.

Two cowboys beat the 16.7 clocking registered by Connie Gibbs of Winters in the calf roping event Wednesday night. Don Hicks of Levelland took over the lead with a 13.8, and Wayne Cornelius of Ralls lassoed and tied up his animal in 15.5.

Scores of other contestants in the calf roping event: Jack Weston, Fort Sumner, N. M., 17.4; Johnny Hughes, Big Spring, 19.0; Sam Rush, Levelland, 23.2; Rex Prather, Post, 27.2 (crashed barricade); J. L. Hedrick, Post, 28.8 (crashed barricade); Butch McMillan, Levelland, 39.2 (crashed barricade); and Bobby Terry, Lubbock, 33.7. Five ropers did not post any times: J. D. Inskeep of Midland, Sonny Anderson of Gail, Richard Hart of Post, Terry Riddle of Wichita Falls and Bill Zimmerman of Snyder.

Zimmerman fared better in the stockholder's roping event, placing second with a 24.1 behind Riley Miller, also of Snyder, who posted a 22.3.

Other results in the stockholder's roping event: Mike Stevens, Gail, 24.3; Rufus Hart, Snyder, 24.8; Buster Dickey, Snyder, 25.3; Gail Pettit, Snyder, 25.7; Sidney Johnson, Snyder, 34.3; Joe Rollings, Snyder, 36.0; G. B. Williams, Snyder, 40.0; Ralph Miller, Atlanta, Fa., 40.2; and Gary Parks, Snyder, 62.6. Johnson, Rollings and Williams all crashed the barricade. Floyd Payne, Brent Murphy and Jerry Springer failed to record any times.

Hicks' winning time of 13.8 in the calf roping event tied the 13.8 time registered by Big Spring's Joe Rollins Thursday night in the stockholder's roping.

The rodeo clowns again won the applause of the fans with their humorous stunts.

Officials of the rodeo said the performance originally scheduled for the last Wednesday has been re-set for 2 p.m. Sunday.

A dance in the pavillion will follow each performance. Tonight's show begins at 8 p.m.

A Plain Lucky Plane

ABOARD CARRIER Bon Some think the A4 Skyhawk jet aboard this carrier that bears the number 224 is a lucky plane.

The small jet bomber has taken serious hits from ground fire on six missions over North Vietnam and it has come back every time.

It was first hit last April 25. Lt. (J.G.) Terr Rieder, 42, of Collinsville, Ill., was flying the plane.

"It really scared me when I realized they were shooting at me," Rieder said, "because that was the first time I was ever hit."

Rieder said he counted more than 20 holes in the jet after bringing it back to a safe landing aboard the Bon Homme Richard.

"I didn't realize how badly I was hit until I came back," Rieder said, "but that plane is still flying and so am I."

Number 224 was hit twice in May while being flown by Lt. Thomas F. Faylor of Odessa, Tex. It took antiaircraft fire in the wings May 21 in the Hanoi area and then was sprayed by ground fire May 28 over the Thinh Lac railroad bridge.

The plane was hit again July 1 on a mission near Hai Duong. Cmdr. Harvin H. Quaid, 8, of Lubbock, Tex., was the pilot. The plane returned with a three-inch hole in its vertical stabilizer from groundfire.

"Its a rugged plane," Quaid said. "Although it's been severely damaged at times, It's always brought the pilot home safely."

On July 5, Number 224 was back in the air again, this time flown by Lt. Alan Crebon, 26, of Greensburg, Ind. He went through heavy flak north of Haiphong and when he got back to the Bon Homme Richard there were holes in the plane's wheel-well door, the air speed computer box, the port control cable access and a hydraulic line bracket had been shot away.

Four days later Number 224 had been patched up and was flying again with Lt. Wiley de Carli, 25, of Hartford, Conn., at the controls.

"I knew it was a flak magnet," de Carli, said, "but it didnt bother me. That plane always got hit but always came back.

"We were on our merry way over North Vietnam and then suddenly my wingman and I ran into heavy groundfire."

When they got back to the ship, they found a two-inch bullet hole in the wheel-well.

De Carli said, "It's a good plane and a lucky one."

Water Study Panel Meet Set Monday

A flood control study committee of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce will hold its first meeting at 5:30 p.m. Monday at the city hall.

Bentley Baize, Chamber President, appointed Gene Best to head the water study panel following floods over the Deep Creek watershed in June. The full committee has now been named and Monday's session will be the first general meeting for the group.

Committee members include Bill Eiland, Dewey Everett, C. O. Holder, S. D. Hays Jr., Roy Bailey, Jay Huckabee and Shelby Coker. Soil Conservation Service officials also will be asked to attend the meeting.

The primary concern of the new committee is a method to control floodwaters in the Deep Creek watershed.

Mrs. Ashley Dies At Dunn

Mrs. L. Z. Ashely, 82, died unexpectedly at her home at Dunn sometime Friday night. She was found dead in a chair at her home Saturday morning.

A native of Bell County, she had lived in Scurry County for the past 38 years.

Funeral service will be held at 4 p.m. Monday at Dunn Methodist Church, with the Rev. Jesse Dea officiating. Burial will be in the Dunn Cemetery, under direction of Bolger Funeral Home.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Tom Machen of Snyder, Mrs. O. F. May of Mulshoe, and Mrs. Marcus Johnson of Ira; three sons, E. Morris Ashley and Carl Ashley, both of Snyder, and Louie Ashley Jr. of Ira.

Rains Move To Coast

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Texas' wettest week of the summer tailed off in a flurry of coastal rainshowers today.

Showers dampened the country near the Louisiana coast, the remnants of a once mighty shower system that began in far West Texas. Temperatures rose Friday as the cooling rains lost their strength.

At the height of the rain systems' power Thursday and Friday amounts of as much as 11 inches of rain swept sections of west Texas.

More heavy rains were reported along the Gulf Coast Friday and a tornado crept across an open field near Robstown. An unofficial .4.5 inches of rain fall at Corpus Christi and some cotton crops were damaged by water.

A wind-bearing rainstorm at Beaumont Friday brushed two power lines together and the resulting electrical power loss cut off the lights in some 400 homes in west Beaumont.

Temperatures Friday ranged from 95 degrees at Laredo and Presidio to 79 at Galveston, which got 1.04 inches of rain.

Five Perish In Sherman Blaze

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP) — A mother and four of her children perished today when pre-dawn flames swept through their frame house in this North Texas city.

A fifth child was critically burned, and the father collapsed from shock.

Fire Marshal Reece Bowen identified the dead as: Nancy Nell Smith, 29; and the youngsters, John Wesley Smith, 10, Steven Leslie Smith, 8, Suzanne Smith, 5, and Julie Kay Smith, 4.

In critical condition was David Wayne Smith, 3. The father is John William Smith.

Fire Chief A. C. Jones also was hospitalized for minor burns suffered while fighting the blaze. Fireman T. J. Thomas underwent treatment for smoke inhalation.

The couple's sixth child, Jenny Lee Smith, 13, was spending the night at a slumber party at a friend's house.

Bowen said no cause had been ascertained for the fire which raged from about 5:30 a.m. till 9:30 a.m.

A passing motorist turned in the alarm after he saw smoke and heard screams coming from the two-story house.

Mrs. Smith was found hanging halfway out of a window when the first fire trucks arrived. The house was in a middle-class neighborhood on the city's south east side.

Some Solons Would Cut All Arab Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., predicted Saturday a growing tendency in Congress toward cutting off all foreign aid to Arab countries that participated in the Middle East war.

He said the possible cutoff might also extend to countries "who have not shown we might consider a proper friendly attitude toward the United States."

Sparkman is the second-ranking member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, now considering the 1967 foreign aid bill.

Sandburg Dies At 89

FLAT ROCK, N.C. (AP) — Carl Sandburg, poet and Lincoln biographer, died today at his small ranch near Flat Rock. He was 89.

The smiling, white-haired poet died quietly at 9 a.m. at the goat farm where he had spent much of the last year or so in bed or sitting on his porch strumming a guitar.

He had been in ill health for almost two years.

RECEIVES CONGRATULATIONS — Henry Clark (right), manager of Texas Electric Service Co., congratulates Glenn Toombs, chairman of the Texas Community Improvement Committee of the Fluvanna Young Farmers Chapter. The Chapter won first place in the district community improvement contest, sponsored by investor-owned power companies. Clark presented the Fluvanna Chapter with its $100 prize as district winner.

LA Has Its First Smog Alert Of 1967

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Los Angeles' first smog alert of 1967 came Friday and lasted about three hours.

The warning was posted when the smog count passed 50 parts per million air parts at suburban Burbank. Authorities blamed motor vehicles.

DEAR ABBY: Is there something wrong with me, or is it the times?

I am a widow with a small circle of married friends. Every so in a while, someone will invite us to their home to see pictures of a wedding, confirmation or a vacation trip. Then without warning, they show movies (rented) that were made for stag parties. (Striptease and "dirty" movies. I'm sure you know what I mean.)

Everyone laughs and thinks it's great fun, but I am irked. I don't want to be a "wet blanket" or a "party pooper" by conspicuously walking out when they spring surprise movies on the crowd, but I don't care for this kind of stuff at all. Any solutions?

WET BLANKET

DEAR WET: There is nothing wrong with you, nor is it the times." Good taste is timeless. If your "little circle" of friends cannot be trusted to keep the entertainment clean make a bigger circle.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for nearly two years, and I am just about ready to leave him for what I hope you won't think is a silly reason. I just can't take his "teasing" any more. He is always punching me, or pinching me, or squeezing the breath out of me.

Abby, I have tried to tell him I don't like such rough treatment, but he laughs and says they are only "love pats," and he keeps right on hurting me. If you were to see some of the bruises I carry from his "love pats" you would think we had been in a terrible fight.

I have begged and pleaded and even cried, but nothing works. Have you any words of advice? It's getting where I hate to see him come home at night.

MANHANDLED

DEAR MANHANDLED: His "love pats" are conscious, or more likely unconscious acts of hostility and agression which have nothing to do with "love," and are ruining your relationship.

Tell him so, and implore him to seek out professional help. If he refuses, prepare for a break before there are children.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I am writing this because I just can't stand dirt and filth. Ever since my son got married he has had to live in dirt. Believe me, my home was never like that.

His wife gets up around noon, eats a big breakfast, lights a cigaret, and sits down to watch TV all day. She even takes the phone off the hook so nobody can disturb her.

When her husband comes home there is no supper in made yet. She has him trained pretty good. He walks in the house carrying a sack full of groceries because he knows there's nothing to eat. Then he has to fix the supper for both of them.

You can't tell this girl anything. She is dumb and lazy. I've seen her laundry hanging on the line for three days. Boy, what a prize my son got. How do you propose he gets this fat, lazy girl off her rocking chair? He's the peaceful type. He don't like fights.

HIS MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: When your son gets fed up enough with things the way they are, he'll think of something. And until then . . . . it's HIS problem.

• • •

"YOUNG AND IN TROUBLE": Tell your parents at once. I promise you they will not throw you out of the house. In times of serious trouble no matter what they have said in the past, parents are your best friends and will do what is best for you.

Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply, encloaes stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Color TV Set Owners Are Warned

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 9,000 color television set owners and their families may be exposed to harmful radioactive rays from their sets, says the government.

It urged the unknown owners of the large-screen color consoles and table models manufactured by the General Electric Co. and sold between Sept. 1, 1966 and May 31, 1967 to pull the plugs and keep their television screens dark pending a check on possible radioactivity.

The warning came Friday from Surgeon General William H Stewart, who said a painstaking nationwide search by General Electric had failed to turn up the 9,000 sets.

That's about one-tenth of the television sets the company feared might be emitting potentially harmful X-rays from certain tubes.

Even if the sets are issuing such rays, the extent of the harm they could cause was not precisely known.

Dr. Stewart described such rays as "a potential hazard to human health." A Public Health Service spokesman said later he saw no need for any owners of one of the sets to consult a doctor.

A GE spokesmak said the color sets involved have 18-, 20-, 22- and 23-inch screens.

The tubes invoved were identical.

Owners of such sets were urged to notify GE dealers or service centers or state or local health departments before using them.

In Syracuse N.Y., a GE spokesman said the sets involved "have a blue fine tune gauge above the control knobs and have on the back of the set either a serial number sticker beginning with OA or OD or no serial number at all.

"Receivers which already have been modified have a red and white label pasted on the back covering regulator tube replacement."

DR. COLLIER

Dr. Collier Will Join TCU Faculty

Dr. Gaylan Jane Collier, member of the Sam Houston State College faculty since 1963, will assume her duties as professor of theatre arts at Texas Christian University in September.

The Fluvanna native's appointment to the TCU department headed by Dr. Jack Coggdill was announced by Dr. James Newcomer, vice chancellor for academic affairs.

Selected as "best actress" for three consecutive years at Abilene Christian College while working on her bachelor's degree there, Dr. Collier was assistant professor and director of theatre at the Abilene institution in 1950-57. She was on the faculties of Greensboro College, Woman's College of the University of North Carolina and Idaho State University before moving to Huntsville.

The holder of a master of arts degree from the University of Iowa and a doctorate from the University of Denver is listed in Directory of American Scholars, Who's Who in American Theatre, Directory of International Biography and Who's Who of American Women.

Dr. Collier holds membership in Alpha Psi mega, national honorary drama fraternity, and Zeta Phi Eta, national professional speech fraternity for women. A frequent lecturer on various phases of theatre, she is a member of numerous professional organizations, including the American Educational Theatre Association and the Speech Association of America.

Author of several published works, she wrote Assignments in Acting, which was published in 1966 by Harper and Row.

Dr. Collier will move to Fort Worth in late summer.

Girl Friday Doesn't Like Male Invasion

DETROIT (AP) — Robinson Crusoe had his "Man Friday," so what's all the fuss about?

The fuss may come from your Girl Friday who is concerned over a male invasion of a feminine stronghold—the National Secretaries Association.

"Now we'll just have to wait and see," says Lenore S. Forti, newly elected president of the 25,000-member international association.

Mrs. Forti, who lives in suburban St. Clair Shores, won the top post in the 25-year-old association at the NSA's convention in Toronto last week.

"Male secretaries are interested in our fine educational program and have been trying to join us for years," she says. "Nine men have passed our Certified Professional Secretary exam, but they couldn't join the association."

In their fight for equality, the men organized the Male Secretaries of America, headquartered in New York and with about 1,000 members. But naturally they would like to join the girls.

Mrs. Forti says the men have even implied that they would bring action against her organization for discrimination, but the girls' attorneys assured them all was legal.

What really rocked the ladies back on their high heels was the accusation that they "wanted equal rights but didn't want to give them."

The issue was resolved at the convention in a bylaw amendment calling for "deleting all references to woman, women, herself and she."

B. G. Hartley Rites Held

Funeral for Ben G. Hartley, the son of Mrs. G. L. Hartley of Snyder and the late G. L. Hartley, was held at 4 p.m. Saturday in Rosewood Chapel at Nalley - Pickle Funeral Home in Big Spring.

Mr. Hartley died at 10:30 p.m. Thursday in Malone-Hogan Hospital in Big Spring following a short illness.

Other survivors include his wife of the home in Big Spring; one son, Leonard Jay Hartley of Shepperd AFB, Wichita Falls; two sisters, Mrs. Pauline Johnston, Snyder, and Mrs. Lillian McCollum, Houston; three brothers, Jim, C. W. and Herman, all of Big Spring; and two grandchildren.

BIRTHS

Mr and Mrs. Ray Costello, 1312 Twenty - eighth Street, became parents of a 5 pound, 6 ounce baby girl at 1:17 p.m. Friday.

Jaycees Are In Session

The Snyder Jaycees met at noon Friday at Sallie's Cafeteria for their regular weekly meeting.

Wendell Jornigan, a member of the Colorado City Jaycees, was a special guest of the club.

It was brought out in the minutes of a board meeting that the board had been asked by the Snyder Chamber of Commerce to help co-sponsor a professional football game in Snyder. The estimated cost was reported at $2,000.

The board voted not to participate financially, but would help work at the game itself.

Joe Sentell reported on Rodeo concessions.

Junior Hereford Field Days Set

COAHOMA — The Texas Junior Hereford Association has announced plans to hold three big state-wide field days on July 24, 25, and 26, according to Mark Barr, Coahoma, President of the junior association.

The first field day, on Monday, July 24, will be held at the Alex Born & Sons Ranch, located near Follett; the second event, scheduled for Tuesday, July 25, will be held at the Sweetwater Coliseum with the Sweetwater Hereford Association serving as host; and the finale of the three field days on Wednesday, July 26, will be held at the Roy R. Largent & Sons Ranch, near Fort Davis and sponsored by the Highland Hereford Association. All adults and juniors interested in good Herefords are invited to attend one or all of these three big field days.

The three field day programs are located in different areas of the Lone Star State so that as many boys and girls and their parents as possible will be able to conveniently attend at least one. The three hosts are making extensive preparations to accommodate large crowds and will be serving a free lunch at each field day.

A special invitation is extended to all county agents and FFA teachers to attend and bring judging teams and individuals for the judging contests planned for each event. An impressive array of prizes will be awarded to winners at each event. The big prize at each field day will be a registered Hereford heifer, awarded by the host, to the high individual judge in the judging contest who is a member of the Texas Junior Hereford Association.

A number of nationally known out-of-state Hereford breeders as well as several recognized beef cattle authorities from Texas have been contacted to participate in the three educational field day programs. Members of the official judging committee are Alfred Meeks, Taylor, Nebraska; Mac Suthers, Arnett, Oklahoma; and Jack LeForce, Springerville, Arizona. Marshall Sellman, American Hereford Association Director from Wainoua, New Mexico, will be on hand for all three field days.

Demonstrations on selecting, grooming, and showing Herefords will be given at each event by successful exhibitors with years of experience. Each field day program should be both educational and entertaining for adult and junior cattlemen.

Say Tshombe Going Back

ALGIERS (AP) — Former Congo Premier Moise Tshombe will be extradited secretly from an Algerian military stockade to the Congo, where he faces a death sentence for treason, sources indicated today.

Algerian authorities said Friday they consider it possible white mercenaries loyal to Tshombe might try to rescue him.

An Algerian court ruled Friday in favor of the Congo's extradition request.

Tshombe was kidnaped and brought to Algiers when his chartered plane was hijacked June 30.

In Washington, an attorney hired by Tshombe's wife appealed in a cable to permit the Tshombe's case. The lawyer, Luis Kutner, contends that Tshombe has been denied due process of international law.

Guilty Plea Is Entered In Case

Mrs. Jake King, former Snyder resident, pleaded guilty in County Court Thursday to a charge of swindling by worthless check and received a 30-day jail term plus court costs.

The jail term portion of the sentence will be probated until restitution is made. The offense occurred April 2.

Bond was set at $250 each for two similar charges which occurred March 26 and April 3. The Court enetered pleas of innocence on behalf of Mrs. King in both instances when she appeared July 14.

Prison Term Is Assessed In Theft

Jimmy Medina received a 3-year prison term in District Court Friday after pleading guilty to a charge of car theft.

Judgment had been rendered previously. The offense occurred March 5.

Gospel Meeting Set At Ira Church

There will be a gospel meeting each night at the Ira Church of Christ Monday, July 24, through Sunday, July 30.

The minister, Pat Abananto, will be in charge of the meetings.

Adam Fails To Show Up

BIMINI, Bahamas (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell kept a lot of people waiting for him at the black power conference in Newark, N.J., and at Kennedy Airport in New York. He did not show up, and he did not send his regrets.

The ousted congressman from Harlem called a news conference today at his tiny island retreat in the British Bahamas.

Powell also stood up a delegation from the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Friday who said in New York they had arranged for Powell to surrender for arrest to New York County Sheriff John J. McCloskey.

Two Cars Damaged In Mishap Friday

Considerable damage resulted from a two-car mishap on the East Highway at Avenue B at 11:47 p.m. Friday, but there were no injuries.

Involved were the 1964 Model Chevrolet of William Delma Waldon, Box 100, Roby, and the 1959 Model Pontiac of Mary Elida Urias, Ft. Stockton.

Damage to Waldon's car was placed at $200, and damage to the other vehicle was estimated at $800.

Police Patrolman Jim McKenzie investigated the accident.

MRS. CHARLES RICHARD HARTMAN

Davis, Hartman Vows Read In California Church

On July 8, at 7:30 p.m. Miss Mary Kathryn Davis of Burbank, Calif. became the bride of Mr. Charles Richard Hartman of Pasadena, Texas, in double ring services held in the First Christian Church of Burbank, Calif. Dr. Hugh Williams officiated.

The center altar held bouquets and four seven-branched candelabras. A white aisle runner was used with white bows and flowers marking the pews.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Harry O. Davis of Burbank, Calif. and Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Hartman of Pasadena, Texas, formerly of Snyder.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown fashioned of silk organza over taffeta in simple empire lines. The only accent was Venise lace with velvet ribbon inserts, banded at the waist, sleeves and two vertical bands on the skirt. A full chapel train flowed in the back. Her illusion veil was held in place by a cathedral crown with white velvet bow.

She carried an orchid surrounded by white roses.

Attending the bride were Mrs. John R. Haga, sister of the bride, as matron of honor. Tamara Hernak and Nancy Caraco. They wore moss green saki cloth dresses in empire lines with kabuki sleeves accented with the reverse side of the fabric in satin at the sleeves and waist sash. They carried bouquets of yellow mums.

Sherman Gann was best man. Seating guests were Roger Hartman, brother of the groom, Daniel Beck and Sanderson Beck.

Mrs. Albert Stetter presented traditional organ music.

A reception was held in the Corlac room at Lockhood Air Terminal. Luann Berline registered 130 guests. The three - tiered cake was assembled with champagne glass dividers.

The groom's mother wore an imported Swiss cotton brocade dress in white and lime green. The bride's mother wore a pink silk three - piece shantung suit.

The bride attended Texas Christian University and is a former president of TCU Young Republicans and state secretary of Texas YR Federation. The groom received his BBA from TCU and former president of TCU YR Club. He is a 2nd Lt. in the U. S. Army and a former management trainee for J. C. Penney Co. in Houston.

The Gardeners Corner

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

WHAT TO DO with your houseplants before you go on vacation depends on how long you plan to be away.

If you are going for a long vacation, you may sink your house plants in the soil in a sheltered part of the garden and hope for a normal amount of rain.

If your vacation will be only for a few days, water the plants well, set them on blocks of wood or stones in a basin ofwater, just high enough so that the pot bottom is touching water.

If you are going away for a week or two, water the plants, then drape them in a polyethylene bag such as your dry cleaner uses to protect your clothing. Use wire coat hangers to support the plastic and keep it from touching the plant — in tent fashion.

A good and willing neighbor is better than any of the above plans.

• • •

Water potted plants thoroughly the day before you plan to transfer them to larger pots to accommodate expanded root systems. The watering will soften the root ball and make it easier to separate roots intact, with less shock.

• • •

The White House garden has received a strain of delphinium developed by Edward Steichen of Ridgefield, Conn., who traces the seed ancestry back to gardens of ancient Greece. The delphinium range in color from azure to indigo and mist. Steichen is an octagenarian photographer who has been breeding delphinium for 60 years.

• • •

Two colorful items from the catalogues: Althea Blue Bird, a shrub that will grow to about eight feet, with blooms five inches across; Cardinal Shrub, increasing in popularity, covered in May and June with small, trumpet-shaped flowers. (Both from Kelly Bors.)

The same nursery offers a flowering crab tree with red, pink and white blooms.

• • •

In planting blueberries, add aluminum sulphate to the soil to give it the acidity enjoyed by blueberries. A good new variety of blueberry is Earliblue, developed by the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station.

In planting very fine seed, such as petunia, no soil covering is needed after sowing. Press the seeds gently to the soil with a stick or the palm of your hand.

Slightly larger seeds need only a light covering. A small flour sifter, filled with sand or fine soil, may be used to cover the seeds.

• • •

There are some varieties of tomatoes that produce plants so small that no pruning is required.

• • •

Coleus will give color to shady areas of your garden. Plant them in pots if you want mobile color. They are attractive also in beds.

For blooms all summer plant phlox. There are small varieties excellent for borders or bedding, with brilliant flowers in several colors and forms.

The secret of a good salad is the way you prepare the greens. Wash them well, but dry them cafefully before you break them into bite-sized pieces. Keep the salad cold, and add the dressing at serving time.

Miss Vincent, Mr. Lindsey Wed In Colorado City

Miss Retha Vincent of Colorado City became the bride of Mr. Johnny Lindsey of Ira in double ring services read in the First Christian Church of Colorado City on Saturday evening, July 15th at 7:30 o'clock. Rev. Weems Dykes officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Joe W. Vincent, 905 East Seventeenth Street, Colorado City, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lindsey of Ira.

White candelabras and arrangements of white daisies were used in the church decor.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length white lace dress fashioned with a fitted bodice, Sabrina neckline and three-tiered bell-shaped skirt. She wore a shoulder - length veil of sheer illusion, and carried a colonial bouquet of yellow roses encircled by white frenched carnations.

Mrs. Jerry Bell, twin sister of the bride was maid of honor. Her street - length gown was fashioned of yellow dotted swiss with bell skirt, basque bodice, and Sabrina neckline and matching head piece. She carried a single long stemmed yellow rose.

Joe Michael Vincent, brother of the bride, lighted the altar candles, assisted by Linda Harpole, the bride's cousin of Midland.

Z. B. Rinehart of Snyder served as best man. Ushers were John Paul Rogers and Gene House of Ira.

A reception was held at the church fellowship hall following the ceremony.

For her wedding trip the bride chose a yellow shantung suit with white accessories.

The couple will make their home in Snyder.

Out-of-town guests were from Midland, Ira, Snyder, Coleman, Abilene and Dublin.

Try this Green Garden Dip with chips or crackers for a pleasant serving change. Combine 1 cup dairy sour cream with ½ teaspoon garlic salt, ⅛ teaspon freshly ground pepper, 2 teaspoons wine vinegar, 2 tablespoons minced parsley and ½ cup finely chopped, unpeeled cucumber, well drained; mix lightly until blended. Chill at least 2 hours to blend flavors. Yield: 1½ cups.

Serve Apricot Cream in your favo. - bet glasses and garnish with toasted almonds, shredded coconut or fruit, if desired. In a mixing bowl blend 1 cup sieved, cooked dried apricots, 1-3 cup honey and ½ teaspoon salt into 2 cups dairy sour cream; cover and chill several hours or overnight before serving. Makes 6 servings.

Rainwater-Ritchey Vows Exchanged In Eastside Church Of Christ Setting

Lighted tapers in brass candelabra enhanced by emerald green foliage created the setting for wedding vows exchanged by Miss Karen Sue Rainwater and Mr. Jimmy Mack Ritchey on July 21, at the Eastside Church of Christ.

Don Browning, minister, performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rainwater of Snyder. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Mack Ritchey of Colorado City.

A wedding chorus sang "Whither Thou Goest," "Be With Us Lord," "The Wedding March," and "Because."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of satin with an overlay of lace, scoop neckline, and long sleeves tapered to petal points. The skirt ended in a chapel train. Her veil of organza was held by a crown of Chantilly lace over taffeta sprinkled with seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white bridal roses.

The bride followed the traditional custom of something old, new, borrowed and blue.

Candlelighters were Max Rainwater, brother of the bride, and Gerry Ritchey, brother of the groom. Ring bearer was Ray Ritchey, brother of the groom.

Mrs. Judy Pylant of Fluvanna attended the bride as matron of honor. She wore a floor-length gown of blue Dacron and acetate designed with an A-line skirt. Her headpiece was a a circle of blue carnations. She carried a long stemmed white rose accented with satin streamers.

Bridal attendants were: Miss Kay Sullenger of Snyder, and Miss Patsy Rainwater, cousin of the bride, of Snyder. Their dresses were identical to that of the matron of honor. A single stemmed white rose was carried by each.

Floyd Lee Ritchey, cousin of the groom, served as best man. Groomsmen were Ronny Duncan and Darrell Mize. Gary Floyd, cousin of the bride, and Larry Raschke seated guests.

Mrs. Rainwater, mother of the bride, chose a knit sheath of rose with elbow-length sleeves and A-line skirt with matching hat. She wore a white Frenched carnation corsage. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Ritchey, wore a blue sheath dress with elbow-length sleeves and white accessories. She also wore a white Frenched carnation corsage.

A reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ennis Floyd, 2501 Thirty - second Street. The table was laid with a white lace cloth over blue, centered with an arrangement of blue carnations. A crystal punch bowl and three - tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom also decorated the table. Mrs. Linda Raschke, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Faye Stinson, cousin of the groom, presided.

Miss Debra Moore registered guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Ritchey will make their home in Lubbock following their wedding trip to various points in New Mexico. For traveling Mrs. Ritchey chose a pink sheath of voile trimmed with pink lace, with pink accessories. She wore the white rose corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Snyder High School and attended Lubbock Christian College. The bridegroom is a graduate of Colorado City High School and will be a senior at Texas Technological College this year.

Rehearsal Dinner

The bridegroom's parents were hosts for the rehearsal dinner Thursday evening at Phillips 66 Cafe.

MRS. LARRY PAT MURPHY

Miss Ward, Mr. Murphy Exchange Vows In Wilshire Park Baptist Church, Midland

Miss Janette Kay Ward of Midland and Mr. Larry Pat Murphy of Lubbock exchanged double ring wedding vows in Wilshire Park Baptist Church, Midland at 4 p.m. July 22. Rev. Luther Mann officiated.

Branched candelabra with greenery and baskets of white roses bedecked the altar.

Miss Janice Sliger presented traditional wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Newton C. Pursley, vocalist, who sang "Because," "Whither Thou Goest," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Guests were seated by Dulan Ward of Midland and James Ward, cousin of the bride of Lubbock.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Ward, 4731 Wilshire, Midland, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Murphy, 114 South Eisenhower, Midland.

Wearing a traditional wedding gown of imported silk organza and Alencon lace, the bride was presented in marriage by her father. Appliques of Alencon lace with clusters of bridal pearls overlaid the molded organza bodice with a scalloped sabrina neckline and the long sleeves which tapered to points over the wrists. A narrow band of silk organza which encircled the empire bodice above the full princess line skirt was held in back with a flat double bow. A scalloped re-embroidered border of Alencon lace stemmed down each side of a full over skirt from bodice extending to the back into inverted pleats forming a chapel train.

Alencon lace petals, pearl edged, formed the contour wedding cake crown which held the misty elbow length tiers of English silk illusion of the bride's veil. Her bouquet was an orchid surrounded by white Frenched carnations.

Miss Iris Ward was maid of honor, Mrs. Martin Boyd, was matron of honor, and Miss Nelody Ward was junior bridesmaid. They are sisters of the bride. They wore empire crepe gowns in nile green, light blue and lavender with matching nosegays of carnations. Their veils were attached to miniature coronets in matching colors.

Mike Murphy of Palestine attended his brother as best man. Martin Boyd of Lubbock, brother-in-law of the groom was groomsman.

After a wedding trip to Colorado the couple will make their home at 1020 Valencia SE, Albuquerque, N. M.

The bride is a 1966 B. S. graduate of Texas Tech, affiliated with Phi Theta Kappa and Phi Kappa Phi. She has taught the past year in Lubbock but will teach in Albuquerque next year.

The groom is a 1958 graduate of Snyder High School, served four years in the U. S. Army, discharged as a Sgt. in 1963. He received his BBA from Texas Tech in 1966, and MBA in accounting from Tech in 1967. He was a member of Beta Alpha Psi honorary accounting federation. He was a teaching assistant at Tech this year and is now with the Por Sandia Corp. in Albuquerque, N.M.

AUGUST WEDDING SET — Mr. and Mrs. Clyde W. Boren of Stephenville, formerly of Snyder, announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Carol, to Mr. Bill Perry Waldrop, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Waldrop of Sherman. The vows will be exchanged on Saturday, Aug. 19 at 10:30 a.m. in the First Methodist Church of Stephenville. Open church will be observed. Friends are cordially invited to the wedding and reception following. The bride-to-be is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Boren, also formerly of Snyder.

RIFLING HIS POCKETS!

Farm Laborers Interested In Union, But Not Talking

EDITOR'S NOTE: Labor may say the lot of farm workers has improved since the unionization push began in Starr County. Management may say outsiders are trying to usurp control. The voice unheard in all this hubbub speaks Spanish mostly, and speaks in simple terms of work and food, and speaks seldom to strangers. Associated Press writer Peggy Simpson went to the home of this voice and waited. Here is what she heard.

By PEGGY SIMPSON

RIO GRANDE CITY, Tex. (AP) — The stop laborer shifted his bulk in the creaking, student-sized wooden chair-desk.

He was in his late 40s or early 50s and his skin was a crinkled bronze, partly from his Mexican-American heritage, partly from decades of bending under the sun to plant and harves.

His dark eyes flickered across the dusty floor, sideways at the silent migrant workers on either side of him, and then up at his teacher and the stranger.

Impassively, deliberately, he rose.

"I'd like to talk about the union, yes," he said.

"My English isn't to good but we'll get along," he said in a gesture of small talk as he and the reporter walked past another room of migrant workers studying in federal classes in the dilapidated school of a Starr County hamlet.

He said he'd been a farm laborer all his life, like most residents of this mesquite-doted ranching and farming county bordering Mexico. It ranks 14th poorest in the nation.

The union's picketing of Starr County farms has been the controversy of the year not only between the union and the growers but among the stoop laborers.

"Many people around here are interested in the union but they don't talks about it much" he said identifying himself as a longtime worker at La Casita Farms, the county's largest and the target of many union demonstrations.

La Casita managers have refused to permit a union affiliation election because they say their workers are happy. They say the United Farm Workers Organizing Commitee, AFL-CIO, is ridden with "outside agitators"—referring specifically to the organizers who opened their second local here in June of 1966, after winning contracts for grape pickers in Delano, Calif.

Farm field hands are not included under the National Labor Relations Act, so a union affiliation election can be called only with the consent of the farm owners. Other segments of the working economy have access to the arbitration services of the NLRB in labor-management situations.

"Most who work for La Casita would like to be in the union but they're afraid. I think most would vote for it in an election," the migrant said.

"Yes, I was approached by the union but I told them I wasn't ready to go with them. I can't strike. They didn't say anything about signing a union card and keeping on working. I cannot stop because I don't have any money and have to work to eat and pay debts. I told them I'd like to join sometime.

"But the strike already has helped us."

La Casita wages have risen from 85 cents an hour to $1.15 an hour minimum during the last year, he said.

"The farmers treat us more kindly, just by seeing those pickets around. Sometimes they would push us hard, make us work fast. And now they're more reasonable," he said.

"We'd never even thought about a union to help us but we do now—for better wages and so that the farmers treat us better and let us have breaks while we work. I'd also like to ask that the water given us in the fields be clean. Sometimes it's not, it's days old.

"I think the growers should be in a union, too, so they can get more money and then can pay us higher," he said.

A teacher whose classes had just ended darted in at this point, saying she was on her way home but came back when she heard a reporter was questioning people about the union.

"Don't use my name—but I've been wanting to talk to someone outside for so long," she said, clasping the reporter's hand between her palms. Chattering excitedly, she drew up a chair.

She said the farm situation has to be viewed in the context of Starr County's intricate, inbred political morass, where the "in" group—the New Party—has held office since just after World War II and controls 99 per cent of the off-farm jobs such as those connected with schools.

The difference between the New Party and the opposition Old Party is negligible to an outsider. Both are Democratic and the kingpins in both are Mexican-Americans. But the union's political ramifications are well known by the poorest farm worker.

"I strongy believe in a union for both the farm workers and the growers," she said. "And this union here is good just because it lets people on the outside know what's going on."

She said her husband used to grow tomatoes and cantaloupes but she persuaded him to quit after one season when packing shed and transportation expenses absorbed every nickel of their $10,000 crop sale. Other small farmers are abandoning the fields, she said, but they would return to farming if their crops were guaranteed certain prices.

"I know the majority of workers are in favor of the union but they're afraid to talk," she said, because the in-power New Party has gone on record opposing the labor movement.

She belongs to the out-of-power Old Party and except for the summer migrant program teaches outside Starr County.

Benito Saenz Jr., 22, a math teacher in Rio Grande City who also is teaching at the migrant school, said he opposes the current union because he fears it will be used by the Old Party to regain power.

Saenz is slender and intense. He says he is an independent trying to work with both parties through the church and such federal programs as are in progress. He alone said he could be quoted by name.

"We need a change, yes, but not through the Old Party. It'd be worse," he said.

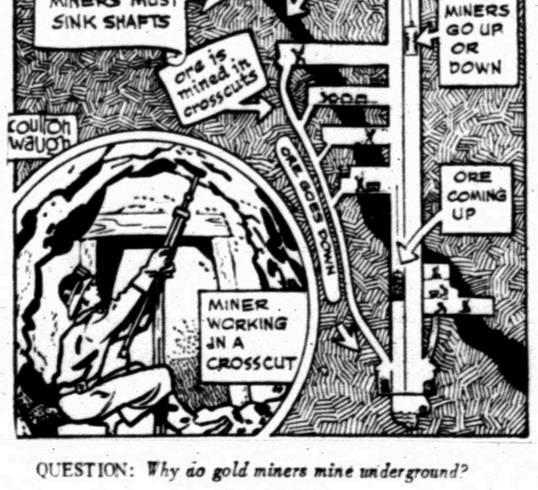

"It's the young people who might in the future get rid of all the mess in Starr County and start an independent party but you can't have it right now. There aren't enough independent thinkers and those who are, are afraid to say it," Saenz said.

"People here are very conservative and afraid of change. They feel a union might become a political party. Others are afraid that the growers and packing sheds would move. And then some people are just content with tradition—those who aren't involved with the growers or workers but who are teachers or merchants with a certain amount of influence."

Saenz said he believes too few local workers are active in the union to make it successful.

Saenz was one among the hundreds who squeezed into the Starr County courthouse in late June for a U.S. Senate Subcommittee on Migratory Labor probe of the local labor dispute.

Junior Editors Quiz on GOLD MINING

QUESTION: Why do gold miners mine underground?

* * *

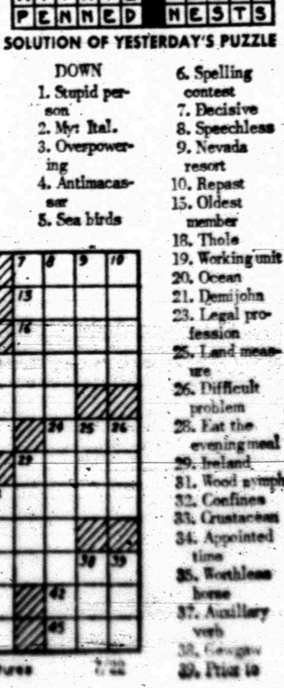

ANSWER: Gold is said to originate from liquids and gases which work their way up below the surface. The gold they form, often mixed with othes minerals as gold ore, will tend to lie in veins, like the vein of gold ore shown in black in our picture. One could dig a certain amount of this ore at the surface, but to obtain the large amount needed to make a gold mine profitable, the miners must sink shafts down into the earth, close to the gold vein. Level crosscuts then are dug, which reach the vein in various places. Going into these, miners drill into the rock (lower left), often blasting out sections with dynamite. The ore is dumped down a chute to the bottom and then hoisted up to the surface. Not all the gold is taken from the earth in this way. Gold grains and nuggets are also found in stream and river beds where they have been carried from veins. Early pioneers washed gravel in a pan to extract the gold — a process called panning gold. In more modern methods, huge loads of mud and gravel are scooped up by power shovels. The gold or gold bearing materials are washed out in various ways.

DANCERS CLOTHED — Carol Johnson, 25, left, and Jaunice Wells, 22, appeared in Civil District Court in Houston, Tex., in an attempt to prove that a nude chest does not constitute exposing the person. Attorney for the women and Alex Lurera, center, owner of the club where they are waitresses-dancers, said the women would appear topless at the hearing but they showed up fully clothed. The Texas Liquor Control Board revoked the Club's license for 45 days after Lurera was charged with permitting the girls to expose themselves. (AP Wirephoto)

Rains Generally An Asset, Despite Some Crop Damage

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—More rains moved into Texas this week, bringing violent weather and crop damaging hail to some sectors. Showers were an overall asset, although dry weather is now needed for crop growth and harvesting.

John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Experiment station, said moisture generally is adequate in northwestern and northern areas. Southern and eastern regions were helped by the rains but were still normal.

District farm agents reported these conditions:

Ranges and cattle are in good condition in the Panhandle. The wheat harvest is almost complete. Vegetables are being harvested with good yields. Grain sorghum is up to promising stands.

A cool front left 2.00 to 3.50 inches of rain on the South Plains, and hail damaged some crops. Moisture is adequate over the entire section, except for the extreme south. Cotton looks good and needs hot, dry weather. Ranges are recovering from drouth, and livestock are in fine shape. Sorghum, soybeans and sugar beets are growing fast. Cabbages, cucumbers, carrots, potatoes and onions are in the harvest stage.

Rains up to 2 inches fell in several Rolling Plains (Vernon) counties, and moisture is adequate in 15 counties. Cotton is progressing and fruiting in most counties, and insect damage is light to medium. Sorghum is in good growth, with the early crops in full head. Other farming activities include hay harvest, cultivation and stubble plowing.

Moisture is generally adequate in North Texas. All crops are in fine fettle. Ranges and livestock are in good shape.

Moisture is sufficient, and all-crop prospects are favorable in Northeast Texas, although cotton insects are building up and armyworms are foraging through Coastal Bermuda grass fields. Pastures are excellent.

In Far West Texas, rain is still needed for dryland crops and ranges. Livestock are in poor to good shape. Cotton is in full bloom, and insects are not to serious.

Short moisture has been helped some by rains but is still inadequate in the San Angelo sector. Row crops are progressing in northern counties, and irrigated peanuts look good in the Mason area. The pecan crop remains light. Feeding is increasing. Tanks and wells in the Bandera region are low. Livestock are in fair to good shape, but marketing at lighter weights is increasing.

Around Stephenville, moisture is still too scanty. Corn yields are 50 per cent of normal, and variable yields of sorghum are coming in. Peanuts are in good shape but suffering some borer damage.

Spotty showers failed to lessen an overall soil moisture shortage in East Texas. Hay and melon harvesting continues. The pea crop is fair. Cotton is about average with some insect damage. Ranges are average to below.

Livestock conditions are good, and marketing is steady.

Hit or miss showers helped South Texas, but more rain is needed. Sorghum and early cotton yields are low. Drought has caused increased livestock marketing.

Moisture is still relatively short along the Upper Gulf Coast. Dryland coton yields are puny, but irrigated fields look good. Feeding of livestock is necessary on pastures in fair to poor condition.

Rio Grande Valley moisture is short. About 15 per cent of Valley cottor is harvested. Sorghum yields are light. Broom corn harvesting is about finished with low yields. Hay cutting is under way, some cabbage and carrots are being planted, and the spring peanut harvest is about 80 per cent complete. Pastures are poor. There is heavy feeding.

Plant Disease Clinic Here Wednesday

A plant disease clinic has been scheduled for residents of Snyder and Scurry County Wednesday, July 26, according to Billy Roach, local county agricultural agent.

Dr. Robert Berry, Extension Plant Pathologist, will be available to identify and discuss plant disease problems with local growers. He will be at the County Barn in Towle Park from 10 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. Anyone having problems that are thought to be disease should bring specimens to the barn for Dr. Berry to check.

During July many of the diseases become quite noticeable in this area, and the agents felt that a clinic of this type would be beneficial for home owners and local growers by being able to discuss their problems and receive recommendations at this time. Many problems may be prevented by proper management, however, some will require treatment with fungicides or other chemicals.

The agents hope that area residents will bring these specimens in for identification, even though they feel they are small, this workshop was scheduled in order for local residents to receive the latest information and recommendations available for treatment and control of plant diseases.

Coroner Reverses Homicide Ruling

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Bexar County Medical Examiner Dr. Robert Hausman, reversed a ruling of homicide Friday to accidental death in the suffocation last Saturday of Leroy Pastronao, 4.

The boy had been found among fragments of pavement near a dry creek bed in San Antonio.

A 16-year-old boy who had been turned over to juvenile authorities in connection with the case was released. The youth said the child had stumbled in the creek bed as they took a walk.

Spread a leg of lamb generously with Dijon-type mustard about 6 hours before you are planning to bake it.

Junior Rodeo Is Scheduled At Gail

GAIL — The third, annual, Borden County Junior Rodeo will be held July 28-29, at 8 p.m. in the Borden County Arena, Gail.

The rodeo is sponsored by the Borden County Junior Livestock Association. Officials of the association include: Joe Canon, president; Dan Turner, vice president; Don Cox, secretary; James E. Smith, treasurer; J. W. Holmes, county agent; and Sid Long, vocational agriculture teacher.

Over $500.00 in trophies will be awarded including best average - three places each age group, and one all - around trophy in each age group.

The rodeo will consist of two go-rounds in each event. There will be no set up of stock, and entry fee is $5 per event entered. Events include the following: barrel race (all ages), calf roping (13-15 and 16-19), pole bending (all ages), yearling riding (13-15 and 16-19), breakaway roping (all ages), and flag race (12 and under). There are three age groups, 12 and under, 13-15, and 16-19. Entries close at 4 p.m. Friday, July 28.

Anyone interested may contact Don Cox, Box 24, Gail, phone 4255.

Chrysler Says Union Being Unrealistic

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. says the United Auto Workers Union is being unrealistic if it thinks its going to get every contract demand it makes.

William M. O'Brien, Chrysler vice president for personnel and a top negotiator, called the UAW package of demands "certainly all-inclusive."

As the second week of contract talks ended, O'Brien told newsmen the UAW's list of goals "covers every aspect of our relationship with them.

"It's probably the most ambitious set of demands we've ever received from the UAW, O'Brien said.

Douglas Fraser, head of the UAW's Chrysler department, agreed the union demands were greater than ever before.

"We have more problems than we've ever had before," he added.

Fraser outlined to Chrysler Friday the UAW demands aimed at solving one of the UAWs big problems—120,000 skilled workers at Big Three plants who claim the union has shortchanged them in past negotiations.

While the tradesmen are the highest-paid class of workers among UAW members in the auto field, they complain that their wages still fall short of those received by workers who do the same jobs outside the industry.

Retail Sales In Texas Edge Up

AUSTIN (AP) — Retail sales in Texas climbed almost imperceptibly during June but topped the June 1966 total by 3 per cent, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research said Saturday.

The May-June increase was less than one-half per cent.

"National retail-sales data for June showed a similar pattern of normal seasonal change for total sales compared with May and a somewhat stronger 4 per cent gain compared with a year ago," said the Bureau's report, by Dr. Robert Williamson.

Williamson called the May June Texas change "about normal" for the season. Sales data for different types of stores "presented a mixture of gains and losses," he said.

Growth in retail sales for the first half of 1967 is slower than the 1966 rate and also lags behind the growth in total personal income and general business activity in the state, he said. Retail sales during the first half of 1966 were 6 per cent over the same period of 1965, he said, compared with a 3 per cent growth rate this year. Personal income and general business activity are growing at about the same 9 per cent rate recorded in 1966, Williamson said.

This slowdown in retail sales growth during the first half of 1967 was evident in both durable and nondurable goods categories.

During the first half, auto sales were 1 per cent below a year earlier in both Texas and the nation, Williamson said.

"Declines in passenger car car sales were a major factor in the slowdown of total retail sales, especially during the early months of 1967," he said. "A strengthening of the automotive sales trend occurred during the second quarter of the year and by June Texas automotive sales were 8 per cent higher than sales in the same month a year earlier."

Lumber, building material and hardware sales showed the greatest first half relative decline, he said, but "there was evidence of renewed economic strength in the latest reports."

"At mid-year retail merchants in Texas and throughout the nation could face the future with greater confidence. They were still confronted with serious potential problems, such as the prospects of labor disputes in major industries, higher costs and higher income taxes, but the basic economic situation seemed brighter," he said.

"Burdensome inventories that were a concern earlier in the year had been worked down to more manageable levels and rising consumer demands were indicated by the past large accumulation of personal savings, continuing personal income increases, the adequacy of credit supplies and evidence of an increase in consumer optimism about economic prospects."

FFA Head Says Farm Still Vital

By ANGELA PENNA

DALLAS (AP) — In a world where two-thirds of the people go to bed bungry and one-third of them die starving, farming is a noble vocation says Danny Burns, a new president of the Texas Future Farmers of America.

Burns was elected Friday at the closing session of the FFA's 39th annual convention. The 18-year-old graduate of Pittsburgh High School will spend the next year traveling the nation selling people on FFA and agriculture in general.

"As time goes on," he said, "We're going to have to produce more food and more fiber on less land than ever before. There will be less farmers, but each will contribute more. For this reason, agriculture will become increasingly more important."

Other incoming officers in the organization are vice presidents Lowell Bee Catlett of Dalhart, Larry Dale King of Anson, William Troy Krenek of Garwod, Bill Cranford of Perrin, Dennis Rowden of Garland, Riley Floyd of New Braunfels, Art Hanson of Lorena, Robert David Chevalier of Joaquin and Randy Lynch of Calallen.

Also named Friday was the organization's new sweetheart, Roxann Thurmond of Dumas and the winner of the state FFA public speaking contest, Inman B. White Jr., 15, of Palestine.

C-City Homer Sinks Snyder

Ironic Sixth Is Downfall For Snyder Little League

By TERRY WILLIAMSON

Snyder's All - Stars were eliminated last night from the nation wide Little League playoff chain by Colorado City 3-2 in the same manner they had won the right to represent Snyder on the night before.

Bruce Yancy stroked a three run homer in the bottom of the sixth narrowly missing the outstretched glove of Charles Cain, and as quick as the game had started it was over.

Ironically enough, Daryl Stokes, only the night before had stroked a sixth inning three run homer to Snyder to move them up in the Little League playoffs. Now Snyder has experienced the same feeling that such a blast brings for the opposite team.

Charles Anderson, losing pitcher for the Snyder team, had pitched brilliantly through five innings, and had only allowed three hits in the first five frames.

Opposing pitcher, Melvin Jackson, singled to lead off the sixth and Mike Trimble followed with a single. The disaster had its beginning.

Anderson forced Tim Stansel to fly out to Cain, and the hard throwing centerfielder nearly gunned down the runner at third with a perfect throw, but both runners managed to advance one base on the fly ball.

Yancy approached the plate and cracked a line drive that was labeled for a home run. Cain raced back to the fence with glove extended high, but the ball carried just beyond his reach and Colorado City had a victory.

Again it was an ironic twist, because the home run was hit over Cain. The centerfielder had robbed Colorado City of two hits, and had played flawless ball all night long. All he lacked in this perfect night, was a pair of wings.

Snyder had taken an eary lead in the third inning. Scotty Sullivan singled with one out. Tommy Welsh singled and Stokes walked to fill the bases. Cain doubled driving in Sullivan and Welsh for the only Snyder runs of the night.

In four of the six innings played, Snyder loaded the bases, but managed to score only two runs. Snyder left 11 men stranded on the base paths, and five men were left standing at third base.

Anderson absorbed the shock of the stunning defeat, but he pitched flawless ball for five innings, which probably adds to his misery.

Anderson had allowed only three hits before the sixth inning, and in all he gave up only six bingles. He struck out only three batters, but he was sparked by the errorless play of his Snyder teammates.

Kevin Jones sparkled at third base for Snyder, and he made two brilliant plays that stunned Colorado City fans. Sullivan covered first base like a cat for Snyder, and made bad throws and hot grounders seem easy for the tall blond. Stokes cut down the lead runner twice at second base with his excellent fielding and baseball savy.

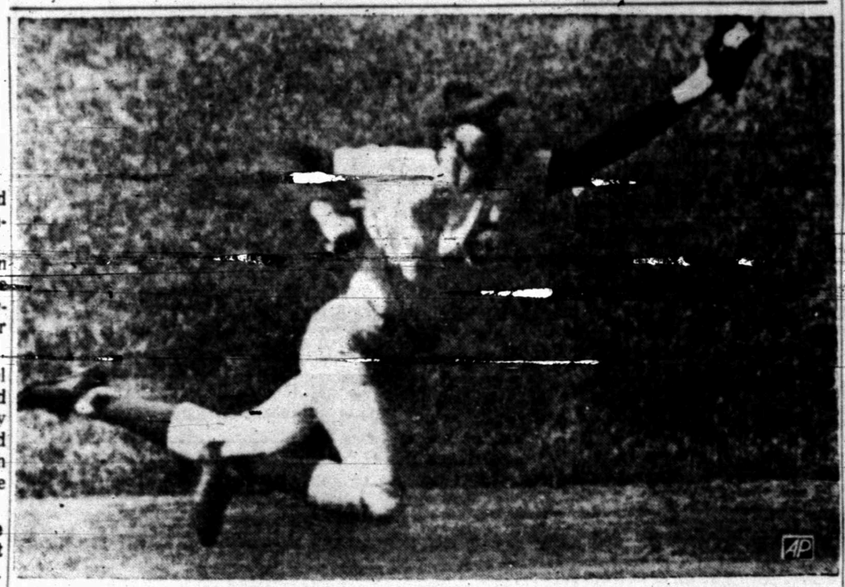

All in all Snyder looked as if they had all the poise that a champion needed, and they never lost it. Snyder did not commit an error, and were flawless in technique. The lone home run seemed destined to deal Snyder a marked deck.

Colorado City committed three errors on the night and allowed Snyder to bang out 11 hits. Colorado City proved to be tough with runners on base, and seemed to play their best game in the clutch, and they were often faced with a clutch situation.

A National League All - Star, who had traveled to Colorado City to watch his cross town counterparts, summed it up best. "Well, they know now what it feels like to lose like we did, but I still wish they hadn't lost."

WINNINGEST PRO

Hagen Joins Arnie's Army

By WILL GRIMSLEY

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Walter Hagen, the winningest pro of them all, divulged a little secret today—he's a member of Arnie's Army.

"I have a great administration for Arnie—I suppose he reminds me a little of myself in my heyday," the famous Haig said as he talked golf and reminisced from his air-conditioned trailer beside the press tent at the 49th PGA Championship.

Hagen won more PGA's than any other man—five of them back when they were match play eliminations and hard to win—and, besides that, he won two U.S. Opens, four British Opens and five Westerns.

"All of the young golfers today are tremendous players, great hitters of the ball, but I like Arnold Palmer because he has a flair for getting out of trouble. And he has the putting hands of a pick-pocket. You have to have the hands."

Hagen, 75 in December, has undergone an operation on his throat and he finds it difficult to talk—his conversation sometimes needing the interpretation of his son, Walter, Jr.

However, he looks healthy and happy and—in the old Hagen tradition—he's as enthusiastic and puckish as a schoolboy.

Walter came here for the PGA because his heart always has been with the pros. He never competed as an amateur. It was he, Long Jim Barnes, Jock Hutchinson and others who started the pro tour by putting up $75 each out of their pockets and playing for the pot.

Hagen was the most flamboyant and colorful golfer of his day—that crazy period known as the Golden Twenties—and he made the present Doug Sanders look like a fugitive from the Bowery.

He wore fleecy sweaters, knickers and fancy hose—sometimes changing costumes twice a day.

He was brash and cocky on the golf course.

Once in a British Open he needed to hole out from the fairway to tie Bob Jones for the title. He ordered the caddie to remove the pin—while Jones watched in amazement from the club house—and then almost made the shot.

Walter's philosophy was—and still is—this:

"Don't hurry, don't worry. Take it easy. In walking the highway of life, don't forget to stop and smell the roses."

Nats Win With Talent

By GORDON BEARD

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Washington Senators don't have any magic formula for their surprising climb in the American League pennant race.

"We've been getting great pitching and timely hitting," said the Senator's, Gil Hodges. And they whipped the Baltimore Orioles 4- and 3-1 in a doubleheader.

The combination usually leads to victories, and the Hodges quote—or something similar—has been uttered by winning managers since baseball was organized in 1839.

But then, it's not how the Senators are winning—but why. Winning 11 of 13 since July 9, Washington has taken over sixth place with a 45-46 record. For the perennial also-rans, that's surprising.

"I don't know how it ll started," Coach Eddie Yost said. "But we've been going great ever since we scored five runs in the ninth inning against Cleveland on July 9 and won 8-5."

The Senators, then ninth, swept the doubleheader from Cleveland that day. The twin killing Friday night was the third sweep during the hot streak.

"The players are beginning to believe in themselves," Yost said.

The Washington locker room was noisy after the doubleheader, a bold voice yelling, "Look out?"

Intercollege Teletype To Aid Research

AUSTIN (AP) — A new intercollege teletype network approved this week by the college coordinating board will extend the schools' "research horizon" far beyond Texas borders, the agency says.

"Medical school libraries in Texas, for example, will have inquiry access to the National Library of Medical Information Services in Washington as well as to all important medical school libraries which are members of the American Medical Association," the board said.

In addition, college and university libraries will be able to query the Bibliographic Center for Research in Denver, the Library of Congress and such other depositories as the John as the John Carver Library of Science in Chicago.

The board said the teletype system is expected to be in operation this fall and will not only link 18 Texas college and university campuses but also will connect them and any of the 47,000 campuses, corporations and re- throughout the country.

The Texas project is being coordinated and developed by Chief Librarian R. C. Janeway of Texas Tech.

Total cost of installing equipment will be $50,644, with $21,744 coming from the coordinating board's appropriation for the current fiscal year.

Bills' Back Holds Out

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Only defensive back Booker Edgerson, one of eight Buffalo Bills who had been at odds over 1967 salaries with the American Football league team, was expected to be a holdout today.

Two newly acquired players, split end Art Powell and quarterback Tom Flores, were to be at practice. Powell signed his contract Friday night after a talk with Bob Lustig, the Bills' executive vice president. Flores agreee to repot for today's workout.

Earlier Friday Keith Lincoln a third newly acquired player, and flanker Elbert Dubenion signed contracts and practiced after Head Coach Joe Collier hd ordered holdouts to turn in their playboks. Linebacker Marty Schottenheimer also rejoined the squad for practice though he remained unsigned.

The strike started Thursday when those six players and tight end Charley Ferguson and running back Bobby Burnett, refused to practice because they had not signed this season's contracts.

Ferguson signed Thursday and Burnet Friday.

Chuvalo Suffers Eye Injury

TORONTO (AP) — George Chuvalo, who took a terrible beating from Joe Frazier in their heavyweight bout Wednesday night, is in a Toronto hospital with a fractured bone under his right eye, his boxing career possibly at an end.

"He's had double vision ever since the fight," Chuvalo's manager Irv Ungerman said last night. "It's the same type injury Ernie Terrell suffered in his fight with Cassius Clay."

An operation is scheduled today. It will be three weeks before the results are known and another six to eight weeks before doctors decide whether Chuvalo can fight again, Ungerman said.

HOME RUN SLUGGER

Famed Fox Dies Of Heart Attack

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Jimmy Foxx, the barrel-chested Hall of Fame slugger who helped write baseball's home run record book, is dead. He was 59.

The famed Double X died Friday night of a heart attack.

Foxx was first baseman for the old Philadelphia Athletics in the heyday of Connie Mack's A's. They won the American League pennant three years in a row and captured the World Series twice in four games straight.

He was elected to the Hall of Fame in 1951, six years after he retired from the game.

In recent years Foxx's health had failed and his finances suffered. He resided at the pleasant suburban home of his son, John, a policeman, until recently.

He was shaky since an illness in 1965.

"At first they told me it was a heart attack," Foxx said in an interview in 1966. "Then they said it wasn't and I don't know. But they told me to cut down on work, which wasn't very hard. I'm prety lazy."

He was with his brother Sam Friday evening when the second attack of the day hit him. Police emergency squads gave him oxygen and raced him to Baptist Hospital, but it was too late.

Foxx compiled a lifetime batting average of .325 in 2,317 games, and twice led the American League at the plate — with .356 in 1933 and .349 in 1938.

He led the American League in home runs four times, 58 in 1932, 48 in 1933, 36 in 1935 and 35 in 1939. His total of 534 homers puts him third on the all-time list behind Babe Ruth and Willie Mays.

Jimmy said he tried for singles, not homers, but added, "I figured if you hit the ball good, it was gone."

In 1933 Foxx won the Triple Crown, leading the American League in home runs, batting and runs batted in.

After Mays hit his 535th home run Aug. 17, 1966, Foxx sent a telegram and told reporters who came to see him, "I hope he hits 600. For 25 years, they thought only left-handers could hit the long ones. Why I hit 500 before any other right-hander could hit 400. I'm happy that another right-hander can prove he can hit."

Nancy Enters Net Finals

By KEN HARTNETT

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Young virtuoso Rosemary Casals, playing with well tempered verve and style, has swung her way into the finals of the National Clay Court Tennis Tournament opposite defending champion Nancy Richey.

The grandniece of the famed cellist, Pablo Casals, advanced with a semifinal 6-4, 6-4 victory Friday over top-seeded Billie Jean King, the world's ranking women's player and Miss Casals' doubles partner.

The second-seeded Miss Richey, San Angelo, Tex., seeking an unprecedented fifth straight title moved into the championship match with a 6-1, 7-5 triumph over Australia's Kerry Melville, top-seeded foreigner. The match turned on a disputed point.

Top-seeded Arthur Asheo Richmond, Va., the nation's ranking men's player, moved into the semifinals opposite Brazil's Ron Barnes with a 6-1, 6-3, 7-5 victory over uninspired Australian John Cooper, thirdseeded foreigner.

Barnes, secondseeded foreigner, struggled through to a lackluster 6-8, 8-6, 6-3, 6-8, 61 victory over unseeded George Seewagen of New York and Rice University.

The other semifinalists are Canada's Mike Belkin; fourth seeded foreigner who upset defending champion and secondseeded Cliff Richey Thursday, and fourth-seeded Marty Riessen, Evanston, Ill., winner Thursday over top-seeded foreigner, Ray Ruffels, Australia.

Using a blend of the soft and hard, the 18-year-old Miss Casals, of San Francisco, controlled the tempo of the game and took advantage of repeated lapses by the Wimbledon queen.

Light-Colored Bag Had Valuables Inside

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Ruth Weibler noticed a light-colored bag on a downtown street corner.

The only marking in the bag was "Bank of America," so she carted it off to the nearest bank. There officials told her that $15,000 in bills were inside.

An official of an armored car firm said the bag apparently had fallen unnoticed from a loading cart.

If Mrs. Weibler had known what she was carrying Friday, she said, "I would have fainted."

CLARDY FIRES ONE HITTER

Clippers Take League Finale

Bobby Clardy fired a one hit shutout last night against the Sweetwater Reds, and the Clippers supported him with an eight run scoring binge to complete the regular Senior Teenage League season.

The Clippers upped their record to 13-2 as they prepare for the Senior Teenage League playoffs early next month. They have had the area league sewed up for two weeks.

Clardy pitched perfect ball through five innings as he retired the first 15 batters to face him. The only hit to mar his flawless game came in the sixth inning on a leadoff single by Larry Lewis.

Clardy then struck out a batter and walked Tony Butler for the only walk he allowed in the game. Clardy then retired the next five men to face him to end the game.

Clardy only faced 23 men and the minimum of batters he could have faced is 21. He struck out 15 batters in the seven innings he worked.

Terry Holt scored the only run Snyder needed in the first inning when Bruce Almond reached base on an error by the rightfielder, and Holt scored.

Snyder scored three runs in each of the fourth and fifth innings, and a single run in the sixth frame to round out their scoring.

Snyder scored three runs in each of the fourth and fifth innings, and a single run in the sixth frame to round out their scoring.

Holt led the Snyder hitters with three safties. Rick Hall and Kenny Ragland each had two hits. Larry Wadzek and Ragland produced triples in the game.

Snyder will journey to Post Tuesday to participate in the Post Jaycee Tournament as a warm-up before the playoffs begin next month.

Howard Jones, manager of the Clippers, reported that Snyder will play Shallowwater in their first game of the tournament. It will be a double elimination affair.

Veale Had Rhythm, But No Slider

By IRA MILLER

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bob Veale had rhythm, but he didn't have a slider. To the Houston Astros, it was all the same.

"Rhythm," the lanky lefthander repeated over and over in the clubhouse at Forbes Field Friday night after ending a three-month drought by pitching a complete game.

Veale said he had rhythm and that was all he needed in a 9-1 victory for Pittsburgh over Houston.

"My slider," he said, "they all hit it, I wasn't getting it to the right spot. I couldn't put it where I wanted to."

Veale had 10 strikeouts, walking three, as he went the distance for the first time in 18 starts. f late, his troubles were particularly acute and in two starts since the All-Star game Veale had walked 15 men in less thn 12 innings.

"I had rhythm for a change," Veale said. "If you've got god rhythm, you've got god control. Without rhythm, you've got nothing.

"You get used to pitching one way and then you start pressing," he said. "You start by walking two guys in a row and then you have a psychological block. It's like when you pick up a bad habit you keep doing things the same way. When you're pressing you fight two yourself and your opponent."

Patriot QB Retires

ANDOVER, Mass. (AP) — Quarterback Eddie Wilson, acquired by the Boston Patriots on a trial basis, announced his retirement from football Friday because his injured knee has not responded properly.

The five-year American Fotball League veteran will return to his alma mater, Arizona, as backfield coach and offensive cordinator.

'Almost' Aaron Leads Parade

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — It was like waiting for the other shoe to drop as the $150,000 PGA championship drifted into the third round today.

Arnie's Army and Jack's Pack were the most anxious for something to pop, but after 36 holes there has been a different leader each day and neither was Arnold Palmer nor Jack Nicklaus.

Tommy Aaron, who in his seven years as a golf professional has been close but never a winner, led the parade with a score of 135—a first-round 70 and a seven-under par 65 Friday, which erased the one-day old Columbine Country Club course record of 66.

Another hot, humid day was sighted as the cutdown field of 76 pros trudged forth on Columbine's parched par 36-36—72, 7,436-yard layout. Scores of 151 and under qualified for the final two rounds.

The final rounds will be televised cationally by ABC, today from 6-7:30 p.m., EDT, and Sunday from 5-7 p.m. EDT.

Palmer has a 70-71—141 and Nicklaus 6775—142.

Tied at 139, four strokes behind Aaron, were Dave Hill, the hero who led the first charge with a 66 and shot a 73 Friday; Dan Sikes, 60-79, and Don Bies, a 29-year-old assistant club pro from Seattle, Wash. 69-70.

Former U.S. Open champion Billy Casper, 7570, and Julius Boros, 69-76, were tied at 145.

Masters champion Gay Brewer with a 74 was in the 149 bracket, barely escaping the cut.

The PGA defending champion, Al Geiberger, was making a strong run and was three under par until the heat hit him on the back nine. Geiberger bogeyed the last two holes and shot a 71 for 144.

Doug Sanders scored a hole-in one with a four-iron on the 194-yard 16th hole. He had a 71 for 143.

Cokes Title Bout On Tap

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—World's welterweight champion Curtis Curtis Cokes will defend his title against Gypsy Joe Harris here Monday night and there will be a sellout crowd because of the controversy swirling around it, Promoter Kenneth Hayles said today.

Hayles already has Harris en route back to Dallas from Philadelphia, where he had gone Wednesday after the Texas Boxing Commission canceled the fight for irregularities in its promotion.

But a district judge at Austin, headquarters of the commission, Friday knocked out Commissioner Charles King's order cancelling the fight and suspending the promoter's license of the Greater Dallas Sports Association, of which Hayles is co-promoter.

Then Hayles announced the fight would go on as originally scheduled.

Memorial Auditorium, where the 15-round fight is scheduled, seats more than 10,000.

The trouble arose when Lord demanded of Hayles that he pay all of the $35,000 Cokes was supposed to get in his title defense here May 19 against Francois Pavilla of France.

Lord also wanted placed in escrow the $35,000 Cokes had been offered to fight Harris, the man who won a nontitle scrap from Cokes in New York in March. The unbeaten Harris is ranked second by the World Boxing Association.

Williams Grabs Batting Lead

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Don Williams, Albuquerque shortstop, has moved into the Texas League batting lead and it's an unusual story.

Williams was in the Pacific Coast League when the Los Angeles Dodgers sent him to farm club Albuquerque as a playing coach, with the idea of helping the youngsters.

So Williams proceeded to play while he was coaching and now he has zoomed to the top in batting with a .322 average.

It was the same situation with Larry Stubing, sent by the California Angels to El Paso, but Stubing hasn't played enough to be the batting leader although he has the highest average in the league—.378 compiled in only 90 times at bat. Williams has gone to bat 261 times so he is in position to win the batting title.

Williams took over from Willie Crawford of Albuquerque, who led with .327 but dropped to .320 when he got only seven hits in 28 times at bat last week.

There are two double leaders in the individual categories with Joe Hague of Arkansas topping in total bases with 169 and runs batted in with 57 and Nate Colbert of Amarillo leading in homers with 24 and stolen bases with 16.

Bull Watson of Amarillo leads in runs with 68, Clarence Gaston of Austin in hits with 107, Gordie Avery of El Paso in doubles with 24 and Mel Corbo of Albuquerque in triples with 10.

Dick Pierini of Amarillo is the winningest pitcher wth a 10-2 record. Jerry Robertson of Arkansas is 9-1 and John Duffie of Albuquerque 9-7. Ed Everitt of Albuquerque leads in strikeouts with 129.

Amarillo leads in club batting with .270 and El Paso in club fielding with .974.

Albuquerque Threatens

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Albuquerque has perked up and started threatening the top echelon of the Texas League.

The Dodgers have won six in a row and solidified their third place standing enough that they are now just 1½ games out of second and 6½ away from first. Paso 9-1 Friday night to not only gain a game on the Sun Kings but to help first place Amarillo maintain its five-game lead.

Amarillo lost its fourth straight falling to Dallas-Fort Worth 4-2.

Austin and Arkansas split a doubleheader. Dick Smith's two-run homer carried Austin to a 3-1 victory in the first game. Arkansas pushed over three runs in the sixth en route to a 4-0 victory over Austin in the nightcap.

Leon Everitt pitched a four-hitter as Albuquerque crushed El Paso.

Chuck Benson drove in three runs with a double and single to lead Dallas-Fort Worth to its triumph over Amarillo, with John Upham and Don Larsen furnishing nifty relief help.

Manager Buddy Hancken of Amarillo was put out of the game by plate umpire Don Uzelac but had to be escorted from the field by policemen.

The schedule is the same tonight with El Paso at Albuquerque, Amarillo at Dallas-Fort Worth and Arkansas at Austin.

VEALE TWIRLS 3-HITTER

Pirates Dance Past Houston Astros, 9-1

DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

When Bob Veale's got rhythm, who could ask for anything more?

Veale, Pittsburgh's enigmatic pitching ace, didn't miss a beat Friday night in firing a three-hitter for his first complete game since April 28 as the Pirates danced past the Houston Astros 9-1.

"I had rhythm tonight for a change," said the 6-foot-6 fireballer, who had failed to finish in 15 straight starts before taming the Astros. "If you got good rhythm, you got good control. Without rhythm, you have nothing."

While Veale called the tune against Houston, the Chicago Cubs edged San Francisco 5-4 in came the National League leading St. Louis Cardinals, who bowed to Atlanta 4-1. Philadelphia overtok Cincinnati 5-3 and Los Angeles blanked the New York Mets 3-0 in other games.

In the American League, Washington swept a twi-night twin bill from Baltimore 4-3 and 3-1, the Chicago White Sox edged Kansas City 5-4, Detroit trimmed the New York Yankees 4-2, Boston whipped Cleveland 6-2 and California nipped Minnesota 2-1.

Veale's route-going victory boosted his season record to 11-4 and lifted the struggling Pirates one game over the .500 mark at 45-44. They trail St. Louis by 7½ games.

The 31-year-old left-hander struck out 10 and walked three. He had issued 15 walks in his last two starts.

Veale lost a shutout in the ninth inning on an unearned run. Maury Wills booted Jim Wynn's grounder and Rusty Staub, who had two of the Astros' hits, followed with a double before Wynn scored on an infield out.

By then, however, the Pirates had it wrapped up. Bill Mazeroski drilled three hits, scored twice and drove in a run; Manny Mota delivered two runs with a homer and triple, and Roberto Clemente, back in the line-up after missing four games with a sore knee, smashed a two-run triple to key Pitsburgh's 15-hit attack.

The Cubs closed in on first place again by snapping a 4-4 tie in the 12th on a walk, a sacrifice, an intentional pass and Willie McCovey's two-base throwing error. The Giants' first baseman threw wildly past second on an attempted force, allowing Al Spangler to score the winning run.

Willie Mays, playing for the first time in a week after a flu siege, sent the Giants ahead 4-3 with a sacrifice fly in the seventh, but the Cubs tied it in the bottom of the inning on Ernie Banks' RBI single.

Elevent pitchers got into the game, with Cal Koonce, the fifth Chicago hurler, getting the victory and Ron Herbel taking the loss.

Hank Aaron smacked a two-run homer and Clete Boyer drove in two runs with a homer and sacrifice fly as the Braves rolled to their 10th victory in the last 14 games behind Phil Niekro's six-hitter.

Aaron and Boyer homered in the fourth inning against Nelson Briles, making his first start for the league leaders.

Gary Sutherland knocked in two runs in the eighth with a two-out single and Tony Taylor's infield hit delivered an insurance tally for the Phils, who erased a 3-2 Cincinnati lead after Tommy Helms' error opened the gates.

Helms booted a double play grounder with one out before Sutherland's first hit since June 28 sent the Reds down to their third straight loss.

Rookie Bill Singer and reliever Phil Regan combined for a six-hit shutout as the Dodgers withstood New York's first challenge in the battle for eighth place.

Dick Schofield's double and Willie Davis' single keyed a two-run first inning burst and Bob Bailey's sacrifice fly, after a seventh inning double by Al Ferrara, completed the scoring.

AN EXHUBERANT WINNER — Joe Frazier grins broadly and throws his arms up after beating George Chuvalo in their heavyweight boxing match in Madison Square Garden in New York City. Pan Am Set Sunday

By JERRY LISKA

WINNIPEG (AP) — Scorching temperatures were due to subside and an athletic invasion swell to about 2,400 performers for Sunday's formal opening of the fifth Pan-American Games.

After four days of 90-plus weather, isolated showers and temperatures around 80 degrees might prevail when Prince Philip reviews the colorful parade of athletes from at least 24 North and South American nations in the traditional opening.

Fanfare before a capacity 20,000 in the Winnipeg Stadium launching the 12-day games begins at 2 p.m. EST.

The withering weather in this south central Canadian city of 500,000 slowed athletic practice to a standstill this week, but the 22-sport program is scheduled to start Monday with action in 10 sports.

Although the total entry fell short of predictions it would top the record 2,583 from 21 nations at Mexico City in 1955. The United States sent its largest Pan-Am delegation, 402 men and women athletes. Uncle Sam's powerful squad was topped numerically only by host Canada's 443.

Track and field squad begins competition next Saturday. Swimming competition begins Tuesday.

Sports beginning Monday include baseball—with a spotlighted U.S. vs. Cuba night game—men's and women's basketball, cycling, shooting, men's and women's volleyball, tennis, water polo, field hockey, gymnastics and soccer.

WILBUR WOOD

Sox Credit Success To Relief Pitcher

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago White Sox can knock on wood that they called on Wood, whose relief as a starter kept them in first place in the American League.

A left-handed reliever who gets lost in the bullpen with the wealth of Chicago hurlers, Wilbur Wood seems to have found himself as a starter, winning the only two games the Sox have captured in their last six.

Wood, who put the knock on Jim Hunter and Kansas City last Sunday in his first start in the major leagues since 1965, did it again Friday night as the White Sox edged the A's 5-4.

Without those victories, Chicago's 1½-game lead over Boston would have melted into a half-game deficit and a second-place standing.

The surprising Red Sox took over the runner-up spot by topping Cleveland 6-2 for their seventh straight triumph. Minnesota fell to third when red-hot California beat the sinking Twins 2-1 for their fourth straight victory and 31st in 43 games.

Detroit kept pace by beating the New York Yankees 4-2 while streaking Washington dealt Baltimore a double defeat, 4-3 and 3-1, taking sixth place from Cleveland with their 11th victory in 13 games.

In the National League, Pittsburgh trounced Houston 9-1, Chicago edged San Francisco 5-4 in 12 innings, Atlanta topped St. Louis 4-1, Philadelphia beat Cincinnati 5-3 and Los Angeles blanked New York 3-0.

Wood, whose only two victories without a loss—he has three saves in relief—have come in those starts, gave the Sox 7 2-3 innings Friday, allowing only six hits and two runs, only one earned.

Ace reliever Hoyt Wilhelm bailed him out in the eighth, but needed help in the ninth from Bob Locker, the other bullpen workhorse, who got the last out after the A's scored twice.

The 25-year-old Wood, bought from Columbus after mediocre tries as a relief man for Boston and Pittsburgh where he won a total of one game, lowered his earned run average to 1.39 in 28 games as the replacement for sore-armed Jim O'Toole.

Wayne Causey, who had only three hits off his former Kansas City mates in 1½ years since he was traded, provided Wood with working room as he snapped a 1-1 tie with a run-scoring triple in the fifth inning off Hunter and then scored on Pete Ward's hit. Causey then singled in the decisive run in the ninth inning.

Joe Foy enlivened Boston's attack with a three-run homer in the third inning off Luis Tiant that provided enough runs for Darrell Brandon, who scattered eight hits, including a two-run homer by Leon Wagner in the eighth.

California, only 3½ games back in fourth place, got a fourth-inning run on Bobby Knoop's double and the decisive marker in the fifth when Dave Boswell walked in a run.

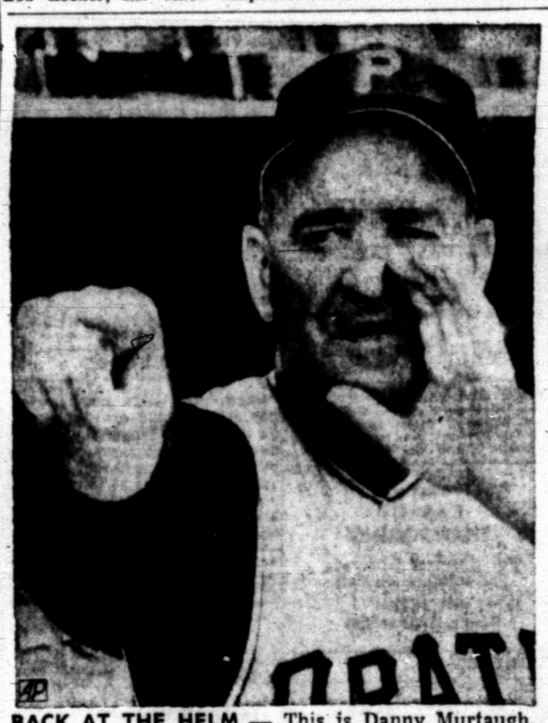

George Brunet, winning for the eighth time in 11 decisions, shutout the Twins until Harmon Kilebrew's 28th homer in the ninth. Two more runners got on before Minne Rojas struck out Rich Reese, saving his 15th game and dropping the Twins two games out.

Willie Horton, bothered by a chronic achilles tendon, still managed three hits that drove in two runs and scored once before he left for a pinch runner as Detroit handed the Yankees their fifth straight loss.

Denny McLain had a four-hit shutout entering the eighth, but needed clutch relief help from Mike Marshall before he got the victory.

Cap Peterson completed Washington's sweep with a inning of the nightcap, ending a scoreless duel between Joe Coleman of the Senators and Dave McNally.

Fred Valentine drove in Washington's first three runs in the opener with two singles, but the winning run scored in the eighth when Eddie Fisher uncorked a wild pitch. The Orioles later closed the gap on homers by Paul Blair and Brooks Robinson.

North Holds Upperhand

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The South will be favored to continue its domination in basketball but where a victory is most needed — in football—there's another story attached to the all-star games of the Texas coaching schol.

The basketball game, with the South seeking its fifth straight victory, is scheduled Aug. 2.

The football game, which the North has won the last five years, is set for Aug. 3.

Even in basketball, the South is not ahead in the overall, the North boasting a 12-10 edge in the series that was started in 1946.

In football the margin is almost humiliating. The North has won 19 games against 10 losses and 3 ties in the 33-year-old series.

And the North, coached by Gene Mayfield of Odessa Permian, will be a mild favorite to continue the domination on the basis of a potentially better debasis of a potentially beter defense although the South, as usual, appears to have the better backs.

But the North never has won a fotball game in San Antonio, where there has been none in six years. The South won two and tied one in the three that have been played here.

Anyway, a crowd of 25,000 — that's all Alamo Stadium will seat — is forecast.

The basketball game, in which the South is favored because of an advantage in height, will be at Alamo Gym with 6,400 capacity expected.

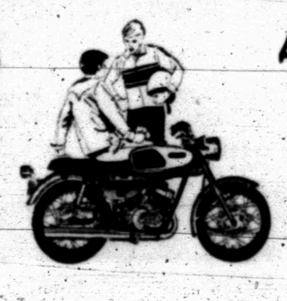

Neither game can set a record for attendance since the top and the best in basketball has been 8,721.

SOPHIA: Yen For Stage

EDITOR's NOTE—Italy's Sophia Loren, who started her career at 15 as a piece of statuesque cheesecake, is now regarded, at 32, as an actress of real stature. Simplicity in living and hard work are the keys to success, she believes. Now the glamorous star is thinking of working even harder: she'd like to do a stage play by Tennessee Williams

MARINO, Italy (AP) — At 32, having conquered the cinema world like no other Italian actress ever, Sophia Loren wants to try the stage.

It won't be classical drama. It won't even be Italian. As far as she's concerned, modern American theater is more relevant than anything being done in Italy. And for her as an actress the top playwright is Tennessee Williams.

"It's because he writes real roles for women," she says.

"In his plays women are highly developed and important characters.

"I like Edward Albee, too. I saw "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf' in New York and it was wonderful. But that part is so American it would be impossible for me, like asking Elizabeth Taylor to play a Neopolitan wife.

"I've never met Tennessee Williams and he probably doesn't know how I feel. But if I should try the stage I would like it to be a part written by him."

At this point in her career, Miss Loren believes the urge for stage acting comes naturally.

"Movie actors eventually want to try the stage and stage actors eventually want to try the movies. It's normal," she says.

This does not mean she is tiring of the cinema. Working in films since she came out of the Neopolitan slums for an extra's part at the age of 15, she hopes to continue as long as she can foresee.

SOPHIIA LOREN
. . . really grown up

Her work and her marriage to producer Carlo Ponti, who guided her to fame and international respect as an actress, are everything in her life.

Despite her fabulous wealth and her brilliant professional reputation, her way of life is markedly simple.

She and Ponti are now settled permanently at their sumptious villa at Marino, outside Rome, not far from the summer papal residence at Castel Gandolfo.

But the couple live in semiseclusion, seldom entertain and rarely go out. They have given up their Rome apartment.

Except to accompany Ponti to Paris on his business trips she seldom goes anywhere unless a picture demands it.

"In Paris occasionally we go to a nightclub," Miss Loren explains, "but in Rome never. Carlo is from Milan and work is very important to him. I'm that way myself. We work and when we don't work we stay home."

"I've enjoyed working with a lot of actors," Miss Loren observes. "Cary Grant, Peter Sellers and others. But I have always felt a special closeness to Marcello Mastroianni. In a way it's because we came up in this business at the same time.

"I have the feeling that we have come along together. We understand each other like brother and sister. When we are doing a picture we don't even have to explain to each other. We both understand what's needed. Acting like that is pure simplicity, the best way. When I act with him I feel fine, really fine. Fine with a capital F."

From the very beginning, Miss Loren realized that hard work and the development of true acting ability were the keys to the kind of career she wanted.

"I didn't want to be just a sexpot. I sensed right away from seeing other girls in the same situation that I could do more than that. I wanted to be a real actress and I am. As I grow older I will be able to play older roles in the normal way a real actress develops. You can't do that if you're just a sexpot."

The one great void in her life is children. But she explains that even with the miscarriages she has suffered she is assured by doctors that she is still physically capable of having a child.

Basil Rathbone Is Dead At 75

By BOB MONROE

NEW YORK (AP) — Basil Rathbone, the suave Shakespearean actor familiar to two generations of moviegoers as the screen's clipped-accented Sherlock Holmes, is dead of a heart attack. He was 75.

Rathbone played the role of Arthur Conan Doyle's deerstalker-capped, fictional sleuth in 16 films midway in his career as a Hollywood star.

Then, feeling his own personality was being submerged by that of Holmes, he abruptly quit the series and returned to his first love, the stage.

Rathbone had no history of heart trouble and was active until his death in his Manhatan aprtment Friday.

Although he acieved popular fame and considerable fortune through the Holmes series, Rathbone usually referred to the experience derisively after he quit.

"I played Holmes for seven years, and nobody thought I could do anything else," he once complained.

He was born the son of an English mining engineer in Johannesburg, South Africa. As a boy he narrowly escaped death at the hands of the Boers and his father decided to send him to England to be educated.

At 18 he went to work for an insurance company, an experience he found "frightfully dull and uninvigorating." Soon after he left and joined a Shakespearean troupe managed by his cousin, Sir Frank Benson.

His first stage appearance was at the Theatre Royal in Ipswich as Horatio in "The Taming of the Shrew." He was good enough so that his cousin brought him to the United States on tour in 1912.

During World War I he was a kilted captain in the Liverpool Scottish Regiment. He once explained his war experience to an interviewer thus0- "all I did, old man, was disguise myself as a tree — that's correct, a tree — and cross no-man's land to gather a bit of information from the German lines."

Rathbone's first movie, a silent one, was "The Masked Bride" in 1925. With the advent of talkies his crisp well-modulated voice stood him in good stead.

His Hollywood career included more than 100 films.

Among them were "David Copperfield," "Anna Karenina" and "Romeo and Juliet."

In recent years he had turned to television. Rathbone loved acting and took secondary roles, no matter how small, because he enjoyed them.

Earlier this year, playing the Duke of York in a television drama, "Soldier in Love," he told an interviewer: "If you close your eyes during the first act you may very well miss me. But when it is no longer a matter of being a romantic star, an actor can play what he wants to play. And I wanted to play the Duke of York."

He is survived by his wife, the former Ouida Bergere, whom he married in 1926, their daughter, Cynthia, and a son Rodion; by his previous marrige to Ethel Marian Forman which ended in divorce.

A funeral service will be held Tuesday morning at St. James Episcopal church.

Add some chopped parsley to your next patch of baking powder biscuit dough. It will add color and flavor.

BOB HOPE AND PHYLLIS DILLER star in the new United Artist color production "8 On the Lam," the most "wanted" picture in years. It is coming to the Ritz Theatre here, Sunday, July 30.

Miss Texas Reign Hectic But Happy

EDITOR's NOTE: It's been hectic but delightful, says Susan Kay Logan, in the twilight now of her reign as Miss Texas. Here, in an interview, she looks back on the past year and forward to a career she hopes will propel her to the bright lights of Broadway.

By MIKE COCHRAN

FORT WORTH (AP)—Saturday night, a tall, striking blonde relinquishes her title of Miss Texas, concluding a frantic year jammed with travel and personal appearances.

"I'm going to San Angelo and go into a two-week coma," she laughed.

With a regional television audience looking on, Susan Kay Logan, 20, blue-eyed and bubbly will crown her successor shortly before midnight Saturday in Will Rogers Auditorium.

From the 63 contestants, a national panel of judges will select a new Miss Texas, and the whirlwind of activities begins again.

After her selection last year, Miss Logan awakened the next day announced, "I'm just beginning to realize what happened last night . . . and it's wonderful!"

Since then, she's crisscrossed Texas by car roughly 25,000 miles, plus probably 10,000 more by airplane. She's also taken a hop or two by horse.

"It's been an educational year," she said. "A delightful one. Full. Hectic at times. But the only part that was a real pain at all was packing."

She added, with a laugh, I guess to be a good Miss Texas you've got to enjoy packing. I loved the travel and meeting the people, but packing . . ."

The hustle and bustle and demands on her time she took in stride, even enjoying it.

"It takes a while to get used to it...after a whole year, you do get used to it. By now, I'm so used to going, that when I get a few minutes I don't know what to do with myself."

She will, she admitted, miss all the attention.

The year produced a number of pleasant experiences and adventures of sorts, but none matched the Miss America Pageant, where she was named one of the 10 finalists.

"Atlantic City, without a doubt—that had to be the highlight," she said.

Another favorite was the opportunity to address a session of the Texas Legislature. "That was really a fun appearance," she said, suggesting that her successor would gain much from a similar visit.

The new Miss Texas, she said also should "be aware of what and who she is representing—and take advantage of all the opportunities the title offers."

Such an opportunity was the leading role in the Scott Theater production of the Broadway hit "Any Wednesday,' which won Sandy Dennis a Tony award.

Susan, an aspiring actress, and Joy Garrett, a former Miss Fort Worth, leave in mid-September for New York, where they will study at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts.

They plan to share an apartment and spend the next two years studying there.

"I'd like to act on Broadway," Susan said. "I've wanted to do this forever, even before I became Miss Texas. And I wanted to go to the academy when I was in high school."

Her selection as Miss Texas cut short her education at Texas Tech, where she completed her freshman year before winning the Miss Lubbock title.

Her parents live in San Angelo but Susan recently has been living in Dallas, commuting frequently between here and there.

"I've been over that turnpike so much, you'd think I owned it," she quipped.

She prefers Broadway.

Austin Aqua Festival Is Set To Open

AUSTIN (AP) — Preliminary events of the sixth annual Austin Aqua Festival get underway the coming week.

The official program of the events in the Austin area or the nearby Highland Lakes.

The first pre-festival events are July 29 and 30, including a Highland Lakes Golf Tournament at Lake Lyndon B. Johnson, near Marble Falls, the state Appaloosa horse races at Manor Downs northeast of Austin, Southwest championship drag boat races on Town Lake and preliminary eliminations of the 1967 Battle of Bands among more than 30 dance combos and ensembles.

The annual Highland Lakes canoe race begins at Lake Buchanan's Black Rock Park the morning of July 31. The 100-mile, five-day race will take 20 Explorer Scout post teams by canoe and portage down the seven Highland lakes. The finish of the canoe race on the morning of Aug. 4 officially begins the 10-day Aqua Festival program.

Highlights of the Aqua Festival incude the sixth annual National Sports Car Races, Carrera de la Capital; Rio Noche, a night water pageant on town lake in downtown Austin; the 250-mile Enduro boat races, the governor's Cup Sailing Regatta, the Nation Water Ski Championships, and the coronation of a Miss Austin Aqua Beauty.

Pair Missing On Canoe Trip

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK, Wyo. (AP) — Two summer workers at Yellowstone National Park are reported missing after failure to return from a canoe trip on Yellowstone Lake.

Steve Smith, 21, Dallas, and Kenneth Ables, 19, of San Marino, Calif. left Wednesday and upon failure to return Thursday, the Park Ranger's office began a search for them.

Park Rangers said the water on Yellowstone Lake has been "pretty rough" the past few afternoons.

Bones Used For Car Safety Tests

By JAMES V. LAMB
Associated Press Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Scientists and engineers at Franklin Institute are pounding, bending anu breaking bones with the aim of making the family car a safer vehicle.

Under a $44,000 contract from the U.S. Department of Transportation, the institute is testing cattle bones and joints—much like engineers have tested steel, concrete and other structuwral material for years.

The institute said it believes this is one of the first studies to apply structural engineering tests to bones.

"Bone, after all, is a structural material and we think we can help bridge the gap between the medical and engineering sciences and find some numerical values for bone structure," said Dr. Francis W. Cooke, head of the institutes metallurgy laboratory.

The data from the tests will be turned over to the Department of Transportation for studies on how to better guard legs and knees in auto collisions.

"We chose the knee to study," said Cooke, "because it's very complex, it's difficult to repair and failure to repair it properly results in serious impaiment of function. There are a lot of jobs a man with a banged up knee can't do."

Besides the engineering studies, pathology studies on the samples will be made by Dr. Donald Negel, chief of orthopedics at Hahnemann Medical School and Hospital.

The bone samples will come from cattle freshly slaughtered at a packing house. They'll be subjected to sharp bends and pulls and impact loads. The scientists will first study bone samples, then joints, and finally joints surrounded by flesh and tissue.

"If we can learn what the reaction to impact loads will be, then we can learn how to predict it and ultimately prevent it," said Melvin Zisfein, associate director of the institute's research laboratories.

Rising Costs Halt Ambulance Service

TYLER (AP) — Rising costs are forcing Tyler's four funeral homes to end ambulance service in that city effective September 1.

Funeral homes said they chose to get out rather than to raise the funeral costs to compensate for losses in operating ambulances.

There was no indication of who might operate an ambulance service after that date.

Medderses Lose Their Summer Home

JELLICO, Tenn. (AP) — J. A. McClary, president of Union Bank, said Friday Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Medders, who were forced into bankruptcy at Muenster, Tex., have lost their summer home here.

McClary said the bank reclaimed a residence the Medders bought here last February.

Mrs. Medders is a native of Jellico.

Hula Hoop Comes Back With Sound

By SALLY RYAN

NEW YORK (AP) — The hula hoop, which sent the nation reeling nine summers ago, is back—this time with sound to match the gyrations.

"It has been fantastic," said a toy salesman in New York. "It's a whole new generation of kids. They never have seen them before."

The Toy Manufacturers of America, Inc., donated hundreds of new toys for a play-in in Central Park this summer, and it turned into a hoop-in.

Children passed up war toys—and even a swimming pool—to swish the yellow and red plastic hoops around-around their waists, around their hips, around their necks.

The new hoops have small particles like BB's rattling around inside, giving them a shoop-shoop sound when the backfield is in motion.

They are made by a California toy company, Wham-O Manufacturing Co. of San Gabriel, which hopes to sell five million this year.

The last time around, dozens of companies leaped in to make them, swamping the country with hoops, cutting prices, and leaving stores with thousands of hoops to use as backyard fences.

This time Wham-O has a patent, and threatens legal action against any intruders.

It tested the new shoop-shoop hoops at a chain of department stores in Miami, and sold 14,000 in the first two months. In Shreveport, La., one store ordered 4,200 in less than one month. So the company decided to bring the hoops back nationally.

Alabama Women Building Own House

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — You may think you're pretty handy around the house, but don't brag about it to Frances Haigler and Henrietta Pasquale. They're building one.

The two Montgomery women are building a two-bedroom, bath-and-a-half house all by themselves. Well, almost by themselves.

Mrs. Haigler and her sister-in-law hired a carpenter to do the sawing of the lumber and to give them some instructions. But carpenter B. H. Hutchinson says the women have done all the construction work.

"They are as good as any laborers I could find," he said.

They have the frame up now and once the carpentry is finished, they'll become bricklayers, roofers and electricians. They plan to have the house completed by winter.
