Area voters can dust off their voter registration cards and get ready, as early voting in this year's general election will get under way Monday morning.

Set for Monday through Friday, Nov. 3, in the courthouse lobby, voters can cast their ballots from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

"We're testing the machines and the programs to make sure everything is set to go on Monday morning," said Sandra Bloom, elections administrator for Howard County. "We're getting it all set up."

Bloom said she is expecting a heavy turnout this election season.

"I think the bond issues will generate a lot of interest among the voters in Howard County," said Bloom. "We received a lot of calls from people making sure they were registered prior to the registration deadline, so I feel pretty good going into this election."

According to Bloom, extended early voting hours will also be offered at the courthouse polls Oct. 26 and Nov. 2, when area voters may cast their ballots from 8 a.m. until 7 p.m.

Voting will also be conducted

Saturday, Oct. 28, from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. for area residents who can't get to the polls during the week.

Bloom said several branch locations have also been designated during early voting, including:

• Oct. 25 — 10 a.m. until noon at Canterbury South, located at 1700 S. Lancaster.

Biggest not always the best, woodcarver's show reveals

Apparently, size didn't matter at this year's Mustang Draw Woodcarvers Club Show and Sale.

One of the tiniest entries took home top honors at this year's show as Jim Stewart's two-inch tall figurine of a cello player was named Best in Show.

It may seem that creating a finely detailed figurine from a tiny piece of wood requires a lot of patience, but Stewart insisted that's not necessarily the case.

"It just takes time," Stewart said. "People say it must take a lot of patience for me to do this, but

Debate? Not likely

Jail proponents say it's too late in the election process

By THOMAS JENKINS

The fate of a formal debate concerning a $10.1 million bond issue aimed at financing a new Howard County jail is unclear, according to organizer and spokesperson Franklin Weber.

The debate, which is slated for 6:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Dora Roberts Community Center, would pit proponents of the bond issue against local attorney Frank Parker, who is representing the Taxpayer's Committee, the local group opposing the bond.

Announced in a press release received by the Herald Friday afternoon, the debate would feature CBS 7 news personality Mike Barker as moderator, with the debate format provided by the Big Spring High School Debate Team.

However, the debate is missing one crucial component, according to former Moore Development for Big Spring board member Joyce Crooker, spokesperson for proponents of the bond and proposed facility.

"We have no intention of debating this issue so late in the election process," said Crooker. "I received a call from Franklin Weber Tuesday evening telling us they were putting together a debate and planned to have it either Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday. That is the only contact we've received from the organizers of this debate."

"I really have no idea why they would announce they are holding a debate when we haven't agreed to participate. It doesn't make much sense."

Crooker said other supporters of the jail bond —

BUNGLING BURGLAR

HOUSTON (AP) — A burglar trying to rob a convenience store early Friday made a few tactical errors.

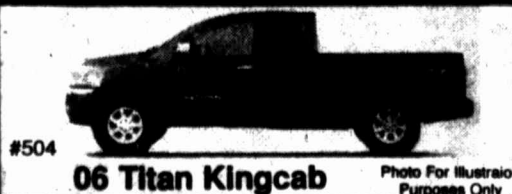

First, he drove a truck into the entrance at 5:40 a.m., calling attention to himself. When police arrived, they found the man, armed with a shotgun or rifle, trying to remove the cash register, said Houston police spokesman Gabriel Ortiz.

Then he refused to leave, prompting a 6-hour standoff. Around noon, officers stormed the store and found the man trying to hide in the ceiling. He refused to come down, so police shot him with a Taser. He fell to the floor and police arrested him.

Jim Stewart's winning entry in this year's Mustang Draw Woodcarvers Club Show is dwarfed by the Best in Show plaque it earned. Stewart created the two-inch figurine using a branch from the pear tree in his back yard.

when you're doing something you really enjoy, it doesn't really require patience.

Stewart's winning entry, carved from a branch of a pear tree that grows in his back yard, took about 25 hours of work over a three-day period, he said.

"I usually do something like that during the winter," he said. "If it's rainy or cold outside, I'll sit down and work on something for two or three days. It's a hobby for me; it's something I've done since I was a teenager."

Stewart worked from a sketch of a cello player and used what he calls an "opti-visor" — a visor with magnifying lenses attached — to create his award-winner.

"It's the challenge of doing it (that appeals to me)," he said. "I like to see if I can do it without breaking it."

The other top winner at the show — the Judge's Choice Award — went to Robert Miles of Gardendale for his bust of an American Indian.

Organizers were quick to label the show, which concluded Saturday, as a resounding success.

"The show went very well," said club member James Fryar. "We had more participants than last year, and we had a lot more traffic this year. We have no complaints."

Jail top topic for commissioners

County board to hold meeting at 10 a.m. Monday

By THOMAS JENKINS

Staff Writer

The county jail is expected to take center stage once again Monday morning as the Howard County Commissioner's Court prepares to meet.

Phil Furqueron, who has been consulting with county officials on its two-pronged problem — designing and financing a new jail facility while bringing the current county jail up to state standards — is expected to make several reports to the commissioners, including reports on the stand pipe and smoke evacuation system.

Those problems, along with a door that swung in the wrong direction, were identified during a recent fire evacuation drill at the existing jail facility, located in the Howard County Courthouse.

Commissioners recently approved more than $39,000 in modifications and new components for the jail's fire alarm and smoke evacuation system, as well as modifications to the jail's heating and cooling system to bring in fresh air in the event of a smoke problem.

The standpipe, which would provide water for firefighters making their way up the jail's stairway, has not yet been given a price tag, however.

"The engineer completed the final documents and got them to the contractor, and there's just one or two guys around here that do that type of work," Furqueron told commissioners during their Oct. 10 meeting.

"There are some questions about the routing and the weight of the pipe, and things like that. There will be a meeting between the contractor and engineer to resolve some of those issues so they can put together the final pricing. Once we have that pricing, we'll run that through Anthony Mechanical's contract and report back to the commissioners."

Also on Monday's agenda, County Auditor Jackie Olson will present the commissioners with invoices and purchase requests. Olson is also expected to discuss the sale of county vehicles with commissioners.

County Treasurer Teresa Thomas is expected to present commissioners with personnel considerations and a payroll report, as well as consideration of changes to retiree benefits through County Choice Silver.

County Road and Bridge Administrator Eddy Jameson will present the court with pipeline crossings and a report on county road maintenance.

Sheriff Dale Walker is expected to request reclassification of certain personnel in his office.

Also on Tuesday's agenda, County Attorney Mike Thomas is expected to meet with commissioners in an executive session to discuss a claim against the county.

The meeting is expected to get under way at 10 a.m. in the commissioners' courtroom, located on the second floor of the County Courthouse.

Trustees to study class size

By STEVE REAGAN

Staff Writer

Everyone knows classroom overcrowding can be a problem. What may not be as well known is that the opposite is true, also.

Howard College trustees will hear a report concerning small classes when they hold their regular meeting at 12:30 p.m. Monday in the East Room of Garrett Coliseum.

College President Dr. Cheryl Sparks said trustees regularly review small classes — which they define as having fewer than 10 students — and determine whether the college should continue offering the particular course.

"We look at these courses every semester," Sparks said. "Every semester, we have a few small classes, so we have to decide whether to continue the course or not."

Sparks said small classes are not cost-efficient to the college, but officials are hesitant to simply shut down the class, especially if students need the course to complete work toward their major.

"(Officials look at factors like) If the student needs to the course to graduate ... or if the instructor is willing to work with the student," Sparks said.

"But we will cancel the course at the beginning of the semester if there's not a good reason to continue them."

OUR VIEW

Take advantage of an opportunity to go vote early

Early voting in the November general election begins Monday and continues through Nov. 3. We want to encourage readers to cast their ballots soon. Polls will be open at the Howard County Courthouse from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. Election day is Nov. 7.

There are plenty of reasons for voting early, not the least of which is the unpredictability of our West Texas weather. Warm, dusty, rainy, a cold front — the only thing you can count on is that the weather will change.

Another reason to cast your ballot in the next few days is human nature. The farther, the longer we put things off, the less likely we are to ever get them accomplished. Too many other things come up, and suddenly we find ourselves out of time.

According to Sandra Bloom, elections administrator for Howard County, several branch locations have also been designated during early voting, including:

- Wednesday — 10 a.m. until noon at Canterbury South located at 1700 S. Lancaster
- Thursday — 10 a.m. until noon at the Park View Retirement Center located at 2000 Parkway
- Friday — 10 a.m. until noon at the Spring City Senior Citizens Center located at 1901 Simler
- Wednesday, Nov. 1 — 10 p.m. until noon at the Ramon-Lusk-Sanchez State Veterans Home located at 1809 N. Highway 87

Bloom said extended early voting hours will also be offered at the courthouse polls Thursday and again on Nov. 2, when area voters may cast their ballots from 8 a.m. until 7 p.m.

Voting will also be open Saturday, Oct. 28, from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. for area residents that can't get to the polls during the week.

There a plethora of key races in on the ballot, the headliner, of course, is the gubernatorial race between incumbent Republican Gov. Rick Perry and three challengers — Democratic nominee Chris Bell and independents Carole Keeton Strayhorn and Kindy Friedman.

In addition, there's the District 19 U.S. Representative's race where incumbent District 19 Congressman Randy Neugebauer, R-Lubbock, and challenger Robert Ricketts, D-Lubbock, face one another.

And in the District 35 U.S. representative's race where Joe Heflin, D-Crosbyton, is challenged by Jim Lantrop, R-Plainview.

A U.S. Senator's seat and several other state offices are also up for grabs.

Add the county judges position, two county commissioners' seats and bond issues to fund a new county jail, city improvement projects and renovations at Coahoma schools, and it's clear that voters have quite a bit to decide.

It almost goes without saying that these are decisions which will impact all our lives for some time to come.

So, we hope you will take time to study the candidates and issues. Then make your choice at the polls.

And remember, if you don't bother to go vote — either during the early voting period or on election day — you really have no right to complain about the decisions made by your representatives at any level of government.

Truth in politicing, the smoking ban

Random thoughts while seeing if I still remember how to do this: Faithful readers will note that I was given a three-week vacation from doing a column because of the staggering amount of letters to the editor we've received recently.

How dare you people, pushing me off this page just so you can air your opinions.

Seriously, good for you. Having too many letters to the editor, as any newspaper person will tell you, is a wonderful problem to have. There is absolutely nothing wrong with expressing your views on the issues of the day.

So keep those cards and letters coming in, folks.

In reading those letters, it was clear that 99.9 percent of them were devoted to either the new county jail bond election or the recently enacted smoking ban. Going on the idea that imitation is the sincerest form of flattery, I'm going to flatter the heck out of all of you by talking about the same subjects.

I believe there are perfectly valid reasons to vote either way on the jail bond election, but a couple of things have really irked me about the public debate over the issue.

First, there's this claim by opponents that taxes will go up by 30 percent if the bond passes. In simple terms, people, this is malarkey.

Let's say you're a property owner within the Big Spring city limits. If you combine the tax rates of the four major taxing entities — City of Big Spring, Big Spring school district, Howard County and Howard College — you pay a tax rate of roughly $2.88 per $100 valuation on your property. That's not counting exemptions.

Using that formula, the owner of property valued at $50,000 would pay about $1,440 in property taxes. Again, this is a worst-case scenario, and doesn't include homestead exemptions and the like.

Financial experts aiding the county say that, if the bond passes, debt service on the bond will add an additional 5 cents to the county's tax rate. Under that scenario, the owner of the $50,000 property would see his or her taxes go up by approximately $25.

That's less than a 2 percent increase in your total tax liability. Now, I understand that the 30-percenters are saying that costs associated with the actual running of the new jail — salaries, utility costs and the like — will raise taxes even further, but there is no way that those increases will account for anything close to a 30 percent hike in your taxes.

The second thing I take exception to is the description of the new jail as a "Taj Mahal," as if every extravagance known to man will be included so that our prisoners suffer no inconvenience during their temporary stay at the new detention center.

In a way, I guess the moniker is correct. Compared to our current jail, the new facility will probably seem like the Taj Mahal.

Of course, our current jail is a cramped, dingy facility that is being kept open simply because the state of Texas has let county officials slide on a number of standards.

Compared to the proposed jail, the old lockup is a dungeon, plain and simple.

Like I said before, many people who oppose the bond have good, valid reasons for their views. If you really don't want to pay any more taxes, that's fine. If you don't want the jail in your neighborhood, that's fine.

But let's at least cut out the distortions and wild exaggerations, OK?

Now, about this smoking ban ... Personally, I don't care whether a restaurant allows smoking or doesn't. Neither situation affects my dining experience.

What I don't like — and never have — is government sticking its nose where it has no business.

If a business owner wishes to cater to smokers — and is willing to suffer the possible financial consequence of having non-smokers stay away — that's his or her call. Likewise, if a business wishes, on its own accord, to ban smoking, that's its prerogative.

I'm no dyed-in-the-wool Big Business fan, but I do believe in free enterprise. And, as long as they don't allow illegal activity — and smoking is not an illegal activity — businesses should pretty much be left alone to set their own rules.

I understand the health issue aspects of the smoking ban. I also know that being around cigarette smoke makes some people physically ill.

But I also understand that there were plenty of non-smoking venues for people to enjoy, even before the ban took place.

So, enjoy those places, frequent them often and let businesses that allow smokers know your displeasure. Heck, organize a boycott if you wish.

Or you could write a letter to the editor. We'll make room for it, even if it means another brief vacation for yours truly.

YOUR VIEWS

TO THE EDITOR:

I am responding to the letters published Oct. 14-15 written by Cheree Reagan and Amanda Rankin regarding an incident at the Steers' homecoming game.

I was sitting in Section C and never even knew what was going on in Section B. I would, however, like to find these two ladies and sit with them. Everyone around us was more concerned with talking to each other than they were with the game.

It is good to know that there was someone there that night cheering our team on.

I would love to find these ladies at the next game and I would not only be proud to sit behind or in front of them, but would cheer right along with them!

TO THE EDITOR:

Thank you, Howard County! Because Glasscock County has in the last month housed prisoners from Howard County, Sherrad Road looks terrific. These prisoners have mowed, chopped cedars, mulched and cleaned up the entire road.

In the last month, Glasscock County has housed approximately 11 prisoners from Howard County. Not only is Glasscock County benefiting from the work being done, but it is also being paid by Howard County.

With all the uproar regarding the jail, it would seem that Howard County would turn this situation around, beautify its own county and possibly, with the new jail, be able to house prisoners from other counties and get paid for it.

Having lived in Big Spring most of my life, I wanted to pass along my thoughts.

TO THE EDITOR:

Supporters of the $10 million jail bond issue seem on a campaign to get letters sent to the editor. I think it interesting that all the letters supporting this big jail come from employees of the county or city or their spouses. We have six letters — one from the sheriff and one of his deputies, one from the county librarian, one from the wife of a county commissioner, one from the city fire marshal and one other city employee.

No letter from regular taxpayers indicates there is little support for the big jail, but that does not say that most employees support it. As a retired city fireman, I know many employees of the county, the city and the schools, and they know that there are limited tax dollars available in Howard County. I know the excesses of this jail bond will dry up pay raises for all. I know the infrastructure of the city, the schools, the college and the county need attention — roads, streets, sewers, water lines, major plumbing, fire equipment, etc. The county jail is not the only structure in the county that doesn't meet standards. All of these are more important than spending more than is necessary on a jail.

The jail is not the only bond issue on the ballot in November and there will likely be other bond

TO THE EDITOR:

Republican Gov. Rick Perry has had his turn at running our great state. His record does speak for itself. He has sold Texas land that brave men and women gave their lives for to foreign countries.

Have you received your $2,000 property tax break yet? He is also the proud father of Texas' largest tax increase. Enough on Mr. Perry. Democrat candidate Bell is simply unknown and has no real record, but, a million-dollar defense attorney who is trying to buy the governors' mansion for the both of them.

Independent candidate Kinky Friedman comes across as a racist and compares himself to Jesus Christ.

Enough already.

Bottom line is, independent Carole Keeton Strayhorn has the credentials, experience and leadership to run Texas.

The days of straight line party voting are over. To vote a straight party line is selling yourself, Texas and the United States short. On Nov. 7, vote for the best person for the office, that shares your views and not because of their party affiliation only.

May God bless you and yours.

TO THE EDITOR:

I am writing this letter to find out what is wrong with our city? The council is so very worried about people smoking but we have a another very big problem here in Big Spring — these gangs that are here and taking away our children to do Lord knows what.

If they want to get out they have to be beaten or shot. Where is the protection for our children from the law? Big Spring needs to wake up and start protecting our kids.

I know that times are very different from when I was a teenager but this is nonsense. These gangs are just wannabes. They need to see what happens in Dallas or Los Angeles.

We need to protect our kids and get these bad kids out of here.

A while back Channel 9 did a segment on gangs. Maybe it needs to run again. If the kids have the love and support from their families, then there should be no reason that they would turn to a gang. We need to help our kids stay away from these gangs that do drugs and whatever. I blame part of the city for not having more things here for kids to do.

They have way too much time to waste. I remember when the kids from long time ago were kickers and they were good kids. Sure you had your preps and then there were the kickers.

Big Spring, we need to pull together and save our kids from the drugs and the gangs. So please let's all pray for our kids.

TO THE EDITOR:

We had 180 hearty volunteers get out into the fine mist rain and "Make A Difference" in the appearance of some of our strategic streets last weekend as we had company coming. We wanted to have some clean streets to present to our visitors of the Grisham Conference. With their information and guidance we will "Make A Difference" big time in our community.

I so appreciate our volunteers that desire to have the clean community by "doing their part" to make Big Spring beautiful. Those participating came from Big Spring High School, Boy's Club, city of Big Spring, Comanche Flats residents, Janice Bishop and 39 volunteers from Cornell Co. Inc., Cornerstone Church youth, Howard College Diplomats, Goliad's Cavaliers and Classics, Kathryn Wiseman plus one, Kay Hulse, Shirley Cross, St. Paul Lutheran Church, Lion's Club, Bobby McDonald, Paschal Odom, Jim and Georgie Newsom, Phi Thitheta Kappa, Howard College Student Government Association, Robert and Charlene Ragan, Western Container, Janelle Davis and friends of the First Baptist Church and Vicki Nutter and family.

Thanks guys, you are troopers. You removed approximately 1,200 pounds of litter from our community.

My personal thanks goes to Kent Menchew for taking responsibility in the cleaning of FM 700 from Wasson Road east to I-20, using the Adult Probation crew. This is such wonderful endeavor helping us with that very trashy property every other month. We have just got to hold our citizens responsibility for trashing our city.

I would like to see each business in Big Spring have one person at least represent them in Keep Big Spring Beautiful. We can "Make A Difference" with your help.

Scenic Mountain Medical Center's Yellow Rose Cafe has once again been willing to serve our MADD volunteers, about 40 people. They were served wonderful hot dogs with chili and all the trimmings. It was a time to relax and enjoy a little fellowship with our community volunteers.

TO THE EDITOR:

As I heard the comments on television regarding the visit of Mr. Gorbachev in Midland, and his answer to the question about the U.S. building a wall at the southern border. My reaction was, "Poor Gorby, he is living in the past, and of course, if you don't live in the house that is being invaded and broken into, you wouldn't encourage its owners to put a lock or build a fence around it."

To say that Mr. Reagan wouldn't do it since he was the one to bring down the Berlin Wall is absolutely out of place.

That wall was to keep legal, German people inside, as prisoners of the Communist regime. The wall we need here is to protect our American citizenry from invaders and abusers. The wall we need has gates to continue giving warm welcome and receive everyone who wants to come here legally and also the gate is wide open for all those who want to leave for whatever the reason. What demagoguery to keep mentioning the U.S. southern wall as the Berlin Wall!

As a compassionate country, with a very compassionate president, we love the Mexican people and understand their predicament under a non-compassionate government; but there are limits. If you compare the boats that saved some of the people from the Titanic, they all would have sunken if they had let more people in than the boat could hold (which happened) and all drowned. That is why there are rules, and laws and all we have to do is obey them. But since they have not been faithfully obeyed nor implemented for more than 20 years, to be able to cope, we need extraordinary measures and an immediate priority is that wall.

Every once and a while an everyday human becomes an unsung hero. Such is the case of a T-Mobile employee and citizen of Big Spring, Kathrene Chavarria.

On Oct. 3, at 3 p.m., my father Samuel Klein, an 83-year-old who suffers from Alzheimer's disease wandered away from a restaurant in New York City. My brother and mother searched for him to no avail and then asked for police assistance. The police waited three hours and then started their search.

During this time my brother remembered that my mother's cell phone was in my father's shirt pocket. When my father did not respond to the cell phone, my brother called T-Mobile to see if they could locate him. He was fortunate to get Kathrene

Chavarria. She explained that the phone was not equipped with a tracking device, but she rang the phone all night until another kind soul found my badly injured father and called an ambulance.

Kathrene's compassion, kindness and persistence saved my father's life, an act for which my family will be forever in her debt.

You are blessed to have a citizen like Kathrene Chavarria.

TO THE EDITOR:

As a native Texan, born and raised in Texas but recently moved to the Midwest, I am shocked to learn that the Texas Republican Party would show such hostility as they displayed in an e-mail newsletter about a candidate for a seat on the 6th Court of Appeals of Texas.

What was this man's crime? Gasp, that he might be an atheist! The gentleman says he isn't an atheist, that he was just misquoted in a long ago newspaper column in El Paso.

That he is an atheist or isn't doesn't matter. What matters is the statement by the state GOP that an atheist won't uphold the laws and the Constitution of Texas.

To say this is insulting does a disservice to that word.

Yes, atheists will uphold the laws of the state of Texas or any other government they are entrusted to uphold. One doesn't need a belief in God to do so. They do so based on their own honor.

Atheists work as lawyers, doctors, engineers in society every day while upholding their responsibilities and obligations. If an atheist pilot can be responsible for a 100-passenger plus jet and the lives in it, then he can be responsible to be say, a county clerk.

Man gets 40 years for molesting 6-year-old at her school

LUBBOCK (AP) — A Lubbock man convicted of molesting a 6-year-old girl after he was given permission to take pictures on her school campus has been sentenced to 40 years in prison.

David Leroy Kennimer, 20, was sentenced on state charges Thursday and will serve concurrent terms of 40 years for aggravated sexual assault and 10 years for indecency with a child. He was previously given 21 years on a federal charge of production of child pornography.

At Kennimer's trial earlier this month, the girl told jurors that Kennimer took her into a hallway outside her gym class at Dupre Elementary, photographed her in stages of undress, touched her and encouraged her to touch him.

When he left the school, Kennimer looked at the images on a digital camera and tried to delete them, officials have said.

Kennimer offered to volunteer at the school and filled out paperwork for a criminal-background check, according to testimony. Myrna Porras, the school principal, said the paperwork never left her office.

The principal testified that Kennimer was allowed to take pictures on campus but was forbidden to photograph children.

The school's gym teacher testified he thought Kennimer had approval to photograph children and allowed him to take the girl into the hallway.

Father whose baby died after being left in hot car not charged

LINDALE (AP) — A grand jury this week declined to indict a Lindale reserve police sergeant whose 4-month-old daughter died after being left in a pickup truck as temperatures soared to near 100 degrees.

Kevin Petty, 34, was arrested Aug. 9 on a second-degree felony manslaughter charge.

Petty forgot to drop off his daughter, Kerrigan Petty, at day care before he parked his extended-cab pickup in the back parking lot of Lindale City Hall in the early morning of Aug. 8, Smith County sheriff's Lt. Larry Wiginton said.

Petty then traveled about 30 miles away in a city police car to attend a law enforcement training course in Canton. Officers later received a frantic call from Petty saying he didn't recall dropping the infant at day care.

The girl was pronounced dead at the scene.

A Smith County grand jury issued a no bill in the case Thursday.

According to the Tyler Morning Telegraph, Petty's defense attorneys said it is only through strong faith and support of family and friends that the Pettys have been coping.

"I know that Kevin will never fully recover from what happened to Kerrigan," said Brett Harrison, one of Petty's defense attorneys. "No punishment through the justice system could equal the emotional punishment he has suffered as a result of Kerrigan's death."

Harrison said that since Kerrigan's death, Petty has not been working for the Lindale Police Department. He said that Petty is still a reserve officer there.

DA's office drops 40 drug cases over suspended officer

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — Prosecutors have dismissed about 40 felony drug cases after a police officer's suspension over his MySpace.com page that included images of dismembered women.

Most of the dismissed cases for narcotics possession involved a small amount, about a gram or less, and the largest case involved 5 grams.

"It's not fair to move on with those cases," Rick Mahler, assistant district attorney, said Thursday.

Texas briefs

Jeremiah Love was indefinitely suspended Oct. 10 from the Wichita Falls Police Department for his Web page, which has been removed from MySpace.com. According to an internal affairs report, Love designed his site in the genre of horror movies and told investigators the site was meant to be humorous.

Love's credibility was an issue when considering cases he had worked, Mahler said. Justice needs to be served, but Love's recent suspension affects both his credibility and testimony, Mahler said.

It is unclear how many other cases Love was involved in. Mahler said if Love made a stop or conducted a search, the DA's office will not prosecute that case.

Another case dismissed involved an arrest Love made last month. Robert Ellis McDonald, 44, was arrested for traffic warrants and charges of retaliation and harassment of a public servant.

McDonald suffered injuries to his hands, neck and face after being choked with a flash light, his attorney Bruce Martin said. The handcuffs cut McDonald's wrists, said Martin, who is asking that the city pay for his client's medical bills.

Fired art teacher closing in on settlement with former district

FRISCO (AP) — The elementary school art teacher who said she was fired because a student saw a nude piece on a field trip to a Dallas museum is close to reaching a settlement with her former school district.

The Frisco school board is likely to vote Monday on an agreement that would pay Sydney McGee her $56,700 salary for the rest of the school year and prevent her from suing the district.

McGee's lawyer, Rogge Dunn, has requested that her personnel file include a recommendation letter written two years ago by a former principal and a statement from the school district acknowledging that Dunn worked for free.

"It clears her name, which is the number one goal she has had from day one," Dunn said.

Eighty-nine of McGee's Fisher Elementary School fifth-graders toured the museum in April. The Frisco school board suspended McGee, with pay, for the remainder of the school year Sept. 22, and the superintendent said he would recommend her contract not be renewed.

McGee has said she was let go because a parent complained that his or her child saw a nude piece during the field trip to the Dallas Museum of Art. She concedes the tour likely included nudes but was arranged as a chance to see Picassos and Piet Mondrians.

District officials said the decision stemmed from unrelated personnel issues and not one child's exposure to a nude artwork. In a memo to McGee dated almost three weeks after the field trip, Fisher principal Nancy Lawson listed performance concerns that included not updating lesson plans and wearing flip-flops to work.

Prosecutors angry over Blair DNA testing

DALLAS (AP) — The district attorney for Collin County said he is upset about new DNA testing for the man convicted of killing 7-year-old Ashley Estell in 1993, a crime that prompted tougher laws against sex offenders.

A defense motion filed Monday claims the new DNA testing shows tissue samples found under Ashley's fingernails did not come from convicted killer Michael Blair and asks state District Judge Nathan White Jr. to hold a hearing on the findings. In a response filed Friday, District Attorney John R. Roach wrote that Blair's lawyers are "grasping at straws" and conducting "fishing expeditions."

The tests were obtained improperly and their results don't prove Blair is innocent, Roach said in an interview with The Associated Press.

Prosecutors weren't aware that new DNA tests had been performed until Blair's motion was filed earlier this week, and being excluded from the testing creates chain-of-custody issues with the evidence, Roach said.

"I can tell you we are really upset that we weren't a part of the process in getting these tests," Roach said. "The judge and defense attorney worked this out without us being present and without our knowledge. The state is entitled to be notified just like the defense is when... dealing with the evidence in a case."

Phil Wischkaemper, Blair's attorney, said the prosecution should care more about whether Ashley's real killer is behind bars.

"You'd think instead of throwing rocks at us, they would like to take a look at what we've got," Wischkaemper said.

Blair was convicted in 1994 of strangling Ashley after she was abducted from a suburban Dallas soccer field. The Legislature responded with tough sexual-predator measures called "Ashley's Laws," requiring longer prison terms and public registration for sex offenders.

At the trial, a prosecution expert testified that hair similar to Blair's was found on Ashley's body and that hair similar to hers was discovered in Blair's car. In 2002, DNA testing showed the hair belonged neither to Blair nor Ashley.

AN EXPERIENCED LEADER

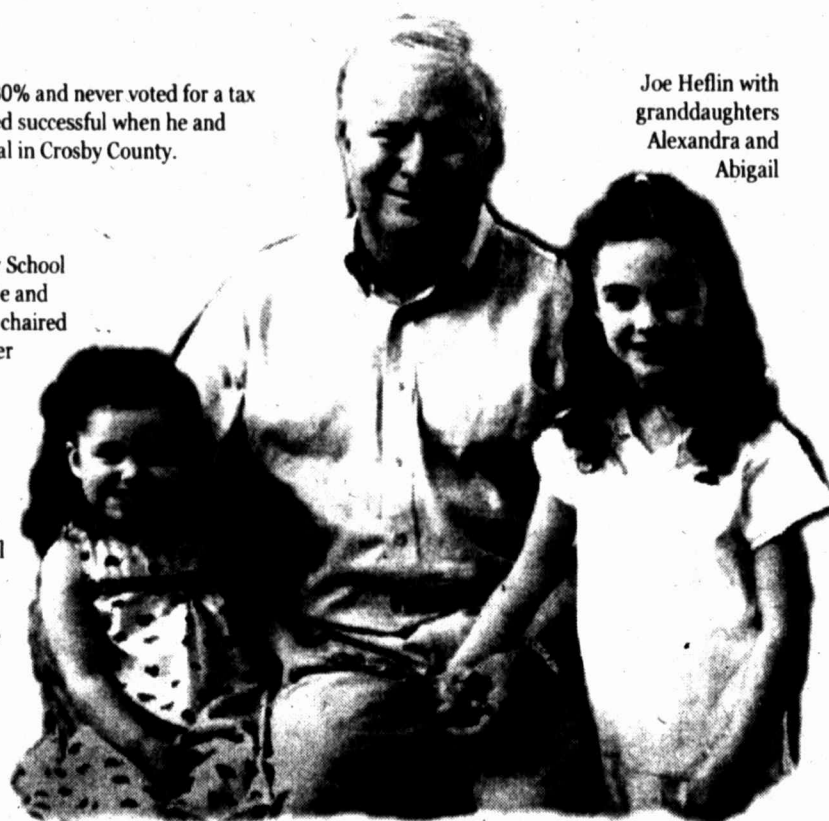

As Crosby County Judge, Joe Heflin cut his office budget 30% and never voted for a tax increase. And his bipartisan approach to leadership proved successful when he and Senator Robert Duncan teamed up to save the only hospital in Crosby County.

A NATIVE WEST TEXAN

Born in Morton, Joe is the son of a schoolteacher and the grandson of farmers. A graduate of Texas Tech University School of Law, today Joe is a small-town, full-service attorney. He and his wife, Linda, are active in the Baptist Church, where he chaired the church missions committee and she served as a disaster relief volunteer.

A VOICE FOR WEST TEXAS

Joe Heflin understands the challenges facing our communities, and he knows that high sales taxes, gas prices, health care bills, utility bills and college tuition are putting a financial squeeze on our family budgets. Joe will work to solve our problems and fight to stop the insider deals that benefit only the special interests of a few in Austin. And you can rely on Joe to vote for investing more state money into our public schools and against taking money from West Texas public schools to pay for private school vouchers in big cities.

Texas schools heart ultrasound their number one

DALLAS — Auto external defibrillators may not be the heart-saving device soon prevalent at high schools.

With the bulk of puses already stored in the laptop machines — also AEDs, which are chief resuscitators for sudden heart failure — some school districts are now bringing cardiac screening equipment to campus in hopes of catching congenital problems before children students to play sports.

As early as May, officials in the Worth suburb of plan to offer on heart ultrasound electrocardiogram athletes at their high schools. Parents would pay the cost screening, and Keller hasn't settled diagnostic services charge from $75 to per student.

Neighboring districts are also looking at providing cardiac screening tests, with Austin, echocardiograms are already given usually no cost to students in the upscale surrounding West High School.

"I have a feeling going to be the next topic," said College Preparatory School athletic director Bob Wunderlick, North Dallas school requires parents to sign an electrocardiogram recommendation waiver.

Texas schools consider heart ultrasounds for their numerous athletes

By PAUL J. WEBER

Associated Press Writer

DALLAS — Automated external defibrillators may not be the only heart-saving devices soon prevalent at Texas high schools.

With the bulk of campuses already stocking the laptop-sized machines — also called AEDs, which are the chief resuscitative tool for sudden heart failure — some school districts are now bringing cardiac screening equipment on campus in hopes of catching congenital problems before clearing students to play sports.

As early as May, school officials in the Fort Worth suburb of Keller plan to offer optional heart ultrasounds and electrocardiograms to athletes at their three high schools. Parents would pay the cost of the screening, and while Keller hasn't settled on a diagnostic service, most charge from $75 to $300 per student.

Neighboring school districts are also looking at providing cardiac screening tests, while in Austin, echocardiograms are already given at virtually no cost to students in the upscale enclave surrounding Westlake High School.

"I have a feeling it's going to be the new hot topic," said Jesuit College Preparatory School athletic director Bob Wunderlick, whose North Dallas private school requires parents to sign an electrocardiogram recommendation waiver.

Earlier this week, the University Interscholastic League voted to require AEDs, which cost about $1,200 apiece, at all 1,300 of its member high schools. The issue vaulted to the forefront of the UIL's agenda after a recent rash of students who collapsed with suspected heart trouble, including three teenage football players who died in a 10-day span in Houston.

In September, Westlake offensive lineman Matt Nader, a top football recruit who had orally committed to play at Texas, collapsed on the sideline at a game and was revived with the help of an AED.

"The AEDs are absolutely essential, but those are for the after of what occurs," said Keller ISD assistant athletic director Becky Spurlock, whose district plans to eventually have upward of 55 AEDs. "If we can prevent it in the first place, and see the problems that are there, that's the key."

An echocardiogram is an ultrasound that provides a picture of the heart structure to cardiologists, who then look for cardiomyopathies and abnormalities in the valves. An electrocardiogram, better known as an EKG, detects electrical problems that an echocardiogram cannot.

In Italy, teenage athletes are required to undergo EKGs to play sports. Studies have shown a decrease in sudden cardiac death of athletes by 89 percent since Italy adopted the measure in 1982.

Some doctors challenge those numbers, and all cardiologists point out that screenings don't detect all heart problems and can produce false positives.

Even Nader, a 6-foot-6 senior who weighs 300 pounds, had no heart problems show up on cardiac tests done before and after his collapse.

Senator: WMD intelligence swayed Iraq vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison, one of President Bush's most ardent loyalists on the war in Iraq, voiced her strongest criticism yet of the administration's reasons for going to war.

In a debate with her challenger in the Nov. 7 election, Hutchison, R-Texas, said she would not have voted for going to war had she known there were no weapons of mass destruction in Iraq. But she also made it clear she does not support troop withdrawal.

"If I had known then what I know now about the weapons of mass destruction, which was a key reason that I voted to go in there, I would not vote to go into Iraq the way we did," Hutchison said. "But I have to say, I don't think the president would have asked for that vote, either. We had intelligence that we relied on."

Her comments in the Thursday night debate come as a small but growing number of Republicans are suggesting a change in the strategy in Iraq may be necessary. Hutchison ranks fifth in the Republican leadership in the Senate as vice chairwoman of the Republican caucus.

She recently has been edging slightly from being largely in-step with President Bush on the war. This week she told Texas newspapers that the option of partitioning Iraq in to semiautonomous regions should be considered. That White House said it has rejected that option.

In July 2004, the Senate Intelligence Committee found that key U.S. assertions leading to the Iraq war — that Saddam Hussein had chemical and biological weapons and was working to make nuclear weapons — were wrong or based on faulty CIA analyses. The findings were supported by members of both parties.

Hutchison

A Democratic Senate panel released a report saying the White House painted a portrait of Iraq of having ties to al-Qaida based in part on intelligence it knew was flawed. The panel concluded that Hussein's government had rejected overtures from al-Qaida and thought Islamic extremists were a threat to his regime.

Republicans attacked the report as recycled information and accused Democrats of election-year politicking on the eve of the fifth anniversary of the terrorist attacks.

Hutchison's opponent, Democrat Barbara Radnofsky criticized the senator's debate statement, saying it was evidence that the U.S. should not be in Iraq.

She said Hutchison should have heeded the pleas of Sen. Bob Graham, D-Fla., to his colleagues on the Senate floor when he was offering an amendment to the resolution authorizing Bush to go to war. Graham, former Senate Intelligence Committee chairman, implored senators to read classified intelligence reports about the rationale for war.

"It's clear the Senate papers reflect a lack of consensus or decisiveness that there was weapons of mass destruction. They were there, she just didn't read them," Radnofsky said.

But Hutchison spokesman Marc Short said no intelligence information is ever perfect.

"The senator relied upon information from the CIA, conclusions of the British intelligence and the fact that Saddam Hussein had expelled the (weapons) inspectors," he said. "And it's the same conclusion that Hillary Clinton and John Kerry came to that there must be weapons of mass destruction in Iraq and we must go to war to get rid of them."

City to see if anyone interested in Settles

By THOMAS JENKINS

Staff Writer

The Big Spring City Council is expected to hold a special session Monday afternoon to discuss a pair of items, including a request for bids on the Settles Hotel.

According to Mayor Russ McEwen, the decision to publish a request for bids on the downtown landmark is the first step in seeing if there are any viable buyers interested in the structure.

"Several entities have expressed interest in the building," said McEwen. "We just want to put it out there and see what kind of response we get."

McEwen said the city doesn't have a particular buyer in mind.

No offers have been made at this time," said McEwen. "We're simply doing this to open the door. This item would have to be in place before any contract could actually be signed. We just want to find out what kind of interest is out there."

Also on the meeting agenda is an executive session to discuss economic development negotiations relating to a potential economic development prospect.

McEwen declined to comment on the nature of the executive session.

The meeting is slated for 12:15 p.m. Monday in the City Council Chambers, located at 307 E. Fourth Street.

• Nov. 1 — 10 a.m. until noon at the Lamun-Lusk-Sanchez State Veterans Home, located at 1809 N. Highway 87.

Voters will have several decisions to make concerning bond issues — at a combined price of $35 million — including bond elections for a $10.1 million-plus county jail facility; an $11.1 million proposal from the city of Big Spring for a street reconstruction project and sports and recreation complex; and a $13.9 million improvements package from Coahoma Independent School District.

Both the Coahoma ISD and city of Big Spring bonds will give voters the option to choose different combinations of projects.

Local rancher and Democratic nominee Mark Barr will square off against Coahoma resident John Wayne Metcalf for the county judge seat.

Although Metcalf is running as a non-aligned candidate, Howard County Republican Party Chairman Margarita Durand-Hollis said her party is supporting Metcalf in the race.

Also a last-minute filer, local resident Erven Fisher will run as a write-in candidate for the Precinct 2 seat on the Howard County Commissioner's Court. Fisher will face incumbent Jerry Kilgore in the election.

The Precinct 1 Place 2 Justice of the Peace position will also be up for grabs, as incumbent Republican candidate Kathryn Wiseman will face off against Democratic candidate Bobby Roeber.

Howard County resident Carl Lancaster also filed as a write-in candidate Tuesday, in hopes of unseating Precinct 1 Constable Bill Holden.

including Sheriff Dale Walker and Commissioner Jerry Kilgore — have received similar calls from Weber, and have also declined the invitation.

"The sheriff was contacted at 3 p.m. Thursday," said Crocker. "He told them the same thing. It's too late in the process to hold a debate. Commissioner Kilgore told them the same thing."

According to Weber, he's unsure at this point how the debate will shape up, if it takes place at all.

"We plan to have a debate, whether the proponents of the bond are there or not," said Weber. "We may have to cancel it. If we can't get someone to step up and debate the issue, we may just read from the information they have released. I just don't know. If someone from the audience wants to get up and speak for them, we'll let them. I don't know. I just know we'll be there and ready to debate."

Jose Gaona, news director for CBS 7, said he's not sure whether the debate will happen after Friday's developments.

"At this point we've been made aware that the commissioners aren't going to participate in the debate," said Gaona. "If no one shows up it's going to be kind of hard to put on a debate.

"Franklin (Weber) has asked me to contact the commissioners and proponents of the jail bond issue and talk to them about participating. He felt it might be received better if it came from us (CBS 7), and that's what I plan to do. I want them to know they aren't walking into an ambush. I would love to make this debate happen."

According to the press release, questions concerning the debate should be directed to Weber at rated perfectly to set the contract two tricks. Had declarer seen their cards, he would have made four notrump!

Dorothy Hayden Truscott, who passed away earlier this year after a brilliant 40-year bridge career, decided to attack boldly by leading the jack of spades, even though North had bid the suit. Declarer could scarcely be blamed for ducking in dummy, since East might easily have had the singleton ace or king, or the A-K alone. In each of these cases, playing the queen could easily prove disastrous.

Mrs. Truscott promptly continued with the ten, and again, with very good reason, declarer ducked. After the ten held, Mrs. Truscott cashed the A-K of spades as South reddened visibly. On the A-K, East (Ted Brashler) discarded the deuce of hearts and deuce of clubs.

Her partner having indicated a distaste for both hearts and clubs, Mrs. Truscott now shifted to a diamond, and Brashler scored his A-Q for down two.

Obviously, declarer could have made the contract had he known how the spades were actually divided. Against more normal defense, he would have collected at least nine tricks. But the opposition put him to a severe test, and it's hard to blame him for going wrong.

Heading upmarket, Wal-Mart to end layaway

By ABIGAIL GOLDMAN
Los Angeles Times

Three burgundy blankets and two white lamp shades wait for Audrey Larry in a small store-room at a Wal-Mart in South Los Angeles.

But only until December. Seventeen days before Christmas, the retailing giant will discontinue its layaway service, which for decades shoppers like Larry have used to stash their dreams — color TVs, coats, bedroom furniture sets — until they could finish paying for them.

Larry, 57, has used layaway at various stores as an interest-free way to save up for goods by leaving them at the store and paying for them in installments.

But over the past 20 years, as nearly every other national retailer quit offering the service, Wal-Mart became a mainstay for Larry and many others.

"This is going to be devastating," said Larry, who lives on her Social Security checks. "Layaway is for people who don't have credit cards and who don't have a lot of money and are on low budgets — this is how they buy their stuff."

Wal-Mart, which built its business offering low-cost goods to customers with limited choices, said it would end its 44-year-old layaway service because few people take advantage of it anymore.

"Our goal is to help folks provide for all their needs, but at the end of the day, fewer and fewer people are using layaway," said Wal-Mart spokeswoman Linda Blakley. "We want them to continue to be our customers, and that's one of the reasons we're looking at programs that will allow us to offer additional purchase options," she said.

Wal-Mart, which will continue its layaway service in Canada and Puerto Rico, said the company offered no-interest financing options on its Wal-Mart credit card and also has tested prepaid debit cards.

The company has posted signs at its more than 3,200 Wal-Mart stores letting customers know that they would have until Nov. 19 to put items on layaway and until Dec. 8 to pick them up.

"Layaways came from a period when credit didn't exist for the working class," said Nelson Lichtenstein, a professor of history at the University of California, Santa Barbara and editor of "Wal-Mart: The Face of 21st Century Capitalism." "It was a tangible symbol of an ongoing relationship with a customer who would be returning again and again."

But those days are long gone, he said, particularly for Wal-Mart, which is trying to remake its image as a slightly more upscale retailer.

There are still a few layaway programs around. Kmart offers the service storewide as a way to serve the lowest-income consumers; Sears, Roebuck & Co. offers lay-away on some big-ticket items, such as jewelry. Both stores are owned by Sears Holding Corp.

Audrey Larry, 57, with some of the merchandise she has purchased on layaway.

Still, for shoppers who depend on layaway to make ends meet — particularly at holiday time — not having a payment plan option at the world's biggest retailer will be a serious blow.

While credit cards allow customers to enjoy goods now and pay for them later, often with interest added, layaway lets shoppers secure items at the store and pay them off over time, usually with no fees or interest.

Layaway programs began in the 1920s and took off in the decades thereafter when money was tight and formal credit plans were nonexistent.

"The practice really became kind of a tradition in a lot of places," said Dan Butler, vice president of merchandising and retail operations at the National Retail Federation.

Layaway was particularly popular in rural America. Wal-Mart's original terminals, where farmers often came to town once a month, Butler said.

Credit cards became widely available in the 1960s and 1970s, and most retailers did away with their layaway programs, Butler said. But not Wal-Mart, which opened its first store in 1962 and offered the service from the start.

Retailers have had many problems with layaway programs. Merchandise could be tied up for weeks or months, only to have buyers change their minds. Sometimes, if customers simply stopped making payments, stores had to spend time trying to track down shoppers to return the payments they did make.

And by the time the merchandise was ready to go back on the shelves, it often was out of season, out of date or obsolete, leaving the retailer holding the bag.

Wal-Mart requires layaway shoppers to pay an initial deposit of 10 percent of the cost of the goods, pay a portion of the bill every two weeks, and make a final payment within 60 days.

"It made life difficult the next time I got paid. I could get my stuff off layaway," said Rochelle Richardson, 39, a teacher's assistant who has used layaway for years at various stores. "If they take it away, people that don't have a lot of money, it will be hard on them."

Bush meets

By JENNIFER LOVEN

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush reviewed Iraq strategy on Saturday with top generals for the second day in a row, increasing election pressure to make automatic changes to a deteriorating condition.

Before a midmorning bike ride, the president consulted for 90 minutes at the White House with his national security team, spokeswoman Nicole Guillemard said.

Gathered around a Roosevelt Room conference table with were Gen. John Abizaid, the top U.S. commander in the Middle East; Peter Pace, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff; Defense Secretary Donald H. Rumsfeld; Bush's national security adviser Stephen Hadley; other officials. President Dick Cheney and Gen. George C. Casper, who leads the U.S. Multinational Force in Iraq, joined in by video conference.

"The participants focused on the nature of the enemy, the challenges in Iraq, how to better execute our strategy, and the stakes of succeeding in the region and the security of the American people," Guillemard said.

Bush also met Abizaid for a half-hour Friday.

Even as it appeared to set the stage for a possible announcement, the White House insisted the meeting was routine and all that is in question is change in tactics in war, not an overhaul of broader strategy or mission. Guillemard said the session was the third in a series of consultations with commanders who would continue in the same forum in the coming weeks.

The discussions Friday and Saturday came at the end of a week in which the U.S. military spokesman in Iraq stepped up operations to secure Baghdad and needed to be cautious; Republicans ried about losing ground in the Nov. 7 election expressed fresh doubt about the war; and a tration grew with Prime Minister Nouri Maliki's lack of progress in reining in militia.

Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice reporters traveling her from Asia to meet that Bush meets with generals over the war effort, including a similar session attended recently at David.

"I wouldn't read this somehow that is a full-scale push major re-evaluation," Rice said.

"They are always looking at what course on, whether or not working, what's working and what isn't working," Rice said. "I'm quite certain that given the elements of violence and the fact that violence is not coming to the degree that would have hoped there is going to be of discussion about we address that."

On Friday, loyal to an anti-Arab Shiite cleric briefly a major southern embarrassment of local Iraqi security. For October so far, U.S. death toll was 75 and likely to be highest for any month in nearly two years.

N. Korea may be backing down

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — North Korea showed signs it could be backing away from its nuclear showdown with the world, even as it staged a show of domestic support in Pyongyang, where tens of thousands gathered to laud the country's first atomic test.

Coming under united international pressure, Kim Jong Il reportedly apologized for the Oct. 9 nuclear detonation and said he wouldn't test any more bombs.

That doesn't mean Kim can afford to show any weakness to a home crowd who live in an officially enforced siege mentality and are long accustomed to blaming their desperate living conditions on outside forces — mainly the United States.

"No matter how the U.S. imperialists try to stifle and isolate our republic ... victory will be on the side of justice," Choe Thae Bok, secretary of the Central Committee of the Workers' Party of Korea, told a rally of more than 100,000 people, according to the North's official Korean Central News Agency.

The North also held

Nation and World briefs

firm to its demand that the U.S. lift financial restrictions that have strangled Pyongyang's access to banks abroad as a condition to return to disarmament talks.

Agents raid office, home of candidate

GARDEN GROVE, Calif. (AP) — For two days, a Republican congressional candidate had promised to explain how a threatening letter was sent by his campaign without his knowledge to thousands of Hispanic immigrant voters.

As about 200 people gathered Friday in front of his campaign headquarters seeking answers, Tan D. Nguyen was a no-show at his own news conference.

Instead, 10 uniformed California Department of Justice police officers arrived with a search warrant and pounded on the glass of Nguyen's storefront headquarters, officials confirmed.

Agents spent two hours sifting through cabinets, boxes and computers. They left carrying several boxes and plastic bags of evidence.

Hours later, they searched a home in nearby Anaheim listed as belonging to one of Nguyen's staffers, emerging with a computer hard drive and a small box. Nguyen's neighbors in a gated community in Santa Ana said law enforcement officers also spent several hours searching his home.

Nguyen, a Vietnamese immigrant trying to unseat a popular Democratic incumbent, has acknowledged his campaign sent the letter, which wrongly said immigrants could be jailed if they voted. He blamed an unidentified staffer whom he said he has fired.

Nguyen has resisted calls from leaders in his own party to quit the race, saying he did not approve the letter and did not know about it.

Kurdish man tortured by Taliban imprisoned for years by U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Abdul Rahim insists he's an apolitical student who fled a strict father.

But he's fallen into a black hole in the war on terror in which first the Taliban and then the United States imprisoned him as an enemy of the state.

Arrested by the Taliban in Afghanistan in January 2000, Rahim says al-Qaida leaders burned him with cigarettes, smashed his right hand, deprived him of sleep, nearly drowned him and hanged him from the ceiling until he "confessed" to spying for the United States.

U.S. forces took the young Kurd from Syria into custody in January 2002 after the Taliban fled his prison. Accusing him of being an al-Qaida terrorist, U.S. interrogators deprived him of sleep, threatened him with police dogs and kept him in stress positions for hours, he says. He's been held ever since as an enemy combatant.

Rahim's story is one of several emerging from the U.S. prison at Guantanamo Bay as defense lawyers make bids to free their clients while the Bush administration tries to use a new law to lock them out of federal courts.

After the Supreme Court overturned President Bush's plans for commissions to try detainees, Bush obtained a new law from Congress barring federal courts from hearing appeals for release by any alien "properly detained as an enemy combatant."

The Justice Department told district and appellate judges this week they no longer have jurisdiction to hear dozens of such pending cases.

California to ship prisoners out of state

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California will begin shipping thousands of inmates to prisons in four other states next month at a cost of more than $51 million a year, corrections officials said.

Gov. Arnold Schwarzenegger declared an emergency this month to speed up the no-bid contracts with two private companies. He said the transfers are needed to ease crowding in the nation's largest prison system, where more than 172,000 inmates are crowded into space designed for about 100,000, forcing some inmates to sleep in gymnasiums and auditoriums.

The GEO Group Inc. of Florida will be paid an estimated $28.7 million a year to house as many as 1,260 inmates at its New Castle Correctional Facility in Indiana.

Tennessee-based Correctional Corporation of America will be paid a projected $22.9 million annually to house as many as 1,000 inmates at four prisons in Arizona, Oklahoma and Tennessee.

All 2,260 medium-security inmates are to be moved by March under the contracts, signed late Thursday.

California prisons had been projected to run out of even makeshift beds by next August, but the transfers will free space until June 2008, officials with the state corrections department said.

Lady Steers win, playoff hopes still alive

Senior night is sweet

MIKE GRIMES
Sports Editor

Friday night the Lady Steers kept their volleyball playoff hopes alive by defeating a pesky Lubbock Estacado in five games (25-17, 24-26, 25-21, 25-18, 15-10). Having lost four straight coming into a "must win" situation, the team showed some tenacity and fought back to win the deciding game in front of the home crowd on senior night.

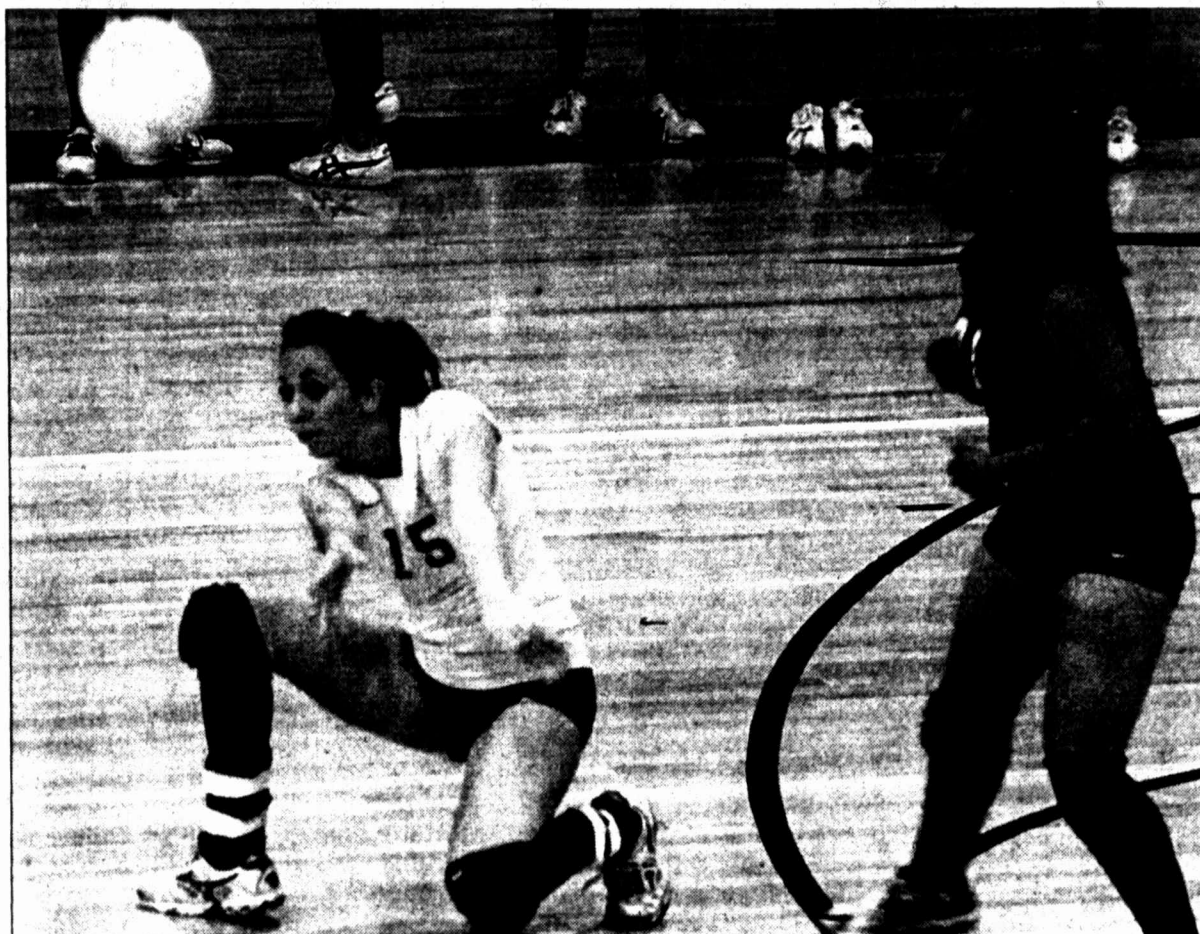

In the first game of the match the Lady Steers jumped to an early lead and stayed in command until the final point. Estacado appeared to be outclassed and had a difficult time keeping the game competitive.

The second game began in the same manner. Big Spring jumped to an early lead and seemed to be playing the type of volleyball that would please the rowdy student body. However, after a powerful spike and a couple of questionable calls by the referees, the momentum swung the other way.

"I think that we got a little too comfortable with the way the mood was set," Head Coach Amanda Whitaker said. "We decided that we would play at their tempo instead of ours, and that can happen easily when we're playing someone that is underskilled. I tried to tell them not to do it, but it's just real hard to not get sucked into that type of game."

In the third game the Lady Steers were never able to pull away, but they maintained a two-point cushion throughout the contest and eventually won by four. After such a hard-fought game that could have gone either way, Estacado came out spiking and blocking with a vengeance in the fourth game. They silenced the vocal crowd and defeated BSHS 25-18.

Needing not only a win, but a Lake View loss to Plainview Saturday, the Lady Steers rallied together for one final attempt to put away Estacado. Early in the fifth and deciding game the score remained tight. Players from both sides were diving on the floor, making digs on defense, and slamming their spikes over the net.

Senior Haley Adams, seen digging the ball, helped keep the Lady Steers playoff hopes alive. BSHS needs outside help from Plainview if they are going to be able to advance to post season action.

"Offensively Amanda Caskey and Callie Partee really stood out tonight. And Andrea Claxton stood out tonight. She played a pretty good job for us tonight," Whitaker said, as the stands began to empty and the team gathered for photos on the court.

At the midpoint of the deciding game the Lady Steers went on a 7 point run and stretched their lead to 13-5. Estacado, refusing to give up, dug in for the next three points before dropping the game 15-10, and losing the match.

"The girls knew that they had to win this game," Whitaker explained. "They also knew they could win this game. I'm trying to build up their confidence and let them know that they can win any game. We're not fighting a physical thing, for us this is a mental thing. They can do it (win) and everybody has seen them do it. When our mentality is there, we're a hard team to break."

Should Lake View lose its final game of the season there would be a tie for the third and final playoff spot. The Lady Steers would face Lake View for a third time, with the winner advancing.

"If we get a chance to face them again," Whitaker said, regarding the post season pos-

Coahoma wins in final minute, 21-14

COLORADO CITY — Coahoma coach Ken Cates will tell you that it was not the prettiest win he has ever been a part of, but after seven weeks of not being able to get into the "W" column, this was time to sit back and let the kids and coaching staff enjoy a much needed win.

On a night when Colorado City (0-8) and Coahoma (1-7, 1-3 in district play) combined to turn the ball over nine times, it was the Bulldogs that finally came up with the long drive in the fourth quarter and prevailed in a 21-14 thriller.

With 7:18 to play in the first quarter, senior Dakota Teaff gave the Bulldogs the early lead with a 4-yard sprint into the end zone. Just before the end of the second quarter, Teaff stretched the Coahoma lead to 14, as he barreled his way in from 2 yards out.

"Teaff had a great first half," Cates said. "It's ironic how things work out, but after having such a good start, we ended up going to P.J. Daylong in the second half."

Sands was defeated by Rankin on Friday night, 53-8.

The mercy rule came into effect in the third quarter, as the Sands offense failed to get on track.

They finished the game with 66-yards passing and 44-yards on the ground, but only managed three first downs. The lone score for the Mustangs came on a 5-yard touchdown, but the Red Devils still led 40-8 at the half.

Rankin racked-up 286 total yards of offense on the night, and accomplished this with a balanced attack that featured 179-yards rushing and another 107 through the air.

Sands was hamstrung by two turnovers and three penalties for another 30 yards. The Sands defense gave up three touchdowns passes and four more on the ground in the loss.

Internet prankster could get 5 years

By EMILY FREDRIX

Associated Press Writer

MILWAUKEE — A 20-year-old grocery store clerk who authorities say amused himself by posting prank Internet warnings of terrorist attacks against NFL stadiums was arrested Friday on federal charges that could bring five years behind bars.

Jake J. Brahm was accused of writing that radioactive "dirty bombs" would be detonated this weekend at seven football stadiums. He admitted posting the same threat about 40 times on various Web sites between September and Wednesday, authorities said.

The Wauwatosa man surrendered to federal authorities and appeared in court in Milwaukee later in the day.

"These types of hoaxes scare innocent people, cost business resources and waste valuable homeland security resources. We cannot tolerate this Internet version of yelling fire in a crowded theater in the post-9/11 era," said U.S. Attorney Christopher Christie in Newark, N.J., where Brahm was charged in a sealed complaint filed Thursday. One of the stadiums mentioned was Giants Stadium in East Rutherford, N.J.

Brahm was charged with making a terrorist threat over the Internet, which carries a maximum five-year prison sentence and $250,000 fine. When the potential sentence was read in court Friday afternoon, his mother, Valerie Brahm, with whom he lives, closed her eyes and put her hand over her mouth.

U.S. Magistrate Patricia Gorence released Jake Brahm without bail, citing his spotless record and strong community ties. She prohibited him from using the Internet or traveling outside Wisconsin and New Jersey, where his lawyer said he plans to make a court appearance.

When reporters asked him for comment after the hearing, Brahm smiled and laughed but said nothing.

Brahm's attorney, Patrick Knight, said after the hearing that his client was shocked by the way the threats were received. He described Brahm as quiet and gentle and said he had not seen anything to indicate Brahm meant any real harm.

"When you're a 20-year-old, and you roll a snowball, and the next thing you know, it's as big as a house rolling down a hill, it surprises you a bit," Knight said.

Richard Ruminski, the FBI agent in charge of the Milwaukee office, said Brahm thought posting the threats would be funny.

"As I understand it, Mr. Brahm had put out this threat thinking it was so preposterous that no one would take it seriously," Ruminski said. "Unfortunately, he was wrong."

The warnings briefly set off a scare this week, before federal authorities announced the warnings were a hoax.

Wauwatosa police Chief Barry Weber said Brahm had bragged to friends about his actions.

An FBI official in Washington, who spoke on condition of anonymity because the case is still under investigation, told The Associated Press that Brahm acknowledged doing it as part of a "writing duel" with a man from Texas to see who could post the scariest threat between them.

That game will be played at Plainview.

"That's a long trip they have to make," said senior Haley Adams. "I'm hoping that will be to their disadvantage. If they lose that will be our second chance. Tonight was exciting and I'm glad that everyone came out to support us on senior night, but I don't want this to be our last game of the year. We want to play Lake View one more time."

quarter they tied the game with a 1-yard touchdown run by Clint White.

With everything that has gone wrong this season, it appeared as though the Bulldogs were going to allow another game to slip away.

Not Friday night — not in Colorado City.

Despite putting the ball on the ground six times and losing three fumbles, Coahoma won the turnover battle by one. The Bulldogs' defense came up with two fumble recoveries and three interceptions before they turned the lights out in Colorado City.

"Our defensive unit played hard and did a really good job all night," said Cates. "Once again I am very proud of the way they played."

On the final drive of the evening, with the game on the line, Daylong carried the Bulldogs to victory.

The sophomore running back accounted for all but 9 yards on the final 83-yard winning drive.

"There in the final period, Daylong really stepped up and ignited that winning drive for us," Cates added. "He came up big when we needed him."

After eating up the game clock and driving the length of the field, the Bulldogs were ready to punch it in for the winning score.

With just over a minute to play, senior quarterback Blaine Kerby put Coahoma ahead for good when he found the end zone from a yard out.

"It was a great win," Cates explained after the game. "All wins are pretty, but this was sure as heck not the prettiest. We're really fortunate that Daylong and Teaff combined to have a good game."

Now it is time for the Bulldogs to establish a winning streak and see how everything unfolds in the district race.

"Right now we're still alive for the playoffs," Cates explained. "But we know that we have to keep winning to stay alive. Right now we have the opportunity to be right in the middle of the (playoff) picture, but we need to play the rest of the season like we played tonight."

The Bulldogs return to action Friday at home against district rival Stamford.

MONAHANS — The Lobos had no problems with Fabens this week.

In the first quarter the score was 35-0, and Monahans never looked backed.

Chris Roberson scored five touchdowns on the evening, including the first four of the game.

Roberson finished the game with 128 yards on just seven carries.

His replacement, Josh Rodriguez, continued to impress, as he carried the ball 9 times for 108 yards, and two scores.

The Lobos are now 6-1.

GRADY — The Grady Wildcats were no match for high-powered Fort Davis in the District 1 six-man game Friday night. By halftime the score was already out of control, as Davis took a 40-14 advantage.

Fuani Disney Classic

LAKE BUENA VISTA, Fla. — Justin Rose was still on the course and still atop the leaderboard when the sun went down Friday.

Rose, coming off a 12-under 60 on Thursday, was 17 under through 16 holes when the second round in the Funai Classic at Disney was suspended because of darkness. Clubhouse leader Tag Ridings was second, four strokes back after a 66.

Rose also had a four-shot lead when the round started following a 70-minute fog delay. The 26-year-old Englishman shot the 60 on Thursday on the Palm Course and barely missed three putts over that final six holes that left him one stroke away from tying the PGA Tour scoring record.

He was nearly as good Friday on the much tougher Magnolia Course.

"The enjoyable thing as a pro golfer is being in that focused zone," Rose said. "It doesn't come around every day or every week."

Rose started the second round with consecutive birdies. He added four more over a five-hole stretch to extend his lead to seven strokes.

"You have to come back with a completely fresh mind-set and almost forget about the day before," Rose said. "Starting birdie-birdie was a good thing and got me back on the horse."

Rose hit nearly every fairway, was on just about every green in regulation and had no par putts longer than 3 feet over his first 12 holes. He was cruising along until the par-5 fourth hole, his 13th hole of the round.

Justin Rose, shown walking the fairways, has found himself atop the leaderboard in the Funai Classic at Disney.

His tee shot landed next to a tree in the rough, forcing him to lay up. From the middle of the fairway, his wedge shot flew past the pin and landed in a bunker. With little sand under his ball, his bunker shot zipped by the hole.

He had a 30-footer for par, but came up about 2 feet short. It was his first bogey of the tournament.

He rebounded with four consecutive pars before the horn sounded. Rose had a 10-footer for birdie — a chance to move to 18 under — on No. 8 when he called it quits for the night.

Ridings was at 13-under 131. Troy Matteson (65) was 12 under, and Robert Damron (65) and Marco Dawson (66) were another stroke behind.

Rose was among eight players on the course when played ended. The second round will be completed Saturday morning. Barring a collapse, Rose will finish his last two holes, then return to play in the final threesome of the third round with Ridings and Matteson.

Damron and Dawson will be just ahead.

Brahm worked at Outpost Natural Foods, a co-op near his house. "He was a normal guy. That's all we're going to say at this time," said Jeremy Layman, assistant manager.

Mallory McKenney, who graduated a

Erik Vasys, an FBI spokesman in San Antonio, said there would be no charges against the Texas man because he did not take part in the writing of the threats.

Barber, Jones present challenges

By JAIME ARON
AP Sports Writer

IRVING — Although Michael Strahan has never had to chase teammate Tiki Barber in a game, 10 years of practices have taught him what a challenge it is.

So Dallas Cowboys running back Julius Jones should consider it quite a compliment that Strahan calls him "kind of like a little Tiki Barber."

"He's quick," Strahan said. "He's fast. He gives us trouble."

It doesn't take trying to tackle those guys to notice how much they have in common. Some things will jump out to anyone watching the Monday night game between Jones' Cowboys (3-2) and Barber's New York Giants (3-2).

Start with their size. Both are 5-foot-10 and between 205 and 210 pounds, much of it muscle.

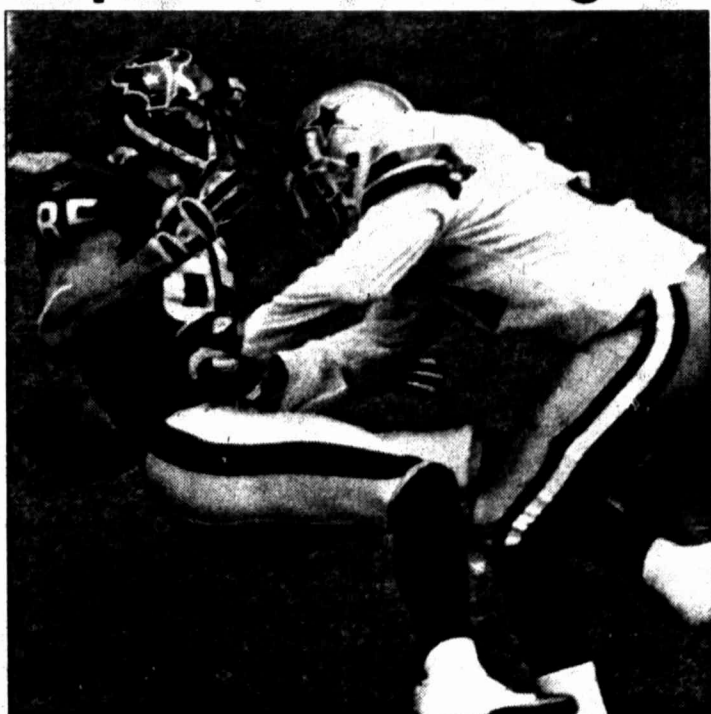

Their styles are similar, too. Quick and shifty, they excel at bursting past the line and into the secondary. While they lack breakaway speed, their strength makes it tough to bring them down.

Barber certainly sees the resemblance.

"Absolutely," he said. There also are some quirky similarities.

They wear the same uniform number, 21, and were both second-round draft picks. They also have brothers playing in the NFL: Ronde Barber in Tampa Bay, Thomas Jones in Chicago.

Thomas Jones is even the tie that binds these two. They met in college and remain close friends.

Pair of rookies: Verlander vs. Reyes in opener

St Louis Cardinals' starting pitcher Anthony Reyes is expected to get the call for Game 1 of the World Series against the Detroit Tigers.

By RONALD BLUM

AP Baseball Writer

DETROIT — When the Cardinals and Tigers last hooked up in the World Series, the starting pitchers in the opener were Bob Gibson and 31-game winner Denny McLain.

When they get together at Comerica Park on Saturday night, Game 1 will have a pair of rookie starters for the first time, with Detroit's Justin Verlander facing off against Anthony Reyes. And the way Reyes sees it, two rooks are better for him than one.

"That's kind of good, knowing he's probably going to have the same feeling as me," he said Friday.

Reyes, 5-8 with a 5.06 ERA in 17 regular-season starts, has the fewest wins of any Game 1 starter in World Series history and is the first with a losing regular-season record since the Mets' Jon Matlack in 1973. He wasn't even on the Cardinals' roster for their first-round series against San Diego.

Verlander was 17-9 with a 3.63 ERA during the regular season. Despite Reyes' poor pedigree, Verlander doesn't think the Tigers are favored.

"I think we view ourselves as the underdogs," Verlander said.

ideal," Rose said of having to finish the second round, then wait to tee off again. "Those are the things you have to deal with."

While Rose will be seeking his first PGA Tour victory, Ridings, Damron and Dawson might have even more to play for - a chance to move up enough on the money list to possibly keep their tour cards and avoid qualifying school.

The top 125 on the money list retain their full cards. Ridings is ranked 150th, with Dawson (163) and Damron (167) not too far behind.

"I must need a little excitement in my life," Damron said. "It's not the way I planned it. But I'm totally at peace with whatever happens. If I don't make a couple of big checks and keep my card, I don't. I go to Q-school. ... Whatever happens, it just happens. I put a lot more pressure on myself in the middle of the year and it didn't work out."

Damron is playing his eighth consecutive week in hopes of moving up the money list.

Dawson and Ridings, meanwhile, are each playing their ninth straight event.

Ridings said he wanted to avoid gauging his chances to move up the list.

"The key is to not think about that," Ridings said. "You can think about whatever you want. So I'm going to think about one shot. If you're focusing on (the money list), you're focusing on the wrong thing."

Quick & Easy HOLIDAY COOKING

FAMILY FEATURES

The holiday season is a time for family gatherings, entertaining and cooking. Whether you're hosting a dinner for a large family or a few close friends, planning a holiday meal can be a lot of work. Consider the following time-saving tips to help make the most of your time in the kitchen so that you can focus on what is truly important — family and friends.

- Stock up on non-perishable baking ingredients that can be used in an assortment of dishes. Pantry staples such as jelly, preserves, peanut butter and flour can be used in a variety of delicious recipes.
- Plan ahead by setting the table the day before the main event.
- Choose one or two dishes that can be made a day ahead, such as the Strawberry and Peanut Butter Cream Cake Roll. This dish is actually better the next day because flavors have time to meld and intensify.
- Lay out items you'll need in advance, such as Hungry Jack® pancake mix and Smucker's® Peach Preserves, and wash, trim and chop other ingredients so they are accessible during meal preparation.
- Skip the scrubbing. Prep your casserole dishes with Crisco® No-Stick Cooking Spray for easy clean up.

Peaches and Cream Crepes

Makes 8 (8-inch) crepes

Quick Crepe Batter

- 2 eggs
- 1 cup milk
- 2 tablespoons Crisco® Vegetable Oil
- 1 cup Hungry Jack® Buttermilk Pancake Mix-Complete
- Crisco*® Original No-Stick Spray

Filling and Topping

- 1 8-ounce package cream cheese, softened
- 1 cup powdered sugar
- 1-1/2 teaspoons almond extract, divided
- 1/2 cup Smucker's® Peach Preserves
- 1 tablespoon unsalted butter
- 1 7-ounce can whipped cream
- 1/3 cup sliced almonds, toasted*

Prepare Quick Crepe Batter recipe by placing eggs, milk and oil into blender. Cover and process by pulsing several times. Add pancake mix and process until smooth. Scrape down sides of blender with a spatula; blend again until smooth. Spray a 10-inch non-stick skillet with the no-stick spray and heat over medium-high heat. Remove skillet from heat and pour 3 to 4 tablespoons crepe batter into center of the pan. Quickly rotate the pan, tilting to coat the surface. Cook until the crepe's center and edges appear dry and lightly browned. Carefully turn the crepe over and cook the other side. Turn out the crepe onto a plate; cover to keep warm, if desired. Repeat with remaining batter to make 7 more crepes.

For filling, combine cream cheese, powdered sugar and 1 teaspoon almond extract in a small bowl, mixing until smooth. Combine peach preserves, butter and 1/2 teaspoon almond extract in a small microwave-safe bowl. Cook mixture on high (100 percent power) 45 to 60 seconds, or until butter is melted and well combined with preserves. Divide the cream cheese mixture evenly between the 8 crepes, spreading the cheese over the crepes. Fold each crepe in half, then in half again, forming a triangle. Place two crepes on each plate. Just before serving, top with peach preserves, whipped cream and toasted almonds.

*Toasting nuts: Place nuts in a dry non-stick skillet and cook over medium heat shaking the pan until the nuts are browned lightly.

Peaches and Cream Crepes

Cheesy Vegetable Tarts

Makes 8 servings

Pastry

- 1-1/4 cups Pillsbury® BEST All Purpose Flour
- 1/8 teaspoon salt
- 1/3 cup Crisco® All-Vegetable Shortening or 1/3 Crisco® Stick
- 1/3 cup finely shredded cheddar cheese
- 1 egg
- 1 to 2 tablespoons cold water

Filling

- 1 16-ounce bag frozen vegetable blend (like cauliflower, broccoli and carrots)

Sauce

- 2 tablespoons Crisco All-Vegetable Shortening or 2 tablespoons Crisco Stick
- 2 tablespoons Pillsbury BEST All Purpose Flour
- 1 cup milk
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- Dash white pepper
- 2 tablespoons whipping cream
- 2/3 cup finely shredded cheddar cheese

For pastry, preheat oven to 425°F. Combine flour and salt in a bowl. Cut in shortening with a pastry blender or 2 knives until mixture resembles cornmeal. Stir in cheese, egg and enough water to form dough. Roll out pastry to 1/8-inch thickness on a lightly floured surface. Using the lid from a 3-pound Crisco can as a pattern, cut 8 circles (about 5-1/4 inches each). Place pastry circles over backs of inverted 2-3/4-inch muffin-pan cups or small custard cups. Pierce dough with a fork. Bake 15 minutes or until golden brown. Cool on a rack 2 to 3 minutes, then carefully remove shells from muffin pans.

For filling, prepare vegetables according to package directions. Reserve 8 vegetable pieces for garnish. Chop remaining vegetables to 1/2-inch pieces. Keep all vegetables warm while preparing sauce.

For sauce, melt shortening in saucepan. Add flour and cook 2 minutes. Add milk slowly and cook until mixture boils and thickens, stirring constantly. Remove sauce from heat; stir in salt, pepper, cream and cheddar cheese. Spoon vegetables into tart shells. Spoon sauce over vegetables. Garnish with vegetable pieces. Serve hot.

Cherry-Glazed Ham

Makes 10 to 12 servings

- 1 10-pound fully cooked whole ham
- 1 cup Smucker's® Cherry Preserves
- 1/4 cup red wine vinegar
- 2 tablespoons light corn syrup
- 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cloves
- 1/3 cup toasted slivered almonds
- 3 tablespoons water

Place ham on a rack in a shallow baking pan. Bake, uncovered, at 325°F about 1-1/2 hours (or until thermometer registers 140°F). Meanwhile, in a saucepan combine cherry preserves, vinegar, corn syrup and spices. Cook and stir until boiling. Reduce heat; simmer two minutes. Stir in almonds. Remove from heat. Set aside 3/4 cup of the glaze. About 15 minutes before the meat is done, spoon glaze over the ham, basting occasionally. Remove ham from oven; place on a heated serving platter. Stir the water into reserved 3/4-cup glaze; heat and serve along with ham.

Strawberry and Peanut Butter Cream Cake Roll

Makes 10 servings

Cake

- Crisco*® Original No-Stick Cooking Spray
- 1/4 cup confectioners' sugar
- 1 cup Pillsbury® BEST All Purpose Flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 4 large eggs
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 1/4 cup water
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Filling

- 1 8-ounce package cream cheese, softened
- 1 cup confectioners' sugar
- 1/3 cup Jif® Extra Crunchy Peanut Butter
- 1/2 teaspoon almond extract
- 1 cup Smucker's® Low-Sugar™ Strawberry Fruit Spread, divided
- Confectioners' sugar

For cake, preheat oven to 375°F. Sift confectioners' sugar generously over a 12- by 17-inch area of a clean thin kitchen towel. Spray a 15- by 10- by 1-inch jelly roll pan with no-stick spray. Line pan with waxed paper and spray paper. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt; set aside.

Place eggs in mixer bowl; turn to medium-high speed and beat eggs with wire whisk until light and lemon colored. Reduce speed to low. Gradually add sugar, water, vanilla extract and sifted flour mixture; stop and scrape bowl. Turn to medium speed and beat 1 minute more. Pour batter into prepared pan. Bake for 9 to 11 minutes or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Immediately loosen the cake around the edges and invert cake onto the prepared towel. Carefully remove waxed paper. Roll the cake beginning at the narrow end. Cool on a wire rack 30 to 40 minutes.

For filling, combine cream cheese, confectioners' sugar, peanut butter and almond extract in mixer bowl. Turn to low speed, mixing until powdered sugar is incorporated. Turn to medium-low speed and beat until smooth. Unroll cake; spread peanut butter cream evenly to edges of the cake. Reserve 2 tablespoons fruit spread in a resealable plastic bag for garnish; spread remaining fruit spread over peanut butter cream. Re-roll cake; wrap in plastic wrap and refrigerate several hours before serving. Right before serving, microwave reserved fruit spread on high for 10 seconds; sprinkle cake with confectioners' sugar and drizzle with fruit spread.

Tuxedo Strawberries

Makes 24 to 26 strawberries

- 24 to 36 strawberries (about two 1-pint baskets), stems intact
- 1-1/2 cups semi-sweet chocolate chips
- 2 tablespoons Crisco® All-Vegetable Shortening or 2 tablespoons Crisco® Stick, divided
- 1-1/2 cups white chocolate, chopped

Line a large baking sheet with waxed paper. Wipe strawberries clean; dry with paper towels.

Place semi-sweet chocolate chips and 1 tablespoon shortening in a microwave-safe glass bowl. Cook at 50 percent power, or defrost, for 45 seconds. Press finger into chocolate to see if it is melted; if not, heat for another 45 seconds.

Repeat process until chocolate is soft and shortening is melted. Stir until mixture is smooth.

Repeat process with white chocolate and remaining 1 tablespoon shortening.

Holding a strawberry by its green top, dip 3/4 of berry into melted white chocolate. Let excess chocolate drip off. Repeat with remaining berries. Place on waxed paper-lined sheet.

Dip each cooled white chocolate-dipped berry at an angle into the semi-sweet chocolate, creating one side of the tuxedo "lapel." Repeat the process at an angle on the other side of the berry. Place on waxed paper-lined sheet.

Place a small amount of melted semi-sweet chocolate into a small plastic zipper bag. Cut the tip of the corner, creating a very small opening. Pipe decorative buttons and bow ties onto strawberries.

Refrigerate until chocolate coating is firm, about 1 hour. (Can be prepared 8 hours ahead, but they are best eaten the same day. Keep refrigerated.)

Applications for Livestock Assistance Grants due

Agriculture Commissioner Susan Combs is reminding eligible livestock producers in 216 Texas counties — including Howard, Mitchell and Glasscock — that applications for the federally-funded Livestock Assistance Grant Program must be postmarked by Nov. 13.

The application must be addressed to: Livestock

Assistance Grant Program, Texas Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Austin 78711. Incomplete applications and applications postmarked after Nov. 13 will not be considered.

Applications are available on TDA's Web site at www.agr.state.tx.us; at all TDA offices; and at Texas Cooperative Extension and U.S.

Department of Agriculture Farm Service Agency county offices in the 216 eligible Texas counties.

Although local Cooperative Extension and FSA staff may have basic knowledge of the program, they will not have received specific training on the program, so producers with any questions are encouraged to call TDA at (512) 463-2459 or 1-800-TELL-TDA (1-800-835-5832).

To qualify for LAGP funds, a producer must meet all the following criteria:

- Must have suffered livestock forage production losses because of drought conditions from March 7 through Aug. 31, 2006 (eligibility period);
- Must have a livestock operation that suffered forage production losses in one or more of the 216 Texas counties classified as D3 Drought-Extreme or D4 Drought-Exceptional during the eligibility period; and

- Must have raised adult beef cattle two years of age and older and sheep one year of age and older for commercial use as part of a farming operation during the eligibility period.

Alternative funding to be considered for Ports-to-Plains

Special to the Herald

With funding scarce for the long-sought Ports-to-Plains corridor, state transportation officials are looking at opportunities for private investment and partnerships to pay for moving freight and utilities along this trade corridor.

The Texas Department of Transportation will consider Ports-to-Plains funding alternatives in a study that should be completed early next year.

The research will look at how local governments and regional entities can partner with the private sector to finance needed infrastructure. The potential for utility transmission along the corridor will be assessed, as will the role of rail and the multifaceted trade relationship among the nation's Plains states.

Ports-to-Plains is a proposed divided highway corridor stretching from Laredo through West Texas to Denver, Colo., through Big Spring. Designated as a High Priority Corridor by Congress in 1998, Ports-to-Plains corridor is intended to expand economic opportunity and serve international trade from Mexico to Canada.

Despite the congressional designation, adequate federal funding has not been provided to cover the cost of the project.

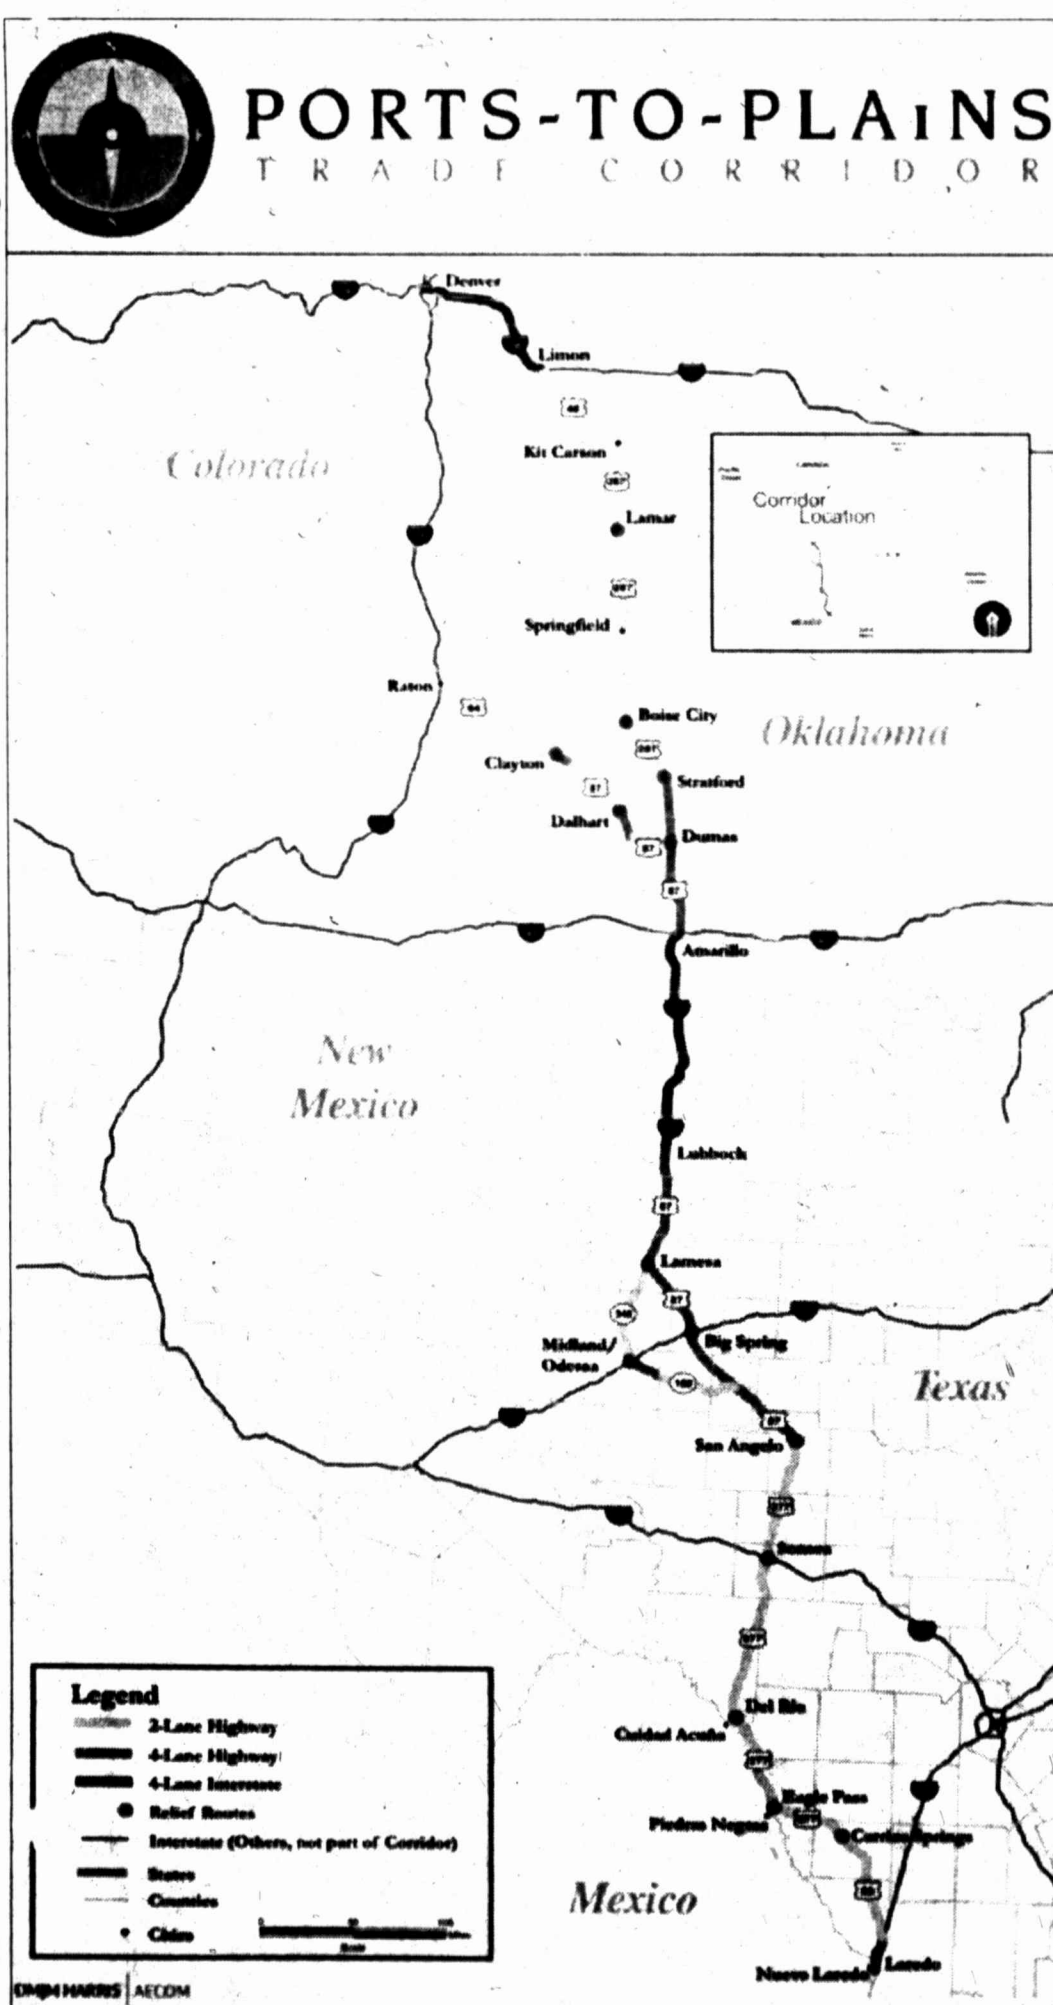

Using Ports-to-Plains as a case study, TxDOT will research the best potential applications of the Trans-Texas Corridor concept for routes that may not attract tolling as a primary revenue source.

"The utilities industries have found a home in West Texas, and we want to study what potential opportunities are available for attracting private sector investment for utility transmission to other parts of the state," said Mike Behrens, TxDOT executive director. "In turn, that investment can help pay for road improvements needed to make Ports-to-Plains a reality."

Innovative transportation funding options are being implemented around Texas to help close an $86 billion gap between what the state can pay for and what needs to be done to meet mobility needs by 2030.

"Using all financial options is one of our strategies to meet our

Cotton checks must get TDA endorsement

Special to the Herald

Permian Basin and St. Lawrence producers who recently sold cotton and were given a check with the Texas Department of Agriculture named as a joint payee must obtain an endorsement from TDA before cashing or depositing the check.

Endorsements may be obtained at the TDA and various foundation locations.

In general, assessments must be paid before an endorsement will be given, but if other parties are named on the check, producers should call one of the offices listed below to find out what procedures to follow.

TDA and the foundation will make every attempt to be as accessible as possible, but producers are highly encouraged to call before going to any office. This will help ensure someone is available to assist them and that their visit can be handled efficiently.

TDA staff will be available Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings from 9 a.m. until noon and at other times with an appointment.

Forage production losses may include costs incurred to buy supplemental feed and hay, costs to relocate livestock to new pastures, feed transportation costs, the cost of emergency water supplies and the loss of forage production including hay and pasture.

Funds will be paid on a per head basis. Per head payment rates will be determined by the total number of livestock claimed by all eligible applicants and will differ for cattle and sheep based on standard animal units. The per head payment rate will be determined after all applications are received and processed.

five goals," said Behrens, "which are to reduce congestion, enhance safety, expand economic opportunity, improve air quality and increase the value of our transportation assets."

"Ports to Plains is very excited to work with TxDOT to find new solutions to meet Texas growing transportation needs. The old way of doing business is not able to meet the transportation demands that keep our economy moving," said Michael Reeves, president of the Ports-to-Plains Corridor Coalition. "TxDOT should be commended for seeking out creative solutions to the transportation funding crisis we are facing throughout the country. TxDOT has also realized that what works in metropolitan areas may not work in rural parts of the state.

"This effort should expedite the completion of the Ports to Plains Corridor, which will create new jobs and economic opportunity for West Texas," said Reeves.

"Ports to Plains will be a catalyst for economic development and job creation for West Texas."

Other TxDOT strategies to close the funding gap are to empower local leaders to solve local transportation problems, increase competition to drive down costs and demand consumer-driven decisions.

VOTE "YES" on Proposition 2

Why Big Spring Needs This Facility:
The future. That which we strive to improve by preparing and foreseeing the requirements for our community. Currently, the City of Big Spring has youth league play spread out over a wide area. The construction of this facility at an estimated $5 million dollars, would provide a centralized location for all children to play youth league sports as well as improve the chance for being able to host league play-offs and league tournaments. Currently, enrollment has exceeded location availability and needs to be addressed. Acting now would better equip our community for the demands and growth predicted in the future. The appropriation of funds to construct this complex would make a tremendous improvement within the community. Please agree to invest in the future of the City's children and improvement in all youth sports field areas.

List of Improvements:

- Remodel and build NEW Baseball Fields.
- Construct 5 NEW Soccer Fields
- Construct a NEW Football Field
- Construct 4 NEW Softball Fields
- Construct NEW concession stands
- Additional Bathrooms
- Adequate parking

Proposition 2 is endorsed and supported by the following local youth organizations:

Tomorrow's Horoscope

BY HOLIDAY MATHIS
It promises to be an eventful week, opening with today's explosive start — let the games
begin! A series of conjunctions are featured:
first, Mercury and Jupiter, and then the sun and Mars within 24 hours. When planets appear this close to each other, their energies combine and magnify. Here's a recipe for success:
believe, talk about, do.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). You're competitive when you ought to be and when you ought not to be.
Loved ones accept this fact and even depend on it, as you cause them to bring their "A" game.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). This wonderful day for your personal life is not so great for your finances — at least from the short-term view. But as always, investing in yourself pays off in the long term.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Supporting the survival of humankind is easily accomplished now.
The direction is simple.
You pinpoint where there is need, and you offer
what is needed.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). You're showered with attention. Guardian angels disguised as perfect strangers offer you assistance. Know what you want, and you get it.
What's not to like about this day?

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). If your life is a play, it's a hilarious comedy of errors now. The sudden entrance or exit of a new character sets off a fortuitous chain of events. You have terrific chemistry with Pisces and Libra people.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept.
22). What might have been isn't as interesting as what is. But that doesn't stop you from thinking about it. Evening brings the urge to enter the name of an ex-love into an Internet search engine.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23).
Turbulence isn't caused by bad luck; rather, it's caused by miscommunication or a technical glitch. Remain calm.
Remember the old standby: Unplug it for a minute, then boot up again.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov.
21). There's something fabulous about every bad trait you have. Your sarcasm is charming. Your cynicism is often true.
And your callousness
makes you strong.
Someone adores your bad-
ness.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). You're so accepting of others that they feel completely free around
you. Consequently, borderline bizarre happenings transpire. To be connected with such notable occurrences is kind of cool.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). You cultivate higher levels of class. You have the self-discipline and sophistication it takes to live in a privileged and elegant manner.
The dignity you bring to today's events is more than money can buy.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Wisdom springs from the mouths of babes (or at least from the mouth of someone you formerly didn't consider wise). You'll recognize the rightness of a statement
and be utterly shocked!

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). You bring eccentric and unusual ideas to the mix. They might not be the ideas that are put into practice, but they're the ones that lead to a workable solution.

FORECAST FOR THE WEEK AHEAD: As the sun sinks into mysterious Scorpio, the
Halloween mood is set.
Scorpio is the sign of transformation and, let's be honest, death — thus the scariness. Of course, the "d" word in the context of Scorpio has less to do with a final resting place than it does with the question: What's next? One of Scorpio's most powerful associations is with the mythical Phoenix — a magnificent bird whose life cycle
includes bursting into flames, rising from the ashes and flying away completely renewed.

Finding your inner Phoenix is what the current transits are all about.
This week features several conjunctions. The planets are intermingling,
augmenting one another's
strengths and blowing everything out of proportion in the process. It's like a trip through the funhouse, especially the part with the warped mirrors. And it only gets more fun when Mercury goes retrograde on Saturday, messing with our passions, toying with our jealousies and poking fun at the things we think are important. OK, maybe that doesn't sound so fun.
Think of a well-intended big brother who, in all his razzing, teaches us how to be cool. And actually, his annoying attention is a sign of love.

CELEBRITY PROFILES
Libra Viggo Mortensen
mesmerizes audiences with his cool and intense on-screen persona. In films such as "A Perfect Murder," the "Lord of the Rings" trilogy and the critically acclaimed "A History of Violence," Mortensen is showing only a part of his Libran artistic expression — he's also a painter, writer, musician and owner of his own publishing company.

'Last Stand' falls short of X-ceptional

Following the largely diabolical reaction to Joel Schumacher's 1997 tribute to rubber — otherwise known as "Batman and Robin" — it was going to take something pretty special to revive the humble comic-book movie.

Thomas Jenkins

In 2000, Bryan Singer offered us X-Men, a serious take on Marvel's superhero mutants and starring a strong, if rather large, ensemble cast. Critical and box-office reaction was positive and the inevitable sequel — X2 — arrived in 2003, reuniting the director and much of the same cast.

In the meantime, other Marvel Comic characters were launched onto the big screen, including "The Incredible Hulk," "Spider-Man," "The Punisher" and "Daredevil."

During the three year wait for X3, Singer jumped ship to direct "Superman Returns," taking key members of the crew with him.

Matthew Vaughan ("Layer Cake") briefly took over clapper-board duties but left soon after, leaving Twentieth Century Fox with a cast and release date, but no director.

The vacancy was later filled with Brett Ratner ("Rush Hour," "Red Dragon"), leading to an outcry from many fans of the franchise who labeled him as little more than a "remedial hack."

Audiences finally got to judge the worth of "X-Men: The Last Stand" when it was released in cinemas in May 2006, and now they can see if it merits repeated viewings with the launch of the DVD.

First, let's take a look at the story Ratner had to work with.

A pharmaceutical company has developed a 'cure' for mutants, escalating the threat of a war between humans and the Brotherhood of Mutants led by Magneto (Ian McKellan — "Lord of the Rings"). The X-Men, still in mourning for Jean Grey (Famke Janssen, "Hide and Seek") are once again called into action to fight for the very people who fear them.

To call "X-Men: The Last Stand" a disappointment would be akin to saying that Michael Jackson has had a bit of plastic surgery. After the promise of the previous two films, we're left with the Jedi effect and a movie that runs like a half-finished screen-er of something that could, in the right hands, be very good indeed.

Maybe even monumental.

This isn't all that surprising, especially when one considers the strict deadline that Twentieth Century Fox had imposed upon the production.

When Singer toddled off to Metropolis, before the half-way mark; one with a mere whimper. While there's nothing wrong with superheroes snuffing it, to then expect us to root for a bunch of thinly-written substitutes is a step too far.

Comic book

this character since she's only afforded a couple of lines of dialogue.

Likewise, can someone please tell me why Angel (Ben Foster — "Hostage," "The Punisher") is promoted as such a pivotal character when he only appears sporadically throughout the slender running time. And do remember to add your theory on just why Vinnie

Jones ("Eurotrip"), who plays Jugger-naut, has a movie career.

The franchise once again manages to slaughter one of my all-time favorite X-Men, Colossus (Daniel Cudmore, "Alone in the Dark," "Are We There Yet?"), who not only gets minimal screen time, but suffers the indignity of a second-rate special effects job.

Somehow, Hollywood can build an amazing depiction of the Incredible Hulk that only exists in computers, but it can't make the large, metal Colossus look like anything more than a giant drop of water? If I were Cudmore, I would have cried at the screening.

X-MEN

Perhaps the writers think there's some kind of "wow factor" with shoving these new characters in our direction, but it seems foolish to overpopulate an already crowded line-up when our old favorites are marginalized as a consequence.

Flying the flag for our original team are Halle Berry ("Catwoman," "Gothika") and Hugh Jackman ("Van Helsing," "Swordfish").

Following an Oscar win, there was no way that Berry was going to be relegated once more to supporting character, so it's Storm that benefits mostly with a greatly enhanced role.

That's right. Storm's not acting like the sissy girl in the previous two installments.

Alas, Jackman (Wolverine), one of the best things about the previous two films, is given little new to do. Likewise for other stalwarts such as McKellan and Patrick Stewart ("Star Trek: Next Generation), who once again portrays Professor Xavier.

As for Ratner... Well, he got the job done. He completed the movie and, despite the howls of derision from fanboys throughout the world, it's not a bad film. No, it's a slight film; a film that, despite its big budget and large body count, feels woefully inconsequential.

Perhaps a fitting precedent is Ratner's take on the Hannibal Lecter mythology; "Red Dragon" being a passable, yet bland, follow-up to "Silence of the Lambs" and "Hannibal."

It's pretty disheartening when something with so much potential is marred by a series of wrong choices. While never dull, X-Men 3's biggest crime is that it will not leave you with any lasting impression, unless disappointment has a tendency to linger with you.

In an irritating move, the disc designers have elected to give us a complicated menu system which splits the extras on disc one between "Brotherhood" and "X-Men" themes. As a result of this we have two batches of barely feature-length runtime.

Not to give anything away, the writers have left just enough leeway to come back with X-Men 4 — despite the "Last Stand" title — which would have made me happy in days gone by, but now leaves me with a sick sense of foreboding.

Despite the terabytes of text people have used to complain about the movie, it's in-deleted scenes and two commentaries... displayed on two menus.

So, what's the final verdict?

A flawed, yet watchable, sequel on a relatively well-presented set. The long list of extras denotes the familiar case of quantity over quality, although the deleted scenes may appease those misguided fans who believe that the movie's biggest flaw is its evitable that the DVD will be a huge seller; ironically ending up on the shelves of many of its biggest detractors.

I guess that's fandom for you.
