

School Trustees Adopt Long Range Plan Of Work

BY AMY TURNER

A board on the move was the feeling in the air at Olton's school board meeting Tuesday afternoon when school trustees adopted a progressive, long range plan of work for the schools.

The eight-page plan, including foreword, introduction and conclusion will be sent to local patrons in the near future.

Part of the plan is to circulate periodic bulletins or news letters showing the degree of achievement, school assets and plans and needs of the schools.

Stress will be laid on continuous improvement for all school personnel, including teaching and non-professional staff. This will include attendance at conferences and short courses.

Recruiting the best personnel to fill vacancies is emphasized in the program.

Curriculum improvement came in for considerable discussion by board members.

Though no definite plans were made, it was considered possible that one or more Latin American teachers might be employed for the elementary school at some future date.

It was pointed out that 44 percent of the elementary school is now Latin American. In junior high, 28 percent are Latin and in high school, the figure drops to eight percent.

Plans are also being made to improve the pre-school program for Latin-Americans.

Discussion, at one point, centered around the possibility of grouping non-English speaking students until they are better able to cope with the language.

The suggestion was also made that it might be a good idea to teach Spanish in the elementary school.

The new plan also calls for adding accelerated classes for the academically talented.

Several suggestions were made as to how this might be accomplished.

Special provisions could be made in classrooms as they are now, students could be grouped or special classes could be added.

The board plans to develop the guidance program in an effort to identify all exceptional children and further determine aptitudes and abilities of all children.

The plan calls for a continuous achievement record on all students in order that each child may reach his or her maximum.

The possibilities of more vocational courses and possibly part-time work programs were also discussed by the group.

The plan notes that, after additional study and research, these might need to be introduced at a grade level below the high school. It was felt by some members that such courses might help cut down dropouts in school.

Broadening of fields of study in the agriculture department is being considered, in an effort to direct students along lines other than livestock production.

It was suggested that some students might benefit from actually farming a plot of land.

The plan also calls for improvements at Bohner School in the library and science classes, along with landscaping improvements there.

The board emphasized that the complete program, which covers practically all aspects of the school, is a guide. No definite dates were set for any of the goals.

EVER HEAR a rumor that you hope isn't true?

This particular one is like others. It's grown a little since I first heard it.

Word is being around that an effort is being made to tie city politics in with the school election.

The grapevine has it that there is a bloc vote that can be headed in the direction of those candidates who are on the "right" side.

This bloc, I've heard, numbers about 150. The second or third time I heard it, the bloc had grown to 175.

WE'VE HEARD one candidate for the school trustee election has been approached. He was told that he might pick up 150 (or maybe it was 175) votes if he stood "right."

What is being shoved off as "right" is sort of hazy to me. I don't think any of the school candidates would buy such a pitch.

Like I said, I hope the rumor that 150 to 175 votes are in somebody's hip pocket isn't true.

THIS isn't Chicago or New York City, and it's kind of hard for me to believe that 150 to 175 Olton votes are owned by any particular person, or group. We have elections for only one reason. That is to let ALL the people make their choices. I'm just hard-headed enough to believe that everybody ought to vote the way he pleases, whether he agrees with me or not.

If such a bloc vote does exist, there is only one way for the true will of all the people to be voiced.

That is for all of the eligible voters to vote. A good turnout of free people making free choices would make any such bloc's influence negligible.

SIX IN RACE

Dickenson Files In School Vote

Bill Dickenson Jr., Olton farmer and auctioneer, announced this week as a candidate for the school board election, making a total of six candidates for the three posts to be voted on. Deadline for filing in the election is today.

The three incumbents, Gilbert Roberson, Ed Thompson and Owen Jones, will seek re-election.

George Caddell and Glen Phillips announced earlier for spots on the board.

In the city election, four candidates are vying for the two council spots and two are running for mayor.

Candidates for councilmen are Bill Kemp, Russell Rucker, G. A. Bodkin and F. Hollingsworth.

In the mayor's race are Bill Thomas and Gene Wilson. Kenneth Campbell filed Saturday and later withdrew the same day. Filing deadline was Saturday.

The city election is scheduled April 2 and the school board election, April 6.

Band Students Get Top Honors

Olton High School band students received eleven ratings, six II ratings and one III rating at the Interscholastic League Solo and Ensemble Contest held Saturday in Levelland at South Plains Junior College.

Junior High band students took five I ratings and five II ratings in the junior high division.

Collision Kills Fred Bass Sr., Four Injured

A car-pickup accident near here Saturday afternoon about 2:40 took the life of Fred L. Bass Sr., 59, of Olton and injured Mr. and Mrs. Ershel Johnson, Route 4, Olton, and their two children, Cynthia, 7, and Steve, 5.

The accident occurred about five miles east and two north of Olton at the intersection of two dirt roads.

Bass, traveling east, was driving a 1956 Ford sedan. Johnson's 1962 Chevrolet pickup was traveling south.

The injured were taken to Plainview Hospital and Clinic by an ambulance from Parsons Funeral Home. Johnson and the two children were treated for lacerations. Mrs. Johnson, who received a deep cut on her forehead, remained in the hospital Wednesday.

Bass was dead on arrival at Community Clinic here.

Funeral services for Bass were held Monday at 2 p.m. in the First Baptist Church in Plainview.

The Rev. Bob White of Burkburnett and the Rev. Buddy Burns, pastor of the Valley View Baptist Church, officiated. Burial was in Resthaven, Lubbock, under direction of Parsons Funeral Home.

Bass had resided on his farm east of Olton the past 14 years. He was a native of Fannin County, born Aug. 8, 1903.

Survivors include the wife; a son, Fred L. Bass, Jr., Hart, two daughters, Mrs. Doug G. Sopher, Olton; Mrs. Barney Campbell, Kress; a brother, Edgar Bass, Enoch; two sisters, Mrs. Sybil Millam, Denver City; and Mrs. Mona Calloway, Dallas; four grandchildren; and one great-grandchild.

Pallbearers were Bob Du-

"There, but for the grace of God, go I..."

YOUR NAME IS Ivan Popovich. You are 41. You live in Moscow, three miles from the Kremlin's imposing gray walls, with you blond wife, Nina, a daughter, 14, and a son, 11.

Home is a Government apartment building. You live on the third of six floors. There is no elevator. When you applied to the state housing authority three factors gave you reasonable priority: Communist Party membership, essential factory work and status as a veteran of the fighting at Stalingrad—now known by another name. You only waited four years to get in.

You claim the first available apartment sight unseen. It had to be an improvement over the old house in which you, Nina, the children, your parents, a sister and a married brother with family, all had lived. Nina was wondrously happy to have a place of her own. She wasn't even discouraged by sharing bathroom and kitchen facilities with the Khoriv family next door.

YOU WERE trained in a state school for a fairly advanced job in a state-owned factory. You walk 4 1/2 miles to work each day. You get paid a little extra for exceeding the normal production quota, the scant attention is paid to the quality of your work. You love your country...but wouldn't life be a little easier if you hadn't exceeded the quota that first time? You push the thought away.

Nina has a job in the same factory. Your combined income is 1,200 rubles per year --$1,320 U.S. dollars. You work 95 days to pay for a 12-inch TV set, 21 days for a man's dress suit, 13 days for a pair of work shoes, 15 days for a dress for Nina, 12 days to pay the rent.

The TV set represents a dream. Should you save for it or get a bicycle (30 days' work) so the family will have transportation? You aren't accustomed to making decisions...The truth is, you've saved nothing toward either. There is always the need for potatoes, bread and butter, cabbages, cheese and the sausages Nina so expertly stirs into a thick hot soup.

You work 290 days a year with Sundays and some holidays off--the some of your "free" time is claimed for Party rallies or parades. You spent last year's vacation, in October, at a crowded rest camp operated by the Government. You hope the Government will assign your vacation to a summer month this year.

YOU DON'T consider changing jobs or moving. Too much red tape. Party approval, internal passport rules, housing. You've established a routine in which you find the comfort of familiarity. There's not enough incentive to brave the unknown rigors of change. Moving to another job, another location is a decision that belongs to the Party—not you.

On Sunday, you may walk in small parks or hold sidewalk chats with friends. You don't entertain much. Hospitality costs money...and might inconvenience the Khoriv's. If they complained, it would be up to you to prove your innocence rather than the state to prove your guilt. This Sunday you'll make the long walk to Red Square with the children. They love to feed breadcrumbs to the birds. You could visit Lenin's tomb, but then you remember the last visit...Little Nikolai, in his piping voice, had asked loudly why Marshal Stalin didn't live there anymore. A burly guard had frowned darkly. You are held strictly accountable to the Party for the behavior of your children.

Nikolai and Anna are doing well at the state school, as they must if permitted to continue. Nikolai must stop school soon for two years. There is a shortage of workers for manual labor and shop work, because of the pressure for more mass education, so he must take his turn at these tasks.

IN RED SQUARE you see evidence of the state's power everywhere; uniformed soldiers, slogans, state construction projects, people having their travel permits checked. The signboards might look funny to an American...“Eat Bread”...“Drink Milk”...No brand names, no trademarks. But you don't think them peculiar. It all seems quite natural to you.

As you walk, Nina hints the family should attend one of the “approved” Churches that has recognized the “right” of the Party to lead and dominate. But knowing the Party doesn't admit the presence of God, you don't respond to her timid suggestion. Nor would you vote against the Communist Party, Oh, you could. You could walk over to the opposition booth, under the baleful eye of your Party leader! Of course, you'd lose your job...the children's right to school...your apartment. And that might be just the beginning. So on election day you'll shuffle into an “approved” booth where only unopposed Communist candidates appear on the ballot.

You leave Red Square early. Tonight you'll hear a lengthy lecture: Of U.S. “aggressions” in Cuba, West Berlin, the Congo...of a racial incident at a State university in America. Someone will read from Marx and Lenin. The wearing your warmest clothes, you'll shiver in the unheated Party hall.

SHOULD YOU volunteer to take on extra work for the Party? You furrow your brow in thought. You're tired...you “volunteered” at the last meeting. But you might be tapped for extra work, anyway. And it looks better on the record to volunteer.

The Kremlin guards don't frighten you so much anymore. The N.K.V.D. secret police don't come around so often now that Beria is...gone. Life is a little better than under Stalin; slightly higher wages, less rationing of food, a few more goods for the consumer. Even a bit more freedom in speech and literature. Boris Pasternak, of course...well, he must have gone too far, you reason. It really isn't for you to question.

Where could life be better? you ask. Surely the decadent capitalists exaggerate in claiming that most Americans own cars, homes, electrical appliances...lie in saying U. S. family incomes average almost $6,000 annually. No sick society could produce such abundance. Didn't Lenin say capitalism was doomed? Still, there has been so much talk. You wonder briefly, then turn the thought aside, reproaching yourself.

Nikolai and Anna skip down the street in heavy woolen coats, nimble with the nameless, universal joy of childhood. You hear Nina's boots scuff against the snow as you pass under a large poster of Lenin and Khrushchev. Lights wink on in the Kremlin, where powerful men of mystery make decisions about taxes...war...peace...life...death. When they are gone others will take their place. You won't be consulted about it. You don't even pause to consider whether you should be.

Night is coming and with it the cold. You pull up the collar of your thick coat and you, Ivan Popovich, 41, a citizen of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, start the long walk home....

Signup In Feed Grain Program Told

As of today, 500 farms in Lamb County have been signed up for participation in the 1963 feed grain program. County farms eligible to be included in the program total 2257. "Eligible" farms are those which grew one or more of the three feed grains--- corn, grain sorghum, or barley---during the program's base years 1959 and 1960.

Feed grain acreage signed up for diversion through the program now totals 17,495 acres. Feed grain base acreages for these participating farms amount to 63,150 acres.

Based upon farmers' intentions, as recorded at the ASCS County Office, these producers will earn an estimated $268,659.80 for participating in the feed grain program this year.

Under the program, a grower who reduces his feed grain acreage (of corn, grain sorghum, or barley) by at least 20 percent of his farm's total base acreage (1959-1960 average) will get a diversion payment---for shifting the acreage from production to a conserving use, and a price-support payment---on the normal production of the 1963 feed grain planted acreage. He will also qualify for regular price-support loans and purchase agreements on all the corn, grain sorghum, and barley produced on the farm's 1963 planted acreage.

The signup period extends through March 22.

Meet Planned By Methodists

OUT COSTS

HOUSEKEEPING

With costs continuing to climb, it's wise to examine every area of your budget for possible economies. You may find some expenditures unnecessary... others which could be trimmed by more careful planning. Two good ways to make substantial savings (and actually achieve superior results) are by cooking and drying with Gas!

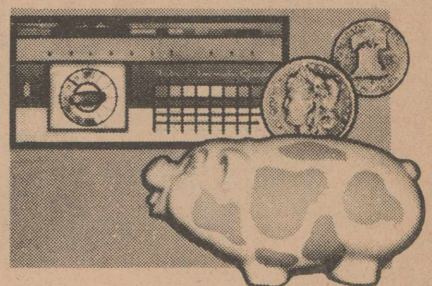

A GOLD STAR RANGE...

costs less to buy, install, operate... eliminates food and fuel waste; thermostatically-controlled burners prevent boil-overs and burning, measure the precise amount of heat for best results... broils and roasts meat with less shrinkage... keeps entire meals savory and serving-ready for hours in the OVEN-WITH-A-BRAIN.

A GAS CLOTHES DRYER...

starts working instantly, shuts off instantly to save you time and fuel... helps clothes last longer... operates nine times more economically than the coil-type kind... saves you as much as $24.72 a year in utility costs!

BY AMY TURNER

UP AND AT 'EM seems to be the national ideal nowadays with all the mania for the 50 mile hike.

I think I'm as patriotic as the next person, but I can't really see walking from here to Lubbock.

In the first place, I'm sure I couldn't find anything there that I can't find in Olton and in the second place, I have tender feet.

Not that I don't think the exercise wouldn't be a good thing. At present, however, I'm still recuperating from my last bout with the physical culture fad.

I read in a magazine somewhere that if you would jump rope for two minutes a day, you'd stay in pretty good shape.

This seemed like a pretty good idea to me. There's not anything very difficult about jumping rope and two minutes is hardly long enough to get to the refrigerator and back during the TV commercials.

Want to know how long two minutes REALLY is? Try standing in front of a clock with a second hand on it and jump rope steadily while that little hand makes its 50 mile round trip around the face.

Come to think of it, it might be easier to walk to Lubbock.

I WAS PRIVILEGED to hear the fine Texas Tech choir several days ago. This is an outstanding vocal group and well worth anyone's time to hear.

It brought another point home, though. The lady sitting next to me echoed my own thoughts when she remarked:

"I wonder if I was ever really that young?" Funny how these kiddos seem to keep getting younger every year.

My daughter, who is nine, finished reading a novel about Lincoln recently and turned to me with a curious expression and asked:

"Tell me how it was in the olden days, Mother....you know, when you were a little girl."

I guess time, like most things, is relative, however. I overheard my two younger children, three and five, discussing their ancient mother recently.

"Is she six?" asked the three-year-old.

"Oh, no," replied the five-year-old.

"She's much older than that. She's at least seven."

That I am.

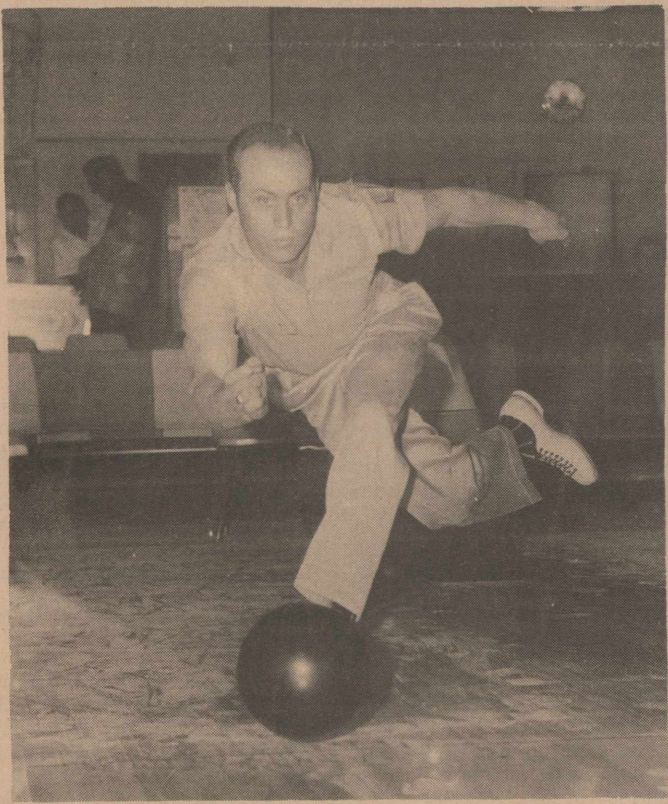

MOST BEAUTIFUL, MOST HANDSOME have been chosen at Olton High School. In answer to all of the requests we have had this week to publish the pictures of these youngsters, the annual staff and sponsor, Mrs. Linnie Campbell, have chosen not to release their names until the annual is distributed this summer.

HINT--Use honey in cookies and coffee cake. It keeps the moisture in and makes the cakes stay fresher.

BEWARE, snow ice cream. At least, that's what they tell us. I understand we mustn't let our kiddos eat snow ice cream anymore because of the 'fallout'.

I was never overly fond of snow ice cream anyway, but I can't help wondering, if it's dangerous to eat the snow, what does this do to our vegetables that grow out of this ground?

QUOTE--"I do not believe in a fate that falls on men however they act; but I do believe in a fate that falls on them unless they act."--G. K. Chesterton.

SINGLES CHAMP-----C. Y. Givens of Olton was singles champion of the Plainview City Association bowling tourney completed last weekend. His top three-game series was a 664.

Your Voice In State Government

BY BILL CLAYTON

One third of the time for the regular session of the Legislature has been completed and there has been over 600 bills introduced in the House and over 300 bills introduced in the Senate with more to come.

The Appropriations Committee of the House, of which I am a member, has completed hearing the budget requests of all of the State Agencies and Institutions. In a short time now the Committee will have the House Appropriations Bill ready for introduction. The Bill will provide for the financial operation of our State Government for the next two years.

I have met with the other four Committees, of which I am a member, The Conservation and Reclamation Committee, The Labor Committee, The Municipal and Private Corporations Committee, and the Public Lands and Building Committee. Many bills have been heard by these Committees. I have been appointed to a sub-committee to further consider four very controversial labor bills. Two pertain to the minimum wage to be paid workers, one pertains to the Texas Fair Employment Act, and one relates to occupational safety. These issues have the backing of organized labor, and it is my hope that none of the bills will ever be brought out of sub-committee because I do not believe that they would be of any real value to the people of Texas, especially our area of the State.

The House has passed four bills that affect a wide area of our population. Number one is a bill that would allow the speed limit to be increased, in areas where the Department of Public Safety thinks it is advisable, from 60 to 70 miles per hour. I helped to sponsor this bill in the House, and the mail I have received from our area indicates that this is a bill that will be welcomed. Number two is the teacher retirement legislation that allows teachers retirement allotment to be based on a 10 year period, and it will increase the amount of retirement pay that retiring teachers will receive, but this will not cost the State any additional money. I supported this legislation in the House. Number three is a bill pertaining to Padre Island. It allows the Federal Government to develop the Island as a National Park, but retains for the State the rights to the minerals, and allows for no further expansion than the land included in the bill. Number four is a referendum that would allow counties to decide whether or not they shall continue to have an office of County Superintendent. This bill makes it mandatory for the counties to provide for a referendum on the bottom of the ballot in the 1964 general election on the proposition to abolish the office.

After listening to the debate and seeing the votes on these and other measures it is apparent that the House will have a conservative vote throughout the session, as had been previously predicted, with the vote varying 10 to 20 votes according to the issue.

Our Committee on Municipal and Private Corporations is considering the very important annexation bill. The Bill protects future growth of cities, as well as giving protection to the areas being annexed. I believe this legislation may well be the answer to the annexation problem that has faced prior legislatures.

Toward the last of this week or the first of next week I will introduce, in the House, a bill that will be controversial, I am sure, but which if passed will provide for a central licensing office for all of the agencies that now license from individual offices. This would bring some 22 agencies into one office, and would result in an approximate saving of over a million dollars to the State each year, by eliminating duplicate offices, personnel and equipment used for the purpose.

Several Congressional Redistricting Bills have been heard in Committee. Some of these would affect our area. Tuesday evening and Tuesday night the "Loan Shark Bill" were heard before Committee, and were sent to a sub-committee for further study.

We have been putting in some long days, but feel like the session is moving along ahead of schedule.

On March 20, principal executives from oil purchasers throughout the nation will come to Austin to testify on the demand for Texas Oil.

Seek Back Tax

Lamb County commissioners have set up plans for a diligent effort to collect delinquent personal property taxes in this county.

At a recent meeting, they voted to investigate the advisability of hiring an attorney to collect such taxes. Motion for the project was made by A. J. Spain, Olton commissioner.

WHICH WILL IT BE?

Hot, for sure... if you have a Gas water heater! Gas replaces hot water as fast as you use it (for one-fifth the cost of the other kind). If you're not getting all the hot water you want when you want it... bring your hot water system up-to-date with a new, super-fast recovery Gas water heater. You'll be in hot water all the time.
