Eisenhower Assails Attitude Of French

Revival Of German Trade, Industry Said Necessary To U. S. Pocketbook

By JAMES F. KING
Associated Press Staff Writer

FRANKFURT, Germany, Nov. 29—Gen. Eisenhower, again criticizing French opposition to a central administration for Germany, declared today that revival of German trade, industry and agriculture was necessary to save the American taxpayer's money.

A humanitarian" policy requires that food be imported into Germany without thought of eventual repayment, Eisenhower said in a report on conditions in Germany in October, his last monthly summation before he left to become U. S. Army chief of staff.

Report From Price

Only yesterday the White House disclosed a report on Germany to President Truman by former Censorship Director Byron Price which criticized French occupational policies.

Eisenhower declared that French opposition to setting up central administrative machinery for occupied Germany continued all through October "and only in November were there indications of progress in obtaining establishment of central German administrative agencies."

He said the French likewise opposed a law to authorize a federation of German trade unions on a national basis, with the French delegate declaring he would sign the law "only if each individual zone commander were permitted to forbid federation of trade unions within his zone with those outside."

Little Progress Made

"On a number of other important matters, moreover, little progress was made during the month," Eisenhower commented.

He declared that revival of German agriculture, industry and trade, which is being encouraged by the military government, and the organization of German administrative machinery to assume responsibility for the program, were necessary to avoid expense to the American treasury.

Eisenhower said that while restlessness has been noted in Germany "there is no indication of organized resistance, and the number of crimes of violence is in the aggregate still very small."

His report a month earlier had said there was dangerous unrest which was "just one step" from organized resistance.

Influx Of Refugees

He warned that an influx of refugees and returning prisoners of war, boosting the population in the American zone close to 20,000,000 "carries with it potential dangers of unrest and disease, despite all efforts to house and feed these people."

Regarding German politics, Eisenhower said the time-con-

Japs Take Up Reform Path

TOKYO, Friday, Nov. 30 (AP)—A member of Japan's House of Peers, who expressed belief the Pacific war would have been avoided had the Japanese nation been informed of President Roosevelt's personal message to the emperor, asked today that the government divulge the circumstances leading to the war.

Japan's cabinet and Diet moved gingerly today along the path of reform.

Proposals Numerous

Numerous proposals are being made. One, by Miyata, member of the appointive, aristocratic House of Peers, was for the substitution of an elective, commoner upper chamber similar to the United States Senate.

But early indications were that the government reform measure would be limited to changes in the method of selecting the House of Representatives.

Appearing before the peers, Premier Kijurno Shidehara said "as a matter of principle" the present constitution requires no amendment. He insisted the document "is not contradictory with Japan's democracy" although he advocated revision of some points which might be misinterpreted.

Potsdam Declaration

Joji Matsumoto, minister without portfolio and cabinet expert on the constitution, told the peers that acceptance of the Potsdam declaration did not "necessarily entail an obligation on Japan's part to revise the constitution immediately."

Introduction of a resolution demanding investigation of individuals responsible for the war appeared imminent. It is problematical whether it will include demand for an investigation of the Diet itself.

A measure for revision of the election laws was scheduled for introduction today.

Sweeping Changes

Other proposals in the House of Peers by Miyata were aimed at sweeping changes in the current political and religious machinery surrounding the imperial court.

Japan's Liberal party leader yesterday told the apparently apathetic Diet that "the emperor system must be retained" as a bulwark against "possible dictatorship."

Only scattered hand clapping greeted the remarks of the Liberal chieftain, Ichiro Hatoyama, and again when Premier Kijuro Shidehara agreed with him.

Although the subject of the emperor hitherto has been taboo in the House of Representatives, none of the Diet members appeared outraged at this departure from precedent.

Instead they broke the monotony by heckling Shidehara, but it was mild in comparison with yesterday's boisterous session, when the old premier was laughed down.

The House of Peers also broke precedent and opened its doors to the press at General MacArthur's orders.

The Nippon Times had complained and the headquarters order said the closed doors were "contrary to the aims of the supreme commander in fostering freedom of speech and democratic principles."

Flu Incidence Over Nation Up Sharply

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (AP)—Current incidence of influenza throughout the nation is higher than the average of the past five years, boosted by an unusually large number of cases in six states, the United States Public Health service reported today.

"We have no reports of any explosive outbreaks of epidemic proportion," Brock C. Hampton of the health service staff told a reporter, "but the incidence for the week ended Nov. 24 is above normal expectancy in the six states of Texas, South Carolina, Virginia, Colorado, Indiana and Utah."

He said the total number of cases reported for that week was 5,090, compared with a five-year average of 1,854 for the same period. Eighty-five per cent of the total, he said, were in the six states listed, with Texas having 40 per cent of them.

HST Says Big Three Meetings Are Over

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29. (AP)—President Truman today vetoed talk of any more meetings with Generalissimo Stalin and Prime Minister Attlee. He said he is looking to the United Nations to solve problems heretofore reserved for the Big Three.

At the same time, the President expressed confidence in Russian cooperation for world peace and said he does not share fears that lack of cooperation by Russia would lead to war.

Busy News Conference

In a busy few minutes at his news conference the President also:

1. Revealed that negotiations are under way for revision of Allied control machinery in Germany—particularly for a change in the requirement that no action affecting all four occupation zones can be taken until the United States, Britain, France and Russia are unanimously agreed.

2. Said that Gen. George C. Marshall will leave for China in three or four days as special envoy. Marshall will be under instructions to carry out established American policy in China and his instructions will be published.

3. Promised full discussion at a later date of the whole situation of reconverting international affairs from war to peace.

Views On United Nations

4. Expressed conviction that most other nations are as wholeheartedly in favor of the United Nations as is the United States.

The Presidents foreign affairs discussion began incidental to his prepared report on the progress of reconversion of the American economy to peacetime activities. This described the first 100 days of reconversion within the country.

After it was finished Bert Andrews of the New York Herald Tribune asked the President whether he could say anything about the first 100 days of reconversion on the international front—days characterized by such incidents as the explosive resignation earlier this week of Ambassador Hurley, the congressional blast at UNRRA, scattered evidences of weakening cooperation among the Allied powers and particularly by two fears.

Fears Regarding Russia

The reporter said these fears are first, that Russia will not cooperate in world peace efforts and second, that non-cooperation by Russia will lead to war.

Mr. Truman, standing behind his big shiny desk, began answering the question before it was completed. He said that he does not share either of those fears and that he will discuss the situation fully at a later date when the turmoil gets hot enough. Someone suggested that if seems pretty hot now and, amid laughter, the President said well, let it settle down a bit.

Elliott Roosevelt Is Dropped From New York Register

NEW YORK, Nov. 29. (AP)—Brig. Gen. Elliott Roosevelt, son of the late President, has been dropped from the New York social register, the 1946 edition showed today. James Roosevelt, another son, was added.

Also dropped was John Hay (Jock) Whitney, who is married to James Roosevelt's former wife, Betsey Cushing.

A spokesman for the Social Register association, publishers of the register, said that no information ever was given as to why names were dropped or added.

Prices Hiked On 'Cheap' Products

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (AP)—OPA today decided to permit manufacturers of furniture and some cotton products to raise prices to encourage manufacture of cheap goods which virtually disappeared during the war.

OPA has not decided yet whether all or part of the increases may be charged at retail or whether dealers will be required to absorb them.

Dropped Many Items

OPA explained that as a result of rising costs, manufacturers of furniture and cotton bed spreads, table cloths and napkins had concentrated production on highest price lines which return a greater profit.

This has caused the "almost complete disappearance" from the market of essential low and medium-priced furniture, the agency said. It added that the effect on cotton goods has been the same.

The furniture program is to go into effect early next year. It allows manufacturers price increases ranging from four to 20 per cent on about two-thirds of the various types of furniture produced in March, 1942. Prices for the other third of production, representing each producer's most expensive furniture line, will not be changed.

Cotton manufacturers' price increases range from 25 to 40 per

Churchman Warns On Far East Crisis . . .

Hurley Charge Upheld

By JAY HARRIS
Avalanche Staff Writer

POSSIBLY the future peace of the world and "certainly the fate of China and the Orient hangs in the balance in the current crisis in the Far East, "Rev. Perry O. Hanson, for 38 years a resident of China, warned in the city last night in giving support to Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley's sensational charges that "career diplomats" were undermining American interests in the Far East.

"It is to our advantage and for the hope of peace to keep an Army in China for awhile as a restraining force on hot-headed Communists forces," Rev. Hanson added as he charted his experiences in the Orient.

Speaking from more than a third of a century of living among the Chinese as a Methodist missionary and backing his statements with authoritative first-hand, eye-witness accounts, Rev. Hanson proposed a policy in the Orient in which the U. S. should live up to its political and religious promises to the Nationalist government of Chiang Kai-Shek, even if it means "kicking the Communists out."

"The potential strength of China is enough to overwhelm the world. Not only does the Chinese race make up one-fourth of the world's population, but the Orient will follow China in whatever direction she goes . . . The stake is terrific," he warned in discussing the present tension.

Labor Parley Approves Arbitration Plan; Lewis Wins Unanimity Fight

By WILLIAM NEEDHAM
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29—Carefully avoiding controversial issues until other business was cleared the labor-management conference agreed today on two phases of voluntary arbitration.

In its first general business session, the conference also approved resolutions opposing racial discrimination and urging establishment of a semi-permanent labor-management advisory committee.

These steps, taken in perfect harmony, followed a successful drive by John L. Lewis to require unanimous approval before any conference resolutions could become effective.

Only three of the six subcommittee reports reached the conference floor and all were speedily adopted. The conference then adjourned until tomorrow (11 a. m. EST), with leaders predicting it would end by tomorrow night.

Most important of the reports adopted were those covering negotiation of initial collective bargaining agreements, and settlement of grievances which arise under present contracts. Both rule out strikes or lockouts until "all other peaceful procedures"—including voluntary arbitration—have been exhausted.

On first agreements, the conference recommended procedure for establishing the basis of collective bargaining, conciliation as a second step, and, finally, voluntary arbitration "if direct negotiations and conciliation have not been unsuccessful."

Grievance Settlements

On grievances under existing contracts, the conference held that they should be settled "without resort to strikes, lockouts, or other interruption to normal operations," and that agreements to that effect should be written into contract renewals.

The proposed grievance machinery contained a provisio that, when arbitration was mutually agreed upon, "the decision of the impartial chairman, umpire, arbitrator or board shall be accepted by both parties as final and binding.

Also voted was a resolution to strengthen the existing federal conciliation service, urging that Congress appropriate funds to expand the agency.

Wages and fact-finding, two prime issues, were not brought up. Conference Secretary George W. Taylor indicated the wage controversy was certain to come before tomorrow's meeting.

Lewis, United Mine Workers president, appealed for the unani-

Truman Pleased At Reconversion Pace

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29. (AP)—President Truman reported with a cheerful smile today that reconversion is ahead of schedule.

He read to his news conference a progress report on "the first 100 days of reconversion" and commented that the administration has not been asleep.

It concluded with the statement that "the cost of living has declined 0.3 of 1 per cent since the surrender of Japan compared with a rise of approximately 1.3 per cent in a comparable period after the last war."

The chief executive emphasized, however, that the country is still in the midst of reconversion, that "inflationary pressures are still great" and that "we must continue to hold the line."

Steelworkers Call Committee Session

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 29 (AP)—Given sanction by its members to take strike action, the CIO United Steelworkers union today called a meeting of its wage policy committee for Dec. 10 to decide how to proceed with its demand for a $2-a-day wage increase affecting nearly 1,000,000 workers.

The union set the meeting date upon the strength of almost complete returns in which steel workers in 29 states declared themselves in favor of a strike by a majority of nearly 5 to 1.

Latest returns totaled 394,969 for a strike and 81,857 against.

Nazis React Variously To Horror Films

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NUERNBERG, Nov. 29.—Twenty Nazi overlords viewed films of the horrors of German concentration camps with reactions ranging from tears to curt indifference at the Nuernberg war crimes trial today.

Fat Hermann Goering, mirthful earlier in the day, sat soberly. Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel wiped his mouth with a white handkerchief, and stalked quickly from the courtroom.

Goering's Record Revealed

The one-hour showing of the shocking pictures of starved, beaten and dead victims of Nazi persecutions followed the reading into the court record of Goering's threats and exultations in the Nazi seizure of Austria in 1938. Goering had been convulsed with laughter repeatedly as the transcript of his telephone conversations at that time was read by the prosecution.

Walther Funk, former minister of economics, bruished tears from the fleshy pockets under his eyes as he watched the films.

Unnerved by the show, the former governor-general of Poland, Hans Frank, sat huddled in his seat without lifting his head for 10 minutes.

Hess Wipes His Palms

Rudolf Hess, the former No. 2 deputy fuehrer appearing more alert to his surroundings than on any occasion since the start of the trial, wiped his sweating palms.

Hjalmar Torace Greeley Schacht, his pinch-penny mouth drawn to a narrow line, refused to look at any of the scenes. Franz von Papen, also refused to look.

Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, German Navy commander in chief, glanced only occasionally at the screen.

Prosecutor's Preface

Thomas J. Dodd, American assistant prosecutor, prefaced the film exhibition with these words to the international military tribunal:

"We intend to prove each and every one of these defendants knew of the existence of these concentration camps and used them as instruments of terror to enforce their controls on the German people, and to obliterate freedom in Germany and the invaded countries.

"The black-shirted gods of the SS and the Gestapo originated and maintained these atrocities."

U. S. Knew Of Jap Pearl Harbor Maps

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29—Maj. Gen. Sherman Miles acknowledged today that the Army had a Japanese message on Oct. 9, 1941, which could be interpreted in "hindsight" as showing the Japanese were making a bomb plat (map) of Pearl Harbor.

But at the time there was no reason to attach particular significance to the message, he insisted, because it was well known the Japanese constantly kept track of movements of American warships.

Assistant With G-2

Miles testified before the joint congressional committee investigating Pearl Harbor. In the months before the attack of Dec. 7, 1941, he was assistant chief of staff in charge of the military intelligence division, known as G-2. It was this division's duty to collect, evaluate and disseminate military intelligence.

His immediate superior was Gen. George C. Marshall, Army chief of staff, who is expected to testify soon. Chairman Barkley (D-Ky) announced today that Marshall wished to be heard before leaving on his assignment as special envoy to China.

Marshall's "Alert"

Marshall's warning to the Hawaiian Army commander to "be on the alert," delivered after the attack, was laid before the committee. It was sent from Washington at 12:18 p. m., (eastern standard time) Dec. 7, 1941, received in Hawaii 45 minutes later but not delivered to Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short until three hours afterward. It went by commercial cable because the Army's radio facilities were not working properly.

"Japanese are presenting at one p. m. eastern standard time today what amounts to an ultimatum, also they are under orders to destroy their code machinery immediately," the message said. "Just what significance the hour set may have we do not know but be on alert accordingly."

Messaged Nov. 27

On Nov. 27, the day after Secretary of State Hull delivered his ten-point note to the Japanese, Marshall sent a message to Short and to General Douglas MacArthur in the Philippines saying that "negotiations with Japan appear to be terminated." He added "Japanese future action unpredictable but hostile action possible at any moment." And he directed the two commanders to "undertake such reconnaissance and other measures as you deem necessary but these measures should be carried out so as not alarm civil population or disclose intent."

The same day Washington messaged the Army intelligence at Hawaii that "hostilities may ensue" and that "subservice activities may be expected."

Short replied briefly Nov. 28 that his department was "alerted to prevent sabotage."

As head of G-2, Miles received copies of all important Japanese messages. The Japanese code had

Threat Denied By Yamashita

By DEAN SCHEDLER
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA, Friday, Nov. 30—Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, the Japanese "Tiger of Malaya" whom General MacArthur defanged in the Philippines, denied under sharp cross-examination today that he had told the Filipino cabinet he would give MacArthur 30 days to get out of Leyte.

Such a boast had been attributed to Yamashita shortly after MacArthur's forces invaded Leyte in October, 1944.

"I did not say such a thing," Yamashita replied to a query of Maj. Robert Kerr, who is prosecuting him before a U. S. military commission on charges of having condoned mass atrocities by his troops.

Denies "Dragging" Boast

"Didn't you say you would drag him (MacArthur) into this room (the Filipino cabinet room) to sign a surrender document?" Kerr asked.

Yamashita denied having made such a statement. Before each reply he dropped his head as he pondered the interpreter's words, but he retained his poise as he answered in slow, precise manner.

Earlier today, the general acknowledged that he did not take any action to prevent, or protect against, shipment of U. S. prisoners of war to Japan in December, 1944, although he knew few ships wer getting through a tight U. S. blockade.

Earlier testimony showed that 1,600 American prisoners of war were jammed into two holds of the Oroyoku Maru, which was bombed by American aircraft in Manila bay and later reached Subic bay. Of the 1,600 only about 300 survived repeated bombings, disease and other ravages to eventually reach Japan.

Ordered Moved To Japan

Yamashita said he knew of an order from the supreme southern command that prisoners were to be dispatched to Japan. "I considered Japan the safest possible place for Japanese civilians and American prisoners because of imminent combat" on Luzon, he said.

When Kerr probed into the massacre of Americans on Palawan island, Yamashita said he learned the prisoners were working on an airfield, but explained that because the place had not been brought under American air attack he considered it safe.

When the field was attacked by American bombers, the Yank prisoners were sent to fiery deaths in an air raid shelter by Japanese guards who poured gasoline on them and ignited it, prosecution witnesses had testified.

Defense Orders

Kerr told Yamashita he had a report from a liaison committee of the Japanese imperial army, Tokyo, that specific defense orders had been transmitted to Yamashita early in January by the supreme southern command.

Kerr said these orders instructed Yamashita to hold the city (presumably Manila) and air bases firmly, but if he had to relinquish them, to leave them so that the enemy (Americans) could not use them. The instructions further stated that air and sea bases must be destroyed before American occupation, and that Manila must be defended to the utmost and all utilities destroyed, Kerr added.

Yamashita denied that he had

Meeting Set Next Tuesday

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, Nov. 29 — General Motors tonight accepted an invitation to discuss with the government the strike which for nine days has kept 225,000 GM workers of the country idle.

The corporation, which earlier today turned its back on further negotiations with the striking CIO United Auto Workers until the union "modifies" its demands, agreed to discuss the strike with the Labor department.

Telephone Invitation

Edgar L. Warren, chief of the Federal Conciliation service, extended the invitation by telephone tonight to Harry W. Anderson, GM vice president, and the invitation was promptly accepted. The two will meet next Tuesday at 10 a. m. in Washington.

Warren said in Washington the purpose of his discussion with Anderson would be to try to get negotiations "resumed as soon as possible."

In a press conference previously, President C. E. Wilson said General Motors would not return to negotiations over the union's demand for a 30 per cent wage rate increase until the union had offered a modification and halted "illegal picketing" of GM plants.

Anderson said he would bring to the conference with Warren "such other" members of GM's staff as he believed necessary to present the corporation's side of the issue which has resulted in a halt to all General Motors' production.

Vandalism Reward

Elsewhere on the GM strike front tonight, the UAV-CIO in Saginaw, Mich., announced that it would give a $100 reward for the "arrest and conviction" of persons responsible for vandalism in that city.

Bricks had been hurled through the window of the home of one Saginaw General Motors executive and a log was rolled up against the door of another. The union disclaimed any responsibility.

Wilson, in his press conference, reviewed General Motors' position again in the wage dispute and demanded an end to the type of unlawful picketing which he called "illegal."

He outlined the General Motors position a few hours after President Truman in Washington had expressed approval of a recommendation by the advisory board of the War Mobilization and Recon-

Iran Announces Russian Threat

LONDON, Nov. 29. (AP)—A spokesman of the Iranian embassy declared today Russia had threatened to reinforce Red Army garrisons in northern Iran if fresh Iranian troops moved up into that troubled area, where insurgent activities now are reported to have spread to a third province.

In Washington, Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala quoted a Russian note to Iran as saying that bloodshed would result if more Iranian forces moved northward, and that this would necessitate Russia's sending more Soviet forces into Iran. Russia occupies the northern part of the country under a wartime agreement with Britain and Iran.

Request Rejected

Both Ala and the spokesman here said Russia had rejected Iran's request to send reinforcements northward after disorders, blamed by the Iranian government on "separatists," broke out last week in Azerbaijan, the northwest province of Iran bordering Russia.

A Russian commander stopped four battalions of Iranians near Kazvin, northwest of Tehran, refusing to allow them to go further.

Dispatches from Tehran, meanwhile, said that civil disturbances had spread to three northwestern provinces, as a force of insurgents pushed toward Resht, 15 miles from the Caspian sea, in Gilan province.

LEVELLAND, Nov. 29.—Somewhere in New York harbor tonight, Seaman 1-C Shirley Bert Lindsay, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Complete with flowers and attendants, a large picture of the groom looking on and a stand-in for the husband-to-be, the ceremony was conducted with the Rev. Sam A. Thomas, pastor of the First Methodist church of Levelland officiating. The ceremony was read at 8:30 o'clock.

Friends of the couple said that upon three occasions the pair had planned their wedding date only to have the changing fortunes of war and shipping interfere. So, finally the proxy wedding was arranged with plans made for Seaman Lindsay to listen in by long distance telephone from New York. However, he called Wednesday to say that he would have to be on duty the night of his wedding but to go ahead with plans as originally made. So . . .

Failure To Control Atom Bomb Would Increase World Tension

By EULALIE McDOWELL
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 — A leading atom-bomb expert told Congress today that failure to control atomic weapons would lead to a world in which "every ripple on the international scene will make us wonder whether the atomic bombs may not arrive before morning."

Dr. Harold C. Urey, University of Chicago professor who played a major part in atom bomb work, painted the grim picture of a world ruled by fear in testimony before the special Senate Aatomic energy committee.

Will Leave Cities

Should international attempts to control the atom bomb fail, he said, "tensions" will mount "beyond anything we have ever seen or experienced."

"In a few years we will begin moving our families far from big cities and industrial plants if we can afford to do so," he said, and then will come the fear that at any moment atom bombs might fall, delivered by an unknown foe.

"Testifying before a Senate committee is an unusual experience for me," Urey said, "but it will be much more exciting when this building becomes an important and probable target for atomic bombs in that future war."

When an atom war comes, he continued, the country attacked would probably have concealed the launching sites for its atomic bombs and hence would be able to retaliate and destrow the cities too. After that, he said, "we start a war with ordinary weapons and finish it that way."

"Any course that it took," he added, "would be disastrous for victor and vanquished."

Urey said the time to do something about this threat to mankind's future is "now or preferably three months ago." He said atom bombs "must not be made by any country and must not be stored any place in the world if we are to have any feeling of security . . . on this all too small planet."

Halsey's elevation would complete the roster of four fleet admirals authorized by Congress.

Profit Said Made On Grazing Beef Cattle

Approximately $25 an acre on a 35-acre pasture grazing beef cattle for only 91 days has been grossed by John Ewen, farming 10 miles west and three miles south of Plainview, according to information collected and released by C. A. Robinson, Soil Conservation Service worker.

Three pounds beef gain daily was reported on his 402-pound-average steers with the help on an alfalfa-brome grass pasture and 10 pounds daily gain per steer was given from ground hegari bundles.

The steers were bought April 17 with a total weight of 13,280 pounds. On July 18, after two died from bloating with a total weight of about 1,000 pounds, Ewen marketed 21,380 pounds of beef. This is a net gain in weight of 8,100 pounds.

The beef sold at 13 cents a pound giving $1,053 gross profit. Hegari cost $180 leaving $873 net profit, which is about $25 per acre of grass-legume pasture for half of the growing season.

SCS Cooperated in Planting

Ewen said he used about 20 acres of native grass pasture also but "it did not produce much. It was too dry."

The pasture was planted by Ewen in cooperation with the Hale County Wind Erosion district, assisted by the SCS. District SCS engineers have assisted him by laying out lines for irrigation ditches, laterals and row directions to save labor, time and moisture.

His pasture plantings are building soil by the addition of humus, animal manure and nitrogen from the use of legumes. After pasturing for several years, he plans to rotate the pasture to new ground and follow with "cash" crops.

Ewen is planting 15 acres more of grass and legume mixtures using orchard, Meadow Fescue, Harding and Perennial rye grasses with Ladino clover and alfalfa in his mixtures.

Bloating Kills Several

Bloating and loss of two of the steers has not discouraged him. Several head of cattle continued to graze on the pasture and Ewen says "not a one of them has bloated since." A carload of lambs are now on the pasture and will graze through the fall.

The loss of animals by bloat is similar to experiences of three other men who are cooperating in the grazing work. All lost one animal during the same week. No bloating loss has occurred since.

Proper Mixture Given

Most of the men using pastures Ewen say that five pounds of alfalfa an acre is too heavy since that much seed makes alfalfa thick enough for hay. Consensus is that between two and three pounds of alfalfa with 16 to 22 pounds of grass an acre is more nearly the proper mixture. The improved pasture idea is still in the trial stage.

Seven farmers in Hale county are trying a new pasture mixture using Ladino clover, orchard, Meadow Fescue and Harding grasses. After trials in New Mexico it has been recommended over brome and crested wheat grass for the area's climate. Ladino clover is not as likely to cause bloating as alfalfa, according to the SCS.

Men who expect to plant small acreages of this type grasses include T. Hall Brown, Frank Helm, Cloverlake dairy, Ewen, Ralph Walker, J. C. Pace, Kenneth Hoberson and Robinson, all of Hale county.

Emily Hahn And Her British Officer Wed

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 29. (AP) — Arthur Emily Hahn and Major Charles Boxes, British officer whom he named in her autobiography as the father of her child, were married here late Wednesday.

Justice of the Peace Irving S[illegible] ed the ceremony in the city hall office of Andrew Casolina, registrar of vital statistics who had issued the couple their license.

Probate Judge Clifford Sturges granted a waiver of the blood test and five-day waiting period required by Connecticut law.

Judge Sturges said the couple already had had a blood test in New York, where they were refused a wedding license Tuesday, and that he had no hesitancy in waiving the Connecticut requirements because "it was simply a question of whether they would get married today or five days from now."

Peace Or War May Hinge On Few Months Ahead Of United Nations

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
(AP) World Traveler

LONDON, Nov. 29.—This column ventured the prediction weeks ago that the coming year would largely determine whether we are to have real peace or whether mankind is to commit atomic hara-kiri.

The signs have seemed to me to indicate that in this general period (for I'm not trying to pin the thing down to an exact length of time) we shall encounter the paramount international problem upon which peace hinges.

Must Act Quickly

Now the corollary to this is that the quicker the new United Nations peace organization gets into action to help settle the difficulties, the better will be our chances of avoiding further conflict. With that thought in mind I've been making inquiries in circles of the preparatory commission which is getting things set for the meeting of t heSecurity organization assembly, and have found ready agreement with this thesis.

It is good to be able to report that there is a sense of urgency to get the organization going. Present plans anticipate the meeting of the general assembly the first week in January.

Can Discuss Problems

Then the world's major problems, both political and economic, can come before the United Nations. Indeed, I heard it suggested yesterday that there might be an international trade conference by June.

One of the earliest questions to be dealt with by the assembly will be the control of atomic energy—a subject which is causing international heart-burnings that are smoldering but none the less dangerous. However, there is a wide range of problems which can come before the assembly.

May Broaden Scope

We may see the United Nations organization dealing with some issues which heretofore would have been regarded as not international in character but as purely the business of the nation immediately concerned. Thus a civil war such as now exists in China might become the concern of the world at large since it certainly threatens the peace of more than China.

This doesn't mean that national sovereignty isn't to be respected On the contrary there seems to be a very positive determination not to intrude in the purely domestic matters of any country. It will be passing strange, however, if the security organization doesn't take a hand in case where civil strife threatens international peace.

There also are likely to be cases where individual countries will turn local problems over to the United Nations.

News Briefs

John Rugel of Midland, a freshman student at Texas Technological college in 1941, has become the first Texas student to be awarded the American Legion's national commander's college scholarship, it was announced Thursday by A. C. Jackson, district Legion commander and member of the Legion's national committee on veterans' education, who was instrumental in obtaining recognition for the 21-year-old West Texas youth. Rugel is a student at Washington and Lee university at Lexington, Va., studying commerce and foreign trade. Only four such scholarships are awarded each year in the Nation, and qualifications are high, Jackson said.

Prior to Nov. 14 there had been 12,802 bales of cotton turned out by Lubbock county gins, according to a report Thursday by the bureau of census. This amount compared with 53,906 to the same date in 1944.

Last rites will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Central Baptist church for Mrs. Mary Etta Driver, 63, who died at her home, 1417 Ave. L, Wednesday. Rev. Jeff D. Welch, co-pastor, will officiate and burial will be in Lubbock cemetery under direction of Sanders Funeral home.

Among Lubbock's successful deer hunters to bring home "the bacon" was Frank R. Murray, 2508 Twenty-second, who returned early this week from hunting on the McConnell ranch in San Saba county with two bucks listed on his score sheets.

Chief W/O Lloyd N. Lipscomb, son of Dr. and Mrs. L. N. Lipscomb, is to leave today or tomorrow for Amarillo, where he is to take a plane for the west coast enroute to Guam, in the far Pacific, where he has been assigned to duty with the Coast Guard. His wife and child are to remain here with his parents during his absence from the states.

Memorial Talked For School Bus Victims

CHELAN, Wash., Nov. 29 (AP)—The school children of Chelan, their young lips grim with grief over the loss of 15 comrades in Monday's tragic plunge of a school bus into Lake Chelan, dipped into Christmas savings today to buy a memorial for their dead friends.

As divers prepared for what might be the last attempt to locate the bus in 400 feet or more of water, the children of the junior and senior high schools and Lakeside grade schools gathered in small groups at lunch hour and recess to contribute their money and discuss their plans.

"It was entirely their own idea and we're not interfering with our suggestions," said Chelan School Superintendent Morgan Owings. "They haven't decided just what form their memorial will take, but have spoken of erecting a small monument at one of the schools or buying a 'special kind of book' for the school library.

The six survivors—five children and Mrs. Ted Brown—have reported Driver Jack Randle, 26, made every effort to regain control of the bus when it struck a rock during a blizzard and skidded into the lake. One said the driver went down with the 15 children without making an attempt to escape, only shouting to the youngsters to get out.

Nation's Death Toll In Traffic Accidents Shows New Increase

CHICAGO, Nov. 29 (U.P.) —The National Safety council, citing a rapidly increasing traffic death toll, warned today that this country "is paying an inflationary price in human life for the privilege of indulging in a postwar traffic spree."

Traffic accidents are "getting out of control," it said.

The council reported that traffic deaths throughout the nation went up 53 per cent in October over the same month a year ago and said that the toll for the first 10 months of the year was 14 per cent higher than in 1944.

The largest cities reporting fewer traffic deaths this year than last included Buffalo, N. Y.; Boston, Houston Texas, Columbus, Ohio, Birmingham, Ala., and Philadelphia.

Tulsa, Okla., with a population of 155,000, was the biggest city with a perfect accident record during October.

NO RESPONSE

WE are surprised and disappointed that there had been no response to the query of whether or not Lubbock should remember its needy elderly people at Christmas? Of course various organizations look after the ones in their memberships and church groups always assist, but many lonely couples will be overlooked, we feel sure.

Will someone express an opinion?

Going to Florida this winter? Here's a quote from a slick-paged magazine on the current situation in Miami: "Season here is boiling with an early start with the gambling fraternity already warring with outsiders wanting an in; apartment house owners and realtors screaming for removal of OPA rent ceilings and hotel and club operators opposing their views, claiming removal of rental ceilings would mean unfavorable national publicity breaks before the season even started.

As for night clubs, rumors have every well known New York astro buddha going down there to get on the gravy train." Some fun!

Versatile—William B. Reddick, director of the Ford Sunday Evening hour, is a hard man on his studio audience. Every week he spends a quarter hour rehearsing visitors at Detroit Music hall on the proper rendition of the weekly hymn. Recently, John Hines, producer of the zany "Country Fair" stanza, complained to Reddick about the studio audience on Hines' show. Seems they weren't participating in the "Moo" commercial the way they should. Reddick volunteered for the duty. This week he appears as special guest conductor of the "Moo" commercial on "County Fair."

LOVELORN WRITER

NOTING in last night's news of the death of "Beatrice Fairfax," 70, originator of the advice to the lovelorn column published for years by many newspapers, we thought that some mention should be made of this woman who gave them one for the money. You likely won't find her name listed in the names of outstanding women journalists of the century, but she was original and she had following and undoubtedly did some good and for those things we think she should be remembered.

The women who stacked Beatrice Fairfax's desk with letters of "heart trouble," weren't interested in psycho-analysis (if they ever heard of the word) or in Equal Rights amendment, in what made headlines on page one or the topics that furnished material for editorials. They wanted to know answers to such matters as "Can you doubt the man who tells you you are gorgeous almost before he knows your name?

"Would you marry a man who frets about little things?

"Should you forgive the man who stands you up on a date without a good reason?"

"Will a 'man about town' usually settle down after marriage?

"My boy friend is a bragger and boasts of affairs with girls in other towns. Should I over look this little fault?"

These are something like the puzzling queries that poured to the columnist's desk for years and years. Who knows but that she started a trend in soul-searching that has inspired countless magazine articles, radio programs and such organizations as the Family Life institutes run by Dr. Paul Popenoe?

STORK GROUNDS MASCOT

G. E. WENDT, jr., photographer 2-c, now stationed on Guam, who has been in the Navy for two years and is serving his second stretch overseas, has sent a clever clipping to his mother. Quote:

Kayo, one of the flyingest canines ever to set foot in the Pacific war area, is getting more attention these days from the squadron members of VD-1 on Guam than she has ever had in her life. Reason for the sound and fury is the time-honored ritual of motherhood. The blessed event is to be soon.

Before going to Guam, Kayo had many hours in the air during the squadron's operational training back in the states. She has also had plenty of flying time in the Pacific, but doesn't even draw the 50 per, and now, of course, she is grounded temporarily.

Wendy was awarded the Air Medal for meritorious acts while participating in an aerial flight over the Japanese home island of Kyushu July 2.

American, Chinese Women Discussed

Dr. Mina W. Lamb and K. D. Deng, guest speakers for Lubbock Business and Professional Women's club at a dinner meeting Wednesday night at Hilton hotel made comments relating to the working woman of America and education of Chinese women.

Dr. Lamb, who is associate professor of foods and nutrition at Texas Technological college, spoke on the subject which was theme of National Business Women's week this fall, "Jobs Enough to Go Around." She discussed the Equal Rights bill, pro and con, and said the idea that men want their wives to remain in the home seems to be a tradition rather than a reality when the question of economical dependence arises.

Deng, a Chinese agricultural trainee and graduate of Nanking university, who is spending several months in Lubbock, said that not more than ten per cent of Chinese women are educated but that the government is encouraging girls to go to school now. He said women and men receive equal pay on "white collar" jobs and that about the only field closed to women of his country is that of politics.

The program was arranged by the educational committee with Miss Hattie Herm as chairman, assisted by Mrs. Horace Hawkins and Miss Gertrude Herm.

Mrs. A. F. Rasor, Miss Florine Hopper and Miss Marie Weaver were guests.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29. (U.P.) — President Truman said today that reconversion of U. S. industry from war to peace production was well on its way toward completion.

In a news conference review of the first 100 days of reconversion, Mr. Truman said total employment was rising after the initial post-war layoffs and was now back at the level of V-J Day. He added that employment is expected to continue to rise.

Mr. Truman said the disruption of our economy by the return of peace was much less severe than had been anticipated and reiterated that recoversion was almost completed.

Lovelorn Columnist Dies In Washington

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29. (U.P.) — Beatrice Fairfax will give no more advice to the lovelorn.

Mrs. Marie Manning Gasch, 70, known to millions of Americans as the "Beatrice Fairfax" whose daily newspaper column tackled problems of the lonely human heart, died at her home of heart failure yesterday. The funeral will be private.

Although she had many imitators, Mrs. Gasch was the first author of "advice to the lovelorn" columns and her name has been famed in song, story and humorous anecdote for many years.

Dallas Files Test On OPA Authority

DALLAS, Nov. 29. (AP)—The city of Dallas and the OPA went before the United States emergency court of appeals today in a test case to determine if the OPA's regulations apply to state and municipal governments.

Eisenhower Assails French In Report

FRANKFURT, Germany, Nov. 29. (AP) — Gen. Eisenhower in a report released here today, criticised the French government for hampering the Allied Control Council and urged early establishment of central German administrative machinery.

Summarizing the situation in Germany in October, before he left to become chief of the U. S. Army, Eisenhower cited the "potential dangers of unrest and disease this winter."

He declared, however, there was "no immediate emergency in the American and British zones as long as current rations can be maintained."

U. S. Army Helping Get Defense Witnesses For Nazi Leaders

By CARL D. GROAT
Special Correspondent

NUERNBERG, Nov. 29. (U.P.)—The U. S. Army of occupation is scouring Germany to produce defense witnesses needed in the trial here of Nazi leaders.

By way of demonstrating fair play, the Army is combing many out-of-the-way places for men the Nazi criminals want as character witnesses, or to combat the prosecution's constantly mounting evidence that they plotted an aggressive war.

Is No Minor Job

This is no minor job, but it is just one point in the trial which bears many aspects of a laboratory for democracies' diplomacy and fair play-principles the Germans lost touch with during the Hitler rule.

For instance, the American group envisages this tribunal as another of many steps in attempting to get international co-operation.

When trial procedures, rule etc., were under discussion there were some fairly sharp differences but now that members of the court have come to know each other better they are working harmoniously.

Soviets Would Rotate Judge

One instance of initial sharp disagreement was over the proposal, understood to have come from the Russians, for rotation of the presiding judgeship. Final agreement was reached, however, on a permanent president of the court and now all are happy because that permits a continuity of procedure.

This laboratory also contains germs of important lessons for future use. As the history of the Nazi movement unrolls, one of the most striking features is the evasion and final rupture of the Versailles treaty as a preliminary to aggressive war. The Germans, according to testimony, observed the "word" of the treaty but actually trimmed and cheated. The lesson possibly is that vigilance this time is the most important.

Vigilance Said Necessary

The writer has encouraged intelligent Germans who suggest that Germany's future lies in constructive chemistry, such as food development. But it is always possible that destructive chemists will arise, or that international alliances will develop which will give Germany unexpected power, unexpectedly early.

The best military minds say Germany will not be a war menace at any early moment, and even suggest that it will take from 25 to 50 years for her to return to something approaching normalcy. But other possibilities in a highly atomic world aren't overlooked. So one lesson some are drawing is that vigilance is essential, even if the foe is utterly battered now.

Two More Suspects Held In Mexican Case

BROWNSVILLE, Nov. 29. (U.P.)—The Rio Grande murder case scene shifted to Matamoros, Mexico, today with arrest of two suspects for questioning in the deaths of 38 Mexican workers believed killed for their money.

A third man was arrested today in Cameron county, Texas.

While Mexican Federal Prosecutor Emilio Villalobos of Nuevo Laredo prepared to question the suspects, police officers on both sides of the Rio Grande, international boundary between the United States and Mexico, said five more bodies had been found in the river during the last four weeks.

The men were arrested after an alleged attack on five Mexican farm laborers returning to Mexico from the United States four weeks ago. The five told Villalobos they crossed the river in small boats one at a time. On the Mexican bank they were attacked and robbed of about $60 and their clothing. The five escaped by swimming back across the river to the American side.

Weighty Hints Behind Confusing Headlines Bring Encouragement

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 29 — You can find weighty hints behind the confusing headlines of the day, and some of them are encouraging.

President Truman told his press conference today that he saw no need for further Big Three meetings of the United Nations organization functions as it should. According to word from London, it should begin functioning within one to three months.

WHITE

Pessimists may interpret the President's statement as an indication that another Big Three meeting wouldn't accomplish much. But it also is open to the interpretation that the President considers that present pressing international problems can at least be contained until the UNO gets started and working.

News From Moscow

Couple this seeming optimism of the President's with the news from Moscow that Marshal Stalin (who, reports insist, is in good health) is extending his vacation possibly until after the first of the year, and you come up with the idea that the heads of the world's two most powerful nations see no reason to get together at this time.

The President today said again —with emphasis—that he does not fear that Russia won't cooperate or that Russian policies will lead to war.

Just at present the two points on the globe where Russo-American policies and interests have the most immediate chance of clashing are in China and Iran.

Today the Iranian dissidents (whom many suspect or charge have Russian encouragement) have suddenly and without explanation halted their advance toward the capital at Tehran.

Relations Improving

In China there are unconfirmed but persistent reports that relations between Russia and China concerning the Chinese re-occupation of Manchuria are improving and that an agreement of some kind has been reacted. Meanwhile the Chinese Communists have returned to the glum and silent appearance they presented at the time the Russians signed the far-reaching series of treaties with the central government last summer. Central government forces are meeting little or no Communist resistance as they advance into Manchuria.

Rejection among Chinese Communists was noticeable even before the appointment of General George C. Marshall as the new American ambassador to China. His appointment can only be interpreted to mean a considerable strengthening of American foreign policy in China, and perhaps elsewhere.

Policy Said Unchanged

Lest we forget, the official policy in China is to help disarm Japanese troops and promote a strong, united China in the interests of world peace. That policy, according to Washington, has not changed.

But something apparently has happened to activate it sharply within the past two weeks, perhaps developments long planned are just coming to a head. Perhaps new decisions have been made to bring them to a head.

It was about two weeks ago, for instance, that Secretary of State Byrnes said the American government had not discussed with Russia the civil strife in China. He has said nothing one way of another since then.

City Of Albuquerque May Get Pyle Home

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Nov. 29. (U.P.)—The beloved "little white house" had been deeded shortly before her death to the city of Albuquerque by Mrs. Geraldine Pyle as a memorial to her famed war correspondent husband, it was learned here today.

Because of a provision in the deed, however, the city had not accepted the house, which will now revert to heirs of the Pyle estate.

Mrs. Pyle had specified in the deed that the city should buy adjoining lots, at a cost of $12,000, to be "perpetually kept as a desert-park, just as it now exists, and with the view unobstructed by any buildings or other obstructions."

Discussion of Mrs. Pyle's offer at a special Ernie Pyle memorial committee meeting resulted in the group's decision to contact Mrs. Pyle with a counter-proposal, but her death prevented further action on the memorial.

Meanwhile, City Commission Chairman Clyde Tingley said Pyle heirs would be invited to offer the house to the city, excluding Mrs. Pyle's stipulation regarding the additional purchase. If such an offer is extended, Tingley said, the city would accept.

In deeding the "little white house"—of which Ernie spoke so often in his columns—to the city, Mrs. Pyle stated further that if the city failed to purchase the adjoining land, to keep it "just as it is," or failed to "forever maintain same" as a memorial to Ernie Pyle, the property would revert to the heirs.

It is said that the view from the windows of their Albuquerque cottage was one of Ernie's favorites.

Nine Dead, 16 Hurt In California Crash

AUBURN, Calif., Nov. 29. (AP)—Nine men are dead and 16 hospitalized with serious injuries as the result of a C-47 Army transport plane crash near here last night, Dewitt General Army hospital authorities said today.

The big craft, en route to McClellan field, Sacramento, from Palm Springs, Calif., plunged into a mountainside in rain-swept darkness about 7:20 p. m. PST and immediately caught fire.

All of the 22 passengers aboard are believed to have been Japanese-Americans who fought with the Ninth Air corps in Italy and were on their way to Camp Beale, Calif., separation center for discharge before being sent to their homes in Hawaii.

Lynn County's Agent And 4-H Winner To Attend Chicago Meet

H. R. Tankersley, Lynn county 4-H club member, and Manuel Ayers, Lynn county agent, will attend the National 4-H Club congress and National County Agriculture Agents association meeting in Chicago beginning Dec. 2.

Tankersley was one of 19 Texas club boys chosen to attend the meeting at the expense of the Santa Fe railroad company for his outstanding work as a 4-H member.

Record Is Given

Ayers will go at the expense of Lynn county citizens who subscribed the money for his expenses. The Rotory club of Tahoka and the county commissioners court headed the drive to raise money for the former Lubbock county assistant agent.

Tankersley has been a member of the club for four years. His approximate total income from 4-H club projects over the period is $2,634.22. His production began in 1941 with a registered Hereford calf. The following year he added three acres of milo and a registered Berkshire sow that raised 11 pigs which he fattened. Since then he has steadily increased his production in various projects.

Leaves For Dallas Today

Tankersley was vice president of his club in 1941, secretary in 1942 and 1943, project leader in 1944 and served on many committees both in the club and in the county organization.

The two Lynn county residents will leave for Dallas today to join other members of the Texas delegation. The club boys congress begins Dec. 2 and ends Dec. 6, when the county agents association opens its meeting. Ayers will remain there for several days after Tankersley's return.

Oil was found in California in 1866.

Littlefield Lions In Reorganization Meet

A Wednesday night meeting at Littlefield attended by six Lubbock Lions along with Dr. Marshall Harvey, deputy district governor, reorganized that club which has been deactivated since the wartime draft took 36 of its 44 members.

The club was formed with ten old and 11 new members. Durwood Howell was elected president and H. C. Pumphrey, jr., secretary. Other officers will be elected later.

Six members of the Amherst Lions organization, including Dr. Birdsong, zone chairman, were also in attendance.

Other Lubbock Lions present were Bob Harvey, president of the local club; H. G. Denman, secretary; Dr. W. A. Pettey; George Young, Noel Stalnaker and Dr. J. William Davis.

War Bond Lag Causes Worry

Officials of the Victory War Loan drive in Texas, and in the Northwest area of the state as well, yesterday agreed that unless citizens show greater interest in the campaign, quotas in both the state as a whole and this section will not be reached.

Nathan Adams, chairman of the War Finance committee in Texas, and Charles T. Ware and George E. Benson, area co-chairman, have told Neil H. Wright, county chairman, that the campaign faces failure "unless a reawakened public gets busy."

In a telegram to Wright, Adams pointed out that tabulations through November 27 showed Lubbock county had invested only $182,325 of its $955,000 E-Bond quota and said "the E-Bond position is critical. Unless all counties take immediate steps to correct the stiuation," he continued, "Texas is doomed to failure." He urged a continued and accelerated campaign of personal solicitation.

In a joint statement, Ware and Benson, Amarillo and Lubbock bankers, respectively, said there is "still time for Texas to maintain its reputation' for partriotism "but action will have to be immediate."

The Lubbock county campaign is being led by Allen Brothers post of the American Legion and Generalissimos Charles Whitacre and Hop Halsey are planning to "turn on more steam" via the solicitation route.

Jap Textile Output Would Be Confined To Domestic Needs

NEW YORK, Nov. 29. (U.P.) — Japan should never again be allowed to have a textile industry greater than is needed to supply its domestic market, William C. Plantz, president of the Textile Export association of the United States, said today.

Japan's spindleage, he told the second session of the two-day annual meeting of the Cotton-Textile Institute, Inc., reportedly has been reduced from some 14,000,000 to only 3,000,000.

Part Of War Machine

"What we must guard against, and endeavor to prevent," Plantz asserted, "is her rebuilding along most modern lines so as to be in a position to again spread her textile tenacies throughout the world. Textiles were an essential part of Japan's war machine which permitted her to provide the sinews of war and she should definitely not be allowed to rebuild beyond the spindleage necessary to supply her own market."

Planz also discussed the German textile industry. He said a report by a government textile-fact finding commission indicates that very little damage had been done to Germany's synthetic fibre industry and dye-making facilities and therefore "Germany might well again become a serious threat, not only to our cotton exports, but also to the American domestic rayon industry."

Synthetics Improved

He revealed that the Reich, which in 1934 imported nearly 1,800,000 bales of raw cotton for domestic use for cotton yarn and for sizeable exports of textiles, now has synthetic fibre factories with a combined capacity equal to at least 2,000,000 bales of raw cotton.

Exports by the United States next year could run well above 2,000,000,000 yards if American mills are able to raise 1946 output to around 11,000,000,000 yards, Plantz said, adding a prediction that exports in the following five years will average at least 2,000,000,000.

Texas Longhorns Romp Into Cotton Bowl, Beat Aggies

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Nov. 29—Texas roared back in the final period today to beat fierce-fighting Texas A. and M., 20-10, to gain its third Southwest Conference football championship in four years and receive the automatic invitation to be host team in the Cotton Bowl.

No greater thriller has been played in the 52 years of Texas A. and M.-Texas gridiron relations than this battle unreeled for 40,000 fans—largest crowd ever to watch a game in College Station. It saw an underdog Aggie team twice come from behind, once to tie the score and once to go ahead 10-7 on Substitute John Ballentine's field goal from the Texas 23-yard line.

Texas Grabs Lead

Then Texas struck quickly for two touchdowns. The first one was an error of judgment by Preston Smith, Aggie fullback, who touched a kick on the A. and M. two-yard line, drew back, apparently confused when he thought the ball might roll across, with Charley Tatom, giant Texas end falling on the pigskin. George Graham hammered right tackle for the touchdown that meant victory and Texas' sixth championship in the 31 years the conference has been organized.

Dick Harris, brilliant Texas center, intercepted a throw from desperately passing Lillard Hart and ran to the Aggie 30-yard line to set up the final Longhorn score. Bobby Layne, mainspring of the Texas attack, passed to R. E. (Peppy) Blount, reserve end. Hart tried to intercept the throw but barely touched the ball and it fell into Blount's hands on the seven-yard line. The big Longhorn wingman trotted across.

Ellsworth Gets Loose

Texas scored with only a minute left in the first period. It came on an 81-yard touchdown dash by Ralph Ellsworth, former player at the United States Naval academy, where he went in 1944 from Texas. Rob Goode, outstanding Aggie back, had quick-kicked to the Longhorn 19-yard line after the teams had sparred around midfield most of the time. Ellsworth went wide around left end and raced untouched down the sidelines to the score. Layne converted.

Gene Johnson, an unknown on the Aggie team—he was on the Catfish or B squad until two weeks ago when he got in a dozen plays against Rice—swung into action midway of the second period. The Corpus Christi freshman immediately became a sensation. It was his great running that led to both of the Aggie scores.

First Johnson dashed 44 yards around left end to the Texas 10-yard stripe. The Longhorns were penalized to their one-yard line for unnecessary roughness. Goode hit left guard but failed to dent the Texas line. On the next play, Hart fumbled and the ball rolled to one side just back of the A. and M. right tackle. Goode picked it up, juggled it a moment then raced around right end for a touchdown. Ballentine, who has played little for A. and M. this season but whose field goal beat Southern Methodist three weeks ago, came in and kicked the extra point to tie the score.

Aggies Threaten

Early in the third period the Aggies were threatening again when Smith ran Jim Flyer's punt back to the Texas 15 with a fine piece of broken-field dodging. But Hart fumbled and big Harlan Wetz recovered on the 17. However, it had gotten Texas into a hole it couldn't get out of until A. and M. scored. Flyler kicked to the A. and M. 48. A pass and two plunges netted only four yards but a holding penalty gave the Aggies a first down on the Texas 43. Smith passed to Johnson who ran to the 22, then after three more passes had failed Johnson circled left end down to the eight-yard stripe. Johnson hammered to the five but next was thrown for a five-yard loss and a delaying penalty set A. and M. back to the 15. On fourth down Ballentine trotted in, kicked the field goal and trotted off the field again.

Then came the turning point on Smith's bobble and from there on out Texas played like the champion it was.

The Longhorns rolled up 227 yards on the ground and 96 in the air while A. and M. made 68 rushing and 142 passing. In first downs Texas led 12-10.

Missouri Hinted For Cotton Bowl

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Nov. 29. (AP)—The University of Texas today accepted an invitation to be host team in the Cotton Bowl Jan. 1 and unofficially it was reported that Missouri would be the visiting eleven.

Dan D. Rogers, chairman of the board of the Cotton Bowl Athletic association, extended the invitation to the Texas team in the dressing room after it had defeated Texas A. and M., 20-10 to win the Southwest Conference championship.

Coach D. X. Bible of Texas immediately accepted.

While Missouri, champion of the Big Six, was reported authoritatively to be the other team in the Dallas bowl classic, formal announcement will not be made until later tonight.

BOWL BID UNKNOWN TO MISSOURI OFFICIALS

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 29. (AP)—Don Faurot, University of Missouri athletic director, said early tonight that the university had received no official notice that Missouri's Big Six champions will be invited to play in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas, Jan. 1.

Faurot told the Associated Press that if a Cotton Bowl bid was extended to Missouri it would first have to be brought before the university athletic committee.

"Then we would have to get permission of the Big Six Conference before we could play," Faurot said.

Red Raider Cagers Drill With Flyers

Even though it was the official Tech Thanksgiving, Coach Polk Robison sent his Red Raider basketball squad through a stiff workout Thursday afternoon in the Texas Tech gymnasium.

A group of basketeers from the Lubbock Army Air Field came in to offer opposition in a scrimmage game, on which no one kept score.

Jay Kerr, returning letterman, was the big gun for the Raiders in the scrimmage, hitting the basket with regularity. Ardis Barton, a freshman, also showed up well and has caught Robison's eye. He returned to the squad Thursday, however, with a 1-A draft classification given him on the basis of his physical examination Tuesday in El Paso. He expects a call soon. Athol Craver, 6 foot, 4 inch freshman, also came back with 1-A.

Robison is highly pleased with the work of his towering freshman, 6 foot, 8½ inch Tilley Sneed of Idalou. The coach said Sneed has shown unexpected progress and will be depended upon all season. Another freshman showing major progress is James Putnam of Throckmorton, said to be much better than he appeared in spring practice.

Robison permitted members of the football team who transferred to basketball to go home for the holiday, including Gene Hardey, Jiggs Jackson, Bill Kelley, Bennie Tidwell and Frank Ottmers.

Chattanooga Blasts Mississippi, 31-6

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Nov. 29. (AP)—Their superiority decisive in every department, the University of Chattanooga Moccasins turned in a surprising 31 to 6 victory over the University of Mississippi Rebels today to end one of their most successful football seasons. Some 7,000 shivering fans watched the contest.

The outcome was never really in doubt from midway of the first quarter when booming Gene Roberts, Chattanooga's ace fullback, plowed over for the first of his three touchdowns. The Moccasins added two more touchdowns in each of the second and third periods. The faltering Rebels couldn't hit pay dirt until the final quarter.

Chinchillas mate about 120 days after birth.

Lobos Nose Out Lubbock, 22-18

LEVELLAND, Nov. 29. (Special)—Grabbing the lead in the second quarter, and never headed off, the Levelland Lobos opened the basketball season here tonight with a 22 to 18 victory over the Lubbock Westerners.

The Westerners staged a spirited rally in the final quarter, but were never able to whittle down the Lobo lead that was stacked up in the second and third quarters of the game.

It was the opening game for both teams, and played with only three days of workout, but both clubs showed lots of promise of having strong cage entries this season.

Garrison Sets Pace

Joe Garrison was the big noise of the night, finding the range on the basket for four field goals, and added two donation tosses for a top total of ten points.

It took the two top Westerners to equal this score, with Bob Crawford and Verdell Turner each getting two field goals and a free pitch for five points to pace the visitors.

D. W. Harkins of the Lobos dropped in six points for runner-up honors, while Jimmy Clark counted for three points to be runnerup on the Westerner club.

Westerners Take Lead

In a see-saw first period, the Westerners held the edge over the Lobos, and the period ended with the Lubbock team setting the pace, 6-5. But the Lobos matched their own score of the first period, and held the Westerners scoreless, in the second to take a 10-6 lead at the half, and were never headed off.

The third period was a brisk scoring duel as the Lobos increased their lead to 18-11 as the two teams moved into the home stretch. In the final period, the Westerners dropped in seven points to four for Levelland, but time ran out before the rally could pay off.

With Virgil Johnson pouring in 13 points in the B game opener, the Lubbock squad gained an even split for the night with a 21 to 12 victory over the Lobo B team. Garry Mason flipped in six points to account for half of the Lobo B scoring.

Bi-District Battle At Wellington Today

WELLINGTON, Nov. 29 (Special)—West Texas grid interest will swing to Powell field here tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, and the present field of eight teams in West Texas' two regions will be pared to seven teams and one regional finalist will be named.

The Floydada Whirlwinds, winners of District 4-A, moves into town to test Coach Al Duncan's Wellington Skyrockets, winners of District 3-A, with both teams boasting of the same record for the season, unbeaten in conference play, and a season's mark of eight wins and two losses.

The game will be broadcast over station KVOP at Plainview.

Indications are that the game will be played in ideal weather, and early estimates of the crowd has reached as high as 5,000 fans to be on hand for the battle.

The winner of this game will play the winner of the Hereford-Phillips game for the Region One title.

Idalou Cagers Open With Frenship Five

IDALOU, Nov. 29. (Special)—The Idalou Wildcats will turn their attention to the cage floor Friday night, opening the season here with the Frenship High school five from Wolfforth at 7:30 o'clock.

The Idalou squad has been working out this week, following the close of the football season, but indications are the club will enter the opening game hard hit with flu cases.

Slaton, Sundown End Grid Season Today

SLATON, Nov. 29 (Special)—There will be no titles at stake here Friday afternoon when the Slaton Tigers and Sundown Roughnecks close the District 6-A grid campaign, but the game promises plenty of fireworks.

The game was scheduled for a night game, but the time was changed this week, and kickoff will be at 2 o'clock.

Army Eleven Favored To Beat Navy Easily

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 29. (AP)—Prospects of firm footing for Army's brilliant ball-carriers helped maintain the West Pointers as staunch 27-point favorites over Navy in Saturday's epic struggle here as the two undefeated elevens began converging on the battle site tonight.

A two-day rain which had threatened to mar the championship game subsided during the afternoon, and the best long-range forecast was for cool, cloudy weather when the teams collide before some 100,000 lucky ticket-holders, including President Truman. The Municipal stadium turf had been covered against the downpour.

Coach Swede Hagberg's Midshipmen, fired up for a furious effort to snap Army's 17-game winning streak, left their camp on the Severn after a final light workout and passed through here late today enroute to Pine Valley, N. J., some 20 miles outside Philadelphia, where they were to spend the night.

Army's mighty squad, under Coach Earl Blaik, was scheduled to leave the Point early tomorrow and to arrive here in time for a limbering-up at the stadium. Navy also planned to stretch its muscles in the famous arena.

Philadelphia itself was agleam with the annual fall fever, running a temperature comparable to that of the several ailing players on the two teams. Her already overcrowded hotels were beginning to creak as they tried to meet the onrush of out-of-towners who forehandedly made reservations months ago.

Boys Club Fighters Schedule Ten Bouts

Ten fights have been announced for the regular weekly fight card at the Lubbock Boys club tonight at 7:30 o'clock with many of them pairing winners of last week's card, and a sprinkling of new faces. The bouts tonight are sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

There are two special bouts on the card, involving boys from the Community Center boxing team. These boys were at the Boys club Tuesday night for a workout, and displayed plenty of color to their workouts.

Norman Lindsey, hard hitting 135 pound 15 year old youngster, was still without a fight last night. After Lindsey's knockout victory over George Boyd of last week, none of the other boys seemed anxious to trade punches with him. He is ready to take on any boy in his own weight range.

The two special fights on the card will pair Don Carter and Oscar Greenhall, weighing 135 and 140, respectively, in the first bout. The other will pair Jack Sessums, 157, and Glen Matheny, 155.

Starting off the card will be a pair of 88 pounders, Harold Teal and Leslie Cross. Bobby Brown, 126, and Alvin Rucker, 130, will battle in the second bout. R. J. Matheny, 151, and James Holloway, 145, are scheduled in the next bout. George Boyd and Bobby Ledbetter, a pair of 130 pounders, are scheduled next.

Wesley Curry and Don Stuart will carry the card back to the 85 pound class. Willie Gleaton, 125, and Bobby Sizemore, 130, are scheduled in the next event. The semi-final of the card will pair a couple of 130 pounders in Buddy Edge and Ray Wilhite.

A pair of middleweights have been booked for the main event of the card, R. J. Anderson, 170, and Godfrey Brooks, 163, being on the finale.

Bo Sexton will be referee. Judges will be Jack Thomas, Floyd Lebon and Bill Sellers. J. J. Steele will be the timekeeper.

Crozier Tech Shows Fast Ground Attack

By TOM W. MILLER
United Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Nov. 29. — Crozier Tech, the big Dallas team, just likes to "run with that football."

"Sure, we pass some," said Coach Perry Fite today, "but first and foremost we're a ground club; we like to run with that football."

Breaking the stranglehold Sunset has had on District 8-AA for five straight years, the Crozier Tech Wolves, whose school is in the shadow of downtown skyscrapers, have won the Dallas championship for the first time in a decade.

In Finals In '33

"We went to the state finals in '33 to be stopped by Greenville," Fite said. "This year . . . maybe . . . it's hard to keep from hoping . . . but first we're pointing for Fort Worth's North Side in the bi-district playoff.' It will be played in Fort Worth Dec. 7.

Fite talked while the squad worked out in Exall Park, 10 blocks from the school, the nearest practice grounds available.

"We walk and hitch-hike up here, and sometimes we trot back to school afterwards," he said.

Fite's hopes in the 1945 race are built upon a solid, power-packed team. It has won nine games, lost one, that on a 77-yard pass play in the final minutes.

Lost To Sunset

"Sunset beat us 7-0 on that one pass," Fite recalled. "Up to them, in 46 minutes, we'd held them to one yard net gain on the ground and no passes completed."

Tech has scored 224 points to opponents' 56.

"Much of our success we owe to a darn good blocking line," said Fite, head coach at Tech since 1940. "The forward wall averages 177 pounds and even after 10 bruising games, it's fit as a fiddle."

For seven games a forward pass was a rarity, the ground attack averaging around 260 yards, but just to show they could throw the ball as well as run with it, the Wolves completed 14 of their last 16 passes in two final district games.

George Seaman, the running back, with 190-pound Charles A. Lindberg as his blocker, is the team's chief offensive weapon, however. The stock, 157-pound blond youngster, built along the same general line sof Jack Crain of Texas Longhorn fame, "runs like a pinwheel and has plenty of power, too," as Fite put it.

"He's scored 97 points and if he doesn't boost that total against North Sied," Fite said, "I'll surprise me.'

With the announcement from Branham that the league was properly certified, the barrier was down on the signing of players for the teams. This will signal the start of shaping up the teams for the start of the coming season.

Lubbock Included On Proposed New Southern Air Lines Route

A telegram from Eddie Rickenbacker, president and general manager of Eastern Airlines, to Mayor O. W. Ribble Thursday increased the possibility of Lubbock's eventually being placed on a newly projected coast-to-coast airline. A new Southern route across the nation is being planned by Rickenbacker's company.

The telegram from the famed World War I flying ace, who more than 35 years ago "made" this territory in a buckboard as a commercial traveler representing a stove concern, read:

"Eastern Airlines Inc. tomorrow will file with the Civil Aeronautics board in Washington an application for a new Southern transcontinental route serving approximately 60 cities between San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego, and New Orleans, Tampa, Miami and San Jaun, Puerto Rico.

Full Information Coming

"We have included Lubbock on this proposed route and will appreciate your bringing it to the attention of The Avalanche-Journal, Manager A. B. Davis, of the chamber of commerce, and Postmaster Amos Howard, all of whom will receive copies of our application."

Eastern Airlines is one of the nation's better and larger sky transportation concerns. Co-operation locally was anticipated in behalf of the projected route.

Currently served by Braniff Airways, linking Denver with Fort Worth and Dallas; and by Essair, linking Amarillo with Houston, Lubbock will also be on an El Paso-Tulsa line expected to be placed in operation by Continental Airlines about January 1.

Delta Airlines likewise are eyeing the possibility of a route through Lubbock. Largely serving the Old South, Delta already has a Fort Worth-Dallas terminus and has applied to the Civil Aeronautics board for permission to fly from those cities to Albuquerque, via Lubbock. Connections with Los Angeles and San Francisco would then be available from the New Mexico city.

APPLICATION IS MADE FOR NEW SOUTHERN ROUTES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29. (AP) — Eastern Lines asked the Civil Aeronautics board today to permit it to extend its services across the southern United States to Los Angeles and San Francisco.

The company said it had "found in the Transcontinental air service pattern of this country a glaring absence of, and a great need for, a trunk route directly connecting the Pacific coast with the southeastern part of the United States."

Two Routes Planned

Its present routes reach from Boston to Miami and southwestward through Atlanta and New Orleans to Brownsville and San Antonio, Tex.

The proposed extensions would provide two southern routes, one from Houston, Austin and San Antonio to San Francisco by way of El Paso, Phoenix, Ariz., and Los Angeles, with a side route turning off at El Paso and going through Douglas, Nogales, Yuma and San Diego.

The other would start at Port Arthur-Beaumont, Texas, and pass through Dallas, Fort Worth, Albuquerque, Gallup, N. M., Grand Canyon, Boulder City, Las Vegas, Merced, Modesto, Stockton, Oakland and San Francisco.

Lubbock On North Route

Eastern also ased for a nonstop route from New Orleans to Tampa, Fla., and from Miami to San Juan, P. R.

Other stops on various segments of the double trans-continental route include Uvalde, Del Rio, Fort Stockton, Fort Davis-Alpine-Marfa, Texas; Las Cruces-Mesilla and Silver City, Tyrone, N. M.; Tucson and Phoenix, Ariz.; El Centro-Brawley-Calexico, Conorado, Palm Springs, San Barnardino-Riverside-Redlands, Oceanside, Long Beach-Santa Ana, Santa Barbara, Santa Maria, San Luis Obispo, Monterey-Salinas, Santa Cruz, and Santa Clara-San Jose- Palo Alto, Calif.

Also included are Palestine and Lubbock, Texas; Clovis-Portales, Tucumcari, Las Vegas and Santa Fe, N. M.; Winslow, Flagstaff and Kingman, Ariz.

Price Increases

cent on bedspreads, 20 to 25 per cent on decorative fabrics, and 20 per cent on tablecloths and napkins. They will be effective tomorrow.

OPA said present indications are that retailers of these cotton products can absorb "at least part of the increase, but a final decision depends on the outcome of surveys now underway."

Lumber Prices Up

The OPA today also authorized immediate increase in mill ceiling prices for southern pine lumber.

For small mills that produce only rough lumber and do not operate planing mills, the increases average $5 per 1,000 board feet.

For other mills the increase is 4.7 per cent, an average of $2.25 per 1,000 board feet.

Retail dealers will be required to absorb these price increases, OPA said. Hence there will be no increase in ceiling prices to builders and others who buy southern pine at retail.

Shallowater Again Leads Bond Drive

First rural county community to top its quota in all previous bond drives, Shallowater has again come through first to oversubscribe in Victory loan quota by $281.25, according to a report Thursday by Roy Boyd, rural bond chairman.

Its quota was $10,500.

No reports have been received from other communities of the county, Boyd said.

Members of the Shallowater bond committee are Henry Mahoney, chairman, John R. Murrell, Vol Farris, Roy Evans, Earl Teague, Glynn Blackmon, M. J. Williams and Rev. George Bryant.

Rimsy-Korsakov, the famous composer, was a sailor on a Russian boat that docked in the harbor of New York in 1864.

Far East Warning

and rocked Washington with demands of Congressmen for a full-fledged investigation of U. S. foreign policy in China—were backed in almost every respect by Rev. Hanson. "It's the same thing I've been trying to say for the past two years since I returned from Shantung province in northeastern China in 1941, but it took a man with Hurley's political power to put it across," he added.

Rev. Hanson, who with his wife and three sons and four daughters, worked among and directed a program among 3,000,000 Chinese for the 38 years he was a Methodist missionary in China, will speak at the morning session of the District Methodist Missionary Institute at the First Methodist church today.

Went To China In 1903

Although his religious views and work naturally are foremost among his interests, Rev. Hanson nevertheless possibly is one of the better informed authorities on the Far East.

The background explanation of his life in China and his knowledge of current conditions give an insight to the problem in the troubled nation at present.

He and his wife and one daughter, then a baby, went to China in 1903 to the little community of Taian, Shantung. Then, with the exception of occasional visits back to the states, the Rev. Hanson and his family worked and lived among the Chinese, directed a program of better education, medical attention, co-op work in farming and headed evangelistic work which bore marked results among the Chinese with whom he came in contact.

Japs Moved In

Then in 1931 the Japs started their rape of China. But it was not until 1937 that the enemy reached Rev. Hanson's community. At that time, Japan and the U. S. were on friendly terms, so he and his project for the most part were respected by the Japs.

"The change in the Japs' attitude was very gradual. It was Jan. 1, 1940, that I knew they no longer respected my neutrality. Sixteen Jap soldiers came to my house and demanded to go through the boarding school. They did, arrested 16 young boys and girls on charges of helping the Chinese military, tortured and beat them. One died," he added.

"After that, their insults continued until in May, 1941, we were forced to leave after urgent warnings from the government," he continued.

Tells Of Uprising

As explained by Rev. Hanson, the present so-called Communist regime in China got started back in the early '20s when the Central Chinese government, pursuing a program of progress at the time, asked Russian officials to help advise their own government. The Reds took advantage of the opportunity and whether inspired by Moscow or not taught some of the more radical Chinese the Communist philosophy. However, Rev. Hanson does not believe the present crisis is Soviet backed.

In 1927, Communist radicals in Nanking attempted to kill all western residents. It was at that time that the Central government realized what had happened and drove the Communists into Northwest China where they have remained more or less dormant just waiting for this day to strike, Rev. Hanson explained.

Praises Hurley's Stand

He had unstinting praise for Hurley's efforts in bringing Chiang Kai-Shek and Communists leaders together, said Hurley had apparently been double-crossed by some of his own fellow diplomats who had Communist leanings, or didn't realize what they were doing.

Among other pertinent points Rev. Hanson made were:

1. Wherever Communists come in, Christianity is kicked out;

2. China has just about thrown out its old worship of idols and intense loyalty to Confucius, has just about junked its old religion and is now ready for either Christianity or paganism. Which way she goes depends to a great degree upon our stand in the current crisis;

3. Communists in China are a minority, really "rebels" who have set up a state within a state;

4. As a government we have recognized the greatness of China, but as individuals, some among the uninformed are seriously impeding our efforts;

5. Too many American "experts" are taking quick trips to China, listening to the "wonderful propaganda" of Chinese Communists, then hurrying home to write columns and books praising the Communists;

6. Missionaries probably have as good an idea of what is really taking place in China as anyone because they actually live among the Chinese masses and know how they think while the so-called "career diplomats" move only in small centers of politicians and pressure groups.

He has two sons in China now, one a liaison officer with the U. S. forces, who has come in close contact with Chiang Kai-Shek, another who is a missionary, another who is a flier in Japan, and four daughters. All his children except one daughter were born in China and reared there.

Rev. Hanson himself is "looking forward to returning to China soon, perhaps in the next two or three months to resume his life-long work."

"There's plenty to do," he added, "The Japs took over my home for a headquarters, sawed off the furniture, took the church for a munitions dump and in general have torn things up. I understand only the four walls of my home are standing . . . . Yes, there's plenty for us to do in China . . ."

Former Lubbock Man Receives Award For Work During War

Col. Charles Bates Thornton, former Lubbock resident and Texas Tech student who was promoted faster than any other officer in the history of the Army Air forces, is leaving the service in which he climbed from second lieutenant to full colonel in one year, to become assistant to Henry Ford II, president of the Ford Motor Co.

For his brilliant work as chief of the Statistical Control division at AAF headquarters in Washington, D. C., Col. Thornton recently was awarded the Legion of Merit by Gen. H. H. Arnold, commanding general of the AAF.

Tech Student Three Years

Born in Knox county 32 years ago, Colonel Thornton was graduated from Haskell high school and moved to Lubbock with his mother, Mrs. A. J. Lewis, wife of Dr. Lewis, 2008 Ave. V, and attended Texas Tech in 1931-32-33. Leaving here, he attended George Washington university at Washington.

While attending Texas Tech, Colonel Thornton met Miss Flora Laney, of Fort Worth, also enrolled at Tech, whom he married seven years ago, in Washington. They have two children.

He worked under Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes as housing statistician, meanwhile attending War College at night. Upon completing his studies, he was commissioned a second lieutenant and entered active duty when he was 28 years old. In 11 days he was promoted to first lieutenant, to captain three weeks later, became a major one month later, a lieutenant colonel three months later, and was a full colonel at the end of his first year in the Army

Headed Big Setup

Colonel Thornton was given his main job—that of establishing modern business principles on a world-wide basis in the Army Air force—while he was a lieutenant. Starting with himself and a stenographer, he built an organization which finally totaled more than 15,000 persons, located in every theater of operations and the United States.

For his work on the fighting fronts, Colonel Thornton received commendations from Generals Doolittle, Giles, Spaatz, Eaker and others.

Colonel Thornton's father is the oil well explosives expert, Tex Thornton, of Amarillo.

been "broken" more than a year before Pearl Harbor.

Gerhard Gesell, assistant committee counsel, brought up the "bomb plat" message. Dispatched from Tokyo to an agent in Honolulu on Sept. 24, 1941, it was decoded Oct. 9.

It advised the agent that the waters of Pearl Harbor were to be divided into "five sub-areas" for reports on ship positions.

After reading it, Gesell asked: "It looks like a plan for laying out a bombing plat for Pearl Harbor, does it not?"

"That's exactly what it looks like, sir, now that we know Hawaii was bombed," Miles replied.

Relieved In January

The general was relieved of his G-2 post on Jan. 30, 1942, and is now stationed in Boston.

When he took the stand, Gesell put into the record a group of documents including forecasts Miles made at various times of probable military and other developments.

Those were sent to General Marshall and sometimes to President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

On Dec. 5, 1941—just two days before Pearl Harbor—he expressed belief that Japan wanted "to avoid a general war in the Pacific.

Commanders Not Told

Under Gesell's questioning, Miles testified that the Army commanders at Hawaii and other overseas stations were not told that the United States had broken the Japanese code and were not sent copies of intercepted messages.

He explained that the fact the coded messages could be read was of "incalcuable value" in keeping up with Japanese plans and, to lessen the chance the Japs might discover their code was broken, the secret was confined to a fed top officials.

In the War department, the only persons authorized to see the intercepted messages were the secretary of war plans division; Maj. Gen. Edwin M. (Pa) Watson, the President's military aide, and Miles.

Particular Duty

When Gesell suggested that confining the information to this group imposed upon them a particular duty to keep overseas commanders advised as to what they should do, Miles agreed.

Miles testified he kept in "constant touch" with naval intelligence officers and that arrangements had been made for exchanges of information among government departments generally, but in response to questions said he did not recall that he was consulted or informed in advance about:

The proposed modus vivendi, or short term agreement, which the State department considered offering the Japanese but finally abandoned.

Message To Japanese

The State department's Nov. 26 note to the Japanese when conversations ended.

Advices to the State department from its embassies and legations in South America that Japanese were sounding out South American countries on what attitude they would take if Japan went to war within the United States.

The Dec. 6 message President Roosevelt sent to Emperor Hirohito which in effect asked that he stay the Japanese militarists' hand and keep peace in the Pacific.

Hurley Called By Senate Committee

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (AP) — Major General Patrick J. Hurley will be asked to appear before the Senate Foreign Relations committee Wednesday to tell about his resignation as ambassador to China.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex) made that announcement tonight after a meeting with Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, Connally and other legislators on an eight-man liaison sub-committee which visited the State department late today.

The foreign relations Chairman said the Oklahoma soldier-diplomat might be allowed to testify in open session—"that hasn't been decided yet." Most meetings of that committee are held behind locked doors.

Byrnes probably will attend the session. Connally said he would discuss the matter further with him and welcome the cabinet official if he chose to attend.

Labor Conference

mous vote system in the opening speech. He was immediately supported by CIO President Philip Murray, a frequent and vigorous foe of Lewis in the past. Murray asked that all voting—in the executive committee as well as in general session—be unanimous for acceptance.

Promptly Eric Johnston, United States Chamber of Commerce head, remarked "a strange phenomenon."

Points Up Miracle

"I have just seen the lion and the lamb lie down together," he said, smiling. "When management sees that, management is glad to lie down with them."

Management therefore, he said as its spokesman, likewise would favor the unit vote.

William Green, AFL president, followed Johnston in support of Lewis' proposal, and the conference rule was changed after a five-minute session by the Rules committee.

The committee previously had recommended that resolutions, to be passed in general session, have the approval of at least 15 management and 15 labor delegates. Since there are 18 on each side, Lewis had contended this would unfairly deprive his own union and the railroad brotherhoods of veto rights. The labor side of the conference is mad eup of eight conference is made up of eight the AFL, and one each from the UAW and the railroad brotherhoods.

Protects Minority Groups

Lewis observed that the unanimous vote would protect minority groups "from commitments and obligations which they do not choose to assume."

The first business of the session, after the revised rules committee report was adopted, was acceptance of the only two executive committee resolutions reported to the meeting. One was the anti-discrimination statement, the other the proposal for the continuing committee.

Woman Admits Fatal Beating Of Stepson

GOLDEN, Colo., Nov. 29 (AP) — Mrs. Viola Elliot, 27, was held for investigation tonight after, Sheriff George Koch said, she admitted beating her stepson, Robert Eugene Elliot, 3, who, an autopsy disclosed, died of the injuries.

District Attorney Richard Simon said he would file a murder charge against her tomorrow.

"My temper dit it," Koch quoted her as saying. "The child was slow in reacting to things I told him so I struck him and kicked him."

Koch said an autopsy disclosed the child died of "lacerations of the brain, three cerebral hemorrhages and bodily injuries."

Borger VFW Opposes Prohibition Vote

BORGER, Nov. 29 (AP) — Post No. 1789, Veterans of Foreign Wars, announced today it had gone on record opposing the holding of a prohibition election in Hutchinson county. The group said it had been informed that a petition requesting such an election was being circulated.

"We feel that no such election should be held until the majority of those now in the armed services can express their sentiments," the announcement stated.

SPECIALTIES ON UPSURGE

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (AP) — Specialties took the buying play in today's stock market, a few jumping as much as ten points to peaks for the past several years, while many leaders continued to operate in minus territory.

Props again were found in split-ups, earnings, dividends and the pressure of idle cash for employment. Some bullish inspiration was derived from President Truman's reconversion optimism and his warning that inflation still was a threat. The cloudy labor picture again chilled sentiment.

Transfers of 1,750,000 shares compared with 1,810,000 Wednesday.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was off .1 of a point at 74.9.

In the "new high" division were J. C. Penney and Eastern Air Lines, up 10 each, the former in the wake of a 3-for-1 split proposal and the latter on expansion plans and splitup talk; Farnsworth Television, Radio Corp., and Houston Oil, on the clearing up of preferred arrears.

Losers included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, United Aircraft, Sears Roebuck, Santa Fe, Anaconda, American Can, General Electric, Du Pont, Allied Chemical and Johns-Manville.

Bonds were a trifle irregular.

Among curb advancers were Raytheon, Penn Traffic, Berkey and Gay, Mesari Iron and Canadian Marconi. Turnover here was 1,030,000 shares versus 1,150,000 yesterday.

The report also warned that ocmpetition in export markets will be keener since the price disparity between American and foreign wol growths has widened.

Futures closed 10 cents a bale higher to 35 cents lower.

Eisenhower Appeal

suming effort required of Germans "merely to keep alive and to prepare for the coming winter leaves few hours and little energy for other activities."

"Wide sections of the population consider that the parties and leaders which present themselves today are to a large extent the same as were unable to solve the problems of the Weimar republic, or to prevent the coming of Hitler, and that these leaders see now to put forward very little that looks new or constructive," he said.

Attitude On Elections

He conceded that some "politically conscious" Germans feel that elections scheduled for January are premature, but said the voting was intended to "initiate the population into a democratic process as quickly as possible."

Eisenhower said the Social Democrats held many of the most important governmental positions in the U. S. zone. They have refused Communist proposals for a union and, "unlike the Communists, reject the proposition that the whole German people are guilty for the atrocities of the Hitler regime," he added.

"They have also come out against separatism or even federalism and contend that Germany must be a unitary state. For the rest they have strongly pledged themselves to denazification and revival of democracy in workmen's organizations and rebuilding of the state."

GM Cancels First Quarter Advertising

DETROIT, Nov. 29 (AP) — A spokesman for General Motors corporation said tonight that the firm's national advertising program for the first quarter of 1946 has been withdrawn, because of the strike situation.

He explained that it was "impossible to do anything about the advertisements already scheduled for the last quarter of the current year." No estimate was released as to the amount of money involved.

GM Strike Action

version office the GM officials and union representatives sit down and talk over the wage dispute that has closed more than 70 plants.

May Go To White House

Walter P. Reuther, CIO United Autombile Workers vice president, indicated at Washington today the union may carry its case to the White House if current efforts of the Labor department for a resumption of wage negotiations are unsuccessful.

Heads of the union have expressed readiness to meet with the management "any time, any place."

Wilson said that in response to a telephone call today from Edgar L. Warren, director of the U. S. Concillation service, "I suggested that if they were anxious for a meeting the first of next week that we could send Harry Anderson (vice president in charge of personnel) to Washington."

He also suggested that Warren come to Detroit, Wilson said, expressing belief the picketing problem could be handled better here, "particularly since the union says this question is up to the locals."

Demand For Records

Concerning the expressed willingness of UAW-CIO to revise its demand for a 30 per cent wage increase if the corporation's books show inability to pay it without a price increase, Wilson said:

"That's outside of collective bargaining. They want to know what our planning is. We don't think assumed ability to pay has anything to do with wages."

The GM executive accused the union of failing to participate in "true collective bargaining" before the strike, noting that the company made several counter-proposals without evoking modification of the original UAW-CIO demands.

Don't Want Price Hike

In Washington where they conferred yesterday with Warren and Labor Secretary Schwellenbach, R. J. Thomas, UAW-CIO president, and Vice-President Walter P. Reuther said the GM strikers would abandon their demand for a 30 per cent wage increase if "the arithmetic shows" that auto prices would have to rise to meet it.

"If we can't get a penny without a price increase," said Reuther, "we won't want a penny."

Thomas and Reuther said at a joint press conference, before leaving for Detroit, that the union wanted to prove by the corporation's books that it could pay the demanded wage boost to offset loss in workers' take-home pay, yet still make higher profits for stockholders and retain 1942 automobile price levels.

Picketing Continues

Pickets continued today to ring the entrances of General Motors plants across the country, and a corporation spokesman said factory office and supervisory employes had been barred from the premises of all but two of the struck units.

A second instance of vandalism was reported today in Saginaw, Mich., where disputes have broken out over picket-line activity. Police said a large log was thrown against a door at the home of Norman M. Reinke, superintendent of GM's steering gear plant No. 1, and a brick was hurled against a window casement.

Judgments Granted In Federal Cases

Judgments in two cases were given Thursday by U. S. District Court Judge T. Whitfield Davidson, presiding over sessions of the Lubbock division.

Jack Pierce pleaded guilty to charges of violation of the 2nd War Powers act through alleged illegal possession of 79 automobile tires. He was fined $100.

Eva Earnest Hilliard was awarded $2,031.11 as beneficiary of an insurance policy on her bother, Harry Leonard Earnest, who drowned with his wife on Oct. 21, 1944, with no other survivors. Aetna Life Insurance company was the plaintiff in the case to determine rightful beneficiaries.

Nothing Missed In Drugstore Break-In

Apparently nothing was missing, officials at Mark Halsey drugstore, Sixteenth and Texas Ave., have informed police investigating a break-in Wednesday night by burglars believed to have been in search of narcotics. A thick plate-glass pane was crashed in a south side room.

A gambling raid by the sheriff's department and other organizations netted 16 persons, who were fined $1 and costs by Justices of Peace D. W. Robertson and C. E. Lynn. In addition, Robertson fined one person $25 and costs for operating a gambling establishment.

Disturbance Charged

Lynn accepted a complaint charging disturbance by use of violent language against Otho Moore, a negro who had been placed under peace bond Wednesday by Robertson. Corrine Childress was complainant in both cases, the justices said.

The sheriff's records showed that Hardy Hancock, 42, had been fined $250 and costs on a plea of guilty of aggravated assault on Edd Ballard, Crosby county gunshot victim who was treated here earlier in the week.

Tommy Mason, who was given two years in the penitentiary Wednesday for forgery, was released to Tulia officials, who said they had a felony charge to file.

received any such orders, although earlier it had been established that communications between Yamashita and the southern commander, Field Marshal Count Terauchi, were operative.

Third Day On Stand

Both Yamashita and the U. S. military commission trying him asked what the central liaison committee was. Kerr said it was a liaison between the demobilizing Japanese Army and General MacArthur.

This was the general's third day on the stand. Yesterday he passed without flinching through a crossfire of prosecution questions, but today he appeared less sure of himself.

"As military commander, wasn't it your duty to protect the civilian population?" Kerr snapped, pointing a finger at the uniformed defendant.

"It was a duty but military operations came first," Yamashita replied, looking the prosecutor in the eye.

As for feeding the population, Yamashita declared the primary responsibility lay with the Philippines (puppet) government and it was the duty of the Japanese military only to co-operate.

The prosecution will return to the questioning tomorrow.

Under direct questioning of his counsel, Yamashita earlier had answered with a vehement "no" when asked if he ever had issued orders for the wholesale slaughter of civilians.

Our Defense Problem

Half-A-Loaf's Better Than None

IT IS plain by now that President Truman's proposal for a year's military training for all physically fit young men stands about as much chance in Congress as the Townsend plan.

The senators and the representatives feel that "the country" is not in favor of preparedness to the extent of turning its sons over to the government for one year, despite Gallup poll results to the contrary. But Congress, one gathers, would be willing to pass some modified form of universal training.

At least one counter-proposal has been offered, coming from that staunch and consistent advocate of military training, the American Legion. That the Legion offers a modified plan is a sign that there is little hope among its officials, or in other informed quarters, for enactment of a vigorous service program such as that recommended by Mr. Truman and approved by all except organized and noisy minorities.

The Legion plan calls for training which would require only four months active service, according to National Commander John Stelle, who said it would be presented soon to Congress.

It would require every physically qualified young man of 18 to take a four months course in inactive basic fundamentals under regular military or naval officers. He could remain on active duty for the next eight months, or take one of three alternatives: (1) Return to school or college and join a National guard or Naval Reserve unit, (2) enroll in the ROTC, or Civilian Military Training corps at a college or university, (3) spend eight months or the equivalent working in some industrial plant engaged in national defense work.

If we are to proceed in a half-way manner, the Legion's proposal seems to be as good as any that might be advanced. By a devious approach, it would have the youngster in putting in a year of part-time attention to some activity in close relationship with our national defense, whereas the Truman plan requires a full year of complete attention to military fundamentals and practice.

With modern war taking more the form of mechanics, and less of drilling, marching, saluting and bayoneting, four months might be long enough for instilling in the youngster the basic fundamentals of battle science and technology.

Although The Morning Avalanche will be satisfied with nothing less than a year of undiluted, regular military training, we recommend that the Legion's proposal receive studied attention because it is the first important deviation from the Truman plan; because it comes from a responsible and patriotic source, and because it represents the moderate form of military training for which we seemingly are destined.

A Matter Of Economics

IN AN article titled "That Poor Man in the White House," in Collier's magazine, Jonthan Daniels expends a good deal of sympathy on Mr. Truman. But not for the obvious reasons.

It may be that Mr. Daniels appreciates the gravity of the decision that the President had to make regarding the atomic bomb. He probably regrets that Mr. Truman is beset by worrisome diplomatic problems abroad and economic problems at home. Doubtless he is sorry that people scold Mr. Truman for gadding about, and that some people are unhappy because of the Chief Executive's alleged enjoyment of an occasional game of poker and hooker of bourbon.

But what really moves M. Daniels to commiserate with That Poor Man in the White House is that the Presidency is costing Mr. Truman money, besides saddling him with a back-breaking load of troubles and responsibilities.

Mr. Truman admittedly is not a rich man. Both Roosevelts were well-to-do. So was Hoover. Coolidge made a business of being ultra-thrifty. Harding had an outside income. Taft saved about $100,000 in four years as President. But as Mr. Daniels points out, the cost of living has gone up since then, for Presidents as well as the rest of us.

THE Presidential salary looks like a lot of money—$75,000 a year plus $30,000 for travel and official entertaining. But Mr. Daniels reminds the reader that Presidents aren't immune to income taxes. He figures federal and state taxes will cost Mr. Truman about $47,000 a year.

There also is a large staff of White House servants whose meals come out of the President's salary. The Trumans have cut down the staff from 31 to 24, says Mr. Daniels. But they still have to foot the bill for something more than 20,000 meals a year. That doesn't include their own meals of those of their unofficial guests, who are necessarily numerous.

MR. DANIELS estimates that the President forks over an annual $25,000 for White House expenses beyond what the government pays. It seems a modest figure. And when you subtract that and taxes from his pay it leaves $3000 for everything else—clothes, insurance, War bonds, party contributions, etc. Since Mrs. Truman must dress in keeping with her position, and since Margaret is expected to look like the daughter of the First Family, it doesn't leave much for new bow ties or a nest egg for the future.

Marshall's Report On The War

By Gen. George C. Marshall
Wartime Chief Of Staff

(This is the 14th of 42 installments of material selected from General Marshall's report on the winning of World War II).

AIR WAR

AT the time of the QUADRANT Conference at Quebec in August 1943, there had been but a single United States division in the United Kingdom and our trans-Atlantic shipping effort was concentrated on filling the heavy requirements of the Mediterranean campaign. By late August 1943, shipping was partially released from this heavy southern commitment and troops again began to pour into the British Isles. On D-Day, 6 June 1944, the strength of the United States Army in that theater was 1,533,000; in the interim an average of 150,000 men had been transported each month.

MARSHALL

The build-up of this force, together with a corresponding accumulation of supplies of all kinds, involved a tremendous job of transportation, and special credit must be given to the Navy for its vital part in the undertaking. An enormous administrative task was also involved, since facilities for quartering and training such large forces had to be provided within the limited area of the United Kingdom. The efficiency of the preinvasion build-up is exemplified by the speed with which units landing in Britain were provided with their essential arms and equipment. Through a system of preshipping and storing, the Army Service Forces were able to have equipment distributed and waiting for each unit on its arrival. Within a maximum of 30 days after debarking, divisions were fully equipped and ready for action.

The units arriving in the United Kingdom from America were well trained, especially in fast-moving corps and army operations over large areas; those coming from the Mediterranean were battle-tested. Nonetheless, everything possible was done during their staging period in the United Kingdom to increase their combat efficiency despite the limited terrain available in a densely populated and cultivated countryside. The troops which were to make the assault landings maneuvered realistically on beaches and ground which approximated the target areas. In the early spring of 1944, joint exercises of the ground, sea, and air forces which were to make the attack were held along the southern coast of England. It was a full-dress rehearsal.

Troops Ready

Three weeks before the invasion General Eisenhower wrote:

"There is no question at all as to the readiness of the troops. They are well trained, fit, and impatient to get the job started and completed. In forecasting future possibilities, it is, of course, necessary that we seek ways and means to bring to bear those factors in which we enjoy a great superiority over the enemy. These are control of the sea, command of the air, including resources in airborne troops and armor. I am trying to visualize an operation in which we would bring in behind the initial beachhead a great strength in armor and seek an opportunity to launch a big armored attack in conjunction with a deep and very heavy penetration by airborne troops."

By 1 July 1943 the Allied strategic air assault of Air Chief Marshal A. T. Harris' Royal Air Force Bomber Command by night and General Eaker's Eighth Air Force by day on the fortress of Europe was in full swing and was producing important results. Single raids in which the air force delivered bomb loads of more than 500 tons had been carried out. Serious inroads had been made on the combat power of the German fighter force.

These results had been obtained with an American air fleet of less than 1,000 heavy bombers and 1,000 planes of other types. By D-day, the strength of the United States air forces in the United Kingdom exceeded 3,000 heavy bombers and 6,500 first-line planes of other types. The attacks on Germany continued with increasing intensity and shattering power.

The climax in air war came in February 1944, when the Luftwaffe made a powerful effort to sweep our day bombers from the skies. The battle raged for a week. It was fought over Regensburg, Merseburg, Schweinfurt, and other critical industrial centers. The German fighter force was severely crippled, and our attacks continued with unabated fury.

Air Targets

From the time of the Eighth Air Force's first heavy bomber attack on 17 August 1942 until V-E Day, United States airmen had dropped more than 1,550,000 tons of bombs on western European targets. During 1943, following successful attacks on the enemy's submarine yards and bases, the effort of our precision bombers was concentrated against aircraft and ball-bearing manufacturing plants, airdromes, and communications. The German fighter command, already outclassed, in aerial combat, was further reduced by inability to get replacements. The RAF Bomber Command concentrated upon the destruction of the Ruhr-Rhineland industries and the undermining of the morale of industrial workers.

In order to exploit more fully the flexibility of our bombardment, particularly against German industrial targets, the Eighth and Fifteenth U. S. Air Forces were combined on 1 January 1944 to form "The U. S. Strategic Air Forces in Europe. Lt. Gen. Carl Spaatz was placed in command.

The component forces continued to be based in the United Kingdom and in Italy respectively.

In the late spring of 1944, synthetic fuel plants and crude oil refineries became the prime targets. Captured documents now show that the bombing campaign succeeded in reducing production between May and October 1944 to five percent of the former monthly output.

The attack on German industry was coupled with strikes on German communications. Vital rail junctions and the canals which were so important in the enemy's transportation system were repeatedly bombed. During a single month—May 1944—more than 900 locomotives and 16,000 freight cars were destroyed in Western Europe. The effects of this phase of the air assault were enormous, for transportation and communications are the life arteries of a modern industrial state engaged in total war.

Medium bombers and fighter-bombers of Lt. Gen. Lewis H. Brereton's Ninth Air Force, which moved from the Middle East during the fall of 1943, struck enemy airfields in diversionary attacks so timed as to reduce the concentration of enemy fighters which might oppose the passage of the heavy United States bomber formations. Diversionary fighter sweeps further dislocated the enemy's air opposition. As the range of fighters was increased through the installation of additional fuel tanks, they were employed more and more to escort bombers to targets deep in Germany.

As the aerial offensive mounted the enemy was forced to withdraw fighters from the support of his armies in the East to meet the threat from the West. This was an important factor in enabling the Soviet air forces to maintain superiority on their front.

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

I READ of a very sad case in the newspapers a few days ago—doubly sad to me because I knew the man concerned.

A woman killed her baby and then herself.

She left a note for her brother in which she explained that she couldn't go on any longer because her husband had told her that "a wife and children were obstacles to his career."

BRANDEIS

Having been married for many years myself, I simply cannot understand the viewpoint of a man to whom marriage is an obstacle rather than a vital help in his career.

How can anyone feel that he could go farther alone than with a loyal wife to help him, and that wonderful feeling of responsibility that children bring?

I know many married people and I know many bachelors. Every one of the bachelors—in spite of the simulation of contentment some of them display to the world—is lonesome and listless.

Only the other evening I ran into one of them on Fifth Avenue. I was in a hurry to get home to my wife, but he was — "just window-shopping," as he explained to me.

"I don't mind the daytime," he said when I finally pinned him down to telling me the truth, "but the evenings are pretty bad. Most of the time you have dates—but what do they amount to? You always feel that people go with you either because you can fill in or because they themselves are lonesome and want company."

"Well, why don't you get married?" I asked him.

"Frankly, I am afraid," he replied. "I am forty years old now and when you get to that age you become too critical When I was twenty-five I used to take girls for what they appeared to be, but now I want to know what they really are—and how can anybody find that out until he marries one? And then it is too late."

A few months ago this fellow was very sick with pneumonia, and there he was lying in his apartment, all alone, depending on the visits of his friends and on the administrations of a nurse whom we finally got for him and whom he almost married—until he finally recovered and became critical again.

I READ an alarming report about the increase of divorces in this country yesterday. But, as I said before, divorces are breakups of marriages that should neyer have taken place at all.

Divorces have increased, yes, but so have marriages.

In times of war our nerves are on edge and when they are people get married more easily and divorced more easily. But so do bankruptcies increase at certain times in the business cycle, and dissolutions of partnership.

All I know is that my wife has been a wonderful help to me, and hundreds of men I know feel the same way about their wives.

A wealthy woman we know just obtained her fourth divorce—on the ground of incompatibility.

And that very same woman just lost her fourth maid since the first of the year.

"You is a very fine woman," said the last maid who left, "but you jest ain't the woman for me."

Rich and poor alike are struggling these days—the poor to make enough to live on; the rich to make enough to pay taxes with

McNarney Is Realistic

"Ike's" Successor Knows Reds

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

AMERICAN relations with Russia will assume a more realistic character with President Truman's selection of Gen. Joseph T. McNarney as successor to Gen. "Ike" Eisenhower on the Allied Control council in Europe. HST has been warned that he must be more "tough" with the Soviet, and he may first try the experiment in this theater.

The prospective shift in attitude will not in any sense be a reflection on the acting Chief of Staff. "Ike" fought in the same general area with the Russians, and felt that he had to carry over the spirit of wartime cooperation into the post-surrender period.

He came to entertain deep feelings of friendship for Marshal Zhukov, the great Soviet leader. Last, he was forced to face early emergency problems in an impromptu manner. At that time we had no definite program.

DIPLOMAT: General McNarney is a born diplomat and recognizes the great need of getting along with our ally. He showed his diplomatic tact when, as top commander in Italy during the late stages of the conflict, he led a motley array of Yanks, Britons, French, Italians, Brazilians and some Russians to the final victory at the foothills of the Alps.

But he arrived on the European stage, where he served as General Eisenhower's deputy, after the fighting in that sector had ended. He brought a fresh outlook, and also a fairly intimate understanding of Josef Stalin and his men. He flew several bigwigs to Moscow for conferences with the dictator, and discovered that the man in the Kremlin likes and appreciates a "tough trader."

TUCKER

He experimented with the new policy in the short period when he took General Eisenhower's post during the latter's visit to the United States. He found that it worked, and got along exceedingly well with the Russian representatives in Berlin.

It is presumed that "Ike" and "Joe" exchanged ideas on dealing with the Russians. They are close friends, as both were members of the West Point class of 1915. And the last man General McNarney saw before leaving Washington for his new assignment was Harry S. Truman.

SPOT: Private files at Washington dealing with the liquidation of John P. Hartford's $200,000 loan to Elliott Roosevelt throw several new lights on that now historic transaction. They also carry a warning to businessmen and industrialists who may be tempted to make financial advances to men in public or semipublic life.

According to the A & P executive's own testimony, he thought that the late President Roosevelt wanted him to lend the money to Son Elliott. Nobody can support or negate Mr. Hartford's actual statement on his phone talk with FDR, from New York to Warm Springs, for so far there is no evidence that a third party listened in.

But Mr. Hartford himself felt that he was "on the sport."

EMBARRASSING: When asked why he agreed so quickly to Jesse H. Jones's offer to settle the deal for $4,000, or only two cents on the dollar, he replied, in effect:

"I was ashamed of that loan after I came to think it over. In view of my business affairs and holdings, and my contsant contact with various government agencies, I recognized that, in the eyes of some people, it placed me in an extremely embarrassing position.

"I did not want any evidence of the transaction to appear in the papers of my estate. I wanted to forget it and get rid of it. I could afford the loss. I would have settled for the contractual amount of $1, and I was glad to close when Mr. Jones offered me two cents on the dollar."

The radio stock put up as collateral for the $200,000 is now worth far more than that amount—probably $300,000—according to those in the know. But, after Mr. Jones recovered it from the chain store magnate, it was divided 50-50 between one of Elliott's divorced wives and their three children.

CHUCKLE: Now that fresh secrets about the Roosevelt-Hartford loan are tumbling out, the best one can be told:

Democratic politicos are wondering why Gov. Thomas E. Dewey did not inject Elliott's nonchalant way of doing business into the 1944 Presidential campaign. It is understood that Mr. Hartford's New York income tax return, in which he deducted the unpaid $200,000 loan as a "bad debt," told the whole story.

The political possiblities of the episode, in view of FDR's alleged role and Mr. Dewey's other attacks on New Deal taxing and lending and spending, were limitless.

Several conjectures for the Albany man's failure to exploit the matter are made. He agreed to keep silent on his knowledge of Pearl Harbor events for the sake of national defense, and the same sense of political ethics may have led him to spare President Roosevelt and Elliott. Any spilling of the details would have violated the secrecy supposed to surround income tax returns.

Or—and this thought gives a chuckle to hard-boiled Washington Democrats — perhaps Mr. Dewey's tax experts at Albany were too slow-witted to see the significance of the transaction!

TEXAS
By Gordon Shearer

AUSTIN.—Next of kin of more than 8,000 Texans who were killed in World War II have received memorial certificates from the state.

Texas is believed to be the only state awarding the certificates, which were authorized by the 48th session of the legislature. Other states, Colorado the most recent, have asked for copies.

Names of the valiant Texans who died in the armed services are furnished by the War and Navy departments. Of course 8,000 is not the total number of Texans killed. It was some time after the certificates were authorized in 1943 before the first list of casualties was received. Lists are still coming in.

First they came from the War department, and it was after that that the Navy Department provided lists of Navy, Marine and Merchant Marine personnel.

TEXT: The 13 by 17 inch, semi-cardboard certificates read.

"Be it known that the State of Texas places the name of (name of the deceased) upon the roll of those who have rendered the highest service. The loss of his life in the service of his country in World War II will always be remembered by those who love freedom.

"In humble recognition of his sacrifice, the Legislature of Texas, in the name of its people, has directed me to acknowledge the debt of free men to him who gave his life that others might live, and commend him to the living memory of Texans everywhere."

The certificate is signed by Gov. Coke R. Stevenson and attested by Secretary of State Claude Isbell.

SIGNERS: There are countless instances in the functioning of state governmental affairs where some responsible employe signs the name of the official. This is permitted under certain conditions.

But in the more than 8,000 Certificates of Honor there has not been a single one issued which has not been signed personally by Stevenson and Isbell.

On one occasion when Stevenson was ill and confined to the mansion, the certificates were taken to him there so that he could sign them and they could be placed in the mail as quickly as possible.

Both Stevenson and Isbell have refused relief from solicitious employes to take part of the signing burden.

Senate Debates World Setup

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, — The eternal conflict between the newer ways of thinking and the old has risen again in the Senate.

It grows out of the debate over the bill to implement our participation in the United Nations organization.

STOKES

The question: "Is the United Nations organization now strong enough since the atomic bomb, or must we plan to go ahead swiftly from that more or less loose international confederation to the next step, to something approaching real world government?"

Those who think in the old pattern say "no."

Those who are looking to the future—and they are not all necessarily young in years—say "yes."

England Also Alarmed

The same question is being raised in England. Former Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden threw it into the House of Commons with a plea that nations abandon their old ideas of national soverignty and think in terms of different relations among nations.

It was taken up subsequently by present Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin. Speaking with the authority of the Labor government now in power, he served notive that he is willing to consider the next step of a directly elected world assembly to preserve peace. National soverignty must be merged in world sovereignty, he declared.

In the senate here the issue was raised boldly by three younger members, all advocating strengthening of UNO so that it can better meet the desperate problems created by the atomic bomb.

SENATOR Ball (R-Minn) wants "at least a few steps in the direction of government on the world level," or else "we do not stand much chance of controlling the destructive weapons of modern war."

Senator Taylor (D-Idaho) feels "that the time has come to evolve a workable world government." He believes the American people are "anxious and willing" for that.

Senator Fulbright (D-Ark) wants strong UNO rules to control armaments of all members.

This is the newer generation speaking. They call science as witnesses. Senators Ball and Taylor are 39 years old, Senator Fulbright, 40. Both Senators Ball and Fulbright were effective pioneers for a United Nations organization. But they want to go ahead from here, without waiting too long. They have sensed the tempo of the times, which won't wait.

Connally Takes Stand

The older ways of thinking are represented by Senators Connally (-Tex), Foreign Relations committee chairman, and Vandenberg (R-Mich). The UNO is partly their handiwork. Both were delegates at San Francisco. They were powerful influences, both in preliminary work and in ratification by the Senate. They are proud of their creation which, in itself, was somewhat of a miracle considering our past history. That is understandable. They want to stand on that.

Senator Connally spoofed the talk of the young men He chided Senator Ball with running after "some butterfly of world government." He said, in effect, let's keep what we've got to see if it will work. He's against world government. He made that plain. Yet even he, when pushed by the young men, said that in time UNO might be improved, that our representatives could offer proposals for that.

THERE are several encouraging and significant things about what is going on in the Senate.

We are not going back, certainly. Only a handful, led by Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) talk of going back. They come out now in their true isolationist colors as forecast when they dropped their fight on the charter itself. But they are not enough. And it's too late.

The procession has left them in the lurch.

The movement now is forward. The newer generation is taking over.

It was they who did the missionary work for UNO. Now they are moving forward beyond that.

That is the most hopeful sign.

McWhorter School, In Second Year, Is Lubbock's Fastest Growing Elementary School

By C. W. RATLIFF
Avalanche Staff Writer

THREE years ago, residents of the Arnett-Benson addition in northwest Lubbock started requests for an elementary school in the area. A survey was made and it was revealed there were 163 children available for a school there.

The school board decided to erect a building in the rapidly-expanding addition and work was started on the building in 1944 and the structure was completed in early 1945. When enrollment for students was started in K. Carter school, where the children in the area were attending, it was revealed there were 234 students for the school.

To Add Six Classrooms

On the day the building was opened, April 16, this year, there were 316 pupils enrolled. Today the school has an enrollment of 353 and this week ground was broken for an additional six classrooms to the building; one of the finest ward school structures in the city.

This record makes McWhorter school, named after the late B. O. McWhorter, pioneer Lubbock rancher and county commissioner, the fastest growing school in the city system. Its eight classrooms are filled to the brim and an arts and craft shoproom and the school kitchen are also being used for classes.

The original buildings was erected at a cost of $82,000 and the addition will cost $42,000.

Mrs. Reuby S. Rhodes, who is in her 19th year in the school system is principal. Other members of the faculty are: Miss Mary Emma Vance and Mrs. Nettie Mullins, first grade; Miss Nellie Wingren, first and second grades; Miss Ruth Cox, second grade; Mrs. Audrey Quest and Mrs. Roy Veatch, third grade; Miss Noma Eakin, fourth; Mrs. Bettye Russell, fourth and fifth; Mrs. Lennon Hill, fifth; Miss Louise LeMond, sixth; Miss Mary Jane Turrentine, Spanish and Miss Imogene Webster, music. The latter two alternate between McWhorter and K. Carter schools.

One of the most active groups in the school is the McWhorter Glee club, composed of 40 pupils.

McWHITHEY

The club will sing Christmas carols for the Parent - Teacher association meeting on Dec. 13 and is planning a radio program for Dec. 18. David McWithey, 311 Waco, is president. Other officers are: Marilyn Young, vice president and Peggy Pugh, secretary; Frank Hall and Herschel Beaty, librarians.

Herschell Beaty, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Beaty, Monroe and Merthel streets, won a cash prize for his fire prevention poster entered in the city contest last month. Virginia Ann Meek, first grade student, won honorable mention in the state contest for her fire prevention poster.

The school's firewardens plan, whereby boys aid in the fire drills is a novel idea. Two of the wardens go immediately to the outside doors and see that they are are open while two others report to the principal to help in any way they are needed. Chester Madding, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Madding, 2313 Sanders, is captain of the fire wardens.

Henry Ussery, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Ussery, is captain of the school safety patrols and one of the outstanding members of the McWhorter Mustangs, the school touch football team. James Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Young, 1519 Ruby, was captain of the team. The team members' mothers entertained the football

Peggy Louise Pugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pugh, route 2, is president of the Citizenship club for the fifth year. The clubs learn the elementary phases of parliamentary law and also to assume responsibilities in the various committee work.

PEGGY

Pat Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burl Walker, 2711 Locust, a sixth year students, has been assisting in the "Adventures in Science" broadcasts of the Lubbock School of the Air over radio station KFYO for the past two years.

The school has a pep squad to support its athletic teams and

PAT PHYLLIS

Phyllis Rae Monroe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Monroe, 2921 Walnut, is the head cheer leader. The pep squad is composed of 60 girls from the fourth, fifth and sixth years

Interest of the school's pupils in books is little short of sensational. All of the sixth year students are members of the Lubbock County library and use books from the library one day each week as a part of the language arts work. The books are carefully selected under teacher guidance. Miss Louise LeMond is director of this phase of the school's work. In addition to the sixth year pupils, approximately 70 per cent of the fifth year pupils are also members of the library.

The school's P.-T. A. chapter, although in its second year, is one of the most active in Lubbock. It has a membership of 112 parents and projects sponsored this year include preparations of cookies for the USO and the staging of a food shower for the Milam home in which 160 pints of canned fruits and vegetables, 11 No. 3 cans, 53 No. 2 cans, seven and one-half dozen apples and oranges, 29 coat hangers, 35 pounds of potatoes, a box of miscellaneous foods and several articles of clothing were donated.

Mrs. C. H. Burton is president of the chapter; Mrs. H. A. Beaty, vice president; Mrs. S. L. King, secretary; and Mrs. Harvey T. Arnold, treasurer.

Pupils in the Spanish class of the sixth year in the school assisted the P.-T. A. members with their rummage sale last month, helping make change and interpret for their mothers.

A new Boy Scout troop has been organized for boys at the school with Joe K. Jones as scoutmaster. Mothers served refreshments for the candle lighting initiation ceremony last Monday night. Jones also assists the football team.

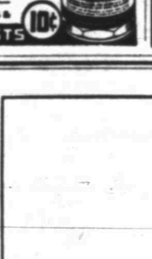

Buying bonds and stamps has been one of the regular habits of McWhorter pupils and during October a total of $138 in bonds and stamps was purchased and during November a total of $172.65 has been purchased.

City's Recreation Setup To Be Improved Under Bond Program

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another of a series of articles on the city's five-year expansion program on which taxpayers will vote on Dec. 11. An over-all bond issue of $5,894,000, offered in 14 different propositions, will be offered for approval or rejection on that date.

By C. W. RATLIFF
Avalanche Staff Writer

Voters of Lubbock will be given the opportunity of approving a vast parks and recreation improvement program when they vote on the $5,894,000 bond issue on Dec. 11.

Proposition No. 8 of the election calls for the issuance of $155,000 in bonds to provide for these improvements over a five-year period. Of the total figure, $72,000 will be spent in the parks program and $83,000 in the recreation program.

New Swimming Pools Planned

The $83,000 appropriation for the recreation department out of the bonds will go for remodeling and enlarging of the present bathhouse and swimming pool in Mackenzie State park and for the construction of an additional swimming pool somewhere in southwest Lubbock and a third pool in the negro section of Lubbock.

Additional equipment for the recreation department is also provided for in the bonds.

The parks improvement program calls for extensive additions to water lines in parks, construction of a recreation building which will include a small recreation room, a storage room and restrooms for each park, installation of drinking fountains and park seats in each park and construction of wading pools at each of the city's present eight parks.

To Build Tennis Courts

Another feature of the parks improvement program will be construction of concrete tennis courts. Each will be a double court and in addition to tennis will be used for shuffleboard, volleyball and other games sponsored by the recreation department at night.

In addition to these improvements, the program also calls for the erection of additional lights at each park so that they may be used more extensively at night for various activities.

The program also calls for the erection of a fence around Booker T. Washington park in Carver Heights, the negro section of Lubbock.

Approval of the bonds will give Lubbock one of the most complete city parks system in the state. The city is now operating seven parks comprising 100.9 acres in addition to its lease on the 547-acre Mackenzie State park in northeast Lubbock.

Present parks are: McCrummen, between T and U and Nineteenth and Twentieth; Burns, between K and L and Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth; Pioneer, between T and U, and Sixth and Seventh; Carlisle, between U and W and Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh; B. T. Washington, between B and C and Twenty-second and Twenty-third; Wagner, between Monroe and Jackson and Twenty-sixth and Twenty-eighth; and the Mexican park between U and Q and First and Second. In addition the courthouse lawn is also maintained as a park by the city under lease from the county.

Additional park sites already purchased are: Stubbs, between L and P and Thirty-fifth and Thirty-seventh; Arnett-Benson addition in northwest Lubbock; in west Lubbock between Pierce and Lincoln and Twenty-sixth and Twenty-eighth; southwest between Pierce and Lincoln and Thirty-ninth and Forty-first; south between Adams and Jefferson and Thirty-eighth and Fortieth; southeast between East C and East E and Thirty-fifth and Thirty-seventh; and south between P and N and Fifty-third and Fifty-fifth. All of the new park sites are ten acres.

Total value of parks and plantings is estimated at more than $300,000 and Mackenzie State park and plantings is valued on the books at $860,421.

Exclusive of the parks improvement program and an enterprise in which the parks department will derive revenues will be the construction of a permanent amusement center in Mackenzie State park by a group of fourteen Lubbock men. Thirty acres of the park have been leased to the corporation and the city will realize a percentage of the profits of the center.

The center, for which a ten-year lease has been approved, will contain an assortment of kiddies rides such as merry-go-round, ferris wheel, miniature train, Shetland ponies, kiddie automobiles, Link trainer, merry mix-up, miniature golf course, golf driving range, skating rink and various refreshment concessions.

This center will make a valuable addition to the recreation facilities of Lubbock parks and terms of the lease call for low admission charges which should make the state park the amusement center of the South Plains.

The center will be constructed at no cost whatsoever to the taxpayers and should it prove popular, it may mean increased funds for further parks development of the city.

Council Wrecks Her House, Widow Now Lives In One Room

SILVER LAKE, Minn., Nov. 29 (AP)—Mrs. Clara Casprzyk, 44-year-old widow whose house was sawed in half on a village council order when she refused to move the dwelling to allow for street widening, was living today in the only room in the house that remains intact.

Mrs. Casprzyk, who makes her living by dressmaking and is crippled with arthritis, moved to the farm home of a brother after the house was bisected last October.

Mayor Frank A. Bandas said the village decided in 1944 to widen Center street ,and it was found that it would be necessary to move the dwelling. He said the council offered to move the house, excavate a basement and provide foundation walls, but Mrs. Casprzyk refused. After several attempts to settle the matter peaceable, the council ordered carpenters to cut into the dwelling. The sawed-off parts were placed in the rear of the house.

Hurley Uninterested In Politics, He Says

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley told a reported tonight he had "no political aspirations at the moment," and had not discussed with anyone the possibility of running for United States senator in 1946 or President in 1948.

Reports had circulated in Washington that Hurley would seek the Republican nomination for senator from New Mexico next year and that he might be in the running for the GOP presidential nomination in 1948.

Repatriation Of Mexicans Planned

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 29. (AP)—Mexican farm workers in the United States will be repatriated at the rate of a trainload a day, the Labor department has reported. Each train will bring 800.

Such arrangements were made after complaints were lodged with the government that the workers, contracted under a wartime U. S.-Mexico agreement to alleviate labor shortages, could not return because of travel congestion.

Holiday Party Tid-Bits That Require Little Work

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS
Associated Press Food Editor

FROM now on, for a good 6 weeks, it's party-time in the U. S. A. People always appreciate pretty and tasty tid-bits to go with cocktails or tea and coffee, and if your party requires no other work it's fun to do a little fussing over these for the delectation of your guests and your own great satisfaction. Here are suggestions for little snacks which aren't too hard to accomplish and give a very professional touch to the snack tray.

Fried Shrimp

½ pounds shrimp	1 teaspoon salt
3 eggs	Dash of paprika
½ cup flour	Fat for frying

Remove the shells and intestinal veins from shrimp. Boil in slightly salted water until done (about 15 minutes). Drain and dry between paper towels. Dip into flour, seasoned with salt and paprika. Fry in shallow fat, turning to brown all sides and handling gently so as not to break the shrimp. Serve with real mayonnaise, into which has been stirred a few stuffed olives and a small sweet gherkin, finely chopped.

Devilled Melbas

Day-old rolls	1 hard-cooked egg
3-ounce can deviled ham	3 tablespoons real mayonnaise

Slice rolls very thin. Place on cookie sheet in slow oven and bake a half hour or until golden brown. Chop egg and mix with ham and mayonnaise. Spread mixture on toasted roll slices.

Fish Balls

1 cup cooked, flaked fish	crumbs
¼ cup dry bread	3 tablespoons real mayonnaise
	Fat for frying

Mix fish, bread crumbs and mayonnaise. Shape into small balls. Cook in fat until golden brown, turning gently to brown all sides. (These are best cooked in deep fat if you have that much to use!)

Tomato Treats

1 package lemon-flavored gelatin	¼ teaspoon dry mustard
2 cups tomato juice	1 tablespoon basil vinegar
1 teaspoon salt	½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Warm tomato juice and dissolve gelatin in it. Mix dry ingredients with vinegar and Worcestershire sauce and mix well into gelatin mixture. Pour into big shallow pan, so that the gelatin will harden in about one-half inch thickness. Place in refrigerator and when ready to serve cut into fancy shapes and place them on salted crackers. Decorate with a dash of real mayonnaise.

Masked Eggs

Cut hard-cooked eggs in half, lengthwise. Place each on a leaf of lettuce or escarole. Frost egg-halves wit hmayonnaise and garnish with pimiento strips.

Cake Made In Five Minutes

THIS Lord Baltimore cake requires only five minutes for mixing, is delicious for the approaching holidays and, if you are short of sugar, substitute corn syrup for part of the sugar and still turn out a light and fluffy cake.

LORD BALTIMORE CAKE

2 c. cake flour	3 tsp. baking powder
1 1-3 c. sugar
½ c. shortening	4 egg yolks, unbeaten
1 tsp. salt	1 tsp. lemon extract
1 c. milk

Measure into a mixing bowl the flour, sugar, shortening, salt and two-thirds of the milk. Stir vigorously by hand or with a mixer (mediux speed) for two minutes. Then add the baking powder and mix lightly. Add the egg yolk, one-third cup of milk and lemon extract. Blend by hand or in a mixer for two minutes. The batter will be smooth and thin.

Pour into two nine-inch layer pans, which have been greased and lined with wax paper. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees Fahrenheit) 25 to 30 minutes. When cool, frost and put layers together as follows:

FLUFFY WHITE ICING

1 c. light corn syrup	2 egg whites
	¼ tsp. salt

Heat the corn syrup over hot water. Beat the egg whites and salt until stiff. Pour hot syrup slowly over the egg whites, beating constantly until the right consistency to spread.

FILLING

¼ c. chopped maraschino cherries	½ c. chopped nuts
¼ c. seed raisins	¼ of the Fluffy White Icing

Mix all ingredients together and spread between layers.

To save sugar in the Lord Baltimore cake, use two-thirds cup light corn syrup and two-thirds cup of sugar.

"Sweeten" Holidays With These Candies

Despite the sugar problem you can make candy for this Christmas. Children love nothing better than to participate in this particular branch of cookery and with a little supervision from you, can turn out creditable products.

Chocolate Molasses Taffy

4 squares semi-sweet chocolate	2-3 cup water
1 cup light brown sugar, firmly packed	1 cup light molasses
	¼ teaspoon salt
1-3 cup corn syrup	3 tablespoons butter or margarine

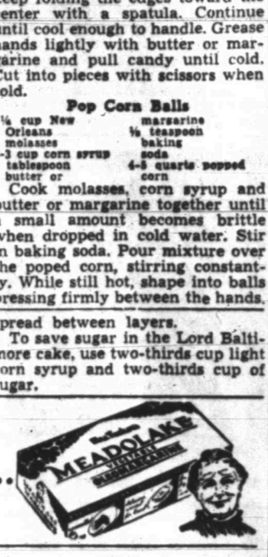

Combine ingredients in saucepan. Cook over low flame, stirring constantly, until the mixture comes to a boil. Continue boiling, stirring occasionally, until a small amount of the mixture, dropped into cold water, forms a hard ball. Pour into a greased platter. As candy cools, keep folding the edges toward the center with a spatula. Continue until cool enough to handle. Grease hands lightly with butter or margarine and pull candy until cold. Cut into pieces with scissors when cold.

Pop Corn Balls

1¼ cup New Orleans molasses	margarine
	½ teaspoon baking soda
2-3 cup corn syrup
1 tablespoon butter or	4-5 quarts popped corn

Cook molasses, corn syrup and butter or margarine together until a small amount becomes brittle when dropped in cold water. Stir in baking soda. Pour mixture over the poped corn, stirring constantly. While still hot, shape into balls pressing firmly between the hands.

Atcheson Silent On Byrnes' Statement

TOKYO, Thursday, Nov. 29 (AP) George Atcheson, jr., declined comment today on the statement by Secretary of State James F. Byrnes that Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley, while ambassador to China, had complained about Atcheson's diplomatic activities.

"You can say I feel proud to have (Gen. George C.) Marshall connected with the foreign service," said Atcheson, now an adviser to General MacArthur. He referred to Hurley's successor as ambassador.

"On the other matter, no comment."

A reader who asks that her name not be disclosed says her family likes cranberry jelly with toast for breakfast; that it is such a beautiful dish and the berries are so plentiful she would like to pass along the recipe (originally her neighbor's) for perfect jelly.

Cook four cups of berries with two cups of water until the skins burst. Strain through colander, return to pan, add two cups of sugar and cook for 15 minutes at good boiling pace.

Prospects Point To Much Larger Cotton Crop Next Year Than '45

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29. (AP)—Next year's cotton crop may be about 2,500,000 bales larger than this year's, the Agriculture department reported today.

The 1945 crop, totaling about 9,100,000 bales, was one of the smallest in many years.

In a report on 1946 production and marketing prospects, the department said a favorable price outlook, coupled with prospects of larger supplies of farm labor, machinery, fertilizers and other farm needs should encourage a larger acreage of cotton.

Acreage Estimated

The report estimated the 1946 acreage at somewhere between this year's low level of 18,400,000 and 27,000,000 acres. The latter figure is the minimum permissable povernment acreage allotment under crop control laws. The department has announced, however, that there will be no restrictions on production or marketing of cotton in 1946.

The report estimated growers will receive about $1,200,000,000 from the 1945 crop and cotton seed. This is slightly smaller than the income of any of the past three seasons but larger than in 23 of the past 36 seasons.

Looking to market prospects, the department said exports of American cotton probably will increase this season but will face even keener competition that formerly in foreign markets as ocean shipping becomes more plentiful.

The department said the effectiveness of the present cotton export subsidy will be lessened as shipping increases, adding that some countries—particularly the United Kingdom—already have acquired title to considerable cotton in other export countries.

The present export subsidy of four cents a pound, the department said is less effective now than at the time it was inaugurated in November 1944, because the spread between prices of American and foreign cotton has widened somewhat since then.

In any event, the department said, it appears likely that American export may total about 3,000,000 bales this season, compared with 2,000,000 last season and from 1,100,000 to 1,500,000 in the preceeding four seasons.

Local Parole Board Without Legal Sanction Is Last Step In Parole

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the third of a series of stories outlining the Texas system of pardons and paroles, which lately has drawn criticism from law enforcement officers. Others will follow).

By MARY L. KENNEDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Nov. 29. — There are four major steps in the process of obtaining a parole, and the fourth step brings a convict under the supervision of the local parole board, an agency without legal sanction.

The legislature has never formally recognized the local boards, although the premise for their establishment was laid in the constitutional amendment adopted in 1936 setting up a new parole system in Texas.

Good Behavior Plain

The first step begins when a man enters prison. A prisoner immediately begins accumulating time substrated from his minimum sentence for good behavior. Thus, a man sent up for two years if he behaves can be out of the pen in four months and 24 days.

In the second step, when he has served this requisite time less good behavior time, the convict's name automatically comes before the board of pardons and paroles, which studies the case and sends a recommendation to the governor.

The third step is the governor's recommendation, which usually but not always follows the board's, since the governor has no facilities or appropriation to investigate these cases.

Then Comes Local Board

The fourth brings the man, if paroled, before the local board. All the board gets is his name and the governor's clemency proclamation.

The local board — without any appropriations and on their own time — must keep tab on a convict until the total length of his term is completed. They must try to find him an appropriate job, and help him over the rough spots.

All the numerous local parole board members consulted heartily concurred that the first requisite to successful parole is a job, and that the parole board should require assurance of employment before a convict is released.

No Any Job Will Do

Not just any job will do, these workers say. It must be within the parolee's capabilities, it must interest him, pay him a living wage, and be free of pressure because the man holding it is just out of the penitentiary.

"That 93 per cent go straight in view of all this is the amazing thing, not that seven per cent fail," commented Salvation Army Major Fred Felter, chairman of the Travis county board.

A&M To Purchase 125 Prefabricated Houses

COLLEGE STATION, Nov. 29. (AP) — Purcahse of 125 prefabricated houses to be set up on the Texas A. and M. college campus for housing for veterans and their families was approved Wednesday by the college board of directors.

The board also authorized architectural planning for a new union buildin., and other new structures on the campus, including a chapel and a physical education building. President Gibb Gilchrist announced that the campus rehabilitation fund had been increased $58,000 and that $427,000 will be available at the end of the present year for construction of a union building.

Other business matters approved by the board included:

A fund of $15,000 for emergency investigation of wheat poisoning of cattle in the Amarillo area.

The J. Thomas Davis endowment fund at John Tarleton Agricultural college, Stephenville, was approved and several minor items of improvements were voted at the Stephenville college and at Prairie View college.

Soviet Refuses Plea On Interned Soldiers

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 29 (AP)—The Soviet government has refused a personal request from King Gustaf for a year's delay in the return of interned Baltic soldiers to Russian-controlled territory, the foreign office has announced.

The request, directed to Generalissimo Stalin, was rejected orally by the Soviet minister in Stockholm, who said there was no ground for making an exception to the established international practice of returning interned persons at the end of the war.

Chennault Insists Accused Diplomats Should Face Trial

DALLAS, Nov. 29. (AP)—Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault told the Associated Press here that career diplomats charged by Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley with undermining American policy in China should be tried by civil court.

The Texas-born former boss of the Flying Tigers and commanding general of the U. S. 14th Air force in China said any diplomat who went against U. S. national policies in China should be put on trial.

Hurley, who resigned as U. S. ambassodor to China, accused career diplomats of backing Chinese Communists or "imperialists" instead of Democracy or unity."

Forrestal Dislikes Pending Navy Bill

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (AP) — Secretary of the Navy Forrestal told a news conference today that the pending bill for unification of the armed forces would mean "absorption of the Navy by the War department."

He said the Navy favored true unification but that the legislation before the Senate Military committee "would not produce that result."

"It is important that the public realize the Navy is not taking a simply negative position," he said. "The Army program is easily understood, since it simply calls for hiring one good superintendent and all details will fall into place. You can't deal with so complex a problem so lightly."

SALE HEARING SET

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 29 (AP)—The Securities and Exchange mission has set Dec. 12 for a hearing on the proposed sale by Central Power and Light Co. of electric and ice properties in Texas Big Bend area to West Texas Utilities company.

Texas Highway Program Starts

AUSTIN, Nov. 29 (AP)—Chairman John S. Redditt of the state highway commission said today that the much-discussed post-war highway program for Texas has advanced beyond the stage of talk and that bids will be received Dec. 4 on the first projects of the big program.

The commission at the same time announced authorization of 20 projects, cancellation of one, and the appropriation of $790,102 for the authorized jobs.

Much of the immediate postwar work to be undertaken will be major reconditioning of sections of older and heavily-traveled roads that have been neglected during the war.

Wichita Project

The commission approved orders auhorizing improvements projects, and made appropriations including:

Wichita—On U. S. Highway 281 and 277 from a point at or near Sheppard Field north of Wichita Falls to the inter-state Red river bridge, the state highway engineer has been directed to proceed with the location and preparatoin of right of way deeds, and upon completion of this work, to turn them over to the commissioner's court of Wichita county with the request of the highway commission that this right of way be secured in order that the department may proceed with the reconstruction of this section of highway. At such time as the right of way has been secured, the state highway engineer is directed to report to the highway commission in order that an appropriation of funds may be made to provide for the necessary construction work.

FIGHT FREIGHT RATES

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (AP)—Attorney General Nathaniel L. Goldstein said today nine northern states had instituted action in the U. S. District court at Atica, N. Y., seeking review of Interstate Commerce commission orders increasing freight rates 10 per cent throughout the northeast and reducing them in the South.

British Organization Said Holding Hitler Up As Divine Ruler

LONDON, Nov. 29. (AP)—London newspapers headlined today reports that an organization known as the Legion of Christian Reformers, said to regard Adolf Hitler as "a divine instrument," had been formed in England last week.

The news stories followed an auction yesterday of a huge granite bust of Hitler and Nazi flags from the former German embassy in London which was marked by spirited bidding.

Buys Statue Of Hitler

Offers on the bust started jocularly at "two bob" (40 cents). Capt. R. Gordon-Canning, former member of the British Union of Fascists, immediately snapped "ten pounds" ($40) and, after counter bidding, purchased the granite head for 500 pounds ($2,000).

Gordon-Canning, who was imprisoned for two years during the war under defense regulations, told reporters the bust might "go back to Germany in about 25 years time."

Also present at the sale was a man identifying himself as J. L. Battersby, general secretary of the Legion of Christian Reformers, with headquarters in "Kingdom house," greystone mansion on a 16-acre Sussex estate "donated by a friend."

Battersby said that Gordon-Canning was not a member of the Legion.

"We in the Legion regard Hitler as a divine instrument to break the power of the mammon system," Battersby said.

He added that the Legion was "absolutely non-political" and said "Hitler was most definitely sent by God to judge the world."

Another man who gave his name as G. T. R. Merriman purchased two Nazi flags and told the press: "Hitler was preparing the work of judgment. I hope to God it hurries up."

The newspaper said that among others attending the sale were "a number of former members of the British Fascist movement."

Merriman was offered 130 pounds ($520) for one of his flags as he was loading them in a taxi, but said: "I would not take a million."

Uniform Control Of Noxious Weeds Urged

DALLAS, Nov. 29. (AP) — Uniform noxious weed seed laws in southern states will eliminate the chaos that has produced confusion among seed dealers, Phil S. Taylor, resident of the Association of Seed Control Officials, said today.

Taylor spoke before some 200 delegates to the Texas Seedmen's association convention here.

He cited the program of southeastern states officials to reach an agreement on noxious weed seed lists as needed in this area.

Linden Jones of the state department of agriculture said that Agriculture Commissioner J. E. McDonald now is studying the uniform regulations of the southeast in view of placing them into effect in Texas.

Company Head Says Loan Must Go Over

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (AP)—A Victory Loan statement by Francis A. Countway, president of Lever Brothers Co.:

"This Victory Loan must go over the top. It is the duty of every one of us to buy victory bonds to the very limit of our resources. We cannot let down our victorious fighting men. We must lend every dollar we can afford to bring our fighting men home, to care for our wounded, and to rehabilitate our veterans."

One June 1, farm employment was 291,000 below that of the same date last year. Decreases were noted in the number of both family and hired workers.

At the end of fighting in Europe, Army Ordnance bomb disposal experts were handling three and one-half tons of hazardous ammunition per man per month.

German People Are On Trial At Nuernberg As Well As Leaders

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press Staff Writer

The hands of the German people and their pre-Nazi leaders are not clean of war guilt.

That is the evidence being piled up at the Nuernberg trial of 20 German war criminals by an International Tribunal of Justice. Thus, not only the vicious Nazis are on trial, but in effect the leaders of an entire nation.

The facts being brought out have a bearing on the argument over whether there are "good" and "bad" Germans, and whether a German who is not proven to have been an active Nazi is thereby exonerated from responsibility for Germany's assault on civilization.

There is no dispute at all about the guilt of the Nazis. They have already been convicted in the minds of civilized peoples. The introduction of testimony and affidavits against them is mainly designed to put it on the record in indelible ink for history.

War Planned Before Nazis

The revelations which are being made about Germany's deliberate planning of a world war before the Nazis seized power in another matter. This evidence indicates, although it does not necessarily prove, that the evil was there before the Nazis, and that Hitler's gang was spawned by it.

The most significant evidence to the above effect was an affidavit by George Messersmith, formerly American minister to Vienna. The affadivit quoted from a secret report which Messersmith made to the State department in 1935, in which he warned that certain respected and supposedly non-Nazi diplomats were as dangerous to the peace of Europe as Hitler himself. The men named included Baron Franz von Papen, Baron Constantine von Neurath and Hans-Georg Mackensen.

Three Believed Non-Nazi

The world believed that the three were at heart non-Nazi and would be ready to support a movement to overthrow Hitler if they thought it would succeed. Messersmith, however, wrote:

"Europe will not get away from the myth that Neurath, Papen and Mackensen are not dangerous people and that they are diplomats of the old school. They are in fact servants and instruments of the regime, and just because the outside world looks upon them as harmless, they are able to work more effectively."

Messersmith clearly disclosed the plot to rape Austria.

Banker In On Plot

Other evidence revealed that Hjalmar Schacht, former head of the Reichsbank and a leading international figure, planned for Hitler the financing and carrying out of the plot for world domination. It was shown that Schacht moved in on a plan of re-armament and conquest which was worked out by the general staff and the Prussian militarists well before Hitler's seizure of power. The army, navy and air force were being readied for Hitler while he was still little more than a "beer hall" outcast.

There was, for instance, the shameless trickery by which the German navy was at that time being reborn under the direction of Grand Admiral Erick Raeder. Foreign powers were hoodwinked on ship tonnage. Submarines were built secretly in Spain—later to become the Fascist proving ground for the World war—and also in Finland. The crews were trained in the Netherlands, under the pretext of getting theoretically ready for "defense" against submarine warfare.

Later, this process was stepped up as Hitler completed the work of tearing the Versailles treaty to shreds—but the tearing up was well under way before Hitler became chancellor.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29. (AP)—Maj. Gen. L. R. Groves told the Senate atomic energy committee today he considers it necessary to continued making atomic bombs until we have a suitable supply on hand and the question of international control is determined.

It should be possible to make certain reductions in the plants within two years, the head of the secret Manhattan project told Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich). Until then, Groves said, the production facilities should be retained and operated about as they now stand.

POLICY ABOUT READY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29. (AP)—Dr. H. V. Evatt, Australian foreign minister, announced today that the Far Eastern Advisory commission had substantially completed its task of defining the Allied policy toward Japan. The commission, he said, will leave for Tokyo Dec. 26 for a personal inspection.

Public Thinks 15 Per Cent Wage Boost Enough, Gallup Discovers

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J.—Questioning of thousands of persons in all parts of the United States reveals the following public thinking in regard to wage increases.

1—A majority of the voting public opposes pay boosts of 30 per cent in hourly rates in former war industries where workers have suffered a 30 per cent average decrease in take-home pay because of a reduction in working hours after the war.

GALLUP

However, while a majority continues to oppose the 30 per cent raise, there has been a slight increase in the number favoring the boost. Whereas last month month 33 per cent believed this increase justified in former war industries, today the figure favoring such an increase is 38 per cent.

The majority continues to feel that a 30 per cent increase is excessive.

2—Although the majority opposes an increase of as much as 30 per cent, most voters are prepared to see some increase granted. In addition to the 38 per cent who would favor a 30 per cent raise, another 31 per cent who did not favor this increase said they would favor a pay boost of 15 per cent, making a total of more than two out of every three favoring an increase of at least 15 per cent.

Car Prices Involved

3—As reported in an earlier survey, a majority of voters with opinions on the subject think that prices of automobiles will have to be increased if a wage boost of 30 per cent is granted to workers in the automobile industry.

Entirely aside from how they feel about the necessity for increasing automobile prices, virtually eight out of every ten (78%) say they think prices of automobiles will go up if a 30 per cent wage jump were to go through.

4—Voters are evenly divided on whether a 15 per cent wage increase would make a boost in auto prices necessary.

The questions in today's survey:

"Because of loss of overtime, the total weekly pay of many factory workers is less than it was during the war. So that their total weekly pay will be the same as it was during the war, these workers want a 30 per cent increase in their hourly rates. Do you think they should or should not receive this increase?"

The vote:

	Today	Last Month
Should	38%	33%
Should not	52	55
No opinion	10	12

All voters not in favor of a 30 per cent wage boost were asked:

"Would you favor increasing factory workers' hourly rates by 15 per cent?"

The vote:

Favor Increasing by 15 per cent	69%
Oppose	22
No opinion	9

A 30 per cent increase is favored by a substantial majority of union members (65% in today's poll) and it has considerable support also among non-union workers.

The chief disapproval of the 30 per cent increase comes from farmers, white collar workers and professional and business men.

Secret Information On Chinese Missing

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (AP)—Rep. Dondero (R-Mich) said today that a document removed from secret government files last spring detailed the disposition of Chinese Nationalist forces under Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek.

"It is easy to visualize the consequences of this information in the hands of the Communist forces in China, then and now," Dondero told the House.

Texas Farm Bureau Federation Elects

WACO, Nov. 29 (AP)—J. Walter Hammond, Tye, was elected president of the Texas Farm Bureau federation at the closing session of its convention here.

Other officers named were: Frank Taylor, Waco, vice-president; J. H. West, Bishop, secretary-treasurer; Creola McGill, Waco, assistant secretary; Marvin Carter, Waco, organization director.

The convention adopted 27 resolutions, including those favoring retention of the AAA, fixed parity prices on farm products, and taking farm credit institutions out of politics.

Rep. Poage (D-Tex) of Waco told the 12th annual convention of the federation that farmers were not even "holding their own" regarding farm prices.

He said that while other groups were preparing to maintain wartime earnings and industrial labor was attempting to secure higher wages, he was frankly concerned over what he called the country's ability to maintain farm prices.

He said farmers must not slip back further, and called on the National Farm bureau to support his proposed bill to turn surplus armed services soil conservation equipment over to agriculture. He said the bill had been bottled up in a rules committee since June.

Farmers should support soil conservation, rural electrification, and other such projects making farms more comfortable and desirable, Poage said.

Hearing Set On World Capital

LONDON, Nov. 29. (AP)—A subcommittee of the United Nations preparatory commission will start hearings Saturday on the question of the site for the permanent world capital, and delegates predicted some heated debates.

U. S. delegate Adali E. Stevenson urged "as a matter of courtesy" that delegations from American cities be allowed to present their invitations without further postponement, so that they could pack up and get home.

The Americans were expected to appear in alphabetical order of their cities or areas, starting with Atlantic City, Black Hills, Boston, Chicago and Denver, and ending with Philadelphia and San Francisco.

An informal Associated Press poll showed a majority of the subcommittee in favor of establishing the permanent United Nations site in the United States. In any case, its recommendations would have to be approved by the full commission and again by the general assembly when it meets in January.

Hitler Photographer Stymied By Bormann

NUERNBERG, Nov. 29. (AP)—Heinrich Hoffman, Hitler's personal photographer, says that Martin Bormann had him falsely labelled as a typhus carrier last January in order to prevent him from going to Hitler to "tell him the truth" about Germany's approaching doom.

He said he finally saw Hitler, but that Hitler's "mind was gone."

Hoffman has been employed for two months by the special projects division of U. S. chief prosecutor Robert H. Jackson's staff, identifying photographic evidence against the Nazi leaders.

Traffic Deaths Rise Sharply In October

CHICAGO, Nov. 29 (AP)—Traffic deaths rose to 3,400 last month, more than double the number for October, 1944, and within 12 per cent of the all-time October high of 1941.

The National Safety council, in announcing the figures, blamed drivers who are "using their war-worn cars as if they were on a kamikaze mission."

The traffic death toll for the first 10 months of 1945 was 21,990—14 per cent above the 1944 period.

The council reported travel was 11 per cent greater the first nine months of 1945 over the previous year's period.

Grave Crisis Claimed Faced By REA In Fight For Existence

AUSTIN, Nov. 29. (AP)—A warning of a "crisis in rural electrification" Clyde T. Ellis, executive manager for the National Rural Electric Cooperative association, has called upon all local co-ops to join with national for a United front."

"We are fighting for our very existence against the private utilities," Ellis told representatives from Texas, New Mexico and Arizona here yesterday for the annual convention of the 9th region, NRECA.

Fight In Open

He said "this is the first time the power companies have come out in the open in an organized campaign against proposed REA legislation, and their lobby at this very minute is before Congress with $1,000,000 ready to defeat the Poage bill or hamstring it with restrictive amendments."

Delegates joined with the Texas power reserve electric cooperative which met prior to the regional conference, in petitioning members of Congress from the 10th region to back HR 1742 by Rep. W. R. Poage (D-Tex) and refuse to accept nay restrictive amendments to it.

Bill Is Outlined

This bill provides $550,000,000 for the rural electrification administration with which to make loans over a three-year expansion program.

Unless it is passed, said Ellis, 21 states, including Texas and New Mexico will be out of funds by Jan. 1 with no hope of any new allocations until July.

Ellis said the private utilities in addition "to trying to ruin the Poage bill with an amendment which will prevent REA from making loans for the construction of generating plants or transmission lines," are urging Congress to prevent co-ops from using dams for both flood control and power transmission, as well as raising criticism against them for not paying income taxes.

The convention also through resolution:

Gave "hearty endorsement" to the program of the southwest power administration which has jurisdiction over the Penusacola dam in northeast Oklahoma; the Norfolk dam in northeast Arkansas; and the Red River dam near Denison.

Favored legislation recently introduced in Congress by Sen. Lister Hill of Alabama and Rep Poage making it possible for REA to loan cooperatives money to provide rural telephone service, but deferred any "premature action" with regard to joint use agreements with telephone companies for the use of "REA co-op poles" pending the outcome of this legislation.

Petitioned Congress to provide a deficiency appropriation so that cooperatives might proceed immediately with construction of flood control programs.

Directors represented the 10th region were elected as follows: T. E. Craddock of Seymour, Texas; Mike M. Bennett of Willcox Arizona; and Oliver Kimbrough of Clovis.

Jap Officer Pleads Ignorance Of Rules

KWAJALEIN, Nov. 27. (AP)—A Japanese naval officer with 26 years service, on trial for his life, declared today he never had been advised of the Geneva convention regulating treatment of war prisoners.

The officer was Lt. Kyoshi Fueta, commander of the north naval sector of Mill Atoll, one of 10 Japanese officers on trial here accused of beheading five American fliers in February of 1944.

Fueta testified he not only was ignorant of the Geneva convention but he was unaware of any regulations laid down by the Japanese Navy concerning the disposition of prisoners.
