Volume XL.

Junction, Kimble County, Texas, Friday, August 15, 1924

Number 17.

CAPT. CHAS. SCHREINER GIVES $10,000 TO SCHOOL.

It is a matter of common knowledge that Capt. Chas. Schreiner, capitalist and philanthropist of Kerrville, has always manifested a great interest in Junction. The beautiful Schreiner Park in the edge of town, is one example of his liberality.

Some years ago he set aside $35,000 for assisting us in building a school here, providing that local people would raise, other than by taxation, a like sum. This sum was subscribed, but the financial crash came on and it was impossible to raise the money.

Just before the bond election carried, another attempt was made to match the donation of Capt. Schreiner, but this failed. The bonds were voted and the fine school building that is nearing completion, is the result.

The board was seriously handicapped for funds even for current running expenses, and the matter of raising funds for fully equipping the building was an even more serious one.

A number of local people took the matter up with Capt. Schreiner, and he graciously donated the sum of $10,000 which will equip the fine new building completely in every way.

Through the interest shown by the patrons in voting bonds, we have one of the finest buildings in this part of the State, and through the generous gift of Capt. Schreiner, it will be completely equipped.

LOCAL GIN READY FOR COTTON SEASON.

C. W. Atchison, manager of the local concern which owns the gin, states that several hundred dollars have just been spent in getting the gin in first class condition for the coming cotton season.

Among the desirable improvements that have been made is the installation of four new Continental Special Cleaner Feeders. These feeders will enable the ginners to give each man all his own staple and none of the men who is ahead or who follow him. This will insure each customer of the gin getting a better sample, as each bale will be cut off to itself, as soon as the last of the seed cotton passes through the gin.

W. R. Eckert who is in charge of the mechanical end, has been making all other necessary improvements and will be ready for the run when the first bale is brought in.

EDITH MAY HENSLEY.

An item that was overlooked last week, was the death of Miss Edith May Hensley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Hensley of Kerrville. She died at Kerrville Monday night after an illness of about two weeks, supposedly caused by an insect bite.

Deceased was eighteen years of age and formerly lived in this county. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Deel of the Junction Baptist Church at the Gentry cemetery, where interment was made.

She was a grand daughter of W. W. McCaleb and also of Mrs. L. A. Hensley, of London, and has a large number of relatives and friends in the Red Creek and London communities.

Y. P. Oliver and Asa Murr went to San Antonio Tuesday to be x-rayed. Neither are considered seriously ill, but both have complications that local physicians are not in position to properly diagnose.

RED CREEK "RALLY"

In order the The Eagle readers may know that the Red Creek land still exists, and that its people are prosperous, contented, hopeful and happy, we contribute the following news items:

The great political excitement which was very manifest at the recent primary election, has just about subsided, and most every voter's pulse and mentality is rapidly approaching normal conditions.

Several of the people from Red Creek have been attending the "Holiness Revival" which is in progress at Little Saline.

The continued dry weather is causing some cotton bolls to open prematurely, and if the drouth continues, cotton picking will soon be in order here.

The London and Red Creek consolidated school districts are going to vote on a bond measure at London on the 26th of this month. Every one who favors the establishment of a good High School where they may properly educate their own children and our rising generation, should support the measure. If it carries, it will increase the taxes of our people a few dollars, and we will reap benefit from it for all time, for it will have a tendency to fit our young people for better citizenship.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith of London, and his brother, Charlie Smith of Burnet, visited at the John Adams home Sunday. Prentice Taylor and family are visiting relatives at San Saba for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Edd Carter of Brownwood recently visited Mrs. Carter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hardesty, of Yates.

Alfred Stewart and family left Thursday for Mercury, to make some preliminary arrangements before moving there. They will move there shortly and will teach in the Mercury High School.

Roy Skaggs was giving the "glad hand" to Red Creek voters recently.

Making Dust Fly

Mrs. Miriam Ferguson, wife of the former Texas governor, is aspiring to the same office and polled enough votes in the primaries to enter the fall elections. She is making the dust fly in her race for the governorship.

W. P. Riley was in San Antonio Tuesday looking into the matter of buying equipment that will be installed in the new school building in time for the next term of school. Oren C. Reid, another trustee, and Judge Baker were also in San Antonio that day on their way to Galveston.

John R. Martin was in Concho county last week on business for the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Houston. He says that section of the county is looking fine, as a good rain fell there alst week.

LONDON LOCALS.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Furr and children visited Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bannowsky on Bear Creek Sunday.

Miss Clara Fritz of Junction was the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Mary Brown of London during the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Fenton Stewart have as their guests this week Mr. Stewart's mother and brother of Brownwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Shack Ivy returned the last of the week to their home in San Saba, after a week's visit with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Cummins came in from Lubbock Tuesday, to spend a few days with home folks.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamp Goodman and Miss Annie Mae were in town Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Pearl were in from Little Saline last Saturday.

Miss Winnie Cooper returned home Wednesday. She has been attending the Summer Normal at Alpine. Miss Cooper has been re-elected primary teacher of the Little Saline school.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bannowsky and boys returned Thursday from Shreveport, La., where they have been visiting Mr. Bannowsky's sister.

Sheriff and Mrs. Gibbs of Junction were in London Thursday.

Misses Kathryn Bird, Kathryn Hough and Johnnie Johnson of Rocksprings are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Weaver. Miss Bird is a sister of Mrs. Weaver.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hunter motored in from the Red Creek country Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Lange and sons, of Yates, spent Sunday in London in order to attend the services at the Baptist church.

French Cummins and mother, Mrs. M. E. Cummins, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Cummins Sunday.

We are glad to state that Mrs. Miles Everett, who has been real sick, is able to be up again.

DO YOU WANT A KIMBLE COUNTY FAIR?

Your undersigned committee were appointed by the Chamber of Commerce of Junction to ascertain whether the people of Kimble County desire to have a fair in the near future.

If you are interested, please meet with the Chamber of Commerce at the Court house in Junction, August 18th, 8:30 p. m. If for any reason you cannot be present on said date, please make your wishes known to some member of this committee.

With the assistance of those most vitally interested and the hearty co-operation of the people from the country, a fair can be had; otherwise there will be no fair this year. Alton Miller, Roy Skaggs, J. B. Randolph, Committee.

C. V. TERRELL APPOINTED RAILROAD COMMISSIONER

From Austin the announcement is made that Governor Neff has appointed State Treasurer C. V. Terrell a member of the State Railroad Commission to succeed W. M. W. Spawn, who was recently elected president of the State University.

Both Mr. Spawn and Mr. Terrell were candidates to succeed themselves at the last primary election and were elected without opposition. Some months ago Mr. Terrell was appointed State Treasurer by Gov. Neff to succeed J. H. Holton, who was appointed State Fire Insurance Commissioner.

S. L. Staple, present Secretary of State, has been appointed State Treasurer to succeed Mr. Terrell, and the chief clerk in the Secretary of State's office has been appointed to take Mr. Staples' place.

PUSSYFOOTING

Sallie's Temptations

INTRODUCING SALLIE.

Sallie is a modern, pretty young creature, with all the emotions and desires you yourself had when you were at that glorious age that lies somewhere between sixteen and twenty-five.

Again, she is your own daughter, or the daughter of your very best friend. In other words, there is some one dear to you with the same warmth of sentiment, the same eternal struggle between "right and wrong," and underneath it all, that innate desire to "do right" that God creates in all our little girls—that prompting spirit called conscience to be tenderly nurtured and made strong by clean thoughts and actions or left to grow lax and imperfect as a weed.

Sallie is everywhere. The world are upon the ultimate out come of her moral code. Is she going to weaken her creed of right and wrong and stretch her philosophy of life to that of the girls who have a "good time?"

In this day of cigarettes, cock tails and corsets parked at the dance, your little girl is just where Sallie is. She must decide for herself. Your protecting arm cannot reach out to her when problems arise. Do not be too smug and self-satisfied about your daughter being "different" from the rest of her crowd. They are all Sallies at heart. Perhaps Sallie's own experience, put down truthfully from the pages of her own life, will help your Sallie to pause before she rushes headlong into the cataclysm that yawns today for every young girl.

Every week in The Junction Eagle. Watch for each week's installment, complete in itself.

"ASTRONOMY.—YES—AND TED BILLINGS.

"Let's get out of here, Sallie," said Ted Billings, as he cut in on a dance. The orchestra was playing a divine fox-trot and the saxophone was laughing like a big fat man.

"Duck out the side door before that bird breaks on us; he's been rushing you all evening," I nodded my head.

We danced hurriedly and, with a purpose the width of the ball-room, and out through the door, still keeping time to the music as we crossed the porch. Here and there in the shadows couples were grouped in pairs and they called out gaily to us as we passed.

Ted piloted me by the arm to his car, which was parked quite a distance from the curb at the edge of the golf course.

"I always stop here," he announced; "a good place to take a nip, and besides, it's nice and cozy to be away from the rest of the gang. Isn't it, old dear?"

He squeezed my arm and opening the door, we sat down on the back seat of his beautiful closed car.

Instantly he produced a flask and from the pocket of the car a bottle and two glasses. "See what a thoughtful little boy I am," said Ted; "cold ginger-ale for the ladies."

I propped my silver-shipped feet on the little seat of the car and sighed contentedly.

The moon sailed full and clear followed by a cortege of little clouds that were puffs of dusk-blend chiffon from the trousseau of a bride. A soft breeze played in the palms; it even reached up to the little clouds and scurried them faster and faster across the sky.

"Snap out of it," interrupted Ted, passing me a tall glass. "That's fine Scotch, Sallie. Came off an English vessel that just heaved into port."

It was good. Then, too, I knew the faint glow of assurance and well being that I had begun to look forward to and enjoy.

"That's some dress, Sallie," Ted said, "but I'd hate like the deuce for you to sneeze." He tested the narrow straps of brilliantians that held it on. His fingers against my flesh were warm.

"You've got the 'skin they love to touch' all right, Sallie," said Ted. "It's like rose petals and velvet and all those things."

"Same old line," I laughingly replied.

"Line, nothing," he put his arm around me. "You know perfectly well you go to my head. Maybe it's that darn perfume you use. What is it, Sallie? Blue-hour? Well, there's nothing blue about this one for me, is it, Beautiful?" He held me just a bit closer and every now and then we heard strains of music borne to us on the breeze. They were playing my favorite waltz. It was comfy to be way off from the crowd. I let my head rest against his arm. I liked Ted. He did everything with such an air, and although his reputation was a little off, it didn't make much difference. He went everywhere and the Billings had more money than anybody in town.

Ted began to hum. "She laid more eggs than any hen on the farm, Another little drink won't do us any harm."

"Well, how about it? Say when," he continued, pouring a second drink from the flask.

"Bottoms up," directed Ted, and both glasses went up together and down, empty, at the same time.

"You're a good sport, Sallie," announced Ted. "Give me a drag." He took my cigarette and I lit another from it for I enjoyed a drink more than any other time.

"I say, Sallie, did you ever see the lady in the moon?" Ted must have had a few drinks earlier for he was talking rather slowly—more slowly than before.

"No, I never did. Show it to me, won't you?" I begged.

"Will I? Can a duck swim? However, you'll have to do everything I say." He looked at me. "Are you game?"

"Right-o; go ahead." We faced the moon. It was so lovely and seemed to be getting prettier every minute.

"Now, Sallie," Ted commenced, "you're the lady and I'm the man. You mustn't move." He tilted my face up toward the moon and continued, "She's on the right hand side and that cloudy spot is her hair. She's old-fashioned, Sallie, or she'd have it bobbed."

His hand still cupped my chin. I giggled. We were having a good time.

"Pay attention now, Sallie; this is a serious affair," admonished Ted. "Now you see her profile, you've made out her hair, there's her nose and her mouth—remember, now, Sallie, the man's on the other side—and their lips meet—"

He kissed me.

"Sallie," came a soft feminine voice. I looked quickly to the side of the car. Anne Coddington was standing there. No telling how long she had been an onlooker. I had rather it had been any one but Anne.

I wondered what Ted would say. He laughed indifferently and climbed out of the car. I could have died.

LOST—Lady's black purse, with cord handle, between Junction and Seven Hundred Springs on afternoon of July 24. Owner's name and address inside; if you can't find it on the roadside, maybe some goat has it around his neck. Return to Mrs. W. F. Adams, Yoakum, Texas, for reward.

CONTEST FOR MEETING PLACE OF LEGION 1925.

The contest for the meeting place of the State Convention of the American Legion next year promises in advance to be of a most spirited nature. Three towns or cities are now in the contest, Fort Worth, Amarillo, and Brownsville, and it is understood that each place will be represented at the State Convention at Brownwood with a strong delegation to do the proper amount of boosting in order to secure the 1925 convention.

The contest over the election of State Commander also promises to be of an interesting nature. Col. Wagstaff of Abilene and Lieutenant Mark McGee of Brownwood, are the only two in the race for the position of State Commander, and both are very popular with a large following.

The State Convention of the Legion meets Monday, August 18th, and Commander Sherwood of Temple sends word that he will arrive on Sunday and open his official office at once so as to be ready for work when the convention opens. Commander Sherwood writes that he is receiving information to the effect that large delegations will be in attendance from practically every part of Texas, and he anticipates one of the best conventions so far held by the Legion in a state capacity.—Brownwood Banner-Bulletin.

WHAT IS A GOOD COW WORTH?

Good cows vary in price when it comes to dollars and cents, but valued in other terms, one can say that a good cow is worth from three to four ordinary scrubs which infest so many of our farms. If a good cow will produce in milk and butter fat from three to four times as much as a scrub cow, then why feed, milk and care for the scrub? Better sell them and apply the proceeds towards the purchase of a cow that pays her expenses and a profit.

There are very few bankers in the country that will not advance money to any farmer who has a real earnest desire to purchase a good cow or two. When a farmer gets that kind of an idea and is willing to make the effort to improve his stock, the banker immediately decides that he is a good risk and will lend him every encouragement.—Texas Farm and Ranch.

WHO KNOWS HIM?

The following news item under the heading, "It Takes Money to be a Modern Troubadour," appeared in a recent issue of the Fort Worth Record as a front page article. It might be about some of our readers, but we doubt it.—Editor's Note.

"Junction, Aug. 6.—A modern troubadour—a young business man of Junction—stepped into a telephone booth recently and paid $18 for the privilege of singing a love song over the wires to his sweetheart who is visiting an eastern city."

FERGUSON SPEECHES ATTRACT LARGE CROWDS.

The following excerpts are taken from a speech delivered at Gatesville last Saturday by ex-Governor Jim Ferguson, in the interest of his wife's candidacy for Governor. He opened his speech by charging that Felix Robertson of Dallas is afraid to "come to town" in discussing the prohibition issue in the present campaign. "Robertson himself pitched the campaign on this issue," said Ferguson. "I did not want prohibition to be an issue, but he insisted that it should be. Then I challenged him in three speeches to place his liquor record beside that of my wife and see which is the better prohibitionist of the two. He refused to do this. He evades the issue by saying that he is not running against me, but against my wife."

"At first I said that if he could prove that my wife had ever taken a drink of intoxicating liquor she would withdraw from the race, hold her nose and vote for him. He won't take this up, so now I make this challenge: If he can prove that either myself or my wife has ever bought a drop of bootleg liquor since prohibition went into effect, then my wife will withdraw from the race."

"Or if he will make affidavit that he has not been drunk at least ten times in the last two years, since he was elected District Judge of Dallas, and I can't prove that affidavit false after he has made it, then again I say that my wife will withdraw from the race and vote for him."

"Felix Robertson opens up every one of his speeches with prayer and closes them with a benediction," said Ferguson. "Oh, my friends, I don't blame him, he ought to pray. Because if God Almighty don't save him from going with such a crowd as that headed by Zeke Marvin, then he's a gone fawn skin. If I were Felix Robertson I would quit this race altogether and do nothing but pray from morning until night. He needs to get all the prayers over to God that he possibly can."

"Robertson is on record as saying that he is member of the Klan and that he is proud of it. So if you vote for him, remember that you are voting for a man that belongs to an order that wants to tear down the Republic and turn the reins of government over to a bunch of oath bound men who work in secrecy and in the dark."

"Oh, you ought to get on to this Ku Klux Klan. Up there at Dallas I challenged them to give me a list of the Klan members. I told them that if I could not point out on this list 195 bootleggers, 122 professional gamblers, 19 ex-convicts and other men guilty of twenty-five other different felonies, then my wife would withdraw from this race, hold her nose and vote for Robertson, and, my friends, they haven't taken up this challenge yet."

"The only difference between the University people and myself was over the question of extravagance. They wanted to spend from $300 to $400 on each student in an institution of higher learning and only $13 for your little children. I did not like this. But I never wanted to destroy the University, and as long as they conduct themselves along the line of economy I have no fight to make on them."

"But as long as they continue to give $300 a year to each University high-brow and only $13 to your little children that drag the heavy sack in the fall time and hoe the corn in the spring time, then the Fergusons are going to continue to fight against such unequal distribution of the State's money."

He related the story of how he discovered the truth about the trouble with the penitentiary system by a two-hour heart-to-heart talk with the convicts at the Imperial farm near Houston, and of how he persuaded the convicts to "hit the ball" by treating them like human beings and by promising to reduce the sentences of those that had short terms if only they would work hard and help to make the system pay. Inside of two weeks after he had taken the convicts into his confidence, said Ferguson, one-half of the guards had been discharged and escapes were fewer than ever. "And for the first time in years," said the ex-Governor, "the negro convicts were singing at their work in the Brazos bottoms and the penitentiary farms began to pay."

"They turned just $16,000 over to me to run the penitentiary system when I went into office and when I went out I turned over to the State $1,085,000, hundreds of head of cattle, horses and hogs, all kinds of farm implements and a quarter of a million pounds of sugar and sugar cane."

"Oh, my friends, there is no great secret in making the penitentiary farms pay. All you need is a little humanity and a little of the forgiving spirit of Jesus Christ."

Referring to the financial burden of the State he declared that some measure must be taken to stop extravagance.

"If some one does not rise up and say 'thus far shall you go no further', our children will live to curse the day they were born into this financial slavery."

He said that he did not claim that his wife was a great statesman.

"But I would hate to think," he said, "that she will not make Texas a better Governor than the last three of us fellows have been. And I would rather have a woman with a good platform for Governor than a man who hasn't got brains enough to write a platform."

"Robertson has been running for Governor six months and has been doing a lot of talking about tax reduction. But he has not yet put his finger upon a single definite item which he would cut out or reduce. His platform sounds to me more like one that was built to run on than one planned to serve the people. The Ferguson platform does not wish to be criticised. My good wife's platform tells you by items just how $15,000,000 will be saved to the State in the next two years."

FREDERICKSBURG FAIR PROMISES BIG SUCCESS

The 38th Annual Gillespie County Fair takes place August 22, 23 and 24th. The entire citizenship of Fredericksburg and Gillespie County are united to make it the most successful in its history.

Great changes have been effected over the grounds; the buildings and fences have been repaired and rebuilt and the stables moved from the east to the west side.

Fine agricultural, stock, poultry and household exhibits have been assured. At least forty thorough-breds will compete in a splendid racing program. The ball games will be between the Fredericksburg Giants, who contend for the Southwest Texas championship, and the strong Kerrville, Comfort and Mason teams. The Fredericksburg Military Band will furnish the music during the three days. Many other attractions and entertainments make up a very enjoyable and instructive program.

An invitation to open the fair has been sent Governor Neff, but at the time of this writing his acceptance has not been definitely received. However, it is reasonably sure that he will do so, as the Governor will be in Fredericksburg and Gillespie County on the 22nd.

The people of Fredericksburg and Gillespie County invite the people of this great Southwest and Central part of Texas to join with them in making the 38th Annual Fair the most memorable and successful in its history. They assure that nothing will be left undone to show the visitors a time of their life. Altogether, let's go.

ELLIS ISLAND

Ellis Island, in New York bay, near the Statue of Liberty, is the chief landing place provided by Uncle Sam for immigrants. Through it passes the constant stream of foreign-born which flows America-ward and from which they scatter to the four winds.

Formerly known both as Oyster and Gibbet Island, it was acquired by the national government from the State of New York in 1890 and became our leading immigration station in 1891.

After leaving quarantine immigrants are landed on barges which are towed to Ellis Island. As the immigrants land they are formed into lines and file past the inspectors who "size them up" to discover if there is any reason why they should not be permitted to enter America. They are reviewed by doctors and examined by inspectors and vice investigators. Feet, legs, hands, arms, body, face, eyes, head, are gone over. They are carefully scanned for skin, communicable and eye diseases.

If found to be O. K. in every way, immigrants are permitted to pass, purchase tickets to destination, their money exchanged for its equivalent in our currency and given assistance in locating friends or relatives. Otherwise, they are held for further investigation and developments and finally passed or returned to the country from which they came, as conditions warrant.

The majority of these newcomers go straight-away to the big cities—three-fourths of them, it is said, to the territory east of the Mississippi river and north of the Ohio river.

Ellis Island is intensely interesting. Amusing and pathetic incidents occur daily. All immigrants approach it in fear and trembling lest they prove unfit to enter. To nearly all of them our language and customs are unknown, hence they do not understand what it is all about. "Tis said that more tears have been shed here than any other place in the world. Many cry for joy over permission to enter, others because they are refused or because a family is separated, maybe for life, one member being unfit.

Uncle Sam's entrance laws are rigid—not that he wishes to keep out desirable, but because of the imperative necessity of preventing undesirable from entering. As many as 8,000 immigrants have passed through Ellis Island in a single day, and more than a million have entered during a single year.

We believe that Kimble County ought to have a fair. A good many other people with whom we have talked believe the same. If we are to have one, a great deal of co-operative effort will be necessary to put it over in a way that will be satisfactory. At the instance of a number of ranchmen a meeting was held Monday night on the court house lawn and some twenty-five persons were present, all of whom were heartily in favor of a fair, but 25 people can't put over a fair. As noted elsewhere in this paper, a committee was appointed to call this matter to the attention of the people of the county and to urge every one interested in a fair to meet next Monday night at the court house to organize and formulate plans.

Don't lay this paper down and forget about it. If you think it is a good move, talk it over with your neighbors and get them to come with you Monday night, and working together, we can all put over a fair that will be a credit to the county, and will be beneficial to every stockman. Be on hand at the court house Monday night.

The names above show those who have renewed their subscription or who have been added to the list as new subscribers during the past two weeks. Of this number 15 are new subscribers, making a very satisfactory showing. We are sending out cards to about 25 subscribers whose time has expired, and trust that those who receive these cards will renew promptly, as our many other good subscribers have been doing. If your time has expired, and you want the paper to continue, but are like ourselves, short on funds just now, we shall be glad to accommodate you by sending the paper on a few weeks until it is more convenient to pay. However, you should see us about it, as we will naturally suppose that you do not want the paper, and will drop your name unless subscription is paid or arrangement made for extension within next few days.

In case there is an error in the date on your paper we shall be glad to correct it if brought to our attention.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

To the officers and members of the London Chapter No. 449 of the O. E. S., at London, Texas

We, your committee on resolutions, out of due respect, beg to submit the following:

That as our Heavenly Father saw fit to call our dearly beloved brother, F. M. Adams, (Uncle Fuzzie) home on the 24th of July, 1924, we realize he has been summoned hence by a messenger who cometh sooner or later for us all;

Resolved: that we extend to the family and loved ones our sympathies in this time of their deepest bereavement. We realize that our brother has finished his allotted task in the conflict of life; while our hearts are touched with sympathy for the bereaved ones.

Be it Further Resolved: that a copy of these resolutions be placed upon the minutes, and that a copy be furnished the family of our departed brother, feeling that he will be sadly missed from our order as well as from his loved ones.

Making it Worse And Selling it for Less

Is a mighty common habit among a lot of manufacturers. But to keep up the quality and then sell it for less, that's not so easy. But that's what we've undertaken to do; to keep up the quality and sell for less. You can get the proof by calling on us when in need of merchandise.

Come and visit our store; make yourself comfortable and stay as long as you like. We like to have our customers come into our store and look around, whether they want to buy or not.

SENATORIAL CANDIDATES THANK THE VOTERS.

Hon. Walter C. Woodward of Coleman, successful candidate for State Senator, and Hon. J. A. Thomas, defeated candidate, have each sent this paper an expression of thanks for the support of their friends in the recent primary.

Mr. Thomas of San Angelo asks this paper to thank the many friends in this county for the fine vote cast for him. He stated that the six weeks spent in canvassing the district of sixteen counties was a splendid vacation from his law practice, and that he made hundreds of friends over this section of the country that he greatly appreciates.

Mr. Woodward of Coleman will represent this district for two or four years, in the upper House of the Texas Legislature. According to the provisions of the redistricting law that created this present district which will be represented by him, the members of the next Senate will draw for places which will determine whether they will hold office two or four years.

Mr. Woodward's statement follows:
Editor of The Eagle,
Junction, Texas.

Dear Sir:
I wish you would express thru the columns of your paper my appreciation of the votes cast for me in the Senatorial race, and my pledge to the people in this district to faithfully serve them as their State Senator. I shall do my best as the representative of the people in this district to obey and carry out their wishes in all matters where it is possible, and in the absence of an expression from the people, I shall have to be governed by the dictates of my own conscience and my better judgment.

I was prevented from making a canvass in your county, but I hope to become personally acquainted with a large majority of your people, for I want to know them and I want them to know me, and convey the message to your people that I feel that I am their public servant, and I want them to feel free to call on me at any time for any service connected with my duties as State Senator.

I wish you would further announce to your people that I regret the erroneous impression in some sections that I was a member of or connected in some way with the Klan, and although I have not had the opportunity of canvassing your county as thoroughly as I had wanted to, I, nevertheless, want to correct that erroneous impression, and to say that I have never been, I am not now, and have no intention of ever becoming connected either directly or indirectly, with the Klan, and I go to the State Senate as a free lance, in so far as the Klan is concerned, and I trust this will be sufficient now to disabuse the mind of anyone who thought otherwise.

Yours very truly,
Walter C. Woodward,
Coleman, Texas.

EDWARDS COUNTY HAS NUMEROUS ELECTIONS.

We are to have nearly enough elections in Edwards County during this month. On the 20th, we, of Rocksprings will trot over to the poll's place to vote on the subject of incorporation for Rocksprings. Then on the 23rd, we will again trot over to the polls to help the Klan elect a governor. Then on the 30th we will vote in this Independent district on the subject of more tax money for needed school improvements.

These two local issues are of more interest to us than the governor's race. Whether a man or woman is elected governor, he or she, as the case may be, will do the very best they know how to give us good government; and life will continue the same old monotonous grind regardless of governors.

We had just as well incorporate Rocksprings. It is a move in the right direction that will have to be taken before long anyway. It will not necessarily mean more taxes. Patriotic men, yes, and women, can be found who will serve without pay. And if we decide on a new waterworks it will not mean more taxes. We can put forward many things for the best interests of the town if we have a city government.

Of course, none of us are wanting to vote more taxes for school purposes but it just has to be done. We cannot afford to spend $60,000 more or less for a school building and then leave it unfinished. The taxes are only to be raised for one year to provide for an emergency fund. — Edwards County Leader.

Black: "You say Smith's wife caught him at the stage door?"
Brown: "No. That's where she discovered him."

Blackstone: "Was he mentioned in the will at all?"
Webster: "You bet; he's still sore at the names he was called."

A certain New Yorker, an advocate of deep breathing, is accustomed to take morning walks during which he at intervals raises his hands high above his head and then lowers them.

A visitor from out of town watched this performance in amazement for a time and then, approaching him timidly, said:

"Is it possible, sir, that affairs have reached such a state in this city that residents have to practise what they shall do when they're held up?"

"I've just been left a hundred thousand dollars, sir, so I'll have to leave your service."

"Not a bit of it. I've just lost a hundred thousand—we'll simply change places."

CITATION BY PUBLICATION.

THE STATE OF TEXAS.

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Kimble County, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon Beulah Bell Wahrmond to court on the 31st day of July, 1924, at the County Court House in Junction, Texas, to answer a petition filed in said court on the 31st day of July, A. D. 1924, in a suit, wherein Robert Wahrmond is plaintiff and Beulah Bell Wahrmond is defendant, and said petition alleges that plaintiff is a resident of Kimble County, Texas, and that the residence of defendant is unknown; that plaintiff has lived in Texas more than 12 months and in Kimble County more than 6 months before filing this suit; that plaintiff and defendant were lawfully married in Menard County, Texas, on September 2, 1903; that they continued to live together as husband and wife until July 10, 1920, when defendant permanently abandoned plaintiff since which time they have not lived together as husband and wife, and that such abandonment has continued for a period of more than three years next preceding the filing of this petition, and that such abandonment was without just cause on the part of defendant and through no fault of plaintiff, and that defendant refuses to return to plaintiff and live with him as his wife.

That there are no property rights between plaintiff and defendant to be adjusted, and that plaintiff prays the court that defendant be cited to answer and answer the petition, and that on final hearing plaintiff have judgment dissolving the marriage contract now existing between plaintiff and defendant, and for costs of suit and such other and further relief as he may be justly entitled to.

Herein fail not but have before said Court at the aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and Seal of said Court, at office in Junction, this 31st day of July, A. D. 1924.

N. R. Skaggs,
Clerk, District Court, Kimble Co., Texas.
By Lela Taylor, Deputy.

W. C. EDWARDS CANDIDATE FOR LIUET-GOV.

"I am seeking the nomination for Lieutenant Governor for the honor and the opportunity for service it gives. I entered the race in the belief that Texas Democrats would react favorably toward a candidate who had eschewed all factional groups, whose only purpose was to serve and who would be pledged only to the service of the whole people. After advising with friends, I announced my candidacy without seeking the endorsement or consent of anybody or any group.

"Returns of the first primary show enough Democrats did so react as to give me, with the support of my friends and their friends, a place in the run-off, which is between Judge Barry Miller of Dallas and me. Judge Miller has said the only reason he entered the contest was that he was drafted by the Farm-Labor bloc. He has their support and their platform has his endorsement.

"As for me, I shall run in the second primary as in the first—in no alliance with any group or bloc or candidate, still holding to the belief that there are enough Texas Democrats unswayed by radicalism, factionalism or prejudice to constitute a majority. If I am mistaken, I shall be content, for I am wholly sincere in the determination to go into office my own man, with only pledge to be fair and just to all and to give the very best service of which I am capable, or stay at home.

"I have tried sincerely to avoid the injection into my campaign of the Klan issue. But I am forced to realize there are those who are making of it their political shibboleth. Therefore, I say without hesitation or equivocation, that I am not now and never have been a member of the Klan. I have never applied for membership in the Klan nor paid any fee to the Klan. This in answer to my opponent's unfounded charge in his speech at McKinney. I am not and never have been a member of the Farm-Labor Union or any other organized bloc. I am simply a Democrat, who has taken his democracy straight and who has never bolted but always supported every Democratic nominee.

"I am wholly tolerant of other men's beliefs—political, religious or otherwise. The only thing in return I demand is that they accord to me the same freedom of thought and action I cheerfully accord to them.

"I am for law enforcement all down the line and opposed to lawlessness or mob rule any time, anywhere, in any form, believing in law enforcement thru duly constituted authorities and nowhere else.

"I have been a prohibitionist since early manhood, supporting prohibition individually and editorially. I have advocated woman suffrage since it became an issue.

"I believe in an economical, efficient administration of the State's affairs and that Texas needs a better distribution of tax burdens rather than additional taxes.

"Believing that in education lies the solution of most of our economic and governmental problems, I am interested in every phase of education and as a citizen, editor and legislator, I have labored to the limit of my ability for the upbuilding of the educational system of Texas from bottom to top. I have been particularly interested in the betterment of the rural schools and was instrumental in getting through the rural aid and emergency school appropriation in the 38th Legislature.

"I have made my campaign on my own qualifications and with no criticism of my opponent, and I had hoped to adhere to that policy throughout, but my opponent's opening speech makes that difficult. I seek the support of the Democrats of Texas on the ground of service to the State and fairness and justice to every citizen, every section, every legitimate interest."

Will C. Edwards' one pledge is: To be fair and just to every citizen, section and legitimate interest in Texas, and to give to the affairs of the Lieutenant-Governor's office the very best that is in him.

GILMORE SAYS HE CARRIED 156 COUNTIES

Austin, Aug. 6.—Clarence E. Gilmore, chairman of the Railroad Commission, candidate for re-election in the run-off primary on August 23, has given out a statement showing he carried 156 counties in the State and received 237,586 votes in the first primary on July 26. In this statement Chairman Gilmore says:

"It is needless to say that I am grateful to the people of Texas for the magnificent vote given me for a second term as Railroad Commissioner at the primary on July 26. The result reflects the loyalty of my friends in all sections of the State, friends whose fidelity has always been to me an inspiration to render that character of public service that might be pointed to with pride by every citizen of the State. I am particularly indebted to my friends of the press, who have not been sparing in their efforts to educate the public to the magnitude of the duties of the Railroad Commissioner at this time, and who have been at all times my personal friends.

"An analysis of the vote in this race presents some interesting results. Complete and partial returns from 226 out of 254 counties, accounting for 510,373 votes, show that I carried 156 counties and received majorities in 84 of these counties, my total vote being 237,586. My plurality and lead over the next highest vote is 85,757.

"The returns at hand, while unofficial and incomplete, indicate that I will fall just a little short of a clear majority over both of my opponents. My campaign has been made upon my record of service and my ambition to see the Railroad Commission function in the biggest way possible in the exercise of all the powers conferred upon it for the well-being and advancement of all Texas."

Sick
Headache

"I have used Black-Draught when needed for the past 25 years," says Mrs. Emma Grimes, of Forbes, Mo. "I began taking it for a bad case of constipation. I would get constipated and feel just miserable—sluggish, tired, a bad taste in my mouth, . . . and soon my head would begin hurting and I would have a severe sick headache. I don't know just who started me to taking but it did the work. It just seemed to cleanse the liver. Very soon I felt like new. When I found Black-Draught so easy to take and easy acting, I began to use it in time and would not have sick headaches."

Constipation causes the system to re-absorb poisons that may cause great pain and much danger to your health. Take Thedford's Black-Draught. It will stimulate the liver and help to drive out the poisons.

SWIMMING PARTY.

Last Monday afternoon Miss Emmarine Ray happily entertained her many girl friends with a delightful swimming party from 3:30 to 6:00.

In the swimming contests most suggestive and attractive prizes were awarded the bathers.

Mrs. H. G. Perry received a nice sponge, having been judged the most attractive in her suit, and also received a bar of soap in the floating contest; while Miss Annie Taylor was awarded a "grip" of candy for second prize. In the apple contest Miss Tyler Wilkinson was presented with a little negro doll. Miss Marguerite Wright won a diver's comb for making the prettiest dive from the spring board, while Miss Fay Taylor was consoled with a card of safety pins. Miss Taylor also received a package of nuts, having been able to stand on her head under the water longer than the other bathers.

Refreshments of cherry lemonade, tuna fish sandwiches and devil's food cake were served to the many bathers who enjoyed Miss Ray's hospitality.

LAF-A-LOT CLUB.

Members of the Laf-a-Lot Club and a number of guests were honored Saturday afternoon with a party, at the Henry Murr ranch home, Miss Natalie Sandherr being hostess.

Bridge was the chief diversion of the afternoon. Mrs. Lee J. Corkill received high score club prize, an attractive bridge set and Mrs. Turk Kendrick the guest prize, a water jug and glass, while Miss Theresia Heberer of San Antonio, was consoled with a celluloid doll.

Refreshments, consisting of a salad course and Angel food cake, were served.

VISITORS HONORED.

Mrs. George Braley entertained a group of young ladies with a lovely afternoon bridge party, Thursday, honoring her house guests, Miss Marie Brockman and Mrs. Walter Lindsay of Mason.

Miss Dorothy Mudge received a dainty lingerie gift for high score, while each of the honorees was presented with iridescent glass bud vases; Miss Elsie Austin was consoled with a doll pin cushion.

Pink and white, the color scheme, was carried out; the plate favors being little pink baskets filled with pink and white candies. A salad course and cake were served to those present.

LADIES' AFTERNOON CLUB

Mrs. Frank Baker was hostess at a pretty bridge party Friday afternoon at her home complimenting the Ladies' Afternoon Club and a few guests.

The club prize, table numbers went to Mrs. Sayres Farmer, and a box of candy, the guest prize, to Miss Theresia Heberer. Miss Doris Holekamp received the booby for low score.

The plate favors were little wax baskets containing jelly beans. Refreshments were delicious ice cream and cake.

HUNGER-SCHRIER.

The marriage of Robert Hunger and Miss Agnes Schrier was solemnized at the Methodist parsonage by Rev. R. E. Parker, on Sunday evening, August 9. Mr. Hunger is a well known ranchman living ten miles above town on South Llano, and is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Theo Hunger of Cleo. He was reared in the Evergreen community and has made a reputation for honesty and industry.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Schrier, and formerly lived in the Roosevelt community. She was one of the graduates of Junction High School last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunger will make their home on the ranch.

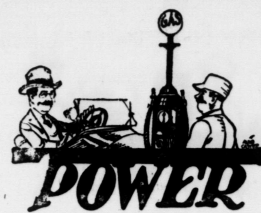

BAPTIST MEETING CLOSED.

The protracted meeting which has been in progress the past two weeks at the Baptist church closed last Sunday night. There were several additions by letter and seven candidates for baptism were led into the waters of the South Llano below the Schreiner Park at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

The preaching was done by Rev. R. T. Deel and one would go far to hear better, for the Word was delivered in much earnestness and power.

The effects of this meeting will be felt in Junction for days to come. At the beginning of the meeting Bro. Deel was called from town and Rev. R. W. Merrill, pastor of the First Baptist church of Kerrville, did the preaching during his absence. This sincere co-operation was greatly appreciated by the Baptist people, and the community in general. Davis and Coolidge now face the future with their rise or fall completely out of their own hands. Their "fortune" depends upon the action of the voters as it will be expressed at the polls in November.

It is different with you—and most of us. Your future—your fortune is up to you—and you alone.

Success comes to those who intelligently start building upon the foundation of Thrift. The penniless man commands neither the attention nor the respect of this hurrying world. Peace is impossible without plenty. These things you know well.

Then why not start this week to practice Thrift? In years to come it will repay you a thousandfold. The secret of peace of mind is no secret at all. Simply spend less than you earn—and save the difference.

A banking institution is the modern method developed to serve you in such endeavor. In Junction, this bank offers to you the same opportunities of profitable saving, investments or business development that may be enjoyed anywhere in the land.
