Expansion Of Pact Talked

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 — Secretary of State Acheson indicated a United States desire today to include Norway, Denmark and Sweden in the North Atlantic security pact.

Acheson told a news conference that the whole question of admitting new powers to the pact, including the possibility of inviting Italy, is now under discussion.

He said that talks with Norway's foreign minister, Halvord Lange, had explored all aspects of this situation, including the U. S. attitude toward a Scandinavian alliance.

Russian Charges Denied

Later in the day, Acheson conferred with the ministers of Denmark and Sweden regarding their attitude toward the proposed pact. Both envoys had sought appointments with the secretary of state, but neither would comment at the conclusion of the conference.

Lange has been holding conferences with Acheson and high State department officials on possible Norwegian adherence to the pact. He flew to Washington after his country resisted Russian efforts to block Norwegian consideration of membership in the security arrangement.

Acheson took the opportunity to strongly deny Russian charges that the proposed alliance is a "pact of aggression." He stressed that it is being formed under the United Nations charter which encourages the formation of regional self-defense arrangements.

In Copenhagen, Foreign Minister Rasmussen disclosed that he is seeking information on the Atlantic pact, with a possible view to asking an invitation to join in the preliminary talks.

Sweden To Stay Neutral

In Sweden, Foreign Minister Oesten Unden disclosed that his country would follow its traditional policy of neutrality.

Acheson emphasized the extreme caution with which the pact is being drafted. He recalled that he had conferred twice with Sens. Connally (D-Tex) and Vandenberg (R-Mich), top foreign affairs lead-

STATOJET SETS NEW MARK—Shown above is the Air Force's new B-47 stratojet bomber as it comes to a halt at Andrews, Md., Air base after it completed a 2,289 mile flight across the nation from Moses Lake, Wash., in three hours and 46 minutes the fastest any plane ever crossed the U. S. The plane averaged 607 miles an hour. Streaming out behind the plane is an air-brake parachute released upon landing. Flying Wing Spans Nation

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.— The Air Force's eight-engine Flying Wing bomber streaked into Andrews Field today after averaging 511.2 miles an hour on a 2,258-mile nonstop flight from Muroc Air Base in California. The flight was made in four hours 25 minutes.

The wing, known as the Northrop YB-49, carried a crew of three air force men and three technicians from the manufacturing company. The pilots were Maj. Robert L. Gardenas of San Diego, Calif., and Capt. Wilbur W. Seller of Terre Haute, N. J.

Largest In World

The huge wing, shaped like a boomerang and completely lacking fuselage or tail, swept low across the field from south to north, then pulled up in a climbing turn and circled for a landing.

Each of its jet engines is capable of 4,000 pounds thrust, the bomber is the largest jet-powered plane in the world and has remained aloft as much as nine and one half hours. It is officially rated in the over 500 miles-an-hour class.

As expected, its speed was below the 607.2 miles an hour averaged by the Boeing six-jet B-47 bomber yesterday in another cross-continent flight. The smaller ship flew here in three hours, 46 minutes from Moses Lake, Wash., air base.

Both flights, and others to come, were made to place the planes on display for a Congressional inspection Tuesday, the International News Service said.

The 511 mile-an-hour average speed today of the B-49 Flying Wing, built by Northrop Aircraft Co., of Hawthorne, Calif., set a record for bombers of its size.

Stock, Grain Markets Rally

By FREEMAN FULBRIGHT
INS Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—Grain futures prices on the Chicago Board of Trade rallied strongly today after a sharp early break but hog prices on most major markets skidded again, dropping to the lowest levels since the end of OPA.

Stocks on the New York exchange closed stronger.

(The government in Washington took a hand in the grain futures situation. Agriculture Secretary Brannan ordered the Commodity Exchange corporation to make a complete investigation of all trading in wheat, corn, and soy beans during the price decline.

Accounts Ordered Reported

(Brannan also instructed government agents to extend their period of cash wheat buying in Chicago. Brannan reported to Congress he saw no "basic" reason for the current commodity market break.

(Exchange Administrator J. M. Mehl immediately ordered members of the Chicago Board of Trade to report each account on their books as of the close of business last Monday. The report will disclose names, addresses, and occupations of each trader and whether the account is speculative or hedging.

Meanwhile, economics and government officials voiced their confidence in the basic stability of farm commodities, the Associated Press reported.

The fact that the market seemed to level off gave rise to the belief that no sharp recession was in sight immediately.)

(In Congress, a representative and two senators had something to say about the market declines. Chairman Cooley (D-NY) of the House Agriculture committee directed a special subcommittee to investigate the break in farm commodity prices. The group will seek the cause of the slump and to determine whether speculation is responsible.

(Sen. George (D-Ga), chairman of the tax-writing Senate Finance committee said he would not approve of any tax increase before next January.

(George said the price slumps on the stock and commodity mar-

Solons Extend Labor Hearing

By LEON SHLOSS
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9. —The explosive Truman labor law hearings today were extended through Feb. 23 but a "gag" was imposed on Republicans who have been accused of filibustering to save the Taft-Hartley act.

The extension was agreed upon after a hot and lengthy secret session of the Senate Labor committee which had found itself unable to wind up the hearings Thursday night as scheduled.

Sen. Pepper (D-Fla) said the extension included a condition that all the extra time be divided equally between friendly and unfriendly witnesses, and between GOP and Democratic cross-examination.

To Quit Night Sessions

This in effect gags the Republican members who have conducted such lengthy cross-examination of witnesses that the committee assembled today with 30 witnesses remaining to be heard in two days.

The committee also agreed to dispense with night sessions after Thursday evening's meeting completes the original hearing schedule.

No hearings will be held Friday and Saturday to permit Republican members to attend GOP Lincoln day dinners scheduled across the country.

Committee Chairman Thomas said he believed the new schedule would "expedite the presentation of a bill to the Senate."

However, Sen. Morse (R-Ore) predicted it would take two to four weeks after hearings close to get a bill reported out of the committee.

Denham Praises Law

Morse has been the chief protagonist of extended cross-examination, contending that new labor legislation is of vital importance to the country.

The government's chief prosecutor under Taft-Hartley testified today that there is nothing in the statute to justify criticism of it as a "slave labor" law.

Youth, Uncle Blamed In Over 200 Crimes

(By The Associated Press)

VERNON, Feb. 9.—More than 200 burglaries and robberies in Texas and Oklahoma were blamed today on a 17-year-old youth held for murder and the youth's ex-convict uncle.

Sheriff Ed Luttrell, jr., said the youth, Robert Curtis Bagwill, admitted being involved in more crimes than he can remember.

The officer said Bagwill and Bagwill's uncle, Dan White, were involved in "more than 200" burglaries and holdups in the last eight months.

The youth is in jail here. He has confessed the slaying of Crockett C. Ross, 38, Stephenville filling station operator. Ross was slain Jan. 28 in a holdup of his station.

Ranger Jim Geer said the youth and his uncle have agreed to retrace for officers a path of crime through Texas and Oklahoma.

Officers will leave tomorrow with the pair on a trip that Geer said might take two weeks to make. They planned to visit scores of homes and business places in the two states where crimes have been committed.

Capt. M. T. Gonzaulas of the Texas Rangers said one murder, five armed robberies and 50 night burglaries have been cleared up so far.

White was charged as an accomplice in the Ross slaying.

Additional charges were filed today against Bagwill and White. White's wife and his brother, Bill White, also have been charged with receiving and concealing stolen goods.

Officers said more than $12,000 in loot has been recovered.

Busy Almost Every Night

All four were held in the Wilbarger county jail here.

Today's charges involved filling station robberies at Sapulpa, Okla., Weatherford and Vernon, and two house burglaries at Denton. Between $3,000 and $4,000 in articles were taken in the Denton burglaries. They occurred New Year's Eve.

Geer said Bagwill and Dan White "have pulled so many jobs they've forgotten the names of some of the towns. They have been busy almost every night since last summer."

The prisoners were to leave tomorrow for Oklahoma in custody of Rangers E. J. Banks and Everett Daniel, Vernon Police Chief Walter Suttle, Luttrell, and Electra Police Chief Ted Miller.

Sapulpa and Tulsa are among points to be visited. No definite

Gunman Wounds Four At Dallas

DALLAS, Feb. 9. (AP) —A berserk telephone worker sprayed a busy down-town Dallas intersection with bullets for 20 minutes today from his YMCA room. Four persons were injured, one critically.

Charles A. Gordon, 28, employe of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company, came meekly out of his sixth-floor room, hands raised, after police sent two bullets crashing through the locked door.

An engineering graduate of the University of California at Los Angeles, Gordon came here from Houston, May 30. His mother, Mrs. Fern Gordon, lives in Madera, Calif. He had worked for the telephone firm since 1940 except for wartime Navy service.

Postman Is Hurt

Critically hurt was Theodore Thornton, 44, a postman who came here from Benton Harbor, Mich., in 1944 because of his wife's ill health. Thornton was shot in the temple. Tonight he was in an iron lung and was given oxygen.

Police Capt. Will Fritz said Gordon had not bothered to raise the window. The glass and screen were riddled.

One bullet crashed through a window of the Salvation Army building across the street. The bullet grazed the right temple of Clyde Nicholson, Salvation Army employe inside.

Two cases of assault to murder were filed against Gordon late today in the district attorney's office.

Ammunition Found

Fritz said 625 rounds of long-range ammunition to fit Gordon's automatic .22 caliber pistol were found in the room. Twenty-one empty cartridges also were found.

Thornton was shot through the temple and was barely alive when he reached a hospital. Willie Henry Rainbolt, 16-year-old negro

HST Picks Jessup As Top U. S. Spokesman

Jessup, who would be given the rank of ambassador-at-large, has been this country's representative on the United Nations Security Council. He has also held the position of professor of international law at Columbia university. He is 52.

Mr. Truman is expected to send his nomination to the Senate within the next few days. Jessup resigned recently from his Security Council post to return to Columbia university.

House Votes To Revise Tariffs

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9. (AP)—The administration won a smashing victory today as the House voted 319 to 69 to repeal the 1948 Republican tariff act and to reinstate the original reciprocal trade law until June 12, 1951.

President Truman in requesting the action said the GOP act hobbled trade pact negotiations. He said its repeal is needed to promote commerce and aid world peace.

On final passage 238 Democrats were joined by 80 Republicans and the one American Labor party member. Opposing were 63 Republicans and six Democrats.

The legislation now goes to the Senate.

GOP Move Fails

Democrats beat back 241 to 151 a Republican attempt to save at least a part of the 1948 measure.

The showdown vote came after Rep. Doughton (D-NC) 85-year-old chairman of the Ways and Means committee, called upon the House to "unshackle" the trade program and prove to the world that "the

Mitchum, Lila Leeds Get 60-Day Sentences In Marijuana Case

By JAMES PADGITT
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 9.— Movie hero Robert Mitchum and starlet Lila Leeds were sentenced to jail for 60 days today for conspiring to possess marijuana and immediately began serving their terms in Los Angeles county jail.

Superior Judge Clement D. Nye, in meting out the two-month terms, also placed the pair on two years probation and suspended an original one-year sentence.

Judge Nye said that with time off for good behavior Mitchum and Miss Leeds might get out of jail in 50 days.

A second charge against them—possessing narcotics—was waived by the jurist.

Film magnate David O. Selznick, who guides Mitchum's contractual affairs, said tonight the actor "will take his medicine like a man." Selznick added "Mitchum is no criminal. He is merely paying [illegible] misstep which the American people realize."

Selznick said that "it is our belief that Mitchum will emerge from his experience a better man."

Drifting Snow Strands 6,000 Travelers

New Weather Crisis Hits Western Plains

(By The Associated Press)

RAGING ground blizzards threw up new mountainous drifts on the snow - smothered Western Plains Wednesday, piling up fresh blockades to rail and auto travel.

They posed a new crisis for snowbound livestock and ranchers and left some 6,000 travelers stranded on choked roads and rail lines.

Southern Wyoming, where wind velocity rose to 50 miles an hour at Sinclair, was put on the Army and Red Cross "critical" list. Of 43 passenger trains halted by drifts up to 18 feet deep, 26 were at Union Pacific stations in Wyoming.

Heat Wave Hits East

The new drifts halted hundreds of automobiles. Many ranch families have been isolated since early January.

In South Dakota, visibility was zero at Philip, 90 miles east of Rapid City, as a 48-mile-an-hour wind drove scudding snow into recently opened roads, blocking them again.

While storms battered the west- a February "heat wave" sent the mercury soaring to record heights in the nation's east and south, and a new cold wave hit snow-plagued Nebraska.

February 9 heat records were broken in New York, which had 59 degrees; Baltimore, Md., where it was 69; Washington, which had 63; Philadelphia, which had 63, and Mobile, Ala., which basked at 77.2. At Brownsville, Texas, the temperature reached 80.

Warmer weather also moved into California where all roads have been reopened after heavy

Mile-High 'Dream' Building Proposed To House 400,000

A. M. F. McSweeney, the forward - looking archtect, presented to Mayor Elmer Robinson a drawing of a mile-high building which could house 400,000 people.

McSweeney's dream-child would cover an area of 161 square blocks at the ground level and tower 440 stories into the sky for an even 5,280 feet.

Acheson Assails Hungarian Trial

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9. (INS)— Secretary of State Acheson denounced today the "wanton persecution" of Cardinal Mindszenty in Hungary and the House, with Acheson's endorsement, adopted a resolution calling for United Nations action.

Acheson said the U. S. may initiate the move to bring the Communist - dominated Hungarian court proceedings before the UN.

Reliable sources said the U. S. is in consultation with Britain and France on possible UN action.

May Seek Boycott

At Lake Success, it was reported that the U. S. is weighing the possibility of asking other nations to impose an economic and diplomatic boycott on Hungary.

In addition, a top U. S. source said the American government is also considering the possibility of taking the issue before the April meeting of the General Assembly to circumvent a certain Russian veto in the Security Council.

The House passed resolution, which now goes to the Senate, recommends that the United States should bring up the matter either in the United Nations "or by such other means as may be most appropriate."

The resolution asked for UN or other action without making spe-

Hearings On Radar Screen Set Today

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9. (AP) — The House Armed Services committee will start hearings tomorrow on legislation to authorize establishment of a radar picket screen around the continental United States.

The legislation has the backing of the armed services and has been cleared by the Budget bureau.

Its purpose is to set up a system of invasion warnings coordinated with existing off-shore radar equipment.

The legislation stipulates no over-all cost of the radar screen but committee members said tentative estimates are that it will cost more than $150,000,000, of which more than half would be for land acquisition.

Warmup Is Forecast For Plains Friday

South Plains experienced its first hint of a dust storm Wednesday in over a month as 28-mile-an-hour northwesterly winds whipped the area. The blow caused light dust movement along the ground, and stirred traffic loosened dirt in downtown Lubbock streets.

Predicted cooler weather was hardly noticeable as temperatures held in the "warmer" levels. A low of 27 was registered yesterday morning, but a bright sun lifted the mercury to 51 degrees during the afternoon.

Little change in temperatures is predicted today, the weather bureau station north of town said last night. Readings of 24 to 54 degrees are expected. Skies probably will be partly cloudy, and winds up to 20 miles an hour may be experienced, the forecaster said.

Warmer weather probably will return Friday, the station reported, with temperature readings ranging from 28 to 60 degrees foreseen.

Theft Of $868 In City Probed

City and county officers last night were still searching for two men, suspects in the early Wednesday afternoon theft of $868 from Plains Gas company, located on the west side of North College avenue and just north of the Brownfield-Seagraves branch of the Santa Fe railway.

Police received a call at 1:13 p. m. from O. S. Hogan of the gas company saying that two men had driven to the station in a maroon Pontiac coach, possibly a 1947 model, and that one was believed to have extracted money from a cash register when gas company officials were busy and not watching the register.

Suspect Described

That suspect was described only as "heavy" and wearing wine-colored trousers and a blue-striped shirt.

Dep. Sheriff Earl Horton, accompanied by a police official, made an investigation at the scene of the reported burglary.

Dr. A. A. Holmquest of 2013 Main informed police that the aerial of his car had been broken off and a hub cap stolen.

BB gun trouble mounted with a report of more glass having been broken.

This time it was the headlights from a car, police said. The complaining witness was J. C. Reynolds of 1200 block Fourteenth.

Fine Is Assessed

A fine of $50 and county court costs was assessed Wednesday against H. T. Brown on a plea of guilty of an old check law violation charge, which had been filed almost a year ago the county at-

Pressure Claimed Brought To Gain Entry To U. S. For Communist To Avoid Stalin's Questioning

By ROBERT STRIPLING
(Chief Investigator, House Un-American Activities Committee, 1938-1948; Edited by Bob Considine)

THE last two cases I investigated for the House Un-American Activities Committee before I was "shanghaied" into the Army (as one commentator put it) dealt with Mrs. Earl Browder and the CIO's Political Action Committee.

No. 8

It was highly diversified investigating work. Its chief fruit was my somewhat curious induction and unusual, let us say treatment in the Army.

Raissa Browder, a Communist from Russia, entered the United States illegally in 1933. She was eventually held deportable but, for reasons not quite clear to me, remained in this country. Then in 1944 whoever was advising her recommended that she go to Canada briefly and make formal application for a U. S. visa, so that she would be eligible for U. S. citizenship.

In time she appeared with her attorney, Carol Weiss King (later Gerhart Eisler's attorney), at our consulate in Montreal. The examining officer there ruled she was a Communist and therefore not eligible for a visa.

Shortly after that decision a U. S. vice consul appeared at Chairman Dies' office in Washington and stated that unusual pressure had been put on the consulate at Montreal to reconsider Mrs. Browder's case. He added that he had left the consulate in disgust when the State Department, reversing a traditional willingness to let consular officers on the scene decide on the fitness of visa applicants, issued direct orders to the Montreal consulate to issue Mrs. Browder a visa.

AT Dies' request, I asked the State department and was

Scandinavians Hold Out For U. S. Help Without Definite Alliances

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

Norway and Denmark are still triggering with the idea of a Scandinavian defense pact which would have access to American arms without committing themselves to joint action with the North Atlantic Alliance.

Denmark's foreign minister said so Wednesday and Dean Acheson referred to it in connection with Norway. Acheson's demeanor suggested that American reaction remained unchanged—that a Scandinavian pact is unrealistic. But the Danes and Norwegians hate to walk off from Sweden, who doesn't feel she can abandon her traditional neutrality now.

Norway Fears Position

Norway also is worried about her present position. She would like a guarantee that if she enters into the Atlantic pact negotiations she will be protected until it is in effect. She is under warning from Russia not to join.

This is reported to have been one of the questions Tuesday when Acheson conferred with the western European representatives who are working on the pact. His position was reported to be that United Nations provisions against aggression were sufficient to cover the interim.

Norway might not put too much reliance in that. The United Nations would be unable to act as a bady, leaving it up to individual members. America and Britain naturally would react immediately against any attack on Norway. But Norway wants to know what could be done for her before she is occupied, not afterward as in World War II.

To those who are convinced that Russia will precipitate no war now, this may seem to be carrying caution to the extreme. But small nations cannot forget Czechoslovakia.

As a matter of fact, developments in western Europe would seem to be carrying us farther and farther from war.

Demos Seek Decision On Committeeman

AUSTIN, Feb. 9. (AP) — A member of the state Democratic Executive committee today renewed a challenge against Wright Morrow of Houston, Texas' national committeeman.

Mrs. Marion Storm of Austin said that plans for a Jackson day dinner "again point up the need for a definite decision by the national Democratic Executive committee" on the seating of Byron Skelton of Temple as national committeeman from Texas.

She recalled that the state Democratic convention at Fort Worth last September "overwhelmingly renounced Morrow and accepted Skelton."

However, Mrs. Storm added, a resolution denouncing Morrow apparently did not reach national headquarters.

The national committeeman, she said, "has no more right to sponsor the Democratic party fund-raising dinners than any other citizen."

Earlier, Morrow had announced he was asked by Sen. J. Howard McGrath, chairman of the national Democratic Executive committee, to handle the dinners.

Records Show Drop In Number Of Employed Tech Students

Employment records at Texas Tech for male students during the fall semester of 1948-49 show a decline in the number of persons working from the spring term of 1948.

During the fall there were 4,678 men enrolled and 793 of them were employed in some capacity. That was 148 students less than the number working last spring.

Of the 793 working, 306 of them were from the Engineering division, 210 from the Arts and Science division, 161 from Business Administration and 116 from the Agriculture division.

Fighter Planes End Long Non-Stop Hop

FORT WORTH, Feb. 9 (AP) — Snapping into close formation to "buzz" Carswell Air Base, 43 double-fuselaged F-82 twin mustang fighter planes completed their 1,631 mile non-stop flight from Kingston, Jamaica at 3 p.m. today.

Six other planes of the 27th fighter wing based at Kearney, Neb., landed enroute at MacDill Air Base, Fla., to refuel.

Col. Cy Wilson, the wing commander, touched the runway first with his ship.

Wilson described the mission, designed to give the fighter pilots their longest over-water flight using celestial navagation for the first time as "entirely successful."

TEXAS LADY LOSES 47 POUNDS

The following remarkable story shows conclusively that Barcentrate DOES take off fat.

It contains nothing harmful. In fact, it contains ingredients that make you feel better. No starvation diet—no weakness—no hunger. Barcentrate, the original grapefruit juice recipe, takes off fat quickly, safely and you can eat plenty.

Here is proof

Here is what Mrs. H. P. Bishop, Route 2, Stamford, Texas, wrote us:

"I am very glad to endorse Barcentrate, so please accept my sincere thanks and appreciation for the great benefit I derived from its use. I not only lost weight, but also looked and felt better in every way.

"I had to have a very serious operation and was told that I must lose a lot of weight before the operation could be performed. I went on a diet and tried very hard to reduce, but wasn't losing much weight until I heard of Barcentrate. I began taking it and could soon tell the difference in the way I felt and the weight I was losing. I weighed 200 pounds when I started and I lost a total of 47 pounds and was able to undergo my operation. I can truthfully recommend it to others, since it did so much for me."

At all druggists

If you are overweight and want to take off ugly fat, just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonfuls twice a day. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, safe way to take off weight, return the empty bottle for your money back. Adv.

FIGHTING TALK DRAWS APPLAUSE

GOP Ponders Dewey's Advice To Become 'Social Progress' Party

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 — Republicans pondered the advice today of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey to become the party of "social progress."

Reluctantly draping himself in the robes of elder statesman, the New York governor told the country from a Lincoln day dinner forum last night that his Truman-defeated party is split wide open.

On one side, he said to the tune of 22 outbursts of applause, are those who want no "paternalism" in government—who would junk farm price supports, unemployment insurance, old age benefits, slum clearance and other programs.

Urges Middle Road

On the other, he said as he paused to survey a packed banquet room, are those Republicans who want to go beyond the New Deal "as rapidly as possible at almost any cost and regardless of consequences."

His proposal for a winning combination in 1950 and 1952:

Take the middle road; "stop bellyaching about the past;" quit trying to "out-promise the Democrats;" forget about "turning the clock back" and stand for "social progress . . . under a flourishing, competitive system of private enterprise where every human right is expanded." He suggested that those who are opposed to "liberal and progressive" policies should leave the GOP.

Dewey hit a note that some of his GOP listeners said they thought ought to have been sounded instead of the "unity" theme that ran through his unsuccessful campaign for the presidency last fall.

Dewey himself conceded something of the sort when he told a reporter:

"Graduated" From Politics

"I suppose they'll be saying that's the kind of speech I ought to have made in the campaign."

He told his responsive audience that he thought last year he had "a clear call to duty" but found out in November that it was "some other kind of noise."

Then he came as close to saying that he is through with politics as friends said any governor can do who wants to keep control of his legislature. He remarked:

"I have been graduated at a comparatively early age to the role of elder statesman, which someone has aptly defined as a politician who no longer is a candidate for any office."

Senator Brewster of Maine, who called Dewey's a "fighting speech," interpreted the remark this way:

Woman Raps Congress

"He has done everything but slam the door against another nomination."

Dewey said nothing uncomplimentary about the record of the GOP-controlled 80th Congress, which President Truman attacked as a "do-nothing" Congress.

But Senator Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, who preceded Dewey as a speaker, didn't let the Republicans off so easily. She told them bluntly:

"When a party ceases to be the party of the people, the people throw them out. That's what happened to the Democrats in 1946 (when the GOP won control of Congress) and the Republicans in 1948."

Dewey said that if the GOP tries to go back to the 1920's "you can bury the Republican party as the deadest pigeon in the United States."

Jury Hears Evidence In Beaumont Killing

BEAUMONT, Feb. 9. (U.P.) — A jam-packed courtroom heard more testimony today in the murder trial of Harold Ward, junk dealer accused of killing his 15-year-old wife with a variety of weapons, including a club, pliers and a paring knife.

Two state witnesses, both officers, told the jury and Prosecuting Attorney Jep S. Fuller what they saw when they investigated reports of a death at the Ward's trailer home last Dec. 7.

Mrs. Joyce Ward, the defendant's wife of one year, was lying on the floor of the blood-spattered trailer, Patrolman L. Y. Johnson said. Her body, severely beaten about the head and face, was nude and covered only with an Army blanket.

Johnson's testimony was corroborated by City Detective Willard Sinclair, also at the scene.

Outside the trailer, the officers stated, they found bloodstained underclothing and a dress, presumably belonging to the dead woman.

Johnson identified a black-handled paring knife as one that he saw in the trailer. Detectives believed it was the weapon that inflicted Mrs. Ward's fatal injury, a severed leg artery.

The woman's body was discovered after Ward 31, and husband of four previous wives, told a relative he was unable to rouse his wife. He later confessed he had hurled a knife at her during an argument, but said he believed she had only fainted when she slumped to the floor.

A bloody club was also in the trailer, Johnson said, and Ward admitted earlier he and his wife had argued outside a downtown tavern and he had struck her with a pair of pliers.

Kansas City Man Shoots Wife To Death In Hotel, Wounds Self

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 9. (U.P.) —A 67-year-old man shot his wife to death today, terrorized a north end hotel with gunfire and then wounded himself critically with a bullet fired into his head.

Police said Mrs. Myrtle Lillian Gillis, 53, was killed by bullets from a .45 automatic fired by her husband, Charles Gillis, at the Marketside hotel.

Gillis also fired at his step-son-in-law, Calvin Langsford, 24, and daughter-in-law, Mrs. Thelma Downs, 35, before barricading himself in his own room, where he apparently reloaded his weapon and shot himself.

Gillis, an employe of U. S. Cold Storage company, was rushed to General hospital, where his condition was described as critical.

Three Doolittle 'Raiders' Are Fog-Bound At Galveston

GALVESTON, Feb. 9 (U.P.) — A trio of the famous Doolittle raiders who pin-pointed Tokyo in its first air raid of the war, got fog bound last night and couldn't locate Galveston island.

The men, Col. E. B. Holstrom, Maj. Billy Fitzhugh and Capt. Bryan Thompson, were here to arrange for the annual reunion of Jimmy Doolittle's airmen, to be held in Galveston in April.

Out for a sight-seeing tour, they decided to take a boat up the Houston ship channel. A heavy fog rolled in and they missed a chamber of commerce banquet that was to have welcomed them to Galveston.

U. S. Draft Head Asks 'Strength At Home'

AUSTIN, Feb. 9. (U.P.)—Democracy's final hope hinges on the pride of Americans in their own state and community, because our "strength starts at home," Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national Selective Service director, told the Texas legislature today.

Warning that the United States must not repeat its action of the fall of 1945 when "we hysterically threw away the strength that we had," Gen. Hershey told legislators:

Cites Democracy's Hope

"The last hope of democracy will fade if we become such international citizens that we are no longer proud of our state and our community — strength starts at home."

The head of national Selective Service said, at a joint session in the House of Representatives chamber, that if Congress adopts the 70-group Air Force plan, there will be an immediate demand for 430,000 men.

He said that the draft would probably have to supply 50,000 men a month, about three times as many as during the past three or four months.

Gen. Hershey added that it is "high time Americans got over their inferiority complex. We are getting just bright enough to appreciate some of our shortcomings, but not smart enough to know that seven-eights of the rest of the world are worse off."

Contains ONLY Nature's minerals, the oldest, most reliable remedy for rheumatism, arthritis, kidney and stomach ailments — highly recommended by the medical profession.

FOR THOUSANDS of years ever since Hipocrates was the father of medicine, minerals and other natural medicines were a reliable remedy for most of our common ailments. GEO-MINERAL will enrich your blood, help to make you strong, full of pep, life and energy. If you suffer from nutritional anemia, nervousness, lack of vitality and energy see what GEO-MINERAL will do for you.

Amazing Results

MEDICAL records show 65% of men and women over 35 suffer from nutritional mineral-iron anemia. When you feel nervous, dull, tired, lazy, have dizzy spells, no ambition to work or play, a poor appetite, when your eyes lack that bright spark, and your mind brilliance, when headaches get the best of you, and you feel old before your time, and life seems not worth living, with worry wearing you down—it may be simply lack of minerals in your blood. GEO-MINERAL is then what you need.

RHEUMATISM, arthritis are dreadful diseases. Acid condition in the blood is often their cause. What could be the remedy? For thousands of years, minerals have been used to relieve the pain and suffering of these ills. People, on the advice of their doctors, go to mineral springs to find cure, or relief. The late President Roosevelt used to go to Warm Springs in Georgie. He was helped or would not have gone there twice a year.

Wonder Minerals

YEAR after year, people rush to mineral springs and spas, to drink and bathe in their miraculous water. We have all heard of the wondrous springs of Lourdes, France, and famous Thronion in ancient Greece where, according to legend, Hercules, the god of eternal strength and youth, drank its waters and bathed to be forever young.

GEO-MINERAL contains minerals you get at the world's best springs. Watch your elimination from your bowels a day or two after using it. The waste, black as the color of your shoes, will start to break away, and you will SEE it! Also examine your urine. You may see impurities — poisonous waste — coming out of your kidneys, relieving you. And then realize the priceless value of GEO-MINERAL.

Read What They Say!

"We not only sell Geo-Mineral"—says G. A. Littlefield, Manager of Smith's Drug Store, Gastonia, N. C.—"but as pharmacists, we know good medicine, and we believe there is none better than Geo-Mineral as a supplement for mineral deficiency. Doctors, hospitals, sanatoriums know the value of natural minerals. We are not surprised at the many users who came back to buy more and told us stories of amazing benefit. We recommend it to our friends, relatives, and beloved ones, and to every one wishing for better health."

NEEDS HEDGE

A reader who has recently moved to a new home is wondering if possibly someone who owns a wood bound lilac bush or who plans to cut poplar shoots would be willing to share them.

"We don't want to put ourselves in the position of begging for the shrubs," she said, "but it certainly would help to get a start from trimmings that might be thrown away otherwise."

In many neighborhoods, as our caller pointed out, women share plants and shrubs. In her new home, however, it is different because the land is new and there has been no landscaping. No one has anything in the way of greenery to share.

The caller's number is 8787, if garden club members can come to her aid.

MANNERS ON BUS

"A woman's charm could in the final analysis be judged by her behavior on a bus," according to one masculine observation.

This man wonders why women seem so charming almost everywhere else except on a crowded public vehicle.

The worst offender, according to the peevish male, is the women who punches her way through a waiting line of passengers with her elbow. Worse than the use of elbows to facilitate an entrance, is an elbow or a heavy package.

THE other annoying thing about many women passengers, according to the male, is that they never notify a fellow passenger of getting off until the bus stops at their destination. At that point many a woman leaps out of her seat like a released jack-in-the-box and all but annihilates other passengers in her frenzy to organize herself and her bundles for a hasty exit.

KEEPING AGE SECRET

ACCORDING to Alicia Hart, the 1920's may have been a fabulous era, but the woman who doesn't want to be considered middle-aged doesn't talk too much about those years.

You can find middle-aged women who dress as snappily as their daughters, who keep their figures trim and who won't pass up a cosmetic which helps to stave off any mark of age. Yet, these same women will unwittingly betray their age by identifying themselves with an era that is long past.

The woman who doesn't want to be typed as "getting along" in years will be more interested in what is going to happened in the '50's than what took place in the '20's.

YOUNG people are apt to be visibly bored by reminiscences. A woman's middle-aged friends who don't want to advertise their age are apt to be irritated by her habit of harking back to an era in which they also spent their youth.

Women are not the only offenders in going back to the dear, dead days. We've sat in on many a conversation started by men about dear old Central High or the first year in college. And what's sad about it is that sometimes one has to listen to the same story time and again.

Martinez Wins Decision In Opening Gloves Bout; Beedy Knocked Out By Adams

Three Lubbock Fighters To Appear On Slate Tonight

By JOE KELLY
Avalanche Sports Editor

WILL ROGERS COLISEUM, Fort Worth, Feb. 9.—Lubbock fighters gained an even break in their two bouts here tonight, Carlos Martinez of Roswell, N. M., winning his flyweight bout and Tom Adams, former Lubbock fighter and defending state champion from Abilene, knocking out Doug Beedy in the first round of their light-heavyweight bout.

Beedy walked into a series of rights and lefts to the jaw that jarred him, knocking him down for one count of eight and starting his mouth to bleeding. The knockout came from a solid right and left at 1:30 of the first round.

Martinez had little trouble in punching out a decision over Manuel Garcia of Corpus Christi in the opening fight of the thirteenth annual Golden Gloves tournament. He clearly outpointed Garcia, although the decision was not unanimous.

Three Lubbock fighters get in- to action here Thursday night, second night of the fights. Featherweight E. E. Sparks meets Edward Allen of Beaumont, lightweight Ismael Olvera of Levelland faces John Hernandez of Amarillo and Heavyweight Gene James squares off against Ben Weaver of Waco.

Martinez Decisions Garcia

Martinez got the tournament under way before a slim crowd by pounding out a decision over Manuel Garcia of Corpus Christi. It was a good opener, but with little action to thrill the crowd.

The Clovis boy, fighting under the Lubbock colors, took his time. He felt out his opponent for weakness in the first round, while back-tracking. He kept dancing and circling Garcia and throwing short lefts that didn't hurt, but scored points.

Garcia slipped while trying to throw a right and took an eight count, then took a solid right that stung.

Two knockdowns were chalked up in the second round by Martinez, who continued to fight a cool, smart fight. He stayed away from Garcia, but threw short left jabs and landed one hard right that dropped Garcia for another eight count.

In the third round, Martinez was pressed by Garcia, who realized that he was losing the fight, but Garcia didn't carry a punch and Martinez continued to connect with solid lefts and rights to the body. Martinez landed three to one in blows and held an edge in every round.

Adams Too Good

Beedy showed plenty of courage against the defending champion in the light-heavyweight division, but the Brownfield fighter carried too much dynamite. Beedy opened the punching with a good right to the jaw, which he slipped through Adams' guard. Then he followed with a left jab, aiming for the noticeable cut near Adams' eye.

Suddenly Adams exploded a terrific right to the face that brought blood to Beedy's mouth and forced the Lubbock fighter to clinch. Seconds later, after Beedy had jabbed a left to the face, Adams unlimbered his heavy artillery. He stung Beedy with a right hook, used his right again and followed with a left that dropped Beedy for an eight count.

Beedy, dazed and bleeding, got to his feet and tried to cover up, but Adams exploded another right and landed a left that spun Beedy off his feet, a right helping him to the canvas. The referee started a count, then called it off for a technical knockout at 1:30 of the first round.

The bouts, staged in the beautiful coliseum before a slim crowd of 3,348 paying patrons, produced far less than the usual number of knockouts on opening night. One kayo and one TKO came in the flyweight division and there was another kayo in the bantamweight bouts. But it wasn't until the welterweights that another knockout was scored.

Heavyweights and light-heavyweights produced most of the slugging tonight, with the crowd eating it up. One of the big surprises of the tourney came in the light-heavy division, when Alex Perez of Amarillo was knocked out at 1:21 of the first round. Perez weathered one storm and was starting to carry the fight when he ran into a short right jab to the button.

Perez pitched forward on his face and was counted out, John Willingham of Brownwood advancing. Amarillo fought three men and lost all three of them. Flyweight John Andrada lost on a decision, Perez was knocked out and Bill Thompson of Plainview went down under a TKO. It wasn't a good night for Amarillo.

Fight Results

FORT WORTH, Feb. 9. (AP)—Ruben Flores, El Paso flyweight scored the first knockout of the 1949 Texas Golden Gloves tournament here tonight by stopping the veteran Jack Turner of Abilene in the second round.

Flores laid Turner low with body punches after the two had gone through a dazzling first round on even terms.

Fred Morales of Allen academy, defending 112-pound king, made his first start a successful one by outpointing Felix Baker of Houston.

The tournament will end Monday night after five nights of boxing.

COLLEGE STATION, Feb. 9 (AP) — The Southern Methodist university Mustangs tonight won their fourth Southwest Conference basketball victory by nipping the Texas A. and M. college Aggies 49-35.

Westerners To Meet Brownfield Friday Night

District 1-AA's hot basketball championship race will reach a climax this weekend, when the last full game schedule will be unreeled by the loop teams. Two postponed district tilts are slated next week, but the important phase of the schedule will be completed Saturday night.

Pampa's potent Harvesters enter the final weekend of competition in the "driver's seat." The Pampans face only two more district foes — Amarillo Saturday night at Pampa and Plainview at Pampa Monday—and only the Golden Sandies are rated as a threat to the Harvesters' league-leading position. The Pampa cagers can clinch the title with victories in their last two encounters, but a single loss will give the runner-up Lubbock Westerners a tie for the crown.

If Amarillo beats both Pampa and Borger, while the Westerners protect their record against Plainview and Brownfield, the race will end in a three-way deadlock between Pampa, Amarillo and Lubbock. And that is the goal of both the Sandies and the Westerners.

The Westerners will close their regular season with home games this weekend. The Lubbock schoolboys play host to the Brownfield Cubs Friday night, then tangle with the Plainview Bulldogs Saturday night at the Chapman field gymnasium.

In the only other Friday night setto, Borger's dangerous Bulldogs travel to Amarillo.

Saturday night the spotlight will be on Pampa's gym, where the Harvesters clash with the Golden Sandies. Brownfield goes to Borger the same night to wind up the slate.

The District 1-AA standings:

Teams	W	L	Pct.
Pampa	7	1	.375
Lubbock	6	2	.750
Amarillo	5	2	.714
Borger	2	4	.333
Brownfield	1	6	.142
Plainview	1	7	.125

Denver City Drops Seminole, 56 to 42

Juandell Glass tallied 17 points for Denver City, to run his season record to 286 points in 18 games, while Gilmer topped Seminole with 23 points.

The Mustangs will meet the south half 5-A winner in playoff series later this month to determine the loop championship.

In the "B" encounter, Denver City took a 30-25 decision as Bill Fisher hit the loop for 11 points. Walker paced Seminole with five.

Denver City will close the regular district schedule here Friday night against the Wink cage teams. The juniors will tangle at 6 o'clock, then the "B" quints will meet at 7.

Demaret Is Pre-Tourney Favorite

Texas Open Starts In San Antonio Today

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 9. (AP)—Golf's big guns unlimbered on two courses here today in tune-up rounds for the $10,000 Texas Open and par was taking an early trimming.

A field of some 270, 185 of them professionals, will move out tomorrow in the opening 18-hole round with Jimmie Demaret, the Ojai, Calif., trubador, the hottest favorite to capture first money.

Demaret, second top money-winner of the year along the PGA tournament trail, is the general choice because of his current streak, because he has been runner-up twice here in the last two years and because of his familiarity with both of the courses being used for the Texas Open.

Jimmie, who is known almost as much for his singing as for his golf, was expected to get strongest competition from Johnny Palmer, of Badin, N. C., and Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., who captured first money last year with 264 for the 72 holes.

Part of the field, these including the big names, will shoot the first round tomorrow over the 6,379-yard Fort Sam Houston course where par is 35-36—71. The others will play over Brackenridge Park's 6-400-yard par 36-35—71. Friday they will change courses. The low 60 scorers and ties of the first two rounds will go into the final 36 holes to be played over the Brackenridge course.

The only big names missing from the golf brigade that moved into San Antonio were Ben Hogan, who is recovering from automobile accident injuries at El Paso, and Lloyd Mangrum, the year's leading money-winner, who is passing up the Texas Open for a rest.

TIL Baseball Clinic Will Open In June

AUSTIN, Feb. 9 (AP) — Dr. Rhea H. Williams, director of athletics of the Texas Interscholastic league, announced today that 736 schools have been listed for participation in the league's coming baseball program.

Last year at this time, Williams said, 660 schools had signed up for baseball.

It was announced at the same time that the state Conference AA baseball tournament will be held in Austin June 2, 3 and 4. Dallas will be host to the Big City tournament, scheduled for June 10 and 11.

Entries by conferences: Big City Conference, 19; Conference, AA, 84; Conference A, 220; and Conference B, 404.

CARTIER KAYOS LEE

NEW YORK, Feb. 9 (INS)—Walter Cartier, New York middleweight, tonight knocked out Don Lee, reputed iron man from Edison, Neb., in the eighth round of a scheduled 10-round bout.

Baseball Damage Suit Upheld By Court Of Appeals

NEW YORK, Feb. 9. (AP)—Danny Gardella, a wartime ball player who jumped to the Mexican league, today was given the green light to proceed with a $300,000 damage suit against organized baseball which he claims has deprived him of means of livelihood.

In a split decision, 2-1, the U. S. Court of Appeals ruled that increased use of radio and television has impressed upon baseball "an interstate character," bringing it within provisions of the anti-trust laws.

Charges Monopoly

Gardella's suit, brought against Commissioner A. B. Chandler, the New York Giants and the presidents of the two major leagues, charges that baseball is a monopoly because of the "reserve clause" which binds a player to one club.

Without the clause, a player could offer his services each year to the highest bidder. Chaos would result, officials of the game declare, if the reserve clause ever is successfully attacked.

Baseball alone wouldn't be affected since most other professional sports—football, basketball and hockey—operate under similar provisions.

Today's decision, written by senior Judge Learned Hand, reverses a ruling made last July 14 by Judge Henry Goddard in Federal District Court, when he dismissed Gardella's suit before trial. The reversal came as a shock to the leaders of the national game.

Not Engaged In Trade

Judge Goddard's ruling was based upon the opinion—frequently challenged in the past—that baseball is not engaged in trade or commerce under the Sherman Anti-Trust Act.

Judge Hand did not rule today on the reserve clause, but Judge Jerome N. Frank, who concurred with him in the decision, commented that the clause is "something resembling peonage of the baseball player."

Gardella, a short, heavy-muscled player who hit well for the Giants in 1945 but left something to be desired in his fielding, is under a five-year suspension which was slapped on him by commissioner Chandler after he jumped to the Mexican league in the spring of '46.

RICE BEATS TCU, 66-59

HOUSTON, Feb. 9 (AP) — Rice Institute remained in the Southwest Conference title race tonight by defeating the cellar dwelling but stubborn Texas Christian five, 66 to 59.

In his 22 seasons as head basketball coach at Michigan State College, Ben Van Alstyne has had only three losing teams.

Raiders To Seek Revenge In Game With Arizona Friday

The Texas Tech Red Raiders will play host to Arizona university's Wildcats at 8 o'clock Friday night in a Border Conference basketball tilt at Tech gym.

Beaten in the first start against Arizona, the Raiders will be out to avenge the humiliating 49-25 defeat suffered last week as a climax to a disastrous road trip. Tech fell to Flagstaff, 57-45, Arizona State of Tempe, 60-47, and Arizona.

Tech Needs Victory

The Raiders need a victory to stay in the race, and a win over the Wildcats would provide a tonic from the morale angle, as well as in the percentage column.

At present Tech has won seven of eleven games played in conference action. A loss to Arizona would put them that much farther behind the league leaders who have won the championship three consecutive years and seem well on the way to stretching the streak to four.

Arizona has won seven straight conference games to lead at this time by two full games over the Raiders.

The Tech encounter will be the second of a three-game Texas tour for the Wildcats, who meet West Texas Thursday night and Hardin Simmons Saturday. Arizona has beaten all three teams previously on home ground.

Blevins Paces Arizona

The Raider team will be paced by Don Grove at the center post, Whistle Banks and Gene Gibson at the forward positions, and either Ardis Barton, Wimpy Hill, or Jiggs Jackson at the two guard positions.

Arizona's fast breaking offense will be sparked by Leon Blevins, who currently leads the Wildcat scoring from his forward position. At the other forward will probably be Art Carroll. Junior Crum will handle the center post, and the guard positions will be filled by Bill Mann and Leo Johnson.

Two or more victories on this trip would put Arizona well out in front in the conference fight and virtually assure them of the championship.

Girls Cage Meet Slated Tonight

Lubbock county girls' basketball tournament will get underway at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the Roosevelt school gymnasium, with the Cooper girls tangling with the strong New Deal team in the meet opener.

Second tilt in the two-game card is scheduled to start at 8:45 o'clock, when Roosevelt clashes with the Shallowater representatives.

First and second place winners in the tournament will represent Lubbock county in the District 18-A meet, which will include the first and second winners from six South Plains counties—Hale, Lamb, Bailey, Cochran, Hockley and Lubbock.

Date and site of the District 18-A tourney will be decided at a meeting of the district officials and coaches here Monday night at the court house. Both Amherst and Lubbock have been mentioned as possible meet sites.

Trophies will be awarded to first, second and third place teams in the county tournament, it was announced, and admission fees of 20 and 35 cents will be charged.

Russell In Tennessee To Talk About Vanderbilt Coaching Job

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 9 (AP) —The parade of Texans to see the Vanderbilt committee seeking a successor to Coach Henry (Red) Sanders continues today.

H. N. (Rusty) Russell, backfield coach at Southern Methodist university, is on today's program. He arrived yesterday.

One of those who talked with the committee yesterday was Warren Woodson, coach at Hardin-Simmons university, Abilene, Texas.

Hickson Wins Main Mat Bout At Arena

The fans at Sled Allen's wrestling arena got their money's worth as two main events were fought Wednesday night.

In the second main event, Billy Hickson emerged the victor over Pat O'Dowdy in 13 minutes of the second fall when the referee stopped the fight after warning O'Dowdy repeatedly against using an illegal hold. The first fall was won by Hickson with a cat toe hold after 31 minutes of a hard-fought match.

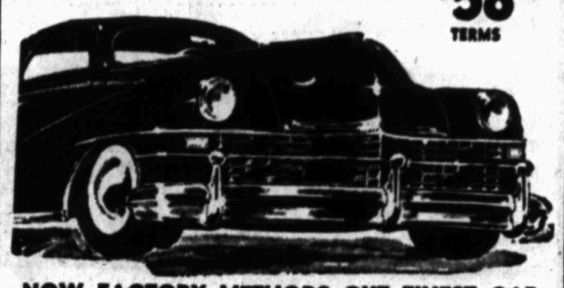

Experience was a factor in the first main event as Monte LaDue took two straight falls from Glen Detton in times of 17 and three minutes.

In the preliminary, George Overhauls, a former Amarillo footballer, fought Gorilla Poggi of Argentina to a draw in the one-fall, 20-minute time limit match.

Dick Weber was the referee.

$100,000 May Be Realized Through Clinics

Schneiter Says PGA Will Have Tourney Fund For Lean Years

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 9. (AP)—A tournament perpetuating fund for the lean years that may come in golf was announced today by George Schneiter, manager of the PGA tournament bureau.

In San Antonio for the $10,000 Texas Open with his touring golf troupe, Schneiter outlined a plan whereby the PGA could share possible losses with the tournament sponsors.

The fund already has $25,000 and it is Schneiter's idea to build it to a minimum of $100,000 through money realized from the golf clinics that now are a part of each tournament along the PGA nation-wide tour, and through other enterprises such as the Bing Crosby-Bob Hope golf exhibition and outdoor show.

At this time none of the tournament sponsors need financial help and more cities want to hold tournaments than the PGA can carry on its schedule, Schneiter says. But he realizes that there will come a time when it will be difficult to raise the $10,000 or $15,000 necessary to put on a tournament with the possibility of a loss. Then, the PGA would step in and help, sharing any loss that might accrue and also sharing any profit.

Schneiter expects to have $100,000 within three years.

The golf clinics cost the sponsors up to $1,500.

The PGA also now operates a bureau for booking exhibitions and gets 10 per cent of the money received by the professionals playing in them. Exhibitions range from $250 to $500 for each golfer. Then, Schneiter has in mind one tournament a year in which the pros will appear for expenses only, with the proceeds going into the tournament perpetuating fund. Last year the Hope-Crosby show brought in $11,000. The two movie stars paid their own expenses in presenting this one at Portland, Ore., where Bob Hudson also put on the Ryder Cup matches and helped sponsor the Hope-Crosby show. Hudson paid all the expenses.

Schneiter also is considering using some of this fund to help young golfers along. "If we have a young player who shows promise but who needs financial help to keep him on the tour so he may develop, we would either contribute to him or find him a sponsor," the PGA tournament bureau head said. "In that way we can insure the development of players to take the places of the stars who fade out."

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—The way the heavyweight situation is developing Lee Savold may be able to sit in his easy chair and have the title dumped on his lap. Through squatter's rights, you might say.

Naturally such an eventuality would hinge upon a decision by Joe Louis, who became unretired after retiring, to retire again without another title defense. That is far from a remote possibility.

The only other fighter who has been mentioned seriously as a contender is Ezzard Charles, who seems to be resolutely carrying out a campaign of self elimination.

Charles cleared a big hurdle in his campaign this week when he fought a large gent named Johnny Haynes. Haynes was knocked out. He's been browsing about the not add to his prestige in the victory. The fans just couldn't visualize him in the same ring with Louis.

Although Charles must be admired for his willingness to take chances with big guys and possibly get knocked clean out of the title picture, it must be admitted that Savold is playing the more cagey game.

On his record Savold just doesn't rate, but a combination of circumstances has elevated him to a position he couldn't attain in his prime, whenever that was.

One of the circumstances is that, with the exception of Charles, there is nobody else around who could be considered a contender. Maybe Jersey Joe Walcott, who probably still could give the champion the toughest fight, but the two Joes couldn't draw a deep breath at the gate in a third meeting. The odor of the last one still lingers around Yankee Stadium on muggy days.

Louis himself is eliminating guys who at one time or another were mentioned as contenders. He's been browsing about the country blowing over these gents in exhibitions.

SMU's Gil Johnson Will Have Bad Knee Operated On Today

DALLAS, Feb. 9 (AP) — The Southwest Conference's most famous knee—the trick knee of Gil Johnson, Southern Methodist's great passer—goes under the knife tomorrow.

Johnson will have an operation at Baylor hospital tomorrow morning to correct a situation whereby his knee would "lock" and incapacitate him until it was straightened out.

Gil expects to be in the hospital only a few days.

Johnson thinks the operation will make it possible for him to be a running back as well as a passer next fall.

Tribe's Dale Mitchell Is In Cleburne For Brother's Funeral

CLEBURNE, Feb. 9 (AP) — Dale Mitchell, baseball player with the Cleveland Indians, has arrived at Cleburne to attend the funeral for a man he identified as his brother, William Mitchell, 43, of McClave, Colo.

Mitchell was killed Monday when his automobile plunged through a bridge railing and tumbled into a creek bed. His body was found Monday night.

That torrid scoring race between the Lubbock Westerners' Charles Galey and the Pampa Harvesters' Derral Davis is getting warmer all the time. A few days ago it seemed certain that Galey would win top scoring honors in the loop, but Davis surged back into the race Tuesday night with 23 points against Plainview. That, according to our reports, gives Davis a season total of 265 with two regular schedule games remaining to be played. Galey has 275, with two games yet to be played. The Westerner star has been out of action this week as a result of illness, but it's safe to say that if he can walk Friday night he'll be out on the court shooting for that 300-point mark.

Coach Freddie Brown sent his Westerner track and field candidates through their first real workout Tuesday afternoon, taking advantage of a brief period of good weather, and we're glad to report that the Lubbock squad has plenty of hopefuls. There are few experienced boys bidding for cinder path honors this spring, but Coach Brown will have a large number of youngsters who should develop into good performers during the next couple of years. Since most of the Westerner point-getters of 1948 are gone, however, it will be a miracle if the Westerners win the regional track crown again this season. The boys are just too young and inexperienced.

Coach Brown has a couple of boys who may set some new local and regional records before the season is over. Charley Williams, one of the top 220-yard dash men in West Texas last season, is back for competition this spring. Charley developed very rapidly last year and, under the present plans of Coach Brown, will get every opportunity for improvement this season. Charley will probably be used only in the sprints this season in order to concentrate on his special ability in the shorter distances, although he was a very promising quarter-miler in 1948 and ran a lap on the mile relay.

"Rattlesnakes and Damascus-barreled shotguns," says Henry P. Davis, public relations official of Remington Arms, "are about on a par when it comes to endangering human lives. Each is safe in only one place—a glass case.

"Enough warnings, both terse and at great detail, against the use of modern loads in Damascus barrels have been printed in books, magazine articles and pamphlets to fill a library. Yet manufacturers of ammunition are continually receiving letters of inquiry concerning the safety of Damascus barrels.

"No one can blame a sportsman for hating to discard his favorite sporting arm, particularly when the gun is apparently still in good condition. Common sense, however, coupled with the disastrous experiences of hundreds of sportsmen who either did not know or did not believe the danger, positively dictates the discarding of these barrels."

Carl Snavely To Talk At Clinic

BEAUMONT, Feb. 9. (AP)—Carl Snavely, North Carolina's sly exponent of the single wing, will impart some of his knowledge at the annual clinic sponsored by the Texas High School Coaches Assn. Aug. 1-5.

Snavely, announced as one of the head football instructors, also will coach the north team in the annual All-Star schoolboy football game that will highlight the final day of the clinic.

Association President Joe Coleman of Odessa said the other head instructor, who will coach the Southern All-Stars, has not returned his contract.

Coleman said previously that he hoped to stage the first major outdoor basketball game in the south.

Committees already have been trying to obtain a portable basketball floor to install at the south park high school football stadium.

Use of a portable floor would permit the clinic to eliminate the heat of a crowded gymnasium in August and permit a paying crowd to witness the All-Star schoolboy game.

Pelvis Cast Placed On Injured Hogan

EL PASO, Feb. 9. (INS)—Dr. David Cameron, spokesman for physicians and surgeons attending Ben Hogan, said today that the champion golfer probably will have to remain in bed for two months.

Hogan was injured in an auto-bus collision near Van Horn, Tex., a week ago.

Dr. Cameron said the golfer is recovering rapidly and like a champion, due to his excellent physical condition, but it will be several weeks before he can get up.

A pelvis cast was placed on Hogan today, encasing him from the knees to mid-chest. It will not be removed for six weeks.

Hogan has recovered completely from the shock of his injuries, but now must await the healing of fractures.

Dr. Cameron said the full list of injuries includes a fractured left collar bone, three place fracture of the front pelvis bone, fracture of left inner ankle, and fractured sixth rib. In addition there is a bladder injury and painful back bruises.

The doctor said he believed Hogan will recover completely. Plans are for him to return to his home in Fort Worth in about two weeks.

The golf champion has not commented on any plans to play big-time golf again and Mrs. Hogan, who was with him when the accident occurred and has remained at his bedside, says he has not mentioned any future plans. She said she knew nothing about reports of her husband going to the British Open championship tournament as a spectator. She added that no invitation has reached them as yet.

TRIBE SELLS JUDNICH

Harry Watson of the Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League scored nine of his first 11 goals on his home ice.

Rice Cards Grid Clinic Feb. 24

HOUSTON, Feb. 9. (AP)—Rice Institute's second annual football coaching clinic will be held Feb. 24, 25, and 26, Coach Jess Neely announced today.

High points of the three-day school for high school coaches will include addresses and observations by Eddie Dyer, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, Dell Wilbur, new manager for the Houston Buffs, and Rice trainer Eddie Wojecki.

"All phases of football used at Rice will be considered at lectures and discussions in the morning sessions, and in actual practice on the playing field in the afternoon," Neely said.

On the final day, coaches will witness a regulation scrimmage game between the "Blue" and "Gray" teams of the Rice varsity.

The first Rice clinic last year attracted 125 coaches from South Texas. Letters inviting the mentors to this year's school are in the mails now, Neely said.

ARMED FINISHES THIRD

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 9 (AP) — Calumet Farm's Armed finished third in the six furlong, fifth race at Hialeah today in his first outing in nearly a year. The event, a $3,500 overnight sprint, was won by Marlet Stable's Column.

SMU And Georgia Tech Will Play Home-And-Home Series

DALLAS, Feb. 9. (AP)—Southern Methodist university, and Georgia Tech have reached a verbal agreement to play a home-and home football series starting in Dallas Oct. 4, 1952, coach Matty Bell said tonight.

Bell, head coach of the Mustangs, said he made the agreement in a telephone conversation with Bobby Dodd, Georgia Tech mentor.

The Boston Bruins were the first American team in the National Hockey League, joining in 1924.

Pressure Brought To Obtain Entry To U. S. For Communist Suspect

told that our informant was suffering from a nervous breakdown, and that he had been given an indefinite leave of absence. There the matter rested. About three years later, however, while working on the Gerhart Eisler case, I learned the following at the State department's passport division:

The division heads received repeated phone calls from the White House, and several notes from Mrs. Roosevelt's secretary, concerning Mrs. Browder. There was one note from the Attorney General informing the division that the President wanted a comprehensive memo on Mrs. Browder's case for Mrs. Roosevelt.

In October, 1944, A. A. Berle, Breckinridge Long, Green Hackworth and other department officials met with Secretary Hull. Mr. Hull informed them that "for the good of the country" a visa must be issued to Mrs. Browder. He added that the President, then running for a fourth term and making long-range plans to meet with Stalin again, did not wish to face the "embarrassment" of having Stalin bring up the question when they met.

PAC Also Studied

The information before the 1944 elections of the PAC, with the late Sidney Hillman as its head, had interested the Committee from its inception. With so many of its founders and supporters having records in our files, it seemed hardly the adequate political representative of rank-and-file CIO members.

I was ordered to investigate and began by subpenaing the New York Telephone company's slips on calls made and received by PAC headquarters.

The slips showed an astonishing number of calls to and from the White House. They were made by Hillman and many others, notably his executive secretary, Beanie Baldwin, who later worked for Henry Wallace in his Presidential campaign in 1948. The calls from the White House were largely from David Niles, various Presidential secretaries and Mrs. Roosevelt.

I made a report on this matter and was continuing my studies of the Communist aspect of the PAC when Dies requested me to release the early report at once, to any syndicate columnist I cared to choose.

I gave it to Westbrook Pegler. On the day after it appeared in his column, I was attacked on the House floor as an "employee of Pegler."

NOT long thereafter I was given notice by my Alexandria (Va.) draft boar dto go into the Army, though over 30, married and a pre-Pearl Harbor father. But, I felt I should point out, the Legislative Deferment Committee, headed by Senator Burnet R. Maybank (D., S.C.), had deferred me along with other members of the Un-American Activities Committee's investigation staff.

"Can't help that," the man said. "There's a lot of pressure on us to put you in the Army. You're being ordered in right from the top . . . direct orders from the State Director."

I took the physical, passed, and was placed in 1-A. I'm convinced I would have accepted the assignment just as any other draftee did if the Army itself had not rebelled against what two of its regular officers assigned to Selective Service called "a plain case of railroading."

counsel of the National Labor Relations board, said "I've been unable to find anyone who could put a finger on one section of the act and say that section injures labor."

Morse took issue, asserting that the law "shackles" labor.

The general counsel engaged in a long argument with Sen. Pepper (D-Fla) and Morse over the injunctive provisions of the law. He testified:

"Court orders to enjoin strikes affecting the national health and safety are limited to unions and their leaders. There is nothing in the act to compel individuals to work."

Wagner Act Claimed Outdated

Morse declared, however, that he believed in a national emergency a court would find "it has powers to enjoin the workers directly."

Morse said he objected to giving judges discretionary powers to order men down in the coal mines when a question of safety might be involved.

Denham replied that "you can't make anybody work under the injunctive provisions of the Taft-Hartley law" where it is unsafe.

The U. S. Chamber of Commerce presented testimony asserting that revival of the Wagner act—which the administration bill would accomplish, with "improvements" — would vest "unnecessary power" in unions.

The chamber's presentation said: "When you go back to the Wagner act, you go back to a statute which time has passed by. It it inadequate today."

New Members Attend Meeting Of Lubbock 20-30 Group

Two new members, T. L. Fanning and Roy Pace, were present at the weekly meeting of the Lubbock 20-30 club last night in Hotel Lubbock.

A routine business session was held, followed by a meeting of the board of directors of the club. Eighteen members were present.

Three guests also were present, including Charles Taylor, Paul Herron, and Leon McCarty.

The Appian Way, one of the oldest and most celebrated roads of history, was started in 312 B.C.

Movie Pair Jailed

didn't bat an eyelash when the jurist told him:

"I am treating you exactly as I would any other defendant in like circumstances. The judgment of this court is more than a punishment for you. It will be a deterrent on others who might be prone to follow your path."

"Laws are made to be observed . . . You have a great responsibility to thousands of young Americans who see you on the screen. Many young people govern their lives by your example."

Attorney Makes Plea

Jerry Giesler, the actor's attorney, made an eloquent plea before Judge Nye, asserting:

"Mitchum has shown a truthful, forward attitude. I admit he has made a mistake, but it was not due to a desire or habit in regard to marijuana.

"Rather, it was his associations in seeking what you might call local color."

He added that Mitchum has a fine wife, and although they were separated at the time of his arrest, they are now back together again.

The attorney declared that the publicity which Mitchum has received has already added to his punishment and asked that this be taken into consideration.

Miss Leeds, who a few minutes later swapped a fashionable pinstripe suit for a shapeless blue denim jail get-up, turned pale and began sobbing when she heard the judge sentence her to 60 days behind bars.

Brings Toothbrush, Razor

The pair was hustled out of the packed courtroom to be fingerprinted, photographed and issued jail clothing.

While an attendant pushed the actor's fingers around in the thick marking-ink in the booking room, Mitchum ruefully remarked to newsmen:

"This is the last time you'll see me in here!"

The actor said that he "expected the worst" today and that he had come prepared, and displayed his toothbrush and razor he had brought to court.

The debonaire leading man said that he hoped he would be sent to the county jail honor farm near Newhall, Cal.

"I want to be outdoors," he declared.

"Hoped For Best"

The actor refused to pose behind bars. He told the photographers:

"I'll do anything else, but not that. My children wouldn't like it."

The shapely blonde-haired starlet and pin-up girl sobbed continually while she was being fingerprinted and "mugged."

Miss Leeds said she hadn't even brought a toothbrush because she "hoped for the best."

The usually vivacious starlet choked back tears just before she was led away to the jail elevator and remarked:

"I hope they give me a cell with green bars."

Two other defendants in the case, realtor Robin Ford and dancer Vicki Evans, were to have their day in court later in the month.

Stay Is Refused

Lawyers from RKO film studios, where Mitchum was emoting in a forthcoming flicker, sounded out Judge Nye on the possibility of obtaining a stay of execution.

The studio wanted the jail term postponed for at least three weeks until Mitchum completed his portrayal of a federal agent in "The Big Steal," a cops and robbers "whodunit" laid in Mexico.

Judge Nye, however, promptly scotched the proposition and ordered the jail term to begin immediately.

The studio said that the picture was half finished but that the $750,000 production would not be shelved. The role will be waiting for Mitchum when he leaves jail and is ready for camera work again.

cific recommendations, it made no suggestions as to whether it should be submitted to the Security Council or General Assembly.

In addition to the Mindszenty case, the resolution also applied to the arrest and imprisonment of Archbishop Stepinac in Yugoslavia.

The life sentence imposed on the cardinal evoked from Acheson one of the sharpest denunciations of a foreign government ever delivered by an American official.

In a statement believed to have President Truman's approval, he solemnly warned the Hungarian government that it "must bear full responsibility for its action."

O. H. Lemons, 62, Of Anton Dies; Services Are Pending

Funeral services for O. H. Lemons, 62, prominent Anton farmer who died soon after suffering a heart attack in his home Wednesday morning, are pending arrival of a daughter from Germany, Rix Funeral home reported last night.

Funeral rites probably will be held in Anton Baptist church, it was said.

Mr. Lemons was pronounced dead on arrival at a hospital in Amherst.

Surviving are the widow; two daughters, Mrs. Low McKenzie, who is in Germany with her husband, an army lieutenant, and Mrs. N. L. Luck, of Friona; and a son, Carl Lemons, of Roundup.

PECOS BILL SIGNED

SANTA FE, N. M., Feb. 9 (AP)—Governor Thomas J. Mabry today signed a bill approving the Pecos river compact. Upon approval by the Texas legislature, the measure goes to Congress for final action. The pact ends a quarter century of dispute between Texas and New Mexico, dividing Pecos river waters between them on the basis of 1947 river conditions.

Court Upholds Civil Service For Cities

AUSTIN, Feb. 9 (AP) — The Supreme court today upheld the constitutionality of a law providing civil service commissions for city firemen and policemen.

The ruling came in a dispute between the Fort Worth firemen and the city of Fort Worth. The court held that Fort Worth firemen may appeal rulings of the civil service commission to the district courts.

The right of making such appeals to a district court had been held unconstitutional by a civil appeals court.

"No attack is made by the city upon the general power of the legislature to establish a civil service system, nor is the authority of the civil service commission to act in a proper case denied," the Supreme court opinion by Associate Justice Gordon Simpson read. "The only question is, can the commission's acts be subjected to judicial scrutiny?" The court ruled that they could.

The fireman and policeman civil service act was passed by the 50th legislature in 1947. It affects cities over 10,000 population.

Theft Investigated

torney's office said.

Two $50 fines and two $15 fines, all for disturbance, were assessed in corporation court Wednesday morning against four men, three of them whites.

They grew out of charges that three whites, offering to drive a woman home from her employment, took her over protest in a round-about way and that all insisted on remaining, one of them in her quarters and the others on the street outside, after she had reached home.

The other man, a negro, allegedly drew a knife on another negro who, it was complained, had sheltered the defendant during a period of unemployment.

Thefts Are Probed

Police said they had discovered what, informants told them, was a "mobile bawdy house."

When a 27-year-old Robstown Mexican's panel delivery truck figured in a traffic collision at Fourteenth and Ave. G patrolmen Cecil Dickey and Alvin E. Sherrell investigated and were told that a 19-year-old Mexican woman employed the enclosed compartment as a place to practice prostitution.

They arrested the woman and filed a charge of vagrancy against her.

She pleaded guilty and was fined $15. The driver of the panel car was charged with drunkenness.

Mrs. C. H. Mince of the Avinger addition informed the sheriff's department that a 25-gallon butane tank, a valve and a five-foot line had been stolen from her residence within the last two weeks.

Money Taken From Trunk

Mrs. F. M. Wilbanks of 2626 Ave. K told city police that $25 had been taken in a burglary of her residence. The money was removed from a trunk, she said.

A $10 blanket was reported stolen from the parked car of F. G. Hefner of Lubbock route 6, parked in 1100-block Main.

Elmo Dennis Baxter, 24, of Ropesville, charged Tuesday with burglary of the residence of Hugh W. Whitaker of 614 Seventh, was arrested early Wednesday evening by the sheriff's department. A pistol, allegedly taken in the burglary, was found in Baxter's possession, officers said.

Ernest Croy, 26, of Lubbock, was arrested last night by members of the sheriff's department on a warrant charging aggravated assault issued upon complaint of the man's wife.

Hil Sallis, 34, Lubbock Mexican, was arrested last night on a warrant charging him with threatening to take a life. The order was issued by Justice of Peace D. W. Robertson. The complaint was filed by the man's wife.

Gunman Hurts Four

delivery boy was shot through the leg as he crossed the intersection on his bicycle. Gordon picked off Rainbolt even as Gray Grimes, 17, shouted a warning to the delivery boy. The third person injured was Robert H. Linskie, whose leg was grazed by a bullet.

Pedestrians were terrorized and traffic was detoured for blocks around as the gunman poured bullets into the street. Crouching behind his sixth floor window he commanded an excellent view of the downtown post office corner.

Varies Targets

He varied his targets. He shot out two windows of the Salvation Army building; he pinged a bullet on a passing auto but missed the driver. One bullet passed through a woman's coat, without hitting her. Another bullet struck a briefcase carried by a man.

Tom Bullard, newspaper advertising man, was directly in front of Thornton on the post office corner when Thornton was struck.

"I heard the shots," said Bullard, "and I ducked around the corner, out of the line of fire. It was then I saw the postman, down on the street. I watched the whole thing. People ran for cover. One man jumped behind a mailbox."

Ralph Randle, who also lived on the sixth floor of the YMCA, heard shots coming from Gordon's room. He knocked on Gordon's door and three shots whanged through the door. All of them missed Randle.

Five policemen hurried through the hall and fired two shots through Gordon's door.

"Come out with your hands up," one of them shouted.

"I'll come out with my hands up," Gordon echoed.

He did.

Fritz said Gordon refused to answer any question about the shooting.

Gordon had lived at the YMCA since last May. Joe McCreek, YMCA resident manager, said he "had been acting strangely for two or three days."

'FAKE' DIVORCE MAY PROVE REAL FOR HAPPY COUPLE—To prove that Cleveland, Ohio's divorce court is so overburdened it grants divorces haphazardly, Cleveland Press reporter Leonard Hammer, left, posed as a lawyer and, without producing principals, witnesses or evidence, faked divorce papers for happily-married Mr. and Mrs. Richard Campbell, right. Campbell is a Cleveland Press editor. Now the stunt may back-fire. The divorce court judge refuses to vacate the "divorce." Several judges agree with the assistant county prosecutor who said "These people (the Campbells) are divorced, there's no question about that." The Campbells then sought a marriage license, but were refused until they produced a certified copy of their divorce decree. Later, Common Pleas Judge Samuel H. Silbert, fined three members of the paper after finding them guilty of contempt of court. Hammer and Louis Clifford, city editor, were fined $200 each, and Editor Louis B. Seltzer $500. (NEA Photo.)

Tariff Revision

United States has definitely and permanently turned away from economic and political isolationism."

The old reciprocal trade law, which will be restored if the Senate follows the House action, gives the President the power to cut American tariffs 50 per cent below January 1, 1945, levels in trade pacts with nations that agree to reduce their trade barriers.

The Republicans, when they were in power last year, revised this law: (A) to set up independent studies by the Tariff commission and (B) require the President to explain to Congress if he cut any import duty against the commission's advice that such a cut would damage an American industry.

HST Request Ignored

The GOP-controlled Congress then extended the trade law only one year, to June 30, 1949, against Mr. Truman's request for a three-year continuation, without amendments.

Democrats today defeated these Republican amendments:

1. To retain that part of the GOP tariff act requiring the Federal Tariff commission to set "peril points" below which tariffs could not be cut without hurting American industries.

To require that an "escape clause" be written into all trade agreements, permitting any pacts to be reopened for reconsideration of a specific duty that has been cut so low that an American industry is being injured.

The House also rejected by voice vote an amendment by Rep. Hand (R-NJ) that would have given Congress a veto power over any trade treaty.

It defeated 147 to 77 an amendment by Rep. Wayne L. Hays (D-Ohio) that would prohibit the operation of any trade agreement with any European country not cooperating in the European Recovery program. This was aimed particularly at abrogating the agreement with Czechoslovakia.

Wednesday's flight of the six-engine B-47 set an unofficial record in its three hours and 46 minute speed hop over the nation, breaking a mark of four hours and 13 minutes set in 1946 by a P-80 Shooting Star. Officials indicated the plane could have averaged possibly another 100 miles an hour under more favorable conditions.

CORPUS CHRISTI, Feb. 9 (AP) — The Coast Guard cutter Triton radioed today that it was continuing a search in the Gulf of Mexico for a missing vessel. The Navy believed the vessel to be a Latin-American banana boat. The distress call Sunday said the ship had a hole in the hull.

'Lincoln Letters' Fail To Penetrate Mystery And Myth Surrounding 'Emancipator's' Life

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Mystery and myth still spur a search for more information about Abraham Lincoln, who was born 140 years ago next Saturday in a backwoods Kentucky cabin.

Although more than 4,000 books have been written about Lincoln, three things have created confusion as well as sharpened interest in the Lincoln story:

1. The long-time secrecy imposed by Robert Todd Lincoln on his collection of his father's White House papers.

2. Assertions by some writers prior to the opening of the papers that they contained evidence of conspiracy by high government officials in the assassination of President Lincoln.

3. The apparent misunderstanding of Robert Lincoln's handling of the collection even by his intimate friend, the late Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler.

Dramatic Opening Adds Interest

Interest was further quickened by the dramatic opening of the papers in the Library of Congress July 26, 1947. At one minute past midnight, librarian Luther Evans opened five safes containing the collection of 18,000 documents before a group of eager historians and scholars.

So far none of the Lincoln scholars who have been studying the papers have reported finding any new sensation or major items of history-changing evidence. The quest, however, goes on.

Lincoln biographer Carl Sandburg says that sensation-seekers incessantly have asked "what's the lowdown on his ancestry and on the murder conspiracy in his cabinet?"

David C. Mearns, director of the library's reference department, says "myth and misunderstanding have clustered around the documents ever since President Lincoln's secretaries, John G. Nicolay and John Hay, started collecting them at the White House a few days after his assassination."

Lincoln Book Published

Mearns is author of the recent book "The Lincoln Papers" (Doubleday and Co.)

Since the opening of the papers at least one writer has intimated that Robert Lincoln suppressed ancestral records showing Abraham Lincoln's mother to have been illegitimate.

Mearns says in his book that it is not likely that a man like President Lincoln would keep records "of a grandmother's philanderings."

Mearns also scoffs at suggestions that the papers ever contained evidence that members of the President's cabinet conspired in his assassination.

"It is nonsense," he says, "to suppose that a man of Robert Lincoln's character and family devotion would ever have protected accomplices, or the most remote accessories, to the assassination."

Butler's Connection Told

Nicholas Murray Butler's connection with the Lincoln papers received considerable publicity in the 1930s. In a letter to Emanuel Hertz, author of "The Hidden Lincoln" Butler told how in 1923 he had persuaded Robert Lincoln not to burn a collection of his father's papers.

Mearns says in his book that the Lincoln papers were deposited in the Library of Congress by Robert Lincoln in May 1919 and that he never added any papers to the collection after that date. It was in 1923 that Lincoln executed a deed of gift to the library.

The deed provided that the papers be kept locked up "until the expiration of 21 years from the date of my death . . . because said papers contain many references of a private nature to the immediate ancestors of persons now living . . ."

Letters Collected

Mearns says it seems certain that Robert Lincoln did destroy some Lincoln letters at some time. His family has told how his granddaughter, Mary Lincoln Beckwith, once watched him as he threw some on the grate, but whether they were official or private was not disclosed.

Mearns says that at one time Lincoln retained a bookstore proprietor to collect for him letters written by his mother so he could "erase the pathetic testaments of her madness."

Mearns declares that Mrs. Abraham Lincoln flatly refused to permit her letters from her husband "to go out of her hands" because they were of "too private a nature."

One letter from President Lincoln to his wife is still in the collection. It was the one in which the President wrote about his son Tad's "nanny goat."

Family Letter Found

Family correspondence, Mearns points out, did not belong with White House papers. He believes it reasonable that the one family letter was left in the collection by accident.

Mearns doubts that Robert Lincoln made any "purge" of the collection as some persons have charged. He says it is unlikely he would have imposed the 21-year secrecy ban if he already had "purged" it.

"The outstanding contribution of the Lincoln papers comes from the materials which were addressed to him," says Mearns. "Hitherto seen only by John G. Nicolay and John Hay, and only very sparingly reproduced by them (in their 10-volume viography), these are the papers which give background and substance to his own (Lincoln's) writings.

"From them," Mearns adds, "it is possible for the first time fully to understand the meaning of his responses."

A total of 1,911,475 microfilm copies of items in the collection have been ordered from the Library of Congress. School children, housewives and business men as well as historians and political scientists have inquired about the collection. A set of 7,200 prints was sent to Oxford university in England.

itinerary had been released tonight.

Returning to Texas later this week they will be taken as far south as Texas City. They will point out to officers their crime scenes and try to help recover loot.

Bagwill told officers he was born in Holdenville, Okla. His parents were divorced when he was eight. His mother died seven years ago and his father is now believed to be in Tulsa.

He began living with his Uncle Dan two years ago. The youth said he belonged to the Boy Scouts at one time and, until last summer, had committed no crime except for theft of a watch in Tulsa.

White, 47, was born near Millsap, and quit school in the fourth grade. He admitted serving three Texas penitentiary terms for forgery from Denton, Granbury and Anson.

MAY QUESTION MEN

Lubbock officers last night indicated they would question the two men being held by Vernon officials in an effort to determine if the two had been involved in any of numerous holdups and burglaries in this vicinity recently. Two Lubbock police detectives who planned to go to Vernon early today postponed their trip when it was learned the two Vernon suspects will be taken to Oklahoma. Lubbock officers likely will question the men later, it was said.

Kansas State Rallies To Drop Kansas Jayhawkers, 53 To 48

LAWRENCE, Kan., Feb. 9 (INS)—Kansas State floundered in the first half but pulled itself together for a 53 to 48 victory over the Kansas Jayhawkers tonight in a Big Seven Conference basketball game.

A standing-room only crowd of 4,500 saw the rejuvenated Wildcats overcome a 23 to 26 halftime deficit after five minutes of the second half.

Forward Rick Harmon, who led the Wildcats with 13 points, pushed in a one-hander from the side to give Kansas State a 32 to 30 lead it never relinquished.

6,000 Stranded

mountain snows.

A cold wave drove into northern Nebraska on winds up to 50 miles an hour and the Weather bureau forecast 10 below zero Thursday morning in the northwest part of the state.

At Douglas, Wyo., Don Thompson, chairman of the Red Cross chapter, said conditions in his area are worse than at any time since Jan. 1. Cots, blankets and Army "C" rations were loaded on planes for shipment to some 2,000 passengers of stalled trains. At Green River, Wyo., a Red Cross worker reported that two of five babies removed from stranded trains had pneumonia.

Five Trains Move

Five trains were backed out of Green River toward Ogden, Utah, Wednesday. Three were mail and express trains, and two were passenger streamliners. Ten passenger trains remained there. There were seven at Cheyenne, four at Laramie, three at Rawlins and one each at Hanna and Rock Springs. The other trains were held up in Idaho, Utah and Nebraska.

Planes flew milk and bread to Rock River, Wyo., for passengers of one train.

In western South Dakota, where blizzard conditions temporarily defeated efforts to unplug highways east, south and north of the Black Hills, a new livestock crisis was developing.

Kirk Mears, Pennington county agent, said the situation of cattle in western South Dakota continues to grow more serious. Many ranches dug out of drifts earlier were snowbound again and stock were hungry after consuming limited hay deliveries.

Food, Fuel Supplied

The Red Cross Tuesday supplied 4,850 pounds of food, three tons of coal and 1,200 gallons of fuel oil to meet emergencies in the drift area. Airmen dropped 31½ tons of hay for herds, most of it around Lusk, Wyo., and the southwest corner of Nebraska.

The Fifth Army shifted emphasis in its operation snowbound to Wyoming, diverting bulldozers from Nebraska and South Dakota. Hard hit by new drifting were Rawlins, Hanna, Douglas and Gillette, Wyo.

The future weather picture was clouded by a sudden southward surge of a new storm which formed in the gulf of Alaska and drove toward Washington and Oregon. Forecasters said the disturbance would bring winds of 30 to 45 miles an hour to the coast and unload new snow on the Cascade mountains where Washington's two east-west highway passes were still closed by extensive slides. The weather experts said it was too early to predict what effect the new storm will have on the snow-groggy plains.

Rains Thaw Snow

The new storm was expected to bring rain to the lowlands of Washington, Oregon and northern California. Rains in this area Wednesday continued to thaw earlier snows. The inland mountain areas remained snow-blocked.

The forest service reported 34 skiers marooned at Tollgate Ski lodge near Pendleton since Sunday. They were reported well supplied with food. Fuel shortages developed throughout Oregon, but the situation is not critical.

Most of the nation had clear skies Wednesday. There were some cloudy and rainy areas in the southeast where unseasonable warmth made conditions muggy. It was springlike in the Ohio valley where mild weather has prevailed for two days and temperatures were generally around 20 degrees above normal.

Municipal Group Plans Creation Of Colorado River Water District

BIG SPRING, Feb. 9 (AP)—First steps toward creation of a water district were taken today by the executive committee of the Colorado River Municipal Water association.

The committee met here. It laid plans for Colorado City, Big Spring, Midland, and Odessa to seek enabling legislation. Such legislation would open the way for member cities to join the district.

The district would be empowered to create reservoirs, rent existing production facilities of member cities, or purchase water from any other source.

Government Sets Probe Of Market

kets, which cut billions of dollars from values of investments and goods, have aroused his apprehension.

(Sen. Thomas (D-Okla) suggested that the Agriculture department consider going into grain futures to counter activities of "speculators." Thomas, Agriculture committee chairman, asked whether it would be feasible to suspend commodity markets in an attempt to fight the price downturn. He added, however, that he thought the process would be "too slow."

Wheat Bounces Back

Today's range in futures prices on the Chicago Board of Trade was the greatest since last February's price decline.

Wheat dropped 9¾ cents, within ¼ cent of the limit, in early trading, then bounced back to finish nearly 5 cents a bushel above yesterday's close. Soy beans plummeted the allowable 10-cent daily limit before zooming almost 5 cents above yesterday's finish.

Corn Slumps Again

Before the late rally, all wheat prices were below the $2 level for the first time in two years.

Cash corn in Chicago bucked the futures trend and broke for the fourth straight day. No. 2 yellow corn closed 4 cents a bushel lower at $1.17. It was the lowest price in about four years.

The Kansas City grain futures market stabilized in late trading after a mid-session selling wave drove wheat futures down as much as nine cents. Soy beans broke the allowable 10-cent limit in early trading.

Trading Is Slow

Hogs dropped to $20 a hundredweight in Chicago. Declines of 25 cents to 50 cents were common for hogs at terminal markets. The trend was steady to $1 lower. The prices at most major markets were the lowest since OPA price ceilings ended in October, 1946.

The average cost for hogs was $19, the lowest since Sept. 1946. Cattle values were mostly steady to strong. Lambs were strong to 25 cents higher.

On the stock market the volume of shares totaled less than a million. Oils were in front. Motors moved small fractions higher. Bonds and curb shares were steady.

Whether yesterday's rebound from Tuesday's break represented a major change in the tug of war between inflation and deflation remained an unanswered question. Some contend the long term trend is down—away from inflation. Others believe the downward turn may now be flattening out at a level below the inflation peak, the Associated Press said.

In the cash wholesale markets prices on average remained virtually unchanged. The Associated Press index of 35 commodities closed at 165.30 per cent of the 1926 average against 165.35 yesterday. The average was pulled down by declines in corn, hogs, coffee, cocoa and burlap.

In contrast to the violent fluctuations in the grains futures market during the day before the final higher prices were set, New York stocks maintained a steadily upward movement and closed slightly higher. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 20 cents to $63.10. Stocks were unchanged on average yesterday when commodity futures fell sharply.

Defense Pact

ers in Congress.

This was necessary, he said, in order to go forward evenly with all those concerned with the pact.

It was reported that Lange has been assured of rapid substantial aid from the United States if Norway were attacked after joining the pact.

Defense Materials Furnished

This was reported following lengthy conferences between Lange, Oscar Sorp, leader of Norway's majority labor party, Ambassador Wilhelm Munthe De Morgenstierne and top European experts of the State department.

Department officials were said to have told Lange that the United States will be able to supply a moderate amount of defense materials in the near future and give quick substantial aid were Norway attacked.

Lange reportedly was told also that the pact will not call on Norway to supply bases to other members of the alliance immediately but only in event his homeland is struck by another power.

The question of bases has been the one raised by the Russians, who oppose the alliance and have been pressing Norway to sign a non-aggression pact with the Soviet.

Measles Epidemic Reported Spreading Over New Mexico

SANTA FE, N. M., Feb. 9 (INS) — A measle epidemic blanketing south central and south eastern counties of New Mexico has added 150 new casualties during the week ending Feb. 5, a health department bulletin released today stated.

Dr. James R. Scott, director of the State Health department, warned earlier that he expected the epidemic to spread statewide very soon.

However, most of the new cases which bring this year's total to 818, are located in the counties originally stricken. Dona Ana has 48 new cases followed by Luna with 38 and Chaves with 31.

When he found his wife smoking, James P. Marx, of Woodbrook Camp, South Africa, hit her with his fist and with a toy rifle, then threw a broom which hit her on the head—and paid a $30 fine for his outbreak.

E. L. Stewart, flagman, and D. R. Patterson, another railroad man, were witnesses to the collision, Lynn Campbell and H. B. Hayes, police patrolmen who investigated, said.

Pet Squirrel Opens Season On People In Beaumont Chase

BEAUMONT, Feb. 9 (AP)—A pet squirrel opened the season on humans here this morning and bagged three in a residential area during a two-hour chase.

The squirrel first attacked Mrs. Lunamae Blackburn, who was bitten three times on the back. Jasper Spell, who came to her rescue and beat the squirrel off with a purse belonging to Mrs. Blackburn, was bitten twice on the leg and once on the hand.

Undaunted, the squirrel entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Pierce. Pierce was bitten five times on the hand and once on the ear as Mrs. Pierce battled the squirrel with a broom. Pierce completed the rout by firing three times at the intruder with a 32-caliber pistol, but missed.

Jack Nolan, city poundmaster, who captured the squirrel, said the animal will be tested for rabies.

Chicago Patient Dies After Being Revived Once By Heart Massage

CHICAGO, Feb. 9 (INS) — Death put in a second and final claim today on Mrs. Maggie Allen, 38, whose heart was dramatically massaged back into beating yesterday.

Mrs. Allen's heart stopped beating during a thyroid operation being performed by Dr. Roscoe Giles at Provident hospital in Chicago.

Dr. Giles swiftly cut an incision through the chest wall, reached Mrs. Allen's heart and massaged it for eight minutes until it began beating again. Dr. Giles asserted:

"Mrs. Allen was dead for three minutes but I massaged her heart for eight minutes all together to make sure it was beating. The total heart operation required about 11 minutes."

The surgeon said it was the first time he had attempted the rare heart-massaging operation, adding:

"I read about it when Dr. Max Thorek revived a woman under similar circumstances. Since then I've been studying the operation."

Chicago Court Directs Acquittal For Youth Accused In Slaying

CHICAGO, Feb. 9. (INS)—Rafael "Rocky" Villasenor, 15-year-old Chicago boy charged with the murder of a playmate, was found not guilty today by a directed verdict in Criminal court.

Immediately afterward he was taken to the juvenile home to await disposition of a delinquency charge against him. Under the charge he could be sent to the state school for boys at St. Charles until he is 21 years old.

Judge Alan A. Ashcraft directed the jury to acquit young Villasenor of the slaying of William Gervais, 13, in Chicago's Fuller park last November.

Previously, the veteran jurist ruled that an alleged confession by "Rocky" and re-enactment of the crime were not admissable as evidence in the trial. Also barred was a transcript from the coroner's inquest in the case.

Three Arrests Are Announced

Three arrests—two of them by the sheriff's department for other jurisdictions and one in another county for Lubbock officials—were announced Wednesday.

John R. Chapman, charged with swindling by $175 check given Feb. 5 to C. C. Burkholder, was held in Ballinger for Lubbock authorities, it was announced in telephone calls from San Angelo by the State highway patrol. The complaint was filed in the court of D. W. Robertson, justice of the peace, Wednesday afternoon by E. G. Pharr, assistant district attorney, upon oath of John L. Burkholder.

Two Men Held

The sheriff's department was holding Ray Dreiling, 29, of Lubbock who signed a waiver of extradition to Colorado, where Sheriff Felix Garcia of Las Animas county said in a telegram to Sheriff Grady Harris of Lubbock county that the defendant is wanted on a felony warrant. Dreiling was arrested within approximately an hour after the telegram, by Deps. Sheriff Frank Mitchell and Raymond Land.

The sheriff's department also advised the provost marshal's office at Camp Hood, Texas, that it, in compliance with a request three hours earlier, had arrested a 31-year-old Lubbock man described as being AWOL from the Army camp. Sheriff Grady Harrist telegraphed a request for "further disposition" in the case. The arrest was made by Chief Dep. Sheriff George Eubanks and Deputy Mitchell.

Extradition Waiver Signed

It was announced by the sheriff's department that Willie Franklin Waldie, 28, of Chattanooga, Tenn., who had been arrested here early Tuesday by FBI special agents on a warrant charging unlawful flight to avoid prosecution, had signed a waiver of extradition to Hamilton county, Tenn., to face trial on a murder charge.

Sheriff Frank J. Burns of Hamilton county, advised of the waiver, said he would come here "as soon as possible."

Heavy Barrage To Pave Way For Attack

U.S. Marines Plan Invasion Of Kodiak During Maneuvers

By WILLIAM CHERNUS
INS Staff Correspondent

ABOARD USS CURTISS, OFF KODIAK ISLAND, Alaska, Feb. 9 — Through pounding 25-foot waves this amphibious task force pushed toward Portage bay tonight to open the simulated "Battle of Kodiak."

Two thousand Marines will hit the beaches at H-hour, 9:30 a.m., Thursday, behind one of the heaviest barrages of naval gunfire heard in the Pacific since the close of World War II.

As the landing craft storm ashore, the attack will be covered by 104 planes from the carriers USS Boxer and USS Bairoke, "beating up" local defense positions with live bombs and rockets.

Cold Day Seen

Hope for a "dry landing" through the near-freezing breakers faded tonight as boisterous seas continued to pound the invasion fleet. Snow was predicted for L-day.

Vice Admiral C. F. Bogan, commanding the first task fleet, conceded that the unpredictable North Pacific weather may become so heavy as to force postponement of the assault. But he said that it will be carried out if at all possible.

The assault force, spearheaded by the 7th marine battalion from Camp Pendleton, Cal., is here to test weapons, equipment and capabilities in just such weather.

Seaman Is Drowned

Wearing cold-wet clothing, some of it experimental, the leathernecks have prepared for the landing exercise with 10 days of living and simulated fighting amid drifts and biting cold in another area on Kodiak.

The task force suffered its first casualty today when Seaman Edward L. Genaw of Port Huron, Mich., slipped from the icy deck of the cruiser Duluth and sank before rescuers could save him.

Lieutenant Commander Will H. Kilgore hovered as close to Genaw as waves would permit in a helicopter launched from USS Boxer, but Genaw was too numbed to fasten a lowered safety harness.

A few minutes later when the Destroyer USS Parks reached the scene, boatswain's mate S. D. Manos went over the side in an "immersion suit," but Genaw had vanished. Small craft could not be launched in the rough seas.

Earlier, a less serious accident may have cost the assault force the services of its commanding officer when Brigadier General H. B. Liversedge fell on an icy Kodiak road.

Surgeons said the general's right wrist was fractured.

Business Loans Slumped For Third Week, Survey Shows

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP) — Business loans slumped off for the third consecutive week during the seven days ended Feb. 2, the Federal Reserve board reported today.

The report, covering operations of Federal Reserve Member banks in the nation's leading cities, showed a $63,000,000 drop that week. It was nearly double the decline of the previous week.

Business loans were down $27,000,000 in New York City, $17,000,000 in the Chicago Federal Reserve district and $10,000,000 in the San Francisco district

The total of business loans still outstanding, however, was $15,318,000,000 or $593,000,000 above the level of a year ago.

Ex-Wyoming Solon Leaves Estate To Provide State Home For Blind

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Feb. 9. (INS) —Former Wyoming State Senator Roy Montgomery, who died last week at Gillette, has left the bulk of his estate to Wyoming for establishment of a home for the blind.

Montgomery, who was 73, was blind during the last 11 and one-half years of his life. He was a prominent stockman.

Since the assets include cattle, the exact amount of the bequest was not known, but was believed to be more than $300,000.

Sen. Allen Hunter, (D-Campbell county) said he would ask the state Senate for unanimous consent to introduce a bill authorizing the state to accept and administer the gift.

DISC JOCKEY COMMENTATOR

Characters Roasting In Miami Get Kick Out Of Weather News

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

MIAMI BEACH, Feb. 9.— Moe and Joe, lying like toasted schmoos on the beach in front of their stucco and chromium hotel, baste their bodies with ladles of lotion and discuss world events:

Moe—Hear the big news yet?

Joe—Yeah, great news, aint it?

Moe—Best news I've heard in years.

Joe—How deep was it?

Coast Also Hit

Moe—Six inches, but it froze overnight, stopped the Long Island railroad again, tied up the subway and resulted in 419 traffic accidents.

Joe—Wonderful.

Moe—Any word from the coast?

Joe—Yeah, another freeze killed off four million dollars worth of grapefruit, froze a whole new shipment of sun-tan oil and dropped snow on the set of Dorothy Lamour's new south sea picture, ruining four miles of technicolor film.

Moe—Swell.

Joe—The hay-lift is running into worst weather'n ever.

Moe—That's what I hear, too.

Joe—Heh-heh.

Moe—Me too.

Joe—How about around Montana and Wyoming and cities like that?

Worst In History

Moe—Worst winter in history, they tell me. People snowed in and beginning to eat the marrow out of their electric blankets.

Joe—Yuk.

Moe—Time to turn over?

Joe—Yeah, wake me up when the sun goes down.

Moe—Nothing like good news when you're down here, eh?

Joe—Makes it worth every penny they charge us.

Saloon Has Commentator

It had to come sooner or later, I suppose. But it's a shock when you first hear it. A plushy cave on Miami Beach named Copa City has come up with an ideological disk jockey — a fellow named Barry Gray.

Each night he sits on a platform high over the bronzed bald heads and expensive hair-dos of the people in the club's cocktail lounge, casting pearls on international affairs, and, on occasion, playing music in keeping with his standing as a pundit, like "Flatfoot Floogie."

The fellow was an interesting scold when he worked around New York, but his sponsors considered his brand of kidding with a much less benevolent eye than they regard Arthur Godfrey's. So he wound up down Miami way, and now has cut an arresting nicche in one of the world's oddest callings.

Apparently in the name of liberalism, Gray makes an astonishing play to what he must believe are the political tastes of his listeners. After all these years one should become innured to the saloon as the breeding point or clearing house of information on international affairs.

But it is, as we said, still a shock to hear as a moulder of public opinion a man whose credentials, to date, have consisted largely of an ability to change phonograph needles.

Gray, of course, has as much right to reveal the workings of the mind of, say, Secretary of State Dean Acheson, as any other commentator. But, somehow . . . I dunno. He's quite a success here, and I suspect the idea will spread, and the biggest Hooper rating will eventually go to the fellow who can best blend equal parts of Benny Goodman and night-club solutions of the war in the Holy Land.

All new Tech students are invited to attend. Free transportation to the church from the student center at 2414 Thirteenth will be provided. A carnival theme is to be carried out at the open house, it was announced Wednesday.

Mrs. H. M. Delacroix, jr., and her daughters, Letha Virginia and Jacqueline Ruth, of Plaquemine, La., are visiting in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Hogan, of 1912 Seventeenth.

Funeral services for Charles Lundell, 86, pioneer Lubbock county resident who died Tuesday in his home on Lubbock route 1, were held at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning in Rix Funeral home chapel. Following services, the body was carried by Rix Funeral home to Taylor, Tex., for burial.

Major damage was done when fire broke out about 2 a. m. Wednesday in the Seventh and Ave. L residence occupied by Albert Foster and Herbert Whitfield, according to a report from firemen of central fire station. The interior of the house was most extensively damaged. Origin of the fire was not determined, firemen said.

A delegation of Lubbock Knights of Columbus headed by District Deputy Joe Moore and Grand Knight Paul Schaefer will go to Odessa Sunday for institution of a local council there. Rev. C. P. Conlon, assistant pastor of St. Elizabeth's church, will also accompany the group and take part in the ceremonies which start at 10:30 a. m. at the county auditorium and end with a banquet Sunday night with State Deputy Conroy Scoggins of Houston as principal speaker.

Rent Office Order Is Ignored By Landlords

TULSA, Okla., Feb. 9. (U.P.) — None of the seven Tulsa landlords who were ordered two days ago to withdraw their eviction notices under threat of court action have done so, the local rent office reported today.

Rent director C. E. Marshall pointed out that the landlords have three more days in which to cancel their notices. However, Rev. Wallace J. Murphy, leader of the eviction plan, has said he would ignore such a threat from the rent office if he got one, and it was believed other landlords were following his lead.

When Marshall sent out his order, he also invited the landlords to come to his office and talk over their grievances. He said today none has showed up.

Instead of a visit, Marshall got the back of Murphy's hand again today. He said his first experience with the Tulsa rent office "was enough."

"I went there to complain about them lowering the rent on one of my units," he said "They insulted my wife by calling her a liar, and said if I didn't like what they were doing they would lower the rent some more.

"I complained to the higher office at Dallas, and was told to get some comparisons with other rents in my neighborhoods. When I did that, instead of raising my rent they lowered the others to conform with mine."

Resolution Stirs Sharp Skirmish

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Feb. 9—First blows were struck today in the 51st Legislature's promised labor battle and round one went to lawmakers favoring strict regulation.

The first test vote was relatively close and labor leaders were surprised at the pro-labor strength shown. Labor hopes to modify stringent regulation laws passed by the last legislature, and today's action may mean the fight will be close.

The tussle over a resolution asking Congress not to enact pending laws labelled as class legislation for the "sole benefit" of unions topped developments in the legislature today.

School Bills Okayed

Ten new bills were introduced in the senate, including one to create a new state board to regulate and license the dry cleaning industry. The Senate confirmed appointment of C. H. Cavness as state auditor and both House and Senate adjourned until tomorrow.

Gov. Beauford H. Jester in a special message asked the legislature for quick action on bills putting up $200,000 to carry on Texas' fight to retain title to its tidelands.

No new bills were introduced in the House.

Three highly controversial measures reorganizing and providing a new system of financing the public schools went to the Senate calendar with approval of its education committee. They were reported with a "do pass" recommendation after a five-hour public hearing that ended at 12:35 a. m. today.

Proposed Labor Law Hit

The labor fuss started when Rep. Marshall Bell of San Antonio introduced a resolution saying that legislation pending in Congress to repeal the Taft-Hartley law and restore with some changes the Wagner act were "unwarranted and unconstitutional invasion of states rights."

He wanted the House and Senate to ask Congress not to pass such legislation.

Speaker Durwood Manford referred the resolution to the labor committee.

Rep. Otis Lee of Port Arthur, leader of the House labor group, quickly moved that the resolution be sent to the rules committee. He told reporters he didn't think the labor committee would give it a "fair hearing."

Floyd Irrigation School Scheduled

LOCKNEY, Feb. 9. (Special)—Floyd county's annual irrigation school will be held here Thursday, with an estimated 300 to 400 farmers and agricultural men expected to attend.

The program, which will be held in the Plains theatre here, has been planned and arranged by A. L. Hartzog, Floyd county agent. Topics of current interest which will be stressed will include modern irrigation methods, plant breeding and culture, fertilization through irrigation, mechanical harvesting of cottop, weed control, and certified seed growing.

Luncheon Planned

As a courtesy of those attending the school, the Lockney Business Men's club will be host at a luncheon at noon Thursday.

A number of prominent Texas agricultural men will participate in the sessions, among them Robert Thurmond, irrigation specialist of A & M college; Robert Steward, manager and plant breeder at the Lockney farm near here; Duke Thornton, agricultural chemist of A & M; Don Jones, superintendent of the Lubbock Experiment station; and W. A. Goeth, state field seed inspector.

Marvin Cox, president of the Lockney Business Men's club, is to give the welcome address. The program will begin at 9:30 a.m., and is expected to last until around 4 p.m., Hartzog said.

U. S. Withdraws 1,600 Marines From China

SHANGHAI, Feb. 9. (AP)—Two ships pulled out of Isingtao with 1,600 U. S. Marines yesterday as part of a program drastically reducing American strength in China.

With most of the Leathernecks leaving, the U. S. combat force in China is left at roughly one Marine battalion at Tsingtao and one at Shanghai (a total of about 1,200.)

Both the battalions are afloat; that way they infringe less on Chinese sovereignty than when ashore. Also they are more mobile.

The liquidation last month of the joint military advisory group has taken out most of the U. S. soldiers and sailors. And further reductions of U. S Naval forces in China are ahead.

San Antonio Pushes Bid For New School

Solons Told Of Need For Medical School

By MAC ROY RASOR
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Feb. 9.—Texas must educate more of its own doctors now if it is to meet urgent needs of its people, a Senate Finance subcommittee was told today.

A delegation of San Antonio physicians, Army medical men, and medical foundation officers testified that a Senate bill to create a medical branch of the University of Texas on San Antonio surplus armory property is the "golden opportunity" to solve the problem.

"We must educate our own doctors who have grown up in our small towns to meet the needs of our small towns," argued Dr. Royal Colder. "We can't expect a doctor from New York to be attracted to our small communities."

Dr. Colder noted that Texas ranks below the national average in the supply of physicians in relation to population. He said Texas has one physician per 1,055 persons, compared to the national average of one physician per 861 persons.

A. J. (Jack) Lewis, president of the San Antonio Medical foundation, said the plea for a new school is in no way competing with existing schools at Dallas, Houston or Galveston nor with the Dallas request before the legislature for the state to take over Southwestern Medical school.

To Use Surplus Property

He said he saw no reason why the legislature should not take over the Dallas school but that such action would not solve the need for a new school.

The surplus arsenal properties were found by Dr. Warfield M. Firor of Johns Hopkins university after a careful survey to be excellently adaptable to a medical school's needs, Lewis testified.

The $15,000,000 properties are located in downtown San Antonio. They can be made available to the state without cost if the medical school is established, he said.

JUST BETWEEN BROTHERS

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., (U.P.) — Called to court as a witness, Ernest Lafountain, 17, became the defendant when he testified he and not his brother Bernard, 21, had punched the plaintiff, Thomas J. Cheesebrough, Jr. Ernest was ordered to pay a $20 fine and Cheesebrough's medical expenses. The brothers contended Cheesebrough was "chasing after" their sister.

Reds Back Yugoslav Demands In Austria

LONDON, Feb. 9. (AP)—Russia brushed aside her Cominform "family fight" with Premier Marshal Tito today and backed up Yugoslav demands for a slice of Austrian territory.

The Soviet Union renewed its long-standing support of Yugoslav claims at the opening of new Big Four talks by foreign ministers' deputies who have tried since 1946 to solve East-West disputes on an Austrian independence treaty.

The Yugoslav demand for 800 square miles of southern Austria and $150,000,000 in reparations was the main stumbling block when talks broke down last spring.

Austrian leaders asked for the new treaty meeting in the hope that Russia would backtrack on her support of Yugoslav claims because of the split between Marshal Tito and other eastern European nations in the Russian-led cominform — the International Communist Information bureau.

But American sources reported Russian Ambassador Georgi Zarubin again indorsed Yugoslav territorial claims at the opening session, putting the talks back to last spring's breakdown point.

The Big Four talks were seen by western diplomats as the first decisive test of Russia's new "peace offensive." American, British and French deputies were awaiting any signs that the Soviet Union would back up her talk of wanting East-West agreement by giving in on the Yugoslav claim.

Spokesmen for both Britain and the United States have indicated they plan no further concessions on top of the many already made.

"Rodeo" is a word, borrowed from Mexican cattle-herders, meaning a round-up of cattle.

Setup Of Blood Bank Is Studied

Operation of Lubbock county blood bank has been studied here by Mrs. Myron Shellman, head of the Texarkana Red Cross nursing service, preparatory to opening of a blood bank in Texarkana.

The blood bank here has an exceptionally low cost of operation, having only one paid worker, a laboratory technician. Doctors and nurses donate their services and have been assisted by approximately 100 volunteer workers. No person has been added to the payroll since the blood bank opened July 1.

Mrs. Shellman, who visited the blood bank at Red Cross headquarters Tuesday, talked to Mrs. L. R. Rampy, head of the nursing corps, on registered nurses' assistance in a blood bank; Bobby Edwards, laboratory technician, on laboratory equipment, supplies and procedure; Mrs. Val Williams, on clerical work and keeping records, and Miss Lula Mae Cravens, on securing volunteers.

Thus far, the blood bank has supplied 554 pints of blood to patients in Lubbock county hospitals since it opened July 1.

In a letter to The Avalanche-Journal, Mrs. Guy R. Copeland of 2819 First, has commented as follows on the blood bank: "I would like to express my appreciation to this Lubbock county blood bank and what a wonderful cause they are contributing to humanity, to the people here in and around Lubbock. When my baby was two days old, he needed a blood transfusion at once. He had a rare type of blood and the attending physician said we might possibly type a hundred people and not find the right type. It was then they called on the blood bank of Lubbock. This blood was furnished without charge immediately Now my baby is in good health and thriving."

The baby was six days old when she wrote the letter Feb. 5. Mrs. Copeland urged that "everyone who is able" donate blood to the blood bank.

LEATHERNECKS SEEK UNIT HERE

Organization Of Marine Reserve Group For Lubbock Discussed

Approximately 30 Marine reservists and ex-Marines who gathered at Hotel Lubbock last night made plans for the organization of Marine corps infantry reserve unit here, and heard Major John L. Clark of New Orleans outline procedure in organizing such a unit and describe benefits accruing from it.

The group will hold its first formal meeting next Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock in the Naval reserve training center on the Texas Tech campus.

Major Clark, who is public information officer of the Eighth Marine corps reserve district, currently is touring West Texas seeking to stimulate formation of reserve units. He came here from Amarillo, and will go next to Midland and Odessa.

He declared that "the whole purpose of the reserve program is to train men for leadership," and that "it is common sense to maintain a strong reserve force."

Major Clark also pointed out that if the training unit is successfully organized, the Naval reserve training center on the Texas Tech center will be available, along with equipment therein, for use of the Marine unit. He said that if a Marine unit is organized, additional space will be added to the Naval training center, including a rifle range and office space.

Of especial significance, Major Clark said, is the fact that 17, 18, and 19 year old youths will be needed in the training unit. He pointed out that experienced Marines will furnish the leadership in the unit, but that younger men without military experience will be needed.

Following, he discussed retirement benefits under the new Marine reserve program. He said "the prospects here for a training unit are very bright," and urged that such a unit be organized without delay.

Officers for the local unit will be John B. Joiner, commanding officer; Forrest W. Jones, captain; Floyd T. Allen, Max Walthall, and Marie A. Miles, first lieutenants.

Other personnel for the unit will be selected at the meeting next Thursday night.

BROADCASTS ARE DEFENDED

Former Nazi Claims 'Axis Sally' Under Influence Of Professor

By DARRELL GARWOOD
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 — A former Nazi radio official testified today that Mildred E. Gillars, alleged "Axis Sally" on trial for treason, was strongly under the influence of Prof. Hans Otto Koischwitz during the war.

Koischwitz, who died in 1944, was the former Hunter college professor who the defense claims brought Miss Gillars under his hypnotic spell and guided her anti-American broadcasts for the Germans.

Broadcasts Were Defended

The witness, Hans Von Richter, also identified Miss Gillars as the "Sally" who broadcast from Berlin in 1944:

"I'd rather die for Germany than live 100 years on milk and honey in the Jewish America of today."

The defense contended hotly that such broadcasts were "beneficial" to America, because "they made the troops so mad they fought all the harder."

The court ruled that only the purposes of the broadcasts were at issue.

At Counsel Table

Pale and nervous after yesterday's collapse, the gray-haired 48-year-old Miss Gillars was able to sit at the counsel table today, although relatives said she was far from well.

Von Richter, who was assistant director of the U. S. section of the German radio during the war, was complacent and assured as he first pointed to her as the woman who made the allegedly treasonable broadcasts and then conceded she was influenced.

The witness, however, would not agree with the defense that Koischwitz's influence was "hypnotic."

Von Richter said that Koischwitz had a "very strong" personality, but would not say that his personality was "overwhelming."

Admits Helping In Programs

He said Miss Gillars was "under Koischwitz's influence," but denied he had previously said she was "wholly under his influence."

Defense Attorney James J. Laughlin sought to bring out that Von Richter was offered "inducements" to come to America to testify against her. Objections to many of the questions were sustained.

Von Richter testified that in 1940 he had married the former Georgia James of Cleveland, and that he had been living on his wife's money for the last six months.

He said his wife went to Germany with him and made non-propaganda broadcasts for the Germans, in which she only "read messages."

But Von Richter testified that he had helped Miss Gillars prepare a program designed to convince Americans that "invasion of Europe would be very costly." Asked on cross-examination to restate the purpose of the Nazi broadcasts, Von Richter said:

"They were made to convince Americans that America was fighting the war on the wrong side, and that they should be fighting with Germany against the Bolsheviks.

"Also, that Germany was fighting for the existence of Western civilization."

Miss Gillars, who was led stumbling from the courthouse when she collapsed after first facing Von Richter, twitched nervously as the testimony continued.

Von Richter said that when he last saw Miss Gillars, the one-time stage-struck Ohio Wesleyan student was leading a furtive existence in Germany in fear of arrest by American military authorities.

That was after the invasion, Von Richter said, and Miss Gillars under an assumed name was living in a small German town controlled by American troops. He could not remember the alias she was using.

Rotary Entertained With Scout Program

A group of Boy Scouts from Troop 3 of the First Baptist church, of which Sam Henry, Jr., is scoutmaster, entertained the Rotary club at luncheon Wednesday at the Hilton hotel as part of anniversary week observance.

Joe Lon Teal give a brief account of troop activities during 1948, and introduced program numbers that included the oath to the flag, a song, building a fire with flint and steel, and the Scout oath, in which all adults currently or in the past connected with scouting, participated.

Other boys in the group were John Harvey Austin, Bruce McCarty, Buren Malone, Bill Pitman, Kenneth Abbott, Bill Craig, Bill Foster, and Keith White.

Dr. Frank B Malone, president of the South Plains Area council, was program chairman.

Gerald Ray was introduced as a new member. Visiting Rotarians included Fred McDonald, Jimmy Rankin and Emory Ralls of Ralls, J. S. Hilliard and Arthur Duggan of Littlefield, Mary Allen of Seagraves, Sam R. Hord and Ivan Juge of Fort Worth, and R. L. Perkins and Robbie Robinson of Abilene. Club President Irving Jones was in the chair.

San Antonio Insurance Man Loses $2,215,000 Damage Suit

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 9 (U.P.) — Insurance counsellor Homer Adams lost his $2,215,000 damage suit against the T. J. Bettes company of Houston on an instructed verdict.

Judge Delos Finch, in 73rd district court, said there was no evidence that the Bettes company had ever entered into any sort of a contract with Adams.

The San Antonio insurance man had alleged, however, that the Bettes company breached a contract for financing some 4,000 homes in a construction project here in 1946.

Adams came to court armed with a letter which he maintained was a contract, but Bettes' attorneys argued successfully that it was nothing more than "an offer to negotiation on contracts" in the future.

The collapse of Adams venture into the construction building resulted in 14 indictments against him. They are pending now in criminal district court.

Senior Writes Tech Varsity Show Script

A script entitled, "Milestones In Melody" by Ruth Cook, senior Home Economics major from Orchard, has been accepted for the annual Tech Varsity show according to Margaret Clark, chairman of the Varsity show committee.

The show which is presented each year by Tech students will be in the High school auditorium on April 4-8.

In an earlier meeting Bill Parsley, freshman Arts and Science student from Lubbock, was named director of the show. Parsley is a staff announcer at Station KSEL in Lubbock. Before coming here he was connected with the publicity department of Paramount pictures in Hollywood, for two years.

Miss Clark also announced that Sunny Redus, senior Arts and Science student from Hamlin, had been made assistant director and that Jimmie Carter, junior Business major from Big Spring, had been named dance director of the show.

Tryouts for the cast and additional members of the troupe will be held some time in the near future.

Un-American Group Funds Given Okay

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP) — The House Un-American Activities committee today got over the first step toward winning a $200,000 expense account for 1949 operations.

The allowance was recommended by the House Administration committee which handles House accounts. It is the same amount the Un-American committee had last year.

The administration committee also approved allotments of $100,000 to the special Small Business committee and $50,000 to the committee on executive expenditures.

All three recommendations are subject to House approval but do not require Senate action.

Several House members already have indicated that they will fight on the floor against the $200,000 for the Un-American Activities committee.

Man Gets Three-Year Term For Forgery

CROSBYTON, Feb. 9. (Special) —H. W. Dumas, 28, of Gainesville, today entered a plea of guilty of forgery and was sentenced to serve three years in the state penitentiary.

The defendant waived a jury and made his plea before Judge Dan Blair, presiding. The court had appointed Clifford Brown as counsel for the defendant.

The indictment charged that Dumas on July 26 forged a $21 check by signing the name of his former employer, N. G. Watkins of Andrews, and passed it to Charles E. Tyer, a service station operator of Ralls.

Dumas executed a signed statement of admission this morning before E. G. Pharr, assistant district attorney, District Attorney Lloyd Croslin said.

Dumas waived his statutory two-day period and accepted sentence.

FEET HURT?

If so, there is a cause. This cause must be removed before permanent relief can be obtained. Most causes can be attributed to poorly constructed and misfitted shoes. Your feet MUST have shoes which will hold them up in a balanced position, and they must be properly fitted.

In many cases proper treatment is also needed. Foot trouble symptoms, sometimes without the feet even hurting, are—cramps in the legs—many pains throughout the body (often mistaken for rheumatism)—back and leg aches, and often headaches and eye troubles are caused by broken down arches. If the foundation of a house goes down the body of the house is no better than its foundation. Your feet are your foundation, if your arches are down, hence your many aches and pains throughout the body—so start at your feet or foundation to alleviate these pains.

HEALTH SPOT SHOES are designed to protect and hold the feet in a balanced position. When the feet are balanced, in most cases the body is also balanced.

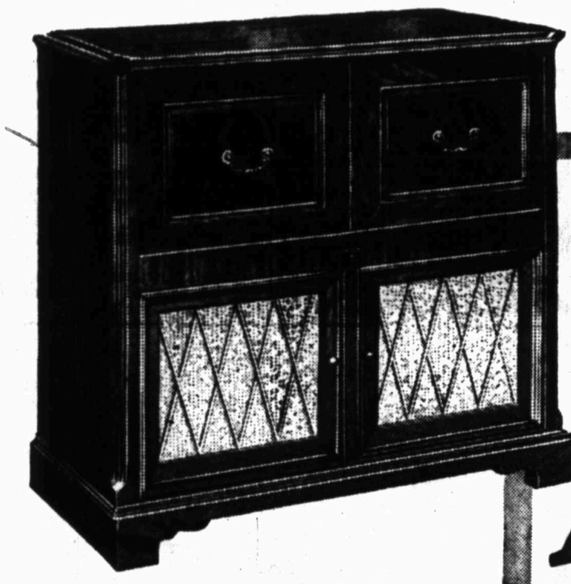

Why not see us NOW and get started on the road to recovery? We have given thousands relief in our thirty years of experience in treating feet and fitting them in proper shoes.

We have the right shoes and give the correct scientific treatment for your poor aching feet and in many cases give relief through the body. It costs less and you get better results to have it done the Wright (right) way.

BLIZZARD LOSSES DISCOUNTED

Many Farm Specialists Foresee Lower Meat Prices Next Fall

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9. (U.P.)—Most farm experts believe meat will be cheaper next fall and winter.

Fueled by record high feed grain stocks, hog production is on the increase and prices apparently will have to drop.

Some Agriculture department experts believe the increased supply next fall or winter may push hog prices down to or near government support levels.

Federal Buying Foreseen

In that event the government might have to buy pork and lard from packers or live hogs from farmers to support producer prices, as required by law.

The Agriculture department expects a moderate seasonal price rise within the next month. Then when last fall's pig crop begins hitting the market in volume in April prices will level out for a few months. In the fall, the large crop of pigs expected to be born this spring will be ready for market.

Meanwhile, reports from federal agencies and federal officials tended to discount the effect of the western blizzards on meat supplies.

Philip Fleming, director of the Federal Works agency told President Truman a tour of the storm area convinced him reports of livestock losses have been exaggerated. He said losses might be no more than three or four per cent.

Agriculture department officials said the storm areas hold only about six per cent of the nation's total cattle and sheep population.

And the Agriculture department reported that losses in the so-called "disaster area" could have little effect on consumer meat supplies in the near future, anyway. Most animals in the area normally would not be slaughtered for meat production until next year.

BUS POST OFFICES SET UP

RUTLAND, Vt., (U.P.) — "Rolling post offices" soon will speed the mail between Rutland and Albany, N. Y. Two 35-foot busses have been reconverted by the Post Office Department for the project. In the busses, clerks will sort mail and drop it off in containers at small post offices along the route.

Labor Loses Test

rector, interrupted.

When the House went back into session, a point of order was raised that time for considering such motions as Lee's had expired. Lee tried to get the rules suspended to consider his re-referal motion anyway, but it failed by a 66 to 61 vote.

The 66 votes went to Lee, but he needed 85.

Then the labor committee went into a quickie session and voted 13 to 4 to report the Bell resolution back to the House with a recommendation it be adopted. That gives some idea of how this committee may vote on future labor legislation.

Lee announced he would try again to have the resolution called back and referred to another committee.

Lee and Bell collided at the committee meeting.

"We in Texas from time to time have hollered much about state's rights," Lee said. "Then why do you try to tell Congress what to do about matters affecting the national interest?"

Bell cracked back that the Taft-Hartley amendment in Congress would take away the state's police power over intrastate commerce.

"That's a state matter," he said.

"I believe the Democratic party has elected people who will take care of this matter very nicely when it comes up before Congress," Lee retorted.

Bell's resolution noted that the right-to-work bill passed by the 50th Legislature had been held constitutional by the U. S. Supreme court. Labor calls this an anti-closed shop bill, and it is one of the measures union leaders will seek to have repealed by the 51st Legislature.

Senate bills offered today included these:

By Senator Carlos Ashley of Llano to fix salaries of county tax assessors and collectors on a direct percentage of assessments and collections.

By Senator Hill D. Hudson of Pecos to create the 131st district court of Ector county.

By Senator Kilmer B. Corbin of Lamesa to authorize leasing of county hospitals.

Rules Committee Recommends New Method To Halt Filibusters; Fight Is Indicated

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP) — A new debate rule, designed to snap off filibusters by a two-thirds vote, was recommended to the Senate today by its committee on rules.

It can't come before the Senate for at least a week, however, and probably won't be considered until late in the month. And the proposed new rule is virtually certain to run into a filibuster—delaying talk—which may prevent its adoption.

It won't be adopted if a group of 20 southern senators have the lung power and stamina to talk it down. They fought it in the rules committee and are prepared to campaign at length against it on the floor.

The southerners say the filibuster-curbing proposal is the opening move in a drive to enact President Truman's "civil rights" program which they oppose. That program contains anti-poll tax, anti-lynching and anti-discrimination bills.

Truman Democrats and a great many Republicans favor the rules change. But the southerners say they are prepared to keep on talking against the administration bill until its backers agree to drop it.

The vote in favor of the rules change in the committee was 10 to 3. Senators Stennis (D-Miss), Long (D-La), and Hunt (D-Wyo), voted against it.

Voting for it were Chairman Hayden (D-Ariz) and Senators Green (D-RI), Myers (D-Pa), Withers (D-Ky), Gillette (D-Iowa), Wherry (R-Neb), Knowland (R-Calif), Lodge (R-Mass), Ives (R-NY) and Jenner (R-Ind.).

Hayden and Wherry jointly sponsored the proposed change.

The rule recommended would apply to bills, motions or in any other parliamentary situation. At least 16 senators would have to sign a petition asking that further debate be limited to one hour per senator. Then, if two-thirds of those senators present approved, the gag would be applied.

Chairman Hayden said the proposed new rules would be officially reported to the Senate in about a week. He indicated, however, that he will not ask the Senate to act upon it until late February.

Officers Elected By Sheriff's Posse Here

An election of officers highlighted a meeting of the Lubbock County Sheriff's Posse, held Wednesday night in the county courthouse.

Bud Brady was re-elected first vice president of the organization. He nominally is the head of the group, since the office of president, held by Grady Harrist, is honorary.

Others elected were Roy Faubian, second vice president; Tom French, secretary; and Roscoe Sides, corral boss. Directors named were Randall Polk, Bob Tucker, Roy Forkner, and Fred Ellison.

The organization was established this past summer. Its purpose is to assist the various local civic clubs in goodwill tours. The group maintains approximately 30 horses at their stables at the fairground.

MANCHURIAN REFUGEES DEMAND RELIEF FUNDS

Chinese Troops And Gendarmes Use Machineguns, Armored Cars To Control Rioting Shanghai Mob

By GEORGE VINE
INS Staff Correspondent

SHANGHAI, Feb. 9.— Chinese Nationalists troops armed with machineguns and gendarmes in armored vehicles patrolled downtown Shanghai today to control angry mobs of refugees who rioted in the city.

Two small children were killed and scores were injured when 3,000 Manchurian refugees stampeded Whangpoo police station demanding relief payments.

The wild demonstrations which spread to other parts of China's largest city were put down only after government troops went into action.

Riot First Since Fall

The riot was the first public disturbance in Shanghai since Communist troop concentrations north of the Yangtze river threatened a cross-river smash that would lay "the Paris of the Far East" open to a flank attack.

The disorders were the most violent indications to date of public hostility induced by the near collapse of China's dizzily inflated economy.

Similar, but less severe disturbances occurred last fall in connection with the government's attempt to force the use of its gold yuan currency.

The hungry and sullen mob which stormed the police station included disbanded army officers, government employes, school teachers, and civilians who came to Shanghai after the Communist occupation of Mukden last fall.

Road Blocks Set Up

They smashed windows and office furniture and were only restrained by military units called in by the police.

The station resembled an armed camp as troops established road blocks and cordoned off all approaches.

The refugees, who had been given non-negotiable chits in lieu of relief payments due them, assembled around the central bank.

They surged about the bank entrance waving their relief chits and angrily shouting that they wanted to be paid. The unruly crowd held up traffic for two hours until police in armored cars aided by government troops broke up the crowd into small knots of people.

Compensation Demanded

At the same time other crowds gathered a few blocks away to watch the wailing relatives of Chinese drowned in a ship disaster last December cluster about the shipping company offices demanding compensation.

The demonstrators, who emphasized their pleas by depositing seven or eight coffins before the office, were related to many of the 4,000 Chinese who drowned when the refugee-laden steamer Kiang Ya exploded about 20 miles from Shanghai.

Foreign residents feared the present disorders were only the forerunner of what will occur if the situation in China continues to deteriorate.

The Shanghai city government is attempting to check soaring prices in the port by dumping large quantities of commodities on the market to absorb surplus currency.

Observers said the action is stabilizing rice prices but that the condition can be only temporary.

Taxpayer's Humor Lost On Collector

CHICAGO, Feb. 9. (INS) — A taxpayer with a sense of humor sent his 1948 income tax return to the collector of internal revenue in Chicago with the following bit of verse enclosed:

"Dear Uncle, as the new year rolls around
I send you a check, passing fair,
Affirming I've paid you right up to the hilt
All the traffic will bear.
"I trust all your sleuths will OK my report.
If perchance they insist it's a dud,
Just drop me a line in a hasty reply—
I'll send you a pint of my blood."

Collector John T. Jarecki said he didn't think it was funny but that the tax return was in perfect order.

Rice Professors Get Startling Results From Poll Of Students

HOUSTON, Feb. 9. (AP)—They asked for it, the professors at Rice institute did, and students responded with vigor.

What the professors asked for was a criticism of themselves by the students.

This is some of what they got: "Either I don't understand the course or you don't teach it well."

"I don't like the sound of your voice. But I guess you can't help being from Bahstun."

To a professor who also is a Boy Scout troop master:

"Please save your juvenile discipline for the Boy Scouts."

The instructor rating system was based on the idea of assisting the faculty in possible improvements of teaching methods. Each score sheet called for ratings on 15 points, including enthusiasm in teaching, organization of material, fairness of quiz questions, and fairness of grading quizzes.

Scouts Give Program For Exchange Club

A program by members of Lubbock Boy Scout troop No. 6 featured Wednesday's weekly Exchange club luncheon in Hotel Lubbock.

Scouts of the troop gave first aid and knot-tying demonstrations, recited the Scout laws, and led a group recitation of the Scout oath.

Participating in the program were Scouts Bill English, Pinky Owens, Don Stuart, John Terry, Joe Welch, Darwin Wilbanks, Richard Leonard, Lewis Sitterly, Ira Owens, Curtis Graves, Ronald Mason, Buddy Walden, Richard Freeman, Bill Moren and Bill Cook.

Scoutmaster Jack Alexander directed the demonstrations.

Gene Quest, Plainsman district commissioner of the Boy Scouts, introduced the group, which is sponsored by St. John's Methodist church. Quest also gave a brief account of the development and aims of the Scout movement in America, now beginning its 40th year.

Quest was introduced by Lester Grimes, program chairman.

A committee, composed of M. B. Hilburn, jr., Warlick Carr and James H. Kimmel, jr., was appointed to direct a "Crime Prevention Week" campaign here next week.

Guests introduced included John Scoggins, Bill Kennedy, Cullen Chapman, Dr. Lee Hewitt, and H. D. Phillips, jr. Curtis Cheaney, a former member, and Bobby Layne, a new member, also were introduced.

Charles Cathey presided at the luncheon.

Citrus Group Investigates Cases Of Hardship On Rio Grande Farms

McALLEN, Feb. 9. (AP)— Directors of a comparatively new organization of Lower Rio Grande valley citrus men—the United Citrus growers—are investigating hardship cases among valley farmers which have been aggravated by the recent freeze.

Directors of the organization say they have information about eight or 10 valley men with mortgages who are having difficulties meeting payments—partly, at least, because of the freeze. They cite the case of a man and wife who are hospitalized — and who aren't able to make their payments on their home at their grove.

UCG telegraphed Gov. Beauford Jester asking him to set back all notes on citrus property for two years. So far, no reply had been received, UCG said.

Three New Faculty Members Are Added

Three new faculty members have been added to the Mechanical Engineering department at Texas Tech according to Prof. H. F. Godeke, head of the department.

They are John M. Marshall, assistant professor, C. W. Coffee, instructor, and Alfred Monasch, assistant professor.

Marshall is the son of Mrs. Hulda Wild Marshall who was a chemistry professor at Tech for many years. He is a Tech graduate and was formerly employed by the Freeport Sulphur company in Louisiana and Cuba. Coffee is also a graduate of the M.E. department at Tech. Monasch was formerly of the American-directed University of Berlin in Germany.

The three began their duties at the start of the current semester.

BE QUICK To Treat BRONCHITIS

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

10 Texas Counties Account For Over Half Of State's Convicts

HUNTSVILLE, Feb. 9. (AP) — Ten of Texas' 254 counties accounted for more than 50 per cent of all convicts sent to state prison units in 1948, Dr. Rupert Koeninger, Sam Houston State criminologist, said today.

Dr. Koeninger compiled conviet statistics from prison records at the Huntsville walls.

His findings show the leading counties in prison commitments were Harris, Dallas, El Paso, Bexar, Hidalgo, Tarrant, Jefferson, Cameron, Wichita and Smith.

These ten counties furnished 1,274 of the 2,439 prisoners committed in 1948, or 52.3 per cent of the total.

Based on the 1940 census, Dr. Koeninger said, these counties have a combined population of 2,099,573 which is 32.8 per cent of the state population of 6,414,824.

Dr. Koeninger explained most of the counties had large metropolitan areas and that among the 10 counties the prison commitments were roughly proportionate to the population.

A study of Dr. Koeninger's report for 1948 shows:

Harris, county, principal city Houston, 319 commitments, 63 less than in 1947 for a 16.5 per cent decrease.

Dallas county, principal city Dallas, 228 commitments, three more than in 1947 for a 1.3 percent increase.

Hidalgo county, largest city McAllen, 107 commitments, seven more than in 1947 for a 7 percent increase.

Jefferson county, principal cities Beaumont and Port Arthur, 83 commitments, 11 more than in 1947 for a 15.3 percent increase.

Cameron county, principal city Brownsville, 63 commitments, same number as in 1947.

Wichita county, principal city Wichita Falls, 54 commitments, one more than in 1947 for a 1.9 percent increase.

Smith county, principal city Tyler, 43 commitments, 16 more than in 1947 for a 59.3 percent increase.

In the group, all but Harris, Bexar and Cameron counties showed increases in commitments over the 1947 figures, Dr. Koeninger said.

Extradition Proceedings Against Texan Dismissed

CHICAGO, Feb. 9. (AP)—Extradition proceedings against Roy C. (Buck) Tinsley, former Borger baseball pitcher convicted of rape, were dismissed in criminal court here today.

Judge William V. Daly dismissed the proceedings after Tinsley waived extradition.

Tinsley, arrested in Chicago, Jan. 22 for alleged bond jumping, is being held for Hutchinson county, Texas, officers.

The former pitcher was sentenced to two years in prison on March 19, 1947, in 84th district court at Stinnett, Texas.

Pending action on a motion for a new trial Tinsley was given bond. He allegedly jumped bond from Gainesville, Texas, where he had gone to pitch for another baseball team, in the summer of 1947.

Tinsley is 33 and a native of Arkansas.

Jennifer Jones Picked For Role In Warner's 'Victoria Grandolet;' Bette Davis Had Part

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 9. — Jennifer Jones gets a goodie at Warner brothers in "Victoria Grandolet," Henry Bellamann's best seller of a few years ago. It was originally bought by Jack Warner for Bette Davis. Then because of the southern atmosphere, it was thought too much like "Jezebel," which Bette made several years ago.

There are some angles which have to be changed in the story which is highly dramatic, and almost as somber as "King's Row," Bellamann's first successful novel, which was also made by Warners.

Michael Curtiz will direct and there is nobody better on that heavy "drammer" than Mike.

There has been so much talk about "The Glass Menagerie" and where it will go, that it is nice that it is finally settled. The contracts are all drawn up with Jack Warner for Charles Feldman to make it as an independent picture on the Warner lot.

Jane Wyman plays the daughter role, with Jack Carson as the gentleman caller. The mother, which Laurette Taylor created on the stage, and which brought her to fame in the later years of her life, has not yet been cast.

Irving Rapper is mentioned as the director.

I have just heard that Republic was able to sign Dolores Del Rio to play opposite John Carroll in "The Avengers." The whole thing will be filmed on location in Buenos Aires beginning next month. John Auer is already making arrangements.

Carroll will play a swashbuckling hero along the Errol Flynn lines, and the picture will be made both in English and Spanish.

Dolores, who is popular in the Latin American countries, will do much to create good feeling.

I was happy to talk to Gloria Swanson today She came here to make a test for Charlie Brackett and Billy Wilder for "Sunset Boulevard," but she hasn't decided yet whether or not she wants to do the picture, she's doing so well on television.

She told me all about her children, Joseph, who is now an electronics engineer and so brilliant, and Michele, who is in school. Her eldest daughter, Gloria Somborne Anderson, named her ten months old baby, Gloria, which delighted Gloria, the grandmother.

Gloria is just as thin as she was years ago and seems to me to have hardly aged at all.

Texas A. & M. Official Warns Of Coming Grasshopper Infestation

DALLAS, Feb. 9. (AP)—Dr. H. G. Johnson, head of the Texas A&M college department of entomology, warned today that the 1949 infestation of grasshoppers may be the worst in Texas since 1940.

Like other field insects, however, grasshoppers can be controlled if the farmer will combat them with poison while they are hatching. Once they take wing, Johnson said, grasshoppers are twice as hard to kill.

A Good Investment

ADDITIONAL employes and larger salaries are sought for so many government departments it is exceedingly difficult for tax-levying bodies—and virtually impossible for the tax-paying public—to distinguish between those which are deserving and those which are not.

More persuasive than most was the report by Texas Attorney General Price Daniel recently that more help is necessary in the Anti-Trust division of his department to the proper enforcement of anti-trust, anti-price fixing and related laws in Texas.

The division consisting of 10 assistants headed by Charles D. Mathews of Lubbock, is one which has more than paid its way. Within the past year, it has been responsible for the collection of fines totaling $117,000 from alleged violators of anti-price fixing laws, including $75,000 from dairy and ice cream manufacturers. Mr. Mathews reports that more than 100 similar cases are in various stages of investigation and preparation, most of them involving out-of-state firms which allegedly have dictated the retail prices for their products sold in Texas.

Attorney General Daniel's request as to this particular division seems to have the support of two highly convincing arguments: First, the need for vigorous enforcement of a meritorious law; and, second, the probability that the expanded personnel will bring in much more money than it costs.

If legislative investigation corroborates the probability of these arguments, it would be bad policy and poor business to deny the Attorney General's request.

Presidential Power

WITHOUT exception, Presidents of the United States have resented restraints upon their authority. Even George Washington became critical at times of "interferences" by Congress.

This may help explain why former President Hoover has become the chief advocate of government organizational changes which would increase, vastly, the White House powers. Mr. Hoover had made no secret of his belief he could have headed the depression had he possessed authority to act swiftly, decisively and independently of outside influences. In view of his unhappy experiences, his sympathies naturally might incline toward any man in the White House.

Without question, the processes of a democratic government often are costly in terms of time, money and efficiency. But, equally without question, Americans overwhelmingly prefer democracy, with its faults, to the risks involved in too much centralization of authority. And a tremendous centralization would be involved if the President should be given virtually one-man control over the government's enormous personnel. With control of the personnel, he would be in powerful position to control virtually all functions of government—communications among others.

The indications are that the present Congress, despite Mr. Truman's influence, will be cautious in considering the recommendations of the commission headed by Mr. Hoover. Some plan of reorganization probably will and should be approved, but not at the risk of such centralization of authority as to imperil our democracy.

Perhaps, after all, Uncle Sam isn't financially omnipotent. Here of late there have been some indications that he may not be able to extend all the aid wanted to everybody who wants it.

Why is it that a high school girl won't wear a sweater until she has outgrown it?

The seat on the water-wagon should be equipped with a safety-belt.

The Little Savage

Beware Of Romance

By ROBERTA COURTLAND
Distributed By NEA Service, Inc.

(THE STORY: Merry tries to forget Mike's kiss, tells herself he didn't mean anything he said, that she mustn't take him seriously. When Lissa sees the flowers he sends next day, she tells Merry she's made a conquest. That afternoon Merry goes to a tea where the first person she sees is Mike. He's talking to a lovely lady.)

XXIII

MIKE, seeing Merry, smiled, put down his cocktail, took the woman's hand in his and drew her over to Merry.

"Hello, darling," said Mike softly, and then to the woman beside him, "Mother, this is Merry. I've been telling you about her."

Merry's eyes flew wide open and she barely managed to bite back a startled exclamation. This lovely woman, who looked not a day over thirty — well, maybe just barely thirty-three or -four—with her wings of raven-hued hair folded about her head and tucked into a great soft knot at the back —this woman was Mike's mother?

The woman's eyes, a deep, shining blue, widened with delight as she caught Merry's expression, and she said to Mike, "Oh, darling, isn't she a lamb? She doesn't believes I'm really your mother. Isnt' she sweet?"

Flushed and awkward, Merry blurted, "Well, honestly, it doesn't seem possible."

Mike said cheerfully, "Oh, she takes good care of herself, I'll say that for her. She's well preserved."

"Angel dear, I hate you for that" said the woman in her soft, lovely voice. Then she turned back to Merry. "I'm so very happy to meet you at last. Mike has simply been raving about you for ages and ages. I've all but grown weary of hearing about you."

"Don't spread it on quite so thick, sweet," protested Mike. "I've only known her two days."

His mother looked up at him in gentle perplexity.

"But isn't this Gloria, the girl you wanted to elope with, only her husband came back and they made up?" she protested.

MERRY'S heart twisted a little but she managed to give Mike a teasing grin.

"Oh, no, Mrs. Channing. That was last week's girl friend. I came into the picture day before yesterday," she said lightly.

Mike's mother winced. "Oh, not Mrs. Channing, dear. I haven't been Mrs. Channing since Mike was two years old."

Merry barely managed not to gasp, and she was scarlet with confusion.

"Oh, I'm sorry—I didn't know."

"But why should you be sorry? You couldn't possibly know. We've never met before, have we? I'm Mrs. Lorimer," said Mike's mother.

"Mrs. Gillespie, angel," Mike corrected her gently.

Once more his mother winced.

"A horrible name. I hate it. I must do something about it," said she. And to Merry, with a gentle smile, "All my friends call me Mimi. And you must, too."

"You might as well," Mike offered pleasantly. "It will save a terrific amount of wear and tear on your memory. She changes names and husbands as often as most women change nail-polish."

"Oh, no, Mike, you're being unfair, really! That's very mean of you," protested Mimi, hurt.

Mike looked straight down at Merry, and when his mother drifted away, smiling and chatting with someone else, he said dryly "So now you know. She's quite a person, is Mimi, but a terrific responsibility. As unpredictable as a child and as irresponsible as a six-week-old pup. But I'm fond of her."

"Well, of course. She's lovely."

"And having five sets of grandparents isn't a bad idea, if you can learn to keep them all straightened out in your mind and stay friendly with them. So far I've managed it."

MERRY drew a deep breath and Mike grinned at her.

"Shocked?" he asked midly.

"Shocked?"

"Well, I understand you look with a dim eye on divorce."

"That's not true. And anyway, it's none of my business."

"Well, of course it is. After all, since you are marrying into the family—"

"Aren't you getting a little tired of that line?"

"Hum-m-m I don't think so. I still find it a bit exciting." He laughed at her warmly. "Look, Precious, let's get out of here. There are places to go and things to do and people to be avoided."

"Avoided?"

"Certainly. In my mood, I have no desire to share you. Let's find a place for dinner where neither of us knows a soul and where we can hold hands and gaze into each other's eyes and be idiotic, as people who have just tumbled headlong into love have every right to be."

Merry looked across the room to where his lovely, incredibly youthful-looking mother was the center of a little knot of admiring men and asked, "Shouldn't you see your mother home first, or something?"

"Mimi? She is home. This is her place—didn't you know?"

"Goodness, no."

"Well, there's no reason you should. Come along."

"But if she is my hostess, shouldn't I say goodby to her and thank her for the party?" She broke off, flushed, as he laughed at her.

"Not unless you want to bewilder her to the point of tears," he grinned at her. "I doubt seriously if she knows the names of half a dozen people here and probably those were not invited."

And Merry, a little subdued because it seemed so strange and alien to all the established rules of hospitality that held good in Marshallville, yielded and let Mike draw her out of the room and into the elevator.

Looking At Life - - By Erich Brandeis

AS you know, thousands of poems and songs have been written about Love.

Scores of definitions have been given for it, each different from the other, depending on whether the definer was a biologist, psychiatrist or lover.

BRANDEIS

But now comes Mr. J. C. Puett of Temple, Texas, with an illustration of love, the like of which I have never heard.

He wrote it in 1936, he says, and it is, according to him "what makes the world go round—Love."

I shall quote him, but I shall let you draw your own conclusions whether these words are your idea of love.

Here goes:

"Let me relate of a bullfight
That once I saw in sunny Spain,
The fight was fast and to the last
I thought the toreador would be slain.
The toreador stood in a frightened mood,
His every nerve was tense and alert;
The big mad bull was rushing on full
To crush him quickly in the dirt.
The bull once more with bellows and roar,
Rushing could scarcely have missed him:
What did the toreador do? He quickly said 'Moo'
And the bull came right up and kissed him."

That, ladies and gentlemen, is Mr. Puett's of Temple, definition of love.

And, when you come to think of it, it is about as good a one as most of the others I have seen.

By the way, my Temple friend has just celebrated his seventy-fourth birthday and apparently is still going strong.

SPEAKING of—Mr. Puett should pardon the expression—elderly people, I had a very interesting letter from the lady in Nicktown, Pa., who had asked me not to print her name.

She now gives me permission to give her full name, and she tells me that the whole town knew it anyway.

But not only that. I had a letter from Mrs. Irene Abbott of Pittsburgh, Pa., who wrote:

"You seem to have a guessing contest on! At once I seemed to recognize this lady you speak of. In my opinion her name is Mrs. Mrs. Amelia Kirsch. Right?" (Right! E. B.)

Then Mrs. Abbott challenges Mrs. Kirsch to a duel.

I said in my column that, in spite of her advanced years, Mrs. Kirsch loves to laugh.

Mrs. Abbott says her own mother, who is 73 and still lives in Nicktown, likes a good laugh every bit as much as Mrs. Kirsch, or even more so.

"Put these two ladies together," she writes, "and tell a good story, and see which one can laugh the loudest and longest."

As soon as the weather gets better and I clean up that story a little, I shall go to Nicktown and tell it to Mrs. Kirsch and Mrs. Abbott's mother.

AGREEMENTS BLASTED

Blow At High Prices

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—A flank attack on the high price structure of hundreds of every day articles will soon be delivered by the federal government as a result of a quiet study of decartelization and industrial deconcentration in Germany that has been made by special representatives of the Department of Justice, the Federal Trade Commission and the Economic Recovery administration.

The investigators, who went abroad at the suggestion of Army Secretary Kenneth B. Royall, spent December overseas in an effort to discover how the Potsdam Pact and subsequent military laws requiring the breakup of these vast, international monopolies had been carried out in the American Zone of the Reich.

TUCKER

They will report that General Lucius D. Clay's legal staff has already smashed the grip which Germany's mighty industrial machine had on prices, production and markets throughout the world, and especially in the United States.

ABOLISHED: More than 100 of these arrangements, which fixed artificial prices and created production shortages to maintain profits at a high level, have been abolished. More than three hundred are still under study, and will eventually be outlawed.

Only the operation of the statutes of limitation will prevent many large American firms from being indicted as anti-trust violators on the basis of evidence discovered abroad. These monopolistic agreements became inoperative when the United States declared war on Hitler, and Germany's collapse severed the tieup between Berlin industrialists and their overseas allies.

CONTROLS: Germany's control over the production, the prices and the marketing of these essential products derived from the fact that her scientists and manufacturers owned the patent rights. They dominated the world output of drugs, chemicals, dyestuffs, photographic and optical equipment, intricate machinery parts and hundreds of gadgets required in the manufacture of consumer goods.

In order to enjoy the right to produce and sell these things, firms in other countries had to sign hard-and-fast contracts with respect to prices and the rate of output. The general aim of these arrangements was to crush competition, and to maintain a high price structure by limiting production. It is believed that many articles, especially drugs and medicines, could sell for far less if it were not for these foreign controls on domestic producers.

IMPOSSIBLE: These cartelists frequently entered into agreements prohibited by the anti-trust laws, but it was almost impossible for the Federal Trade Commission or the D of J to obtain sufficient evidence for indictment and prosecution. With Hitler's defeat, a shipload of these secret documents fell into our hands.

Retail prices of many of the articles have been kept inordinately excessive by these monopolistic practices. Although inflated production costs may prevent many of these goods from showing a sharp decline immediately, a sizeable drop should be noticeable when manufacturing conditions return to normal in this country.

CHECK-UP: Incidentally, this survey highlights a phase of the German collapse which has frequently impressed Army-Navy, diplomats and industrial experts, but which has escaped general attention. Churchill, for instance, refers to its importance in his volume entitled "The Gathering Storm."

This is the first time in world history that the secret archives, patents, war machine blueprints, diplomatic communiques, economic arrangements, plans of world conquest etc. of a great, highly industralized nation have been ransacked by the victors. Never before was the biography of a once first-class power so available for study.

Moreover, many of the brilliant but evil geniuses who rebuilt Germany after World War I until she could hold the world at bay for almost six years have had their brains picked by allied experts. Cross-questioning and a check-up of all these documents enabled our investigators to force the truth out of the obstinate.

RESULT: As a result of these post-mortems, we have had access to every secret German operation, from raising a special breed of canaries in the Hartz Mountains to the famous and ingenious banter scheme by which Hjalmar Sochacht obtained raw materials without putting up a nickel.

These discoveries give us a two-fold advantage. They should enable us to prevent any other nation from repeating the process. And they should give us a few tips on how to keep strong militarily and industrially.

HOOVER: Herbert Hoover recently discovered that a president is without honor—or at least recognition—in the Capital of the country he once ruled.

When he appeared to testify on government reorganization, the Senate Committee set the hearing for the 1000-seat Caucus Chamber in anticipation of a large turnout. Exactly forty people showed up, and they included many "professionals" who find Capitol Hill performers cheaper and sometimes more exciting than the movies.

As Mr. Hoover walked through the lobby of his hotel, a stranger accosted him with the remark: "Haven't I met you somewhere?"

"No," smiled Mr. Hoover, "but you may have seen my picture in the paper. I used to be President of the United States!"

CONTRACTED: "It is not true," asked W. C. T. of Clovis, N. M., "that Secretary Forrestal, as head of Dillon, Reed, and General Draper as vice-president, and John Foster Dulles as their attorney, contracted with Hitler to finance the building of his war machine on his promise to attack and overthrow Soviet Russia? If this is true, are these men not World War II criminals?"

Answer: In reply to W. C. T. and others who have asked similar questions, it is true that in the twenties, and even later, Dillon, Reed and many other New York banks floated loans to a rebuilding Germany. That was brought out in the Johnson investigation of foreign loans in 1931.

But there is no evidence anywhere that these loans were advanced on condition that Germany or Hitler "attack and overthrow Soviet Russia." They were made in the ordinary course of international finance, although most of them turned out to be sour and a loss to American investors, as did most of the funds advanced to South American countries headed by dictators. That was the era of high, wide and handsome dollar diplomacy.

It must be remembered, however, that both London and Washington were more afraid of Russia than they were of Hitler in the early and middle thirties. Till the last minute before the Hitler-Stalin pact in August of 1939, Britain had hoped, and conspired to that effect, that Germany's first and major assault would be against Moscow, not the western European nations.

London wanted the two Fascists and Communist powers to destroy themselves in a suicidal war and there is evidence that the U. S. looked sympathetically on this policy. That would have removed two threats, and the so-called capitalistic nations would have reigned supreme. Stalin so concluded, and double-crossed (or outsmarted) them by signing up with Berlin.

ON DEFENSE OF FILIBUSTER

Behind Scenes Moves Are Hit

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—There is more than meets the eye behind the current forensic and pyrotechnic display over a change in Senate rules to permit limitation of debate, a change agitated so strongly now in order to check filibustering by southerners so the civil rights program can be brought forward with some chance of success.

STOKES

More than the civil rights program, as such, is involved. This battle has to do not only with the economic and political liberation of a large section of our country, the South, but, radiating from that, it concerns the future of the Democratic party as a progressive party on a national scale, and the vitality of political progressivism in the nation as a whole.

GOPs Look To Election

There are powerful interests which, for selfish reasons of their own, want none of those things. That's why the battle thus far has been largely a sham battle and will continue to be a sham battle if those interests have their way, for they operate through both parties An understanding of this is necessary for an understanding of the maneuvers you'll see from now on, on and off stage.

We now see Republicans whipping themselves into the lather of a crusade, which is very fine to watch even if they accomplished nothing whatever for civil rights during the two years they were in control of Congress. They saw President Truman steal the issue away from them in the presidential campaign, despite the southern wing of his party, and the President's courageous stand won him support that was translated into votes. There is another election two years hence, of which Republicans already are thinking.

In spite of the President's position, Democrats are muddling and straddling because of the sensitivity of a wing of their party which is still formidable in Congress, meaning the southern wing. The Senate Democratic leadership hesitates to offend this group.

But it is necessary to go behind the political shadow-boxing to find the real meaning of the civil rights fight. Basic economic issues and interests are involved.

An investigation of the States' Rights movement in the South in the last campaign by this and other reporters revealed its backing by powerful economic interests, which was no surprise to anybody who knows anything about the South, its politics and its economics. Again, as before, the racial issue was exploited by these interests for their purposes.

Their object in the last election was to beat President Truman because of his espousal of economic and social reforms that affected the privileges they have so long enjoyed in the South, just as, in other years, the object was to beat Franklin D. Roosevelt for the same reason.

They want to preserve the status quo, including cheap labor and the bonds that go along with a low-wage economy. Some of these shackles were shaken loose by New Deal measures of the Roosevelt era, such as the Wagner Act to guarantee collective bargaining so that workers would organize to help themselves; the wage-hour act to lift wages and improve working conditions for unorganized workers; loans to farm tenants so they could buy farms of their own and become independent. President Truman proposes to go along with this program and expand it.

Would Change South

His civil-liberties program is designed to strike off the last chains through political liberation of both whites and negroes who now are prevented from voting by various restrictions, and by removal of discriminations in employment so that negroes can improve their status economically.

This would promote political progressivism in the South, which is an aspiration very close to President Truman's heart, and that, in turn, would tend in time to eliminate the stand-pat southern conservatives from the party and from Congress so the party could become a truly progressive party in Congress and in the nation.

Special interests, which have fattened on the feudalistic and paternalistic system in the South, naturally do not want this. So they have their own stake in the fight here, though you'll never see their hand openly. Nor are these interests confined to the south. Some of them are interests located elsewhere which have investments in the South. They work through both political parties.

They found the Republican-Southern Democratic coalition of the last several Congresses very helpful, and encouraged it. They would like to keep the southern conservative wing of the Democratic party very much alive, for it works in their behalf whichever party is in power.

STOCKS MAKE SMALL GAINS

NEW YORK, Feb. 9. (AP)—The stock market shrugged off violent fluctuations in commodities today and close with gains of fractions to more than a point.

It was the first advance in the general level of stock prices after a week of persistent declines which put the market at the lowest average since Nov. 30.

Stocks advanced greatly in early trading and held modest gains through the session.

Commodity prices got a buying shot in the arm just before the close by a statement from Secretary of Agriculture Brannan, who said he saw nothing in the basic economic situation to warrant the current market break in staple prices. Stock traders, so far as market strategy was concerned, were not impressed with the secretary's statement.

Demand for stocks was never aggressive. Turnover shrank to 880,000 shares from 960,000 yesterday.

Brokers reported that numerous stocks have been driven down to levels at which many investors and speculators consider them attractive buys. On Monday prices, as measured by the Associated Press average of 60 stocks, declined to 62.9, a low since Nov 30. The market now is only a shade above that figure.

The Associated Press average advanced .3 of one point to 63.1.

Farnsworth Television and Radio, one of the most active issues, gave a little flavor to the market. The stock opened ⅛ lower but came back to close ⅝ down at 9⅛. International Telephone and Telegraph, at the request of the New York stock exchange, issued a statement saying the board today would consider a proposal to acquire the company.

The I. T. and T. statement, after the market had closed, said that agreement for the sale had been reached in principle, on the basis of one share of I. T. and T. stock for each 12 of Farnsworth. Following the announcement, Farnsworth stock dropped to around 1½ on the San Francisco exchange, or 1¾ below New York's close. I. T. and T. finished here at 9¼, up ⅛.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Feb. 9 (AP) — Cotton futures moved over a wide range in nervous dealings today, with price movements following somewhat the trend in grains.

In early dealings the market was more than $1 a bale under the previous close on commission house and local liquidation, but subsequently rebounded on aggressive mill buying and short covering which appeared to meet an oversold condition. Thereafter the market fluctuated under alternate influences of liquidation and trade buying, but turned firm late dealing as support broadened. There was replacement demand for the new crop months on the theory that prices were under the probable loan level for the next cotton crop.

Late afternoon prices were $1.90 to $2.46 a bale higher than the previous close. March 32.00, May 31.72 and July 30.49

Trade buying and shorting lifted values to the best levels of the day, in the final minutes of trading.

Futures closed $1.50 to $3.10 a bale higher than the previous close.

Grain

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Feb. 9 (AP) — Grains bounded back from an early break on the board of trade today, recovering all their lost ground and going above previous closing prices.

It was a day of wide prices swings and very active trading.

Wheat fell more than 9 cents, corn more than 6 cents and oats more than 3 cents. At one time all contracts on the board sold at a new low since trading in them started.

At their lows wheat was down 23½ to 26⅝ cents from the high of Saturday, January 29 — only ten trading days ago. Corn was down 30¼ to 31 ¾ cents, oats 12¾ to 14⅛ cents, and lard $3.78 to $3.93 cents a hundred pounds.

Although the decline was not as steep as last year at this time, it was enough to cause a good deal of short covering and to bring in a large amount of new speculative buying.

The advance was helped along by evidences of greater activity of mills in wheat, an indication that flour business may have picked up as a result of yesterday's crash. Traders also noted less favorable comments on the Kansas winter wheat crop in the weekly weather bureau survey.

Wheat closed 1⅝-4¾ higher, May $2.06-2.08⅝, corn was 3⅜-6⅝ higher, May $1.21⅛-1.22¼, oats were 2⅛-2¾ higher, May 83¼-⅝ and lard was 85 to $1.05 a hundred pounds higher, May $12.00 to $12.05.

In the cash market o. 2 yellow corn sold as low as $1.16¼, a new bottom since September, 1945, when the price was $1.14⅞. The last OPA ceiling on this grade was $1.46½. The government loan here is estimated at $1.36.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Feb. 9 (AP) — Wheat No. 1 hard 2.28½-35½. Oats No. 2 white 87¼-89¾. Sorghums No. 2 yellow milo per 100 lbs. 2.37-42.
