City Suffers Damage In Rain-Laden Storms

(Photo by Danny Valdes)

THE COURTHOUSE WAS SAFE — Many persons taking refuge from the heavy windstorm that whipped across Big Spring Sunday night found security in the basement of the Howard County courthouse. The lad in foreground appears blissfully unaware of it all. Other persons obviously were relieved to find themselves out of danger.

Threat Sends Residents To Safer Spots

Screaming winds which reached a reported 70 miles per hour and lashing rains swept across Big Spring and Howard County Sunday night; they sent people scurrying for shelter, kept officials on the alert tracking clouds and watching for tornadoes; and they resulted in scattered, extensive damage.

There were no serious injuries reported.

Residents endured some five hours of gusts and heavy downpours. The rainfall gauged up to 3.5 inches. The Experiment Station had 1.13.

Civil Defense Director W. D. Berry ordered sirens turned on shortly after 11 p.m. when funnel clouds were reported east of Big Spring near Cosden refinery. A large number of local residents filled the basement and first and second floors of the courthouse, staying until the "all clear" was sounded about 2:30 a.m.

DISINTEGRATED

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. (Bill) Westbrook and their teenage daughter, Cindy, were reportedly thrown about 25 feet when their mobile home virtually disintegrated, apparently as a twister passed overhead or touched down nearby, though none was reported sighted in that area.

Police Det. Stanley Bogard, a friend of the family, said the three were standing in the door of the trailer watching the clouds when they heard a roar.

"Bill said he just picked up a mattress, pulled it over them and the next thing they knew they were on the ground about 25 feet from where the trailer had been." Pieces of the trailer were scattered as far as a quarter of a mile.

MINOR HURTS

Mrs. Westbrook and Cindy were both treated at Cowper Clinic and Hospital for minor cuts and scratches and released.

Howard County Sheriff A. N. Standard called in his off-duty deputies, and several volunteers assisted city police. Game Warden Kenneth Lunsford and Highway patrolmen joined the men in searching the skies for twisters. About midnight Webb AFB reported a funnel cloud about a mile south of Big Spring. None of the twister reports was confirmed by visual sighting.

Sheriff's deputies received reports of six mobile homes overturned with no one injured. Mobile homes were blown over in the Oasis Addition, Sand Springs, Birdwell Lane and Hilltop Road, and Midway.

Shortly after 1 a.m. deputies received a report that electrical lines were down on SH 350, however utility company servicemen quckly turned the power off and removed the lines.

DAMAGE

Deputy Bill Whitton reported the plate glass window broken out of Pinkies North Liquor Store on US 87 North; and the plate glass window was also broken out at Bill's Liquor Store on US 87 North.

The roof of a house was reported blown off on U.S. 87 North, but Sheriff Standard said this was not verified and was thought to have been a piece of corrugated metal possibly blown off a shed.

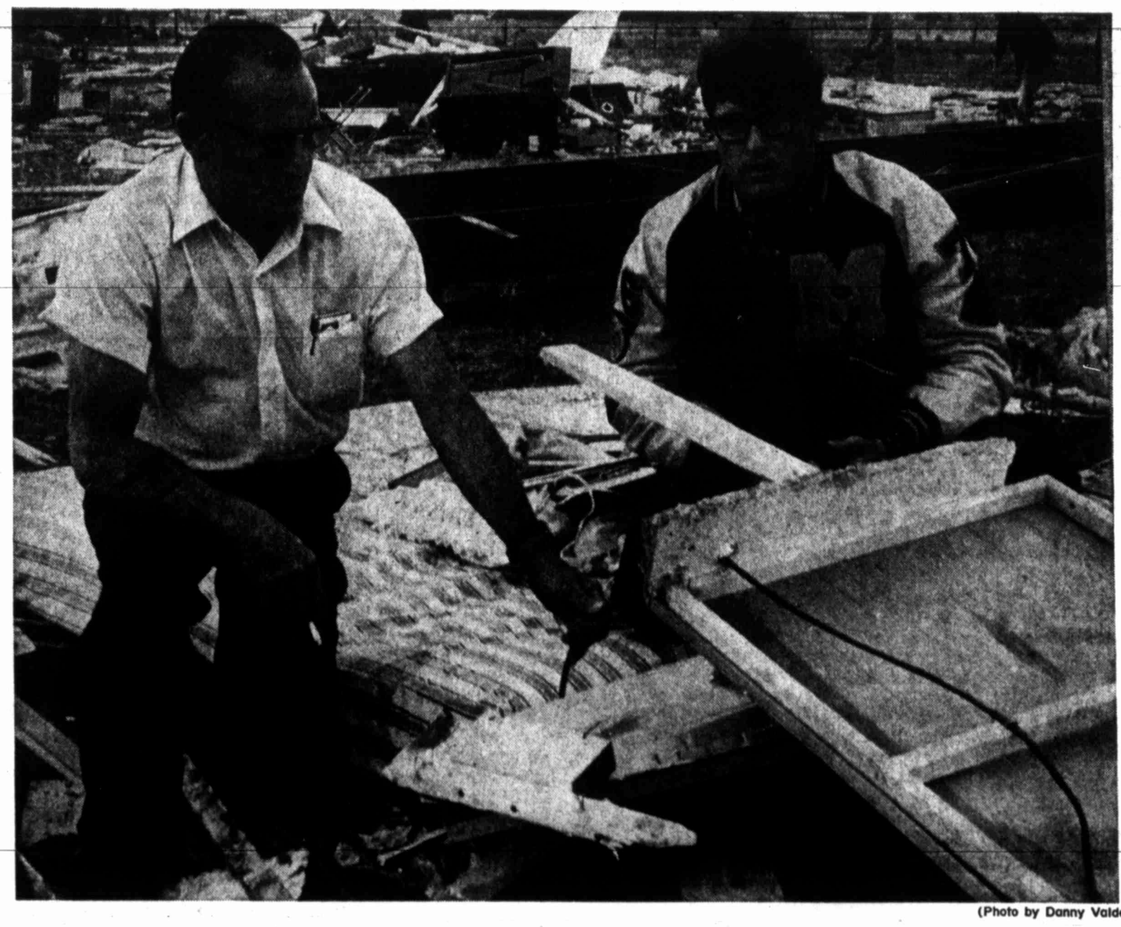

Deputies reported stranded motorists on Gail Road and Salem Road because of high water, however wreckers were not needed.

STRANDED

Shortly after 1 a.m. sheriff's officers received word that a motorist was stranded 25 miles east on IS 20. A wrecker was dispatched from Big Spring and Mitchell County authorities were notified.

Sheriff Standard had reports of rainfall of 1.5 inches at Colorado City, 1.5 to two inches at Lamesa and .62 inch at Snyder. Stanton and Midland also had heavy downpours and

MOBILE HOME DEMOLISHED — The Sunday night windstorm toll included complete demolition of a mobile home on North Birdwell Lane owned by William R. Westbrook. Westbrook and son Danny are surveying the remains of the structure and contents. Iron structure to the rear was the foundation of the home. Friends responded quickly Monday morning in helping in clean-up and recovery.

Nixon Books New Miltary Report On TV

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon returns to Washington today with what he calls encouraging military reports on Cambodia and Vietnam to relay to the nation in a televised address Wednesday night.

He got the word in a 2½-hour briefing Sunday at the Western White House from his two top Asian commanders—Gen. Creighton Abrams, supreme U.S. commander in Vietnam, and Adm. John S. McCain Jr., commander-in-chief, Pacific.

They flew here to give the President and top Washington military leaders an up-to-date progress report on the month-old Cambodia operation and how it will affect plans for withdrawing more U.S. troops from Vietnam.

"The President was encouraged by this briefing," deputy press secretary Gerald Warren announced afterwards.

He turned aside questions on specific details, explaining that the President wants "to make his own report" in a 15-minute TV talk.

Warren emphasized that President Nixon had no new or dramatic decisions or announcements to make regarding the Vietnam war.

The June 30 deadline still stands for withdrawal of all U.S. troops from Cambodia, Warren said. He added that the President did not plan to say anything about the timetable for withdrawal of the 150,000 troops he announced would come out of Vietnam by next spring.

Scant Water In The Lakes

Lake J. B. Thomas had picked up about half a foot of water at mid-morning Monday, and there was prospect of substantially more water coming in.

It was, however, repetition of the same old story — no heavy downpours coming off the lakeshed.

Rainfall Sunday night amounted to an inch at the lake, and the level was at 2221.50, a gain of .46 of a foot since Sunday morning. The increase amounted to around 1,500 acre-feet or about 500 million gallons.

The river was running bank full, but this was expected to subside later in the day because the Colorado River was running only about a foot deep at the Big Spring-Gail road crossing. There were no reports of flow on Bull Creek, which also feeds into the lake.

Lake E. V. Spence had 1.2 inches of rain, but there were no firm reports of increase. Colorado River Municipal Water District officials anticipated some substantial increase because upstream at the Colorado City diversion works, water was still going over the channel dam about a foot deep despite the diversion pumps pulling away at the rate of 80 million gallons a day.

AROUND TEXAS

Storms Spewing Turbulence

By The Associated Press

Violent thunderstorms lashed out across several sections of Texas during the night and this morning as a cold front made its way from the Panhandle into Northwest and West Texas.

The storms began spewing their turbulence Sunday night in the Panhandle with a tornado reported near Crosbyton, about 35 miles east of Lubbock.

Heavy rain and hail in the area were swept along by 60-mile-per-hour winds. However, a Crosby County Sheriff's Department spokesman said no damage had been reported.

Another tornado was sighted 40 miles north of Midland but law enforcement agencies reported no serious damage or injuries from the storms.

Winds peaked at 67 miles per hour in Midland and San Angelo had gusts up to 63 miles per hour. Plainview recorded 55-mile-per-hour gusts.

As the thundershowers moved southeasterly, severe weather warnings were issued and cancelled from South Central Texas to Central Texas.

The cold front stretched along a Wichita Falls-Abilene-San Angelo line into Southwest Texas this morning.

Early morning temperatures ranged from the 50s over the Panhandle and portions of West Texas to the 60s and 70s elsewhere.

The Weather Bureau warned of more thunderstorms today as the cold front moves across the state. It predicted cooler weather over the north and west portions of the state with little change elsewhere.

The cold front was expected to reach the coastal plains and into South Texas by nightfall.

Voting Slows Down A Bit

Absentee voting slowed down a bit this morning with only 16 Howard County residents casting ballots for Saturday's second Democratic primary.

A total of 198 absentee ballots have been cast, although clerks are expecting the total to go well above 200 before the day is out. Deadline for casting absentee ballots is 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Bandit Robs Austin Bank

AUSTIN (AP) — Police said a young man with an afro haircut and weilding a blue-steel revolver robbed the Travis State Bank of Austin of an undetermined amount of cash today.

Police say the robber, in his 20s, drove up to a teller's window at the drive-in section of the bank shortly after the bank opened.

Hundreds Feared Dead In Peruvian Earthquake

LIMA, Peru (AP)—Hundreds were feared dead in Peru today following a massive earthquake that devastated communities along a 600-mile stretch of the coast.

Radio Panamericana reported 140 dead in Huaras, a city of 22,000 in the snow-capped Andes 175 miles north of Lima. The Peruvian Red Cross said 90 per cent of the homes and commercial buildings were destroyed Sunday in the quake and at least five after shocks.

Some 35 miles to the northwest, the slum-ridden coastal city of Chimbote had at least 15 killed and terrible destruction, officials reported. Chimbote was a sleepy fishing village until a few years ago, but the new fishmeal industry has attracted thousands of Indians to work in the factories.

The Peruvian Geophysical Institute said the quake struck at 3:23 p.m. EST, with its epicenter 211 miles northwest of Lima and 12 miles offshore from Chimbote. The institute said the tremor was 7.75 on the Richter scale and 8 on the Mercali scale, intense enough to cause "grave damage."

Peru's last disastrous quake, on Oct. 17, 1966, killed 175 persons and left more than 3,000 homeless. It registered 7.5 on the Richter scale.

Officials said it might be days before an accurate assessment of deaths and property damage could be made.

In Lima damage was slight and injuries few. One person died of a heart attack attributed to the earthquake. Limans are always aware of the possibility of a quake and generally react well by seeking open areas or standing beneath reinforced doorways. But hundreds ran into the streets screaming as buildings began to rock.

Several dead were reported in Trujillo, the heart of the sugar plantation country and the site of a W. R. Grace chemical complex, 300 miles northwest of Lima.

Considerable damage was reported in Paramonga, the site of sugar refineries and plantations about 90 miles northwest of the capital. People fled in panic.

In Chiclayo, 400 miles up the coast from Lima, one person was reported dead of a heart attack and at least 40 injured. Building cornices, walls and a number of church towers collapsed.

Ex-Political Boss Released From Prison

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP) — "The weather on the outside, whether it's raining or the sun is shining, is better than on the inside."

J. D. McCarty, the man once termed the most important man in Oklahoma politics, had that observation this morning when he walked out of the Federal Correctional Institution here after serving slightly more than six months on an income tax evasion conviction.

McCarty, now 54, served six months and 11 days of an 18-month sentence.

He said he has "no political ambitions," but that he had some very definite opinions on the faults of this federal correctional institution and would not hesitate to express them.

"I plan to contact a few people in the government and give them the benefit of my experience," he said.

McCarty was particularly critical of the work-release program at the federal correctional institution here, saying, "This place was misnamed—it should be called a federal confinement institution."

Once termed the most powerful man in Oklahoma government, including the governor, he was convicted July 22, 1967, on two of six counts made against him by a federal grand jury in Oklahoma City.

The grand jury accused the former Oklahoma House speaker of evading more than $15,000 in income taxes for 1960, 1961 and 1962, and with willfully and knowingly understating his income for those years.

Traffic Toll Jacks To 384

By The Associated Press

Traffic deaths on the nation's highways rose to a record 384 as the two-day Memorial Day weekend drew to a close Sunday.

The count surpassed the previous record for a two-day observance of the holiday set in 1959 when 310 persons were killed in traffic accidents.

HOLIDAY TRAGEDY FOR AT LEAST 47

Drownings Claim 11 In Texas

By The Associated Press

It may have been a pleasant Memorial Day holiday for some, but it turned to tragedy for many others as 47 people died violently over the weekend in Texas.

Mounting automobile accidents accounted for 27 and drownings claimed another 11. Three died in one boating accident off Port Aransas. Another seven were shot to death, one was electrocuted and one was stabbed.

DISARMED OFFICER

The Associated Press began its death count at 6 p.m. Friday and ended it at midnight Sunday.

Dallas police shot to death a man Sunday night after he had disarmed a police officer. The dead man was identified as Benito Saldivar, Jr. He was shot by the disarmed policeman's partner outside a bar after he had grabbed the officer's gun and reportedly aimed it at them.

Michael Wayne Brooks, 18, of Armstrong, Okla., drowned Sunday in Lake Texoma while attempting to swim in a cove in the Rock Creek area about two miles south of Roosevelt Bridge.

Three Houston area residents were killed and a fourth injured early Sunday in a head-on collision about 7 miles north of Houston on Interstate 45. The dead were identified as Carl Francis Moore, 55, his wife, Beatrice Louise Moore, 53, and their son, Carl Patrick Moore, 14. William Iles, 55, driver of the second car, was critically injured.

CUSTODY FIGHT

Felix Guerra, 21, of Lampasas drowned Sunday while swimming at Lake Belton. Soldiers from Ft. Hood recovered the body in about 20 minutes, Bell County officers said.

Thomas Walker, 35, was shot to death and another man wounded when gunfire erupted in what Fort Worth police called a child custody fight Sunday. A woman was arrested but no charges were filed immediately.

A three-car collision on the Galveston causeway late Saturday night killed a family of four from the island city. They were identified as J. G. Champion, 54, a longshoreman; his wife, Anna, 51, and their two sons, Robert, 9, and John Roy, 15.

Harry J. Tejada, 23, of Grove City, Ohio, was killed when his car was in hear collision with a bus, went out of control and overturned. The bus swerved off the highway but no injuries were reported among the passengers. The mishap occurred on IH 46 near its intersection with Texas 46.

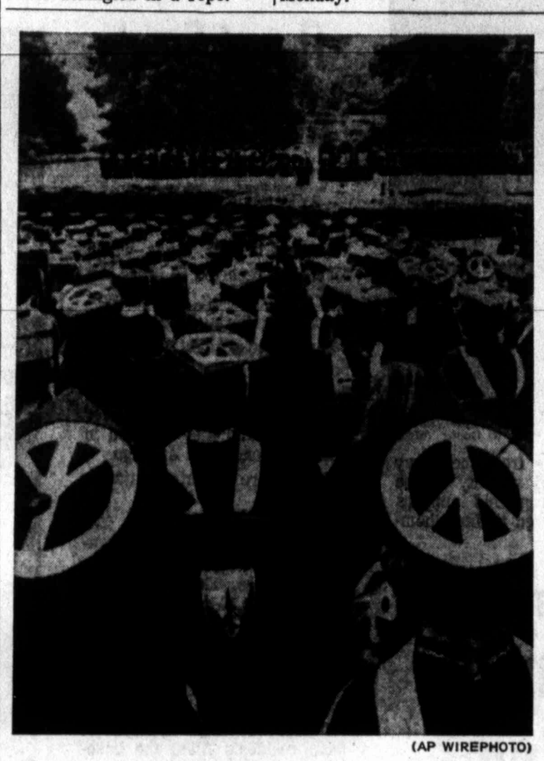

ROPE TRAGEDY

Gene Aycock, 14, of San Antonio drowned Sunday while on an outing with friends in the Comal River near Dittlinger Dam. Officers said the youth became entangled in a rope.

Michael Morris, 17, drowned Sunday in Lake Ioni near Elkhart. Officers said the Palestine youth was on an outing with friends from his hometown.

Lewis Neal, 79, of Rusk was killed and five other persons injured Sunday when two cars collided head-on on U.S. 287 in Houston County. Officers said one of the cars crossed over the highway median strip.

A sailor stationed at Corpus Christi drowned Sunday off Padre Island. The body of Terry Peterson, 22, was recovered Monday.

Campus Activists Seek Damages

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nine Ohio State University students, angered by a campus shutdown resulting from violent demonstrations, go into court Tuesday seeking $1 million in damages from student strike leaders here.

The nine-member group, called Students for Majority Rights, hopes its action will set a precedent for students throughout the nation. It hopes to expand to all major college campuses.

In addition to damages, the suit seeks an injunction against nine strike leaders — including a professor — and three activist groups, the Third World Solidarity Committee, the Student Mobilization Committee and the Ad Hoc Committee for Student Rights. The suit contends that demonstrations will threaten safety of 44,000 students.

What Do Many Doctors Use When They, Themselves, Suffer From Hemorrhoids?

A survey among doctors showed 58% of the doctors reporting either use Preparation H® themselves or recommend it for their families.

Preparation H gives prompt, temporary relief in many cases from pain, itching of tissues and actually helps shrink swollen tissues of hemorrhoids caused by inflammation and infection. It also lubricates to help protect the inflamed, irritated surface area and helps make bowel movements less painful. There's no other formula for hemorrhoids like Preparation H. Ointment or suppositories.

One Of Biggest Artillery Attacks Of Vietnam War

SAIGON (AP) — American artillerymen lined up 20 big howitzers and fired more than 2,000 shells into a suspected North Vietnamese staging area across the Cambodian border Sunday in one of the biggest artillery attacks of the Vietnam war.

"It must have looked like the Russian front in World War II," one U.S. officer said of the five-hour attack, made from a reopened firebase in War Zone C, about 70 miles northwest of Saigon.

EXPLOSION

Initial reports indicated some bunkers were blown open and a few secondary explosions occurred, indicating that munitions had been stored in the area. But U.S. officers said bad weather prevented a thorough aerial assessment.

The twelve 155mm and eight 8-inch howitzers blazed away at the rate of seven rounds a minute. The target was a crescent-shaped jungle area about five miles west of the border and one to two miles southeast of the Cambodian town of Krasang.

Allied troops recently swept through the area, but officers of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division said intelligence reports indicated that the area was being used as a "marshalling area" by North Vietnamese troops.

Such artillery attacks are rare in the Vietnam war. Saturation bombardment usually is left to B52 bombers and tactical aircraft. One senior officer said the proximity of Krasang to the target area may have led to the decision to use artillery instead of less accurate air strikes.

13 PRISONERS

The artillery attack coincided with a new operation launched inside Cambodia by South Vietnamese forces near the provincial capital of Prey Veng, 35 miles west of Krasang.

A South Vietnamese spokesman said the troops clashed sporadically with enemy forces over a 12-mile area around Prey Veng Sunday. He reported 34 enemy killed, 13 prisoners taken, and only one South Vietnamese wounded.

Two battalions of rangers, two battalions of marines and about 120 armored personnel carriers and tanks were pushing north from Prey Veng along Route 15. They were pursuing the North Vietnamese 272nd Regiment which, after retreating from the Chup rubber plantation, occupied part of Prey Veng for two days last week.

A Cambodian military spokesman said the Viet Cong mortared the provincial capital of Kompong Thom, 80 miles north of Phnom Penh, and controlled portions of the highway to Angkor Wat north of Baray, 55 miles north of Phnom Penh.

BRIDGES BLOWN

The spokesman said several bridges were blown up between Baray and Tang Krasang, 70 miles north of Phnom Penh. He said enemy troops continued to control the provincial capital of Stung Treng, 30 miles south of the Laotian border.

Martial law went into effect today in Cambodia amid signs that the government of Gen. Lon Nol was beginning to crack down on its critics. Troops and police are already searching homes without warning or warrants, and military patrols are enforcing a nightly curfew. Diplomats said the chief effect of the proclamation was to formalize what is already being done and to warn critics to keep quiet.

Military sources in Laos said government forces attacking by helicopter after two days of air strikes recaptured the northwestern town of Pak Tha Sunday, one month after enemy forces seized it.

The sources said the combined Pathet Lao and North Vietnamese battalion which had been holding the town put up only light resistance. The battalion has used the town as a base for a blockade of the Mekong river, interrupting traffic between Ban Houei Sai and Luang Prabang, the royal Loatian capital.

The U. S. Command said a Marine CH46 helicopter was shot down today 25 miles west of Da Nang, killing the four crewmen. It was the 3,764th American helicopter reported lost in the Vietnam war.

Agents, Thunderstorms Cut Rock Music Crowd

DENHAM SPRINGS, La. (AP) — Rock music blasted the air Sunday for some 5,000 young people who crowded a private park for the Festival of Man and Earth.

Thunderstorms and watchful narcotics agents were two reasons given for the diminishing herd of youths attending the Memorial Day weekend jam session that ends tonight. The festival grounds opened Friday and the crowd peaked at about 12,000 Saturday.

Livingston Parish sheriff's deputies were joined by state police and narcotics agents from Orleans, Jefferson and East Baton Rouge parishes around Thunderbird Beach.

Agents arrested 41 persons on various narcotics charges Saturday. About 60 other youths attending the festival were charge with minor, mostly traffic, violations.

If members of the young crowd were selling or using narcotics Sunday, they were doing it only with persons they knew, observed State Police Col. Jack Ott. No such arrests were reported Sunday.

Jim Brown of Baton Rouge, a sponsor of the festival, pleaded for narcotics users to "abstain for two days." Brown announced that sympathetic attorneys at the festival would aid those who felt they were unfairly treated by police.

Sen. William Guste of New Orleans appeared at the festival at Brown's request and spoke to the crowd.

Police arrested 20 persons Sunday morning on various charges. Brown said he was threatened at gunpoint when he tried to calm a fracas between police and those arrested.

Witnesses said a photographer from an underground newspaper in Jackson, Miss., was arrested while trying to photograph the scene.

Deputy sheriff Johnny Szanyi of Livingston Parish said that for the most part the young people posed no serious problems.

Aid For Youth Who Lost Arms

WICHITA FALLS (AP) — Brent Gray of Henrietta, Tex., the 12-year-old who lost both arms in a farm accident, now has his own transportation that he can operate with his feet alone.

The equipment was the idea of M. Sgt. Otho L. Deville who was in Vietnam when the accident occurred, although he heard of it.

Then the sergeant found himself working with the boy's father, Joe W. Gray, a civil service employe with the Aerospace Ground Equipment Section at Sheppard Air Force Base here.

Donations from the section members permitted purchase of a golf cart which they completely remodeled.

Pooling ideas and working during coffee breaks, lunch hours and after duty, they made the machine completely operable by foot.

The vehicle is steered, braked, clutched, accelerated and shifted by foot. It also is equippped with more safety features than the family car.

One safety feature is a breast plate that takes the place of a seat belt.

New ideas developed. Young Gray wanted to take his dog for a ride, so a compartment with a cushioned seat was added to the back for either his dog or friends. A trailer was attached. The youngster learned to drive the cart just by watching it being remodeled.

The section now is trying to come up with a machine for turning pages of a book with the feet.

Both of the boy's arms were torn off in the accident. An attempt to graft them back was made at the University of Oklahoma Medical Center but it failed.

Civilians and servicemen throughout the world donated to a fund for young Gray which has reached $23,000.

The Shrine Temple in Oklahoma City has offered to fit Brent with artificial arms and give him rehabilitation training. Doctors at the Oklahoma medical center have arranged for him to test an experimental limb which works from the nerves in the shoulder and is controlled directly by the brain.

Army Swaps Indians Guns

WASHINGTON (AP) — In what sounds like a switch from the days when the cavalry fought the Indians across the Western frontier, the Army is furnishing a Sioux tribe with thousands of rifles.

There's nothing warlike about this gun trading. On the contrary, the Army is trying to help the Indians better their lot under a program aimed at channeling income-producing work to minority groups.

The Army Weapons Command has contracted with Fort Peck, Mont., Tribal Industries, organized by the Assiniboine Sioux, to repair and refurbish about 45,000 M14 rifles.

Officials said the Fort Peck organization was given the Army rifle repair job because it had a successful record under a previous contract to fix up 44,000 carbines for the Air Force.

The Army is paying $19.75 per rifle, which works out to a total cost of $888,750 for the M14 job. The government furnishes the parts.

The Indians take the rifles apart, clean them, and replace worn components. Then each weapon is tested.

This is not the only military-sponsored "bootstrap" project under way.

Indians of the Northern Cheyenne Reservation in Montana are making canteen covers, officials said.

Ackerly Man Gets Degree

Max G. Neill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn G. Neill, Ackerly, has been awarded a DDS degree from Baylor University College of Dentistry in Dallas.

Neill graduated from Paschal High School in Fort Worth and the University of Texas in Austin. He was among the top 12 students in his class in dental school and was elected to Omicron Kappa Upsilon honorary scholastic fraternity.

He will begin service with the U.S. Army next month and will report to Letterman General Hospital in San Francisco for duty there.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠A10 6 ♡AKQJ 10 ◇J4 ♣KJ6
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♡	Pass	2 ◇	Pass
3 ♡	Pass	5 ◇	Pass

What action do you take?

A.—Partner hardly can have less than a solid six or seven card diamond suit, which is all you need for a slam in hearts. You cannot contemplate a grand slam, for if partner had the ace of clubs he no doubt would have taken time out to show it. Because of your club holding it would be hazardous to permit partner to play the hand; therefore, your correct bid is six hearts.

Q. 2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠Q2 ♡J53 ◇10642 ♣10753
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	2 ♡	Pass	Pass
Dble.	Pass	?

What action do you take?

A.—Two spades. We would decline to bid our "best suit" in the interest of economy. This is the cheapest action open to us. No remote thought is to be given to a pass.

Q. 3—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠62 ♡5 ◇AQ7653 ♣7542
The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
1 ♠	2 ♡	Pass	?

What action do you take?

A.—Pass. There is no need to rescue partner. Inasmuch as he has not been doubled you are not to assume that he is in trouble. A bid by you is more apt to incite him to further action.

Q. 4—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AJ10 ♡Q6 ◇KJ63 ♣K1084
The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
1 ♠	2 ♡	Pass	?

What action do you take?

A.—Three no trump. Obviously you wish to play for game with this powerful hand and no indirect methods are necessary.

Q. 5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠A ♡A852 ◇QJ97 ♣10642
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South
1 ♠	Pass	?

What is your response?

A.—This hand contains 11 points in high cards and is, therefore, too strong for a one no trump response. The choice, therefore, simmers down to two hearts or two diamonds. Our preference is for the latter as less apt to lead to complications. Whenever we can reasonably avoid a take-out to two in a very weak four card major, we try to do so. In this case, if partner has four fairly good hearts, he may conveniently show them over your two diamond bid.

Q. 6—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠K73 ♡Q84 ◇K642 ♣AQ6
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♡	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 ◇	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—The suggested call is a return to three hearts. There is no occasion for any more drastic action at this time. You are warned not to get too excited. Do not lose sight of the fact that your two no trump bid promised 13, 14, or 15 points. You have 14.

Q. 7—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠J10 9 8 7 6 ♡A10 3 ◇K8 ♣A2
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	3 ♣	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Opposite partner's jump shift, you hold a very impressive hand. Tho its value at the outset was 14 points, now that spades have been supported your hand may be revalued at 17 points—one for the fifth spade and two for the sixth. Therefore, you may conclude that you have sufficient values for a slam, for partner's jump shift promised at least 19 points. We suggest a direct bid of six spades, or if you wish to enjoy the ceremony you may prolong the fun by showing one of your aces.

Q. 8—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠A4 ♡98 ◇KQJ987 ♣AQJ
The bidding has proceeded:

East	South

What do you bid?

A.—Five diamonds. This may turn out badly but we consider it was a well calculated risk. There is no scientific way to find out if you can make the game and the prospective profit is worth the risk.

DEAR ABBY: I wrote you a letter nearly 3 years ago because my wife and I were having marital problems. I described my wife's actions, and you said she needed to see a psychiatrist. Well, there wasn't any in our town, so she saw a marriage counselor instead. Would you believe that after six visits to this marriage counselor, she quit her regular job and went to work for him at half her former pay? On the advice of this counselor (she claims) she started treating me like a stranger and would have nothing to do with me as a wife. I spoke to my lawyer about it, and he advised me to move out, which I did. Well, that must have been the wrong move because she charged me with desertion. The next thing I knew I was on my way to being a divorced man. (All this after 14 years of marriage and 3 children.) Now I hear that she is marrying her marriage counselor, whose wife of 16 years started divorce proceedings shortly after my wife went to work for him. Now, my problem: Do you know a nice woman between 35 and 40 who is willing to take a chance with an idiot? "LONESOME" IN KANSAS

DEAR LONESOME: Not off hand. But I'll inquire

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Recently my son, Jeffrey, was married. His mother and I have been divorced for 8 years. Three years ago I married again. My first wife is still single, and considering the alimony check she gets, I am sure she will die single.

My question: Don't you think that since engraved invitations were sent out, my present wife and I should have received one? We did not. My son simply asked me if I would come, and I said I would. Had we received an invitation, my wife would have had the good sense to decline knowing my first wife would be there. However, my present wife wasn't even given the chance to gracefully decline. I think this was very poor taste, and want your opinion. JEFFREY'S FATHER

DEAR FATHER: It may have been "poor taste" but it was good sense. It's risky business to send an invitation on the assumption that it will be refused. What if your wife decided to accept?

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My husband smokes three packs of cigarettes a day, and has a hacking cough which drives me up a wall.

I stopped smoking in hopes that he would, but it didn't work. He coughs so bad at night that it interferes with my sleep. I have threatened to sleep in the spare room. What would you do in my case? DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: I'd quit "threatening" and appeal to his sense of logic. Tell him that the person who quits cigarettes for five years has the same chance of escaping lung cancer as the nonsmoker. Also, the person who is 25 and does not smoke can expect eight extra years of life expectancy. And if that doesn't do it, sleep in the spare room.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Baby Rocker To Be Tried

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Something old is going to be tried on newborn babies at the University of California School of Medicine—the rocking chair.

"The infant left alone for weeks in an incubator can become socially retarded," says Dr. Louis Gluck, professor of pediatrics. The nurses will cuddle and rock babies during time spent out of the incubators.

Gluck, who won national recognition for an infant-care program at Yale-New Haven Medical Center, plans other innovations for University Hospital.

In a training class next fall, nurses and doctors from eight hospitals will meet weekly for two months to study the latest in infant care.

Then the nurses will spend up to six weeks in the hospital's infant special care center, studying how best to treat sick and premature newborns.

The mortality rate of newborn Americans is "dismal," Gluck said in an interview Thursday.

"Of every 1,000 babies born in the United States today, 22 won't live to blow out the candles on their first birthday cake," he said.

The main problem, he said, is brain damage related directly to poor medical care during the critical first days of life.

The special care unit, he said, "will have rocking chairs where babies will be held, fondled, petted and patted during feeding periods."

Indians Still Refuse To Evacuate Alcatraz

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Indians occupying Alcatraz Island say they will refuse to evacuate the desolate prison fortress despite a government cutoff of power and water and plans to make it a park.

"They better not try to make this into a park. This is our land —all of it," declared Richard Oakes, a Mohawk who with 13 others occupied the island last November.

Some 500 persons rode charter boats to the island Sunday to attend a ceremony asserting Indian ownership of the island.

After it was announced last week that Alcatraz would become a national recreation area, the General Services Administration removed a water barge and cut off electricity for the 80 Indians on the island.

Butane gas stoves and kerosene lamps are now used, but there is no heat or refrigeration on the wind-blasted "Rock" in San Francisco Bay. Water is shipped daily by sympathizers in containers ranging from jugs to 300 gallon tanks.

Canadian Dollar Value Expected To Rise Today

OTTAWA (AP) — The value of the Canadian dollar was expected to rise today in the wake of government action Sunday unpegging it from an eight-year-old official worth of 92.5 U.S. cents.

The government announced that it would allow the dollar to "float freely" in the world market, as the West German government did with the mark for a month last fall.

In a companion move, the Bank of Canada lowered its lending rate from 7½ to 7 per cent, the second such drop in four weeks.

Finance Minister Edgar J. Benson said Canada would resume its obligation to the International Monetary Fund to hold its dollar within narrow limits "as soon as circumstances permit." Benson gave no indication when that might be expected.

In Washington, the monetary fund issued a statement welcoming "the intention of the Canadian authorities to remain in close consultation with the fund with a view to the resumption of an effective par value at the earliest possible date."

The U.S. Treasury Department said it recognized "the circumstances that motivated this action" and commented: "The U.S. dollar is not affected."

Benson said he did not expect a very large change in the exchange rate. He said Canada would use its foreign exchange reserves to moderate any violent swings.

The action means that Canadian exports will tend to be more expensive, and foreigners traveling in Canada will be spending more of their money. Imports into Canada and travel by Canadians abroad will be less expensive.

The Canadian dollar has been pegged at 92.5 U.S. cents since 1962, when the government was forced to abandon the floating exchange rate because of downward pressure on the currency.

Under an agreement with the IMF, Canada has kept the value of its dollar within one per cent of either side of the pegged value. But in the past several months, there has been a big influx of foreign funds to buy Canadian products and invest in Canadian enterprises. In order for this money to come into Canada, foreigners have had to buy Canadian dollars with U.S. dollars or other currencies, creating a large demand which has caused the Canadian money to strain its upper limit.

Southern Baptists Hassle About Bible

DENVER (AP) — Fireworks over the Bible flew among Southern Baptists today in advance of the opening of their annual convention. At issue was the old-time literal approach to the book vs. modern critical analysis.

The problem lately has increasingly troubled the big, southern based denomination, whose 11.5 million members make it the largest Protestant body in the country.

Its meeting here marks the 125th anniversary of its founding in 1845, when it broke off from the American Baptist Convention over the slavery issue. Southern Baptist now include churches in every state.

As an expected 12,000 "messengers" from the churches gathered for the meeting here, complaints were voiced that "liberal" interpretations of scripture are showing up in the denomination's teaching materials.

"We must admit that something is wrong," said the Rev. Joe T. Odle, editor of the Baptist Record, of Mississippi. He charged that ideas presented in denominational teaching materials were disturbing many Baptists, and added:

"A rumble is being heard that will not be silenced, and that rumbling seems to be gaining in crescendo."

The convention president, the Rev. Dr. W A. Criswell, of Dallas, contends the Bible is literally infallible, and has suggested those who can't accept that view leave the communion.

Two professors at the Baptist-related University of Richmond recently did so in protest.

Defenders of Dr. Criswell's position rallied here over the weekend at an "Affirming the Bible Conference" to call for tighter reins on Bible interpretation and also on social-action programs.

Some participants assailed the Broadman Bible Commentary, newly published by the denomination's Sunday School Board, for its analytical handling of some passages in Genesis.

Singled out in the complaints was a section by British scholar G. Henton Davies saying Abraham did not actually get orders from God to sacrifice his son, Isaac, as a test of faith, but only thought so — later realizing God did not want it.

The volume's general editor, the Rev. Dr. Clifton J. Allen, said it is a "work of responsible and competent Biblical scholarship" and in no sense attacks "either the inspiration or authority of the Bible."

But the critics felt otherwise.

"If the interpretation of Genesis in the Broadman Commentary goes unchallenged, we owe an apology to Ralph Elliott," said the Rev. Dr. W. Ross Edwards, of Jefferson City, Mo.

The reference to Dr. Elliott recalled his dismissal in the early 1960's from Midwestern Baptist Seminary in Kansas City for writing a book explaining why many Bible scholars think several authors wrote the first five books of the Old Testament, not Moses alone.

HEADING HOME — J. D. McCarty, former Oklahoma House speaker, leaves the Federal Correctional Institution at Texarkana, Tex., today on parole after serving a little over six months for U.S. income tax evasion. This picture was made as McCarty told newsmen he was sure he would be cleared of tax evasion charges in 1967. He was convicted a few months later, but did not enter prison until last November.

PLAGUED BY RESENTMENT, RUMORS

Martial Law In Cambodia

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Plagued by public resentment and a torrent of rumors, Gen. Lon Nol's Cambodian government warned its critics today with a proclamation of martial law.

Martial law went into effect without a full explanation of what it meant, but diplomatic sources said the purpose was to formalize what is already going on and to warn critics of the government to keep quiet.

Homes are already being searched without warning or warrant. Military patrols already enforce a nightly curfew in Phnom Penh and in the countryside.

There were suggestions that the military would intervene to speed up trials of those accused of any crimes connected with the war effort.

The government has been particularly concerned about the torrent of rumors flooding Phnom Penh, and "rumor mongers" were thought to be one target.

Rumors flourish in part because heavy press censorship permits only glowing accounts of the Cambodian army to appear in print. The Cambodians, like foreign observers, are skeptical of this because of the large number of key provincial capitals lost to the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong, and because the government considered the situation dangerous enough to accept help from South Vietnam, a traditional enemy for centuries.

When he deposed Prince Norodom Sihanouk as chief of state on March 18, the general wooed public favor by citing Sihanouk's tacit permission to let North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops operate freely in eastern provinces. To the Cambodians, this was equivalent to an Arab country permitting Israeli troops to operate inside its frontiers.

The Cambodians, with tacit government approval went on an anti-Vietnamese rampage which resulted in the massacre of more than 1,000 Vietnamese civilians living in the country, the seizure of their homes and property and the confinement of tens of thousands of Vietnamese to virtual concentration camps.

Now the government, apparently bowing to the realities of the widespread military threat from North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces, has reversed itself. The Cambodians are being told most Vietnamese will remain in Cambodian life, and that their property and homes must be respected.

This has not gone down well with the average Cambodian and is one of the reasons for criticism of the government. Another is spiraling prices, the result of fears of a Communist takeover.

Lon Nol still seems to be riding the crest of the huge waves of patriotism generated by the war with the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong. Repressive moves could temper this mood quickly. A likely source of opposition would be the students, to whom the government passed out large quantities of arms previously when it feared an invasion of Phnom Penh by the Viet Cong or by supporters of Sihanouk.

Firing Squad Threat Voiced

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Followers of ex-dictator Juan D. Peron offered convincing evidence today that they are the kidnapers of former President Pedro Eugenio Aramburu. Thev said he will be shot by a Peronist firing squad soon.

The Juan Jose Valle Command, named for a Peronist army general executed while Aramburu was president in 1956, announced that Aramburu has been tried by a "revolutionary tribunal" and it is "impossible to negotiate his release."

Aramburu, 67, disappeared from his home Friday morning. The government has received a dozen communiques from political organizations claiming credit for the kidnaping. But the Valle Command was the first to offer evidence Aramburu is its prisoner.

One of the group's two communiques sent to local newspapers early today listed items Aramburu had in his pockets when he left his apartment Friday with two men dressed as army officers. A spokesman for his family said the list appeared to be accurate.

The military government of President Juan Carlos Ongania did not comment immediately on the communique, which raised the possibility that anti-Peronists might attempt to kidnap or kill a prominent Peronist in retaliation.

More than 20,000 police and troops are searching for Aramburu, a retired army general often mentioned as a successor to Ongania.

To Honor War I Training Site

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Wearing a 1918 flying helmet, goggles and a flowing scarf, Mayor W. W. McAllister has proclaimed June 1-9 as Hangar 9 Week to honor the last remaining World War I training site here.

Hangar 9, located at Brooks Air Force Base, has been restored as a museum of early flight and renamed after astronaut Edward White II, the native San Antonian who became the first man to walk in space.

In signing the proclamation Thursday, the mayor noted the week will mark San Antonio's long history of aviation, which began in 1910 with the first military flight.

Gunners Hit Six Children, Heavy Fights Along Suez

TEL AVIV (AP) — Arab gunners wounded six Israeli schoolchildren and three adults today in a rocket attack on a settlement south of the Sea of Galilee after a weekend of heavy fighting along the Suez Canal.

The Israeli military command said the gunners in Jordan hit the village of Beit Shean, 15 miles south of the Sea of Galilee. Israeli army units returned the fire.

It was the second attack involving Israeli school children in two weeks. Eight youngsters were killed May 22 when Arab guerrillas attacked a school bus south of the Lebanese border.

Fighting raged in the air and on the ground along the Suez Canal over the weekend.

Fourteen Israeli soldiers were killed Saturday—the highest death toll in one day since the 1967 war. Thirteen were killed in two Egyptian commando raids across the canal. The fourteenth was killed by artillery fire, the Israelis said.

The Egyptians staged their first raid at noon at Ras El Ish, killing nine Israelis and capturing one. Israeli warplanes retaliated by hitting Egyptian targets for 7½ hours, one of their most prolonged raids since canal fighting began escalating 15 months ago.

Egyptian commandos struck again late Saturday afternoon between El Cap and El Tina, killing four more Israeli soldiers and capturing another one.

The Egyptian air force followed up the ground raids by hitting Israeli positions between El Cap and Qantara Sunday. Cairo said its fighter-bombers left ammunition dumps and troop encampments ablaze. The Israelis said one solder was wounded.

Israeli warplanes took to the air again Sunday, hitting Egyptian positions along the canal for much of the day. Cairo claimed two Israeli planes shot down, but there was no confirmation from Israel.

Altogether, 59 Israelis were killed and 136 wounded on all Arab fronts during May.

In cafes and parks in Tel Aviv Sunday, Israelis talked of the ambushes, and many were convinced that Russian training and planning had contributed to the Egyptian successes.

While the Israeli death tolls appear small in comparison with American losses in Vietnam, for example, they are extremely high in a country with a population of only 2.8 million.

In Tel Aviv, a military court Sunday sentenced six Arab Israeli citizens to life imprisonment for placing bombs in the city of Haifa last November. The bombs killed three persons and wounded 18. A seventh defendant was given a five-year suspended sentence after the court ruled he had not actually taken part in the bombings.

Israeli security forces have rounded up dozens of Arabs suspected of belonging to newly established guerrilla cells on the occupied west bank of the Jordan River.

The military command said some of the suspects confessed to firing at Israeli military headquarters in Hebron and shooting at military vehicles on the roads. It said large amounts of weapons and explosives had been captured.

Sen. Montoya Favored In New Mexico Contest

By The Associated Press

Eight primaries set for Tuesday add up to the biggest political day so far in this fast-building campaign year with the fate of George C. Wallace's third party presidential hopes at stake in Alabama's gubernatorial runoff.

Attention also will focus on Senate primary voting in California, New Jersey, Montana and Mississippi and party balloting for candidates for governor in California, New Mexico and South Dakota.

House seats in all eight states will be up for grabs as well.

In Alabama, Wallace faces incumbent Gov. Albert Brewer, who defeated him in the initial Democratic primary last month by 11,763 votes, but failed to build the necessary majority.

Wallace faces a tough shot since no candidate finishing second in the initial primary has ever won an Alabama gubernatorial runoff since 1914.

Tuesday's winner is all but assured general election victory since the Republicans have indicated they will have no candidate in the fall.

Several factors are at work in the Wallace-Brewer runoff, including the 30,000 voters registered since the May 5 election, the potential impact of the nearly 150,000 votes cast last month for the No. 3 finisher, Charles Wood, and the race issue.

Brewer received the lion's share of the state's large black minority in May and Wallace has made much of this "Negro Bloc vote" in an effort to pick up more of the white vote, particularly among Wood's followers and the 500,000 registered voters who stayed at home in the first round.

A Wallace defeat would put a serious dent in any plans he has to build from his 1968 third party presidential try for a stronger bid in two years.

In California, polls rate Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty an underdog in his battle with former Assembly Democratic Leader Jesse Unruh for the party's nomination for governor. Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan is unopposed for his party's nomination for a second four-year term.

Also in California, polls show Republican Sen. George Murphy a strong favorite to withstand a primary challenge by multimillionaire industrialist Norton Simon. The Democratic Senate primary is rated a tossup, with Rep. George Brown contending against Rep. James V. Tunney, son of former heavyweight champion Gene Tunney.

New Mexico Democratic Sen. Joseph M. Montoya is favored to best Richard Edwards, a former state representative who is challenging him for renomination.

Montoya got a boost from Senate colleagues Friday when the Ethics Committee cleared him of any wrongdoing in connection with published reports that he and other senators had taken payoffs to introduce bills to head off deportation of Chinese seamen who jump ship in the United States.

If Montoya wins, his likely opponent in the general election will be GOP Gov. David F. Cargo, who is vacating the governor's mansion to try for the Senate. Six Republicans and three Democrats are scrambling for party nominations to succeed Cargo.

New Jersey Senator Harrison A. Williams is rated a favorite to win renomination over primary challenger Frank J. Guarini, a state senator backed by the powerful Hudson County organization. Williams also was among those cleared by the Ethics Committee Friday, but the published reports had not been as big an issue in New Jersey as in New Mexico.

Favored for the Republican nomination for Williams' seat is former state party chairman Nelson Gross, who has the support of almost every GOP county organization.

Besides Montoya and Williams, the only other incumbent senators involved in Tuesday's primaries are Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and Democratic Sen. John Stennis of Mississippi. Mansfield faces no strong opposition and Stennis is unopposed.

The only incumbent Congressmen with outward signs of primary trouble are in California —Rep. John J. McFall and Jeffery Cohelan, both Democrats, and Republican Paul N. McCloskey.

Wedding Solemnized In Episcopal Church

St. Mary's Episcopal Church was the setting Sunday morning for the wedding of Miss Cynthia Ann Birdwell and Lt. John Harris Marshall.

The bride is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Harland B. Birdwell, 600 Dallas, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Kathryn H. Marshall, 1510 Michigan Ave., Salt Lake City, Utah, and Dr. John Stuart Marshall, 1576 Harrison Ave., Salt Lake City.

The nuptial eucharist was held during the regular Sunday morning service with the couple taking communion with the congregation and guests. The celebrant was the father of the bride, and the betrothal was performed by the Rev. James Bethell, Odessa. The sermon was by the Rev. Hugh Magers, Dalhart, and the nuptial blessing by Bishop George Quarterman, Amarillo. The altar was adorned with white anthurium.

Mrs. Carl Baker, organist, played "Praise to the Lord" and "I Bind Myself to Thee," also accompanying Larry Stanley and Dan Shockey in a duet, "Come Holy Ghost" and Stanley in a solo, "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring."

The bride wore an ivory gown of silk organza over peau de soie with full bishop sleeves enhancing the sculptured bodice. Rows of Venise lace, enterlaced with narrow ribbon and tiny velvet bows, trimmed the front of the creation. A voluminous chapel train flowed from the slender silhouette, sashed with a wide band of ivory peau de soie which ended in back with a wide streamer topped by a Dior bow. Her bouquet was of cymbidium orchids.

The maid of honor was Miss Lynda Lloyd, and bridesmaids were Miss Joann Allen and Miss Mary McMath. They were identically attired in sleeveless mint gowns fashioned with silver jeweled collar and belted with silver roping. Their headbands were of white daisies, and they carried white prayer books.

The bridegroom's father served as best man, and groomsmen were Stuart Marshall and Alan Marshall, brothers of the bridegroom. Ushers were Richard Atkins, Doug Daniel, Dr. Pete Rhymes and Dr. Jack Burnett. Acolytes were Scott Birdwell, brother of the bride; Smith Swords IV, Bob Dyer and Steve Burnett.

Graduates Hold Dinner At Park Hill

Some of the members of the class of '70 held one last day of celebration Sunday when the group that started school in 1958 at Park Hill Elementary gathered at the school.

Of the 40 who started in the first grade that year, 25 were present for the Sunday afternoon activities. Meeting at the school, the group posed for a picture holding the same positions that they had in their original group sitting. Following the spaghetti supper at the school the group then went to the Obie Bristow home where they continued the party around and in the swimming pool. Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Hutto were with the swimmers.

Beth Webber came from Alexandria, La., the guest of Anne Talbot; Donnie Hollis, Lubbock, was the guest of Joe Moss, and Paul Parsons came from Little Rock, Ark., and was the guest of David Pickle.

Bride-Elect Honored At Luncheon

Shades of pink were used in the decor at a salad luncheon for 40 Thursday in the continuing prenuptial parties for Miss Debbie Duncan who will be married July 25 to Johnny Petree of Idalou.

Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. Adolph Swartz and her daughter, Mrs. Roland Tessier of Roswell, N.M., and Mrs. Horace Garrett and her daughter, Miss Ann Garrett.

The party was held in the Emerald Room of Big Spring Country Club, and arrangements of daisies, stock and carnations in varying shades of pink were placed in intervals on the U-shaped table. A wide shocking pink satin ribbon streamer centered the luncheon table, and pale pink peonies were used on the registry table.

Pink daisy corsages were given to Miss Duncan, her mother, Mrs. James Duncan; the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Betty Lou Petree of Idalou; and the couple's grandmothers, Mrs. A. L. Cone of Lubbock and Mrs. Elmo Wasson. Another special guest was Mrs. Annie Lee Cooke, the bridegroom's aunt, of Lubbock.

She hath done what she could. (Mark 14:8)

PRAYER: O God, bless all those kindhearted and gentle people everywhere in the world who plant kindness, not that they gather praise, but that they may bring color into otherwise drab lives, cheer into dreary communities, and challenge into cautious spirits. In Jesus' name. Amen.

International Matter

Dr. Richard N. Gardner, a former U.S. delegate to the United Nations, said recently the U.N. should be "marching out front" of the movement against environmental pollution. "It isn't," he added. "It joined the parade very late."

Gardner has long hoped for some form of international cooperation in the interest of preserving the environment, and he sees the U.N. as the best hope for a guiding force in a worldwide effort. He has recommended a minimum program for U.N. involvement in environmental affairs, including mass education, joint international research, a worldwide observation network, attempts to encourage international antipollution agreements and the inclusion of environmental projects in multilateral and bilateral aid programs.

Thus far the U.N. has been relatively inactive in environmental affairs, faced as always with a lack of authority. In a 1963 speech before the General Assembly, President Kennedy, largely as a result of Gardner's urgings, called for international action to preserve the human environment. But under the Johnson administration the concept slipped in priority and finally was "quietly shelved," Gardner says. In 1968 Sweden invited the U.N. to hold a conference on the environment in Stockholm, and a session planned for 1972 in the Swedish capital could be a major breakthrough for an international environmental movement.

The U.N., as an international organization with no more power than its component nations choose to grant it, has been effective as an international debating platform, but little else. Yet, here is a crucial issue — environmental conservation — which has few political or nationalistic implications. If there is any field in which U.N. can be an effective force, it is the environmental movement.

Conservationists are quick to point out, furthermore, that it is difficult to separate — except for hypothetical purposes — one ecosystem from another. In the realm of ecology, this planet is truly a unitary system of interlocking parts. If we are to preserve our environment, it must be on an international level.

Ceiling Lifting Goes On

Democratic presidents and Republican presidents come and go, but all the commitments in the world to economy in government and a balanced budget come to naught. At almost regular two-year intervals the administration must ask for authority to raise the ceiling on the public debt.

So it is that President Nixon has asked Congress to raise the ceiling from $377 billion to $395 billion, an increase of $18 billion. For on March 30 the public debt reached $376.9 billion, only $100 million shy of the current legal limit.

This follows a report that the federal budget will show a deficit of $1.8 billion for the fiscal year ending June 30. This represents a turnaround of approximately $3 billion since Nixon forecast a surplus of $1.5 billion in his budget message to Congress in early February.

This dashed any hope that the administration can continue its heavy emphasis on reducing federal borrowing to make it easier for other borrowers — especially the housing industry — to get needed money.

Domestic needs cry out for attention, but the war in Vietnam continues without foreseeable end, and the best intentions of men are often frustrated.

'HEY, LOOK WHAT WE'VE GOT!'

Around The Rim

Childhood In Times Less Tense

With most of humanity seemingly in a transient state, where mankind is enslaved by a youth complex, where devotion to excellence is sometimes considered an onus rather than an asset — I feel compassion for those captains of industry who often appear to be trying to maintain a semblance of order and direction even while the decks of their craft are awash.

The untried may know all the answers in this journey through life but history would not underscore that claim.

I NEVER REGRET having grown up in a time when times were less tense, when issues were less complex. Children of that era didn't have their lives planned for them from the time they arose in the morning until they were banished to bed at night.

To be truthful, a lot of us were considered excess baggage, financial burdens to parents who themselves had known lean times in their youth and who later knew they could never put anything aside because they had accepted certain responsibilities in bringing children into the world.

IF WE WERE pampered, I don't remember it. Not even the No. One child in the brood wore many store-bought clothes until he or she was old enough to earn his own spending money. The rest of us wore hand-me-down togs or else waited until the maternal parent could stitch together something on her creaking sewing machine. The togs she made were utile and certainly not put together to impress the neighbors or the kids' chums in school.

RESPECTING OUR elders was a commandment so drilled into us it never occured to us to challenge their wisdom. It ranked pretty close up there to the reverence we were supposed to show to God.

It was only natural, I suppose, that we grew up with a certain distrust for authority but that distrust had very little opportunity to surface.

WE PROVIDED our own entertainment. Parents on 16-hour work days really had little opportunity to throw a baseball around with a bunch of juveniles. The adults would have felt out of place, anyway. We didn't need any written rules to tell us how to start a snake hunt in the outback or choose sides for a sandlot ball game. Neither did we welcome a counsellor who could stand on the sidelines with sneakers and a clipboard in hand telling who should be assigned where.

We felt it was a good age to be alive. Everybody seemed older, approachable but actually remote.

NOW EVERYONE seems younger and sometimes it seems the transition took place overnight.

History books are inclined to refer to the depression years as mean times. Maybe they were, but if that be the case, one's mind has a wonderful knack for indexing the pleasantries of the past and saving them for reference while dismissing the memories of the miseries and the misfortunes that befell us all.

Practical Approach To Desegregation

WASHINGTON — At last a U.S. circuit court of appeals has clarified the obligations of school districts about desegregation, and has pointed out that busing for this purpose need not be mandatory, though it still can be used whenever local boards find it practical.

THE DECISION is a landmark in the whole controversy about how schools should be reorganized to conform with the basic principles which were set forth by the Supreme Court but not amplified as the difficulties have increased instead of diminished in recent years. The fourth circuit court of appeals, presided over by Judge Clement Haynsworth, made the 4-to-2 decision. The court said it was "favorably impressed" by the brief filed by the U.S. Department of Justice in a suit involving the Charlotte-Mecklenberg school district in North Carolina.

SIGNIFICNT AMONG the many points made by the court was a declaration that the plans to transport 13,000 elementary school pupils should be carefully examined and that the school board should explore every method, including rezoning.

The school board was told it need not adhere to any rigid formula of quotas in each school but should use "all reasonable means" to integrate the schools in its jurisdiction. This is precisely the argument made by the Nixon administration.

THERE IS ENOUGH latitude given by the court to take care of a variety of contingencies. If, for instance, black residential areas are so large that not all schools can be integrated by using reasonable means, "school boards must take further steps to assure that pupils are not excluded from integrated school on the basis of race."

The court pointed out that this problem occurs in many other cities throughout the nation and that "constitutional principles dealing with it should be applied nationally." Emphasis was placed on the "test of reasonableness," which the court declared "would serve equally well for both rural and urban schools."

THE COURT'S opinion said that most school districts can solve their problems by pairing and zoning or similar moves, but that in some big cities the black ghettos are "so large that integration of every school is an improbable, if not unattainable goal." The court added that if a school board makes "every reasonable effort to integrate the schools under its control, an intractable remnant of segregation, we believe, should not void an otherwise exemplary plan for the creation of a unitary school system."

THE APPEALS COURT displayed a sensible attitude toward the whole problem. For it is not one that can be solved by stipulating quotas for each race or by requiring busing for thousands of children. The decision, of course, does not prohibit all busing. It says:

"Busing is a permissible tool for achieving integration, but it is not a panacea . . . We adopted the test of reasonableness — instead of one that calls for absolutes — because it has proved to be a reliable guide in other areas of the law."

PERHAPS THE most practicable suggestion in the opinion is the one recommending that the school board involved in the case should immediately consult experts from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and file a new plan so that it can take effect for the opening of school next fall. Such cooperation is certainly a forward step.

This ruling by a U.S. circuit court of appeals may mark the beginning of a series of decisions in other cases dealing with school desegretation. Too many court orders hitherto have been issued requiring changes by a certain date without taking into account the difficulties involved in fulfilling these mandates. The latest decision is a sign that the practicalities of the problem are at last being recognized.

Public Seems To Love 747s

By LINDA RUBEY
(Subbing for John Cunniff)

NEW YORK (AP) — After more than four months experience, the flying public seems to love the Boeing 747 superjet.

The four airlines with 747s in service all report they're filling more seats on a percentage basis than with the 707s. Pan American, which inaugurated 747 service on Jan. 21, has flown more than 200,000 passengers in the new plane.

Pan Am says its 18 superjets are an average of 70 per cent full for each flight. This compares with an average of 55 per cent for its 707 flights which can carry a maximum of 177 passengers.

"When we first started 747 service people would tell me they didn't want to fly on a 747. But I haven't heard that in a long time," says Miss Linda Wilson, reservationist at Pan Am.

"Even with places we don't fly to with the plane, they're eager to know when we will," she adds.

The complaints registered usually come during full flights when stewardesses have a hard time getting food served to the 360 plus passengers because the aisles are so full of curious passengers walking around. Minor electrical difficulties also have plagued the lighting and movie sound system.

"But the complaints people have from flying on a full 747 are the same one they have about a full 707. Service just can't be as satisfactory when a flight is full," Colussy says.

In addition to Pan Am, American Airlines has two in service, TWA has eight and Lufthansa one.

Boeing has delivered 36 of the superjets to nine airlines so far. It has a total of 197 ordered by 30 airlines, including 11 ordered this year, and expects 95 to be delivered by the end of 1970.

The cost of a 747 is about $22 million compared with $8.6 million for a 707.

American Airlines, for one, reports each of its 747 has carried more passengers than two 707s. American found the demand for first class space so great it increased this section by 28 seats bringing the total first-class seats up to 86. Enough first-class passengers can practically pay for a flight.

It usually takes a year to figure out the passenger load any new plane must carry to break even on a flight. But estimates for the 747 indicate that it could fly only 40 per cent full and still make money on a flight, compared with 50 per cent for the 707.

This in spite of the huge operating and initial investment costs of the 747. A Pan Am 747 pilot commands a salary of almost $60,000 a year. And Pan Am is investing $765 million in the aircraft alone, not including indirect expenses for things like ground equipment and new terminal expansion.

They Face Grinding Task

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

There is no unemployment problem among U.S. dentists. They have an estimated backlog of half a billion unfilled cavities —285 million in children's teeth, 235 million in adults. The grinding task they face: fewer than two out of a hundred people go through life without needing a tooth filled.

Perhaps we ought to find a way to make cars operate on honey instead of gasoline. A gallon of nectar, says the National Geographic Society, can fuel a bee four million miles at a speed of seven miles an hour. And it doesn't pollute the air.

Why do women wind up in jail? A study in Milwaukee found the three most common reasons for their arrest were drunk and disorderly conduct, traffic violations and prostitution. Like men, women offenders tend to be repeaters. Sixty per cent had previous arrest records.

Quotable notables: "No one of us can help the things life has done to us. They're done before you realize it, and once they're done, they make you do other things until at last everything comes between you and what you'd like to be, and you've lost your true self forever."—Eugene O'Neill.

On the plus side: A country can't be all bad if it is buying twice as many worthwhile books as it did 10 years ago . . . if it donates about $14 billion a year to charity . . . and if 50 million of its people voluntarily spend some part of their time helping others. What is that country? The good old U.S. of A.

What has been mankind's greatest victory in its brief time on earth? Probably it is the increase in human longevity. When man first began to record his own history just a few thousand years ago, his average life span was only 20 years. Now it is 70 years. No other creature—from the mosquito to the mastodon—has been known to more than double its life span by its own conscious efforts.

Worst pun of the year: "Robinson Crusoe started the five-day week. He had all his work done by Friday."

Quiet, please: After a large insurance company put in a program to reduce irritating office noises, reports the magazine Manage, typing errors were reduced 29 per cent, absenteeism fell 37 per cent and employe turnover was cut by 47 per cent. Results like that are enough to make any boss go around on tiptoe.

It was Benjamin Disraeli who observed, "Life is too short to be small."

Our Nation's Self-Interest

WASHINGTON — The total self-interest of the United States should govern her actions in all foreign affairs. There can be no real justification otherwise for the expenditure of taxpayers' money in any relation with other countries whether it be war, trade or aid.

Defining and identifying our own self-interest is a matter of human judgment.

Should we be directly attacked militarily, there would be no question about defending ourselves. It is another thing to believe that we are defending our own shores by fighting wars in other places before it reaches home.

IN THE PRESENT situation in Southeast Asia, we became involved as a subscriber to the Southeast Asian Treaty Organization (SEATO). The United States entered an agreement with the Philippines, Australia, France, New Zealand, Pakistan, Thailand and the United Kingdom to jointly defend that area against Communist expansion. We believed it to be in our own self-interest on the long term basis.

We believe it was in our own interest to become a signatory to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) as a buffer against the Soviet Union. Our government spent billions of dollars on the Marshall Plan to rehabilitate Western Europe after World War II believing that those nations must stand militarily and economically independent of Communist Eastern Europe.

NO TREATY EXISTS in the Middle East but there are those who apparently feel obligated for Israel's defense by contending that Israel is largely a creation of our making and that we have a responsibility for protecting her. Many of those of this feeling condemn our presence in Vietnam.

Almost obscured by the concern over crossing the somewhat vaguely defined borders of Cambodia is a developing crisis in the Middle East.

What is our self-interest in the Israeli-Arab conflict? It carries the usual elements of military and economic interest on which judgments in similar situations have been made in the past. It also involves heavy emotionalism in our nation.

ON THE MATERIAL side is Soviet expansion and influence in the whole Middle East, Africa and the Mediterranean Sea.

At stake, besides the emotional ties to Israel, are the vast oil supplies in the Arab lands which would be a prize to the Soviet Union, if controlled by them. Dominance of the Mediterranean and its ocean outlets by unfriendly forces would seriously jeopardize the shipping of the free world. These are factors which would come under consideration should a full conflagration develop.

WHO DETERMINES our own self-interest? How do we arrive at the great decisions? A myriad of opinions go into making policy on foreign affairs. Finally, short of a formal declaration of war which only the Congress can declare, the President of the United States must decide.

He does so on all available information and on the advice of his many consultants. Many and most times opinions vary — judgments differ and facts of a situation are numerously intrepreted. The President must eventually choose and act.

WHOEVER ADVISES and whoever the President, it must be presumed they act in our own national self-interest. It is inconceivable otherwise. We may not agree with the decision — not many completely agree on all things — but who else except the President has all the facts on which to form a decision?

Billy Graham

It seems to me that in these days there is so much opposition against the church. Can you tell me why? H.B.

The reason is perhaps threefold.

First, the church like any other institution is inclined to lose its love and luster. So, part of the rebellion against the organized church is against its perversions and hypocrisies.

Second, the Bible teaches that there exists a natural antagonism against God's people. "If you were of the world, the world would love his own: but because you are not of the world, but I have chosen you out of the world, therefore the world hateth you," said Jesus to His disciples. (John 15:19) We live in a secular society, and the church which teaches the things of the Spirit is a natural target for agnostic snipers. Christ said it would be so, and it is.

Third, because of the imperfections of professed Christians (and they are many), the non-Christian says, "They are no better than we" In most cases, this is true. But the point is: the follower of Jesus Christ trusts not in his own righteousness, but in the finished work of Christ on the cross. He believes that he is saved, not because of what he does, but because of what Christ has done. However, because the follower of Christ is given a new life (the new birth), his responses should be in keeping with Christian principles and ethics. Every Christian should "let his light shine before men, that they may see his good works, and glorify his Father which is in heaven."

Brain Damage From Tranquilizers? No

By G. C. THOSTESON, M. D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please discuss the possibility of brain damage from continued use of tranquilizers.

My sister has been taking them for years. Two years ago she lost control of her legs and was hospitalized. This was diagnosed as a reaction from the tranquilizer. Whether this was from unusual sensitivity or taking more than the prescribed dosage was not determined. She switched to another medication and recovered slowly.

On a recent visit I was surprised at her extreme passiveness and lapses of memory. Her psychiatrist attributed this to brain damage which frequently goes with old age, though it is premature for her 62 years.

I recently read an article which said that "prolonged treatment by reserpine often brings on a syndrome nearly indistinquishable from Parkinsonism."—L. C.

I suspect that you are barking up the wrong tree. Tranquilizers have to be used properly for good results, but I am not aware of brain damage resulting from any of them.

As to reserpine, it and other rauwolfia types of tranquilizers can cause palsy (the "shakes") resembling Parkinsonism. It is not common, however. Further, the trouble reverses itself when the drug is stopped, so I doubt that brain "damage" is the applicable term.

Other tranquilizers vary in chemical makeup, but they all have a relaxing or depressant effect. Therefore excessive doses can cause sleepiness and muscle weakness.

They can help a patient cope with his anxieties and other emotional tensions, but they do not impart added strength. The depressant effect can be compounded by use of some other medications (barbiturates for one) or alcohol.

Under various circumstances patients sometimes take too much—they disobey the doctor's instructions, or go to more than one doctor, getting prescriptions from each, or they take sleeping pills in addition.

Properly used, tranquilizers are very useful. It is excessive use that causes mischief.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Besides medication, what can be done to control high blood pressure?—Mrs. V. D.

If obese, lose some weight. If you are nervously tense and fretful, teach yourself not to get in an emotional turmoil over things. Both these methods will help, with or without medication. But medication, even in moderate amounts, often is very useful.

There are occasional instances in which surgery can be helpful, but these are specialized situations, with restricted circulation to some organ (as the kidney) contributing to the high blood pressure.

What causes "balance" trouble? What can be done to correct or overcome it? Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Dizzy Spells," discusses loss of balance, vertigo and nausea, Meniere's disease and labyrinthitis. For a copy of the booklet write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Saving Rail Passenger Service

WASHINGTON — Sometime toward the end of this month, the House will pass a bill which will assure Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., of a place in the history books as the man who led the fight to save the nation's railroad passenger service.

The bill, passed by the Senate and okayed by the administration, passenger and railroad lobbyists, will set up a government-sponsored private corporation to operate and improve rail passenger service beginning next March 1. About 80 per cent of the nearly 450 trains connecting American cities would be run by the corporation. More important from a short-range view, final passage of the bill would prohibit railroads from discontinuing passenger service.

BEHIND ALMOST unanimous acceptance of the bill, passed by the Senate 78 to three, is the story of how Hartke forced the White House's hand. He did so simply by escorting through the Senate Commerce Committee a bill he knew President Nixon didn't want because it was too expensive.

This galvanized the administration, notably Transportation Director John Volpe, into action. Whereupon Hartke, with a notable assist from Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., ranking minority member of the committee, coolly worked out the compromise legislation.

IT IS A pretty good bill. Initially, it earmarks $175 million in Federal funds to set up the corporation and guarantee loans. Railroad companies would own common stock in the corporation, and preferred stock would be sold to the public at large. A railroad that does not enter into a contract with the corporation would be required to continue all existing passenger service until Jan. 1, 1975. At that time, the corporation would be authorized to initiate its own service.

THE CORPORATION would be run by a board of 15 directors, with eight members — including the Transportation Secretary — nominated by the President. One of the President's nominees must be a consumer representative. Seven additional board members will be elected by the stockholders.

Congressional action will put specifics into the hands of Secretary Volpe. Within 30 days after final passage, Volpe is required to submit a plan for a basic national rail passenger network, to be approved by both Congress and the Interstate Commerce Commission.

THEN WILL COME the nitty-gritty. The Transportation Department also must set standards of service, now pretty much nonexistent. For example, there is no regulation requiring passenger trains to carry drinking water. Under the new bill, the railroads will be called upon by law to provide "clean, efficient and comfortable trains," and can be penalized financially if their trains don't run on time. (That one should be fun.)

BUT THE RAILROADS have accepted the inevitable, perhaps because a fat $75 million of the initial $175 million subsidy is earmarked for loans to the companies to permit their participation in the corporation.

THE WINNAH! — Jim Corbell flags in David Waldrop, Odessa, as the winner in the B class open event of the Go Kart races here Sunday. Waldrop, a member of the Midland-Odessa Go Kart Club, averaged a blistering 80 mph over the twisting course in Comanche Trail Park.

Go-Kart Race Draws Large Field, Crowd

The second annual Memorial Day Go Kart races drew a larger field and crowd here Sunday at Comanche Trail park as contestants set a blistering pace over the winding course.

Maj. Phil Adams, chairman of the event, was pleased with the results, although he felt that the bad weather forecasts had held down the field. As it was, there were 58 entries, a couple more than last year.

The races drew a couple of entries from Oklahoma, three from New Mexico and one from Mississippi, in addition to a large number scattered all over Texas.

There were a few minor mishaps, but the yellow flag went up only once when a racer lost his brakes in charging the chute. He was shaken but nothing worse.

Good times were recorded throughout the two-day event.

The results:

A American Reed Class — 1. Jimmy Wester, Garland; 2. Lynn Duggan, Albany; 3. Jim Henderson, Abilene.

'Camera Eye' Draws KC Royals Protest

By The Associated Press

The Kansas City Royals didn't much care for the prying eye of Washington's television camera Sunday, but the Chicago White Sox story seemed like one instant replay after another as they sent 25 base hits flying around Boston's Fenway Park.

"I'd like to see those films," said Kansas City manager Charlie Metro, who protested about a TV camera in the center field mezzanine as the Royals beat the Senators 6-5. "You can tell me that you can't see anything, but I've been around baseball too long. I can tell you about a lot of things that happen."

"I didn't feel safe until that final out was made at first base," sighed Chicago skipper Don Gutteridge after the White Sox battered the Red Sox 22-13, one run shy of the American League record for two teams. "In a wild game like this anything can happen. And it just about did out there."

Elsewhere in the AL, California defeated Baltimore 6-1, Minnesota edged the New York Yankees 7-6 in 10 innings, Cleveland shaded Oakland 3-2 and Milwaukee nipped Detroit 7-6.

The cameraman said it was impossible to pick up the catcher's signals "because of the shadows when he crouches down." But Metro wasn't satisfied.

Frank Howard's 15th homer had given the Senators a 5-4 lead in the seventh. Ed Kirkpatrick homered for Kansas City and Alcaraz had another RBI double.

Luis Aparicio and Walt Williams paced Chicago's explosion with five hits apiece. Aparicio had a triple and four singles and drove in three runs and Williams had a double and four singles and two RBI while Bill Melton knocked in four runs with a homer, double and single.

The White Sox won for only the third time in 15 games as the two teams combined for 42 hits, including three homers, two triples and 11 doubles.

Carl Yastrzemski and Mike Andrews homered for the Red Sox, who used six pitchers. The only one to escape without a run was Ken Brett, who only worked two-thirds of an inning.

"I've been saying all along we'd be a good hitting club," Gutteridge said earlier in the season when the White Sox cropped up among the top hitting teams in the majors. "This doesn't surprise me. We've just got a lot of good hitters on our club."

Mets Take A Dual Sweep Over Houston's Astros

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Mets are not without a sense of history.

On the sixth anniversary of their epic 23-inning, seven-hour, 23-minute loss to the San Francisco Giants in the second game of a 1964 Memorial Day doubleheader, the Mets tried Sunday to do it again.

They made it through 14 innings of the second game of a Sunday twinbill with Houston and there was one very important change. On May 31, 1964, they lost a doubleheader. This time, they won one.

Notable achievements in the 14-4, 4-3 sweep included six hits for Cleon Jones—a little less than one for every hour of baseball played—a pair of two-run homers for Ron Swoboda, giving him the all-time Met home run lead and two victories over the Astros—something it took the Mets all last season to achieve.

The Mets looked ready, too, shelling the Astros for 27 hits in the doubleheader.

Hill Shoots 'Well Enough' To Take Memphis Top Cash

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — "I don't like to hear these guys moaning about playing bad," Dave Hill said.

"I know what playing bad is all about. Not for just a little time, either, like for eight or nine years. I was going out of my skull. Right up the wall.

"I couldn't sleep nights. I'd get up and try different grips on the club. I had to master this game or have it put me in the ground."

Hill, who said he still isn't playing the way he wants to, played just well enough to win the $150,000 Danny Thomas-Memphis Open Golf Tournament Sunday, carving out a final-round 68 for 267, 13 under par on the 6,466-yard Colonial Country Club course and the lowest 72-hole score of the year.

"I'm hitting about 60 per cent of my shots the way I want to," the slim, 33-year-old said, his dark hair plastered to his forehead by the steady drizzle that marked the final round.

"Now I want to play. I'm not playing as good as I did at this stage last year—but it's close, darn close."

It was in this tournament last year—then played as the Memphis Open—that the 12-year tour veteran really broke into his own.

He won the event for the second time and was off and running to his greatest year. He added the Philadelphia and Buick Open titles, finished second on the money-winning list with more than $150,000 and won the coveted Vardon Trophy for the lowest scoring average.

Hill's victory Sunday was worth $30,000 and pushed his season earnings to over $67,000.

He scored by a single stroke over Homero Blancas, Frank Beard and Bob Charles.

Charles, a New Zealand left-hander, had a remarkable 63, Beard fashioned a 67, and Blancas, Hill's playing partner all four days and the leader going into the final round, took a 70.

Billy Maxwell, Dan Sikes, George Archer, Joe Campbell and Steve Spray followed at 270.

Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Billy Casper and Gary Player did not compete.

Hill moved into a tie for first on the first hole, when Blancas bogeyed, and went in front with 18 and 12-foot birdie putts on the eighth and ninth, respectively.

He saved par with a 15-footer on the 12th and appeared to be ready to run away and hide when he canned a 15-foot birdie putt on the 13th.

But he bogeyed the 14th and 15th, missing the green each time and fell back to a tie with Beard and Charles, who had finished.

He went in front to stay on the next hole, a par-5. He was in a trap in two, blasted out to 30 inches and sank the putt for the bird that clinched his eighth tour triumph.

But it has been a long, rough road for the tough-minded guy who came out of the caddy ranks in Jackson, Mich., and did little more than make a bare living his first eight years on the tour.

Then, in 1968, he took an enforced vacation when his wife locked his clubs in the garage, wouldn't let him get at them, and for the first time in years, he went 10 days without playing.

"It made a lot of difference," Dave said. "I've been taking more time off the tour the last couple of weeks. It helps. If I'm not playing good, I can get more value from time on the practice tee then I can playing in a tournament."

Leon Hobbs' No-Hitter Gains Split For Cards

Leon Hobbs of the Big Spring Cardinals threw a no-hitter at the Lubbock Plainsmen in the first game of a double-header Sunday, shutting out the host team 5-0. However, Lubbock rallied and took the second game 7-1 when Card batters couldn't bunch their hits.

Hobbs had a near perfect game, allowing only two walks while whiffing four, includng the last two batters. Jesse Zapata livened the first game with a pair of stolen bases. Pineda had two hits. In the nightcap no Card got more than one hit, while Ramirez had three for three for the Plainsman.

Johnson Cops Feature Event

A fair-sized Memorial Day crowd took in one of the better and more exciting motorcycle races Sunday afternoon over the Big Spring Raceways course at the old Saraha theater on IS 20 West.

George Johnson, Midland, took the open class contest, but Big Spring shared in some of the places in other events of the day. First place winners included David Guinn, and Max Bair. There were no mishaps.

Follmer Makes Up For Loss At Indy With Sunday Race

By The Associated Press

From 31st to first place — that was George Follmer's weekend in auto racing.

Follmer, 36, of Arcadia, Calif., had started Mario Andretti's backup Hawk-Ford in 20th position in Saturday's $1 million 500-mile race at Indianapolis. The car broke at the 50-mile mark and he finished 31st for $14,002.48.

Sunday Follmer got into a Ford Mustang at Bryar Motorsports Park near Loudon, N.H., and outran such luminaries as Peter Revson and Mark Donohue, who had done much better at Indy, and old pro Parnelli Jones.

Follmer's victory in the third Trans-American sedan race of the season maintained Ford's superiority in this series in which the Detroit manufacturers have the prime interest. Jones, co-owner of Al Unser's winning car at Indianapolis, had won the first two for Mustang. Jones ran into trouble on the 62nd lap at Bryar when his hood flew off and he didn't finish.

Revson, who finished 22nd at Indy, and Donohue, who collected $86,427.49 for second place behind Unser, came in second and third respectively at Bryar. They drove Javelins.

In other racing activity, 32-year-old Bobby Isaac won the $50,000 Virginia 500 for NASCAR Grand National stockers at Martinsville, Va. The race was stopped after 377 laps of the .525-mile course because of rain.

It was Isaac's fourth victory in his last five starts and added $10,795 to his bankroll. He now is the top Dodge driver on the rich NASCAR circuit.

Bobby Allison of Hueytown, Ala., older brother of the fourth place finisher and rookie of the year at Indianapolis, Donnie Allison, came in second at Martinsville, also in a Dodge. Third place went to Cale Yarborough in a Mercury, while David Pearson was fourth in a Ford. Richard Brooks was fifth in a Plymouth.

At Dover, Dela., 44-year-old Ken Rush drove a Camaro to victory in a 250-mile race for compact sedans and snapped a 11-race winning streak rolled up by the veteran Tiny Lund. Rush collected $3,500. Sonny Hutchins of Richmond, Va., was second in a Camaro, while Wayne Andrews of Siler City, N.C., was third.

Arencibia and Cook thus finished with a record of three wins and two losses in the tournament.

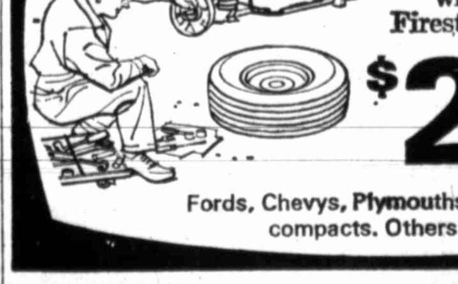

Don Farley and Ray Thomas of Big Spring also competed in Class A competition at Midland. Class C entries included Eddie Acri and Terry Hanson.

TO SET AMERICANS STRAIGHT DURING VISIT

Sweden's Sex Habits, Deserters

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Prime Minister Olaf Palme says one purpose of his visit to the United States this week is to set Americans straight on Sweden's sex habits and its attitude toward U.S. military deserters.

But he has made it clear he will not hesitate to speak out anew against U.S. actions in Vietnam and the "invasion of Cambodia," if he deems it necessary.

He seems troubled by one image of his country that has been projected abroad.

"They think of us as reeking with sex and loose morals when, really, as our equivalent of the Kinsey report shows, we are a people with great sexual inhibitions," Palme told a reporter.

Palme's trip is billed as an unofficial visit to receive an honorary degree Saturday from Kenyon College, the Ohio school he attended in the '40s. But the prime minister will go first to Washington and meet Thursday with Secretary of State William P. Rogers. Palme intends to discuss Indochina with Rogers and probably Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The prime minister, whose name is pronounced PALM-eh, is at 43 the youngest premier in Europe. He notes that Sweden has a "very liberal tradition." It applies, he says, both to morals and such questions as how to treat American deserters who seek haven in this country.

This liberal tradition, he declares, means that one has to permit things that one might not like.

Palme says that the trouble American deserters have had with the law and the involvement of many with drugs have much to do with the "bad state in which they came to Sweden." Allowing them to stay here when about one-fourth of them have committed crimes in Sweden is a "matter of Swedish law," he adds.

Sweden often has used the United States as a yardstick in dealing with its own problems, he says, adding:

"We have a keen interest in both the successes and failures of the United States. Experience shows we are not so very far behind and can learn from things happening there."

Palme says his prime concern today is the danger posed by big power blocs, and he intends to dwell on that subject in his address at Kenyon:

"The theme of my speech there is going to be that of freedom. The danger in the world today is that the superpowers are becoming so powerful that it is a matter of survival for small nations to try to safeguard their rights."

He believes this explains why Sweden, itself a small nation, had to come out strongly "against such actions as the invasion of Cambodia."

"This does not mean we do not have good relations, in fact excellent relations with the United States in other fields like commerce," he says.

MINIPIG DEVELOPED — After 20 years of research, the Hormel Institute of Austin, Minn., has developed miniature pigs like this one which is inspecting a desk top at the institute. Scientists found that pigs are more closely related to man than any other experimental animal, but the stumbling block to using them for research was size. Normal pigs weigh around 240 pounds, while the minipig weights only 40 pounds.

Fuel Poured By Mistake After Crash

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Federal investigators say jet fuel was poured by mistake into the tanks of a gasoline-burning aircraft which crashed on a highway, killing six persons.

John Reed, chairman of the National Transportation Safety Board, said Sunday 200 gallons of the jet fuel were added to tanks containing 400 gallons of gasoline before the Martin 404 twin-engined aircraft took off Saturday from DeKalb-Peachtree Airport.

The pilot tried to set the privately owned plane down on a highway near Atlanta when power failed in both engines. The plane hit a car, killing all five occupants. A plane passenger also was killed.

"It would be similar to putting four or five gallons of kerosene in a 20-gallon automobile tank," said Reed. "The aircraft would not run properly on this mix."

Reed said two workers who fueled the plane told investigators they thought it had turbojet engines, which run on jet fuel.

The plane, carrying 30 passengers, was bound for a weekend real estate company sales excursion to Ft. Myers, Fla.

West Germany Klan Charge

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. Seymour Halpern, R-N.Y., has called for a congressional investigation of what he says was a Klu Klux Klan klavern at a U.S. Army post in West Germany.

Halpern said Sunday that he learned of the existence of a 47-man klavern during a preliminary investigation into a complaint by a constituent, former Spec. 4 Edward Kaneta, 19, of Queens Village.

The congressman said Kaneta, who is white, told him that he was beaten by a group of white sergeants after he became friendly with black soldiers at the post. On one occasion, Kaneta was struck by his commanding officer, a captain, Halperr said.

Upon being advised of the soldier's complaint, Halpern said, Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor wrote the congressman that "a thorough investigation" was being conducted by the Army's European command. Resor's letter said the probe would be "completed prior to the end of May."

The Klan klavern was made up "mainly of noncommissioned officers who held regular meetings in the barracks," Halpern quoted Kaneta as saying. They even had KKK membership cards, he said.

Kaneta was demoted to private and given a general discharge for being "unsuitable" for military service although he had served two years. The action came after charges were placed against him for allegedly assaulting a sergeant and "obstructing justice." The charges were dropped.

Mortgage Subsidies Hike Discrimination?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government officials are worried the flourishing home-mortgage subsidy program, in addition to aiding low-income families, may be abetting slum speculation and racial discrimination.

Preliminary reports indicate most Negro families using the subsidies are buying older homes in inner city areas, says Charles B. Davis, the program's director. Whites, on the other hand, appear to be using subsidies to buy new homes in suburbs, he said.

"There are indications, especially in Washington, D.C., that slum speculators are using the program to unload old homes they couldn't otherwise sell," Davis said. "And some of these houses are in obvious violation of codes—local enforcement we have no control over."

Government statistics for the third quarter of 1969 show that the average age of existing homes purchased with mortgage subsidies was 27 years; under conventional, nonsubsidized FHA mortgages, the average home age during the same period was 16 years.

Low-income families are receiving a median government subsidy of $55 a month toward their mortgage payments. They are required to pay 20 per cent of their adjusted income for home costs.

Davis said some builders promote homes designed for the subsidy program in such a way as to attract only whites to suburban areas.

The government will soon begin investigation of both slum speculation and racial discrimination in the subsidy program, Davis said. He said evaluation is difficult because the government has just begun to collect housing data by race.

The median gross income of families receiving the home subsidies is $5,685 a year compared to $11,174 in conventional programs.

They buy homes costing about $15,000. Of these, 56 per cent are new and 44 per cent are existing homes. Some 28 per cent of the subsidy families are headed by women.

The program aided 100 families to purchase homes in 1968, 8,700 in 1969 and an estimated 119,000 will be helped this year.

Singer Wins Contract Suit

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Singer Connie Francis has won confirmation by the Court of Appeals of a lower court decision dismissing a breach of contract suit by her former personal manager, George Scheck.

The appeals tribunal agreed that Miss Francis had never signed the contracts cited in Scheck's suit.

Seek To Destroy Black Colleges?

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A Newsweek Magazine correspondent said Sunday forces in America are seeking to destroy black colleges.

Samuel F. Yette, Washington based correspondent for the news magazine, spoke at the commencement exercise for Texas Southern University, a predominantly black school.

Yette told the 480 graduates that the Department of Health, Education and Welfare has set a secret requirement that private black schools must enroll at least 50 per cent white students.

He also claimed that HEW wants to require black colleges to hire white administrators.

More white students would force out black students who would be unable to gain admission to other colleges, Yette said. And white administrators could eventually gain control of the black schools, he charged.

Yette also criticized what he called the "grand merging schemes" in many states which place black schools under a university system. This, he said, amounts to white control of black institutions.

These steps are being taken, Yette charged, because black schools are turning out doctors, lawyers and activists who have helped improve the black man's plight.

In the past, Yette, said, black colleges were financially starved in an effort to control them and black educators in charge of Negro schools were placed there to keep down Negroes.

But these controls, he said, have not worked.

Tourism Booming

MANILA (AP) — Despite violent street riots and strong earthquakes so far this year, tourism is booming in the Philippines. Travel industry officials said traveler arrivals in April increased more than 35 per cet over April, 1969.

Firemen Battle Three-Alarm

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Over a hundred firemen battled a three-alarm blaze for an hour Sunday at a Houston apartment house.

The fire, in the city's southwest section, caused extensive damage to 15 units of the apartment.

The only injury was a minor one suffered by a fireman battling the blaze.

Officials said the fire caused heavy damage to 10 units of the complex while five other apartments sustained smoke and water damage.

8 beautiful reasons you'll like our clean stations.

Free.

Where you see the "Free Place Mat" sign:
One scenic place mat free with each gasoline fill-up, 8-gallon minimum. Eight different place mats in all. Each has a popular local scene in full-color on one side and a gold, woven design on the other.

Mats are 10⅜" x 17½" with round corners. They are washable, laminated plastic and so good looking they're suitable for framing. Start collecting yours today at participating Enco stations. You'll want to collect several of these sets.

It's a beautiful way to Discover America.

So many of us have a free gift for you just to get you to come in and see for yourself. And to make sure you'll be able to see for yourself, we'll clean your windshield and rear window without being asked.

Our Clean crazy Pledge

- Clean Restrooms with Soap, Towels, Tissue available
- A Cleaner Station We'll do our best to keep it bright

Enco retailers displaying this sign will deliver on every promise, weather permitting.

But although participating Enco retailers are trying to have the cleanest stations in town, we might goof once in a while. So if we fail to deliver on any part of our new Clean Crazy Pledge, you get something else: A Goof Gift. Don't count on that Goof Gift, because we'll do our darndest not to have to give it away.

And to prove there's no cleaner, pleasanter place to do business than the place where you see the Enco sign.

Goof Gift.
We have a gift for you, if we fail on any part of our Clean Crazy Pledge. One gallon of gasoline free.

Enco retailers have gone clean crazy!
We cleaned up, swept up, scrubbed, shined and polished everything in sight.
Because we know you like a clean place to do business.
And we know something else.
You won't believe we're all shiny clean just because we say so.

LTV Shakeup Signals Work Force Slash

DALLAS (AP) — There are signs of a declining work force at Ling-Temco-Vought, Inc., which just last month had a major shakeup in its corporate hierarchy.

The Teamsters Union in Dallas has gone to court to try to prevent 25 jobs from being "eliminated" at Braniff International. Braniff now reports 10,500 employes, a trimming of seven per cent from last year's work force.

A Braniff spokesman said the reduction was made as a result of gearing their manpower to handle current traffic volume efficiently.

The other subsidiaries of LTV also saw cutbacks, including LTV Aerospace Corp., which is one of its more profitable subsidiary.

An Aerospace spokesman said there was a cut from 20,000 to 19,600 at the large Grand Prairie plant last year. However, the president of the UAW and maintenance workers at the Grand Prairie plant, Billy Meeks, said their records show declines from 14,000 to 11,607 since last August. Meeks did say that the employment at the LTV Electrosystems plants in Garland and Arlington, which his union also represents, is "holding pretty steady."

An LTV Electrosystems spokesman said the company expects to loosen up on electronic systems and level off. They have been tightening up the past few months, he said.

J. C. Porter, UAW president of the Greenville local, said the employment picture "never looked worse" in his 19 years there. Porter said his union membership has dropped from 2,700 to 1,325 in the last 14 months.

Meeks said if LTV Aerospace can get the new "freedom Fighter" jet aircraft contract, the future might brighten. It will only darken at the Grand Prairie plant, however, if Aerospace doesn't outbid three other companies.

Mood On Wall Street Not Like Great Crash Of 1929

NEW YORK (AP) — Wall Street veterans say that although stock market prices have dipped sharply over the past 18 months, the mood on Wall Street is not like it was during the great crash of 1929.

They also point out that the laws and regulations governing securities exchange are also different.

The 38.27-point climb in the Dow Jones industrial average last week helped spirits on Wall Street, market analysts said, although the Dow is still about 285 points below its Dec. 3, 1968, high of 985.21.

NO COMPARISON

Howard W. Calkins, 68, chairman emeritus of Albert Frank-Guenther Law, Inc., said: "There's really no comparison between 1929 and the present.

"Not only has the structure of the market changed, but the atmosphere on Wall Street is different. Investors may lack confidence and be pessimistic," he said, "but there isn't likely to be the panic there was in 1929."

Calkins was a cub reporter for the Wall Street News in 1929.

Not only is the atmosphere different but the whole character of the market is different too, according to Dr. Stan West, director of the New York Stock Exchange research department.

One of the biggest differences Calkins and West both point to is the difference in margin requirements—margin is the per cent of money a person must put up to buy stock.

LOST EVERYTHING

"There was no Securities and Exchange Commission then and no regulations," West says. "People were buying stocks on margins as low as 10 per cent of the cost of the stocks. When the margin calls got heavy during the crash many people lost almost everything."

The Federal Reserve Board now requires a 65 per cent margin for the purchase of any stock.

"In 1929 everybody was buying stocks with no money," Calkins recalls. "On October 29, the day of the crash, there were 16 million shares traded—a tremendous figure then but only peanuts now. The ticker ran really late, past 9 p.m."

According to the Standard and Poor's 500 the market has dropped 36 per cent in the present 17-month-old bear market. In the 1929 decline between Sept. 7, 1929 and Nov. 13, 1929 it dropped 45 per cent.

WORST DROP

But its worst drop was between February, 1931, and June, 1932, when it skidded 76 per cent. In other bear markets since then the market showed a 28 per cent decline in 1962 and a 22 per cent decline in 1966.

But the type of speculation that brought on the 1929 decline isn't the same as that which preceded the current bear market.

'In 1929 the blue chip stocks were the cheap medium of speculation, sold on credit with low margins to private investors," says Sidney Homer, general partner, Salomon Bros. and Hutzler, an investment banking firm.

"This time the high-grade stocks have been dead numbers for years. The speculative interest here was in second-grade marginal stocks and most of the buying was institutional. These stocks are the ones that have fallen some 80 to 90 per cent and that aren't going to be really popular again for 5 or 10 years."

DON'T GET CAUGHT

Federal regulations have not only stemmed the precipitous nature of the 1929 crash, they've made the character of Wall Street a little different, says Samuel B. Mallin, 67, vice president of Albert Frank Guenther Law, Inc. He was also on "the Street" at the time of the crash.

"There were no holds barred then," Mallin says. "In the twenties the only rule was don't get caught."

Another technical regulatory difference West mentions is the short sale uptick rule. Selling short is practice in which a person borrows stock and sells it with the hope of repaying it later when the stock is selling at a lower price.

In the twenties there were no restrictions against selling short. Now there are.

"Now we have a general rule you can only sell short on an uptick or rising prices," West says. "And in April public short sale was only 3 per cent of total volume, for example. So the rule removed what could have been a tremendous selling pressure in markets like we've had recently."

LONG PULL

Another important difference, West feels, is that the market today is dominated by many institutional investors who are in there for the long pull. In the first half of 1969, he points out, institutions and intermediaries accounted for more than 60 per cent of the dollar value of the public volume on the New York Stock Exchange.

In the first quarter of 1969 institutional trading accounted for 51 per cent of all trading on the NYSE. In 1929 it was practically zero.

"These pension and retirement funds, insurance companies and most mutual funds are all a stabilizing influence in the market now, because most of them are interested more in long term gains rather than fast speculative ones."

Not only that the individual investor is generally a different breed now. Millions of today's 27 million shareholders buy under programs which stress regular buying—like mutual funds or employe stock purchase plans.

PANIC SELLING

"Buyers like these are also interested in the long term and aren't so likely to fall into the pattern of panic selling," West says.

Thomas Murphy, research associate at the NYSE, agrees that today's investors are a different type. "Most people in the market of the twenties were newcomers with no experience in what the market could do. Many of the investors in today's market have gone through the 1962 and 1966 slides, so they're more educated and sophisticated," he says.

And if there's one final measure that could prevent a selling panic like the one on Oct. 29, 1929, or even the one on May 28, 1962, West says it's the automation of floor operations. One of the biggest problems with selling panics of the past was the tape ran so late the public couldn't figure out what the current prices for stocks were.

"The floor's so automated now and the ticker so much faster that's unlikely to snowball again," West says. "This removes the possibility of the tremendous uncertainty that frees a panic. When people don't know what the current prices are, the tendency is to get out quickly."
