DEATH-DEALING CAR — This car, driven by R. R. Gores, 25, of White Deer, Saturday night struck and killed a Navajo Indian, tentatively identified as Kee C. Sosie, 40, of Oraibi, Ariz. Patrolman George Campbell points to the part of the windshield where the man's head is presumed to have hit. Sosie and two other Indians were walking down the Amarillo highway, this side of Kingsmill, in the same direction as traffic when the mishap occurred, Gores said. (News Photo)

Auto Kills Pedestrian

A Navajo Indian was killed shortly after 9 p.m. Saturday on the Amarillo highway, just east of Kingsmill, when an automobile struck, dragged and tossed him into a ditch.

Dead is Kee C. Sosie, 40, of Oraibi, Ariz., as tentatively identified by a World War II draft registration card and Social Security card found in his possession. Officers late Saturday night "felt pretty sure" that was the correct identification.

Driver of the car was R. R. Gores, 25, of White Deer, who was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Clark, 520 N. Yeager.

The accident occurred about sixtenths of a mile west of the Celanese railroad spur, investigating officers said, making the scene about 5.5 miles west of Pampa.

Justice of the Peace D. R. Henry ruled late Saturday night that it was "an accidental death from a moving automobile."

According to Gores and Clark, there were three Indians walking down the road in the direction of

Borger Runaway Train Crashes

BORGER, Tex., Sept. 19 —UP— A string of runaway tank cars filled with highly-inflammable naphtha crashed into a string of parked freight cars loaded with fuel oil at the Borger Santa Fe yards early Saturday.

There was no explosion or fire. But damage was estimated at $450,000. Naphtha and oil were spilled over the yards and members of the Borger fire department stood by at the scene of the smashup for seven hours until danger of fire was past.

The crash occurred on the main Amarillo-Borger tracks. Ernie Ruess, Borger Santa Fe agent, said the accident occurred when the 30 tankers pulled loose from a switch engine and rolled three-quarters of a mile down a two per cent decline. He said the accident was caused by failure to set hand brakes properly.

PROMISES ALL-OUT EFFORT

Benson Blames Demos For Farmers' Economic Squeeze

RUSSELLS CORNER, Wis., Sept. 19—UP—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson promised farmers Saturday that the administration will "do everything to enhance" farm prices.

Benson, in one of his most important speeches since he became a cabinet member eight months ago, addressed 75,000 Midwestern dirt farmers at the National Conservation Field Day and Plowing Contest.

He blamed the Democrats for the present economic squeeze on farmers, and denied Democratic charges that the Eisenhower administration has gone back on its farm pledges.

Will Do Everything

On the contrary, he said, the administration will "do everything to enhance farm prices in 1953 and 1954."

Benson said he would not "sit idly by wringing my hands and let the farmers be squeezed by lower farm prices and higher costs."

But he said the farm policies formulated by the Democrats, under which the Eisenhower administration is forced to operate, "don't go far enough."

Doesn't Help Farmers

He said these policies "don't give the farmer an equitable share of the national income . . . don't provide new and expanding farm markets . . . don't provide incentives for progress and don't develop and expand foreign trade."

Nevertheless, he said, the Eisenhower administration will "use present farm programs to bring about agricultural stability."

Benson said charges that the GOP has failed to support parity prices and failed to come through with enough aid during the Southwestern drouth don't jibe with the facts.

No Benson Plan

Benson said there will not be a "Benson Plan."

"As long as I hold this office there will never suddenly blossom a plan, secretly arrived at," he said.

"There will be proposals openly arrived at, openly discussed and openly developed in full co-operation with your farm organizations, your land grant colleges and your Congress."

Benson said any such program must provide a "constantly improving farm economy."

"It must fully protect the farmer's freedom of choice, it must be financially practical and it must be geared to use rather than storage," he said.

Ike Praises Former Foe At GOP Meet

CHICAGO, Sept. 19—UP—President Eisenhower, in a spur-of-the-moment talk to Republican women, Saturday paid tribute to Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, one of his principal opponents at the Republican convention last year.

The President, who altered his travel plans to address a meeting of Republican women at the Conrad Hilton Hotel, said Dirksen helped push some administration-sponsored legislation through Congress and showed a "real sense of leadership."

Women Pleased

Mr. Eisenhower's hastily arranged appearance obviously pleased the GOP women highly, and they showed it by their rousing ovation. They had invited him to climax their two-day session and to offset some of the publicity the Democrats got at a meeting here earlier this week.

Mr. Eisenhower responded with an impromptu reference to "clever talk and sometimes bad department," which his listeners took as a reference to Adlai Stevenson and former President Harry S. Truman, respectively.

The President said he was "delighted" to share the speaker's platform with "my great associate, Senator Dirksen of Illinois."

Armed Forces May Resort To Draft

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19—UP—A Defense Department spokesman said Saturday that all of the armed forces may be forced to draft men after next July 1.

He emphasized that the department has no plans now to resort to across-the-board inductions, but he said they are a "distinct possibility" in view of the services' tremendous replacement needs for non-career soldiers, sailors and airmen.

Mean Big Increase

If adopted, a service-wide draft would mean a big increase in monthly draft calls above those already anticipated. Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey has estimated that inductions may soar as high as 50,000 to 60,000 a month by mid-1954 to meet Army needs alone.

Factors pointing to possible use of the draft by all the services were outlined in the current issue of the authoritative Army-Navy-Air Force Journal.

It said the signing of the Truce in Korea and the prospective "absence of hostilities" has created a "unique manpower situation." Men who once might have signed up for longer terms in the Air Force and Navy to be relatively safe from Army combat duty are now likely to wait for the draft and a shorter tour with the Army, it said.

Signed for Navy

"Defense officials freely concede," the Journal said, "that thousands of men were motivated to sign up for four years in the Air Force or Navy, rather than serving two years in the Army under the draft, while fighting was in progress in Korea.

Dispatch Claims Secrets Offered

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Sept. 20—UP—The San Diego Union reported Saturday that a refugee claiming to be ousted Soviet secret police chief Lavrenti Beria has escaped from Russia and is offering to exchange top Russian secrets for asylum in the United States.

The newspaper reported in a copyrighted dispatch that the man claiming to be Beria and three other top Soviet Communists who escaped from under the eyes of Soviet guards are now hiding in a "deep southern country."

The newspaper did not say specifically where the men are hiding, but it said it came upon the story during an investigation of communism in Latin America.

Union Arranged It

The Union said it was the intermediary through which the original contact was made between the man, the McCarthy Senate Investigating subcommittee and U.S. intelligence agencies.

The newspaper said it had withheld publication of the story because of its importance until reports of it leaked in Washington.

The original report that four top Communist leaders had escaped from Russia and were seeking asylum here came to the San Diego newspaper as the result of an investigation it is making of Communist infiltration in Latin America.

Routed Through Mexico

The newspaper said the information was routed through a western hemisphere center of Communist espionage operating out of Mexico City. The members of the center now fear for their lives as a result of Beria's ouster by Premier Georgi Malenkov.

The newspaper said it gave the information to the McCarthy subcommittee and to government investigative bodies.

Since then, an agent of the McCarthy committee has been in touch with the man representing himself as Beria who was ousted last July 9 as home minister and first deputy chairman of the council of ministers.

According to the information given the newspaper, Beria and his three companions escaped by plane from Russia and are hiding in a neutral country.

The Communist agent in Mexico City who forwarded the information described an elaborate but precise arrangement by which an American agent could contact the refugees in the neutral country.

The directions were carried out and a preliminary contact was established, the Union said.

In Washington the State Department refused to comment. Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) told reporters that he had no comment at this time.

Elks Launch Drive For Old Clothing

The Frank Leder Drive for old clothing to go to needy Pampa families will officially open Monday, announced Joe Tooley, chairman of the Elks Club Social and Community-Welfare committee.

Pointing out that there are 152 Pampa families who are in need of warm clothing for the winter months ahead, Tooley urged local residents to contribute clothing for all ages, particularly for little girls between the ages of 2 and 6.

Persons wishing to aid the drive may phone Tooley, 1240, or call Earl Icenogle at the Elks Club, Phone 4111, and the clothes will be picked up by club members.

Assisting Tooley in the drive is John Wells, who replaces the late Frank Leder, in whose memory the drive is being conducted. Other workers will be named Tuesday night.

This is the third year the Elks have collected and distributed clothing. Last year, they handled a total of 10,000 garments, valued at an estimated worth of $1 each.

Ike May Request Retail Sales Tax

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 —UP— Rep. Noah M. Mason (R-Ill.) asserted Saturday that President Eisenhower is planning to ask Congress to enact a national five per cent retail sales tax.

Mason, a high-ranking member of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, said he had it "on good authority" that Mr. Eisenhower is "about ready" to ask for the tax.

It would replace revenue that will be lost starting Jan. 1 when the excess profits tax expires and a 10 per cent individual income tax cut become effective.

$5 Billion Take

Mason said that, as he understands it, the levy would replace existing excise taxes — except on liquor, beer, wine and tobacco — and would raise $5 billion.

He said he will introduce a counter-measure, an 8 per cent manufacturers' sales tax, to be imposed on all finished manufactured goods as a replacement for present excise taxes. He calculated his proposal would increase net revenues by $3.5 billion.

Mason predicted, however, that Congress will not agree to either type in 1954, an election year.

Opposes Sales Tax

He joined Chairman Daniel A. Reed (R-N.Y.) of the House Ways and Means Committee, in opposition to a federal sales tax, which would put a levy on every consumer sale, excluding food and such other essentials as medicine.

Reed, who battled President Eisenhower in the last session before losing his fight to kill the excess profits tax warned last week that he would resist again in the next session any kind of tax increase.

Critics of the manufacturers excise tax, such as that Mason backs, have contended that, in the end, it would be borne by the consumer and have the effect of a sales tax.

Five Hundred Children Flee Theater As Blast Starts Fire

ATHENS, Tex., Sept. 19 —UP— An explosion in the projection booth triggered a fire that swept the Dixie Theater during a children's double-feature matinee Saturday, routing an estimated 500 children.

The supervisor at Henderson County Memorial Hospital said 15 persons were brought in for treatment, but only one, a nine-year-old girl, was hospitalized.

Several mothers fainted in front of the burning theater when many of the children were rushed out a back door and the women could not locate their daughters or sons. Two women were taken to the hospital, one suffering hysteria. The other was overcome by smoke. They were released before they were identified.

Downtown shoppers rushed off the street into the burning theater to hustle children out of the building. One unidentified Negro man who was sitting in the balcony grabbed two children, tucked one under each arm, jumped from the balcony to the ground floor and rushed out a burning door, police said.

Billowing smoke from the theater fire was visible from eight miles. One fireman, Tommy (Red) Hopson of the Athens volunteer department, was overcome by smoke and given oxygen at the scene.

The smoke was so thick that the Henderson county court house, just across the street from the burning theater, was not visible.

Pampa's POW Back Home After 3 Years As Prisoner

He's home!

M-Sgt. James W. Hart, one of Pampa's two repatriated prisoners of war, stepped quickly from an Air Force plane at Amarillo Air Base at 12:40 p.m. Saturday—right into the arms of his waiting mother.

After greeting the rest of his immediate family he was greeted by Brig. Gen. W. R. Agee, commander of the base.

He got to talk to reporters for only a few seconds before medics whisked him away to the base hospital where he had to check in for further orders. Hart was told by base doctors to report back Wednesday after being put "on quarters." He will report from time to time to be checked over by Air Force doctors before given his furlough.

At home, 1012 E. Twiford, Hart agreed to talk to reporters after earlier fears that his story would arouse sympathy were quelled.

He made no bones about what he thinks of Communists:

"There is nothing so low as a Communist. They will do anything to gain their ends. They are pretty sorry."

One of the first things Sgt. Hart did when he got in the house was to change to civilian clothes. His old clothes fit him fairly well, but his trousers are a little loose around the waist.

Hart doesn't know just what happened to him physically. He is one inch shorter—5 feet nine inches—and his feet are smaller. He lost only one inch around the waist despite the fact he dropped from 194 pounds to 157.

"I guess it's mostly in my arms, and around the chest," he said, describing where he seems to be smaller.

Looking good despite three years imprisonment by the Reds, Hart says he feels fine now.

Then Mother, Dad — E. C. Hart — and sister Sue Derington, and her husband, began opening the presents he brought them from Japan, silk robes, jackets, shirts, and the like. For niece, Melissa Ann, there was a silk jumper set and slippers. The robe and jacket were a bit too big for the tyke, but everybody appeared happy over it.

The present opening over, Hart

Hart, left in the second picture, Sgt. Hart picked up his niece, Melissa Ann Derington, whom he had never seen, from her father, Bill Derington. After the immediate family greeted the returning soldier, Brig. Gen. W. R. Agee, commanding officer, Amarillo Air Force Base, came up to welcome Sgt. Hart home (third picture) to Texas. Highway 70 Group Convenes Saturday

Plans for the Canadian River Bridge on State Highway 70 north of Pampa are expected to be ready for bidding by Jan. 1, 1954, State Highway Department representatives told the Highway 70 Association here Saturday.

At the same time the group of 45 men, representing communities along the highway, named a committee to seek changing the route of 70 to some other number. The reason: to avoid confusion between the highway, which runs north and south, and U. S. Highway 70, which runs east and west, intersecting State 70 at Matador. The group also wants the highway designated as 70 for the time being from 30 miles south of Sweetwater to Eagle Pass, so it will have the same number from the top of the state to the Mexican border. Over the southernmost part of the highway it is known as U.S. 277.

C. W. Smith, assistant district engineer, and G. K. Reading, senior resident engineer for Pampa, reported on the progress being made on closing the gap on 70 between Pampa and Perryton, announcing that the bridge should be ready for contractors by January 1; letting of the jetties this week and letting of a contract for the nine miles of unpaved road in November.

A similar report was also made by Palmer Massey, district engineer at Childress, on closing the gap between Clarendon and Turkey.

Another section of the road in the Sweetwater vicinity is soon to be ready for bidding by contractors, according to information given the association by J. B. Nance, Sweetwater BCD highway committee chairman.

The session was opened by W. B. Weatherred, chairman of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce Highway and Transportation Committee. The remainder of the meeting was presided over by Cole Boswell, Turkey, president of the association.

The next meeting will be held at Sweetwater after the committee named to seek renumbering the highway confers with the State Highway Department.

Pampans Offer Reception For Released PWs

An unexpected spurt of enthusiasm from the general public left the Hart-Williams Reception Committee "up a tree" so to speak as to "what to do."

This broke when Capt. Charles Robison was interviewed Saturday morning by newsmen. Capt. Robison said he and Committee Chairman Aubrey Jones have been flooded with calls from people wanting to contribute to an "appreciation fund," for the two released Pampa prisoners of war, M-Sgt. James W. Hart and Sgt. 1-c Eugene Williams.

Robison agreed that the public should be allowed to take part in anything that is done for the two men and said that contributions have been turned over to the Chamber of Commerce office and will be received there. Five other businessmen in Pampa offered to act as receiving agencies for any contributions. They are: Jeff Beardon, Joe Fischer, Frank Fata, Bob Clements, and Jack Graham.

The committee, headed by Jones, is working on an official welcome day for both men, which will be held as soon as Sgt. Williams can get to Pampa. Sgt. Hart is home now, arriving Saturday in Amarillo.

Other members on the Hart-Williams Committee are Joe Tooley, Tom Kitchens, Harold Rinehart, Jimmy McCune and Coy Palmer.

PAMPA PRISONER OF WAR

began to talk freely of his captivity.

He told how the prisoners would sing and their guards would let them sing all night until—an Englishman started singing about the Chinese laundryman. This, the Chinks, as he called them, didn't like and they had to stop.

At first they were permitted to write home as often as they wanted to. Later they were cut and then cut again in the number of times they wrote.

"You were lucky," he told his mother, "you got 90 per cent of the letters I sent. Some of the folks back home only got one or two of their boy's letters."

He said there was no "rhyme or reason" to the way the Communists regulated letter sending and receiving.

But, from August to November, 1952, he sent no letters. The Reds insisted they insert "Against American Aggression, Chinese Peoples' Committee For World Peace." Those who refused to insert that in their letters were not allowed to write home.

"So, we stuck together and none of us wrote home. Finally, the Reds broke down, and we got to write home."

"The Chinese captors tried to get prisoners to write their congressmen, the President, ministers, family and everyone, telling them how badly we wanted to come home. But, we wouldn't do it," he said.

Describing his captors as "not being able to do anything right," and "as nothing concrete about them," he related how they would put the stamp of a dove on the letters, but finally dropped their insistance on the "Against American Aggression" idea.

The food? It see-sawed with the truce negotiations. When the negotiations were going good, the food was good; when going bad, it turned bad.

The diet consisted chiefly of rice and turnips, at first, and then changed to soupy rice, soupy sorghums, and a brown powder the boys called "bug powder." This was a grain of some sort ground and roasted. They were also fed soya beans, two tablespoons a day for two weeks. That was in addition to the regular diet.

"It got our stomachs full, and our portions were given to us in No. 2 size cans. We got some beef, and some pork which was mostly fat, at times."

About a month after his capture on April 22, his group of 300 prisoners were marched 450 miles to the north. The march lasted from May 19 to June 19. Hart didn't call this a "death march" since only two men died during the trip; one of them passed out and the Commies kicked him over a cliff. Hart thought, however, the man had only passed out, and still feels probably he did, but was kicked over the cliff just the same.

"We walked mostly at night and it was the lice that bothered me the most. On stops we would be crowded into little houses, 50 to a house, which was pretty crowded. When one turned over we all had to turn over. You had to pick the lice from you or you'd be covered with them," he said.

The men were allowed one cup of boiled water a day. Any water after that had to be drunk from rice paddies and that is where the prisoners got dysentery which results in dehydration and craving for water. Hart had disciplined himself to use of water while fighting in the hills, and was able to get by with his one cup.

But, the march wasn't easy. If it had lasted one more week, half of the men would have died, Hart said.

But at Chong-Song the men were put to work, mostly wood detail. They had to hike anywhere from two and a half miles to 15 miles one way for wood for the camp. The Reds set quota for each man of 40 to 100 pounds of wood per day. It was used in kitchens and to burn under the floors for heat.

Church services were taboo at first because the Reds thought they were secret meetings held to plot the overthrow of the prison camp. But, on Easter of 1952, they were allowed to hold church service. Later, that same year, the Reds encouraged church service and used them for propaganda purposes. That was at Wewon, in the latter part of 1952.

In the spring of 1952, the boys got to play a lot of basketball and the Reds would take pictures to use — for propaganda purposes. However, they weren't covered too much by Commie lensmen, Hart added.

For a short period—between June 1 and Augt. 15, 1952, the food was real good. There was squash, green beans, egg plant, eggs, tomatoes, and meat. "We couldn't kick about that. That was when the peace talks were improving.

The prisoners got the word of "Ole Uncle Joe kicking off" about the same time the rest of the world heard about it.

"Oh, the Chinks mourned and we celebrated. Ha, ha, it made them so mad at us, but they didn't take any reprisal action. However, they usually had the the boys for breaking some rule or regulation. They had so many we just turned around and broke them without knowing it. However, they never jailed me, although they were after me," he said.

He told of the "classes" they had to attend then go back to quarters and discuss the lectures. They would have to make written reports on their discussions, and also on Red propaganda they were given to read.

The men stuck together on that too and would do nothing more than harass their captors with silly answers, or excuses why they couldn't comment on them.

On one bit of propaganda, Hart said, the Commies told us Americans were starving. "We replied we didn't believe it because Orson Welles was our diplomat to Mars and saw to it the people were well supplied with Mars' bars."

Finally, the men were called on the parade ground on July 27 and told that the war was over. They didn't believe it and thought it just more propaganda. Not until they were on trucks and in railroad boxcars, headed south did they believe it.

The repatriated sergeant said he first met the other Pampa POW in August, 1952 in Camp 4, but he was in another company.

"He (Williams) is one of the finest fellows I ever met," Hart said. He had seen Williams several times in Pampa before the war and met him once in Wichita Falls. The two got to see a lot of each other in prison camp. But Williams did not come through the freedom gate with Hart. They were just groups apart. He last saw Williams on July 5 and described him as "looking fine and doing good."

In Japan, Hart got a chance to see his old commander Maj. Gen. William Dean, who was also captured. General Dean visited the hospital Hart was in, looking for his old 24th Division men. The two chatted for quite a while in the hospital.

"But, Pampa is the best place in the world, and all the people have been so nice to me, and I want to get to see all my old friends again," he said as the interview came to a close and the sergeant got ready to eat fried chicken, green beans, salad, mashed potatoes, cake and a lot of other good home cooked food.

And, any attempt on the part of anyone to make a hero out of Hart is going to fall flat. He just can't see what he's done to have everybody "make such a big to-do over me. I haven't done anything. . ."

Promotions Told At Station KPAT

Crown Prince Sees Match

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 —UP— Crown Prince Akihito of Japan watched an informal tennis match Saturday on the same Forest Hills Tennis Club court where the first Japanese Davis Cup team played in 1921. Akihito, here on a goodwill tour of the United States, left by train shortly afterward for Boston.

McLean Reports Freakish Fire

McLEAN — (Special) — A "freakish" fire — smoke pouring out of a storm cellar — about 2:30 p.m. Saturday brought all McLean's fire-fighting equipment to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Simpson, who live just outside the city limits on the Pampa highway.

It took some 30-40 minutes for firemen to put out the blaze in the cellar which contained all the family's woolen winter clothing and home-canned foods. No one had any idea late Saturday night how the blaze started.

At first, residents were unable to locate one of the Simpson's small daughters but she was later found playing with her dolls in the garage adjacent to the cellar. The cellar is some 10 feet to the west of the house.

Estimated damages ran $300-$400 "or more," officials guessed.

Michigan Man Dies In Pampa

Charles Richard Green, 45, of Youngstown, Ohio, died about 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the Murphy Courts, an hour after he had arrived in town from Ferndale, Michigan.

Mr. Green had just registered in the Murphy Courts, according to Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home officials who said that last rites were pending the removal of the body to Michigan.

His son, Raymond Green, stationed in Pine Bluff, Ark., is married to the former Ann Grossman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Spence Crossman, 601 N. Sumner.

Other survivors include another son, Donald Richard Green, stationed with the U. S. Army in Fort Knox., Ky.

Film Folk Negotiate

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 —UP— Negotiations for a new film agreement with Great Britain opens here next week amid reports that American Motion Picture Producers and Exporters will demand a bigger share of British box office receipts. Under the present two-year agreement, which expires Sept. 30, U.S. movie makers have left $15 million a year in Britain in blocked sterling.

traffic, the one who was killed slightly behind the others. A search by officers of the immediate scene failed to turn up the other two.

Headed west toward White Deer, Gores and Clark said they had just turned up their bright lights when they hit the man. "All we saw were three pairs of levis." After searching unsuccessfully for the body, they raced into Pampa, reported the mishap to city police and followed policemen out to the scene in Clark's car which had been parked downtown.

Gores and Clark were with Patrolman Bob Crouch and F. D. Roan when they found the body, 30 feet into a ditch, some 88 feet down the road from the point of impact. Also on the scene were Chief Deputy Sheriff Shirley Nichols, Highway Patrolman E. J. Robertson and a Duenkel-Carmichael ambulance.

Hamilton Speaks To Canadian Lions

CANADIAN — (Special) — Principal speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Canadian Lions Club Friday was Claude H. Hamilton who talked on "Efficiency", pointing out the efficiency achieved by our modern machines and the difficulty most of us have in keeping abreast of our machines in this matter of efficiency.

An interesting statement of the speaker was that he had delivered this same speech before a luncheon club in Louisville, Ky., exactly 40 years ago.

One number mentioned was the "Floradora Chorus" with Lions J. C. Bernson, Tex Hill, Marion Hill, Buddy Hobdy, Bill Zenor and Charles Vignal as the "chorus girls" in appropriate costumes.

The show is being staged for the funds.

Pampans Cite Vast Contrast Between Hot Rod, Stock Car

There is a vast difference betwsen the stock car and "hot rod," the latter of which is considered a much safer car than the family sedan.

And, to boot, there is a vast difference between the "hot rodder," and the lads who zoom around town in what is termed a "shot rod."

Two of Pampa's hot rod enthusiasts — Kenneth Wright and Herman Watkins — said hot rodders look with scorn on the smart alecks who take the family car and make race tracks out of public streets.

ONE OF THE prime reasons for organizing hot rod clubs is to take young men who have a yen for amateur racing in home-made racers, off the streets and put them on a race track where they belong, Wright and Watkins say.

But, making a hot rod is one thing, driving it is another. An average of $600 to $700 is spent by a hot rodder in reconditioning an old car to where it will run up to 117 miles per hour or faste.. To make a good one, it will take two to three years for the average hot rodder to complete his car, providing he has to build it in his spare time which the majority of them do.

And the cost given above is after an old model car is purchased, and assuming the hot rodder already has, or has access to, the necessary tools.

SINCE THE Pampa Hot Rod Association was organized here two years ago it has lost only one member through the misbehavior. The original roster of 40, however, has been whittled to 12 due to the draft and boys moving out of town.

The club has its own rules one of which concerns driving in town. Any member who is given a traffic ticket must not only pay his fine to the judge, but must then in turn pay a similar amount into the club treasury, or he is automatically dropped from the roll. The lone member dropped for misbehavior went out on that route.

Are hot rods safe?

They sure are, Wright says.

Even though they are old cars every hot rod is reworked, reconditioned and gone over at regular intervals. The weak parts of the ordinary car are reinforced by the hot rodder so it will endure the stress and strain it is put under.

"These fellows who tear around, up and down our streets, aren't the hot rodders," Watkins says. The hot rodder has too much money tied up in his car to risk tearing it up in town trying to "beat the other guy."

EVERY SUNDAY, through the summer months, the local club, along with members of similar clubs in Amarillo, Borger, Dumas and other places, get together at the old Pampa Army Air Force Base, 12 miles southeast of Pampa, and run the cars over a half-mile section of the mile and one-eighth long runways. This allows for plenty of stopping room.

At present the Pampa group holds its weekly meetings in Watkins' home, 1004 Gordon, each Monday night.

The 1953 hot rod season will be topped off first week in December with a hot rod and custom car show somewhere in Pampa when $1,000 in trophies will be awarded. Cars from Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, and Oklahoma will be on display. It will be held in conjunction with similar shows over the nation, but will be the only such show to be held between the California border and the Mississippi River, Watkins said.

ONE THING about hot rods — they are economical to run after their motors are tuned up. twin carburetors, chrome heads and the like are fitted to them.

Besides the straight out hot rod, there is the modified stock car. The modified job has only one or two changes in the motor, but nothing else is done to it. The hot rod on the other hand is radically changed even to the body which is lowered over the frame, making it hug the ground — and making it safer.

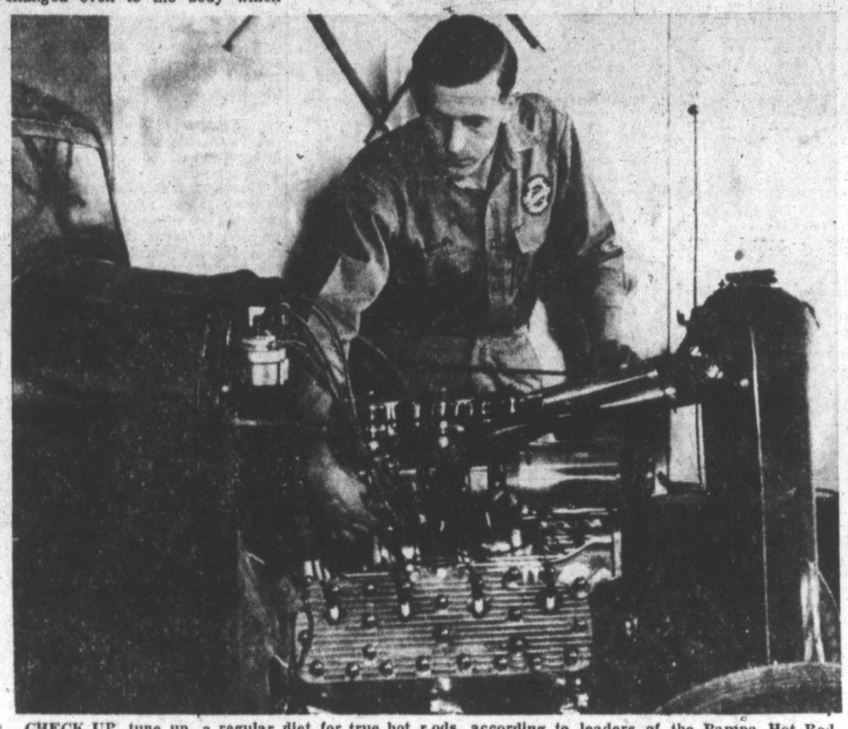
Railway Lovers

DORTMUND, Germany, Sept. 19—UP— Police said Saturday they often watched a young railway worker chalking love messages on the side of westbound freight cars. One day he wrote, "Do you love me?" and another time, "See you Saturday."

He was also seen watching east bound trains, sometimes smiling, sometimes frowning.

Police finally learned the railway worker's girl friend worked a few stations up the line. The lovers were communicating by freight car. Their names were not released.

Third highest mountain in the world is Kanchenjunga, 28,146-foot peak on the Nepal border.



CHECK UP, tune up, a regular diet for true hot rods, according to leaders of the Pampa Hot Rod Association. Above, Kenneth Wright, acting vice-president of the Pampa Hot Rodders, takes them out to check over spark plugs, engine and other working parts of the car. Perpetual conditioning is why hot rods are fast, safe, and sure. The true hot rodder soups up his car only for the race track, not for city streets. The club holds races—drag races over a straight stretch—each Sunday southeast of Pampa on the old Army Air Field. (News Photo)

ONCE-IN-A-LIFETIME TOUR

Pampa Couple Home After Journey Throughout Europe

By ED NASH
Pampa News Staff Writer

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Keller, 1005 Ripley, back from a "once-in-a-lifetime" tour of 10 European countries, admit that there was only one real purpose in making the jaunt.

"We had an incentive," the local truck-contracting family said. "Our son has been over there for a year."

THEIR SON, First Lt. E. M. (Bob) Keller Jr., 25, is stationed on a U.S. Army base near Frankfurt, Germany. His outfit is the 593rd Field Artillery Battery.

A graduate of Pampa High School in 1946, Lt. Keller has been in the Army for four years, though "it's not a career." The Kellers expect that he'll be home for Christmas.

It was the first time that Mr. and Mrs. Keller had been out of the United States and they certainly did make the most of it. Germany, Austria, Bavaria, Switzerland, Italy, France, Holland, Belgium, England and Ireland. They visited them all.

Their favorite country, Mrs. Keller figured, thoughtfully, was Germany. Their favorite people, the Irish. Reason for the first was obvious — their son was there. For the second, it was the friendliness of the Irish.

ON THE SECOND tour, they drove by car — their son's — down the Rhine River to The Netherlands (Rotterdam, Amsterdam) and back through Belgium (Antwerp, Brussels) to France and Germany.

In between the big trips, the Kellers sneaked in a jaunt to Paris and other parts of Germany. What they say included Versailles Castle, the Western capital of Bonn and The Mains, one of the worst-hit of German communities during World War II.

"All through Germany," the Kellers kept pointing out, "we saw a great deal of war damage." They quickly added, though, that the Germans seemed to have done the fastest job of rebuilding of any other people they saw.

Rolling down the Rhine with its "lore, tradition and history," the Pampa couple had a "delightful" trip, which included inspecting bridges blown up in the war, spots where the U.S. Army had crossed on pontoon bridges, the vineyards which extend from the mountains to the river's edge and the castles, some of them being museums. One of the last was the Reichenburg Castle.

On the Holland part of their trip, the Pampans went off to the Marken Islands, off the east coast of Holland, where "the natives wear natives clothes." Of Holland, they especially recalled the beautiful begonia beds. "If Dutch tulips are any more beautiful than the begonias, I can't imagine it," Mrs. Keller commented, adding that Italian hydrangeas, too, were something she wouldn't forget.

IN HOLLAND too, they saw the town where the little Dutch boy is supposed to have stuck his finger in the dike and saved the country. One day, Mrs. Keller remembered, they saw 27 Dutch windmills and one local farmer started one up to show them how grain was ground. They never saw much of summer storm damage, and the part of the land that wasn't still under water was "growing plants just as usual."

In England there was one thing that really impressed them: the famed White Cliffs of Dover. "They have never been described as beautiful as they are." At the top is Dover Castle; a white castle on white cliffs.

Their tour of London was the traditional. The changing of the guard at Buckingham Castle, Parliament, the Tower of London. In York they visited the old wall, still intact. From Liverpool they went to Dublin and Glendlaugh.

EVERYWHERE they went in Ireland, the southern part, they heard of the Irish ambition: to unify both north and south parts and to be completely apart from England. In Limerick they attended a horse show but weren't sure which they "enjoyed the most — the people or the horses."

Rome ran a close second to their preference of places they visited. With its Coliseum, St. Peter's Cathedral and Catacombs.

Two things they'll remember about a small German community, Garmish. One was the ice show, "one of the most beautiful we ever saw anywhere." Other was when the cows came home at night. They didn't need any supervision, just came down off the neighboring hills and found their own quarters by themselves.

In Italy, too, there were the drivers. And, Mrs. Keller pointed out vehemently, they don't drive with their steering wheels — they drive with their horns. "You honk your horn first and you have the right of way."

"PRETTIEST SIGHT" of the entire two months was Gen. Foche St. in Paris at night. The dim lights of the cars (all car lights are dimmed in Paris at night) and the tail lights of those going the other way as one gazed down toward the end of the street made for a virtual "fairyland."

Though they were quite glad to get back home, Mr. Keller, a native New Yorker, and Mrs. Keller, a native Oklahoman, "guess" they'd go again if given the opportunity.

The highest point of the entire two months overseas?

"Our son was with us on both long trips."

Astounding Report

The other day the Internal Security Subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee — whose chairman is Senator Jenner, and whose membership consists of five Republicans and three Democrats — issued an astounding report. After exhaustive investigation of subversion inside the government, it had found that "The Soviet international organization has carried on a successful and important penetration of the United States Government and this penetration has not been fully exposed."

The subcommittee came to a number of other related conclusions. The following given here in condensed form, are among them: The penetration has reached into the top level of the government. Members of the conspiracy successfully protected and helped obtain advancement for each other. Over the years the penetration was made into agencies concerned with economic recovery, war, and foreign policy and postwar planning. The communist infiltrators generally worked behind the scenes — influencing congressional investigations, drafting laws, etc. — and always served the interests of their Soviet superiors. Literally thousands of U. S. secrets have been stolen by Soviet agents without our government. Despite warnings by the FBI and other security agencies, little was done by the executive branch to prevent such espionage until Congress acted. Policies and programs laid down by members of this conspiracy are still in effect within the government and constitute a continuing hazard to national security.

The report goes into considerable historical detail. The first organized penetration apparently took place in the early '30's, and thereafter it was broadened to an almost unbelievable extent. According to evidence possessed by the subcommittee, members of the secret communist underground included an executive assistant to the President; an assistant secretary of the Treasury; the Secretary of the International Monetary Fund; a member and a secretary of the National Labor Relations Board, a chief counsel for the Senate Subcommittee on Civil Liberties, and the head of the Latin-American Division of the Office of Strategic Services. The report gives a number of typical case histories of men within the government who served their Soviet masters especially well, and deals with witnesses who invoked the fifth amendment when called to testify. All of these, its report says, "were unyielding, uncooperative and even abusive."

Finally, after citing chapter and verse concerning the conspiracy for thousands of words, the sub-committee makes certain recommendations. It urges that the investigation be continued, and that the work be facilitated by giving Congress the power to grant immunity to key witnesses. It also urges that the executive branch re-evaluate the records and histories of all employes brought into government, recommended or promoted by persons shown to have been Soviet agents, along with all employes who have been closely and intimately associated with persons shown to be Soviet agents. Another very important recommendation is that the "legislation now before committees of Congress which would operate to prevent communist organization and control of workers in communications and other vital defense industries be considered for early enactment."

A brief resume such as this can touch only a few high spots of the findings. The whole document deserves the widest possible reading.

Ike's Power Policy

It's common knowledge that for many years the Department of the Interior fought tooth and nail against private electric power development, in favor of tax-free, tax-subsidized socialized development by the government, and had as its long-range goal a federal power monopoly.

Now there are new faces and new policies in Interior — and left-wingers are crying to heaven that the "people's birthright" is in danger of being handed on a platter to greedy private interests.

In the light of that, it is important that we understand the philosophy that is guiding Interior today. Secretary McKay made it plain in a recent speech. He said: "I would like to reiterate . . . that the Department of the Interior is but one of several partners, interested and responsible for the full development of the natural resources of the country. We are a partner along with the states and local communities and private citizens. No one of these partners, least of all the federal government, should have a monopoly in the development of these resources . . .

"I do not like monopoly in any form, whether it be a monopoly of individuals, of corporations, or of the federal government. Cooperation and competition are the principles which have expanded America to its present tremendous potential. The federal government, the states, local agencies and private capital can all be utilized in a comprehensive plan to make America still stronger. We do not assert on behalf of the Interior Department all wisdom as to America's future."

Secretary McKay has described the administration's power policy as being "down the middle of the road." But that doesn't satisfy the socialist-minded groups, in and out of government, who want to destroy private enterprise in the power field — at a huge cost in taxpayers' dollars and an infinitely greater cost in lost liberty.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

"Faith In What?"

A reader of Better Jobs notes that I have said "that tax supported schools cannot teach love or charity or faith. They are saying by their actions that men do not have faith, that men will not do what they ought to do, that men will not be charitable and have love. So they cannot teach, faith, hope, charity and love."

The reader inquires in regard to this statement:

"Faith in what? An ancient myth? A worn out religion? What about the agnostics, the atheists? Their rights? They are individuals too."

I think this is a timely question and I should stand up and be counted because it seems to me we now have more cynics and athiests and persons without faith in anything than ever before.

I get this impression by reading recent Supreme Court decisions and by reading a summary of 83 sociology textbooks used in high schools and colleges. This summary certainly shows that in many, many cases the youth of the land is being taught that there are no eternal principles, no ethical laws, that govern human relations that rational men can have faith in.

This I do not believe. I do have faith. My actions are governed by faith. I have faith that the laws that govern human relations are just as immutable and unchangeable and eternal as the laws that govern physics or the movements of the celestial bodies. Individual's ideas of these laws will change but the laws themselves never change.

I have faith in principles, in truth, in sequence, in order, in cause, in action and reaction, in the Commandments, in the Golden Rule, in Natural Law, or God.

I have faith that the Commandments and the Golden Rule will promote good will and peace to the degree they are obeyed.

I have faith that whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap.

I have faith that to the degree we have free trade and no immigration quotas will we have peace and good will amongst men.

I have faith that our country would be better protected by voluntary soldiers rather than by drafted soldiers.

I have faith that our government would better protect every person's inalienable rights if it was supported on a voluntary basis rather than by taxes.

I have faith in the immortality of influence and the immortality of the race.

I have faith that there is both a spiritual and material profit or loss in every voluntary transaction.

I have faith that material profit when accompanied by spiritual profit is a blessing to all mankind.

I have faith that in free enterprise the gain or profit of one is the gain of all.

I have faith in free competition.

I have faith that we will be better educated by voluntary, competitive schools than by government schools.

I have faith that competition will create both material and spiritual development.

I have faith that free competition or an unhampered market in both material things and ideas is a blessing to all mankind.

I have faith in myself and my wife and children and grandchildren, and in all men who will answer questions without evasion about what they are advocating.

I have faith that man is perfectable even if he is fallible.

I have faith that it is better to get things on a voluntary basis rather than a coercive basis.

I have faith that man lives a more abundant life when he lives by the sweat of his brow than by gifts.

I have faith in work.

I have faith that it is more blessed to give than to receive.

I have faith that the meek shall inherit the earth.

I have faith that there shall ever be friendship among the good, but never be friendship among the evil.

I have faith that life is good.

I have faith that men would more nearly reap all they produce and more nearly approach justice under the competitive, free, private, enterprise system than under any other system.

I have faith that a government is a good government that only does what each and every individual has a moral and ethical and just right to do.

I have faith that men who have faith in moral principles live more abundantly than those who believe there are no eternal, moral, just principles that govern human relations.

I have faith that gaining understanding of nature's laws is the best way to be useful to one's self and to his fellow man.

These are a few of the things I have faith in.

If an atheist is an individual who contends there are no eternal principles and that everything happens by chance, it is hard to conceive then how an atheist can believe that he has any inalienable God-given rights. The only philosophy he could posible have would be that might makes right and that the end justifies the means.

In looking up the word faith in the Concordance I was surprised to find that it was only used once in the Old Testament and was used 234 times in the New Testament.

Yes, I have faith. I do not see how any man can live without faith.

Decision To Finance War In Indo-China Due Critical Study

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower's decision to finance almost the total cost of the French defense of Indo-China against Chinese and native Communists will face severe criticism on Capitol Hill unless the bargain requires that Paris abandon oppressive colonial practices and ratify promptly the treaty for formation of a European Defense Army.

It is understood that these provisions are included in unpublicized details of this new alliance against Russia.

The French themselves were surprised at the speed with which the National Security Council approved their request for an additional $385,000,000 for Indo-China. Washington had also anticipated delay, if only for bargaining purposes. Congress has already appropriated $400,000,000 for Indo-China, with another $5,000,000 for the defense of continental France.

Action Hastened

Two new developments apparently forced quick action on both sides. The first was consummation of the Korean truce, which will permit Mao Tse-tung to ship more weapons and supplies, possibly troops, to the guerrillas in Southeast Asia. Having warned that such action would provoke retaliation by the United States, Secretary Dulles felt compelled to show Mao that he meant business.

The other factor was Konrad Adenauer's overwhelming victory in the German elections, and his determination to obtain immediate ratification of the European Defense Treaty. Two French governments have refused to submit the treaty to Parliament for consideration because of their ancient fear of the Germans. Despite Adenauer's demonstrated friendship to the West, they distrust his people.

But the anti-Russian nature of the German chancellor's re-election provided us with pressure to apply against Paris. Unless Premier Joseph Laniel would cooperate with us in rearming Europe, a keystone of our foreign policy, we would not coperate with him in Indo-China. Instead, we would rely on Germany as our principal continental ally, which would be a severe thrust at French pride and security.

But Laniel, who is more of a realist than his predecessors, also had strong talking points in the diplomatic exchange. He intimated that he might acquiesce in the demand of French groups for complete withdrawal from Indo-China. That would give the Reds control of Asia's rice bowl. It would place the Communists in a flanking position vis-a-vis India, Thailand, Burma, Malaya, Australia, New Zealand, Japan and the Philippines. Our whole defense in that area would crumble.

Natives' Wretched Lot

An equally important reform in Indo-China, as Washington realizes, is the grant of full independence to the three states of the French Union — Cambodia, Laos and Veitnam. Despite French demurrers, the natives have been kept in complete economic slavery. Their lot is wretched, with hunger, illness and poverty as daily fare.

Their hatred of the French accounts for the successes of Ho Chi Minh's small guerrilla forces in the eight-year war. The people sympathize with and aid him, not because they are pro-Communist, but because they are anti-French. Cambodia's offer to make peace with Ho, if he will limit his operations to neighboring Veitnam, furnishes the latest evidence of the rulers' and people's resentment of French colonialism and imperialism.

Important Agreement

The expanded military program, which Eisenhower will underwrite, contemplates creation of a native force, permitting French soldiers to transfer to the European theater. But there can be no reliance on a native military establishment unless these political, economic and social grievances are alleviated. As of today, they have no reason or heart for fighting.

Thus, the Eisenhower-Laniel deal, seen from all these viewpoints, may constitute one of the most important agreements of the postwar era. It may combine with the East German revolts and Adenauer victory to give the Reds their most severe setback since the cold war started.

With the overthrow of Mossedegh and prospective settlement of the Anglo-Egyptian dispute, it may signify the democracies most successful achievement in the world conflict.

SIMPSON ONE, SIMPSON TWO

(The Individualist)

There's a story about the old lady who approached a man standing on the corner one Sunday morning, and asked, "Mister, can you tell me where the Second Presbyterian Church is," And the gent answered, "I'm sorry, madam, I don't even know where the First Presbyterian Church is."

We are a little like that about these here Simpson bills in Congress. There's the first Simpson bill, introduced by Rep. Simpson (R., Pa.). That "Rep." stands for representative, not reprobate. Maybe the gentleman's a reprobate, too, but we're not going to advertise the fact — not unles he pays us for it.

The first Simpson bill called for an extension of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act to June 12, 1954, which, to our free-tradist way of thinking is quite as it should be — though not all. At the moment that bill is snafued in a Senate-House on a House-passed resolution to enlarge the Tariff Commision from six members to seven. (There should, of course, be no Tariff Commission for the very simple reason that there should be no tariffs. THE INDIVIDUALIST should have a million subscribers, too. The chances look about the same.)

But now it appears that the gent from Penn. has had a change of heart, for he pops up with a bill which, following on the heels of the first one, is as startling as if Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., should come out for free enterprise. Instead of paving the way for a reduction in tariffs, the second bill increases tariff protection for all industries, with special protection for domestic coal, lead, zinc and oil producers. It would impose quotas on crude petroleum and residual fuel oil.

We have been hearing a lot from abroad about "trade, not aid." The sentiment is sound. The only real help we can give to Europe is to break down the barriers to trade. For Congress to slice a billion off the more than five billion foreign aid appropriation the President asked for — that was a step in the right direction. It would be an enormous stimulant to "trade, not aid." Then along comes the Simpson bill, the "second" one, to make trade more difficult by import quotas.

The ways of a supposedly intelligent people in matters tariff sometimes passeth understanding. Anyone above the level of a feebleminded moron knows that people thrive by trade, and it doesn't make a frazzlin' bit of difference who they trade with. There is never a trade without a profit; there is never a profit without a trade. If trade were stopped, specialization and division of labor would stop. Each man would have to make everything he and his family needed. The end of trade would mean the end of civilization. How then, in heaven's name, can restraints on trade ever be other than harmful?

A great seaport, New York, for instance, will spend hundreds of millions of dollars to improve dock facilities, so that ships can unload and load more quickly, and trade thus be speeded up, and foreign goods brought to our shores at less cost. Then Congress enacts tariff measures which undo all the good the hundreds of millions would have done. Instead of imposing tariffs, it would be as sensible to require every cargo ship leaving London for New York to sail around the world twice before allowing her cargo to be discharged in New York. That would be pretty dumb, wouldn't it? Is it any dumber than to bring about the same effect by means of tariffs?

No from where we sit, it ain't. One's as dumb as the other.

There Is Only One Definition For TVA — Walking Socialism

By THURMAN SENSING
Southern States Industrial Council
Nashville, Tennessee

What is "the people's interest"? That is a major question and a pertinent question, because many efforts are being made these days to cause us to exchange our traditional free enterprise system for socialism by camouflaging the latter under the cloak of "the people's interest."

As an illustration, one of the senators from the Tennessee Valley said in a speech the other day that under the present administration the time is past when the government can be expected to protect "the people's interest" in the field of public power.

This senator was saying, of course—with particular reference to the TVA—that it is in "the people's interest" to continue to expand public power.

This is a fundamental issue the senator raises, and rather than be diverted by minor issues, it would be well to settle this one first. Is it in the interest of the people of this country to have their industry owned and operated by the government or by private enterprise? This is exactly the same as asking whether we should have socialism or free enterprise.

Now, the advocates of the TVA are not willing to accept the application of socialism to that agency. This is especially true of the politicians who have for many years been thriving on the claim that they are "protecting the interests of the people" in the Tennessee Valley by having a government agency furnish them electric power cheaper than they could obtain it otherwise. It is also true of the people who have swallowed this claim—it having been seasoned, of course, with a certain amount of greed.

But if we are going to stick to the major question—socialism or free enterprise—and honestly label things as they are, the TVA, cannot escape the socialistic label. And not just "creeping socialism," but full-fledged, grown-up, walkineg socialism, because the TVA is the very definition of socialism—government ownership and operation.

The TVA was inaugurated primarily as a flood control, navigation, conservation project, the production of electric power to be only incidental. But the tail very soon got to wagging the dog. Now the first three objectives are only incidental and the electric power business is almost the sole function of the TVA, with a large part of its power coming from its steam plants and having no relation whatever to the development of the Tennessee River and its tributaries.

There is no objection on the part of anyone to the government handling flood control and navigation. That is not a business and it is a proper function of government.

But there is no more reason for the government selling he people their electric power than there is for the government selling the people their groceries.

The development of water power is no more a "grab of natural resources belonging to all the people" than is the development of coal mines.

Private operation of the electric power industry is no more a "give-away" than is private cutting of the trees of the forests.

In fact, the entry of the government into any one field of industry leads to its entry in all fields—with socialism as the end result.

Why, therefore, support a system of socialized electric power in the Tennessee Valley when we know that it is contrary to all the principles and practices that have made America great?

In addition to all this, we should always remember that the cost of electric power in the Tennessee Valley would not be cheaper than it is anywhere else if the TVA were placed on a competitive basis with private power companies; in fact, it would undoubtedly be higher.

The real "interest of the people" is to preserve our traditional American private enterprise system in all its phases—the electric power industry being only one—and not be misled into throwing overboard a proven system for one that has never yet worked in the history of the world.

LOOKING SIDEWAYS

By WHITNEY BOLTON

Anybody want to buy a house?

A house with a view of a large harbor and Long Island Sound, complete with a large brick terrace for viewing purposes, four bedrooms, four baths and a library stacked from floor to ceiling on three walls with books I often wonder why I read?

My bride has the house-selling itches again, all because a Buick pulled up in front of the house the other Sunday afternoon and a nice, educated man with pressed slacks came to the door and said: "Forgive me for intruding, but is this house possibly for sale?"

That did it. He was received as though he were Uncle Willy who hadn't been heard from since he was last seen staggering across the Chilkoot Pass with a load of nuggets. He got a horn of iced tea, a bite or two of some store-bought cookies and a tour of the premises, and not one of us knew him from anybody else. He could have been there plotting a robbery or scheming a murder, but we had him in, fed him, and treated him like a revenue agent with a check for $10,000 in income tax rebates.

It turned out he only wanted to spend $19,000, flat, which forthwith erased him as an entry, but it steamed my bride up to the point where she decided to sell at $25,000 and was out in the town looking at other houses into which she might move when this one was sold.

There is something to be said for this kind of nonsense. Because since the stranger came knocking at the door with his money, two others have come along and they have upped the offers to $21,500, which brings my girl within $3,500 of her goal.

There is this to be said for her: she has a spirit of iron. If she sets $25,000 as a fair price, which actually it is, she will stick to it. She won't take $24,000 or even $24,900. She isn't a haggler. Nor is she a brigand. She knows houses all the way from those treasures in Natchez to the spit-and-mud phonys in the California developments. When a house is worth $25,000, that's the price tag that goes on it and she won't yield to blandishment, indignation or the cozzening croon of real estate agents.

She has found another house. It's a doll, I'll say that. And she can get it for $19,000, although she is convinced that it ought to fetch $21,000. It was built by a sea captain, decorated by a portrait painter and housekept by a woman who hated dust the way children hate spinach. It's in the same town and hasn't a view of the water, I mentioned that to her.

"I've looked at the water for four years," she said. "There isn't anything about it that would compensate me for the $6,000 cash I could have in the bank. I'll compromise with you — you go look at the water and let me look at the $6,000 in the bank."

She also has found that there is a man named William L. Watson in Buffalo who can put in a swimming pool for her at a price that compares with the California poolers instead of those $6,000 Eastern jobs and still leave her with $4,000 in the bank.

Therefore, she now has the double itches. She feels that having another house with a swimming pool would be worth having, to sell the one she now owns. This happens to me every spring and every fall. Up to now, she hasn't sold at all, but she could have each time. One of these days she is going to do it.

It might as well be now. Anybody want to buy a house?

Oilmen Happy To See Spingarn Go

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 —UP— ne of the fightingest men in the overnment steps out next Friday nd there will be a big cheering ection—made up chiefly of oil industry leaders — glad to see him o.

The official is Stephen J. Spingrn, 45-year-old lawyer and . Democratic member of the Fedral Trade Commission which poices big business. Probably no man n the past decade has caused more choleric gnashing of teeth among il people who happily bestow their benediction as he returns to private ife.

"Big Seven," who is now job unting, has been a one-man gang n challenging America's five biggest oil companies to prove they aren't an octopus-like monopoly which, with two British-Dutch firms, has the world oil market at heir mercy.

Spingarn Has No Ill -will

He is being succeeded Sept. 25 by a 64-year-old Iowa Republican, former Congressman John W. Gwynne, the change giving the Eisenhower administration political control of the quasi-judicial agency.

Spingarn told the United Press that he leaves with no ill-will for his fellow-commissioners who have differed with him sharply on many occasions. Nor, he said, does he feel vengeful toward the companies which have shown him they also can fight with bare knuckles.

But one thing is certain, he said. He intends, whenever possible, to continue focusing public attention "on the lack of competition" in the oil industry. "If you don't have competition," he said, "then you've got a monopoly."

Irked at Alleged Cartelists

Spingarn has centered his fire on five alleged oil cartelists—Standard Oil (of New Jersey) Socony-Vacuum Oil Co., Standard of California, the Texas Company, and Gulf Oil Corp., all of which are defendants in a justice department civil anti-trust suit. Their recent gasoline price increases also are being investigated.

His latest charge was, through domestic and international "control mechanisms," they rigged world crude oil and gasoline prices to gouge the American and European public and the U.S. government of between $500 million and $1 billion a year.

"And that," he said, "could be only a strater" unless President Eisenhower or Congress steps in.

Doesn't Like Stale Bodies

He cited company profits and a glutted market to show the price jumps were unwarrented, and charged the Phillips Petroleum Co, Bartlesville, Okla., was a part of the "domestic control mechanism" which started the price ball rolling.

Furthermore, he said, state production—control bodies, such as the Texas Railroad Commission, are part and parcel of the control mechanism because, he said, they bow down to orders from industry leaders "and limit the supply of crude oil to market demand."

Probably the highlight of his allegations was that the five companies, instead of passing on to the public the benefits of their low-cost production in the Middle East and Venezuela, jumped these prices "to meet American competition."

Sees Higher Prices

"It does not follow that competition consists of meeting a higher price," he said. "It is an implicit recognition of the absence of competition. The question obviously arises as to what justification the companies can offer for increasing Middle-Eastern prices to the same level as U.S. prices, which is not only a higher-cost producing area, but is a buyer, rather than a seller, in world oil markets.

"The recent round of world price increases reflects, in effect, a decision of the international companies to continue to base world prices on current market prices in the United States.

"If this decision goes unchallenged, the companies will be provided with a precedent to drive prices in world markets to higher and higher levels."

High Oil Imports Subject Of Meet

FORT WORTH, Sept. 19 — How to obtain a permanent cure for excessive oil imports will be the major concern of the Independent Petroleum Association of America when it meets here Oct. 19-20.

The 41-man Import Policy Committee of IPAA will meet in Fort Worth Sept. 23 to re-examine import figures and trends in relation to depressed United States oil production.

The committee will ready a report to be presented at the October membership meeting which is 1,000 independent oil men from every producing state.

IPAA has long recognized a place for imports, but has advocated that foreign oil be regulated in relation to domestic demand. It has supported a quota system under which both importers and domestic producers would share any increase—or decrease—in United States demand.

Despite hopes expressed by many that substantial voluntary cuts would be made in imports, IPAA has prepared a report for the September issue if its magazine, the Independent Petroleum Monhly showing tha toal 1953 imports will will be 10 per cent higher than in 1952.

Only one of the 19 intentions-to-drill filed last week with the regional office of the Texas Railroad Commission had a proposed depth of more than 4,000 feet.

That one was the Phillips Petróleum Company's No. 5 Larona, located five miles southwest of Miami in Roberts County.

Other drill-intents included seven in Hutchinson County; three in Potter County; two each in Carson, Gray and Wheeler Counties; and one each in Collingsworth and Moore Counties.

In the completion line there were 10 oilers and three gassers. There were also two plugged wells.

LSU Tigers Surprise University Of Texas Longhorns, 20-7

Tigers Dominate Play Throught

By JACK GATES

BATON ROUGE, Sept. 19—UP—Quarterback Al Doggett, who wasn't even slated as a starter in early season practice, and Bulldozing Jerry Marchand engineered Louisiana State University to a 20 to 7 upset victory over Texas Saturday night.

It was the Texans' second opening game loss in their history and a rout as the Longhorns found the conversion to one-platoon football more than they had bargained for. LSU, whose players played offense and defense last season through necessity, found the change fairly easy.

Texas Threatens

Texas could only manage three scoring threats in the game as LSU dominated the contest from the start. Two ended in failure by fumbles and the other in a touchdown in the fading minutes of the game.

Fullback Dougal Cameron put the Longhorns in the scoring column, bucking over from the five yard line with Phil Branch converting to climax a 53 yard drive.

Although Doggett, a 175-pounder from Homer, La., and Marchand, a Notre Dame transfer, weren't the Tigers' only heroes, they were the keys in LSU's revenge victory for last year's 35 to 14 route.

Doggett Fakes 'Em Off

Doggett who was converted from a second string halfback to quarterback after fall practice, faked Texas defenders with his slick quarterbacking and brilliant passes, including a record six for six in the first half.

Marchand, a 185-pound senior who runs with the wild abandon of a human tank, was the target for most of Doggett's tosses and scored one LSU touchdown, although they were aided greatly by half back Charley Oakley and George Brancato.

Score by periods:

LSU	7	0	7	6—20
Texas	0	0	0	7—8

LSU scoring—Touchdowns: Jerry Marchand, Charley Oakley and George Brancato. Points after touchdown: Cliff Stringfield 2.

Oilers Draw 50,618 Fans

ABILENE, Tex., Sept. 19 —UP—A total of 489,726 fans paid to see West Texas-New Mexico League baseball games during the regular 1953 season, President Hal Sayles reported Saturday.

That was 3,981 fewer spectators than for games last year, or about one per cent fewer paid admissions in 1953 than in 1952.

But Sayles said average opening attendance was greater this year than last year: an average of 972 against 968 last year. And there were six fewer openings than in 1952.

Albuquerque set the pace at the gate with 92,605. Lubbock was second with 83,782, and Plainview, which replaced Lamesa in the league this year, was third with 79,730.

Other attendance figures included Amarillo, 59,379; Pampa, 50,618; Abilene, 44,143; Clovis, 44,115, and Borger, 35,335.

Increases in attendance were recorded by Albuquerque Pampa, Clovis and Plainview. Plainview's attendance was compared with

Baylor Stuns California Bears, 25-0

END OF THE TRAIL — Bobby Eiber of the Austin Panthers of El Paso (No. 22) is cut down by Harlan Boyle (No. 33) of the Pampa Harvesters for a loss of three yards during the third quarter of Friday night's non-conference clash. The game opened the 1953 season for the Harvesters who raced to a 39-6 victory. Coming up behind Eiber to aid on the tackle for the Harvesters is Edward Strickland. Cotton Davidson Is Star At Baylor

BERKELEY, Calif., Sept. 19—UP—Cotton Davidson of Gladewater, Tex., played 59½ minutes of inspired Alamo-type football Saturday to lead Baylor to a stunning 25-0 victory over California before a crowd of 34,000 at Memorial stadium.

Davidson didn't come out of the game until there were 30 seconds left to play. By that time he had scored two touchdowns and directed and passed his Waco eleven to two more.

The defeat equalled the worst ever handed to a California team since Lynn Waldorf took over as coach in 1947.

The other Baylor tallies were registered by Jerry Goody who may become a minister after he leaves college and L. G. (Long Gone) Dupre.

Lead in First

Baylor took a 7 to 0 lead with five seconds to play in the first quarter after Dupre caught a punt by Don Whyte on the Texans' 39 and twisted and dodged his way to the Golden Bears 32.

Long Gone then picked up 17 yards around left end behind terrific blocking. That brought him to the 16. Two plays later he slammed over right tackle for the TD and Davidson converted.

Cal Tries March

Baylor immediately took over the ball after kicking off to start the second half when Talley made a 33-yard runback of the boot from his five to the Cal 38, then lost the ball to Dupre on a fumble.

Coody, Jones and Dupre moved the ball 31 yards and Parson Coody slammed the remaining three yards over tackle to make the score 19 to 0. Coody again flubbed the conversion.

Score by periods:

California	0	0	0	0	0
Baylor	7	6	6	6	25

Touchdowns: Dupre, Davidson 2, Coody. Points after touchdown: Coody.

Late Score Gives Aggies 7-6 Win

By JOHN DIETRICH

LEXINGTON, Ky., Sept. 19—UP Texas A&M drove 77 yards for a fourth period touchdown and Joe Boring added a perfect placekick to gain a 7-6 victory over Kentucky Saturday night before 35,000 football fans.

For most of three periods, the Aggies had dominated the rugged defensive struggle with neither team able to score. But late in the third period Quarterback Don Ellis and Boring began pounding away at the Kentucky tackles to move 77 yards in 14 plays for their touchdown.

Although most of the scoring drive was pounded out on the ground, the touchdown actually was set up by an eight-yard pass from Ellis that Connie MacGurik snagged as he fell out of bounds on the Kentucky one yard line.

That was on the first play of the fourth period and two plays later Ellis himself sneaked over for the score. Boring booted one through the uprights for the decisive point.

The Aggies were helped immeasurably on their scoring drive when, stopped by Kentucky on their own 38, they punted but got the ball back with a first down on the Kentucky 47 when Kentucky rushers ran into the kicker.

Score by periods:

Kentucky	0	0	0	6	—6
Texas A&M	0	0	0	7	—7

Kentucky scoring: Touchdowns, Fillion.

Texas A&M scoring: Touchdowns Ellis. Points after touchdown; Boring.

Sawyer Denies Rumor To Become Redleg Pilot

CINCINNATI, Sept. 18—UP—Eddie Sawyer flatly declared himself out of the running to succeed Rogers Hornsby Friday amid mounting speculation as to the identity of the Cincinnati Redlegs' new manager.

"I haven't been approached for the job and wouldn't take it if it were offered to me," the former manager of the Philadelphia Phillies said. "I'm definitely out of baseball as of last Jan. 1."

Sawyer, who piloted the famous Philadelphia Whiz Kids of 1950 to a pennant, was one of four men prominently mentioned to succeed the hard-bitten Hornsby, who Thursday became the first big league manager this year to lose his job.

General Manager Gabe Paul appeared to rule out still another outstanding candidate — Joe Schultz, manager of Cincinnati's Tulsa farm club in the Texas League—with an announcement he believed the new manager "would be a man outside our system although someone with previous managerial experience."

Al Lopez, manager of the Cleveland Indians, and Bobby Bragan, manager of Hollywood in the Pacific Coast League, were believed the other outstanding candidates for the job.

Paul said the Redlegs had no criticism of Hornsby's work this season, but the outspoken member of baseball's Hall of Fame made it clear he and the management had different ideas on many subjects.

Buster Mills, a coac, will be the acting manager of the Redlegs until a successor is named.

97,802 Watch Georgia Win

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 19 —UP —Georgia's underrated Bulldogs, two touchdowns behind in the second period, called on the passing artistry of Zeke Bratkowski Saturday night to defeat Villanova 32 to 19 before an intercollegiate record opening-day crowd.

A gathering of 97,802, a record Eastern football crowd except for Army-Navy games, saw the brat from Danville, Ill., muster the Bulldogs as he kept Villanova off-balance by diversified maneuvers which made the Georgians easier victors than the score would indicate.

Bratkowski, in the starting lineup but relieved midway in the first period, rallied Georgia after the Wildcats had scored twice in the first 14 minutes.

Georgia's rolling ground offense picked up 273 yards in addition to Bratkowski's 196 in the air. Villanova, with All-America Candidate Gene Filipski held in check, got 106 on the ground and 141 in the air.

Score by periods:

Villanova	12	0	0	7	—19
Georgia	0	13	13	6	—32

Villanova scoring: Touchdowns, Helm, Cecere. Conversions: Volonino.

Georgia scoring: Touchdowns, Clemens, Williams, Campagna, Kelly, Carson. Conversions, Myros 2.

Optimism High Here As Harvesters Open Season; Other 1-4A 11s Also Look Tough

OPTIMISM IS IN THE AIR CONCERNING our Pampa Harvester football aggregation. The thousands of fans attending the season inaugural Friday night came away fully satisfied from what they had seen out there on the field.

Some were going as far as to say "We might go all the way this year." Certainly we hope this is true. Only time will tell, of course.

But before we get too overly anxious, we would like to remind one and all that we've got nine more games on the schedule. And we've got to go into each game in the right frame of mind. We won't be able to take any of our remaining foes for granted.

Look what almost happened to Lubbock Friday night. The Westerners were hard pressed to down little Plainview, 14-6. The Lubbock eleven, more than likely, went into the game thinking they had nothing to worry about. Actually, there's probably a 40-pount difference in the Plainview and Lubbock teams.

And still glancing over the weekend's results, we find that little Mississippi Southern upset mighty Alabama Friday night, Alabama, a 61-6 conqueror of Syracuse in the Orange Bowl last New Year's Day, are supposed to be as strong this season as they were last year. Here again over confidence probably entered in. Alabama didn't get by like Lubbock did.

The first two weeks of the gridiron season still hasn't shed much light on comparing the District 1-AAAA teams. Lubbock was supposed to be the primt favorite. But after Friday's game with Plainview it sorta leaves you puzzled.

Odessa, another team that has been picked many imes to cop title, is still looking for its first win after two starts. But we can't discount the Broncs on their first two showings against Port Arthur and Waco. Those two teams are among the very toughest of the state.

Amarillo is the team to watch. The way they manhandled Capitol Hill of Oklahoma City Friday night certainly will cause some eyebrow raising around the district. The once potent Sandies have come up with their best team in several years.

Abilene showed lots of promise in winning its season opener from Highland Park of Dallas last week. The Eagles were idle Friday night. You certainly can't count the Eagles out in the title race.

Last year's cellar team, San Angelo, appears to be coming out of the doldrums. The Bobcats snapped an 18-game losing streak Friday night by eking past Big Spring, 27-26. You can't afford to overlook the fact that San Angelo has 26 returning lettermen even though they didn't win a game last year. One year will make a lot of difference in a boy.

Big Spring, as you know, will invade Harvester land Friday night. It looks like the Harvester defense will get a stern test, to say the least. The PHS defense was certainly impressive against Austin.

Midland and Borger, the other two teams in 1-4A, didn't gain too much prestige in the openers Friday. Midland edged past Triple-A Lamesa, 12-7, while Borger drew a blank in its tilt with Duncan of Oklahoma, losing 13-0.

We might add once again, though, it might be dangerous to take any team lightly. Borger and Midland could cause some uneasy moments to the favorites if they are taken lightly.

One of the most amazed spectators at Friday's game here was Porky Pawelek, the Pampa Oiler skipper.

Porky, a press box visitor during halftime, said "I didn't realize these kids here were that good." "They certainly have fine teamwork and are well coached," Porky added.

Pawelek, incidentally, will be with us for awhile after all. He has gone to work for Cabot. Nice to have you around, Porky.

GRID FANS ATTENDING the Harvester and Guerilla games over the weekend may possibly have noticed the similarity in the two games.

Both games ended with the identical 39-6 scores. The Guerillas, however, were on the short end of the score in losing to Canadian.

And the similarity doesn't end there. The Harvesters led 33-0 at halftime in their game with Austin, the same score Canadian led over Guerillas at halftime. The Harvesters scored 20 points in the first quarter and 13 in the second, the same as Canadian did in the Guerilla game.

McLean Races Past Price Cards, 19-0

AMARILLO, Sept. 19 — The McLean Tigers made it two in a row here Friday night by downing the Price College Cardinals in a non-conference meeting, 19-0.

It was a sweet victory for McLean coach Hap Rogers. Rogers, who is in his first year as the Tiger mentor, had coached Price College the past five years.

Quarterback David Crockett led the Tigers to victory. He scored two of the three McLean touchdowns on runs of three and two yards. He also figured heavily in the TD drives of 40 and 63 yards. Crockett's first score gave McLean a 7-0 lead at halftime as Rodney Gunn converted from placement following the score.

The second score by Crockett came in the third quarter and a blocked punt gave the Tigers their last score in the fourth. Jim Jolly of the Tigers blocked the Cardinal punt and recovered it in the end zone for six points.

Tigers led in first downs, 14-6, but Price held a slight advantage in rushing with 193 yards to McLean's 182.

McLean meets Claude in McLean next Friday night while Price goes to White Deer o.. the same night.

Braves Tighten Hold On 2nd

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 19—UP—The Milwaukee Braves tightened their grip on second place in the National League standings Saturday when they staged a 13-hit attack on Cincinnati to win, 5 to 2.

The Braves need only one more victory or a defeat for St. Louis to assure themselves of a second place finish. The attendance of 32,482 at Saturday's game also left the Braves only 17,141 short of a new league attendance record with one more home date left.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 19—UP—AFL officials Saturday were openly startled at President Eisenhower's decision to send Vice President Richad M. Nixon with an apparent peace-offering to the national AFL convention opening here Monday.

Federation leaders, while declining to be quoted, all agreed that Mr. Eisenhower was out to make amends with labor because of the resignation of Martin P. Durkin as secretary of labor 10 days ago. But they were surprised that the gesture came so soon.

The white House announced that Nixon would appear at the convention.

The White House announced that Nixon would appear at the convention next Wednesday with a message from the President. Normally the secretary of labor handles this chore at the convention.

While the Nixon visit was the talk throughout the corridors of the Jefferson Hotel convention headquarters, top AFL officials wer huddling in the background on the problem of the crime-ridden International Longshoremen's Union.

AFL Presidet George Meany continued meetings which started earlier this week in Washington with two union leaders most vitally interested in the waterfront—Dave Beck, president of the powerful Teamsters' Union and Paul Hall, secretary-treasurer of the Seafarers' International Union.

Beck told reporters that, if the longshoremen's union was expelled, it would be necessary to set up another organization to which the dockworkers could belong. He said his union was "just not interested" in taking over the longshoremen but that he and Hall were most concerned with the problem since their members work with the longshoremen.

QB To View 2 Grid Films

The second meeting of the Quarterback Club will be held tomorrow night at the Sam Houston Auditorium, starting at 8 p.m.

Membership cards have been printed and will be available at the meeting. Membership dues have been set at $2.50.

Two football films are due to be shown at tomorrow's meeting. A Texas Tech film of last year, possibly the Tech-Tulsa game in which Pampans Jerry Walker and Elmer Wilson saw lots of action, will be shown. And the Pampa-Austin EP game film is on tap.

The club has set 500 as its membership goal. Any sports fan in Pampa or the area is cordially invited to attend the meetings and become a member.

In addition to the films tomorrow night, the coaches of the three schoolboy teams here, Tom Tipps of the Harvesters, Weldon Trice of the Guerillas and Marvin Bowman of the Reapers will comment on their team's season openers last week.

Rice Staves Off Gator Rally To Capture 20-16 Decision

HOUSTON, Sept. 19—UP—Alternating the speedy sweeps of halfback Dicky Moegle with fullback Kosse Johnson's bull-like plunges, Rice built up a three-touchdown margin Saturday night, then staved off Florida's last-half punch to beat the Gators 20 to 16 before 55,000 fans.

Rice's massive line shoved the Gators around with only token resistance before they began to show the strain from 60-minute football and a Florida offense rejuvenated in the last half with the appearance of Rick Casares, injured Gator fullback.

Moegle, a side-stepping speedster, accounted for all of Rice's touchdowns with runs of five, 29 and 13 yards in successive period.

Quarterback Leroy Fenstemaker, who kept the Florida defense off balance with an occasional pass, kicked Rice's two extra points.

Florida was scoreless until nearly five minutes deep in the third period when Casares kicked a beautiful field goal against a gusty breeze from the 30-yard line.

That set the Florida offense on fire and after watching Moegle score his third marker on the next exchange, halfback Tommy Haddock skirted left end and went over from the 19.

With Casares carrying the running load and quarterback Doug Dickey contributing 46 yards with two completed passes, the Gators went from their 24 to score in the fourth period. Dickey went over from the one foot line.

Mogle, a junior from Taylor, Tex., racked up 91 yards in 11 tries for the night's top ground gaining performance, but he was pressed closely by Johnson who had 87 yards in 21 tries, most of them straight up the middle with center Leo Rucka opening the holes.

Rice's first-string line, with Rucka, guards Kenny Paul and John Hudson and end Blois Bridges as standouts, made an almost impregnable wall for Florida until the 88-degree weather began to wet them down.

It was then that the Florida offense, with bruising left guard Joe D'Agostino clearing the path, began to click.

Casares, with an injured right hand was far and away Florida's offensive hope. He lunged for 65 yards in 16 tries, practically all of it in the second half.

Dickey completed four passes in 11 attempts for 80 yards and sent the crowd to its feet with a long pass to fullback Joe Brodsky as the game ended. Brodsky was stopped.

TCU Frogs Thump Kansas, 13 To 0

FORT WORTH, Sept. 19—UP—Texas Christian's Horned Frogs got off to a slow start, then clicked for touchdowns in the second and third quarters Saturday night to defeat the Kansas Jayhawks 13 to 0.

Paced by Ray McKown and bolstered by a strong line that stopped four Kansas threats within the 20-yard line, Texas Christian came to life late in the second quarter of the non-conference battle.

TCU, playing before 26,000 fans, largest home opening crowd in its history, exchanged fumbles with Kansas frequently. But when the Frogs started rolling, they covered 53 yards in five plays, a 33-yard scoring scamper by Danny Hallmark capping the drive. McKown's kick was good.

Fans Get Thrill

A few seconds later, Kansas fans got their biggest thrill when Donald Hess took the TCU kickoff in his own end zone, cut to his right to pick up interference, then threaded his way down the sideline for 66 yards before being brought down from behind by TCU tackle R. C. Harris.

But the Frogs quickly put out the Kansas fire. In the third quarter, Danny Hallmark intercepted a pass on the Kansas 36 and ran it back to the seven. From there, McKown took it over for the second and final score. McKown's kick was not good.

TCU of the Southwest Conference was impotent in the first minutes, while a sophomore-studded Kansas backfield ran up yardage for the Big Seven club.

But the TCU line stiffened when it counted. Kansas, in the first few minutes, drove to a first down on the seven but couldn't punch it across. Again, a few minutes later, Kansas was stopped on the 4-yard line.

TCU fumbled nine times and lost the ball five times. Kansas fumbled five times and lost the ball four times.

TCU, making its debut under new head Coach Abe Martin, rolled to victory without completing a pass—the first time it failed to connect since a 1936 scoreless tie with Mississippi State.

Harvesters Roll To Easy 39-6 Win Over Austin EP In Opener

PHSians Build Up 33-0 Halftime Lead

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

Striking quickly through the air and on the ground, the Pampa Harvesters breezed to an easy 39-6 triumph over the Austin High Panthers of El Paso in the 1953 season inaugural Friday night at Harvester Park before an estimated 6,000 fans.

The hustlin' Green and Golders wasted little time in getting their scoring machine in high gear, scoring their first touchdown with only 1:40 minutes gone by following the opening kickoff. After that it was just a matter of how much Coach Tom Tipps desired to let his charges run loose.

Tipps and assistants Aubra Nooncaster and Dwaine Lyon began sending in reserves during the second period and the subs played most of the final two quarters. Every Harvester suiting out for the game saw action.

The Harvesters piled up a 20-0 lead in the first quarter, stretched it to 33-0 at halftime and to 39-6 at the end of three periods. There was no scoring in the final chapter.

It would be difficult to single out an overall individual star for the Harvesters. It was strictly team play that made the scores come easy for the Pampans. Scoring honors, however, went to John Darby, fleet-footed half-back, who toted the mail across pay dirt three times. Ed Dudley, the leading scorer for the Harvesters last season, contributed two tallies while Harold Lewis, junior fullback, scored once.

WRIGHT CONNECTS

J. N. Wright, senior quarterback, had a big hand in two of the scores. He passed for two TD's, tossing to Darby for a 30-yard scoring play and to Dudley for 65-yards. In all, Wright passed five times, completed three for 135 yards.

The Harvester forward wall, both on offense and defense, turned in an outstanding performance. The first line defensive team yielded only a net gain of 24 yards to the Panthers through the first half and the visitors were unable to muster a single first down during that time.

The up-front men for the Harvesters at the outset, offensively and defensively, were Bobby Holder, Jim Pippen and Travis Taylor, ends; Bob Prigmore and Charles Jordan, tackles; Alton Flynn and Ronnie Elliott, guards; and James Hawkins, center and linebacker. Bobby Wilhelm was the other linebacker.

Dudley was the leading ground gainer of the night. The all-district halfback for the Harvesters last season gained 93 net yards on seven carries, an average of 13.2 per carry. Reserve Bill Fulenwider gained 58 yards for second high among the rushers. He carried eight times. Darby garnered 46 yards on five carries; Harold Lewis 33 yards on four carries to round out the top four rushers.

STRIKE EARLY

The crowd had hardly gotten settled in its seat when the Harvesters opened the night's scoring. Dudley's opening kickoff landed into an open space in Austin's end of the field and the alert Harvester end, Bobby Holder, pounced on the ball on the Panther 36 to give the Harvesters first possession of the ball.

It took the Harvesters only four plays to score. Lewis made seven and after Dudley lost two and Lewis one, Wright connected with Darby who was open around the 20 and Darby easily sped on over for the TD. Dudley kicked the point and the Harvesters led 7-0 at the 1:40 mark.

Exactly four minutes later the Harvesters hit pay dirt again. A short punt by Whit Dominguez of the Panthers set up the score. Dominguez, punting from his own 30, booted 15 yards out of bounds. Five plays later the Harvesters scored again.

A 40-yard pass play from Wright to Travis Taylor ate up most of the yardage. It was a beautiful play all the way with Taylor catching the ball over his shoulders at around the 15 yard line and was finally hauled down on the Austin four.

DARBY SCORES

Dudley smashed to the one and Darby carried over from this point. Dudley kicked the point, making it 14-0 with 5:40 minutes deep in the initial period.

The Harvesters scored on the first play the next time they gained possession of the ball. Taking over on their own 35 after a Panther punt, a Wright-to-Dudley passing combination paid off in a 65-yard scoring play. Dudley hauled the ball in a few feet inside the east sideline along the Austin 35-yard line and he raced over from this point untouched. Dudley then missed his first conversion try but the Pampans held a commanding 20-0 lead with 1:10 minutes left in the first quarter.

The most dazzling run of the game paved the way for the next Harvester score. Taking off from his own 26, Dudley reversed the field on the run and practically every Austin player on the field laid his hand on Dudley at one time or another during the run.

Lewis, on the ensuing play, shot up the middle on a quick-opener for the remaining distance to the doublestripe. The point was missed and the Harvesters led 26-0.

The Harvesters went 54 yards for another TD before the halftime intermission. Starting from their own 46 after an Austin punt, the Harvesters covered the 54 yards in five plays. Dudley opened the drive with a seven yarder with Darby following with five, Lewis one and Dudley five and then Darby raced the remaining 34 for six points. Dudley converted to complete the first half scoring with Pampa leading 33-0.

El Paso got its only touchdown late in the third period on 74 yard drive. Whit Dominguez, one of the top offensive threats for the Panthers, climaxed the drive on a 20-yard run. A 24-yard pass play from Dave Bourland to Dick Seaney figured heavily in the Panther TD march.

Harvesters struck more quickly for a touchdown after the intermission than they had done following the opening kickoff. Hawkins returned Austin's short kickoff to start the third period from his own 45 to Austin's 46. Darby picked up four to the 42 and Dudley scampered 42 yards on the next play for a TD. That completed the scoring for the Harvesters.

The play, which occurred in the second quarter and paved the way for the Harvesters' fourth touchdown, started from the Harvester 26 and carried to Austin's 26. Bearing down on Dudley is Reggie Ponsford, No. 67, Austin guard. Dudley, however, rambled past Ponsford and picked up 20 more yards before being tackled. Littler's Birdie On 36th Wins National Amateur Finals 1-up

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 19—UP—Icy-Nerved Gene Littler, a 165-pound putting genius pounded home a 20-foot birdie putt on the 36th green Saturday to win the 53rd National Amateur golf tournament by a 1-up margin over Dale Morey of Martinsville, Ind.

The calm, stocky naval airman from La Jolla, Calif., whose putter was his forte throughout the week-long tournament, beat off a desperate last-minute bid by Morey, an ex-pro, who was trying for his eighth straight tourney title.

Money Polishes Birdies

The sandy-thatched Littler, the first Walker Cupper to win the coveted simon-pure crown since 1949, led two up with three holes. But then Morey started polishing off birdies. He captured the 16th and 17th holes and threw the gallery of 3,500 into a tense hush.

Then on the climactic final hole, they both sent perfect drives down the 441-yard fairway. Morey, away by about 15 yards, fired first and his ball caught a trap—the ninth sand pit of the day for him. Littler, who had appeared a bit shaken on the two previous holes, fired his approach 20 feet past the pin.

Ball Homes in Cup

After Morey blasted out, 15 feet away, Littler calmly stroked the ball and it unhesitatingly went for the hole like a homing pigeon, leaving Morey holding the bag and the runner-up spot.

Besides the tremendous Havemeyer Trophy, the stocky Littler won a big kiss from his pert, blonde wife who had followed him every hole of the tortuous, six-day path to victory. She was in tears—of joy.

Littler said he felt "wonderful," when he saw the putt drop, but he added:

"I feel sorry for Dale. It's too bad we both couldn't win."

Morey Quiet

Morey took his defeat quietly. He gave credit to Littler as a "fine player" and indicated his disappointment by saying, "I started my drive a little late."

Morey won the 28th to leave him only two down and he rallied his game from that point on so well that Littler didn't win another hole until the tell-tale 36th.

They had started the afternoon round all square and Morey had taken a one-up lead on the 21st hole before his game fell apart. He lost four of the next five holes to the solid-swinging Littler to go three down by the three-quarters mark.

MORNING ROUND

Par out, 443-454-444—35; in, 544-343-544—36—71.

Morey out, 344-453-444—35; in, Littler out, 443-452-443—33; in, 545-452-544—38—71.

AFTERNOON ROUND

Morey out, 443-573-554—40; in, 554-343-434—35—75—147.

Littler out, 444-453-334—34; in 654-343-543—37—71—142.

Littler's sounder, steadier game that chopped four strokes off par for the 159 holes it took him to defeat eight opponents in the meet was the big element that enabled him to live up to his pre-tournament favorite rating.

Oklahoma Ags Win Opener From Hardin-Simmons, 20-0

STILLWATER, Okla., Sept. 19—UP—Pawnee Bill Bredde, chunky 185-pound Indian halfback, scored two touchdowns and contributed a 25-yard punt return toward a third Saturday as Oklahoma A&M beat Hardin-Simmons, 20 to 0, before a crowd of 13,000.

Bredde, a fast and elusive senior, scored A&M's first period touchdown on a three-yard burst through guard, caught quarterback Bobby Green's 11-yard pass for another and returned a punt to the Hardin-Simmons 40 to trigger A&Ms fourth-quarter scoring drive.

The Abilene, Tex., team tried to fight back through the air, but could complete only five of 17 throws as Aggie ends John Weigle and Dale Meinert rushed passer John Lyle out of his accuracy.

Hardin-Simmons managed only one threat, that in the final minutes after fullback Earl Lunsford had scored the third Aggie touchdown. The Texans drove to the A&M four, but lost the ball there on downs.

The veteran A&M line opened gaping holes for Lunsford and Bredde in the first scoring drive which covered 69 yards on the ground.

Three straight pass completions by Green, the last the scoring heave to Bredde, marked the second drive, which carried 58 yards.

The teams played it scoreless through the third period, with the Aggies coming alive again early in the fourth with a power running attack which featured Lunsford after Bredde had returned a punt to the Hardin-Simmons 40. Lunsford bulled over from the five, with several of the Texans riding piggy-back.

Breede was the top gainer, with 81 yards in 12 rushing attempts and two pass completions for 21 yards. Hardin-Simmons' running star, Rodney Williams, was limited to 28 yards for five tries.

The score by periods:

Oklahoma A&M	7	6	0	7	20
Hardin-Simmons	0	0	0	0	0

Oklahoma A&M scoring:

Touchdowns, Bredde 2, Lunsford. Points after touchdown: Andrew, Green.

Lefors Chalks Up 1st Win; Beats Rattlers

LEFORS — (Special) — The Lefors Pirates of District 1-A bounced back after a 6-0 defeat in their season opener with Dalhart to trounce the Stinnett Rattlers of District 1-B Friday night, 18-0.

Stout defensive line play by the Pirates kept Stinnett in trouble throughout the contest, and the Rattlers never seriously threatened to score.

First tally came in the second period when Kenneth Cox, Lefors fullback, plunged over from the two-yard stripe after he Pirates had recovered Stinnett's fumble on the Rattlers' 15-yard marker.

Quarterback Eddie Clemmons chalked up the next Lefors TD in the third quarter with a 25-yard scamper on a neatly-executed keeper play.

Final score was made by Wingback Dickie Redus, who intercepted a Stinnett pass on his own 40 yard line and ran all the way to pay dirt, making the score 18-0.

Coach H. W. Callan credited his strong line as the deciding factor in the victory. Also, he pointed out Stinnett's husky center, Jack Pritchard, for turning in a top-notch defensive performance.

Lefors compiled eight first downs and four penetrations, compared to three first downs and one penetration for Stinnett.

Next game for the Pirates will be at Shamrock Friday night.

Mississippi State Rips Memphis, 34-6

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 19—UP—Mississippi State played cagy with little Memphis State for two periods Saturday then put on the steam for an easy 34 to 6 win with Quarterback Jack Parker passing for two touchdowns and setting up a third.

With Tennessee scouts, including Athletic Director Bob Neyland, watching, Mississippi State stuck to simple offensive plays. The Mississippi team meets Tennessee next week in Knoxville.

Parker, the leading major college scorer last year, sat out most of the last two periods, but lived up to his notices while in the game. He tossed for two scores, set up another with a booming 63-yard punt and completed all six passes attempted.

Maryland Raps Mizzou, 20-6

COLUMBIA, Mo., Sept. 19 —UP—Maryland University, heralded as a power in the East and a team that figures to gain national recognition in this new era of one-platoon football, beat Missouri Saturday, 20 to 6.

But in gaining their fourth consecutive triumph over Don Faurot's Missourians, Maryland showed only occasional spurts of power and until the fourth period could boast only a one point edge at 7-6.

Maryland stunned a perspiring crowd of 21,000 by smashing to a touchdown on three plays that required only one minute, 50 seconds.

Chet Hanulak, a member of the backfield that Coach Jim Tatum calls "the best I've ever had," took a handoff from Bernie Faloney and ran 61 yards through Missouri's right tackle for the counter. Ralph Felton converted.

Throughout the period Maryland was in control, but in the second stanza it was all Missouri. In four minutes of the second period Missouri scored.

Brilliant Passing By Scardino

Brilliant passing by quarterback Tony Scardino set up the score. Scardino finally sneaked over from the one. Ed Merrifield's try for the point failed.

That's how it was until the final period, although Missouri threatened three times against a temporarily listless Maryland team. One threat failed because of a 15-yard penalty, another because a fourth-down pass in the end zone was incomplete, and a third was halted as Merrifield's try for a field goal from the Maryland 45 was short and wide.

Maryland Finds Spark

After the Missouri drive, Maryland found a spark. It marched to a second down on Missouri's 19 as the period ended. The Tigers made a great stand early in the final period. But on fourth down with five to go, Maryland's triple-threat ace, Faloney, back to pass, had to run and sped 20 yards to a touchdown.

Maryland's last score came on a pass from Charles Boxold to end Jim Kilgallen as the final seconds rolled up.

Score by periods:

Missouri	0	6	0	0	6
Maryland	7	0	0	13	20

Missouri scoring: Touchdown — Scardino.

Maryland scoring: Touchdowns — Hanulak, Faloney, Kilgallen. Points after touchdown: Felton, Bielski.

Irish Bow To Wellington

SHAMROCK, Sept. 19 — (Special) — Wellington's Sky Rockets spoiled the home debut of the Shamrock Irish here Friday night when they registered a 19-0 victory over coach Scott McCall's lads.

It was a close game through the first three quarters, Wellington leading 6-0 at this stage.

But the Sky Rockets broke the game wide open in the final period with two TD's.

Douglass Duncan opened the Wellington scoring in the second quarter on a 15-yard end run. The extra point try failed and Wellington led at halftime, 6-0.

Odie Hood scored both of Wellington's two touchdowns in the final quarter, going seven and one yards for the tallies. Dullon Starkey converted after the final TD.

Shamrock's nearest approach to paydirt was Wellington's 10-yard line in the final quarter. The Sky Rocket defense braced and took over on downs.

Wellington led in first downs, 16-10. In passing, Shamrock threw 26 passes with Ray York doing most of the tossing and completing nine. Wellington threw five and completed four.

Duncan of Wellington had two touchdown runs of 70 and 75 yards called back due to penalties.

Shamrock meets Lefors here next Friday night.

Oregon Trips Cornhuskers Before 31,000

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 19—UP—The University of Oregon football team, smoothly directed by quarterback George Shaw, whittled the Nebraska line to splinters in the first half Saturday and emerged with a 20-12 intersectional victory.

Some 31,000 fans saw Shaw keep Oregon's vaunted aerial game under wraps for most of the long game, relying on the running of backs Dick James, Farrell Albright, Ted Anderson and Cece Hodges.

Anderson turned in the most spectacular run of the day, scooting 57 yards through the reeling Nebraska line in the second period for a touchdown.

Nebraska's potentially strong backfield ran aground because of bad fumbles and a husker line which leaked steam-rolling Oregon linesman.

The Huskers intermittently switched from the single wing to the T formation, then threw in a seven-man line at times to try to stem the flow of Ducks into the Nebraska secondary.

The strategy worked rather well the second half as Nebraska held Oregon scoreless.

Rex Fischer, a sophomore sparkled in the Nebraska backfield. He capped a 27-yard run with a seven-yard plunge for the first Nebraska touchdown in the second period. Then Fischer took to the air in the fourth period with a 23-yard aerial to Halfback Ennis Korinek who ran 40 yards to score.

Oregon seized on Husker fumbles for its first half 20-6 margin. Two bad center passes dropped Nebraska deep in its own territory and set the theme for two of the three Oregon touchdowns.

Despite the uneven line play, both teams had a total net yardage of 272 yards and each scored 12 first downs.

Score by periods:

Oregon	13	7	0	0	20
Nebraska	0	6	0	6	12

Oregon scoring: Touchdowns — Hodges, James, Anderson. Conversions: Shaw, Holland.

Nebraska scoring: Touchdowns—Fischer, Korinek.

Pirates Edge Giants, 6-5

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 —UP—Frank Thomas and Preston Ward hit successive homers in a three-run sixth inning that helped carry the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 6-5 victory over the Giants Saturday after New York won the opener, 4-1, to give Al Worthington his first victory since his record-breaking debut.

Murry Dickson, taking over in the sixth inning, held the Giants at bay to preserve Jim Waugh's fourth victory. Danny O'Connell, who set a club record for Pittsburgh when he stretched his hitting streak to 26 straight games in the opener, was halted in the nightcap.

FIRST HARVESTER TD — John Darby, above, is all alone here as he races across the goal line for the first 1953 touchdown for the Pampa Harvesters in Friday night's game against Austin High of El Paso. Darby had just taken a pass from J. N. Wright at around the Austin 20-yard line and raced across untouched. The play covered 30 yards. The above action came after 1:40 minutes of play in the first quarter. The Harvesters won the game, 39-6. (News Photo)

Parnell KO's Yanks For 20th Victory

By JOE PHELAN

BOSTON, Sept. 19—UP—Lefty Mel Parnell of the Red Sox became the American League's third 20-game winner this season with a glittering five-hit, 3-0 shutout over the New York Yankees Saturday before 24,427 Fenway Park fans.

Parnell thus joined Bob Porterfield of the Washington Nationals and the Cleveland Indians' Bob Lemon in the select 20-game winner circle and became the fourth pitcher to whip the Yankees four times this year.

The Red Sox broke a scoreless tie in the seventh inning when Tommy Umphlett, who had singled to center, scored after Milt Bolling doubled and Billy Goodman's force on Parnell, who had walked. The Sox put the game on ice in the eighth when they rapped reliefer Johnny Sain for three hits and were aided by two Yankee errors that allowed two runs across.

Ted Williams' double off the centerfield wall, his second hit of the day, started the rally. He retired for pinchrunner Hoot Evers. Then after George Kell popped out and Dick Gernert fanned, Sammy White reached first on an infield hit, went on to second on Sain's wild throw past second and Evers scored.

White advanced to third on Umphlett's single and scored when Phil Rizzuto, Yankee shortstop, fumbled Bolling's grounder. Then after Parnell walked to load the bases, Goodman flied out to Billy Martin, ending the rally.

Starter Vic Raschi, who had beaten the Red Sox eight consecutive times going back to Sept. 5, 1951, was charged with the loss, his sixth.

Wyoming Smothers New Mexico Aggies

LARAMIE, Wyo., Sept. 19 —UP—Wyoming Football Coach Phil Dickens substituted as freely as the new rule would allow Saturday as the Cowboys stomped impotent New Mexico A&M 47 to 0.

The Cowboys galloped almost at will over the visiting Aggies, scoring twice in each period with the exception of the third when they only scored once.

But the marker picked up in the third period provided one of the few bright spots in an otherwise drab game. Taking the ball on his own 41-yard line, substitute Joe Mastrogiovanni scampered 59 yards down the side line behind good blocking to tally on the only long run of the game.

Keeping to the ground almost exclusively, the Pokes collected a net yardage by rushing of 456 yards, while the Aggies could only get 105 yards.

Score by periods:

Wyoming	13	13	7	14	47
New Mexico	0	0	0	0	0

Wyoming scoring: Touchdowns, Galuska 2, Brush 2, Mastrogiovanni 2, Trullinger. Conversions: Jones, Brush, Mastrogiovanni 2, Wilson.

Smuggling Investigated

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 —UP—Immigration officials said Saturday they are investigating reports that a big-scale international ring is smuggling aliens into the United States from Canada. But they said they have found no evidence so far to support published reports in Montreal that racketeers hired by the ring have smuggled Europeans, including Communists, across the border at a rate of 20 a week.

CoP Upsets Stanford In Thriller 25-20

STANFORD, Calif., Sept. 19—UP—Stubborn little College of Pacific came from behind Saturday to upset highly-favored Stanford 25-20 in a thrill-packed season opener that had the outcome in doubt to the final gun.

It was the alert, never-give-up spirit of an outweighed small college that turned the trick.

The Tigers, their reserve bench half the size of the big Pacific Coast Conference team, spotted Stanford a first quarter touchdown and trailed at halftime 13-12.

But they came back on the opening series of downs in the second half to take command when lightweight senior Fullback Willie Richardson capped a 51-yard drive by scoring on a 27-yard pass.

Stanford was weakened considerably when it lost two of their forwards midway in the second quarter—team Captain Norm Manoogian and veteran Right Half Bill Rogers.

Georgia Tech Wins Opener

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 19 —UP—Leon Hardeman plowed to two touchdowns in 10 minutes and Georgia Tech uncovered a quarterback to go with him Saturday in a 53 to 0 rout of Davidson that stretched the Engineers' undefeated streak to 27 games.

About 22,000 fans sat through a downpour to watch the defending Southeastern Conference and Sugar Bowl champs soar to a 44-point lead in the first half and coast the rest of the way.

Coach Bobby Dodd used his first team less than 10 minutes but that was enough for the Stumpy Hardeman to flash the touchdown power that earned him second-team All-America honors last year.

With the first team on the bench, second and third stringers continued to run over the outmanned Wildcats, mostly on the surprisingly fine play of freshman quarterback Wade Mitchell.

Mitchell passed 33 yards to end Bill Sennett for one touchdown and connected to Cecil Trainer with a 29-yard toss to set up still another score.

It was the 18th straight victory for the talent-laden Engineers and stretched their undefeated string into its fourth season. Duke tied the Engineers in 1951.

Score by Periods

Georgia Tech	23	21	0	9	53
Davidson	0	0	0	0	0

Georgia Tech scoring: Touchdowns, Hardeman 2, Sennett, Hall, Morrison, Jimmy Morris, Ruffin. Conversions: Turner 2, Mitchell 2, Grant 2, Davis. Safety: Shelton (Sherman blocked his punt out of the end zone), Gray (tackled by Powers).

Mississippi Rips Chattanooga, 39-6

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 19—UP—Quarterback Eagle Day stepped into the departed Jimmy Lear's spot Saturday and the difference was scarcely discernible as Mississippi banged out a 39 to 6 victory over Chattanooga.

A crowd of 18,000 sweated out the rout in 90 degree weather and Coach Johnny Vaught quickly showed he has emphasized the quarterback problem in the off-season.

Day, 180-pounder from Columbia, Miss., completed eight of 14 passes and his play making kept the Rebels moving at a fast pace after a sluggish start.

After Chattanooga had scored first, Day whipped up two touchdowns in less than four minutes to set the pattern for the day.

Day passed 30 yards to Bob Adams, Adams lateraled to Harol Lofton and the speedy Lofton scampered 35 yards to the goal. Two plays later, Ray James grabbed a Chattanooga fumble on the visitors' 12 and Bobby McCool scored four plunges later.

Snider's 2 Homers Beat Roberts, 5-4

BROOKLYN, Sept. 19—UP—Duke Snider celebrated his 27th birthday Saturday by hitting his 40th and 41st home runs of the season off Robin Roberts, driving in three runs as Russ Meyer pitched the Dodgers to a 5-4 victory over his former Philadelphia team mates.

Snider's second homer, a tremendous blast into the upper left center field seats, in the third inning enabled him to tie Roy Campanella for the most homers hit in one season by a Brooklyn player.

Snider's two blows gives the Dodgers two players with 40 or more homers, the first club in National League history to achieve that distinction. The New York Yankees are the only other major league club ever to have two players hit 40 or more homers in one season. Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig did it in three different years.

Snider's first homer came in the opening inning after Peewee Rees had singled. The Phils took a 3-2 lead in the second when Johnny Wyrostek hit his sixth homer after Gran Hamner and Smokey Burgess had singled.

Snider tied the score in the third with his second homer and in the fifth Jack Robinson drove in two runs with a single to put Brooklyn in front for good. Meyer opened with a single and advanced to third on Junior Gilliam's double. Snider was intentionally walked and Robinson followed with his hit.

The defeat, Roberts' 15th, was his fifth at the hands of the Dodgers. He has beaten them only once. Last year he had a 6-0 record over Brooklyn. Of the 29 homers Roberts has yielded this year, 10 have been hit by the Dodgers.

Meyer's victory was his 15th and his first complete game against his former mates. It was his first win over them.

Tulane Coasts Past Citadel

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 19—UP—Tulane, moving with the speed of a wind-fed prairie fire when it wanted to, trampled outweighed and outmanned Citadel, 54 to 6, Saturday in a season opener that was little more than a light workout for the Green Wave.

Some 15,000 fans in sweltering 90-degree weather watched Tulane put together brilliantly-executed long runs, bullet passes and jolting line bucks for three touchdowns in the first period, one in the second, two in the third, and two in the fourth.

Tulane's flashy backfield quartet of Quarterback Pete Clement, Jim Partridge, Max McGee and Ronnie Kent, a top one in the Southeastern Conference this season, had little trouble solving The Citadel defense and hammered out pounding yardage almost at will.

Partridge started the scoring parade with a four-yard buck early in the first period. Then in quick succession Kent went 44 yards and lanky McGee 73 before the period ended.

Substitute Scatback Ray Hymel rambled 54 yards for Tulane's fourth one. McGee bucked four for the fifth one and Clement hit McGee with a 37-yard pass for the sixth one. In the final period, Tom Warner went 58 yards and Willie Hof 12 for the final Tulane tallies.

Score by periods:

Tulane	20	7	14	13	54
Citadel	0	6	0	0	6

Tulane scoring: Touchdown, Partridge, Kent, McGee 3, Hymel, Warner, Hof. Points after touchdown: Clement 4, Donald Gunther, Wayne Wall. Citadel scoring: Touchdown, Williams.

Rangers Down Bucks, 20-7

WHITE DEER, Sept. 19 — The favored Perryton Rangers downed a scrapping White Deer Buck team here Friday night, 20-7, in a non-conference clash.

Quarterback Billy Drake of the Rangers scored all three touchdowns for the winners. In addition, Drake ran over both extra points to account for all of Perryton's scores.

Drake scored on runs of two, one and five yards. He scored the first TD in the first quarter and the other two in he second period.

The Eller twins, Ray and Roy, teamed up with End Don Denham to account for all of White Deer's points, Roy passed to Denham for the score and Ray converted after the touchdown.

It was the season opener for the Bucks. They were playing without the services of regular halfback, Ronald Mills, who is out with a broken leg.

The Bucks will meet Price College of Amarillo here next Friday.

A's Slip Past Senators, 6-5

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 19 —UP— The Philadelphia Athletics jumped on Fran't (Specs) Shea for five runs in the first inning Saturday and then went on to defeat the Washington Senators, 6-5, for their only victory in nine 1953 games played at Connie Mack Stadium between the teams.

Gus Zernial hit his 39th homer with two on in the hectic first and rookie Tommy Giordano hit his second with one on. Zernial accounted for he winning run in the fifth when he doubled behind a single by Eddie Robinson.

Razors are not so efficient in cold weather, according to barbers, who say they will strop better when the temperature is low if dipped first in boiling water.

Iowa State Crushes South Dakota, 35-0

AMES, Iowa, Sept. 19 —UP— Iowa State's Cyclones, led by fleet halfbacks Dan Rice and Dick Cox, smashed to a 35 to 0 victory over South Dakota Saturday in their football opener before 11,000 fans.

Iowa State ran up a 28 to 0 lead in the first half and added another touchdown in the third period as Coach Abe Studer pumped his reserves into the game.

Rice drove for two touchdowns in the first period, Cox ran for one and took a pass for another and Gary Lutz plunged for one touchdown.

South Dakota, which hasn't crossed Iowa State's goal since 1899, hammered to the five-yard line in the third quarter but lost 16 yards on a fumble and the Cyclones took over.

Mighty Alabama Upset In Opener

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 —UP—The 1953 college football season was ushered in Saturday with one of the biggest upsets in a quarter century—little Mississippi Southern's stunning 25 to 19 conquest of Orange Bowl Champion Alabama.

Scheduled as a "breather" for the 61 to 6 conquerors of Syracuse in last New Year's Day Florida classic, the Hattiesburg, Miss., school with a male enrollment of only 1,460 rose behind speedy Lauren Pepper to spring the season's first shocker at Montgomery, Ala., Friday night.

The two-platoon accustomed Crimson Tide wilted in the last period as the 28-point underdogs tallied two touchdowns against the second-stringers. Alabama's starters, unaccustomed to playing both on offense and defense, simply tired after three periods and the substitutes could not hold the fort.

Lauren Pepper, 195-pound halfback and ex-soldier, hammered away at the tiring Tide for 115 yards and two touchdowns to spark the victory.

Most of the other favorites came through as expected Friday night — Detroit routing North Dakota State, 33 to 6; Furman downing Newberry, 33 to 0; Temple, led by Jack Hadley's two touchdowns, walloping Albright, 34 to 0; Youngstown beating Bowling Green 20 to 7, and UCLA whipping Oregon State 41 to 0.

Two Fugitives Caught

HUNTSVILLE, Tex., Sept. 19 —UP—Two fugitives from Eastham Prison Farm, Edward Porterfield, 31, and Eugene Gilson, 20, were captured Friday night by prison guards about two miles from where they escaped. Porterfield was serving 50 years for rape from Newton county and Gilson 10 years for theft from Houston county.

Bulldogs Have Ample Speed

Midland Switching To 'T' Formation For '53 Season

By JIM LINDSEY
Sports Writer
Midland Reporter-Telegram

MIDLAND, Sept. 19 — The Midland Bulldogs have as target for 1953 to avoid the District 1-AAAA cellar and, frankly, it looks as if they have a battle on their hands. The Midlanders opened their season schedule Friday night by eking past Lamesa, 12-7.

Quite a few developments turned up to push the Bulldogs into their present consideration as the league low men whereas earlier, say the outset of training last Spring, Coach Tugboat Jones and his staff had figured on a first division threat.

Sure, the coaches knew they'd lost 21 lettermen, but 14 were returning. They switched to the T formation because the club would also be small, but while being small boys, the Bulldogs promise to be faster. But everything in general thereafter seemed to leave the Bulldogs with a bigger fight in store.

Where there'd been a hope for one-platoon football, to Midland's small-school advantage, the interscholastic league mentors over the state decided to stick with free substitution. That did the Bulldogs little good, by win-or-lose prospects, since '53 squad will number only 29 players and only three besides the offensive starters will be taking the field on ball exchanges.

Midland recently sustained its biggest blow—the loss of all District Mill Mims. Mims, a back, was sidelined for the season when injured in a scrimmage, costing the Bulldogs what was considered to be their offensive key. 190 pounds of defensive end, a 10.2 sprinter and the central personality of the club.

The Bulldogs, even like little clouds that cry, do have silver linings. Though a couple of these make this year's backfield comparable to or better than 1952's. Rusty Rutledge and Clinton Noble, for instance, will add even more burden to their ball-carrying shoulders with the loss of Mims but they're capable. Rutledge, a 165-pound halfback, was one of the best breakaway backs on the '52 squad and is markedly improved this year. He went through a siege of fumbleitis, but presently seems to be outgrowing it. The crop-hair scooter more than likely will do half of Midland's rushing and serve as the lead blocker when Noble, a 190-pound fullback, does the other half of the toting.

Not much running left, eh?

Well, Coach Jones explains that his two possible quarter-back starters will have chores enough handling a new formation and second halfback Gerald Morris, takes over for Mims in a big jump from the B team. The bright spot among the backfield problems is that it's a faster unit than in 1952, probably shiftier and holds promise of passing accuracy and deception.

Young Willie Brooks, a junior, will be the key aerialist while serving as man-under. He has a battle, at that, to beat out Tommy Johnson, also a junior, who is a better ball handler.

In recent efforts to solve backfield problems, Coach Jones brough Wahoo McDaniel from the soph squad and shifted Darrell Spivey to fullback from guard in case there are more injuries. Spivey, however will remain in the line where his guard positions seems to be the brightest spot.

He teams with all-District Kenneth Schrum as 48-minute men. It'll be hard to find a better twosome around the loop than these two chuncky players. Outside of them at the tackle post, Midland will rely on inexperienced players Lee Ball and Lionel Crisp, both juniors, to come through. They have little reserve backing and a long way to go to develop.

At ends, Paul Davis and John Crowley may give the Bulldogs Mims, had been earlier elected as excellent offensive support. While at Center Milton Jones will be bidding as one of the better district players both offensively and defensively. He is the team's key player, remaining in that he, with Mims, had been earlier elected as Bulldog captain, and besides at 190, the starter from last year, proves the heaviest of the light Midland line.

To win though, all these players will have to be good, anyway you look at football. They face the prospect of iron man football since Coach Jones afterwards can bank on only linebackers Don Evans and Jack Harris and Halfback Fred Gist on defense. With most of the other players up from the B squad or green under-graduates, few substitutions are in prospect.

All in all, Midland isn't a threat to the league's big four, Lubbock, Odessa, Pampa and Amarillo. The other threesome, then, can expect even more than a schedule fight with the Bulldogs. For against San Angelo, Abilene and Borger, the Bulldogs will be bidding their best bets to avoid the cellar.

Braves Eye Gate Record

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 19 —UP— The Milwaukee Braves were set for the start of their final home series of the season Saturday with two goals in mind — second place in the National League and a new league attendance record.

The Braves need only two more victories to clinch a second place finish and they could turn the trick before their home town fans in the three-game series with Cincinnati this weekend. The Braves were scheduled to play the Redlegs in a single game Saturday and a double-header Sunday.

Milwaukee needs only 49,623 paid admissions in the two remaining home dates to set a new all-time National League attendance mark, even though it is the first year for Milwaukee in the senior loop since the club was moved from Boston because of a lack of patronage.

Brooklyn set the current league attendance record in 1947 with 1,807,526. The Braves already have drawn 1,757,904 and would have broken the record some time ago if the new County Stadium had more seats.

Mize, Lopat Among Best Trades

Player Deals Another Factor In Yank Championship Race

(This is the fourth in a five-part series on the New York Yankees' feat of winning five consecutive American League pennants.)

By FRED DOWN

NEW YORK, Sept. 19 —UP— General Manager George Weiss singled out seven player deals which proved vital in building the New York Yankees' amazing string of five straight American League pennants.

Acquired in the deals were Johnny Mize, outfielder Irv Noren and pitchers Allie Reynolds, Ed Lopat, Johnny Sain, Bob Kuzava and Tom Ferrick. They cost the Yankees a total of $140,000 and 17 players but would have been cheap at twice the cost because the pennants could not have been won without them.

"Mize, along with Joe Page, were key figures in winning the 1949 pennant, and the 1950 pennant could not have been won without Ferrick," Weiss recalls. "In 1951 Kuzava and Sain gave us added strength and may have been decisive. Noren helped in replacing Joe DiMaggio, although Mickey Mantle finally took over the regular center field job.

Lopat Deal One of Best

"And, of course, Reynolds and Lopat have been two of our three dependable starting pitchers over the five-year period," he concludes.

The Lopat deal, made with the White Sox Feb. 24, 1948, must rate with any Branch Rickey ever made as far as value received is concerned. For a pitcher who compiled 17-11, 15-10, 18-8, 21-9, 10-5 and 15-4 records in the next seasons, the Yankees surrendered catcher Aaron Robinson and pitchers Fred Bradley and Bill Wight.

A few of the deals were sharply criticized, however, notably the Ferrick deal in which the Browns received $50,000, pitchers Don Johnson and Duane Pillette, infielder George Stirnweiss and outfielder Jim Delsing; and the Noren transaction in which the Senators obtained outfielders Jackie Jensen and Archie Wilson, pitcher Frank Shea and infielder Jerry Snyder.

"And, of course, the "waiver deals" for Sain and Mize as well as Johnny Hopp and Ewell Blackwell caused a storm of criticism and eventually a new league rule prohibiting the practice.

Costs to Get Key Player

"That criticism deeply hurt us," Weiss admitted. "It was as if we were doing something dishonest. The deals were perfectly legitimate. It was another example of a 'Hate the Yankees Campaign' which really distressed us.

"We must always be resigned to giving up a great deal to acquire a player," Weiss explained. "We must often surrender greater player value in order to acquire one key player who solves our particular problem.

"Ferrick is an example of that philosophy," Weiss pointed out. "We gave up a tremendous amount of talent to acquire an aged pitcher who did not remain with us long. But we acquired Ferrick's relief pitching in order to win the 1950 pennant and we would not have won it without him."

(Monday — Owners Topping and Webb also played important roles in Yankee dynasty).

One Item Added To City Agenda

Only one new item has been added to the City Commission's "left over" agenda from last week, City Manager B. H. Cruce said Saturday.

That is the letter sent the city, county, and school board by the three men who served on the city board of equalization critiizing the policy of hiring outside appraisal firms to evaluate county and school oil and gas property for taxable purposes.

Other items will be appointment of five men to the Board of City Development, the final estimate of $21,409.85 to Ernest Lloyd for topping Pampa streets, and the recommendation on long range planning for Recreation Park — the same as was given the county commissioners last week.

Whether the requested increase on the local gas rate will come before the commission depends mostly on the mayor, Cruce said.

County Court Cases Slashed

The original 21 cases scheduled for trial Monday in County Court were chopped down to 19 by Saturday after two men pleaded guilty to misdemeanor offenses last week.

County Atty. Bill Waters said that 14 of the 19 cases were drunken driving charges. The remaining five were: one swindling with a worthless check, one aggravated assault, one aggravated assault with a motor vehicle, one driving while license was suspended, and one liquor violation.

The first theft netted $27 and the second $50. Each time $5 was left in the cash register.

Southwest Grain

FORT WORTH, Sept. 19 —UP— USDA—Weekly grain:

Most cash grain prices declined from Sept. 11 through Sept. 18. Market changes based on wholesale carlots, Texas common rate point basis, showed:

Grain sorghums off 8c per 100 lbs. This left prices ranging from 2.75 to 2.80. Losses at Kansas City were much sharper at 24 to 29c per 100 lbs. This slump was influenced by increased offerings from the new crop and slow demand.

Wheat lost 4¾—c a bushel. No. 1 hard offerings closed at 2.32¼ to 2.48¼. Behind this decline in wheat prices were two major factors ... inactive domestic and foreign demand and large supplies in both the United States and Canada.

Sales of wheat and flour under the International Agreement for the week ending Sept. 15 totaled 2.4 million bushels compared with 4.6 for the same week last year. Total sales under the new program amount to only 23.7 million bushels of wheat as against 71.4 million during the same time last year.

White corn slipped a dime per bushel this week. In contrast, yellow corn went up 7¼c on the low end of the range and 6¼c on the high end. Prices closed at $1.95¾ to $1.97¾ for No. 2 offerings.

Barley declined 2c a bushel as a result of an inactive demand and large imports of Canadian barley. Fort Worth priced No. 2 oats at 93¼ to 95c ... steady to 1¼c a bushel higher than a week ago.

FALL

Now is the dirfting time when the leaves blossom,
The sun a chrysanthemum in the soft blue sky,
Slow dawn and hasty sunset seal
the heavens,
And a sleepy moon is there as the day goes by.

SPEAKING OF TWENTIETH CENTURY, heard the President's Coffee, held Tuesday morning at the Country Club, was very nice. The theme centered around Austria where the speaker, FRAU RENEE von BRONNECK, was born. . and the country about which she showed slides and lectured. The table was laid with a floor-length cloth and miniature figurines of ballerina girls were placed around a violin which was propped against a book of music opened at the piece, "Tales of Vienna Woods." Midst the playing of Viennese waltzes by MRS. CHARLES (CHARLSIE) HICKMAN, the mood was set for the interesting pictures and talk which followed. Understand that several articles made in Austria such as scarfs, needlepoint purses, earrings, pins, lockets, gloves, etc., were sold after the coffee. . .Would have loved to have been the purchaser of a pair of gloves, for Peg has heard much about Austrian leather.

WHERE DOES YOUR TIME GO? Not so long ago, Peg read where a University of Wisconsin psychology class set out to pin down the answer to a question that puzzles many of us . . .where all our time goes. . .and came up with some surprising conclusions. . . the students decided that in the average 70 years of life, a person spends 20 years working and 20 years sleeping, seven years walking and playing outdoor games, and seven years enjoying the movies, TV and other passive amusements. . .The class says we spend five years shaving and dressing, three years waiting for people, two and a half years eating and sitting at the table, and the same time smoking and chewing gum. . .Of the remaining three years, two are spent playing cards, and similar games, and one year is devoted to talking on the telephone. REMEMBER, IT'S LATER THAN YOU THINK!!

Did you know that you can buy potatoes already peeled and diced to suit your needs?

Marketing of potatoes in this manner has gained wide popularity among hotels, restaurants, hospitals and other quantity users.

The potatoes are peeled mechanically and sold as whole potatoes, diced, sliced or in other forms required by the user. The product is treated against dislocation and dry-packed in 30-pound paper bags with plastic liners.

Users find that potatoes bought in this manner saves them money because they meet their specific requirements. In addition, they save in labor and there's practically no waste of food.

This method of marketing potatoes has become so popular in metropolitan areas that users have asked the U.S. Department of Agriculture to set up standards for the product.

These peeled white potatoes would be designated as U. S. Grade A or U. S. Fancy; U. S. Grade C or U. S. Grade Standard; and Sub-standard. The grade of the product would be ascertained by considering in conjunction with other requirements the respective ratings for the factor of color, uniformity of size and shape, absence of defects, and texture.

The proposed standards are the result of studies made by the industry and USDA.

American Women War On Paris Fashion Dictators; Won't Buy New Short Skirt

By CLAIRE COX

NEW YORK, Sept. 19—(AP)—American women have declared war on the Paris fashion dictators.

From $50-a-week secretaries to Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower, women said they would not buy the new short skirt length dressmaker Christian Dior wants to sell them this fall.

A lot of the women don't plan to buy any new clothes at all—they said.

The rebels against skirts 16 inches from the floor included Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, secretary of health, education and welfare, the new Miss America, and even the wife of the French ambassador to the U. S. who said she was getting a little too old to show her legs.

British Rebel, Too

The Americans got another big boost from two others among the world's best-dressed women—Britain's Queen and her fashion-plate aunt.

Norman Hartnell, designer to royalty, reported Queen Elizabeth II and the Duchess of Kent have no intention of raising their hems to hew to Dior's fashion line.

The Queen and the Duchess set the style for British women, just as Mrs. Eisenhower's tastes already have been reflected in what millions of Americans are wearing.

Miss America Too Tall

Mrs. Eisenhower said her skirts have been 13 inches from the floor, and they are going to stay put. Mrs. Hobby said she did not have time to shop for a fall wardrobe and plans to wear what she had last year.

"Miss America," 20-year-old Evelyn Ay, Ephrata, Pa., said her five feet, 10 inches made her much too tall to wear dresses chopped off just a little below the knee.

An official of the Business and Professional Women's Clubs said most of her organization's 165,000 hard-working members were too conservative to accept radical style changes.

University Women Learn

"We always want to wear good looking clothes," the official said, "but we are not going to be dictated to."

"Most university women feel the same way," said a spokesman for the American Association of University Women. "I saw some of the new fashions in Paris. I thought they were terrible."

She said she thought she spoke for most of the organization's 125,000 members in saying they have learned by their past mistakes not to buy new clothes every time Paris designers say the word.

American Legion Auxiliary Holds Meet, Hospital Party For Veteran Group

American Legion Auxiliary members met in the city club rooms recently for a regular business meeting with Mrs. F. M. Shotwell presiding.

The meeting was opened with the presentation of the flags by Mrs. M. F. Roche and Mrs. J. C. Coston, followed by the pledge to the flag and prayer by the chaplain Mrs. Lee Harrah.

Mrs. J. C. Coston, member of the rehabilitation committee, reported on the work of that committee and upon the party given by the local auxiliary in the Amarillo Veterans' Hospital on Wednesday evening. Mrs. E. E. McNutt was master of ceremonies and introduced F. E. Matheny who entertained the hospitalized veterans with several piano numbers. At times he was accompanied by a patient volunteer on the guitar. Rev. Richard Crews presented his interpretation of "Casey At The Bat" and "The Shooting of Dangerous Dan McGrew." A singsong was then held with Elsie Hall at the piano. Refreshments of ice cream and cokes were served to ambulatory patients and cigarettes and chewing gum were taken to men confined to wards or rooms. This is a part of the regular work of the Legion Auxiliary.

Mrs. Al Lawson told of the Veterans Gift Shop and said that it was time to start thinking along that line.

Mrs. Joe Shelton outlined the complete program for the year. The theme for the year will be "How Deep Are Our Roots." Program books will be printed and distributed before the next meeting.

A rummage sale will be held in the Harris Building on Saturday with Mrs. Gladys Turner, Mrs. Joe Shelton and Mrs. Roy Hall in charge.

The meeting approved the Council of Club recommendations concerning new member club and paving project.

Miss DeAun Heiskell was formally initiated into the Auxiliary by Mrs. Al Lawson who gave her the obligation and explained the symbols of Freedom, Justice, Loyalty and Democracy. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Shotwell and Mrs. Shelton.

NSA Group Will Entertain Guests

Miss Lucy Mae Yarnell, assistant professor at West Texas State College in Canyon, and Mrs. Sybil May, state officer for National Secretaries Association, will be guest speakers at the program to be presented this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the City Club Rooms by members of the Top O' Texas chapter of NSA.

Guests at the program will be rushees for the local chapter and members of the Palo Duro chapter of Amarillo.

Miss Yarnell will speak on the Certified Professional Secretaries program and will describe the benefits and requirements. Mrs. May will tell of National Secretaries Association aims.

Business Women Plan Western Party

Pampa chapter of the Business and Professional Women will hold a fall round-up at the Frank Lard home, 1101 E. Frederic, Tuesday at 7 p.m.

Local guests, and Panhandle and Borger club members will be entertained at the rodeo and barbecue party. Hostesses for the event will be executive officers and committee chairmen.

The western theme will be carried out in all the decorations and food. Western music will also be furnished. Guests were invited to wear western dress for the celebration.

Perfume and toilet water or cologne should always be used together. The latter form the fragrance's foundation, while the perfume supplies the accent.

Planning to have floors scraped? To catch dust in the air and prevent it from floating into other rooms, hang damp sheets on the door of the room in which the work is being done.

Miss Joyce Curnutt Becomes Bride Of Claude Givhan In Formal Ceremony

CANADIAN — (Special) — In a recent formal double-ring ceremony in the First Methodist Church of Canadian Joyce Curnutt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orla H. Curnutt, became the bride of Claude Givhan, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Givhan of Collins, Ga.

Rev. A. A. Kendall, pastor, read the vows before a white satin arch entwined with fern and flanked by twin baskets of white gladioli and greenery tied with satin bows. Blue tapers in branched candelabra completed the setting.

Mrs. Charles Teas was pianist for the occasion and played the traditional wedding marches for the processional and recessional. She accompanied Mrs. Erbin Crowell, cousin of the bride, as she sang "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Candlelighters were Orla B. Curnutt, brother of the bride, and Billy Hines, cousin of the bride.

Erbin Crowell Jr., cousin of the bride, Stan Douglass and Jimmy Hodges were ushers.

Byron Harold of Lovington, N. Mex., uncle of the bridegroom, attended as best man.

Miss Jeanie Job of Woodward, Okla., was maid of honor. She wore a formal length dress of blue brocaded taffeta fashioned with fitted bodice and full skirt. Her headdress was of white carnations and she carried a nosegay of white carnations.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a formal wedding gown of lace over bridal satin. It featured a fitted bodice and long sleeves that came to points over her hands. Her three tiered veil of illusion fell from a tiny headpiece trimmed with rows of seed pearls. Her bridal bouquet was of white roses tied with blue satin streamers.

Mrs. Curnutt chose to wear to her daughter's wedding a wine colored faille suit with black accessories and gardenia corsage.

Following the exchange of vows Mr. and Mrs. Curnutt were hosts to a reception honoring the bridal couple.

Guests were greeted by members of the wedding party.

The bride's table was covered with an heirloom Madeira linen cloth with insets of handmade filet lace. An arrangement of daisies centered the table. Blue tapers flanked the centerpiece.

The tiered wedding cake and crystal punch service were placed on opposite ends of the table.

Mrs. B. W. Harold of Lovington, aunt of the bridegroom, poured the punch and Mrs. H. O. Wardlaw of Dumas, aunt of the bride, presided at the cake service.

For her wedding trip the bride wore a gray flannel suit with gray and pink accessories.

Following a tri pto Florida, Georgia and Alabama the couple will be at home after October 1 in Canadian.

Mrs. Givhan is a graduate of Canadian High school and attended college at North Texas State, Denton.

The bridegroom attended high school in Acworth, Ga., and attended a Georgia junior college. He is employed at the Humble Oil and Refining Co.

Save That Door

An old-fashioned door can serve as the raw material for an inexpensive handsome modern piece of furniture.

Cut a panel of ¼" fir plywood to fit the surface of the door and then nail or glue it over one face. Edge the sides with edging strips mitered at the corner. Fir, oak, mahogany or gum edging strips are all attractive. Buy them wide enough to conceal the entire edge of the door.

Then use the increasingly popular hairpin wrought iron legs made in standard sizes. These create a table with clean, modern, graceful legs.

You can either finish the surface natural or paint it. One treatment that will be a lot of fun is to use colored tiles. Even solid color asphalt tiles will make an excellent surface. And fir plywood is an ideal base for materials of this kind.

Tea Wagons Continue To Roll In Homes

No single item of furniture has staged a style comeback like the tea wagon.

It goes under many names these days, but nevertheless it is a variation of the old fashioned tea wagon.

Tea wagons, hostess carts, mobile servers, snack trucks, or whatever you wish to call them, are currently a very important part of the furnishings in the contemporary home.

Metal and plastic carts are a basic requirement in the modern kitchen, while more elegant styles wheel the meals into the dining room. Many hostesses use them for serving buffet suppers or late snacks.

Ask the new bride, who has moved into a one or two-room apartment, how valuable her hostess cart is. She will use it for dinner for two until she lives in a larger place.

Some hostesses use the mobile server with the plastic coated surface top as a beverage dispenser. When not used for this purpose it may be placed against the wall and serve as a lamp table.

You will find hostess carts of every description and styling.

They are part of entire groupings, or designed to be conversation pieces.

Many carts have drawers for silver and other serving items. Most have shelves for storage space.

Your serving cart can be formal or informal, casual or elegant. Either conception, it is definitely a necessary adjunct to today's home.

Variations of the tea wagon include the mobile step table with a flip top that provides additional serving area.

There is one that is a mobile tier table. It provides a large serving counter.

Others are the familiar drop leaf type or the small scaled mobile buffet. Some have built-in hot plates.

Cork and stainless steel are a popular, as well as decorative, top surface for many tea carts.

Whether your decorating plan is contemporary, modern or traditional, you can have a hostess cart to fit into your home and save you any number of small tasks.

The return of the tea cart is not just a fad. It is here to stay this time.

The more entertaining you do at home the more you will realize the value of this important item of furniture.

Don't be afraid of the price. You can find one to fit within your budget. They will keep your entertaining rolling smoothly along.

Shop the stores and see the many variations of this item of furniture that has made such a sensational comeback.

You won't want to be without a mobile cart when you see the clever and useful designs that are made to serve you.

Modern, traditional, or just plain quaint, the hostess cart has again become an integral part of today's home.

Revolving Chair Is An Innovation

Your television set can be the focal point in your room or for the more discerning viewer, it can be a necessary accessory to the general decorating plan of the room.

The smart homemaker solves the problem with the revolving lounge chair.

These chairs have a swivel base exactly like the standard office chair. Cleverly concealed, the swivel base television chair is available in a multiplicity of styles. Designed for comfort, these chairs form the basis for the combination televiewing and conversational grouping.

The swivel base chair has grown in popularity so much that today they run the gamut of the price field, as well as the style chart.

If you own a television set you'll want to own a swivel base lounge chair. Hours of comfort are yours in these well styled recent furniture innovations for your home.

Helpful Booklet

A new 16-page booklet chockful of planning tips for remodeling or new building has just been published by fir plywood manufacturers.

Entitled "Plan With Plywood For Better Living," the booklet presents information on planning your construction from the ground up. Every page is liberally illustrated to give you a clear understanding of all the elements that go into a home.

Easy To Live With . . .

Furnishings Of Modern Home Have A Distinct Casual Note

Contemporory or modern furnishings are easy to live with, and in the best of taste in any type of home.

You don't have to be afraid to use modern furniture with your traditional pieces either. The modern touch adds a point of interest to a traditional setting.

The dramatic, yet warm and friendly, beauty of modern furniture, highlights or accents your decorating scheme.

How do you blend modern with traditional furnishings? The problem is one of personal preference, but here are a few suggestions.

In a modern living room where tables, sofa, lamps, and the colors are modern in feeling, you might add French Provincial or 18th Century Italian chairs. This provides direct contrast.

On the other hand, many of today's contemporary furniture pieces are almost transitional in appearance. It is hard to tell where traditional ends and modern begins. Pieces of this type blend perfectly with any decor.

You also will notice this transitional trend in some lines that could pass for Early American. The slant of the leg or hardware, however, give the pieces a definite modern flair. Most prominent is the maple or oak contemporary version of the Captain's chair.

In your bedroom a touch of modern might be a comfortable black iron chair with a canvas sling seat. These are particularly appropriate for the teenager's room, and inexpensive.

In your dining room the touch of modern can be the hostess cart. Possibly, a black wrought iron cart that will give maximum service without taking up a great deal of space.

In your modern kitchen the charming softening touch is the circular lazy susan table with captain's chairs in Early American styling. Incidentally, the round table fits perfectly into the kitchen of many of the newer homes.

Spicing the decor of your home with furniture that is from another period is fun. You can do it and it will produce a pleasing and eye catching effect.

The Light Look

The trend is toward furniture that is raised from the floor. Here case pieces are lifted from the floor by carefully tapered legs, giving a light feeling to the furniture. Brass ferrules are used on legs for decorative contrast. Footboard on bed contains storage compartment for two blankets. The wood is mahogany. Finish on group shown is called "Fawn". For those who prefer a darker finish, the same group is available in a cordovan finish. (United Furniture Corporation).

Important Items
Occasional Pieces Living Room Asset

Among the most important items of furniture in your home are the occasional pieces — the tables, cabinets, commodes and storage for books and magazines.

Naturally, you will select a style to harmonize with your general decorating scheme but choose wisely. A low table next to a sofa, or a chair with high arms, serves little purpose.

The small scaled coffee table in front of the long sofa merely gets in the way of persons seated on the sofa. At the same time, do not select the generous sized coffee table just because it is what you have always wanted.

Select your occasional furniture to fit into your home. With a minimum of effort you will find exactly what you want.

Choose pieces that can double in brass — a commode, that will hold a lamp and provide storage space, an end table that has a shelf for books, a nest of tables with stain-resistant tops, or a mobile table to assist you in your role of hostess.

Look around your home. Are the occasional pieces just right for your home and the use you put them to? If not, now during Home Fashion Time, you will want to see the many new ideas available for your convenience.

Are your tables just four legs and a top, or do they work for you? Is there space for storing books or magazines? Are the tops stain-resistant? How much storage space do you have in the commode?

One suggestion is to replace old tables with lamp size commodes. This gives you double the usefulness at no loss of space.

Another handy occasional piece of furniture is the wall rack. There are many varieties in all price brackets. Some even have drawers. Placed over a table or desk the wall rack becomes an integral part of the setting.

Important for displaying your hobbies is the bookcase with separate partitions for books and brick-a-brac.

Your occasional pieces can either match your present furnishings, or for a change of pace you might like to select one or two from another period. These will then accent the beauty of your other furnishings.

There are occasional pieces to fit every possible room arrangement. Whether it is a chair or table, it should be chosen with the same care that you select the larger, more important pieces in your room.

Decorators Have Needed Know-How

When in doubt, consult the store decorator.

The store decorator has the experience and know-how to advise the homemaker on the selection of styles, colors, the durability of fabrics and the newest trends in decorating.

Your store decorator is there as a service to you. In many instances, hours of tedious shopping can be avoided by going first to the decorator for suggestions.

If your local retail store does not employ a decorator full-time, the retail salesman will assist you.

Furniture and home furnishing salesmen and saleswomen are especially trained to meet the problems of the homemaker. They are familiar with the merchandise and can point out to you the qualities that may not be readily visible.

Think of the great number of purchases that are returned annually because the homemaker failed to select the proper color, or size of an article. Your local decorator and retailer have been trained to advise you about the needs in your home.

New Styles In Mirrors

New styling in mirrors offers today's homemaker many interesting and new decorating possibilities.

Free form mirrors in unusual shapes, and hung unframed, are adding new illusions to the modern home. In shapes of urns, fish, palettes, and many other fascinating forms, mirrors bring sparkling beauty to the homes of today.

Small panels may be hung on either side of large, plain rectangular mirror. This is a new device for modern styling, and a change in mirror designing. Panels of colored mirror, engraved or plain, give an appearance of additional width to a room.

Mirrors with frames of bamboo and rattan, which repeat the material used in furniture, are particularly decorative. The design of drawer pulls or carving on furniture can be repeated in your mirror.

Texture Trick Solid Subfloors

When installing cabinet doors in fir plywood furniture or kitchen cupboards you can get a simple modern textured surface that brings an entirely new note into your home.

It's a simple trick and all you need is access to a table saw.

Here's what you do. Make a series of criss-crossed saw cuts in the surface of the panel. Run the cuts about ⅛" deep vertically and horizontally. Spacing of two inches looks well. The closer the spacing the greater the degree of texture.

This works nicely on any cabinet door but actually a series of parallel saw cuts run vertically in plywood paneling would be equally effective in achieving a vertical effect that will lend a feeling of height to the room.

Here's How To Take Care Of Carpets

New carpets and rugs should be a source of pride, not the cause of anxiety. The days when we lowered the shades during the day to keep out the sun are gone just as is the era when the parlor was reserved for special and formal occasions.

Today we have a sensible attitude about our homes, choosing the furnishings that suit our way of life, confident that American industrial ingenuity will insure top performance of these furnishings under daily use in our homes.

Carpets and rugs are made to be walked on and manufacturers of soft floor coverings bend every effort toward making their products as resistant to wear and soil as they know how.

Gradual diming down of color, however, is inevitable. It comes from dust in the air and every day traffic over the carpet's surface. Fortunately just a little attention will go far toward maintaining new soft floor coverings in brand-new condition.

A daily "once over" with your carpet sweeper plus a weekly or twice-weekly treatment with your vacuum cleaner will help carpets and rugs retain their good looks.

That stitch in time to treat the spills and spots that occur in the best regulated households is essential to preservation of a soft floor covering's good looks. Many manufacturer's labels carry instructions on both daily and emergency treatment for carpet: frequently a booklet or direction sheet on care is enclosed in the roll when it is delivered to you. Save such instructions and keep in some handy location for your ready reference.

Nine times out of ten any stain treated within a few minutes of its occurrence will disappear without a trace. Rust and paint on a carpet are serious and as soon as either of these substances is discovered, call on the services of a professional cleaner.

There are certain items for first aid treatment of carpets and rugs that it is wise to keep on hand: dry cleaning fluid and clean cloths (terry toweling is excellent) for oily substances; ammonia or baking soda to be combined with water for treatment of acids; a detergent for mystery spots, blood stains and pet spots; a dull knife or spatula for scraping up junior's bubble gum and similar sticky substances.

Stubborn spots and such substances as paint and permanent ink require the services of a professional cleaner who will send a "spotter" for immediate attention.

Plan Each Room To Meet The Basic Needs Of Your Family

You can not furnish a home haphazardly and have the results show good taste. It takes time to build a home and it will take time to plan the furnishings so that the final results will give you and your family lasting pleasure.

Plan the interior of your home to meet the requirements of your family. These requirements are different for each family.

For instance, a family with teenagers will have different requirements from the family with small fry. At the same time, the family with no children living at home can devote more space to entertaining requirements.

One of the most popular combinations in today's home is the "L" shaped living and dining room. Consider this type of setting for each of the families mentioned. What are their requirements?

The family with teenagers can effectively blind 18th Century and American Colonial furniture. Living room pieces would probably include a sofa grouping — sofa, chairs, which may be a part of the dining set. Combined they form a pleasant conversational or television grouping.

The television set may be placed at one end of the room where it can be easily viewed by the entire family.

Occasional pieces might include a chest-table that is both decorative and useful. The drawers provide always-needed extra storage space. A comfortable easy chair placed next to this chest-table gives mother a favorite sewing center or dad a place for reading.

In the dining area, a well planned arrangement makes highly efficient use of space. A drop leaf extension table takes little room when closed.

In the teenagers bedroom a vanity-desk is a practically addition. Double dressers are important too. If the room is small a huge mirror might be placed on one wall to give added depth.

In the home where there are small children, modern furniture with durable yet attractive upholstery materials, is a wise choice.

Textured cotton rugs are a practical selection. When soiled they simply go to the laundry.

All table and occasional chairs should stand on solid footing. They are safer with small children around.

A small scaled dining set may be chosen to leave ample room for a play pen.

In a home where no children live the occupants can afford to be lavish with space. A mixing of traditional and modern furnishings may be selected. These folks will want to include a permanent card table grouping. Their dining table can be larger for more entertaining. The spare bedroom can be turned into a den and guest room. This offers a quiet retreat.

Whatever your plan for family living you will want the furnishings in your home to include the basic requirements — usefulness, good taste and liveable arrangement.

BRASS FERRULES AND TAPERED LEGS add to the smartness of this Modern coffee table. Made of "Enchanted" walnut, this table is one of a large group of occasional tables. Many of the pieces in the group have heavy crystal sheet glass inserts in the tops. Solid brass ferrules are satin-finished. (Tonk Manufacturing Co.)

In the design of the "Trail Blazer" the four basic operations for living have been embodied in its design. The four operations of dwelling, working, the culture of the body and mind, and circulation have been emphasized in the 1000 sq. ft. house. The concept of planned storage is an extension of the doctrine which states that the house is a "machine for living"; that it must provide more than mere shelter — it must be a focal point for pleasant family life. A major trend in contemporary homes to achieve this end is the use of built-in conveniences. The use of built-in furniture brings both flexibility and economy: flexibility because built-in furniture actually expands usable floor space by eliminating space-eating chests and tables; economy because built-in's obviate the need for conventional furniture . . . permit owners to move in with a minimum outlay for home furnishings.

The National Association of Home Builders "Trade Secrets" house, is the result of a series of extraordinary conferences in which leaders of the Home Building Industry pooled their trade secrets and, as a major result, planned the most talked about house of 1953. Two things made this project possible. One was the willingness to share jealously held secrets. The other was the enormous change in home building in the past seven years . . . the change from a craft which worked inefficiently, to an industrialized business in which mass builders can apply the techniques of the assembly line. It is being constructed by 216 builders in 42 states.

Three Hughes Homes Will Be Open To The Public

Trade Secrets And 2 Other Homes Shown

Three model homes—the "Trade Secrets" house, the Hughes '54 house and the Trail Blazer—which truly live up to their theme of gracious living, will be revealed to the public starting this Sunday and continuing through Sunday, Sept. 27, it was announced by the Hughes Development Company.

Open House will be held at all three residences, 1409 N. Williston, 408 W. Harvester and 400 W. Harvester, starting this Sunday from 1 to 9 p.m. and continuing on week days from 5 to 9 p.m. The same Sunday schedule will be followed Sept. 27.

The Trail Blazer and Hughes '54 have been furnished by the Texas Furniture Company.

"The best constructed homes I've ever seen" was the consensus of construction leaders and designers from over the Southwest who attended a preview showing of the houses a week ago.

The "Trade Secrets" house has 1,340 square feet of living space, three bedrooms, one and one-half baths, a big fireplace, a flexible open-floor plan and air conditioning. The home actually was "designed for living" and is of modern design and the latest in engineering. It offers glamor features such as dramatic window walls, accordion partitions and a super-efficient kitchen.

The Hughes '54 house is a picture of gracious living enclosed in 1,100 square feet of living space, two bedrooms, a den-guest bedroom, a 12-foot bathroom and an open-floor plan with a sliding wall partition and air conditioning.

The "Trade Secrets" house is one of 216 being built in 42 states. It is the result of extraordinary conferences in which leaders of the home building industry pooled their trade secrets and, as a major result, planned the most-talked about house in 1954.

Exterior of this home at 400 W. Harvester reveals the modern design. The low, unbroken eave line provides a strong horizontal emphasis in the trim design. The close-to-the-ground feeling is sustained by the low pitch of the roof, and the indoors blends with the outdoors with the stretch of window wall, sweeping 28 feet across both living and dining areas. A patio, complete with swank furnishings, will prove a delight to visitors as they view it through the glass.

Featured in the furnishings are contemporary pieces of wood and wrought iron in three finishes — black, tobacco and bleach.

The over-all decoration reveals a blending of lavish colors with tasteful accessories suitable to modern living.

In the living area, a built-in television set, a scenic wall of rare beauty and a fireplace provide effective background to the smart furniture. Wall-to-wall carpeting and beautiful drapes enhance the scene.

In the master bedroom, accented in royal purple, are built-in closets and drawers. The second bedroom, which with the master bedroom, opens on the front patio, is tastefully decorated in orange and green. Adjustable light features are additional features.

Efficiency is the keynote of the "Trade Secrets" house which has a one-floor layout for easy living. Another feature is the open planing with partitions for enclosures. All of the home, except where privacy is desired, is wide open. The spacious "one big room" lends itself to hospitality and home enjoyment.

The sink-range working zone in the kitchen which rises only counter high, not to the ceiling, and eye-level electric oven afford the housewife a delightful haven.

In this "Trade Secrets" house nearly every partition is a floor-to-ceiling built-in storage wall. Cabinets line the kitchen. Both baths have ample shelf and closet space and even the wall area above the water closet, usually wasted, is utilized for storage. In all there are more than 700 cubic feet indoor storage space. And there are 66 square feet more of covered storage in the carport for items used around the car and in the yard.

The exterior of the Hughes '54 house is of contemporary design with long, low sweeping lines. Some of the features of this house are a wide roof which overhangs; attached carport that will double as a controlled play area; outside storage; front porch; planting box and a built-up roof with white marble chips.

The ribbon windows are placed high in the walls, affording full use of all walls for various furniture arrangements and providing for an economical air conditioning operation.

The open-floor plan gives that "one big room" for both convenience and spaciousness.

There also is storage space galore in the Huges '54 home. Nearly every partition is a floor-to-ceiling built-in storage wall and bedrooms have built-in dressers and mirrors, requiring less furniture. The hallway has two large storage closets.

In this beautiful new residence, as in the "Trade Secrets" home, the utmost in perfection is evident in decorating. In the living room the walls are covered with imported woven glass fiber in chocolate brown blending with the settings of greens and yellows. The chairs and drapes are of contrasting mauve and plaids.

Arranged conveniently, the kitchen features Westinghouse appliances and large dutch oven, fluorescent lights shielded by frosted glass and a delightfully gay color scheme.

The master bedroom is furnished in Willett maple and the other in equally tastefully and chic furnishings. The two built-in dressing tables lend to the impressiveness of the room.

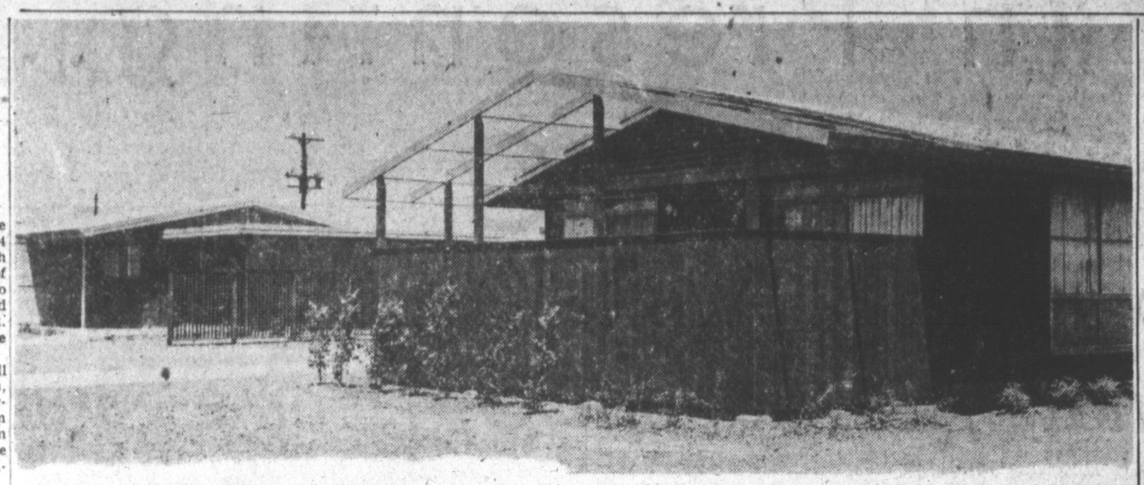
The 12-foot combination bathroom-dressing-room carries out the same original theme of gracious living with its two lavatories, white cotton carpeting, dressing table and tub and shower.

Landscaping has been planned for the homes to afford an enchanting outdoor home for occupants of either of the residences.

The "Trail Blazer" has been aptly described as a "machine for living." Encompassing 1,000 square feet, this contemporary style utilizes to the maximum the "built-ins." Not only are space-consuming tables, chests, etc., eliminated as floor space users but other furniture stylings are so designed for maximum utility.

Visitors to the three houses may reach their destination by driving out N. Hobart and turning to the right on Harvester.

And when visitors arrive at their goal, they will view these three homes which are complete to the last degree. Even in closets there are, clothes containers and hat boxes resting, and in all three homes the tables in the dining rooms are set and ready for that dinner party. Lovely pottery graces the ample shelves and everywhere there is in evidence one of the finer touches which make the houses look and feel lived-in.



"TRADE SECRETS" HOUSE ON DISPLAY — The spacious "Trade Secrets" house, designed for gracious living and built by Hughes Development Company will be open to the public Sundays from 2 until 9 p.m. and on week days from 5 to 9 p.m., starting this Sunday. The above scene reveals the enclosed front patio into which both bedrooms open. At the left is shown the Hughes '54 home, another model residence, which also will be opened to the public at the same tmie. The "Trade Secrets" home is the result of conferences of leaders of the home building industry.

DESIGNED FOR GRACIOUS LIVING — The scenic wall in den-bedroom of "Trade Secret" house is only one of the modern and gracious features of that model home which will be opened to the public Sundays from 2 until 9 p.m. and on week days from 5 until 9 p.m. Built by Hughes Development Company, the residence is a combination of beauty and efficiency. The accordion partitions, revealed in the above picture, provide facilities for creating "one big room" or for enclosure when privacy is desired.

Lighting Is Big Home Attraction

Who wants to wait for a completely new home to have a modern one? No one, of course. And no one has to. The American way is to do it now. What is one of the aspects of a home that dates it? Your lighting fixtures, of course.

Now, with all the new and gorgeous designs in lighting fixtures available for any budget, it is impractical to keep the old fixtures that were installed when the house or apartment building was built.

Today, lighting is one of the chief attractions in the modern homes, and it can be in older homes, perhaps even more dramatic and effective.

New lighting fixtures are designed for special use in each room of the home — made to provide the right kind of light at the right place for functional use of every room and, for fascinating new charm and beauty for all of your furnishings.

The use of light today is a magic wand to bring beauty, new accent and new emphasis to your home and its furnishings. Use light to change the whole atmosphere of your home in all of its rooms. Specially designed fixtures fit into any decor — traditional, modern, contemporary, and permit the homemaker to use her own ingenuity in combining functional use with a face lifting treatment to any room.

Have a new home without waiting to build it! Use light and lighting fixtures with your new Home Fashion Time furniture.

Wall Rack Aids More Storage In Wall Pockets

A telephone book is hardly a decorative item but you need to have it conveniently handy to the telephone.

One way to take care of this is to make a rack for the book so it can hang next to the instrument or above it.

Simply make a small box to fit the book with half of the front open. Use ¼" fir plywood and paint it to harmonize with the existing colors of the hallway or room where you have the telephone.

Furniture Of Today Helps Easy Living

When you buy furniture there are certain terms you will want to know. Here are a few of the expressions that will roll of the salesman's tongue:

—CHAISE-LOUNGE is a long chair with an upholstered back and extra long seat. The two piece chaise-lounge comprises a chair and close-fitting matching ottoman.

—COORDINATED GROUPING means a single design principal for all pieces in the group.

—DOVETAIL construction is generally used in drawers. It is the method of joining two boards at right angles.

—DOWELL is the round wooden rod used to join furniture parts.

—MARQUETRY consists of inlays of contrasting wood set into the basic wood of furniture.

—SADDLE SEAT is a chair seat resembling a saddle. Center section is raised. Sides are scooped out.

—TRUNDLE BED is a low bed which can be stored under another bed.

—CASE GOODS refers to bedroom and dining room furniture, and occasional storage pieces.

—GROUPING refers to furniture from an open stock line. Pieces in a grouping are designed for many variations to satisfy each homemaker's needs.

—SUITE is two or more pieces of furniture sold as a matching unit.

Here is a beautiful and practical traditional wheeled server. It is indispensable for today's pattern of living. The natural mahogany has been burnished to a rich russet tone. (Fancher Furniture Co.)

Desks Are A Valuable Asset To All Homes

A desk in the home is not an unnecessary luxury. Today it is more the rule than the exception.

The duty of being a homemaker is not a frivolous life of bon bons and fluffy dogs. It is a full time management job that requires a system.

Many homemakers are still using the kitchen or dining table for correspondence, or paying bills. They feel that a desk just wouldn't fit into their home. This is not true.

The newest desks have been designed to go with, match or harmonize with your present furnishings, or they are a part of one of the new correlated groups.

A desk in the home provides decorative beauty and gives added storage space. Many may be pressed into service as additional serving pieces. They can double as auxiliary buffets, and in some instances, have been designed to seat two or four persons for dinner.

Indispensable for the student who is living at home, several new desks have special compartments for typewriters and a file drawer. These are beautiful pieces of furniture designed for the home, and will not give that office look to a setting.

There is a desk for every style of furniture imaginable. The addition of a new desk to your home is actually the addition of added convenience.

Currently popular is the piece of furniture that appears to be a buffet, but in reality opens first to a desk, and then to a dining table that will seat from four to eight persons. This arrangement is ideal for the small apartment or home. Your dining alcove can be double duty as a dining area and as a study area.

Place a desk in your living room, dining room, bedroom, or den, wherever you want to supervise your job as homemaker.

Snack Tables Are A Must

It is amazing what you can accomplish with the small table. Practically indispensable in the home today, the small table assumes many guises.

There are pretty, almost miniature-like, reproductions of lamp tables, tier tables, and step tables. They are all scaled to fit conveniently next to an arm chair for holding an ash tray and beverage. Easily moved, tables such as these can be put into use with a minimum of effort.

Then there are the extremely popular stacking stools and folding tables. This type of table runs the scale price-wise. You can pay as much or as little as you choose for these welcome additions to the home.

It is almost impossible to serve a buffet supper or light snacks without the aid of folding tables, or stacking stools. There is nothing more heartless than to expect your guest to try to balance a plate, beverage, and carry on an intelligent conversation.

The folding tables can be easily stored when not in use. Stacking stool serves a double purpose. In addition to being used as tables, they may be used as extra seats. Many have seat pads. You can conveniently stack them in a corner or closet when not in use.

Your little tables are trifles that add so much convenience and graciousness to your home. They are definitely a worthwhile investment.

These French Provincial occasional tables are made of genuine cherry wood. Finish is a light, glazed Provincial color. Insets of lime green hand-tooled leather are a decorative feature. (Tonk Mfg. Co.)

Exterior fir plywood manufactured by west coast plywood manufacturers is subject to more than 300,000 performance tests a year in the industry's testing laboratories.

Plywood can be used to simulate a plank effect by scoring the panel surface with a router in a series of V grooves running the grain.

Nothing fits the modern mood like the sectional sofa. Its versatility, and adaptability to many arrangements account for the tremendous popularity of the sectional sofa. Shown is a sectional placed in a neat corner arrangement. This same unit could be used with equal good taste as a fireside grouping, or both units may be joined to form an extra long sofa. Upholstery cover is highlighted by metallic thread. (Kroehler Mfg. Co.)

Memo To Mother

Choose Furniture For Needs Of Kids

A room of their own — furnit of their own, children love it. course you will have the nec sary baby furniture, but when t child outgrows this it is time think of furniture especially signed for small children, yout and teenagers.

The small chairs, reproductio of the more substantial pieces your own living room, are pa ticularly appealing to childre They are available in almost ar style.

For the bedroom you will war to select a bed that can grow wit the child. The bunk beds, alway popular with children, are a per fect solution. Then there is the trundle type bed with the impor tant storage cabinet as a part o the unit.

Don't ignore the value of a desk for the child's room. This is a valuable training aid, even at an early age. A place where the child can draw or play will keep young toddlers out from under mother's feet.

The small chest or the little vanity for the young lady of the house is a start in the right direction toward neatness.

As your child advances in years consider the hobbies. Equip their room with book shelves or a cabinet for records and the record player. Possibly you may wish to add a bookcase headboard. There are many that will harmonize with the furnishings in the room.

Don't forget a comfortable chair. There are many inexpensive ones. The deck chair, for instance, adds to the comfort of the child's room. You can cover the canvas on these chairs with the material t you use for draperies, or th cotton carpeting.

Do not neglect the lighting in a childs room. For playing or dying this is a very important ctor.

It takes more than painting the alls and refinishing hand-me-wn furniture to create a pleas-t atmosphere for your child, re-rdless of the age.

A small investment and careful anning will pay big dividends the room where you want your ild to grow up.

Softer Look Is The New Color Story

There's a distinctively new color story in decorative fabrics that can be summed up in a softer look.

Pastels — clear and chalky — do the trick. Ice cream pink, mauves, clear lemon yellows, robin's egg blue, the whole range from aqua to turquoise are all included. Blue-green, green-blues, sepia, topaz and apricot help to achieve the warm pastel look.

The basic shades of hunter green, gray, persimmon, pumpkin, toast, brown, lime, moss green, red and charcoal, can be seen in most all of the upholstery and drapery fabric groups, but the news is the exciting new shades and tones of these colors.

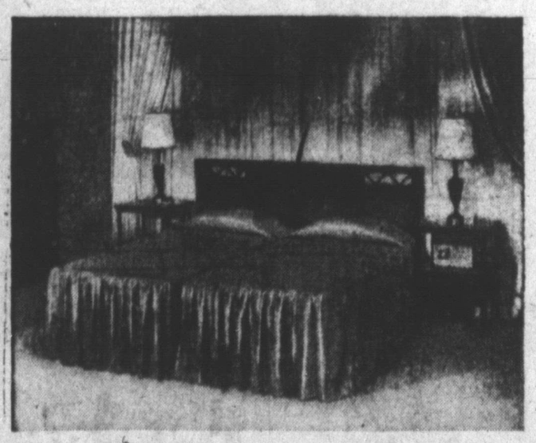
Most gratifying to the homemaker is the news of the fast colors, locked in the fiber. For these, manufacturers' claims hold out great promist of fastness against light, atmospheric fumes, washing and dry cleaning.

Blues, which for many seasons past have been completely out of the decorating picture, are seen repeatedly, often combined with lavendar, mauve or heliotrope.

Black is used for emphasis, as well as for a background color, and creates a dramatic look for a number of the upholstery and drapery fabrics being offered for fall.

White backgrounds are gaining in importance, perhaps it is a recognition of the trend that white walls will continue to be favored. White is often tinted — to an almost imperceptible degree to the palest pink, gray, beige and blue.

Earthy tones have turned mellower and prettier. There has been a refining and sharpening of the yellow greens, cocoa browns and blue tones. The tawny tones are coming up.



Today's traditional furniture is decorative and has all of the functional qualities of its contemporary roommate. The distinctive beauty of the woods and expert styling give the homemaker a luxurious background to fit her present-day pattern of living. The grouping shown is made of mahogany. (Continental Furniture Co.)

Accent Pieces Give Room Life

Accent pieces of furniture are the attention-getters. Use them subtly, but by all means don't neglect to have one or two accent pieces in a room.

Your accent pieces may assume the form of matching chairs, upholstered in a color selected from the draperies or your favorite painting. Be sure to select the proper hues to produce a pleasing effect.

There are many effective ways to add a splash of color to a room . . . in the lamp shades, the pillows, bed spreads and draperies.

Accent pieces highlight your decor and complement the general decorating theme. They can be expressive of your decorating skill.

French Provincial Has Beauty, Charm

Why is French Provincial so popular? It offers today's homemakers beauty, charm and vesatility. The graceful lines, and the delicate carving representative of this type of furniture are unmatched.

Then, too, this type of furniture is reminiscent of one of the most interesting and lavish periods of history. No one can look at French Provincial furniture without being reminded of the splendor of the French court.

French Provincial is an adaptation of the furnishings used in the palaces of France. Today's French Provincial can be as elegant or casual as the homemaker's desires.

Finish, amount of carving, attention to detail and upholstery determine the degree of formality of the new French Provincial furniture.

Some lines have wood that has been purposely distressed to give of luxurious fabrics look. The use of luzurious fabrics adds to the more formal atmosphere created by these pieces.

Other lines of French Provincial have laminated much of the carving and given the furniture a lighter finish. This almost contemporizes the furniture. Authentic provincial prints are used as upholstery fabrics to give a gay, informal feeling to the furniture.

Set against a modern background, this type of provincial furniture provides a delightful fusion of design for the modern-traditional home.

You will find in today's French Provincial furniture all of the innovations you look for in modern furnishings. There are sectional sofas, revolving lounge chairs, flip-top tables, plastic coated surfaces, compact storage cabinets, and all the other pieces that go into a charming, easy - housekeeping home.

Next to modern furnishings, French Provincial is a best seller. New homemakers like it, and in established homes it blends perfectly with any period of furniture.

French Provincial furniture is smart and can be as formal or informal as you like, according to your particular pattern of living.

Mix it, match it or blend it, French Provincial furniture adds a bit of the glamourous past to your home.

Modern Furniture Widely Accepted

Modern furniture is the answer for a new generation growing older, and for an older generation staying younger, people who want to keep abreast of the times.

Today, homemaker acceptance of Modern furniture has become overwhelming. Its popularity is increasing at an amazing rate. Modern, or Contemporary as it is also called, has grown up. It is a mature style. It takes its place proudly among the good designs which were created in the past.

Our Modern style in home furnishings is an expression of the age in which we live. It reflects the truly phenomenal advancement made during the twentieth century.

Good Modern furniture offers simple, pleasing lines — useful and often multiple functions. — with proportions we have always found in well designed furniture.

Modern Or Period Touch Lends Class

There is no denying it. We lead a more comfortable, casual life than was the accepted practice a few years ago.

The popularity of the buffet supper, informal evening entertainment, the gathering in the recreation room, dinner on the coffee table before the television set or just relaxing in a chair that has real comfort . . . all of these are part of our daily contemporary way of living.

Our homes are naturally affected by this mode of living. We can retain the formal atmosphere but in most cases the modern homemaker wants to add the informal, comfortable touch.

There is no secret formula for doing this.

For informal entertaining you may want to add a permanent card table grouping. Be sure to look at the permanent card table that extends to double the size. It is ideal for buffet serving. Some are available with a wood grained plastic top. No need to worry about spilled food.

Practicality has been built into coffee tables too. Many, which appear to be stationary, raise to dining height with a mere flick of the wrist.

Your home can be formal or informal, depending on your whims. In either case you will be using your furniture to full advantage.

Silks, velvets, handsome carving and formal finishes do not restrict the utility of today's furniture. They merely enhance the product.

If you feel that you want your home to be both formal and informal, you will want to see the new Home Fashion Time offering in 18th Century Traditional and French Provincial styling.

Venetian Blinds In New Colors

The straight lines of modern furniture find an excellent complement in venetian blinds. The spaciousness of every room is accentuated by these practical window coverings.

For many years, venetian blinds have been accepted as an important adjunct of the well-dressed window. Now they become ever more popular with the current trends in home furnishings.

Color styling finds a ready exponent in the manufacturer of venetian blinds. Present day high grade materials make it possible to match the wall colorings, or to accentuate the predominant upholstering color.

A direct contrast of colors often is highly desirable in the decorating scheme. Venetian blinds can be that needed color stimulus that will set off to best advantage the new fabrics of modern furnishings.

Venetian blinds that match the woodwork in the home are now very popular, either with the beautiful natural wood slats, or with the new grained finishes on steel or aluminum slats. Used with tapes and cords that match the dominant color of the room, these venetian blinds are a finishing touch to the lovely decor.

With beauty is combined all of the practical features for which venetian blinds are noted — the accurate control of light and air, the perfect privacy, and the snug intimacy of a beautifully decorated room with well-dressed windows.

New Serum For Hodgkins Disease

HOUSTON, Sept. 19—UP—Physicians at Methodist Hospital disclosed Saturday they had injected a promising new serum, laced with radio-active iodine, into the veins of a 30-year-old man suffering with usually fatal Hodgkins disease.

The purpose of the radio-active iodine is to enable the physicians and scientists to trace the progress of the serum through the man's blood stream with a new scintillation machine, 136 times more sensitive than a Geiger counter.

Hodgkins disease affects the lymph glands and causes them to stop their normal function in the making of blood. It is regarded as a certain, though slow, killer.

The serum was developed in five years by Methodist hospital, Veterans Administration hospital, M. D. Anderson hospital for Cancer Research and Baylor University School of Medicine in Houston and the University of Texas Medical School in Galveston.

Researchers found that some lower animals, including rabbits, built up antibodies to fight the cells of Hodgkins disease. Antibodies from rabbits are the basis of the serum injected into the sufferer.

Physicians said it will be 10 days or more before they can tel lwhether the serum is effective.

I WONDER

I wonder, O, I wonder, where the little faces go,
That come and smile and stay awhile, and pass like flakes of snow—
The dear, wee baby faces that the world has never known,
But parents hide, so tender-eyed, deep in their hearts alone.
I love to think that somewhere, in the country we call Heaven
The land most fair of anywhere will unto them be given.
A land of little faces — very little, very fair — and every one shall Know their own and cleave unto it there.
O grant it, loving Father, to the broken hearts that plead:
Thy way is best — yet, O, to rest in perfect faith indeed
To know that we shall find them even them, the wee white dead,
At Thy right hand, in Thy bright land, by living waters led.

JOHNSON ★ IN HOLLYWOOD ★

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD —(NEA)— Where are the movie stars of yesterday? Well, it must be noted that many of them, bitter toward the motion picture industry and producers who wouldn't give them work after their stardom dimmed, refused to have anything to do with modern Hollywood. A number of them have assumed new names and live in fear of being recognized.

Here are more "Who's Where?" facts for fans who are discovering how great yesterday's stars were, on TV, and for sentimentalists who still get a lift out of hearing the names of Constance Talmadge and Colleen Moore:

Priscilla Dean is married and lives in Washington, D. C. . . . Jetta Goudal, the exotic siren of "Three Faces East," is Mrs. Harold Grieve and her name can be found in the social register. . . . Martha Sleeper has a jewelry store in San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Mary Miles Minter, plumper than fans remember her, lives at Laguna Beach, Calif., and operates an interior decoration business under her real name of Juliette Shelley . . . Frank Mayo, the handsome profile man of the silent era who starred in most of the Elinor Glynn films made at MGM, notably "Wild Oranges," sells 16 mm religious films to churches and TV stations.

Lady-Killer in Florida

Carlyle Blackwell, one of the lady-killers of the early movie period, lives in Palm Beach, Fla., and moves in stratospheric social circles . . . His son, Carlyle Jr., is a successful Hollywood photographer . . . Lillian Leighton, unforgettable as the pioneer woman who rolled cigarets in "The Covered Wagon," is reported to be living at the Motion Picture Country Home.

Anna Q. Nilsson, the first beauty from Sweden to be embraced by the American public, still plays occasional film roles. Seriously injured in an accident years ago, she has a slight limp. Ben Bard, Ruth Roland's husband and once an outstanding heavy at Fox, operates a dramatic training school in movietown. Among his graduates is Jack Carson.

Naomi Childers and May McAvoy hold life-time contracts at MGM . . . Theda Bara, the beauty with eyes like holes burned in a blanket, is Mrs. Charles Brabin, a Beverly Hills social figure. Rumor has it that the screen vamp who pulverized grandpa when she said, "Kiss me, my fool" in "A Fool There Was," has been losing her eyesight.

Pauline Starke, of the high cheekbones, hollow cheeks and Gloria Swanson look, lives in Beverly Hills and talks about a movie comeback . . . Anna May Wong, the American-born Chinese film star, owns a beach house at Santa Monica . . . Shirley Mason, who starred in "Sally In Our Alley," is the wife of movie director Sidney Lanfield.

Now A Salesperson

Viola Dana, Shirley's sister, is said to be working as a saleswoman in a Beverly Hills woman's shop . . . Harrison Ford, crippled in a serious accident years ago, has retired from the acting profession . . . Handsome, debonair Norman Kerry is married to newspaperwoman Kay English and his name pops up in society columns in Santa Barbara, Calif. Norman is one of the few film stars, if not the only one, who ever joined the Foreign Legion. Top that, Errol!

Evelyn Brent, active up until a few years ago, lives in Westwood Village, a stone's throw from Hollywood. So does veteran character star H. B. Warner, who waves a cheery greeting to his fans as he takes his daily constitutional.

Gareth Hughes, who co-starred with May McAvoy in "Sentimental Tommy" in 1921, is Brother David to the Piute Indians at St. Mary's Episcopal church in Nixon, Nevada. Other stars who gave up their movie careers for holy work are Juanita Quigley, the child star, who is now a nun with the Daughters of Mary and Joseph at the Immaculate Heart. The Mexican heart-throbber, Jose Mojica, became a Franciscan monk and is now an ordained priest in Peru.

Former star Lloyd Hughes is reported to do occasional work as a commercial model . . . Lois Wilson lives in a Beekman Place apartment in New York city . . . Minta Durfee, Fatty Arbuckle's widow, recently gave up the beauty parlor business.

Richard Barthelmess — yes, Junior, I know you see him in old TV films — is very much among the living and dwells in Connecticut with his wife, Jessica. Mae Murray recently gave up a Hollywood apartment and says she'll star on Broadway in "Queenie." . . . Johnny Downs, first child star of the "Our Gang" films, was Dean Martin's dance-in for "The Caddy."

Alberta Vaughan of "The Telephone Girl" series lives with her sister in San Fernando Valley . . . Kit Guard, who co-starred with her, plays bit roles in films . . . Skeets Gallagher, a former Paramount star, plays small roles in TV's "Big Town" series.

Police Department Seeks Patrolmen

Police Chief Jim Conner announced today that applications for jobs as city patrolmen are now being accepted.

Interested persons should apply in person to the police department, downstairs in the city hall under the chamber of commerce offices.

According to Conner, patrolmen begin at $255 a month; go to $260 after a six-month probationary period; to $265 after six more months; to $275 after another year; and to $285 after another year (making a total of three years service).
