Woman Says She Was Returning From Fort Worth With S. H. Newman, Sheriff, And Party, Day Arthur Slain

Woman Tells Of Trip To Fort Worth With Sheriff; Says He Invited Her; He Says She Asked To Go

(Special To The Avalanche)

DICKENS, April 23. — Testimony that Mrs. Clarence Brown was returning from Fort Worth in an automobile with Sheriff S. H. Newman of Scurry county and two other men when her husband escaped here Oct. 27, after Sheriff W. B. Arthur was slain, was given today in Mrs. Brown's trial for smuggling a weapon into the Dickens county jail.

First charged as an accomplice in the slaying, Mrs. Brown later was indicted for providing a weapon used in the escape.

Mrs. Brown, whose husband pleaded guilty of murder of the sheriff in a trial at Lubbock Monday and accepted life imprisonment, today pleaded guilty of furnishing a gun to a person charged with a felony. She asked for a suspended sentence.

Testimony Completed

Testimony was completed this afternoon and summation will be Wednesday morning after District Judge A. J. Folley of 110th district court has given his charge to the jury.

County Attorney L. D. Ratliff, jr., probably will open arguments for the state and District Attorney Alton B. Chapman will close.

Sheriff Newman, called by the defense, said he had not heard very much bad about Mrs. Brown. Cross-examination by District Attorney Chapman revealed that Mrs. Brown, the sheriff, Lee Grant, who then was a Scurry county commissioner, and Grant's son, Tuck, went to a county judges and commissioners convention in Fort Worth in October in Newman's car. On re-direct examination by H. A. C. Brummitt, defense attorney, the officer said Mrs. Brown had asked to go, and that Newman frequently had accommodated persons when he made trips. The sheriff is married.

Says Sheriff Asked Her

Mrs. Brown, on cross-examination, testified the sheriff invited her to go to Fort Worth. She said the

Rubber From Oil Is Available As Soon As Needed

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, April 23.—Rubber from coal and oil, in limitless quantities, is ready for the United States when need arises.

Its formula, already developed in the Du Pont laboratories, was reported to the American Chemical society tonight by Dr E. R. Bridgewater of the company's rubber chemicals division.

This coal and oil rubber will be the same artificial rubber now made from the gas acetylene — a rubber that in some ways surpasses real rubber, and that has already made automobile tires equal in all respects to actual rubber.

Dr Bridgewater's disclosure came during a tribute to Father Julius A. Nieuland of Notre Dame, whose acetylene discoveries led to the present artificial rubber.

"Moreover, acetylene can be produced from petroleum, as well as from coal, although the

More Than 600 Are Registered For Beauty Show

GLEAMING laquered golden and silver, red, brown, black and between-shades of hair were displayed here by 31 models in a 1935 parade of spring and summer hair styles Tuesday evening.

This was at a fourth annual West Texas-New Mexico Beauty school and Equipment show, and operators and manufacturers who had dressed hair sat back with satisfied smiles as others applauded their creations. A dance followed the style revue in the ballroom of Hilton hotel, show headquarters.

"Golden glow," an elaborate hairdress which appeared as the name suggests, and "The 1935 Airflow," dressed by George W. Scoggins, of Abilene, received generous applause.

"Miss Cinderella" Recognized

"Miss Cinderella," shown for the first time since her "transformation," took a large share of recognition when she appeared after other models. The girl, who was taken from Lubbock relief rolls, is to reign as queen of the carnival ball this evening.

More than 600 beauticians from over a wide territory have registered for the show. Lubbock day, the last day of the show, is to begin at 8 a. m., concluding with the ball from 9:30 to midnight.

No Prizes Given

No prizes or honorable mentions were given. Styles for the older woman, debutante, school girl, and other types were shown.

L. I. (Bill) Lipow, representative of a New York firm, introduced models, whom he named as follows:

Misses Roxie Phillips, Velma Yates, Frances Armstrong, Catherine Thompson, Loreta McCollough, Louise Thornton, Helen Beard, Lois Scharnberg, June Coleman, Frankie Owens, Violet Osborn, Rosie Wienke, Dorothy Childress, Almeta Squires, Evelyn Burnside, Charlotte Ince, O George, Ann Hecker, Louise Robinson, Mary Lucky, Charles Cox, Rosalie Ince, Billy Schultz, Mary Lucky, Mesdames C. Ralph Randal Elected Two-T Governor And Childress Is Named Convention City As Plainview Meet Ends

(By The Associated Press)

PLAINVIEW, April 23. — Ralph Randal of Panhandle, was elected district governor and Childress was selected as the 1936 convention city as Lions clubs members of district Two-T concluded a three-day convention here today.

Lions Boss W. W. Evans of Plainview presided at a general assembly banquet after the elections.

Past Governors Speak

W. H. Patrick spoke on "Lionism in a Nutshell," and past Governor Jimmy Greene of Colorado, Texas; Del W. Harrington of El Paso, and Hub C. Walker of Pampa addressed the convention during the afternoon.

A resolution was adopted to change the basis of district representation at the state conventions from one vote per ten members to ten members at large from each of the five districts in Texas.

A committee report on the international convention in Mexico City in July was deferred pending an investigation of railway rates. A special train was being considered.

Registration at the meeting here was reported at 527, with 33 clubs represented.

Finger Points To Man Who Palmed Off Spurious Bill

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 23. (AP) N. J. Loveday, used car dealer here, has a good "camera eye." Two years ago a stranger gave him a counterfeit $100 bill for an automobile.

Loveday eyed every person he met for two years, seeking the man who "beat" him. Today, James C. Pollard, 45, admitted passing the bill when arraigned before U. S. Commissioner George J. Eacock.

Pollard was arrested when Loveday recognized him on the street.

Earth Shocks Rocking Iran

Dead Reckoned In Hundreds, And Property Loss Immense; Communications Down, Thus Preventing Full Check

(By The Associated Press)

TEHERAN, Iran, April 23. — A series of earth shocks rocking northern Iran (Persia) since April 12 continued tonight after killing an undetermined number of persons and doing unestimated damage.

Reports from Mazanderan province said 483 persons died in that division alone. Lack of communications facilities prevented any accurate survey of the devastated regions.

600 Listed Dead

(Dispatches from Teheran published in Paris said 600 persons were reported killed and thousands injured in the Iran quakes which destroyed the towns of Dodangueh, Tchadangueh and Lezard-Jarib and caused widespread panic.

Surgery On Apes Brings New Memory Indication

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 23.—A surprising ability among near-human apes to retain old memories despite the lopping off of a major portion of their brains was reported today to the National Academy of Sciences.

A Yale psychologist, Dr. Carlyle F. Jacobsen, discoised that with the frontal lobes of their brains cut away the apes he had operated upon lost no knowledge of long past events or well learned habits. The scientist found, however, that the animals did lose a different and more immediate form of memory used in holding different aspects of a problem in mind while being solved.

From this, Jacobsen saw an indication that there are at least two kinds of memory and probably more, all part of the general memory machinery but each working through a different nervous mechanism.

His experiments were conducted on the assumption that human memories work similarly to those of the monkeys and chimpanzees.

The apes were taught to do various simple tasks, and then parts of the frontal lobes of their brains were removed surgically.

When the brains had healed, the apes not only could not remember the simple tasks they had learned, but could not learn to do them again. They

Grave Danger Seen In Auto Plant Strike

William Green Fears Spread To Other Factories; 2,340 Chevrolet Workers Lose Jobs As Toledo Plant Closed

Unrest Spreading

Numerous Sections Of Country Tied Up With Strikes; Some Areas Have No Fuel, Others Fear Of Violence

(By The Associated Press)

A WALKOUT of Chevrolet Motor company employes closed the Toledo plant yesterday and put a fresh blot on the map already dotted with industrial strikes.

Members of the United Automobile Workers' Federal union quit the factory after the company refused a demand for a closed shop, despite concessions of a 5 per cent wage increase and seniority recognition.

"Grave Danger" Feared

William Green, president of the American Federation of labor, said there was "grave danger" of contagion in the strike, which he felt might spread to other automobile companies. The Toledo closing put 2,340 men out of work.

At Birmingham, Ala., police riot squads were summoned to scatter hundreds of laundry workers and sympathizers in their two weeks old strike. Tear gas bombs were used to disperse demonstrators at three large laundry plants. A closed shop with more pay is their demand.

Car Strike At Omaha

While Omaha walked or motored through the fourth day of a street car strike, the company promised to start the cars as soon as the mayor provided adequate protection, and his honor said the police were ready. All was quiet, including the trolles.

St. Louis police nabbed a striking employe of the Lacledge Gas Light company and seized a quantity of dynamite, preventing an attempt to blast a gas valve box. The strike was called March 28 to enforce recognition of the union as exclusive bargaining agent. A residential gas main was bombed Sunday.

Picket Lines Posted

Picket lines, shortest since a strike began five weeks ago, were still posted yesterday at the J. I. Case company plant in Racine, Wis., Mayor William Swoboda told a citizens' committee the law would be enforced and picketing remained peaceful.

Woman's Mate Charged In 'Sleepwalker' Death Tragedy

Insurance Policies Figure In Probe Of Grand Jury

(By The Associated Press)

GREENVILLE, April 23. — S. P. Darden, 33, was arrested late today on a charge of murder in connection with the shotgun slaying of his pretty wife, 32-year-old mother of two children.

Darden submitted quietly to the arrest shortly after his wife was buried in Clinton cemetery, four miles west of Caddo Mills.

Accused Is Quiet

The accused man made no statement as Deputies Harrison Etheridge and Frank Burnett took him into custody, nor would he talk after being carried to Hunt county jail here.

Darden had contended his wife was shot by their eight-year-old son, Jackie Glenn, as the lad walked in his sleep early Monday.

Insurance Policies Recalled

District attorney Henry Pharr revealed today that Darden had secured a joint insurance policy on himself and his wife recently, and that the policy contained an indemnity clause providing for more than face value in the event of accidental death of either party. Amount of the policy was not disclosed.

Pharr also said that Darden endeavored to renew a burial policy with the Royse City Funeral home, and took out a new policy after being advised the lapsed payments cost more than a new policy.

25 Witnesses Testify

Pharr said approximately 25 witnesses appeared before the grand jury today.

Immediately upon his return here, Darden was to be taken before the grand jury to testify in its investigation of the slaying.

Probabilities late today were that the jury would not conclude its probe today but might wind it up tomorrow.

Child Was Blamed

Darden had contended his wife was shot by Jackie Glenn. He told officers he had been awakened yesterday before dawn by the discharge of a shotgun and found his son, clutching a smoking gun, standing over his mother's body.

District Attorney Pharr termed "a physical impossibility" the contention of Darden that his son had fired the fatal shot.

"I can't Remember"

Pharr said Jackie Glenn, when

Last Member Of Blackmail Gang In New York Arrested

NEW YORK, April 23. (AP)—With the arrest of Ralph Piccarelli, 26-year-old bricklayer, police announced today they had in custody the last member of the alleged gang that attempted to prey on prominent persons by blackmailing them with threats of exposure of composite faked nude photographs.

Shortly after dawn, bomb squad detectives found Piccarelli hiding in a bedroom closet of his Bronx home, ending a roundup that started when two members of the supposed gang were seized in an alleged attempt to extort $5,000 from Mrs. George U. Harris, wife of a member of the board of governors of the New York Stock exchange.

Roosevelt Asked To Approve Brazos River Flood Project

WASHINGTON, April 23. (AP)—A delegation of Texans requested President Roosevelt today to approve and order a $50,000,000 program of flood control on the Brazos river in Texas.

They presented a scroll bearing signatures of a large number of Texans asking that the Brazos project be dedicated to the Texas Centennial celebration next summer in honor of the state's independence from Mexico and recalling that Washington, the first capital of the state, was on that stream.

Fifteen Days Allowed Radio Men For Filing Exceptions

WASHINGTON, April 23. (AP)—Applicants for extension of broadcasting facilities for three Texas radio stations had 15 days today to file exceptions to unfavorable reports from examiners who conducted hearings.

The examiners yesterday recommended to the communications commission that the applications of William McAllister of San Antonio for Station KMAC, and for KGKL at San Angelo and T. E. Kirksey for Station KFYO at Lubbock, be denied.

Tax Threat Bombshell Tossed Into Ranks Of Bonus Bloc; Inheritance Taxes To Pay Cost Seem Imperative

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 23.—An unexpected warning that hundreds of millions in new inheritance taxes may be demanded by the administrators to finance cash bonus legislation today was raised as a barrier to veteran demands—clouding even the future of the Harrison bond-redemption compromise.

Secretary Morgenthau, President Roosevelt's closest financial confidant, personally delivered the new taxes bombshell to the senate finance committee, blanketing into his statement all bonus bills under consideration.

Spending Must Be Backed

"The treasury," Morgenthau said, "would view with great concern the enactment of any bill which calls for large expenditures without compensating additional taxes."

Immediately, however, Chairman Harrison renewed to newsmen his contention that the compromise plan—with its offer to exchange negotiable bonds for the bonus certificates—would not require new taxes.

And despite the apparent conflict, informed Democratic senators still insisted the Harrison bill represented a proposition President Roosevelt would sign, if it was submitted to him by congress.

Veterans leaders, for their part, continued in testimony to ignore the Harrison compromise, and to stand for their own pet proposals for cashing the bonus in full. Frank N. Belgrano, national commander of the American Legion, said the issue would not be settled until the certificates were cashed dollar for dollar. He asked approval of the Vinson-Legion bill.

Administration leaders who contend the Harrison plan is best for the veteran because the senate would sustain a presidential veto of either the legion of Patman currency expansion bills, gained support in the senate during the afternoon when Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) announced he would vote against both of them.

War Babies Of France Called

Conscripts, Born When Guns Thundered At Hun, Off To Man Defenses; 420,000 Men Under Arms

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, April 23.—"War babies," 120,000 strong, streamed to the colors today to swell the number of Frenchmen under arms in France to 420,000.

In cities and villages throughout the land the conscripts—born while the big guns of the World war were roaring out there message of death—thronged railway stations, leaving for barracks for the start of their 18-months training period.

Arizona Man And Wife Crash When Trying To Land Plane Near Fort Hancock, Texas; Bodies Are Charred

(By The Associated Press)

EL PASO, April 23.—Victims of a plane crash near Fort Hancock, 54 miles east of here, tonight were tentatively identified by Department of Commerce Inspector E. V. Pettus as Mr. and Mrs. J. Carl Frederick Denkman, Tucson, Ariz.

Pettus said Denkman and his wife left Tucson in their red Moncoupe at 4:40 p. m. for El Paso. The bodies were burned beyond recognition. A belt buckle found in the wreckage bore the initials "J. F. D."

Officers who investigated the crash said the ship flew low over Fort Hancock, headed east, about 7:30 p. m. The motor was missing and the pilot was believed to be searching for a place to land.

No Thrill Was Thrill Of Clipper's Hop Over Sea

(By The Associated Press)

ALAMEDA, Calif. April 23.—The flying Clipper, conquering adverse ocean winds, arrived here at 2:58 p. m. (4:58 p. m. central standard time) today to complete a leisurely 2,400-mile return flight from Honolulu in 20 hours and 59 minutes.

First to make the round-trip between California and Hawaii, the big monoplane swiftly approached her base from the hills south of San Francisco.

Some 10,000 spectators watched as the 19-ton flying boat alighted perfectly on the sun-lit waters.

Customs inspectors and California department of agriculture men went aboard and, for half an hour, gave the ship a thorough going-over to detect any insect or plant pests.

Three bags of mail, containing 14,000 letters, were tossed ashore and Captain Edwin C. Musick and his five-man crew emerged from their ship.

The fliers appeared slightly wan, but otherwise gave no indication they had just completed the 2,400-mile journey.

"The big thrill in the trip," Captain Musick said as he stepped ashore, "was the fact it was negotiated without a thrill.

"I think this flight has largely removed the element of chance in the trans-Pacific journey, although it is the longest commercial over-water flight ever attempted."

Lamb County Men And Women Charged With Dealing In Untaxed Liquor; Bond Made Here By Six Men

DEPUTY United States marshals yesterday arrested six persons among those charged in a federal indictment with dealing in untaxed liquor. Only nine of 29 men and women, including Sheriff J. L. (Len) Irvin of Lamb county, named in a blanket indictment had not been reported arrested.

Jerry Silhan, Pep farmer, and a son, George, appeared voluntarily before United States Commissioner Olive Fluke and made $2,500 bond. Felix Silhan, also a son of the elder Silhan, arrested Monday, was released in $2,500 bail.

John Purdy Transferred

John Purdy, who had been held in Littlefield jail, was brought here and placed in county jail. Henry Fulcher, George Carpenter, and N. O. Roper were others arrested yesterday in connection with the indictment.

Jack Page, Jim Etter, and Roy Campbell, among nine persons arrested Monday, were released on bond Tuesday.

Three Post Bond

Sheriff Irvin, his son, Driscol, a former special ranger, and Deputy Sheriff J. L. Walraven of Littlefield posted bond in Fort Worth. Nine persons were arrested and brought here by Deputy United States Marshals L. N. McKelvey and Arch Holmes Monday. Two other defendants previously had been arrested in Fort Worth, where the indictment was returned.

Arrests had not been reported in the cases of Sam Bruton, formerly of Littlefield; Mrs. Rebecca Carr, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Terry, M. L. Lynn, E. E. Wheeler, Guy Foster, Virgil Dudgeon, and Buddy Johnson.

'Legger Protection Charged

Sheriff Irvin also was accused of protecting bootleggers. The indictment charged the defendants on 11 counts of violation of the United States internal revenue law through possession of a still, carrying on the business of distillers, manufacture of liquor, possession of mash, transportation, aid in transportation, concealing, aid in concealment, carrying on the business of retail liquor dealers, carrying on the business of wholesale liquor dealers, and conspiracy.

Similarity Seen In Two Holdups

Holdups of two persons between Seminole and Seagraves late Monday and of a night watchman at Crosbyton later were believed to have been staged by the same men, Crosbyton county officers reported.

The Crosbyton officer was asked the direction to Guthrie by two men. When he reached their automobile, he was forced at pistol point to enter the car. He was released at the edge of town. His revolver, his knuckles, watch, and flashlight were taken.

A man and his wife, of Hobbs, N. M., were robbed about dark Monday by two men traveling in a 1935 V-8 Ford automobile.

BY MARGARET TURNER
Woman's Editor

LONDON is busy planning three months of celebrations commemorating the silver jubilee of the reign of His Most Excellent Majesty George Frederick Ernest Albert of Windsor—George the Fifth, by the Grace of God, of Great Britain, Ireland and the British dominions beyond the seas, King, Defender of the Faith Emperor of India, and her Majesty, Queen Mary.

The calendar of jubilee fetes will begin on May 6, the day on which 25 years ago King George ascended to the throne. The King and the Queen and members of the Royal Family will attend a Silver Jubilee Thanksgiving service. The fetes will close with a garden in Buckingham Palace on July 25.

During those red letter days, the royalty will receive tributes of their subjects and there will be scores of private parties, wedding celebrations, dances and receptions.

WHY A JUBILEE

THE British people have been through many hardships since that May day that they received a new king. Sowerby writes that they have learned that "worldly power is at best transitory, that neither the sword nor the might of a great commercial system can insure permanence; they have learned that others can and will follow the path of imperialism and that since the world is not large enough for all who wish to take that path, endless wars must come until new motives can replace the urge of nationalism with a new sense of the brotherhood of man.

Continuing, he wrote in a story in the jubilee section of the Christian Science Monitor, "Britain in the past 25 years has evolved liberal, social and political policies in development from empire to commonwealth. "There is a move to hand back to India a good measure of self-government. "But amid the change and uncertainty, the simple steadfastness of Britain's King and Queen has proved a strength."

ENGLISH ADVERTISEMENTS

ENGLISH firms have placed advertisements in the section. Some of them are odd and would be out of place in local newspapers. The ads are not as attractive as those in American papers but show a keener appreciation of words. For instance, in an advertisement of shoes we find: "Make walking a pleasure. On the warm banks of Cornwall the gleam of wild daffodils has already faded. But in more northern woods they come as Lent lilies, true messengers of spring; 'Daffodils that come before the swallow dares.'" The pictures are of long vamped glace kid with heels of Baby Louis style.

Colors of many of the sport dresses and sweaters are of lido, nigger, saxe, spindleberry, duck egg, Princess green, Margaret Rose, jubilee blue, fraise, liberty blue, and, to be sure, of age-old favorites of navy blue, brown, pink and white. The spelling of color is "colour," by the way.

One box ad asks: "Coming to London?" and tells of "three parts of a beautiful private house situated in one of London's most exclusive squares. Luxuries include "telephones, coal fireplaces, constant hot water and full service by a resident staff, including a butler-valet. Private car belonging to owner for service by arrangement."

Special prices and values are being quoted at "jubilee prices." It looks like the jolly Britishers are preparing for a royal time.

Five Meetings Held Tuesday

Athenaeum Women Continue In Water Program; Jackson Of Tech Talks On Bering Sea Controversies

During the course of five study club meetings Tuesday afternoon, programs were conducted on the following subjects: Fishing, the Bible, Texas, Egypt and Child Health.

"Recreational and Industrial Fishing" was the subject of a program which Mrs. J. F. Hankins directed at a meeting of the Athenaeum club at Hotel Lubbock. Dr. W. A. Jackson, head professor of government at Texas Technological college, discussed the Bering sea controversies. Mrs. W. L. Baugh discussed fresh water and deep sea fishing; Mrs. F. A. Kleinschmidt talked on salmon and trout fishing, and Mrs. T. C. Delaney discussed oyster fishing.

Mrs. B. E. Needles discussed "Noted Waterfalls" a subpect which was a part of the topic, "Scenery," which was scheduled for the last meeting. Mrs. Delaney presided in the absence of the president and Mrs. K. M. Renner was secretary pro tem.

Eleven members were present.

Mrs. M. E. Helber Is Program Leader

Mrs. M. E. Helber, who was program leader, gave the devotional at a meeting of the Junior Lubbock Woman's club Tuesday afternoon at Seaman hall. The program included:

"Early Version of the New Testament," Mrs. Claborn Bell; "The Bible's Effect on Literature," Mrs. R. H. Mott; report of the recent seventh district convention in Plainview, Mrs. O. C. Moore, and report from the calendar committee.

Guests were Mrs. J. E. Hamilton and Mrs. W. R. Vivrett of Weatherford. There were 26 women present.

Mrs. H. F. Godeke will direct a program on parliamentary procedure at the next meeting, May 14.

Centennial Topic At Century Club

A Texas Day program was presented at a meeting of the Twentieth Century club Tuesday afternoon at Hotel Lubbock. A paper on the Texas Centennial celebration was read by Miss Mae Murfee. Mrs. H. D. Woods discussed the Texas Folk Lore society; Mrs. A. W. McKee talked of Texas folk songs, and Mrs. T. R. Prideaux discussed supernatural legends.

Mrs. C. J. Wagner Is Junior Club Speaker

Mrs. C. J. Wagner discussed Egypt, showing souvenirs which she brought from that country and slides, at a meeting of the Junior Twentieth Century club Tuesday afternoon in the Tech engineering building. Her collection of souvenirs included rugs, embroidery and brass which she brought back after having taught in a mission school in Egypt as a girl.

Miss Hotton Talks Of Health Of Child

Miss Fern Hotton, parent education specialist, discussed child health at a meeting of the Sorosis club Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. H. B. Hawkins, 1924 Twenty-ninth street. Roll call, which is a significant part of the regular routine, was the only other part of the program.

Four Girls Leave For Corpus Rally

Miss Gertrude Daniel, head of the home economics department at Lubbock High school, left Tuesday morning with three girls of her school, Gladys Hall, Mary Peek and Helen Robinson and a Junior High school student, Adelle Traylor, for Corpus Christi to attend a state homemakers rally. The girls will enter exhibits in clothing contests.

The group left on a chartered bus. They were joined here by Plainview girls and Shallowater girls and were to meet a group at Slaton. Tonight will be spent in Kerrville. The girls will visit in San Antonio Saturday, returning to Lubbock Sunday.

DO YOU want a fresher, clearer complexion? Use Lifebuoy. It does two important things. Cleanses deeply to rid pores of beauty-robbing impurities, yet cleanses gently. Scientific tests on the skins of hundreds of women show Lifebuoy is more than 20 per cent milder than many so-called "beauty soaps."

No fear of "B. O." NOW!

Millions say, "Lifebuoy agrees with my skin." But they have another big reason, too, for using it—to play safe with "B. O." (body odor). Lifebuoy's rich, penetrating lather purifies pores, protects against offending. Gives a wealth of lather, even in hardest water. Its own fresh, clean scent quickly vanishes as you rinse.

PITTSBURGH, April 23.—The burdens of the nation's freight trains were temporarily lightened today—for the hoboes called a ten-day halt for their annual taking up of the problems of the "Itinerant Workers Union."

Brushing the cinders off well worn suits—and dresses—the delegates deserted the rods and blind baggage at the call of veteran Jeff Davis, king of the hoboes these 27 years, whose campaign for reelection seems to have no opposition.

Women Delegates Too

Yes, there are women delegates this time said Davis, at least one he knows of and probably more by the time the jungleland conclave opens this afternoon.

The grizzled king, who has been making arrangements for days, looked up at headquarters, bedecked from top to bottom with flags, bunting and pennants, and proudly proclaimed:

"I'll bet you never saw a better set-up than that. And, remember: we're paying our own way. We'll bring money into this town."

Women Have Equal Rights

As for equal rights for women on the convention floor, Jeff says they're entitled to it.

"There are lots of women hoboes. Hitch hiking around the country, you know—picking up odd jobs as waitresses, or dishwashers, or whatever they can get. Riding the freights, too."

Carefully polishing his gavel for the opening confab, the king was at pains to define a hobo.

"People still don't seem to get the difference. A hobo is a guy who works and moves from place to place, a tramp is a guy who won't work, and a bum is a guy who can't work."

Mulligan stew will be served to all comers on the headquarters veranda.

A convention platform? Yes indeed—90 cents an hour for dishwashers.

GOLD BEACH, Ore. (AP) — Mrs. Charles Billings saved her two-year-old son's life by shooting a pet deer. Jealous over attentions paid to a dog, the deer was trampling the infant.

Babicora Cattle Bring Good Price

Four hundred and sixteen head of cattle from the Brownfield feeding pens of the Babicora Development company, were sold Monday in Fort Worth for $9.75 per hundred pounds.

The animals included 212 heifers and 204 yearlings. Weights averaged from 683 to 769 pounds. The heifers totaled 151,530 pounds and averaged 715 pounds, while the yearling steers averaged 757 pounds or a total of 154,598 pounds.

Steers and heifers brought an average price of $69.71 for the heifers and $73.80 for the steers, an average price of $70.68 for the two groups. Total amount, based on announced weights was slightly over $29,400. Total weight of the animals was estimated as 306,195 pounds.

BUFFALO HUNTER DIES

ALBANY, Tex. (AP)—Death of Joe S. (Uncle Joe) McCombs, 80, here marked the passing of one of the mightiest buffalo hunters of the plains. The veteran plainsman once estimated he had killed as many as 12,000 head of buffalo in the slaughter era from 1874 to 1878.

Admiralty Believes U. S. Navy Incapable Of Conducting Foreign Campaign

Nation's Own Borders Safe

Treaty Strength Navy Toward Which Nation Is Building Would Make Sea Strength On Par With Powers

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 23—A declaration that the naval high command believes the navy, in its present state, is incapable of conducting aggressive warfare but is able to repel an attack on American shores has been made to a house committee by Admiral William H. Standley.

Testifying on the navy's annual appropriation bill, the chief of naval operations said, however, the treaty strength navy toward which the country is building would be as powerful as any on the seas and able to wage war satisfactorily.

Testimony Made Public

The admiral's testimony was made public today.

Answering questions of Representative McLeod (R-Mich), who wanted to know how the navy was equipped to oppose, in an emergency, an outstanding world power, Admiral Stanley said:

"We do not feel that we are in a position to wage a war or carry a war to the other fellow at the outbreak of the war. We feel that our position would be rather weak so far as merchant marine and various other auxiliaries are concerned . . . .

Our Own Shores Safe

"However, so far as combatant ships are concerned, we would feel that the enemy could not carry the war to our shores."

The officer asserted that "the only way to get a decision is to carry war into a enemy's territory." The navy could do this, he said, if it had time to build a few more destroyers and submarines and acquire more tankers and transports.

From Henry L. Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy, the subcommittee learned the navy is planning to operate 321 ships and 920 aircraft during the next fiscal year against 306 vessels and 760 aircraft in the current year. The new ships to be put into operation are chiefly destroyers.

Annual Convention Of Club Women Opens At Resort City

MINERAL WELLS, April 23 (AP)—Singing led by Mrs. Camron Boone Tygrett of Mineral Wells opened today's meeting of the thirty-fourth annual convention of the first district of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs.

Clubs in the district reported on their work at both the morning and afternoon sessions. New clubs were introduced by Mrs. J. Thomas Davis, of Stephenville.

Congressman W. D. McFarlane of Graham addressed the convention. Mayor D. C. Harris and local clubs welcomed the delegates at a luncheon.

Mrs. Volney Taylor of Brownsville, state president, who was on the program for today, was called to Austin on legislative business for the federation.

The Texas dinner will be held tonight, after which there will be a fine arts evening at the Baker hotel.

Ex-Officer In World War Buried; Police Probe Death

DALLAS, April 23. (AP)—Funeral services will be held tomorrow for Chester Goodwin, 33, who died of a fractured skull in a Beaumont hospital yesterday.

Goodwin died a few hours after he was found unconscious beneath the Neches river bridge at Beaumont. His skull was fractured.

Beaumont police were conducting an investigation of his death. He left Dallas Sunday for Beaumont, where he had obtained employment on a pipe line. He was an officer in the forty-second division in the World war.

Crops in Sweden this year are reported as "generally excellent."

Lynching Bill May See Fight

Prospect Of Filibuster More Apparent As Plans Made For Pressing Of Consideration Much-Controverted Bill

WASHINGTON, April 23. (AP)—The prospect of a possible filibuster of major proportions confronted the Costigan-Wagner anti-lynching bill today as Senator Costigan (D-Colo) made his plans to press for consideration of the bill possibly this afternoon.

Senator Smith (D-SC), who already had assailed the bill to make lynching a federal offense, was asked if he intended a filibuster. Without using that word, he said:

"I will do everything in my power to defeat the bill. I will take the floor as soon as it is brought up and keep on fighting."

Two Against Bill

Two other southerners, Senator Byrnes (D-SC), Senator Reynolds (D-NC) said they would vote against the bill.

Senator Keyes (R-NH) said he would vote for it.

"Yes, I think I'll vote for it," he said. "There probably won't be any filibuster. We haven't had any this session."

Byrnes said: "Lynching is murder. There are laws which cover murder. The whole thing should be left to the state and not the federal government. I imagine the other southern senators feel the same way."

Two Seriously Injured In Dallas Crash; Others Hurt

DALLAS, April 23. (AP)—Five persons were injured, two critically, in a collision of two automobiles at the intersection of the Garland road and Buckner boulevard here today.

Jack Midwyett of Tyler was taken to the Baylor hospital in a critical condition. His brother, F. E. Midwyett, received a broken hip.

An unidentified negro was critically injured. A Garland ambulance removed two unidentified persons to a hospital there.

Delinting Process Inventor May Establish Plant In Area

S. B. Jackson, Frederick, Okla., inventor of the Kemgas process of delinting cotton seed, is spending several days in this section.

Mr. Jackson has visited this section several times in the past few years. He has distributed his seed through a number of men over the South Plains and is planning the installation of a delinting plant, probably in Lubbock or Littlefield, this fall, if crop conditions warrant.

FARMER'S BODY FOUND

TEXARKANA, April 23. (AP)—The body of Mike Malenock, 35, Miller county tenant farmer, was found today by his wife on the Missouri Pacific railroad tracks 17 miles north of here.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of "killed by train, or otherwise." The qualification will stand, officers said, pending an investigation.

Arrests In Death Of American Seen

BROWNSVILLE, April 23. (AP) — Mexican authorities at Matamoros said today they expected to file murder charges tomorrow in connection with the death of Raymond Benson, geologist of the Titania Oil company, slain in a robbery on the Matamoros-Raynosa road last Friday.

Matamoros is across the Rio Grande from Brownsville.

Mexican authorities made their announcement shortly after the arrest of a Mexican citizen. The man was arrested near the scene of the slaying.

Bloodstains have been found on the clothing of two men arrested yesterday and held for questioning, officials said.

Two fellows, employes of Bengson and campmates of his at the Titania camp, who were arrested Sunday, were released today.

Special Investigator Jose Castro said bloodstained clothing showed signs of having been washed recently in an effort to remove all traces of blood.

Dawson Areas Are Planting

Rainfall Averaging Half Inch Received In Southern Part Of County; Northern Part Is Dry, Not Planting

LAMESA, April 23. (Special) — Rains averaging half an inch provided enough moisture to penetrate to the sub-soil in southern Dawson county and farmers there are planting this week.

Much of the land had been bedded and as a result of the additional precipitation, it was anticipated, would be productive of small grains.

North County Dry

Northern Dawson county has not had sufficient rainfall and the planting season has been delayed.

Milo maize, corn, kaffir, cane, and sudan were the chief plantings, although some cotton was put in.

QUINTETS ALL RIGHT

Webber And Matsura In Return Match; Tech Exes To See More Grid Service

Bitter Enmity To Be Renewed In Local Ring

Wrestling Top Notchers Meet Again As Webber Seeks One More Chance; Castana Gets Arthur In Special Bout

THE PRELIMINARY

Ali Kaba, Turkey, vs. Lobo Brown, Amarillo. One fall or 20-minutes time limit.

THE SEMI-FINAL

Pascual Castana, Los Angeles, vs. Ernie Arthur, Toronto, Canada. One fall or 30-minutes time limit.

THE MAIN EVENT

Vic Webber, New York, vs. Matsuda Matsura, Seattle. Two out of three falls, 2-hour time limit.

Tonight's wrestling card at the Auditorium differs only in the semi-final and preliminary events from that of two weeks ago when 1,700 fans were thrilled by the first Webber-Matsura battle.

As a result of repeated requests by cash customers and Webber's personal entreaty, they're brought back again to resume their "natural" feud.

"Terrible Turk" To Appear

There's variety in tonight's program, and a bit of pre-fight suspense in the preliminary. Ali Kaba, branded as a "fierce, mustachioed little Turk, who got too rough with some of his Mexican opponents in Mexico recently and was requested to leavt the country," will be making his debut tonight. He fights Lobo Brown, well-known Amarillo preliminary lad, in the curtain raiser, beginning at 8:15 o'clock.

Ali Kaba, they say, doesn't stop at being just plain rough and mean. "You've heard of the 'Terrible Turks,' well Ali Kaba is one reason they're given that name," is the report presaging the Turk's appearance.

Senor Pascual Castana, well-developed Spaniard from Boston, Los Angles and elsewhere, rules a slight favorite to beat Ernie Arthur, claimant to Canada's middleweight title and owner of a gold-buckled belt to prove it, in the special event. Castana was hardly a match for Webber in the main go last week, although for the first fall he put up stiff opposition. He's a colorful grappler, easy on his feet, equipped with an unusually stout muscular build and able to defend himself against the general run of middleweights.

Fans Wanted It

But it's the return engagement of Webber and Matsura that will pack the patrons in the Auditorium tonight. Fans who saw them fight on almost even terms two weeks ago still think that Webber lost the third and decisive fall as a result of a bad break. He was hoisting Matsura for the airplane spin, the kill, when the educated Jap grabbed a rope, timed his "let go" with perfect precision and fell in a heap on top of Webber and the referee. When the referee crawled out, Matsura was on top, and Webber's shoulder blades were making dents in the canvas.

Webber himself was the most displeased with the outcome, and he is confident things will be different when the final fist is raised tonight.

"It'll probably get a bit rough," Webber said. "It almost got rough the first time, and I'm laying for him now. I'll keep it clean as long as he does, but if he even suggests a scrap, he'll have one on his hands."

Webber had to do some tall challenging to get Matsura in the frame of mind for another fight. Matsura has been wishing to clear out of this circuit, and had his plans made. Then came Webber's challenge, and Promoter Allen's request.

The New York German dared Matsura to fight him again on a winner-take-all basis, but latest reports last night were that the Jap had not accepted on those terms. So vehement was Webber's challenge that the Jap couldn't very well afford to turn it down and retain his self respect, or the respect of fans.

Tom Stidham To Join "Biff" Jones At Oklahoma U. Soon

NORMAN, Okla., April 23. (AP) — The University of Oklahoma, proud of its new head football coach, Capt. Lawrence "Biff" Jones, due here today, is looking forward to the early arrival of the line coach who will share the job with him, Tom Stidham, formerly of Northwestern at Chicago, who has accepted the position.

Stidham, part Creek Indian, forward wall mentor at Northwestern since 1927, left there in the shake-up that brought the resignation of Coach Dick Hanley, for whom he played at Haskell.

Here he will take the place of "Bo" Rowland, who goes to Syracuse university.

Cantaloupes were named for Cantalupo, Italy, a village near Rome.

Beaumont Stops Tulsa, 16 To 5, Giving Indians, Who Win From Missions, Leadership In Texas League

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANTONIO, April 23.—Tight relief pitching by Stiely, Indian southpaw, staved off a late batting attack by the San Antonio Missions to give Oklahoma City a 5-3 victory here today, opening a twelve day home stand by the Padres.

After allowing but three hits the first five innings, Moncrief gave up two runs on four hits in the sixth and then let the first two batters in the seventh get singles before Stiely came to the rescue. He held the Missions to two hits, both in the eighth, the rest of the way and pulled out of two big holes in fine style.

Who Called 'Em "Daffiness Boys"?

Regular Team Of 1934 Gets Call To Arms

Cawthon To Use Veterans Part Of Time Against Sul Ross Friday Night; Lineups Are Just About Determined

Railbirds at Texas Tech's spring football training field yesterday were filled with a natural nostalgia when they saw a full team, The full team of 1934 regulars line up and cavort gayly through a brief signal practice.

There they were, the whole bunch of 'em—Captain Moon Martin, Larry Priddy, Woodrow Wilson, Juicy Owen, G. B. Morris, Braxton Gilmore, Adrian Clark, Gwynn Dowell, Bear Curfman, Stud Harris, Ed McKeever and D. M. McElroy — and they weren't going through the routine just for the fun of it, either, although they seemed happy as kids with their first football.

You'll See Why

They were drilling because they've been given a spot on the Friday night program at Texas Tech, the exhibition football game between the Matadors and the Sul Ross Loboes. For five minutes or so these seniors, and others who finished their football eligibility the year before, will replace the modern lineup and get into the game.

In addition to the graduates of the 1934 football class, there are others recently familiar to Tech football fans in the lineup appear the names of Whacker Barton at center (Priddy is to play guard), Aubrey Butts, halfback, and Yancy Price, halfback. All of them are in school, preparing to graduate this spring. They are being "coached" by Elva Baker, former great tackle who longs to get into the game but who is ineligible because he isn't in school. Tech coaches arranged with Sul Ross officials to use the seniors in this final game.

Ready To Play, Too

The seniors, most of them, are "in shape," because they have been out there every day this spring, giving pointers to the youngsters who are trying out for the 1935 varsity. "Assistant coaches," Cawthon and Smith call them, and they've been working.

While Adrian "Toy" Clark trumpeted signals to the yelling, charging seniors, Cawthon and Smith were supervising a scrimmage at the other end of the field yesterday, and from the way they were making wholesale substitutions it appeared they had just about decided on their first, second, third and fourth string teams, at least for this spring and for Friday night.

Team No. 1, designated as the official starters Friday night against the Loboes, consists of J. W. West and Louis Spear, ends; Alvin Katroia and Joe Barlow, tackles; Jakie May and Tom McWilliams, guards; "Preacher" Walker, center; Rayburn Hale, quarterback; Doc Merrill and Frank Gusick, halfbacks and Maurice Chernosky, fullback, with Hunter and Roy Morris as alternates.

Then The Regulars

There are three other teams, and then the eleven that looks like the real No. 1 lineup. It's called Team No. 3 in Cawthon's notebook but it promises to be the team which is NOT the shock troops when the real

Second Attempt To Recommit Bankhead Rehabilitation Bill Is Up In Senate

Vandenberg Is Pushing Bill

Farm Tenants Would Be Aided Through Measure; Similar Attempt Of Byrd Loses As Bankhead Makes Charge

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 23. — A second attempt to recommit the Bankhead billion dollar bond bill for rehabilitation of farm tenants was launched in the senate today, that time by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) who termed it "an amazing new adventure" on which adequate information was lacking.

Senatof Byrd (D-Va) lost a similar effort by seven votes yesterday after Senator Bankhead (D-Ala) described it as an attempt to "kill the bill."

Wants Bill Voted Back

To avoid this contention Vandenberg moved the agriculture committee be instructed to hold further hearings and report the bill back this session.

Bailey said the measure was a step in the direction of "federal socialism" and added $500,000,000 already was provided in the relief act for rural rehabilitation.

Connally Brings Charge

Senator Connally (D-Tex) said Vandenberg was attempting to kill the bill in indirection and the budget report on the bill would not change his attitude. He said the Michigan senator was going to vote for the bonus, despite the treasury's opposition.

Vandenberg arose to assert emphatically that he had "always opposed immediate payment of the bonus and will continue to oppose either the Patman or the Vinson bills." It was his first public declaration on how he would vote on the bonus.

Favorites Enter Second Round At Houston Tourney

HOUSTON, April 23 (AP) — An epidemic of accurate putting and shot making allowed favorites to survive first round championship competition today in the Womens Texas Golf association tournament at the River Oaks Country club course where women's par is 27-40—77.

Mrs. Dan Chandler of the Dallas Brook Hollow golf club, who carded 38-41—79 for medalist, paced today's field with a 5 and 3 victory over Mrs. Ralph Randolph of the Dallas Country club. Styled as the feature of today's play, this match produced splendid golf from Mrs. Chandler's clubs and bad putting by Mrs. Randolph.

Shooting a 40 on the front and sticking close to par on the back side, Miss Betty Jameson, 15 year old school girl from Dallas and Southern champion breezed in with a 6 and 5 decision over Miss Betty Edwards of Dallas.

The Babe Wins

The third favorite to fly victorious colors was Miss Mildred (Babe) Didrikson of the Beaumont Country club. Babe jumped into a two up lead through the first four holes, increased it to five up through the sixth and eventually beat Mrs. James Hutchinson of Houston, 6 and 5.

Mrs. O. R. Armstrong of El Paso, Southwestern champion and always a dangerous state championship threat, barely missed being the victim of an upset. She was one down to Mrs. W. T. Stafford of Dallas through the front nine but rallied on the back to eliminate the Dallas star, 2 up.

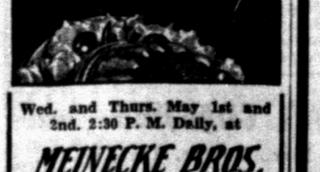

Strengthened By Cardui

A weakened condition, with pains in her side and back, was overcome by Mrs. J. S. Andrews, of Ramer, Ala., who says: "My husband kept after me to try Cardui. I continued to take it until I had taken twelve bottles. I feel now that I am a well woman."

BASEBALL'S BIG 6

(By The Associated Press)

The first publication of baseball's Big Six for the 1935 season finds John Moore, Phillies speedy outfielder, leading the pack with a healthy batting average of .500. In 30 times at bat, Moore has cracked out 15 hits, including three home runs, to lead Floyd Vaughan, Pittsburgh shortstop, by 20 points. Sam West of the St. Louis Browns tops the American League trio with nine hits in 21 trips to the plate for an average of .429.

Revivalist Talks On 'Hidden Light'

"The Hidden Light" was discussed by Dr. W. H. McKenzie at a revival meeting in First Baptist church last night. Doctor McKenzie is pastor of University Baptist church at Austin.

The minister declared that pride, selfishness, an unforgiving spirit, an inconsistent life, and neglect of duty submerged "the light of a Christian."

An increase in attendance was reported.

Doctor McKenzie will discuss "One of the Greater Prayers of the Old Testament" at 10 o'clock this morning and "The Christian Imperative" at 8 o'clock tonight.

Shelter Belt Plans Formed

Program Enlarged To Include 21 Counties In West Texas, According To Assistant To State Director

(Special To The Avalanche)

SNYDER, April 23.—The shelter belt of trees that is being planted under the new federal conservation program has been enlarged to include 21 West Texas counties, according to Edgar H. Kemp, shelter belt assistant to John D. Jones, state director, whose headquarters are at Wichita Falls. Possibly other counties will be included.

Kemp conferred here with civic and agricultural leaders in regard to purchase of Scurry county land for shelter belt planting. He indicated that the acreage will be purchased in this and the other 21 counties in time for summer fallowing, but that actual planting would be spread over a one to three-year period.

Boundries Given

The Texas area to be covered by the shelter belt is bounded by Hemphill county in the extreme northeast corner of the Panhandle. Scurry, Fisher and Jones are the southernmost counties in the proposed belt. From these three counties the belt will run in a northeasterly direction through portions of Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota and North Dakota—approximately 1,000 miles.

The belt will be about 100 miles wide. Each strip of trees will be 10 rods or 165 feet wide, and will be planted crossways in the path of the prevailing damaging winds. Only good farming land will be planted with trees, Kemp told Snyder citizens. The strips will run approximately one mile apart in these cultivated areas. Ample room for passageways will be allowed on the ends and in the center of each strip.

Plant Twelve Rows

Twelve rows of trees, six feet apart in the rows, will compose the belt. Center trees will be tall varieties, and smaller varieties will be planted in each direction to the outer edges of the belt. Each strip will be fenced, and no other plantings will be allowed in the restricted area. Kemp explained that the trees will be planted close together in order that they might grow to greater height, which means greater protection from vicious winds and dust-storms, and therefore better conservation of moisture.

"We have no visionary ideas of the trees that are adaptable to this section," Kemp pointed out. "Varieties proven over a period of years will be used. We are making every effort to secure data on tree growth in every county of the shelter belt." The government plan calls for planting and cultivation of seedlings in nurseries to be established in the general territory where the trees will be planted.

Those Suggested

Among trees suggested for this area by the United States Forest Service, under whose direction the belt will be completed, are: Green ash, American elm, Chinese elm, post oak, cottonwood, hackberry, chokeberry, plum, haw, buffalo berry, sumac, willows (moist sites), red cedar, ponderose pine, lilac, honey locust, black walnut, pecan, Arizona cypress, Chinese arbor vitas, black locust, pisticia apricot, chinaberry, Osage orange, Austrian pine and Russian mulberry.

The government plan of protecting farming regions has been considerably hastened by passage of the recent congressional relief bill, which sets aside millions of dollars for the shelter belt. Kemp makes it plain that no landowner will be forced to have a shelter belt strip on his place. He says the government, through this new money grant, will purchase outright or lease with the option of purchase. "If a landowner does not cooperate," he said, "he will be the loser—not his neighbors or his entire community."

Government Pays

After purchase, the land is to be summer fallowed by the farmer or someone else. The government will pay for this cultivation and later for periodic working of the ground and for proper care of the trees when they are planted. Planting and fence building will be under supervision of government men, but all labor and materials will be used and purchased locally.

Shelter belts planted and maintained by the farmers themselves have been maintained with remarkable results for as long as 40 years in North Dakota and other states, Kemp indicated, as he stressed the point that the government's idea is not experimental. Wind velocity is retarded 10 times the height of the windbreak on the windward side, the government representative said, and 20 times on the other side. "It has been conclusively proven," he continued, "that this checking of winds and dust will greatly conserve the moisture of the protected area, and therefore increase crop yields."

Busy In Counties

Kemp is working in the 13 southernmost counties of the Texas belt, as follows: Scurry, Fisher, Jones, Kent, Haskell, Taylor, Stonewall, King, Dickens, Knox, Cottle, Motley and Foard. E. L. Meyers, also a shelter belt assistant, covers these eight northern counties: Wilbarger, Hardeman, Childress, Hall, Collingsworth, Wheeler, Hemphill and Lipscomb. Actual shelter belt work was begun recently in Wheeler and Childress counties. A government nursery for shelter belt trees has been established at Chillicothe, Hardeman county. It covers three-quarters of a section of land.

Due to shortage of trees for this shelter belt area, Kemp expects only a small part of the planting to be completed during the first season—next fall. The bulk of planting will probably come during the second and third years, he said.

"Never Before A Remedy To Do Its Work So Well"

Declares Texas Man; Mr. Weakley and Wife Both Enjoy Good Health Again; Rheumatism, Indigestion and Nervousness Yield Easily To New Medicine.

It is a striking fact that in many instances of awful suffering where all kinds of medicines and treatments had failed, this amazing new herbal remedy, Gly-Cas, has given results which are astounding. Many

MR. L. F. WEAKLEY

Lubbock residents have found Gly-Cas to be just the medicine they had been needing for years to reach their awful cases and restore good and glorious health. For instance, read what Mr. L. F. Weakley, R. F. D. No. 4, Tyler, respected gentleman of that vicinity for the past forty years, said recently to the Gly-Cas Man who is daily meeting the local public at the Mark Halsey Drug Store, 1219 Broadway, and explaining the action of this new remedy on each individual case;

"If everyone knew of Gly-Cas as I do there would not be the need of so much suffering in this world," said Mr. Weakley, "My stomach was in such condition I could not eat many foods for the gas and indigestion it would cause afterwards. Onions, sweet potatoes and the like were out of the question they caused me to bloat so. I lost my appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep and then constipation had allowed my system to become clogged with poisons. I would get up each morning with a tired and worn-out feeling and so dizzy. Then to make my condition more miserable rheumatism attack me and I had to endure that awful suffering. But finally I heard of the Gly-Cas—gave it an opportunity to help me—and today I am enjoying good health again."

"It is remarkable how quickly this new remedy helped me," continued Mr. Weakley, "My stomach and bowels are now regulated until I can eat the foods I wish and enjoy my meals without the fear of suffering afterwards. All those dizzy spells are over and even my nerves have been quieted. And to prove how good Gly-Cas really is—it not only helped me—but my wife who had been in a rundown condition and constipation was also given the same good results it gave me. Gly-Cas is truly a medicine of merit."

The Gly-Cas Man is kept busy everyday at the Mark Halsey Drug Store 1219 Broadway, where he is explaining the action of this new remedy and receiving much praise for its accomplishments throughout this section.

Gly-Cas $1.00 per box—6 boxes $5.00. Add 2c postage for each box ordered. Send money orders made payable Mark Halsey Drug Store. Don't send cash. Checks not accepted.—Adv.

Confidence From Bankers

SOUTH PLAINS bankers, meeting in Brownfield Monday, were practically a unit in reporting that farmers of the area had paid back debts contracted in the "boom" days of the late 20's in greater proportion than any other group of people.

Farmers, as a class, it was stated by several speakers and concurred in by many others, have paid of a greater proportion of "boom time" debts than any other group—debts contracted at the peak or near peak of business activity several years ago.

When these statements were made by such men as J. Edd McLaughlin of Ralls and W. B. Lee of Spur, there was a general nodding of heads on the part of the bankers in the audience.

Champ Clark, vice-president of the First National bank of Fort Worth and Bill Pier, holding a similar post with the Fort Worth National bank, were observed to look a little surprised. They had not expected quite such a record from this area, even though they were aware of the general situation here.

The bankers, as a whole, expressed the belief that the agricultural and business foundations of this area are better and more sound than many people generally believed. In many sections of the territory there has been almost enough moisture to plant on; in other parts some planting has taken place. Pastures are beginning to green up, cattle will soon be taken off feed and sent to graze; damage from wind erosion to fields has not been as great as had been expected and on the whole a firmer tone appears in agriculture.

"Editor Seldon says Dickens is one of the livest towns in the country and the prospects are that within a year the possibilities are that Dickens will become a railroad town."

"Hines is a substantial man and has rather broad experience in the handling of money and in road matters," Homer Steen says in the Floyd County Hesperian. "His appointment is said to meet general approval in the northwestern part of the state."

"It is possible that my aunt made better doughnuts than my mother." Douglas Meador confesses in the Matador Tribune, "but they never tasted as good, because she always placed them on the table and told me to help myself."

"Some of these radio broadcasters that obligingly tell you the time either carry a mighty poor watch or should take a day off and have their watches repaired." John A. Price says in the County-Wide News of Littlefield. "We wouldn't go so far as to say that they are never right, but if we did it wouldn't be so far from the truth." (Been listening in, John. Don't set your watch by radio, you might be late).

"We've got a hunch that although the sand continues to hit us square in the eye, that rain is just around the corner." E. F. (Hunt) Huntsucker surmises in the Amherst Argus. "We won't say just what corner, but honestly, we believe it isn't far off." (Just another northwest Texas editor gone tenderfoot).

Accommodating W. R. Scott of the Olton Enterprise reports: "Wedding bells will ring Friday for two of Olton's popular young people, but we are requested not to divulge the names until next week."

"There are two kinds of folks, watchers and doers," H. H. Weimhold observes in the Sudan News.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By George Durno

THE Veterans of Foreign Wars have been behind the Patman bonus bill, which passed the House with such a whoop, single-handedly among the major veterans' organizations. The American Legion sponsored the defeated Vinson bill and took it on the nose.

All things being equal, and all veterans wanting their bonus money, administration wire-pullers figure Senator Pat Harrison's bill will serve as a final basis of compromise. In case you have forgotten, this one would redate the adjusted service certificates so they finally become due in 1938—but may be discounted for cash at banks in the interim.

ACES: At the moment the American Legion leadership appears to be well looxed. They are committed to fight for immediate bonus payment but they backed a losing horse when the measure was up in the House.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, numerically smaller but said to be gaining steadily in membership, are in a key position. They can take credit for the Patman bill, which would pay off at once in greenbacks, and therefore they and their Congressional allies are preparing to dictate the terms of any compromise between House, Senate and White House.

Most of it presumably has been worked out already or Senator Harrison would not have put in his alternative bill. Harrison saw President Roosevelt a dozen times on the bonus question before putting anything on paper.

ALIBIS: The greatest protection a President has is his high office. Disgruntled members of Congress may storm up to the White House door as full of cross-questioning as a district attorney but if the President says he is not fully conversant with the situation, that neatly ends it.

Witness the bank reform bill, written by Federal Reserve Governor Marriner Eccles and bitterly opposed by Senator Carter Glass, of Va., father of the Federal Reserve Act, and important banking interests. There was a mix-up as to whether or not the White House was willing to have the bill split in two, with Congress passing the non-controversial part immediately and holding the score subjects for future debate.

Half a dozen stories circulated around Capitol Hill, all reputedly on the highest of authority, as to what should be done. They indicated that the President was willing to have the bill divided, and they equally indicated he was most opposed to such action.

WINNER: When Senator Glass at last went to the White House he was told by Mr. Roosevelt that the latter had not yet read the bill. The Senator said he earlier had been told there were no White House objections to splitting the bank bill if Rep. Henry B. Steagall of Ala., chairman of the House Banking and Currency committee, consented.

And there has been the rub. Steagall won't consent to a division of the bill. Two administration Senators have told diametrically opposite stories as to what the White House really wants. Glass cannot pin the President down to cold facts because the President says he has not read the bill.

It would be a good bet that the bank reform bill, as it passes the House, will measure fairly well up to administration desires.

CONFLICTS: "The Senate is trying to put one over on us," said a House leader. "It's stalling on NRA. It's putting in the bonus bill and waiting to put forward the security and banking bills ahead of NRA. If that game isn't checked you will see the House compelled to take up NRA first. That means that the House will attract all the dead cats from industry and labor, and then the Senate will pick our work to pieces and get credit for a 'perfected bill.' It's the old Senate game. See what they did to us on the work-relief resolution."

And yet, whenever the Senate originates any bill squibbing at raising or spending money the House promptly objects and insists upon acting first.

QUANDARY: There is one member of the present Congress who has no bread-and-salt inhibitions about the White House. That one is Mrs. Isabella Greenway, of Arizona. As a bridesmaid to Mrs. Roosevelt, Mrs. Greenway is a welcome visitor at the Executive Mansion at all times. She and the First Lady met as school girls at a fashionable New York finishing school.

So Mrs. Greenway frequently takes breakfast, dinner and luncheon at the White House—and then goes up to Capitol Hill and votes the way her independent spirit dictates. Witness her vote on the bonus (although it must be remembered Arizona is a very strong veterans' state).

But this charming, vivacious lady does not find the life of a Congresswoman all beer and skittles. In fact, she is a bit fed up and has not yet decided whether she would like to return. She has found that some of the duties of the national legislature are not compatible with a lady's conscience.

HELPFUL: Governors of states are casually dropping into Washington just to see the cherry blossoms and incidentally to ask for a few millions for work-relief. Every state can present a list of public works, including federal projects, that cries aloud for Treasury succor.

The Governors don't care whether the money is used for federal projects or work-relief, so long as it's spent in their bailiwicks. All grade-crossing work is to be at Uncle Sam's expense, according to the Governors. It's a poor Governor, too, who can't offer an ideal bunch of sites for rural-industry villages.

NOTES: Senator Bankhead, sponsor of the bill to furnish land and equipment to indigent farmers, says "the sky and the cellar are the limits." . . . Consumers are asking for an annex on the new American Retail federation, to help hold down the cost of living. . . . A special Senate committee on aviation is proposed.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

NEW YORK experts say that the pound sterling—if left to itself—would drop to a level between $4.20 and $4.50. They figure it remains in the neighborhood of $4.80 only because of artificial stimulation. A fresh flight of capital from the continent of Europe to London is rated only a minor reason for its continued strength.

Insiders convinced that the Bank of England (which is virtually a department of the government) and the U. S. Treasury are cooperating unofficially but effectively to maintain de facto stability. This despite potent pressure from the London Chamber of Commerce and British commercial interests for a cheaper pound. They point out that rapid fluctuations in sterling might have serious political repercussions—due to the wide use of sterling by the Dominions and colonies. Therefore the national government has a strong incentive to work with the United States to keep the pound at a high level regardless of protests at home.

Our participation is explained by the fact that we can't afford the deflationary effects of the sinking pound. At the same time it's remarked that both governments have reason to postpone formal stabilization. English industrialists would raise political Ned if they thought it was premature or on unfavorable terms. In our case, official action in the near future would complicate FDR's reelection prospects by rattling the bones of the war debt and bringing a swarm of inflationist hornets down on his head.

TIP-OFF: Wall Street wonders what compound of magic and stubbornness is keeping the remaining gold bloc countries on their vine. Financial observers feel something like the hotel client who stayed awake all night waiting for the one-legged man in the room above to drop his other shoe.

But there's a tip-off worth watching in the prevailing discounts on three-month futures in French and Swiss francs and guilders. These discounts are getting larger. In the past they have been a sure barometer of forthcoming inflationary currency action.

GREAT RICHES

by Mateel Howe Farnham

SYNOPSIS: James Stimson, III, has been jockeyed into asking the wealthy Jane Northrup to marry him while Leslie Harris, the girl he cannot seem to forget, is away for a month. Now James, accustomed to his position as the last of the Stimson men, finds that Jane and her mother have taken charge of him. He tries to rebel when Jane insists on living in a house across the street from her mother, instead of in the old and beautiful Stimson house.

Chapter 22
DEFEAT

"Well then," demanded Jane, "do you think it's fair when my mother is giving up everything and you're getting what she loves best, that I should consider your wishes entirely instead of hers—in one little matter? I want to do what you want of course. But I can't be happy if you force me to hurt Mother so, just at this time."

There seemed nothing for James to say after that but that of course they would live in the Tyler place. But he said it ungraciously. When he kissed Jane goodnight she clung to him with unusual tenderness and whispered shyly in his ear how much she loved him and how happy he had made her.

Jane was not overly given to tenderness or demonstrations—she accepted rather than gave—so James left her with a mingled tumult of emotions. But as he came out from the Northrup's front door and saw the Tyler house looming darkly before him, he glared at it balefully and felt that a thousand mocking eyes behind these hooded staring windows were glaring balefully back.

James and the Tyler house were open enemies from that moment and they never more than barely tolerated each other at any time thereafter.

In the morning the unpleasant task awaited him of breaking the news to his Aunt Sarah. As he expected, she took it badly. She was not only angry—she was bitterly offended and she and James almost quarreled. James naturally defended Jane.

"But wouldn't any girl want to live near her own mother," he argued. "That is any girl who really loved her mother?"

"It seems to me that if your mother could come here from Kentucky and your grandmother all the way from New England that Jane Northrup might be able to live a couple miles from North Fifth and Oak Streets," said Miss Sarah, her voice trembling.

"Well, I know, but Jane is an only daughter and her mother goes around crying because she is leaving home and . . ."

"Indeed?" sniffed the other. "I wonder how Mrs. Northrup managed to live through the three years Jane was East and in Europe?"

But Mrs. Northrup spent most of her summers in the East with Jane.

"And there's nothing to prevent her spending as many hours as she wishes of most of the days in the year with Jane as long as they live in the same town."

"Well, then, this house is pretty big for a young girl to take care of."

"The Tyler house is not small. The trouble with this place is that it is too far away from North New Concord where most of the young people live. Our neighbors aren't very fashionable. We're on the edge of things, and Jane wants to live near the center."

James squirmed in his chair, but said no more. In his heart of hearts he felt the arguments were all on the side of his aunt.

Mr. Northrup was as good as his word. He not only bought the Tyler place at a generous price but had the deed made out in his daughter's name and told her she could go as far as she liked in making it over to please her.

It was a conventional brick house of the type much favored in the eighties when it was built, and Jane spent many radiant weeks in overseeing its alteration.

James went through the house with Jane from cellar to garret. He thought it was hideous, and could manage no more than a grudging, "It isn't so bad."

"I should say it isn't, you ungrateful old bear," Jane laughed. "But wait until I get through with it. Wait until you see my plans."

Jane did not seem to be offended, but neither did she show him the plans nor invite James to inspect the house again until the carpenters and plumbers had finished and the painters and paper hangers were about to move in.

Then she led him proudly to the second floor to show him two shiny new bathrooms—actually two bathrooms, there was a lavatory besides on the ground floor under the stairs. James admired the bathrooms.

He hoped to have one entirely to himself, but Jane explained that one in the front was for her use and that their guests, while he would share the back one with their servant. Oh well. There was a single bathroom in his old home.

Jane had not been able to change the shape of the rooms as she wished but she had added a bay window to the back parlor and had nearly all the doors on the lower floor torn out and enlarged into open passageways, flanked on either side by solid oak pillars.

"I like a house to open up grandly and give an air of spaciousness," Jane pointed out. "It will be so nice when we are entertaining." She waited for compliments.

James thought that an entire downstairs that could be seen at a glance looked like a hotel. He said bluntly, "When I go in a room I like to be able to close the door behind me, lock it when I want to."

"That's rather old-fashioned, isn't it?"

"Perhaps I'm old-fashioned."

"Perhaps you are. I'll have to educate you out of it. Anyway, you'll have the library. I've planned to make that your special den. You can lock yourself in there as often as you please."

Two Are Injured When Glass Falls

Two persons, a man and a woman who were sitting on a divan, were injured soon before 11 o'clock yesterday morning when glass from the corner of a panel in the skylight of Hilton hotel lobby struck them.

They were James W. Roberts of Hub tourist camp, who suffered severe lacerations of the nose and right wrist, and Mrs. S. E. Arnold, who lived at the hotel, who suffered a deep laceration of the scalp. Several arteries were severed and she bled profusely. She was stunned momentarily.

Roberts is a brother of Constable J. C. Roberts.

The injured persons were taken to West Texas hospital in a Sanders ambulance and dismissed after treatment.

The glass broke when struck by a pair of plier that had fallen accidentally from a pocket of a mechanic at the hotel, Manager L. M. Drown said.

Highway 9 Work Nears Completion

LAMESA, April 23. (Special) — Laying of the last course of caliche in state highway 9 south of Lamesa in Dawson county will be finished this week, the county relief office reported.

Crews then will be ready to start improvement of state highway 83 west of here.

Completion of work on highway 9 marked conclusion of base work on the thoroughfare all the way across the county. Asphalt probably will be applied as topping.

Slaton Band Is Rapidly Nearing Concert Ability

SLATON, April 23. (Special) — The State Department of Education, at Austin, has granted Slaton High school affiliation in two units of band work, according to Superintendent David Lemon.

When Director Clyde Rowe started with the band last October only one boy could play an instrument. Now he has a group of 67 members approaching concert ability. He is taking the band to Abilene Friday for an annual and plans entering it in the Lubbock meet, May 3 and 4. The Chamber of Commerce plans to take the band to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention May 13, 14 and 15. Forty-two uniforms are being made at Abilene.

Chinese government finances are reported to be improving.

Best Citizens In School Are Named

SLATON, April 23. (Special) — Miss Katrina Brewer, a senior in Slaton High school, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Brewer, has been declared the best girl citizen in the school. W. A. Appling, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Appling, has been elected the best boy citizen. The Applings reside three miles east of town.

Miss Brewer has been an outstanding student the entire four years she has been in high school. She has always taken an active part in all student activities. For the past two years she was a leader of the high school pep squad, has been on the cast of the one-act play, and a member of the staff of the high school paper. She has always ranked first in her class, and is therefore one of the leading candidates for valedictory honors of the senior class this year. In addition to her regular school and extra curricula work, she has served as office assistant to the superintendent, as well as working in her father's insurance office after school.

Appling is vice-president of the Hi-Y club, editor-in-chief of the school paper, and a member of the boys' debate team.

TARZAN AND THE LION MAN, No. 9

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

A pall of gloom, heavy as the chill morning mist, hung over the members of the safari when Orman announced that he was determined to go on. It was broken by Gordon Z. Marcus, who was cast to play Naomi's father in the picture. "Let us eat, drink and be merry; for tomorrow we die," he misquoted cheerily.

"We may not have to wait for tomorrow," Obroski said huskily; "some of us may get it today!" "Can that line of chatter!" Orman snapped. "If you're scared, keep it to yourself." Naomi, too, turned frightened eyes on the director. Anticipating her plea to turn back, he exclaimed: "Now don't you start it too!"

Soon the safari prepared to move. As Rhonda and Naomi gathered up their luggage, Gordon Z. Marcus stowed a make-up case in the front of their car. "Where's Bill?" asked Rhonda; "isn't he riding with us today?" "No, he's going with the camera truck," the driver explained. "That's funny," she commented uneasily.

It suddenly occurred to her that Bill West was avoiding her, and she wondered why. Rhonda tried in vain to recall any offense she might have committed. She felt strangely troubled, and her sadness blotted out for a time all thoughts of the dangers ahead. But she recalled them as Orman shouted, "Let's go!"

THE WINDMILL

In the purchase of farm equipment the Windmill will show greater financial returns from the investment than any other piece of machinery.

Without water all life, both vegetable and animal, would cease to exist.

Since time immemorial humanity has been devising methods of supplying this elixir of life. So far the pump is the most practical, the Windmill furnishing the power.

The Windmill utilizes the power from the wind, which costs nothing. Hence, if the Windmill is strong and substantial and the lubrication good, long life will be assured.

In the development of this kind of a Windmill, the Dempster Mill Mfg. Co., has applied the Self-Oiling Feature to all of the different type, and in using a well-known type of Roller Bearing on the Back-geared Windmills.

A Productive farm, with fine improvements, is not complete without a windmill to add grace and beauty to the landscape and supply fresh, pure water to whoever needs it.

Miss Edna Peterson, secretary of the state Board of Hairdressers and Beauty Culturists of New Mexico, spoke on "The Benefits of Legislation to New Mexico Shop Owners" Tuesday evening.

Mr. Parker spoke on hair styles to suit the individual Tuesday evening. That afternoon he demonstrated reconditioning of hair with oil, which may be applied before a permanent is given without lessening strength of fluids used in permanent waving. Mr. Scoggins and Professor Harvey appeared several times on Tuesday's program. William B. Tubbs of Hollywood gave a permanent waving demonstration.

The day also included other lectures and demonstrations by manufacturers and other exhibitors.

R. L. Stephenson, who is in charge of the program, predicted registration today would increase the three-day total to 1,000.

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, April 23. (AP)—The silver-mining shares and some rails and specialties seized the leadership in another active stock market session today.

While the run of market leaders, which have figured prominently in the recent rise, appeared content to coast along, silver stocks, aided by the advance of 2 1-4 cents an ounce in the price of the bar metal, not far from the new official treasury buying price of 71.11 cents an ounce, found plenty of takers at gains of fractions to 3 points or so.

Rails felt the buying incentive created by individual earnings reports for the latest week many of which appeared today and indicated a healthy advance over the previous week.

Today's stock exchange business was again the best in over two months, with aggregate turnover of 1,226,080 shares.

The selective nature of the day's buying movement, however, is indicated by the fact that stocks advanced only 2 of a point, as measured by the Associated Press average for 60 equities, to 40.0. The 30 industrials used in the compilation were off .2 of a point at 55.4.

The securities mart was accepted calmly a poor day in the commodities. Wheat at Chicago was a weak spot, with a decline of 2 1-2 to 3 1-4 cents a bushel, and corn, moving sympathetically, lost 1 1-2 to 2 1-2 cents. Reports of rains in the wheat belt appeared to have brought out liquidation.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, April 23. (AP)—Occasional flurries of buying and selling failed to disturb cotton futures today and the market turned in an extremely placid performance.

After holding within a 12-point range for the entire session active positions ended from 6 to 7 points lower.

For the first time in many weeks the market appears to be dominated by the outlook for the new crop.

Taking the belt as a whole only irregular process has been made with the seeding of the new yield. The west still indicates that it needs more rain, the east reports too much, while little progress has been made in planting in the north central portions.

Aside from the implications of the weather, practically the only price factor in today's session was further liquidation of the May contract in preparation for first notice day on Thursday.

Cables from abroad reported an idle market, with prices loath to follow the advance established in Friday's session here.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, April 23. (AP)—Cotton was lower today under near month liquidation and scattered selling. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 4 to 8 points.

Relatively easy Liverpool cables brought in some selling at the start which was absorbed by trade buying and covering and some buying through houses with foreign connections, but prices worked gradually lower after the first half hour.

The weakness of grain evidently brought in some selling for the western account. Near month liquidation also continued and there was some selling from New Orleans and southern sources. After showing net losses of 8 to 13 points the market stiffened up on increased trade buying.

May liquidation and switching into later months was one of the chief trading features of the day, but there was considerable buying of May against sales of July toward the close.

whose terms, originally scheduled to end April 13, were extended so as to keep the total number of men under arms up to the minimum considered essential for safety.

Many Know Discipline

It was pointed out that thousands of the youngsters are no strangers to discipline since they have been drilled in France's semi-military political organizations.

Others, however, are university graduates who will get their first taste of military life, while still others have been working.

Markets At A Glance

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK—
STOCKS firm; metals and rails lead advance.
BONDS improved; carriers edge forward.
CURB steady; utilities and specialties higher.
FOREIGN EXCHANGES irregular; silver currencies strong.
COTTON steady; May Liquidation.
SUGAR steady; commission house buying.
COFFEE barely steady; disappointing Brazilian markets.
CHICAGO—
WHEAT weak; rain prospects.
CORN weak with wheat.
CATTLE mostly steady; top $14.50.
HOGS steady; top $9.25.

Livestock

KANSAS CITY REPORT

KANSAS CITY, April 23. (AP)—Approximately 33,000 cattle received at 11 markets today compared with 27,952 last Tuesday and 38,851 the corresponding day a year ago. Better grade beef cows, good choice heifers taken at firm levels while some weakness was reported on others. Choice 1468 lb. western fed steers made 14.75 at Chicago, the best price recorded, while at Omaha choice 1097 lb. yearling steers reached 13.75 and 480 lb. stock calves 8.65. At river markets several cars of common to medium South Texas grass steers ranged from $10@9.50.

Around 41,000 hogs offered. Fresh pork is moving slowly at present prices and the supply seems adequate. Best light butchers at Chicago secured 9.25.

Most centers reported little change in fed lamb prices although at Omaha unevenly 10 to 20 lower prices were paid. Other classes went unchanged. At Chicago top wooled skins brought 8.60 and best clips 7.60.

The Iran Press reported the heaviest damage was done at Suleda, where many buildings were destroyed and most of the populace left homeless.

Quakes felt there were both violent and of exceptionally long duration, these reports said.

Earthquake Rocks Town On Tip Of Cape Cod

PROVINCETOWN, April 23. (AP)—An earthquake rocked this town on the tip of Cape Cod tonight, shaking houses, rattling dishes, and terrifying the inhabitants.

The quake, which was felt for miles along the narrow tip of the cape, occurred at 8:24 p. m. (est), according to records of the Harvard university seismograph station at Harvard, Mass.

Until the university records established that the shock was an earthquake, residents of the town believed there had been a tremendous explosion.

Tentative Identity Is Established

TUCSON, Ariz. April 23. (AP) — The two persons killed in a plane crash near Fort Hancock, Texas, today were believed here to be Carl Frederick Denkman, 25, and his wife, of Cascobel, Ariz. The Denkmans, flying a red ship, left the Tucson airport at 4 p. m. for El Paso.

Grains

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, April 23. (AP) — A break of three cents tumbled wheat prices below the dollar a bushel level today and caused a sharp recession in the prices of other grain futures.

The drop in wheat values, coming near the close of the trading session, was the result of a wave of bearishness that enveloped speculators and caused pronounced liquidation as the downward trend broadened.

Wheat closed 2 5-8 to 3 1-4 cents below yesterday's finish, May 99@99 1-8, and corn dropped 1 1-2 to 2 1-2 cents. Oats lost 1 1-8 to 1 3-4, rye 1 3-4 to 2, and barley was unchanged to 1 cent off. The market was carried back to the approximate level of ten days ago.

The weather map showed traces of moisture in the southwestern dry territory but commentators asserted wheat there was virtually beyond recovery.

Corn and oats followed wheat. The corn pit was full of liquidating orders and shy of buying power. Provisions eased stubbornly with grains.

"He's young and might outgrow it and again it might prey on his mind forever," said Darden. "His future is before him and I hope he will get over it."

Plays With Companions

Jackie Glenn played with companion in the yard of his home and occasionally walked into the house to stand beside his mother's casket. He was willing to pose for photographers but a friend of the family refused to allow pictures to be made.

Relatives said Jackie Glenn often had walked in his sleep. They recalled one instance in which he left his home and walked several hundred yards to his grandmother's home, where he crawled in bed and went to sleep.

party registered at the same hotel and said she "understood" that "an oil company registered the whole party." The four returned the day Brown and Virgil Stalcup escaped at Dickens, it was said. Stalcup has been convicted of murder of Sheriff Arthur and assessed the death penalty.

The attractive defendant said she procured a revolver for $5 and carried it into the jail here October 14. She said she concealed the weapon beneath one arm.

Gun Trades Related

Ed (Uncle Ed) Glenn, former Snyder resident now living near Houston, testified for the state that he had traded for a pistol which he sold to Mrs. Brown for $5. R. A. Bailey testified he had traded the weapon to Glenn.

Other state witnesses included: Luther Hall, who was in the jail at the time of the escape; Willow Street, Justice of the Peace Green, F. E. Dillon; Misses Creola and Vesta Arthur, daughters of the slain sheriff; District Attorney Daniel A. Blair of Lubbock, Burton S. Burks, assistant district attorney, of Lubbock, and District Attorney Chapman who testified that Mrs. Brown had been convicted of misdemeanor swindling in Dickens county.

In her testimony, Mrs. Brown said she had never been convicted of a felony. Her mother also was a defense witness.

Mrs. Brown's 10-year-old daughter was in the courtroom.

Relief Clients Are Charged In Attack On Administrator

AMARILLO, April 23. (AP)—Two relief clients, G. M. Dudley and E. J. Ellis, today were charged with simple assault in connection with an attack upon A. A. Meredith, Potter county relief administrator.

Meredith was beaten about the head and shoulders by two men when he arrived at relief headquarters this morning. He suffered cuts and bruises but was not injured seriously.

Some of the more than 30 relief clients at the scene of the attack charged that checks due some of the men were being withheld. Relief officials blamed dissatisfaction over distribution of relief funds and work quotas for the trouble. Threats had been received previously, they said.

Chamber Offers Proposal To Colonize East Texas Areas

WASHINGTON, April 23. (AP) — Administration approval of a plan to open East Texas to colonization by destitute families from drouth and dust-stricken areas will be requested next week of Lawrence Westbrook, rural rehabilitation director.

Hubert M. Harrison, president of the East Texas chamber of commerce, advised Senators Sheppard and Connally (D-Tex) and Representative Patman (D-Tex) today he would come to Washington to discuss "recolonization and rehabilitation of farmers who are victims of dust storms of the middlewest."

New Securities Act Signed Tuesday By Governor Allred

AUSTIN, April 23. (AP)—Governor James V. Allred today signed the new securities act which replaces the blue sky securities law. He has regarded it as an important part of legislative program.

The law provides for the registration and licensing of all dealers in securities, and for the revocation of licenses on evidence of fraudulent practices.

Sons Of Nine Presidents Active But Few Are Engaged In Political Game

WASHINGTON, April 23. (AP) — Sons of nine presidents of the United States are active today in business or the law but few men whose fathers sat in the White House are engaged in politics.

The names of one or another of the presidential sons appear in the news from time to time. Six were guests of the famous Gridiron club at its golden jubilee anniversary dinner in Washington recently, recalling the attendance of their fathers at fetes of that organization throughout its 50 years' existence.

One presidential son, Robert A. Taft, challenged the "New Deal" gold policy by filing a suit recently in the supreme court, where his father once was the chief justice after having been president.

Seventy Sons Numbered

Seventy sons were born to the 31 men who have been American presidents. Twenty of those sons are alive today. Their ages range from 71 years, that of Harry Augustus Garfield, president of Williams college, to 19 years, the age of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's youngest son, John, who is attending Harvard university.

The law has been a favorite vocation of presidents' sons. For instance, James R. Garfield, appointed by President Theodore Roosevelt as secretary of the interior, is now practicing law in Cleveland.

Teddy's Son Most Active

The most active in politics is President Theodore Roosevelt's eldest son, Theodore, jr., who has followed in his father's footsteps beginning as assistant secretary of the navy in the Harding and Coolidge administrations. He resigned to run as Republican candidate for governor of New York but was defeated. Since then he has been governor of Puerto Rico and governor-general of the Philippine islands. At present he is active in national Republican affairs, being president of the National Republican club at New York.

Surviving Sons Listed

The present surviving sons of presidents are:

Harry Augustus Garfield, college president, Williamstown, Mass.

James Rudolph Garfield, lawyer, Mentor, Ohio.

Irving McDowell Garfield, lawyer, Boston.

Abram Garfield, architect, Cleveland.

Chester Alan Arthur, New York City.

Richard Folsom Cleveland, lawyer, Baltimore.

Francis Grover Cleveland, lawyer, Belmont, Mass.

Russell Benjamin Harrison, lawyer, Indianapolis.

Theodore Roosevelt, jr., Oyster Bay, N. Y.

Kermit Roosevelt, steamship company official, New York City.

Archibald Bullock Roosevelt, bonds business, New York City.

Robert Alphonso Taft, lawyer, Cincinnati.

Charles Phelps Taft, II., lawyer, Cincinnati.

John Coolidge, railway business, New Haven, Conn.

Herbert Clark Hoover, jr., air transportation official, Sierra Madre, Calif.

Allan Henry Hoover, banking, Bakersfield, Calif.

James Roosevelt, insurance, Boston.

Elliott Roosevelt, air transport official, Leesburg, Va.

Franklin Delano Roosevelt, jr., Harvard student.

John A. Roosevelt, Harvard student.

Senate Votes Bill Designed To Speed Up Criminal Cases

AUSTIN, April 23. (AP) — Joint trials of defendants indicted for the same offense was proposed as a step toward speeding criminal justice in a bill passed by the senate today, 18 to 11, and sent to the house.

It was one of 16 anti-crime bills drafted by a senate crime investigating committee. Others remained on a crowded docket with prospects for action dimmed by the approach of the session end and a legislative jam in the house.

Sponsors of the bill urged it as a vital point in a program designed to make justice more swift and certain. Opposition was based on the contention it would jeopardize the rights and liberties of citizens in criminal cases.

Process Tax Gets Defense

Non-Compromising Attitude Is Sounded In House, Based On Figures Of Administrative Leaders; Incomes Read

WASHINGTON, April 23. (AP)—The house today heard a bristling, no-compromise answer — based on statistics furnished by high administration officials—to those who would do away with the cotton processing taxes.

Bitterly assailing critics of the tax, Rep. Warren (D-NC) said in a speech on the floor that the fight being waged by New England interests against the levy was an attempt to "sabotage" the AAA program "by ripping out its most vital part."

"Drive For Cheap Cotton"

"Stripped of non-essentials," Warren said, the campaign was "a drive for cheap cotton" and he predicted that if it were successful there would be "an uprising of farmers without parallel in this nation's history."

Warren said that Reps. Edith Nourse Rogers (R-Mass), Treadway (R-Mass), Gifford (R-Mass) and Martin (R-Mass) sought to "blame all the ailments of the textile industry" on the processing tax.

Warren contended that Japanese import increases were not attributable to processing taxes since the farm adjustment act levies compensatory duties of imports. He asked how overproduction could be blamed on the processing tax.

Income Figures Cited

Warren, recounted that the income of North Carolina farmers rose from $86,000,000 in 1932 to $216,000,000 in 1934; that the income of all cotton farmers rose from $464,000,000 in 1932 to $862,000,000 in 1933.

"It has not been demonstrated," he continued, "that the processing tax ... is economically unsound nor that it is causing an undue burden either upon the processors or the consumer.

"Therefore, what reasons have we for joining in the revival by lobbyists and special pleaders of these intensive efforts to abandon the program?"

Examining Trial For State Grid Star Is Set Forward

DALLAS, April 23. (AP)—The examining trial for Michael Collie, 21, former high school and University of Texas football player, on an assault to murder charge was passed until Thursday when called today by Justice of the peace E. John Baldwin.

The delay was caused by failure of the state to have witnesses subpoenaed in the belief Collie was still in the hospital.

Collie was shot in the chest by Policeman H. C. Leach early last Friday, allegedly after he had attacked the officer and attempted to flee when arrested on suspicion.

Acclaim Given Boris For Act

In Purging Government Of Its Military Expression, King Is Rewarded By Confidence; His Action Is Swift

SOFIA, Bulgaria, April 23. (AP) — King Boris was acclaimed by loyal subjects today for having saved the country from revolution by firm exercise of his royal prerogatives.

The full story of how the 41-year-old monarch, abetted by his spinster sister, Princess Eudaxia, stepped into a dictator's role to banish the influence of the military clique which dominated the government has only gradually become known.

The king's subjects learned that Boris held defiant military leaders prisoner in the palace while he went about the business of selecting a cabinet according to his own ideas.

Government Purged

The government he chose, headed by the aged diplomat and historian, Andrea Toscheff, was purged for the most part of the army influence, which characterized his previous cabinets.

King Boris was said to have learned only at the last minute that extremist officers of the military league had planned a coup after becoming convinced their sovereign was determined to establish a civil and constitutional government.

Announcement Is Blunt

Acting with swift determination, the king summoned ringleaders of the projected rebellion to the palace where he bluntly informed them of his intentions and then ordered them imprisoned in the throne room under guard of 200 loyal military students with drawn bayonets.

While the country calmly celebrated Easter Sunday, ignorant of the dramatic events taking place, Boris set up a ministry loyal to him and then ordered that a new constitution be prepared to stabilize Bulgaria's governmental affairs.

Throughout the crisis, Princess Eudaxia was said to have encouraged her brother "not to waver" and to rest assured that "the people are on our side and Bulgaria and the world will applaud you."

Taking Of Testimony In Orr Slaying Trial Is Started

KERRVILLE, April 23. (AP)—The twelfth juror was selected here today for the trial of Will S. Orr, charged with slaying Monroe Wells last October, and the taking of testimony began.

John Henderson, the first witness called by the state, told of threats having been made against Wells by the defendant. He said Orr told him that if Wells did not stay away from his place he would have to kill him.

TEXAS FIRMS CITED

WASHINGTON, April 23. Everything that Science really knows about making cigarettes is used in making CHESTERFIELDS

LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

The cigarette industry could never have been what it is except for these modern cigarette machines ...

They make good cigarettes and smokers know each individual cigarette receives the most careful inspection.

You'd hardly believe such attention to detail possible unless you could see it with your own eyes.

When the Chesterfield tobacco comes to the cigarette making machines it has been blended and cross-blended.

Then it is cut into long even shreds just the right size to smoke right and burn right.

Every Chesterfield Cigarette has to be perfectly made to get by our inspectors.

Until you open the package yourself the cigarettes are scarcely touched by human hands.

Mild ripe tobaccos, skilled workers and the most modern up-to-date machinery all help to make Chesterfield the cigarette that's milder, the cigarette that tastes better.

tum gloomily. At least it had a fireplace and had had a black marble mantel. Now that was gone and in its stead stood a horror in elaborately carved oak with little fretted balconies which reached to the ceiling. It stood back to back with its twin in the entrance hall. Between them was a square opening with its top and sides lined with mirrors. The opening destroyed the last vestiges of possible privacy in the library.

"What's the idea of that hole," James asked.

"Isn't it pretty? That's my idea entirely. I mean to keep fresh flowers there. They'll be reflected in the three mirrors."

It seemed so awful to James that he laughed.
