Mayor briefs ACTA on progress

By Becky Werhan

"Don't you think that a group of citizen can't do anything? Every time you show up to a council meeting, I'm glad to see you." These were the words Rockport Mayor Walter Falk had for the Aransas County Taxpayers Association (ACTA) at their meeting Tuesday night.

Falk spoke to a group of less than 20 ACTA members. The low turnout by members was matched by ACTA officers, with only three present.

At this meeting, President Mitch Ammons announced that he would step down from his post effective immediately so that he could run for Aransas County School Board Trustee. ACTA's charter specifies that no officer can hold office while running for political election, but that win, lose or draw, the officer regains his seat following the election. Ammons' place will be filled by

First Vice President Britt Dick for the election interim.

Prior to Falk's guest speaker segment of the meeting, Ammons informed the group of progress of their two requests for investigations. The group's call for a probe into the Aransas County Navigation District was received by the County Attorney and the Texas Water Resources Board. County Attorney James Anderson, forwarded the request to District Attorney, Tom Bridges. No information on the D.A.'s action on the call for an investigation is yet available.

Rockport charter possibility in '82

The question of a city charter for Rockport will come up before the city council sometime this year, Mayor Walter S. Falk Jr. had predicted.

If — and when — it does, it will be received favorably according to comments Friday from council members and candidates alike.

"I'm for a city charter — for home rule," said Falk. "One of the main things I want is the people's right of recall and initiative."

What Falk is against — and why he came out against a proposed city charter two years ago — is a city manager form of government. "I do not favor a city manager form of government at this time. Rockport is too small," he said.

Alderman Burt Mills, also a candidate for mayor in the coming April 3 elections,

Observation deck approved for pier

FULTON — an additional observation deck and seating on Fulton's new public fishing pier won approval Tuesday night from Fulton city council members who denied a charge that the city plans to eventually turn the facility into a bait stand.

The charge was made by Kirk Holman, bait stand owner and a commissioner on the Aransas County Navigation District. Holman told the council, "I feel this is a plan for a little observation deck that might sometime become a bait stand."

Mayor L.E. Casterline replied, "I'm sorry you feel that way."

The matter of the deck and additional seating area was brought up in a special meeting of the council at 7 p.m. Tuesday. Dana Bennett of Ogletree, Gunn and Associates of Corpus Christi, engineers for the pier project, showed council members plans for the addition.

"The original grant for the pier construction was $217,190," Bennett told the council. "You have spent $205,333.29, leaving a balance of $11,856. Ogletree & Gunn has looked at what can be done with this extra money and we felt it would be best used in this manner."

Bennett observed that the original grant application had been called for construction of two gazebos on the pier, one of which has been constructed at the intersection with the T-head.

This second seating/observation area would be located in the shallows near the bench and would be 16 feet wide by 20 feet long.

Alderman Elgin Dietz observed that the surrounding waters which are too shallow for fishing, could be roped off for swimming and wading.

Bennett told those at Tuesday's meeting that his firm had looked at two possibilities for use of the extra grant money — the observation deck or a bait stand. "We dropped the bait stand concept because of objections to it," he said.

Holman brought up the question of parking around the pier and said, "The original grant endorsement called for a lighted parking area. No one has ever approached the navigation district for some type of parking lot," he added.

He also said, "There are no fish cleaning stands on or near the pier. That's not right."

Bennett said that, in order to construct a lighted parking area, fill would have to be brought in, which would run up the cost of the project beyond the available funds. "The state and federal governments gave Fulton the money to build a pier," he said, "What the state or federal government is interested in now is the city of Fulton and navigation district getting together to do something with the parking."

"Parking," he added was proposed as a possibility in the grant application along with landscaping and other things we feel we don't have the bucks to deal with."

Holman asked, "Have you ever approached the navigation district about a lighted parking area?"

"That's not my job," Bennett said. "I'm not a policy maker."

"You're going to have to have a parking lot down there," Holman said, speaking to the council, not to Bennett. "I don't feel you've taken the initiative."

Danny Cox, a member of the audience at Tuesday's session, said there was a place to clean fish near the pier to which Holman replied, "There's a small one (table) over there I built myself."

This drew a reply from Alderman Pat Loflin that "there has always been a table there. It gets destroyed and we rebuild it."

"I replaced it myself last year," Holman said.

Dietz moved to accept the engineers' recommendation for construction of the observation deck. The motion was seconded by Isabel Gutierrez and approved by 4-0 vote.

County buys seven voting machines

After much deliberation, the Aransas County Commissioners voted to spend $29,050 for seven new voting machines. Meeting last Wednesday, the commissioners and County Judge John Wendell were given a demonstration of the Airmatic ATS 200 M optical scanning machines by representatives of the Hart Graphics company.

The machine, in operation, scans a mark sense ballot card anywhere from eight to 18 inches long and can scan front and back. "It's easy for the voter to use and it makes it easy for precinct judges to know what the voter intended," said Charles Scott, salesman demonstrating the machine. Commissioners and visitors to the court, among them Democratic Chairman Lola Bonner and Democratic pct. four judge Zora Bell Casterline, were given ballot cards which they marked and fed into the machine. (As a test to the machine's ability to discard an improperly voted ballot, Scott had Commissioner John Lee vote twice for a particular race. The machine threw Lee's ballot and others that had been improperly marked into a separate compartment within the bottom part of the machine. The machine acts as its own ballot box, with a detachable bottom chamber for counted ballots and one for voided ballots.

Most attractive to the election worker present at the session was the tape readout, or count, that the machine delivered of the ballots. "On election night, all your precinct judge has to do is punch this button and at 7:02 she'll have a readout ready for Central Counting," said Scott.

Mrs. Casterline addressed the commissioners saying, "This really is the simplest thing for the voters to use." Judge Wendell replied, "We're not buying this just for the Democrats, we're buying it for Aransas County." With the purchase of the new machines, the county plans to lease them to the two parties, the cities of Rockport and Fulton and the school board, if these entities request such arrangements.

The main factor delaying the commissioner's vote was Judge Wendell's discontent in regards to the guarantee offered by Hart on the machines — one year. "If we only have one election per year, your warranty isn't worth a tinker's damn," Wendell told Scott. Wendell, supported by the commissioners, requested that Scott get in touch with his company by phone to negotiate a better guarantee.

Court recessed and when the group assembled once more, Scott told the judge that such an arrangement was impossible. "We're standing on our reputation and we haven't changed the warranty for anyone else," he said.

Commissioner John Lee made the motion to vote for the machines and Commissioner Pete Sanders seconded. The vote was unanimous, though Wendell joked to the salesman, "I'm [See County, page 10]

Plans for utilities district preceded development

Editor's note: The following is part of a series of articles on the Goose Island Lake Estates development and the Aransas County Municipal Utilities District that serves it. The series will continue in the Midweek Pilot.

By Pat Blair

LAMAR — When Joe Conlin first started thinking about a development in Lamar, it was going to be a "red flag" subdivision — one with no utilities, says Vern Shurman.

"I mentioned the idea of permanent utilities," says Shurman whose Aransas County Engineering Company was responsible for the survey of Conlin's Goose Island Lake Estates subdivision. "He was interested."

According to documents on file in the office of the Aransas County Municipal Utilities District No. 1 (ACMUD), plans for the district preceded the groundbreaking for the land development. Ground was broken for the first construction in Goose Island Lake Estates on May 17, 1973.

A petition for the organization of the Aransas County MUD was presented to the Texas Water Rights Commission on March 9, 1973.

Signed by Carol E. Conlin, Dan G. Hodges and Edwin D. Pair, the petition stated the district would contain approximately 101.987 acres in the Lamar town-site.

The petition further specified there were less than 50 land owners within the proposed district, that each of the three signers were owners of title to land in the district and that they at that time constituted a majority of the property owners.

Mrs. Conlin was then shown as president of South Coast Development Corp., the company through which Conlin was developing Goose Island Lake Estates. Conlin, according to a Pilot article on the May 17 groundbreaking, was general manager of South Coast.

Hodges was vice president of the corporation whose other officers included Ed Trimmer, vice president in charge of building, and Joseph J. Conlin III, secretary-treasurer. There was no mention of Pair in the Pilot article.

The petition proposed construction of a waterworks system, a sanitary sewer collection system and sewer disposal plant and a drainage system. The cost of these improvements was estimated to be approximately $1 million.

Cyril J. Smith, an attorney with the Houston law firm of Smith, Rowe, Fisher & Haye, assisted in drawing up the petition and in getting it to the water rights commission. Smith's firm — then known as Smith, Rowe & Haye — was formally named attorneys for the district in 1974.

Smith's legal corporation, now known as Smith & Murdaugh, has continued serving as the district's attorneys. Since 1978, the individual who has worked with the board as its attorney has been Herman Little.

On Aug. 13, the Aransas County Commissioner's Court — according to a letter written to Conlin by then-Commissioner Raymond Owens — went on record as endorsing the formation of a utility district on Lamar Peninsula.

Two days later, on Aug. 15, the Texas Water Rights Commission approved creation of the ACMUD and appointed a five-member board which met on Oct. 28, 1973. Directors J.E. Sommerhauser, Robert M. Rogers and Bernard J. Niehouse took their places on the board.

Leo C. Hearn and Carl Sulhoff, also appointed to the board, "declined to qualify" according to the minutes of the meeting and submitted written resignations. Harold N. Smith and Don Gammon were named directors in their stead.

The board did not meet again until Oct. 5, 1974, at which time it called an election for the coming Nov. 4 to confirm the district and elect five permanent directors. Six votes were cast in that election, confirming the district 6-0 and electing Rogers, Smith, Gammon, Charles Warren and Charles S. McCleskey to the permanent board.

The ACMUD was in business. There would be no more directors' elections until 1980.

Editorial & Opinion

Is it possible to prevent a holocaust?

IT TOOK THE GENIUS of man to something like 2000 years to advance from a stone or a club to the more ingenious blunderbuss as a means to destroy his fellows. Then the pace quickened, scarcely 400 years between the blunderbuss and the automatic machine gun. These are developments which everyone can readily understand — and appreciate? Not so comprehensible is the circumstance of man's intellect in progressing from the first atomic bomb in 1945 to nuclear weapons in less than two decades. Most of us, beyond vaguely realizing that the latter is far more powerful than the former, only in the remotest terms understand what this means.

THOSE WHO RECALL the dropping of that first atomic bomb over Hiroshima in August, 1945, can recall or recite very little detail. Most of us are by now at least nearing our middle fifties. Yes, we can remember where we were, what we were doing when we heard about Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941 — but not Hiroshima. A horrible event we all know, but how much detail can we recite? As a matter of fact, it was not long after the bomb was dropped that the apologist arose among us. The bomb should have never been dropped. Those who died were mostly innocents, civilians, women and children! The argument is one to which I have never subscribed.

President Truman ordered the bomb and saved the lives of tens of thousands of Americans. Remember, it was the Japanese, not Americans who started the war. The argument has been made that the president might have warned the Japanese of the potential bomb, but I am among those who doubt that it would have meant much, if anything, to the fanatical Japanese military. The decision would have had to eventually have been made, and in the interim more Americans would have died.

WITH THESE thoughts in mind, but first with the reminder that what happened at Hiroshima is less than a millionth part of the possible holocaust at present nuclear levels, I shall offer the briefest possible description of what occurred when on that August morning a fission bomb was detonated at about 1,900 feet over the central section of Hiroshima, a bomb that by today's standards would be rated as a mere tactical weapon.

However, it was a weapon large enough to turn into a hell within a few minutes a city of 340,000 people. Almost within an instant tens of thousands of people were burned, blasted and burned to death. Tens of thousands of others suffered every imaginable injury and were doomed to die from radiation illness.

The very center of the city was flattened and no part escaped damage. Trunks of trees as far away as five miles from directly under the explosion were charred. Windows as much as 17 miles away were shattered. Half an hour after the initial blast fires set by the thermal pulse and the fall of buildings commenced a fire storm which continued for six hours. And within less than an hour a "black rain" generated by the bomb began to fall. Lasting into late afternoon it brought radioactive fallout to the ground. This is the briefest of brief descriptions of that day at Hiroshima.

Why have I inflicted it upon people who already have enough problems and wish only to be left in peace to live their lives as best they can?

Ah, but there lies the answer, or a partial one. Only by being aware that the world in which we live today can be destroyed almost instantly can we hope to prevent a world holocaust. Banning the bomb, as I sought to explain last week, is not the answer because to do that we would have to destroy the knowledge, the how to, something possible only by destroying ourselves.

PERHAPS WITHOUT knowing what is transpiring in the minds of, say the Russians, our greatest reasons for fear today are twofold. First an accidental attack, triggered by human or mechanical error.

On at least three occasions in the past few years our forces went on early alert stages; twice because of a computer chip in the North American Defense Command warning system, once when a test tape depicting a missile attack was accidentally inserted in the system.

In all this the danger lies in chain reaction from errors that could lead to an eventual attack. Except by accident I for one have little fear of a deliberate all out attack by either ourselves or the Russians.

On the other hand I do fear the possibility of a powerful nuclear weapon falling into the hands of such men as the Ayatollah Khomeini or Menachem Begin, a circumstance that might set the entire world afire. Remember, World War I was triggered by the assassination of an almost unheard of archduke, heir to the throne of a small nation, Austria.

Here I should again remind readers that opinions expressed in this piece are my own, the factual information comes from a series of New Yorker articles by Jonathan Schell.

PERHAPS THE NEXT question to be asked is, is it possible to prevent the holocaust, will it destroy our entire planet as we now know it, and if not, what are the chances for survival?

'For me this Salvadoran thing is starting out exactly like Vietnam — I'm totally confused'

Nations children urged to write letters to the president

Westport, CT — Children from across the country are being invited to share their concerns with top government leaders through the fifth annual national letter-writing campaign sponsored by Save the Children, the international child-assistance agency.

The theme for this year's letter is: "Dear Mr. President, If I had one wish for the world's children..."

The campaign will culminate during Save the Children Week, May 1-7, in Washington, D.C. At that time all letters will be presented at a children's hearing in the U.S. Congress and at the White House. The topics expressed most frequently by the children will form the 1982 Children's Agenda for Action. This summary of concerns will also be the kickoff of the new Children's Congress in Washington at which elementary school children, representing every state, will meet to address the problems facing today's youth.

The letters, along with the name of the teacher and school, must be received by April 1. Mail to: Caroline Brady, Dept. LC, Save the Children, P.O. Box 911, Westport, Ct. 06881.

Save the Children Week, an opportunity to draw public attention to the needs and rights of children, will be officially proclaimed by all state governors. Julie Andrews is Honorary Chairperson.

Save the Children, which is celebrating its 50th anniversary this year, was founded to provide assistance to the disadvantaged children of Appalachia. The agency now works in 33 countries, including five regions in the United States.

Destruction could be worse than 1900

Expanding commercial and residential development along the Gulf and Atlantic coasts is in grave danger of massive destruction if a major hurricane should strike.

Destruction could be greater than that inflicted by the 1900 Galveston storm, the nation's deadliest, with 6,000 lives lost, warns Neil L. Frank, director of the National Hurricane Center.

"We're more exposed than ever before," said Frank, whose chief target in the warning was building in Galveston where there is no protection but from the 17-foot seawall, the city's flood barrier put up after the 1900 hurricane.

There has also been acceleration of commercial and residential construction closer to Baytown in the Kemah-Seabrook area, which was hard hit by Hurricane Carla, one of the most destructive of Gulf Coast hurricanes, in 1961.

Some of the building in that area has been replacement-type structures destroyed by Carla. There has also been an increase in commercial and residential building, but not as rapid or widespread as that in Galveston.

A major storm could take more lives than the 1900 Galveston hurricane, Frank told a Senate subcommittee considering a bill to prohibit federal assistance for construction in undeveloped areas of the Gulf and Atlantic coasts.

Texas Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong submitted a statement to the subcommittee supporting the bill, although he stressed that he did not oppose coastal development that was "in accordance with state laws, federal laws and in harmony with the environment."

Two representatives from Louisiana questioned the bill, primarily because it might cut off federal beach erosion funds. They said one concern was that the eroding coast could mean their state would get less money from offshore petroleum lease payments.

Sen. John H. Chafee, R-R.I., the subcommittee chairman, and Rep. Thomas B. Evans, R-Del., are sponsoring the bill which would cut off federal funds for such things as sewage treatment and roads in undeveloped coastal areas.

These two legislators won congressional approval last year of a 1983 cutoff of flood insurance for undeveloped islands.

The Rockport Pilot agrees that more consideration should be given coastal development projects because of hurricane danger, and we hope that whatever additional measures to control this development are taken will be done jointly by the states and federal government.

Unless this is the case, regulations imposed by separate levels of government, however well-intentioned, might not help solve the problem. Projects such as coastal development control must, by their nature, command the attention of the federal government, but if there is joint cooperation between the affected states and the national government the results are likely to be more beneficial to all concerned.

'Feds' unduly delay redistrict

Since it disapproved the entire Texas congressional redistricting plan several days ago, the U.S. Justice Department has remained silent on what more, if anything, it will do or say about the reapportionment.

Meanwhile, much of the state's orderly elective processes remain suspended while a three-judge federal court in Austin waits for word from the Justice Department about how it (the court) should go about settling the redistricting dispute.

The three-member court has delayed a second time the filing deadline for 16 congressional districts and has blocked any elections for the U.S. House of Representatives until the court takes further action.

After being forced to take this latest action that further disturbs Texas' orderly elective processes, members of the federal panel severely criticized the U.S. attorney general's office for "foot-dragging."

The Justice Department disapproved the entire Texas congressional redistricting plan because it said two of the proposed new districts — District 15 in the Lower Rio Grande Valley and District 27 just north of it and including Corpus Christi — "packed" Mexican-Americans and should be redrawn.

The agency has let one deadline pass without telling the Austin federal panel whether it (the panel) could complete its study of the entire congressional reapportionment plan and hand down a ruling.

This delay brought caustic criticism of U.S. Attorney General William French Smith and the Justice Department from Justice Sam Johnson of Austin, a member of the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals, who is serving on the federal redistricting panel.

After delaying a second time the filing deadline for the 16 congressional districts and blocking any elections for the U.S. House of Representatives until the panel takes further action, Judge Johnson commented in the court's order:

"Assuming this court has jurisdiction to implement a court-ordered congressional reapportionment plan, its ability to function in the best interest of the people of Texas by facilitating a timely and orderly elective process...have been substantially impeded."

"The impediment has been occasioned by the unseemly delay, inattention and inactivity of the office of the Attorney General of the United States."

The panel has also postponed the filing deadline for 16 seats on the State Board of Education, whose members are elected from congressional districts.

Texas citizens deserve better treatment than they are getting from the Attorney General's office. The Rockport Pilot strongly resents the Justice Department's meddling in the state's election processes. Redistricting inequities can easily be corrected by Texas courts whose members live here and understand our problems far better than legal theoreticians in the Justice Department.

Live Oak Peninsula Philosopher

Let's find a country we can blame our problems on

Editor's note: Live Oak Peninsula Philosopher on his grass farm still has his mind on the economic situation, like nearly everybody else.

Dear editor:
My theory has always been, when you've got a problem you can't handle, blame it on somebody or something else.

I have now found that my theory has spread to Europe.

According to an article I read last night, leaders in France, England, West Germany and other European countries are blaming their economic problems on the United States deficit.

President Reagan's scheduled deficit of $92 billion is the cause of high interest rates in the United States, and high interest rates there are causing economic disaster in Europe," the leaders announced.

I don't know if those European leaders can get by with telling their people that inflation and high interest rates there are caused by inflation and high interest rates here, but if they can we've got just one course to pursue.

We've got to find some country somewhere we can blame our deficit on.

I understand there are about 200 countries in the world, give or take a few that may have emerged or gone under between the time I wrote this letter and you got it, and while there never has been a Secretary of State who could, offhand, recite the names of all 200, surely we've got expert, or as a last resort investigative reporters or unemployed economists who can find at least one country with a proportionately higher deficit than ours. That's the one Washington ought to be looking for. Send out a search team, even if we've got to do it on borrowed money. What's a few dollars more in a deficit nobody can comprehend anyway?

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Refute

Dear Editor,

With all the accusations being made against the Navigation District, I think it is time to suggest that the Board of Commissioners hold a public meeting to refute the charges leveled against them by the Aransas County Taxpayers Association and by Mr. Faber.

If it is indeed true that the Cove Harbor is being operated for the favored few as was detailed in Mr. Faber's column, it is high time that the citizens of this county look to an accounting.

If the Board will place all of the leases and sub-leases on the table so the figures can be refuted, it would go far to place the board in a more tenable position.

I think, too, that your paper should offer to interview the chairman of the board, Mr. Landrum, and permit him to fully disprove the allegations made.

It would not be too much, also to ask that the board lay to rest charges that the fish house people receive favored treatment not accorded to the independent shrimper.

Sincerely Yours,
Ross Cowen

Kitty

Dear Editor:

Recently we needed a "Birth Certificate" for my oldest sister, Maggie Mae Morrill (Griffin) who was born and reared in Rockport, as all the Morrill children were.

She is now living with her oldest daughter in Santa Ana, Calif., and is very ill, was not able to locate her birth certificate.

I called the county clerk's office in Rockport and told Ms. Eaton my problem. She assured me they had what I needed and would send it if I would remit the fee. At that point I agreed to pay double and send the fee that day, if she would mail the certificate that day. VERY kindly she replied, "We will get the certificate in the mail today and you don't need to pay double, just send the fee to Ruby Hart." Wasn't that GREAT? It came on time even tho' it was mis-sent to Childress, Texas. So — PRAISE to EATON & HART.

By the way I did mail the fee the same day and a little for the "Koffee Kitty."

I was born in Rockport May 9, 1907, and went to school to at least two wonderful teachers — Bertha Oertling and Katie Lee Clarke.

Respectfully,
J. Nathan Morrill

Sarah Shores and Mark Watkins marry

ROBSTOWN — Sarah Ellen Shores of Tivoli became the bride of Mark Gavin Watkins of Rockport in a double ring ceremony Saturday Feb. 20. The Rev. W.A. Triggs Sr. officiated at the ceremony which was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Shores of Robstown, brother and sister-in-law of the bride.

Miss Shores is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Shores of Tivoli. The groom is the son of Jance Watkins of Rockport and Thomas L. Watkins of Seadrift.

Mrs. Tom Benefield, pianist, played the traditional wedding processional and recessional and sang "The Wedding Song" to her own accompaniment. She also provided accompaniment as she and Ed Shores, brother of the bride, sang "Endless Love" as a duet.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown created by her mother. The bridal gown, fashioned of lustre satin, held a fitted bodice, styled with a V-shaped chiffon yoke, which was traced with a deep ruffle of Venice lace. The bodice rose to a lace wedding band collar. The gown formed a V-shape at the natural waistline, which was adorned with a flat bow at the back. The full bishop sleeves were gathered into deep lace cuffs which closed with satin loops and covered buttons at the bride's wrists. The full skirt fell to a flounced hemline and swept into a chapel length train.

A Juliet cap of matching lace, dusted with seed pearls, caught the bride's fingertip length veil of illusion, trimmed with scalloped lace. Miss Shores carried a cascade of Cattleya orchids and white roses, enhanced with trailing English ivy and interspersed with lace which matched the bridal gown.

Martha Shores attended her sister as maid of honor. She wore a formal gown fashioned of apricot embroidered eyelet. The gown was styled with a V-neckline, accented with a deep, scalloped ruffle. The opera length puffed sleeves were also adorned with a scalloped ruffle. A deep apricot satin ribbon encircled the gown at the natural waistline and the full skirt fell to a flounced hemline.

The maid of honor carried a nosegay of sonia roses and white stephanotis, accented with baby's breath, and wore matching flowers attached to a comb in her hair.

Adrian Chopelas attended as flower girl. She wore a miniature version of the gown worn by the maid of honor. Her hair was adorned with apricot ribbon streamers and matching rosebuds and she carried a basket of spring flowers and sonia rose petals.

Christopher Chopelas served as the candlelighter. David Garza of Rockport served as best man.

A reception was hosted at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Shores following the wedding. Assisting in the house party were Mrs. Keith Hewitt, Cindy Raven, Eden Yaklin, Susie Rocha, Susan Barber, Mrs. J.B. Stephenson and Mrs. Steve Miller.

Causha and Venus Watkins presided over the bride's book.

Following wedding travel, the couple will reside in Tivoli.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted at Joe Cotton's Barbecue in Robstown.

The bride, a 1978 graduate of Austwell-Tivoli High School, attended Texas Lutheran College in Seguin. She is employed as a switch attendant by Union Carbide at Seadrift.

The groom attended Rockport-Fulton High School and is employed by Brown and Root Construction in Seadrift.

Special guests at the wedding included Mrs. Neal Gray Sr. of Seadrift.

grandmother of the groom; Bill Watkins of Houston, grandfather of the groom; and Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Barber of Tivoli. Mr. and Mrs. W.L. Watkins of Houston, Mr. and Mrs. Joe E. Morgenroth and son Jeffery of Port Lavaca.

Davenport and Echols wed

Susan Davenport of Aransas Pass, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William O. Shreve of Marco Island, Florida became the bride of Earl Echols of Ingleside in a ceremony at the Church of the Nazarene with Rev. Jimmie Allen officiating.

The wedding took place on Friday, Feb. 19 at 7 p.m. Echols is the son of Mrs. Meda Echols of Ingleside.

The altar was decorated with pink and white gladiolas and mums. Pat Guynes played the piano and sang "Whither Thou Goest."

For her wedding attire, the bride chose a pink and white dacron suit with pleated skirt and carried a white Bible with pink and white roses resting on it.

She was attended by Mrs. Rosie Rodriguez as matron of honor. Wade Echols of Ingleside attended his father as best man.

A reception followed the nuptials in the home of the bride's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Revels in Ingleside.

The couple plan to make their home in Aransas Pass after a short wedding trip.

Out of town guests were Wallace and Jean Watkins of Edna; Sarah Young of Victoria and Ronald Griffin of Corpus Christi.

A.C. Woman's Club has card party

An "artistic" theme was carried out in the imaginative decorations at the most recent meeting of the Aransas County Woman's Club.

The entire room, at the Woman's Club Building, was decorated with hand painted pictures done by Lucille Strum, Ruby Ferguson and Carl Steiner.

The serving table carried the theme further with decorations consisting of tubes of paint and other art supplies, including brushes and brush cleaners. An easel held a picture behind the serving table.

This meeting was hosted by Mrs. Strum, Mrs. Ferguson, Audrey Steiner, Mildred Geiter, Lucille Welsh, Irene Goltz and Edith Early.

Refreshments of cakes, pecan fudge, candy, tea and coffee were served.

Mrs. Goltz served coffee and Mrs. Steiner poured tea.

Hazel Hubbard was the first place winner in canasta and Claire Hansen was second place winner.

Kay Schurer was the first place winner in bridge and Macklyn Franklin won second.

Mrs. Strum won the finale.

Nursing Home News

By Maxine Mayer

The Aransas Pass Nursing and Convalescent Center residents enjoyed a very nice week of social activities and visitors.

Monday afternoon was Blue Grass Music Time with John Blair, Altie Albers, Bill Cooper and Fannie and George Langley from over Rockport way.

Tuesday, Mrs. Young from the United Methodist Church of Rockport came over and brought our residents some lap robes, booties and a shawl. Last week, for Valentine's week, we had so many groups coming out to give Valentines to our residents! So at this time I want to thank all of them who were so thoughtful in doing this.

Wednesday morning, Delma Rodgers, a very faithful volunteer, was out to visit, read the Bible, write letters and to just bring a cheery hello to many of our residents.

Wednesday afternoon was Bible Study with Bro. Bob DeWolfe of the Episcopal Church of Aransas Pass.

Thursday afternoon, the ladies representing the Order of the Eastern Star Chapter 1037 of Ingleside came over and gave a belated Valentine party which 52 of our residents really enjoyed.

They served "Dairy Queen" custard and homemade cakes that melted in our mouths. Everyone in attendance really enjoyed this affair.

Friday afternoon, the members of the Rockport

AARP Club were over to lead our residents in our "Old Fashioned Sing Along" program which is held every month.

Also Thursday evening, Girl Scout Troop No. 15 of Aransas Pass came out and brought several boxes of books which they had collected for our library.

Sunday morning worship services were held by Rev. Al Bankert with Jennifer on the piano. We had our reality orientation classes along with our exercises each morning and then we all enjoyed the coffee hour in the dining room.

What's knitted? What's woven?

To tell the difference, inspect fabric closely, says Becky Saunders, a clothing specialist on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Knits are looped-together yarns with built-in stretch, while wovens generally are more stable fabrics made by lacing yarns together at right angles.

Attention, voters! In the 1980 presidential election, 62 percent of people age 65 and older voted, says Judith L. Warren, a family life education specialist — aging.

This turnout was significantly higher than that of any other age group, she says.

Warren is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Homeowners, if structural defects are uncovered in your home, you may be able to get the builder to fix them, even if you aren't the original owner, says Dr.

Jane Berry, a housing and home furnishings specialist.

In the past, homebuilders' warranties have traditionally covered only problems encountered by the original owner, but the courts have ruled in South Carolina and in Wyoming that builders can be liable for latent defects discovered within the first few years.

Berry is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

See? Special diets are not really that bad. Any book store has recipe books for just about anything you could need. There's no excuse for anyone doing without delicious food just because they have dietary restrictions. Always remember when serving a special diet that serving it on or in attractive dishes is important and don't forget to add two very special ingredients that you won't find in the recipe ... moral support and encouragement. Until next week then ... Bon Appetit.

NORMAL?

The world's most familiar medical instrument is the thermometer. It measures one of the key symptoms in most illnesses.

Too bad we have no similar instrument for measuring key symptoms of spiritual illness. Some of us go along for years quite unaware that something serious can be wrong with us... something that will only become evident when we confront a crisis with which we have neither the resources nor strength to cope.

This is God's world. We are his creatures. Can there be anything more normal than to seek resources and strength from God... long before a crisis will test them.

Worshipping regularly provides opportunity for building spiritual health.

The Shepherd's Staff

By the
Rev. Barrett Renfro, Pastor
First United Methodist Church

At the heart of the Christian faith is our participation in the life, suffering, death, resurrection and ascension of Jesus Christ our Lord. We proclaim that "the Word became flesh and dwelt among us" (John 1:14).

At the center of that Word is the season in the Christian year called Lent. In Lent we celebrate the most powerful parts of the story of redemption.

Historically, Lent developed as a season of preparing and training persons for initiation into the church at Easter. It has come to be the 40 days of preparation of the whole church for the great saving celebrations, growing out of the intense period of discipline and instruction of the converts. This was also the period when those who had been alienated and lapsed from the church could be reconciled and restored to fellowship through prayer and forgiveness.

The early church attracted so many people because of the transforming love, sustaining strength and encouragement of its way of life. Their faith made them both free and disciplined in the way of Christ.

The reality of prayer, the power of their worship and prophetic mission — founded upon the cross and empty tomb — was the church's great evangel to a confused and brutal world. So today our recovery of the rhythm and pattern of their common discipline and celebration of the Lenten Season is part of being faithful to our evangelical calling.

Lent is a time for evangelism and true conversion

— a time for growing into Christ through repentance, fellowship, prayer, fasting and concentration upon our baptismal vocation to be signs of God's kingdom in this world.

The themes of repentance and preparation for sharing the death and resurrection of Christ are basic to those preparing for Baptism and Confirmation, and to the whole body of Christians who will renew their baptismal faith during the Easter Season.

Lent is not merely "giving up something," but taking upon ourselves the intention and the signs of true participation in the mystery of God-with-us.

Since we now live out a compulsive life style, more and more we need to take the concepts of Lent seriously. Just look at the way we live. Look at our daily routine. We have many meetings to attend, many things to do.

There is seldom a period in which we do not know what to do, and we move through life in such a distracted way that we do not even take time and rest to wonder if any of the things we do are worth doing.

We simply go along with the many "musts" and "oughts" that have been handed on to us, and we live with them as if they were authentic translations of the Gospel of our Lord. We are all busy people, just like all busy people, rewarded with the rewards which are rewarded to busy people.

This is the road to early "burn out" and Lent gives us all the opportunity to once again "be still and know that I am God."

This year I hope you will all take full advantage of the programs of the local churches.

Gospel Lighthouse members attend seminar in Houston

Three staff members of Lighthouse Christian School recently attended a Regional Clinic in Houston. The Clinic, sponsored by a Beka Book of Pensacola, Florida, dealt with administrative and teaching skills including philosophy, subjects, classroom procedures and character building.

Attending from Rockport were Rev. John Norvell, Bonnie Lane and Sharon Reeves.

Funerals and deaths

Ruben B. McKinley

Pirates tip Robstown, 67-63

Regardless of the score, the Rockport-Fulton Pirates outlasted the Robstown Cottonpickers in Pirate Gym Tuesday night to close out the season with a win, finishing play with a 17-14 record for the season.

Kenny Rogers sings, "Let's go out in a blaze of glory," and that is just what the Pirate seniors did Tuesday night. Rory Morgan started the heroics with an incredible first period in which the Pirates opened the game up with a 20 Point outburst to lead 20-10 after a quarter of play. In that eight minute stretch, Morgan scored 10 points, grabbed six rebounds, and blocked a shot which was turned into a Pirate basket seconds later.

Things were going well for the Pirates, who increased their lead 25-16 over the Pickers. Then, something ironic happened, Orlando Pina shot a jumper from the top of the key to add two more points to the Pirates' lead, and instead of the points getting added to the Pirate side on the scoreboard and scorebook, the Pickers got credit for the points to their number 12, Pina's number. Although there were screams from the crowd that the score was wrong, the difference was not noted until the half when it was too late to change things. Robstown made a rush at the end of the second quarter, leaving the Pirates ahead only 31-29, instead of the score being 33-27, a more comfortable margin.

Throughout the remainder of the game, the Pirates had to battle those two points they lost and Robstown gained. Once again it was time for a "blaze", and this time it came from Dennis Hull, a senior playing his last game of the season, especially after sitting out four games of being ineligible. Hull really went unnoticed in the scoring column until the final seconds of the third quarter with the Pirates leading 49-47. Micheal Simmons and Tim Redden had kept the Pirates in front during the third period, but with three seconds remaining, Hull arched a set shot from 32 feet which ripped the basket to up the Pirate lead to 51-47 at the buzzer.

Then as the fourth period progressed, Hull got hot, hitting eight of the Pirates' first 10 points of the last quarter. The momentum Hull created seemed to spill over to the other Pirates. Redden hit a final shot to give the Pirates their last two points and the game ended moments later with Robstown still after the lead.

Simmons led all scorers with 19 points for night, followed by Rory Morgan's 18 and Hull's 14 counters.

Coach Bobby Flanagan started an all senior team in this final game, the last round-ball game as Pirates for Simmons, Hull, James Walls, Morgan, Jon Shaw and Ernest Gonzales. Five other squad members have another year or two of eligibility to go: Dwayne Walls, Tim Redden, Orlando Pina, Aaron Commander and Zachary Green.

Pirate freshmen win final game

Running their season's record to 19-4, the Pirate Freshmen blasted Robstown 76-58 in their season finale in Rockport Tuesday evening.

Bill Mott, who has led the team in scoring for the season, pumped in 23 points to lead the Pirates, and Frank Canchola found the range for 20 additional points. Trinelle Walls was the only other Pirate in the double figure bracket with 12 points.

The Pirates led 16-13 after a close first period, but then they began to assert themselves, scoring 26 points in the second quarter, led by Mott's 12-point assault of the basket. The Pirates went from a three-point lead to a lead of 18 points at the half, 42-24.

Canchola scored steadily throughout the game to get his points. The Pirates had another big quarter in the third period when they hit the nets for 22 points, blowing the Pickers off the floor, leading 64-37 at the end of three.

Playing their last game as Freshmen were Darryl Roper, Rudy Soliz, Walls, Micheal Cowen, Frank Canchola, Louis Solis, Rodney Adkins, Rodney Simmons, Mott and Odom.

The Freshmen were coached by Ronnie Ormand.

JV whip Robstown

Rockport-Fulton's JV raced to another win, making the 62-49 victory over the Robstown Cottonpickers Tuesday night their fifth in their last six games.

This JV team started the season with a horrible one and 11 record, losing their first five in a row. Since that time, the team has gone nine-three.

Jay Roberts paced the Pirates in scoring with 18 points for the night. The Pirates and the Pickers played it close in the first half, tying at the end of the first quarter, 12-12, and then having the Pirates take a slim 29-25 lead at halftime.

The third quarter was the big quarter for the Pirates as they outscored the Pickers 16-9. Bobby Dingenary, scoring eight for night got all of those points in that quarter, and Roberts picked up the other eight to help the Pirates pull further away.

In the fourth period, the Pirates just managed to stay even and hold back the Pirates who picked up the pace in the final quarter.

At the game's end, Randy Foote had hit for nine points, and John Longino had added eight.

This season closed out for the members of the team: Ross Huff, Scott Russ, Jay Turner, Rusty Stovall, Jay Roberts, Randy Foote, Robert Davis, Charles Showalter, John Longino, Eddie Bechtol and Bobby Dingenary.

Splitting time coaching the JV this season were Jim Hatfield and Ronnie Ormand.

Area fishing report

There has been lots of action with the sailiners at KLEINES RATTLESNAKE POINT with good catches of trout and flounder being reported. Not much results being reported from those using rod and reel. Thursday's norther shut down the sailiner action but it will resume as soon as the winds shift back. Frozen bait is plentiful at the camp, 729-2892.

There have been some reports from KEY ALLEGRO MARINA that some fishermen leaving from there are having some results in Copano Bay, Redfish Bay and around Key Allegro. Most of the fishermen are using mirror lures. There still is no bait at the marina but when the weather warms up this will change. When the waters get up to 68 or 70 degrees the charter boats will begin going out and some good reports will begin coming in from the offshore boys, and girls. 729-2761.

The last three nights saw good action at the COPANO CAUSEWAY FISHING PIER with lots of nice trout being caught. Most of them are being taken on artificial bait. The drum are also beginning to run with a 40 pounder being landed Wednesday night. Frozen bait is plentiful, 729-8633.

We still can't reach the T. CHARLES BAY CLUB by phone but we got some reports that things were a little slow in this area.

Until the Thursday morning rains fishermen at the PALM HARBOR MARINA were having good luck and reports of some nice size trout and reds were coming in. A few anglers left the dock Thursday but the rain drove them back in. Frozen bait is available but most of the fish being landed are being taken on purple worm fuzzlers and spoons, 729-8540.

SEA GUN has very little action the past week with only a few persons trying their luck off the pier, dead bait is available, 729-2341.

FULTON HARBOR BAIT STAND is still closed, no report.

Things have been pretty slow at BEACH ROAD BAIT HOUSE, a few fishermen have been landing some nice reds and trout but the rain brought that to a stop. Frozen shrimp and mullet are available, 729-8614.

Lots of nice flounder, reds and trout are being caught off the SANDOLAR dock. Most of the fishermen are using worm fuzzlers, speck rigs of frozen shrimp, 729-8562.

Operation already getting results

CORPUS CHRISTI — Intensified law enforcement efforts during January resulted in the seizure by game wardens of more than 15 miles of illegal monofilament gill nets in the lower half of the Texas gulf coast.

Frank Dickerson, regional law enforcement director for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, said the 83,000 feet of netting was the largest ever one-month haul for any region. Dickerson's Region 10 stretches roughly from Aransas County to Brownsville, and includes such major bays as Aransas, Redfish, Corpus Christi and the Upper and Lower Laguna Madre.

Top moneymakers

These four "cupids" were most industrious during the recent Singing Valentine project. Chris Iles, Bill Weaver, Kenneth Smith and Martin Rodriguez raised more than $300 for the Vienna fund with their singing messages. They were the top four moneymakers in the choir on this project. [Photo by Becky Werhan]

Tax rights explained in pamphlet

Area property owners now have a source of information on how they may be able to save on their property taxes, says Jack Groseclose, chief appraiser for the Aransas County Appraisal District.

The information is in an eight-page pamphlet, "Taxpayers' Rights, Remedies, Responsibilities," available free at the appraisal district office in Rockport.

Developed by the State Property Tax Board, the pamphlet explains how the property tax system works in Texas and highlights possible tax savings available to citizens.

Information in the pamphlet applies to property taxes collected by all levels of local government including counties, cities and school districts, Groseclose added. Information includes details on the residence homestead exemptions offered by the various taxing entities.

In Aransas County, Groseclose said, homeowners in the Aransas County Independent School District are eligible for a $5,000 general homestead exemption. Persons suffering certain types of disability or aged 65 or over may qualify for an additional $10,000 exemption — provided they apply for the exemption, Groseclose said.

"Taxpayers who were 65 or older on Jan. 1 of this year are also entitled to a school tax freeze on the tax bill for their house and yard," Groseclose added. He emphasized again that application must be made through his office for any exemption.

Homeowners may also be eligible for a $3,000 general homestead exemption for county purposes, Groseclose added, and residents of Rockport may also qualify for county purposes, Groseclose added, and residents of Rockport may also qualify for the $5,000 general homestead exemption adopted by the city council Monday night.

Groseclose emphasized that all of these entities offer additional exemptions for taxpayers who are disabled or are age 65 or over. Owners of agricultural land may be entitled to taxation on the basis of the productivity of their land rather than market value, Groseclose said — again, provided they apply for the exemption.

Groseclose urged property owners to pick up a copy of the pamphlet "and make application for all tax relief to which they are entitled," he said.

He added that all tax relief applications must be made to the district appraisal office before May 1.

Open house was held Sunday Feb. 21, to help Leah Mattison celebrate her 80th birthday. Her home was decorated with flowers sent from friends and relatives. The serving table was covered in a gold cloth and the centerpiece was an arrangement of white and yellow daisies and mums sent to her by the local P.E.O. chapter. The 50 guests were served hors d'oeuvres, open faced sandwiches, petit fours and punch.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Markow from Austin are visiting Mrs. Henry Hale.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cooper Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cooper, winter residents from Illinois, had as guests at the Village Inn L. Collett (former Member of the Ted Weems Orchestra) and his wife Marcia from Brownsville.

Mrs. Betty Jean Ward has as a house guest her 18-month old grandson James Davis from Houston.

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Kimbrough have visiting them for two weeks Mrs. Kimbrough's sister Gladys Dowey from Amarillo.

Bud Biggs from Richardson will be at the Estelle Stairs Gallery for two weeks doing a watercolor workshop. This is his 14th year teaching in Rockport.

Molly and Dwayne Laqua, recent newlyweds, were surprised by a singing valentine that the choir did from Molly's mother Betty Jean Ward.

Congratulations! Young Stephen Michael Leach was born on his father's birthday Feb. 17, in Spohn Hospital and he weighed seven pounds, 10 ounces. He is the son of Brenda and Gary Leach of Rockport. His maternal grandparents are Barbara and James Tumlinson of Rockport and paternal grandparents are Delores and Walter Leach of Point Blank. Little Gray has five great grandparents, and two of them, from Rockport, are Mr. and Mrs. H.J. Tumlinson. The rest of the great grandparents all live in Texas.

Twenty friends of Ann Robins gathered together at Duck Inn Feb. 20 to celebrate Ann's birthday. Gifts were presented to Ann from a festively decorated birthday table.

Mrs. Connie Garcia and Yolanda Garcia are spending the weekend in Dallas attending Shoe Market at the Apparel Mart.

Bethel and Bill Baker from Lake Leann, Mich., spent a month at Harbor Lights, took a short trip to Mission and are back again in Rockport staying at the same place for several weeks.

Becky and Larry Boyer and children Lisa and Erica from Jackson, Mich., have decided to make Rockport their permanent home, after spending several weeks at a time here.

Back in the area after visiting here before are Mr. and Mrs. Orle Springate from Kansas City, Kan., and staying at Harbor Lights.

At Circle Inn Camp Grounds, Tuesday night a big "fun" fish fry was held for a big get-together of all the residents and their friends.

Wedding bells will ring this Saturday at 4 p.m. at the Sacred Heart Church to unite Lois Miner and John Deets in Matrimony. Billie and Dick Franklin will be the attendants. Father Rory Deane will officiate at the ceremony. A reception will be held after the services in the Rec Hall at the Travel Trailer Haven.

Explorers Post seeks funds

The Rockport Law Enforcement Explorers, Post 343, are asking the Aransas County community to help them obtain uniforms.

Post 343 is part of the National Association of Law Enforcement Explorers that is a division of the Boy Scouts of America. They are non-profit, community organization that studies all aspects of law enforcement, both local, state, and federal, and give aid to local and state police officers.

They need uniforms, consisting of a shirt, badge, and patches, in order to look more presentable when riding with law officers. Each uniform cost is about $60.00 per person and there are fifteen local members. A goal of $1200 has been set and they have so far obtained over $200.00.

Donations of any amount will be greatly appreciated and it is tax deductible. You can pledge your donation by calling the Rockport Sheriff's office or Howard Grady McNutt at 729-0874 after 5:00 P.M. You can also mail it in to: P.O. Box 1312, Rockport, Texas. Make all checks payable to Law Enforcement Explorers, Post 343.

Art Association drive set

The Rockport Art Association is having a "Boost Membership Party" starting at 6 p.m. Saturday, March 6, at Live Oak Center on Highway 35 North.

Letters are in the mail to more than 200 area residents inviting them to the affair which will feature wine, chips and dips on the menu and "will be a purely fun gathering," according to Peggy Bloch, membership chairman for the art association.

Watercolorist Bud Biggs will be on hand to greet those attending the party and some of his works will be on display.

Membership in the Rockport Art Association is based on annual dues which are $15 for individual membership, $25 for family membership. Other memberships available are $100 sponsoring membership, $500 for sustaining membership and $1,000 for lifetime membership.

Pet Talks

Dr. Lutz is a former instructor of diseases of dogs and cats in the college of Veterinary Medicine at Texas A&M University.

Dear Dr. Lutz,

My wife and I, with our two dogs made a trip last year to the Pacific Northwest. We traveled through California, Oregon, and Washington. We did a lot of salmon fishing and caught our share.

Unfortunately, our two dogs became very sick on the trip and both passed away. Two days before they died, they both ate salmon fish heads. I don't understand how this could have caused it, because in Texas they frequently have eaten fish heads with no effect. Do you think the salmon heads could have caused their death?

Signed,
A Concerned Fisherman

Dear Sir:

Any dog owner planning on traveling to this area with dogs should beware of the dog malady called "Salmon Fish Poisoning" which occurs in this area of the country.

Your dogs likely died of Trematodos due to a fluke that is a common parasite of salmon. Cooking destroys the fluke.

Signed,
Dr. Hap Lutz

Mayor

said Ammons.

The Texas Water Resources Board General Counsel forwarded a copy of the investigation request to the Attorney General's office. A letter from the Water Resources office to Ammons informed the association of this officially. No further information on the reception of the ACTA package was made known by the Water Resources Board.

"I think we're getting the political heave-ho," Ammons told the ACTA membership. He then said that they should wait at least 30 days for results. "Then we can see if we can't begin to put a little more pressure on the Austin end," said Ammons.

The ACTA request to Texas Education Agency for an investigation into the Aransas County School District had not been mailed as of the ACTA meeting time. The package, prepared by James Metzner, was mailed on Wednesday however.

Mayor Falk was introduced to the membership and then spoke on "The City of Rockport, Where We Are, Where We're Going."

County

going to be on Hart Graphic's tail every time something happens with these."

The machines have recently been used in Parker and Webb counties, as well as other places throughout the United States.

In other action, the court discussed a request made by the Chamber of Commerce Clean Up Program for the use of a large garbage truck for community clean up. The commissioners discussed the request and decided to ask a representative from the clean up group to come and speak to them regarding the project.

Also during this session, the commissioners adopted a resolution, to be jointly signed by Rockport and Fulton city councils, accepting the Emergency Management Order which has been discussed in previous court sessions.

The court also received a petition from a group of citizens who make regular use of the Aransas County Airport. The said, "I think Rockport needs a charter real bad. We need to be able to annex the bay area."

Charter

As a general law city, Rockport is presently unable to annex territory unless annexation is requested by property owners in the territory. Aransas Pass is a home rule city and able to annex additional territory at will.

Referring to this and the desirability of controlling the commercial development currently under way along Highway 35 South between the two cities, Mills said, "our neighboring city is coming this way and that's going to be it."

Mills said he does not want to make home rule for Rockport a campaign issue but, he added, "We need it (home rule) desperately. We need to get it going right away."

Christi Vaughn, also a candidate for mayor, said, "I think the city is to a size where it needs a charter. If we're going to bring this government into modern times, a charter is necessary."

Betty Jean Ward, incumbent and candidate for re-election as alderman in City Ward 1, said, "I would very much like to see home rule for Rockport. Dan (her husband, the late Alderman E. Dan Ward) and I were for it in the beginning and very disappointed when it didn't pass the first time."

She feels by not becoming a home rule city Rockport is losing potential sources of revenue — and will lose more as the question is delayed. "I really think they should sit down at the table and go over it again."

The "first time" Mrs. Ward referred to was in 1979 when city officials called an election in which 15 city residents were selected by voters to draft a proposed charter for the city.

Murray McMillan, city alderman seeking re-election as Ward 2 representative, was on the charter commission and is in favor of trying again — although he expressed a doubt: "I don't know if you could get a group to do it (serve as the charter commission)." Members of the previous charter commission, he said "were really frustrated" by failure of the charter to be adopted.

McMillan feels Rockport should try again for home rule, warning, "If we don't, we're going to be a suburb of Aransas Pass."

Although state law says a city cannot adopt a charter and become a home rule city until it has a population of at least 5,000 people — and although the 1980 Census credited Rockport with a population of only around 3,600 — Falk believes the city will have no trouble proving Rockport does qualify for home rule.

Alderman W. B. Allen, asked his opinion of whether Rockport should have a charter, said, "I would like to see it changed, myself." Asked if he believes Rockport should be a home rule city, his answer was an emphatic, "Yes, sir!"

group requested that a traffic light, an amber warning, be placed at the intersection of Highway 35 and the airport access road, in light of past accidents and high speed traffic in that area. Discussion by the commissioners and Wendell followed, with the judge saying that the State Highway Department was the only body to make such a decision and that he would request that they make a traffic survey count of the intersection.

Appraisal review board to be appointed Monday

Members of the Aransas County appraisal review board are scheduled to be named at a meeting of the county appraisal district at 4 p.m. Monday, March 1.

Also on the agenda for the meeting is discussion of delegates to the Texas Appraisal District Association Convention in Dallas April 23-24.

The appraisal review board, established by the state legislation that set up the county-wide appraisal districts, may consist of from three to 30 members depending on the size of the district, and will hear appeals from property owners wishing to protest values set on their property by district appraisers.

'Very gentle'

That's how Rockport Animal Control Officer Dick MacMurphy describes this one-year-old male dog up for adoption at the city pound. The dog is a mixed-labrador retriever and, says MacMurphy, would make a good companion for a child. "He's very friendly with kids and other animals," the animal control officer said. Anyone interested in giving the dog a home is asked to call MacMurphy Monday or later at the city pound [729-0730] or through the police department [729-2040] or City Hall [729-2213].
