IOWA PARK, Texas, Oct. 8.—Interested crowds viewed various exhibits at the Wichita county fair Thursday.

The judging was completed in the home demonstration building Wednesday and judging was finished in the educational department and the woman's department late Thursday afternoon.

Many visitors from neighboring towns were mingling with the crowd Thursday. Among Wichita Falls visitors were Mayor Walter Nelson Jr., T. J. Waggoner Jr., Milburn Page, Judge Irvin Vogel, and A. E. Kelley.

A throng approaching 10,000 people crowded the fair grounds on the opening night. The formal program opened with numbers from Paul Seeds orchestra, Wichita Falls. George Hodgins, Wichita Falls, was interlocutor in the vaudeville and minstrel entertainment that followed.

Among interesting exhibits in the dairy department was a seven-month-old Jersey bull shown by R. E. Shepherd, Wichita Falls. Mr. Shepherd stated that this calf was given to him by Johnnie Thomas, secretary Retail Credit association, Wichita Falls, when one day old and that he had christened the calf "Johnnie Thomas." The color is dark fawn, and other marks are good. Mr. Shepherd says that he is so pleased with this calf that he hopes to take the blue ribbon in his class.

Rivercrest Exhibits

Charles I. Francis and A. H. Drake, breeders of Guernsey cattle, Wichita Falls, are showing from their Rivercrest farm, on the Seymour road, 10 head of cattle. This is said to be the largest Guernsey herd in Texas, and ranks high in quality. The Rivercrest farm is both a breeding and dairy farm. Two special kinds of milk are offered by this farm. A special baby milk, bottled from mixed milk of a lower butter fat, averaging about four per cent butter fat is prepared especially for babies. The milk offered for regular market averages five per cent butter fat. The herd sire, Master of White Farms, was sired by one of the most famous Guernsey bulls in America, Langwater Africonder, from Hood Guernsey farm, near Boston. A three-year-old cow, Inspiration, was purchased from the Primrose Guernsey farm in Ardmore, Okla.

Oklahoma Constable Defies Criminals With Rocks, What With High Cost Of Firearms

Special to The Record News.

DUNCAN, Okla., Oct. 8.—Ammunition is too expensive and C. M. Wilson, Loco merchant, has advised officers here he does not plan to buy shells despite his appointment by county commissioners this week as constable for Loco.

Advised of his appointment, Wilson gathered a sack of rocks, announcing he would use them in enforcing the law. The next day he was notified of a bank robbery at Ryan and told to be on the lookout for the bandits. He stationed himself on guard with the sack of stones.

"And I could have hit 'em too," asserted the new peace officer. "I'm pretty good. Bullets cost money but rocks are plentiful. I've had a lot of practice and these criminals had better stay out of my district if they don't want to get hurt."

Footprints on Sand Linked With Choir Girl's Death in Murder Trial

State Attempts to Weave Circumstantial Net About Youthful Sweetheart of Sinton Singer

By WILLIAM S. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SINTON, Texas, Oct. 8.—The state today offered a material part of its circumstantial evidence against Newton Yarberry, on trial as the accused slayer of Dorothy Dorcas Symons, whose body was found in a rude grave of seaweed and mud near the Aransas Pass breakwater on Aug. 1.

Two witnesses, Deputy Sheriff Jess Barber and former City Marshal Joe White of Aransas Pass, told of footprints in the sand along Aransas beach leading to, and around, the spot where the 18-year-old choir singer's body was found after she had been missing two days.

White said he trailed the tracks of a man and a woman from a point in Aransas Pass to the seawall and along the beach. He said it appeared that the walkers had sat down as if to change clothing. At that point, he added, the shoe prints disappeared and later he picked up a trail made by a barefoot man.

Blood Found

Those footprints, White said, led first to the edge of the water and every little way were drops of blood.

"I followed the tracks 30 or 40 feet, then they entered the water," White testified. "The tracks returned straight back from the water."

Barber testified that shoes of the dead girl, who disappeared after she had attended choir practice on the night of July 30, compared in size with those found in the sand. He added, over the objection of the defense attorneys, that the male tracks were the same length as those of Yarberry's shoes.

Cross-examination of both witnesses, who brought forth the first important testimony as to the se-

LETTER JOLTS 'AL'S' DEFENSE

Offer to Pay 'Reasonable' Income Tax Aired

CHICAGO, Oct. 8. (UP)—Alphonse Capone's plea that he's just a poor, under-paid clerk instead of a multi-millionaire liquor baron backfired at his income tax fraud trial in federal court today.

Capone, it developed, had hired Lawrence P. Mattingley, Washington, D. C., attorney, to intercede with the department of internal revenue about the income taxes the government claims he should have paid, but didn't.

Lawyer Mattingley, therefore, wrote a letter to the department telling how hard Capone had to work for his $75 weekly salary and offering to pay some income taxes if the department only would be "reasonable" about it.

To the dismay of Capone and his attorneys, District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson introduced the letter in court today. To their further dismay, Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson allowed it to be introduced as evidence. The letter's offer to pay, governmental attorneys hold, is a tacit admission on Capone's part that he is guilty of defrauding Uncle Sam of $215,000 in income taxes, as charged.

As if that wasn't blow enough to Capone's attempts at escaping a possible 32-year prison sentence, the prosecution offered another and

Wives of Employed Men Hit in Job Policy

AUSTIN, Oct. 8. (UP)—State Senator J. J. Loy of Sherman, Texas, tonight declared, in announcing a session of a legislative unemployment committee to meet here Friday, that he favored adoption of a policy of employment for heads of families and single women in preference to married women with employed husbands.

"The governor should take the lead in seeing that is the rule in state positions," said Loy. The rule would reach high in state offices, including the secretary of state, Mrs. Jane Y. McCallum.

Other suggestions will be made at the conference, Loy said.

(AP)—Representative Vernon Lemens of Rainbow said today he would file suit tomorrow in Travis county district court to test the constitutionality of a law passed at the special session of the legislature releasing the penalties and interest on all delinquent taxes if the taxes were paid by Jan. 31, 1932.

Lemens said a statement of facts would be agreed upon with the attorney general and the case would be taken to the supreme court immediately.

The suit will be filed in the name of Moses Jones who will offer to pay his 1929 taxes without paying the penalties and accumulated interest. The suit will be in the form of a mandamus to compel acceptance by the tax collector.

Boulder Dam Project Described As '$7,000,000 Outrage' at A. F. L. Meet

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 8. (AP)—Describing the Boulder dam project as a "$700,000,000 outrage project," representatives of many trades and crafts appeared before the resolutions committee of the American Federation of Labor convention here today and demanded a congressional investigation.

A public hearing of the resolutions committee was called to hear proponents of three resolutions protesting working conditions at the dam project and demanding withholding of further appropriations.

The committee, after hearing reports of allegedly "inhuman" sanitary conditions at the project, decided to await a copy of the contract of Six Companies, Inc., builders, before taking any action on the resolutions.

Delegates testifying before the committee charged Six Companies with lowering the wage scale on the project, refusing to give ex-service men and United States citizens preference in employment and fostering "fearful" conditions among the workers.

J. W. Buzzell, Los Angeles, complainted the secretary of the interior let the Boulder dam project eight days before the Davis bill to regulate wages on government projects went into effect.

"It should be called the Hoover dam," he said, "so that responsibility for it will rest squarely upon the administration."

Relief Measure Uncovers Billion Kept Out Of Circulation

NEW YORK, Oct. 8. (AP)—Bankers tonight completed organization of the $500,000,000 credit corporation recommended by President Hoover as a means of relieving the strain on the country's banks.

The name of the large organization is to be the National Credit corporation. How much of the capital has been subscribed was not announced, but was said the response from the country's banks, which have been asked to participate, had been satisfactory and articles of incorporation would be filed at Dover, Del.

Announcement of the fnial details was made by Mortimer N. Buckner, president of the New York Clearing House and chairman of the organization committee, appointed yesterday by Gov. George L. Harrison of the New York Federal Reserve bank.

The plan has been mailed to 391 clearing house associations throughout the country. These associations will serve as local units in the administration of the corporation's activities.

The corporation is to be authorized to issue up to $3,000,000,000 in debentures to subscribing banks, which are being asked to participate to the extent of two per cent of their net demand and time deposits. Interest on the debentures will be payable only if earned.

Personnel of the directorate and the executive officers will be made public tomorrow.

12 Nominal Shares

The corporation will have a nominal capital of 12 shares of $100 par value each which will be held by an equal number of directors representing the 12 federal reserve districts. The shares will be deposited with the governor of the Federal Reserve bank of New York.

In order to permit the national banks to contribute their shares of the required money, debentures, which have the same legal status as bonds, notes and other evidences of debt, will be issued and sold.

"The project contemplates the establishment of a corporation through the operation of which, banks throughout the country, when necessary, may procure accommodation upon the basis of sound assets which are not legally eligible for rediscount at the federal reserve banks," Mr. Buckner's statement explained. "This does not mean, however, that the banks will have the privilege of applying to the corporation for cash where there is no immediate need."

District Supervisors

The administration details of the plan in each district will be under supervision and control of the director of the National Credit corporation from that district.

The home office of the corporation will be in New York City but its organization here will be comparatively small.

As its main function, the corpora-

Fears New War

Gen. Jan C. Smuts, president of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, predicted in an address Thursday that unless the world abandons armament construction another war, greater than any before, will result.

DISARM OR PAY NEW SLOGAN

New Moratorium Rests Upon Peace Move

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8. (AP)—Drastic European disarmament is the price for which America is holding further relief from the war debts owed by Europe.

It became increasingly clear today that this understanding will be sought by President Hoover in his forthcoming conference with Premier Laval of France.

It also became evident that disarmament and its related subject of a naval holiday will be linked with war debts and the world financial situation as the principal topic of the Hoover-Laval meeting.

French Bankers Coming

World finances formed the basis for the conversations today between Lord Reading, British foreign secretary, and Premier Laval in Paris, where it was stated "we do not know what will happen in the future."

Two high officials of the Bank of France left for the United States. There were predictions they would join the Hoover-Laval discussions.

Second day reactions from the president's discussion of this subject with congressional leaders at Tuesday night's conference also indicated congress is reserving judgment on an extension of the moratorium to see what may be gained in the way of disarmament from Europe.

Bankers for Extension

It is agreed that many bankers, particularly those with foreign investments, are anxious for an extension of the moratorium. It is also true that many financial experts in the government and in congress believe Germany will be in little better condition next July to meet reparations than she was last July when the moratorium was put into effect.

It is also realized that Germany has the right under the Young plan to suspend payments for two years anyway, thus America's statesmen are preparing to get something in return for what appears to be inevitably necessary.

Confederate Vets Ask Increase in Pensions

FORT WORTH, Oct. 8. (AP)—The state legislature will be asked to increase the pensions of Confederate veterans and their widows, it was decided at the closing session today of the Sons of Confederate Veterans, meeting in conjunction with the annual Texas reunion of the old soldiers.

'ARMED PEACE' CALLED BASIS FOR NEW WAR

Scientist Predicts Undreamed Horrors In World Conflict

MASSACRES FORESEEN

English Statesman Warns Of Race Death Without Disarmament

SHEFFIELD, England, Oct. 8. (AP)—A war unlike any conflict in the past was predicted by Gen. Jan C. Smuts, soldier and statesman, in a speech at Sheffield university tonight, unless the world soon establishes a "disarmed peace."

"The armed peace led to the world war," he said. "Would it had ended there. But the armed peace continues in an aggravated form and as long as it continues mankind seems to be marching to some horrible doom."

"Deadly" Science

General Smuts, who is president of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, made his statements in the Basil Hicks memorial address in memory of a son of the university's vice chancellor, who was killed in the world war.

"In the world war we saw only the beginning of the vast difference which science is making in human affairs," General Smuts said. "In the next great war, if that is ever allowed to occur, science will, like some angry outraged diety, go far to destroy mankind itself. The next war will be unlike anything which has been called war in the past.

"The time-honored name of war would not properly apply to it. It will pay scant attention to armies and navies or to the other paraphernalia of war. It will go straight for the populations, and for the immense urban aggregations which will be its sure target.

New Horrors

"It will fight with new and unheard of chemical and biological weapons. It will cover the fair land and the great cities with poison and disease germs. It will saturate vast areas with a deadly atmosphere.

"There will be no escape, not even for the statesmen and the warmakers, and a pall of death will rest over all. Even now the laboratories of three continents are busy with their deadly researches.

"And in due course some lunatic will press the button and the flower of the human race will be trapped and destroyed.

"There is still a way of escape, but it lies along the arduous path of disarmament. Surely sufficient has been said to show why we should without further delay take to that path."

Brazil Suspends Gold Obligations

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 8. (US)—President Getulio Vargas tonight signed a decree suspending gold payments on all contracts and obligations until Dec. 31.

The moratorium is designed to give the Bank of Brazil sufficient time in which to gather enough gold to support the milreis in foreign exchange.

It is expected that two months' time will be sufficient for the bank to gather enough gold to meet the needs of the stock and exchange markets.

Debtors to foreigners must deposit their due payments in the banks in milreis, charging sixty-five milreis to the pound, instead of sending gold money abroad.

Scarcity of Pickers Slows Cotton Harvest

DALLAS, Oct. 8. (UP)—The Dallas News will say tomorrow that although cotton opened rapidly all over Northwest Texas during the week ending tonight, a scarcity of pickers delayed the harvest.

"Absence of rain, with continued sunny weather encouraged picking, however," the News will say, "and it appears that most of the crop will be gathered regardless and only a few sections report that late cotton may not be harvested."

'ALFALFA BILL' REVEALS PLAN TO SELL GAS

Huge Chain of Filling Stations and Refineries Being Formed

OPERATORS SILENT

Russell Drops Suit Aimed At Breaking Martial Law Shutdown

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 8. (AP)—Gov. William H. Murray announced tonight he would open Oklahoma's flush oil fields Saturday morning at 7 o'clock.

The announcement was made after a conference with operators representing the Oklahoma City and greater Seminole areas, curbed under military orders since Aug. 5.

A formal order will be issued tomorrow morning, the governor said. The fields will continue under military rule and wells will be prorated to meet market demand. Price was not a factor in lifting the shutdown, the governor said. Murray has held out for $1 a barrel as the price for reopening the oil fields.

Lieut. Col. Cicero I. Murray, the governor's cousin in charge of the shutdown, said the allowables and nominations by pipe-lines would have to be worked out in detail and that Saturday would be the earliest possible reopening date.

MURRAY REVEALS STATE OIL PLANS

By GEORGE B. ROSCOE
United Press Staff Correspondent

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 8.—Oklahoma, the nation's third largest oil producing state, stood on the threshold tonight of state operated petroleum business in competition with the huge integrated companies.

Gov. William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray, who doesn't "give a rap for precedent or oil men," announced that within 10 days he would reveal detailed plans whereby the state would open a chain of filling stations and refineries.

"And boy, how the public will go for Bill Murray gas," Murray said as he announced his latest move in the spectacular campaign to force crude prices higher.

Military Operation

The company, to be known as the Oklahoma Gas company, would be operated by the state through military powers by which the governor closed all flush fields Aug. 4 with the demand they remain closed until oil prices rose to $1 a barrel.

Opposition to the military shutdown, cutting the state's production in half, prompted Murray to decide on this action, he said. His decision came as a climax to a day of rapid developments in the oil situation.

Frank Russell, president of the Russell Petroleum company, had filed a federal court suit seeking to enjoin the governor from enforcing the military shutdown. Returning to the state from a speaking tour, Murray seemed irritated by the move and said:

"Those birds have torn their breeches with me."

While Russell was withdrawing the suit, Murray revealed his plan.

"Drop in the Ocean"

"That's only a drop of water in the ocean of oil difficulties," Murray said when told Russell's suit had been dropped.

A few moments later, the Blue Valley Farmer, the governor's personal weekly newspaper, came out with a signed statement by Murray telling of the proposed establishment of the Oklahoma Gas company.

The announcement struck the oil fraternity like a thunderbolt. Oil men, shocked when the quick-witted chief executive, issued his martial law order, declined to express an opinion or to say how they would meet the threatened competition. They were hopeful improved

DUNCAN ASKS GAS RATE CUT

C.-C. Petitions for Reduction in Fuel Cost

Special to The Record News.

DUNCAN, Okla., Oct. 8.—Reduction of domestic rates for natural gas from 54 to 40 cents per 1,000 cubic feet is asked in a resolution passed unanimously by directors of the Duncan Chamber of Commerce and presented to the Southwestern Light and Power company. The utility firm was asked to reply within 15 days.

Reductions made recently in other state cities, where the rates generally have been brought below the schedule here, were pointed out as justifying a cut for Duncan customers.

O. E. Wiser, local manager of the utility, said the rate schedule had been given considerable study during the last two months and that officials at Oklahoma City notified him an announcement on new rates would be made soon. Wiser said the Southwestern is paying 25 cents for the gas at the gate and that an effort was being made to reduce this charge before any change is made in local rates.

Court Requests Sales Records In Phone Inquiry

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 8. (AP)—By order of the court, Richard Gregory, comptroller of the Western Electric company, was requested to supplement figures on sales of his company to Bell Telephone companies with figures of all sales to non-Bell companies, at the telephone rate increase hearing here.

Gregory testified on direct examination that the sales of his company to all Bell companies during the period between 1916 and 1930 resulted in a net profit of $141,207,000, or a 4.9 per cent net return of sales.

On cross-examination attorneys for the city declared the city has a right to know the total sales of the company, in order to ascertain whether correct allocations have been made to the Bell companies. An hour of the court's time was consumed today in reading into the record the requests for additional information made by Carl Wright Johnson, attorney for the city. Counsel for the telephone company objected to all requests, on the ground that information requested was not material to the case.

The rehearing of the case opened last week after three years of litigation. The city is fighting a rate increase of 20 to 33 1-3 per cent.

ARMY GIVES BULLET SHOW

Potentates Watch Exhibition of Artillery

ABERDEEN, Md., Oct. 8. (AP)—Salvos of heavy gun fire rocked the country around the Aberdeen proving grounds today as the army put on its annual demonstration of ordnance before high officials and 8,000 other spectators.

Foreign military attaches, members of the cabinet, congressional representatives and industrialists watched the spectacle.

Speed and power were the watchwords of the demonstration.

Armored and combat cars cut their way at 50 miles an hour across plowed fields, spraying bullets at an imaginary enemy as they advanced. Heavy eight-inch Howitzers, which formerly could be transported at a maximum speed of eight miles an hour sped across the rough terrain at 25 to 30 miles an hour, twisting their way among trees and bushes with ease.

The small arms demonstration opened the show, with machine guns firing 700 rounds per minute and throwing their discharges five miles.

100 Cotton Pickers Needed Farm Hardeman County

Special to The Record News

He has 400 acres in cotton which is making above the average yield, but at the rate he is getting it picked the price will probably be far above present quotations, Mr. Ford believes.

Russian Background Opens Forum Department Meeting

Russia of twilight dimness, candle-lighted and frosted with snow gleamed in the auditorium of the Woman's Forum clubhouse Thursday at noon when the opening meeting of the literature department was featured with a Russian luncheon, the menu under the supervision of Mrs. Sam Kruger and decorations arranged by Mrs. Rhea Howard and Mrs. Kruger. On the chairman's table a huge brass samovar shone as a center decoration. Red plaid and fringed cloths covered the tables and frosted cotton to represent snow drifts surrounded the red candles centering each small table.

A long table covered with handsome Russian towels held the round brown loaf and the container of salt that symbolizes welcome for the nation. The peasants of Russia decorate their homes with towels; the bread and salt and the gleaming samovar are the emblems of hospitality when visitors eat and drink together. The stage had as an outstanding Russian motif, a cabin with snow banks before it and a snow covered roof; snow sprinkled the bare limbs of the trees at its entrance. Edwin Bebb of the Wichita Floral company, arranged the pretty piece of artistry.

A final touch was a pedestal in a corner of the room where a tall seven branched candelabra held gleaming red tapers against a background of gay Russian shawls.

The menu served preceding the program was typically Russian and appetizing odors taunted appetites.

Interesting Program

Mrs. Ola G. Hamlin, the charming chairman of the department, presided and introduced Dr. Geo. P. Horst who gave the invocation. Announcement was made by Mrs. Newton Maer, forum president, of the membership drive that will continue through October when any one who has ever been a forum member may renew membership by paying $5 current dues with no back dues to be taken care of. Mrs. A. N. Lummus, 2908 Ninth street, telephone 8373, will accept dues and issue membership cards.

Mrs. Ben G. Oneal announced the inter-county federation which will meet in the Forum clubhouse Oct. 14. Miss Mary Virginia Barron, president of the Junior forum, announced the postponement of the junior luncheon from Oct. 14 to Oct 24 and announcement of the tentative pleans for the autumn flower show to take place in the Forum clubhouse were made by Mrs. J. C. Mytinger, chairman of the Garden club, which is sponsoring the feature.

Book Review

Mrs. Alvin Horwitz, who presented in "The Education of a Russian Princess," by Marie Grand Duchess of Russia, the only number on the program, spoke with no notes and with charming diction.

She said the story was the life story of the writer with the most interesting part of the life dating from 1914 when Grand Duchess Marie divorced her husband and came to America in the time of the revolution. She now lives in New York in an apartment and has her own business. The story was written in French, then Russian and finally in the English language and collaborators in America suggested to the writer the effects admired by this nation.

The parts into which the story is divided are those of autocracy, awakening, and escape, and the lessons are those of tolerance, and an appeal not to be indifferent to things because they are far removed.

The revolution was spoken of as an instance of outstanding historic bungling.

Menus were printed in Russian and Mrs. Sam Kruger read them to the group, stating that if she made an error in pronunciation, she was sure some member of the audience would correct her.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

Women are brave. Men go into battle, but women wait at home not knowing what the result of battle may be and having no rolling of drums nor waving of banners to hearten them.

Not only men pioneered the early days of America and then of the unknown countries to the south and west. When this section of the country was raw and ugly and men came into it to build homes, their wives came also.

Men struggled with sun and drouth. They followed cattle trails to drive their stock to railroads far across the open country; they fought to bring the railroads to them.

Their wives, often young and beautiful women from cultured homes, shared every hardship. They suffered the heat and the burning wind and the long drouths. They did their own work because there was no help. They bore their children far away from the aid of an older order where women had every care showered upon them.

They came through, but they had a fight. Some have grown into beautiful age and some have gone to rest in the grave.

Even men agree that in physical suffering, women are the braver of the sexes. But we believe that mentally women are better able to stand suffering than men. There is a game that many women must suffer, that of waiting. Men cannot stand it. Men would not sit into the morning hours waiting for a loved one to come home. Men would never go patiently morning after morning to the postbox to see if a son or a daughter or a wife had remembered them at home—alone.

Anyway, with all melodrama to the side, we thoroughly believe that women are braver than men.

And so far as we know them, they are carried on by a sense of humor often lacking in the sterner sex.

Which brings us down to lighter matters. A luncheon at the Woman's Forum clubhouse Thursday had reservations for approximately 115 guests and we heard a woman remark that some speaker who had said the American people would pay for anything that was made attractive enough, was right. The novelty of the luncheon deadened all thought of "depression."

Then she picked up the menu, written in Russian and remarked, "Why, I can't even read it. Do you suppose I can digest it?" She was brave enough to try and pronounced the menu delightful.

Dorothy Parker Becomes Bride Of H. B. Penix

A wedding of interest to a wide circle of friends was solemnized at high noon Thursday when Miss Dorothy Marguerite Parker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Parker, married Henry B. Penix, son of Judge and Mrs. W. H. Penix, at the home of the bride's parents in Country Club estates. Rev. Patrick D. Moreland of Archer City read the impressive ceremony in the presence of relatives.

Autumn flowers made the home unusually attractive for the occasion and the bride was attractive in a gown of midnight blue crepe with accessories to harmonize.

Mr. Penix is the son of Judge and Mrs. W. H. Penix of 2013 Jones street and a member of the firm of Penix & Penix, attorneys at law. The bride after graduating from the local high school attended Kidd Key at Sherman and Gulf Park School for Women at Gulfport, Miss.

Reagan Junior High P.-T. A Stresses Cooperative Theme

Cooperation was the theme stressed in the home-coming session of Reagan Junior high P.-T. A when members met at the school Thursday afternoon with Mrs. W. E. Timblin, first vice president, presiding in the absence of Mrs. Monte Staniforth, president. Supt. H. D. Fillers, who was presented by W. A. Franklin, principal of the school, spoke of the junior high school as a new type of organization that came as a response to a real need. Children who have left babyhood and are in young boy and girlhood, find there a happy middle ground.

Mr. Fillers stressed home and school contact as very necessary and highly important not to just 50 per cent, but to 100 per cent of school children. He stated that the junior high age is an intense age, when children live intensely and are full of enthusiasm and whether they are shy or forward, artistically or musically inclined, the junior high organization gives each child a chance to expand toward his own desires. "Give children a chance to develop the courage that makes boys and girls self possessed and encourages honesty, enthusiasm, the development of ambition and the discovery of possibilities," he said. The P.-T. A. was stressed as the ideal channel through which all parents may learn what the school is trying to do for the child so that teacher, child and home will be in perfect harmony.

Recreational Agencies

A. D. Beck, speaking on the value of recreational agencies, confined his talk to the game of the season, football, stating that football builds for future life physically, through the development of a strong body; mentally, through development of quick and accurate thinking; spiritually, through the development of honesty and appreciation of the golden rule and stressed the fact that the game teaches the practice of health habits and clean living.

The meeting was opened with a splendid musical number by the school orchestra under the direction of Miss Davis. Roy J. Daniel gave the beautiful devotional on the theme of cooperation and at the close of the speaker's program, W. A. Franklin, principal, and chairman of the North Texas football conference, urged the support and cooperation of faculty, student body and parents. The game to take place at Electra Friday was announced and it was stated that transportation and equipment must come from the school patrons. Cars were at once volunteered for transportation of the team and pep squad for the trip.

The prize for attendance went to Miss Dorothy Knight's room.

Following a short business meeting and introduction of the faculty by Mr. Franklin, a social hour was enjoyed by approximately 100 parents and teachers. Tea was served by Mrs. E. H. Yager, assisted by Mesdames Harrison, Garner and Sewell. Girls wearing pretty red and white aprons, noting the Reagan Junior High colors, who assisted the hostesses were Nancile Sewell, Oneta Reynolds, Thelma Rose Long and Nathalie Smith.

Invitations to the citizenship generally also have been extended, irrespective of whether or not affiliations are held with the chamber of commerce or the business council.

Turn the months of waiting into ease and comfort

THE birth of a child is a beautiful sacrifice the mother-to-be makes for the world . . . inconveniences, discomforts and pains are endured and borne without complaint.

You owe it to yourself and your unborn child to employ reasonable and harmless means to relieve yourself of needless suffering, pain and nervousness, as well as the possible excessive disfigurement thru the formation of the striae gravidarum, those minute breaks of the skin and tissues, which usually attend this condition.

For generations mothers have used and recommended to their daughters—Mother's Friend—a skin emollient which is gently massaged, externally of course, to loosen the skin and abdominal tissues during the stretching and distending process.

Mother's Friend, by its relaxing and softening properties, aids in bringing ease and comfort. It also helps to prevent "caking," thus being of great assistance in nursing.

This time-tried aid—the prescription of a physician long used in his practice 60 years ago, is an external and harmless massage medium—gratefully and enthusiastically endorsed by mothers and recommended by many physicians and nurses.

For your own comfort and ease of mind do use it in these trying months. It may be conveniently secured from any druggist in the U. S. in the inexpensive $1.25 size, or, if you prefer, mailed direct on receipt of price.

To those unfamiliar with Mother's Friend we will be glad to mail a testing trial size without charge. You will be delighted with the physical pharmaceutical beauty of the preparation itself. Its use will bring you comfort and happiness.

"Safety-Sealed" FOR FLAVOR-PROTECTION

Still at peak of flavor after 120-day test in 48 States!

These stars indicate cities in each of 48 states where coffee was put out on test.

M·J·B Coffee, packed in the only "Safety-Sealed" tin, stored away in 48 states . . . then taste-tested. "Fresh as when first packed!" declared famous committee of three.

Here's actual proof that the richer flavor of M·J·B stays rich for you to enjoy!

A tin of freshly packed coffee was sent to every state in the Union. It was subjected to all the different climatic conditions in each of the 48 states.

Four months later this coffee was returned and tested by impartial experts.

"We found the 'test' coffee as fresh and richly flavored as coffee that had just been roasted," declared the committee after critical taste-tests.

Winning such a verdict is positive proof of the patented "Safety-Seal" method of vacuum packing—a method only M·J·B can use.

The "Safety-Seal" is unlike ordinary vacuum processes. This seal on the bottom of every M·J·B tin closes only if all air is out. No other coffee has this protection.

In M·J·B you get a finer blend, always at the peak of flavor and freshness. It's America's quality coffee in America's only "Safety-Sealed" tin.

"Because of the exclusive "Safety-Seal" none of the rich, delicious flavor of M·J·B can possibly escape," declared this committee of experts: Genevieve Callahan, Editor Sunset Magazine (shown here); Chef La Faille, St. Francis Hotel, San Francisco; Prof. W. W. Ogier, Jr., Calif. Institute of Technology.

MURRAY PLANS OIL BUSINESS

Governor to Put State In Industry

conditions would result in opening of the fields so they could flow oil.

"I am not giving Murray a chance to say I had torn my breeches," one oil man replied to a question concerning his reaction to the plan. Other oil men, who insisted on not being quoted, said they believed the announcement was a threat but added that "you never know what Bill Murray will do."

Murray Serious

Murray was serious when he disclosed the plan at his two press conferences. He said he had applied to the patent office to prevent any one else using the name of the Oklahoma Gas company or "Bill Murray" gas.

"I am having a hard fight with the major companies—one with headquarters in New York and one called the Standard of Indiana. It appears that company has taken over all the Sinclair interests, together with his 'cussedness.' Most of the others are willing to cooperate with a reasonable price for oil, but two particularly are trying to thwart every effort, either to conserve oil or give a price to compensate the state in the matter of taxes.

"I already have secured options on two refineries. With refineries you can readily see you can flow oil from a given sand, offer oil at $1 a barrel, pay the state tax and well owners and then distribute the oil.

Lease Refineries

"I would not have the power to take oil and pay less than its value but they can never prove it is worth more than a dollar a barrel, the price I would pay. The state would not buy refineries but would lease them," Murray said.

In his Blue Valley Farmer, Murray wrote:

"If the oil companies cannot take action and abandon their methods of trying to assume a position superior to the state of Oklahoma, and if they can't proceed along the lines of fair play, then I shall take action to open at least some of the fields. Whenever the people see the filling station sign: O-G-CO, I would ask them to patronize such stations. All I need is their patronage to whip this bunch of highbinders."

EXPLAINS WHY HE KEEPS PLAN SECRET

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 8. (UP)—Gov. William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray tonight explained why he declined to reveal in more detail plans for the state competing with oil companies in the petroleum business.

"I know what I'm doing. Seldom, however, can I discuss my purposes with the public. Otherwise others would take advantage of my moves.

"No general of any army can win a battle alone. The soldiers, as in the case of the general, must do their shares, and the citizens, in the case of the leader. Otherwise he is doomed to failure.

"The truth is, the oil producers scarcely know what they want and are studying their own selfish interests."

The governor's cousin, Lieut. Col. Cicero I. Murray, commandant of the military shutdown under which authority the move would be instituted, professed ignorance of the plan.

A state operated oil industry, under present conditions, would face competition of virtually every oil company in the world. Oklahoma companies operate 42 refineries and out-of-state concerns operate 13 large units. Investments in production, leases and equipment in the Oklahoma City field alone approximate a billion dollars. There are thousands of oil well in the state and thousands of filling stations.

FUND RAISED FOR "FIREBELL" CAMPAIGN

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 8. (AP)—A $7,000 fund is being raised for institutional and appointive state officers and employes for Governor Murray's "firebells" campaign in which he will submit six initiative petitions to voters.

Governor Murray announced today he had confused his dates and it would be Oct. 24 instead of Oct. 17 when citizens will be called to every county seat and all other towns of more than 5,000 population to sign petitions submitting to an election on Murray's legislative reforms.

Officials and employes of state schools, hospitals and prisons as well as the appointed state officers will be "expected" to donate to the fund, R. D. McManus, the governor's chief clerk said.

Footprints Trailed In Murder Trial

tual investigation concerning the girl's death, was sharp and lengthy.

Testimony Challenged

Yarberry's counsel challenged White's ability to say positively it was blood he saw, and likewise wanted to know whether "all the trailing and tracking" of his career as a peace officer ever had resulted in his catching anybody.

The prosecutors' theory as to the motive for the slaying entered the record through the testimony of Mrs. F. Howard Symons, the dead girl's mother, who said Yarberry had indicated he was jealous of Dorothy.

Yarberry, as usual, paid careful attention to proceedings. Occasionally the slim, pale youth would scribble a few notes.

Barker testified there were thorns in Yarberry's feet and they were shell cut.

Friends on Stand

Late in the day the state called two young friends of Yarberry, J. E. Jeffries and Paul Huff, both of Aransas Pass.

Jeffries testified he saw Yarberry the day Miss Symons' body was recovered and the defendant looked unusual.

"I asked him 'what's the matter, Newton?' He said 'You'd be surprised how much sleep I've lost.'"

"He said 'well I am about to get in trouble," the witness continued.

Jeffries went on to say Yarberry was asked whether he had been "mixed up" with some bootleggers and the defendant allegedly replied, "Just wait a few days and you'll see it in the headlines."

Girl Missing

The witness said some one asked whether Yarberry referred to the fact "his girl" was "gone" and that Yarberry replied in the affirmative.

"He said she was with Tom Conner last and he thought Tom had been arrested," Jeffries said.

Huff likewise saw Yarberry on the same day while the defendant was conversing with Sheriff Frank Hunt.

"I started joking with him (Yarberry)," Huff said, "I told him if they didn't find her all right they might blame him. I think I told him jokingly they might string him up."

Claims Alibi

"He said he didn't have to worry about that that he could prove easy enough he was at home that night."

The prosecution asked Huff, a youth of slight build, if he had ever been "on any drinking parties" with Yarberry.

"Oh yes, we've been around together."

Huff added he did not consider Yarberry a heavy drinker, and grinned with embarrassment when state's attorney asked him about his drinking habits. He said he drank beer, wine and whisky at times.

Huff insisted, when the prosecution expressed incredulity, he could drink "eight or ten" bottles of beer without "getting lit up."

Rotary Members 'Enjoy' Annual Quiz

Members of the Rotary club Thursday noon were put through their annual oral quiz relative to facts of Rotary International, with Julian Montgomery, chairman of the educational committee, asking as interrogator.

Details of the local club's history, including the date of its organization and the name of its immediate past president, stumped some members to whom Mr. Montgomery first put the question. Content of the organization's code of ethics, and the dimensions of its membership, also were brought out in the question-and-answer period.

Short talks designed to provide exposition of the serious purposes of Rotary were given by Albert Myles, J. H. Allison, Aaron Epp, and Dr. S. S. McKenney.

Gerald Coffee, representing the Junior chamber of commerce, spoke to the Rotarians briefly on fire prevention. Property owners here will have to pay $125,000 more in fire insurance premiums annually because of the fires which have occurred here in the past two years, he said.

William E. Huff announced that 234 reservations have been made for the special train to Childress Saturday carrying a booster delegation for the Coyotes in their football battle with Childress High school.

A singsong was led by R. E. Shepherd. Visitors were introduced by Paul Putty. President L. H. Estes was in charge of the meeting.

HOOVER BANK PLAN SPEEDED

Rediscount Institution To Start Soon

tion will lend or advance funds to banks or gorups of associations of banks, the official announcement said.

"It is contemplated that one or more groups of associations of banks will be set up in every federal reserve district. Each group will be composed of the subscribing banks within the area covered by it. Each director of the corporation is to undertake the responsibility of organizing the groups or associations within his federal reserve district.

Pass Upon Loans

"The area covered by and the composition of each group or association are to be approved by the croporation. Each such group is to have its own loan committee which is to pass upon the loans requested by any of its members and upon the security therefor.

"When a loan is approved by the local loan committee the note of the borrowing bank and the security therefor, together with the note of the group (of which the borrowing bank is a member) in a like amount shall be forwarded to the home office of the corporation.

As security the debentures of the National Credit corporation will be secured by the notes of the various groups, the notes of the borrowing banks and the security furnished by them and cash in hand subject to the payment of the running expenses of the corporation.

Aid Private Banks

"In addition to subscriptions from banks the corporation may receive subscriptions to debentures from other sources to which loans are not available," Mr. Buckner's statement pointed out.

This will permit private banking firms to participate in the raising of the capital.

The debentures will be payable one year from their date with the right of renewal by the corporation not exceeding in the aggregate three additional years but subject to earlier redemption.

The debentures will pay interest, if earned, up to but not exceeding 6 per cent annually payable only out of the surplus and net income. They will be issued in registered and non-transferable form.

ALL PHASES OF PROGRAM SPEEDED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8. (UP)—President Hoover was informed today that the $500,000,000 rediscount institution, which will handle banking assets not now eligible for rediscount at federal reserve banks, probably will be incorporated within 48 hours.

It became known also that treasury department and federal reserve board officials are conferring regarding the possibility of creating a revolving fund in the federal reserve system, to accept frozen assets of banks during times of depression.

Billion Hoarded

The focussing of attention on the banking situation, as a principal unit of the economic structure, brought the estimate from administration quarters today that perhaps $1,000,000,000 in currency is being hoarded.

There was in circulation Sept. 30, $5,245,673,695, which is $744,000,000 more than was in circulation a year ago. This sum represents the official calculation of the amount of money withdrawn from banks, but there is believed to be another $250,000,000 stored away in clothes closets, tin cans and safety deposit boxes.

President Hoover received news of the imminent incorporation of the rediscount institution from George L. Harrison, governor of the Federal Reserve bank of New York. The institution will have 12 directors, one for each federal reserve district. It is likely to be doing business within 10 days, one official said.

STOCKS SURGE UP AGAIN

NEW YORK, Oct. 8. (AP)—Swift progress in the national program to mobilize credit for a revitalization of business was accompanied by eager buying of securities in Wall street today.

The uprush in stocks was almost as swift as that of Tuesday, prominent issues closing with average advances of $5, or more. Bonds also attracted enthusiastic buying, particularly railroad issues.

The cheer quickly spread to the commodity markets, and wheat and corn futures were quoted 2 cents higher in the Chicago pit. Despite a large increase in the government's monthly crop estimate, cotton finished the day with net gains of 40 to 50 cents a bale.

Developments Listed

Among the day's constructive developments were:

1—Indications the $500,000,000 bank credit corporation would be completed late tomorrow.

2—An increase in the New York Federal Reserve bank's rediscount rate from 1½ to 2½ per cent, in an effort to make bank lending more profitable, and give banks a new stimulus to aid trade.

3—A drop of $171,000,000 in brokers loans for the stock trading week ended Tuesday, reducing the total to $1,001,000,000, the lowest in years, and indicating an enormous volume of necessitous selling which had been hanging over the market had been absorbed.

Bond Relief

4—An announcement by the chairman of the New York state joint legislative committee on banking that he would seek legislation to liberalize the regulations regarding bonds which may be held by trustees and savings banks, which may lift a huge burden from the market for railway bonds.

5—The sailing for New York of two officers of the Bank of France to confer with federal reserve officials, while British and French government officials discussed economic problems, and J. P. Morgan, who was in Paris, was believed to be interesting himself in the international financial situation.

Some of these developments, notably the rediscount raise, loan drop and the plan of liberalizing New York bond requirements, were not announced until after the close of the security markets, but confident buying was reported by commission houses from many sections of the country, as well as abroad.

The turnover in stocks was only 2,860,000 shares, as against 4,300,000 Tuesday, but as measured by price indices, gains averaged about three-quarters of the Tuesday advance, which set a record for recent stock exchange history.

Brokers said investors who had sold stocks in fright a few days ago were rushing to buy them back.

Red Cross Leaders of 22 Counties To Meet Here Oct. 20 for Conference

Plans for a regional conference of American Red Cross executives representing 22 counties to be held here on Oct. 20 were made Thursday afternoon at a meeting of the Wichita county board of directors at the City National bank with Chairman W. O. Beeman presiding.

Two workers in the national organization will be present for the one-day conference, it was announced. H. M. Baker, field director of disaster relief, will come from his office at St. Louis to consult with workers in this section of Texas relative to relief during the coming winter. From West Texas headquarters in Fort Worth will come Mrs. Ethel Hennessy, field representative of the national organization. Mr. Beeman will preside at the regional conference.

During the ensuing winter, it was announced, the American Red Cross will deviate from its usual plan of providing relief only in cases of unusual disaster. Because of the anticipated widespread want, and the lack of relief organizations in small towns and rural communities, the Red Cross is planning to prosecute an extensive campaign of general relief in such areas.

Mr. Beeman also announced that the annual roll call, or membership campaign, of the organization will be staged here in November, probably soon after Armistice day on Nov. 11. The campaign is expected to last three or four days, he said.

With reference to current activities of the Wichita county chapter, Mr. Beeman said that the nutrition program is accomplishing more than ever before. He particularly commended the cooperation now being given by H. D. Fillers, superintendent of schools, and teachers in the public schools.

Fifteen members of the board were present for Thursday's meeting.

CITIES STUDY CIVIC COSTS

C-C Backs Government Expense Survey

STAMFORD, Texas, Oct. 8. (AP)—Committees to conduct cost-of-government studies are being appointed this week in 65 cities and towns of West Texas, it was announced today from the headquarters office of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, initiating the movement for reduction in public expenditures, which are declared to have reached "alarming proportions."

The campaign was launched by chamber officials under leadership of Houston Harte, president, in a series of nine district conferences held during the latter part of September and first week in October in the chamber's membership territory.

Local committees, studying expenditures and tax structures in their municipal and county governments, will work in close touch with the West Texas chamber's tax-expenditures committee headed by C. N. Bassett, banker of El Paso. Results of the study will be laid before the state board of control and legislature, it was announced.

Lipton's Will Leaves Fortune to Charities

GLASGOW, Scotland, Oct. 8. (AP)—The poor, the ailing and the aged rejoiced today that Sir Thomas Lipton remembered them in death as well as in life.

The bulk of his estate, estimated to exceed a million pounds, will go to hospitals, infirmaries and old people's home in London, Glasgow and Middlesex. More than $300,000 will go to help working mothers and their children here. The gold loving cup presented by the American people in recognition of his sportsmanship was left to the New York Yacht club.

Autoist Forces Thieves To Abandon His Car

An automobile chase of a mile took place here Thursday afternoon when J. F. O'Leary saw two youths drive off in his car a few minutes after it had been parked. When pressed closely by Mr. O'Leary, who had obtained another machine for pursuit, the two boys abandoned the stolen car, and made good their escape on foot.

Mr. O'Leary, according to a report to police, parked the machine in the 1000 block on Lamar, near his place of business. A few minutes later he saw his car being driven away.

He pursued and when the youths reached the south end of Virginia street they left the stolen automobile and plunged into the brush along Holliday creek. They escaped after wading the creek.

RURAL ROADS FUND ASSURED

$11,000,000 to Be Spent For Farm-to-Market Projects

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 8. (UP)—A fund of $11,000,000 will be available in 1932 for construction of a 5,000-mile system of farm-to-market roads in Oklahoma, J. F. McKeel, highway commissioner, announced today.

Most of this sum, McKeel said, would be paid to farmers and laborers, now unemployed or suffering from crop adversities, to be employed to do the large amount of manual labor on the projects.

Formal announcement of the first work to be done under the farm-to-market project, announced recently by Gov. William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray, will be made next week, Chairman Sam R. Hawks of the commission said.

"Of the $11,000,000 fund the highway commission will collect next year, all except about $5,000,000 will be used on the secondary road system," McKeel said. "Approximately $2,600,000 will be used to match federal funds on federal aid concrete roads and $2,500,000 will be required for maintenance.

"The $6,000,000 remaining will be matched dollar for dollar by counties participating in the farm-to-market system, making a total of about $11,000,000," the commissioner estimated.

Clubman Ends Life With Gun

BALTIMORE, Oct. 8 (AP)—Herbert R. Stubbs, Clubman, society figure and wholesale lumber dealer, was found by his valet today, shot to death in the bedroom of his apartment.

The apartment in which he was found was the same one from which Miss Virginia Troy, chief nurse of the Phipps Clinic of the Johns Hopkins hospital, walked and committed suicide a year ago. She had been employed by Stubbs to care for his young son, now 9 years old.

Police were told that Stubb's valet was attracted by the sound of a shot, went into his master's bedroom, and found him lying on the floor, a bullet wound in the temple.

Police said a letter found in the room led to the belief Stubbs had taken his own life.

After Meals, a Pinch of Black-Draught For Indigestion
THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT
"I had a son who had indigestion—he would spit up his food and looked so weak and bad," writes Mrs. Mary Pearson, of 247 Berean St., Atlanta, Ga. "I tried different remedies, but he did not get better. I thought maybe Black-Draught would help him. I gave him a very small dose after meals. Soon I could see an improvement. He quit spitting up his food and complaining of the bad taste in his mouth. He was soon well as anybody." FBA-23

...sparkling vitality and a clear skin reflect rich, red blood cells
"IT is good of you to say those nice things," she replied.
Some people just "bubble over" with vitality * * * they inspire compliments.
Nature has its own way of making a strong body and a clear skin * * * by its use of the red-blood-cells.
So often the pressure of work and worry or some sickness "burn up" these precious red-blood-cells—then the hemoglobin percentage begins to fall and we wonder "what is the matter."
If this is your trouble, why not take steps to overcome it—remembering that a "tired feeling" may be a warning * * * so are pimples, boils and paleness.
You cannot be low in strength and be happy—let's be happy.
For generations S.S.S. as a tonic has been helping people gain New Strength, better health and happiness. Its successful record of over 100 years in restoring strength and vitality to the blood surely warrants your giving it a good trial.
Why not start taking S.S.S. today?—the larger size represents a price saving.
Why you should be interested in your Blood Count

The above shows the tiny blood vessels (highly magnified) carrying nourishment to the skin. It is important for body and skin health, as well, that the red cells are up to full fighting strength in number and vitality.
Whenever bad complexion or blemishes on the skin are due to a low blood count, or to a lagging appetite, the condition can be relieved or benefited by a course of S.S.S. If you uare pale, or languid, give S.S.S. a trial. It may help you as it has helped thousands of others. It builds red blood cells. It is a splendid tonic.

(Upper) Microscopic view of healthy red blood-cells. The blood stream should contain about 5,000,000 of these cells to the cubic millimeter. They carry nourishment and oxygen to every part of the body—they also remove impurities from the tissues.
(Lower) Weak red-blood-cells—only 60 per cent of normal strength—they lack the power to resist infection and disease or to rebuild flesh and to carry away the impurities. Such a condition is often responsible for body weakness, paleness, sallow complexion, pimples and boils.
Don't let them count you out!

A dahlia has been named after Dwight Morrow. But judging from his activity of late, a more appropriate flower would have been the shrinking violet.

An order was given for 10,000 fountain pens at a recent exhibition in Scotland. And now the country is said to be increasing its expenditure for postoffice ink.

Taking It on the Chin

THE things that will occupy a warm spot in one's memory in the years to come are not always easily recognized when they happen. It happens now and then that a man will come to look back fondly on what once looked like a real catastrophe, while the events of which much was expected will lose their glow and merge with the featureless background of dead years.

The other day, for example, Haverford college sent out questionnaires to its alumni asking them this and that about their college experiences; and one former student contributed the following:

"I was kicked out after one year for being a fool, but I hope Haverford feels as kindly toward me as I do toward her. I derived a great deal of help and inspiration from her."

Quite obviously, this man does not feel the same now about his expulsion from college as he felt at the time it happened; and that, perhaps, is very often the case, not only with expulsions from college but with other things. Wet get—since life is fairly hard—a thorough sock on the nose, now and then, and it isn't fun; but later on, when we look back, we can see that we had it coming, and we can also see that it was rather good for us.

One of the things that keeps this world from getting to monotonous is the fact that most of us can learn only by being kicked. This Haverford man is only one among many. He had a very common human experience. He was given a great privilege—how many people, by the way, realize just what a tremendous privilege a college education can be?—and he failed to recognize it. Failing, he was thrown out. But, though he was thrown out for being a fool, he was not as big a fool as he might have been. He was able to profit by his misfortune. Today he can look back with real affection to the college that refused to put up with him.

Not all of us, of course, are able to do that. When we get our bumps we indulge the natural tendency to cry out that some malignant power in the world has it in for us unjustly. We sulk, in plain English, like so many 3-year-olds—and so, by and by, it is necessary for us to get bumped again.

But there is another way of meeting those things; and as we grow older we come to understand it better. Any simpleton can look back fondly to the halcyon days. The man who is moving forward is the one who can look back with real satisfaction to the times when he took it on the chin.

Boston's Population

IN COLONIAL days Boston was a metropolis. For many decades thereafter the city was one of the two or three largest in the nation. But recently Boston has occupied a position fairly well down on the census list; and this fact has been something of an injustice to the city of beans, codfish and Cabots.

The official figures on the "metropolitan area," recently released, tell a truer story. Within 20 miles of Boston Common, it is now revealed, there dwell 2,307,897 people. Metropolitan Boston, accordingly, is properly fourth on the list of big cities—ahead of every city except New York, Chicago and Philadelphia.

Boston, as it happens, is encircled by a ring of suburbs that refuse to be annexed. Three of these suburbs—Cambridge, Somerville and Lynn—are cities of more than 100,000 population. So Boston, a huge urban center, gets a census count of less than 800,000, and is technically smaller than several cities that are not, actually, as large.

Hoarding Money

THE people of the United States have taken to hoarding their ready cash, according to figures compiled by the Investors Syndicate of Minneapolis.

This organization discovered that federal reserve statistics show that the amount of currency in circulation today is approximately 25 per cent, or one billion dollars, higher than the average for the last five years. But business is far below normal. This vast amount of money isn't moving as it should. In 1929 a dollar bill was estimated to change hands 10 times a day; today it hardly changes hands once.

"In past depressions," the syndicate points out, "this hoarding has been one of the last developments before a general upturn. With such a large amount of money in the hands of the consumer, it takes only a small increase in the speed of circulation to make a significant improvement in trade."

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE BIRTHPLACE OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY—During the organization of Ripon college, (formerly Brockway college), Ripon, Wisconsin, in 1851, the privilege of the name was offered to the highest bidder. The record says: "The bidding was spirited, resulting finally in the name being struck off to William S. Brockway for a donation of $25, so the name Brockway college was adopted."

Three years later Mr. Brockway was a supporter of the first Republican party meeting to be held anywhere in the United States. At a meeting held on March 20, 1854, in the little frame building, the Republican party was born—and the same building is now preserved as the party's shrine.

GREENLAND AND ICELAND—Greenland was named by Eric the Red in 985. His motive in giving a name suggesting verdure to a country covered with ice and having an arctic character was to encourage people to go there. In other words, Eric was guilty of a deception which real estate developers no longer practice in our days. On the other hand, Iceland is a verdant country with a mild climate, and pastoral in aspect.

It would be a matter of historical justice to rename these two countries. The name of Greenland for Iceland, and vice versa would be perfectly in keeping with the characteristics of these island countries. I understand that a proposal to this effect has been repeatedly before their respective legislative bodies.

THE GIRL WHO WON

By May Christie

Young and vivacious Nollie Day, public stenographer at an exclusive New York hotel, is befriended by the wealthy Mrs. Judson, a widow. One evening, Nollie goes to the theater in place of Mrs. Judson, where she meets handsome Tony O'Brien. She reveals her own identity but Tony does not hear her. Later in the evening she refrains from repeating her explanation for fear that Tony would lose interest when he learned the truth. Next day, Tony telephones and learns Mrs. Judson has gone abroad. Disbelieving the report, he comes to the hotel. He looks at Nollie without recognition but she believes it is because he has discovered her masquerade. Before Nollie can reach him, he disappears. Nollie secures a new position as secretary to Jack Brilling of Galbraith & Co. Miss Galbraith, Brilling's fiancee is jealous when Brilling takes Nollie to dinner and warns Nollie against overstepping. Brilling tells Nollie he loves her.

Miss Galbraith enters the office just as Nollie frees herself from Brilling's embrace. Nollie is discharged.

Mrs. Judson gives Nollie a letter Tony had written her abroad. Intending to help Nollie and set the matter straight, she phones Tony to learn he has left on a vacation.

Mrs. Judson asks Nollie to become her secretary and visit her ranch.

Nollie accompanies Mrs. Judson to a garden party and meets Rhoda Vane.

CHAPTER XXIV

Nollie's first impression of Rhoda Vane was that she was beautiful.

Rhoda was tall. There was a certain classic regularity in her features.

She looked as though she'd had lots of money always. She was elegantly dressed.

She wore an enormous picture hat that cast a becoming shadow on her face.

It was the color known as "egg shell," and her satin cloak was golden.

Indeed, Rhoda looked a golden girl out here in the greenness of this garden.

Her shoes, her gloves, her sweeping chiffon dress, even the roses on her shoulder, were all golden.

Gold was the color of her hair, too, which she wore in classic bands, and fastened in a knot behind.

Her head was small. So were her feet and hands. Her figure was long and lissome.

Nollie bowed shyly as the introduction between the two girls was made by Mrs. Judson.

Rhoda gave a swift, comprehensive glance at the younger girl's toilette. Her practiced eye could tell the value of that chiffon.

Also of Nollie's shoes and hat. Those eyes for the moment were like gimlets.

She turned her ack on Nollie, dismissing her with a nod that was quite insolent.

"Another protege, old thing?" she drawled quite audibly to Mrs. Judson.

"No. A little friend of mine from from the—er—country."

"So?" The vision raised her brows. "Come over by the pergola where I can talk to you privately."

So she carried Jinny off. Nollie, relieved at her departure, continued to play with the nice boy at clock golf.

Presently, Nollie being defeated at the game for she was entirely a novice, they wandered down to a wild rose hedge.

It divided the lawn from the shore which lay below them. The tide was far out.

"Lovely place, isn't it?" said the nice boy. He thought Nollie very pretty. She had such a sweet face.

"Yes. Look at those yatchs, like lovely seagulls or white swans." Her eye went water-wards.

"Oh, you like boats, then?" The boy was enthusiastic. "I've one of my own a couple miles from here. Are you coming tonight to the Yacht club dance?"

"Oh, I don't think so. I'm motoring with Mrs. Judson towards the north."

His face fell. "I wanted to book some dances now. But it's always the same way. When you meet someone you really like, you lose them efore you've even time to get acquainted!"

His tone was earnest. Nollie was amused. At the same time, because he was good-looking, and well-bred, and of this world she had strangely and suddenly stepped into, she was elated.

Why? she asked herself.

Because it meant she wasn't so much like a fish out of water, after all, despite Rhoda Vane's impertinence.

At the back of her mind was another thought, heart-warming breath-catching.

If she could interest a nice lad like this who must be run after by a number of girls, she might still have a chance with Tony O'Brien.

"A penny for your thoughts?" asked the nice boy, moving nearer to her by the wild-rose hedge that divided the shore from the garden.

Her eyes roamed to the graceful yachts that were gliding by, their sails curving in the wind.

"I was thinking how easy life is for some people . . . drifting along in the sunshine . . ."

"For you, you mean? Why shouldn't it be? You're lovely, ornamental . . ."

She smiled at that. "If he only knew the struggle my life had been," thought she, "one long grind of work!"

"Why shouldn't a pretty girl have everything she wants?" went on the boy argumentatively. "Just by looking as you do just now, you're fulfilling what a woman was meant to fulfill in this world."

Nollie laughed outright. How young he was—how ingenius!

"I suppose we all have ambitions—"

He supplemented, to her surprise: "And I suppose yours is to make a rich marriage?"

"What?" Under her shady hat, her blue eyes widened.

"Well, aren't all pretty girls that way, these days?"

Then he began to question her.

Where had she been hiding herself? Where did she live? Why in thunder hadn't he previously met her anywhere?

"You don't step with Jimmy Judson's crowd, and I haven't seen you at all? D'you live in the country?"

"I did. In a little town, that is." Nollie flushed awkwardly.

Oh, why be ashamed of what she'd been? She felt deceitful.

But the boy was soon talking of himself, his new car, his yacht, his speed-boat.

Presently Nollie suggested—as the wind was getting chilly—that they go back into the house.

They did, the boy reluctantly, for he had taken a great fancy to this pretty, elusive girl.

In the living room someone was playing the piano, and couples were dancing. Others were playing bridge in the library.

The sun-parlor still contained its devotees of cocktail-drinking. And the butler and a servant were carrying around trays of "refreshers."

Mrs. Judson introduced some more people to Nollie. She quite approved that Nollie didn't drink. Although she liked a cocktail herself, she took a kind of reflected pride in Nollie's abstinence.

"We'll have a sort of buffet supper soon. We're going to stay the night right here. Then you and I and the chauffeur will set off on the road early tomorrow morning."

Lamps were lit, and with the guests moving hither and thither the long living room looked charming.

Like a motion picture "set" it was, with many of the women stagily beautiful.

"Come on. I'm going to tell your fortunes," announced a short, dark girl to Nollie's group.

Nollie and some men followed the young "seer" to a crackling fire that had been lit at one end of the room.

"Me first! Oh, please!" shrilled a high, imperious voice, and Rhoda Vane descended on them. "And please, Shirley, please see a dark, handsome young man in my fortune!"

The men laughed easily, chaffing the new comer. Rhoda Vane thruts Nollie aside, so that she might gain a better place. Nollie knew that Rhoda did not like her.

Cotton Picking Lowers Mangum School Record

Special to The Record News

MANGUM, Okla., Oct. 8.—Despite the fact that a large number of city school children are picking cotton, the enrollment at the end of the first month of school this year is only 23 under that of last year at this time.

The total enrollment of the city schools to date is 1,123. Of that number there are 560 boys and 563 girls.

The percentage of attendance has been lowered appreciably, ranging around 97 per cent, because of cotton picking.

A.—Horns on the head of Moses, in some of the early pictures, are accounted for by a blunder in the translation of the Book of Exodus 34:29-30. In some of the early translations the Hebrew phrase that the face of Moses shone or sent forth beams was erroneously translated "sent forth horns." Michelangelo, one of the greatest of painters, used the erroneous translation in his depiction of Moses.

A.—It is nearer the entire world. On Jan. 1 the distance is about 91,300,000 miles while on July 1 it is 94,400,000 miles. In January, the earth is so inclined to the plane of its ecliptic that the northern hemisphere, which includes the United States receives the slanting rays of the sun. This causes the cold weather. In July the northern hemisphere receives the direct rays of the sun.

Q.—What are fairy rings?—S. F.

A.—They are rings observed in pastures, distinguished from surrounding vegetation by being either barer or more luxurlant and attributed by the peasantry of western Europe to the dancing of the fairies. They are now known to be occasioned by the growth of certain kinds of fungi, which proceeding outward from a center, render the soil for a time unfitted for the nourishment of grass, but later fertilize it by their decay.

HOW FINANCIAL PLANS FORMED

Mellon's Apartment Scene Of Bankers' Meeting

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8. (AP)—The inside story how the making of President Hoover's new credits program came about, made available today on high authority, disclosed officially for the first time that the president departed from precedent and visited Secretary Mellon's apartment last Sunday night for a conference with prominent New York bankers.

The developments leading up to the public announcement of Tuesday midnight were related as follows:

The president began developing the program early in September. Since then he has conferred with groups representing the government, bankers, agriculture, industrial leaders and members of congress.

The details of the plan were determined on Friday, Oct. 2.

The program was one of a threefold character.

First, requiring cooperation of government agencies, i. e., the federal reserve board, the federal farm loan board and the treasury department.

Bank's Part

Second, the action of the banking community in providing a minimum fund of $500,000,000 and the various cooperative organizations on the part of the banking community.

Third, positive assurance of a program of legislative action, the whole of which is wholly interlocked and interdependent to give final assurance of confidence.

Last Saturday, Sunday and Monday, Oct 3 to 5 inclusive, telegrams and telephone calls were sent to leaders of congress, members of committees, who could come here to undertake a conference on Tuesday night.

Mr. Mellon invited some of the leading bankers to a conference on Sunday night at his apartment, before whom the president personally laid his program. This group agreed to appoint a small committee under Governor Harrison of the New York Federal Reserve bank, to consider all questions at once. This committee met in New York on Monday and recommended acceptance of the plan.

On Tuesday morning they held a meeting of the New York clearing house at which 24 banks were represented and pledged themselves to carry out the program.

On Tuesday night the president laid the legislative program before a group of congressmen who undertook to accept the program in principle. It was thus possible to assure the country that all phases of the program had been accepted and would go forward together.

Laval Negotiations

As regards the negotiations with Premier Laval, the text of the president's proposed statement on that subject was communicated to Mr. Laval Tuesday.

The president laid the entire program, not only the legislative side but also the part the bankers were to undertake and a statement in respect to negotiations with Mr. Laval before the meeting of the congressional groups.

As negotiations with Laval were of an executive nature, members attending the president's Tuesday night conference did not pledge themselves to support them.

This situation was made clear by a single sentence in the president's statement, reading: "This being a subject first of negotiation with foreign governments was not submitted for determination at this evening's conferences."

Otherwise no alteration was made in the president's statement.

The president's proposal in respect to the legislative program was altered on some details to meet the views of members present.

The president had expected the development of views on congressional leaders might require time, and so he did not expect to give out a statement until Wednesday. However, members were so cordial that he was able to formulate and issue the statement of Tuesday night.

Installment Financing Business Growing Fast

CHICAGO, Oct. 8. (AP)—C. C. Hanch, general manager of the National Association of Finance Companies, said today that modern installment financing, which started with slim capital in 1915 and was confined almost entirely to the financing of automobile sales, has grown to a business with a capital and surplus of approximately $350,000,000, diversified over a wide field of merchandise.

Efforts were now being made by the association, Hanch said, to determine safe credit terms for the increasing list of other items sold on the part payment plan, and financed like automobiles. Fixing of these terms should mean increased production and eventually lower prices to the consumer.

'Big Boy's' Plot Goes Awry

Mrs. Gladys Bergin of Los Angeles was the target of an extortion plot which failed, after her late husband, Leo P. Bergin (above), had refused to pay a gambling debt contracted in a supposedly "framed" game. Plotters' letter is shown below.

West Sees Threat of Gang Invasion In Extortion Plot Aimed at Widow

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 8. (AP)—The revelation of an extortion plot against a wealthy widow, with the days of Arnold Rothstein's gambling reign in New York for its background, has raised new fears in some quarters of a threat of gangster rule in Los Angeles.

Southern California's metropolis rapidly is adding to its population, says District Attorney Buron Fitts, a coterie of notorious gunmen who, dispossessed of their powers in eastern cities, are journeying westward to set up new machines of criminal activity.

But Fitts' serious view is partly offset by a step taken by Joseph Taylor, police chief of detectives.

At about the time Mrs. Gladys Bergin, wealthy widow and intended victim of the extortionists, was unfolding her fears to newspaper men, Taylor announced he had disbanded the police gangster squad because "there are no gangs here."

The accidental shooting of a deputy sheriff, Harry Leslie, brought the Bergin case to light this fall after Fitts' investigators had worked secretly upon it for more than a year.

The gangland tie-up with the case apparently was strengthened with the arrest of Eddie Rollins, New York gambler and former associate of the late Rothstein, and the temporary detention of three other men.

Fitts said the woman's husband, Leo P. Bergin, wealthy soap manufacturer, who died some months ago, had been inveigled into a dice game in New York with Rollins and several others.

Bergin apaprently lost between $50,000 and $75,000, but refused to pay but a small amount when he decided he had been the victim of a frame-up.

Bergin ignored threats and after his death Mrs. Bergin was singled out and told to pay $2,000 or her children would be kidnaped.

A rendezvous was arranged with the extortionists and Leslie, lying on the floor of an automobile, was wounded seriously when his revolver discharged as he attempted to move. The extortionists did not appear but Rollins later surrendered voluntarily.

With the uncovering of the Bergin case, Fitts said he would continue to arrest known gangsters on every pretext, in the belief that if they were harassed constantly they would disappear.

ARKANSAS ASKS COTTON PACT

Uniform Curb Laws Are Proposed

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 8. (AP)—A concurrent resolution was adopted by the Arkansas senate today, calling upon the governors of the cotton growing states to appoint legislative committees to meet jointly and draft a uniform law to curb cotton production.

Under terms of the resolution, the legislatures of the various states would be bound to adopt any plan approved at the conference of state committees by a majority vote.

The governors of the cotton states were asked to appoint three members of the house and two members of the senate on each state committee.

The resolution left blank the place and date of the proposed meeting.

Rayon Company Reports Increase in Profits

CLEVELAND, Oct. 8. (AP)—An increase of 50 per cent in volume of business during the first nine months of 1931 over the same period last year was reported today by the Industrial Rayon corporation of Cleveland, manufacturers of an artificial silk.

Hiram S. Rivitz, president of the corporation, said that despite cuts of 28 cents a pound on rayon yarn during the last 21 months, a good profit was realized.

He said three times as much yarn was produced and shipped by his company in the first nine months of this year as during the same period in 1929.

Business Control of Washington Blamed for Conditions Now

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Oct. 8. (AP)—Senator Walter F. George of Georgia today blamed a "series of responsible human acts, policies and practices of government" for the depression and attributed to the Washington administration during the past 10 years the major share of responsibility for conditions.

"Business depressions do not produce themselves," Senator George told the Georgia convention of Kiwanis clubs here. He said that with the inauguration of President Harding, "the business interests of this country assumed complete control of the affairs of government. The industrial, commercial, financial—in a word, the corporate interests of America—converged in the person of Andrew W. Mellon, the secretary of the treasury.

"The group represented by him has dominated the commercial and industrial affairs of the nation for 10 years. That group is yet dominant and its spokesmen everywhere voice the whimpering excuse that our difficulties are due to general world conditions over which we have no control."

The senator said the post-war period in the United States witnessed "over-capitalization and exploitation of industry" which, he charged, "were directly encouraged by the acts and utterances of Coolidge and Mellon."

The federal government, he said, is either "unwilling or unable to extend aid to agriculture at a time when it could absorb the surplus cotton and wheat crops and carry the surplus into another harvest season for the account of the producers, thereby obtaining control over production which it has asserted again and again is the cause of our ills."

RECIPES

Croustades of Lambs' Kidneys

Soak, pare, and cut in slices six kidneys, and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Melt two tablespoonfuls butter in hot frying pan, put in kidneys and cook five minutes; dredge thoroughly with flour, and add two-thirds of a cup of boiling water or hot brown stock, cook five minutes, add more salt and pepper if needed. Lemon juice, onion juice, or madeira wine may be used for additional flavor. Kidneys must be cooked a short time, or for several hours; they are tender after a few minutes cooking, but soon toughen, and need hours of cooking to again make them tender. Serve in croustades of bread.

Croustades of Bread

Cut stale bread in two-inch slices and slices in diamonds, squares or circles. Remove centers, leaving cases. Fry in deep fat or brush over with melted butter and brown in oven. Fill with creamed vegetables, fish or meat.

Cincinnati Chickens

Split two large pork tenderloins open, lengthwise, but do not separate the halves; pound the meat with a wooden mallet until large, flat pieces result, 12 inches across at the widest part. Tie each at its narrow end and pack full of a savory bread stuffing, leaving the wide end open, and securing the meat with stitches on the under side, shaping each tenderloin something like a chicken. Cook until brown in a hot oven with frequent basting; garnish by filling skewers (4) with preserved cherries and placing where legs of real chickens would be found. Place on a bed of hot seasoned sauerkraut on a platter and garnish the edge of the dish with watercress or parsley.

Sweet Cider and Apple Croquettes

Soften in a sauce pan over the fire one-half a cup of butter and stir into it one-half a cup of flour, seasoned with one-half a teaspoonful each of salt and white pepper. Add, gradually, a pint of sweet cider, and stir until the whole boils and is very thick and smooth. This is easier to tell about than it is to do, but it has to be done for this recipe. Remove from fire, add a cup of minced, raw apples. Apples must be cored, pared and minced fine with a chopping knife in a bowl. Let all stand until cold and firm enough to form into croquettes, roll in crumbs, dip in beaten egg, roll again in crumbs, and fry in deep fat. The quantities given should make six croquettes, good chunky ones. Serve with Cincinnati chickens or with fresh pork cooked in any manner.

Raisin Pie

Grated rind and juice of two lemons
Grated rind and juice of one orange
One cupful light brown sugar
Three tablespoonfuls cornstarch pastry
One and one-fourth cupfuls water
One scant cupful walnut meats, coarsely chopped
Two cupfuls seeded raisins.
Pastry.

Cook together all ingredients except cornstarch. When it comes to a boil, thicken mixture with cornstarch mixed with one tablespoonful cold water. Use as a filling for a double crust pie and bake in a hot oven of 450 degrees F. for 40 minutes reducing the heat slightly during the last 10 minutes.

Chicken and Mushroom Curry (East Indian)

Four tablespoonfuls butter or margarine
One pound mushrooms
One cupful curry sauce
Two cupfuls cooked chicken
Two bananas.

Slice the mushrooms and saute in the fat about five minutes. Stir in the curry sauce as made below; add chicken cut in cubes and mix thoroughly but gently. When well heated, place in a serving dish and surround with very ripe bananas cut in lengthwise pieces. Serves six.

Curry Sauce

Two tablespoonfuls butter or margarine
One medium onion, chopped
One-half tablespoonful lemon juice
Two tablespoonfuls flour
One tablespoonful curry powder.
One cupful milk

Melt the fat in the top of a double boiler, add the onion and cook about two minutes but do not brown. Add the curry and flour mixed together; stir until smooth. Stir in the milk, cook until thickened, stirring constantly; add lemon juice. Place over boiling water and let it cook five minutes longer. Then keep hot until served.

One tablespoonful granulated gelatin
Three cupfuls milk
One-half cupful sugar
Three egg whites
One-eighth teaspoonful salt
One teaspoonful vanilla
Two egg yolks.

Scald milk with gelatin in double boiler. When the gelatin is dissolved add the sugar and pour slowly over the beaten egg yolks, stirring constantly. Return to the double boiler, cook until thickened, stirring. Remove, add salt and vanilla and fold in the egg whites beaten stiff. Pour into a cold wet mold and chill. Serves six.

Scotch Scones

Two cupfuls flour
One-half teaspoonful salt
Five teaspoonfuls baking powder
Two tablespoonfuls sugar
Four tablespoonfuls butter
Two eggs
One-third cupful milk.

Spanish Cream

Mix and sift flour, salt, baking powder and one tablespoonful sugar. Cut in butter with a knife. Add the beaten eggs (reserving one egg white for the tops). Add milk and mix to a soft dough. Roll out on a slightly floured board to one-half inch thickness and cut in diamond shaped pieces. Brush with white of egg and sprinkle with the remaining tablespoonful of sugar. Bake in a quick oven (425 degrees F) 10 to 15 minutes. Makes 10 to 12 scones.

Breads That Are Really Desserts

The continental custom of serving sweetened yeast breads with coffee for dessert has became popular in many sections of this country. At first only smart restaurants and clubs featured delectable coffee breads, but now enterprising bakeshops in many cities offer them as "specials."

Tray after tray of glistening grown buns with icing or jelly or nuts or fruits and an almost unlimited choice of rings, pretzels, twists and loaves—some of them smothered in powdered sugar, others shining richly through delicate frosting—every one of them baked to a turn and tasting even better than they look. And what a heavenly odor. Indeed shopping at an up-to-date bakeshop is wonderful fun.

The elaborate-looking pieces look like they were difficult to achieve, but it is possible for any careful cook to duplicate the commercial product.

Danish Pastry

One-fourth cupful sugar.
Four tablespoonfuls shortening.
One teaspoonful salt.
One cupful scalded milk.
One or two yeast cakes.
Three tablespoonfuls warm water.
Two eggs.
One-fourth teaspoonful vanilla.
One-fourth teaspoonful lemon extract.
One-fourth teaspoonful mace.
Flour (about four cupfuls).
Seven ounces (¾ cup) butter.

Put sugar, shortening, salt and scalded milk in mixing bowl. When lukewarm add yeast cake softened in warm water, eggs well beaten, flavoring and 2½ cupfuls flour. (The amount of yeast depends on the length of time allowed for rising—the shorter the time the more yeast required). Beat well, add one cupful flour, stir until well mixed, add sufficient flour to knead and knead until smooth and elastic. Let rise until double in bulk, then roll out one-fourth inch thick. Dot center portion of dough with washed butter, fold one end of the dough over, place remaining butter on top and cover with other end. Turn one-fourth way round, pat with rolling pin and roll as thin as possible. Fold each end to center, pat firmly; fold to make four layers, turn one-fourth way round and pat, lift, roll and fold three times. Cover and let rise for 20 minutes. Roll, let rise halfway, shape, let rise again and bake in a very hot oven or at 500 degrees F. for 10 minutes, reduce heat and finish baking. Serve hot or cold.

Danish pastry may be used for luncheon rolls, Parker house rolls or little tea biscuits. The way the butter is rolled into the mixture gives the product a texture like puff paste.

There are five steps in the making of this pastry—(1) mix the dough, (2) fold in the butter, (3) cut and shape, (4) bake, (5) fill and decorate.

In mixing the dough use a knife to stir the flour in and keep it as soft as possible to handle, using about four cupfuls of flour in all.

Then roll the dough out in a long strip one-fourth inch thick and dot the center portion of the rolled strip with half of the washed butter. (To wash butter, put it in a bowl of cold water, breaking it up in bits and squeeze it until it is soft and waxy; then pour the water out). Fold one end of the dough over to cover the butter; dot with the remaining buttter cut in small bits and fold the other end of the dough on top, pressing edges together firmly. You will have at this point two layers of butter and three layers of dough. These layers of butter and the layers of air which will be incorporated in the pastry when it is rolled out help to make the pastry light and give it a flaky delicate texture. Beat the folded-up dough lightly with the rolling pin and roll it out very thin, lifting the pastry frequently to prevent it from sticking and being careful to keep the corners even. Then fold it, bringing each end of the strip of dough to the middle and doubling it over, thus making four layers. Turn it one-fourth the way round on the board, pat and lift, rolling and folding again three times after putting on the butter.

There are four different ways of cutting and shaping the dough—triangles or horns, pinwheels, knots and coils. It is better to let the dough rise a while after it is rolled and cut before shaping it. Pastry keeps its shape better when it is baked if it is treated in this manner.

The triangle or horn shape is made by cutting a triangle of dough five inches long and three inches wide at the base. Let it rise, put a dab of jam or cream filling in the middle; fold the long edges together pressing firmly, then twist slightly to get the curve of the horn; brush with egg and bake, being careful not to overbrown glazed pieces. The egg gives an attractive glaze to this filled shape, which after baking may be decorated with frosting and nuts on the outside. The

SCOUTS PLAN BUSY MONTH

150 New Members Sought For Troops Here

Activities of the Boy Scouts organization during the ensuing two months, including a membership campaign to open on Oct. 19, are announced in a bulletin issued to scoutmasters Thursday by Frank B. Creighton, scout executive.

One hundred and fifty new members for the 20 troops under Mr. Creighton's supervision is the objective of the membership drive which will be concluded on Oct. 23. Seven of those troops have just been started. During the campaign, local scouts will stage demonstrations on downtown streets, in public schools, and will present programs before Sunday schools, Mr. Creighton announced. A meeting is to be held at scout headquarters in the Memorial auditorium next Sunday afternoon to complete plans for the membership campaign.

Three more sessions of the board of review will be held on Oct. 19, Nov. 2, and Nov. 16, it was announced, in order that scouts may be examined for higher ratings in scout work.

For the first time in its history, the local Boy Scout organization will hold a Mothers' night party this fall. It has been set for Friday, Oct. 23, at the Highland Heights Christian church.

Scoutmasters and their lady companions are to hold a party on Oct. 27, according to the bulletin, and on Nov. 20, the regular fall jamboree will be held. It was announced also that the annual father and son banquet will be staged in November.

TAX SURVEY OPENS OCT. 20

Oneal Invites Business Heads to Parley

AUSTIN, Oct. 8.—Senator Ben G. Oneal, chairman of the joint legislative tax survey committee, announced public hearings will be started by the committee here Oct. 20 on proposed tax bills to be considered and recommended by it.

People representing all industries and business interests, and the heads of state departments and institutions will be welcomed before the committee, Senator Oneal announced. This general notice is the only one that will be extended, and the committee does not plan to send personal invitations to any individuals, Senator Oneal said.

His statement was made after a meeting of the committee. All persons who wish to go before the joint committee were asked to so notify, Representative E. M. Barron, secretary of the committee, at Austin.

"The committee, by resolution unanimously adopted," Senator Oneal said, "has decided to give a general invitation to any and every person interested in the work of the committee, or who may be affected by its work, to appear before it and cooperate with the committee in its work."

"While the committee intends to begin at once the study of the various phases of taxation, and the various methods of taxation, no attempt to do any work on a specific bill will be undertaken until after work has been done upon the broad work of tax survey. The committee at this time considered any particular phase of taxation or any particular bill; and it is the agreement of the committee that the course I have outlined will be followed.

Mexicans Leave Benjamin To Take Land Offer

Special to The Record News

BENJAMIN, Texas, Oct. 8.—Many of the tenant Mexican farmers of this section are taking advantage of the offer of their native government and are buying land in an irrigated section south of Juarez in Old Mexico.

The colony is located about 75 miles south of the border line. Colonists are furnished food, shelter, implements and teams with which to make a crop.

The land is being sold the colonists on 40 years time and a per cent of the receipts from the crop is taken to repay for advanced supplies.

It is understood that only citizens of Mexico are allowed to buy the land in the irrigated district.

Many Mexican families who have been here for years are leaving to take advantage of the offer.

CLERK HOLDS CANNON FILE

House Official Refuses to Submit Papers

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8. (AP)—William Tyler Page, clerk of the house of representatives, today refused to give a District of Columbia grand jury original reports of campaign expenditures filed with him by Bishop James Cannon, Jr.

Page explained to the grand jury that the house was not in session and its rules prohibited him from surrendering its records without specific authorization.

The jury is investigating charges that Bishop Cannon violated the corrupt practices act in failing to report to congress on certain anti-Smith political expenditures in 1928.

The grand jury appealed to Justice James Proctor, of the District of Columbia supreme court, for a legal opinion on Page's action.

Justice Proctor asked whether a rule of the house could be held superior to an act of congress, pointing out that the corrupt practices act "seems to me necessarily involves the submission of papers to the grand jury."

"This rule," Page replied, "was laid down in 1879 and I do not think I could assume the house would condone my presentation of any part of the files."

Appeal Finds Jobs For Number of Women

Numerous women who had appealed to the Family Relief association offices for aid in finding employment were rewarded with engagements for varying periods Thursday, according to Mrs. T. B. Smith, case worker for the organization.

Requests that citizens having such work to be done telephone the Family Relief association offices appeared in the Daily Times Wednesday and in Thursday morning's Record News. Mrs. Smith said that a large number of calls for such workers was received early Thursday morning, and that applicants for employment were quickly supplied in all cases but one.

Mrs. Smith urged again that any persons having housework or other odd jobs to be done call the Family Relief association at 2-2183.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

loose DANDRUFF get rid of it!

It mars your looks

Note the picture above. This woman's hair looks clean, free from dandruff. Every woman's hair should—and can—look the same way.

Ordinary dandruff can be checked and often cured entirely by the frequent, systematic use of full strength Listerine.

You simply douse it on the scalp full strength and massage vigorously. Keep the treatment up several days. Within two weeks you will be delighted with results.

If infection is present on the surface of the skin, Listerine attacks it. A powerful germicide, it kills bacteria in 15 seconds, the fastest killing time accurately recorded by science.

Listerine helps to dissolve oily crusts and quickly removes them, as well as horny scales. And Listerine quickly relieves that burning, itching sensation. It soothes inflamed or irritated areas of the scalp.

If scalp is excessively dry, a little olive oil may be used in connection with the Listerine shampoo, or independent of it. The oil aids in dissolving crusts and scales and keeps hair from drying out. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

Cotton County Farmers Ask Murray for $35,000,000 Loan

Special to The Record News.

WALTERS, Okla., Oct. 8.—Petitions addressed to W. H. Murray, governor of Oklahoma, are being circulated in Cotton county this week asking the governor to submit a proposition to the voters of the state at the coming special election which has for its purpose the issuance of 35 million dollars in state bonds and the money loaned to farmers on their cotton, permitting them to hold the staple until a more favorable market is available. Hundreds of farmers have signed the petitions up to the present time, according to George Rogers, prominent farmer residing west of Walters, who is the originator of the plan.

Under the plan suggested by Rogers the state would issue bonds in the sum of $35,000,000. The money would be loaned to farmers on the basis of approximately $30 per bale, the cotton to be held as security for the loan until sold and the money returned.

The plan will be submitted to Governor Murray within the next few days for his approval. If satisfactory with the chief executive an effort will be made to secure sufficient names to petitions within the next two weeks to have the proposition submitted at the special election called for the first of November when the people will vote on the adoption of several special measures proposed by the governor.

Three Held in Border Counterfeiting Conspiracy

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 8. (INS)—An international counterfeiting ring, which is reported to have flooded the territory along the Texas-Mexico border with spurious $1 bills, was believed by officers to have been broken up today following the arrest of three suspects.

Equipment which officers believe had been used to manufacture the bogus bills was seized.

The arrests followed an investigation conducted by Edward Tyrrell, United States secret service agent, and Police Captain A. D. McDonald.

Oklahoman's Body Found Hanging

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., Oct. 8.—J. E. McBride, pioneer farmer of Haskell community, and residing about 13 miles northeast of Frederick, was found dead in a ravine near Kleburg, Texas. His body was hanging from a tree, wire with the barbs removed about his neck, and chest burns, apparently from carbolic acid, were detected.

McBride's brother, John McBride, of Dallas, said his brother had visited him a week ago, but he did not know of his return. Upon finding the dead man's car in his cotton field, John McBride notified officers, who assisted him in the search which led to the discovery of the body. Kleburg is south of Dallas.

Empty carbolic acid bottles were found in the deserted car. McBride was a bachelor and came and went to and from his home without notifying any one. Another brother, D. B. McBride, also of Frederick, learned of the tragedy from a telegram sent by John McBride after finding the body. The dead man was found some 15 miles from the car.

Prisoners Rebel When Robbed of Radio Program

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Oct. 8. (AP)—On top of all their other troubles, Amos 'n' Andy today were blamed by federal prison authorities here for a disturbance among the convicts which ceased early today after jeering, catcalling and the smashing of window lights.

Abandonment of daylight saving time was a teammate of the pair in causing the disorder, the authorities said.

Heretofore the prisoners have been permitted to follow the vicissitudes of the proprietors of the Fresh Air Taxi company, which began at 9 p. m. central standard time.

However, with the abandonment of daylight saving time in favor of standard, the program does not go on the air until 10 p. m. central standard time, 45 minutes after the radio must be shut off in accordance with prison rules.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Treatment for Sycosis

Question—Mr. W. V. writes: "I would like to know a treatment for sycosis. I have had this disorder for a year and have tried X-ray and other treatments without success."

Answer—There are various forms of sycosis, the most common probably being tinea sycosis, caused by a parasite similar to ringworm which infects and causes an inflammation of the hair follicles. In such cases the ultra violet light treatment and local antiseptics are very helpful. Short fruit fasts often increases the resistance of the skin against such infections.

Cause of Death While Asleep

Question—Harry asks: "What causes people to drop dead in their sleep? I read about this every once in a while and I worry for fear this will happen to me. What can be done to prevent it"

Answer—The deaths which occur during sleep are usually due to apoplexy. This can usually be prevented by avoiding high blood pressure and arterial hardening through correct eating. Worrying about such a condition would only make it worse if you have high blood pressure.

Jam Not Good With Starches

Question—A. T. inquires: "In what category are jams, marmalades and preserves? Can they be used in the diet? I am very fond of them but have not read anything by you on this subject."

Answer—I say very little in this column about jams, marmalades and preserves because I do not consider them the best kinds of food owing to the large amount of sugar which they contain. If they are used at all, it should be only in very small amounts at meals which do not contain starchy foods.

Burk Legion Hears Report of Charities

Special to The Record News.

BURKBURNETT, Texas, Oct. 8.—The American Legion Milk and Ice fund here supplied 2,000 quarts of milk and 10,000 pounds of ice to needy families during the months of August and September, according to H. D. Smith, who has charge of the fund.

About 25 families are at present receiving bread donated by the bakeries of Burkburnett, and work has been found in the cotton fields for a large number of the jobless.

Distribution of ice has now been discontinued, however, due to the exhaustion of the fund, and milk is given away only when it is donated by those who can spare it.

A fund which has been raised during the summer by charity baseball games and other means is to be used this winter to feed school children who can not afford their own lunches. It is expected that this fund will be added to from time to time by the Lions and Rotary clubs of Burkburnett.

Missionary Society Aids Relief Program

Special to The Record News

ELECTRA, Texas, Oct. 8.—There has been a number of demands for clothing for the needy, according to members of the Federated Missionary society who are sponsoring the project. The city has been divided into four districts with a chairman at the head of each district. The four chairmen are Mesdames Grace Jennings, J. M. Tanner, J. G. B. Totten, and Edward Schlaffke. Mrs. Walter Skinner is president of the society.

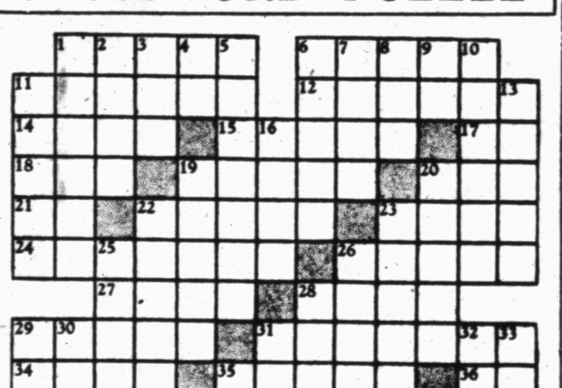

Persons having clothing they wish to donote should call one of the chairmen as all clothing can be used, and there will be a great demand when cold weather arrives. The Federated Missionary society recently sponsored a benefit baseball tournament, and the proceeds were used to buy supplies for school children who were unable to secure them.

CARDS GO INTO SIXTH GAME TODAY FAVORED TO WIN TITLE

The RAMBLER'S CORNER

By FRED D. THOMPSON

Mickey Cochrane, the A's catcher, was blowing off in a signed article the other day to the effect that "Oh, we'll find this boy Martin's weakness and then he'll be soft."

Riding on the bus yesterday, Ted Kennelly sprouted this one: "Well, I see where the A's have found Martin's weakness. They keep him from stealing bases by letting him hit home runs."

Connie Mack may pitch Earnshaw today. We rather expect him to. Lefty Grove looked terible in the two games he pitched, compared to Earnshaw, and Earnshaw didn't look so hot in one of his. The Cards can hit Lefty any day in the week. They hit Earnshaw only on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

And today is Friday.

Which is another way of saying that we believe today's game will be the last of the 1931 world series.

We believe the fighting heart of old Burleigh Grimes will carry the Cards to a world's championship. Street may use another pitcher, but the logical choice is certainly old Burleigh. Street may pull an about face and pitch Hallahan, the unbeatable, with only one day's rest. Stranger things have happened. But whoever Street pitches, we believe he plans to make his Cards shoot their bolt today, and take no chances. If the Cards lose today, we believe their chances to win the seventh and deciding game would be mighty slim.

Rouge Department

We will now take our weekly risk of turning red in the face by discussing the probable outcome of today's football games.

The attention of touchdown lovers appears to center in the Archer City-Crowell game, a class B classic in district 3 that will be unreeled before the faithful on the Archer City turf.

Crowell will win. If that's all you want to know you needn't go to the game, but fold up on a sofa and listen to some more atrocious radio programs.

But Crowell's victory will be but half of the day's entertainment, and for that reason, we advise you to hustle down to Archer City. When the Wildcats of Archer City uproot the loam and start after the Crowell boys, there's going to be considerable body-bruising, and Crowell will have reason to believe, after the game, that their victory was well-earned.

The score? Oh, now let's see. Archer City, remember, has yet to be scored on, and boasts a 26 to 0 victory over Munday, and a 38 to 0 victory over Megargel. They should certainly score on Crowell. But the Crowell team is heavier, and more experienced than the Archer lads. Crowell whipped Seymour 32 to 2, and Seymour has a fair team, they tell me. The score, then, we will say, should be something like four touchdowns for Crowell and one for Archer City. Say, Crowell 26, Archer City 7.

Olney and Burkburnett

This game will be played at Olney, and if handicaps were alloted in football, Burkburnett should be given a 50-point handicap before the game starts.

The Burk Bulldogs are pretty fair scrappers, but nowhere in the class of the Cubs, who last week smeared the Bowie outfit 52 to 0. Olney ought to walk away today with a bigger score. We say it will be 60 to 0.

Megargel vs. Chillicothe

The slaughter will be at Chillicothe. Wichita Falls hospitals and ambulances have promised their cooperation, and five physicians have volunteered their services free of charge. We venture that Coach Volney Hill of the Eagles will instruct his quarterback to use only orthodox football, because a mob of Olney and Crowell scouts will be there. Furthermore, orthodox football will be all that is required. The score: Chillicothe 50, Megargel 0.

Seymour at Vernon

This, as you know, is a practice game. Vernon is reputedly the co-favorite of the class A district No. 2, sharing this honor with the Quanah Hand Grenades. Seymour doubtless will get much practice in the defensive side of the game. Vernon backs should get a good workout in sprinting. They'll need it, after getting whipped by Grandfield last week, 19 to 13. The score as it appears to us: Vernon 32, Seymour 0.

Bowie at Bellevue

This is a district 4 class B conference game. We say Bowie, by two touchdowns. Bowie has been trampled around a lot, but their defeats were by much stronger teams, such as Olney and Wichita Falls. Bellevue lost to St. Jo last week, 18 to 7.

Graham at Newcastle

The Rambler confesses complete ignorance of Newcastle's strength. Whatever it is, though, Graham is likely to be a little stronger. Graham last week beat Throckmorton, 13 to 0.

Hedley at Memphis

This is an important game. As we understand it, unless Memphis wins, the team will be heaved out of its district. This strikes us as strange. If other districts put up such stiff requirements, there would be few teams left to compete for the championship. However, if that's the way they want to play up there, it's okay with me.

We have a notion Memphis will not be heaved out. The Memphis Cyclone is capable of much fighting. Memphis should win by the tune of one touchdown, played by special permission of the copyright owners.

Beanville vs. Turkeytrot

To guess the outcome of this game is just a breeze. President Hoover will toss out the first ball, Pepper Martin will sock it over the fence, reach in his pocket for another one and run 120 yards for the lone touchdown of the sixth inning. Batteries for Beanville: Barry Holton and Christy Wiltse; for Turkeytrot, Red Grange and Connie Mack. Time of game—Too long. Twosomes will be allowed to go through any foursome, provided they've got a good enough halfback.

The Old Brass Rail Dept

"Mr. A. Bottle" of Archer City takes poetic pen in hand as follows:

Uncluteh the Muse, Rambler, you tin horn gambler,
And wield your pen for shoes.
For Cards will never win for bards
As lousy as are youse.

Poe dies a pauper, tells many a whopper
Ere his life cycle completes;
He hoists a new bottle his face more to mottle
And dies with D. T.'s 'tween the sheets.

"Completes," and "sheets," call to mind Johnny Keats,
A promising lad with a pen;
Wrote very good verse—there's some a lot worse
But he died 'fore he could really begin.

A few are exceptions to these perceptions,
One notably Bryant, James Cullen;
At seventeen he vent his spleen—"Thanatopsis" required heavy mulling.

Keats and Poe, Rambler, became the apt Gambler
With Life, and its wine and its song.
Trek not where they stept, stumbled and wept;
Remember, to pick Red Birds is wrong.

The usual rate will be acceptable. (This was NOT written by Pat Moreland, who won the 1931 Texas poetry award. Pat is a gentleman of the cloth, and his pen will not obey cogitations of the cerebrum lower than 5,000 feet altitude).

The footnote was superfluous, Mr. Bottle (and my, what it must have had in it!) The Rev. Pat could never have penned so vile a pome as yourn. You will receive the "usual rate" for your contribution. The usual rate for bards hereabouts is immediate extinction. And watch those Cards today!

Memphis, Hedley Battle Today

Special to The Record News.

MEMPHIS, Texas, Oct. 8.—The high school Cyclones face probably the most important game of the season when they meet the Hedley eleven on the home grid here Friday. Rumors come from Hedley that they have the best team that they ever put on the field, built around a 200-pound fullback. Hedley is out of the league and if Memphis loses this game she will be automatically dropped from the league.

The Cyclones are facing the game Friday with a handicap, as Clifton Stewart, tackle, is out with a dislocated collar bone, as a result of injury received in practice Monday. Buster Leslie, half, is also out with a wrenched elbo. Four of the regular players are out of practice this week picking cotton. "We are in worse shape now than we have been in any game of the season but we expect to win," Coach Walter stated.

The starting line-up will probably be West and Melton, ends; Sanders and Dickson, tackles; Shepherd and Bagwell, guards; McGlockin and Walker, halves; Bourland, center; Flannery, quarter, and May, fullback.

Woman Communist Leader Re-Arrested

LAWRENCE, Mass., Oct. 8. (AP)—Miss Edith Berkman, Communist leader, was arrested for the second successive day as she led a column of 1,500 striking textile workers toward the courthouse where she was to be arraigned today. She had been arrested yesterday for speaking without a permit and was at liberty in $200 bail.

Harry Cantor of Boston, international labor defense counsel, who was in the group led by Miss Berkman, also was arrested.

Air Mail Increases

WASHINGTON.—Air mail and express poundage on American air lines increased during the first six months of this year 514,716 pounds over that carried during the corresponding period of 1930, the U. S. department of commerce has announced. This increase was divided into 500,000 pounds of mail and the remainder express.

FLOCK NEEDS ONE VICTORY

What Will 'Peper' Do? Is Query of Fans

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 8.—The effervescent and jubilant Cardinals and Philadelphia's still confident Athletics returned to St. Louis today for the sixth game of the 1931 world series.

Thanks mainly to "Pepper" Martin, fair-haired boy of this baseball tournament, the Cards are one game to the good in a count standing at three victories to two and for the first time since the series make-up was determined are the betting favorites. The Cardinals' cause was quoted tonight at 7 to 10. The Athletics, however, were favored to win tomorrow's game, also at odds of 7 to 10.

Outcome of this genuinely hectic series tonight seemed to depend upon three chief factors. They were:

1—The batting of Pepper Martin.
2—The pitching of both clubs.
3—Recovery of the Athletics' batting eyes.

Martin's work has been so far above his head that there are expert baseball men who believe he might go into an abrupt decline. He could, incidentally, reach the depths in the remaining competition and still be the 1931 hero.

The Pitching Problem

Many interesting speculations as to pitching apply to each of the clubs. Manager Mack of the Athletics must choose between Bob Grove, his ace left-hander, who although hit freely won the first game, and George Earnshaw who allowed but eight hits in two complete games. Gabby Street has indicated his choice would be young Paul Derringer, loser in the opener.

St. Louis, like Philadelphia, had been somewhat apathetic when the series got under way last week, but tonight the town was "baseball crazy." Everybody talked about the chances of the Cards, and, of course, everybody prefaced his remarks on the playing possibilities of Martin.

The Cards are just one game away from a championship. In other words, they could be given just twice as good a chance to win the pennant as their white elephant rivals from Philadelphia. For the Cards need to win but one of the possible two remaining games, while the Athletics, if they are to retain their baseball crown, will have to win both. And the A's won't get that second chance if they fail in the first one.

A's Hitting Off

Connie Mack, Athletics manager, told the United Press that hitting was his chief concern. Only two of his aces have come through at bat in the manner expected. Al Simmons, after a preliminary slump, had an average of .350, while Jimmy Foxx, the only consistent A's batsman, has a mark of .425. The others range from passable to plain terrible.

Grimes' magnificent two-hit performance has established him, along with Bill Hallahan, also of the Cards, and George Earnshaw of the Athletics, as one of the pitching heroes of the current series.

Martin's work at bat and on the bases (if he gets on) will be watched with enormous interest tomorrow. He needs but one hit to establish a new record for the number of safeties made in a single series. Martin now has 12 hits and has equaled the mark held by several rivals. He also has a chance to equal or beat the base stealing record. He has four steals to his credit, and the record is six. Pepper equaled one other record when he drove in four runs in the last game at Philadelphia.

May Be Grimes

If Street selects Derringer to pitch tomorrow he could be listed as something of a gambler. For young Paul did not look like any great bargain in his first duel with the lanky Bob Grove. Selection of Burleigh Grimes would seem the orthodox move.

Pack Set For Bobcats; Wildcats Tangle Today

ALLEN STARS AT CENTER JOB

Converted End Appears To Belong There

By FRED THOMPSON
Record News Sports Editor

The ways of fate are not to be fathomed.

Thursday, two days before the conference opener with the Childress Bobcats, found Jack Gentry, regular center of the Coyotes, ill in bed. Fortunately, the illness was regarded as slight, and Gentry was expected to be up and around by Friday morning, and able to play in the Saturday game.

But the story is not half told yet. J. R. Holton, who alternated with Gentry, has been out of the game for two weeks with an injury. So Thursday Raymond Allen, an end by choice, but who is without a doubt the best center to perform for the Coyotes in recent years, was run in at the vacated position.

Allen's great showing at center, and the ball lugging of Bill Jenkins, halfback, were high spots in the scrimmage Thursday, at the conclusion of which the Pack looked, and felt, all primed to go after the Bobcats. Thursday was the last hard day of practice, the climax of the toughest week of work since the season opened. A light workout, as a final conditioner, was on the program today.

Change Your Mind, Boy!

All efforts last season to persuade Allen to hold down the center post proved futile, as the iron-jawed gridder held to his determination to play end. Apparently it is to be the same story this season. But if Allen should change his mind, and play center, a position for which he has every natural talent, it is the consensus of all concerned that the Coyote Pack would be improved by no less than 1,000 per cent. Allen already compares favorably with McDannald of Electra, voted all-district center last year, and with a little hustle possibly could nose McDannald out of the race for all-district honors this year.

Yesterday he was a powerhouse on the defense as the regulars engaged a reserve team in a short game, and once during the melee intercepted a pass and raced half the distance of the field for a touchdown.

Young Bill Jenkins is showing a world of power at the halfback post, teaming with Capt. Benny Withrow. Yesterday Jenkins got off for some long gains, and was hard to stop at all times. Withrow turned up in good shape, his shoulder, injured two days ago, bothering him hardly at all.

Hawthorne at Full

Holton continued to use W. J. Hawthorne at fullback, in place of Bob Daugherty. Whether Hawthorne will get the assignment Saturday is a much-discussed question. Daugherty has a weak ankle, and is not all that he should be on the defense, but his plunging ability shades Hawthorne's.

Dick Warren continued to bark commands for the regulars, an indication that he will get the nod in preference to Powell Saturday. As for the rest of the team, all appears set, with Greenwood and Brandon at ends, Lucius and Sepkovitch at tackles, and Mauldin and Reynolds at the guard posts. Lucius, the big tackle, has been showing up fine of late, and is counted on as one of the mainstays of the front end. Mauldin, of course, is still everywhere on every play, and is well on the way to set the pace for guards of this district. And all the other boys are right in there, too—ready to go.

Parade Here Saturday

William E. Huff and P. S. Richardson, members of a committee in charge of the special train to Childress Saturday, announced plans for a parade through the business section Saturday morning as a send-off for the team. The high school band of 36 pieces, directed by Tom McCarty, and the girls' pep squad, will head the parade, which will start from the Hamilton building at 8:15 o'clock Saturday morning. All high school students are urged to be on hand to participate. Gene Llepold will be in charge of the parade, which will wind up at the depot. The special pulls out at 9 o'clock, and is due in Childress at noon.

Arriving at Childress, another parade is planned, from the Childress depot to the Childress hotel, which will be headquarters for the team during the stay there.

What? No Skirts?

The girls' pep squad probably will appear in the parade here Saturday morning, and at the Childress game, attired in stunning red and black uniforms purchased only recently. There was an element of doubt yesterday, however. The uniforms had to be ordered, and yesterday everything had arrived—except the skirts. The "tams" are here, the red sweaters are here; but the black skirts essential to the well-dressed girl pep squad members apparently had been temporarily lost in transit. Assurance came, however, that the girls would be on hand for the parade Saturday morning, and at the game in Childress if they had to wear bathing suits. It was hoped that the missing skirts would arrive in today's mail, or express, or freight, or whatever it takes to transport skirts.

Big Crowd Assured

Mr. Huff estimated yesterday that 350 tickets for the special train had been sold. A definite check was impossible, however. At any rate the 200 tickets set as the required number to obtain the special round trip rate of $2.15 has been far oversubscribed, and Wichita Falls will be well represented at the leather-totin' fracas.

Tickets are still for sale and may be obtained at the State Trust company (Bill Huff's office on Scott avenue) or at the high school. In case some fans make up their minds to go at the last minute, tickets will be available Saturday morning at the depot.

A TENNIS K. O.

LONDON.—Two women were engaged in a tennis game. They were jealous rivals and although they had refused repeatedly to play against one another, drew each other in a singles match. One of the players gradually drew ahead of the other. Then she won the game. Afterward they went into the dressing room. In there the loser of the game picked a fight with the winner and knocked her out.

Bonner, sharpshooter of the Wichita Falls Golf and Country club, toured Iowa Park's nine-hole course twice in 71 strokes, one over par, to set the pace in the qualifying round today. On the first nine he was one under par, but coming in he wavered, shooting a 37.

QUANAH DRUBS DUKE, 53 TO 0

Tigers Miss Scoring Chance In First Period

Special to The Record News.

QUANAH, Texas, Oct. 7.—The Quanah Indians turned back the Duke Tigers with a 53 to 0 score on the Quanah field Thursday afternoon. The game, scheduled for Friday, was moved up because of the rodeo festival which opens here tomorrow.

The Tigers were the heaviest and scrappiest team the Indians have met this year, but lacked scoring punch. The Quanah goal was threatened only once early in the first quarter when a pass from Clemens to Patton carried the ball to the Indians' three-yard line. There Quanah's heavy line, led by Captain Harrell, Blue and Bolton, made the Tigers lose three yards in four plays. Then Rogers, fullback for Quanah, punted out of danger.

Quanah got off to a slow start and the first quarter was scoreless. The Indians came back with three touchdowns in the second. Cox, halfback and speed merchant for the Indians, led the scoring attack. Rogers ripped the Tiger line with his dashes off tackle. Marsalis and Faircloth got loose for nice gains. The line did marvelous blocking and defensive work.

Bolton, Richardson, Harrell and Barnett were outstanding in the lineup for Quanah. Perry and Pruitt starred for Duke.

The lineups:

QUANAH (53)	POS	DUKE (0)
Faircloth	Q.B.	Holley
Marsalis	L.H.	Maloney
Cox	R.H.	Patton
Rogers	F.B.	Clemens
Jones	L.E.	Babbitt
Harrell	L.T.	Pruitt

Leopards Ready For Paris Eleven

Coach Daniels put the Washington school Leopards through a light signal practice Thursday afternoon preparatory for the Leopard-Paris high school game Friday afternoon at Washington school park.

The boys of the manual training department have enlarged the ticket booth, and have made more substantial the section of bleachers for white patrons on the east side of the playing field.

Graham Pep Squad Reorganized at Meeting

Special to The Record News.

GRAHAM, Texas, Oct. 8.—The Graham pep squad, considered by many the best in Northwest Texas, was reorganized at a recent meeting of students, with the following leaders: La Rue Huffines and Mary Bunger, leaders; Christian McLain and Mildred Walker, sergeants at arms; Marie Talley, treasurer; Verna Mae Babb, reporter and Nell Sammons, sponsor. The mascotts, Bobby and Billy Bolin, were elected for the second year. The Graham pep squad, referred to by "The Rambler" in the Wichita Falls paper as the group that left such a vivid impression on him during the Graham-Nocona game last season, never slacks in any game. From beginning to the final whistle they work for the home team.

GRID SCRAP AT ARCHER CITY

Graves' and Cooper's Boys In Outstanding Tilt

Two families of Wildcats, Coach Grady Graves' tribe from Crowell and the Archer City household of Coach Bill Cooper, will tangle at Archer City this afternoon in the outstanding game of a day that will usher in the usual week-end gridiron contests of this section.

Victors in two league contests already, the Archer City outfit appears stronger this season than it has been in years, while Crowell, enjoying its first year of competition in district No. 3, class B, looms as a bang-up contender for the championship. Today's scramble will afford Archer City its first real opposition of the year, and will also afford fans an opportunity to see how the Crowell machine behaves when up against a bunch of tough scrappers. For that's what the Archer county boys are reputed to be.

Many fans of this section planned to attend the fracas.

Meanwhile other league games will be going on in other class B towns, both in district 3 and district 4.

Burk at Olney

Other district 3 games include the Burkburnett Bulldogs' battle with the Olney Cubs at Olney; and Megargel's game with the Eagles at Chillicothe. Seymour will play a practice game with the class A Vernon team at Vernon. Munday, eighth member of the district, was scheduled to play Henrietta, which dropped out of the conference this week. Munday has no game booked for this week-end.

Vernon's game with Seymour will be the only contest involving a class A district No. 2 team today. Quanah played Duke, Okla., yesterday, and Wichita Falls will meet Childress in the first conference game of the season at Childress the same day.

In district No. 4, class B, a number of conference games are scheduled, but the ones most likely to interest fans of thi sregion will be Bowie at Bellevue and Graham at Newcastle. It will be the first league start for three of the teams, Bowie, Graham and Newcastle. Last week Saint Jo defeated Bellevue, 18 to 7. Saint Jo this Friday will play Henrietta in a practice game.

Another Muddle

Other conference games in the district include Weatherford vs. Bridgeport and Decatur vs. Graford. Masonic home of Fort Worth was booked to play Handley, but the principal of the Handley school writes that his team was never entered in the district. Everybody up in this neck of the woods was under the impression that Handley was in the district, and a schedule including Handley was drawn up accordingly. It would clarify matters a great deal if officials of district 4 would get together, determine who is competing, and stick to some sort of a schedule. As it is, fans are continually bewildered, and never know whether a game is to be counted in the championship.

Other games on today's card include the following:

Lawton, Okla. at Amarillo.
Waurika, Okla. at Dundee, Okla.
Slaton at Lubbock.
Alvord at Justin.
Mangum, Okla. at Clinton, Okla.
Hollis, Okla. at Frederick, Okla.
Tipton, Okla. at Olustee, Okla.
Wilson, Okla. at Duncan, Okla.
Sayre, Okla. at Shamrock.
Wellington at McLean.
Borger at Clarendon.
Weatherford, Okla. at Altus, Okla.
Hedley at Memphis.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Oct. 8. (AP)—An early decline which culminated shortly after the publication of a larger government crop indication than expected, was followed by rallies in cotton today.

December contracts, which sold off to 5.47 after the government report, or 24 points net lower, rallied to 5.89, but lost part of the advance in the late trading under increased hedging and closed at 5.79. The general market closed barely steady at net advances of 8 to 10 points.

The opening was barely steady 9 to 10 points lower under southern selling coupled with some pre-bureau liquidation. Relatively steady Liverpool cables and reports of showers in eastern and central belt sections evidently failed to bring in much buying at the start, and the demand was supplied on slight bulges.

The market firmed up during the afternoon on the firmness of the stock market and the more optimistic view of the general outlook following recent developments in Washington.

Active months sold 10 to 20 points above yesterday's closing quotations on this advance which carried March up to 6.18, but there was a little more southern selling in the late trading and closing prices showed reactions of 7 to 12 points from the best on December and later positions.

The action of the market following the government crop indication of 16,234,000 bales was regarded as suggesting the presence of trade orders to buy on any decline after the figures as well as considerable covering. Liverpool cables attributed the early steadiness in that market to local and continental buying and reported a sustained demand for cotton cloths from China. Exports today 16,988, making 911,518 so far this season. Port receipts 42,838. U. S. port stocks 3,556,500.

Futures closed barely steady, 8 to 10 points higher. Spot quiet; middling 5.85.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 8. (AP)—Today being bureau day, there were the usual surprises and activity in the cotton market, not the least of which was the show of strength which carried values up after the bearish government figures estimating a crop of 16,284,000 bales and giving the ginnings to Oct. 1 as 5,408,302 bales.

Both figures were larger than expected but heavy buying by traders and investors who expressed belief the big crop will never all be picked, short covering, and firm stocks gave support. Prices rallied $2 a bale from the lowest of the day to show net gains of about 30 cents a bale at the close.

Liverpool is due tomorrow 9 penny points up.

Liverpool cables came in 4 to 8 penny points better than due and private cables stated that local traders and the continent bought on lower sterling. Manchester cabled the cloth demand from China was sustained.

Active trade and investment buying developed and the stock market also showed strength. Buying coupled with short covering caused prices to rally sharply. December closed at 5.76 and January at 5.87 or 6 points net higher for the day on both months.

Port receipts 42,838; for week 308,471; for season 1,795,318; last season 2,968,567; exports 11,988; for week 63,030; for season 887,056; last season 1,411,432. Port stock 3,562,690; last year 2,972,362. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 139,190; last year 111,619. Spot sales at southern markets 88,485; last year 38,221.

Futures closed steady at net advances of 5 to 7 points:

Stock Market Booms Again Under Great Rush of Buying Orders

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Oct. 8. (US)—Another booming stock market which approached in net gains the remarkable market of Tuesday was witnessed today. Bond prices also surged forward impressively. Action of the markets definitely indicated that Wednesday's reaction represented but a breathing spell in the upward movement.

There were no new developments to account for the further bulge in quotations of stocks, except perhaps the existence of a suddenly-inspired accumulation of buying orders which had missed the initial price appreciation. Such sudden turnabout of sentiment is common to all speculative markets; it is as difficult to understand the overnight great enthusiasm and rush to buy indiscriminately as it was to reasonably reconcile the mad rush to liquidate all over the list up to a few days ago.

The market is expressing its great relief over the indisputable fact that some start has been made toward tackling the depression; conservative analysis allows for the time requirement in emerging from a great economic relapse.

The very breadth and extent of the advance in stocks demonstrated that discrimination had been thrown to the winds in the frantic rush to buy. This was a most unwelcome element in an otherwise pleasing display of the nation's recovery from the fit of despondency which had been carrying sound securities down to prices totally unwarranted.

At the same time, there is no reason for the entire nation to assume that immediately all of the ills created by the depression or the evils still existing in the general situation had, overnight, disappeared. The problem is vast and the investor is warranted in displaying calmness in selection of securities, both as to price and investment qualities.

The pace of the market's upturn has been rapid and there has been a degree of artificiality of tremendous help to the constructive element in the disclosure of each and every short-sale. Speculation also is becoming rife on the bull side. A good many amateur shorts who had enjoyed a long and profitable reign have received severe chastisement in the present recovery; the biggest bear operators have been on the sidelines.

With the market booming merrily forward and without a setback of material proportions, the very nature of the many rumors which always fill Wall street changed abruptly. From the persistent depressing stories of banking troubles, brokerage difficulties, personal and group worries, appeared a new type of story. From the present half-billion-dollar "liquidation enterprise," will develop, according to the most persistent rumor, a vast federal reserve-controlled entity which will permit rediscounting of many different types of commercial and financial paper, even including bonds and mortgages. Such talk is wholly unwarranted, since a major offensive will be waged by powerful cliques against any expansion of the federal reserve powers which will bring it, for example, into the securities market direct or into the real estate market.

However, other projects of monumental importance undoubtedly are under consideration, and the market went ahead serene in the thought that the railroads will next receive favorable attention. The rail list of stocks, and the second-grade speculative railroad bonds enjoyed decidedly substantial advances, virtually as great as Tuesday's mad uprush.

The report spread that a 7½ per cent advance in rates would be approved by the Interstate Commerce commission as a week-end "surprise." This would be half the desired 15 per cent advance sought by the carriers and there is a strong feeling in important circles that a total refusal by the commission would be more welcome than any modest increase in rates. At least with rate increase refused, the roads could prepare for wage reduction, which is more earnestly desired.

There was no stopping the advance, seemingly. Steel common closed up 5⅛, General Motors 3⅛, American Telephone 7⅝, North American and Consolidated Gas 5 each, Du Pont 6, New York Central 6⅝, American Can 5⅝ and the ever-spectacular Auburn was up 22 points net.

If anything were needed to hammer home the proof that outright liquidation of panicky nature had forced the terrific decline prior to this week's recovery, it was furnished in the disclosure that brokerage loans during the past week dropped $171,000,000 to the new low total of $1,001,000,000. From the peak of October, 1929, these loans have declined $5,800,000,000. Certainly, deflation in this direction has been carried to reasonable limit.

Not until after the market had closed was announcement made that the federal reserve bank of New York rediscount rate has been advanced a full one per cent to a new level of 2½. Even prior to the inauguration of the "revival campaign" Wall street had been expecting such action. When the rate was lowered last May to the record low of 1½ per cent, it was plainly intended to help the bond market, but that desire was hardly fulfilled by subsequent events. The present increase is a return to normalcy in federal reserve procedure and hardly should influence the securities market, except perhaps among some of the highest-type issues and perhaps some short-term securities. One very probable effect will be to improve bank earnings.

The reserve action was also influenced by the increased demand upon the system's resources, as evidenced by a sudden sharp expansion in discounts and in note circulation. National note circulation the past week increased $172,000,000.

Commodities joined the forward movement. All markets are dominated by the expectation of the speculative fraternity that some degree of inflation may be under way.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 8. (AP)—Broader demand, largely inspired by decrease of Russian wheat exports and by curtailment of estimates of Germany's wheat yield, jerked all grains upward today. Reported efforts to cancel vessel charters for grain shipments from Russia led the reductions that North American wheat would hereafter be bought more freely for overseas. Besides, primary receipts of domestic wheat today were the smallest in a long while.

Wheat closed strong, 2¼@2⅝c higher, corn 2@2⅝c advanced, oats ⅝@1¼c up, and provisions at a shade to 10c gain.

Contrary to all recent experience, buying power augmented on price advances in grains today and another novel development was dearth of selling pressure on bulges. Stock market gains and Liverpool reports of a better milling call for wheat were contributing bullish factors. The sharpest upturns in wheat values, however, came after reports apparently confirming previous advices that Russia had a disappointing spring wheat crop, and would possess much less wheat than last year for shipment abroad.

Commercial estimates of Germany's 1931 wheat crop were 16,000,000 bushels smaller than recent official estimates.

Canadian reports indicated that wheat stocks on farms and in transit were about 49,000,000 bushels less than was the case a year ago. Corn and oats rose chiefly in response to wheat strength.

Provisions advanced owing to sympathy with hog values and grains.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, Dec., 47⅝@¾, 49⅝@¾; May, 51⅝, 53⅝@¾; July, 52¼@54½.

Corn, Dec., 34⅝@35; 36¼; May, 39¼, 40⅝@⅝. July, 41⅛, offers.

ESTIMATES OF COTTON HIKED

U. S. Forecasts Crop of 16,284,000 Bales

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8. (UP)—Based on condition as of Oct. 1, the department of agriculture today estimated the cotton crop in the United States at 16,284,000 bales.

This compared with the Sept. 1 estimate of 15,685,000 bales and 14,486,000 bales on Oct. 1, 1930.

Final yield last year was 13,932,000 bales, indicating, on the latest estimate, an increase of 2,352,000 bales in cotton production this year.

Condition of the crop as of Oct. 1 was placed at 69.3 per cent of normal, against 68.0 per cent on Sept. 1. This approximates a yield of 190.5 pounds of lint cotton per acre, against a yield indicated on Sept. 1 of 183.6 pounds, a final yield of 1930 of 147.7 pounds and a 10-year average of 154.4 pounds.

Cotton ginned from the 1931 crop prior to Oct. 1 totaled 5,408,307 running bales against 6,303,895 bales for the corresponding period of 1930 and 5,903,265 bales for the like 1929 period.

Cotton Pickers in Demand at Electra

Special to The Record News

ELECTRA, Texas, Oct. 8.—There is a gerat demand for cotton pickers in the Electra area. The amount of cotton ginned this year has already amounted to three times as much as was ginned at this time last year.

The cotton picking season has lessened the demands upon the local charity board, according to G. J. Price, chairman of the board. There are approximately 20 or 25 families being fed by charity now as compared to 80 families at the beginning of the cotton picking season.

MacDonald's Daughter To Open His Campaign

LONDON, Oct. 8. (AP)—Miss Ishbel MacDonald, daughter of the prime minister, will leave London tomorrow to open her father's campaign in Seaham harbor for a seat in the house of commons.

Mr. MacDonald, who will be 65 years old Monday, will have a birthday breakfast with his three daughters and others before Miss Ishbel's departure.

The Labor party, which has 480 candidates in the general election campaign and is expected to increase the number to 500, intends to make a strong campaign in virtually every constituency with the possible exception of Malcolm MacDonald's.

The prime minister's son has escaped much of the bitterness heaped upon other labor members of parliament who followed his father into the national government.

LETTER JOLTS 'AL'S' DEFENSE

Offer to Pay 'Reasonable' Income Tax Aired

similar letter, which Lawyer Mattingley had written to Louis H. Wilson, a Chicago agent of the internal revenue department.

"You've got Capone nailed to the cross now," shouted Albert Fink of "Scarface Al's" counsel. "Admission of this letter would put him in the final hole."

Judge Wilkerson ruled that the letter was admissible. Capone mopped his dampish brow with a dampish handkerchief, and court was adjourned.

Fink and Michael Ahern, Capone's other attorney, battled valiantly to hush the story of Capone's speckled career as revealed in Lawyer Mattingley's first letter. But they had no luck and so this is what the court heard about Capone, as revealed by his own lawyer, long since fired:

Capone was a poor but honest youth, clerking for John Torrio, he handled much cash, did poor "Scarface Al," but all he got for his own was $75 a week. The other money flowing in from "the organization's" profits he looked upon as his "by right of possession only." He didn't think it counted.

So up against it was Capone that he owned no property, he never did have a large income, he owned no stocks, bonds or race horses. he had no checking account and he carried what little money he possessed in his pockets. For all that Capone was such an upstanding youth that if the government really felt he owed some taxes, well then, Capone would be willing to divide up if the government could find anything to divide.

That, in effect, was Lawyer Mattingley's letter, as read by Assistant District Attorney Sam Clawson. It caused Capone to mutter and the five prosecutors to grin.

Opposing attorneys argued so long about the letters that only two witnesses had time to testify. One was Helen Alexander, who was pretty and brunette and who said she rented "A. Capone and L. La Cava" a safety deposit box, while she was a teller at the Pinkert State bank. Wilson was the other witness. He told about getting Mattingley's second letter; indicated he'd like to tell more about it.

Chicago Council Offers Money-Saving Scheme

CHICAGO, Oct. 8. (AP)—A system of super-government designed to save the taxpayers of Cook county and Chicago $50,000,000 annually has been proposed by the city council sub-committee.

Under the plan a "Chicago metropolitan council" would have jurisdiction over all Cook county and the territory within 30 miles of the city's limits.

The sub-committee said expenditures amounting to $142,000,000 in Cook county in 1920 had increased to $295,000,000 in 1929 and estimated that the cost in 1931 would be $300,000,000. This, the body said, was out of proportion with the growth of population and wealth, and, in some instances, was caused by numerous duplications in the duties of county and city officers.

The sub-committee estimated that there were 415 separate taxing bodies in Cook county with overlapping duties.

Al Capone Goes on Trial

Mrs. Dawson Gives Pastry Recipes

other shapes may be glazed or not.

Pinwheels are made from four-inch squares. Make a diagonal cut from each corner almost to the center. Let rise and when light fold each alternate point to the center, pressing it down firmly.

Knots are made from strips cut one-fourth inch wide. Place two strips together and twist into any desired shape. Figure 8's are made by twisting the strip into the proper shape, bringing the end together. Letter S's are similar except that the ends are not brought together. True lovers' knots are made by tying the strips and pulling the ends through. For the familiar brioche shape bring the ends around around to one side and coil them separately.

Coils are made from pieces eight inches long and from one to two and one-half inches wide. Cut these strips the long way in two, three, four or five strips one-half inch wide without cutting through one end of the pastry. Let rise, then hold this uncut end with the left hand, twist the pastry lightly with the right and coil around the uncut center portion, tucking in the ends of the strips.

With the exception of the horns, Danish pastry is filled and decorated after baking. A lemon butter filling may be used for this purpose. To make it put in a double boiler two tablespoonfuls butter, one-third cup sugar, one egg well beaten, the grated rind of a lemon and one tablespoonful lemon juice. Stir over hot water and cook slowly until thick.

When the pastry is taken from the oven brush each piece with confectioner's frosting made by mixing one tablespoonful water with confectioner's sugar to thicken and flavoring it with vanilla. Nuts may then be sprinkled over the top and the centers of the pinwheels and coils and the hollow places in the knots filled with lemon butter.

Nut Buns

Two cakes yeast, one cupful milk (scalded and cooled), one cupful lukewarm water, one tablespoonful sugar, seven cupfuls sifted flour, six tablespoonfuls shortening, one-half cupful sugar, three eggs, and one-half teaspoonful salt, brown sugar, cinnamon and nut meats. Dissolve yeast and one tablespoonful sugar in lukewarm liquid. Add three cupfuls flour and beat until smooth. Add shortening and sugar, thoroughly creamed, and eggs beaten until light. Gradually add the remainder of the flour, or enough to make a moderately soft dough, and the salt. Turn on board, knead lightly, then place in a greased bowl, cover and set aside in a warm place to rise for about two hours. Roll out in oblong piece, one-fourth inch thick. Brush with melted butter, sprinkle with brown sugar, cinnamon and chopped nuts (pecans, hickory nuts or English wanuts are suitable). Roll up lengthwise and with scissors cut off half-inch pieces. Place in greased muffin tins, cover and let rise on hour, or until light. Just before putting in oven, glaze with egg, diluted with milk, and bake for 25 minutes. Ice while hot with plain icing and sprinkle with nut meats.

Recipes for other breads that may be used as dessert will be given next week.

THRONGS VISIT COUNTY FAIR

Cattle Exhibits Draw Crowd's Interest

the pasture. Mr. Keith's show herd is off on the Midwest circuit, begining at Sedalia, Mo., and ending at the Dallas fair. Mr. Keith is showing Princess Domino 11th, a fine two-year-old cow, and three young bulls. Mr. Keith stated that his purpose of entering the show was mainly cooperation, as his show herd was not entered. However, the cattle entered rank high and show quality.

The R. O. Harvey farm, six miles north of Wichita Falls, is showing five head of polled Herefords. Mr. Harvey has shown these animals in local fairs before and at the Fat Stock show in Fort Worth. Mr. Harvey explained that the original herd of polled, natural hornless Herefords, numbered 10, 25 years ago, and that the registration numbers now are nearing the 100,000 mark. He said the hornless feature is fast gaining popularity.

Burnett Shows Cows

Tom L. Burnett is exhibiting 10 pure bred non-registered two-year-old cows from his Triangle ranch near Iowa Park.

Rabbit judging started Thursday afternoon. Russell Middleton, of Amarillo, secretary of the Bevern Breeding association, who in the past two weeks has judged rabbits at Trinidad, Colo., and Lubbock, is judging rabbits. L. L. Counts, superintendent of this department, stated that 150 head are entered and that the quality of the animals is far above average. Mr. Middleton is an official judge of the American Rabbit and Cavy Breeders association and judges by the standards of that organization.

N. B. Spearman, of Fort Worth, was judging the poultry Thursday. Mr. Spearman is an official judge of the American standard of poultry and judges the birds by a standard of comparison rather than by a score card. Sammie Williams, manager of this department, said 150 chickens, 100 turkeys, and 320 pigeons are on exhibit. These are high quality birds and far outnumber entries of any previous fair at Iowa Park.

Cattle Judging Saturday

J. W. Ridgeway, of Fort Worth, will judge cattle Friday. This promises to be one of the most interesting features of the fair, and Mr. Ridgeway, who is a national dairy cattle judge, makes of his work an object lesson, by pointing out and explaining in detail, the reasons for his decisions. Farmers who are interested in raising the quality of their herd should make it a point to hear the reasons given for awards in this division.

It was announced that a free rodeo performance during the afternoon would be given at the old rodeo pen. This will be under the direction of M. L. (Boss) Smith and Herman Mitchell.

Carnival Show

Carnival attractions are furnished by the Tidwell shows, who carry seven rides, and many sideshows. This show has furnished carnival features at the former fairs at Iowa Park and is commended for offering nice, clean shows.

Judging in school booths was finished late Thursday. Ten schools have booths this year, two of these, Friberg and Howard school, did not enter exhibits last year. Competing schools are Clara, City View, Friberg, Rocky Point, Pleasant Valley, Cobb, Howard, Valley View, Iowa Park ward, and Deep Creek. Iowa Park High and Iowa Park home economics class also have booths. These exhibits were attracting many visitors Thursday, and the exhibits were of a high grade.

Alimony Demand Halts Husband's Suicide Plans

CHICAGO, Oct. 8. (AP)—There's no telling what might have happened to Anton Kollman, 23, if it hadn't been for alimony.

"I love my wife and can't stand living any longer without her," he wrote in a note he left at the home of his cousin, Harry Hesotian. "I'm going to end it all tonight at the church where we were married."

Shortly after nightfall he walked up the steps of the church. At the door two men seized him. One extracted a bottle of poison from Kollman's coat. They identified themselves as deputy sheriffs.

"Who sent you here?" demanded Anton.

"Your wife," he was told. "She wants to see you."

Gladly Kollman accompanied the officers to a police station cell.

"Say, when do I get to see my wife?" he asked.

"In the morning," one of the officers replied. "She and Judge Thomas Lynch want to know why you're behind in your temporary alimony payments."

TAX PAYMENTS SHOW INCREASE

Penalties in Effect After Oct. 15

Payment of county taxes has increased materially during the present week, County Tax Collector Arthur C. Howard stated Thursday in announcing that interest and penalty for delinquency will be imposed on unpaid taxes after midnight of next Thursday, Oct. 15.

The penalty to be added will be 5 per cent of the unpaid balance, he said. Interest chargeable on delinquent taxes will be at the rate of 10 per cent from Feb. 1 to Oct. 15, and 6 per cent from Oct. 15 until paid.

Collections will continue to be made under the law passed last winter, Mr. Howard said, in compliance with advice from the state comptroller. Disregard of the new law, enacted recently by the legislature, is the result of Atty. Gen. James V. Allred's statement that he believes the new measure unconstitutional. It purposes to remit penalties and interest on delinquent taxes.

School And College News

Hiking Club

A generous grub, followed by a business discussion, was the incentive for the meeting of nearly 100 per cent of the members of the Junior College Girls' Hiking club at the home of Miss Mary C. Boone on Bluebonnet hill Wednesday night.

Miss Dorothy Holland, who came to Wichita Falls from Nashville, Tenn., to attend the local junior college, was voted into the club.

Wednesday afternoon the girls will have their next hike, and the members will direct the initiation ceremonies for all candidates for membership.

The girls to be initiated are Misses Dorothy Holland, Margaret Bone, Nora Katherine Douglas, Loraine Mathis and Nell Reed.

Miss Katherine Stewart, vice president of the hikers, presided over the business session. Mrs. T. R. Boone, mother of the hostess, welcomed the girls to use their home on Bluebonnet hill at any time for meetings.

Girl Reserves

"Don't be ordinary" was the advice of Coach Barry Holton to the members of the Girl Reserve of the Wichita Falls High school and Junior college at their regular meeting Thursday morning.

Mr. Holton was included on a program of entertainment and addresses.

Bill Marshall, junior college student, gave the devotional at the beginning of the program. Other features were a violin solo by Miss Loraine Mathis, accompanied by Miss Frances Maryp Krauss, vocal solos by Miss Virginia Barron, former junior college student, and a tap dance by Mary Turner of the Gross studio, accompanied by Miss Mary Sue Elliott.

Miss Jean Hunter, president of the Girl Reserves, was in charge of the program.

Pep Squad Ready for Game

Every one passing the high school campus during the afternoons this week has paused to witness the uniform drill, energetic yells, and nearly perfect formation of the significant "W" through the din of the school band's music by the 100 girls of the pep squad.

The pep squad and band have been practicing regularly under the direction of Miss Davida Olinger, gym teacher, and Tom McCarty, band director.

The girls are preparing for the game with Childress Saturday in Childress.

School officials are expecting an unusually large crowd to attend the game by the special train sponsored by business men of this city.

County Court Case To Test Plumbing Law

Test of the constitutionality of the city plumbing license requirements will be made soon in the county court at law, according to Wayne Somerville, attorney for Dave Alexander, negro, charged in police court this week with violation of the city ordinance.

In transferring the case to the county court, Mr. Somerville declared his belief that the local ordinance conflicts with the state code. No date for the trial had been set Thursday.
