Mayor To Be Elected Council To Consider Budget Plans

A long agenda will face Colorado City's new city council in the regular monthly April meeting Monday night.

First matter of business will be a public hearing on the city's budget for the coming year. After the budget is considered, the council will canvass results of the April 1 city election and, if all is in order, the four council members elected will be sworn in.

Elected incumbents Jody Neff and Rick Perkin and Dr. Elton Berkman and J. O. Dockrey.

After they take the oath of office, they will join council members J. Lee Jones Jr., Marion Bassham and Larry Hamner on the council and elect a mayor and mayor pro-tem.

Mayor is now C. C. (Mike) Burt, who did not seek re-election and Mayor Pro-tem is Jones.

Following the election of the city's top two officials, the council will consider the matter of appointing a city attorney.

City Manager James Campbell has recommended the hiring of James Gregg as city attorney. The city has been without a city attorney since late last year when Dell Barber resigned. Campbell pointed out to the council last month that there is a backlog of cases in municipal court that needs to be taken care of.

In other matters, the council will also consider a city and engineering report on a water pipe over the west river bridge, award bids on a road grader, consider renewing a contract for collection of delinquent taxes and consider a request for funds from the Little League. Regarding the proposed city budget for the coming fiscal year, the tax rate will remain the same with the only major changes in the budget having to do with city salaries and benefits for city employees including health insurance. Complete details of the budget can be found on Page 6 of this issue of the Record. Members of the council have been working on the budget for several months.

Gas Venture In Sterling

A wildcat gas venture has been staked in northern Sterling County, just across the southern Mitchell County line.

C9k Petroleum Inc. of Midland, will drill the No. 1-73 Reed as an 8,500-foot Ellenburger gas wildcat one location south of the current four-well Triple C (Ellenburger oil) field of Sterling County, 12 miles north of Sterling City.

Location is 660 feet from the north and east lines of 73-17-SPRR. It is at the same location Taurus Petroleum Inc. of Midland, staked its No. 1 Reed, an 8,100-foot test as a stepout to the field in Sept., 1973. Permit to drill apparently was cancelled.

Game Raises $500 For 4-H

The basketball game and pie and cake auction to raise money for Lone Wolf 4-H Club was a financial success, banking over $500 for the club's use.

Tommy Maricle's auctioneering brought bidding on pies and cakes, baked by 4-H clubbers and their mothers, to high points, including $22 paid by Bob McClure for a meringue pie which he threw at Bobby Lemons's head and the remains had to be wiped up off the floor.

No one ever quite knew how the game between the 4-H boys and their parents vs. school administrators and school board members from Colorado City and Loraine ever turned out, as scorekeeper Frank Brownfield had a hot hand when it came to tallying the 4-H score. Sometimes if the ball touched the basket rim, the 4-H team got one point for coming close. Also, Brownfield seemed to get the scoreboard columns mixed up, as at one point the score was Schoolmen, 18; 4-H, 13, and a basket by the 4-H team made the score 23-18.

Highlighting the game, however, was the entire B&PW team, as they took the court dressed in bloomers, with cheerleaders Mary Lee Moore and Ida Kirchbaum, among others, urging their team on with buckets full of geritol. At one point, Mary Lee Moore offered to bribe referees Bill McGuire and Lonnie Ellis with contents from a suspicious-looking bottle. They threw her off the court.

A couple of "strange women" appeared on court during the game, having some resemblance to Bob Benson and Bob McClure, but no one was ever able to make a complete identification, even after Sheriff McGuire gave spectators pointers in identification of suspects.

The game was played Friday night in Wolves Gym. Although both teams asked for re-matches, no plans have been made for replaying the contest this year.

Cosden Strike Averted

A strike by union employees of Cosden Oil and Chemical Co. scheduled for Thursday morning was averted 15 minutes before the 8 a.m. deadline.

The negotiators emerged from a 24-hour meeting to announce that an agreement had been reached with local 826 of the International Union of Operating Engineers on all contested issues.

"This was an honorable settlement," Kenneth Howell, union manager, said.

The strike originally was scheduled for 7 a.m. Thursday but the deadline was extended one hour when it appeared that a settlement was near.

The contract has now been extended until next Tuesday so that union members can complete a ratification vote.

If the 498-member union accepts the offer, the pact will extend for two years, according to Howell.

Both sides made some concessions, it was disclosed. Overall the refinery lab will be manned by five fewer men and the polystyrene unit will have four fewer employees. Cosden had previously requested eliminating 15 jobs, but settled for the removal of nine employees. Union members will have an immediate 75-cent per hour wage increase retroactive to Jan. 8 and will receive a 4 per cent wage boost July 1 and an eight per cent raise Jan. 1.

Wildcat Girls To Regional Meet

Mary Alaniz took the only first place medal for the Westbrook Girls track team but a pair of relay teams and three other Wildcats qualified as regional participants or alternates in the 9B District Track Meet held Wednesday at Snyder.

Miss Alaniz was clocked at 67.1 for first place in the open 440 run and then came back to anchor the Mile Relay's second place time of 4:39.5. Roby's 4:36.9 was first place in that event as they also wrapped up the team title.

Westbrook finished the meet with a total of 75 points, their highest output in a single meet since beginning track competition, said Coach Charles Parrell.

Besides the top two finishes by Westbrook tracksters, the 880 relay, 80-yard low hurdles, shot put and 880 run all found Wildcats registering as alternates for regional competition in Loveland, April 18-19.

Westbrook captured a total of 12 medals and 10 ribbons as Dana Dorn, Brenda Matlock, Mary Martinez and Julia Sweatt placed third in the 880 relay. Miss Matlock also tossed the shot 28'9 3/4" for another third place medal. Carolyn Hubbard was clocked at 12.8 in the low hurdles for third place and then teamed with Sweatt, Martinez and Alaniz in the Mile Relay, clocking their best time this year.

Janice Ritchey was third in the half-mile and also ran the 220 but failed to qualify.

The 440 Relay team just missed third place honors with a 56.3 effort, their best time of the year, as they were overtaken by Loraine's team with a 55.5 time. Julie King, Hubbard, Sweatt and Alaniz composed the Sprint Relay team.

Dana Dorn added another fourth place with a discus throw of 71' 8 3/4".

Mary Martinez placed fifth in the 440 dash with a 70.7 time and also competed in the long jump and triple jump. Dana Dorn placed fifth in the shot with an effort of 27' 9 1/4".

Besides handling the Sprint Relay, Julie King took sixth place in the 60-yard dash at 8.0, qualified and finished sixth in the 100 with a time of 12.8, then triple jumped for a new school record and another sixth place in the meet.

All regional qualifiers compete in the Regional Meet at Loveland and the top two finishers in each event then go on to Austin for state competition.

Organizations Help Families Adopt Vietnamese Children

Children are being evacuated from Vietnam and are being transported to the United States by airplane.

For families who have children in Vietnam, if the child is an American citizen, servicemen or veterans should contact the United States Embassy. If the child is in Vietnam and not an American citizen, and there is no formal action, previously initiated to request child's entrance in United States, sponsor must file a form 1-30 with immigration and naturalization service to place child on list.

When the above applications are approved, sponsor should request child's guardian or relative to go to the United States Embassy or the United States Consulate to file for visa. It is probable that the guardian or sponsor will also be requested to secure from the Vietnam government an exit permit.

For those citizens who wish to adopt these orphaned Vietnamese children, they are urged to contact either of the below organizations:

USAID Coordinating Efforts of Friends of Children of Vietnam, Denver, Colo.; World Vision Relief Organization, Monrovia, Calif.; Friends For All Children, Boulder Colo.; Holt's Children Service, Eugene, Oregon; Traveller's Aid Inc. of America, New York City, N.Y.; U. S. Catholic Conf., New York City, N.Y. and Pearl S. Buck Foundation, Philadelphia, Penn. You may call USAID toll free at 800-424-1180 for all necessary information.

Why Should I Go To Church?

Father Busch

Priest

St. Ann's Catholic Church

Colorado City

Why Should I Go To Church Services? I don't "get anything" out of it. The question is a familiar one to many Christian parents of teenagers. It is also a "statement of principle" made by many adults. When I was a teenager many years ago Sunday Mass, for me, was neither particularly enjoyable, nor particularly disagreeable. It was simply the Catholic way of worshipping God. And I was a Catholic.

Today's teenager is in a different situation. For some years now there has, generally, been a de-emphasis on the fear of God as a motive for our actions, emphasizing love of God and one's neighbor. Unfortunately this good development has been misused by some people. They have tried to replace the old "God will punish me" with the new stand: "Whatever you want, is right for you." This attitude would, of course, negate all wrongdoing and at the same time all meritorious actions.

So it is understandable

if our young people, then, are more interested in meaning and authenticity than in law, force and blind obedience. And so it is best to talk about our Church laws and life in these terms. Is there any meaning to Church service attendance? Or is it merely "something we ought to do?" When teenagers say that Church services are not real, or have no meaning for them, they may mean that there is no back-up. With no prayer in the home and no conscious Christian activity at any other time of the week, why the sudden Christianity on Sunday? Or they may be saying that the services as conducted in their church are "beneath their intelligence," that the minister is careless and does not prepare his sermon well. But the intellectual level of the service is ultimately determined by the worshipper, not the celebrant. The service should be pleasing, but it is not a spectator event. It is a religious experience that calls for the participation of all present.

Youth may feel that most of the people at the services are hypocrites who do not practice what they preach (and sometimes they may be correct). But, although the young ought to be idealistic, criticism of the Church family seems to me an unchristian judgment which contradicts what many of the same young people are saying in other areas. People should not go to Church as a sign of their virtuous achievement. Rather they should be, and I believe the majority are, aware of the fact that the Church family is made up of sinners. They are gathering to ask God's help because they realize they need it and so do the young people!

I am always troubled when I hear someone say: "I don't go to church, because I don't 'get anything' out of it." True proof of my love for someone, whether it be God or another human being, is certainly not what I can "get out of him." That is plain selfishness-but rather what can I give to, or do for, the one I love.

We "get" everything we are and have from God. In our Church services, we should be "giving" back to God our love, adoration and worship-not just trying to "get" more out of Him.

Rebate Proposed On State Convention

State Senator Ray Farabee called Tuesday's Senate passage of a proposed constitution a move that will "...give the taxpayers of Texas some return on the 4 1/2 million dollars that was spent on the 1974 Constitutional Convention." Other Senators expressed similar sentiments as the Senate passed a document that would allow an article by article vote on a revision of Texas' Constitution.

Farabee said the Senate passed substantially the same document which obtained a majority vote in the '74 Convention. A 2/3 vote was required to pass a document out of that meeting. This action, Farabee said "will give the people an opportunity to vote on revision." The revised Constitution will be divided into eight separate propositions so Texans can accept or reject various articles without having to approve or disapprove the entire proposed Constitution. Farabee indicated that the proposed document retains many provisions in the present Constitution. The "pay as you go" provision which requires State Government to operate in the black was cited by Senator Farabee as one of those retained.

Another section retained in the proposed document is the "homestead exemption."

Senator Farabee said he was pleased with the provisions of the proposed Constitution which would benefit rural areas. Farabee indicated the revised Constitution actually contains provisions not in the present Constitution which would aid farmers and ranchers. One such section would prohibit a retail sales tax on agricultural machinery or parts, fertilizer, feed or seed.

In addition, the proposed document speaks to agricultural interests by retaining a section mandating separate formulas on the appraisal of property for tax purposes. These separate formulas would "...promote the preservation of open-space land devoted to farm or ranch purposes..."

The Senate-passed document also retains the prohibition against a state-wide ad valorem tax. As in the present Constitution only two exceptions are allowed, a 10¢ per $100 valuation tax for higher education and a 2¢ per $100 valuation tax for the State Building Fund.

Even these ad valorem taxes, however, would not apply to "...farm products in the hands of the producer..."

An appealing new aspect of this proposed revision, according to Senator Farabee, is a section that strengthens local government. The Senate passed revision makes it possible for more local matters to be handled by local citizens as opposed to present system where many issues, purely local in nature, have to be passed by the Legislature.

One of the goals of the proposed document is more efficiency in State Government. One section of the document would provide a mandatory review of state agencies every ten years. "We have to be able to stem the unnecessary growth of government," Farabee stressed, "and this provision will provide for the elimination of inefficient or outmoded agencies in Texas government."

Also in this area is a provision allowing "budget execution" which would give the Governor power to oversee the expenditure of state funds. As a result he could stop the spending of appropriated funds for which there is no longer a need. A general law would be necessary to implement this section.

The proposal for the revision of the Constitution will now go to the House of Representatives and if approved, will then be submitted to a vote of the people, November 4.
