Kennedy Presents His Foreign Aid Program

Rusk, Soviet Confer Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy formally submitted a $4,878,500,000 foreign aid program to Congress today. He insisted every dollar is vitally needed to combat threats of communism, chaos and tyranny in other lands.

Kennedy drew a line against cutting the appropriation in a special message to Capitol Hill. Members of Congress always are inclined to cut the vast program—and show little inclination to break the habit this time.

Some of the appropriations require authorizing legislation. Hearings get under way Wednesday before the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Except for fresh words of persuasion, the presidential message generally follows in all essentials the 1961 fiscal year already presented in Kennedy's budget and State of the Union message.

The President proposed $3,378,500,000 of appropriations for economic aid and $1,500,000,000 for military assistance, to make up the $4,878,500,000 total.

Last year he asked for a total of $4,806,000,000 and got only $3,914,500,000—a reduction of $891,500,000. Congress provided $1,600,000,000 for military aid.

Expenditures, which always trail behind appropriations, would go up from an expected $1,000,000,000 to $2,235,000,000 for economic assistance for the 1962 and 1963 fiscal years. Those for military aid would remain unchanged at $1.4 billion for each year.

Kennedy said his recommendations are based on careful examination of urgent needs. The amounts in every category, he said, are essential to achieving the goal of strengthening developing countries to meet the stress of rapid change and to "repel Communist efforts to exploit such stress."

Containing that slashes by Congress would be hazardous, the chief executive said. "We should know by now that where weakness and dependence are not transformed into strength and self-reliance, we can expect only chaos, and then tyranny, to follow."

The only major change in the aid program this year had been announced previously. This is a $3 billion fund to be used over the next four years for the Alliance for Progress in Latin America. Kennedy asked Congress to appropriate $600 million of the total for the coming year and said about $500 million would go to loans and $100 million to grants.

French, Algerians Nearing Showdown

By JOSEPH E. DYMAN
EVIAN, France (AP)—French and Algerian nationalist officials moved into the showdown phase of their peace talks today with agreement apparently still one or two days away.

One informant said the two sides still had several differences to bridge before France and the nationalist rebels could sign a cease-fire.

The French News Agency reported Monday night that the cease-fire would be signed today. But the informant said today a cease-fire accord definitely will not be reached today.

Reliable sources said one of the points still not settled is the role of the Algerian nationalist troops in the interim period between a cease-fire and independence.

Word from the Algerian delegation was that they did not foresee agreement on the cease-fire before 48 hours.

A source in the Algerian delegation said there were still several points to be ironed out.

The Algerian source said agreement still had not been reached on the makeup of the interim provisional regime to govern Algeria until the self-determination referendum which is expected to make the North African territory independent.

The French Ministry of Information in a communique Monday night said no date had yet been fixed for signing of an agreement.

The nine-man Algerian rebel delegation and the 12-man French delegation negotiated for nearly nine hours Monday. The session ran about three hours longer than the previous meetings, and word immediately spread that a final accord had been reached.

Sources close to the negotiations said later there was a good deal of work to complete. They added, however, that the peace conference was in its last phases.

The agreement will chart the complex course Algeria will follow to become independent after 131 years of French rule.

It includes guarantees for the one million Europeans who live in Algeria with some nine million Moslems; establishment of a provisional government of French and Moslems to rule until independence after the self-determination vote; amnesty for Algerian nationalist prisoners; provision for France to retain military bases in Algeria; arrangements for a provisional police force and for gradual withdrawal of most of the 400,000 French troops in Algeria, and sharing of the Sahara oil and mineral wealth.

Car Stolen, Then Wrecked By Thief

Mrs. Annice Johnson, 31, reported her 1962 Corvair stolen from her home near Dunn last night at 11:14 a.m.

A unit of the sheriff's department found the vehicle less than an hour later. It was located at Shepherd's crossing south of Ira. The thief had driven the car off the road over rough terrain to the top of a 50 foot bluff and let the car go down the bluff. It was severely damaged.

The sheriff's department is investigating.

Proposal Is Accepted

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands (AP)—Indonesia and the Netherlands have agreed to a U.S. proposal to hold preliminary discussions of disputed West New Guinea with a neutral third party sitting in Dutch Premier Jan de Quay announced Monday night.

The premier said Indonesia and the Netherlands had agreed to set no preliminary conditions for the secret talks. Indonesia had insisted previously that before talks began, the Netherlands had to agree to hand over administration of the territory.

De Quay told newsmen that despite the movement toward the bargaining table, "I cannot conceal that we are seriously concerned about some of the Indonesian speeches and the sharp language used in them."

Jackie Sees Indian Project Financed By American Aid

By FRANCES LEWINE
NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Mrs. Jackie Kennedy got a look today at an Indian project financed by American aid, the All-India Medical Institute. She said she was delighted.

Two young heart patients gave the American First Lady a bouquet of roses. Children suffering from various ailments left their beds to greet her.

The medical center still is incomplete. It was built with $6 million in U.S. government aid and $23,000 from the Rockefeller Foundation, plus other foreign assistance.

Mrs. Kennedy was the guest of President Rajendra Prasad at a glittering luncheon. Tonight she switched her residence from a borrowed bungalow to the pink suite of Prime Minister Nehru's home.

She rested late this morning. Weary from a flight from Rome in which she had only 4½ hours sleep, plus the excitement of her arrival here she slept 12 hours.

She drove bareheaded to the presidential mansion for the luncheon. A change in her schedule provides for a sail Friday down the sacred Ganges River by the ghats of Banaras, where Hindus are cremated.

After seeing the Taj Mahal by moonlight Thursday night, Mrs. Kennedy will fly to Benares and spend the night there. Next morning, she will see the most holy city of the Hindus before flying to Udaipur, where she will stay in a white marble palace by a lake hidden in the west Indian hills.

The change of schedule was announced by Jay Gilder, assistant White House press secretary. It reinstates one stop which had been canceled when her visit was shortened from the originally planned 17 days to nine days.

Prasad invited 79 guests, including top government officials and their wives, to meet Mrs. Kennedy and her sister, Princess Lee Radziwill.

The ailing, 77-year-old president sat on the sidelines while Prime Minister Nehru escorted Mrs. Kennedy around the horseshoe-shaped line of guests.

Mrs. Kennedy shook hands with everyone. She wore a cool green, sleeveless linen dress by her official designer, Oleg Cassini, three strands of pearls and beige shoes. A white linen bow was pinned in the back of her hair.

Princess Radziwill also wore green, a sleeveless silk print.

Since the Indian government opposes the use of alcohol, no liquor was served. Silver trays of mango and grape juices were passed to the guests before luncheon.

Prasad led Mrs. Kennedy into the banquet hall through a corridor lined with turbaned presidential guardsmen, splendid in scarlet and gold tunics and holding lances.

Mrs. Kennedy's schedule also included a visit to the children's wards of the All-India Medical Institute and a dinner in her honor tonight given by Nehru.

For her first day and night she was the guest of U.S. Ambassador John Kenneth Galbraith, staying in a bungalow he borrowed from the local manager of an American airline because the embassy residence is small.

Before dinner tonight she was to move to Nehru's residence, to be his guest until she leaves for Agra, Thursday.

Clouds Cover West Texas

By The Associated Press
Clouds built up Tuesday over most of West Texas and the Weather Bureau saw a chance for snow flurries mixed with light rain in the Panhandle-Plains area by late in the day.

It was clear over central and eastern sections of the state and partly cloudy in the Lower Rio Grande Valley and along the coast.

Freezing temperatures pushed as far south as Lubbock and Childress in early morning. Chilling down to 24 degrees at Dalhart. Most other points had readings in the upper 30s to 40s, except marks in the 60s in the extreme south.

Northerly winds helped keep the northern half of Texas on the chilly side. Light breezes from the east and southeast fanned the southern third of the state.

Forecasts called for clouds to spread and thicken during the day everywhere except East Texas, which was due to be at least partly cloudy.

More scattered light rain and occasional snow flurries were predicted Wednesday in the Panhandle. A few showers were expected by Wednesday in South Central Texas.

Overnight temperatures ranging from the upper 30s in the Panhandle to the 60s in southern areas were forecast.

By ARTHUR GAVSHON
GENEVA (AP)—The United States and Britain have decided against presenting any detailed and elaborate proposals at the 17-nation disarmament conference he was standing against secret preparations to test nuclear weapons, an authoritative Western source said today.

This decision was reported as U. S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko talked for three hours at a luncheon, their second in two days. They were believed to have discussed some aspects of disarmament as well as the issue of Berlin, which has been their main topic.

"It is too early for any conclusions," Gromyko said as he left Rusk's lakeside hotel—an indication no agreements were reached.

Gromyko said that he presumed he and Rusk would meet again, but no date was set.

On the question of Berlin and divided Germany, Gromyko said he was standing by Soviet insistence on the signing of a peace treaty that would recognize Communist East Germany by saying: "An agreed solution on a peace treaty is the best solution."

As to the question of nuclear testing, the informed source said U.S. and British experts have failed to come up with a practical plan for an international inspection system that would guard against Soviet secret preparations to make a new series of nuclear tests. They also recognized that the Russians would reject any elaborate system as a scheme for espionage, it was said.

In Washington, President Kennedy, speaking through Democratic congressional leaders after a breakfast at the White House, said U.S. negotiators are determined "to seek realistic avenues of agreement that will permit the world to move forward from this time of nuclear peril to a more secure and promising future."

He said the United States is "prepared to take action on whatever disarmament measures can be agreed upon as soon as such agreement is reached."

Rusk and British Foreign Secretary Lord Home were reported to believe the best they can hope to negotiate is an agreement providing for some sort of spot checks in known testing areas.

Gromyko's letters as usual said nothing about measures to enforce such nuclear banishment.

West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schröder joined the roster of Western statesmen meeting informally today with Gromyko to discuss major concerns between East and West.

West Germany will not attend the disarmament conference, from his hotel in nearby Lausanne Schröder has been holding a busy round of talks with Western leaders to keep the viewpoint of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government before them.

The Berlin dispute dominated Rusk's talks with Gromyko Monday. One official said much of the discussion dwelt on the Communist harassment in the Berlin air corridors and in the city itself.

Both Parties Set Poll On Poll Tax

By GARTH JONES
AUSTIN (AP)—Texas Democrats and Republicans have made plans for their respective May 5 primaries Monday, but there were no eye-to-eye agreements.

A proposal to take a voter opinion poll on doing away with the poll tax as a requirement for voting was the only action getting like treatment before executive committees of the two parties.

Each will give voters a chance to ask that the legislature draft such a change in the Constitution. Texas and four other states still require the poll tax for voting.

Each committee agreed to put a horse race betting referendum on the ballot but in different forms.

The Democrats' ballot will let voters say whether they think the legislature should put horse race betting in a proposed constitutional change or give the legislature direct authority to take this step.

The Republicans merely will ask voters if they favor a constitutional amendment to allow pari-mutuel betting on a local option basis.

Other differences of opinion: The Republican primary ballot will include a third referendum—whether Padre Island should be developed into a state or federal park, or no park at all. The Democrats took no action on Padre Island.

GOP committeemen voted to go to court if necessary to get their candidates' names on the general election ballot. The Democrats urged county clerks by resolution to follow the letter of the law in listing candidates for the general election.

State Democratic headquarters previously has supported Harris County Clerk R. E. Turrell's stand that he will not certify GOP

Kennedy recently cited the need for safeguards against secret test preparations because the West was taken in by the Russians last year. The Soviet Union began a surprise series of nuclear tests while still negotiating in Geneva for a test ban treaty.

Informants said the Russians, in informal talks going on here in preparation for the 17-nation disarmament conference opening Wednesday, stood firm on their old position that on-the-spot inspection is no longer necessary to detect nuclear blasts. They contend that detection instruments are now so highly developed they can detect nuclear explosions anywhere.

The Russians released a reshuffle of Soviet disarmament proposals Monday which Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko is expected to put before the disarmament conference.

Replying to questionnaires from Acting U.S. Secretary-General U. Thant, Gromyko called for an international convention banning the use of nuclear weapons; a pledge by the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union not to turn over nuclear weapons or information on how to produce them to other countries; a pledge by the non-nuclear countries not to produce or acquire nuclear weapons or allow their stationing on their territory, and the designation of Africa and central Europe as atom-free zones from which nuclear weapons would be barred.

Gromyko's letters as usual said nothing about measures to enforce such nuclear banishment.

West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schröder joined the roster of Western statesmen meeting informally today with Gromyko to discuss major concerns between East and West.

Fidel Admits Woes; Rations Food

HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro, admitting his 3-year-old revolution faces serious problems, announced drastic rationing of food and other staples Monday night and declared: "We are ashamed of not fulfilling the promises made."

Castro blamed the current hardships on the revolutionary elements and "the brutal economic blockade"—the U.S. embargo President Kennedy ordered last month on shipments to Cuba of nearly all American goods except medical supplies.

The bearded prime minister also admitted that his regime had made serious blunders in planning "because we made subjective analyses."

"The most serious problem of the revolution is that of supplies," he told the Cuban people in a radio-television speech. "This problem will put to the test the capacity of the revolution and the revolutionaries. There are thorns in the path."

Castro was unsmiling and his tone was, often bitter as he repeated on his promise last July that food rationing in Cuba would end toward the middle of the year.

He said nationwide rationing of rice and all types of beans—basic items in the Cuban diet—and of lard and cooking oils will begin next Monday.

Every Cuban will be limited to six pounds of rice and 1½ pounds of each type of beans a month, he said. Lard and cooking oils had already been rationed in most of Cuba.

Castro said soap, toothpaste and detergents will go on the ration list in the major cities. The limit will be one bar of toilet soap and one box of detergent a month. The three items have long been scarce.

The stiffest measures will affect Havana's more than one million residents. Beef will be limited to three-quarters of a pound per person a week. Vegetables, eggs, milk, fish and chicken also will be rationed, but milk cutbacks will be delayed a week "because the milk is a little more complicated."

Havana radio said children 7 and under will be allowed a daily allotment of one liter of milk, or slightly more than a quart. Others will be allowed one liter daily per 5 persons or six cans (size unspecified) of evaporated or condensed milk a month, presumably per 5 persons.

Quantities of other rationed items were not specified.

Castro said food supplies for restaurants also will be curtailed as much as 50 per cent to prevent comparatively better off Cubans from circumventing rationing.

"Those who have money have been eating in the restaurants," he said, "and they haven't felt the scarcities."

Almost all eating places in Havana are state-owned, and lately even the most expensive government restaurants have "been offering a reduced menu. Sores said restaurants soon will offer only one three-course meal."

Ration books will be issued to heads of families and persons will be forbidden to shop around for scarce items, Castro said. This prohibition will be enforced by a ban on shopping at stores more than four blocks from home.

Castro put most of the blame for the shortages on "Yankee imperialism" and the hell he said he inherited from the regime of ex-President Fulgencio Batista, whom he toppled Jan. 1, 1959. Castro admitted his own regime had complicated the country's problems by driving away some of Cuba's most skilled manpower. More than 200,000 persons have left Cuba since 1959.

Castro also claimed that successes of his revolution contributed to the shortages, because formerly unemployed persons now hold jobs and generally speaking "all earn much more."

Action Is Sought To Ban Poll Tax

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kennedy administration moves today to bring before the Senate a proposed constitutional amendment to abolish poll taxes as the first step toward stiffer civil rights legislation.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana announced Monday the poll tax measure, now stuck in the Senate Judiciary Committee, will be offered as a substitute for a House-passed bill on the calendar.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the assistant Democratic leader, told reporters the administration hopes this will set a pattern for a post-Easter battle to strike down state literacy tests in federal elections.

He said a bill to make the completion of a sixth-grade education the only literacy requirement for voting in federal elections also will be offered.

The abolition of state poll taxes is a modest, but necessary step in our civil rights program, Humphrey said. "We will follow the same pattern in trying to get action on the literacy test issue."

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., called the administration move for a poll tax amendment a subterfuge, designed to get a plus mark for the Democrats in the civil rights field. He said such an amendment may never be adopted by the states even if it passes Congress. He said he would offer a bill to accomplish the same purpose.

The administration obviously has concluded it will not be able to get either the proposed poll tax constitutional amendment or the literacy bill out of the Senate Judiciary Committee, headed by Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss. Mississippi is one of the five states which still have a poll tax. Others are Alabama, Arkansas, Texas and Virginia.

The House Judiciary Committee was told Monday by Rep. William M. McCulloch, D-Ohio, that only in Alabama and Mississippi is the poll tax a discriminatory device against Negro voters.

Southerners are divided over the poll tax issue. Sen. Spessard L. Holland, D-Fla., is one of the amendment's chief sponsors. Although Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., predicted quite a bit of debate, no extensive Southern filibuster was expected.

The Senate passed an identical poll tax amendment by a 72-16 vote in 1960 but it died in the House. To become a part of the Constitution, an amendment must have two-thirds approval of those voting in both houses and ratification by three-fourths of the states.

Almost nobody thought that the literacy proposal could command a two-thirds margin in the Senate. Since it would affect primaries as well as general elections, it would be likely to draw filibustered opposition from an almost solid bloc of Southerners.

The measure could be expected to have opposition also from senators outside the South who contend the Constitution gives the states the right to fix voting requirements.

Maguire May Be New Demo Treasurer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Richard Maguire, a White House aide and political associate of President Kennedy, is reported in line to become treasurer of the Democratic party.

Maguire will become the party's top fund raiser if, as expected, Treasurer Matthew H. McCloskey is named ambassador to Ireland, government sources said Monday.

Grant Stockdale, a Miami, Fla., real estate man, now is ambassador to Ireland. Sources said McCloskey is expected to take over the Dublin post about the middle of this year.

A Harvard graduate and former head of a Boston law firm, Maguire has been associated politically with the President since 1948, when Kennedy was first elected to Congress.

No reason was given for the expected resignation of Stockdale from the Dublin post. His name figured in stories last summer about a $5,000 loan from a New York banker and he was quoted in a newspaper interview as saying Kennedy told him to pay back the money.

The White House said at the time that Kennedy had followed his customary practice in advising Stockdale that all of his financial affairs should be in order. The policy applies to all appointees to government posts, the White House said.

AF Captain Is Accused

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)—The U.S. Air Force today disclosed the charges on which a court-martial will try Capt. Joseph P. Kauffman, who allegedly gave information to East German agents.

The Air Force accused him of giving information on Air Force installations in Greenland and Japan and disclosing shortcomings and weaknesses of Air Force officers stationed in Greenland and Japan.

Kauffman, 43, was brought to the Air Force's European headquarters from Castle Air Force Base in California last December for preliminary investigation. On March 8 Air Force authorities determined a court-martial would be held. The trial date has not been set.

Investigators had disclosed previously that Kauffman's case involved contact with East German agents during a trip to Germany in September 1960. During pretrial hearings one of the chief witnesses was Guenter Maennel, a former East German intelligence official who defected to the West last June. He apparently supplied the first information leading to Kauffman's arrest.

Kauffman, a bachelor born in Rutland, Vt., is a veteran of 19 years service with the Air Force.

Doctor Tells Of Work On Cancer

By JOHN BARBOUR
Associated Press Science Writer
PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—For 26 years, Dr. Frederic E. Mohs has performed his delicate and careful operations, probing into seemingly healthy skin to cut away the hidden seeds of cancer.

In some 4,000 operations for skin cancer, he has produced essential cures in almost 97 percent of the cases, he reported to the American Cancer Society's science writers seminar.

For years, Dr. Mohs said, he has reported on his technique—a microscopic examination of the tissue surrounding skin cancers.

Often the cancer you can see and feel on the skin is not the true limit of the cancer. Under the surface of what looks like healthy skin, there are slim strands and sheets of cancerous cells.

Dr. Mohs, a University of Wisconsin chemist, uses a paste of a caustic substance which he spreads around the area of the already removed cancer. This material kills and fixes or stabilizes the area in question. Then specimens are frozen and checked under a microscope for cancerous cells.

This process is continued, section by section, until Dr. Mohs finds no more cancerous cells in the surrounding skin tissue. It is essentially a bloodless procedure since the skin being cauterized has been killed by the caustic material.

By the process, Dr. Mohs said, only "cancerous areas are removed, and by following the path led by the cancer cells, all of the cancerous area can be removed."

Peace Corps Plans Told By Shriver

WASHINGTON (AP)—Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver told Congress today present plans call for 10,000 volunteers overseas or in training by the end of August 1963.

Shriver spoke before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in support of an increase in appropriations from $30 million this year to $63.75 million in fiscal 1963.

"Response to the Peace Corps at home and abroad has been far greater than our budget requests would indicate," Shriver said.

He said that since the Peace Corps was created by executive order March 1, 1961, more than 20,000 Americans have volunteered and 2,000 new applications are coming in each month.

Shriver added: "Requests from developing countries throughout the world are for many times the number of volunteers that we have agreed to supply."

He noted that each of the 12 countries where volunteers now serve have asked for more.

Experiment Due On Window-Less School

DETROIT (AP)—The 126 youngsters in suburban Wayne's many-windowed Hoover School will spend the next school year in classrooms without windows.

This is part of an experiment to determine whether the children learn their lessons faster when they don't look outside at the flap of the butterflies and bees or the contrails of a passing jet aircraft.

It is being financed by Education Facilities Laboratories, Inc., supported by the Ford Foundation. The coordinator is Prof. C. Theodore Larson of the University of Michigan.

Before the new school year begins the windows in Hoover's classrooms will be replaced by opaque panels.

A DAILY VIEW From me to you

Rev. R. Charles Shipley

"He who says he is in the light and hates his brother is in the darkness still. He who loves his brother abides in the light, and in the darkness does not know where he is going, because the darkness has blinded his eyes."

1 John 2:9-11 (read verses 7-17)

It is tragic that so many well meaning people who call themselves Christians are actually blind and are rushing headlong into eternal oblivion. The scripture quoted today is a symptom of the times. How true it is for today's people who say they love God, hate their brother, and thus put the lie to their confession of love. How can one love God whom he has not seen, if he hates his brother whom he has seen?

"Everywhere you go nowadays—in business, at play, within the Church—you hear people talking about somebody's sinning, slandering, gossiping, repeating half-truths, deliberately trying to get someone. These people are not Christians. The love of God and love for God is not in them. They are in the darkness and they are blinded by that darkness."

YOUR LITTLE LEPRECHAUNS will dance with delight this St. Patrick's Day when treated to their own "Erin Go Bragh" cake. Whether home-made or store-bought, this plain white cake becomes a savory symbol in commemoration of the patron saint of Ireland. To decorate, simply frost your cake all over with a white butter cream frosting; add crushed, mixed nut meats to sides; use writing tip with green icing and form harp, lettering, swirls; finally, using tube of green gel form shamrocks from three dots and a line for a stem. That's all there is to it, even though more detailed instructions for decorating are given on each tube and in the separate packet of icing tube tips and chef's pastry wheel.

March Is Showing On Calendar

Frivolous March-Blow. Snooty. Chilly and yet Spring-like, with an excuse for a party in the spring or Winter-like month of the year. It's also full of days when boys and girls crave good hot lunches to keep them rosy cheeked and full of vim.

A lunch without a treat is a disappointment, so let's plan one sure to be marked A-No. 1-with a surprise tucked in for good measure.

What do the nutritionists consider a first rate lunch? It must include five things: 1-A half pint of fresh whole milk (when sweetened with honey, it is more welcome). 2-A 2-ounce serving of meat or fish, or 1 egg, or 2 ounces of cheese, or 4 tablespoons of peanut butter. Add honey to the peanut butter for palatability and moisture. 3-One cup of vegetables or fruit, or half a cup of each. 4-One or more slices of bread, or muffins or other hot bread, made of whole grain or enriched flour or cereal. 5-Two teaspoons of butter.

In a type A lunch, combinations may be of two kinds of protein foods in the main dish. Cooked vegetables may be combined with raw vegetables sticks or salad may be alternates. Raw vegetables retain more of the vitamins and minerals. Let the surprise in the lunch come in the form of Virginia Corn Muffins.

Honey adds taste, quick energy and is easily digested. If slices of bread instead of muffins are included in the lunch, use a honey spread or your own spread made of honey and butter creamed together.

Rose Kennedy Has Operation Today

BOSTON (AP)—Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, 71, mother of the President, today underwent a successful operation for relief of a pelvic hernia. At the conclusion, her doctor said her condition was "excellent."

Mrs. Kennedy was on the operating table for an hour and five minutes.

The operation was performed by Dr. Roy J. Heffernan, a gynecologist, at St. Elizabeth's Hospital starting at 8 a.m. Mrs. Kennedy was taken to a recovery room shortly after 9 a.m.

Mrs. Kennedy entered the hospital Monday afternoon for a checkup. The decision to operate was made later in the day. Dr. Heffernan said then tests did not indicate any malignancy.

He added that the operation had verified the conclusion he had reached prior to surgery, that there was no malignancy.

Pierre Salinger, President Kennedy's press secretary, said in Washington the chief executive "is fully informed about his mother's condition."

President Kennedy did not plan to come here immediately.

Edward M. Kennedy, Mrs. Kennedy's youngest son, was expected to be in close contact with him.

The hospital. An assistant district attorney in Suffolk County (Boston), Kennedy lives several miles from the hospital.

A spokesman for the youngest of the Kennedy family said there will be no change in his plans to announce his political future Wednesday.

It is expected that Edward Kennedy will announce his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the U.S. Senate seat held by his brother before he became president.

Dr. Heffernan said Mrs. Kennedy has been undergoing treatment at his Boston office since last September. She has had routine checkups at St. Elizabeth's Hospital in the past.

Dr. Heffernan said Mrs. Kennedy is at his Palm Beach, Fla., home convalescing from a stroke.

Mrs. Kennedy arrived in Boston by plane from Washington Monday. She had lunch with her brother, Thomas F. Fitzgerald, and was driven to the hospital by him.

"An operation on a lady of her age is moderately serious," the gynecologist said, "but not especially dangerous. There are many operations of this nature and most of them are successful."

The President's father, Joseph P. Kennedy, is at his Palm Beach, Fla., home convalescing from a stroke.

U. S. Military Advisers Are Training Thailand's Army

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. military advisers have started training Thailand's army to fight Communist guerrillas, apparently in anticipation that Thailand may be the next target of the Red drive to control Southeast Asia, informed sources said today.

Although there have been no reports of significant Communist guerrilla activity in Thailand, officials of the pro-Western Bangkok government have been increasingly concerned they may face such a threat if a Communist-leaning neutralist regime takes over neighboring Laos.

Laos has been a staging area and an avenue for Communist North Vietnamese irregulars trying to topple the anti-Communist government of South Viet Nam. Pro-Communist forces in Laos have operated close to the Thai border.

The United States last week formally promised to come to Thailand's aid in event of Red aggression, regardless of what other members of the anti-Communist Southeast Asia Treaty Organization may do.

A possible clue to a quickening U.S. effort to bolster Thailand against any Communist offense came in Monday's announcement that Army Maj. Gen. Theodore J. Conway is being sent there in July to assume command of the U.S. Military Assistance Group.

Conway, 52, is leaving the command of the 82nd Airborne Division, one of the Army's crack outfits. No headquarters-bound soldier, he recently was the first paratrooper to leap from a transport plane in an air-drop exercise by troops of the 82nd in Panama.

Conway, who was senior adviser to Korea's First Army several years ago, will replace Army Maj. Gen. Briard P. Johnson. In recent years, Johnson's work has been in the field of logistics and administration.

There was no indication of any immediate increase in the military aid program in Thailand. This year, it totaled $38,994,000—somehow more than one-third of that being applied in South Viet Nam where the Communist danger has been critical for some time.

The United States has about 219 military advisers working with Thailand's forces which total about 100,000 men, mostly in the army.

The United States has supplied Thailand with light tanks, howitzers, rifles and machine guns, trucks, personnel carriers, a few transport planes, a number of F4 and F6 jet fighters, and some patrol vessels.

U. S. Prepared To Act On Agreement

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy said today the United States is ready to take immediate action on whatever disarmament measures can be reached at Geneva.

Through Democratic congressional leaders, the President said: "We believe this to be a realistic approach to the need for a beginning to the end of the nuclear arms race and we hope it is an approach that will be shared by all the nations at the conference."

McKinzie Seeks Young GOP Office

Harrel W. McKinzie, Scurry County Republican Chairman, announced Monday that he is a candidate for the office of second vice chairman of the Texas Young Republican Federation. The election will be held during the course of the group's state convention to be held in Amarillo this weekend. His opponent will be Don King, president of the San Antonio College Young Republican Club.

McKinzie has been active in the Texas Young Republican Federation since becoming a member of the North Texas State University Young Republicans in January 1956. The club there was selected as the outstanding college Y.R. club in the nation in the summer of 1957. He has held several posts in the young GOP group, including district committeeman posts from the Brownwood and Snyder districts. Until last October, he was the area chairman for the Y.R. clubs in the 24th and 28th Senatorial Districts. At last year's convention, McKinzie was a candidate for the same office that he seeks this year, being narrowly defeated by John Stokes, then of Texas Tech College. However, he reminded that "one defeat didn't bother Senator John Tower (or Abe Lincoln, either)."

Since returning to his teaching position in Snyder in the Fall of 1960, McKinzie has been very active with the Republican party here. He served as campaign chairman for the county in the 1960 presidential campaign and the 1961 Tower senatorial election. In September 1961, he assumed the duties of county Republican chairman.

McKinzie will be accompanied to Amarillo by his campaign manager for the office he seeks, Mrs. Marka Rowland of Merkel, and other area Young Republicans.

SEEK CLUES IN INFANTS' DEATHS—Detective John Gillen, left, of Binghamton, N. Y., and Broome County District Attorney Stephen N. Y. examine a can which is normally filled with sugar in the Binghamton General Hospital baby formula room. The can apparently was filled with salt and six infants died in the hospital since. Authorities say the salt may have caused the babies' deaths. (AP Wirephoto)

Specialists Battle To Save Infants

BINGHAMTON, N.Y. (AP)—A Johns Hopkins specialist joined teams of experts today in the battle to save four critically ill babies fed a salt-laden formula at Binghamton General Hospital, where seven infants have died since Friday.

Dr. Lawrence Finberg of the Johns Hopkins Medical School faculty, flew from Baltimore to aid in the round-the-clock effort. Ten babies who were given the formula, including the four in critical condition, still were in the city-owned hospital.

The seven deaths—three Friday, three Saturday and one Monday—were being investigated by state, local and hospital authorities.

Dr. Jason K. Moyer, hospital medical director, said one of the babies who died had not been fed the salt formula.

He said 17 other infants who drank the formula since have been discharged.

"We are not sure whether sodium intoxication (salt poisoning) was responsible for these deaths," Moyer told a news conference Monday night.

The cause of the deaths, he said, will not be known definitely until autopsies and laboratory tests are completed.

Finberg is an expert in dialysis, restoring chemical balance to the body. He joined Dr. John E. Kiley of Albany Medical College in directing the teams attempting to save the four. The treatment consists of removal and replacement of the infants' blood by transfusion.

Arguments Set On Bible Reading Law

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—The Florida Supreme Court has ordered arguments on the constitutionality of a state law requiring daily Bible readings in public schools.

The case reached the high court after Circuit Judge J. Fritz Gordon of Miami ruled last April that such readings do not violate the U.S. Constitution because they do not amount to religious instruction.

The attack on the 31-year-old law was filed originally by six Dade County parents—four Jews, one Unitarian, and one agnostic. They contended mandatory Bible readings violate what they call the separation of church and state provisions of the First Amendment.

Dr. John Ford, chief pediatrician at the hospital, said reports were more favorable that the infants would survive.

Ford said two of the infants were down to normal sodium (salt) levels and the salt levels in the blood of the other two were dropping.

Latest to die was Michelle Dawn Bowser, 4 days, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bowser of Binghamton.

The bodies of six of the dead children—three boys and three girls ranging in age from 3 days to 8 months—were "apparently loaded with common table salt," a physician said.

A practical nurse questioned about salt found in a sugar can in the formula room of the hospital, Lillie Colvin, 30, has denied any wrongdoing and extended her sympathy to the grief-stricken parents. Mrs. Colvin is the mother of three children and is pregnant.

Mrs. Colvin, who filled the sugar can last Tuesday, was not charged but has been suspended from the hospital staff.

St. John's Service Set

The first Tuesday evening service in the Lenten Program for St. John's Episcopal Church will be held at 7:30 p.m. today with a celebration of the Holy Communion by the Rev. Cusis Fletcher, Vicar.

Preacher for tonight and each succeeding Tuesday until Holy Week will be the Rev. Alan Cooley of All Saints' Church, Colorado City who will use as the theme "The Hope of the Cross" in treating the Seven Last Words. Following the service there will be a discussion session, making the sermon more of a dialogue than would otherwise be possible, according to Mr. Fletcher.

"Too often," he quoted, "the real meaning of the sermon is lost because of some question raised by a word or thought of the preacher, and from that moment nothing else is heard. Since it is not practical to converse within the context of a liturgical service, we hope that after-service discussion will bring about a mutually satisfactory experience in learning the meaning of the Cross for our lives."

Former DA Called In Hoffa Case

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—A former U.S. attorney general is under subpoena to appear today as a witness on a motion to dismiss a federal mail fraud indictment against James P. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union.

James T. Dowd, special U.S. attorney assigned to the case, said William P. Rogers, attorney general in the Dwight D. Eisenhower administration, had been subpoenaed by Hoffa attorneys.

Defense attorney Jacob Kossman said he planned to ask Rogers about wiretap information reports used in obtaining the indictment.

U.S. Dist. Judge Joseph P. Lieb noted that under a Justice Department executive order, Rogers could be directed not to testify about department records.

Dowd said Rogers would deny any knowledge of wiretapping.

Earlier, Lieb quashed defense subpoenas served to Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg and the chairman of the Senate rackets subcommittee, Sen. John McClellan, D-Ark.

The hearing began Monday in U.S. District Court. Hoffa attended, although he was not required to. He said he would stay until the hearing ends. His attorneys indicated it would last at least two more days.

The indictment was returned against Hoffa and Robert E. McCarthy Jr., a Detroit banking executive, Oct. 11. It charged they used the mails to promote Sun Valley, Inc., a private housing development on Florida's east coast, as a Teamsters Union retirement haven. The indictment said they misused $500,000 in Teamsters funds.

Daily Crude Flow Drops

TULSA (AP)—U.S. oil production dropped 152,015 barrels daily last week, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Average daily production last week was 7,253,300 barrels.

Texas output, down 46,320 barrels daily a week ago, dropped another 100,700 barrels per day last week and is averaging 2,502,330 barrels a day this month, the Journal said.

Oklahoma production was down 30,500 barrels daily to 523,600. New Mexico was down 1,425 to 399,000, and Arkansas down 1,425 to 80,000. Louisiana production rose 10,275 barrels to 1,333,000.

Baseball Player Is Charged In Slaying

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP)—A baseball player faced a charge of murder today in the slaying of a Marine with a baseball bat.

Police said Bernard E. Young, 20, signed to a bonus contract by the Los Angeles Angels, admitted he struck Ira J. Nauden, 22, Saturday night after Nauden tried to crash his party.

Police said Young told them he grabbed a baseball bat but didn't remember actually hitting Nauden with it.

Nauden died Monday and Young was booked on suspicion of murder.

Young played third base for Santa Ana College before signing with the Angels. He was to report to an Angel-farm team.

STANDARDIZED SYMBOLS USED

Official Highway Map For '62 Now Being Distributed

AUSTIN—The pioneering Texas Highway Department—originator of a proposal to standardize symbols on state maps for easier understanding by motorists—features some of the new symbols on its 1962 Official Highway Travel Map.

A four-color beauty with "See Texas" as its theme, the new map is now available free to the public. In 1958, Texas recommended that a standard set of symbols be adopted for use on all state maps to make the maps easier to read for motorists crossing from one state into another.

This proposal was eventually adopted by the American Association of State Highway Officials and within the next few years all official state highway maps will be using these accepted standard symbols. When this standardization is effected, none of the road symbols should be "foreign" to a motorist traveling anywhere in the United States—provided the map he consults utilizes AASHO symbols.

Such uniform symbols will make the nation's travel maps easier to read and understand—whether in New York or New Mexico, South Dakota or South Carolina. A quick look at the standard symbols, and the motorist immediately knows what type of highways are available in a given area, as well as many types of other special travel information required by the modern motorist.

Texas Highway Department officials said they plan to adopt all the AASHO highway symbols when the basic travel map is reissued. They said the basic map probably will be completely redrawn within the next two years.

Changes are the Lone Star State will be the first of The Forty and Ten whose highway department turns out a travel map incorporating all the AASHO symbols.

Use of the AASHO color symbols indicating the network of Interstate, U. S. and State highways, and Farm to Market roads in Texas as keynotes the major changes in the latest edition of the popular travel map.

On the new map, U. S. highways and Farm to Market roads—both formerly indicated in black—are now shown in red band and a blue band respectively. Shields for U. S. highways remain red, but Farm to Market road shields, which were black, now are "boxes" in blue, too.

Officials of the Texas Highway Department said that markings for the State Highways will remain a black band. Also, Interstate Highways will retain their two narrow black bands with a red center. This is the standard symbol for showing the Interstate Highway System.

Multilane-divided highway miles now completed and shown on the new map total 2,131 miles. They included the finished sections of the seven National Systems of Interstate and Defense Highways throughout Texas.

This year's map has more than 696 Farm to Market and Ranch to Market road miles added. Approximately 30,848 miles of the state's more than 33,000-mile Farm to Market road system now under maintenance are shown on the map. So are the 26,921 miles of Interstate, U. S. and State highways.

The 1962 map has a map-on-a-map feature on its colorful reverse side. This is a guide to the "Things to Do, Places to Go, Things to See in TEXAS!"

A section underneath the cartographic map tells about the vacation activities in Texas that are "as varied as the landscape of the Lone Star State itself." In another section, entitled "Good Highways: A Texas Tradition," the map reader is told about the state's "vast 62,000-mile highway network which offers the maximum in safety, comfort, and convenience for all types of motor travel.

Texas—in all its panoramic grandeur—is illustrated in eleven full-color photographs of scenes the motorist may view from his car window as he travels on the more than 62,000 miles of the Texas Highway System "engineered for safety, comfort, and pleasure."

These pictures were selected to get a geographical cross section of the Lone Star State, and they depict the different types of highways and special traffic facilities offered motorists by the Texas Highway Department.

The 1962 map plots 1,226 cities and towns. It also features twelve insets, which are not city maps but maps showing major routes in the state's dozen largest cities. They are Amarillo, Austin, Beaumont, Corpus Christi, Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth, Houston, Lubbock, San Antonio, Waco, and Wichita Falls.

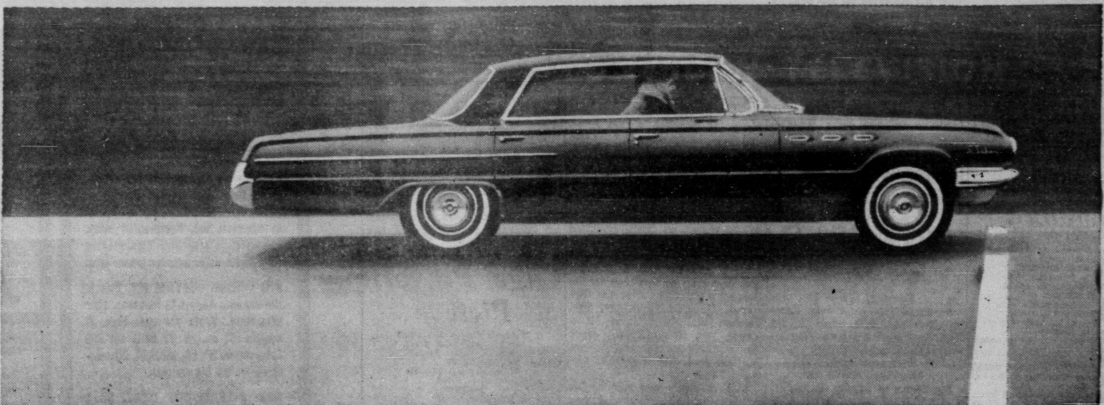

Free copies of the new Texas motorist map may be obtained by writing the Texas Highway Department, P. O. Box 5064, Austin. The map also is available at the 25 highway district offices and eight Tourist Bureaus throughout the state. County tax offices have map cards for requesting copies of the map.

Distribution of the 1962 Official Highway Travel Map is estimated at 750,000 copies, but demand for this motorist's must might push the estimate near the million mark.

Daniel In Appeal To 'Stop Knifing'

Gov. Price Daniel appealed to Democrats to stop knifing one another but several challengers of his fourth term bid went ahead voicing sharp words Monday.

While candidates for governor kept busy on scattered fronts, a number seeking other offices collected in Austin for a Tuesday night forum arranged by Sigma Delta Chi, the professional journalism society.

Daniel was a target for verbal thrusts from several opponents.

Don Yarborough, opening hometown headquarters in Houston, had some uncomplimentary things to say about former Navy Sec. John Connally and indirectly about former Maj. Gen. Edwin Walker, who are among the six Democrats bidding for the gubernatorial nomination.

At the Democrats' state executive meeting in Austin, Daniel declared:

"The party cannot afford to have its candidates tearing each other down with name calling and bitter personality criticisms which sicken the majority of the voters."

In turn, Yarborough asserted Texas voters "don't want a man who will quit after 11 months or a dictator looking for a lifetime job." He said there is a depression in 144 of the state's 254 counties, adding at another point:

"Our educational system is 48th in the nation. And you can't save freedom, you can't extend freedom, you can't fight communism unless you have educated people."

Connally, also in Houston, told campaign workers there is need for young leadership and vision in the governor's office. He called for "the necessary brain power which will provide the necessary climate" to attract space age replacements for the state's aircraft industry.

"Gov. Daniel has announced for an unprecedented fourth term," Connally said, "on the basis of accomplishments include that he can't agree with the legislature, that in effect he has ordered a purge of the legislature, that he wants a rubber stamp legislature."

Connally's schedule took him back to Fort Worth Wednesday.

Mid-Winter Cold Grips North Areas

Spring was just around the corner but it looked and felt like mid-winter today in much of the northern sections from the Rockies into parts of New England.

A storm centered in the northern upper Great Lakes spread snow from eastern sections of the central and northern Plains into the Ohio Valley and lower Great Lakes. Another storm over Long Island, N.Y., carried the snow eastward through New England. Rain mixed with snow fell along the southern edge of the snow belt.

A blanket of two feet of snow was on the ground in some Mid-west areas after being hit by another in a series of heavy snowfalls this winter. There was much blowing and drifting of snow in Nebraska, Iowa and Minnesota. Scores of roads were blocked and hundreds of schools were forced to close.

Winds were clocked from 30 to 40 m.p.h. with gusts to 60 m.p.h. in eastern sections of the central and northern Plains.

Adding discomfort to the wintry setting was a fresh batch of cold air from Canada which sent temperatures below zero in parts of Montana and Wyoming.

More snow and high winds worsened conditions in eastern and central Nebraska during the night. Snow removal operations were halted by the blowing, drifting snow. Nearly all roads in the northeast part of the state were closed.

In the Northeast, the snow covered areas from northeastern New York State and Vermont southeastward to Massachusetts. Fresh falls measured eight inches in Lebanon, N.H.

Outside the cold belt, temperatures were in the 30s and 40s in other parts of the eastern half of the nation except for 50s and 60s from the lower Rio Grande valley eastward along the Gulf Coast region into the central and south Atlantic Coast states.

Jury Being Selected In Myers Trial

RUSK, Tex. (AP)—Selection of a jury continued today in the murder trial of John Edwin Myers, 32, of Chicago.

He and a chubby girl friend, Donna Marie Stone, 13, have admitted killing four persons last fall while on a trip from Illinois to West Texas.

Lawyers accepted five jurors as Myers went on trial Monday in the slaying of Lee DeKraill, a hitchhiker from Ottumwa, Iowa.

Court-appointed lawyers during Myers said they will contend he was insane at the time of the slaying Sept. 5. Prosecutors said they will demand the death penalty.

Under Texas law, the girl cannot be tried until she is 17. Authorities are holding her in jail, possibly to use as a witness.

Myers, in his shirt sleeves but wearing a tie, listened without changing expression as his lawyers, Orvan Jones and Richard Stone of Jacksonville examined prospective jurors.

He and the Stone girl have told officers they killed to obtain money and a car but the four slayings gained them only $15.

The body of DeKraill was left in a field near Big Spring. Myers' trial was moved to Rusk, in East Texas, after efforts to seat a jury failed at Big Spring.

Paper Pact No Guarantee Of A Peaceful Life In Algeria

BY INEZ ROBB

At any moment, formal peace may come to Algeria. But real peace—when can either the French, the embittered colon and the equally embittered Algerians hope for it?

The seven-and-one-half-year-old, no-holds-barred fight between legitimate French forces and the Algerian rebels (FLN) created enough hatred to haunt Algeria for years. Atrocities on both sides shocked even a postwar world whose sensibilities had been blunted by the medieval horrors of World War II.

The situation and the prospects for real peace were tragic enough without the entry of a third force, the terrorist Secret Army Organization (O.A.S.) led by traitorous French Army officers. Its merciless and murderous activities in Algeria, no less than in metropolitan France, will linger as folk memory, among Arabs, who are post-graduate haters not for years but for generations.

Who can doubt that the O.A.S. has sown a crop of dragon's teeth to plague colon and Algerians alike after General de Gaulle and the rebels sign the papers that bring the long war to an end?

How long will it take the Arab to forget the O.A.S. attack and firing of an Oran jail, largely populated by political prisoners?

The indiscriminate bombings? The insensate butchery? Who is optimistic enough to hope that the savage retaliation of the Arab will stop with the signing of a piece of paper? Or that the O.A.S. will meekly submit and cease its reign of terror either in Africa or France?

The savagery of the Arab is no less terrible than that of the O.A.S. But the world rightfully expects more of even the traitorous sons of a nation where civilization has flourished for centuries. Far from saving the colon, it is more likely that the O.A.S. has sealed their fate and destroyed any hope that colon and Arab, with his long racial memory, can live together in peace, no matter what guarantees for colon safety of person and property are set out in the final peace treaty between France and the FLN.

If it is difficult for us on this side of the Atlantic to put the O.A.S. and its terror into perspective, an extraordinary new novel, "The Fox in the Attic," by that gifted Englishman, Richard Hughes, brings it into focus. Or at least it did for me.

The crux of the novel is Adolf Hitler's abortive beer hall putsch in Munich in 1923. A young Nazi, fired by the mystic insanity that seemed to characterize the movement, explains to his equally young British cousin that the first goal of the movement is chaos. Only after Germany and its civilian institutions have been reduced to chaos and purified by it, will the nation be ready for and worthy of being seized by the Nazi movement and saved from "Jews, Communists, capitalists, Catholics and cabalists."

It is obvious by now that the O.A.S., both in France and in Algeria, is seeking chaos, i.e., a total collapse of civil institutions that will enable these French "Nazis" to seize the Fifth Republic, destroy any vestige of democratic government and establish a totalitarian state.

Despite its terroristic activities on both sides of the Mediterranean, the O.A.S. so far has beaten in vain against the rock who is General de Gaulle. With the general out of the way, who can say what chaos Gen. Raoul Salan, and his fanatical followers might not achieve?

Even with the rock and the Fifth Republic secure and peace achieved on paper between France and Algeria, the O.A.S. obviously has it in its power indefinitely to continue its malicious, murderous mischief.

South Wales Has Smallpox Outbreak

CARDIFF, Wales (AP)—Thousands were vaccinated against smallpox in 40 special clinics in southern Wales Monday.

Smallpox has taken a death toll of 3 and 22 smallpox cases, 15 suspected and 7 confirmed, have been hospitalized since the epidemic spread to Wales.

Junior Editors Quiz on SALT WATER

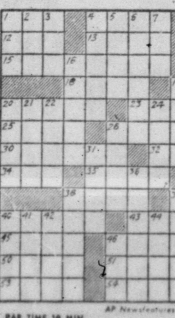

ANSWER: For billions of years, the earth has been changing. The sand on the seashore was once a great amount of huge rocks. Over the centuries, the rocks were beaten by sea and wind and baked by the sun, so that in time they were broken down into sand. Some of these rocks were igneous rocks, which means they were produced by fire. For example, rocks that are part of volcanoes are igneous rocks. These rocks contain the salt that makes the ocean water taste salty. Igneous rocks on the ocean floor are ground into bits and spread throughout the water. The rivers grind up the rocks, too, and then sweep the rock material down into the ocean. Salt in the ocean is useful in many ways. It is much easier to keep salt in the salty ocean than in a fresh water lake. Many products are extracted from ocean water, including iodine and milk of magnesia. Salt itself has been taken from the ocean. Originally, ocean salt was the only salt used, but today other sources have been found. Too much salt in the ocean is not good. The Dead Sea, for example, is so salty that fish cannot live in it.

FOR YOU TO DO: If you live near an ocean or salt water lake and also near a fresh water lake or swimming pool, swim in both kinds of water. See whether it is easier to float in the ocean.

(Lynd Jorgensen of Santa Rosa, Calif., wins $10 for this question. Send your question on a postcard to Junior Editors, in care of this newspaper.)

Make Boyle Celebrities Feel Uneasy

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Would you like a job that enabled you to spend part of your working time with some of the world's most glamorous women—and paid you money for doing it?

Dining—and sometimes wining—with celebrated beauties is one of the fringe benefits of writing a daily newspaper column.

"Imagine getting paid for listening to all those gorgeous dames," is the envious remark a columnist hears most often from other men.

"I'd be glad to do it for nothing. Tell me, what are they really like?"

Well, in the last 18 years I have met dozens of the most famous feminine stars of stage and screen—just about all except Brigitte Bardot, Elizabeth Taylor and Lash. They range from Natalie Wood and Joanne Woodward to Mae West and the late Ethel Barrymore.

And what were they like? Frankly, most of the lady celebrities were just like ordinary women—except more so.

The feeling I have most often after leaving them is one of pity for their husbands—and relief that I am not married to them.

The merciless demands of stardom rob many of them of the softer charms of femininity. The struggle to stay on top turns them into monumental egotists, and their egos must be constantly fed with praise and lip-service admiration or they turn into raging tigresses.

Their beauty often has a surface, varnished quality that says, "Fragile—don't touch." There is also a cold and brittle air about their good looks as if they had been clipped out of ice. This repels rather than attracts, and leaves a man with a feeling of uneasiness.

Beneath this chill exterior you sometimes find in them a strange and hidden loneliness, as if somehow along the way in their fierce struggle for the power, fame and money of stardom they had lost the capacity for simple human joy you can see shining in the face of a housewife content with her man.

Many of these legendary beauties haven't had the time to develop other aspects of their nature. Their conversation is about as inspiring as that of a department store mannequin. Their chief subject: Themselves.

If you talk about anything else, you can see the interest dying in their eyes. They don't want even to talk about another lady star—unless her last film was a box-office dud.

In discussing their activities and attitudes, they lie like Baron Munchausen. They parrot, generally, only what is popular or fashionable at the moment. The last thing on earth they want you to know is what they are really like—or how they really feel.

Seldom will one give you a frank answer, such as: "Do I like to cook? Listen, palsy, I couldn't even commit suicide in the kitchen—I don't know how to turn on the gas."

Shoelifter Asks To Lose Fingers

LEICESTER, England (AP)—Henry Martin, 60, asked a court Monday to cut off his fingers to stop his shoplifting.

"I might be all right without fingers," said Martin, facing a charge of stealing tea and soap from a supermarket.

Magistrate Cyril Hadley refused Martin's request and fined him five pounds—$14.

India At Top Of List For Commie Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — India leads the list of 27 countries outside the Sino-Soviet bloc which have received economic assistance from behind the Iron Curtain.

Authoritative sources, reporting this today in connection with President Kennedy's foreign aid message to Congress, said such economic aid grants and credits have averaged about $1 billion annually for the last three years. The total outlay from 1954 when a start was made with a modest $11 million loan to Afghanistan, is figured at $6.5 billion through 1961. That includes $4.4 billion in economic aid and $2.1 in military aid.

Besides the money the bloc has sent 8,500 economic and 1,800 military technicians to less-developed countries.

No country in the world broke down of the military aid is available. India had the largest share in economic assistance with $800 million. Indonesia was second with $641 million, Egypt third with $615 million, Cuba fourth with $357 million, Afghanistan fifth with $217 million, and Iraq sixth with $216 million.

Burns Fatal To Woman

ROBY—Mrs. J. C. Dooley, 75, resident of Fisher County since 1907, burned to death in the yard of her farm home, 18 miles southwest of Roby about 8 p.m. Monday.

She was a sister of Mrs. Cora Hayter, 2300 Avenue T, Snyder. Her son, English, returned home about 6 p.m. and found her. She had been burning grass in the yard and her clothes had caught fire. She was alone at the house at the time.

Mrs. Dooley lived with her two sons, English and Denis.

A verdict of accidental death was returned by Charles A. Branson, Roby Justice of the Peace. Funeral services will be held at 4 p.m. today in Weathersbee Chapel in Roby with the Rev. F. E. Healer, pastor of the El Paso Baptist Church, officiating.

Other survivors include a daughter, Mrs. J. C. Rogers of Sweetwater; another brother, Sidney of Munday; another sister, Mrs. W. C. Eldredge of Roby; three grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Court Stays Sentence

WASHINGTON (AP)—The sentence of James E. Jackson, editor of The Worker, was stayed by the U.S. Court of Appeals Monday before he was to begin serving six months in jail for refusing to answer questions of a grand jury investigating Communist party activities.

The stay-in effect until further order from the court was issued Monday after Joseph Forer, Jackson's lawyer, argued the grand jury was infringing on freedom of the press by questioning Jackson about the editorial policies of The Worker.

Forer also contended Jackson should remain free because, he said, the government had failed to show that his client's refusal to testify involved any danger to national security.

U.S. Atty. David C. Acheson said the grand jury inquiry made no attempt to interfere with the paper's editorial content. The questions, he said, were relevant to the jury's investigation of possible violations of the Internal Security Act.

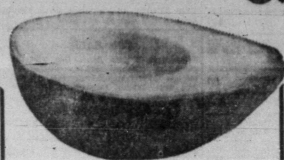

Navy Plans Texas Unit

The local Navy recruiter has announced plans of the Navy to enlist a special company, called the "Lone Star" company.

The young men who will compose the company will be from 81 counties in Northwest Texas. Such companies are formed periodically to advertise the home state and to create general interest among the recruits.

The Lone Star company will be training during the months of April, May, June and part of July. The recruits for the company will be processed and enlisted from now until March 27, and then on March 28 they will be sworn into the Navy as a company at the U. S. Naval Air Station in Dallas. From there they will go to San Diego, Calif., to begin their recruit training.

More information on the company may be obtained from the petty officer in charge of the U. S. Navy Recruiting Station in Sweetwater.

Former Publisher Claimed By Death

WICHITA FALLS, (AP)—James L. Allison, a former publisher known among newspaper executives throughout the South, died Monday. He was 82.

Allison retired at 75 as vice president of the Times Publishing Co., which owns the Wichita Falls Record News and Times.

He had been publisher of the Nashville Tennessean and American, the old Fort Worth Record

Reservists Meet Again At Ft. Polk

FT. POLK, La. (AP)—Reservists at Ft. Polk held their fifth demonstration Monday night and some observers said the meeting was more unruly than previous ones.

Estimates of the crowd ranged from 250 to 600.

The main unit here is the 49th National Guard Division from Texas, plus unattached reservists assigned to fill the unit's ranks.

Reservists have been holding meetings protesting their extended active duty and demanding to know when they will be sent home.

Col. Fred Francis, post public information officer, asserted that "10 to 15 men are acting" in the demonstration and the rest were spectators who came out of the service club to "see what's going on."

"Not one individual member of the reserve components or National Guard units is responsible for the demonstrations," Francis said.

The Dallas News said the men chanted "We want out," and individual shouts added to the noise. Military police and at least three officers, including two lieutenant colonels, patrolled the edge of the gathering but made no move to break up the meeting.

The News said one observer declared, "The group seems to be gaining courage. Previous meetings have been quiet affairs, but this one was much more boisterous, and there are more men here."

The demonstration came on the same day that Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., visited the post for an investigation.

He said he was "favorably impressed," and that the main complaint he found was that the men "would rather have more to do."

He said he did not find any real evidence of trouble making.

Stennis declined to discuss Lt. Col. Evan Tumlinson, a Mississippi National Guard colonel whose letter complaining about equipment shortage created an incident. Tumlinson was reassigned after his letter to Stennis was made public.

Car Crashes Into House

DALLAS (AP)—Kirby Robinson was driving his sedan down a residential street when his brakes failed.

The car crashed through a locked gate, leaped 120 feet down three 5-foot terraces, hurtled through the air and crashed into Robert Lee's living room Monday night.

It wrecked a 15-foot section of the house from roof to floor and tossed furniture about like matchsticks.

Robinson had been en route to pay Lee $86 damages suffered during an ice storm when Robinson's car sideswiped Lee's. Robinson's brakes were sound when the police said the newest accident damage would be about $2,000.

Family Keeping Horse In House

SUDBURY, Mass. (AP)—The Charles Mundo family keeps a horse in the house while Mrs. Mundo hopes for an early spring so the horse can be put outdoors.

How come?

Seems the animal, now 100 pounds and about the same size as the family's Great Dane, is the offspring of a Shetland pony and a saddle mare who'd rather forget it.

In any case the mare had up time for 5-week-old Sonny Boy (so the Mundos, who own six horses, took pity and bottle-fed him).

Yep, he's housebroken.

Counterfeiting Operation Broken

HOUSTON (AP)—Harris County officers say they broke a money order counterfeiting operation before it started.

In a raid Monday night, a dozen officers arrested two men. Several pieces of offset printing equipment were confiscated.

The men were in a house in north Houston. The printing equipment was in a small wooden shed behind the house.

"It appears the men just started operating," Kuhn said. "Some of their developing trays and tanks still had the price tags on them."

'Men Only' Space Work Protested

By JOSEPH E. MOHRAT

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Philip A. Hart's blonde wife—mother of eight—is asking Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson to help break up the "men only" exclusiveness of the Americans in space program. She would like to be the first woman in space herself. The wife of the Michigan democrat wants the United States to launch a woman in space program. So far, she says, she has gotten the cold shoulder from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

A program for female astronauts "could be gotten off the ground very quickly if we could just convince men it would not destroy their virility," she said.

If she can't be the first woman in space, she is determined that an American woman will be—and not a Russian cosmonaut.

To further her campaign, Mrs. Hart—the former Jane Briggs, daughter of a Detroit millionaire—has an appointment Thursday with Johnson in his role as chairman of the National Aeronautics and Space Council.

She hopes Johnson will be able to swing a little weight with James E. Webb, NASA head. Up to this point, she told a reporter, Webb has treated her proposal with reluctance.

How has her husband reacted to the idea?

"I've never asked him," she said.

Hart, pressed on the matter, responded: "I've always thought my wife was an extraordinary woman and this is most interesting."

6 Porpoises Are Going To School

By RALPH DIGHTON

POINT MUGU, Calif. (AP)—Porpoises have turned out to be so bright the Navy's going to send six of them to school.

They'll start in an underwater kindergarten—a 50-foot-diameter pool now being built beside a large hangar at this headquarters of the Pacific Missile range, where the sea-going mammals will be taught to count, fetch, tow objects under water and, hopefully, even talk.

While they're learning, Navy scientists will be learning, too.

The Navy wants to know how porpoises can swim so fast—up to 40 miles an hour—how they communicate with each other, and how their prey-spotting sonar works.

Answers to these questions could lead to torpedoes and submarine friction. And who knows what else scientists will learn once they start talking with porpoises?

Belief that porpoises can be taught to speak arose from experiments with a young female named Notty, who died a few months ago. Notty learned to recognize the words "ball," "hat," "ring" and "stick," and to fetch these items on voice command.

Porpoises apparently communicate with each other by means of beeps they make with the blowholes in the tops of their bulging heads. While Notty was alive, scientists began recording these sounds and duplicating them in an effort to converse with Notty in her own language.

Despite her achievements, Notty was a disappointment to Navy scientists. She wasn't very fast—

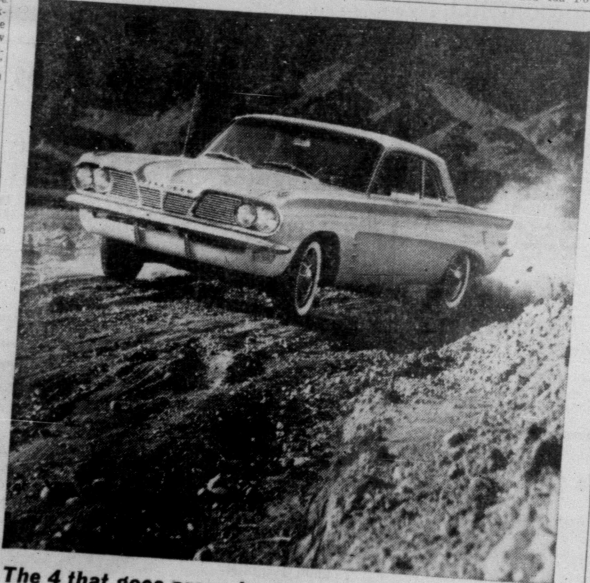

16 knots was her best recorded speed—and there were rumors she wasn't too bright as porpoises go.

She may have been bored and lonely. Notty was always kept by herself in a special tank at Marinehead in Los Angeles. They didn't want her picking up the horn-tooting, basketball-playing tricks of her show-business cousins.

Notty's successors won't have a chance to get lonesome, with six of the 200-pound six-footers in a pond not much bigger than a backyard swimming pool.

The pond is almost completed. Bulldozers have scooped out the basin and cables have been laid which will record the porpoises' speed and speech.

The only thing lacking now is the porpoises. They haven't been caught yet.

The 4 that goes around acting like a V-8... Tempest!

Used to be that people swore by V-8's and V-8's alone. And then along came Tempest's spunky 4 to steal their thunder. The hottest version of this 4 (168 hp) puts out more horsepower than any other production 4 in the world. More torque, too. And every version, standard share with the big boys is its appetite for gasoline and spare parts. Try a drive in a Tempest 4 soon, hear? You might as well save while you're swinging! Pontiac Tempest

'Imbalance' Is Reported In School

ENGLEWOOD, N.J. (AP)—A condition of racial imbalance harmful to both white and Negro pupils exists in Englewood's elementary schools, said a report released Monday night by the school board.

The report, prepared by the Englewood school superintendent and three expert consultants, declared that unless steps are taken to remedy the imbalance, "unrest, struggle and violence" probably will continue in this community of 26,000.

Englewood is split by bitter controversy over alleged racial segregation in its public schools. Conflict flared into the open six weeks ago when the school board announced the report on the schools was not ready. At that time the board denied applications by nine Negro children for transfer from the Lincoln Elementary School, which is 98 per cent Negro, to a predominantly white school.

An all night sit-in at City Hall, resulting in the arrest of 15 demonstrators, followed the board's action. Subsequently a suit was filed in U.S. District Court in Newark charging that Englewood maintained segregated schools through its drawing of school district lines.

Negro leaders also charged that the board was intentionally delaying the school report so that it could avoid taking action against segregation by the fall term.

"In so far as segregation exists in some of the schools, it appears to be a result of practices carried out within the confines of the housing market," the report said.

One of the report's six alternative proposals was establishment of an urban renewal program to break down present residential patterns in the city. About a quarter of the population is Negro.

Joint Space Project Urged

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson suggested today that Yuri Gagarin and John H. Glenn Jr., working together on some hazardous yet exhilarating space project, would help improve U.S.-Soviet relations.

Stevenson, chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations, said the Soviet and U.S. spacemen could scarcely emerge from this experience with all the veils still drawn down.

"And if the Soviet closed society opened enough so that in both societies there came to be men and women who understand in depth the hopes and fears of their opposite numbers, we should have opened many windows to light and set many candles burning in the gloom of ignorance," Stevenson said.

He made the suggestion in a speech prepared for delivery at a conference sponsored by the American Association for the United Nations.

He declared the United States is not giving up on a breakthrough in arms control, even though the Soviets reject all offers of a reasonable test ban treaty at Geneva and thus compel us to resume testing.

Grass Roots Drive Set To Push Medical Care Program

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House is coordinating a massive grass roots effort aimed at driving President Kennedy's medical care program through Congress.

Administration sources point to Kennedy's eagerness to address a rally about his program in New York's Madison Square Garden May 20 as an example of how much energy will go into the effort.

Kennedy accepted an invitation Monday to appear at the Madison Square Garden rally sponsored by an organization called the National Council of Senior Citizens and the Golden Ring Clubs of New York. White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said later the White House would welcome requests from networks interested in putting the event on television and radio.

Richard Maguire, a White House assistant, is understood to be coordinating and counseling outside organizations which back Kennedy's program to finance medical care for the aged through Social Security.

The purpose is to whip up broad public support for the administration plan and to direct that support toward influencing members of Congress to adopt it against vigorous opposition of the American Medical Association and insurance groups.

The Democratic National Committee also intends to print and distribute material promoting the Social Security approach to care of the aged.

The National Council of Senior Citizens is one of the major vehicles for pushing the campaign. The council was launched only last year but already claims the backing of a half million men and women around the country, many of them associated with local Golden Age clubs and other organizations of senior citizens. The council is an outgrowth of Senior Citizens for Kennedy.

Former Rep. Aime Forand, D-R.I., headed that unit in the 1960 presidential campaign and is chairman of the revived council. Forand was an ardent advocate of a broad scale plan to defray costs of caring for older citizens while he served in Congress.

Lawrence A. Oxley, a consultant to the council, said it intends to circulate a million copies of a pamphlet to advertise the program and to serve as a basis for discussion at meetings of community groups.

Secretary of Welfare Abraham Ribicoff has been speaking frequently around the country in support of the Social Security method and attacking the AMA for its opposition.

Rockefeller Case Is Likely Thursday

RENO, Nev. (AP)—Mrs. Nelson A. Rockefeller may sue for a quick Nevada divorce from the governor of New York Thursday.

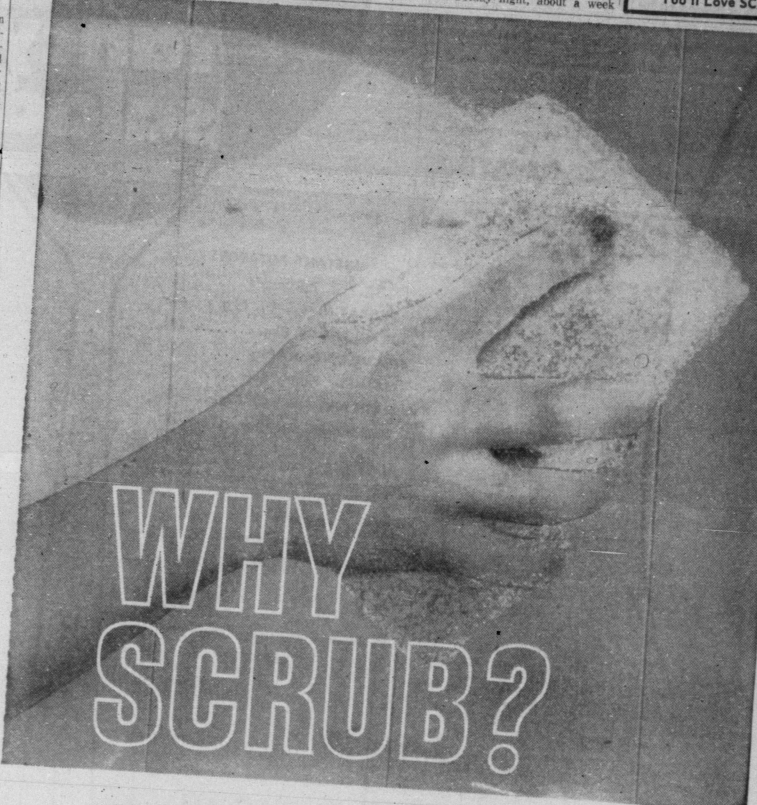

If she satisfies a court that she has not left the state in six weeks, her six-week residency requirement will be met. An uncontested divorce then can be granted in minutes. Her attorney has given no indication where or when she will file.

Both married daughters are visiting her at the Donner Trail Ranch in the Sierras west of here. Mrs. Robert L. Pierson, 28, arrived Friday night, about a week after her sister, Mrs. William Strawbridge, joined Mrs. Rockefeller at the resort. The three take frequent horse back rides, despite near-freezing temperatures.

The New York State Racing Commission issued licenses to 171 jockeys to ride at Aqueduct, Belmont and Saratoga in 1961.

Propylene Plant Planned By Gulf

BAYTOWN (AP)—Gulf Oil Corp. plans to build a propylene plant, in addition to a previously announced ethylene plant, at its 1,000-acre site on Cedar Bayou near Baytown.

The company will develop the entire site as an extensive petrochemical complex. Dr. Alexander Lewis of Pittsburgh, Pa., said Monday at a meeting of the Baytown Chamber of Commerce. He is Gulf's vice president in charge of petrochemicals.

Lewis said a contract to build the 60 million-pound capacity plant has been awarded the Stone & Webster Engineering Co. He did not say how much it will cost. Industry sources said it might be as much as $30 million.
