OPEC agrees to cut production of oil

GENEVA (AP) — OPEC oil ministers adopted a majority agreement on oil production cuts early today that is designed to rapidly increase oil prices, officials said.

The accord, ending 10 days of intense bargaining, marked the first joint OPEC production cuts in more than two years.

No details were immediately available, but Libyan Oil Minister Fawzi Shakshuki told reporters earlier that the expected agreement would exclude Iraq and possibly Iran.

"It will exclude everybody who does not want to sign," Shakshuki said. "At least 11 will sign anyway."

Iraq's oil minister, Qassim Taki al-Oraibi, confirmed he would not sign the majority accord on production cuts, which were to reduce OPEC's output by about 7 percent from current levels.

Iraq had said it would refuse to join the deal because the other members would not give in to Iraq's demand for a production level equal to Iran's.

During a break in the evening meeting, Shakshuki indicated there had been a break in the deadlock in the nine-day-old conference.

He said the ministers were putting the final touches on a formal joint declaration. "Everything will be included," he said, referring to the production-cutting plan.

The proposed production cuts are aimed at boosting oil prices to OPEC's target of $18 a barrel.

Oil prices rose sharply Thursday after Saudi Arabia and Iran gave up trying to force Iraq to join the cuts, and the trend continued Friday.

In late trading on the New York Mercantile Exchange, contracts for January delivery of West Texas Intermediate, the benchmark U.S. crude, stood at $16.18, up 12 cents from Thursday's close.

Iraq had refused from the Dec. 11 start of the conference to cut its production below the Iranian level, while Iran had insisted no deal could be done without Iraq's participation.

On Thursday, Iran dropped its objections to Iraq being excluded. But in a lengthy round of private talks on Friday, Iran raised the possibility that it also would drop out.

The Tehran government earlier had rejected the idea of excluding itself from the production accord, because it had staked much of its political clout on putting the agreement together in the first place.

Saudi Arabia and the other conservative governments on the Arabian Peninsula have helped Iraq finance its war against Iran, which now is in its seventh year.

The leaders of the Organization of Petrolum Exporting Countries also were working on details of a plan for restoring a unified system of fixed OPEC oil prices. The system had been discarded a year ago when OPEC sought to win a bigger share of the world market.

Conference sources said the ministers were likely to put off a final decision on implementing the pricing system until a later meeting, possibly next spring.

OPEC's most immediate priority is cutting its oil production to dry up the world oil glut and send prices up to $18 a 42-gallon barrel from the current range of about $13 to $16 a barrel.

The probable effect of such a strategy on retail prices of gasoline and other oil products is hard to judge, because any OPEC production cuts would not necessarily cause a uniform rise in oil prices.

America West Airlines will be coming to Regional Airport

By PATRICK CRIMMINS
Staff Writer

America West Airlines will become the fifth carrier to serve Midland Regional Air Terminal, and the third in less than a month to begin service when flights begin Jan. 15, it was announced Friday.

The airline will offer two daily nonstop flights each to Austin and Phoenix.

Mark Coleman, senior vice-president of market planning for the Phoenix-based airline, said at an airport press conference that the company responded when airport director Victor White inquired about possible service.

"The Midland/Odessa Airport Authority was very instrumental in attracting us," Coleman said. "(Air service) simply doesn't come to cities anymore."

White said after the demise of Frontier Airlines in August, he got on the phone.

"I have spent a great portion of my time marketing this airport to the carriers," he said, "and I think it has paid off."

America West operates 145 daily departures from its Phoenix hub, which Coleman said is 35 percent of the market share there, and comparable to Continental Airlines' operation at Houston's Intercontinental Airport. Its biggest competitor out of Phoenix is Southwest Airlines (17 percent market share), which also serves Midland, but Coleman is quick to point out the only similarity between the two is low fares and equipment (both fly Boeing 737s).

"We are not a no-frills carrier; we are a full interline airline," he said. "We have assigned seating and we like to cater primarily to the business traveler, and we offer complimentary copies of the Wall Street Journal."

White says he's ready for re-match

By STEVE LEVINE
Reporter-Telegram Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Gov. Mark White said Friday he's "ready any day" for another re-match against Bill Clements, but Clements' stern refusal to run again after his term expires in 1990 leaves White's political future in limbo.

White, whose term in office expires Jan. 20, said he will return to his hometown of Houston and offer his 14 years' experience in state government to some law firm. But in an interview at the governor's mansion, White would do little but drop hints about his desire to run for office again against anyone other than Clements.

For example, the governor has changed the name of his 31-foot sailboat from "No Chance" to "Next Chance." Asked if that has any political significance, he answered, "I wouldn't cross it out."

"I don't have any plans one way or another," he said later. "I intend to be active politically and will."

The governor said he sees a great future for the Texas Democratic Party despite top-of-the ticket losses by Walter Mondale and Lloyd Doggett in 1984 and his lackluster performance this year. "I don't think the Democratic Party is to blame for my failure to succeed in the election," White said.

"I think it was an individual contest between the two of us. I beat him. He beat me. Want to try it again, Bill?"

Asked if he does, White answered, "I'm ready any day."

But since his Election Day victory over White, Clements has maintained that he will not run again, against White or any other opponent.

"I want to make absolutely clear about that," Clements said earlier this week. "That's not going to happen. I'm talking about any kind of appointments to the federal level, international level, government service of any kind. This is it."

When a reporter asked if he would change his mind should White try to stage a comeback, Clements said, "Oh, you know better than that."

Although he has no firm position lined up, White — who has not practiced law since he became secretary of state in 1973 — said he can bring a law firm more than a famous name on the letterhead. "A lot of those laws that we're talking about practicing I helped to draw and signed and worked on from '73 up until now," he said.

Ruling favors couple, against bank

By RAMONA NYE
Staff Writer

A $2.25-million verdict against the Security National Bank of Midland was handed down Friday afternoon by a U.S. District Court jury in favor of a Permian Basin business couple now living in Florida.

The two-woman, four-man jury found the bank guilty of the Bank Tying Act, said John Green, Odessa attorney for Charles and Judy McClure.

"It's one of the largest verdicts ever turned in in that court, but I feel like the banks should be held liable to their customers and under the evidence I feel the verdict was justified," Green said.

The jury awarded the McClures $750,000 in damages which is automatically tripled under the law in violations of the Bank Tying Act, Green said.

Security Bank President Jim McCain said his attorney Jim Boldrick will appeal the verdict.

The jury also found the bank's practices to be anti-competitive, Green said.

The trial which began Wednesday, heard testimony from witnesses about conditions the couple agreed to in order to receive an $800,000 loan in June 1983.

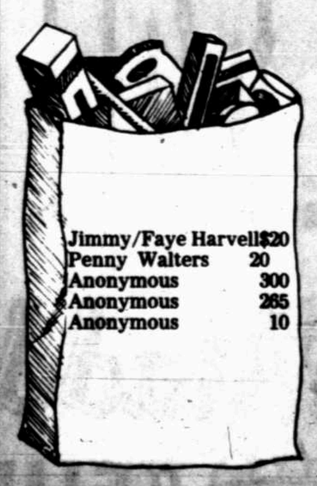

The McClures obtained the loan to build a private dinner club called the Master's Club at 3720 Edwards.

The building was completed in the fall of 1984 and was opened for about 10 months before the couple declared bankruptcy, said Royal Caswell, an assistant prosecuting attorney.

Police seek suspect in bank robbery

ODESSA — Late Friday night area law enforcement officers and FBI agents continued to seek a lone gunman who robbed the Odessa Savings Asscociation near Permian Mall just after 5 p.m. and fled with what was described as a small amount of money.

The suspect in the robbery was described as a white male, 25-to-35-years-old, with short blonde hair, about 5-feet 10-inches tall, weighing 145-to-150 pounds, wearing a tan windbreaker, blue jeans, a blue shirt and tennis shoes.

Odessa Savings President Dave Baum said he was glad no customers or anyone working at the bank was injured during the robbery.

Baum said bank television security cameras that were in operation may help identify the suspect. Late Friday the Odessa Police Department released a composite drawing of the suspect and described him as "armed and dangerous."

Baum, noting this was the first time the Odessa Savings location had been robbed, attributed the fact that that no one was hurt to employees who "followed procedures to the letter."

The gunman entered the bank at the intersection of East 42nd and Tanglewood just after 5 p.m. Friday, produced a revolver and demanded they give him money.

The suspected robber fled on foot and disappeared into a residential area behind the mall.

Pending annexation concerns landowners

By RICK BROWN
Staff Writer

At least two landowners aren't thrilled with the thought of paying taxes on property north of Midland that has no immediate development prospects, despite impending city annexation for establishment of a new airpark.

"I was concerned about taxes because I've been trying to sell that land for five years," said Danny Kellum, a petroleum engineer who bought 10 acres of land five years ago to build a home.

The City Council this week voted on first reading to annex the almost 6,400 acres of land on which a little more that 2,500 acres will serve as a new airpark. A second reading of the annexation resolution will come in February next year.

Although Vic White, city director of airports, said construction of the new airpark won't begin for at least five years, he believes the annexation is necessary to make sure the city maintains zoning control over the area.

"We need to protect the property so that it doesn't end up like the current airpark — surrounded by totally incompatible land uses," he said.

White said his office receives a steady stream of complaints about noise levels at the current airpark, especially from residents of nearby affluent neighborhoods like Saddle Club Estates and Polo Park.

The city had planned to begin construction on the new airpark in May, he said. But the current tight economic squeeze forced the city to abandon the plans and resort to the extraordinary measure of paying back a construction loan it had already received, he said.

Sid Curle, who owns more than two sections of land to be annexed, called the plans "a tad premature" and also bemoaned the tax increase that would come with annexation.

A former member of the city Airport Planning and Development Board, Curle explained that he had tried to sell the land to Midland oilman and entrepreneur Clayton Williams before plans had been laid to build the airport.

Judge rules Lucas' confession to killing can't be used against him

EL PASO (AP) — A judge ruled Friday that Henry Lee Lucas' confession to a 1983 ax slaying cannot be used against him before a jury because the statement was obtained involuntarily.

State District Judge Brunson Moore granted a defense motion to suppress the confession and also suppressed tape-recorded conversations between Lucas and his lawyers, as well as notes given to a 1985 Waco grand jury that rejected murder charges against Lucas in McLennan County.

Lucas, 50, was indicted on capital murder charges in the May 27, 1983 death of 72-year-old Librada Apodaca at her El Paso home.

The one-eyed former drifter gave police confessions to that slaying and hundreds of other killings. He then recanted all his confessions, saying they had been extracted under pressure by law enforcement agencies eager to clear unsolved crimes.

In his order, Moore said the El Paso confession was "obtained from him without the knowing and voluntary waiver by the defendant of his right to counsel and his right to remain silent..."

During a pretrial hearing in September and October, Lucas' 15-minute videotaped statement was shown. In it, Lucas said he was traveling from California when he stopped in El Paso the night of Mrs. Apodaca's slaying. He said he drove around El Paso neighborhoods looking for a house to burglarize because he was low on money.

Lucas said in the videotape he chose Mrs. Apodaca's home, entered the house through an unlocked kitchen door, struggled with the victim, then killed her with an ax.

But police said evidence showed the intruder entered through a window. Also, a Texas Ranger testified Lucas was under surveillance in Stoneburg, Texas, north of Dallas, when Mrs. Apodaca was killed in El Paso. Laboratory tests also showed Lucas' semen and blood samples did not match the types found in the victim's underwear.

"We're going to have to sit down and evaluate this case based on what we have left," said Assistant District Attorney Richard Jewkes. "We'll have to see where we stand."

Jewkes said his office could proceed with Lucas's prosecution, or it could decide to seek a dismissal of the case.

Court-appointed defense attorney Doris Sipes left the courtroom smiling.

"I'm just delighted," she said before entering Judge Moore's chambers. "I wouldn't try to speculate on what they (the prosecution) will do."

Lucas is already on death row for his conviction of the 1979 murder of an unidentified hitchhiker in central Texas.

He was returned to state prison in Huntsville after the eight-week hearing that ended Nov. 4 and was not in the courtroom Friday.

Gun used by Houston given to museum

HUNTSVILLE (AP) — A derringer once owned by Gen. Sam Houston has been donated to the Sam Houston Memorial Museum by a Nevada man who says the gun spent useless decades in a safe deposit box.

James Kerr of Carson City presented the small handgun to museum officials Thursday.

Kerr, 62, said the derringer, one of two small guns briefly carried by Houston, was handed down through his family after it was given to Kerr's great-grandfather in 1860.

"When I was a small boy my grandmother gave it to me. It's been in a safety deposit box almost all of my life," Kerr said.

The guns were carried by Houston in secret pockets sewn in the back of his pants, Kerr said.

Kerr said he has documents verifying the authenticity of the guns which also had been kept in the safe deposit box.

"Apparently there was a time when he wasn't very popular here," Kerr said. "He had some concerns for his life. Apparently he carried both of these small pistols for only several months."

Kerr said his great-grandfather, Col. Sterling Brown Hendricks, was a close association of Col. Thomas Carruthers.

Carruthers was involved in executing Houston's estate and the derringer eventually was given to Hendricks, Kerr said.

Kerr says the gun was just "gathering dust" in the safety deposit box. He made the decision to return it to Texas after recently going through some items in the box.

"It's not doing anybody any good sitting in a safety deposit box. There's no one in my family who would be able to care of it," Kerr said.

"One of the other things we think is liable to happen by presenting one of the pair is that I'm reasonably sure we'll flush out the other one, wherever it is," he said.

Museum director Sam Angulo describes the derringer as a valuable addition to other Houston artifacts. The museum would be interested in acquiring the other gun, whose whereabouts are unknown, Angulo said.

Source says North memo outlines plan

Vice President George Bush thinks Poindexter, North should waive their constitutional rights — 7A

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Col. Oliver L. North wrote an undated memo for his White House files outlining the plan to divert to Nicaragua's Contra rebels profits from secret arms sales to Iran, a source close to the House Intelligence committee said Friday.

At the same time, Attorney General Edwin Meese III, following testimony to the House panel, revealed that North, on the weekend of Nov. 22-23, had told him that President Reagan did not know of the transfer of arms sales proceeds to the Contras.

While the Justice Department has been unable to establish the time the North memo describing the plan was written, the source said, "My impression was...it was April (1986)...It gave the outline of the plan...to divert profits from the sale of arms to Iran, to support the Contras."

Meese also described as "a very rough approximation" his statement of Nov. 25, that from $10 million to $30 million related to the Iranian arms sales was diverted to the Contra forces. The attorney general said "nothing I have heard at any time, from anybody, would give me conclusive proof that the money did in fact get to the Contras."

The Capitol Hill source quoted Meese as saying North was shocked when the memo — apparently the first documentary evidence of a diversion plan — was discovered in his National Security Council files late last month.

North was fired by Reagan on Nov. 25.

But one committee member, who listened to Meese's testimony, said North had only fragmentary knowledge of how much money might have been realized in profits on the arms sales and how much of that might have reached the Contras.

The member, Rep. George Brown, D-Calif., said Meese told the committee that his original estimate that between $10 million and $30 million in arms sales profits had been diverted to the Contras was based on "extrapolating" from data provided by North and did not represent a hard figure.

"He said Colonel North could not give him details of the amounts of money," Brown quoted Meese as saying. "He said that Colonel North did not have that information and that he (Meese) did not have it."

"He left him (Meese) with the impression that Colonel North didn't have that information," Brown said. The congressman said that Meese told committee members the matter is under intense investigation by the FBI.

After testifying before the House intelligence panel late Friday, Meese told reporters that "nothing I have heard at any time from anybody would give me conclusive proof that money did in fact get to the Contras. I only know that people told me that it was intended that money would be made available to the Contras."

The White House, meanwhile, said that President Reagan has no plans to replace CIA Director William J. Casey, who underwent surgery Thursday for removal of a cancerous brain tumor.

A Georgetown University Hospital spokesman said Casey, 73, was "in stable condition and doing well" Friday, and that his doctors believe he "will be able to resume his normal activities" at an undetermined time.

After testifying before the House panel, Meese also said there was no indication that any of the money wound up in the hands of domestic political organizations. Earlier published reports have said that some of the arms profits were funneled to conservative U.S. organizations which used the money to lobby for Reagan's Central-American policies and oppose his critics in Congress.

Meese told reporters that when he called North on Nov. 23, the former national security deputy told him that only three people in the U.S. government knew about the funds diversion — himself, Poindexter and former national security adviser Robert C. McFarlane.

"Colonel North told me at the time that I talked with him that the president did not know about any funds going to the Contras," Meese said.

Also, the attorney general said that "at this stage we don't know exactly how much money was involved" in the funds diversion.

Walsh, 74, sworn in as independent counsel at the federal courthouse a few blocks from Capitol Hill, is a former prosecuting attorney, U.S. district judge, deputy U.S. attorney general and president of the American Bar Association who was a U.S. negotiator at the Vietnam peace talks in Paris in 1969.

She was a member of St. Mark's Methodist Church.

Survivors include a half-brother, Paufl Weaver of Las Vegas, Nev.; and one niece.

The family requests memorials be directed to Hospice of Midland.

Water softener taken from home

From Staff Reports

A $750 water softener was reported stolen Thursday afternoon, according to Midland County Sheriff's Department reports.

Larry Keene, #48 Sundial East, told sheriff's officers the softener was removed from the east side of his mobile home sometime between 6 a.m. and 6 p.m. Thursday.

The mobile home is located on County Road 1140, north of CR60.

Lonnie Robert Lara, 15 Santa Fe Trail, told sheriff's officers a burglary occurred between noon and 5 p.m. Thursday and about $270 worth of items were taken from his home.

Lara told sheriff's officers his mobile home on CR 12235, about one-half mile south of CR 11 west, was entered after a hoe was used to break a window west of the front door.

Items taken included a $250 men's gold wedding band, a men's watch, about $20 in loose change, a 35 millimeter camera and old coins of unknown value.

Five fire department units responded about 2 p.m. Friday to a house fire at 5706 N. Midland Drive.

The fire was smoldering upon arrival and originated in wall insulation.

The department reports the probable cause of the fire was a plumber's torch. The wall was damaged by the fire and there was slight damage to the ceiling.

Police Roundup

OPEC

All member countries except Iraq had tentatively agreed Thursday on specific cuts in their oil production starting Jan. 1, said conference sources who spoke on condition they not be identified.

A key holdup in the preparation of the final communique was yet another skirmish between Iran and Iraq over how to phrase Iraq's role in the deal.

Iraq steadfastly has refused to sign any production-cutting agreement that would bind it to a quota lower than Iran's, while the Iranians had insisted that no accord could exclude Iraq.

Iraq seemed to have won the day, but the oil ministers were having problems Friday deciding how to avoid the appearance of granting special treatment to Iraq and still present a united front.

The proposed agreement would set a production limit for OPEC of 15.8 million barrels a day, down about 7 percent from current levels, sources said.

Each member would be assigned a production quota, although sources said the word "quota" probably would be left out of the final communique to lessen the appearance of special treatment for Iraq, which, by disassociating itself from the deal, would in practice be allowed to produce as much as it wished.

Without an accord on production limits, oil prices would be expected to turn lower.

TUEC wants to refund $55.6 million to customers

From Staff Reports

DALLAS — Texas Utilities Electric Company today filed an application with the Public Utility Commission asking authorization to refund about $55.6 million to its customers.

The refund represents a continuation of savings to customers brought about by lower costs for fuel used to make electricity, according to a company press release.

Under the company's proposal, the refund is expected to be made through a credit to bills in February or later, depending on when PUC approval is received. When the refund is made, residential customers who use 1,000 kilowatt-hours will receive refunds averaging about $8.

The company's composite charge for fuel was reduced in March, lowering residential customers' bills by 5 percent annually. In November, the company filed a request for a second reduction in the fuel charge which, if approved, would lower bills by about 3.7 percent annually.

In addition, the company has made three previous refunds in 1986 — a $140 million refund in May, a $64.8 million refund in October and a $58.4 million refund in December, according to the press release.

These savings to customers have been made possible by the declining cost of natural gas, which has allowed TUEC to pursue lower-priced fuel supplies.

The company's average cost of gas has declined from $3.74 per million BTU in 1984 to $3.41 in 1985 and $2.84 for the 12 months ended in October of 1986. The company expects its average cost of gas to be $2.54 per million BTU in 1987.

Texas Utilities Electric Company provides electric service to about one-third of the Texas population through its operating divisions — Dallas Power and Light, Texas Electric Service and Texas Power and Light.

AIRPARK

Williams, however, defaulted on payments and the land reverted to Curle, the former board member said.

Curle said he has plans for eventual development of his land, but refused to divulge them. "I got plans, but it all depends on Midland's economy," he said.

A spokesman for a third landowner within the area of proposed annexation, the Scharbauer Cattle Co., said that his employers have no current plans for development for their land. Said Doug Henson of Scharbauer Brothers and Co., "That is an active ranch and it would surprise me if it would ever be disposed of in the near future — regardless of what happens around it." Henson said.

The Scharbauer land is a prime site for development because it sits adjacent to State Highway 349.

A pending but as yet unsigned contract between the Scharbauer interests and the City of Midland would exempt the land from annexation until prospects for airpark construction became more feasible. The Scharbauers in return would follow guidelines laid down in the city zoning code for the land's use, according to the proposed contract.

With eventual construction of the airpark, development in the area — located about seven miles north of downtown Midland — is virtually assured, according to airport director White.

"That (establishment of an airport) in itself is a proven economic magnate," he said. "Typically you have service and support industries" wanting to buy land, he said, in addition to businesses such as motels and convenience stores.

The two flights to Phoenix will depart at 9:05 a.m. and 3:45 p.m., and the flights to the capital city will leave at 12:25 p.m. and 11:35 p.m.

From the Phoenix hub, travelers will be able to fly to dozens of cities in the West, Northwest, and Canada.

Fares from Midland to Austin range from $44 to $69, compared to $44 to $59 on Southwest.

"We think that the Midland-/Odessa area fits very nicely into our route structure," Coleman said.

In November, United Express, an affiliate of giant United Air Lines, began service from Midland to Denver, with stops in Amarillo and Lubbock. On Dec. 2, Continental Airlines began nonstop flights to Houston and service to other cities.

White said with America West's arrival, the terminal is "100 percent leased." He said a "modest" expansion of airport facilities is planned.

Coleman said the airline will hire about 20 local people as employees, and transfer several current employees from Phoenix.

BANK

As part of the loan conditions, the McClures were obligated to use subcontractors designated by the bank and to use a general contractor who was a customer of the bank, the jury found, according to Green.

Also the jury found the McClures were required to deposit $75,000 in a non-interest bearing account, Green said.

After receiving $250,000 to buy land for the dinner club site, in August 1983 the couple was denied the remainder of the loan when the bank changed presidents, Green said.

"The loan was not honored and they had to seek financing elsewhere," he said.

David Covey was president of the bank when the loan was approved and Ray Moudy was president when the loan was denied, Green said.

Judge Lucius Bunton is expected to enter judgment on the jury's verdict within the next 10 days.

Toy store shoppers flee five-alarm fire

DALLAS (AP) — A toy store fire forced about 50 Christmas shoppers to flee as the blaze quickly turned into a five-alarm fire that caused almost $800,000 in damages, officials said.

The shoppers and about 30 employees evacuated the Toys "R" Us toy store, located in a North Dallas shopping center, after a fire alarm sounded about 10 a.m., store officials said.

A fire deparment dispatcher said at least 30 units responded to the blaze but no one was injured.

Firefighters extinguished the fire area after about two hours, said Bill Jernigan, Fire Department spokesman. Officials believe the fire started in a storage area.

"The initial report is that the alarm system did detect the fire and the sprinkler in that area did activate," Jernigan said.

The five alarms were sounded to insure enough firefighters would be on the scene if the fire spread, Jernigan said.

Firefighters also evacuated a neighboring health spa and checked the ceiling to make sure the flames were not spreading, Jernigan said.

Jernigan said the fire caused $700,000 damages to the contents of the store, mostly because of smoke, and $50,000 structural damage. The adjoining building, a health-exercise studio called Cosmopolitan Lady, suffered about $30,000 in damages to a fire wall, he said.

The storage room where the blaze began contained mostly children's clothing and packaged disposable diapers, Jernigan said.

STATE in brief

Teen who set mother's bed on fire sentenced to prison

HOUSTON (AP) — A teen-ager who set his mother's bed on fire while she slept will serve 10 years in prison for arson, a judge decided.

Derrick Edward Hicks, 17, a ninth-grader at Worthing Senior High School in Houston, pleaded guilty and was sentenced on Thursday by State District Judge Jon Hughes.

The youth told police officers he did not want to hurt Dorothy Mae Hicks, 46, when he poured lighter fluid on her bed on Aug. 29 and lit it.

"My intention was not to kill my mother but only to scare her because we had been having a lot of trouble for the past two or three years," he said. "I left the room and began making sounds in order to wake her up. When she woke up, I left."

His mother was not burned but was treated for smoke inhalation at a hospital.

Students' families win suits

AUSTIN (AP) — Five families of Texas School For the Deaf students will get about $2.5 million from a settlement of lawsuits alleging the students were sexually molested at the Austin campuses.

Officials said Thursday the money will come from the state's Compensation to Victims of Crime Fund. State lawmakers approved the settlement in August during the special session.

Four lawsuits said the deaf students were sexually abused by workers and a fifth suit alleged a female student was abused by another female student.

The suits claimed school officials did nothing to stop the sexual acts, which allegedly occurred between 1982 and 1985 at the school's two Austin campuses.

The incidents led to an investigation by Austin police and a Travis County grand jury. Three house parents, who lived in cottages at the school, were convicted of felony sexual abuse charges.

Two school officials, including the superintendent, pleaded no contest to a misdemeanor charge of failing to report sexual abuse to authorities. The settlement was negotiated by the attorney general for the school.

Tanker derailment probed

FORT WORTH (AP) — Fire officials Friday were investigating a train derailment that forced the temporary evacuation of about 30 people when the cars overturned and spilled liquid propane gas.

Most of the cars in the train were carrying liquid propane, but only three derailed, and one of them sprung a small leak, Fort Worth fire officials.

No one was injured in the accident which occurred Thursday night, said Charles McCafferty, Fort Worth fire department spokesman.

The tank cars derailed as the train was pulling into the railroad yard, said a dispatcher for Southern Pacific Co.

The derailment forced all other train companies to halt action in the railroad switching yard but fire officials allowed the yard to continue normal operations around midnight, fire officials said.

After the derailment, the front 12 cars of the train were pulled away while the last 17 cars, containing 40,000 gallons of liquid propane remained connected to the damaged tankers.

Treatment may be insured

AUSTIN (AP) — The Task Force on Alcohol and Drug Abuse recommended Friday that insurance companies be required to offer coverage for all forms of chemical dependency therapy in group health policies.

Effective last Jan. 1, coverage of alcohol dependency counselingy was required in all group health insurance policies, health maintenance organizations and self-insured plans of more than 250 employees.

The task force recommended amending the Insurance Code to include treatment for other forms of chemical dependency.

More than 4,000 people become citizens

Houston Ballet principal dancer Li Cunxin is sworn in as a new U.S. citizen along with more than 4,000 others Friday in Houston. Cunxin, who was supposed to return to China about five years ago, stayed in this country when he married an American ballet student.

HOUSTON (AP) — More than 4,000 people, including the Houston Ballet's principal dancer, became American citizens Friday in the largest naturalization ceremony ever held in Texas.

"I'm very proud and very happy to become an American citizen," Chinese dancer Li Cunxin said shortly after he took the pledge of allegiance for the first time as a U.S. citizen.

Cunxin, 25, was among an estimated 4,200 people who were sworn in at the University of Houston. The event was moved from the courtroom to the university to accommodate all the people, said U.S. District Judge Woodrow Seals, who presided over the ceremony.

The new Americans sworn represent 80 nationalities, including people from Vietnam, Mexico, India and the Philippines, said Ellen Shatswell, event coordinator for the Immigration and Naturalization Service in Houston.

Cunxin is from the People's Republic of China and has lived in Houston since 1979. About five years ago, he married a U.S. ballet student and decided not to return to China shortly before his visa was to expire.

He was detained at the Chinese consulate for more than 20 hours after announcing he would not return to his country, but eventually was released and allowed to stay in America.

Cunxin, who has won medals in international ballet competitions, said he did not believe the day would come when he really would be a citizen.

"It just hit me for what is really happening," Cunxin said. "It's a very touching experience."

"My American friends say, 'Great, now you will be one of us,' " he added.

The new citizens joined friends and family in saying the pledge of allegiance and singing the national anthemn. Some cried during the ceremony.

"It is my privilege and my pleasure to welcome you and to congratulate you on this momentous occasion," said guest speaker Joan Raymond, superintendent of the Houston Independent School District. "Your citizenship will strengthen and help our country."

Ms. Raymond reminded everyone of their guaranteed constitutional rights and urged them to take advantage of one of the most important ones, the right to vote.

Yolando Martinez, 33, said she is glad she can finally vote in a country where she has lived since 1955.

"I can vote now. Sure, I'm sure going to vote," said Mrs. Martinez, who originally is from Mexico.

"I'm so proud to be an American," she said.

Voyager could return home earlier than expected

NATION

MOJAVE, Calif. (AP) — The globe-circling Voyager soared past Africa and into clear Atlantic skies on Friday with up to 1,000 pounds more fuel than previously believed, heading for a Christmas Eve rendezvous with history.

"I'm coming home," Dick Rutan, pilot of the experimental aircraft, radioed to the ground crew here.

He and copilot Jeana Yeager crossed the African coast just south of Douala, Cameroon, and headed out over the Atlantic around 4 p.m. PST, spokesman Peter Riva said.

"You've got two people sitting here crying. We are finished with Africa," Rutan told Riva.

The Voyager is seeking to become the first plane to circle the globe without refueling.

If the fuel tanks are as full as now believed, Voyager could return "on time or early and with gobs of gas," said aircraft designer Burt Rutan, the pilot's brother.

He declined to speculate about how early it could return to Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., to complete the circle of about 25,000 miles that it began Sunday.

As of 4:30 p.m. PST, the plane, traveling at 118 mph, had covered 16,216 miles and had an estimated 9,139 miles to go, said project officials.

The plane may have enough fuel left to circle the desert for three or four days, said Riva. Mission officials were not sure whether the craft would cross the coast over the United States or Mexico.

"We are considerably more optimistic," Rutan said. "We are considerably relieved from yesterday. We had feared that possibly something was wrong with the propulsion or was wrong with the drag of the airplane."

Maneuvers conducted over Africa suggested that fuel may be 1,000 pounds heavier than a meter had indicated earlier, Rutan told reporters.

A chase plane observed Voyager during a stall test. The speed at which Voyager stalls is determined largely by its weight, which is affected by the amount of fuel, said Rutan.

He stressed that the test results gave estimates based on the performance of the plane, not on the measuring system aboard the craft. He said one possibility for the errant fuel measure was a leak in a valve that would allow fuel to slosh back and forth between tanks. He said that theory is supported by the fact that Dick Rutan twice has been able to draw fuel from tanks that show empty.

The chase plane from Nairobi, Kenya, also examined Voyager's wingtips, damaged on Sunday's takeoff when they scraped the runway, and found that the left one was in good shape but the right one remains ragged.

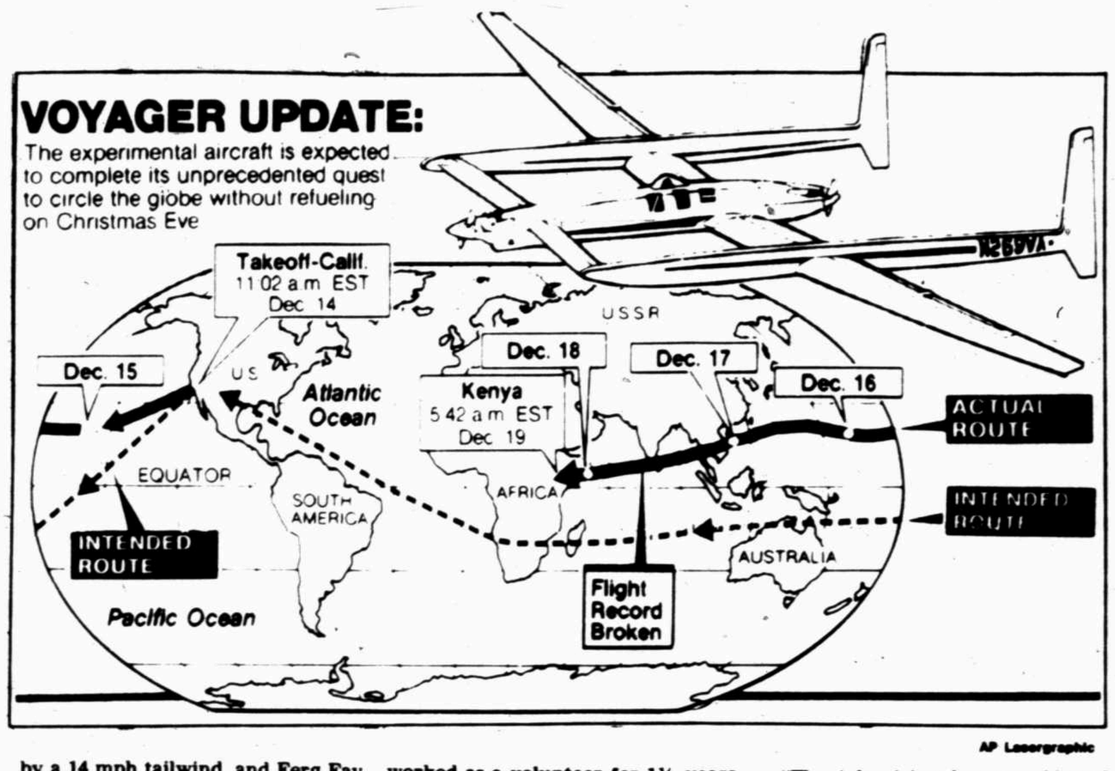

Meteorologist Len Snellman said Voyager's crossing of Africa required Dick Rutan to dodge violent thunderstorms. Just west of Lake Victoria, he said, Rutan radioed "I'm in severe turbulence. How do I get out of it?"

"Dick and Jeana are doing a great job of picking the soft spots," he said.

As Ms. Yeager slept Friday, mission spokesman Lee Herron said Rutan told him over the radio: "I just wanted to hear your voice...It's so dark, there's not a light anywhere."

"I said, Dick, there is a light at the end of the tunnel," Herron said. "He said, 'I'm coming home.'"

Snellman said the plane was aided by a 14 mph tailwind, and Ferg Fay, a retired Rockwell International space shuttle engineer who has worked as a volunteer for 1½ years on Voyager, said the weather over the Atlantic looked perfect.

AP Laserographic

"The Atlantic's a dang jewel," said Fay, "I feel we've got them home when we get them (to the coast)."

Bush says Poindexter, North should waive constitutional rights

ALTOONA, Iowa (AP) — Vice President George Bush said Friday former White House aides John M. Poindexter and Oliver L. North should waive their constitutional rights long enough to say whether they told President Reagan about diverting Iranian arms sale proceeds to Nicaraguan rebels.

Bush predicted that Poindexter and North — if they talked — would say they had not told Reagan.

Bush made his remarks in a speech delivered to the graduating class at the Iowa Law Enforcement Academy.

Acting on the advice of their attorneys, Poindexter and North have refused to answer any questions at congressional hearings, invoking their Fifth Amendment right against self-incrimination.

Poindexter, a vice admiral, quit as Reagan's national security adviser and North, a Marine lieutenant colonel who worked at the National Security Council, was fired when the Iran-Contra affair surfaced.

Bush said the risks that Poindexter and North might face in answering questions were nothing compared to the risks they've encountered during their military service. The vice president went on:

"And I'd add this: If this is too complex or if all the facts can't be mustered in the next few days, or if full disclosure now would trul jeopardize their constitutional rights, then I'd urge them to come forward now, before Christmas, to answer just one key question — Did you tell the president about the diversion of funds? I am satisfied the answer will be 'No.' The will know, then, to the last man, that our president has told the truth."

The speech puts additional pressure on Poindexter and North to break their silence. Reagan's wife, Nancy, said in an interview Wednesday, that the president would recover from the "valley" in his presidency if North and Poindexter talked.

North told reporters on Thursday that Reagan has never asked him to give up his constitutional rights, adding that "people have died face down in the mud all over the world defending those individual rights."

Bush press secretary Marlin Fitzwater said Bush made only minor changes after the speech was submitted and that Bush shares Reagan's position that North and Poindexter ought to be granted some immunity in exchange for their testimony.

The speech was Bush's only public appearance during a swing through Iowa, where a poll in Friday's Des Moines Register showed that he had lost his lead among Republican delegates questioned about their preferences in the state's early 1988 precinct delegate-selection caucuses.

In his speech, Bush conceded that the administration may not have done the best job of getting out its side of the story. "I know we haven't explained this properly to the American people," the vice president said.

The administration's role in the whole Iran-Contra affair poses a sensitive political problem for Bush, a formidable prospect for the Republican presidential nomination in 1988. He was the first major White House official to say that mistakes were made in the Iranian arms sale scheme.

Pilot 'embarrassed' by flying off handle

MIAMI (AP) — The only flying Raymond Davidson did that day was off the handle. But the pilot says his decision last July 22 to walk off his Eastern Airlines jet probably was for the best, even if it ended his career.

Davidson left 83 stunned passengers behind when he stormed off his DC-9 after a delay of more than an hour in "ungodly heat" in taking off from Atlanta's Hartsfield International Airport.

"I guess I would have passed out. I got sick. I probably was going into heat prostration," Davidson told The Miami News in a story published Friday.

"I flew off the handle," he said, adding that he feels embarrassed now.

Publicity over the incident prompted talks with Eastern management that led to "voluntary early retirement." The veteran of 23 years of flying said that left him "really, really down in the dumps" because he had only five months to go until retirement age. His 60th birthday is Friday.

Davidson recalled that the final frustration began when a flight to Cleveland from Miami was delayed three hours. After piloting a flight from Cleveland to Mobile, Ala., he got a night's sleep and flew to Atlanta, which was in the grip of the Southeast's record heat wave.

His landing there was delayed 15 minutes, leaving him 30 minutes to lug 30 pounds of baggage to his flight.

Once aboard, he learned that his fuel hadn't arrived and that a galley compartment door wouldn't close. At 6 p.m., 25 minutes after scheduled departure, a signal man said he was clear to start his engines.

Then a ramp controller said another plane was blocking him. By 6:30, the cockpit temperature had soared to 100 degrees, despite air conditioning, he said.

He said over the intercom: "When I get to Miami tonight, I'm going to take my suitcase, I'm going to go out to my car and I'm going to retire." Passengers reported he also said he was "sick and tired" of delays.

One passenger said Davidson's remarks prompted him to ask that he be allowed to leave, and the plane returned to the gate, where the pilot and several passengers got off.

Davidson said he didn't have any simple solutions for flight delays. He also said he didn't want people to think this is any "kind of duel between Eastern and me."

His hobby now is constructing landscapes for his model trains.

"They run when I want them to," he said.

Former congressman released from prison

PETERSBURG, Va. (AP) — Former U.S. Rep. George Hansen, paroled after serving less than half his 15-month sentence for filing false financial disclosure statements, was released from a federal prison Friday.

Saying six months in prison were "not something I would have wanted, but something I will profit from," the Idaho Repaublican said he had learned a great deal first-hand about prison problems.

"My career hasn't changed," Hansen said at a press conference in a prison building. "I'm still in politics. There's a lot to be done for people."

Hansen, who was not specific about his future plans, did not rule out running again for office. He lost his bid for a fourth term in Congress by 170 votes in 1984 after being convicted of violating the 1978 Ethics in Government Act for failing to disclose more than $300,000 in loans and other income. He was the first congressman prosecuted under the law.

Hansen, who said his weight was down to 250 pounds from 326 pounds, said one of the problems at the Federal Correctional Institution at Petersburg was contaminated food.

He was occasionally ill, he said, adding that he suspected food contamination from poor handling and clean-up was to blame.

"A lot of other inmates will tell you the same thing," he said, "but they are reluctant to complain. It's not fun or easy to go on sick call in this place."

Hansen said he complained about the food, insect infestations and other problems because "if I wouldn't sound off, nobody else would."

He showed reporters a hand-lettered certificate, signed by dozens of inmates, proclaiming him winner of the "Royal Pain in the Butt Award" for "outstanding harassment" of prison officials.

David Chapman, a prison administrator, said no changes had been made as a direct result of Hansen's complaints, and he denied that food contamination was a problem.

Hansen, who said he will write a book about his prison experience, said many inmates did not belong in prison because they no longer posed a threat to society.

Hansen served his sentence in the minimum-security building and made about $30 a month working in the prison warehouse.

His release came five months ahead of schedule because the U.S. Parole Commission decided he had served an appropriate length of time.

Trucking company gets toys to Mississippi on time

CARY, Miss. (AP) — After a 3,500-mile trip, an 18-wheeler loaded with toys arrived Friday in the heart of the Mississippi Delta to brighten Christmas for three dozen needy families.

"We say it was the Lord working out to do this — just another one of his miracles," said Jean Matheis, who with her husband, Jack, helped set up the toylift.

A Jackson trucking company turned an 18-wheeler into Santa's sleigh to carry the toys the final 300 miles. The toys, sent from Washington state, had been sitting on a loading dock in suburban Atlanta for a week waiting for someone to complete the delivery.

"We got them along the last leg with no problem," said Glenn Porch, director of operations for Shippers Express of Jackson. "This is nothing unusual for us, we try to do something like this every Christmas."

An Atlanta radio station broadcast an appeal for help in getting the shipment to Cary, and an Atlanta trucking company agreed to haul the toys to Birmingham, Ala. Shippers Express picked up the toys there and dropped off nearly 50 bundles at the Cary Christian Center Friday morning.

The toy saga began with the Matheises, a retired Bellevue, Wash., couple who work at the center.

Matheis, who taught Bible classes at the Bellevue Christian School until last year, told his former colleagues about a shortage of toys at the Mississippi center.

The Washington students collected toys, clothing and household goods for the center, and a Bellevue parent offered the services of his trucking company to transport the toys as far as possible.

The shipment arrived in Forest Park, Ga., on Dec. 9, when the truck route ended at a fork lift company. Then the Atlanta and Jackson companies took over.

Gasoline prices should be same as Thanksgiving

WASHINGTON (AP) — Holiday travelers should find gasoline prices unchanged from Thanksgiving and about 35 cents a gallon less than prices a year ago, the American Automobile Association said Friday.

Travelers should fill up on Dec. 24 because 60 percent of 6,000 service stations surveyed on major routes said they would be closed Christmas day, the AAA reported.

Gasoline prices now average 90.4 cents per gallon compared with $1.256 during Christmas 1985, according to the survey

At self-service pumps, the average is 77.4 cents for leaded, 82.1 cents for unleaded and 95.5 cents for premium; at full-service pumps, 99.6 cents for leaded, $1.036 for unleaded and $1.15 for premium.

Oklahoma, at 74 cents, and Texas, at 74.6 cents, had the lowest average self-service prices for unleaded regular gasoline, now more than two-thirds of the market. Vermont, at 94 cents, and Connecticut, at 90.4 cents, had the highest prices.

Portland to have trolleys

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — City commissioners have unanimously approved setting up a trolley system with cars identical to San Francisco's cable cars.

Developer William Naito, who formed a non-profit corporation to run the system, said he expected the trolley cars to be ready for Portland's Rose Festival in June.

But Glen Pierce, an engineer for the city's Office of Transportation, predicted the system would open in 1988.

The system approved Thursday would cost $2.5 million. About $2 million will come from a federal Urban Mass Transportation Administration grant. An improvement district created for the trolley system will provide $500,000.

About $700,000 of the budget will be used to buy and refurbish four turn-of-the-century style cars.

The cars will use tracks in place for a light-rail system that began operating earlier this year. A new segment of tracks also is planned.

Missing M-16 rifle found

FORT KNOX, Ky. (AP) — A 125-man company at Fort Knox, confined to base for six days after an M-16 rifle was discovered missing, are free to go home for the holidays because the weapon was found, a base spokesman said Friday.

The rifle, which was discovered missing Saturday ater a night training exercise, was found in the company's area on base Thursday night, said spokesman Scott Saunders.

"At this point, the investigation goes on, but we can say it was apparently stolen," Saunders said. He said no one has been charged.

The men in the company of the 194th brigade had been restricted to the base during the investigation.

Because the rifle was found, Saunders said, "all leaves and passes have been reinstated and those soldiers scheduled to depart Fort Knox for the holidays have been allowed to leave."

Police officers suspended

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Four police officers have been given 90-day suspensions for dumping a drunk, handcuffed amputee in a shed, where he remained for almost five hours before being noticed by a passer-by.

The suspension, ordered by the San Francisco Police Commission on Thursday, will be imposed on officers William Scott, 28, Mark Madsen, 24, Rodney Lee, 25, and Jeffrey Woo, 26.

The men were found guilty of dropping him at the shed instead of taking him into custody last Feb. 19. The officers had been called because the man had refused to leave a store.

Man lies about bombs

ROMULUS, Mich. (AP) — A man who apparently was upset that his girlfriend was leaving him falsely reported Friday that bombs were aboard two airplanes, forcing evacuation of passengers from one plane and an airport concourse, authorities said.

Wayne County sheriff's deputies and FBI agents were searching Ypsilanti for the man, whose identity was not immediately available, FBI Special Agent John Anthony said.

An Eastern Airlines jet and the concourse of Detroit International Airport were evacuated at 8:12 a.m. after the man alerted Eastern officials in Chicago that his girlfriend may have had a bomb with her, authorities said. He said she had considered committing suicide.

Pravda says Brezhnev's 'negative processes' hurt economy

MOSCOW (AP) — Leonid I. Brezhnev was responsible for complacency and coverups that hurt the economy and society, the Communist Party daily Pravda said Friday in the first direct official criticism of the late leader.

Pravda praised some advances made during the Brezhnev leadership from 1964 until his death on Nov. 10, 1982, including accomplishments in the space program, development of industry and a start toward detente with Washington.

But it said "negative processes" sent the country into an economic slump, and efforts toward recovery were made only after Brezhnev's death.

The editorial was published on what would have been Brezhnev's 80th birthday.

In the last two years Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev and other officials have frequently criticized economic and social problems that developed during Brezhnev's leadership. But Brezhnev was not previously mentioned by name.

"During the last years of Leonid Brezhnev's life and activities, a biased assessment of the achievements became widely spread," Pravda said, adding:

"A source of great concern for the party and the people were negative processes in the distributive relations."

Pravda apparently was referring to favoritism, said to be rampant during the Brezhnev years.

"Sentiments of complacency, the everything goes approach and inclination to embellish the real state of things became widely spread," Pravda said.

The newspaper said steps toward strengthening discipline were taken after November 1982, referring to the 15-month leadership of former KGB chief Yuri V. Andropov, who was Gorbachev's mentor.

"By the spring of 1985, the party had profoundly analyzed the situation in the society," it said.

Gorbachev became party leader in March 1985, after the death of Konstantin U. Chernenko, who served in failing health for 13 months after Andropov's death in February 1984.

Pravda said the negative trends surfaced during Brezhnev's later years, and "as a result, the economic growth rates noticeably slowed down in the 1970s and the early 1980s."

Similar criticism was made during the Communist Party's 27th congress in February, but Brezhnev was not mentioned by name.

Gorbachev has removed many of the higher-ranking party members appointed by Brezhnev.

The party central committee in Kazakhstan on Tuesday ousted the republic's party leader, Dinmukhamed Kunaev, who was closely aligned with Brezhnev, in an action seen as a step toward his removal from the ruling Politburo.

Kunaev, a Kazakh, was replaced by ethnic Russian Gennady Kolbin, and rioting subsequently was reported in the capital of Alma Ata.

Deputy Foreign Minister Vladimir Petrovsky told a news conference Friday "the situation has been normalized" in Kazakhstan.

Scientist admits work on 'killer' white blood cells

PARIS (AP) — French scientist Daniel Zagury on Friday confirmed that he was cooperating with Zaire on research into the use of "killer" white blood cells to destroy cells infected with the AIDS virus.

While declining to give details of the work, Zagury, of the Pierre and Marie Curie University in the Paris suburbs, told The Associated Press it was "advancing well, or we would not be continuing it."

But he warned strongly against raising premature hopes in AIDS patients with "inopportune publication" of stories about the work. News accounts of the research were published in the United States this week.

Results eventually will be published in scientific journals, Zagury said.

He told French journalists that publication could come in five to six months, after the research was "confirmed on a scientific basis, then submitted to my peers."

When asked if, as reported, the research involved testing a vaccine, he stressed in a telephone interview with the AP: "My objective over the past 10 years has been to activate killer T-cells to destroy cells infected by virus." He noted his group had "dozens of studies in progress" on a range of virus infections.

A vaccine is designed to protect healthy individuals against contracting a disease. The thrust of Zagury's work is to stimulate the body's immune system to fight an infection already in the body.

The cells that form the basis of Zagury's work, cytolithic T-cells, are a form of white blood cell.

AIDS, or Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome, is a virus that attacks blood cells and breaks down the victim's immunity to infections. It enters the body via the transmission of blood or semen, which is why homosexuals are high-risk groups as well as hemophiliacs who need regular blood transfusions.

Zagury said that since the AIDS problem developed, he had "drawn the attention of all researchers to the importance of the killer cells in combatting the activity of AIDS."

He said he has been in close contact with Dr. Robert Gallo of the National Cancer Institute in Washington D.C., the discoverer of one form of the AIDS virus.

Zagury stressed that the research with Zaire was being carried out "within the normal ethical and administrative standards," without wishing to describe what form the research had taken.

The publication of reports of the research was "prejudicial to the work of a group of enthusiatic and serious people, and prejudicial to the most constructive collaboration between France and Zaire," Zagury said.

"I am very irritated also by the insult to our suffering (AIDS) patients," he said.

"It gave a completely unjustified breath of hope. The next time they read something, they won't believe it," Zagury said.

He said news accounts of scientific and medical developments should be based on "publication in the proper journals."

"There is a fundamental duty not to mislead the sick," he said.

From Staff and Wire Reports

The weekend will continue to be cold with slight chances for showers, reports the National Weather Service at the Midland Regional Airport.

Today will be fair in the morning with increasing afternoon cloudiness. High will be in the upper 40s with winds light and variable.

Tonight will be mostly cloudy with a 20 percent chance of showers and a low in the low 30s.

Sunday will be mostly cloudy with a 20 percent chance of showers and a high in the mid-40s.

The projected overnight low of 30 degrees is 19 degrees warmer than the record low of 11 degrees set in 1973.

STATE

In many places in Texas the sun broke through Friday for the first time in several days as the state enjoyed a break from mid-December inclement weather.

The break will be temporary, however, as more cloudiness and lower temperatures are in the forecast for Saturday, the National Weather Service said.

Most of the state had considerable sunshine on Friday. Portions of South Central and Southeast Texas were cloudy.

Clouds began to return to the state Friday night. Rain is possible in South Texas today. The rest of the state will have increased cloudiness Saturday, the weather service said. Highs should range from the upper 30s in the Panhandle to the lower 60s in the lower Rio Grande Valley, with most readings in the 40s. Lows Saturday night should range from the 20s in the mountains of West Texas to the 50s in the valley and along the coast.

NATION

A storm that dumped up to 30 inches of snow in New England was moving out to sea Friday, but continued to produce strong winds from the mid-Atlantic Coast into eastern New England.

The weather remained generally fair across much of nation as high pressure was the dominant feature from the Rockies into the Tennessee Valley.

Gale warnings were posted from coastal sections of New Jersey through Maine.

The strongest winds were over parts of coastal Massachusetts and Rhode Island, with winds gusting to over 50 mph and one blast of 69 mph striking Nantucket, Mass. Gusts between 30 and 40 mph were common from the southern New England coast through coastal sections of New Jersey and Maryland.

Independence Bowl debut for Tech's Dykes

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Football Writer

SHREVEPORT, La. — For the second year in a row, a college head coach will make his debut in the Independence Bowl Saturday night.

Until a year ago, it had only happened once — when Charley Pell left Clemson for Florida after the 1978 regular season and Danny Ford coached the Tigers to a 17-15 victory over Ohio State in the Gator Bowl.

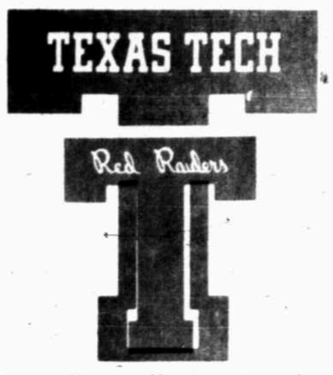

Then Lou Holtz fled Minnesota for Notre Dame three weeks before last year's Independence Bowl and his successor, John Gutekunst, debuted with a 20-13 triumph over — ironically — Ford and Clemson.

Now, it is Texas Tech's turn. In his first season as a head coach, David McWilliams led the Red Raiders to a 7-4 record and their first bowl bid in nine years.

But earlier this month, McWilliams was hired by his alma mater, the University of Texas, to replace Fred Akers. Tech promptly gave defensive coordinator and former Midland Lee head coach Spike Dykes a five-year contract as head coach.

Dykes was asked Friday if he would prefer that his first game as head coach were not a bowl clash with 7-3-1 Mississippi.

"I'm just glad to have a first game," he said. "It's an awkward situation, certainly, but one that comes with the territory."

McWILLIAMS PROBABLY will be rooting for the Red Raiders — but from a distance. His departure after just one year stirred some bitterness among Tech's players and the team told him that Lubbock — and Shreveport — wasn't big enough for both of them.

Mississippi hasn't been without distractions, either, to mar its first post season trip since the 1983 Independence Bowl.

Two weeks ago, the NCAA, citing recruiting violations and "questionable practices," hit Ole Miss with a two-year probation that took away 10 scholarships next year and will keep the Rebels off TV and out of a bowl game in 1987.

In addition, the school told two of Coach Billy Brewer's assistants they would be dismissed after the Independence Bowl — one of them Mickey Merritt, played for Texas Tech in 1965-66 — while a third assistant was [illegible] for two years and had his salary cut by 10 percent. Still another assistant, Carl Torbush, is leaving to become head coach at Louisiana Tech.

The Rebs came out Friday after [illegible] of rain and the 52,000-seat Independence Bowl expects a [illegible] for its first match between Southeastern and Southwestern conferences. It is the first-ever game between Mississippi, which tied for second place in the SEC and defeated league champ LSU, and Texas Tech, which tied for fourth in the SWC but dealt Orange Bowl-bound Arkansas one of its two [illegible].

The teams are somewhat similar in that both started out slowly. After four games Ole Miss was 2-2-1, including a 21-0 loss to Arkansas and a 10-10 tie with Division I-AA Arkansas State; Texas Tech was 2-3 and was routed 61-11 by Miami, 45-14 by Baylor and 45-8 by Texas A&M.

Both then went on four-game winning streaks, lost their next-to-last games and won their finales to earn the bowl trip.

"Our guys have been talking about going to a bowl for a long time, and it's been a long time coming," Dykes said. "The people going to the Rose, or any other bowl, are not near as happy as we are."

Dykes called Ole Miss "a team that's got a little bit of everything — offense, defense, kicking game. You spell field position p-u-n-t and

Rebels rally with pair of SAOC wins

SAN ANTONIO — Midland Lee took a pair of games Friday in the second day of action at the San Antonio Optimist Classic to stay alive in the three-day, 32-team tournament, while Midland High was eliminated.

The Rebels, improving their record to 7-6, defeated Houston Waltrip 79-56 in Friday's first game, then defeated Temple, 61-57. Lee lost its first round game Thursday to Fort Worth Paschal. The Rebs will return to action at 9 a.m. against an undetermined opponent.

The Bulldogs, after losing their first round game Thursday to San Antonio Madison, dropped a pair of heartbreakers Friday to fall out of the tournament. MHS stormed back from a 15-point third quarter deficit, but fell two points shy of Corpus Christi King, 77-75 in Friday's first game.

In the second, MHS again fell behind, 25-15 to Beaumont Forest Brook after one quarter, but came back to finally tie the game in regulation, only to lose 71-69 after an overtime period.

Lee got going in their first win against Houston Waltrip with an inside-outside combo as Jeff Burchard nailed home 25 points and 6-8 Mike Courtney added 22 for the Rebs. In the second game, it was Danny Allen who did the damage to Temple, scor-

Greenwood's girls whipped Crane, 72-41, to advance. Cheryl Martin led the way with 23 points and Stephanie Smith added 15.

Lady 'Dogs roll to 87-55 4-5A victory

By ERIC SCHURER
Sports Writer

Jane Young could overlook the imperfections in the Midland High girls 87-55 whipping of Odessa High Friday night at MHS Gym in the District 4-5A opener for both teams.

After all, it came just days after the Lady Bulldogs' finest performance of the season in beating Greenwood Tuesday. And it was the springboard game to a week's vacation for MHS for the Christmas break.

Beyond all that, most of the imperfections came from the opposing Bronchos and not from Young's Bulldogs, who broke out to a 13-0 lead and never looked back in a foul-marred game. MHS is now 1-0, 8-4 on the season.

"It's hard to play real well when everybody is getting ready to take off for the holidays," said Young, who won't practice again until Dec. 27. "I was happy enough with the intensity. We're just fortunate to have the kids that we have — they've been just super."

Amy Cumings led the way again, scoring 25 points and grabbing 16 rebounds to lead the Bulldogs. Cumings was a terror on the offensive boards in the first half, scoring 12 of her 19 first half points on second chances.

SEBRENIA FINCH added 16 ponts and nine rebounds and Brenda Rodriquez tossed in 13 for MHS as Young went to her bench liberally from the opening period and all 10 Lady Bulldogs reached the scoring column.

OHS didn't get its first points until midway through the first period, and, by then, it was 13-0. MHS stretched its lead to 22-2 before the Bronchos got another bucket.

But the pattern was set. Midland High never trailed by less than 17 after that and Cumings, Finch and Rodriquez were left to play just a few minutes at the beginning of each quarter.

"I like games where we get to play all our kids, we want them all to contribute because we know we are going to need them somewhere down the line," Young said.

Another dismal year for Oiler offensive front

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers' blue chip offensive line that was supposed to be the foundation for a rugged offensive attack has suffered through another dismal year.

The turmoil started in preseason when starter Harvey Salem refused to report to camp and eventually was traded to Detroit.

Then starting center Jim Romano and guard Mike Munchak suffered injuries and the losing continued.

The Oilers will go into Sunday's season finale against Buffalo with a patch-work lineup that includes free agent Jay Pennison at center and supplemental draftee Don Maggs at guard.

Surprisingly, the offensive line had one of its best performances of the season in Sunday's 23-10 victory over Minnesota.

"I think they could be leaders for us next season," Oiler Coach Jerry Glanville said. "They are the kind you want to have around. Some of these experts never would have predicted in training camp these guys would still be with us."

Pennison was among those who didn't think he'd be around.

"I didn't think I had a very good chance to make the team, being a free agent," Pennison said. "I only had a week and a half of camp and I thought my chances were slim."

Maggs, despite his 6-foot-5, 275-pound frame, says he almost faded away on the sideline.

"When you're not playing, you kind of get lost in the shuffle," Maggs said. "I always thought I could play. I never doubted my ability, but it gets discouraging sitting on the bench."

Oilers receiver Drew Hill needs 2 yards receiving to reach the 1,000 yard receiving plateau for the second straight year.

Kickoff is at noon in The Astrodome.

49ers win NFC Western showdown

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Veteran Joe Montana, who has led the San Francisco 49ers to two Super Bowl triumphs, matched skills with rookie quarterback Jim Everett in a showdown for the NFC Western Division title — and it was no contest.

Montana was at the controls Friday night as the 49ers rolled up 408 yards in offense to beat the Rams 24-14 and claim the NFC West title.

Everett passed for 151 yards, more than half of them in the fourth quarter, and was intercepted three times by San Francisco's defense.

"A lot of things just fell into place," said Montana, who completed 23 of 36 passes for 238 yards and two touchdowns.

"We've been told that Everett is a great quarterback — and he will be," San Francisco Coach Bill Walsh said. "But we have the greatest quarterback in football, and he has come back to perform admirably and courageously."

The 49ers came back to win the division by knocking off three first-place teams, including the Rams, over the final three weeks of the season to finish 10-5-1. The Rams finished 10-6.

"I think the Rams were looking over their shoulders the last few weeks," 49ers offensive tackle Keith Fahnhorst said.

"This victory is one of our greatest," Walsh said, and he added, "If someone beats us (in the playoffs), they will be a worthy champion."

Montana, in his best showing since recovering from back surgery, completed five consecutive passes for 63 yards in the 49ers' most impressive drive, a 92-yard effort which put them back in conrol after the Rams had pulled to within 10-7 in the second period.

Everett was intercepted twice by another rookie, 49ers cornerback Tim McKyer. He completed only 13 of 35 passes and was sacked three times.

"The trouble wasn't Everett, it was the Rams," said the fact the 49ers played well, Los Angeles Coach John Robinson said.

"We didn't play the physical part of the game very well," he added. "We can't expect to play at the championship level the way we were tonight."

Everett said, "When anything like this happens it makes you look bad."

Los Angeles goes into the NFL playoffs as a wild-card entry and will play the Redskins in Washington on Dec. 28.

The 49ers' convincing victory in the nationally televised season finale avenged an early season 16-13 loss to the Rams in the first of eight games Montana missed because of a back injury requiring surgery.

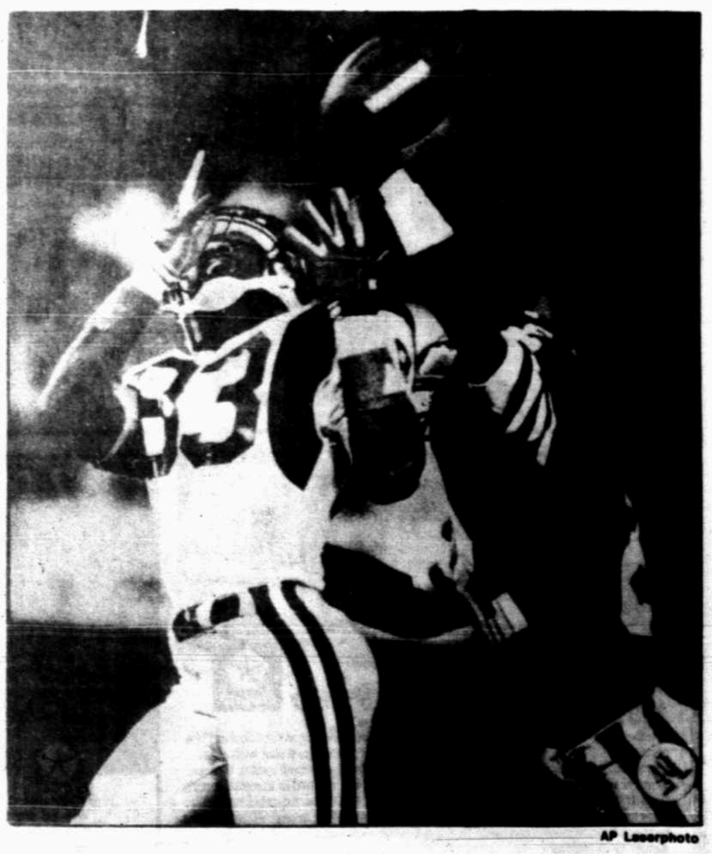

Montana hit Jerry Rice with a 44-yard touchdown pass in the first period soon after the 49ers opened the scoring on a 30-yard field goal by Ray Wersching.

Safety Vince Newsome's interception set up a Rams' touchdown early in the second period. Eric Dickerson, the NFL rushing leader, ran 15 yards for the TD but managed only 68 yards in the game for a season total of 1,821.

The 49ers upped their lead to 17-7 before halftime with a 92-yard drive. Montana's first pass on the drive was dropped, but then he went 5-for-5 on the march which ended with Joe Cribbs' 2-yard touchdown run.

Tight end Russ Francis made a one-handed catch of a 1-yard pass from Montana in the third period for his first touchdown of the season. That touchdown came after McKyer's diving interception and 11-yard return.

The 49ers protected their 24-7 lead with two more interceptions, by McKyer and safety Ronnie Lott, off Everett late in the third period.

San Francisco defensive back Tim McKyer gets a hand on the ball to break up a pass to Los Angeles wide receiver Kevin House (83) Friday at Candlestick Park

Everett threw a 13-yard touchdown pass to wide receiver Michael Young, concluding a 68-yard drive, with 4:31 remaining in the game.

San Francisco, which trailed the Rams by 1½ games with three weeks left in the regular season, was rewarded with a longer rest as well as its fourth division title in six years.

The 49ers will be off until taking to the road to play either the Chicago Bears or New York Giants in a conference semifinal game the weekend of Jan. 3-4.

Ponies kick Eagles; Boston stuns A&M

TOKYO — Southern Methodist, employing a tight defense, beat Boston College 62-49 Friday in the opening game of the Suntory Ball, the only NCAA basketball competition played outside the United States.

Carlton McKinney led SMU with 16 points and was named the game's most valuable player. Steve Benton topped Boston College with 11 points.

The Mustangs improved their record to 6-1, while the Eagles dropped to 6-2.

SMU took a 6-5 lead nearly five minutes into the game and never trailed, as Boston College was unable to penetrate effectively against SMU's tight defense.

LEXINGTON, Ky. — Forward Paul Hendricks scored 14 points, including the winning basket with 1:40 left, as Boston University turned back Texas A&M in the first round of the University of Kentucky Invitational Tournament.

Boston University, 5-2, will face the winner of the Iona-Kentucky contest in Saturday's championship game. Texas A&M, 4-2, will play in the consolation game.

Neither team was able to gain an advantage of more than five points in the seesaw game that saw 12 lead changes.

Texas A&M pulled even at 63 on forward Winston Crite's two free throws with 2:33 to go. Hendricks' clinching basket came 53 seconds later when he flashed down the lane for a layup.

Texas 59, Bowling Green 44

AUSTIN — Patrick Fairs found his range in the second half and finished with 21 points as Texas took a victory over Bowling Green in the first round of the Longhorn Basketball Classic.

Texas meets the winner of Friday's late Grambling-South Alabama game in today's championship game.

Fairs hit just three of eight shots in the first half as the Longhorns, 5-4, hit just 29 percent of their shots from the field.

Girardi hits bomb to lift Rice to victory, 68-66

HOUSTON (AP) — Reserve guard Mike Girardi sank an 18-foot jump shot with two seconds left to give Rice Owls a 68-66 win Friday night over Southeastern Louisiana in a nonconference basketball game.

A basket by Ronald Robertson gave the Owls a 66-64 lead with 18 seconds left. But a pair of free throws by the Lions' Carlos Burroughs tied the game with 11 seconds left and set the stage for Girardi's game-winner.

Rice, 4-4, was led by Greg Hines with 19 points. Hines became the seventh all-time leading scorer in Rice history with 1,217 career points.

Robertson and Girardi each had 12 for the Owls.

Southeastern Louisiana, 1-9, was led by Teddy Butler with 18 points and Joe Greene with 12.

Aguirre hits season best to help Mavs blitz Nuggets

Associated Press

DALLAS — Mark Aguirre scored a season-high 33 points, 11 of them in a fourth-quarter spurt that sent Dallas into overdrive, to lead the Mavericks to a 141-118 NBA victory over the Denver Nuggets Friday night.

Aguirre's surge led a 27-9 run that gave Dallas a 129-111 lead with 4:33 left. The two teams had entered the final quarter tied at 102.

The Mavericks, who have won 11 of their last 14 games, led 64-63 at halftime, but trailed most of the third quarter until reserve guard Brad Davis scored nine points in the last three minutes of the period.

Davis' performance sparked a 13-8 Dallas run that allowed the Mavericks to enter the final period tied at 102.

Dallas center James Donaldson scored 20 points and equaled his club-record 22 rebounds. Guard Rolando Blackman had 23 points.

Forwards Alex English and Bill Hanzlik had 23 and 22 points, respectively, for the Nuggets, now 11-14 after losing for the 12th time in 14 road games.

Pistons 114, Spurs 84

PONTIAC, Mich. — Adrian Dantley and Isiah Thomas led a third-quarter surge that lifted the Detroit Pistons to a victory over San Antonio. Their 84 points was the Spurs' lowest output of the season.

The Spurs led by as many as 16 points in the first quarter. But Detroit, behind Dantley's 10 points, chipped away in the second quarter and trailed 53-51 at the half.

Dantley, who finished with a game-high 26 points, scored the Pistons' first seven points in the third quarter and gave Detroit its first lead, 58-57, on a three-point play with 10:12 remaining in the period. With Thomas scoring 10 of his 14 points in the remainder of the third quarter, Detroit took an 88-70 lead into the final period and eventually built is advantage to 104-74.

NBA Roundup

76ers 122, Celtics 100

PHILADELPHIA — Julius Erving scored 24 points and Roy Hinson 21 as the Philadelphia 76ers routed the Boston Celtics to snap a four-game losing streak.

Charles Barkley recorded a triple-double with 15 points, 11 assists and 14 rebounds in the Sixers' second victory in three games this season with Boston.

Philadelphia turned the game into a rout in the fourth period with a 10-2 surge for a 103-85 lead with 7:04 left. Philadelphia increased it to 109-90 at the 5:33 mark as Hinson scored 13 points in the final period.

Jazz 134, Cavaliers 128, 2 OT

RICHFIELD, Ohio — Darrell Griffith scored 38 points, including a three-point shot to tie the game with one second left in regulation time, as the Utah Jazz defeated the Cleveland Cavaliers in double overtime.

Ron Harper, who finished with 29 points, had put Cleveland ahead 113-110 on a long jump shot with five seconds left in regulation before Griffith sank his game-tying basket with three Cavaliers surrounding him.

Griffith was one of six Jazz players to come off the bench and combine for 77 points.

Utah led 121-116 during the first overtime, but Cleveland sent the game into another extra period as John Williams made a lay-up and John Bagley added a three-point play. Bagley finished with 21 points and Williams added 20.

SuperSonics 108, Suns 106

PHOENIX, Ariz. — Tom Chambers' three-point goal touched off a 9-2 Seattle spurt as the SuperSonics edged the Phoenix Suns.

Xavier McDaniel, who had 23 points for Seattle, tied the score at 97 on a free throw with five minutes remaining.

Chambers, who finished with 21 points, then sank his three-point goal, beginning Seattle's run for a 106-99 lead with 2:55 left.

Devils take out Caps, 6-4

Associated Press

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. — Kirk Muller and John MacLean scored 19 seconds apart early in the third period to snap a tie and lead the New Jersey Devils to a 6-4 NHL victory over the slumping Washington Capitals Friday night.

Mel Bridgman scored two goals and added an assist as the Devils won their third straight and their first in 15 games against Washington goalie Al Jensen, now 13-1-1 versus New Jersey.

The loss was the fourth straight for the Capitals and came in a game in which they scored three goals on three shots in the opening 1:21.

Muller snapped a 4-4 tie at 1:09 of the final period, beating Jensen with a 15-foot shot to the glove side.

Sabres 3, Canadiens 2

BUFFALO, N.Y. — Mike Foligno, returning to the lineup after a five-game absence with a bruised kidney, scored two goals to spark the Buffalo Sabres to a victory over the Montreal Canadiens.

NHL Roundup

The loss prevented Montreal from taking over sole possession of first place in the tight Adams Division race. Montreal entered the game tied for first with the Boston Bruins and Hartford Whalers with 36 points apiece.

It was the first victory for Buffalo in four meetings with Montreal this season. The Canadiens had beaten the Sabres twice and skated to a tie in another game with Buffalo in three previous meetings.

Oilers 4, Canucks 2

EDMONTON — Jari Kurri scored at 16:05 of the third period to highlight a four-goal Edmonton rally as the Oilers won their sixth straight game with a victory over the Vancouver Canucks.

Vancouver, desperately seeking points to get back into contention for a playoff spot in the Smythe Division, led 2-0 after the second period and tried to nurse a 2-1 lead through the final 16 minutes.

But Wayne Gretzky scored his league-leading 32nd goal on a power play to tie the score at 13:15 and Kurri got the winner about three minutes later.

Kurri raced down the right side and snapped a shot off the faceoff spot that caught goaltender Richard Brodeur deep in his net. The shot caught the opposite corner.

Gretzky scored his 33rd of the season into an empty net with 10 seconds left.

Cyclones escape severe NCAA penalties

MISSION, Kan. (AP) — Iowa State's football program was given a two-year probation and stripped of four football scholarships for the 1987-88 academic year, the NCAA said Friday, but the Cyclones apparently escaped a much harsher penalty by firing Coach Jim Criner.

The only sanctions are the scholarship cuts. Iowa State will be allowed to give only 26 scholarships in the 1987-88 year instead of the normal 30.

Sanctions that would have barred post-season and television appearances for one year were suspended "in support of actions taken by the university prior to the hearing in this case," the NCAA said in a news release.

Criner was fired as head coach last month a few days before the school appeared before the Infractions Committee.

The NCAA also said the penalty was reduced because Iowa State notified bowl scouts on Nov. 8, when its record was 5-3, that it would accept no postseason invitations for at least a year.

In an announcement from NCAA headquarters, it was also said the school will be required to submit written reports "that identify the educational monitoring systems that are implemented to ensure future compliance with NCAA legislation."

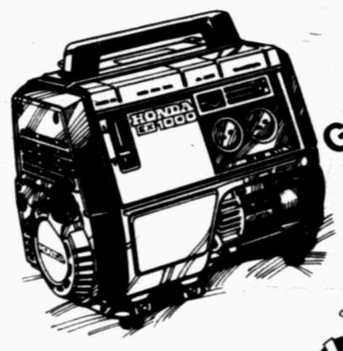

To further mitigate the penalty, the NCAA said, Iowa State "is in the process of disassociating a local motel from involvement in business activities related to the university's recruitment of prospective student-athletes for a period of one year."

"The committee was concerned that several of the violations appeared to demonstrate a disregard for the governing legislation, and it was determined that the former head football coach attempted to provide false and misleading information to the NCAA and his university concerning his involvement in one of the serious violations.

No player or coach involved in the case was named in the release.

Burkeville claims 1A crown

MEXIA (AP) — The Burkeville Mustangs used two long runs and two Throckmorton fumbles to post an easy 33-7 victory over Throckmorton Friday night for the Class 1A state high school football championship.

Quarterback Darrell Spikes scored on runs of 32 and 7 yards in the first and third quarters.

Renwick Byerly ran 86 yards for another touchdown that gave Burkeville a 13-0 lead in the first quarter, but Throckmorton got back in the game with 50 seconds left in the first half on Dave Davis' 5-yard run.

After Spikes ' third-quarter run that made it 19-7, the Mustangs put the game away with two more TD runs in the final period.

Clifton Mattox, who made only 27 yards rushing in the first half, had 60 in the second half and dealt the Greyhounds trouble. He consistently picked up key first downs, and set up his one-yard touchdown in the fourth quarter with a 42- yard run.

After a missed Throckmorton punt attempt, which hit the punter's ankle instead of his foot, Burkeville took over at the Greyhound 43. Mattox ran to the 1-yard-line on the first play, and then scored.

Reserve quarterback David Holmes bolted 74 yards for the final touchdown with 48 seconds left.

Byerly rushed for 141 yards on 10 carries to pace Burkeville, which finished with a 13-1 record. For Throckmorton, Davis had 136 yards on 31 carries while Kevin Latham had 122 yards on 21 carries. Throckmorton finished the season with a 12-3 record.

A clipping penalty stopped Burkeville's first drive of the game, which got as far as the Throckmorton 15.

But the Mustangs were not to be denied the next two times. Davis' fumble at the Throckmorton 33 was recovered by Burkeville's Julius Adams.

After Ira Peacock gained one yard, Spikes faked a pitchout, kept the ball and ran around right end. Once he broke a tackle at the 20, he was free for the 32-yard touchdown. Brad Noble's extra point made it 7-0 with 5:53 left in the first quarter.

Throckmorton threatened to tie the score. Davis broke for 46 yards but was tackled from behind by Holmes at the Burkeville 27. The Greyhounds got as far as the 10, but a dead ball, 15-yard personal foul pushed them back to the 25.

MHS

The Bronchos, now 0-1, 4-7, got into foul trouble early and often. Five Bronchos fouled out as OHS racked up 36 total fouls to MHS' 24. Midland High poured in 25 points from the free throw line in 42 attempts.

"IT WAS a very physical game," admitted Young. "They just started pressing early and got a lot of their kids in foul trouble. I'm sure Odessa will come back and play better, they have to. I know they have some kids that can play better than they did tonight."

Leading OHS was Nikki Graham with 18 points, the only Broncho in double figures.

MHS will not return to action until Dec. 29 against Kerrville Tivy in the opening round of the Kerrville Tournament.

The MHS JV also opened district play on a winning note with a 76-48 win over OHS. Laverne Pratt poured in 20 points and LaShauna Bradley added 11 for MHS.

From Wire Reports

Free agent pitcher Jack Morris agreed Friday night to submit to arbitration with his old club, the Detroit Tigers, thus taking himself out of the open market.

Morris already has had offers rejected by the Minnesota Twins, New York Yankees and Philadelphia Phillies.

The flurry of negotiating came hours before Morris had to decide whether to accept the Tigers' offer of salary arbitration. The deadline was midnight and Morris said he had not made his decision.

Earlier, Morris, the winningest pitcher in the 1980s, said he was "still not interested" in returning to the Tigers, although "I may have to consider that option yet."...

The New York Yankees traded catcher Butch Wynegar to the California Angels on Friday in exchange for pitcher Ron Romanick and a minor league player to be named later.

Wynegar, 30, was placed on the restricted list in August after leaving the team for personal reasons...

Basketball

Twelve NBA players were fined a total of $13,000 by the league Friday for their roles in fights in games this week. The fines came one day after New York Knicks center Patrick Ewing was fined $3,000 for fighting.

Indiana guard John Long was fined $3,000 for starting a fight with Boston's Rick Carlisle during a game Wednesday night. Carlisle, who retaliated with a punch, was fined $1,500.

Five-hundred dollar fines were levied against Larry Bird and Greg Kite of the Celtics and Walker Russell and Stuart Gray of Indiana for leaving the bench area during that fight.

Detroit guard Vinnie Johnson was fined $2,500 for throwing the first punch in a fight with Atlanta center Tree Rollins on Tuesday night. Rollins was fined $2,000 for throwing several punches.

Three other Pistons — Tony Campbell, Joe Dumars and Sidney Green — and Antoine Carr of Atlanta were fined $500 apiece for leaving the bench area during the fight...

Boxing

Tim Witherspoon did not have marijuana in his system during his one-round title loss to James "Bonecrusher" Smith as was reported earlier this week by the New York State Athletic Commission, chairman Jose Torres said Friday

"I knew I was clean," Witherspoon said in a telephone interview from his home in suburban Philadelphia. "I've been clean for a year."

Handmade violins considered 'children' to Italian creator

By MATT MYGATT

SEDILLO, N.M. (AP) — Salvatore Caristo, a machinist by trade, makes muzzleloaders in the gun shop connected to his home. But for the past four years he also has been making violins and violas, just like the folks who lived in his ancestors' neighborhood.

The instruments have love, soul, strings, metal and woods such as maple, rosewood, ebony and clear spruce. All have roots in Italy's Po Valley, where Caristo's ancestors lived and where some of the world's finest violin makers — Stradivari, Guarneri and Amati — practiced their craft.

"I feel as though it's in a person's blood," said Caristo, 56, who makes his home in the small community of Sedillo, east of Albuquerque and the Rio Grande Valley. "Italians have always been creative with their hands-...Michelangelo, da Vinci."

The father of two children, Michael and Susan, by Eileen, his wife of 36 years, Caristo thinks of the instruments he has produced almost as children. His 14 violins and two violas are christened with names from Caristo's family. Among them are Matilda, Missy, another Susan and another Michael.

Caristo says he has started taking violin lessons in the past few months. "I'm already at 'Mary Had a Little Lamb.' "

He moves easily between his muzzleloaders, which he says can shoot a cloverleaf pattern at 50 yards just as easily as a modern rifle, and his violins, which he wants to be as good as those made by the 17th-century masters.

And he says gunsmithing and violin making are not the strange bedfellows people might think.

"While doing my studying and researching, I found there were gunsmiths who went into violin making," he said. "I found there were a lot of fellows making stringed instruments and firearms. This is due to woodworking and wood refinishing. I think that is how they are connected."

Caristo enjoys turning wood and metal into functional works of art. He says the exquisitely beautiful and precise art of violin making comes easy for him.

Pilot whales stranded on beach

EASTHAM, Mass. (AP) — Several dozen pilot whales stranded themselves on a beach Friday about a mile from the stretch of sand where 57 of the animals became beached earlier this month, the New England Aquarium said.

The aquarium said 39 whales were reported on the sand at Cook's Brook Beach on Cape Cod and several more of the mammals were swimming near shore.

Volunteers and representatives of animal rescue agencies headed toward the area to try to push the whales back into the water, but officials held out little hope.

"It looks like tide and weather conditions will not permit us to return them to the water, or it's highly unlikely it will happen," said Andrea Conley, an aquarium spokeswoman. "They are high and dry. Once they get up onto the beach they suffer internal damage. The longer they are there, the more the damage suffered."

LIFESCOPE

Is It Too Late To Start Over? Your Lifescope Says, "Put Your Past Behind You!"

This is the day that the Lord has made! I will rejoice and be glad in it! When someone becomes a Christian he becomes a brand new person inside. He is not the same any more. A new life has begun! Since we believe that Christ died for all of us, we should also believe that we have died to the old life we used to live. He died for all so that all may live.

Since you have been chosen by God who has given you this new kind of life, and because of His deep love and concern for you, you should practice tenderhearted mercy and kindness to others. Be gentle and ready to forgive; never hold grudges. Remember, the Lord forgave you, so you must forgive others.

In this new life one's nationality or race or education or social position is unimportant; such things mean nothing. Whether a person has Christ is what matters, and He is equally available to all.

If you have really heard the voice of Jesus, then throw off your old evil nature - the old you that was a partner in your evil ways . . . Now your attitudes and thoughts must all be constantly changing for the better. Yes, you must be a new and different person, holy and good. Clothe yourself with this new nature.

Taken from Ps. 118, II Cor. 5, Eph. 5, Col. 3, The Living Bible

Biblical toys gain attention, offer alternative

HOUSTON (AP) — David and Goliath fought in biblical times, but they now are joining forces to compete with "Rambo" and other modern-day toys for children's attention and parents' money.

The "Heroes of the Kingdom" don't tote laser guns or transform themselves into other beings. Instead they are small, authentically clad replicas of Bible figures whose stories are narrated by accompanying books and cassete tapes.

Such biblical entries into the toy market have come amid a rash of war and weapons playthings accenting violence.

Some alternatives that seem to be hits resulted from the persistence of a Fort Worth pastor and in another case, from a Los Angeles film animator.

Joe Barbera of Los Angeles, head of Hanna-Barbera Productions and producer of such series as Huckleberry Hound and the Flintstones, had tried in vain for years to get a series about Bible characters on television.

Rebuffed, he's now distributing his animated "Great Adventure" series through Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish agencies for home videos, with 400,000 reported sold so far at $19.95 for the six-part series.

Running about 30 minutes each, they're about Noah, Moses, David and Goliath, Samson and Delilah, Daniel and the lions' den, Joshua and the walls of Jericho.

RELIGION

....Stuffed animals with names like "Righteous Racoon" and "Born Again Bunny..." offer an alternative to the "mysticism and violence" attributed to the characters of some toys on the market...
— Zed Daniels of Wee Win Toys and Accessories Inc.'s.

In Texas, a Fort Worth pastor and counselor, the Rev. Michael Riggins, after talking one night with his two sons about their "Star Wars" toys, carved for them some toy figures of Jesus, David and Goliath.

For two years, he unsuccessfuly carried the figures around in a shoe box showing them to prospective investors for manufacture.

Finally, in March 1984, Wee Win Toys and Accessories Inc. of Houston began producing the "Heroes of the Kingdom" toys, later adding a line of stuffed animals with names like "Righteous Racoon" and "Born Again Bunny."

They offer an alternative to the "mysticism and violence" attributed to the characters of some toys on the market, said Zed Daniels, vice president and advertising director.

Children can act out the biblical battle with David and his giant foe while listening to the cassette or reading the book. The toys, Daniels said, give children a chance to learn about the Bible and provide them with wholesome fun.

"You don't have to be dull to be decent," he said.

Besides David and Goliath, children can play with Jonah and the Whale, Samson and Delilah, Solomon and the Queen of Sheba, Moses and Pharaoh, and Mary, Joseph and baby Jesus.

The David and Goliath and Jonah and the Whale sets are the most popular, and sell for $19.95 each. David comes armed with a slingshot and Jonah really fits inside the whale's mouth.

Although the story involves some violence — David slays Goliath — Daniels says the tale is more about faith in God.

"Most of the violence in the Bible had a function and an end," he said, adding that he is bothered by "violence for just violence's sake."

The company has added other toys and accessories to the line and now has about 150 products. The "Prince of Peace" stuffed animals are another popular line.

They don't talk or come with adoption papers, but they do have religious names such as "Guardian Angel Bear" and "Heavenly Hound" and they have a patch sewn on their stomachs bearing a Bible verse number.

A game called "Generosity" that teaches biblical values will soon be available as an alternative to capitalistic games like "Monopoly," Daniels said.

The toymaker also manufactures several stuffed animals without religious themes, but Daniels says all the toys provide "good wholesome fun."

"Parents are looking for back-to-basic wholesome toys," Daniels said. "We put Godly toys in the hands of kids to replace evil toys that are leading kids away from God."

At one Children's Palace store in Houston, a shipment of the "Heroes of the Kingdom" toys sold out before the real Christmas rush even began, said store manager Adrian Moczgemba. A shipment ususally contains 24 to 48 toys.

"They were in and out," Moczgemba said.

Musical is by Kelview choir

A musical, to be presented by the Kelview Baptist Church choir, is a remembrance of a Christmas long ago, told by a young girl's diary, as compared to what the season is today.

"'Twas the night before Christmas — just a few hours left.

I can hardly believe it, the place is a mess.

Mom's in her curlers with that 'dead-tired' look.

And all I can think is 'my poor pocketbook.'

My body is aching, my feet are so tired.

I don't feel like Christmas, and I'm sure not inspired.

I guess I'm old-fashioned — that's what it must be —

But this sure doesn't seem much like Christmas to me."

"Sounds a little familiar, doesn't it?" asks a spokesman with Kelview. "I'm not quite sure how we've done it, but somehow we've managed to take the simple story of Christmas and disguise it so well we hardly recognize it anymore. Wouldn't it be nice if we could turn back the clock — if only for a few moments — to a time when Christmas was just Christmas, a plain and simple old-fashioned Christmas?"

The church's Adult Choir will present a portion of that musical at 6:30 p.m. today at Midland Park Mall and twice on Sunday, at 9 and 10:45 a.m. The public is invited. A nursery will be provided.

Healing crusade begins

The Season of Advent
at
First Presbyterian Church

The Season of Advent is the beginning of the Christian calendar and is observed on the four Sundays before Christmas. The word Advent means "coming." The season is one of preparation and expectant-waiting as we look forward to the celebration of the Lord's coming on Christmas Day. Advent is the season of extending our confidence in "the things that are unseen" and marveling at the mystery of God becoming one of us.

Celebrities' trash thrills students

KENNER, La. (AP) — When Jenny Delgado asked U.S. Sen. Edward Kennedy for some trash for a class project, he sent her a White House pen, a campaign pin and a tie tack.

"I started screaming, I was so happy," the 13-year-old said Friday.

Jenny, who moved from San Salvador to the New Orleans area 2½ years ago, is among 28 young immigrants who asked celebrities for trash as a project for their class in English as a second language.

"Tonight Show" host Johnny Carson sent a wadded-up thank-you note he had received from a Kentucky charity. Britain's Princess Diana sent canceled stamps torn from a Buckingham Palace envelope.

President Reagan sent a book about the White House. Two children got copies of an official White House "Summary of Vice Presidential Duties" from Vice President George Bush.

Charles Schulz, creator of the "Peanuts" comic strip, sent a signed drawing of Snoopy lying on his dog house.

"It looks as if it came from the trash can. It's all wadded up. It looks as if he pulled it out and just signed it," said Siri Regan, who teaches the class and dreamed up the assignment.

Kennedy, D-Mass., sent a pen from the administration of his brother, President John Kennedy, a campaign pin in the shape of the state of Massachusetts from Kennedy's 1962 campaign and a Kennedy tie clip.

"I rummaged through an old box of junk and came up with a few old mementos," he wrote. "I suppose the pen can be considered trash since it doesn't work."

Kenner Mayor Aaron Broussard sent the "Blues Boy" record he made two years ago with a car dealership owner.

"I am enclosing some records...that were thought by some to be 'trash.' I leave that judgment to your class," he wrote.

The class is made up of seventh, eighth and ninth-grade immigrants at Theodore Roosevelt Middle School in Kenner. About half are from Central America; the rest are from all over the world, including Italy, Greece, Vietnam, Laos, Norway, China and India, Mrs. Regan said.

Two months ago, the students wrote to about 40 local and national figures, explaining the project and plans for a celebrity trash show in their classroom Dec. 18.

"We were practicing writing letters. The main problem is they get bored writing letters they don't send anywhere, or just to their friends," said Mrs. Regan.

More than half the celebrities, including first lady Nancy Reagan, didn't answer, Mrs. Regan said. Carson was the only television star who answered.

Starr

LONDON (AP) — Former Beatle Ringo Starr does not have to pay an extra $375,500 in alimony demanded by his first wife, an appeals court ruled Friday.

The Court of Appeal overturned a High Court ruling backdating to April 1979 an increase in Starr's annual payments to his ex-wife, Maureen, 39.

The annual payments were raised in July from 44,000 pounds (now the equivalent of $63,000) to 70,000 pounds ($100,000).

The appellate court said Starr, 44, who was divorced in 1975 and is now married to actress Barbara Bach, had "behaved with outstanding generosity and patience toward his wife."

The court said the increase in payments should be backdated only to April 1986.

Grant

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Singer Amy Grant is expecting her first child next summer, her publicist says.

Spokeswoman Betty Hofer said Thursday the 25-year-old gospel-pop star learned the news Wednesday.

Miss Grant and husband Gary Chapman, also a singer, have been married since 1982.

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Tennis star Chris Evert Lloyd has confirmed that she and her husband, John Lloyd, have separated for the second time in their eight-year marriage.

On Thursday, Evert Lloyd told The Fort Lauderdale News and Sun-Sentinel that she and her husband, an English tennis pro, have been separated for three months.

Divorce, she said, "hasn't been discussed."

The separation was reported last month in the British tabloids, but Evert Lloyd said the couple withheld an announcement because they hoped to resolve their differences.

"We tried very hard to do this in a private and dignified way," said Evert Lloyd, who turns 32 Sunday. "But unfortunately, due to some nasty and untrue stories, especially from the English press, we both felt it was necessary to set the record straight."

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Mezzo-soprano Kimball Wheeler's way of spreading Christmas cheer is by refusing to charge for her performances with the financially strapped New Orleans Symphony.

"I was thinking about getting in the Christmas spirit," said Ms. Wheeler, of New York. "It just seemed like a good way for me to celebrate the holiday season by doing something generous."

Through Friday, she will sing Gustav Mahler's "Songs of a Wayfarer" under conductor Maxim Shostakovich. Her performance Wednesday drew a standing ovation.

Two paychecks behind this season, the symphony announced a new plan last week to cope with more than $4 million in debts. Among the cost cuts was cancellation of Ms. Wheeler's contract, but she sang anyway. The amount of the contract was not made public.

Aquino

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — President Corazon Aquino on Friday helped distribute toys donated by Australian youngsters to children at a government hospital.

Social Services Minister Mita Pardo de Tavera and wives of other Cabinet members assisted Mrs. Aquino in handing out the presents to more than 100 children at the Philippine General Hospital.

The presidential palace said 3,000 dolls were donated by Australian children who responded to a "donate-a-doll" project for poor Filipino youngsters launched in October by Philippine Airlines, Qantas and the Australian Channel 10 television station.

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP) — Lt. Gov. Ruth Meiers should recover from surgery for a brain tumor in time for the opening of the 1987 Legislature, her doctors said.

Mrs. Meiers was sharp after the one-hour, 13-minute operation Thursday and did not appear to have suffered any ill effects, said Dr. Ken Mattheis of Medcenter One.

Students run soup kitchen for city's hungry

By THOMAS MORTON

BEAUMONT (AP) — Amy Webb, treasurer of the freshman class of Beaumont Christian High School, took tongs and snared hot dogs on a recent Saturday for the hungry visitors to the Some Other Place soup kitchen.

She was the first person in the serving line that 135 adults and children saw that day, as she and about a dozen fellow students met for the newest phase of Beaumont's downtown ecumenical ministry.

The other high school girls in the serving line dished up chili, boiled potatoes, boiled eggs and cole slaw. A bowl of candy sat at the end of the line.

"Everybody who can should come out here to help," Miss Webb says. The student council of the non-denominational high school, which has the support of local Churches of Christ, started the program at the urging of student body president Lee Burk.

"We read that needy people in Beaumont don't have meals on the weekends," Burk says.

After talking to the student council, Burk approached soup kitchen director Sandra Simmons and received a green light for the project. Some Other Place, an ecumenical urban mission supported by 36 area religious congregations, began the soup kitchen at McFaddin and Forrest streets, in February. The kitchen began serving on Saturdays in October.

The kitchen operates on Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday. On Monday and Thursday, St. Mark's Episcopal Church fills the gap with its own soup kitchen. Nine churches collect and prepare food for the Some Other Place kitchen: Wesley United Methodist, St. Andrew's Presbyterian, First United Methodist, Westminster Presbyterian, St. Jude Thaddeus Catholic, St. Michael's Orthodox Christian, St. Stephen's Episcopal, Westgate Memorial Baptist and South Park Baptist.

On Saturdays, the students cook the meals, help serve it and clean up afterward. "They get out of here faster than anyone else during the week and everything's sparkling," Ms. Simmons says.

The students who work at the kitchen view the hunger problem in Beaumont as serious, Burk says. Beaumont Christian High students could work on a community service project instead of taking a Bible course, but most choose both, he says.

Freshman Sylvia Nelson says working at the kitchen makes her grateful for what she has. She also sees a connection between her Bible course at the school and her work at Some Other Place. "You're helping people, and that's what God wants you to do," she says.

Sikhs convicted of trying to hire gunmen to kill Gandhi

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP) — A jury convicted two Sikhs Friday of trying to hire gunmen to assassinate Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi of India during his visit to Britain last year.

Jarnail Ranuana, 46, and Sukhvinder Gill, 30, were convicted of conspiring to murder Gandhi and of soliciting two undercover detectives to commit murder. A third Sikh, Parmatma Marwaha, 44, was acquitted of both charges.

Ranuana also was convicted of possessing a revolver and bullets and of supplying drugs.

The verdict followed a 10-week trial at Birmingham Crown Court. Ranuana and Gill were expected to be sentenced today.

The prosecution alleged that Sikhs fighting for Khalistan — their name for an independent Punjab state in India — were behind a plot to assassinate Gandhi on his trip to Britain in October 1985.

After the verdict was returned, Ranuana clasped his hands and shouted to supporters in the gallery in Punjabi, "Long live Khalistan."

Prosecutor Igor Judge told the court Ranuana arranged for a $85,000 contract to be paid for two men to kill Gandhi.

Judge said Ranuana sought help from a man without knowing he was a police informer. The man introduced Ranuana to two undercover detectives, the prosecutor said.

During the trial, the jury heard tapes of Ranuana's conversations with the undercover officers. The officers posed as Irish Republican Army guerrillas and claimed they were involved in the assassination of British Cabinet minister Airey Neave in 1979.

Ranuana testified he had only tried to persuade the men to help him recover a $420,000 debt from a business colleague.

He said he did not like Gandhi or the Indian government, but "my only aim was to get my money, nothing else."

Gandhi became prime minister after the October 1984 assassination of his mother, Prime Minister Indira Gandhi. Sikhs were convicted of her murder.

Holiday exodus to start

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Residents of the capital began their annual Christmas season exodus this week with the start of school vacations.

The Federal District's nearly 3 million students, from kindergarten to postgraduate level, began their two-week break on Thursday and many offices and businesses also will close for at least part of the holiday period.

Chinese students protest

PEKING (AP) — Thousands of students demanded democracy and protested tuition increases during demonstrations in the southwestern city of Kunming and in the Shenzhen special economic zone, witnesses said on Friday.

The demonstrations were the latest in a series of protests at major universities in China.

An American teacher, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said the students were from Yunnan University and the Kunming Technical Institute. They marched to the center of the city, carrying banners advocating democracy, the teacher said.

More than 1,000 students at the university in the Shenzhen special economic zone near Hong Kong demonstrated Sunday and Monday to protest tuition increases, said Chen Jiansong, a 20-year-old sophomore.

He said the protests came after university officials proposed a tuition increase from $5 to $190 per semester for some students.

After the protests, university officials agreed not to increase tuition in the immediate future, Chen said, adding he did not know whether plans had been scrapped to raise tuition in the next few years.

15 people die in crash

SALAMANCA, Mexico (AP) — A bus and a truck collided early Friday in Celaya, 217 miles northwest of Mexico City, killing 15 people and injuring 26 others, Red Cross spokesman Francisco Vega Orozco said.

The crash occurred about 3 a.m. (4 a.m. EST) when a truck carrying mayonnaise collided head-on with a passenger bus traveling west, Vega said.

"The four people in the truck died, as did the 11 in the passenger bus," he said. The 26 injured, four of them seriously, were in the bus, he said.

Because of the condition of the bodies, authorities first believed 18 were killed, he said.

A moving van crashed into them and a second bus went off the road, but no one was injured in those two vehicles, he said.

20 people die in fighting

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Syrian troops and their Shiite Moslem militia allies battled Palestinian guerrillas in Beirut and north Lebanon today. Police said 20 people were killed and 84 were injured.

Nine of the deaths occurred in the capital, where the Palestinian guerrillas fought off tank-led assaults on the Chatilla and Bourj el-Barajneh refugee camps by the Shiite Amal militia.

Eleven people were killed in the northern port of Tripoli in fighting between Syrian troops and Palestinian sympathizers of the Sunni Moslem fundamentalist movement known as Tawheed Islami.

Police and Tripoli-based reporters called hostilities there a spillover of the war between Yasser Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization and Justice Minister Nabih Berri's Shiite Amal militia in Beirut and south Lebanon.

They said fighting with machine guns and rocket-propelled grenades raged in the narrow alleys of the ancient Tabbaneh sector of the port city.

Bonner 'heroine of human rights movement'

MOSCOW (AP) — Yelena Bonner, the wife of Nobel Peace laureate Andrei D. Sakharov, has been a leader in her own right in the Soviet human rights movement.

Mrs. Bonner, 63, a pediatrician and World War II army nurse, achieved prominence in the movement in the late 1960s when she helped produce a report on human rights violations called "The Chronicle of Current Events."

She attained further recognition by gaining entry to the closed trial of people who tried to hijack a plane to dramatize the plight of Soviet Jews, then distributing news of the trial in public pamphlets.

She joined Sakharov in 1970 in helping found an unofficial Soviet human rights committee, and she married him the following year.

When he was exiled to the closed city of Gorky in 1980, she served as his liaison with the outside world until 1984, when she was convicted of slandering the state and ordered confined to the city for five years.

"She's certainly one of the heroines of the (human rights) movement. She's risked a lot," Joshua Rubenstein, author of "Soviet Dissidents," said recently.

Her daughter, Tatiana Yankelevich, who lives in Newton, Mass., said earlier this year: "She always had compassion toward those who were suffering, no matter for what."

Mrs. Bonner, who uses her maiden name, was born in 1923 in the remote city of Merv in the Soviet Union's Central Asian republic of Turkmen. Her father, an Armenian and member of the Comunist Party elite, disappeared in 1937, apparently a victim of a Stalinist purge. Her mother, a Jew and government health worker, was arrested a short time later and spent 17 years in labor camps and exile.

Mrs. Bonner and her brother, Alexei, were raised by relatives in Leningrad. After high school, she joined the army as a nurse and suffered a head injury in 1941 that triggered lifelong eye problems.

After the war, she studied medicine and married a fellow student, Ivan Semyonov. They had two children, Tatiana in 1950 and Alexei in 1956, but drew apart as she became more politically active. They divorced in 1965.

Her activities brought her into contact with Sakharov, who had helped develop the Soviet hydrogen bomb and whose first wife had died of cancer.

After their marriage, their tiny apartment became a headquarters for the Soviet dissident movement. The couple protested human rights abuses, attended dissident trials and signed international appeals for the release of prisoners of conscience around the world.

In 1975 Mrs. Bonner was allowed to visit Italy for an eye operation after Sakharov announced a hunger strike. He used the same tactic for periods in 1984 and 1985, finally winning permission for her to visit Italy and the United States for eye and heart surgery.

Sakharov had been part of Soviet elite

MOSCOW (AP) — Nobel Peace Prize winner Andrei D. Sakharov was a member of the Soviet Union's scientific elite before becoming the country's most famous dissident.

Sakharov's views changed dramatically between the late 1940s, when he helped develop the first Soviet hydrogen bomb, and 1975, when he was awarded the Nobel prize for his activities on behalf of human rights in the Soviet Union.

In his early years as a critic of the government, Sakharov was protected by his status as a leading physicist and by the celebrity he had gained in the West.

But in January 1980, after he criticized the government for sending troops to Afghanistan the month before, Sakharov was sent into internal exile in Gorky, 250 miles east of Moscow. He was never charged with any crimes or put on trial.

In Gorky, a city closed to foreigners, Sakharov, now 65, and his wife, Yelena Bonner, now 63, were isolated. They staged several hunger strikes to press their case with Soviet authorities.

The Soviet Foreign Ministry announced Friday that Sakharov would be allowed to return to Moscow after seven years in internal exile and that Mrs. Bonner, who in 1984 was sentenced to five years in internal exile for anti-Soviet slander, has been granted clemency.

Sakharov was born May 21, 1921, in Moscow and graduated with a degree in physics from Moscow University in 1941.

During World War II, he worked in a weapons factory on the Volga. In 1948 Sakharov was tapped to join the team of future Nobel laureate Igor Tamm to develop the first Soviet hydrogen bomb.

At first, Sakharov believed in his work.

"We were all convinced of the vital importance of our work for establishing a worldwide military equilibrium, and we were attracted by its scope," he wrote later.

But by 1957, Sakharov questioned the wisdom of using top scientists and large amounts of money to develop weapons of mass destruction. And in the early 1960s he defended nonconformist geneticists at the Academy of Sciences.

A 1968 text entitled "Progress, Coexistence and Intellectual Freedom" marked his break with the Soviet elite. In the text, circulated in Moscow and in the West, he advocated Soviet-U.S. detente and blamed Moscow for the 1967 Middle East war. Sakharov subsequently lost his security clearance.

In 1967 Sakharov's first wife, Klavdia, died of cancer. Sakharov had become increasingly isolated from her and their three children. He married Mrs. Bonner in 1971.

The couple embarked on a mission to challenge Soviet authorities on issues ranging from foreign policy to censorship and human rights. In 1970 they helped found an unofficial human rights committee.

While many other dissidents were jailed or exiled, Sakharov seemed protected by his still privileged status. He got his first warning in 1973 when Soviet authorities told him that his many statements to the Western media were being used by the West for anti-Soviet slander.

When he won the Nobel Peace Prize in 1975, he was not allowed to leave the Soviet Union to accept it in person.

The couple continued their dissident activities until he was sent to Gorky in 1980.

Mrs. Bonner went with her husband, journeying to Moscow once a month for supplies and to relay statements from Sakharov to foreign correspondents and diplomats.

Military school turns young boys into 'responsible men'

MEXICO, Mo. (AP) — When Brent Floyd arrived at Missouri Military Academy in September from San Antonio, Texas, no one could find regulation shoes small enough for his feet.

For weeks, he wore white sneakers with his dress blues until he got a spit-shined black pair like everyone else. At 4 feet tall, the 10-year-old is the shortest of the academy's 90 junior cadets, who are in fourth, fifth and sixth grade.

It's no surprise that Brent is cast as Tiny Tim in the junior cadets' production of Charles Dickens' "A Christmas Carol." At rehearsal last week, Brent carried a crutch as he rode onto the stage atop the shoulders of a student playing Bob Cratchit.

"What do you do, Floyd, when he puts you down?" the director, Lt. John Eastman, barked from his chair. Brent shrugged.

"You're a little boy," Eastman said. "You hobble over to your mother."

Little boys at this academy don't have their mothers near. They're sent away from home to develop "the complete stature of responsible manhood," according to an academy brochure.

Discipline and academics are the major drawing cards at this tradition-steeped school, now in its 98th year. More than 300 students in grades four through 12 attend, at a cost of about $10,500 a year for tuition, room and board and expenses.

"Most people think military schools are penal colonies for juvenile delinquents," said Capt. Scott Spangler, public affairs officer. But here, nobody even gets in if they've run into trouble with authorities.

The academy's schedule is jam-packed, including two hours of required study five nights a week. Homesickness is epidemic the first weeks of school, especially among grade school-age boys.

Parents are advised against frequent visits for fear of further upsetting the children. Letters that say, "Mother and Dad miss you very much, and Buster barks for you every day" are taboo.

Junior cadets can take their troubles to housemother Lola Miller, a retired elementary school principal and one of the few females working at the academy. She inspects dirty hands, mends torn uniforms and rides herd over the junior cadet barracks. Soon after school began, she said, "We had one night when there were a good many knocks on the door."

Brent wasn't one of the midnight knockers. He's been enthusiastic about the academy since the day he came. "I don't have enough time to be homesick," he said.

When the boys are not doing drill marches or swimming laps, they're polishing their shoes or lining up for daily flag ceremonies. The squeezed schedule becomes evident at meals. At a recent dinner, the dishes were cleared for dessert in 9½ minutes.

Polishing brass buckles and keeping clothes and room inspection-ready takes a lot of time. Blankets are taut, corners square. Brent's shoes gleam in a line, and his white shirts, dress gloves and white belts are neatly stacked. Two teddy bears sit on one shelf.

Brent's mother, Kay Floyd, is a divorcee who runs her own public relations firm in San Antonio. Her career required too much travel, she said, to provide much stability for Brent at home.

"I wanted something very, very strict, very routine," said Ms. Floyd, who had Brent held back in third grade to help him mature.

Now, Brent wears a gold braid on his shoulder that signifies membership in the honor roll. The "brain cord" allows him to study at night in his rooms rather than in study hall.

After visiting Brent in October, his mother said she had no regrets about sending him to the military academy.

"What we're doing today is going to enable him to be an independent, well-adjusted adult," she said.

Immigration officials instrumental in orchestra losing its conductor

PLANO, Texas (AP) — Immigration officials have refused to grant a visa to the conductor of the Plano Chamber Orchestra, striking a discordant note with symphony supporters.

Despite pleas to Congress and the State Department, Plano Chamber Orchestra officials have been unable to get Hector Guzman back into the country.

Guzman has traveled frequently between his native land of Mexico and Dallas for 10 years. But when he attempted to return in July, immigration officials denied his visa request.

Robert Raymer, chief of the Mexico City visa office, said he denied the request because Guzman failed to provide sufficient proof that he won't remain in the United States permanently. Raymer said he holds little hope for a quick resolution to the battle.

"There has been no progress," Raymer said in a telephone interview from his office. "The problem is that his ties and responsibilities are not sufficiently strong to say that he resides here. I am satisfied his intent is to reside in the United States," he said.

The 29-year-old conductor said he doesn't know how to prove to officials that he has no intentions of remaining permanently in Dallas.

"I'm doing everything they ask," he said. "To this day I don't know what I did wrong."

Guzman already has missed the chamber's first two appearances of the season, which cost him $2,000 in wages, and he fears the worst after four months of trying to have his visa restored.

The decision has so concerned chamber supporters they hired a lawyer, only to find that Raymer's decision cannot be challenged in court. But Dallas Lawyer Harry Joe did appeal to the State Department and Rep. Steve Bartlett R-Dallas.

Neither was able to help.

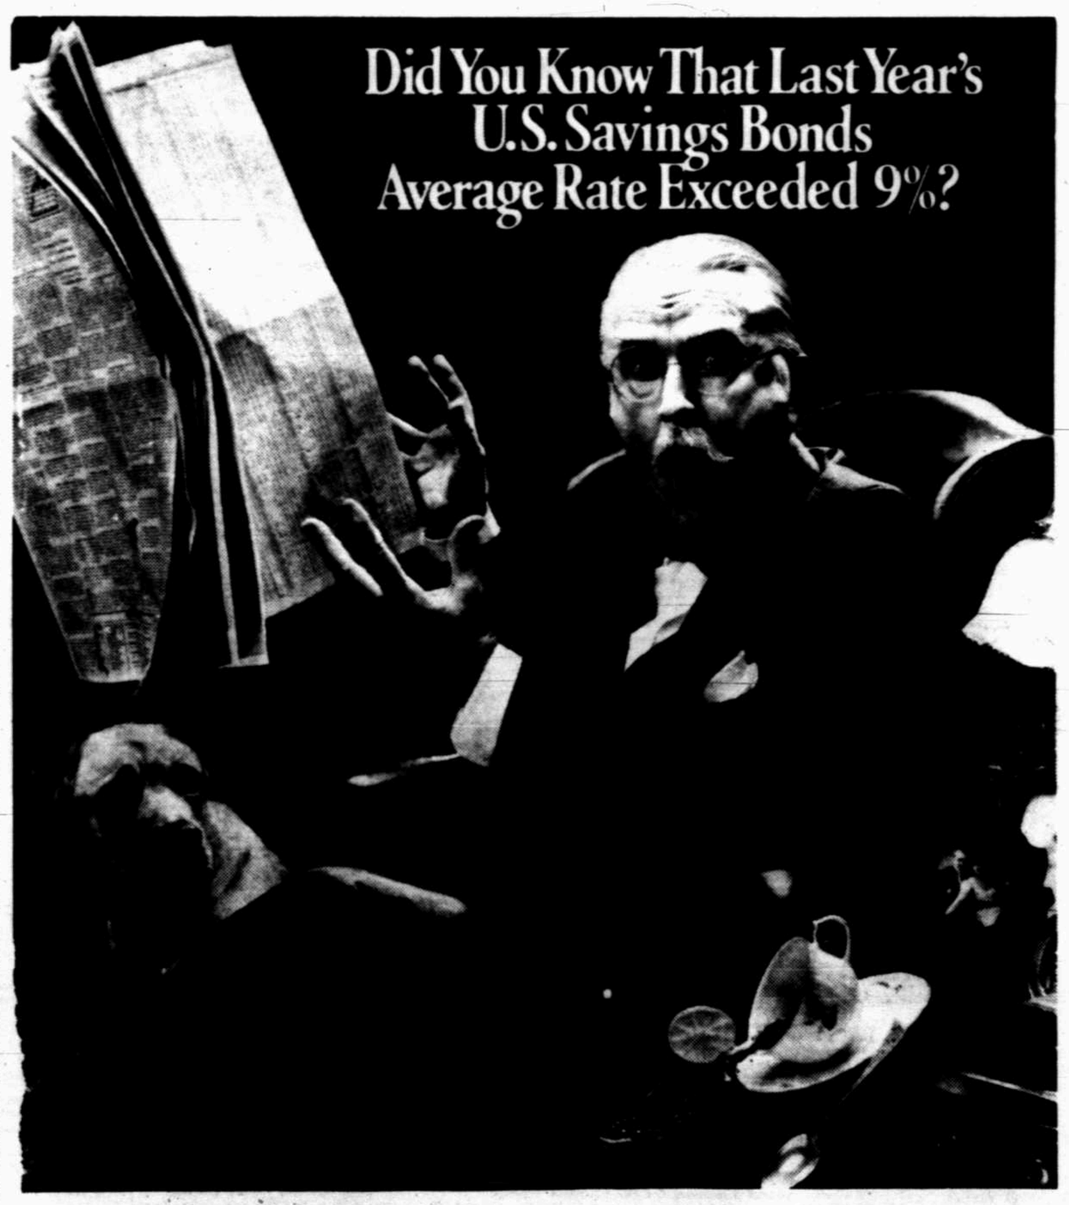

Joe said Raymer has taken an overly mechanistic approach to the problem. Even the orchestra's offer to post a special bond to guarantee Guzman's return has failed to sway Raymer, Joe said.

Sharon Blackwood, executive director of the orchestra in the suburb north of Dallas, said Raymer has failed to take into account the special nature of Guzman's job.

"We feel artists, particularly those like Hector who perform all over the world can't operate on the same standards of those with a more settled existence," Blackwood said. "We feel the rules have been interpreted pretty rigidly and think there is room for interpretation."

Guzman said he conducted two Mexican symphonies and has other dates pending. But Raymer would not budge, Guzman said.

Raymer has suggested that Guzman could improve his chances of obtaining a visa if he bought property in Mexico, or perhaps got married. Guzman says he won't take those options.

Many people all over America are surprised when they hear what U.S. Savings Bonds have to offer.

For starters, Savings Bonds give you market-based interest rates—like the money markets—plus the security of a guaranteed return. This means you can earn a lot more than the guaranteed minimum rate of 7½%, but never less! To earn the higher rates, just hold your Bonds for five years or longer.

Here's more surprising news—the interest you earn from Savings Bonds is free from state and local income taxes. And you don't have to pay federal taxes on the interest earned until you cash in your Bonds.

Savings Bonds are easy to buy, too. They cost as little as $25 and can be purchased at most banks and savings and loans. Or through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

All of these advantages are making Savings Bonds an increasingly popular investment. Last year, sales of U.S. Savings Bonds were up nearly 30%!

With all that Savings Bonds have to offer, it's no surprise they're one of the best investments in America. For the current rate, just call toll-free 1-800-US-BONDS.

U.S. SAVINGS BONDS Paying Better Than Ever

Market-based rates apply to Bonds purchased on and after 11/1/82 and held at least five years. Bonds purchased before 11/1/82 earn market-based rates when held beyond 10/31/87. Bonds held less than five years earn lower rates.

MIDLAND EXECUTIVE AIRPARK ANNEXATION PUBLIC - SERVICE PLAN

State statues require the preparation of a two-phased public service plan by the City specifying what action will be taken to provide public services to the annexed area within 60 days, and within 2-½ years. This proposed public service plan is based upon responses received from the City Departments and Divisions indicated.

PUBLIC WORKS: There are existing water and sanitary sewer lines available for extension along S.H. 349 from a point south of the proposed study area. A water line extension is proposed by the City to the airpark site when needed to serve the site. There are no immediate plans to extend sanitary sewer service to the airport; therefore any immediate disposal would require septic systems unless a property owner chose to extend a line at his cost. Any new roadway construction planned to serve Airpark will occur during the development of the airport.

POLICE: Calls for assistance would initially be served by existing patrols for Police Area 3, District 30. As development occurs within the annexed area, at least five officers and equipment should be added to the existing force to provide full time coverage of the area. This need is not anticipated during the first 2-½ years.

FIRE: Immediate fire needs will be served by the newly constructed station at S.H. 349 and Soloman Lane. As development occurs, a second station should be sited within or near the proposed airpark. Again, an additional station is not expected within the first 2-½ years.

PARKS: If typical urban densities begin to develop in portions of the annexed area, neighborhood parks should be provided in a manner consistent with any Comprehensive Plan. There are no proposals currently for any acquisition of specific park sites.

The provision of public services to the annexed area will occur in the same manner as services are provided to areas currently within the Midland City limits. As indicated by the statements above, provision of public services to this area would occur as development is sufficient to require it. The potential for municipal services to this general area would have several advantages over the only currently available options of water wells and septic systems. Municipal utilities provide a consistent level of service. Water supplies would not vary according to the water table or a neighbor's consumption. Extension

The Civic Hatchback is a lot of car. For very little money.

Front-wheel drive, 4-speed manual transmission, rack and pinion steering, power-assist front disc brakes, torsion bar front suspension and steel-belted radials are standard.

A fully carpeted interior, adjustable headrests and reclining front bucket seats make you feel at home on the road. The long roofline makes more room for passengers.

Safety-seat anchors keep children in their place.

The rear seat folds down to hold over 15 cubic feet of cargo. A cargo area light, door glass defrosters, remote-operated outside mirror, and a coin box make this 1987 Civic an upgrade hatchback. Without the upgrade price.
