More Frost Is Noted In Area Today

More frost was noted in the Snyder area this morning, as the coldest weather of the season spread over the state.

Snyder's official low reading was 37 degrees, lowest of the season so far.

The cool air brought showers and rain to many parts of the state.

Some rain fell during the morning in far Southeast Texas. Texarkana got 1.41 inches, high for the state.

Dalhart had a subfreezing 25 degree minimum temperature and Alpine 27. High for the state was 63 at Brownsville.

Amarillo had 33, Lubbock 35, El Paso 41, Laredo 61, Houston 60, Austin 51, Dallas 43, Abilene 39, and Texarkana 45.

Rainfall for 24 hours ending at 6 a.m. included Dallas .95, Lufkin 1.04, Tyler .71 and Kaufman .59.

The forecast called for the showers to end late Thursday. Clear to partly cloudy skies with a warming trend in the northwest section have been predicted for Friday.

Early Thursday the front lay on an east-west line running from Mexico through Corpus Christi into the Gulf. Skies were clear over most of the state but cloudy along the coast with Houston and Beaumont reporting light rain.

Pre-dawn temperatures ranged from 30 degrees at Dalhart to 64 at Laredo and Brownsville. Other low readings included Amarillo 35, Wink and Marfa 38, Childress, Abilene and Lubbock 41, San Angelo 42, Mineral Wells and El Paso 43, and Dallas 44.

Maximum temperatures Wednesday ranged from 55 degrees at Dalhart to 81 at Brownsville.

For the 24 hours ending at 6 p.m. Dallas reported .95 of an inch, Fort Worth .86, Houston .69, and Galveston .51 with lesser amounts at College Station, Corpus Christi, Junction, Mineral Wells, Victoria and Waco.

Seek Proof Of Claims

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — Blockading U.S. Navy ships were ready to check homeward bound Soviet vessels today for proof that they are hauling Red missiles from Cuba.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev said Wednesday that 40 Soviet rockets had been dismantled in Cuba and probably were on their way back to the Soviet Union.

The pentagon said Wednesday night that arrangements were being made with Soviet representatives for the Navy to check on the number of dismantled missiles aboard the homeward-bound Soviet ships.

In announcing that the first contact would be made today, Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, indicated no specific hour. And he declined comment when a newsman asked if the Red Cross would play a part in the inspection procedure.

The administration has insisted on internatonal verification of the de-nuclearization of Cuba. Asked Wednesday if the arrangement for a Navy check of the missiles removal was considered satisfactory, Pierre Salinger White House press secretary, called attention to the last exchange of messages between President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

In his Oct. 27 message to Khrushchev, Kennedy said he understood the Soviets to have agreed to remove offensive weapons systems from Cuba "under appropriate United Nations observation and supervision."

There has been talk since of the Red Cross filling this role.

Salinger also was asked if the plan for a Navy check would have any effect on U.S. insistence upon on-the-spot verification inside Cuba. He said he was not prepared to go beyond the Pentagon statement.

The announcement said:

"The Soviet Union has reported that ships are leaving Cuba with missiles aboard.

"Arrangements are being made with Soviet representatives for contact with these ships by United States naval vessels and for counting the missiles being shipped out."

The statement was issued after President Kennedy met with the executive committee of the National Security Council.

Later, at the United Nations, authoritative sources said the Soviet Union first proposed last Sunday that the U.S. Navy inspect outbound Soviet ships. Agreement on details was reached late Wednesday, the sources said.

They added that the Soviet Union had made the proposal because of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro's opposition to international inspectors in Cuba. The sources said the United States was "quite happy" with the agreement as far as it goes, but "it's not a complete substitute for on-the-ground inspection."

In Washington, there is widespread belief that Castro is not the only fly in the inspection ointment. Despite the tight secrecy with which the Kennedy administration has now surrounded negotiations on Cuba there is reason to believe that Soviet representatives have been trying to chisel away Khrushchev's commitment to international inspection.

Chinese Reds Launch New Attacks In India

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The Chinese Communists have launched fresh attacks at the eastern end of the Himalayan battle line, the Indian Defense Ministry announced today. The action broke a lull of more than a week.

The fighting was at Walong, 15 miles from the Burma border, with the Communists making five shooting strikes in the past two days.

A defense spokesman also reported an Indian patrol clashed with the Red Chinese outside Chang, near the monastery town of Towang.

Towang, just east of the Bhutan border, was captured by the Chinese more than a week ago.

Some 850 miles to the northwest, the Red Chinese continued a military buildup near the strategic front line Indian airport of Chushul in Ladakh.

The Red Chinese attacks came as Indian defiance grew against Peiping overtures for a deal.

Parliament cheered Prime Minister Nehru as he declared the Indian people will drive the "expansionist, imperialist-minded" Red Chinese invaders from "the sacred soil of India, no matter how long and hard the struggle may be."

"No self-respecting country that loves its freedom and integrity can possibly submit to this challenge," Nehru told the crowded chamber. "Certainly not India."

His defiant statement in effect rejected a new Chinese offer to withdraw from the territory it has occupied on the Northeast Border if India would give up the Ladakh area adjoining Kashmir and Tibet in the Northwest. India rejected a similar swap in 1959.

Peiping's offer confirmed what many observers have felt was the Chinese aim in the last five years of border encroachment—to make Ladakh a secure connecting route between Tibet and western Chinese province of Sinkiang. The Chinese have already built a road between Tibet and Sinkiang across Ladakh.

Nehru warned Parliament the fight against the "massive Chinese invasion" was not going to end soon—"We may have to face this for a number of years."

Prize Still Waits For Early Paper

There's a mighty imposing $25 waiting someone whose grandparents or parents had a tendency to save souvenirs.

And there's a peck of fun awaiting dozens who dig into the trunks in the attics in search of this elusive treasure.

The cash is the prize for the earliest old-time Snyder newspaper brought in by a reader. The object of the search is a newspaper that might date back to 1887, and it might be called "The Coming West," "The Western Light," "The Snyder News" or the Snyder Signal." These all were familiar titles of newspapers—some were short-lived and others grew and flourished in the late 1800's in these parts.

To get an idea of the infectous fever of newspaper-hunting is the graphic evidence already seen of what can be found. One family has turned up a 1797 newspaper and another has turned up one dated in 1793. Another has found publications whose headlines screamed, "Lincoln Assassinated" and "Titanic Sunk." While some of these are older than the potential prize-winner and not eligible for the competition, they're producing some real fascinating nostalgic moments for the searchers, and we're reproducing some highlights from them to pass on to you in the "Snyder on the GO" issue of the Daily News, coming soon.

We're still hunting for pictures of the Snyder of yesterday, too, and invite you to bring in what you find.

Extra copies of this fascinating 75th anniversary issue of the Daily News are available for 50 cents apiece, and those ordered in advance will be mailed anywhere in the U.S.—at our expense. Bring in your mailing list SOON!

Havana Radio Mum On Talks

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Havana radio was silent today on the progress of Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan's mission with Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

The Cuban broadcast, monitored here, said Soviet ambassador to Cuba, Alexander Alexseyev, hailed the 45h anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution with a reception at the Soviet Embassy in Havana.

The radio did not say whether Castro and Mikoyan met Wednesday.

Governor-Elect Set To Outline Program

By The Associated Press

Gov.-elect John Connally called a news conference Thursday to outline his program.

Connally, the Democrat who defeated Republican Jack Cox Tuesday attended the South Texas Hereford Breeders cattle sale Wednesday at Beeville.

The former secretary of the Navy headed a Democratic slate that beat back the most determined Republican bid for statewide offices since Reconstruction Days.

The Democrats swept all of the statewide offices and most other races. Texas Republicans found some comfort in increasing their number of Congressmen from one to two and the number of GOP state representatives from two to seven. They had scattered victories in local races in 16 counties.

Albert Fay, Republican national committeeman who ran for land commissioner, said he felt the Republican party had made "significant gains"—Cox polled 45 per cent of the vote.

He said that the Republican candidates built up "impressive vote totals, which at future dates can be transferred into Republican victories."

Citing the GOP victories, Fay said "This election proves conclusively that winning a Democratic primary election in Texas no longer is tantamount to election."

The Republican's most surprising victory was the election of Ed Forman of Odessa, who defeated Rep. J. T. Rutherford in far West Texas.

Republican Bruce Alger of Dallas won reelection easily. Dallas County also accounted for six of the seven GOP victories in the legislature.

Figures compiled by the Texas election bureau late Wednesday gave Cox 661,126 votes to Connally's 781,563. The Republican showing was the best numerically and percentaga wise of any GOP candidate for governor since 1869.

Results in the virtually complete tabulation — the last to be made by the bureau until its final compilation for Sunday — were (Democratic candidates listed first):

Governor: John Connally 781,563, Jack Cox 661,126, Jack Carswell (Constitution) 6,617.

Lt. Gov: Preston Smith 856,816, Bill Hayes 561,123.

Atty. Gen.. Waggoner Carr 919,195, Everton Kennerly 466,849.

Congressman-at-large: Joe Pool 793,527, Desmond Barry 625,439.

Railroad commissioner: Ben Ramsey 916,072, Bernold Hanson 436,732.

Comptroller: Robert S. Calvert 856,817 Hargrove Smith 474,785.

Joseph Rummler 7,578.

Land commissioner: Jerry Sadler 904,064, Albert Fay 460,051.

Veterans Day Event Slated

Veterans Day falls on Sunday this year, and the local Veterans of Foreign Wars and American Legion posts are planning their open house event for Saturday, Nov. 10.

The open house event will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday at the VFW Memorial Home and will continue through the remainder of the day.

All members of the two veterans organizations with paid up dues for 1962 are invited to attend.

There will be a free meal at noon and the veterans dance will begin at 9 p. m., with music to be furnished by the "Westerners" from Abilene.

Veterans Day, Nov. 11, was formerly observed as Armistice Day, but now is celebrated in tribute to veterans of all wars.

3 Charged In Garza County

POST—Carlton Webb, Garza County Attorney released the information today that three Snyder men had been charged with forgery and passing of forged instruments.

Charged with forgery were Charles Popnoe and Billy G. Valentine. Charged with passing were Concepcion Melendrez and Valentine.

Webb credited Graza County Duputy Sheriff Lloyd Merritt with breaking the case. He said approximately 50 of some 84 stolen checks had been passed in Midland, Crosbyton, Big Spring and other West Texas cities, and it was believed that about $3,500 was involved.

Webb stated that the charges would be presented to the Garza County grand jury when it meets in about a month.

All three men are presently in custody.

Estes Gets Eight Years

TYLRR, Tex. (AP) A jury convicted bankrupt promoter Billie Sol Estes of swindling and set his sentence at eight years in the state penitentiary Wednesday.

The verdict, reached after the 11 men and one woman deliberated 2 hours and 8 minutes, ended a 17-day trial on state charges growing out of a transaction involving a mortgage on liquid fertilizer tanks. The state said the tanks did not exist.

Estes, 37, faces state anti-trust charges accusing him of fixing the price of liquid fertilizer. Also pending against him are federal charges of fraud, conspiracy and perjury in connection with $22 million in loans obtained on fertilizer tanks.

It was the first conviction for Estes since his multi-million dollar complex of liquid fertilizer tank mortgage deals, cotton allotment transfers and grain storage collapsed last spring.

Estes' jaw muscles tightened as he heard the decision but he remained impassive. His attractive blonde wife, Patsy, blinked hard to keep back tears.

Asked for comment on the verdict, Estes replied: "What can you say?"

Mantz Rites Here Today

Funeral services were to be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Bell Funeral Home Chapel for Mr. Charlie H. Mantz, 68.

Mr. Mantz was born Oct. 13, 1894 in New York City. He came to Scurry County at the age of eight, and lived for many years in the Dermott community. For the past five years he had been a patient at a Roscoe nursing home. He died there at 9:15 p.m. Tuesday.

Burial was to be in the Dermott Cemetery under the direction of Bell Funeral Home, with E. E. Browning, Alfred Browning, J. T. Sullinger, Jr., Cecil Randolph, Henry Treat, and Bert Sellars acting as pallbearers. The Rev. Leslie Kelley, Baptist minister from Big Spring, was to officiate.

Mr. Mantz left no survivors.

Both Sides See Bright Spot

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats and Republicans alike found something to cheer about today in the make-up of the new 88th Congress that will convene on Jan. 9.

For the Democrats, the big talking point was that they had not suffered the big losses that usually befall the party in power in an off-year election.

President Kennedy said in a statement, issued by the White House that he was heartened by the outcome of Tuesday's elections and was certain Congress would meet its responsibilities "in a progressive and vigorous manner."

Republicans failed to make the gains they had hoped for in congressional races, but the GOP national chairman, William E. Miller, said he did not see in this 'in any way an endorsement of the New Frontier and its programs."

The new line-up in the Senate will be 68 Democrats and 32 Republicans. This lifts the Democratic majority to the highest peak since they won 69 seats in the 1938 election. They had a 64-36 margin in the outgoing Congress.

In the House, where 435 seats were at stake this year, the Democrats captured 258 and the Republicans 176 and the Democrats were leading in one undecided race in Alaska. If the Democrats win this, they will have a hefty majority of 83.

Even so, the Democratic majority will be less than it was in the 87th Congress when there were 437 house seats and the Democrats held 263 and the Republicans 174.

Two seats were wiped out by reapportionment. The Democrats, in effect, absorbed the loss of these seats and in addition had suffered a net loss of four seats to the Republicans.

A White House spokesman contrasted these GOP inroads in the House with what he said was an average loss of 49 House seats by Democratic administrations in midterm elections in the past.

He also said that the average loss in the Senate for the party in power has been seven or eight seats since World War I, with the exception of 1954 when Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal was riding high.

While the administration gained strength in the Senate, it was there that it needed help the least.

In the house, where Kennedy's proposals most frquently fell afoul of opposition from Republicans and Southern Democrats, the GOP whittled down the Democratic majority.

Over-all, the complexion of Congress does not appear to have been changed much although there will be 10 new senators and 58 new members of the House. In neither party were the top leaders unseated.

Party Labels Spurned By Many Voters

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American electorate's demonstrated disdain for party labels in Tuesday's election indicates Republicans may need a personality-plus candidate in 1964.

It just happened in the balloting that the Republicans who won the big ones are just that type. They have the kind of fresh, voter appeal that is credited with helping make John F. Kennedy a hairline winner in 1960. And no one is doubting that the President will seek re-election in another two years.

The GOP stars in an otherwise confusing and somewhat frustrating election that ended in almost a numerical dead heat in congressional and gubernatorial contests were;

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, an omnivorous blintze-consuming, hand-shaking, back-clapping campaigner who is mentally quick on his feet and knows the ways of television. By getting himself re-elected by nearly half a million votes Rockefeller leaped to the top of the heap of Kennedy's potential GOP rivals.

Gov.-elect George Romney of Michigan, an indefatigable campaigner who charmed some union votes away from the Democrats to win his race in a key state. Possibly somewhat less liberal than Rockefeller, he may attract support from party conservatives who look on the New York governor as too inclined to the welfare state to suit them.

Gov.-elect William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, a very wealthy man just getting his feet wet in bigtime politics. He is a handsome, all-smiles candidate who can be a tough campaigner if the occasion demands it.

In the second line, as prospective material for a vice presidential nomination, two young GOP crusaders came to the front.

They are Robert Taft Jr., son of the late "Mr. Republican," who won election to Congress in an at-large race in Ohio, and Gov. Mark Hatfield or Oregon, who won re-election while the voters of his state were giving another term to Democratic Sen. Wayne Morse.

The central performer in the GOP's greatest disappointment, the failure to attain the governorship of California, was Richard M. Nixon, familiar again in bitter defeat.

Nixon bowed out of politics with a denunciation of the press and the acerbic comment: "You won't have Nixon to kick around any longer."

Nixon had sought through the force of his personality, his ability as a polished debater and his experience in television to overcome Gov. Edmund G. Brown in a state with a wide bulge in Democratic registrations. He lost.

Despite his penchant for provincialism and his difficulties with syntax, Brown proved himself an artist at pressing palms, slapping backs and chucking chins. He won.

Just how little attention Californians paid to party labels was demonstrated when they re-elected Brown and at the same time gave a new six-year term to the Senate deputy Republican leader, Thomas H. Kuchel.

This seemed to be the mood of voters all over the country as they installed the first Republican governor of Oklahoma and put Democrats in the governors offices in Vermont for the first time in 108 years and in New Hampshire for the first time in 40 years.

In Pennsylvania the same pattern put Scranton in as governor and gave Democratic Sen. Joseph S. Clark another term.

In Michigan, Romney's victory was accompanied by the election of a Democratic lieutenant governor and a Democratic congressman-at-large.

Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy was the shining star of the Democratic lineup. He won by a landslide the seat that his eldest brother gave up in 1960 to become President.

Ted Kennedy's run appeared to have pulled Endicott (Chub) Peabody to victory over Republican Gov. John A. Volpe. In the complete count of about 2.1 million ballots, Peabody had a 9,000 Lead. Volpe talked of a recount.

The contest in Rhode Isand was considerably closer. With about 6,000 absentee ballots yet to be counted, Democratic Gov. John A. Notte had a 46-vote edge over his Republican opponent, John H. Chaffee.

In Minnesota, with a handful of precincts remaining to be tallied, Democratic Lt. Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag held a slim lead over GOP Gov. Elmer L. Andersen. The resuts were so close that the election may not be determined until the state convassing board meets Nov. 20.

For all practical purposes, the Democrats threw back the Republican attempt to make traditional minority party congressional gains in a nonpresidential election year.

In the Senate the Democrats gained a net of four seats to make their ratio over the Republicans 68 to 32. This was the highest mark reached by the party since the 69 seats it held after the 1938 election.

In Tuesday's voting the party won additional strength where it needed it least, in the Senate. In the 87th Congress, the Senate went along with most of President Kennedy's major proposals, his program for Social Security-financed health care for the elderly being a notable exception.

Addition of four new liberal Democratic votes probably assures Senate passage of that program. But trouble lies ahead for the administration in the House.

There the Democrats had elected 258 members, the Republicans 176. A Democrat was leading in one undecided race in Alaska. The Democratic margin in the last Congress was 261 to 174.

Walker Due To Begin His Tests Today

DALLAS (AP) — Former Maj. Gen. Edwin Walker was scheduled to report to Parkland Hospital today to begin a psychiatric examination ordered by a Mississippi federal court.

Walker is charged with rebellion, insurrection and seditious conspiracy stemming from integration riots at the University of Mississippi in Oxford. He is to report to Dr. R. L. Stubblefield in the afternoon and be admitted to Parkland for the examination.

Walker, his mother, three of his lawyers, Stubblefield and his lawyear worked out the schedule at a meeting Wednesday.

The examination will be limited to the specific questions contained in U.S. Dist. Judge Claud Clayton's order calling for the tests by Stubblefield, chairman of the psychiatry department at the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School.

Stubblefield will examine Walker to determine if he is sane and competent to understand the charges against him and to assist counsel in his defense.

"It's difficult to estimate how long the examination will take," Webster said. "I would estimate about 4 or 5 days.

"As we interpret the court's order it calls for a confidential report from Dr. Stubblefield, acting as the court's psychiatrist. As far as any details are concerned there will be none issued publicly."

Walker formerly commanded the 24th Division but was ousted because of the type of troop political indoctrination he directed. He later resigned. Walker was defeated for governor of Texas in the May Democratic primary.

Ask Session On Sabotage

WASHINGTON (AP)—Venezuela asked today that the Organization of American States (OAS) meet as soon as possible to hear charges that recent sabotage in the Maracaibo oil fields was directed from Fidel Castro's Cuba.

The Venezuelan delegate to the OAS, Dr. Nelson Himiob, made the request in a letter to Council President Alberto Juleta Angel of Colombia.

The meeting may be held Thursday.

Himiob said it has not yet been determined what action Venezuela will ask the OAS to take, but that at the very least Venezuela will present complete proof he said it has of the connection between the sabotage and the Cuban government.

Amarillo Man Sells His Stock In Firm

NEW YORK (AP)—An Amarillo oil man has sold the bulk of his stock in Alleghany Corp.

Donald Harrington sold 170,000 Alleghany shares Oct. 5 and resigned as a director of the railroad and investment holding company.

Harrington retained 16,000 shares. He bought into Alleghany when John and Clint Murchison Jr. of Dallas started a proxy fight that overthrew Allan Kirby, former chairman and still biggest single stockholder of Alleghany.

Blake Walker To Head Up Posse Here

The annual election of officers held the spotlight here Tuesday night at The Village when the Scurry County Sheriff's Posse met in regular session.

Blake Walker was elected president of the organization. Park Hamilton is to serve as vice-president, C. E. McDonald as secretary-treasurer, and George Maule as parade marshal.

Named as directors were G. B. Williams, Owen Dickey and C. E. McDonald. They will serve along with holdover directors Cliff Kellum, Leroy Geddie, Willis Cumbie and Clyde South.

Also chosen for offices were Ivy and Faye Sturdivant, junior riding club sponssrs; Don Sealy and Ila Ruth Newton, playday sponsors; Ila Ruth Newton and Dorothy Taylor- reporters; and Faydean Hart, assistant secretary.

In the way of business, a club building has been purchased and there was a lengthy discussion about the remodeling specifications and furniture for the club house.

Two New Books By Nobeler

DEVILS YARD. By Ivo Andric. THE VIZIER'S ELEPHANT. By Ivo Andric.

Ivo Andric's winning of the 1961 Nobel Prize for Literature has stimulated two publishers to brng out books by this Yugoslav author and they are appearing almost at the same time.

"Devil's Yard" is a novel, shorter than most, which seems to pose the question, "How do people learn anything about other people?"

Before he tied in a Bosnian monastery, Brother Petar told many stories about the obsessed people he had met many years before when he was held for two months in an Istanbul house of detention known as Devil's Yard.

Karadjos, fascinated by crime as a youth, had by the merest chance, become a chief warden instead of a criminal. He is sure nobody in the world can be innocent.

Haim, a Jew from Smyrna, has a persecution complex and a passion for narration. "Scenes which had taken place, unwitnessed, between two people, he rould recount with an improbable wealth of detail and particulars."

Djamil, a young Turk, imagines he is possessed by the spirit of an ill - fated Sultan who had lived in the 15th Century.

Andric writes about Karadjos, Haim, Djamil and Brother Petar in a style which is extremely easy to read, seemingly simple. Every anecdote and characterization seems finished and profoundly revealing.

Yet "Devil's Yard" is told in the manner of the relating of a dream or an old man's remembering of long ago. Incidents begun recede like a tide; fact and fantasy swirl together, indistinguishable.

Antric's clear but unclear style and his plotless, mysterious story became the subtlest kind ow audience participation game. The reader reads and understands, not just what the author has written, but a collaboration.

"The Vizier's Elephant" contains three novellas. Two, "The Vizier's Elephant" and "Anika's Times," are ancient Bosnian tales described in a foreword as "Oriental lies" which are "more true than the truth."

However, both tell more about ancient Bosnia than about universal human qualities.

The villagers in the title piece hate the vizier's (ruler's) elephant, making of a despot's pet a symbol of despotism.

"Anika's Times" concerns the thoughts about guilt of a man who long ago committed murder and Anika, the prostitute of Vishegrad, who has all the world she knows at her feet yet murmurs, "Whoever would kill me would do me a great favor." None of her thoughts are told.

The third short novel, "Zeko," traces the 20th Century life of a man in Belgrade. Zeko is a henpecked husband, plodding along at a thankless job. He finds an escape from reality for a time but what he really seeks is to do something worthwhile.

Andric, who writes in Serbo-Croat, has been known in America for the previously translated "The Bridge on the Drina," the events of which take place over two and a half centuries.

"Devil's Yard" can be said to match that epic in interest, but the three novellas do not.

Iota Psi Chapter Sets Social Date

The Iota Psi Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha met for its regular monthly business meeting in the home of Lou Ann Chamblee Monday evening.

The meeting was called to order by Etta Wilson, president, with the opening ritual.

Minutes of the October meeting were read and approved. Correspondence regarding the district meeting was read by the president. Faydean Hart has been appointed District Secretary.

Everyone was reminded that the social meeting for the month will be the Thanksgiving dinner to be held Monday, Nov. 19.

In keeping with the educational theme for the year, Unforgetable Women Worldwide—Weavers of Destiny, Ann Walton reviewed the book, "Cleopatra, The Story Of A Queen", by Emil Ludwig, which was very informative and enjoyable.

Following the closing ritual, cake and coffee was served to Faydean Hart, Ann Kimbrough, Sue Mahood, Ann Mathews Marcia Overman, Anita Payne, Mary Pitner, Anna Stephens, Ann Walton, Etta Wilson, Margaret Wood, Belinda Robertson, Johnnye Warren, and Beverly Ainsworth.

GROWING DRESSES

When making daughter's school dresses put two or three tiny tucks on the underside of hem. When you want to lengthen dresses as she grows taller, just let out tucks.

If you do take a hem out of her dress and a line is left where the hem was taken out, conceal it with a tiny tuck or two all the way around the skirt.

Ever combine very strong coffee with scalded milk, using half coffee and half milk? This is delightful served with a puff of whipped cream sprinkled with a little cinnamon.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

MEXICO CITY — Back in the days when the Aztecs were nobodies, they lived around a rather foolish looking ruined temple stuck on an island out in a lake.

It says here in the book they were a typical American Indian tribe with a big supply of medicine men and superstitions and the great upheaval of their time came in the year One Stone Knife, which is 1168 to us squares.

The upheaval began one day when some of the troops were out plowing corn and came across a stone head that started talking to them.

"For Heaven's sake," exclaimed one of the warriors, "here is the god Smoking Mirror whom we will later call Huitzilopochtli. Let's take him home with us."

According to this report, which was translated from hieroglyphics, the village was delighted with their distinguished guest and the medicine men gathered aound Smoking Mirror and held a lengthy conference about the future.

It worked out that Smoking Mirror advised everybody to start wandering around the Valley of Mexico looking over the real estate, then break away from the main clan, call themselves Aztecs and live high on the hog.

A day or two later, all the Chichimec tribes packed up their tepees and headed south.

Up to this point, it sounds simple. But the very first night, they camped at a spot called Chicomoztoc, which was the Place of Seven Lineages. This was located beside a sacred tree where men could spend a sociable evening with their gods.

Well, people being the way they are, somebody decided to throw a party, although the hieroglyphics didn't make it clear just why.

However, Elsa Chimalli, the famous hostess, was in charge of everything, and according to the chronicles she began a career which has lasted for centuries. Elsa later married Acamapichtli, known also as the Wildlife God, by whom she had two adorable whooping cranes and a litter of field mice.

At any rate, the party was the earliest known Mexican Fiesta and had a guest list that read like the board of directors for the Stock Exchange.

Aside from all gods of importance, the list included several prominent members of the Organization of American States, two Harvard men, Daniel Webster, a prince who came with a dutchess, a duke who came with a countess and a baron who came with a hangover.

Tribal brew masters filled a huge dugout canoe with tequila and chipped ice to devise what was probably the first punch bowl. One of the lesser gods fell in the canoe later and was never heard of again so historians assume the guests drank him.

About midnight, a rather curious incident occurred while the band was playing the Twist. Smoking Mirror darted among the dancers setting fire to men's loin cloths and the rest of the gods laughed themselves into a mild state of apoplexy.

A group of warriors became so infuriated that they seized their stone axes and cut down the sacred tree while the gods looked on in horror. The party ended there.

Although several tribal chiefs attempted to explain it away by saying there were plenty of other trees around, the gods changed one of the Harvard men into a midget and walked away in a huff.

One group of historians believes George Washington was influenced by this incident when he chopped down the cherry tree and refused to lie about it (even though the hatchet reportedly was stolen from a local hardware store).

If this is true, they would have written a book on the subject. It would have been a lot more interesting than the stuff I flunked in high school.

Strengthen Anti-Obscenity Laws, Panel Head Urges

AUSTIN (AP)— Texas should strengthen anti-obscenity laws, the chairman of a controversial legislative committee studying state textbooks said Wednesday.

Rep. W. T. (Bill) Dungan of McKinney included the recommendation in a 164-page report to Speaker James Turman and the next legislature.

The committee held often stormy hearings in Austin, Amarillo, Dallas and San Antonio.

Dungan asked for stronger pornography laws "to cover some of the trash and filth called literature by some people."

Dungan also made other recommendations:

1. "I feel that some of our history texts are inferior and should be replaced. I feel that the books of authors whose loyalty to this country is highly questionable should be given a long and serious study before being adopted."

2. Publishers should be required to submit more copies of textbooks up for adoption because not enough copies have been available to interested persons.

3. High school courses in economics should be required to give students "an understanding of our capitalist system and a comparison with others, particularly the full socialist or communistic system."

Dungan added that "most of the economics textbooks being used do a poor job of presenting our free enterprise system and what this cuntry has accomplished under it."

The committee heard testimony on books in four classes—pornographic or obscene, history, economics and home economics.

He said sme authors of history books tend to belittle certain men of American history and leave out "reference to God or the part religion played in founding the nation."

Dungan's recommendations covered only three pages. The remainder of the report contained testimony given at a public hearing in Dallas, when Dungan was the only committee member present.

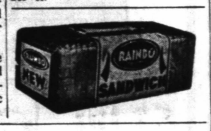

Other committee members are scheduled to prepare their reports at a Monday meeting. Other members are Reps. Nelson Cowles, Hallsville; R. W. Bass, DeKalb; John Alaniz, San Antonio; and Ronald Roberts, Hillsboro.

Expulsion Of Grid Star Is Reaffirmed

GRAY, Ga. (AP) — The Jones County School Board has reaffirmed its stand expelling an 18-year-old high school football star because of his marriage.

The board met Wednesday night to take another look at the case of Johnny Arnold, the 6-foot, 170-pound halfback who was expelled with his 15-year-old bride under the board's no-marriage rule.

Angry Arnold boosters have been urging that he be readmitted so that he can continue his education and perhaps win an athletic scholarship.

President Proclaims Nov. 22 As Thanksgiving Day In U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has proclaimed Thursday, Nov. 22, as Thanksgiving Day and has urged all Americans to observe it "with reverence and with humility."

In a proclamation Wednesday, the President said "Let us renew the spirit of the Pilgrims at the first Thanksgiving, lonely in an inscrutable wilderness, facing the dark unknown with a faith borne of their dedication to God and a fortitude drawn from their sense that all men were brothers."

The text:

"Over three centuries ago in Plymouth, on Massachusetts Bay, the Pilgrims established the custom of gathering together each year to express their gratitude to God for the preservation of their community and for the harvests their labors brought forth in the new land. Joining with their neighbors, they shared together and worshipped together in a common giving of thanks. Thanksgiving Day has ever since been part of the fabric which has united Americans with their past, with each other and with the future of all mankind.

"It is fitting that we observe this year our own day of Thanksgiving. It is fitting that we give our thanks for the safety of our land, for the fertility of our harvests, for the strength of our liberties, for the health of our people. We do so in no spirit of self-righteousness. We recognize that we are the beneficiaries of the toil and devotion of our fathers and that we can pass their legacy on to our children only by equal toil and equal devotion. We recognize too that we live in a world of peril and change—and in so uncertain a time we are all the more grateful for the indestructible gifts of hope and love, which sustain us in adversity and inspire us to labor unceasingly for a more perfect community within this nation and around the earth.

"Now, therefore, I, John F. Kennedy, President of the United States of America, in accord with the joint resolution of Congress, approved Dec. 26, 1941 ,which designates the fourth Thursday in November of each year as Thanksgiving Day, do hereby proclaim Thursday, the twenty-second day of November this year, as a day of national thanksgiving.

"I urge that all observe this day with reverence and with humility.

"Let us renew the spirit of the Pilgrims at the first Thanksgiving, lonely in an inscrutable wilderness, facing the dark unknown with a faith borne of their dedication to God and a fortitude drawn from their sense that all men were brothers.

"Let us renew that spirit by offering our thanks for uncovenanted mercies, beyond our desert or merit, and by resolving to meet the responsibilities placed upon us.

"Let us renew that spirit by sharing the abundance of this day with those less fortunate, in our own land and abroad. Let us renew that spirit by seeking always to establish larger communities of brotherhood.

"Let us renew that spirit by preparing our souls for the lonelitudes ahead — by being always ready to confront crisis with steadfastness and achievement with grace and modesty.

"Let us renew that spirit by concerting our energy and our hope with men and women everywhere that the world may move more rapidly toward the time when Thanksgiving may be a day of universal celebration.

"Let us renew that spirit by expressing our acceptance of the limitations of human striving and by affirming our duty to strive nonetheless, as Providence may direct us, toward a better world for all mankind.

"In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed."

Governor Learns All Is Not Lost

DETROIT (AP)—Gov. John B. Swainson called home Wednesday after the returns showed the Democratic incumbent had lost his bid for re-election.

"Well, we lost, son," Swainson told Peter, 12.

Peter has been working as a page for Democratic Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski.

"Did T. John lose too?" Peter asked.

"No, T. John won," the governor replied.

"Well, anyway, my job is safe," Peter said.

Goodfellows Meet Tonight

Groundwork for the 1962 Goodfellows drive will be laid tonight when the organization holds its organizational meeting at 6:30 in the community room of the Snyder National Bank.

The Goodfellows group has as its annual aim the spreading of Christmas cheer to needy families of the area by the distribution of food, clothing, and toys. It is financed wholly through voluntary contributions.

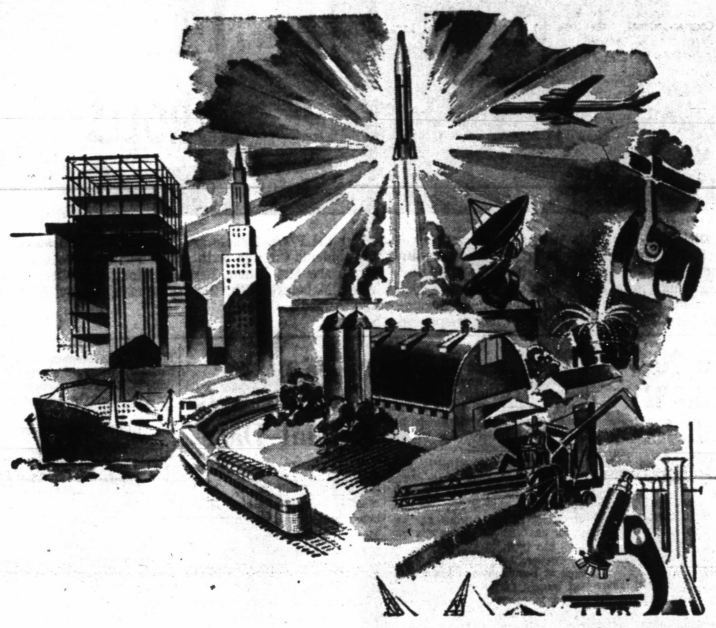

Representatives from each civic and service club are urged to be present at tonight's session, as are all area citizens interested in the movemept.

Angry Nixon Levels Big Blast At Press

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Richard M. Nixon, as angry and distraught as he has ever been in public, met reporters in what he called his final news conference—and accused segments of the press of utterly failing to give him a fair shake.

Newsmen thought the Republican gubernatorial candidate had called the conference Wednesday to concede victory to Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown. Nixon did that, but he kept talking.

"As I leave you," Nixon told reporters coldly, "I want you to know just how much you're going to be missing.

"You won't have Nixon to kick around any more because, gentlemen, this is my last press conference."

Nixon was endorsed by some 75 per cent of the California daily newspapers that took sides in the turbulent gubernatorial campaign. But he said many of his statements had been ignored by the press.

"I have no complaints about the press coverage," Nixon said early in his statement. But it turned out he had plenty.

Samples:

"I am proud of the fact I defended my opponent's patriotism. You gentlemen didn't report it, but I am proud that I did that.

"As I leave the press, all I can say is this: For 16 years, ever since the (Alger) Hiss case, you've had a lot of fun, that you've had an opportunity to attack me and I think I have given as good as I can take.

"It was carried right up to the last day (of the campaign). I made a talk on television, a talk in which I made a flub.

"I said I was running for governor of the United States. The Los Angeles Times dutifully reported that. Mr. Brown the last day made a flub. He said 'I hope everybody wins, that you vote the straight Democratic ticket, including Sen. Kuchel (a Republican).' The Los Angeles Times did not record it.

The Times, which endorsed Nixon, said that it reported no campaign charges and counter-charges the last day before the election, other than Nixon's 11th hour telethon and Brown's reply to it.

"And I can only say thank God for television and radio for keeping the newspapers a little more honest.

"Among the great newspaper in this country that people say I should be concerned about are the Louisville Courier-Journal, the New York Post, the Milwaukee Journal and the Fresno and the Sacramento Bee.

"I would hope that in the future, as a result of this campaign, that perhaps they (the newspapers) would try, at least simply, to see what both candidates say is reported, that, if they have questions, to ask the same questions of the other candidate.

"I hope that what I have said today will at least make television, radio and the press first recognize the great responsibility they have to report all the news and, second, to recognize that they have a right and a responsibility, if they are against a candidate—give him the shaft.

"But also recognize, if they give him the shaft—put one lonely reporter on the campaign who will report what the candidate says, now and then. Thank you, gentlemen, and good day."

The former vice president made it clear his indictment was not directed at all reporters.

"There is one reporter here," he said, "who has religiously, when he was covering me—and, incidentally, this is no reflection on the others because some of you, you know, weren't bothered. One reporter, Carl Greenberg—he's the only reporter on the (Los Angeles) Times that fits this thing, who wrote every word that I said—wrote it fairly, wrote it objectively.

"I don't mean that others didn't have a right to do it differently, but Carl, despite whatever feelings he had, felt that he had an obligation to report the facts as he saw them."

Nixon also defended the right of editorial expression:

"I can only say that the great metropolitan newspapers in this field have a right to take any position they want to on the editorial page. But on the other news page they also have a right to have reporters cover—men who have strong feelings — whether they're for or against a candidate, but the responsibility also is to put a few Greenbergs on a candidate they happen to be against.

"Whether they are against him on the editorial page, or just philosophically, deep down a fellow who at least will report what the man said. That's all anybody can ask."

Gov. Brown said his campaign received "very fair coverage."

"The press has treated me fairly," Brown said. "I'm almost afraid to say that because my opponent might say this is evidence of special treatment (from the press).

Of Nixon's news conference, Brown said: "I think Mr. Nixon took the defeat a little bit hard. In retrospect, he'll feel differently."

At his news conference, Nixon said this of his future:

"Well, my plans are to go home. I've got to get acquainted with my family again. My plans, incidentally, are, from a political standpoint, of course, to take a holiday. It will be a long holiday. "I don't say this with any sadness. I couldn't feel, frankly, more proud of my staff for the campaign they helped me to put on."

Publisher Otis Chandler of the Los Angeles Times said his paper has supported Nixon in all his campaigns and "we continue today to believe that he was the best qualified candidate for governor, as we said in our endorsement editorial of Oct. 21."

The Sacramento and Fresno Bees, two other papers mentioned by Nixon, are members of the McClatchy group. Myron V. DePew assistant to the McClatchy editor, said: "We can't make any comment. We'd like to know what in the world he was getting at."

Norman E. Isaacs, executive editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, said:

"Mr. Nixon seems to make the necessary distinction between editorial endorsement and news coverage. On this we agree. We agree that newspapers ought to take editorial positions. We agree that they should report what a candidate has to say. This is what we have done—report what the candidates have had to say, including untruths they have had to say about our newspapers."

Nixon headquarters in Los Angeles provided The Associated Press with a list of about 45 daily California newspapers that endorsed Nixon. A Nixon aide said several papers probably had been omitted from the list, which was prepared from memory. Brown headquarters provided a list of a dozen pro-Brown papers and said it also had probably overlooked several.

Major dailies endorsing Nixon included the Los Angeles Times, San Francisco Chronicle, Oakland Tribune, San Diego Union, San Diego Tribune, Sacramento Union, Hollywood Citizen-News, San Jose Mercury-News and Riverside Press-Enterprise.

Major dailies endorsing Brown included the San Francisco Examiner, San Francisco News-Call Bulletin, Long Beach Independent and Press-Telegram, Sacramento Bee, Fresno Bee, San Bernardino Sun and Santa Barbara News-Press.

Nixon acquired a reputation of aloofness among some newsmen during his unsuccessful campaign for the presidency in 1960. A Nixon aide said privately during the California primary election campaign this year that the former vice president was aware of this situation and intended to conduct himself so that it would not be a problem again.

Nixon made what many felt was a conscientious effort to avoid the problem when he invited interviews during the general election campaign.

A reporter who traveled with Nixon during the campaign said Nixon often made a special effort to talk with newsmen on campaign buses and planes.

American Walks Out On Red Party

SOFIA, Bugaria (AP) — U.S. Minister Eugenie Anderson walked out of a Soviet reception Wednesday night after Bulgarian President Dimiter Ganev accused the United States of piratical action against Cuba.

Ganev made the accusation in an address during the Soviet Embassy's reception in honor of the 45th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution. It was attended by Sofia's diplomatic corps and chief delegates to the Bulgarian Communist party congress now being held here.

The guests also included Soviet chief ideologist Mikhal Suslov, and Blas Roca, former secretary general of the Cuban Communist party.

Ganev spoke after Soviet Ambassador Georgi A. Denisov addressed the guests. Denisov made a passing reference to American imperialism before launching into the familiar Soviet line that Premier Khrushchev saved the world from war by withdrawing Soviet missiles from Cuba.

Ganev said the United States had violated all international laws in trying "to put up the blockade around small but heroic Cuba, in beginning piratical action and in openly preparng an armed attck on revolutionry Cuba.

"I think we had better leave," said Mrs. Anderson to her American interpreter. They started out.

Bulgarian government officials rushed over in an attempt to smooth things over, diplomatic informants said, but Mrs. Anderson would have none of it.

The Bulgarian press did not mention the incident today.

Spacecraft Center Bids Are Opened

HOUSTON (AP)— Three firms submitted a low bid of $18,700,897 Wednesday for construction of 11 buildings at the $200 million Manned Spacecraft Center.

The proposal was by C. H. Leavell of El Paso, Morrison-Knudson Construction Co. of Boise, Idaho, and Paul Hardeman of Stanton, Calif.

Tax Hike Rejected In Mexico City

MEXICO CITY (AP) —Officials have rejected proposals for a tax increase next year for the city's five million residents, the newspaper Novedades reported Wednesday.

The newspaper said it had learned that officials felt stricter control of tax collections had sufficiently increased revenues without a tax hike.

This year's tax income likely will be considerably higher than last year's 1,338,000,000 pesos ($122,240,000), the newspaper said.

As you may have guessed, it's part of the Snyder-Sweetwater homecoming hijinks, and the compact little building —referred to affectionatly as the "Sweetwater Dressing Room" or "Mustang Coach's Office"—will go up in smoke this evening at 6:30 when the homecoming bonfire is touched off. Abe Refuses To Get Overconfident

By The Associated Press

It hints at overconfidence when a team with a 4-2 record and such powers as Louisiana State and Texas to play starts talking about bowl games.

Apparently that's what Coach Abe Martin of Texas Christian was trying to combat when he spoke sharply about all the bowl talk on the TCU campus.

"You can't stop them from talking," Martin said, "but they'd better keep their powder dry. They're not going to win any day-dreaming. We have four games. We have to win all before we go anywhere—before we get invited anywhere."

The Horned Frogs were reminded of the perils of thinking about a game too far ahead as they wound up practice for the day in preparation for the clash with Louisiana State Saturday night at Baton Rouge.

There was no bowl talk elsewhere in the Southwest Conference while the teams prepped for crucial games.

Texas, which faces Baylor at Waco, was working hard trying to build a pass defense the Bears couldn't puncture.

Baylor was trying to see that the Longhorns couldn't accomplish it. Practice was devoted largely to passing, with Don Trull, the conference's leading flinger, hitting his receivers with alarming—for Texas—regularity.

Southern Methodist had two new starters with Lewis Albright advanced to left half and John Richey to right half. Injured backs Billy Gannon and Jon Ed Clarke are expected to play when the Methodists play Texas A&M at Dallas Saturday.

Texas A&M, on the other hand, had injuries pile up on it. End James Drennan and fullback Lee Roy Caffey were not expected to be able to play against SMU. Three players previously had been lost for the season—fullback Jerry Rogers, tackle James Craig and guard Joe Hoyak.

Rice worried because it had four players on the injury list, although three of them probably will be able to go against Arkansas at Fayetteville Saturday. Fullback Russ Wayt, reserve fullback Jim Martins, tailback Ronnie Graham and Ronnie Dreyer were the injured. Dreyer was a doubtful participant.

Arkansas was fearful of the Rice passing attack, however. Coach Frank Broyles had his Razorbacks working hard against the Rice style of throwing. Arkansas had all its players back in the fold. Four had been out with minor illnesses.

Between You And Me

By Jerry Jackson

Sports - wise, what looks like the biggest weekend of the season is arriving on the scene.

Of paramount importance, of course, is tomorrow night's homecoming joust against Sweetwater. The Sweetwater game annually marks the highpoint of the season for the Tiger gridders, and is one in which they have been known to rise to unaccustomed heights to knock off the perennially powerful Nolan Countians.

This year, as always, the Tigers have their work cut out for them. The Mustangs will bring to town with them a team that evidently "found itself" at the start of district play and has celebrated the fact by blistering Lake View and Colorado City by scores of 36-14 and 52-6.

Snyder, on the other hand, is winless in two outings, but played both Lamesa and Brownfield down to the wire in losing 23-36 and 12-21 contests.

The team that comes stampeding into town Friday will be typically Sweetwaterish — big and tough. Their starting offensive unit scales out at 184 pounds to the man, as a "fer instance," while Snyder's will be in the range of 159. That's a lot of pounds to give away to the opposition any way you look at it.

Let's hope the bulk of the dynamite is contained in the small packages.

And had you noticed? The Star-Telegram this week rated Sweetwater number 10 among schoolboy elevens in its class — the Mustangs at 3-3-1 being the only one of the top ten bunch sporting more than one loss.

A pair of 4A powers — Abilene and San Angelo — handed them two of their defeats, while undefeated Graham of 4-AAA accounted for the other. The tie game was that weird 3-3 affair against Abilene Cooper.

A bonfire near the Little League diamond will herald the advent of weekend homecoming activities. You, the public, are invited to be there and offer your lungpower and encouragement to the occasion.

* * *

The footballing weekend will be far from ended when the final horn blows to end the Tiger - Pony conflict. Travis 9th is home to take on Runnels Saturday afternoon, and then that Boys' Club Pee Wee doubleheader is on tap for that night.

Ticket proceeds from the Pee Wee games will be used in taking care of expenses, making repairs of present football equipment, and securing additional equipment for next year's program, so it'll all be going for worthy causes and warrants the support of the townspeople.

Another unique game, locally speaking, is on tap for a week from Saturday. That's the night when McMurry and Louisiana Colleges are to clash on the Tiger Stadium gridiron in a game being brought here under the sponsorship of the Optimist Club.

Season ticket holders to Tiger games can purchase the same seats now at Ben Franklin's, and the general public can make their "run" on ducats beginning Monday.

McMurry's two starting tackles—Ronnie Giles and Doug James—are both from Snyder, as is their coach, Grant Teaff. A lot of local interest will thus be generated, and a capacity crowd would go a long way toward helping to nab future games of the same nature.

* * *

A roster of deer leases available for hunters in the Breckenridge-Possum Kingdom area was received here yesterday for the help of those desiring it.

The info—funnelled out from the Chamber of Commerce — notes that hunting prospects in their area are "excellent" this year, They also mention that their season has a 15 - day extension and begins October 16 to run through December 15, with three deer allowed. In addition, does may be killed with permits available from the landowners.

* * *

It's really a ridiculous and inexplicable state of affairs. If you'll take a look at today's weekly grid guesses on this page you'll see what I mean.

Slow - talking, fast - thinking Howard Jones — Ike Ol' Man Rivuh — just keeps rollin' along and after last week's happenings as gone completely out of reach.

The remaining three members (or would "has beens" be a better term?) of the Daily News panel of "experts" wish him bon voyage, however. Don't go away, though, loyal sports fans. That's a real battle being waged for second (!)

Turkey Shoot Set Sunday

The Canyon Gun Club has announced plans for this Sunday in which the organization will sponsor a turkey shoot at the club range beginning at 1 p.m.

Events on tap for the day include trap shooting, pistol shooting, rimfire, small bore and large bore at 100 years.

Two turkeys in each event will go to the winners. The public is invited to attend and participate, with a special invitation having been extended ladies interested in the sport.

In The Home Stretch

By The Associated Press

Navarro and Henderson County lead the Texas junior college football campaign now in its last stages.

Navarro has an 8-1 record, winds up the season Saturday night against Ranger and then plays in the Hospitality Bowl at Gulfport, Miss.

Henderson County has a 7-1-1 record and can win a share of the championship of the Texas Eastern Conference Saturday night if it defeats Tyler at Athens.

In other games Saturday Blinn will be at Wharton and Kilgore at Texarkana.

The top records among Texas junior colleges:

Yale football coach Jordan Olivar played soccer instead of football when he was a high school athlete in New York City.

Lamar 9th, 8th Clash With Lamesa

Junior High football is rounding the final turn and coming into the home stretch locally, with three games of tonight involving Snyder teams making up the next-to-last week's card.

Two of the scheduled encounters center around Lamar elevens, and will be staged on the junior high field located two blocks south of Travis School.

Taking the field initially will be the potent Lamar 8th "11", which meets Lamesa at 6:30 p.m. The Texans stand 5-1 for the year, with their only loss having been sustained at the hands of Big Spring Runnels, 0-12.

The follow-up battle matches Lamar 9th (1-6) and Lamesa at 8 o'clock.

Travis 8th (3-1-1) is in Big Spring this evening for a tussle with Runnels set to begin at 5 o'clock. The Blue Devils engaged the same team in Snyder last week and sent the Yearlings home smarting beneath a 30-6 deluge.

Saturday activity on the junior high front will find Runnels invading the local junior high gridiron for a 2 p.m. game against Travis 9th. The Blue Devil 9th is 4-3 to date, with their most recent outing resulting in a 32-6 bruising handed them by Saturday's foe.

Both Snyder seventh grades have completed their grid schedules. The 9th and 8th grade elevens from the two schools will square off against one another in their final action of the year a week from tonight in Tiger Stadium.

Cotton Bowl A Sellout

DALLAS (AP)— All the available tickets have been spoken for and the Cotton Bowl football game will go on Jan. 1 assured of a sellout crowd.

The public sale of 25,000 tickets ended Tuesday and the last mail showed that there was an oversubscription. Secretary Howard Grubbs said between 25,000 and 27,000 tickets had been applied for.

Tickets Put On Sale For College Game

McMurry College of Abilene and Louisiana College of Pineville will appear in Snyder Saturday, November 17, for a grid clash that will serve to cap off the 1962 campaign for both.

The game is being brought here under the sponsorship of the Snyder Optimist Club, and tickets are now on sale to holders of season tickets at the Ben Franklin Store on the west side of the square. Season tab holders may buy the tickets, priced at two dollars each, by showing their Sweetwater game tickets and thus be assured of the same seat for the upcoming college battle.

The aforementioned sale will continue through Saturday, then on Monday the sale will be thrown open to the general public.

Plenty Of District Titles To Be Decided This Week

By The Associated Press

Eight district championships already are in the bag and 29 more are due to be determined this week as the Texas schoolboy football campaign rolls down the stretch.

Borger and Dallas Samuell are expected to become the first district champions of Class AAAA but the feature of this division will be the efforts of Wichita Falls to climb back into the race.

Wichita Falls took a 6-0 upset from Irving last week that shocked the state and the defending Class AAAA champions must win their remaining games and hope that somebody will knock off Irving.

The Coyotes play Arlington, which like Irving is unbeaten in conference warfare. Irving meets Fort Worth Richland.

Borger can take the District 3 title by beating Amarillo Friday night. Samuell can sew up District 6 if it trims South Oak Cliff.

Two half-district titles are in the balance. Brownsville can win the zone championship of District 14 by defeating Alice. Houston Reagan can win a zone title in District 9 if it beats Houston Jeff Davis.

Three championships go on the line in Class AAA where Hurst Bell has to beat Diamond Hill to take District 5, Conroe to beat Brenham for the District 10 title and South San Antonio can win District 15 by defeating San Antonio Marshall.

Class AA already has four champions—Olney in 5, Sinton in 29, Aransas Pass in 30 and Freer in 31. Nine other titles are due to be decided as follows:

2-Floydada by beating Canyon, 9-Jacksboro by beating Bowie, 11-Rockwall by beating Whitesboro, 21-Lancaster by beating Duncanville, 14-Daingerfield vs. Linden, 21-Katy by beating Sealy, 22-Woodville by beating Livingston, 23-Humble by beating Hampshire-Fannett, 32-Edcouch-Elsa by beating Donna.

Four district champions already have been decided in Class A and they are Burnet in 9, Clifton in 13, Rains (Emory) in 18 and East Chambers in 25.

Fifteen more are likely to be decided this week. They are:

3-LeFors by beating Memphis, 4-Petersburg by beating Crosbyton, 5-Seagraves by beating O'Donnell, 10-Albany by beating Baird, 11-Holliday by beating Crowell, 14-Forney beating Ferris, 15-Frisco by beating Wylie, 19-New London by beating Troup, 20-Garrison vs. San Augustine, 21-Alto by beating Groveton, 22-academy by beating Round Rock, 26-Houston King by beating Waller, 30-Dilley vs. Somerset, 31-Mathis by beating Ingleside, 32-Rio Hondo by beating Port Isabel.

Twenty-three undefeated, untied teams remain in the state but only one appears to be in danger of losing. Silsbee plays Bridge City, undefeated but once tied, in an important District 9 conference game in Class AAA.

The longest winning streak in Texas schoolboy history goes on the line Friday night when Pflugerville plays Flatonia. Pflugerville has won 53 in a row—four over the national record.

Who's Doing What In 3-3A

Here are the latest 3-AAA statistics as compiled by Lee Grimsley of the Sweetwater Reporter:

Other Neutrals Should Take Stock Of Situation In India

BY INEZ ROBB

With fingers crossed and a piece of wood handy for knocking, it seems possible that our holiday season is going to be spiced or enlivened by cautious optimism on the international front.

There have been a number of decisive watersheds of disillusionment with g l o b a l communism wherein Marxism has dealt itself a staggering blow. It is altogether possible that the Red Chinese attack on India is another watershed or disenchantment for Marxists and fellow travelers at home and abroad.

What profit it to be a great and good friend of the Reds, as have been Pandit Nehru and his oleanginous mentor, V. K. Krishna M non, when — without rhyme or reason — the Chinese bury the knife in the back up to the hilt? For five years, while the Chinese Reds have been using the old salami - slicing tactics on the India-Chinese border, India has turned the other cheek.

And to what purpose? To have China mount a full - scale war against the very men and nation that even, in the midst of the first heavy attacks a fortnight ago, cried aloud in the United Nations for the admission of Red China to membership!

A fat lot of good it has done Nehru and Menon to trot between New Delhi and Moscow and New Delhi and Peiping! If the rest of the "neutrals" and the uneommitted nations are capable of adding two and two and getting an approximate answer, they must be pondering what price friendship with the Marxist world.

Nehru, whose stock in trade is his posture of moral and intellectual superiority to the West, has had to come, cap in hand, to the United Kingdom and the United States for arms since his Russian friends said "nyet" to his request for aid.

It is hard to believe the moral of all this has been lost in nations that have been playing footsie with communism as steadily as had India through its leaders. Or the fact that not the collective paradise but the capitalist world has rushed to help India fight for its independence and very life.

Beyond the Iron Curtain fellow travelers' disillusionment with communism began in the 'thirties during the horrible spectacle of the purge trials, when Marxism fed on itself. Then came the Stalin-Hitler pact, which innumerable apologists for communism could not swallow.

The brutal Russian suppression of the Hungarian rebellion further decimated the faithful. Now, to rank with the above, is the Red China all - out war against its peaceful neighbor, India. Such is India's reward for her role of best friend to the Red Chinese. It is inconceivable that chancelleries in Asia and Africa can ignore this development.

In addition to this clear glimpse of communism gratitude, the world has just seen the U. S. S. R. hastily back - track when the United States took a firm stand and unveiled a bit of its muscle. The bully, who has been rattling rockets and screaming nuclear threats, was stopped in his tracks.

Once a bully, usually a bully forever. Khrushchev will surely try again in some other sector. But both the United States and the rest of the world have had a salutary lesson in Russian Communist behavior when its bluff is called.

Nehru, whose determined blindness helped prepare the way for the Chinese attack, has already said of the war, "This terrible shock has occasioned an almost new birth of Indian spirit and the soul of India has awakened again."

There is a need for a rebirth of spirit and a reawakening of soul through much of Asia and Africa. If the Chinese attack on India and the Russian refusal to intervene accomplish both, this senseless war will not be wholly in vain.

Strike Resumed By Teachers In Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP) — School teachers throughout the northern state of Coahuila resumed a strike Wednesday over failure of the government to pay them.

Newspaper reports here said the teachers were owed a half million pesos ($40,000) in back pay for the past month and the state government had no hopes of raising the money.

The teachers had gone back to work only last week after promises that they would be paid ended a previous strike.

Some towns were said to have paid their teachers with money donated by residents, but these too struck in sympathy with those who had not been paid.

Junior Editors Quiz on CATS

QUESTION: Why do cats purr when eating and being petted?

* * *

ANSWER: "Because we're contented and happy," answers the cat in our picture, but we may still ask, "Why purr about it?" Purring is one of the many signals animals give about their feelings. These signals are useful. Purring says: "I'm well fed and contented; you can tell it by my purring and when I rub against your legs and lift up my tail with a little crook at the top." The cat's purring sound is produced by the cords which animals have in the back of the throat and which vibrate when air passes over them. If a cat yowls, the cords tighten up. When a cat is feeling happy, its cords are loose and relaxed and the passing air vibrates them to make a soft, contented sound. Even large cats, such as lions, can purr. The lion's voice cords are large, so he can also roar and frighten his prey. His purr is said to be more like a deep growl.

* * *

FOR YOU TO DO: Stretch a rubber band between your thumb and forefinger. Then brush the fingers of your other hand over it. You will get a sound which will at least remind you of the cat's purr, and you will be producing it in somewhat the same way.

These Were The Good Old Days

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Everybody says it was different in the old days.

What were the old days really like? Well, they are at least a part of you if you can remember when:

A dime-a-dance girl didn't mind two for a nickel. If you were a fancy steppr.

The customer was always right. If he failed to return, his absence had a threat of importance.

No kid who wanted to get into the circus free could ever agree on how many buckets of water it took to fill an elephant.

A boy remembered his last enjoyment by where he had parked his chewing gum. It was always on the immaculate underside of a piece of dining room or living room furniture.

You learned about women by studying the mail order catalog pictures of what they could wear in winter to keep themselves warm.

The man with the largest family of marriageable daughters in the neighborhood usually had the largest front porch and the darkest back yard—in which he sometimes later grew prize vegetables.

One of the most distinguished forms of individual charity was to confide to the other person your own solution of how to deal with foot corns.

When chicken was served, someone at the table was bound to observe, "I'm pure Southern—I simply can't enjoy it unless I hold it in my hands."

You could always cheap date a homely girl by playfully telling your mutual fortune by her freckles: "This loves me, this loves me not ..."

Everybody predicted the lady who played the piano at the silent movies would make her mark in the musical world. She was so sensitive to moods.

Kaiser Wilhelm was held by some to have exampled the full depths of human depravity. Others disagreed.

The height of male sophistication was to say, "Never chase a girl. They're like street cars. Wait a few moments and there'll be another one along."

Ice cream came in only three flavors. If you couldn't enjoy chocolate, vanilla o r strawberry—well, you had to take the apple pie and cheese for dessert.

College boys and hoboes rode box cars from New York and California to harvest Kansas wheat.

Only the rich drank orange juice except to cloak the taste of castor oil.

For less than the price of present stamps, the postman came twice daily—not once — to your door to deliver mail. This enabled a kid taking a correspondence course in ventriloquism to learn to throw his voice doubly quicker and at less cost than he can today.

A cult held that if you chewed milk 15 times before swallowing it would improve your digestion.

Everyone confidently predicted science would free man—not burden him with fresh fears.

Those were the old days. Remember?

Slugs Used To Rob Vending Machine

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) —Police Wednesday night caught a girl, 19, and a man, 40, they said had used homemade slugs to loot vending machines of $700 worth of cigarettes, food, nylon stockings and other items.

The girl told police she had made the slugs, using techniques she had learned as a dentist's assistant making false teeth.

Daniel Urges Accelerated Civil Defense

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Price Daniel made seven recommendations Wednesday in urging public officials and private citizens to cooperate in accelerated civil defense program in Texas.

The recommendations stemmed from a meeting in Denton of representatives of governors, state and regional civil defence officials and federal agency representatives from Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

The recommendations were:

1. That building owners and managers permit the U. S. Corps of Engineers immediately to mark buildings identified in the national shelter survey without waiting for written agreement on stocking them with provisions.
2. That movement and storage of shelter supplies be expedited as they become available to each Texas community.
3. That Texas A&M College make extension services available to help provide guidance to rural citizens on civil defense matters.
4. That existing shelter space be improved and enlarged where financially feasible when final plans are submitted by survey engineers.
5. That local and civil defense officials continue intensified training in such civil defense auxiliary work as fire, police, and rescue teams.
6. That radio and television stations continue to make available additional public service time for the adult education courses and other civil defense instruction, and that newspapers continue to publish information on fallout protection, family shelter designs, and other essential material available in this field.
7. That private business and industry assist in the shelter survey program and develop plans where possible in office buildings, plants and warehouses.

Daniel also called on private citizens to provide individual family shelters "since fallout protection will not be available in public shelters for all Texans."

Vote Count Speeded Up

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Twenty-four hours after the last polls closed, virtually all of the nearly 6 million votes cast in California's election Tuesday were counted and reported.

The polls in San Francisco closed at 8 p.m. Tuesday night. By 8 p.m. Wednesday night, all but 672 of the state's far-flung 31,820 precinct had been tallied.

By contrast, in the 1960 election, it was Thursday after the week following the voting before Richard M. Nixon won California from John F. Kennedy.

One county, Kern, used an electronic vote tabulator as an experiment in Tuesday's election. It counted more than 92,000 ballots in six hours and 50 minutes.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt Dies Of Lingering Illness

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, a first lady whose stature grew from the White House to the world, died in her Manhattan apartment Wednesday night.

The 78-year-old widow of the nation's 32nd president and mother of the 20th president had suffered from what the family described as "a complicated type of anemia" for two and a half years.

Her health failed rapidly during the last six weeks, accelerated by non-contagious tuberculosis which was not proved until Oct. 25.

Her physicians, expecting heart failure, were with her at the end, along with three of her five living children. Two sons were en route by plane from distant points in the nation. Thirteen grandchildren and four great-grandchildren also survive her.

"One of the great ladies in the history of this country has passed from the scene," said President Kennedy. "Her loss will be deeply felt by all those who admired her tireless idealism or benefitted from her good works and counsel."

Leaders of the nation and the world joined in expressing sorrow and loss.

"I have lost an inspiration," said U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson, the only person outside of the family to visit Mrs. Roosevelt during the final weeks of her illness. He went by her invitation.

"She would rather light candles than curse the darkness," Stevenson said, "and her glow has warmed the world."

Private funeral services will be held at St. James Episcopal Church in Hyde Park, N.Y., north of New York City on the Hudson River, at 2 p.m. Saturday.

She will be buried in the rose garden of the family estate at Hyde Park, beside her husband, "in accordance with the joint wishes," the family said. His simple gravestone already bears her name and the year of her birth, 1884.

"Those at the interment service, in addition to family, will include representatives from the U.S. government, the United Nations, and the state of New York, as well as close friends of Mrs. Roosevelt," the announcement said. President Kennedy will attend. So will former President Harry S. Truman and his wife.

A memorial service at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in York City is being planned for sometime within the next two weeks.

The family gave permission for an autopsy, but its purpose was not made clear. Eight years ago, Mrs. Roosevelt willed her eyes to an eye bank.

Mrs. Roosevelt fought her illness with the same vigor with which she had pursued a career which took her to the far corners of the world.

She was often on the go—shuttling around the world on one errand or another, both public and private. She lectured far and wide an was known to the public in many lands.

Her travels were often the subject of good natured humor. They also brought barbed criticism from many who disliked her or her husband—or both of them.

Only after her death did the family disclose that her illness was discovered two and a half years ago. Initially, treatment permitted her to continue writing, speaking and battling for the causes for which she had become famous.

Mrs. Roosevelt's Career Really Launched In 1945

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—When Anna Eleanor Roosevelt left the White House in 1945, it was with the feeling that for the first time in more than four decades, she was on her own.

Her husband, one of the nation's most dynamic presidents, was dead. Her children were grown. Would she, like so many presidents' widows, retire to obscurity? Not Eleanor Roosevelt. In many ways, her own life was just beginning.

Until her fatal illness, ending with her death Wednesday night, she knew few quiet moments. She traveled endlessly, constantly backed causes, many of them controversial, and spoke her mind with eloquence and forthrightness. Her love of controversy led her, in her late seventies, to spark a swap of tractors for prisoners of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro, and a New York City political reform movement, and to entertain Soviet Premier Khrushchev at Hyde Park on his shoe-pounding visit to the United Nations.

"We have to face the fact that either all of us are going to die together or we are going to learn to live together—and if we live together we have to talk," she said.

And talk she did, and listen, in all parts of the world.

She once reflected on her life before the death of President Franklin D. Roosevelt:

"In my early married years, pattern of my life had been largely my mother-in-law's pattern. Later it was the children and Franklin who made the pattern. When I went to Washington I felt sure I would be able to use opportunities which came to me to help Franklin gain the objectives he cared about—but the work would be his work and the pattern his pattern."

In the post-White House days, the new pattern emerged as Mrs. Roosevelt could, at long last, use "my own mind and abilities for my own aims," about which she had been thinking since the last of her five children had gone off to boarding school. Curiously enough, however, the new pattern was much like the old pattern, except that in this later phase her life was dedicated to the world. The sphere of influence of Mrs. Roosevelt broadened progressively from her family to her state, to her nation. In her work for the United Nations, she hews a unique niche for herself as a world citizen which derived only partially from the position her husband held for so long.

Once when she was first lady, Mrs. Roosevelt was asked what she looked forward to most when she left the White House.

"Freedom from public notice," she replied.

Actually, she received almost as much public notice—and certainly more international acclaim—as a private citizen, but by that time she had learned to live with it and accept it gracefully.

Well into her seventies, Mrs. Roosevelt carried a schedule of lectures, speeches writing, correspondence, trips, junkets, appearances, conferences and interviews which would have sent the ordinary citizen running for tranquilizers. She thrived on it.

The bedrock on which her active life was constructed was, of course, a rugged constitution, excellent health and fantastic vitality.

But inherited energy and ability to get along nicely on four hours sleep do not explain the force which drove her. Her adult life was dominated by a need to serve.

"The feeling that I was useful," she once wrote, "was perhaps the greatest joy I experienced."

The blossoming of a painfully shy, awkward and downright plain child into the poised, apparently serene and handsome older woman was summed up by Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr. as a "triumph of character, a sheer and terrifying act of will." Her childhood was neither happy nor secure. Orphaned at 10, she was brought up by a strict grandmother, packed off to an exclusive English girls' school and then pushed reluctantly through the proper "coming out" rites mandatory for young women in the financial and social strata of the Roosevelts.

MRS. ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

In 1904, when she was 20, this niece of President Theodore Roosevelt married her fifth cousin once removed. While her marriage brought her a sense of security she sorely missed, it also brought the problem of living with and handling her dominating mother-in-law, Sarah Delano Roosevelt. It took self-control to avoid conflict with this strong-wiled woman who not only enjoyed holding the purse strings but who wanted to run the lives of her only son and his growing family.

The result of this disciplining experience with the senior Mrs. Roosevelt was that President Roosevelt had an almost exaggerated determination not to interfere in his children's lives, and Mrs. Roosevelt kept so clear of interference that she sometimes worried that her daughters-in-law might think she was not interested in them at all.

Mrs. Roosevelt went to Washington as First Lady with specialized training as an official's and a politician's wife. Franklin Roosevelt had been crippled by polio before he was elected governor of New York, and it was as thegov-New York, and it was as the governor's lady that Mrs. Roosevelt elected herself as his eyes and ears.

When Mrs. Roosevelt was the wife of the President, her determination to be useful to her husband made her a highly controversial figure, for she never was content merely to fill the traditional role of White House official hostess. When she left the White House the political enemies of her husband stopped referring to "Eleanor" in special, bitter and clipped syllables.

But Mrs. Roosevelt, always an individual, continued to be a storm center.

She was taken in, according to a large segment of opinion, by Reds working within the American Youth Congress. Eleanor Roosevelt, however, never thought so. She was lied to and some sought to use her.

But: "I am extremely grateful for my experience with them," Mrs. Roosevelt said later. "I learned what Communist tactics are. In fact, I think my work with the American Youth Congress was of infinite value to me in understanding some of the tactics I have had to meet in the United Nations!"

Troop 108 Has Court Of Honor

Boy Scout Troop 108 sponsored by West Elementary P-TA, had its Court of Honor Tueaday night at the Scout hut on West Thirty-seventh Street.

The program was opened with the reciting of the Pledge of Allegiance, and then each boy lighted a candle for a Scout Law.

Presented awards as Tenderfoots were Bill Galloway, Mike Keller, Billy Smith, Jackie Weaver, Ronnie Watkins, Jerry Hardwick, and Larry Eoff.

A number of merit badges were awarded. Frank Jackson received badges for canoeing, cooking, motor boating and den chief; Jackie Greene for motor boating,' wild life, horsemanship, den chief and cooking; Kenny Wood for horsemanship; and Ricky Smith for canoeing and motor boating.

Doug Hill received the highest number of badges, including one that is won by very few boys—the Scout Life Guard. He also received those for camping, rowing rank of star, wild life management, life saving, horsemanship, swimming, canoeing citizenship in home, cooking, motorboating, and den chief.

A new award called the "Go Roundup" badge was given to six boys also. This means that each boy has "rounded up" another boy and brought him in to become a member of the Scouts.

Gale Henderson oversees the group as Scoutmaster.

Mexico's New Law Ready

MEXICO CITY (AP)— A law giving the government power to force companies to share profits with workers will be ready to go into effect in January, Minister of Labor Salomon Gonzalez Blanco said Wednesday.

He said a committee which he heads is progressing steadily in drawing up regulations for the measure, which would affect both Mexican and foreign-owned firms.

The statement was the first official indication of when the government plans to make the law effective.

The cabinet minister mentioned the January date in talking with reporters after a meeting with President Adolfo Lopez Mateos.

Only the president's signature and publication in the government's official gazette remain in the law's path. It already has been approved by Congress and the required number of state legislatures as part of a constitutional amendment making several labor law reforms.

Four Members Of Birch Society Lose

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four members of the ultra-conservative John Birch Society—including two congressmen—have been defeated in voting for Congress.

Reps. John Rousselot and Edgar Hiestand of California, who disclosed their Birch membership when the society first became the target of national interest last year, lost re-election attempts Tuesday.

Another Birch Society member in California, H. L. Richardson, was also defeated.

Jack Seale, a Texas member of the society, lost in his effort to unseat the Democratic incumbent in the Panhandle, Rep. Walter Rogers.

Roundtable Set Tonight

A Scout Roundtable is scheduled here tonight beginning at 7:30 at the First Methodist Church.

All Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, and adult leaders are invited to attend.

Contact Lost With Outside World

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — One of the world's biggest manufacturers of telephones, the Ericsson Telephone Co., admitted with embarrassment today that for a week its main switchboard hasn't had contact with the outside world.

A company engineer explained that the board is a new model, and all the small screws were a fraction of an inch too large. A team of mechanics is still replacing the screws.

The company is convinced the new model will ultimately be a success on the international market. The firm said it had similar trouble with the old type when it was first installed and now it's used all over the world.

Installations Still Grow At Key West

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — Soldiers continued today to beef up military installations strung along the Florida Keys facing the coast of Cuba. Jet fighter planes plastered over the Florida Straits around the clock.

Installations supporting the buildup at Key West, site of a big Navy and air station only 90 miles from Havana, continued to spring up. Troops guarded them behind barbed wire barricades.

Snyder's Driver Education Plan Included In Yearbook

Every year school systems who are members of the Associated Public School System are invited to submit information on courses which they offer. Normally the courses entered are those which are new or different.

C. D. Henry, director of curriculum, announced today that Snyder School's plan for teaching driver and safety education has been accepted for publication in the 1963 yearbook of the association. The yearbook, which is titled "Advanced Practices in Select Schools," is a compilation of what the association feels are the most worth-while new ideas in teaching.

For those unfamiliar with the driver education course here, the text, as it will appear in the yearbook, is quoted.

INTRODUCTION

For the past two years the Snyder Schools have experimented with the plan for teaching the 30 clock hours of classroom instruction in Driver and Traffic Safety Education to all students entering the ninth grade. They feel that this phase of the school program is important enough to be included as a requirement for every student.

How the Program Operates

In the Snyder Public Schools every student in grade nine and ten is required by directive of the Texas Education Agency to take Physical Education for two full years (two units of credit). In grade nine, which is in the Junior High Schools, periods of 55 minutes are scheduled. These 55 minute periods provide more than the minimum time required for Physical Education.

Schedules for Driver and Traffic Safety Education are taken from these Physical Education scheduled classes. The Snyder Schools operate on a nine - week reporting period; therefore, it was logical as well as convenient to schedule nine week blocks of time from Physical Education to Driver and Traffic Safety Education.

Students are scheduled to Physical Education classes in sufficient numbers that approximately one half of each class may be subscheduled to the classroom phase for Driver and Traffic Safety Education. Only the 30 clock hours of classroom instruction are given in grade nine. No behind - the-wheel instruction is provided in grade nine.

Students who complete the classroom phase of the course rotate with other sections in the Physical Education class. By this method, four sections of the classroom phase of instruction can be taught by one teacher, providing nine weeks (45 days) with 55 minutes each day. This allows time for every student to meet the 30 clock hour minimum time for the classroom phase of instruction.

Driving instructors and training automobiles are made available during the summer months, on a tuition basis, for students who have completed the classroom work and are of legal age to complete the course which requires 6 clock hours behind - the - wheel and 6 hours of observation.

Students who do not drive during the summer months are provided an opportunity to complete the driving phase of the course during the next regular school term. They are scheduled to Physical Education classes, library, study periods or other activity classes which permit them to sub - schedule to complete the 12 clock hours required in the automobile. No tuition is charged during the regular school term. The behind - the - wheel and observation phase of the course is not required by the school and students may or may not elect to complete both phases of the course. The student's permanent record carries a notation of successful completion of the classroom phase for grade nine and also a notation of course completion if it is completed during the summer or during the regular term in grade ten. No credit is given for Driver and Traffic Safety.

EVALUATION

We feel that every student gains a better knowledge of traffic safety. He develops attitudes and understandings of traffic laws, regulations and skills that will lead to more intelligent traffic behavior.

From the experiences gained in operation of this program for the past two years, we find the majority of the students complete the entire course. Also, we believe it will be to the school's advantage both economically and in conservation of time to encourage students to complete the actual driving phase during the summer, or after school hours on a non-tuition basis. Driving teachers may be paid by the hour to instruct during these out - of - school hours more economically than a regular teaching salary for time available during the regular school day.

The community has accepted this program without comment against any part of the plan.

Indicted Judge Is Defeated In Gregg

LONGVIEW, Tex. (AP) — A write-in campaign has given R. E. (Peppy) Blount, Longview attorney and former University of Texas football star, the Gregg County judgeship.

Blount received 3,802 write-in votes in Tuesday's general election to the 2,777 received by the Democratic nominee, incumbent Earl Sharp.

Sharp was recently indicted on charges growing out of the slanted oil well scandals.

Atlas Missile In Its 150th Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Atlas, a mainstay of America's military and space programs has logged its 150th flight with a successful 5,000-mile strike down the Atlantic Tracking Range.

The Air Force announced the rocket, an advanced F model, achieved all test goals on the flight Wednesday. A total of 108 of the shots were successful, 27 partially successful and 15 failures.

Tampico, Mexico, is the center of the country's oil industry and the government's homestead program.

G. P. Proctor

I wish to thank each of my friends who supported me in my bid for Justice of the Peace in Precinct 1.

I believe that a two party system will be best for our community and Texas. May we ever be willing to stand for our convictions and as a whole work for the betterment of our country and its future.

Yours Truly,
