DAMAGE FROM COTTON FLEA FEARED ON PLAINS

Contractor Says Street Paving to Begin Here Next Week

Four Carloads of Brick Will Be Shipped Friday For Use On Job Here

L. H. Howard, contractor who will have charge of paving Slaton's streets, received a telegram today from Fort Worth stating that the first four carloads of brick for the paving job would be shipped Friday of this week. Daily shipments of the same amount will follow regularly.

Mr. Howard says he will finish signing up sufficient property owners within the next few days to insure that actual construction can begin next week. Much of the necessary machinery is already here and the remainder is in transit.

On account of the forced re-publication of city ordinances and property lists, as explained elsewhere in this issue, paving will be done first in those blocks where owners are willing to sign up for it without waiting for the three weeks of publication of lists to expire.

Boy Scout Meeting Dates Are Changed

Due to the fact that a Scout Leaders' Training Course for men is now being held on Monday nights, the regular meeting of the Slaton Boy Scouts will be changed from Monday night to Thursday night and will continue to be on Thursday night until further notice is given. Meetings will be held in the old club house.

CLAUDE MILLEK,
Acting Scout Master.

Methodist Revival In Second Week; Large Crowds Attending All Services

The Methodist revival meeting has where it could have been obtained, and the attendance and interest have grown rapidly since last week. Weather conditions for the most of this week have been much better than before, and Rev. Michael has been delivering some very fine sermons to his audiences.

Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Bonney, who are directing the music and young people's work, are growing more and more popular in their fine efforts to make the very best of the few remaining days of the meeting.

It is hoped that the entire community will take advantage of the opportunity still offered to hear Rev. Michael and the Bonney workers before the meeting comes to an end.

Everybody is cordially invited to attend all the services, says the pastor, Rev. A. B. Davidson.

Emanuel Siewert Died At Southland Monday

Emanuel Siewert, of Southland, died at his home near that city last Monday night, death resulting from bronchial pneumonia. Funeral services were held at the Lutheran church at Southland Tuesday at 3 p. m., Rev. A. B. Weiss, of Posey, conducting the services. Mr. Siewert was a member of the Lutheran church, and was a highly respected citizen in his community.

The deceased was a native of Poland, coming to this country when a small child with his parents. He settled first at Abilene, but for several years had lived near Southland. He left a widow and several children besides other relatives. His father and others of his relations from distant places attended his funeral. Burial took place in the Southland cemetery. The Foster Funeral home of this city had charge of the burial.

Mrs. Price, mother of Mrs. S. H. Adams, has gone to Waco to be at the bedside of her sister who is critically ill there.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Davies, Wednesday, July 14, a boy.

Slaton Chevrolet Co. Sold To Meadow Man

F. C. Jackson, of Meadow, has purchased the Slaton Chevrolet Co. from the Kuykendall Chevrolet Co., of Lubbock, the deal having been closed Wednesday. Mr. Jackson told The Slatonite he would immediately move his family from Meadow to this city and that he would have control of the business from now on. The name of the firm will be changed to Jackson Chevrolet Co.

G. P. Kuykendall, of the Kuykendall Chevrolet Co., of Lubbock, in speaking of the change, stated that he could recommend Mr. Jackson very highly to the people of Slaton as a citizen and as a high class business man.

Mr. Jackson has a family composed of his wife and six children. He is anxious to have his family here with him as soon as he can secure a satisfactory location.

The change brought about in the transaction places the Jackson Chevrolet Co. under a direct contract with the Chevrolet factory, and this will assure Slaton people the highest type of service from the local dealer.

The Slatonite is pleased to welcome a man of the type of Mr. Jackson, and also extend a cordial welcome to his family as they become members of this city and community.

13 Years

The following items are copied from the Slatonite of thirteen years ago. Many of our old timers here may be able to recall things mentioned here in from week to week, and doubtless it will be very interesting to them, as well as to others who will be glad to learn something of the early history of Slaton:

J. H. Standefer, 6 miles west of town, invited the editor of The Slatonite out to his place the first of the week, and we saw a very, very fine crop there. His corn is about nine feet high and is putting on from one to four ears to each stalk. The cotton is about twenty inches high and is filled with bolls from top to bottom.

W. T. Knight returned Wednesday from a month's stay in Kansas City, and says he is here to "live and die in Slaton."

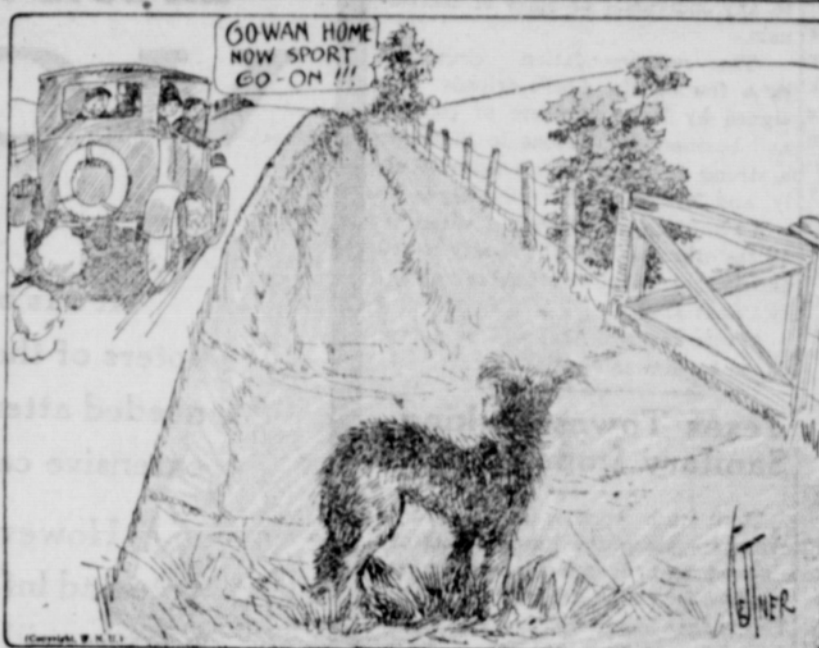

Attorneys R. A. Baldwin, of Slaton, and Klett, of Lubbock, engaged in a debate on the proposed constitutional amendment Wednesday evening at the City Hall.

Slaton lost a baseball game to Tahoka at that place Monday. The score was 10 to 11.

Slaton baseball team shut out the Shop team in a game here yesterday by a score of 12 to 0. The line-up was: Shop team, Harris, r; Champion, 3rd; Garrett, left; Williams and Might, p; Sam Johnson, 1st; Beal, ss; Might and Whalen, m; McNearling, 2nd; Star, c. Cubs, Pool Robertson, ss; Petty, 1st; Eddie Johnson, 2nd; Hicks, p; Briggs Robertson, r; Luther, c; McKeenolds, m; Higbee, left; Compton, 3rd. Umpire, Weaver.

W. T. Driver returned Saturday from Hamilton where he had gone to be with his father who was ill at that place. He reports his father much improved.

President Galloway Congratulates Farmers Here On Fine Showing In Crops

W. S. Galloway, owner of the Thoroughbred Cotton Breeding Industries of San Angelo and Slaton was present at a meeting of stockholders of the Slaton Thoroughbred Cotton Breeders' Association held in Slaton July 10. He congratulated the farmers on the splendid condition of their crops and suggested that through pooling of their pure strains, long staple cotton, they would be able to secure a substantial premium for it. In the election of officers for the Slaton association, J. W. Henry was chosen president and T. J. Richardson, Eugene Holt and W. J. Anderson were named directors.

Seventy-five farmers of Slaton have planted some five thousand acres in pure strain Mebane cotton. Planting seed were furnished direct from the breeding flock of the Thoroughbred Industries and each farmer who took seed was named a stockholder in the Slaton association. The cotton grown on this land must be cultivated under a given set of regulations and will have to be passed upon by the State Department of Agriculture before it can be ginned at Tudor Bros. Gin, especially chartered to handle only this cotton. The seed will be sold on the commercial market as certified seed, of pure Mebane strain. The sale of the seed will be handled by the Thoroughbred Industries and the profits derived will be shared equally by the growers and the sales agency.

The Slaton breeding plant is the only one on the South Plains; since the only source of acclimated seed that will be available to Plains farmers will be through the Slaton plant, Slaton seems destined to become the Lockhart of West Texas.

Property Lists On Paving Must Be Re-Published Three Consecutive Weeks

The lists of statements on property adjoining streets where paving is to be done in Slaton, and which have been appearing in The Slatonite for the past three consecutive weeks, will have to be re-published three more consecutive weeks beginning with this issue.

The reason for this lies in the fact that property owners, in many cases, have been negligent in making the proper filing of records with county officials relative to property holdings, and in some instances property transfers are not shown on county records, so that errors occur in the list prepared by the city engineers when the statements were compiled for publication.

The engineers are not to blame for this condition, for they went to the county records to get their information, and that was the only place where it could have been obtained. The city officials are not to be blamed, for they did not know of the errors until they had already been made. The Slatonite is not responsible for the error, for we followed strictly the copy furnished us by the engineers when the rolls were completed. The only conclusion is that the property owners are responsible, and that had proper changes been made on county records, the city would have been saved much expense of additional publication of the rolls as they will appear in this paper for the next three weeks.

Lone Star Cafe Is In New Location

The Lone Star Cafe, formerly located in the Commercial Hotel building, moved to the building recently vacated by the Liberty Cafe.

In the new location, according to E. F. Jarman, proprietor, there is considerable more room for accommodation of customers, and for fixtures in front and in the rear. Recently the building was added to when an extension was built at the rear of the building.

The Lone Star has more and better equipment in this location than they formerly had. Mirrors are more and the attendance and interest have plentiful on the walls, and other noticeable changes have been made. Mr. Jarman states that he can now accommodate about twice as many customers as he could in the old location.

Returned Thursday From Extended Trip

C. F. Anderson and family, J. F. Frye and family, and Misses Frances and Josephine Adams returned last Thursday from a three weeks' vacation trip through northern states terminating at Chicago. The party motored through Little Rock, Memphis and other larger cities of intervening states, and enjoyed camping out all along the route.

Mr. Anderson says he saw a very interesting baseball game between the Chicago Cubs and the Cincinnati Red Sox while in Chicago.

C. J. Foster, wife and two children, who visited the former's father, Dr. E. C. Foster, and family for a week, left last Thursday for their home in Chicago.

County Agent Says Danger Threatens Farmers If Pest Spreads As Indicated

Earl Hendrix Passed Away Last Saturday

Earl Hendrix died at his home here last Saturday after only about one week's serious illness. His death was caused by bronchial pneumonia.

Mr. Hendrix was born January 9, 1886, and his death occurring on July 10 made him a few months over forty years of age. He had lived here for several years, a part of which time he has been in the dairy business. He was widely known among the people of this territory and was a highly respected citizen among his fellows. He leaves a widow and several children to mourn his passing.

The body of the deceased was shipped to Cooper, Delta County, for burial Monday. The funeral services were to have been conducted there on Wednesday. Three of his brothers came here to accompany the remains to the place of burial.

Members of the Odd Fellows Lodge here accompanied the body from the home to the railway station when the funeral party made ready to leave for Cooper. Mr. Hendrix was a consistent member of the I. O. O. F. Lodge.

Mrs. Hendrix and the children will not return to their home here for several days, it is understood.

The Slatonite extends deepest sympathy to the bereaved family.

That the cotton crops of the South Plains are in danger of suffering damages from "cotton hoppers" or "cotton fleas" was the opinion expressed by County Agent D. F. Eaton this week after making investigation as to the presence of the pests in this section. Local farmers, also, are becoming slightly alarmed that the flea may spread here. What are thought to be cotton fleas have been found in a few fields, but only in very small numbers. So far the appearance of the pests has not become general.

Many farmers around Slaton have stated that they have seen no signs whatever that indicate the presence of the "hopper" in their fields, and the crop is growing at a very rapid rate at this time.

The cotton flea or cotton hopper is new to this part of the state, though it has done much injury in South Texas heretofore. Several weeks ago, the presence of fleas was noted on the cotton of east and south Texas fields. Meetings have been held by farmers and agricultural specialists to determine means of exterminating the pest. Sulphur sprayed on the plant seems to be the best and only known remedy at this time.

Farmers here believe the next few days will determine whether this section will suffer serious damage or not.

Post Baptist Encampment Had Better Attendance This Year; Closed Sunday

Former Slaton Chiropractor At Lubbock

Dr. J. E. Nelms, Chiropractor, and wife, who were formerly residents of this city, but who have been away for some time, arrived in Lubbock recently. Dr. Nelms attended Carver Chiropractic College in Oklahoma City this spring, taking a post-graduate course. Afterward, Dr. and Mrs. Nelms drove through Northern Oklahoma, Kansas and Colorado on a vacation, visiting Mrs. Nelms' parents at La Junta, Colo.

Dr. Nelms is opening offices in the Leader Building at Lubbock, and expects to make that city their home in the future.

Odd Fellows And Rebekahs to Have Outing

At 6:30 p. m. next Monday, all Odd Fellows, Rebekahs and their families are invited to meet at the Odd Fellows Hall from which place they will go to the canyon for a picnic lunch there.

Equalization Board Members Are Named

W. T. Brown, A. C. Hanna and H. W. Ragsdale have been appointed by the city commissioners of Slaton and the school board of the Slaton Independent School District, to serve as a board of equalization for the city and school property taxation.

Barton Family Return From Chicago Visit

E. Barton and family have returned after visiting for the past several weeks with their two sons, Don and Lonnie, in Chicago. They made the trip overland in their car, Mrs. Ivy Moore, their daughter, and her little son, Eric, accompanying them on the trip.

The whole trip was greatly enjoyed from beginning to end, Mr. Barton said, and still they are glad to be back home again. Mr. Barton is the superintendent of the city's water department here.

Tom Overby was a Lubbock visitor Wednesday.

The Post Baptist Encampment which held the second annual session from Monday, July 5 to Sunday, July 11, inclusive, had a fine attendance from start to finish, according to those who were at the meetings regularly. Many local people from the Baptist church as well as others were at the Encampment each day. All report a splendid time, and state that the sessions were profitable as well as enjoyable.

Dr. M. T. Andrews, pastor of the First Baptist church at Texarkana, was the main speaker throughout the eight days, and his messages were especially fine. Other prominent men of the Baptist denomination were on program, and most of them filled their appointments per schedule.

Rev. W. A. Bowen, of Lubbock, was elected president of the Encampment for the next year. He was appointed president during the past year when Rev. Jeff Davis, of Snyder, moved away to San Benito.

The session of the Encampment which closed last Sunday, was the second one held, and Sunday was the biggest day of the session. A large Sunday school was had on that day and also a large attendance at the B. Y. P. U. meeting in the evening. The day was a great one in every respect, though was interfered with somewhat by threatening weather and rainfall.

Outstanding features of the session were the various study courses offered in B. Y. P. U. and Sunday school work. Large numbers finished the courses in different classes under competent instructors.

Austin Man To Speak In Moody's Behalf

Ed H. Yerser, of Austin, who is touring the state in behalf of Moody's candidacy for governor, will be in Slaton next Thursday, and will address citizens at 8 p. m., according to information coming to The Slatonite office.

Mr. Yerser, who is one of the state's most noted orators, has an interesting and instructive message for voters who are interested in the present gubernatorial race.

Miss Lena Klattenhoff, who has been visiting in Taylor and Austin, returned home Wednesday.

Posey News

Last Saturday night a crowd gathered at the school house. As they went in and throughout the evening they were served punch. The program and entertainment was put on by the Ladies' Club. They are to send a girl to the Short Course at the A. & M. College. The following program was rendered:

Opening address—J. J. Ross.

Reading—Geraldine Wicker.

Reading—Eul Taylor.

"Why attend the A. & M.?"—Marion Benton.

"What is the Short Course?"—Mr.

"Community Work"—Mrs. Irvin.

The last event of the evening was the contest in which the 'Ugliest Man' was to receive a cake. Durward Kelley won the contest from Mr. Eaton by a very narrow margin. Mrs. C. C. Thornton got a cake, also, for having the heaviest hen.

Tommy Johnson and Harold Johnson went to Happy to work in the harvest fields last week.

Benton Patterson and Mrs. Lenus Lukey are still on the sick list. The latter is in a Lubbock hospital.

A number of our people went to Lubbock last Saturday night to hear a political debate.

Mr. Leavelle and family spent Saturday night and Sunday with relatives in Levelland.

O. R. Patterson and Louis Robertson went to Justiceburg Saturday.

Evans Will Install Additional Machinery

In conversation with Carl Evans, proprietor of Evans' Cleaning Plant, he informs a Slatonite representative that he has purchased a water softener, an eight horse power steam engine and a Hoffman Hothead pressing machine, all of which will be installed in his cleaning plant here preparatory for the coming late-summer and fall business.

Evans' Cleaning Plant is, as is well known, one of the most complete cleaning and pressing establishments in this section, but regardless of this fact, Mr. Evans is determined to leave nothing undone in being prepared to serve his customers efficiently, hence he has purchased this new machinery.

The Hoffman Hothead press mentioned, it is explained, is a machine especially designed to press such materials as Palm Beach suits, linens, silks, curtain goods, etc., and will mean much to customers of this institution.

Candidates Present Claims To Voters In Public Speaking Here Saturday

Between two and three hundred people were present at the candidates' public speaking held on the City Hall lawn here last Saturday afternoon at which time speeches were made to the voters by precinct, county and district candidates for public office. The crowd was attentive and good natured throughout the time of about two hours required to allow each candidate present to state his claims to the voters. Attorney D. E. Kemp presided as chairman at the meeting, and introduced each speaker.

With only one or two exceptions, no disparaging statements were made against opponents in any of the races.

Colonel Paul P. Murray opened the round of discussions by speaking in the interest of his candidacy for justice of the peace of Precinct Two. He was followed by his opponent, J. J. Ross.

J. T. Pinkston, candidate for Commissioner of this precinct, spoke next, and was followed by his opponent, B. G. (Bill) Sherrod.

C. W. (Charley) Payne was the only candidate present who is making the race for tax assessor. He spoke in behalf of his race for that office.

Three candidates for sheriff were present to state their claims for asking support of the voters, and they spoke in the following order: T. J.

Those seeking the place of county clerk and who made speeches were: R. H. (Bob) McCauley, Amos H. Howard, and John H. Williams.

Vaughn E. Wilson, M. M. (Max) Coleman, and L. A. Howard presented their respective claims for the office of county attorney.

Though without an opponent in the race, County Judge Charles Nordyke spoke to the voters in behalf of his campaign for re-election to a second term.

W. M. Paychouse was the only candidate present who is making the race for county superintendent, and he made a speech after playing a number on his "fiddle."

Both candidates for district clerk were present, Louie F. Moore and Miss Flora Green. Each of them spoke in behalf of their respective candidacies. Miss Green is the only woman candidate making the race for office in this county this year.

W. C. Witcher, candidate for district attorney, spoke.

J. K. Wester, our present representative in the Texas Legislature and candidate to succeed himself, was the last speaker, and asked that he be retained as the representative of this district in our state law-making body.

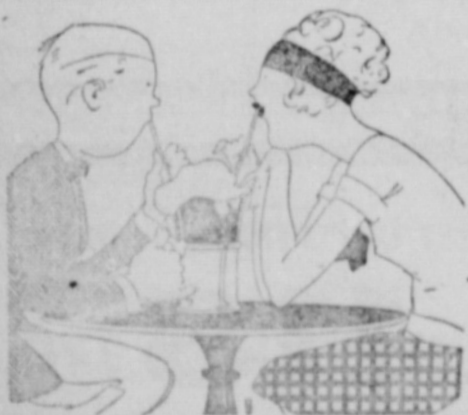

Elder Elmer Carpenter, of Houston, who is conducting a series of meetings at the Church of Christ here. Services are being held twice daily, 10:30 a. m., and 8:30 p. m. Beginning Monday, evening services will be held in open air just west of the church building. Other services conducted in the church. The meeting, which began Wednesday of this week, will continue through two Sundays.

J. J. Garland Improves Following Operation

J. J. Garland, operated upon recently in a Lubbock sanitarium for appendicitis, has returned home and is recovering nicely. He is able to be up, and has been driving to town lately, though he says he has to be very careful not to injure himself.

Mr. Garland is a farmer living a short distance west of Slaton. His many friends are glad to see him getting along so nicely.

Bob McCauley Solicits Support For Co. Clerk

R. H. (Bob) McCauley, of Lubbock, a man of very pleasing personality, is also a man of experience in the work to be done in the county clerk's office, the place to which he aspires as a candidate in the coming primary Saturday, July 24. He served as county clerk in Shelby County for four years, giving the type of service that prompted strong endorsement of clerk.

him as a public servant and as a man of strong character by the people of that county when he opened his campaign here early this year.

A signed statement from his former friends in Shelby County stated the very best things about Mr. McCauley, and the statement appeared in this paper in January this year. It bore strong testimony to his popularity among Shelby County people whom he served so well as county clerk.

Mr. McCauley is making no long string of promises if elected, but states that his candidacy is based on service, qualification, and courtesy—three things absolutely needed in the place he desires to fill. He believes if a public official can live up to that kind of a platform he will make the kind of public servant that the people will be pleased with.

Mr. McCauley has made a thorough study in his own mind, and has met face to face practically all the voters of the county. He wants your support in the primary of July 24 and says if he is elected as Lubbock County's next county clerk he will show his appreciation by giving the type of service the people are entitled to receive and which the office demands if it is to be handled with efficiency.

Foreign Dishes Bring Added Zest to Dinner

By MRS. WM. C. POST

Mrs. Wm. Post.

Height of my culinary ambition always has been to make dinner each day a gastronomic poem, rounded and perfect like a stately rime. A meal that pleases eyes, nose and palate alike! A well-turned dinner is like a pretty woman in that it unlocks men's hearts with a magical key. Exotic dishes give a tang of other lands to the dinner table. Things foreign awaken the romantic sense. Taste of codfish a la Benedictine transports one for the minute to the Montmartre in gay Paris. A dash of Pilsner and we are supping at a quaint cafe on the Nevsky Prospekt in Leningrad, while the crunch of English tea cakes may bring visions of the rolling moors of Sussex.

As an aid to the housewife in carrying out this new and fascinating idea in cooking, the following of my recipes may prove of particular interest:

Italian Polenta.

3 cups hot-cooked 1 1/2 tbs. butter
rice or mush or olive oil
Beat the butter into the mush while hot. Turn onto a hot serving plate and pour over the following cheese sauce:

Cheese Sauce.

1/2 tbs. fat 1/2 cup evaporated
2 tbs. flour milk diluted
1/4 tsp. salt with
Dash pepper 1/4 cup meat stock
1/4 cup grated
cheese

Melt the fat, add the flour, salt and pepper, and stir until the mass is smooth. Add the diluted milk and cook in a double boiler. Stir occasionally to keep smooth. Add grated cheese to the hot sauce and stir until melted or about three minutes.

Butterfren Kuchen.

1 1/2 cups sugar 1/4 cups flour
1/4 cup butter 1 tsp. baking
2 eggs, separated powder
1-3 cup evaporated Grated rind of 1
milk diluted lemon
with Chopped or sliced
2-3 cup water almonds

Cream butter and sugar, add yolks of eggs and the lemon rind, stirring constantly. Mix flour and baking powder, add to the butter mixture, alternately with the milk and lastly stir in the stiffly beaten whites of eggs. Place in well-greased shallow coffee cake tins, sprinkle with granulated sugar, cinnamon and a few almonds, sliced fine or chopped. Bake in a moderate oven.

Know Your Cook Book, Girls, Advice of Diva

Margery Maxwell, prima donna with the Chicago Civic and Ravinia opera companies, and who enjoys the distinction of being among the first American girls to be recognized in grand opera circles, takes particular pride in her culinary skill. Cooking, in her estimation, is a fine art which is rapidly being lost.

Margery Maxwell.

"Doubtless one of the big reasons for this condition is that modern young men don't expect the girls they marry to know much about cooking," said Miss Maxwell.

"In the future, before man pops the question, he's going to find out whether the girl knows what calories are and whether she's wise to the elements of a balanced diet.

"A few questions before the minister asks, 'Do you take this woman?' would save a thousand recriminations later."

There are certain dishes to which Miss Maxwell is partial. As she explains them, they are readily prepared. Miss Maxwell uses for Maryland Chicken.

Two 3 1/2 lb. chickens (broilers)
Salt
Pepper
1 cup evaporated milk diluted with

Dress, clean and cut up chickens. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, dip in crumbs, egg, and crumbs. Place in a well-oiled dripping pan, and bake twenty minutes in a 450-degree F. oven, then reduce the temperature to 350 degrees F. and cook until tender, about twenty minutes longer. Baste every ten minutes during cooking with 1/2 cup melted butter. Remove to platter and pour around a cream sauce made of fat in dripping pan, the flour, diluted milk, salt and pepper.

Asparagus en Fri.

1 bunch fresh asparagus 1/2 cup water
4 rounds toast 2 tbs. butter
4 poached eggs 2 tbs. flour
1/4 cup evaporated 1 tsp. salt
milk diluted Pepper
with 1/4 cup grated
cheese

Prepare a white sauce of the butter, flour, salt, pepper and diluted milk. Cook the asparagus in boiling salted water. Drain and add to white sauce. Place a poached egg in center of toast. Pour asparagus around the egg and sprinkle grated cheese over top of all. Serve at once. Serves six.

Thinks Faithful Work Merits Re-Election

For five and one-half years Louie F. Moore has served the people of Lubbock County as their district clerk, and relying upon the record he established during that time and to which he is constantly adding with his faithful service to the people of the county he is making the race for re-election.

"When I was first elected to fill the district clerk's office, I had just completed serving four and a half years as deputy district clerk, and under the able direction of Sam T. Davis and was thereby enabled to take charge of the office after my election. I believe the manner in which I have handled the work reflects the experience I had gained as deputy and if there is an office anywhere that requires experience I believe it is in that office in which all records of the district court are handled," Mr. Moore said.

The district clerk's office is growing along with the other institutions of the Plains—development is being made from day to day, with more work piled up in that office as the dockets of the court become heavier from term to term and requires all of Mr. Moore's time and that of a deputy working under his constant directions.

Judge W. R. Spencer, now deceased, who was appointed judge of the 72nd Judicial District following the creation of this district by the legislature, and served as District Judge here for 11 years, was largely responsible for Mr. Moore consenting to make the race to fill the clerkship when the Federal census of 1920 automatically established the district clerk's office in this county.

Judge Spencer told members of the Lubbock Bar that "an experienced clerk is the greatest need of the new office," and it was because of his experience as deputy county and district clerk that Mr. Moore was solicited to make the race for that office, being first elected in November, 1920.

He was unopposed in the campaign, the lack of interest of anyone else in that office at that time perhaps being accounted for in the small compensation it offered.

The first two months of his term in that office following election the fees netted Mr. Moore a dollar for each day's work, while the balance of the first year was more profitable and he received eighty-one dollars per month as an average for the entire year. The second year netted him ninety dollars per month for his services, while during the third and fourth years he received $110 per month, and last year received an average of $140 for his services, which, according to a report of receipts at the office during the first four months of this year, was about what will be received each month this year.

"I am ambitious to continue serving the people of Lubbock county as district clerk." The office is one in which I have more than usual interest. It has permitted me to come in contact with the people of the county in a manner that no other relationship could afford, and it is their interests I want to serve and it is them I want to be pleased by the returns of the election count July 24th," District Clerk Moore explained as he expressed an all consuming desire to be retained in the office he now holds.

Burns Desires Return As Co. Tax Assessor

R. C. (Rollie) Burns, the present tax assessor of Lubbock County, is making the race for re-election, and asks Lubbock County voters to think well before they cast their votes. He believes his record of service to the people has been such as to merit his re-election.

Mr. Burns is one of the old timers of his section of the state, having come to the Plains country back in 1881. Since that time he has constantly been identified with the work of developing this country and helping make it the veritable garden of Eden which Plains people believe this section to be today.

Being a pioneer, Mr. Burns is well known by all the people who have been here for very many years, and his public life in recent years has kept him in close touch with the new residents of the county so that he has, perhaps, as wide an acquaintance as most any citizen in the county. His courteous dealing with the people and his efficient work as tax assessor have served to make a large circle of friends for him everywhere in the county's bounds.

Mr. Burns earnestly solicits your vote on July 24 and will appreciate your assistance with your friends in his behalf.

Bilge the burglar says, "If I don't get it the garage man will—them birds are my worst rivals."

Lives lost by fire in Texas during 1925 totalled 284.

Sheriff's Place Desired By Slaton Man

T. J. (Tom) Abel, candidate for Sheriff of Lubbock County, requests us to explain to our readers that his half page ad appearing in this issue of The Slatonite was brought to us for publication last week, but reached us too late to be used in that issue, hence it appears this week.

Mr. Abel is making a very intensive campaign for the place of sheriff in this county, and will likely be popular with the voters when the primary is held Saturday, July 24. He is well known to the people of Slaton, especially, where he has served as chief of police and as deputy sheriff, in both positions making enviable records as a peace officer. Mr. Abel believes in enforcing the laws, and says if elected sheriff he will do his best to enforce all the laws to the best of his ability, without showing favor to any individual or class of individuals.

The recommendation circulated by a few of Mr. Abel's friends and signed by large numbers of citizens and business institutions in Slaton is a strong testimony in his favor locally, and Mr. Abel, naturally, hopes he will also have the support of voters in all the other parts of the county to the extent that he will be Lubbock County's next sheriff.

A vote for Mr. Abel will be appreciated by him on election day.

Texas Towns Making Sanitary Improvements

That much work is being done in the state along the lines of sanitary improvements is evidenced by reports received by the state board of health. Towns that have recently voted bonds for sewer systems or improvements are:

Childress, Dublin, Galveston, Haskell, Panhandle, Wichita Falls, state hospital, Amarillo, Fort Worth. New sewer systems are also under construction at Richardson and Wylie.

Towns that are making plans for the installation of new sewer systems are: Cross Plains, Olmito, Fort Arthur, drainage system; Waco, improvements to filter plants are also contemplated at Mercedes and McAllen, and surveys for extensions to sewer systems are under way at Bonham and Temple.

Chevrolet June Record Shatters Previous Ones

The gigantic manufacturing organization of the Chevrolet Motor Company rose to new production heights during June when it built 77,241 passenger cars and trucks, a greater number of units than the company ever had produced in a single month.

No other manufacturer of modern three-speed transmission automobiles has approached this production which culminates a series of monthly production records established by Chevrolet.

The months of April and May of this year saw Chevrolet reach successive record production totals of 71,157 and 74,617, respectively. The new record established in June exceeds the May total by 2,624 units and dwarfs the production during June of 1925 by a margin of 22,295 units.

The aggregate production for the first half of 1926 was 384,573 cars and trucks. During the first half of 1925, Chevrolet's greatest year, the company produced 249,854 units, a total which was passed early in May of this year, which is 134,759 units less than the first six months of 1926 production.

The surprising growth of the Chevrolet Motor Company is indicated by the fact that the production during the first half of 1926 equals the entire production during the first seven and one-half years in the company's history.

Details of the company's recently announced $10,000,000 expansion program are going forward and completion of this project will give the company a production capacity during 1927 of one million Chevrolets.

NOTICE TO Lubbock County VOTERS

It has been impossible for me to see each of the voters of the county as I have had so much work that needed attention at my office that I could not make an extensive campaign.

However, I am anxious to assure you that your vote and influence will be appreciated and that, if elected, you will have an assessor in the future at your city as you have had in the past.

The loyalty of my friends has been one of the most pleasing memories of my life and it will continue to be my purpose to prove my appreciation if you see fit to again favor me with the office.

Respectfully,

R. C. (ROLLIE) BURNS
TAX ASSESSOR
LUBBOCK COUNTY

VOTE FOR AMOS H. HOWARD

FOR COUNTY CLERK, LUBBOCK COUNTY

I am respectfully soliciting your vote and influence in my candidacy for county clerk.

I moved to this county 18 years ago from Knox county and lived on the line of Lubbock and Crosby counties, the past 8 years of which I have lived in Lubbock.

As to my experience, I was deputy clerk under Sam T. Davis until he resigned from this office, and have been with the Guarantee Abstract & Title Co., the balance of the time I have been in Lubbock, of which C. L. Adams is manager. I was also with Pink L. Parrish in his abstract plant at Crosbyton before I came to Lubbock.

With the eight years of experience I feel thoroughly qualified to fill this important office to the expectations of all of you.

As to my ability and qualifications I refer you not only to the above three mentioned men whom I have served, but to the citizenship of Lubbock county.

I made the race for this office 2 years ago and lost by eight votes.

If elected I will give you efficient, prompt and courteous service. I am yours,

AMOS H. HOWARD.

The Wool Industry in South Africa

(Letter from E. S. Bartlett, Bloemfontein, O. F. S., Africa)

© Underwood & Underwood
Shearing wool with primitive loom in Africa.
Note the Overseers.

The Union of South Africa is rightly classed among the great wool producing countries of the world. Climatic conditions there are admirably adapted to the breeding and raising of the Merino type of sheep with a strong, staple wool.

A large part of this country is suitable only for the raising of sheep, and the government is making progressive and intelligent efforts to improve both the sheep and the manner of preparing the wool for market.

Jackals being a strong menace in South Africa, long-time government loans are extended to sheep owners for the erection of jackal-proof fencing. Government sheep experts are maintained permanently in allotted districts so that their services and advice may be secured at a nominal fee.

The mutton sheep of South Africa is the fat-tailed, black-headed Cape—a non-wooled sheep. As no cross-breeding for mutton lambs is done, the wools are purely Merino in character.

Progress in this South African industry is particularly noticeable in the harvesting. Despite the fact that Kaffir labor can be secured at the equivalent of $2.50 American, per month, there is a trend towards the modern shearing machine as against the age-old hand blades, which, even in America, have not been discarded by many otherwise entirely progressive wool raisers.

A study of this fact, however, readily reveals the reason for it. While there is a first cost for the machine, the unskilled black adapts himself to its use much more readily than to the hand blades, and soon does a remarkably smooth job of shearing with the machine.

Once adapted to the use of the machine, its economic value is demonstrated in the materially greater number of sheep shorn daily, the better market value of the wool, the fewer injured sheep, and not least important, the additional 6% to 12% over and above the amount of wool secured with the hand blades. As a consequence, the machine resolves itself into a small investment with certain and big returns.

Steadily, the science of wool-marketing in South Africa is fast approaching the scientific efficiency of the Australian marketing plan, which is, without doubt, the most practical and efficient in existence today.

Considering that the four provinces, Natal, Transvaal, Orange Free State, and Cape Province, which comprise the Union of South Africa, have 20,000 square miles less of territory than Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana and Wyoming combined, it is surprising to note that they contain two and one half times as many sheep as our five states named.

This alone, makes that country a strong contender for future leadership in the wool industry. It is interesting to note however, that the great bulk of foreign progressiveness is due to American initiative, American implements, and machinery and American ingenuity. The South African wool industry holds true to this in that American methods and American machinery are destined to take a large and important place in the economic progress of the far distant Union of South Africa.

Lubbock—Lubbock will be host to the Texas Commercial Executives Association July 22-23-24 when more than one hundred commercial executives from all over Texas will hold here their three day convention and school.

Artesia, N. M.—The eastern New Mexico district of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will hold their annual meeting here August 16. Artesia is planning a big event and heavy attendance is anticipated.

Lamesa—William A. Wilson, former secretary of the Murrday Chamber of Commerce, has assumed his duties as secretary of the Lamesa Chamber to succeed C. T. Watson resigned.

San Antonio—Porter A. Whaley, former manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, has arrived in San Antonio to assume his duties as secretary of the local organization.

Amarillo—The greatest wheat crop in years is now being threshed on the Plains. The Santa Fe Railway reports that there is a great scarcity of cars to handle the crop despite the fact that they had concentrated eight thousand cars in anticipation of the needs. Increasing use of combine harvesters and threshers has sped up the movement of grain and swamped the railway service.

Plainview—Work is progressing rapidly on the new elevators of the Harvest Queen Mill here. When completed this mill will have storage capacity ranking with the largest in the entire country.

Alpine—A determined effort to exterminate wolves in this section of the state is bearing fruit. A comprehensive system of poisoning is under way with 11 stockmen co-operating. Literally hundreds of coyotes and a number of lobo wolves have been killed.

T.J. "Tom" ABEL

CANDIDATE FOR

Sheriff of Lubbock County

WHY DO WE HOLD ELECTIONS?

It is for the purpose of selecting the best man to serve all the people. There are four men asking for the office of Sheriff, and you must choose one out of the four.

In announcing my candidacy for Sheriff of Lubbock County, it is for the purpose of rendering the people the best service that it is possible to give them, with a square deal to everyone. I propose, if elected your sheriff, to enforce the laws fearlessly, and to hold the balances of justice as equal between men. The rich will receive the same treatment as the poor.

I have lived in Lubbock County upwards of twelve years. Served as Chief of Police of Slaton, and Deputy Sheriff, and my record as an officer and citizen is open for investigation.

After looking into the matter of my qualifications and general fitness for office, and if you think I am the best man for the place, I certainly will appreciate your vote on July 24th.

We, the undersigned citizens of the town of Slaton, recommend to the voters of Lubbock County, Mr. Tom Abel for the office of Sheriff; He has served Slaton as City Marshal and Deputy Sheriff in a very satisfactory and agreeable manner. We can vouch for him as a man of his word, and a desirable citizen. He is a square shooter, and believes in giving every man a square deal with special favors to none.

WHAT'S DOING IN WEST TEXAS

Littlefield—Captain Arthur P. Duggan, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will make his first tour of West Texas territory during the month of August. As planned at present he will open his tour at Big Spring August 9, and will visit the recreational sections of West Texas and eastern New Mexico. He will visit the Davis mountain section and attend the district convention in Marfa August 12, then will swing west to El Paso and go into eastern New Mexico to attend the district convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in that district August 16. It is expected that he will open his campaign for equalization of taxes on this tour. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Duggan, also Manager and Mrs. Wade.

Washington, D. C.—The West Texas Chamber of Commerce intervened in the recent hearing of the Department of Agriculture relative to the control of the Thurberia weevil which is ravaging the cotton fields of Arizona. The West Texas organization strongly urged regulatory measures to prevent spread of the pest to West Texas and was instrumental in getting measures passed which it is believed will control the weevil.

Colorado—Work has started on a new five story hotel for Colorado.

Marfa—The Davis Mountain-Big Bend district convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will be held here August 11. Arrangements have been made to care for a large attendance. High officials of the West Texas chamber including President Duggan will attend.

Pecos—The Pecos Valley will celebrate here July 20 with a big all day jollification. The celebration is in honor of the successful fight for the appropriation for Red Bluff Dam on the Pecos River. Congress recently appropriated two million dollars for the project and President Coolidge has signed the bill. This project will reclaim half a million acres of land and is expected to bring a big period of development to the Trans-Pecos country. A barbecue will be prepared for twenty thousand persons and it is expected that many will be here on July 20. Pecos invites West Texas to join in the celebration.

What is a poor voter to do when there are a number of men running for an office and he, the said voter, knows many, many reasons why none them should be elected? That is a good valid reason why any one of them should be elected? That is a condition that prevails every two years in Texas, and obtains right now in places not ten thousand miles from Slaton.

A certain town in Texas advertises that it is 35 years old and has never had a killing. This strongly raises the suspicion that the town is already dead and that there is nothing there to kill.

TOWN BOOSTING

Boosting a town does not mean going beyond the realm of fact merely to impress the reader or the hearer—not necessarily. Boosting your home town means just the opposite of sitting quietly by and saying nothing FOR your town to the world about you. In other words, it means telling the world about the advantages your town has, the progressiveness of her citizens, the desirability of living in your town, in short, broadcasting all the good qualities your town possesses.

The Slatonite has been boosting Slaton since 1911 when the paper came into existence. Regularly, consistently, persistently, truthfully, enthusiastically has The Slatonite told of Slaton's marks of supremacy over other towns in this section. We are not boasting about our boosting, but we mention the facts because they are facts. Never have we slept on the job of saying good things for our town. Never have we left the impression that Slaton was in the rear of the procession. In fact, this paper has been the leader in pulling and pushing for Slaton's growth and development through all these years. We do not deserve a lot of credit for it, for it was our plain duty to do so, and every man, as well as every institution, should do his duty.

The Slatonite is proud to have had the opportunity to have filled a place of service in helping Slaton come into her own. We are glad we still have the privilege of boosting for our own home town. In all modesty, we do not hesitate to say that this paper still takes the lead in boosting for the town's best interests, and we appreciate the many expressions from our citizens voicing their approval of this recognized policy of ours.

The Slatonite is a believer in Slaton, and Slaton believes in The Slatonite. Thanks, friends, we are glad.

LET US FOLLOW LUBBOCK'S EXAMPLE

Every town and city has its beauty spots and its ugly spots, its park places, its beautiful home sections and its dirty, unkempt industrial sections. Many towns also have their Mexican and African sections.

Every town has spots which, when seen by the traveling public, advertise the town and place it before the world to the best advantage. The result is of benefit to every property owner and business man in the town.

The best advertising a town gets is that which comes from people who live outside the town, but who travel to and through the town—transients. The transients travel mainly by automobile and follow the established highways.

It follows, therefore, that these highways should be so located as they lead into and out of a town that they will carry the tourists and the traveling public through that section or those sections of the town where they will gain and carry with them the best possible impressions.

Lubbock, our prosperous neighbor, understands this.

The contract will soon be let to hard surface the road from Lubbock to Slaton. The old road as it now runs, carries the traveller into and through the most unsightly sections of both Lubbock and Slaton. In Lubbock the present route goes right through "nigger town," and through the least developed and poorest kept section of the city. When that same highway enters Slaton it enters the town at the railroad, in the industrial section, and passes a number of negro shacks, and also passes by a large unsightly lake.

Lubbock has wisely determined to get away from this damaging situation and the route of the present highway will be changed so that it will miss her "nigger town" and the unsightly section. The route leaving Lubbock will be cut Avenue H, south from the courthouse for a distance of two miles, and it will turn back to the east and hit the present highway some distance this side of Lubbock.

Slaton should imitate this prudence and wisdom and foresight, and while a permanent highway is being constructed it should first be determined what shall be its permanent location. That location should by all means be one that will benefit Slaton the most.

When the highway reaches a point near the Santa Fe wells it should then turn south along the highway leading toward the Catholic church, and come into Slaton by way of the beautiful Santa Fe Park, which is through Slaton's restricted residential section, through the most beautiful and best kept section, as well as through the most popular section.

The only question involved is one of wise city building—a proper foresight into and provisions for the future of Slaton.

The Slatonite is a believer in Slaton, and Slaton believes in The Slatonite.

Exchange Shots

DAN'S MAIN ISSUE

Dan Moody's main issue is Fergusonism. And Dan is right when he declares that it ought to be put down forever. Davidson's main issue appears to be a fight against certain trusts. The Times-Signal agrees with Mr. Davidson that some trusts are mighty bad—for instance the lumber trust—of which Mr. Davidson seems to be a considerable part—and we agree with him that certain trusts ought to be ousted clear out of the state.—Scurry County Times.

Mr. Davidson and his friends are clamoring for a business man for governor, but the fact is noticeable that they especially desire that Mr. Davidson shall be that business man. Jim Ferguson is clamoring for his wife's election so he may continue his raids upon the public treasury without being held responsible to the people for his acts. Dan Moody tells the people he wants to see public office-holding restored to the plane upon which it may be considered a public trust, and he is getting the people's attention. Mr. Davidson, in spite of his strenuous efforts, is not able to stir up much of a dust. Practically all the newspapers of the state, both the dailies and the weekly papers, are strong for Dan Moody. So are the quietest thinking people. And they are going to vote for Moody in such large numbers on the 24th that Davidson and Ferguson will wonder if they "also ran." A Dan Moody landslide is almost ready to break loose—only a few days until it will occur.

SLOGANS

A California church has adopted the slogan, "Why not come to Church before they bring you in a hearse." Somebody ordinarily make a speech over our dead bodies, and tells the people how good we were. There is a strong appeal in the slogan and it will undoubtedly set many to thinking. A good slogan is good business for any organization, business or even in a political race.—Plainview News.

If the slogan used by the California church does not put some fellows to thinking, we wonder what would

Churches should do more of this kind of appealing to people to give proper thought to their religious lives. Churches should advertise just as any business institution needs to advertise. Slogans are helpful, true enough. For instance, "The Slatonite, your favorite newspaper since 1911."

WHEAT CROP

It is reported that the Panhandle and South Plains has the greatest wheat crop in its history.—Lubbock Morning Avalanche.

Another evidence of the superiority of this part of Texas over the rest of the state. The wheat crop this year on the Plains and in the Panhandle is bringing in thousands upon thousands of dollars that will be turned loose in the channels of trade and benefit every class of business we have. While in this immediate section there is never a very large acreage of wheat, yet we feel the effects from the wheat just the same.

ANOTHER VIEWPOINT

Last week The Hesperian talked in rather pessimistic tones of the possibility that cotton will sell low this fall, taking the 15,000,000-and-more bale prophecy of private concerns as a basis.

Another viewpoint was expressed by a visiting gunner this week who called attention to the fact that last year's heavy production of cotton was largely in the grades below middling. This man's theory is that we are to see more cotton picked this fall and less pulled, because the difference between picked and snapped cotton is going to be so marked as to make snapping unprofitable. Eastern buyers are going to be anxious to get high grade cotton, he thinks, and good grades are going to bring good prices—20 cents probably.

Low grades, a tremendous production of which are still unsold from last year, will find a sluggish market.

If the viewpoint is well taken, the gunner's prediction that we'll see more picking and less snapping in an effort to raise the grade, will come true doubtless.—Floyd County Hesperian.

Furthermore, according to present indications, cotton fleas, weevils and other pests will materially shorten the crop in many sections of the South including large areas in Texas. While it is indeed unfortunate for the farmers of the infested sections that this looks likely, still for those in the sections unmolested the result will be better prices because of decreased production. It is to be hoped, however, that some means can be found to control these pests and let the general yield remain fore nearly normal even if the price is lower thereby more evenly distributing the income from the cotton crop among southern farmers. State and district meetings are being held now with a view to using control measures against fleas, etc., and plans formulated in these meetings are already being carried out in many sections where the cotton is being sprayed with sulphur to destroy the insects.

What You May Know the Importance of The County Attorney's Office

Prior to the year 1923 it did not make any particular difference as to who the people elected to the office of County Attorney due to the fact that the duties of the county attorney were very light and consisted principally of accepting pleas of guilty and misdemeanor cases. As a consequence of the light duties of the office, the people looked upon the office with disfavor and invariably used it for a training school for young, inexperienced lawyers which, prior to 1923, was all right and served a good deed as then used.

However, in 1923 the Legislature enlarged the duties of the office of county attorney raised its dignity, and today it is the most important office in the County, and should be filled with the very best legal talent that can be had.

That the Average Voter May Realize the present importance of the office, the following facts are given:

Today your County Attorney is the legal adviser of every official in your County, including the District Judge, District Attorney, Commissioners' Court, Sheriff's department, as well as other officers, he is assistant district attorney should take part in the prosecution of all felony cases tried in the District Court, has complete charge of all misdemeanor cases, of all juvenile cases, passes on all road contracts, elections, all bond issues, land titles, represents the county in all litigation of every character. In fact, he is your lawyer, every legal point raised by any officer is passed upon by him. He is the pivot on which the whole machinery of your county is hung and around which it revolves. Your grand jury cannot do its full duty without the assistance of a capable County Attorney.

If your County Attorney is not a lawyer of experience and ability and of real character and does not have a reputation as such, he will cost you, as tax payers, untold thousands of dollars by poor or bad advice. Your court machinery will be blocked and clogged. A young lawyer just out of law school, without practical legal experience and without practice, cannot fill the job now.

The County Attorney's office pays a greater salary than the office of Governor, Attorney General, Supreme Court Judges, District Judge or District Attorney. Why not, then, elect a capable lawyer to this important position, one who has proven his worth both in and out of the court house?

L. A. HOWARD, of Lubbock, is a lawyer of note, is considered by both the bar and the bench as being highly efficient, capable and a successful lawyer, who has had six years of heavy practice in both State and Federal Courts. Twelve years a resident of Lubbock County, has never asked for an office before. He is not in any sense of the word a professional politician. He has always stood for the highest class of citizenship and for the strict enforcement of the law. He is fair, conscientious, capable and efficient, and is well qualified in every sense to fill this important office with credit to the office and with honor to himself.

Investigate his record as a citizen and as a lawyer. He will make you a competent and efficient officer.

Vote For Him!

Primary, July 24th.

Your vote and influence will be appreciated.

Murray Refutes Rumor Of Quitting J. P. Race

For the past few days rumors have been circulated, from what source originating no one seems to be able to learn, to the effect that Col. Paul P. Murray, candidate for the office of Justice of the Peace of Precinct No. 2, the Slaton precinct, had withdrawn from the race in favor of his opponent.

Col. Murray, when seen Wednesday by a representative of The Slatonite, stoutly denied the truthfulness of the rumor.

"You can say for me," said Col. Murray, "that I am in this race to win, and I am going to win by an overwhelming majority according to present indications. Just who started these rumors that I was withdrawing from the race, I cannot say, although I have a pretty good idea. The rumor is false. I have reason to believe that a big majority of the best people in this town want me for Justice of the Peace; they have told me so, and I propose to stay with them until the votes are counted."

Judge Murray held the office of Justice of the Peace in Slaton for several years, giving it up for a time because of press of his personal business, rendering it impossible for him to give as much attention to the office as it demanded. He says that now, however, he is free to attend to the duties of the office and that he is running because so many people have asked him to accept the office again.

Judge Murray, while holding this office, came as near giving universal satisfaction as it would be possible for any citizen to give. In fact, he seemed to satisfy everybody except the crooks and law violators, who did not always relish the judgment Judge Murray rendered against, and it is also a matter of common knowledge that Judge Murray was never known to court favor with that class, or to seek their support and influence.

Fearlessness, fairness and impartiality characterize Col. Murray as a judge on the bench.

C. of C. Protests To Telephone Co.

It was learned from the Lubbock office that it was the intention of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company to publish the Slaton directory without placing the address beside each subscriber's name. Since all of our houses are numbered, since the street markers have been ordered and will be placed within the near future, and since the Lubbock office had all of these facts in hand and knew that the address of each telephone user was available from the city secretary's office, the Slaton Chamber of Commerce has issued a formal protest by wire to the Dallas office of the Company, against the printing of these directories without including the addresses of subscribers.

At the time The Slatonite went to press, no reply had been received.

L. A. Howard Making 1st Political Campaign

L. A. Howard candidate for County Attorney of Lubbock County, has been a resident of Lubbock County during the past twelve years, six years of which time he has been active in the practice of law. He was connected with the A. B. Conley, Jr., Store at Lubbock, for a period of five years as a member of the sales staff.

During a period of eighteen months Mr. Howard, while legal representative of the Panhandle Wheat Growers' Association, maintained his office at Amarillo, and after returning to Lubbock formed partnership with Roy Starnes in the law firm of Starnes & Howard, this firm being dissolved two years ago since which time Mr. Howard has been alone in his practice.

Mr. Howard is married and lives in his home at 2214 Main St., Lubbock. He was admitted to the bar at Nashville, Tennessee, in 1913, and in Texas in 1920, being a graduate of the University of North Carolina and Cumberland University, holding A. B., B. O. and LL. B. degrees.

His large and well provided library will be of inestimable value to him in meeting the demands of the office if elected. Since entering into the practice of law in Lubbock, Mr. Howard has been involved as counsel on one side or the other of many of the large civil and criminal cases tried in this district. His civil and criminal business in both the district and federal courts has long been especially heavy.

Rotarians Hear Talks On Child Welfare

The program period of the Slaton Rotary club at its regular weekly luncheon last Friday noon was given over to a discussion of the question of Child Welfare, with Rev. A. B. Davidson in charge of the program.

The club had as its guests Hon. R. J. Murray, of the Lubbock Rotary club, Rev. J. F. Michael, evangelist who is now conducting a series of meetings in Slaton, and Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Bonney, singing evangelists who are assisting in the meeting, and Rev. Dunn, pastor of the Wilson Methodist church.

Mr. and Mrs. Bonney delighted the members with two negro spiritual songs, after which Rev. Michael was called on and spoke on the subject of Child Welfare, emphasizing the three sides of the child life, the physical, the intellectual and the religious, all of which he declared are important and should receive its due share of attention.

Abe Kessel was admitted as a member of the Slaton Rotary Club and made his formal debut as a member at the Friday luncheon. The program tomorrow will be in charge of Sam Staggs, on the subject, "Why a Classification?"

C. G. Roper left Wednesday morning for a business trip to Mineral Wells and Fort Worth.

SLATON COMMUNITY FAIR SIGNS CONTRACT FOR SHOW

The Slaton Community Fair has closed a deal with H. G. Buchanan, representing the Tidwell Show people. Slaton is getting to be quite a recognized fair center, since we are able to interest one of the largest and best shows of the State, who sent their representative from Kansas to close the deal for the coming fair.

Everyone may feel assured that nothing but the very best in every line and class will be presented by the Tidwell Shows. All concessions went with the show contract, the fair association retaining no interest in any of the concession lines.

County Commissioner Precinct Two

In making this race for County Commissioner, I am doing so strictly on my own merits and the record I have made as a private citizen of this community the past eleven years. I am not making a long list of promises of what I will do or will not do, but if you see fit to honor me with this office I will do my very best to render honest, efficient and impartial service to each and every one alike.

I have been an honest-to-goodness dirt farmer in this precinct for the past nine years and believe I am in position to appreciate and know their needs in the way of roads. I have also had considerable business experience, which exceptionally fits me for the office of commissioner.

I greatly appreciate the fine recommendations that some of my friends who have known me longest have been giving me to your friends who live in other parts of the precinct, and I assure you your confidence has not been misplaced.

Modern Home Aided Byrd Pole Dash; Sugar Cane Fought Cold of North

A MODERN home built in the Arctic defied the death-dealing cold of the Polar Regions and proved an invaluable aid to Lieutenant Commander Richard E. Byrd in his successful flight to the North Pole, which he circled three times in a record breaking flight of 1,500 miles in 15 hours and 30 minutes at an average speed of 98.75 miles an hour.

It was at the Spitzbergen base, King's Bay, where this first modern house was constructed amid the snow and ice of the Arctic immediately upon the arrival of Lieutenant Byrd and his companions, as a permanent home and observation station for the explorers. The house, which rose up on the horizon of the frigid north in marked contrast to the igloo of the eskimo, was equipped with a complete radio outfit that those who remained at the base while Lieutenant Byrd made his thrilling dash to the Pole in his speeding Fokker might keep in touch with their chief and the outside world, which they kept informed as to the progress and success of the flight.

It was to this same home that he returned after his hazardous trip and from which some of the first messages were sent to the waiting public, telling them through the lanes of the air that Byrd had circled the pole three times and had returned to his Spitzbergen home in safety, adding one of the most memorable pages to the history of Arctic exploration.

Sugar Cane Fights Polar North.

When Lieutenant Byrd left the Brooklyn Navy Yard on the ship Chantier he declared he had the best and most scientifically equipped expedition that ever had started for the North Pole. Special plans were made for the erection of his Arctic home. Boards of celotex insulating lumber made from bagasse (sugar cane fiber after all sugar juices have been extracted) were carried along with the latest inventions to aid in polar exploration. This building material is very light and is filled with millions of air cells, which give it great insulation value and resistance to change in temperature, especially the severe cold. One odd circumstance in connection with the use of this material is that the sugar cane of the south was utilized to fight the cold of the north.

Celotex was selected instead of lumber because tests made by the United States Bureau of Standards and its universal use in building construction all over the world, had demonstrated that this insulating lumber would keep the quarters of the explorers warmer and protect their living conditions more securely than ordinary building material.

It was only after careful investigation by the scientific men in the expedition that celotex was selected. These authorities pointed out that the protection afforded by its insulation efficiency was three times as great as ordinary lumber and nearly twelve times as great as that of brick and other masonry material. The ship Chantier also was lined with celotex as an added precaution to keep the ship warm while the explorers used it in the preliminary stages of the expedition.

In practically every other way this expedition was more scientifically prepared than any of its predecessors. These included inventions of Commander Byrd himself. A simple sun compass conceived by Byrd and developed by Mr. Dumatez of the National Geographic Society, superseded the complicated German device, developed three years ago for Amundsen. The drift indicator also was Byrd's invention. The bubble sextant by which the navigator obtains his bearings while in flight was another one of his inventions. Still another scientific development was a quick method of telling when one is at the North Pole. This has been worked out by G. W. Littlehales, the navy's hydrographic engineer.

Device Locates the Pole.

Byrd and others contributed to a chart of the magnetic lines flowing toward the magnetic North Pole, which is in both the Land, 1,200 miles south of the Pole. Between both the Land and the Pole the compass points south instead of north and over much of the Arctic it is badly disturbed by the discrepancy of position between the geographical North Pole and the magnetic North Pole.

This chart of the magnetic lines, flowing to the magnetic North Pole, although it was far from complete, was such as to enable the navigator to tell in what direction the compass should point from any spot in the Arctic. With this knowledge, the erratic behavior of the compass becomes orderly and it is once again a useful instrument.

A third type of compass used was a device of infinite sensitiveness—a revolving electrical coil, which is adjusted to a given relation with the magnetism of the earth. This, the sun compass, and the magnetic compass were each used to correct the other.

Lieutenant Byrd in his flight used a quick method of telling when he was actually at the Pole. This was the invention worked out by Mr. Littlehales, the U. S. Navy hydrographic engineer. It shows the sun's position from the North Pole at every hour of the day and every day of the year. When the flyer is near the Pole he can, by ascertaining the exact position of the sun, prove that he is near the Pole.

Flies 3,000 Miles Over Arctic.

The expedition, backed by such men as John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., had three main objects.

- 1—To prove that air navigation in the Arctic is feasible and that freight and messenger travel over the top of the world is certain to come.
- 2—To hunt for new land in the unexplored areas of the Arctic.
- 3—To conquer the North Pole from the air as a sporting adventure and as a demonstration of what a plane can do—not a geographical study, as the Pole was bagged for all time by Admiral Peary.

Probably no one knows more about Arctic flying than Commander Byrd. From the Greenland base of the MacMillan expedition at Etah last year he flew 3,000 miles over the Arctic, studying the behavior of oil, motors, compasses, and other navigation instruments at great altitudes over the Polar sea.

With him this time Commander Byrd took a noted fuel expert, who is Flying Commander G. O. Noble, as it requires great skill and pains to prevent the freezing of lubricating oil and stiffened action of the motors, if forced to work on the plane in the open at great altitudes with the thermometer at 90 to 70 below zero. The points which favored the month of May were that the Arctic fog had not begun to rise and heavy snows still covered the land and afforded many good landing places.

A factor of safety pointed out by Commander Byrd in connection with the use of the Fokker machine is that it carries a reserve engine. It has three engines. With a light load one is expected to be sufficient to maintain the plane in flight. With a normal load, two engines will do the work. If two engines break down at one time, when the plane is not too heavily loaded, it may fly with the use of one engine. The Fokker machine has a wing-spread of slightly more than 64 feet. It is said to be a marvel of airship construction.

The other airplane—the Curtiss Oriole—was to have been used chiefly in finding landing fields so that if the fliers found their main landing place covered with a fog they might go elsewhere.

The Chantier was equipped with a powerful radio transmitter to send back the news of the expedition. The Fokker also is equipped with a receiving and transmitting set. Commander Byrd not only kept the world informed of the progress of the expedition, but received through the Chantier weather warnings to guide him in his flight.

How Expedition Was Equipped.

Forty-five hundred pounds of whole beef were included in the rations of the Byrd crew of forty-seven fliers, seamen and technicians. Also four hundred pounds of pemmican (meat fats and raisins), huge quantities of bacon, dried milk, erswurst (pea soup) and other supplies in proportion were carried along. Cod liver oil was included for its healthful properties. Herbert Griggs, who had charge of provisioning Peary's expedition in his famous dash to the Pole, worked out the rations for the Byrd explorers. Two pounds per man per day was the allowance to take care of all emergencies.

No amount of clothing is really sufficient when flying 1,000 or more feet in the air in the Polar regions, but every possible precaution was taken by Commander Byrd against exposure. The men were equipped with the warmest and lightest of reindeer suits and with fur parkas, a garment that reaches to the knees and has a hood covering the head. Plenty of goggles were found to be an absolute necessity to protect them against the glare of the snow.

In spite of all the precautions the undertaking was full of unseen danger. None of this equipment would be of the slightest avail against some unexpected and unprecedented situation which might arise. There is always the danger of snowblindness, exhaustion, freezing, some mishap to the engine. Lieutenant Byrd and his companions, however, were particularly fortunate in escaping with practically no ill effects except the exhaustion due to such a perilous trip.

Pick Up Ice Pilot.

The ship Chantier's first stop was at Tromsø, Norway, where an ice skipper was taken on to pilot the Chantier and its crew through the ice-filled waters around Spitzbergen to King's Bay, where preparations for the first flight to the Pole were made. The planes, the instruments and the various oil mixtures used in connection with the airship tests, were carefully examined and tested. Lieutenant Byrd's original plans called for six flights as follows:

- 1—A 400-mile flight from Spitzbergen to Peary Land to unload oil, provisions and equipment at a place that looks promising for a landing.
- 2—A 400-mile flight back to Spitzbergen.
- 3—A second 400-mile flight from Spitzbergen to Peary Land base with further food, fuel and equipment.
- 4—An 850-mile flight to and around the Pole and back to the Peary base.
- 5—An 800-mile round trip flight to the northwest over unexplored areas in search of new lands.
- 6—A 400-mile flight from the Peary Land base back to Spitzbergen.

It was his plan in his second flight to attempt to discover new land, but when he received the report of the flight of Amundsen in his dirigible, in which it was stated that the Norge had failed to find any trace of new land, Lieutenant Byrd decided to abandon further flights and the trip over land on sleds he had planned in his search for new land in unexplored areas. Now he has decided to try to accomplish by airship at the South Pole what he did at the North. As he left the Spitzbergen base he stated that he would have just as well an equipped expedition for his southern flight as he had in his recent adventure in the North.

Vacationists Take Pains To See That The Slatonite Follows Them On Trips

Many Slaton people are taking their vacations. Some have gone one direction, some another, and more are going every day.

It has been a pleasure to The Slatonite to have numerous calls from our subscribers who are on vacations to have The Slatonite sent them while out of town. It has been our delight to accommodate them in this way, and we deeply appreciate the fact that they cannot afford to miss a single issue of The Slatonite.

Regular publication since 1911 has established this paper in the minds of the people so strongly that they want it every week, without missing a copy even while off on a fishing trip.

There's a reason, as they say in advertising grape nuts. The reason lies in the fairness, justice, news service, advertising service—all these things and others found in The Slatonite.

Others of you who are planning vacation trips, let us know your address while away and we shall be glad to send you copies of the paper so that you may keep up with the latest that's going on in Slaton. And when you read it in The Slatonite, you get it from the paper that has "been your favorite since 1911." Phone us or call at our office before you start on your trip.

THE MEASURE OF A MAN

Not—
"How did he die?"
But—
"How did he live?"
Not—"What did he gain?"
But—

Of a man, as a man
Regardless of birth.
Not—"What was his station?"
But—
"Had he a heart?"
And—
"How did he play his God-given part?"
Was he ever ready
With a word of good cheer
To bring back a smile,
To banish a tear?"
Not—
"What was his creed?"

Dr. Krueger Handles Delicate Operation

An extremely rare and delicate operation was performed at the Lubbock Sanitarium Friday morning by Dr. J. T. Krueger upon W. H. Crocker, of near Slaton. Mr. Crocker was suffering with a brain tumor, an unusual disease, it was said at the sanitarium, and to remove it, it was necessary to remove a piece of the patient's skull. Mr. Crocker was resting well shortly after noon and the doctors feel that he will recover.

It is probable that his skull will knit, covering the cavity that was left, since Mr. Crocker is a man of about 30 years of age, it was stated. He has been working on the county roads. —Lubbock Daily Journal.

Committees Appointed For Community Fair

Mrs. B. H. Ervin, Mrs. J. R. McAtee, Mrs. F. H. Lanham and Mrs. I. K. Parker, met in the office of J. J. Ross, secretary and manager of the Fair, and selected the following committees to direct and manage the different departments of the coming fair. In the choosing of the different committees only one object and purpose was in view: To appoint such persons as would give their co-operation and service, in the making and building of Slaton's Community Fair.

Each one that is chosen is asked to serve and do your part in bringing up and putting over your department. There will be a called meeting of all chairmen in the near future, and may each chairman of the different departments call a special meeting of their assistants and organize preparatory for their work.

Departments are as follows: (First named are the chairmen).

Amos Howard In 2nd Race For County Clerk

Amos H. Howard, candidate for county clerk of Lubbock County, is making his second race for that office, believing that the eight votes by which he was defeated in the primary two years ago will be cast for him this year along with a majority of other votes in the county.

Mr. Howard's first residence in Lubbock county dates back eighteen years, when his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Howard, moved to a place on the Lubbock-Crosby county line near Estacado, where they lived until ten years ago, and after they moved to Crosbytown Amos was at home there where he was employed in an abstract business owned by Pink L. Parrish, now mayor of Lubbock. It was following his work with Mr. Parrish that Mr. Howard moved to Lubbock.

Mr. Howard has been closely identified with the work of the county clerk's office, coming to Lubbock from Crosbytown about eight years ago to take a place in the office of the Guarantee Abstract & Title Company soon following which he was appointed deputy county clerk under Sam T. Davis, and served in that capacity until he resigned.

Following his work as deputy county clerk, Mr. Howard again entered into the work of the Guarantee Abstract & Title Company in which work he has enjoyed a great deal of direct connection with the clerk's office, being conversant with all records of that office and in fact having a working knowledge of even the details of the operation of the clerk's office.

Mr. Howard is known to the people of Lubbock County due to his connection with the various civic enterprises conducted through the Chamber of Commerce and other organization. As a member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce he worked as a committeeman on plans for the South Plains Fair practically every year since the organization of the Junior Chamber of Commerce in 1922.

His membership in the work with the Kiwanis Club at Lubbock, especially with regard to its building up a friendly relationship between the business men of Lubbock and the people of the rural communities, has been outstanding. In fact, he has accomplished as much in that field perhaps as any other member or even officer of the club.

Mr. Howard is married and has one child, a boy nineteen months of age, and lives at 2219 14th street, Lubbock. He is a charter member of the Allen Brothers Post of the American Legion, having served in the army during the recent war, and is joined in his work in that organization by Mrs. Howard, who is a charter member and active worker in the Ladies Auxiliary of the Legion which was just recently organized at Lubbock.

Mr. Howard told the Slatonite that in his opinion helpful and efficient service to all patrons of the clerk's office, honest administration of the business of that office and a willingness to help all patrons see that their papers are properly filed are features that will be especially appreciated, and has expressed an ambition to carry out those ideas if elected.

To the Voters of Lubbock County:

In seeking re-election to the office of District Clerk of Lubbock County, let me thank you kindly for the continued endorsement of my service, which assures me that I have been of value to the people. I am proud of such record.

Many of you knew me when I served as Deputy County and District Clerk, prior to the division of the two offices in December, 1920, wherein I gained the experience and knowledge so necessary to intelligently administer the duties of the office, after my election as District Clerk. Likewise, you know of the meager salary the office paid, when I was first elected your District Clerk, $1.00 per day, and please remember, I gained the experience necessary, during the preceding four years I served as Deputy Clerk.

I was earnestly solicited to run for the office of District Clerk, by Hon. W. R. Spencer, now deceased, and the Lubbock County Bar, because of my previous experience. No one else seemed eager for this office then. They, like myself, knew the salary would be meager, but I knew full well in time, I would be rewarded for the sacrifice I was then making, when in time the office would pay a reasonable salary.

The office of District Clerk covers many important matters to the people; matters requiring knowledge of the law to determine and make proper disposition of it. One cannot familiarize himself in a short time with the duties therein in a manner that he can be of much service to the people.

Where one has served the people honestly and completely for 5 1-2 years, treating the poor and rich alike, unselfishly befriending many, instead of hoarding his earnings, should my 5 1-2 years service as your District Clerk be a barrier to continuing office? I hope not. Is it not a job, just like any other job, just by a different name? Just because there is another applicant for the job, is that a sufficient reason to deny me the office?

Does every candidate offering himself or herself for public office feel thoroughly qualified to serve the public in a competent, courteous and efficient manner, or are they merely desirous of satisfying some selfish motive?

"A good Plumber might be an absolute failure as a Painter."

Government is a creature of the Public and exists of necessity. Its offices are public trusts, and its officers are servants of the people, and the highest aim in the bestowal of an office, should be the best results to the greatest number.

I will be grateful indeed for your endorsement of my candidacy again; promising you the same courteous and loyal service in the future as in the past.

Sincerely,

LOUIE F. MOORE.

"A Man Seeking A Man's Job"

"Yours for MOORE service."

A "Correct" Likeness of Washington

This heroic statue of the commander-in-chief of the first armies of the United States was made for the city of Portland, Oregon, though not yet delivered there by the artist. The western municipality has loaned it to the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, opening in Philadelphia June 1 and continuing until December 1, to celebrate 150 years of American independence. At the foot of the sculpture is shown Pompey Coppini, the sculptor. Dr. Henry Waldo Poe, of Portland, declares the face to be the most correct likeness of Washington ever modeled.

Ideals of School Life

What are some of the things that our schools are supposed to do for our boys and girls that attend?

The expressed purpose of the schools of Texas is that they shall furnish educational opportunities to all boys and girls regardless of any conditions of social or financial ranking.

To know our duties then, we must agree as to what education means. It certainly does not mean a definite amount of text books mastered with all their definitions and instructions. It does not mean a certain list of experiments performed and their results tabulated. It does not mean the solution of mathematical problems nor the memorizing of pages of literature, nor the ability to speak in foreign language. These are incidental to the training process for the educated man or woman.

An educated person is one who has the ability to adjust himself to the various environments in which he may find himself from time to time.

To educate is to lead one up by training of various kinds to that place where he may be able to act and live his way under the influences that may compass him throughout life—to so train and develop the natural and acquired powers so that on his own initiative he will determine his ways and execute his will.

This training must be mental, moral and physical. One may have the most thorough knowledge of those subjects that ordinarily comprise the curricula of the colleges, and yet be far from being educated. He may have the technical knowledge and be a misfit in society.

He again may have physical process and mental acumen and be fit for only the company of shrewd criminals. Such a person cannot adjust himself to the society of worth while people unless he has, too, the moral element in his character.

Then, too, these kinds of training, mental, moral and physical must be had at one and the same time. We mean to say that we cannot train for mental only, and then in a few years go back and successfully train the morals and the body.

Too often we see such an effort being made. We send our children to school and are satisfied if they are taught the text book alone and other things left entirely neglected. Then we try to go back and build into this dwarfed character the things that are so much needed if the child is to adjust himself to the unknown conditions that shall present themselves in after life.

How many cases have we seen where a person has spent years and years in his mental and even moral training and then because of the handicap of poor health failed, utterly, to fit into the affairs of real men and women! It is a mistake to say that that person had the proper educational qualifications.

It is thus evident that our curricula must be so selected and formed as to give this three fold training. Other wise we are not meeting what may be reasonably expected of us.

Often we are not able to furnish in all their completeness all these lines of training. But we must know that these things are being looked after by some agency to some degree at least.

Yet that is not enough for there must be a correlation of this work and it is possible to so arrange the work that there can be given some of all of these lines of training. Granting then, that this is so, it is next to criminal to neglect the duties that devolve upon us.

Of course we do not hope to complete this work for our pupils but many will never get more than we are able to give them. Wouldn't it be too bad if our pupils are neglected and become veritable misfits at home, church and school, simply because we have failed to give them, at least, a start toward an education according to the true meaning of the term?

The teachers of the Slaton schools will this year be lead to a thorough and systematic study as to what should be taught to our children. We are sure that these faithful teachers will decide that we need at least some readjustments if we are to lay worth while foundations for the educations of our children.

Parents must rally as we attempt to teach the old doctrines of honesty and decency that must be inculcated into the characters of the children if they are to be citizens. They must back us up as we ask that profanity and obscenity be left off the playgrounds. They with their boys and girls must agree that we are right when we say that extreme fashions and indiscreet customs must not enter the daily life of our boys and girls attending school.

Who will deny that indiscretion in dress and lack of reserve is undermining the respect of men and boys for the women and girls of our country? And who can argue that the home and the church and our citizenship are not seriously threatened because of conditions brought about because these extreme fashions are paraded in street and church and the school. We all know that it is wrong but the almighty power of fashion will cause some of us to compromise and thus threaten the most sacred institutions we have.

Are we going to have the support of our young people and their fathers when we say that we expect our students to come properly clad with sufficient clothing to prevent criticism and to really cover their person? We believe that when a girl has reached the high school age she is old enough to wear full length hose, and skirts long enough that no embarrassments will come about as she really tries to do her work in school.

We think we know the good people of Slaton well enough when we say that we believe that they want things carried on in Slaton schools right whether they are in some other town or not. Someone may criticize us because of this article but while we are sorry we feel that we should have an understanding of our ideals in school work and school life.

These few thoughts are expressed because of embarrassments that have come up that could have been avoided. Let them not happen again we earnestly plead.

Transfers

Transfers from other districts into the Slaton district must be made before August 1st if such pupils expect free tuition.

The County School Board has arranged to transfer the school funds of all pupils whose home school does not provide high school opportunities for them. Slaton has for years taken care of numbers of such pupils and we have been glad to do so. But it is a very just plan now suggested by the County School Board, and will help materially to finance the work being done by the larger schools for the rural pupils.

Next week we shall draw some conclusions from the report sent the State Department for the Slaton schools. This will be interesting to our patrons and will furnish some information that our people should know.

Commissioner's Place Sought By Sherrod

B. G. (Bill) Sherrod, candidate for Commissioner of Precinct Two, has a message for the voters in this issue of The Slatonite. He has been making every day count since announcing his candidacy for that office, being out all the time among the people presenting his claims upon their support in his race.

Mr. Sherrod believes his seven and one-half years spent in road work under Mr. Talley has better equipped him to give the people the kind of service they deeply need in road building. His business ability is such as to merit the confidence of the people, and therefore other matters over which a county commissioner has supervision would be handled efficiently, his friends believe.

While he has been in the race only since the withdrawal of Mr. Talley, Mr. Sherrod believes he has covered most of his territory, and says he has met with much encouragement in his campaign. He earnestly seeks the support of every voter in the precinct, and promises capable administration of the affairs under his control if he is elected to this place of important responsibility. He has incorporated in his platform the plan to build a system of roads in this precinct that will give the farming population better means of travel, and expects to bring much road improvement to this territory if he is elected. He will appreciate your careful consideration of his candidacy before you cast your vote on July 24.

(SEAL) 43-4c

TO THE VOTERS OF LUBBOCK COUNTY

I am glad of this opportunity to speak to the voters of Lubbock County regarding my candidacy for the office of District Clerk.

The work of a District Clerk is of the character that any qualified woman can fill the place as well as a man, as it is purely clerical. The district clerkship of many counties in Texas is held by women. The District Clerk of Haskell County is a woman who went from a law office into the District Clerk's office, just as I hope to do. She was in the law office of Clyde F. Elkin, who is a practicing attorney of Lubbock at this time.

Our present clerk is a competent clerk—why shouldn't he be? He has been doing that character of work for ten years, he says, four and a half years as deputy and three terms as regular District Clerk. He is the only District Clerk we have ever had and is now wanting the office for the fourth term. Should we keep him there forever just because he says he didn't make much money when first filling the office? I, too, received very little compensation when I first entered an office. I have worked up from the bottom just like everybody does who draws a salary. As for that, we all have to pay for our experience. And if the office has been a burden to our Clerk, why make him longer bear that burden? I am ready, able, willing and eager to take over the pay and the responsibilities of the office. I would consider it an honor to have the people of this county elect me their District Clerk; and I feel confident that I would make the people a District Clerk that they could be as proud of as they are the one we have always had, because I assure you that I would work as hard at making a good District Clerk as I have at making a good stenographer.

The work is not so difficult but what a person familiar with law office work can do with ease. I have had more than six and a half years of law office training, besides eighteen months in the General Land Office of Texas at Austin. Practically every paper issued out of the District Clerk's office comes from a lawyer's hands before going to the District Clerk and eventually goes back into the hands of a lawyer, and I have actually prepared many papers for the District Clerk to sign. In fact, when a District Clerk gets out a transcript in a case that is being appealed to a higher court, he merely copies what I have already written from dictation. I earnestly invite you to ask any lawyer in this county about my qualifications to fill the office of District Clerk. Ask not only the lawyers for whom I have worked, but ask any lawyer in this county.

I have tried to see all the voters individually but it has been a very difficult job. My opponent, the present District Clerk, has had better opportunity than I to do this as he has been leaving his office with his deputy (who, by the way, is a girl who has been doing the work very efficiently while he is gone) and his salary goes right on; but when I get a substitute while I am out of my office my salary stops; and for that reason I haven't until recently felt able to give up my job in the office of Bean & Klett at Lubbock, where I have been employed for the past four and a half years, as I have obligations to meet every month and I have needed my salary to be able to meet them. I want to sincerely thank every friend of mine who is so kindly helping me in this race.

If the good voters of this county wish to help a girl who is trying to make her own way, and a girl who has the ambition to go forward, and a girl who is capable of filling the office she seeks, vote for me on the 24th of this month and I will thank you, and I assure you that, if elected, I will put forth the same effort to be a competent and efficient District Clerk as I have to make a competent law stenographer. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Flora Green

CANDIDATE FOR

Commissioner Precinct No. 2

LUBBOCK COUNTY

I take this opportunity in noting the voters of Precinct No. 2, my attitude in expending and handling the affairs of the county. I fully appreciate the responsibility of the commissioner, especially so in the making and building of a new country.

I have been a citizen of Lubbock County for fourteen years, living in Slaton and Union communities. I spent two years in the service of the Santa Fe as hostler at the shops in Slaton, and seven years connected with the road building of Precinct No. 2, under the direction and guidance of H. D. Talley, your commissioner.

It will be my purpose, if elected your commissioner of Precinct No. 2, to first, safeguard the finance and affairs of Lubbock County; second, I will use both my power and influence to construct lateral roads from each and every community into the highways of the county. I shall at all times regard the rural districts as the productive part of our commonwealth, and shall direct both my interest and the county's finances to construct and build such roads as will develop each and every community of my precinct.

It shall be my purpose and aim to expend such moneys as might be appropriated or available for Precinct No. 2, in each and all communities equal.

I fully feel that my seven years' experience in the construction of roads in Lubbock County has better prepared me to serve the people efficiently in this capacity, and my qualifications for properly handling the business interests of the county are fully known to you. If elected, honesty and service will be my motto. With this I ask your consideration and support on July 24.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

The State of Texas.

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Lubbock County, Greeting:

You are commanded to summon Clifford Chaddock, by making publication of this Citation once each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court, in and for Lubbock County, to be held at Lubbock, Texas, in said Lubbock County, on the 16th day of August, A. D. 1926, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 8th day of June, A. D. 1926, in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court No. 2557, wherein Ura Chaddock, is Plaintiff, and Clifford Chaddock, is Defendant, and said petition alleging that it is a suit for divorce, on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment of defendant toward plaintiff; plaintiff alleges that she and defendant were lawfully married on or about Nov. 9, 1921, and continued to live together as husband and wife until in January, 1924, defendant, finally, without cause or justification, left and abandoned plaintiff at Slaton, Texas; that during said marriage relations, plaintiff alleges she was a kind, true and loving wife and helpmate, and at all times managed the household affairs of her said husband with prudence and economy, and in all things kept and performed her marital contract; that about a year or year and a half after said marriage, plaintiff and defendant got along well, but thereafter, defendant began, a course of harsh, cruel and inhuman treatment toward defendant, which made their further living together as husband and wife insupportable; that plaintiff's maiden name was Miss Ura Taylor.

Wherefore, plaintiff prays that upon final hearing hereof she be granted an absolute divorce from the defendant; that the maiden name, Ura Taylor, be restored, for all costs of suit, etc.

HEREIN FAIL NOT, but have you before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your
