Big Five Foreign Ministers Open Historic Session Today

SNAKES GO TO CULTIST'S FUNERAL — In funeral services at the Dolly Pond Church of God In Tennessee, Rev. Raymond Hayes left, places on the head of Lewis Ford, cold in death, the rattlesnake which bit him fatally during religious services. Ford's widow stands at head of casket patting snake.

World Peace To Be Drawn

By FLORA LEWIS
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 10. — The foreign ministers of the world's greatest powers found new demands clamoring for their consideration tonight as they prepared to open a historic session tomorrow aimed at designing a lasting peace.

Last to arrive for the conference was U. S. Secretary of State James Byrnes, who appeared in high spirits as he prepared to meet with Soviet Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov, British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevins, French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault and Chinese Minister Wang Shih-Chieh.

Peace With Italy

At Potsdam the Big Three agreed to put the framing of a peace with Italy at the top of the agenda for the foreign ministers, but since then new matters have been broached as needing consideration.

Each of the five ministers is believed to have his own set of priority projects — a situation which seems sure to alter the original plans to devote only 10 days to settle general principles, then leave details to deputies.

The main points of Byrnes' program are expected to be:

Many Remove Colonies

An Italian peace which will strip the first Axis partner of the war gains, but pave the way for an economically and socially stable Italy. This would seem to mean removal of Italy's colonies but no other reparations.

Arrangements for the esablishment of a more representative government in the Balkans.

Plans for internationalization of Europe's waterways to enable free commerce across the continent. Similar programs were anticipated for strategic and commercial gateway places such as the port of Trieste and the Dardanelles.

A general discussion of Pacific problems with emphasis on how responsibility will be worked out for future defense.

French And Germany

The French were reported to be seeking internationalization of the Ruhr's industries, with no more than half of its coal production going to Germany, and the shearing of the Rhineland from the Reich.

Also high on France's list is settlement of Near Eastern power politics affecting France's interest in the Levant.

The Chinese have been largely silent on their views. It is believed they will play a passive role until the Pacific questions arise.

The Russians were understood to be putting their main emphasis on the Balkans and the control of the Dardanelles.

More Yanks Freed, Many On Way Home

(By The Associated Press)

ALLIED prisoners of war yesterday documented more individual accounts of their hardships and sufferings at the whims of Japanese overlords of the hellish compounds that had been their homes for years.

"We have been dead — all of us —for over three years, but now we live again and it's good to be alive," said one freed man brought to Yokohama from a camp near Yokkaichi which supplied slave labor for Japanese heavy industry.

The number of liberated Honshu island prisoners neared 12,000. More than half that number already were en route home.

Going Aboard Ships

Rescued from camps in all parts of Japan, China, Manchuria and Korea, they were going aboard homeward-bound ships at half a dozen Far East ports. Those too ill to stand an ocean trip under crowded conditions were being flown by the Army Air Transport command in C-54 transports from Yokohama to a hospital center on Guam.

From the Yokkaichi camp, a group of 195 prisoners brought word that they had been without shoes for many months.

The Japanese, they related, apparently didn't know how to treat certain diseases. When pneumonia patients were nearly freezing in bed windows were thrown open to give them more air. During a diarrhea epidemic guards made the hospital staff and patients wear gauze masks in the belief the disease was communicable through breathing.

Australian Report

Ready for the United Nations War Crime commission was a report of the Australian government that Japanese soldiers ate the flesh of American prisoners of war after first using the prisoners for bayonet practice. The flesh of the Americans was sliced off while they were still alive, the report said. Times and places of the reported incidents were not disclosed.

Among the Americans being rescued from torture camps were men who had been reported dead. One of these was Lt. Louis Zamperini of Torrance, Calif., former University of Southern California runner, now en route home from Yokohama.

Jap Militarism Killed; Controls Are Tightened

Korea Setup Amazes U. S.

By GRAHAM HOVEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10. — Amazement at the extent of authority left in the hands of Japanese administrative officials in Korea was expressed by some government officials today.

None was willing to be quoted by name, but reaction was plain.

The State department, meantime, disclaimed any part in military orders leaving the Japanese in office temporarily.

In quiries at the department, which normally helps work out policy for the administration of liberated countries, produced this response:

Not Advised In Advance

The department did not know anything about the action in advance and it was evidently a decision by the local theater commander.

None here could say whether the decision actually was made by Gen. Douglas MacArthur as supreme Allied representative in the Japanese surrender or by Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge, ranking American officer in the occupation of the southern portion of Korea.

Evidently for the time being the country remains under the supervision of the whole Japanese administration from Gen. Mobuyuki Abe, the governor general, right on down through one bureaucratic level after another.

Hodge was quoted in dispatches from Korea as saying that the Japanese would take his orders and that the situation was a very temporary one.

GEN. WAINWRIGHT GREETED BY SON — Smiles light the faces of Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, right, and his son, Comdr. Censorship Is Set On Nips

(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Tuesday, Sept. 11—General MacArthur dealt Japanese militarism its death blow today with an order summarily abolishing imperial general headquarters, which hatched the infamous strike at Pearl Harbor.

His order for the joint Army-Navy clique to dissolve by Thursday (Wednesday, U. S. time) went out simultaneously with a censorship decree that waved the threat of suspension over any Japanese newspaper or radio station caught stirring up unrest or publishing false reports.

To Spread Control

MacArthur's headquarters also announced that the forces of occupation would spread their control next month to the naval bases of the inland sea and the great city of Osaka.

While the Japanese announced that one-fourth of their 2,744,000-man home army had been demobilized in the so-far peaceful occupation of the home islands, MacArthur acted to quiet unrest in nearby Korea.

Koreans, who demonstrated in the capital of Seoul over the U. S. Army decision to keep Japanese civilian authorities temporarily at their posts, were told by MacArthur that all their rights would be protected.

The supreme commander declared the Americans were occupying southern Korea only "to protect the instrument of surrender" and warned that acts of violence against the occupying troops might be punished by death.

Military Disbanded

At the same time, the Japanese at home were made to feel the steel behind MacArthur's "gloved hand" policy of occupation.

In one of two far-reaching orders, MacArthur told the imperial general headquarters to disband by Thursday (Wednesday, U. S. time).

This body blow at Japanese militarism was part of MacArthur's announced first objective — to stamp out the rapacious aggressiveness that has kept Asia in tur-

Nation Heaps Honors On Gen. Wainwright

By TOM REEDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The nation's capital heaped a conqueror's honors today on a gaunt, gray general who lost a battle.

The tribute — which included the nation's highest for valor — was paid Jonathan M. Wainwright for the brilliant defense of doomed Corregidor fortress in Manila bay. It was that gallant stand which held back the enemy while the nation got its hands up to fight again after the knockdown of Pearl Harbor.

JACK C. HORNSBY

Arriving by air from the Pacific where his sacrifice left him a Japanese prisoner for more than three years, General Wainwright whirled through a breathless schedule that included:

Tender Welcome By Wife

A triumphal parade to the capitol to the tumultuous cheers of half a million.

An appearance before each house of Congress.

A visit to the White House where President Truman, in a ceremony of which the general had no warning, placed around his neck the ribbon of the Congressional Medal of Honor.

No defeated general ever came back to such a demonstration; few winners ever have.

It was like a repetition of the wild celebration that greeted General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower, the victor of Europe, not so long ago.

Tired, But He Smiles

The general may have been tired from his long ordeal, he leaned on a cane. But he couldn't stop the grin that transformed his wrinkled, stern visage and he refused to stop waving. He saw 150,000 people on the Washington Monument grounds, alone. The

A Lubbock-reared man, Marine Pfc. Jack C. Hornsby, 26, has survived more than five years as a prisoner of Japan, his mother, Mrs. Florence C. Hornsby of 2118 Seventh was informed by the War department Monday night.

Pfc. Hornsby was captured long before hostilities broke out between Japan and the United States. He was taken prisoner in March, 1940—at Peiping, China, his mother believes. He had been on duty at the American embassy in Peiping.

The official message said he is now aboard an American vessel. He was liberated from a camp in the Osaka area of Japan.

JAPS COMMIT SUICIDE

Soldier Killed, One Hurt In Altercation

FORT WORTH, Sept. 10 (AP)—Wray L. Howell, 29, Highland Park, Mich., died today in the Sheppard Field Army hospital at Wichita Falls from gunshot wound inflicted here Sunday, the Fort Worth Army Air field public relations office said.

In a critical condition at the hospital was Pfc. Wesley R. Lessard, who was also wounded during the disturbance at a Fort Worth residence in which Howell was shot.

Both men were stationed at Fort Worth Army Air field.

City Detective Grady Haire said a 35-year-old Fort Worth man made a signed statement to him in connection with the shooting.

The soldiers were flown to Sheppard Field from Fort Worth for treatment.

Meat Rationing May End Oct. 1

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10. (AP)—Some officials reported today that an end of meat rationing is "possible" by Oct. 1, but OPA and the Agriculture department said no definite date could be predicted.

In New York, however, a food dealers' spokesman declared the meat supply had improved so much in recent weeks that the commodity "could be taken off rationing entirely."

Too Much For Points

E. F. Guckenberger, secretary of the New York State Retail Food Merchants association, said many retailers in that area were sending meat back to wholesalers because consumers lacked enough red ration points to buy it.

The two government agencies issued a joint statement denying what they described as "rumors" of disagreement between them on the lifting of ration controls.

Earlier in the day a rationing official had stated that meat might be knocked from the ration list "if supplies look good by the end of the month," but said that a final decision remained to be made by the two agencies.

Slaughter Limits Off

The OPA action of Saturday removing quota limits on the amount of cattle which may be slaughtered was based on forecasts of heavy deliveries of livestock to the packing houses. It was accepted widely as indicating a possible early end of rationing.

Price Administrator Chester Bowles has assured Congress that it was "impossible to predict" how soon the rationing of sugar, fats and oils could be suspended.

Shoe rationing may end before November, if desires of some members of the shoe trade are followed, but neither OPA nor the War Production board has yet fixed a likely date.

Near Record Crops For U.S. Indicated

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10. (AP)—Favorable August weather raised 1945 crop production prospects three per cent to a par with the record wartime crops of 1942 and 1944, the Agriculture department reported today.

However, continued favorable weather in September and later than normal frosts will be necessary, the department said, if these prospects are to be borne out.

Corn led a spectacular crop improvement. The department's monthly crop report estimated the prospective corn crop at 3,069,055,000 bushels, an increase of about 225,000,000 bushels over its August 1 forecast.

Corn production last year was 3,228,861,000 bushels, while the average for the 1934-43 period was 2,433,060,000 bushels.

Other crops which showed gains included oats, spring wheat, potatoes, tobacco, soy beans, grain sorghums, tame hay, dry beans and peas. Offsetting these gains to some extent are slightly lower prospects for cotton as the result of increased boll weevil infestation, a decrease for rice lost in the Texas hurricane, and peanut damage because of wet weather.

The indicated improvement in the crop outlook follows a discouraging spring planting season.

Wheat Crop Largest

As was indicated a month earlier, the wheat crop—the bulk of which is alrealy harvested—will be the largest on record, totalling 1,152,270,000 bushels compared with 1,078,647,000 bushels produced last year and 789,080,000 bushels for the 10-year average.

This big wheat crop, together with a record crop of rice and good yields of rye and buckwheat, lifts total 1945 production of the food grains to the highest on record by more than 2,000,000 tons.

Fruit harvest made excellent progress during August, and the department predicted that supplies of most commercial truck crops will exceed record 1944 supplies.

Central Ward's Sale Completed

Sale of the major portion of the Central Ward school property by the Lubbock Independent School district to a "mystery purchaser," understood to be an agent of Sears Roebuck & Co., for $175,000 in cash was completed yesterday.

As a result of the tranasaction, which was begun August 28 with the deposit of $25,000 in escrow as "earnest money," the property, fronting for 345 feet on Thirteenth the street and extending southward from Thirteenth for 422 feet, was deeded to "Marian E. Petty, of Cook County, Ill., who was described as an unmarried woman.

Substantial Improvements

Charles C. Crenshaw, Lubbock attorney, who acted as agent for the purchasing party, said that he was not at liberty to disclose the name of the company making the purchase through Miss Petty, but indicated that "improvements of a substantial nature" would be started soon. It is generally believed that Sears Roebuck & Co. plan to erect a large ,modern store building on the location.

The escrow was handled through the First National bank. A. C. Jackson, school district manager, reported consummation of the deal late yesterday. Attorney Crenshaw confirmed the news of the transaction's completion.

The school district retains ownership of the Avenue Q frontage of the property, which extends 138 feet north and south on Q, 180 feet east and west. Jackson has advised the board of trustees to put this remaining portion on the market at a price of $75,000.

Civic Center Dropped It

Although the tract purchased yesterday had been mentioned as a possible location for a civic center, the lack of parking space had led to this idea being dropped a few months ago.

The sepculation that Sears Roebuck & Co., was making the purchase in Miss Petty's name was further substantiated by the fact that the big mail-order and department store company has its national headquarters in Chicago, leading city of Cook County, Ill.

Veterans of 4 D-day invasions, the 5,736 men numbered among their battle decorations the French Croix de Guerre, conferred by General de Gaulle.

Many of the men were from Colorado, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona, but as General Frederick put it in an interview:

Quisling Is Convicted Of Treason, Sentenced To Die By Firing Squad

By NED NORDNESS
ASSOCIATED Uress Staff Writer

OSLO, Norway, Sept. 10. (AP)—Maj. Vidkun Abraham Luaritz Quisling was convicted today of bertaying his country to the Germans and was sentenced to die before a firing squad.

The 59-year-old former puppet ruler, whose name has become a synonym for traitor the world over, stood impassive in the courtroom as presiding Judge Erik Solem read the verdict, which was broadcast to the people of Norway.

Pallid Face Reddens

Quisling's jaw muscles tightened and his pallid face reddened. He did not speak until the judge informed him that while the treason conviction could not be appealed, he could ask the supreme court to reduce the sentence.

"Is it your intention to do this?" the judge asked.

"Yes," replied uisling, who ruled Norway for Adolf Hitler from Sept. 25, 1940, until his cabinet resigned in the general German collapse last spring.

Unless delayed by a clemency move, the sentence prbbably will be carried out in three weeks.

May Be Held To Testify

Some sources expressed opinion that the execution might be postponed to permit Quisling to come to trial rapidly.

Solem said Quisling was condemned to die for treason committed on April 9 and 10, 1940, when the German were overrunning Norway, and for treason after October, 1942, "when the Norwegian governmnet in London introduced the death penalty for such acts."

Solem said the panel members also were agreed that Quisling was guilty in the deportation of Jews and in the deaths of condemned Norwegian patriots.

Ordered To Pay Costs

Quisling also was ordered to pay 1,040,000 kroner (about $200,000) court costs. The panel did not state how the money would be paid, but presumably his costly medieval paintings and other property will be confiscated.

The beetle-browed former puppet premier leaned on a table and stared, glassy-eyed, across the courtroom as Solem recited the people's indictments against him: Planning with the Germans their invasion of the kingdom, and ruling for them when the invasion was completed.

With One Of South's Largest Municipal Halls . . .

Birmingham Plans Modernization

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of articles being written in connection with the current tour of Southern and Southwestern cities by Lubbock's Civic Center committee.)

By C. W. RATLIFF
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.—This teeming industrial center, already equipped with one of the three largest municipal auditoriums in the Southland, is planning to remodel the structure so that it will conform to the modern architecture of a proposed $28,000,000 civic center, bordering Capitol park between Nineteenth and Twentieth streets in north Birmingham.

That was the information we learned from Ted Brownell, auditorium manager, after he had shown Lubbock's civic center committee through the buildings this afternoon.

The auditorium, now constructed of red face brick, will receive a face-lifting and expansion so that it will serve the needs of all types of entertainments and gatherings for the entire state of Alabama. The hall is now the largest of its kind in the entire state.

Running 275 feet by 160 feet between the two streets on Eighth avenue north, just five blocks from the center of the retail business area of this city of 280,000 population, the building has a seating capacity of 5,450 in its single auditorium hall. When remodeled, additional halls, one a music hall seating approximately 2,500 and smaller rooms including committee rooms, 22 of them ranging from 50-seats to 500-seats capicties, will be added.

A landscaped plaza in front of the building and the present foyer and lobby will coved a proposed basement exhibition hall of several thousand square feet for such events as trade shows, merchandising displays and the like.

As it now stands, the building which was constructed in 1924 at a cost of $554,061.47, serves metropolitan Birmingham's population of 300,000 people an average of more than 200 times a year with a variety of events ranging from wrestling, hillbilly shows, basketball games, musical comedies to ballets, philharmonic symphonies and grand opera. Last year, total attendance at all events totaled nearly 600,000.

Each Monday night for the past 14 years, an average of more than 4,000 wrestling fans have swarmed into the auditorium to see such performers as Sailor Watkins, Joe Soviet Methods Much Different . . .

Yanks Appear 'Soft'

By JOHN GROVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

SEOUL, Korea, Sept. 10.—Differences between American and Russian occupation methods in former Japanese-held territories of the Far East are striking to anyone who has witnessed both froces at work.

I was the only American reporter who had been in Manchuria since the Russians sliced through the Japanese Army and took over that rich territory. I also watched the American landings in southern Korea at Jinsen port.

Boiled down, the Americans have a half apologetic attitude toward civil populations which never occurs to the Russians. The Soviets are grimly efficient if civilians of any nationality get in the way of their occupation operations.

In the matter of transport, the Russians simply take anything on wheels. In Dairen all private automobiles were immediately confiscated by the Soviets. They made no attempt to distinguish between Japanese, Chinese or Europeans.

It is a different story here. At Jinsen an American public relations captain said the Japanese Army had turned over some but told correspondents "we couldn't take all their motor transport. They had to have it to move to southern Korea."

Anyone who has seen the Russians disarming the Japanese Army must blink with unbelief at the American methods.

At Dairen, which the Russians entered without opposition, the waiting Japanese garrison was herded to the airport, disarmed

MAIL FROM GREECE

HUNDREDS of friends and acquaintances of the Sherrill Boyds have watched with interest their careers since the two, rather expert in their lines as photographers and reporters, left the United States several months back to go with OWI. We had heard nothing from either for several months and were interested and, think many readers will be, too, to hear where they were as late as week before last.

In a letter to Mrs. Fredad Hunt, in which she described a rare art collection owned by a Greek which she thought would be of interest to Mrs. Hunt, Mrs. Boyd told of being transferred to Athens from Rome on July 15. She is now on annual leave, traveling to Paris "at my own very great expense" to spend two weeks with her husband, who has been transferred there from London. On the return trip she planned to stop over in Rome "for a couple of days to investigate the offer of a job I may take in event I lose out with USIS after OWI folds. USIS will be carried on by the State department or some other government department but when one works for the government, he never knows what a new administration will bring.

"Sherrill seems to be very much in love with Paris and if he chooses to stay there (even in some other type of work) I will try to find a newspaper job there. In any event we do not wish to return to the states for a while.

"Greece is like a fairy tale; too beautiful and to ancient worldish to believe. The culture here is decadent, but very real. The atmosphere makes me want to read ancient literature and the Greeks are marvelous people. There's nothing supercilious about them, and they're hospitable, generous (although they have been robbed, of everything. Even the collector about whom I am writing lost many, many things to the Italians and Germans. The things he has left were items he was able to hide in a safe enough place) honest and extremely photegenic."

AND so this brings their friends up to date on the Boyds. The letter was written August 29. For those who don't know them, we'll explain Mr. Boyd formerly owned and managed an engraving plant in Lubbock and Mrs. Boyd was assistant woman's editor at the Avalanche-Journal before she went to Amarillo where she was director of woman's news and staff photographer for the Amarillo News-Globe. They have the courage, the ability and the intellectual capacities to carry out their dreams and "going places and doing things" always stood high on their list in the days they made their home here.

HAPPY DAYS

PARAPHRASING a popular song, smiles "are breaking out all over" these days, thanks to the good news of arrivals in the United States of the service men who have been gone such a long, long time.

Even though V-J day is passed, hundreds of families won't be having real victory parties until their own boys come walking through the doors of home. Every day, through the red-white and blue New York harbor, with its freshly-painted docks and piers and its huge "welcome home" signs and through major ports all along the United States coasts, more soldiers are returning.

One of the biggest thrills in the day down here comes in reading the telegrams from the Associated Press telling that such and such a Lubbockite is docking on such and such a day no such and such a ship. Mrs. Naomi Caddel reads them aloud and we stand around and cheer when we recognize a name and then Mrs. Caddel telephones the relatives and there's happiness all around!

YES sir, pretty soon the days we've been waiting for will be here. To see him around the house. Untying the bows of your apron, lounging with his feet on the sofa, playing the radio from morning until night or yelling right in the midst of your favorite soap opera, "Hey, turn that thing off."

What are you doing in the way of entertaining for your returned veteran? We sincerely believe in most cases, he doesn't want a party. Still, they have friends to see and relatives to visit. The answer might be in a simple supper party, to celebrate his return and to give him a chance to say hello to the folks.

But look, if you have been saving your ration points for him, don't forget will you? He deserves every one of them doesn't he? Gracious entertaining is possible without sacrificing the precious red stamps.

HAIR STYLES — The simple hairdo is winning preference over the elaborate arrangement for fall, with the trend toward a straight-haired look, with perhaps a wave at the temple to break any severeness of line and curls at the end of the hair which can be turned under into a roll.

The high hairdo will continue to be worn under high crowns but with cooler weather in the offing, down hair will be more in the news. There is still sleekness but the skinned-back, slicked-up topknot styles of summer are out. There will be Grecian knots and chignons but probably the most popular of the neckline styles will be the controlled, barretted page boy.

All of the styles will be in keeping with office dignity, for the PWG. They can dress up nicely, too, for their glamorous moments by simply substituting jeweled combs or barrettes for the office going tortoise shell type. The nice thing about these hair dresses is they are becoming to almost everyone, don't take a lot of "doing" and help you make a favorable impression.

Complimenting Miss Lottie Jo Townes, bride-elect of Lt. Clinton Walker, a coffee was given in the home of Mrs. Faye Westmoreland of 2307 Broadway. Mrs. W. S. Cathey was co-hostess.

Planes Dusting Cotton In Area

South Plains cotton fields are being dusted with insect poison by two single-engined planes that are proving an economical and fast means of combatting insect damage to crops.

L. Phillips, 1304 Twenty-seventh and W. S. McCarver, 2305 Seventeenth, are the owners of the planes that sweep from 5-6 feet above cotton fields to leave an even coat of dust.

Jason Gordon, Lubbock county agent, witnessed dusting of 100 acres for Jim Steele, who resides east of Lubbock, last Saturday morning. He reports the dusting as one of the best jobs he has seen.

Work Begins Early

McCarver dusted the 100 acres in about an hour and 20 minutes, using a too-soft turnrow for a landing trip and landing four times to reload with poison. He does his work early in the day before the wind rises, sweeping over fields and under "high lines" long before the sun rises.

The Cub planes used by the men are one-seaters, built with the dust bin immediately behind the pilot. The fliers report they are able to see much better from above than persons can on the ground, therefore being able to make runs back over patches they have missed.

Normal load of a plane is 500 pounds of dust, but due to soft ground and other unfavorable conditions the planes have been carrying about one-half capacity during the past week.

1300 Acres Dusted

Thirteen hundred acres of cotton have been dusted already by the two pilots. Cost to farmers is $1.00 per acre, using as much dust as the farmers wants on each acre.

Eight to 10 pounds of calcium arsenate is being used per acre for worm control and in fields where cotton lice are very bad two parts of dusting sulphur to one part calcium arsenate is being used. Twenty pounds of the latter mixture is used for one acre.

Dusting usually begins Aug. 10 to 15 for cotton worm control, but Gordon says that a "double hit" can be scored by dusting now. This will not only hit the cotton boll worms but will also control the cotton leaf worms.

Daring Air Ambush That Brought Death To Yamamoto Revealed

By SANDOR S. KLEIN
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (U.P.)—American code experts deciphered Japanese radio military messages and made possible a daring air ambush that brought a sudden, fiery death to Japanese Adm. Isoroku Yamamoto, who once boasted he would dictate peace terms to the United States from the White House.

Sixteen months after the attack on Pearl Harbor, Yamamoto's plane was ambushed and destroyed just as it was preparing to land on a strip at either Ballale island or a nearby Shetland island in the Northern Solomons.

Secret Guarded Closely

The manner of Yamamoto's death has been one of the most closely-guarded secrets of the Pacific war.

The American air ambush was carried out by a group of Army fliers attached to the Marine fighter command then operating from Guadalcanal.

There were two reasons why the story could not be told before. First, the United States did not want to tip off the Japanese how our forces knew that Yamamoto was en route to the Northern Solomons and the time of his arrival. Second, one of the participants in the American ambush had a brother who was held prisoner by the Japanese and it was feared the enemy might take its wrath out on him.

Yamamoto had flown from Truk to Rabaul on New Britain island. From there he headed for Shortland island, just off the southern tip of Bougainville.

The knowledge about Yamamoto's movements came from two sources. The Japanese radio was one. The enemy code had been broken by American experts and a message about Yamamoto was one of many decoded. In addition, Australian watchers, stationed in the jungles of the Norther Solomons in the heart of the Japanese-occupied territory, provided progress reports on his flight.

The Japanese never suspected the source of the American information and made no effort to change their code for many months after the incident.

Escorted By 20 eros

Yamamoto flew in a bomber. Other members of his staff rode in another bomber and the two bigger planes were escorted by 20 Zero fighters.

The Americans waited patiently for the order to take off. When it came, they skimmed out over the water at what was described as "dangerously low altitude" and headed for their quarry in what upto then was the longest planned interception mission ever attempted. The low flying evidently was designed to avoid detection by enemy search radar.

Just before they reached their destination, part of the American air formation roared up to an altitude of nearly 20,000 feet. Other planes went to a moderate altitude. Their job was to lure the escorting Zeros away.

Task Made Easier

The Japanese however, made the task easier than those who planned the daring venture had hoped. As the Japanese formation swung around for a landing, 14 of the escorting Zeros veered and flew away, evidently assuming that their job of protection was done.

Suddenly, from the clouds above the American pilots zoomed down on Yamamoto's group.

Roaring down in a power dive, one of the American pilots headed for the leading bomber, presumably the one in which Yamamoto was riding. His marksmanship was perfect. In a matter of seconds, the bomber crashed in flames.

Meanwhile, another American also dove from the clouds, streaked for the other bomber. He struck fiercely and at such close range that fragments from the exploding bomber lodged in the winds of his plane.

Zeros Attack Violently

Efforts of other American planes to lure the six escorting Zeros away were unavailing. Instead, the Zeros attacked violently. Four of the Jap escorts and another enemy bomber were shot down by the American pilots.

Their job done, the Americans scooted from the scene as fast as they could go. On the way back, one of them ran into another Japanese bomber and a Zero. He hit the bomber and shot down the Zero.

The only announcement ever made by the Japanese about Yamamoto's death was that he was killed in action. Nothing was said of the circumstances.

All of the Army fliers who participated in the venture were subsequently decorated by the Navy.

Sailing ships are classed according to their "rig," that is, the combination of spars, sails and cordage.

Subsidies On Cattle May Be Removed

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. (AP)—Subsidies on cattle may be removed by April 1, 1946, Clinton P. Anderson, Secretary of Agriculture, said today in addressing the New Mexico Cattle Growers association.

The date, he said, will be set far enough in advance that feeders will know how to govern their purchases.

"I have been extremely hopeful that subsidies could be removed at a time when it would aid the producer without affecting the destruction of the cattle industry," he continued.

Meat points will be cut when the beef supply is sufficient, Anderson said, but he would not set a probable date for the end of meat rationing.

"A large cattle run is expected this year," he said, "and the only way to keep a heavy run from demoralizing prices is to permit the public to buy."

Lt. Brown returned in July from Italy where he had worked, in his capacity as a weather officer, with the 12th Air force and later with the 22nd Tactical Air force. He has been awarded the Air Medal and the ETO ribbon with four battle stars.

A student at Texas Tech at the time, Lt. Brown entered active duty in May 1942, took meteorology trainjng at California Tech in Pasadena, where he received a certificate in meteorology before going overseas in May 1944. He was promoted to first lieutenant on last June 7. A brother, Pvt. Sam E. Brown, also a former Tech student, is with a medical detachment in California.

International Hookup Of Gestapo Revealed

BERLIN, Sept. 10. (AP)—A secret report recovered from files which the Germans failed to destroy in the last days of Berlin claims that the Gestapo had a prewar agreement with political police of 13 nations for combatting Communism and movements "dangerous to the state."

The document, dated Aug. 22, 1938, and bearing the signature of Reinhard Heydrich, "the hangman," named the countries bound in a written agreement with the gestapo as Belgium, Bulgaria, Finland, Italy, Yugoslavia, Portugal and Spain. It claimed a similar agreement, not put into writing, was effected with Brazil, Greece, Holland, Japan, Poland and Hungary.

Heydrich's report said all of the countries except Romania had sent authorized police representatives to be guests of the German police and in some cases these officers had been frequent visitors to Germany.

Authority Of Japanese Leaders Is Subject To MacArthur's Command

By LOUIS KEEMLE
United Press Staff

The Allied program for running Japan has been re-stated, and thereby considerably clarified, by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Some confusion has been caused in this country by bombastic statements of high-placed Japanese, many of which seemed to contain double meanings or veiled threats. The question was asked in the United States: Who is going to be really in charge, the occupation authorities or the same clique of Japanese who rulthe country when it declared war on civilization?

The official statement from MacArthur's headquarters stressed again the Allied note of Secretary of State James F. Byrnes accepting the Japanese surrender offer. The note said that "from the moment of surrender, the authority of the emperor and of the Japanese government shall be subject to the supreme commander for the Allied powers."

Present Rule Not Assured

Instead of pledging continuance of the present form of government, or even of the emperor system, the note said the ultimate kind of government will be decided "by the freely established will of the Japanese people."

The new MacArthur declaration implied that continuance of the present system shall be conditioned on good behavior. Under the velvet glove was the threat of military force if orders are not obeyed.

The threat applies more to the men at the top than the Japanese masses. American correspondents seem generally agreed that the people are willing to obey orders, especially those having imperial sanction.

Smooth Functioning Possible

The powers of the emperor under the Japanese constitution have actually little limitation, if strictly used under MacArthur's orders. The Allies therefore are in a position to assure smooth functioning of the national and local governments by applying their pressure at the very top. They are also capable of forcing a house-cleaning of the militarists, jingoists and monied interests from the government structure. Only thus, if the Japanese people are capable of democracy, will they have a chance to express themselves.

It is fairly obvious that the government of Prince Nruhiko Tigashi-Muni and the unrepresentative lower house of the present Diet will have to go. The Japanese proposal for a general election at the start of next year certainly will not provide means for a real expression of the popular will because of the short time to prepare for it, although the Allies may permit the election if they think it will do even a little good, but no harm.

Meanwhile, Gen. Higashi-Kun's past record makes it evident that any government he heads must be gotten rid of with the least possible delay. Some evidence just presented by Wickham Steed, distinguished former editor of the Lohdon Times, shows convincingly why the prince cannot be trusted.

Steed recalls that during the first world war, when Japan was an ally of Great Britain, the Japanese general staff, of which HigashiKuni was a leading member, concocted an elaborate plot for a revolt against the British in India. The British had documents including instructions which had been sent secretly in Chinese code by the Japanese general staff to its agents in India.

Treachery Revealed

Steed disclosed hitherto unrevealed facts about Higashi-Kuni's part in this act of calculated treachery. Steed learned from secret intelligence that one of Japan's most eminent scholars was sent to India in 1915 under the pretext of studying Indian Buddhism.

They learned Japanese prepared a report containing a full list of the insurrectionary centers organized by him in India, together with other incriminating informatiin. The professor took it personally to the captain of a Japanese ship about to sail from Calcutta. It was addressed to Prince Higashi-Kuni.

"By a strange chance," Steed dryly observed, a photographic copy of the report remained in British hands in India. Higashi-Kuni thereupon put his plans concerning India on ice for 25 years, but they came to life in 1942.

Half Of Nagasaki Is "Desert Of Rubble"

By VERN HAUGLAND
Associated Press Staff Writer

NAGASAKI, Japan, Sept. 10.—The second and last atomic bomb dropped by the Americans turned half of this city of 250,000 population into a desert of rubble.

I am one of a party of Americans on a first visit to this former manufacturing center. Of this city, comparable in size to San Antonio, Tex., nothing remains in the three-mile-long and two-mile-wide business district except debris.

The spot where the bomb exploded, an area a half a mile square was swept almost clean. A mile across the valley from the bomb center houses were pushed out of line and lean drunkenly along the street.

There was no crater, and, contrary to previous reports, Japanese in Nagasaki said the bomb exploded about 1,500 feet above the ground.

One prisoner of war said that 200 Allied prisoners were very close to the center of the blast and that only four were killed. But two other prisoners, he said, died 20 days later from peculiar symptoms—jaws locked, throats swelling, high fever and pulse and skin hemmorrhages.

Americans who visited the prison camp included Merchant Seaman Morris Kellough, Muleshoe, Texas.

Ralls Gets First 1945 Bale Monday

RALLS, Sept. 10. (Special.) — This area's first 1945 bale of cotton, perhaps Crosby county's, was ginned about 4:30 o'clock this afternoon at Owens gin, eight miles south of Ralls, by Vernon W. Crump, resident of the Owens community.

Out of 1,500 pounds of seed cotton, Crump received a 450-pound bale and 625 pounds of seed. According to O. C. Callaway, manager of the gin, it graded middling seven-eighths.

C. W. Mann, secretary of the Ralls Chamber of Commerce, said he believed it was the first bale for the county.

Crump has 350 acres of early cotton which promises to make a half bale per acre or better. All is dry-land cotton.

Crump's farm is in a small section which caught good amounts of rain many times during the spring and summer, Mann said. Good cotton and feed crops have been the result. Other parts of Crosby county were not so fortunate, Mann said, being severely hit by the drouth.

The Ralls area's first bale last year was ginned an Aug. 24, and in 1943 on Sept. 7, Mann said.

European Loans Due To Begin This Week

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 (AP)—The United States is expected to begin parceling out some postwar trade dollars to Europe this week.

The chances are there will not be as many or as freely bestowed dollars as many Europeans would like.

The Export-Import bank board, meeting Tuesday, probably will approve an emergency loan to France to permit post lend-lease purchases here, especially food. The French have asked $545,000,000 for this purpose but officials predict they will get less than that at the outset.

Australia Cites Barbarity, Asks Rigid War Criminals Punishment

By W. R. HIGGINBOTHAM
United Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Sept. 10. — Foreign Minister Dr. Herbert Evatt of Australia demanded today that "superior officers up to the highest—presumably including Emperor Hirohito and the imperial general staff—be punished for Japanese barbarity in the Southwest Pacific.

He made the demand in releasing Australia's official report to the United Nations War Crimes commission on Japanese cannibalism and tortures in the Australian war zone.

Australian newspaper reviewing the report urged the Allies to scrap soft peace terms for Japan and mete out the harshest treatment to the enemy.

Charges In Report

The report charged:

1. Japanese soldiers ate flesh from their own and American and Australian dead in New Guinea following the Buna-Gona campaign in 1942-43.

2. 150 Australians who surrendered under a white flag in New Britain were shot or bayoneted to death, a few at a time in the presence of those still to die.

3. Two Roman Catholic priests, one a Dutchman and the other an American, and two Catholic nuns were bayonetted to death in a New Britain village about Aug. 19, 1942. The bodies of the nuns were naked when found.

4. Two American prisoners were dissected and their livers removed while they were still alive in the Kokumbona area of Guadalcanal in the latter part of September, 1942.

Frightful Mutilation

5. Japanese troops killed up to 59 natives and 36 Australian soldiers without justification or excuse at Milne Bay, New Guinea, in 1942. Many, including women natives, were subjected to frightful mutilation and some were used for bayonet practice while they still were alive.

Evatt said the report, taken in conjunction with the American statement on atrocities released last week, strengthened "the confirmed policy of the Australian government . . . that there should be no immunity for trial for war war crimes for any Japanese whatsoever."

Australia has informed the war crimes commission that it desires machinery be set in motion immediately for the trial of Japanese war criminals, Evatt said.

He said the Australian report was based on the testimony of 500 witnesses and was prepared by Sir William Webb, chief justice of Queensland for the war crimes commission.

"It reveals not only individual and isolated acts of barbarity, but also practices which are beyond the pale of accepted human conduct and which could not have become general without the connivance, encouragement and direction of superior officers up to the highest," he said.

"It is our duty to see that those who organized the system are punished and that the system itself is completely eradicated."

At Sydney, the state council of the Australian Legion of former servicemen and service women voted to cable Evatt and the British government a protest against retention of Hirohito and the present members of the Japanese Diet.

Want French Legal Code

The council urged that the Allies adopt the French legal code for trials of Japanese war criminals. The code holds every accused person guilty until proved innocent.

W. R. Nicholas, organizing secretary of the Legion, proposed that the Allies arrest every member of the Japanese armed forces and require them to prove themselves innocent of atrocities before being released.

Webb's report said that a great number of American and Australian dead recovered after the Buna-Gona campaign in New Guinea were found mutilated as though by swords, knives or other sharp instruments.

"In many cases," the report said, "flesh was removed and in a few cases it was found in Japanese mess kits, some of them over fires.

"Where flesh was found in mess kits, Japanese were short of food and in many cases on the point of starvation, if not starving."

News Briefs

Pfc. Melton H. Jones, husband of Mrs. Tyajuana S. Jones of Lamesa, was listed on the war casualty list from the Pacific regions, as wounded in action.

Police said that M. M. Thomas, a Mexican, had been injured in a Slaton knifing and that another Mexican, about 60, was sought in connection. Thomas' injuries apparently were no serious. He was taken to a hospital here.

Pvt. Carol Price, USMCR, is home on a 10 day leave after completion of boot training at Parris Island, S. C., Marine Training station. He is visiting his mother, Mrs. Faye Price at 2001 Twenty-second, and at the end of his leave, will report to Camp Pendleton, Calif., for overseas assignment.

Wainwright Is Paid Tribute By Romulo

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10. (AP)—Brig. Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, Philippine resident commissioner, declared today that Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, hero of Corregidor, never let down the American standards of decency, honor and courage and that "through surrender he won this war."

Romulo spoke before a huge crowd on the monument grounds gathered to hear and acclaim the hero of the Philippines campaign on his triumphal return from three years of Japanese internment.

"Bataan was his heroism, and his martyrdom was Corregidor. Heroism and martyrdom are combined in the person of this single man."

"He was America on that bitter rock in Manila bay," Romulo concluded.

"Now in this hour of flying flags and triumphant drums, he is the vindication of our democracy. He is your America and my America set free."

Capt. Michie Writes After His Liberation

Two cards and a letter were were received Monday by J. N. Michie, 2304 Seventeenth, from his son, Capt. Robert E. Lee Michie, who was liberated Aug. 17 from a Japanese prison in Mukden, Manchuria, probably by the Russians.

One of the cards, written Aug. 25, said in part, "I have been into Mukden and was entertained by some Russian officers. They are swell fellows." The others, written the following day said, "You can't imagine how wonderful it is to go where you want to go and do what you want to do," in explaining the feeling of freedom after three and a half years of imprisonment.

Earlier in the day, the Michies had a letter from the captain which Mr. Michie said made this the happiest day of his life. The letter, written on the back of one his father mailed him early in 1942, was mailed in the envelope his father had used. Capt. Michie had turned the envelope wrong side ont, pasted it back together and mailed his letter in it.

The letter indicated that Capt. Michie expects to be home within 30 days and in it he requested that his father and Mrs. Michie meet him at his place of arrival in the United States. One of the cards received yesterday afternoon told them that rumor has it that the prisoners will be sent home by boat.

"We were pleased doubly with the cards this afternoon because they were so well written, the penmanship was so steady and clear, that we knew Lee was in good mental health—and the fact that he had been able to go into town and celebrate with the Russians was an indication that he was physically in good condition," Mrs. Michie said. "We thought other families would be cheered by our news."

Cotton Prospects Generally Unchanged

AUSTIN, Sept. 10 (AP)—Cotton prospects shifted in some districts, but the statewide outlook for production of 2,100,000 bales for 1945 remained generally unchanged as of Sept. 1, the United States Department of Agriculture reported today.

There was some improvement in prospects in the northwest districts and the blacklands, but offsetting losses occurred in East Texas and the coastal area, where the crop was damaged by the hurricane.

The prospective production of 2,100,000 bales compares with 2,646,000 last year, and the 10-year (1934-43) average of 3,112,000.

Yield per acre will average out of approximately 162 pounds which is slightly better than the 10-year average, the USDA said.

Crippled Tigers Get Split With Boston To Hold Lead

BOSTON, Sept. 10. (AP) — With Hank Greenberg and Eddie Mayo on the sidelines with injuries, Detroit's weakened Tigers today split a doubleheader with the Boston Red Sox, first losing to Boo Ferriss by a 9-2 margin and then winning the nightcap, 2-1, by scoring in the ninth.

Making his third bid for his 21st pitching triumph, Ferriss held the Tigers to eight scattered hits as his teammates collected 13 from two of three rival flingers.

Ferriss inspired the sockers at the plate by banging out two doubles and a single to drive in two runs. He put together five strikeouts while giving only two bases on balls.

Rookie Ed Mierkowicz, filling in for Greenberg, used his first major league hit, a double off the left field wall, to drive in Rudy York with Detroit's winning run. York had singled and been sacrificed by Roy Cullenbine.

Until then, the afterpiece was a keen pitching duel between the successful Frank Overmire and Emmett O'Neill.

SENATORS MISS CHANCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10. (AP) — A half game hump into a virtual tie with Detroit for first place was too much of a climb for Washington's Senators tonight and they split a twin bill with Chicago's White Sox.

Needing two victories over the White Sox to pull up almost even with the leading Tigers, the Senators won the first game, 10-4, but took a 9-4 licking in the second.

This left the Senators a full game behind the Tigers who divided a daylight double header with Boston.

Earl Caldwell kept the Senators from winning the game they wanted so bodly as the veteran Sox righthander scored his sixth win of the season, all in night games.

YANK HOMERS WIN

NEW YORK, Sept. 10. (AP)—A home run with the bases loaded by Charlie Keller in the seventh and another with the bases empty by Nick Etten in the second gave the New York Yankees a 5 to 1 victory over Cleveland today. It was the Yanks' first win in six starts.

Catcher Aaron Robinson of the Yanks was hit on the head by one of Lefty Al Smith's pitches in the sixth but walked to the dugout under his own power.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10. (AP) — Ed Wright, a Boston rookie, silenced the bats of the Chicago Cubs today to give the Braves a 2-0 victory over the league leaders.

Wright scattered seven Chicago hits over five innings, and worked his way out of two bad spots as he successfully protected the two-run lead his mates gave him in the first inning.

The runs were scored during a five-hit first frame that sent Bob Chipman, starting pitcher, to an early shower.

Denver City To Field Fast Club

DENVER CITY, Sept. 10. Special)—The Denver City Mustangs, light, but fact and scrappy, have a rough test here Friday night from the Lovington, N. M., High school eleven, which will start a rugged ten weeks schedule of football.

The Mustangs have two "practice" tilts before launching into the defense of their District 6-A title. After the Lovington game, the boys play the ever potent Levelland Lobos, then on successive weeks play Slaton, Seminole, Tahoka, Andrews, O'Donnel, Seagraves, Post and Sundown in conference battles.

Short On Reserves

Coach Wilson Head, and assistant Coach Clyde Keith, who who coached the Colts last year, will field a light team that appears to be short on reserves, but with a stout first lone of attack.

Five regular starters of last season's championship ball club are back in harness this year among the eight returning lettermen. This list includes Gene Streety, all-district guard, and Grayson Tate, second team all-district back.

Bob Miller, another back, is also back this year. Bob Edwards, Streety's running mate at guard, and Calvin Trice, a tackle, are the other lettermen back this season, who were regulars last year. Dennis Harrison and Billy Ray Ward round out a letterman backfield, while Tommy Kirken offers another letterman at tackle.

The Mustangs have several other promising boys out for the team, and loom as one of the favored teams in the district this year.

Lovington Looks Rough

Lovington is reported to have another fine team this season, and many of the players from last season are back. The two teams played a 6-6 tie in the 1944 opener. This game being the only one this week in this area, a banner crowd is expected for the opener here.

The complete Denver City schedule is:

Sept. 14—Lovington, N. M. at Denver City.
Sept. 21—Levelland at Denver City.
Sept. 28—Slaton at Denver City.
Oct. 5—Seminole at Seminole.
Oct. 12—Tahoka at Denver City.
Oct. 19—Andrews at Andrews.
Oct. 26—O'Donnell at Denver City.
Nov. 2—Seagraves at Seagraves.
Nov. 9—Post at Post.
Nov. 16—Sundown at Denver City.

Bell Visits Ponies On First Day Back

DALLAS, Sept. 10. (AP) — Matty Bell rejoined the Southern Methodist university Mustangs as head coach today.

Bell, who also becomes director of athletics, was getting acquainted in his first day with the Ponies.

H. N. (Rusty) Russell, who has been in charge, and McAdoo Keaton sent the Ponies through a hard workout.

Meanwhile the head mentor was just looking on. He arrived last night from Athens, Ga., where he was athletic director at the preflight training school until Friday.

Red Raiders Stage Open House Tonight

Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Fan are invited to meet the Texas Tech Red Raiders tonight at Tech stadium in a big open house show, scheduled to start promptly at 8:30 o'clock.

Coaches Dell Morgan and Polk Robinson have divided the Tech grid squad into Reds and Whites, and plan to stage about 30 or 45 minutes of scrimmage session for the fans.

The party will be complete, with a public address system, six cheer leaders and plenty of pre-game ceremonies, which include the introduction of every one of the Red Raiders and coaches, as well as introductions of visiting coaches and team captains.

All fans and coaches and players from area schools are invited to attend the open house. Everyone has been asked to find seats in the east stands for the show.

Grade School Touch Grid Coaches Named

Groundwork was laid Monday for the launching of the schools recreation program this year with the naming of six of the recreational leaders that will work in the city's nine elementary schools, it was announced by E. J. "Pinkey" Lowery, athletic director.

Touch football will be the first athletic event on the year's program. Schedules will be ready next week, but workouts are already being started.

Leaders already named for the various schools are: Mrs. A. T. Lindsey at Bean; A. B. Reese at Central Ward; W. R. Bradford at K. Carter; Miss Norma Eakin at McWhorter; Miss Irene Malone at Wilson, and Mrs. Julia Cane at Dupre. Leaders at Hunt, Sanders and Guadalupe will be named later.

Westerners Get Set For Odessa

The Lubbock Westerners moved into the last week of preparations for Friday night's opening battle with the Odessa Bronchos at Odessa.

Coaches Dixie White and George Philbrick centered their attention on plugging up the defensive holes shown up in last week's scrimmage sessions with the high flying Littlefield Wildcats, and most of Monday's work was on defense.

Work On Defense

Defensive formations and tackling practice took up most of the day, but some work was brought in on offense, and several new plays were dished out to the gridmen for use Friday night.

Don Holton was showing up well Monday at a tackle spot, and and looked like he would be ready to step into a starting berth for the Odesas game. The line has been one of the chief worries of the coaches, and Holton's performance Monday indicated that one of these spots — ' ht be taken care of.

Two Battles Waged

Two battles for starting positions have been catching the eyes of the railbirds, and offers a merry scrap for top honors. These positions involve the wingback and left end posts, and likely will be in doubt until the night of the opening game.

Arthur Rampy and Don "Speck" Austin are staging the scrap for the wingback post, and both lads are giving a great account of themselves. Both boys are fast and shifty, with Austin perhaps the most elusive of the two.

The battle at left end has simmered down to a battle royal between Kenneth Cawthron and Robert Collier. Both have been showing up well all season, and appear about evenly matched on both offense and defense, but Cawthron may hold a slight edge on pass catching ability.

Coaches indicated plenty of work would be on the schedule today, and tomorrow, with a tapering off scheduled for Thursday.

Nelson Plans To Take Rest Soon

DALLAS, Sept. 10. (AP)—Lord Byron Nelson, the greatest money-maker ingolf history, said today he would play in five more tournaments, then take a long rest.

Nelson declared a golfer just couldn't stand up forever under "playing your heart out every week. And that's what I have been doing for two years, whether it be tournament or exhibition."

Nelson will go to Tulsa later in the week to play in an invitation tournament but first will be a dinner guest at Fort Worth where he made his start in golf. Yesterday he won third money in the Dallas open—his second tournament in a row in which he did not take first place.

The Texan, whose $53,537 in war bonds tops any earnings for a year in links annals, declared: "No golfer can keep on winning every week; the strain is too great. I haven't been doing as well as usual lately. But it isn't lack of concentration; it's just the impossibility of keeping keyed up week after week."

Nelson said he planned to taper off gradually. "The only reason I have kept going so long and hard is because I was the leader, the people wanted to see me and the clubs were depending upon me. Now, with others to take my place, I am going to go fishing."

After the Tulsa tournament, Nelson will play at Spokane, Portland, Tacoma and Seattle.

He is a farmer, too, you know, residing near Denton, Tex., although he registers out of Toledo, O., where he is an executive in an umbrella concern.

Pitching Holds Key For Card's Chances

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 10. (AP)—The 1945 pennant chances of the World Champion St. Louis Cardinals depended today upon whether the salary wings of the "Three Bee's" and their pal George can hold up under the rugged test of 19 starting assignments in 20 days.

The "Bee's", of course, are Red Barrett, Harry Brecheen and Ken Burkhardt, and George is the Kansas lefthander, George Dockins.

For at least two of the four—Brecheen and Dockins — the prospects of working and winning with an average of only three days rest aren't so good. Both men were sidelined almost half the year with sore arms, and both are southpaws who get plenty wild when they're not right.

Southworth shouldn't have to worry about Barrett, his 21-game winner. He's a workhorse who thrives on plenty of action.

Present Cardinal pitching plans call for Brecheen to go against the New York Giant tonight and Dockins tomorrow afternoon. Burkhardt and Barrett will be back for a twi-night doubleheader Wednesday with Brooklyn with Brecheen due for a return chose against the Dodgers Thursday.

Dockins, Barrett and Burkhardt should face the Chicago Cubs in their crucial three-game series here Sept. 18-20 and Barrett and Burkhardt should be ready again for the final pair with the Cubs in Chicago, Sept. 25 and 26.

Budget Adopted, Tax Rate Is Set

County commissioners Monday adopted a proposed 1946 budget of $462,856. 52 submitted by County Auditor Joe Boyd and reset Lubbock county tax rate at 50 cents a $100 valuation.

The budget is an increase of $48,415.86 over the estimated budget of the 1945 tax year, $414,-440.66. In 1944, $394,813.43 actually was disbursed—$33,714.04 under the 1944 estimated budget, Boyd's figures show.

Some Revenue To Increase

The auditor said the net increase in ad valorem taxes indicated $12,500 increase in 1946 over 1945; that the estimated income from delinquent taxes would be $1,397.14 less than delinquent tax collections for 1945, and that other revenue, chiefly automobile registrations, would increase by $37,313. He said the increase in automobile registrations would indicate a need for more highway construction, involving expenditures in construction machinery.

As a matter of fact, Boyd assumed that automobile registrations would total almost as much as the 1944 figure of $167,244.07. He had estimated such registrations in the 1945 tax year at $146,-000, but said that more automobile registration monies had been collected "up to the present" in the 1945 tax year than in all of last year.

Valuations May Increase

Valuations for tax purposes, it was indicated, may increase approximately $600,000 as 1945 valuations did over the $32,959,252 valuations for the 1944 tax roll.

Other than conduct their budget hearing, commissioners:

Set the salary of John Edmisson, shorthand reporter for the 72nd judicial district, and apportioned it among the four counties comprising the district, according to population and in accordance with house bill 555. It authorized the salary on approval of District Judge Dan Blair until further notice. Under the bill's terms, Edmisson would receive $3,750 yearly, apportioned thus: Cochran county, $22.28 for 11 months, $22.30 for one month; Hockley, $75.75 a month; Crosby county, $59.97 for 11 months and $59.95 for one month; Lubbock county, $154.50.

Voted to allow the following special bills: In precenict 1, $557.19 to R .B. George Co. for machinery; in precinct 2, $1,648.47 to J. R. Fanning, road contractor; in precinct 3, $10,173.86 to Fanning for road construction and $829.16 to the George Machine company for machine parts; and in precinct 4, $4,621.77 to Fanning for road work. It voted to amend the county budget to compensate for the transfers.

Voted to pay $116.75 to Samson Plumbing & Heating Co. for materials and labor for plumbing repairs in county jail.

Voted to pay $175 monthly to

Legion Initiates 22 World War 2 Vets

Twenty-seven veterans of World war II were initiated Monday night as members of the Allen Bros., post of the American Legion.

Legionnaries held considerable discussion on the housing shortage in Lubbock as it affects veterans now seeking admission to Texas Technological college, and the post's rehabilitation committee was instructed to extend utmost cooperation to college authorities in any move to alleviate the situation.

E. F. Fuller, a training officer of the Veterans administration, analyzed the government program to give veterans educational and training advantages.

Twenty-two delegates were appointed to the state convention to be held in Fort Worth Sept. 23-24. Chester Hubbard, former commander, will serve as chairman.

Commander H. J. Kendrick announced that committee organization for the new year was almost complete.

Gen. Wainwright

nearest the police could get to guessing at the number along the route was a half million or more.

The general made three speeches, one to the monument grounds crowd, the others to the House and Senate. Sprinkled through them was a surprised note—and undertone that said plainly: What did I do to deserve this?

He was nervous and jerky, until he spoke. Then his deep, raspy voice bore down like a relentless machine as he said at the monument grounds:

Hard To Believe

"I still find it hard to believe I am really here, back among my own people . . . We lived in a blacked-out world."

With charity, he said, "no Japanese should be forced to endure what many of our men went through."

With firmness, he added, however:

"These truculent men (of Japan) must be forced to realize the folly of their ambitions."

In effect, he told both houses: Never again must the nation be left so weak as to invite another Corregidor.

From the Capitol his triumphal cavalcade sped to the executive mansion where more than 200 persons, mostly White House employes stood by while Mr. Truman conferred on the general the most coveted of military honors.

President Reads Citation

The President read a citation asserting that the stand at Corregidor "commanded the admiration" of the nation's Allies and "reflected the high morale of American arms" in the face of overwhelming odds.

The citation attested the courage and inspiration which the general's men on the rock drew from their commander.

Wainwright, the man who took over when Douglas MacArthur went to Australia to organize the march back, wanted the crowd to remember the men with him too. There were his close aides, Brig. Gen. Lewis Beebe, Lt. Col. John R. Pugh, S/Sgt. Hubert Carroll. All of them were with him in prison camp. It wasn't hard to remember where they had been whenever Wainwright doffed his four-star general's cap. He still had his prison haircut, cropped close.

Wife Beside Him

Beside the general in the motor parade was his wife. He told the monument crowd that among the cruelest punishments the Japanese inflicted was "to keep us from frequent contact with home." Mrs. Wainwright, in black dress with blue front and wearing a huge orchid, wept openly as the roars of the crowd reached crescendo.

For his men, Wainwright reported:

"The men who fought on Bataan and Corregidor, never were beaten in spirit . . . We surrendered as honorable soldiers. You know what happened after that."

The general didn't go into any of the guessable details publicly; it was plain his first duty was to report them to Secretary of War Stimson.

"Many brave and gallant soldiers died under torment and starvation, Wainwright asserted.

He urged that the sacrifice of his men serve as the keystone to "protect this nation from the lack of practical foresight" which made doom inevitable.

J. M. Hall, service officer who would obtain the remainder of his salary from service organizations.

Commissioners Barrett Penny, Ben Mansker, T. L. Holt and Vol Farris approved Boyd's breaking down of the tax rate thus in the various funds:

Jordan To Head Wholesale Firm

Manager of the Hestand-Kimbell Grocery company for the past six years, Donald F. Jordan of 2218 Sixteenth, has been named president and general manager of the Walker-Smith Wholesale company of Brownwood, operators of 16 wholesale houses in Texas and New Mexico.

Jordan became head of the Brownwood organization in an ownership change effected last week, when Kay Kimbell, Fort Worth capitalist and owner of the Kimbell Milling company, purchased stock of the Walker-Smith company. The firm, one of the largest in this section of Texas, has an annual volume of business in excess of fourteen million dollars.

As a result of the transaction, Kimbell, who has vast food distribution and manufacturing enterprises in addition to his milling business, was named chairman of the board of directors of the Walker-Smith company—a 51-year-old firm.

Associated with Kimbell interests for more than six years, Jordan has managed the wholesale grocery houses of the Hestand-Kimbell company in Lubbock, Lamesa, Big Spring and Spur, operating from headquarters at Lubbock. He will continue to manage these branch houses in addition to assuming his new duties at Brownwood. While he plans to move his family to Brownwood eventually, the family will continue to make their home here for the present.

Kimbell interests now own fifty-three wholesale houses in Texas, Louisiana and New Mexico, constituting the largest food distributing enterprise in the Southwest.

Jordan suceeds B. C. D. Bynum of Amarillo as president of the Walker-Smith company. Other officers in addition to the board chairman are: H. G. Wilson and Kenneth Adams, vice presidents; and J. A. Deen, secretary-treasurer, all of Brownwood.

Directors are: Kay Kimbell, W L. Newsom, C. B. Smith, Dr. Coleman Carter, jr., V. G. Runnion, and Clarence Taylor, all of Fort Worth; Howard Jackson, J. A. Deen, H. G. Wilson, Kenneth Adams, and Jordan, all of Brownwood.

Jordan, a native of Vernon county, Mo., was reared in Tulsa, Okla. He attended Tulsa High school and was affiliated for nine years with the Griffin-Goodner Wholesale grocery at Tulsa, and for five years with Western States grocery in Oklahoma City before joining Kimbell.

Stores at Abilene, San Angelo, Ballinger, Brady, Dublin, Stamford, Sweetwater, Pecos, Midland, Lamesa, Childress and Amarillo, as well as at Lubbock and Hobbs, N. M., are included in the chain. Stock of the estate of the late J. A. Walker, founder of the Brownwood organization, was bought through the First National Bank at Dallas.

joyed last night. 'I knew in my heart always that Jack was coming home," she told a reporter.

He is an only child of Mrs. Hornsby and the late Guy B. Hornsby. The Hornsbys come to Lubbock when Jack was 18 months old.

Pfc. Hornsby enlisted in the Marines in August, 1938, a few months after finishing high school here. He had never gone to school elsewhere, Mrs. Hornsby said.

He sailed for China in March, 1940. It was two years and four months before she received the first letter from her son, although she had been officially informed meanwhile that he had been interned.

She received a letter last Friday in which her son said he was 'all right" and that he and his mother would have "a great celebration" when he came home. The letter was dated last February.

Mrs. Hornsby said she believed that Jack was at Tientsin or Peiping when war was declared. She said he was first interned at Shanghai and for the last three years in the Osaka area.

On June 13 of this year Pfc. Hornsby was heard on a Jap shortwave broadcast, she was notified.

Here, the Japanese common soldier would never know he has been defeated so far as the Americans are concerned.

Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge, the occupation commander, told correspondents the Japanese would be allowed to disarm themselves.

The Japanese Army is behaving with correctness and, under perfect control of officers, is making no trouble. The American policy appears to be working smoothly.

SPECIALTIES CLIMB

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—Industrial specialties climbed to eight-year peaks in today's stock market, and rails turned on a fair amount of recovery steam, but many leaders stumbled over light selling.

Volume tapered after midday. Transfers of 1,100,000 shares compared with 1,330,-000 Friday.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .2 of a point at 68.6, a top figure since May 8, 1937. The industrial average edged forward .1 to 92.3, a high since Aug. 31, 1937. Of 919 issues registering, 401 advances, 285 were down and 233 unchanged.

Ending the plus column were General Motors, Montgomery Ward, Pepsi-Cola, Budd Mfg., American Radiator, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Douglas Aircraft, Consolidated Vultee, United Aircraft, American Telephone and Texas Co.

Losers included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Public Service of N. J., Goodyear, Woolworth, General Electric, American Can, and Radio Corp.

Bonds were steady.

Among curb gainers were Bohack, Niagara Hudson Power, Red Bank Oil, Segal Lock and Textron. Turnover here was 330,000 shares versus 470,000 in the preceding full session.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, Sept. 10 (AP)—Cotton futures closed irregular, 20 cents a bale lower to 10 cents higher. Trade buying steadied nearby positions, while deferred contracts lost ground under profit taking. The latter was attributed to inclination to take profits following last week's advance.

It was reported that Spain had purchased 20,000 bales of United States cotton on bids submitted last week. This news had little influence on traders who had anticipated this business.

Southern reports stated that new crop cotton movement was slow and it was also this situation which contributed to the slow trade in futures market. Spot cotton prices were steady to firm although volume of business was also small.

a direct question as to his own responsibility for the Pacific conflict.

Tojo, the war-making premier whose government engineered the Pearl Harbor attack, switched quickly to other subjects after giving this brief reply to the question of who was responsible for the war:

History May Differ

"You are the victors and you are able to name him now. But historians 500 or 1,000 years from now may judge differently."

Thus did the shaven-headed former premier, who ruled with an iron, almost dictatorial hand from before Pearl Harbor until the fall of Saipan, dismiss any discussion of war guilt.

He would brook no more talk of war responsibility in our conference at his country home. He changed the subject to a narrow escape from death last May 25 in a Superfortress incendiary raid.

At first disgruntled at our intrusion into his privacy, Tojo curtly refused to discuss the war. Then he seemed to decide that pleasant banter would be best.

He chatted of his land, his house and other non-war subjects. He laughed heartily at times. He often lapsed into cold-eyed impassivity.

Only Comment On War

On war he commented only:

"Real soldiers fight to the finish in the field. War ends when peace is declared. Each respects an enemy who fights hard and cleanly and so MacArthur has the respect of myself as well as the Japanese people."

He had nothing to say as to whether he expected to be tried as a war criminal, and what defense he was preparing, if any.

A once highly-placed Japanese politician had told us earlier that Tojo was expecting trial as a war criminal and that in his answer he would accuse President Roosevelt of being the world's top war criminal and finish his defense by committing hara kiri.

Living In New House

Tojo is living in a new house, about an hour's drive from the imperial palace and only a half hour from the Hayouac of the U. S. First Cavalry division occupying Tokyo.

Birmingham Visit

Kopecki, and old Yaqui Joe (yeah, they're the same mugs who used to groan and grunt in the auditorium at Lubbock a half dozen years ago. Sailor Watkins won his match here last Monday night, Brownell told us and he's still popular with the fans. His picture, with several additions to the tatooing on his chest, was in the lobby of the building.

But getting back to the auditorium. Brownell, who has been manager for the past four years, said it was the scene of more than two score high school basketball contests each winter and the state tournament is run off there.

The arena floor of the building is level and for the purpose of presenting events on the stage, a false floor is raised in the rear of the building and temporary seats placed there. It takes 20 men working steady for 15 hours to install this floor and about the same amount of time for the change back to an event where the floor is used.

Back of the building, there is a vacant lot 240 feet deep which provides space for partons' parking. Under the remodeling plan, additional space will be provided.

In the proposed civic center, the remodeling will be one of a half-dozen imposing buildings. A new city hall with a tower reaching up several stories will be another of the new buildings in the area which centers around Capitol park. The beautiful Jefferson county courthouse already has been erected two blocks away on a street fronting the park.

Land for the new city hall will cost $1,500,000 but site of the old hall in downtown Briminghom, if sold or leased, will bring more than enough to pay for the new site. Land on which the auditorium stands cost the city of Birmingham $320,000.

Brief Stop At Gadsden

Driving along the western side of Lookout mountains this afternoon, we halted briefly at Gadsden, a city of 50,000 people approximately two-thirds of the way between Chattanooga and Birmingham. There we viewed an auditorium-gymnasium which lies between a municipal swimming pool and a 2,400 seat amphitheater constructed on the bank of the meandering Coosa river.

W. R. Hooks, city engineer, showed us through the plant and explained that it was consructed in 1925. The National Guard armory is located nearby.

We ran into our first rain as we rode through the Alabama hills, alongside which cotton fields are almost white with open bolls. It was still raining tonight as we viewed the twinkling lights of this great city from the tighteenth floor of the Thomas Jefferson hotel.

Next we will visit New Orleans, where we are told there awaits another great auditorium for our inspection.

Of interest to Texas Tech graduates of its early days and to Abernathy residents is this little item. Rudd Hardesty, who graduated from Tech in 1929 from the textile engineering department, is associated with Davenport Hosiery mills of Chattanooga, where he has been since the fall after his graduation.

Loss of $150 in a breakin at his apartment, 1813 Ave. A, was reported to the sheriff's department Monday night by Cecil Wilder. He said someone unlatched a screen with an ice pick, entered and took the money from a billfold which was in his trousers, then replaced the wallet.

Five motor vehicles were stolen in West Texas over the week-end, reports to Lubbock police radio station KGZW showed. A truck and an automobile were stolen in Lubbock and cars in Big Spring, Odessa and Plainview. The car stolen here belongs to I. D. Dunagan of 910 Ave. N.

Occupation Plans

moil.

The second order clamping on the censorship of Japanese press and radio was accompanied by MasArthur's assurances that there "should be an absolute minimum of restrictions upon freedom of speech."

Banned at once were Japanese short-wave broadcasts abroad and publication of Allied troop movements.

Censor In Action

First to feel the censorship was the English-language Nippon Times of Tokyo. The censors struck out an editorial saying that there had been "amazingly few cases of rape" by American troops.

Plans for the swift broadening of zones of occupation were announced by MacArthur's headquarters, which disclosed that the U. S. Sixth Army would occupy Japan's greatest naval base of Kure on the inland sea Oct. 3.

The Sixth Army will move into a second inland sea city, Okayama, on Oct. 22 and the following day will march into whatever is left of Osaka.

Actually, the Sixth Army will be moving into the Osoka area before the end of the month. American troops will take over the steel city of Wakayama, 30 miles south of Osaka, Sept. 27 and the nearby oil refining center of Yokkaichi Oct. 2.

Other units of the Sixth Army will occupy the naval base of Sasebo on the western shore of Kyushu Sept. 22 and atom blasted city of Nagasaki on Sept. 26.

The U. S. Eighth Army announced it would send the 77th division to Aomori, port on the northern tip of Honshu, Sept. 27. The 81st division will take over Ominato naval base, across Musu bay, Oct. 3.

Under Naval Control

Both these strategic points already are under the control of the U. S. North Pacific fleet. Occupation of Hokkaido is scheduled to begin about Oct. 5.

Already the Sixth Army was moving over Kyushu, where the chief of the Japanese air force declared he had been prepared to hurl 9,000 hoarded planes into one last banzai aerial charge against a U. S. invasion fleet which had been expected to land asasult waves there by early November.

The air chief, Gen. Shozo Kawabe, organizer of the kamikaze corps of suicide pilots, claimed air strength had been saved up for such a defense.

Must List Agencies

The Japanese are under MacArthur's orders to list factories, laboratories and other cogs in the war machine, and Domei agency began wondering what the fallen nation would be allowed to retain.

AAichiro Fugiyama, president of the Japanese Commerce and Industrial association, was quoted as saying Japan assumed the Allies would permit the retentio of some heavy industry.

The Japanese also were wondering how they were going to get home some 1,300,000 nationals in Manchuria, 850,000 in Korea and 2,600,000 mobilized Japanese workers spread all over the Asiatic map.

An Army Air force lieutenant, a student officer at Lubbock Army Air field, was slugged and robbed early today by three men between Lubbock and LAAF.

The men had picked up the lieutenant at Nineteenth and College.

The victim, whose name was not available at 1:30 o'clock, was in the post hospital with a severe cut on the head.

He was robbed of approximately $15 in money and his watch.

The men were driving a 1935 Ford coach with a Michigan license.

Wainwright's Warning---

Nation Must Be On Guard

FROM the tragedy of Bataan and Corregidor, from the ghastly prison camps of Japan, America this week received a message it should never forget.

It was the message brought back from the Valley of the Dead by Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright.

Erect and clear-eyed, but still weak from his long months of cruel captivity, Wainwright told a cheering throng in Washington:

"No humane person could desire that the Japs should be forced to endure what many of our men went through.

"I know that Americans will insist that the full meaning of Japan's surernder be brought home to every subject of the emperor. . . . These truculent men must be forced to realize the folly of their ambitions."

Recalling those days when the valiant boys of West Texas "anxiously scanned the skies for the relief that did not exist," Wainwright pointed out the terrible price in blood and suffering that the United States paid "all because for awhile we were careless of the nation's safety."

This nation, he warned, must never again "let down its guard."

"Remember Bataan! Remember Corregidor!" Those words of the tired, gaunt general, who suffered so much for us, should go ringing down the years.

In recognition of his "superb leadership" during the "gallant defense of Bataan and Corregidor against overwhelming odds," President Truman has recommended to the Senate the promotion of Wainwright to the full rank of general. This is small compensation for what he has suffered, but it does show that the United States appreciates the gallant battle fought by him and his men in that darkest hour of American history.

This warning by the general, who knows the Japs for the monsters that they are, must never be forgotten.

Speaking Of Potatoes

TEXANS and other natives of the Old South are going to find it difficult to sympathize with "starving" Europeans who turn up their noses at our good old Southern favorite —the sweet potato.

It seems they just don't like our yams, which by the way, are a close relative of the Morning Glory family.

Call them "Ipomoea batatas," as the scientists do, or any other fancy name, the fact remains the Europeans do not care for them.

This puzzling state of affairs came to light recently when the representatives of the United Nations Rehabilitation and Relief administration and other agencies held a caucus in Washington, D. C., to decide what to do with a $5,000,000 surplus sweet potato crop.

"The folks over there just won't eat the sweet potatoes, no matter how hungry they are," explained one of the relief representatives.

That brought an angry snort from Senator Overton (D., La.).

"I never heard of such a thing," Senator Overton declared, flushing indignantly. "The aristocracy of France settled in Louisiana and ate them. It occurs to me that the French and Italians over there can be taught to like them if they're hungry."

Representative Larcade of Louisiana agreed. He added that American soldiers, stationed all ove rthe world, had been forced to eat a lot of things they didn't like.

Two hours of discussion failed to solve the problem, but the officials are going to give it further study.

To many Americans an old English proverb will come to mind—"Beggars can't be choosers."

What About Tokyo Rose?

WHAT shall we do with "Tokyo Rose," whose siren-voiced propaganda broadcasts from Tokyo became a favorite of our fighting men in the Pacific, not because they believed her fantastic lies but because they found it pleasant, in their loneliness, to listen to a feminine voice?

Shall we try her for treason—the fate that appears to await Lord Haw Haw?

Twenty-nine-year-old Iva Toguri, who is described as Los Angeles-born and a former student at the University of California, is now under detention by American authorities, following her identification as "Tokyo Rose."

So far no charge has been placed against her. She is reported to have admitted that she was one of those broadcasting over the Tokyo radio, but denies that she was the broadcaster who taunted American troops with stories that their wives were unfaithful.

She also denied that she told the United States fighting men in the Pacific that they were "forgotten men," and that the supplies intended for them had been sunk by Japs.

After William Joyce, the Nazi radio commentator, dubbed "Lord Haw Haw" by the British, was arrested last May he, contended that he was a native of Brooklyn, N. Y., and not of Britain. However, a British court in London bound him over on June 28 on a charge of high treason against the crown.

Miss Toguri, if she is "Tokyo Rose," deserves the same kind of treatment. If she became a radio stooge for Japan, after receiving the benefits of an American education, she should pay the penalty awarded traitors.

Hildreth's house was dark. Thayer tried the door, shook the knob. She cried, "Aunt Hildreth —Aunt Hildreth. You've got to be here—you've got to." She was crying now, unaware of it. She pounded again. "Oh, Aunt Hildreth, open the door. Please . . ." She did not see a blind tipped in the house adjoining; she was too ill to notice or to care. One terrible realization was paramount—Hildreth's absence. Maybe—just maybe she had gone over to see Brock. . . By the time the woman next door had come downstairs to make inquiry, Thayer had got into her car and was driving toward home.

Once more she let herself in. The house was dark and quiet. It must be late, very late. She crept up the long stairs, holding to the bannister. She was sinking down on her bed before she realized that the telephone was downstairs. And she had to telephone —yes telephone.

But she couldn't move She could only lie there, frightened and despairing, trying to push away the knowledge that was closing in upon her relentlessly.

It must have been hours later when she called Mrs. Kittridge. She called several times before the words came out loudly enough.

She looked up with dull eyes when her mother-in-law finally stood in the room. "What is it, Thayer? You were dreaming; you called out.'

"I—I feel very ill. I wonder if—if you'd phone Dr. Lacey."

'Now, at this hour?"

"Yes—please."

"Let me get you something, Thayer. Brock went to bed with one of his headaches. The phone is right by his door. If I disturb him. . ."

"I'm sick. I . . ."

Thayer moved her head uneasily. Mrs Kittridge's face receded, then grew large again. Her words hardly registered. "Does Brock's rest mean nothing to you? I did not permit you to call the doctor the night I was ill. My son came first with me."

There seemed in Thayer no will left to fight. She shivered. "You rushed out coatless," Mrs Kittridge said, "now you have a chill. I'll get you another blanket." She brought it and spread it over Thayer. "Isn't that better?" Thayer law with closed eyes, unanswering, and Mrs. Kittridge went softly from the room.

But Thayer was not asleep. She was trying to gather her forces, trying to will herself to go to the telephone.

Then lethargy overcame her and she must have dozed. When she awakened it was with a start. She sat up, steadying her reeling head Everything suddenly came clear The telephone—she must get to the telephone. She'd be very quiet—disturb no one. . . She struggled up holding to the bed post. The telephone. . . .

Vaguely she was aware that day was breaking She reached the top of the stairway when she dropped.

Anger and panic struggled in Mrs. Kittridge's emotions when she came to investigate the sound. She bent over the girl. She must call Dr. Pelham now, of course. If Thayer had only acted sensibly this needn't have happened. Headstrong, foolish girl, what did she think this was going to accomplish?

Mrs Pelham answered. Her husband was out on call. She would try to reach him at once.

Mrs. Kittridge had not moved two feet from the telephone when it rang and she snatched it before it could ring again. Who could be calling? Hildreth's crisp voice vibrated in her ear before she could speak. "Corinne, is something the matter? Is Thayer all right? Mrs. Wilson says Thayer was here late last night; she seemed upset. We had gone to Jennie Lake's. Mrs. Wilson was so bothered that she called just now when her husband left for work, early as it is."

'Sh-h-h!" said Mrs. iKttridge unconsciously. "Not so loud, Hildreth, you'll wake Brock. Nothing is the matter, nothing at all. I'll phone you later." She hung up over Hildreth's expostulation.

She was not prepared for the doctor's so-speedy arrival. She went down the stair once more as she heard the car to open the door before he should ring.

It was Dr. Lacey. He said, "What's up?" in that brusque way she so disliked. "Dr. Pelham has an appendix on his hands, so I came. Is it? . . "

"It is my daughter-in-law, Doctor; she has fainted in the hallway upstairs. I—I can't move her or I shouldn't have called you. Please be as quiet as you can; my son sleeps so poorly and his rest is so essential to him."

Dr. Lacey strode ahead of her up the stairs. Then she heard the door of Brock's room open and his call "Mom, is anything wrong?"

"Everything is all right, dear." "The phone woke me. And didn't someone just drive in?"

She confessed a little breathlessly, "Thayer got herself upset, naturally. I asked the doctor to drop by and give her a sedative."

Suddenly she was aware of the sound of a rapidly driven car sliding its tires before the front door. Henry Pelham after all, no doubt.

She opened the door. Hildreth came in like a storm. "What in heaven's name is going on?" she demanded She had not bothered to put on make-up and her strong-featured face looked bleak as a dock and as implacable.

"Something is the matter with Thayer," she challenged. "What are you trying to do to that girl, Corinne? Crucify her?"

"You'll have u explain that, Aunt Hildreth," Brock said and came toward them steadying himself against the wall.

Looking At Life------By Erich Brandeis

THERE isn't anything quite so typically American as a small-town newspaper.

This is Monday afternoon, and I just got through reading the New York Sunday papers. They are wonderful, of course, with pounds and pounds of news and articles and charts and maps, but you sort of get groggy trying to digest all that impersonal, important and involved stuff.

BRANDEIS

And then, in the mail, came a copy of the Renova, (Pa.) Daily Record, sent to me by a friend who wanted me to see a little item about him.

I had never heard of Renovo, Pa., so I looked it up on the map. It's on the west bank of the Susquehanna river and the nearest city, Williamsport, is about a hundred miles away. Renova has a population of about 3800 and the Record has a circulation of 1300 copies. It is owned and run by a Mrs. John U. Shaffer.

Four pages—that's all, but all of it real America.

On the front page there are such items as "Mrs. Roscoe Welsh and children are spending the week at their cabin in Kettle Creek" and "A birthday party was held Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jose Martines for their granddaughter, Jane Maria Button, who was one year old."

Also on Page one you are informed that the Emerald Hose company carnival will be held this evening: that you must be sure umbrellas are dry before being put away, and also that you must wash the least soiled things first and "use same suds for really dirty items." The headline is "Stretch Soap."

World events have just a few lines, but news about the Renova "Buddies" occupy almost a column.

The classified column announces that a second cook is wanted at the New Americus hotel, and that Youmans Bros on Erie avenue repair watches and clocks but are open only in the evenings.

There is a whole column of Hollywood movie news and the advertisements tell you what to do if you itch, if you have arthritis and where to go for a first-class funeral.

The sporting news consists of one item: Engline House Soft Ball team wallops Ole Bull, 14-2.

Nobody was born, nobody died and nobody got married on this particular day in Renova, Pa.

PRETTY tame, isn't it, life in Renova?

And yet—isn't it life all over? You are born, you marry, you play a little, wash your clothes, get wet, have arthitis, and wind up at the undertaker's.

And what's in between, that's what we call life.

Renova makes the best of it. New York makes the best of it.

And I wonder whether Renova and the thousands of other places just like Renova don't make quite a bit the better of it than New York.

To judge by what I see in the undertaker's ad, you can buy a nice funeral at least $98 less in Renova than in New York.

Rubber Pot Is Boiling

What About Our New Synthetics?

WASHINGTON
• By Ray Tucker

UNCLE SAM will soon sit down with representatives of the war-built synthetic rubber industry to decide whether American tourists and workers shall ride on tires of the artificial product made in the United States or travel to pleasure resorts and places of business on fabrics imported from the Dutch East Indies and British Malaya.

This problem constitutes one of the major postwar headaches. It has domestic as well as international complications. Jesse H. Jones, as head of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, invested almost a billion dollars in these plants when the Japs severed our supply lanes to the Southwestern Pacific.

TUCKER

With a fair percentage of the real rubber, the synthetic product will be as good an article as we had before Pearl Harbor. So it seems sinful to scrap these factories, especially as many new uses for rubber have been developed during the conflict.

If settlement of the question were left to the industrial chemists in this field, and if they did not have to take into consideration such factors as national defense and insurance against a high-priced, Anglo-Dutch monoply of this vital material, they would favor the use of the natural rubber from the plantations down under.

Our diplomats, realizing that a war-worn Britain needs the income from this source, would also advocate a return to the prewar system of purchase. Indeed, it is understood that FDR gave former Prime Minister Churchill an off-the-record promise that he would liquidate the synthetic industry and buy from the British.

SYNTHETICS: Leaders of this new industry have shown a statesmanlike attitude in discussions with federal officials about the future of their federally financed rubber factories. They have indicated a preference for the natural product, but they have advanced the thought that at least 25 per cent of their plants, with a postwar capacity of 250,000 tons, should be kept in operation.

In their opinion, we need those producing units for stand-by purposes in times of peace and war. When the question of a war supply was first discussed at the White House on December 27, 1941, a few weeks after Pearl Harbor, Mr. Churchill assured President Roosevelt and Mr. Jones that the British navy would keep open our lines to the rubber-producing areas. Within a few weeks he was proved a false prophet.

Forward-looking manufacturers like William O'Neil, president of the General Tire & Rubber company, advocate a sound and sensible handling of this whole problem. They believe that the plants which make synthetic from petroleum should be preserved.

Rubber derived from this product costs only about 15 cents a pound — the figure may eventually drop to 11 or 12 — as against an average of 20 for the imported material. Rubber made from alcohol derivations costs at least 30 cents a pound.

* * *

PERCENTAGE: According to Mr. O'Neil and his associates in Akron, there is plenty of room for both the synthetic and the natural in postwar America. He believes that about 25 per cent of the field, possibly 35, should be allocated to the synthetic producers.

He estimates that from six to eight per cent of the artificial can be used in truck tires, and from 25 to 35 in tires for passenger cars.

With the increased use of rubber in the world of tomorrow — industrial chemists have hit upon many articles which have not been publicized or commercialized because of the wor's hunger for this product — it is believed that there will be sufficient demand to provide a market for at least one quarter of the existing factories in this country and as large an amount — 600,000 tons — as we ever imported in the peacetime period from the British and the Dutch.

* * *

COMPLICATIONS: Solution of this problem so vital to millions of car owners — their number will probably leap from the prewar total of 25 million to 40 million when the boys come home — will undoubtedly be complicated by high-pressure demands of the farm bloc on Capitol Hill. They will insist on retaining the plants which make rubber from alcohol, although the cost is double that of the petroleum process.

In recent talks with postwar planners Mr. O'Neil and his colleagues have raised this question quite frankly. Here is Mr. O'Neil's analysis of the rubber problem of the future:

"As Allied forces enter the East Indies, we are faced with a problem in the rubber industry. Shall we continue to use the synthetic rubber in tires or shall we return to natural rubber?

"We have reports that there is a vast amount of real rubber waiting on the docks of East Indies ports. At home we have developed a synthetic program which enables us to make a million tons of rubber a year, far more than was ever used in any peacetime year. Shall we junk this program, and again be unprotected in case of war, or shall we strike a compromise?

"Certainly, if the synthetic rubber is to survive without subsidy, we must eliminate plants using butadiene made from alcohol. The cost is prohibitive in competition with real rubber, and real rubber is still the best material for tire making.

"The cost of alcohol rubber is more than twice that of petroleum base rubber. I believe that we should keep on making petroleum rubber because it will provide insurance against the loss of our supply. It will also serve to stabilize the market, preventing recurrence of the price fluctuations of the past which saw rubber as low as three and a half cents a pound and as high as $1.20 within the period of a year."

TEXAS

AUSTIN.—If you want to get a lot of mail, take it from Gov. Coke R. Stevenson, just have some vacanices to fill or appointments to make to some of the state boards, bureaus and commissions.

Biggest deluge of letters and petitions of recent vintage came about membership on the newly-created Aeronautics commission. The governor waved his hand from two high stacks on his desk to a couple more on a window ledge.

"All about the aviation board," he said. "I've never seen so much interest in an appointment. But we don't have the help or the money for postage to answer all of them. I'd like to, for I appreciate interest the people are showing. And I hope they'll keep writing about what the executive office should do. That's a healthy sign."

But another thing which puzzles the governor is that people seek appointments though they're not qualified. Especially did he refer to lawyers who wanted to become a member of the Industrial Accident board.

The law sets out qualifications for which any number of persons — except lawyers — would be qualified. Yet the ones who are supposed to know the law simply don't take time to check its provisions.

The Abilene pilot who flew Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker's plane which crashed in the Pacific in 1942, passed up the chance of coming home, saying "I wouldn't miss the trip to Japan for anything.'"

Maj. William T Cherry, jr., heard over the radio on the Army hour recently, was at Okinawa when given his option of coming home.

Cherry, former student at Hardin-Simmons, was rescued with Rickenbacker November 12, 1942. He has flown the "Hump" 42 times and across the Pacific 32 times.

We have no high hopes that there will be a happy family of united nations, because there's so darned many in-laws among them.

After all, nature is the best physician. In recent months many patients have got well while waiting for hours to see the doctor, and none have died.

"State's Right" Question Bobs Up Again

Dole To Jobless Hotly Debated

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—It still seems hard for us to look upon ourselves as a nation, rather than an aggregation of "sovereign" states, even at this late date, despite all we have gone through in recent years.

Or so it would appear from the current controversy over President Truman's recommendations to Congress for supplemental federal financial assistance to states to bring the maximum of unemployment benefits during reconversion up to $25 a week for 26 weeks. Administration of the funds still would be left in the states. President Truman urged his additional help because of the low benefit rates which still prevail in some states.

Bills to carry out this proposal have been discussed in the House Ways and Means and Senate Finance committees. The old "State's Right" issue has bobbed up again. From some quarters it is obvious that it is for other reasons than principle.

Situation Is Ironic

Now another hitch has developed. The Senate Finance committee received a report from a Texas official that some 40 states have restrictions against additional payments to unemployed eligible for benefits beyond the state rate. The committee had queried the states to find out the status of such restrictions. The state could take the money, but it could not pay it out to increase its rate fixed by law. It might use it to lower its own contribution proportionately.

The reason for such restriction is clear—to prevent chiseling—but it creates an ironic situation now.

THE citizen is called on by his nation to fight, and he fights for the nation. The state has no say there.

But the citizen, as a worker, cannot receive compensation from that same nation, from the federal government, to help tide him over a period of unemployment which is a result of the necessary readjustment from the same war, that is, if the reported interpretation of state restrictions is correct. The state can step in there and become supreme, even though all the people affected are citizens of the United States as a nation.

This current federal-state fight is a resumption of battle in the tail end of the Hoover administration and the early part of the Roosevelt administration. Presumably it had been settled in various parallel directions.

Hoover Gave In

Herbert Hoover stoutly resisted federal appropriations for relief during the depression. He was raked over the coals in congress because he approved loans to feed cattle in drouth-striken areas, but not human beings. In an effort to sten. the depression, he created the Reconstruction Finance Corp. with the object of trying to bolster the tottering economic structure from the top by loans to banks, industries and business. The RFC is still with us.

Eventually President Hoover gave in to the extent of RFC loans to states—which were bankrupt—to the amount of $300,000,000 to feed people, compromising the issue to that extent. No state then raised any question about using the money directly. It was never paid back. Congress subsequently wiped out the debt.

Nor, if we ran into another depression, would the states be found standing on ceremony if their funds were inadequate.

THE Rosevelt administration resorted to direct federal relief to meet the problem. Likewise, Congress later passed many other statutes directly affecting citizens, including the Minimum Wage and Maximum Hour law.

In the early part of the Roosevelt administration, the Supreme court even nullified state minimum wage laws affecting women in its decision in the New York case, which provoked President Roosevelt's fight on the court. Subsequently, it upheld the federal statute. Congress passed that because only a handful of states had minimum wage laws, and some of these were inadequate. The court also upheld numerous other laws for the social and economic welfare of the citizens in areas formerly occupied only by the state.

We thought we had moved forward permanently.

Overseas Broadcasts In Japanese Stopped

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 10 (U.P.) —The Japan broadcasting corporation today announced suspension of all overseas broadcasts on the order of supreme allied commander Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Tokyo radio reported.

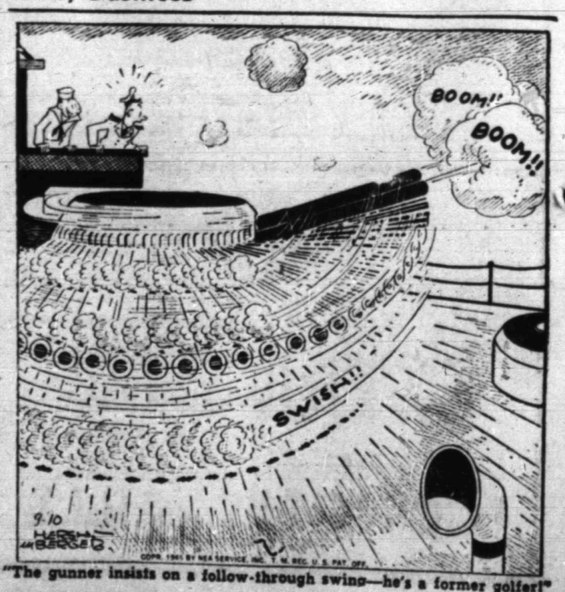

Overseas broadcasts in foreign languages were discontinued Sept. 4 but overseas broadcasts in Japanese were allowed to continue until today, Tokyo radio reported in a broadcast heard by United Press in San Francisco.

MacArthur's orders "do not affect domestic broadcasts in Japanese," Tokyo said.

The announcement apparetnly had no bearing on Domei news agency newscasts in Morse code, beamed to North America at two hour intervals during the day. The Domei agency's 4 a. m. Morsecast was closed by the conventional telegrapher's signals and made no reference to suspension of future newscasts.

According to the latest report, the Vatican is providing 200,000 meals daily in the area between Calabria and Florence. Using central cooking and its own small fleet of trailer-trucks, it is contributing greatly to the easing of the fuel and transport shortage.

Korean Hatred Of Japs Is Knotty Problem For Allied Occupation

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 10.—Americans landing at Jinsen, Korea, the other day walked into one of the knottiest problems of the peace.

As a nation, Koreans are emerging out of a nightmare of 35 lears of Japanese rule. They have been Japanese subjects since 1910 in name, Japanese slaves in reality.

WHITE

As a casual visitor in 1938 I got the impression they were reduced to a race of criminally-abused peons, completely beaten down and impoverished. But missionaries who know them well say they are a highly qintelligent people, smouldering with hatred for their rulers, and capable and industrious.

Kill Off Intellectuals

The big question—the one that will hold up Korean independence promised "in due course" by the Cairo declaration—is to what extent the Japanese have succeeded in killing off Korean intellectuals.

The Koreans are understandably sore about the American decision to retain the Japanese governor-general Gen. Nobuyuki Abe is instrument of American policy.

They call it a slap in the face. It isn't easy for them to take when nervous Japanese police fire into a crowd of Koreans welcoming the American occupation forces—and shoot to kill.

The factor back of this incident is panicky Japanese fear of Korean hatred, which the Nipponese richly deserve.

But while one can earlly say that anything the Japanese get by way of Korean vengeance will be small potatoes to what they have done to Koreans in the past, it is something else again to say that this hatred should be allowed to dominate the situation and confuse it more than it already is.

Factions Seek Control

There are several Korean political factions already seeking control. One already is recognized as a provisional government by the Chinese, but not by other Allied powers.

During the past 35 years the Japanese have smothered with typical police brutality every evidence of Korean political thought. They have restricted education for Koreans until some students of the question have expressed doubt that there are enough Koreans trained in government to take back their own countrp and run it.

On the other hand, American missionaries who lived in Korea many years express confidence the Koreans can row their own boat with competence if given the right start and an even chance.

Milk Sanitation Rating Here High

Lubbock's 1945 milk sanitation rating is high.

This was reported in a letter to Dr. J. W. Rollo, city health officer, from T. H. Johnson, director of the bureau of food and drugs, Texas State Board of Health, at Austin.

Following are various ratings, based on a survey conducted of the Lubbock milk supply by a state milk supervisor on Aug. 4-15:

Retail raw milk	90½%
Raw milk sold to plants	91½%
Pasteurization plants	79½%
Pasteurized milk	85 %
City enforcement methods	99 %

The precentage of milk pasteurized was computed at 95 per cent.

"This is a good showing and you and your force are to be congratulated, especially on the ratings of the retail raw and raw milk sold to the plants," Johnson wrote. "If ungraded milk had been permitted sold in Lubbock, the supply would not have rated as well."

Lubbock failed to qualify for the state milk sanitation honor roll, but Dr. Rollo explained the situation thus: "The reason we did not make the roll was due to the fact that dairies and pasteurization plans were unable to obtain certain parts for machines. The absence of these parts cut our percentage down."

The health officer pointed proudly to the "almost perfect" grade made by the enforcement division.

Legion Puts Safety Seals On Sale Here

Safety seals, designed to bring before the public the importance of safe habits, went on sale Monday under the auspices of the Allen Brothers Post, No. 148, of the American Legion. The drive will last 10 days.

The seals are for use on mail and pacages and are in 30 different designs. Proceeds will go to the legion for use in aiding returning veterans of World War II.

H. J. Kendrick, local commander, said the post was hoping for the "same fine spirit of cooperation always given by the citizens of Lubbock." He said the campaign would be incorporated, if it was wished, with the Junior Chamber of Commerce safety campaign in the city which is to open soon.

Kendrick said that full information could be obtained by calling him or Bert Starnes, sales chairman, or the Legion Hall.

Siamese Twins Are Claimed By Death

PHOENIX, Ariz., Sept. 10. (AP)—The bodies of Louise and Micaila Miranda, Arizona's Siamese twins who died late yesterday, will be preserved in the pathological museum at St. Monica's hospital here it was announced today.

The twins died 14 days after their birth in the mud-thatched cottage of their parents, Rita and Jesus Miranda, at nearby Coldwater. Death came simultaneously to both girls.

Itagaki To Surrender Jap Southern Armies

SINGAPORE, Sept. 10. (AP)—Lt. Gen. Seishiro Itagaki, the obdurate commander of Singapore and one of Japan's top ranking militarists, was nominated today to go through the humiliation of formally surrendering Nippon's southern armies to Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten here Wednesday.

Itagaki was accepted by the Allies for the task when it was found that Field Marshal Count Juichi Terauchi, supreme commander of the southern armies, was suffering from residual paralysis and will be unable to be present for the formalities.

Mountbatten sent his personal phy. ian to Saigon to determine for himself whether 66-year-old Terauchi was really sick or merely trying to dodge the responsibility of signing Japan's surrender.

12-Year-Old Houston Girl Electrocuted

HOSTON, Sept. 10. (U.P.)—Funeral services were being arranged today for a 12-year-old Almeda schoolgirl, the second Harris county child to meet death by electrocution within the past week, who died when she caught hold of a charged wire in the back yard of her home Sunday.

The other victim was Donald M. Wells, 11, who was electrocuted on his uncle's farm near Tyler last Friday.

The girl was Mary Katherine Cauthen, eldest daughter of nine children of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Cauthen of Almeda.

Mary had gone into the backyard and while returning to her house, caught hold of some barbed wire which had become charged when an electric wire had blown across it.
