Vance Says Peace Momentum Slowed

WASHINGTON (AP) - Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance today said that any resumption of Egyptian-Israeli peace talks is unlikely in the near future.

Vance also said Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin's talks this week with President Carter were difficult and peace "momentum is clearly much slowed down by recent events."

But he said the United States will be patient and persevere and that Egypt and Israel will do the same.

Vance, asked at a news conference about the prospects that Israel and Egypt would resume direct negotiations, replied: "In the near future that is unlikely."

He also said Carter had relayed "some exploratory ideas" to Begin in their talks earlier this week and he denied "the atmosphere was unfriendly or ugly."

Without going into detail, Vance hinted that Carter's proposals centered on an interim plan for the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River leading eventually to a choice by the Palestinians whether to affiliate with Israel or Jordan.

"The United States will persevere," Vance said. "It will be patient. Let me make it crystal-clear we have not given up hope."

He said Begin's talks with Carter "were difficult" but he refused to be drawn into a discussion of whether negotiations can be stepped up so long as Begin remains prime minister.

"I should not and will not comment on anything to do with the internal affairs" of Israel, Vance said.

He said there should be no doubt that the United States remains "fully and unequivocally committed" to Israel's security.

Miners Voting

WASHINGTON (AP) - The nation's striking coal miners, defiant and unpredictable throughout their 109-day walkout, are voting again on whether to accept a new contract offer.

As before, most officials of the United Mine Workers said they expect a close decision by the 160,000 soft coal miners eligible to vote today at union halls from Appalachia to the Rockies.

Tanker Separates

BREST, France (AP)-The wrecked American supertanker Amoco Cadiz broke completely into early today, and the stern section with its broad towering bridge and huge engine was swung completely around by the pounding seas.

The forward section, still thought to hold up to 15 million gallons of oil, was bearing the full force of the storms and 25-foot swells.

Begin Rejects Demand

JERUSALEM (AP)-Prime Minister Menachem Begin flew home today after rejecting President Carter's demand for removal of Israeli settlements from the occupied territories as "not just" and appealing to the American public for backing.

Sources in Israel claimed the Carter administration is trying to get Begin replaced by Defense Minister Ezer Weizman, a report both the White House, the prime minister and Weizman denied. And Weizman told two Israeli newspapers the opposition Labor Party should join the government coalition to form a "national peace government" that would stand up to the United States.

Agent Orange Eyed

CHICAGO (AP)-The Veterans Administration says it is looking into complaints of veterans' health problems that may be due to exposure to Agent Orange, a toxic chemical used in Vietnam.

The VA said Thursday it is investigating 27 cases of veterans who complained of symptoms which may have been caused by exposure to the chemical, used during the war to kill vegetation.

Solar Energy Plan Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP)-The Carter administration, hoping to increase the use of solar power, is considering a plan that might force builders to install solar energy systems in all future homes, energy officials say.

Bus Crash Toll At 40

SAN LUIS, Mexico (AP)-The death toll from the fiery head-on collision between two Mexican passenger buses has risen to 40, officials have confirmed.

Tommy Hart of the Big Spring Daily Herald says Charley West, the former Big Spring athlete who is now close to winding up a long career in professional football, believes he actually had better skills in baseball and liked it least and had fewer skills in basketball and like it most. So, he wound up playing football.

"Not long after Monte Clark signed on as head coach of the Detroit Lions, he put in a call to West, sounding him out on his plans," says Hart. "Charley, who is 31, should like playing for Clark. West can keep up with the kids on Sundays but his enthusiasm for the sport wanes during the heavy practice sessions earlier in the week."

West used to be well known around Snyder during his public school days. He competed against local teams in all three major sports and was regarded as one of the best talents in the area in each.

Here is a reminder that probably is more pertinent today than it was five years ago before the energy shortage.

According to Farmland News, burning wood that is wet or green can cause a tar-like mess to form inside chimneys or stovepipes, says Kurt Atkinson of the Oklahoma State Department of Agriculture. These "creosotes" can also be formed from burning woods high in resin and is worse in the early fall and late spring. Creosote can catch fire in the chimney and burn down the building. Good fuel and properly installed flues are important safety measures.

It's been a long time since we saw a chimney "burn out." But the "creosote" referred to was well-known back in the days when wood was a principal heating fuel. Only they called it "soot" instead of creosote.—WACIL McNAIR.

Gains A Half-Sister...

Father, Daughter Are Reunited After 54 Years

Until last Sunday Viola Willey never saw her father except in a faded World War I photograph of him in uniform. She had been separated from him since birth and never knew him.

The squabble between her parents took place in 1924 and resulted in the mother taking Viola and going to live in Baltimore, Md. It was a separation that eventually led to a divorce and a half century of estrangement.

Finally, after almost 54 years, Viola re-established contact with her father and in the process discovered she has a half-sister. It was a joyful reunion but one that was initially marked by silence. "What do you say after 54 years," was a question in everyone's mind.

The contact that led to the reunion occurred last week in a telephone call. Viola knew only that her father's name was Stanley Camp and that he lived in Hermleigh in 1924.

With that slender thread of information, she called a telephone operator. Thinking he might still live in the Hermleigh area, she asked for Camp listing. She was put in touch with Dwain Camp, Stanley's great newphew. He, in turn, was able to put her in touch with her father.

Following a round of stuttering, stammering, and clumsy introductions on the telephone, Viola Willey and her husband said they would fly down. Scheduled to meet them were Stanley Camp and his daughter by a second wife, Faye Guynes.

"I was just waiting for someone to come up," remembers Viola. It was all the cue her half-sister needed.

"Before I squeezed her to death I said, 'Viola?'" Faye remembers.

"Naturally, I couldn't help but think she would favor me," said the smiling 79-year-old father. "I'm tickled to death."

During the intervening 54 years, Camp moved to Snyder. His home was the site of the interview.

The girls, who bear a degree of resemblence, said they each wondered about the other for decades.

"Whenever I heard the name Viola, I used to think what questions I could ask to see if it was my sister," said Faye.

In Baltimore, whenever Viola met anyone named Camp, she used to ask questional trying to establish a possible kinship tie.

One of the hardest aspects of finding her father, Viola recalls, was finding a map with Hermleigh marked on it. She expected it to be small, but she thought it was between Dallas and Fort Worth.

Camp, on the other hand, knew where Hermleigh is. "If I hadn't got so contrary with her mother," he said, "I would have gone up there to Baltimore."

But the years of always wondering are now over the Camps, Willeys, and Guynesses.

They are reunited and plan to keep in touch. A half century is a long time to go without even a postcard.

Board Discusses Hospital Annex

Although little formal action was taken at the Thursday night meeting of the hospital board, discussion of the 50-bed annex was the main item on the agenda.

The directors passed two motions last night, one dealing with a call system for in-hospital communication among doctors and the other motion dealt with a headwall system.

The vote was 2-1 that the call system equipment be deleted from the building specifications and that the architect representing the firm of Page, Sutherland and Page be notified.

The board authorized hospital administrator Cy Miller to check on the possibility of having an alternate system installed and separately contracted.

Voting in favor of the call system deletion from preliminary plans were A.Z. Glover and Rex Robinson with the dissenting vote being cast by Sam Cross.

Final specifications for the new hospital building have not yet been prepared, directors said, adding they hope to have the system deleted before the final specifications are made ready.

A headwall system, however, met with the approval of directors.

The directors voted to have installation of conduits for 50 Enviro-Care units listed in the specifications. The Enviro-Care units are a headwall system primarily designed to provide bedside lighting for hospital patients.

In other discussions last night, directors examined a rough sketch dealing with two possible building modifications for the Medical Arts Clinic. No formal actions were taken in those discussions.

The board members also heard the administrator's report by Miller which listed the net worth and liabilities of the hospital as $3,105,938 as of Feb. 28.

Tornado Hits Longview

By The Associated Press

The last of a batch of rugged thunderstorms that rumbled eastward across much of Texas overnight moved out of the state early today leaving Texans with a reminder of what spring storms can be like.

The most powerful storms struck in North Central and East Texas as at least one confirmed tornado and several suspected twisters were reported.

A tornado tore the roof off a small business in Longview Thursday night. No injuries were reported.

The tornado hit the Land of the Rivers sandwich shop and flying tin from the roof barely missed a house.

Mrs. C.V. Rogers said she, her husband and their grandchildren heard "a noise like thunder" and went outside to find the restaurant's roof "within a foot of the house." The restaurant was about 150 yards away.

Mrs. Rogers said the tin from the roof "fouled up" some trees in her backyard and slightly dented her car.

Meanwhile, either a tornado or just some strong winds plowed into a trailer park in the Dallas suburb of Plano, overturning at least one mobile home and slightly injuring one man.

Officials said five inches of rain fell in Richardson, just north of Dallas as the frontal system moved to the east.

Stenholm In Snyder Today

Inflation, governmental controls and too much bureaucracy are the worst problems facing West Texans, Charles Stenholm, Democratic candidate for the 17th Congressional District, said today while campaigning in Snyder.

Stenholm, a Stamford farmer and businessman, was campaigning in Snyder today and addressed the Jaycees at their regular weekly meeting.

Stenholm said the most frequent complaint he hears from the business community is too much government interference in the way of controls, and bureaucratic red tape.

"This leads to more inflation," he said. "Government bureaucracy that restricts or hinders private initiative must be eliminated."

Stenholm maintains that the small business is the best indicator of economic conditions in America. He said that circumstances must not become so difficult that individuals become discouraged to take the risks required to enter business or stay in business.

"I would support a sunset law on the federal level," Stenholm said.

Such a law would require bureaucracies to periodically justify their existence.

On the farm strike issue, Stenholm said he supports the goal of 100 per cent parity from the marketplace. He does not believe that government should set prices.

"The proper role of government in agriculture is in supply management."

Stenholm noted that in the last 20 years the productivity of farmers has gone up 300 per cent while coal miners productivity on a man-hour-worked basis, has decreased 72 per cent. Their wages have improved 332 per cent if they accept the proposed contract.

Responding to questions on the oil industry, he said he was totally in favor of deregulation. He said that almost one half of all oil and gas consumed in the United States is imported and that we must encourage domestic exploration and develop non-depletable resources such as solar energy.

Stenholm says he is of the Urban Proposals Weighed

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter, ending his agonizing search for a national urban policy, today weighed proposals that sources said may provide an additional $3 billion for the nation's cities.

Carter was to make his final decisions today and announce them Monday.

Knowledgeable sources who asked not to be identified outlined for The Associated Press several of the "leading options" among 200 pages of proposals sent to Carter last Monday by domestic policy chief Stuart Eizenstat. Eizenstat met Thursday with key senators to discuss the policy.

The urban policy has been in the works for a year. It was to have been unveiled last summer, but the task proved far more difficult than expected and the release was delayed until this spring.

enemies of industry

The United States Supreme Court ended a three-year hassle of delays for petroleum explorations off the East Coast. Oil firms spent $1.4 billion for the leases but have been subjected to every kind of delay fanatic environmentalists could devise.

Although the East uses a major part of available natural gas and oil, it has appeared that the people of that part of the United States want it produced in areas out of their sight. We don't wish to be too harsh in our judgment on them because all over the U.S. can be found the same type of attitude.

We all want the end products of the use of natural resources but prefer to have the means for obtaining them in backyards other than our own. Few of us have demonstrated any inclination to do without all of the nice things which come from our industrial way of life.

Most of us would rather have the industrial activity occur far away from where we reside. And a few of our more aggressive brethen will fight with every available means to halt industrial activity near them.

Even as these more fanatical members of our society seek to halt needed industry, they utilize the products of resource use they condemn. They even use facilities which are products of resources to implement their activities to deny resources to other Americans.

Now that the high court has ruled, oil industry officials say they can begin the exploration within three weeks. There are 39 oil companies which have the leases by virtue of the bids. Several of the larger firms have obtained federal permits and are lining up drilling rigs, coastal base stations and employees.

Some companies - including Exxon, Gulf, Texaco, Continental and Mobil are almost ready to start moving rigs from Mexico to sites selected for initial exploration. Most of these say they can begin drilling by mid-year.

Government officials estimate that as much as 1.4 billion barrels of oil and 9.4 trillion cubic feet of gas may be found in the rock formations 8,000 to 16,000 feet below the Atlantic.

If these under-water fields develop into anything near those figures, it will be a tremendous plus for our energy needs. But our so-called environmentalists are not through with their harassing tactics.

A coalition of activists and some local officials expressed their reaction to the high court decision by stating, "We will be monitoring the environmental regulations and making sure they are enforced. We are talking about potential operations for twenty years and we are going to be there every step of the way."

They forgot to add that they would be using gas, oil, and other petroleum products as they carry on their hampering tactics.

bulging can market

Last year, Americans opened and consumed the contents of more than 85 billion metal cans.

The contents had a market value of some $40 billion, but the cans themselves also represented a business that would be considered big in any league - $6 billion.

So?

It so happens that a struggle is underway over what is to be the basic material of the beverage can market - steel or aluminum. It is a struggle in which steel, an industry which has been seeing leaner times of late, is attempting a comeback.

Not so long ago the familiar tin-plated steel can had the market sewn up. Aluminum began making rapid inroads, however, with the advantages of its lighter weight and a new production technology called drawing and ironing which produced the seamless, slightly bulbous around the edges container which, by 1976, had taken over 61 percent of the beer can market and was moving in strongly on soft drinks.

Poor steel. That industry, however, has now come up with its own version of a seamless, lightweight can and has rejoined the contest. Not the least of the advantages of the new cans, asserts the American Iron and Steel Institute, is that they require less energy to produce.

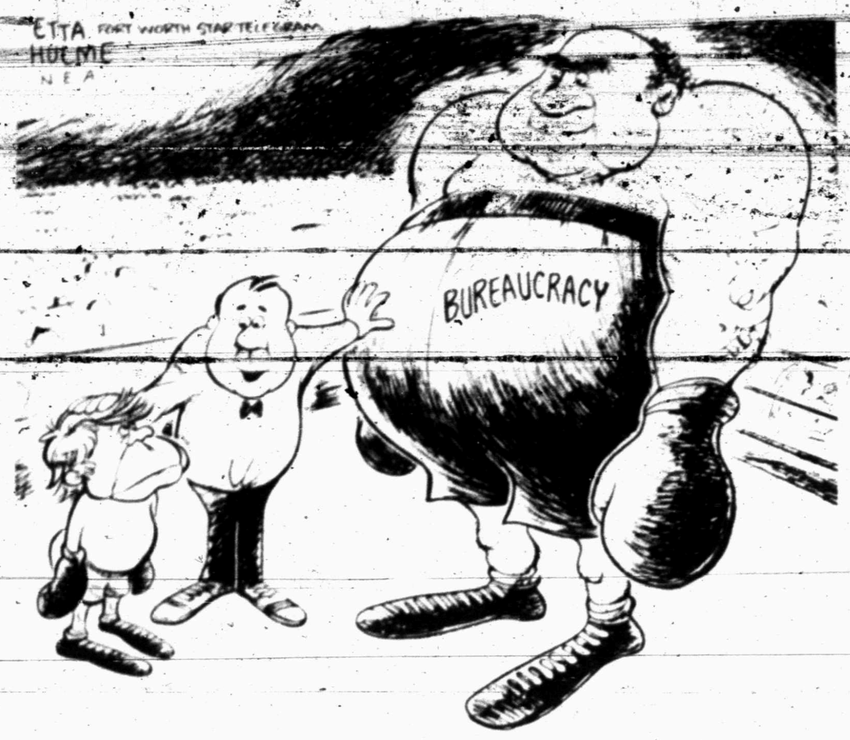

A number of major producers, including the number one brewer, Anheuser-Busch, have installed or are in the process of installing new steel-can production lines with an average capacity of a quarter of a billion cans per year. By the end of the year it is estimated that there will be more than $120 million invested in such new facilities at St. Louis, Columbus, Ohio, and elsewhere.

From such small ideas are great industries made.

If I were casting a war, using sports enthusiasts, there's no doubt in my mind that the joggers would be the infantry, the golfers the artillery, the swimmers the submarines, polo players the cavalry and tennis buffs the special services.

For reasons I am about to explore, the skiers would be the Marines.

It's not that they're so elite. It's just that somewhere along the line they've been brainwashed into believing that by putting big sticks on each foot, riding an open chair lift to the top of a big hill and skiing down into the arms of three ambulance attendants, they are having a good time.

They are absolutely fearless. No snow is too deep, no blizzards too paralyzing, no distance too far. The colder it is, the more inaccessible the slopes, the more hazardous the conditions - the bigger the challenge.

My husband is a ski mercenary. He follows the snow. We happen to live in the southwestern part of the United States where the winters are comparatively mild. When storms began to wreak their devastation this winter, my husband and I watched in horror.

"It's a real blizzard," I said quietly.

"It's a 40-inch snow base," he said, "and I've got to go."

"It's not your war," I pleaded. "There is nothing you can do."

As he packed his thermal underwear, his padded mittens, and his stocking cap, I tried to appeal to his sense of survival.

"It's the flu season. You have children. Your skin is dry."

No amount of reason would keep him home. He dug out the car chains, his AAA card and was off to the front.

A week later, he returned from the wars ... face burned by the sun, a bruise from a chair lift that gave him a nudge, and a service-connected limp.

"What happened?"

"I was forced to do my reverse Wishbone."

"What's that?"

"It's where someone skis across your skis, whirls you around and you are skiing down a hill backwards as both of your legs are skiing in opposite directions."

"Sounds exciting. Wanta take out the garbage?"

"In 50-degree weather? Get hold of yourself!"

your chamber in action

MR. PRESIDENT

From this week's U.S. Chamber of Commerce's Congressional Action Newsletter, we picked up a rather interesting bit of information.

Speaking before a crowd of some 2,000 faithful Democrats at a $500-a-plate fund raiser in Washington, President Carter offered the following humorous (?) remark:

"It's hard to make decisions. I avoided it all during the campaign. That's the good thing about campaigning, there are so many things to be fuzzy about."

It would have been much funnier if it weren't so true.

RETAIL MERCHANT SEMINAR

The Snyder Daily News, KSNY and the Snyder Chamber of Commerce Retail Merchants Association will sponsor a free Retail Merchants Breakfast Friday, April 14, at the Smorgasbord, beginning at 7:30 a.m.

The seminar, entitled "Competing in Today's Marketplace," is being held to give local merchants added insight in increasing sales volume from local as well as out-of-town consumers.

The keynote address will be given by Noel Johnson of the Snelson, Randell and Johnson Advertising Agency in Midland. Johnson is well versed in market captivation and has been involved with several award-winning campaigns.

GROWTH

Snyder's retail community is expanding at the fastest rate in history, and local merchants are having a difficult time understanding the new, more sophisticated consumer's needs. Hopefully, the seminar will provide tips to get the customer to the store and satisfy his needs once there.

Time will also be allocated to determine merchant needs from the Chamber as the marketplace expands and the role the Chamber should play during this increased activity.

GOLD COATERS

Gold Coaters have a busy couple of weeks planned next month. Our "Goodwill Ambassadors" will help salute local industry during Texas Industrial Week April 1-7. The group will personally visit local industries employing 10 or more and present owners-managers with a proclamation from the Governor.

The "visit" is being sponsored by the Chamber's Industrial Relations Committee, which is chaired by Joe Williamson. "While much of our work, time and money is spent in trying to recruit new industry, we must be cognizant of the outstanding work existing industry has done for Snyder," Williamson said. "These existing businesses have been the backbone of Snyder for many years and we're very proud to have them here.

"Hopefully, we'll be able to be of assistance to them as they continue to do business and employ our citizens."

INDUSTRIAL DRIVE

Gold Coaters will also be involved with the Scurry County Industrial Foundation Drive the week of April 10-14 to raise funds for the construction of a "spec" building in our new industrial park.

Thus far, nearly $5,000 has been pledged for the project through the mail following personal letters to each member of the Chamber and former members of the Foundation. Through this week-long drive, Foundation Directors hope to be able to secure enough capital to begin construction of the 30,000 square foot facility.

If you have not as yet pledged your support for increased industrial development in Snyder, please do so either by calling the Chamber office or making an investment April 10-14. It'll make a difference.

WASHINGTON-(NEA)- In politics, as in war, there is no substitute for victory. So if Jimmy Carter is celebrating right now, he's entitled.

But as crucial as the administration's triumph was on the first Panama Canal treaty vote, victory does not a winning streak make.

And it is likely to be awhile before anyone, at the White House or elsewhere, can say whether this vote represents a turning point for the Carter presidency.

"It's bound to help. To come from so far behind and win creates a terrific psychological boost," said one administration official involved in the canal fight.

"But in all probability, winning won't help nearly as much as losing would have hurt. It doesn't guarantee us an energy bill, or a SALT treaty. It just makes the president look stronger to the public and the Congress."

The Carter people knew from the beginning that the Panama Canal treaties would be brushing domestic political battle. But they were privately dismayed to see them develop into a life-or-death struggle. "These treaties have gotten way out of proportion. They're not such a big deal that the president should stand or fall on them, but that's what they turned into," on official said.

It needn't have been that way, of course, if Carter had gotten the energy bill through Congress when he hoped to, or had achieved a breakthrough in the Middle East, or even produced a settlement that would stick in the coal strike.

But after a year of frustration and outright defeats, the president had to win this one to remain politically viable at home. Even more important, as it developed, was the threat that rejection of the treaties could destroy his credibility and effectiveness as a world leader.

Carter recognized his jeopardy in the latter regard, and used it to stunning effect to win over wavering senators. At least a half-dozen members with serious doubts about the wisdom of the treaties voted of the first one purely for the sake of the presidency itself.

There was no single hero in the fight for ratification. Vice President Mondale, trouble-shooter Bob Strauss, Hamilton Jordan, Frank Moore, the entire State Department congressional liaison team, Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd and Minority Leader Howard H. Baker Jr. all worked ferociously and effectively.

And for the first time, Carter himself used the awesome moral force of the presidency to persuade reluctant senators to risk their own political necks on his behalf.

In winning, especially on an unpopular issue, Carter has at least temporarily silenced the chorus of critics who questioned his very competency to hold the office of president. And that is no small achievement.

Equally important, in terms of his future dealings on Capitol Hill, the president has shown he is capable of flexibility in bargaining for what he wants and willing to sanction good old-fashioned deals made in his name by others in the administration.

There was a delightful irony to the eleventh-hour squawks from treaty opponents that the White House was trading anything that wasn't nailed down in order to win ratification votes. For months, Carter's critics had complained that he was too stiff-necked to horse-trade and hence doomed to fail in his relations with Congress.

"I think they've finally learned what it takes to win around here," said one Senate Democratic leader. "This vote shows what they can do when they have to, and that is bound to rub off on other issues."

chambers get involved

NEW YORK (AP)-Once they used to promote turkey raffles or run benefit dances or crown a teenage queen of something or other, but now that's all passed.

Chambers of commerce today are more likely to be involved with real challenges, such as school integration, arresting inner city decay, planning energy resources and promoting better work relationships.

"There was a tendency for chambers not to get involved in anything controversial," said Clyde Cole, chairman of the American Chamber of Commerce Executives. "Now we're involved in substantive issues."

Such as in Tulsa, Okla., where Cole is executive vice president of the metropolitan chamber, which threw its support behind a plan to peacefully integrate the once totally segregated school system.

"The business community had heard about a lot of communities being torn apart on this issue," said Cole, and it decided that "from a practical and pragmatic point of view this was not for Tulsa."

Or as in Jacksonville, Fla., where the chamber provided the original impetus for reorganizing and consolidating local governments into one unit, with a resultant decline in the millage rate for nine years.

Or as in Hartford, Conn., where the chamber arranged for the loan of corporate executives to provide free management expertise to school administrators.

Or as in Denver, where the chamber helped consolidate all transportation functions under a single metro transport authority. Or as in Milwaukee, where the chamber helps counsel ex-offenders.

Cole vows the old days are gone. For 50 or 75 years, he says, the personality of many chambers was exemplified by a slap on the back or dollar day sales. "That's gone forever in most cities," he promises.

Today, Cole insists, chambers of commerce are busily building cities. "There is nothing more challenging," he asserts. As he continues speaking he offers proof that the old chamber spirit still exists.

"When I get home at night I can't wait to get back the next day," he declares. Why? "Because it's so exciting."

That might be so for Cole, but why do so many business executives, including chamber members, remove their companies almost overnight from the inner city to the suburbs or even beyond?

Chamber officials have a facility with such questions. "They didn't leave because they lost confidence in the city," Cole replied. "They lost confidence in the processes available to them to deal with the problems at that time."

But now, he continues, the new, more reponsible, more responsive, more community oriented chambers are tackling the very problems that forced some of their colleagues to pull up stakes.

To Snyder Daily News:

Some people say ghosts are a phenomena. Some say they are real and will return years later to haunt us.

In the early 1900's the U.S. Government furnished military supplies and aid to a group of Panama rebels to gain their independence from Colombia.

In the early 1940's the U.S. Government sent military supplies and aid to the Soviet Union to keep it from being defeated by the German Army.

In 1945 the U.S. Government, Great Britain and France in alliance with Joseph Stalin signed peace treaties that enable the Soviet Union to enslave or dominate millions of people of eastern Europe.

In the 1950's the U.S. Government lent aid to a young revolutionist Fidel Castro to overthrow the Cuban Government.

In the early 1860's General Sherman marched across Georgia laying the country to waste.

In the middle 1970's a Georgian is marching across the United States laying the country to waste.

Limmer Presents Program

Lambda Kappa Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met recently at the Martha Ann Woman's Club.

Ms. Carolyn Limmer presented the program on health and diet through a film entitled "Nutrition and Communication." Ms. Limmer stressed the fact that children are taught to equate food with enjoyment rather than good health.

Boxes of various brands of popular cereals were passed out to the members and a discussion followed about sugar content in these products and the effect on one's health. She pointed out that these products are advertised on television, and children spend more time in front of television absorbing these ads on these products than they do sleeping.

Club members were urged to contact congressmen, write the companies, and not to purchase non-nutritional products. Ms. Limmer concluded her program with a statement that good diets promote good health.

Ms. Susan Chesser, presided over the business meeting. All members stood and repeated the Opening Ritual. A letter from the March of Dimes thanking the chapter for its participation in the local fund drive was read.

Nominations for the "Woman of the Year" award was discussed. The chairman of the committee stated that the other clubs in town would be contacted to submit nominations.

Ms. Kathy Roberts announced that the four pledges had passed the pledge test and the Ritual of Jewels degree would be bestowed on them at the next meeting.

Ms. Dena Ellis reported that the Hobo Party was successful and urged members to attend the next social function, the Las Vegas Showcase.

The Closing Ritual was repeated and all members held hands for the Mizpah. Hostesses for the evening were Carolyn Greene and Mona Bryan.

BRIDE-ELECT HONORED — Kathy Jones, bride-elect of Rick Chatman, was honored with a shower in the Young Adult Bldg. recently. The serving table was centered with an arrangement of yellow - daisies, the bride-to-be's chosen color. Refreshments were served from silver coffee service and a crystal punch bowl. Multiway Dress Grew Out Of A T-Shirt

By BURT BERLINER

NEW YORK (AP)-The 50-way dress - it grew out of a T-shirt.

Dubbed by its manufacturer as the height of versatility, the silk-like, wrinkle-free fashion was created by Robert Wachman, a Manhattan psychologist-turned-clothes designer.

Wachman, who designed the dress for Great Vibes, Inc., of New York, attended Bard College in Annandale-On-Hudson, N.Y., and Columbia University, where he majored in psychology.

"Then I designed a T-shirt for myself with capped sleeves and everything changed," says Wachman, 30. "People kept asking me where they could buy one."

Friends in the fashion field suggested that he market the shirt. "So I took $5,000 and my T-shirt and founded my own company, Robert Truth, in 1973."

The concept for multiway clothes emerged early last year when Wachman, his fiancee and his mother were packing for a four-day jaunt to the Caribbean.

"I suddenly realized we were filling up way too many pieces of luggage for such a short trip. I thought, 'This is ridiculous. We need more versatile clothing.'"

Back in New York, Wachman got out some Qiana, a du Pont fabric made of wrinkle-free nylon.

"Once I started draping it on the model, the possibilities simply emerged. You can stand in front of the mirror and create style after style to suit your personality and looks for any occasion. You make your own statement."

Machine washable, the dress is available nationally in a variety of solid colors for under $50. "That's less than a dollar a style," Wachman says.

Instructions for use of the sleeves to vary the styles and the belt to vary the lengths are included. The sleeves can be worn short or long and can be tied like a sash or like shoulder straps.

Wachman is continuing the multiway concept with designs for men's fasions.

"People are searching for ways to be relaxed and first class. The multiway story is the answer - the look for the '70s."

Officers Don't Want Women In Combat

WASHINGTON (AP)-High-ranking Marine and Naval officers say they don't think women should be thrown into combat.

"I don't think it's necessary. I don't think it's philosophically sound," Vice Admiral James D. Watkins told a Senate subcommitee Wednesday. "I certainly don't contemplate women carrying a rifle and charging up a hill..." added Marine Lt. Gen. Robert L. Nichols.

Suit On Everett Dismissed

LOS ANGELES (AP)-A suit naming actor Chad Everett as the father of actress Sheila Scott's 4-year-old son has been dismissed by a judge who said the issue was already decided by an out-of-court settlement.

Superior Court Judge Alfred Margolis dismissed the suit Thursday because a Sept. 20, 1973 settlement of an earlier suit declared that Everett was not the father. The settlement also provided Miss Scott with $55,000 plus attorney's fees and $275 per month for the child's support.

Attorney Caryl Warner, who brought the new suit as guardian for Dale Andre Lee Everett, contended the issue should be reconsidered because the child was not a party to the original case.

Everett was the star of the defunct television series "Medical Center."

"Well," said North. "I think you have just won the Olympic Gold medal for speed in chucking away a slam."

South had no need to hesitate at trick one. He had to play his singleton ace of clubs. He had played out his ace of trumps at trick two with one and the same motion. West had shown out and South had to lose two trump tricks.

South had been unlucky. Three missing trumps are divided 2-1 78 percent of the time. South would not have been hurt if West had held all three. So, actually South would only lose 11 percent of the time. In addition, South's play of the trump ace had given him a 26 percent chance to pick up a singleton king and score an extra 30 points.

An 89 percent chance is a pretty good one, but a 100 percent chance is a lot better. There wasn't that 100 percent chance but there was a 99.99 percent chance.

At trick two South should have led a low trump toward dummy's queen. This play would ensure the contract unless the defense could get a ruff in addition to the king of trumps.

Man Rescues Victims As Others Stand By

MORGANTOWN, Pa. (AP)-When a single-engine plane swooped in front of his bus and crashed, driver Allan Thomas ran to the wreck. But other motorists ignored his pleas to help, stopping to take photos and movies as he pulled two victims from the burning plane.

"It was flaming, there wasn't time to go for help," Thomas said Thursday, after rescuing Harold Denlinger, 32, of Morgantown, and his daughter, Emily, 8, from their plane, which had smashed into a dirt embankment along the Pennsylvania Turnpike near here. The plane had just taken off from a local airport.

Thomas was driving a Greyhound bus on a run from Pittsburgh to Philadelphia when he saw the plane crash about 2:30 p.m.

"I just took a chance, that's all," he said about running to the burning plane. "It was moving slow when it crashed, and I thought they might need a hand getting out."

They did.

Emily's face had been raked by branches that whipped the plane as it tore through tree limbs. Denlinger was unconscious, his hands stiff on the controls.

Thomas took the girls first. "I wasn't scared," he said. "I just knew I had to get her out."

Thomas had problems when he went back for Denlinger.

"It was like he had been dead three days, he was so stiff," Thomas said. By this time, several dozen motorists had stopped, but Thomas's pleas for help went unanswered.

"I said, 'Won't somebody please help me?' but they all told me to get back, that the plane was going to explode. Some of them were taking movies," Thomas said.

Thomas said two men finally came forward and helped him pull Denlinger from the plane. A bus passenger helped him lug a 50-pound fire extinguisher from the bus to the wreck and fight the fire.

State troopers, a fire engine and an ambulance then arrived. Thomas said the entire rescue took about 15 minutes.

Denlinger was listed in poor condition Thursday night in the intensive care unit at Reading Hospital, where officials said he had a fractured skull, broken legs and possible internal injuries.

Emily Denlinger was listed in satisfactory condition with facial cuts and a broken hand.

Girl Drives Injured Granddad To Hospital

FORT WORTH (AP)-When Wendy Harmon heard her badly injured grandfather tell her to get the pickup truck, she did just what he told her despite the fact that she was only nine years old.

Her grandfather, Archie Wright, 68, had just been gored by a cow last weekend when he gave Wendy the orders about the truck.

Wright is in serious condition at Coryell Memorial Hospital in Gatesville, said his daughter, Mrs. Barbara Turney. She is Wendy's maternal aunt.

Mrs. Turney gave this account Thursday:

Wendy and her mother, Mrs. Linda Lynch, have been living with Mrs. Lynch's parents since an accident last summer when a horse Wright was riding somersaulted and landed on top of him.

He had been taken home last month and was just beginning to walk again, said Mrs. Turney. His wife was also recuperating at home after falling out of the pickup truck, breaking her arm and collar bone, and could not walk yet.

"Daddy had gone down to feed the cattle," Mrs. Turney said. "This cow had a baby calf and daddy was unmarking (notching the calf's ear) with a pocket knife it."

She said the family dog ran between her father and the calf and the mother cow ran at the dog.

"She missed the dog and hit my father with her horn, goring him in the groin area," she said.

"The cow kept spinning around and around and finally, we don't know how, my father got loose and fell to the ground."

Wright was able to crawl about 30 feet and began screaming for help.

"My mother heard him. She hollered at Wendy who was playing outside with a friend," Mrs. Turney explained.

Wendy and her friend ran to Wright and her grandfather told her to "get the pickup and take me to the hospital."

Undaunted, the nine-year-old backed the family pickup out of a very tight space and drove down to her grandfather.

She and her friend managed to load Wright into the truck.

Wendy, who can barely see over the steering wheel, began the 14-mile trip to Gatesville.

Mrs. Turney said her father once told his granddaughter, "don't go so fast," when she reached 30 miles per hour.

Wendy's mother, who had been called by Mrs. Wright, intercepted the pickup four miles from town and drove the truck to the hospial.

"The doctor said that if my father had been 10 minutes later, he would have died," said Mrs. Turney. "He also said the horn just barely missed a major artery."

She said Wendy told her she was very nervous during the episode.

"I was so nervous I could hardly stand it," she told her aunt. "But I told myself that I could do it. I had to."

Crucifixion Re-Enacted

MANILA, Philippines (AP)-Two Filipinos had themselves nailed to wooden crosses one after another on Good Friday in a re-enactment of Jesus' crucifixion almost 2,000 years ago.

A crowd of 40,000 shrieked and jostled for a better view, first of Juanito Piring, 35, then Mariano Bagtas, 28, who were nailed through the palms and stayed on the crosses for three minutes.

Their crucifixion took place on a stage in the village of San Fernando, 30 miles North of Manila.

Piring, who has been crucified on Good Friday for several years running, called the ritual an "atonement for my sins and those of others."

Wallace May Appeal Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP)-Alabama Gov. George Wallace is expected to appeal a Federal Election Commission decision which said he must pay $47,795.55 back to the U.S. Treasury in connection with his 1976 presidential campaign.

The commission said Thursday that an audit has shown that the Wallace campaign received $96,669.60 as federal matching campaign funds that were used for expenses not qualified for receiving such money. It said $48,874.05 already was being held in abeyance. Wallace has received permission to appear at a commission hearing April 3.

Four Die In Crash

VAN VLECK, (AP)-A mother and her three young children were killed today in the fiery crash of their station wagon with a garbage truck on Texas 35 near this Southeast Texas town.

The woman was identified as Mrs. John McGraw of Sweeny. The children were not immediately identified.

Another McGraw child, Kelly, and the two occupants of the truck were taken to an area hospital.

The two men were identified as Arbestor Sneed and Oscar Robinson, employes of W&K Garbage Service.

The McGraws were on their way to Victoria where an older son was to play in a tennis tournament.

Witnesses said the car burst into flames after impact and the truck rolled on top of it, preventing any escape from the car.

Police and firemen from Van Vleck and nearby Bay City aided in the accident.

Bishop Reads Lenten Message

NEW YORK (AP)-In a Lenten message, Greek Orthodox Archbishop Iakovos called for "spiritual engagement" to stem modern influences that weaken the faith.

The message, read in parishes March 19 at the start of the Eastern Orthodox Lent five weeks after that period began in Western churches, urged restored emphasis on prayer and fasting to provide the "stamina to cope" with present-day challenges.

US Birthrate On The Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) - America's birthrate is on the rise, but population experts say the nation may nonetheless reach zero population growth by the middle of the next century.

Provisional statistics compiled by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare show the birthrate climbed to 15.3 births per 1,000 population last year, up about 3 per cent from the 14.8 per 1,000 recorded in 1976.

It was the first increase recorded in the annual birthrate since 1970 and reversed the slow decline of recent years.

But Paul Glick, population specialist for the U.S. Census Bureau, said the birthrate in the United States is still very low, and the number of children women expect to have remains at a statistical average of 2.1.

The level of no population growth is almost exactly 2.1 children per family, slightly higher than the apparent two children per couple, because some children never reach adulthood.

Glick said present projections indicate the United States will reach zero population growth about 2050, when the older generations that themselves were products of high birthrates have died off.

THE HOT DOG VENDOR

There was a man who lived by the side of the road and sold hot dogs.

He sold very good hot dogs.

He put up signs along the highway and advertised in the newspaper telling how good they were.

He stood on the side of the road and cried:

"Buy a hot dog, Mister?"

And people bought.

He increased his meat and bun orders.

He bought a bigger stove to take care of his trade.

He finally got his son home from college to help him out.

But then something happened.

His son said, "Father, haven't you been listening to the radio and watching TV?

There's a big depression.

The foreign situation is terrible.

The domestic situation is worse."

Whereupon the father thought, "Well, my son's been to college, he listens to the radio and watches TV and he ought to know."

So the father cut down on his meat and bun orders, took down his signs and cancelled his newspaper ads and no longer bothered to stand out on the highway to sell his hot dogs.

And his hot dog sales fell almost overnight.

"You're right, son" the father said to the boy.

"We certainly are in the middle of a great depression."

WP: Everton (1-0) LP: Gonzales.
HR: Witherspoon. Double: Everton, Hilliland.

Snyder varsity baseball team racked up its eighth victory of the season here yesterday, bombing Andrews 10-1 in four and a half innings.

The win, awarded to Sid Everton, gives the Tigers an 8-3 record going into the Snyder Baseball Tournament, which was to get underway at Moffett Field today at 3 p.m.

Five teams are to participate in the two-day tournament. In addition to the host, Kermit, Lubbock Cornado, Levelland and Lamesa will be vying for one of the first through third place trophies awarded after Saturday's 6 p.m. game.

Lamesa and Coronado, the only 4A team included in the meet, were to battle in the opener today, followed by Snyder versus Levelland at 5 p.m.

Saturday's action is to begin at 10:30 a.m. as Kermit and Lamesa take the field. That game will be followed by Snyder against Cornado at 12:30, Levelland versus Kermit at 2:30 and Cornado versus Levelland at 4:30 p.m. There will be a draw for the final game at 6, held between Snyder, Lamesa and Kermit.

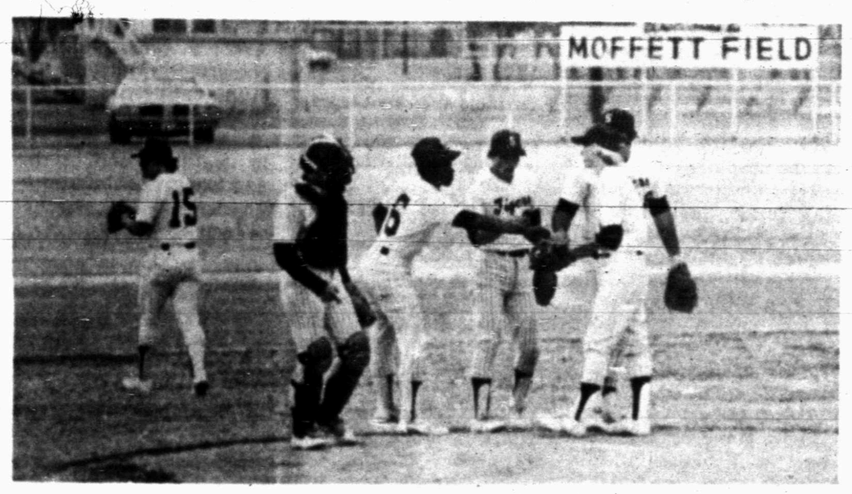

According to Tiger Coach Albert Lewis, the team with the most wins will cop the championship trophy. In the event of ties, officials will look to (1) the score between the two teams involved, or (2) the most runs scored in the tournament by the teams involved, of (3) the fewest runs allowed by a team. In addition, 10 individual trophies will be awarded.

In season play here yesterday, Tracy Witherspoon blasted a two run homer in the bottom of the first inning to put Snyder ahead 2-1. Everton socked a double and Mike LaPointe and David Zajicek each connected on singles in the second frame as the Tigers continued to roll. Their four second-inning runs boosted the lead to 6-1, before three more scores in the third and one in the fourth earned the 10-1 victory.

Brief but heavy rains ended the match, and left Andrews--which got its single run in the first inning off of a Hilliland double--with a season mark of 2-6.

Everton handed out two hits and fanned nine Mustangs in his best overall effort since an ankle injury sidelined him several weeks ago.

Gonzales draws the loss for Andrews. He scattered 11 hits and struck out only one batter.

READY ON DEFENSE — Members of Snyder's varsity baseball squad "huddle" before the final half-inning of yesterday's regular season game with Andrews, in which Snyder won, 10-1. Heavyweights Leap Into AIAW Finals

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The era of domination of smaller schools in women's college basketball came to a sudden halt Thursday night as host UCLA and Maryland won their way into Saturday night's title game of the seventh AIAW tournament.

Twelve national championship banners of UCLA men's teams hang from the rafters of Pauley Pavilion where the Bruin women's team won their 32nd consecutive home floor victory. UCLA, 26-3, defeating Montclair State of New Jersey 85-77.

Maryland, 27-3, edged Wayland Baptist of Plainview, Texas, 90-85 in the other semifinal of the Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women tourney.

Early years of the tournament were ruled by tiny Immaculata College of Pennsylvania, champions in 1972 through 1974. Delta State of Mississippi took over from 1975 through 1976.

Umbarger Gives Two; Rangers Pop Yanks

POMPANO BEACH, Fla (AP) - Lefthander Jim Umbarger, who came to spring training as a long-shot to make the team, has progressed so rapidly he may be a starter for the Texas Rangers in their opening series against the World Champion New York Yankees, April 8-10.

"He's a possible starter against the Yankees," said Ranger Manager Bill Hunter after Umbarger yielded just two hits in four innings Thursday. The Rangers nipped New York 3-1 in an exhibition game.

"All I know is that Baltimore always beat the Yankees head-to-head because they threw three lefties at them. He is throwing the ball harder now than I have ever seen him."

The Rangers traded the former Arizona State star last spring to Oakland for Claudell Washington and infielder Rodney Scott. Then Ranger owner Brad Corbett purchased Umbarger back from the A's in September for $250,000.

Umbarger was saddled with arm trouble last year but has pitched nine innings and allowed no runs with tremendous velocity on his fast ball.

Told of Hunter's comments, Umbarger said "That's what I like to hear. That's what I've been working for."

Jon Matlack, a lefty obtained by the Rangers from the New York Mets, is scheduled to pitch the opener against the Yankees April 8.

Juan Beniquez hit his first homer of the spring as the Rangers, now 9-4, victimized Catfish Hunter and Rich Gossage in Thursday's Grapefruit League game.

A&M Favored In Palms Meet

MCALLEN, (AP)-Powered by half the Aggie gridiron backfield, Texas A&M's track squad is favored to outpoint Texas and Rice in the inaugural City of Palms Invitational Meet here Saturday.

Curtis Dickey, an Aggie halfback, has won the NCAA 60-yard indoor crown and is top-rated at that distance here. Versatile freshman Mike Mosley, a quarterback on the gridiron, is favored in the 110-meter hurdles and the long jump.

The Longhorns will continue to compete without Johnny "Lam" Jones. The Olympic gold medalist suffered a leg injury in the Cotton Bowl and has not run competitively this season. Texas Coach Cleburne Price had said he might try Jones, usually a sprinter, at 400 meters. But a UT spokesman said Thursday that Jones was not ready to run.

The Horns are expected to give A&M close competition in the field events while Rice has counted on depth to pile up points in its outings. The Owls' Mike Novelli is favored in the 5,000 meters.

NCAA Semis Pit Speed To Muscle

ST. LOUIS (AP)-College basketball's elite, the survivors from an original tournament field of 32, converged today on the banks of the Mississippi River to await a pair of Saturday matchups that could prove strikingly similar.

The semifinal lineup of the NCAA's 40th postseason tournament is made up of Kentucky and Notre Dame, each relying on size and muscle, against Arkansas and Duke, underdogs with racehorse speed.

Kentucky, the nation's top-ranked team, faces Arkansas, No. 5, in the second game of the afternoon doubleheader at the 19,000-seat Checkerdome.

But first comes a confrontation between Notre Dame, No. 6, and Duke, No. 7, another pair of teams with contrasting styles.

As each team settled into its tournament quarters, the lone ripple was created by the status of Arkansas senior Marvin Delph, whose eligibility was revoked because of money raised to send his parents to the West regional tourney last week.

An NCAA subcommittee on eligibility reinstated the 6-foot-4 Razorbacks star 24 hours later, however. "I can't talk about it," Delph later demurred.

While Delph pondered his exoneration, Arkansas Coach Eddie Sutton and his Kentucky counterpart, Joe B. Hall, mulled over the quality of their teams' recent performances.

"We played awfully well in the Nevada Las Vegas game, the next to the last in our regular season," said Hall, "but we've been pretty much on the decline. I'm looking forward to coming back up now."

Saturday's 1:15 doubleheader will be nationally televised NBC, as will Monday night's championship game.

California Oil Men Criticize Price Controls

By DOUG WILLIS
Associated Press Writer

SACRAMENTO (AP) - Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. says California oil producers "are getting a raw deal from Washington" in the form of price controls.

Brown made the comment Thursday, when he presided over a two-hour meeting of 40 oil company executives and government officials who agreed that the system of federal subsidies and penalties known as "entitlements" must be changed.

"The impact is to make it very difficult for California to sell its oil and to make it easier for foreign oil and oil from Texas and Oklahoma to be put into the market," he added.

"The purpose of this meeting is for California producers and refiners to formulate a unified strategy to bring to the federal government, because there is no doubt that the state of California, as an oil producer in the Wilmington Field, and the private oil producers and refiners are getting a raw deal from Washington."

The entitlements program, imposed during the 1973 oil crisis, guarantees that no matter where the crude comes from, the price will be the same. That has resulted in subsidies to bring down the price of foreign oil, and high taxes on domestic oil.

But the oil executives said California oil is heavier and more costly to refine, and the entitlements program makes no allowance for that. Californians are therefore cutting production.

Brown said, "The entitlements program has the effect of shutting in California oil and subsidizing foreign oil. Leaving it in the ground doesn't do anybody any good."

"President Carter and Energy Secretary James Schlesinger have got to realize that the West is a little different than the East, that California has a problem, and California is too big for the President or Secretary Schlesinger to ignore," Brown said.

The chairman of the California Energy Commission, Richard Maullin, said the consensus of the group was to eliminate the entitlements penalties against California oil and to lift restrictions on exports of California petroleum products.

The meeting was called in preparation for a federal Department of Energy hearing next week in Huntington Beach on proposed changes in the entitlements program.

Hays In Walking Cast Now

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)- Wayne Hays hopes to begin campaigning in earnest in about two weeks for the Ohio House.

Hays, who resigned from Congress because of the Elizabeth Ray sex scandal, filed petitions this week for the Democratic nomination in June for the seat held by A.G. Lancione, 71, who is retiring.

Hays, 66, was prevented from actively campaigning when he tore a tendon in a knee last month in a fall at his farm.

"I'm in a walking cast," he said Thursday in a telephone interview from the St. Clairsville bank where he is chairman of the board. "But I can get around. I can drive my car."

He said he expects to be out of the cast in two weeks.

Hays has lined up a campaign committee which includes his wife, Pat, as treasurer. "She's good with books," he said.

Five other Democrats are running for the nomination. Only one Republican had filed petitions by the deadline Thursday.

HIKE-BIKE SUPPORTER — The high school student who obtains the most money in pledges for the upcoming hike-bike will be presented a $50 gift certificate at Hastings' Books and Records. Carol Deen, the store manager, is shown displaying two albums that may be purchased with the certificate.

Top Fund Raiser To Receive Gift

Carol Deen, manager of Hastings' Books and Records, is shown displaying two of the current best selling albums that will be among the items offered to the high school student who raises the most money in the Hike-Bike for Retarded Citizens.

The winning high school student, said organizers of the hike-bike, will have the opportunity to select several tapes, records, books, or other items of his or her choice with the presentation of a $50 gift certificate purchased at Hastings' by the Youth Association for Retarded Citizens.

The YARC is sponsoring the hike-bike which is scheduled for Saturday, April 8. Anyone 10 years of age and older may participate after obtaining a pledge sheet.

Persons wishing more information may call Debra Watts at 573-8070, or Barbara Miller at 573-7271.

Capt. Phillips Resigns Post

LONDON (AP)-Capt. Mark Phillips, Princess Anne's husband, left his office at the War Office for the last time on Thursday.

Phillips resigned his commission in the elite Queen's Dragon Guards recently to farm his 12,000-acre estate at Gatcombe Park in western England, where he lives with the Princess and their infant son.

"I am sad to be leaving the army but I am looking forward to my new life," said Phillips, who spent 11 years in the army. "I would have liked to have commanded a squadron in my regiment, but that wasn't possible."

Phillips could not advance his army career because he was not allowed to gain greater regimental experience in sensitive areas such as Northern Ireland.

Money Speaks

SALISBURY, N.C. (AP)- It will pay the stockholders of Security Bank and Trust Co. to read the annual report.

Enclosed in each copy of the 2,000 reports printed by the Salisbury bank is a crisp one dollar bill.

"The bank officer who stayed up nights preparing the official report said if you could wade through all those numbers, you deserve a dollar," said Ed Clement, Security Bank's marketing director.

Experts Push Project...

Solar Power Satellite Answer To Energy Needs

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)- A research scientist says the proposed solar power satellite is the only answer to the nation's energy needs and work on the project should be expedited.

"If SPS development is not begun soon, Dr. James W. Moyer told an energy conference. "a lot of you folks are going to have children who will freeze in the dark around the year 2000."

Another scientist told the group a SPS would cost $27 billion.

"We have a great sense of urgency about this program and we have about 12 to 15 years to negotiate the price," Moyer, with the Southern California Edison Company, said Thursday at a conference on "Meeting Energy Needs Today and Tomorrow." The conference was sponsored by the University of Houston and the National Consumer Research Institute.

Prior to Moyer's talk, Gordon R. Woodcock, solar power systems study manager for the Boeing Co., presented the $27 billion price tag for the SPS.

Woodcock said this would be a commercial system, including the satellite itself, transporation costs of building in a 22,300 mile orbit and two ground stations.

However, he said the figures could be reduced as the program progressed.

For instance, he said he believes the cost of orbital transportation could be cut in half as more research is done on solar cells and the cost of these would be reduced.

Moyer, who worked on the Manhattan Project, the development of the first atomic bomb, said California Edison, which provides about 2 percent of the electrical energy produced in the United States, has done research into virtually every type of alternate energy source.

"We have never had a situation like this in our history," he said, referring to the energy crisis.

He said there are compelling reasons for getting on with the SPS program--continued economic growth, surviving as a nation and increasing the quality of life.

He said that he has researched all of the options available as fossil fuel sources run out "and I don't think we have an option" other than SPS.

He said it takes 20 years to develop SPS, "now is the time to push the button."

Your Birthday

March 25, 1978

Conditions will grow much more stable for you this coming year. It's a good time to establish new friends who could become lifelong companions.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Give-and-take is called for today with one you're involved with romantically. Hurt feelings will surely result from inconsiderate actions. Find out to whom you're romantically suited by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail 50 cents for each and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify your birth sign.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You could be short-tempered today with persons who don't do things your way. Tolerance will make everyone's job easier and the day more pleasant.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Keep your friendliness on a strictly platonic plane today. You could be accused of enticing another's sweetheart and sparks will fly.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your image is still fragile and could be easily damaged today, especially with those who count. Be extra careful what you say or do to others.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Someone you expected to hear from may not call you today. You could let this get you down and ruin what otherwise could be a pleasant day.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You might further complicate your financial picture by going on a spending spree today. Remember those bills at the end of the month have to be paid.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct.23) Don't get your signals crossed today and be overly-assertive in a situation that calls for diplomacy and tact.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Be careful to show the proper amount of gratitude the incident requires when another goes out of her way to be helpful to you. She'll remember.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Normally you are willing to go along with the crowd but today you might feel they're trying to use you. You won't be wrong.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) In your eagerness to satisfy a personal ambition, you may tread on the toes of one who wouldn't use the same tactics on you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Everyone will not be as infatuated with your ideas and plans today as you are, so don't be disappointed if you get a lukewarm response.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You could be an easy mark today for some hotshot salesman with a dazzling pitch. Be on guard or you'll wind up with buyer's remorse.

Bag-Snatcher, Six Others Enter Pleas

Eighteen-year-old David Turner, one of four youths arrested last Friday following a purse snatching and high speed chase, was sentenced yesterday to serve two concurrent 60-day jail terms.

He pleaded guilty Thursday in county court to one charge of misdemeanor theft and to one count of evading arrest.

The theft charge stems from his alleged participation in stealing two purses from the Highland Beauty Center. The evading arrest charge comes from a chase in which speeds ranged up to about 95 miles an hour.

Turner was the only adult of the four persons arrested. Police officers at the time reported that the boys were all from Indiana and were wanted in that state as well as in Arkansas where they are alleged to have stolen a car.

Five other guilty pleas were entered yesterday in county court. Four of the pleas dealt with charges of driving while intoxicated.

James Choyce, John Milton Blackmon, Ollie Raymond Phariss, and Jimmie Leon Carpenter all entered guilty pleas to DWI charges.

Choyce and Phariss each received a $100 fine and a 30-day jail term, probated for six months. Blackmon and Carpenter each drew a $100 fine and a three-day jail term.

The final guilty plea was entered by Jesse Gonzales to a charge of evading arrest. He was fined $50. The offense is reported to have occurred Dec. 22.

Silent heart attacks

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB - Would you please write about silent heart attacks? I had one this spring. I had heard of them but had never seen a patient with one. I'm a registered nurse.

I never suffered any of the classical symptoms and never had any heart pain. On a Sunday morning I just fell sick and was nauseated. There was no perspiration on the head or face but I was perspiring on the body. No pain. My pulse rate dropped to 50 but I didn't think of heart attack. On Wednesday the pulse rate dropped to 40.

My sister wanted to call a doctor on Sunday but I refused, thinking I'd soon feel better. On Wednesday when I talked to the doctor he thought I had a virus and asked me to come in on Friday but if I felt worse to come in sooner.

When I got to his office and had my tests run, including an electrocardiogram, I was sent immediately by ambulance to the coronary care unit with a diagnosis of acute myocardial infarction. I was hospitalized for seven weeks. I had to have a pacemaker. Several doctors said I had something unusual: a silent heart attack with complete heart block and heart failure.

I think you would do the public a great service if you would comment about silent heart attacks.

DEAR READER — Silent heart attacks are not as rare as you might think. Doctors have known about them for years. Often these would be found as a result of autopsies showing the old damage to the heart muscle in a person who had no history of a heart attack.

The figures vary on how common they are. But when my staff at the School of Aerospace Medicine studied electrocardiograms from the flying population, we found about one-third of the men with infarcts were found because of changes they developed in their electrocardiogram — compared to previous normal records. The other infarcts were in men with symptoms. The surprising thing is that these men were flying airplanes and were never ill enough to know they had anything wrong.

We also know that men doing heavy labor sometimes continue working in the presence of a heart attack and do not know anything has happened. Perhaps it isn't so surprising anyway, since the heart muscle itself does not have pain fibers. The heart pain is a reflex pain pattern to the chest wall, shoulders, arm, jaw and sometimes other places.

There is always some disagreement about whether a heart attack is truly silent. Many doctors would not classify your case in that group because you did have symptoms — illness and nausea. You may not have recognized what caused the symptoms but they were real. Many a case of mild indigestion is passed by as not important when in reality it represents a heart attack. It is sometimes impossible to tell what "indigestion" means without additional studies.

As you can see — from no symptoms at all, mild indigestion, atypical pain patterns and then severe unmistakable heart pain — heart attacks may be present in varied ways. It is no wonder that the doctor has to observe many patients in the hospital to tell what is really happening.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 2-10, Heart Attack, Myocardial Infarction, Angina Pectoris. Others who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Lutheran Special To Air In Area

Local television viewers have as many as three opportunities this weekend to see a Lutheran half-hour animated Easter special, "Easter Is."

Stations in Abilene, Big Spring, Lubbock, and Midland will televise the life-related episode of how a boy named Benji is led to a deeper understanding of the true meaning of Easter as a result of the search for his lost dog Waldo.

The International Lutheran Laymen's League has both produced and provided funds for the airing of the seasonal special, which will be seen by millions of viewers nationwide, including some market areas which will see a Spanish version.

"In this area where Lutherans are a denominational minority, we hope our Christian brothers and sisters will find a common job in sharing this communication of the Good News of resurrection and new life through Jesus Christ," said Pastor Jonathan Jensen of Snyder's Grace Lutheran Church.

Air times related to this viewing area are:

Saturday at 1 p.m. on KTXS, Abilene-Sweetwater.

Saturday at 2 p.m. on KWAB, Big Spring, and KMOM, Odessa-Midland.

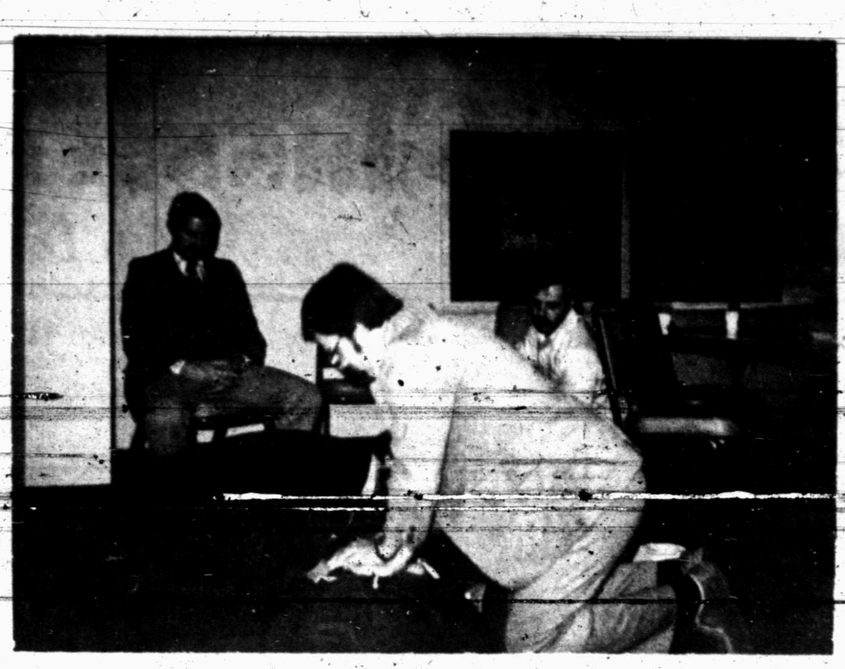

Sunday at 12 noon on KCBD, Lubbock.

Service Set At Sunrise In Towle Park

A celebration of the Easter event will begin at 6:30 a.m. Sunday on the lawn near the fishing dock in Towle Memorial Park.

Sarah Coleman will read "Mary of Magdala" written by Dick Ross. Gary Huddleston will sing the Hymn "I Know That My Redeemer Livth," and he will lead worshipers in singing hymns. The Rev. David Robertson will be the speaker.

The Easter sunrise service of worship is being sponsored by the First United Methodist Church in Snyder, and the community is invited to participate. Worshippers are encouraged to bring blankets and lawn chairs.

Witnesses To Attend Assembly

Over 600 delegates from twelve congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses in our West Texas area are finalizing plans to attend their two-day assembly in Arlington. The assembly is scheduled for April 1 and 2.

The theme for the assembly, "Do All Things For The Sake of the Good News," will be interwoven through a variety of talks, skits, demonstrations and interviews. The program begins at 9:55 a.m.

The highlight of the assembly will be the public discourse given on Sunday at 2 p.m. "Have Faith in the Good News" is the title to be delivered by Jehovah's Witness District Supervisor, W.S. Brandozzi.

Regularly scheduled meetings at the Kingdom Hall will be suspended to favor the assembly.

Church Of Christ Youth To Forum

Some 34 youth from East Side Church of Christ and from 37th Street Church of Christ left Snyder Thursday night for Searcy, Ark., to attend the annual Youth Forum on the Hardin College Campus.

Featured speaker at the youth gathering will be Jack Evans, president of Southwestern Christian College in Terrell, Tex. Youth from both Snyder congregations have attended the forum the past several years.

The forum was expected to be attended by more than 2,000 youths. Last year, those attending came from 17 states.

Adults accompaning the students include Mr. and Mrs. Sam Kitching and Dr. and Mrs. Jay Kidd from East Side and Mr. and Mrs. Arlie Eicke from 37th Street.

Judaism Teaching Curriculum New

NEW YORK (AP)-Conservative Judaism has introduced a new teaching curriculum described as a means for revolutionizing Jewish education.

The United Synagogue of America, representing conservative congregations, said the new curriculum for 635 congregational schools stressed depth rather than breadth by concentrating on special areas of study, abandoning the "mile-wide, inch-deep" approach.

In 1975, there were 14 million sheep, 9 million hogs and 6 million head of cattle in Romania.

CPR Course Completed By 7 Ministers

Seven Snyder ministers successfully completed the Cardio Pulmonary Resusitation courses offered through the Heart Association the past week.

The instructors for the course were Gayle Anderson, R.N., Diana Kunce, R.N., and Bill West.

Pastors successfully completing the course were Gary West of First Presbyterian Church; Jene Greer, Trinity United Methodist Church; Johnny Guzman, Templo Bautista; Monte Jones, St. John's Episcopal Church; Miller Robinson, Colonial Hill Baptist; Joe Stansell, Avenue D. Baptist, and David Robertson, First United Methodist.

The course was offered through the Snyder-Scurry County Ministerial Association.

NFPC Re-Elects Ratigan President

SEATTLE (AP)-Continued attention to issues of social justice by the National Federation of Priest's Councils was indicated at its annual convention by re-election of the Rev. James Ratigan as president.

In defeating a challenger, the Rev. James Hogan of Helena, Mont., Ratigan of Joliet; Ill., declared in a campaign speech:

"There are those who would ask the NFPC to retreat from its traditional commitment to social justice - those who would advocate not growth but a lessening of resolve, but I say emphatically, 'no'. Hopefully we have moved beyond the days of departmentalizing the social justice ministry of priests apart from our understanding of priestly ministry.

Watches Are Sophiscated

DALLAS (AP)-The exotic wrist watches being marketed these days seem to be missing only Dick Tracy's fabled 2-way radio. With a myriad of sophisticated devices, they are no longer Mickey Mouse.

The watches serve as alarm clocks, stopwatches, calculators, mini-databanks and calendars-programmed until the year 2078, including leap years so you won't have to trouble yourself with changing the date.

And, of course, they flash the time - digital, naturally - and the date. And day of the week, or the day of the year. Or give you a choice of the month-day-year or day-month-year, depending on which sequence you prefer.

In the five years since conventional watches first faced competition from digital models, styles have progressed from the first generation push-a-button-and-find-the-time-inglowing-red to dazzling, multipurpose wrist packages.

One firm has marketed a complicated model that includes a full-fledged four-function, eight-digit calculator with percent keys and scientific notations. It flashes, on command, the time, day of the week or day of the year.

It also has a 200-year perpetual calendar and an alarm function that will automatically activate every 12 hours and a stop watch accurate to the hundredth of a second. A timer can be set for any time within a 100-hour time span.

Finally, an internal memory can store an eight-digit number indefinitely, which comes in handy if there is a phone number or street address to remember.

You might also find the calculator invaluable in figuring the price of the watch-$650 in silver and $750 in gold.

The picture appears to be bright for digital watch markets - most jewelers complain of not being able to get enough of the more popular models. One model, which includes a stopwatch and an alarm, is in such short supply that clerks are telling customers it might be several months before orders can be filled.

As technology has improved and become more widely spread, costs have fallen.

Your basic digital watch, which once sold for more than $100, is now available for $9.95. For $20 or so, watches with six-functions can be purchased.

Showers Make EPA Backpedal

HOUSTON (AP)-Environmental Protection Agency officials apparently didn't expect to create any problems when they asserted that showers "might" be a necessary part of a bicycling incentive program.

But questions put to the officials made them backpedal.

During a day long seminar on employee transportation programs Thursday, some 200 employer representatives learned that the EPA requires firms with 250 or more employees to begin providing "incentives for bicycle communting."

Then this issue arose: Should firms whose employees wish to ride bicycles to work be required by the EPA to provide showers so the workers can freshen up after the trip to work?

"This will require shower and changing facilities," said one businessman, noting that bike-riding in Houston in the summer time is a sweaty proposition.

Others in the audience wanted to know if a shower and dressing room would be required if just a single employee wants to ride a bike to work. Could a company president go to jail if he ignored the EPA order?

Caught in the middle were EPA Pollition Control Chief Jack Divita and EPA Regional Counsel Jim Veach.

Noting the commotion his speculation had caused, Divita said, "What we are talking about is providing a place for the employees who ride bides to lock them up.

"I don't think we'll force people to begin installing showers."

One of the EPA officials later commented: "I guess it kinda depends on customer relations."

Lutherans Elect Schultz Again

St. Louis (AP)-The Rev. George S. Schultz of Minneapolis, an American Lutheran Church official, was elected to a third one-year term as president of the Lutheran Council in the U.S.A. at its annual meeting.

Teen Needs Help In Handling 'Dad'

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1978 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old girl living in a foster home. I don't mind being in a home—the mother is a sweet person and I love her. But the father is not the type of father I would like. I am very big for my age, and sometimes I have problems about it. The father has offfered me money to let him touch me, but I have never accepted.

Abby, the reason why I don't tell my foster mother is that I don't want to be sent away from here.

I have asked God to help me, and He does. I'm saved, but I am still afraid of this man. I never let him touch me. I always run into the bathroom and lock the door.

Please tell me how to cope with this without being sent away.

AFRAID

DEAR AFRAID: Please, please, tell your foster mother! I am almost certain you'll not be sent away, but if you are, it would be better than living in your present environment. Your foster father is a sick man and needs to be treated. If you don't tell your foster mother, he could eventually harm you or some other young girl. I beg you to confide in your foster mother today. Write again and let me know how you are. I care.

DEAR ABBY: When I was 19 and in nurses' training, I became pregnant. It was the first and only time I ever went all the way, and I got caught.

The boy offered to marry me, but he wasn't ready for marriage and neither was I, so I said no. I had the baby and gave it up for adoption to a family unknown to me. But I was assured that the child would be loved and well cared for.

My parents stood by me through it all, for which I'll be eternally grateful because I caused them a lot of grief and heartache.

Anyway, I've been a nurse for three years now and have fallen in love with a young doctor. He is so kind and good. I never knew anyone that wonderful could exist. He's asked me to marry him and I want to. But I don't know if I should tell him about my past.

Please advise me. He can't understand why I haven't given him an answer. Thank you.

R.N.

DEAR R.N.: Tell him the truth. If he's as "wonderful" as you say he is, he'll not hold it against you—and if he does, you're ahead to know it up front.

DEAR ABBY: We have a weeding invitation with a smaller card included that reads as follows:

"Mr. and Mrs. ———————— will attend.
Number of guests ————————."

The outer envelope was addressed to "Mr. and Mrs. J. Smith," and the inner envelope was the same.

Is it proper to fill in, "Mr. and Mrs. Smith plan to attend, and the number of guests is FIVE"? (This includes our two children and my husband's mother, who makes her home with us.)

I say that since there was only "Mr. and Mrs." on the envelopes, the invitation is for only the two of us.

My husband says that we are allowed as many guests as we wish, and they are asking us to please fill in the number. Who is right?

NUMBER, PLEASE

DEAR NUMBER. You are. Under no circumstances should invited guests include others without the approval of the hostess.

"THOSE CRAZY EPISCOPALIANS"

ever see one of their funerals? brrr!

Some say an Episcopal funeral is cold. It's short, simple, and taken straight from the Prayer Book. Never maudlin. The casket remains unopened. It's covered with a pall, so you don't know if it cost a hundred dollars or a thousand. And there is no eulogy for the dead.

Episcopalians, though, say the funeral service affords one of the strong reasons for their faith in the Church, because it's conducted as much for the living as for the dead.

In such a context, eulogies seem hardly apropos. After all, we're all children of God and equal in His sight. How important, really, is the fact that "the departed" was highly regarded by his fellow man? It seems pretty insignificant compared to God's loving promise of eternal salvation.

Like its funeral service, the Episcopal Church is conducted for living people. Afterwards, it's between you and God. Your nearest Episcopal minister would be delighted to talk with you about this "living theology."

Jury Selection BeginsMonday

HOUSTON (AP)-State District Judge Lee Duggan has denied claims that the Texas death penalty statute discriminates against men.

After ruling Thursday he then ordered jury selection to begin Monday in the capital murder trial of Michael Eubanks, accused of beating a 22-year-old man to death with a hammer during a burglary.

Defense attorneys Michael Thornell and Michael Toomey spent two weeks presenting testimony to demonstrate their contention of discrimination.

They had sought to subpoena every district attorney in the state but Duggan rejected that request.

Thornell maintained that women are rarely charged with capital murder and even less frequently assessed the death penalty if convicted.

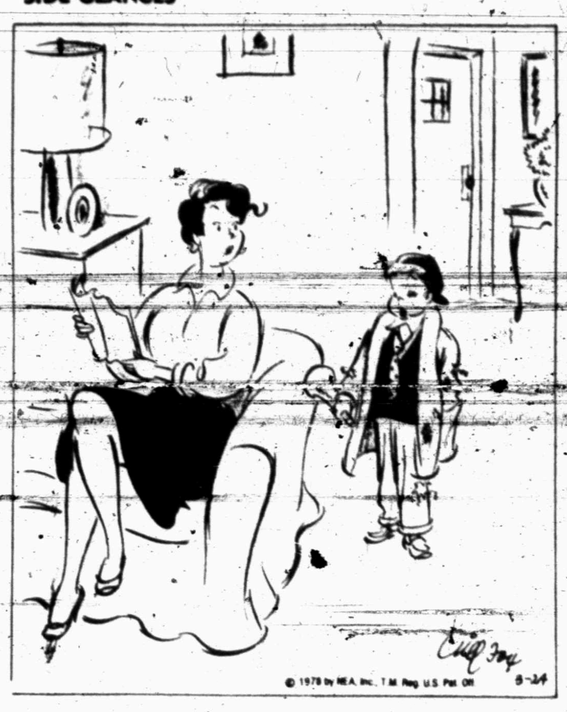

NCCC Plans To Expand Service

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)-The National Conference of Catholic Charities says it is planning ways to expand its work and services in rural areas beyond the usual reach of urban church offices.

Monsignor Lawrence J. Corcoran, executive director of the country's largest non-profit aid organization, called the new efforts at "humane policies" and assistance in rural areas a "dramatic breakthrough."

For more accuracy in marking lumber for sawing, score the lines with a knife instead of a pencil.

New Hog Rule Begins May 22

WASHINGTON (AP) - Hog producers will have until May 22 to prepare for new federal regulations requiring the identification of breeding swine shipped for slaughter across state lines.

The Agriculture Department said that the new rule, which was supposed to have taken effect Thursday, was postponed 60 days "in order to give producers and market operators more time to make arrangements for identifying the hogs."

Under the regulations, all sows and boars over six months of age will have to be identified by tattoos or approved tags if they are shipped out of state to slaughter plants.

The purpose is to make it easier to trace the origins of hogs found to be infected with swine brucellosis when they are inspected at slaughter plants.

Total red meat production has been running below year-earlier levels, partly because fewer hogs have been sent to market than Agriculture Department experts anticipated a few months ago.

The department said Thursday that February meat production was about 3.04 billion pounds, down one percent from 3.2 billion a year ago.

Production in the first two months was less than 6.26 billion pounds, also down one percent from more than 6.32 billion in Jan.-Feb. of last year.

February beef output, at about 1.95 billion pounds, dropped 1 percent from a year ago, and pork production held steady at about 1.01 billion pounds.

Veal production was down 11 percent last month from a year ago to about 56 million pounds, and lamb and mutton output was down 15 percent to about 23 million pounds.

Earlier this week USDA reported that hog production the past winter was less than had been expected and that farmers do not intend to have as many sows farrow this spring as thought previously.

The decline in beef production had been forecast months ago as a result of cattle producers sharply trimming inventories the past three years.

More Insurance Regulations Urged

WASHINGTON (AP)-A House subcommittee blames the high cost of liability insurance partly on panic, citing one example of a school district's premiums jumping from $8,000 a year to $325,000 because one student sued for $1 million for an unspecified injury.

The small business subcommittee recommended more regulation of insurance companies. It suggested creation of a Federal Insurance Commission to oversee insurance practices not already regulated by the states.

Haynie Cites Small Budget

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP)-If employment agencies are poorly regulated, it's because the Legislature hasn't provided enough money, says the chairman of the state board that oversees them.

T.H. Haynie of Amarillo, chairman of the State Private Employment Agency Regulatory Board, told the Sunset Advisory Commission on Thursday 2½ men are responsible for statewide enforcement.

"It takes half a day to audit an agency. Two-and-a-half men can't cover them all and also review complaints," Haynie said.

Under the new Sunset Act, the board is one of 26 agencies that will pass out of existence next year unless the Legislature extends their lives.

Haynie's board, by law, consists entirely of employment agency owners and operators.

Haynie said he would not mind having a public member, "but our meetings are the most boring things in the world to attend."

Rep. Bill Ceverha, R-Dallas, challenged the board's practice of setting maximum fees that successful job applicants can be charged.

Board member J. Robert Thompson said the board did so "because the public demands it. Because of the pressure put on us."

Haynie defended the use of "desk names" by employment agency counselors, saying they would be deluged with calls at home if they used their real ones.

Sen. Lloyd Doggett, D-Austin, author of the Sunset Act, criticized practices of another licensing board, the one that registers public surveyors.

Doggett cited figures showing only one percent of those taking one part of the surveyors licensing test pass the first time.

Doggett said the high failure rate - 50 percent historically - and the requirement of a six-year apprenticeship "suggests an extraordinarily restrictive arrangement."

"It suggests that after six years of training, either the training is not appropriate or the test if extremely restrictive," he told board vice-chairman Robert L. Hall Jr.

Hall said the board should be continued and given power to license everyone who does surveying.

He criticized the law that allows any professional engineer - even those in ceramics, chemistry and agriculture-to practice surveying without passing an examination.

Under questioning by Doggett, board member C.B. Thomson of Junction said that in the light of a U.S. Supreme Court decision allowing lawyers to advertise their prices, it "would be appropriate" to loosen ad rules for surveyors.

But only moments earlier, Hall defended the board's restriction on advertising - a one-line listing in telephone books.

"We could consider it price advertising unethical," Hall said.

Hall explained the high rate of failure of the licensing exam by saying apprentice surveyors working for large firms often are forced into narrow specialities.

He said they "get bracketed and don't get the broad training you need to pass the test."

Tax Cut Bill Is Proposed

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)-A group of Republican senators is offering a tax cut to deal with two of the biggest problems on the minds of voters, inflation and rising Social Security taxes.

A bill introduced Thursday would allow a direct credit against income taxes for 10 percent of a worker's Social Security contributions and adjust the tax system to cancel some of the effects of inflation.

In general, the GOP plan would be of more benefit to businesses and to workers earning less than $6,000 or more than $40,000 a year than would the tax package proposed by President Carter.

A four-member family earning $10,000 a year now faces a projected $258 federal tax increase in 1980 because of anticipated inflation and higher Social Security taxes. Carter's plan would turn that into an $11 tax cut; the GOP proposal would result in a $47 tax cut.

A $25,000 family of four faces a projected $727 tax increase in the absence of any congressional action. The president's program would reduce that to a $461 tax increase; the Republican substitute would mean a tax increase of $219.

The GOP bill would reduce income taxes by $36 billion in 1979, with about two-thirds of the cut going to individuals. The Carter plan, costing $25 billion in 1979, would designate about three-quarters of the tax relief for individuals.

The two versions agree on the need to extend about $8 billion worth of individual and corporate tax cuts that are due to expire this year.

In addition to the income tax credit for Social Security taxes, here are major components of the GOP plan, whose chief sponsors are Sens. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Sen. John C. Danforth, R-Mo.;

-The $750 personal exemption, the standard deduction now $3,200 for a joint return, the $35-per-person tax credit would be increased over the next three years, and the tax brackets would be widened.

-The earned-income credit, which now provides payments of up to $400 a year to poor working families, would rise gradually to $480.

-The 48 percent corporate tax rate would be cut in steps to 42 percent. Carter proposes to cut it to 44 percent.

-The 10 percent investment tax credit, which rewards businesses for purchasing machinery and equipment, would go up to 12 percent. The GOP also would make it available for the first time to unprofitable companies.

Carter Blasts Flexible Parity

WASHINGTON (AP)-The Carter administration is making clear its disapproval of emergency farm legislation passed by the Senate this week, particularly a "flexible parity" system for farmers who reduce their planted fields up to 50 percent.

White House Press Secretary Jody Powell said the parity provision is unacceptable to the administration. The White House is expected within a few days to announce new actions to help the farmer. The striking American Agriculture movement has endorsed the parity system in the Senate-approved bill.

Witness Entitled To One Fresh Start

WASHINGTON (AP)-A witness willing to testify in criminal proceedings can count on the government to start him out on a new identity, new job, and some financial help if he wants to avoid possible revenge.

But Acting Deputy Attorney General Benjamin R. Civiletti says the government's help cannot be extended for a lifetime. He told a Senate judiciary subcommittee Thursday the witness is "entitled to one fresh start." The Justice Department under its witness program has helped more than 6,000 persons begin new lives under new identities.

Cockroaches first came from the warm, moist climates of Africa and the Middle East, and today make their home wherever people live, except in the polar regions, says National Geographic.

ISRAEL'S 30TH ANNIVERSARY will be marked by this special commemorative coin. One side of the coin, which will be issued in both silver and gold, depicts an olive tree with the phrase, "Israel's 30 Years," in Hebrew. On the reverse are the state emblem, the coin's value and the word "Israel" in the country's three official languages — Hebrew, Arabic and English.

Canal Recall Effort Underway

WASHINGTON (AP) - Ignoring constitutional precedent, opponents of the Panama Canal treaties in at least five states are organizing attempts to recall senators who voted for the first of the agreements.

The treaty guaranteeing the waterway's neutrality was approved 68-32, with one vote to spare, and the pact to actually turn over the canal to Panama is expected to be equally close.

The efforts are being undertaken despite legal opinions that only the Senate itself can give members the boot.

Because of the length of time required for a complete recall campaign and the unlikelihood of ultimate success, the main purpose of the efforts appears to be changing the handful of votes necessary to defeat the second treaty vote.

Efforts to gather signatures for recall votes are known to be underway in Wisconsin, Louisiana, Arizona, Tennessee and Montana.

In Oklahoma and Colorado, similar drives were begun, then dropped because organizers were informed that the Constitution has no provision for recall of U.S. senators.

A group calling itself Impeach Baker and Sasser Inc., organized in Tennessee with the declared aim of removing the state's two senators, Republican Howard Baker and Democrat James Sasser for their pro-treaty votes.

In Arizona, Dan Hough, who said he represented a group of Phoenix voters, obtained recall petitions on Tuesday from the secretary of state's office in the first step toward unseating Democrat Dennis DeConcini.

Over the next 120 days, Hough must obtain 185,252 signatures (25 percent of the votes cast for DeConcini in the 1976 election), to get the recall question on a statewide ballot.

Sen. Paul Laxalt, R-Ariz., the treaty foes' chief strategist and head of a national coalition seeking to encourage public opposition to ratification, disavowed any connection with the recall drives.

"The Senate anti-treaty forces are in no way connected with the recall movement, which is independent," Laxalt said Thursday.

Marking Christ's Walk...

Pilgrims March Today

JERUSALEM (AP) - Thousands of pilgrims trudged along the rain-dampened Via Dolorose this Good Friday, many of them laboring under heavy wooden crosses, to mark Christ's march to his crucifixion.

The solemn procession led by Franciscan friars in brown habits wound through the ancient lanes of Jerusalem's old city, stopping for devotions at the 14 stations of the cross.

The hour-long walk ended at the Church of the Holy Sepulcher, the traditional site of Calvary. In the courtyard of the 800-year-old church knots of worshippers waited their turn to file through the wooden doors.

The Latin liturgy echoed off the stone walls inside the church as the pilgrims filed up the steep staircase to the spot where tradition holds Christ was crucified.

"In spite of the chaos during the procession, I felt a great deal of spirituality," said Rex Barnes, a pilgrim from South-West Africa. "This tends to strengthen my faith in Christianity.

"Parts of the procession were badly organized, but everyone seemed to get into the spirit of things. I wasn't disappointed at all," he said.

Some of the pilgrims lit candles and stopped at Christ's tomb inside the same church, just a few yards from Calvary. The tomb will be the center of Easter Sunday celebrations.

Worshippers knelt to kiss the stone of unction, where Christ's body is said to have been wrapped in a shroud.

Others had their pictures taken at the stone or as they hoisted a 10-foot cross outside in the courtyard.

City Image Is Negative

WASHINGTON (AP) - Americans believe cities are needed, but most of them would not want to live there, says a survey conducted by Louis Harris and Associates for the government.

The survey showed that cities are looked upon as necessary for their economic, cultural, intellectual and recreational services.

Probation Given In Rape Case

Pleading guilty to a charge of rape of a child, Timothy Ray Falls drew a three-year probation Thursday afternoon in 132nd District Court.

Falls, 18, is alleged to have engaged in sexual intercourse with a 13-year-old girl on July 26, 1977. He was indicted Aug. 31, 1977.

Falls was one of seven men to enter guilty pleas yesterday in district court.

Seventeen year old David L. Kenney pleaded guilty to a charge of aggravated assault with a deadly weapon. He received a two-year probation and a $250 fine.

Indicted last month, Kenney is alleged to have threatened Rex Free with a gun in an incident that occurred Jan. 31.

The remaining five guilty pleas were entered to charges of driving while intoxicated. Entering the pleas in that category were Roy Garza Jasso, Ignacio Guillen Castillo, Jessie Garcia Gonzales, Carl O'Neal Coffelt, and Gary Laverne Allen.

Jasso, Castillo, Gonzales, and Coffelt all received probated jail terms of two years duration.

Allen was handed a four-month term in the Scurry County Jail and was fined $500. He had been arrested Dec. 2, 1977.

Panel Eyes Plant Security

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio, says testimony by a member of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission demonstrates that there is "a big gap in...security" at some nuclear power plants.

NRC Commissioner Victor Gilinsky testified before Glenn's committee Thursday that although there was no reasonable likelihood an employee at a nuclear plant could steal enough fuel to make a nuclear bomb, some workers without security clearances have access to such fuel.

The committee has been looking into the danger of terrorists obtaining nuclear arms.
