MAINLY ABOUT PEOPLE

By H. N. P.

It is contended by voters who are wedded to the state rights dogma that the Interstate Commerce Commission, by its "arbitrary assumption of power and centralization decrees," has destroyed the state railway commissions by shearing these commissions of the power of fixing freight and passenger rates. All this is said to have happened in war time. Now comes the Interstate Commerce Commission with a proposal to divide the American railways into nineteen systems and the Commission has fixed a day for the representatives of the American railways to appear before it in order that they may have their day in court.

It is said that should the plan proposed by the commission be adopted, Wichita Falls will enjoy the novel situation of being in the territory of two and later along perhaps three of the systems. Of course the avowed intention of the Interstate Commerce Commission is to put in force and make effective a plan where railways of large earning capacity shall take care of the weak lines or feeders which are barely self-sustaining.

This is an old friend in a new garb. When William Gibbs McAdoo resigned the position of director general of the railways of America, Walker D. Hines a distinguished Kentuckian by birth but later a prominent lawyer of Kansas, became his successor. This gentleman had been the general attorney for the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe system for many years and was looked upon as one of the ablest corporation lawyers of America.

He had drafted by the government in the days when the government was the operator of the American railways. In a speech in the city of Fort Worth he outlined a plan for the future direction or operation of the rails. He suggested twelve zones of activity or twelve spheres of usefulness for the railways.

He made a speaking tour of the country and he very ably submitted an argument in favor of the zoning proposition. Now the Interstate Commerce Commission has caught the idea and the friends and the opponents of the proposition will go to the mat in battle royal style.

A city which finds itself within the jurisdiction of two and perhaps three systems may derive many advantages from its novel point of vantage or disadvantage but only those who are versed are familiar with the details of rate making or who thoroughly understand the zoning system are able to give an opinion worth while: but what will happen to the state railway commissions and commissioners and their power, if they have any, to make freight and passenger rates if the system proposed is adopted by the Interstate Commerce Commission?

Howard Bennette, secretary of the Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association has made the announcement that the third annual meeting of the association will be held in Dallas on Friday, October 14. The meeting will be followed by a banquet that evening, beginning at 7 o'clock at the City Club, Southland Life Building. At this meeting a membership will select the new executive committee to serve during the coming year and this committee will select its officers. W. D. Cline president, Frank Cullinan, vice president and W. M. Massie, treasurer of the an executive committee composed of the leading oil men of Texas and Louisiana. This promises to be one of the most important gatherings of men directly or indirectly interested in the oil industry of this year, and it is said that a very fine program has been prepared. Attendance promises to be large. There are indications that the depression in the oil industry is over and that the trend will be upward during the closing months of the old year and the opening months of the new year.

Congressman Hatton Sumners of the Dallas District and A. C. Williams of the Texas Cattle Raisers' Association starts today on a tour of the cattle towns of Texas. The trip is designed to obtain information to be presented by Mr. Sumners to the commission on agricultural inquiry of which he is a member and which is endeavoring to work out a system of long time loans to cattlemen. All the cattle towns west of Fort Worth on the Texas Pacific railroad will be made and then important towns in the Concho river country will be visited. This is the situation as outlined by Congressman Sumners: "From the testimony adduced before the Commission on Agriculture Inquiry, it is perfectly evident that the present financial machinery does not meet the necessities of the livestock interests nor of the public. There could be nothing more absurd than the wreckage for fortunes and the sacrifice of the mother animals and the young stuff which has recently taken place largely because the loans on these animals have called them to the slaughter. This interest must be provided with long-time loans at reasonable interest rates from institutions free from the direct or indirect control of those connected in any way with the cattle purchasing or slaughtering activities. The marketing time of the stock, so long as the security is ample and safe, must be freed from the whims or even the necessities of the loaning agency, or rather we must have a loaning agency that will have neither the incentive nor the necessity for forcing sales contrary to the judgment or the best interests of the producers so long as the loan is well secured. The loaning agency must be a helpful agency. In attempting to promote this agency it is necessary that the actual condition and needs of those engaged in the livestock industry be exactly understood. Therefore, this trip is being taken."

Changes in the business situation in the past thirty days in the Eleventh Federal District seemed to be overwhelmed by the improved market position of cotton. The monthly review of business and industrial conditions in the district, issued by the Federal

PLANET'S NO. 21 BURNETT SWABS 500

New Producer 300 Feet to South of Discovery Well Shows Up for Best Drilled in New Sand.

Five Other Tests Searching for New Pay Sand; Bridwell Test Misses and Is Going Deeper.

Reported as swabbing at the rate of 500 barrels a day, the Planet Petroleum Company is completing its No. 21 Burnett, in the new 1,600 foot sand, drilled into the sand Tuesday. The new well is 300 feet south of the discovery well of this deeper sand, and is showing up for considerably the best of the wells drilled so far in this new sand in the South Electra shallow field.

The Planet now has three wells in this new sand, drilling two deep tests, and deepening the third from the 1,400 foot sand. The latest completion extends the sand a location to the south.

East and slightly north of the new well the Gladiolus Oil Company's No. 28 Burnett is drilling around 1,300 feet and the Planet had a fourth test going down to the new sand in this same neighborhood.

The Bridwell test on the Wagoner, after failing to get production in the 1,600-foot sand, is now on a deeper sand, around 1,800 feet, and is setting casing preparatory to testing.

CONVERSATION CONTROL FOR SENATE DRAWN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—A resolution embodying the new republican plan to curb senate debate was introduced in the senate late today by Senator Townsend, republican, Michigan. He and other republicans, however, said the cloture plan would not be pressed immediately and certainly not during consideration of the tax revision bill.

The new cloture proposals met with instant and bi-partisan opposition. Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, inquired if it was proposed to adopt the drastic house rules and Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, asked Senator Townsend if he would be willing to add a provision requiring all senators to be present when the senate was in session.

The Townsend resolution which was referred to the rules committee, provided for invocation of cloture by majority vote instead of the two thirds vote now required.

"I believe the country and a majority of congress are in favor of doing business," said Senator Townsend in reply to critics of the resolution. The rule, he added, will simply "give us an opportunity to act on the business of the senate."

Senator Townsend points out that under the proposed rule, after cloture was adopted, probably after many days debate on a bill, each senator would have one hour alloted him or possibly a total of ninety-six additional hours of debate.

TELLS HOW KLAN HEADS ARE PAID

"Grand Goblin" Announces Amount Initial "Donation" Received by Officials.

By Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 29.—There are approximately 700,000 members of the Ku Klux Klan in the United States, Charles W. Love of Indianapolis, grand goblin of the organization with jurisdiction over Ohio, Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky and West Virginia, told County Prosecutor Edward C. Stanton and Chief of Police Frank W. Smith today.

Love voluntarily appeared before Stanton and Chief Smith. He said he came here from Chicago when he learned that a grand jury investigation had been ordered.

Love was in conference with the officials more than four hours, during which he explained the constitution of the order, how much various officials receive as commission on initiation fees, which he called "donations," and withheld only information regarding membership.

He promised to produce the books and records of the local branch tomorrow.

"The membership roll is secret and it is in Atlanta, Georgia, the headquarters of the order," Mr. Love told his interrogators.

Both Prosecutor Stanton and Chief Smith questioned Love at length about night riding activities of the Ku Klux Klan and tar and feathering episodes credited to masked members of the organization.

"Any member doing anything like that would not only be expelled from the order, but would be handed over to the proper authorities," he replied.

There is no initiation fee, Love told Stanton. One of the requirements of membership, he said, is a donation of $10 which goes to a propagation fund.

The salary of Wizard Simmons, Love stated, is $100 a week. Kleagles in charge of state sub-divisions get $3 for each member secured, a king kleagle in charge of the state $1 on each member in his real, and a grand goblin, of whom there are nine, receives fifty cents on each member in his domain.

FOUR CLASSES OF NAVAL RESERVE ARE ABOLISHED

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Four of the six classes constituting the naval reserve will be practically abolished tomorrow as a result of an order issued by Secretary Denby tonight, giving members of the classes the option of being disenrolled or transferred without pay to class six, the volunteer section. The order, affecting about 195,000 men, was made necessary, Mr. Denby explained by lack of adequate funds to continue the reserve organizations.

In addition to class six, class one, comprising former officers of the regular service holding honorable discharges and enlisted men with at least sixteen years service, was excepted from the order.

Wife Tells How Plans for Second Honeymoon Were Shattered; Poet Husband Loves French "War Bride"

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 29.—Mrs. Mary Blake Woodson Shippey late today was granted a divorce from Lee Shippey, former Missouri newspaper man and overseas welfare worker during the war. The court awarded Mrs. Shippey $100 a month alimony, $30 a month for the support of their young son and $75 attorney's fees.

The decree came after Mrs. Shippey had been on the witness stand about five hours. Dressed in black and walking with the aid of crutches, Mrs. Shippey, who is herself a writer, told of supporting herself during her husband's absence in France, of planning a second honeymoon when he should return and going to New York to meet him. She testified she even bought a second trousseau, but the only article in it which seemed to interest her husband was a French shirtwaist, made by Madeleine Babin, a French girl, which he had sent her from Paris.

She said that her husband wrote her of going to live with the Babins, mother and two daughters, and that he led her to believe the daughters were children of 11 or 12. He wrote her, Mrs. Shippey testified, that he called the girls "little sister" and that they called him "big brother." He met the girl, she said, while she was going to lay flowers on French soldiers' graves.

Mrs. Shippey testified that her husband was cold toward her after his return and found fault with all her efforts to please, "nothing I did was right," she said. "He grumbled over paying ten cents to ride busses in New York and said in Paris it only cost two cents. When he went into a restaurant, he wanted French cooking, and when the waiter couldn't understand what he wanted, he would swear like a blue streak. It was a ghastly home-coming."

From New York, Mrs. Shippey testified, she and her husband came to Kansas City. She said she frequently questioned him while in New York and asked him whether a French girl was the reason for the change in his attitude toward her, and that he denied this impatiently.

Mrs. Shippey told of the French girl arriving in Kansas City about six weeks after Shippey's return from France. He kept her presence a secret from his wife for many weeks, Mrs. Shippey said.

She also told of the subsequent birth to the girl of a child, parentage of which Shippey acknowledged, and which was named Henry George Shippey. It was brought out that Shippey is now in Tampico, Mexico. Madeline Babin and her son were said to be in Monterey, Mexico.

BRADY PLANS PROSECUTION OF ARBUCKLE

After Spending Day in Seclusion Comedian and Party Leave for Los Angeles.

By Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 29.—District Attorney Matthew Brady late today called a conference of his staff leaders to plan details for the prosecution with the least possible delay of Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Miss Virginia Rappe. It is the contention of prosecution that Miss Rappe received fatal injury from Arbuckle at a party in the comedian's suite at the hotel St. Francis here September 5.

Brady called to the conference his three assistants in the case, Milton U'Ren, Isadore Golden and Joseph O'Conner and it was announced that the earliest date open on the superior court calendar is October 3, but that formalities might delay opening of the case until after that time.

Police Judge Sylvain Lazarus, who yesterday reduced the charge of murder against Arbuckle to one of manslaughter, today answered a statement by the district attorney scoring the judge's action. Judge Lazarus called Brady's charge "silly" and he had received commendation on his stand from many persons interested in the case.

Arbuckle spent today in seclusion at the residence of his brother, Arthur Arbuckle in San Francisco.

Accompanied by his wife, her mother and his attorney, he left San Francisco at 8 o'clock tonight.

TWO WOMEN APPLY WHIP TO ANOTHER

By Associated Press.

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 29.—Information charging Mrs. George Thomas and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Orville Thomas with assault with intent to do bodily harm as the result of an alleged whipping inflicted upon Mrs. Billy Dailey, the afternoon of September 20, was filed before Justice J. C. Thompson late today. Mrs. Dailey states in her complaint that she was beaten with a riding whip by the two women a short while after being asked to accompany them for a ride south of the city.

According to the story told by the alleged victim to the county attorney several days ago, and made public tonight, the women requested her company for a ride in an automobile. When the car reached a point several miles south of the city, she was taken from the automobile, tied to a tree and whipped, after being accused by Mrs. George Thomas with undue familiarity with her husband, George Thomas, a tire salesman.

Warrants for the accused women were issued this afternoon.

By Associated Press.

MOSCOW, Sept. 29.—The famine situation is so serious in the Volga region that William N. Haskell, in charge of American relief administration work, in Russia, has announced that the children fed by his organization in Petrograd will be limited to 15,000 and in Moscow to 20,000. This action has been made necessary in order that more food shall be offered the Volga district where the village children, Colonel Haskell says, actually are dying of starvation, while city children are passing through on evacuation trains on which there is great suffering because of the lack of heat, food and clothing.

WANDERER EXHIBITS SANG FROID

Plays Cards as Expiation for Death of "Poor Boob" Draws Near.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Carl Wanderer, who is to hang at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning for the murder of Edward J. Ryan, the "poor boob" who he hired for $5 to stage a fake hold-up and then killed, at the same time killing his wife and her unborn babe spent his last night tonight playing cards.

Wanderer dined on chicken, the gift of a local restaurateur who for years has donated last dinners to condemned murderers. Then he resumed his card game, which had continued in the death cell throughout the afternoon while Governor Small was hearing and denying his final plea for life.

When told by Jailer Lawrence that the governor had denied his plea, Wanderer said:

"Well what of it? I am ready to go."

Then, turning back to his guards, with whom he was playing, he remarked:

"That last trick's mine. I played the ace of spades."

MINE WORKERS VOTE TO FIGHT TO SAVE UNION

Claim Litigation Has Cost Million and a Half and Has Nearly Depleted Treasury.

By Associated Press.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 29.—Although facing a wide range of litigation, the United Mine Workers of America, in convention here today, declared in favor of continuing the union's resistance, which, it is said, already has cost more than $1,500,000.

The convention approved a committee report declaring the litigation was a part of a "nationwide conspiracy to destroy the power and usefulness" of the union.

"If this thing goes on," said William Green, international treasurer, "I am in favor of going into court and saying: 'Here we are, do with us as you please.'"

Mr. Green said the cost of litigation, including the "high priced" attorneys, placed such a strain on the union's treasury that practically all he collects in taxes is paid out for legal costs.

The litigation involving the union includes two cases pending in the supreme court in which lower courts held the international union was responsible for damages resulting from unauthorized strikes, the soft coal conspiracy cases charging officials with violation of the Sherman anti-trust law an dthe suit to prevent efforts to unionize the unorganized fields of West Virginia and Kentucky.

The convention directed that further effort be made to get financial aid from the American Federation of Labor.

Before taking up the matter of litigation, the convention without debate adopted a committee report commending the union officials for their "zeal, fidelity and intelligence" in the settlement of the 1919 strike.

ROBBERS MAY BE ARRESTED IN SHORT TIME

Oklahoma City Officer Declares He Knows Five of Six Bandits in Mail Hold-up Yesterday.

By Associated Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 29.—Declaring that he knows five of the six men who held up and robbed Santa Fe number five yesterday morning three miles south of Edmond, an Oklahoma City officer early this morning said that he expected their arrests within a few hours. All of the men are veterans, he said, and connected with daring robberies of the United States mails in various parts of the southwest.

One has been under surveillance of federal officials for several months, following his release from the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 29.—Postal authorities and police tonight were working on the theory that "timers" were responsible for the holding up and robbing of a United States mail train three miles south of Edmond, Oklahoma, early this morning.

A special detail of postal inspectors was expected to arrive in Oklahoma City tomorrow morning from Kansas City to assist Inspector C. P. Johnson in the case. Nearly 100 deputy United States marshals have been actively detailed to the search by Alva McDonald, United States marshal.

It will be several weeks before the amount of money taken in the robbery will be known, officials said tonight.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 29.—A telegram was received today by post-office officials here from Postmaster General Hays authorizing the offering of a reward of $30,000 for the capture of the bandits who held up Train No. 5 of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad near here, last night and robbed a mail car. The reward is in the form of $5,000 for each of the six men who participated in the robbery.

Later the total reward offered for the robbers was brought to $39,000 when officials of the railroad posted an offer of $1,000 for each of the six men and Governor J. B. A. Robertson announced a reward of $500 for each.

Belief that the robber gang was composed of at least in part of men who are or have been in the employ of the railroad was expressed today by Santa Fe officials today when the details of the robbery revealed that the engine and mail car, after being cut off from the rest of the train, were driven a quarter of a mile down the track by one of the robbers. An accomplice who boarded the engine with him covered the engineer and fireman with a rifle while he took the throttle. Henry Gibson of Purcell Okla., the engineer, said he handled the throttle skilfully.

Fred Jones was in charge of the mail car. Clinton Swing and Fred Large were his assistants. All are from Newton, Kan.

The men who cut off the mail car boarded the train at Edmond, 12 miles north of here. As the train approached a camp fire in the right of way, one of the robbers uncoupled the mail car from the rear part of the train and the other two entered the engine cab. The train was stopped and three other men ran up from the camp fire and boarded the mail car which was then drawn away from the train and looted. The robbers left in an automobile which was awaiting them.

VOLIVA THINKS NEWTON'S LAW IS "ALL BUNK"

By Associated Press.

ZION CITY, Ill., Sept. 29.—With a book, a toy balloon, a feather and a brick, Wilbur Glenn Voliva, overseer of Zion, last night demonstrated, his disbelief in Newton's theory that objects fall because they are pulled by gravity to the center of the earth.

"There is no such thing as a 'law of gravitation,'" declared the successor to Alexander Dowie, who recently announced that the earth was flat and had no motion, in his Wednesday night address at Shiloh tabernacle.

"They write books on the 'law of gravitation,'" Voliva said. "There is no such thing. It is a lot of bunk. How is it that the 'law of gravitation' can pull a toy balloon and cannot pull up a brickbat?"

LEAGUE MAY HALT WHITE SLAVE TRADE

Assembly Adopts Innovation in Asking Delegates to Seek Permission to Make Treaty.

By Associated Press.

GENEVA, Sept. 29.—The assembly introduced an important innovation in the work of the League of Nations today by deciding to ask the delegates to solicit from their different governments full powers to sign during the present session the conventions for repression of the white slave traffic.

The French delegation held this was equivalent to the negotiation of international treaties by the league, pointing out the danger of such procedure and insisting that the governments ought to be allowed at least two or three months in which to study the new conventions.

The disagreement in the assembly was based upon the report respecting the white slave traffic, presented by the convention last June, dealing with the age of consent and providing greater facilities for the extradition of persons accused of this traffic and also more stringent regulations in connection with immigration and emigration.

Four Murders Are Charged Against Connecticut Man

By Associated Press.

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Sept. 29.—Emil Schutte, a Haddam storekeeper, was indicted today, charged with four murders. One count accused him of shooting Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ball and Jacob Ball, their 17-year-old son, and the count of shooting Dennis Ladue, Schutte's farm hand, who disappeared last April 14.

The home of the Balls, adjoining Schutte's was set afire December 10, 1915, and the state alleges the balls were shot to death when they attempted to flee from the flames. The state said there had been a boundary dispute.

Schutte was arrested recently when his son complained he had chased Mrs. Schutte from her home, gun in hand. The state police were told by another son of a quarrel with Ladue and were shown a bon fire pile. There bones were found. The police assert the bones were Ladue's.

TEMPERATURE TAKES SLIDE THURSDAY

North Wind Drives Mercury to Low Mark of Season; Promise of Winter Looked For.

Panhandle and Northwest Oklahoma Shiver in Grip of First Norther of New Season.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Weather bureau records of 23 years for September 29 were broken today when the thermometer reached 85 degrees at 3 p. m. The heat was broken early this evening by a thundershower.

Blankets were pulled out and overcoats and wraps taken down and placed close to hand in Wichita Falls Thursday when the temperature, already noticeable lower than the mark of Wednesday, when it touched 90 in the afternoon, struck the toboggan just before noon, giving credence to the forecast of coldier weather through the traveling south and east of the norther which earlier in the morning gripped Northwestern Oklahoma and the Panhandle of Texas. A north wind noticeable late in the day, had died down early in the night.

Thursday's highest mark was a dozen degrees under Wednesday's high figure, according to the Art thermometer, and from this the mercury steadily fell off until it was hovering around 66 at midnight, the low mark of the season.

Reports from Amarillo at that time however, indicated a rise of about 7 degrees over the temperature of 52 at 8 o'clock in the morning. The temperature at 8 a. m. stood at 52, the same. Woodward and Frederick on the Northwestern reported temperatures of about 60.

TWO BANDITS ROB CARRIER OF LARGE SUM

By Associated Press.

CARTERVILLE, Ill., Sept. 29.—Two bandits held up and robbed a substitute rural mail carrier between Carterville and Bush, of $41,500, the payroll of the Western Coal and Mining Company at Bush, late this afternoon, it was learned here this evening.

The bandits accompanied Lawrence Jerard, the driver, as passengers in the taxi-cab used to haul the mail from Bush.

Jerard, taking the place of Edward Zimmerman, the regular mail carrier, who is ill, said he was within three miles of completing the trip, when the two bandits ordered him to drive the car into the woods along the roadway, one of them pressing a revolver against his back.

Jerard, according to reports here, was forced out of his automobile and tied to a tree. The men then lifted the mail sacks out of the car and rifled them.

TOUSSAINT TO HAVE HANGED ON THIS DATE

Today is the day on which Henry John Toussaint, more or less docile prisoner now at the county jail, was sentenced to die by Judge B. F. Weldon, following the return of a death verdict by the jury trying him for the murder of his father. Toussaint's execution was automatically stayed by the appeal filed by his attorneys, who are fully convinced that their client will never hang.

In the trial the confession of the killing made by Toussaint to former Police Chief Huff was the principal weapon of offense by the prosecution, while the defense made their unsuccessful fight on the grounds that their client was a sufferer from delusional paranoia.

The jury was out 40 minutes in the case. On the first ballot they unanimously recorded themselves as believing the prisoner was sane, and on the second ballot stood 11 for the death penalty and one for life imprisonment, according to statements by jurors. The third ballot found them unanimous for assessment of the death penalty.

The appeal frankly hangs about the alleged misconduct by jurors, brought up by the defense in their motion for a new trial, which was denied by Judge Weldon.

Toussaint, since an outbreak of a couple of weeks or so ago when he kept most of the inmates of the jail awake for one night by a disturbance in his cell, has been a near model prisoner, as he has been since his arrest, according to attaches of the sheriff's office.

ASYLUM MAY BE ACCEPTED ON FRIDAY

Acceptance of the plant of the Northwestern Insane asylum, and the authorization of work to put it in shape for the receiving of patients, is scheduled for today, when Superintendent White with members of the state board of control were expected in Wichita Falls.

Whether the investigation being conducted by the board at the Gatesville Boys' Training school in connection with the death of one of the boys will delay matters was not known definitely yesterday, but it is not expected to interfere.

It is likely to be late this month before patients can be received in any numbers at the institution.

MAYENCE, Germany, Sept. 29.—General John J. Pershing, chief of staff of the American army, today visited Mayence and reviewed the 5,000 French forces of occupation.

General Pershing, accompanied by Brigadier General Allen, commander of the American forces in Germany, and Colonel Johnson, General Allen's chief of staff, were met ten miles outside Mayence by a squadron of French cavalry and escorted to the city hall, where General DeGoutte, the French commander, and General Guillaumat, were awaiting him. Twenty-one guns were fired in his honor, while 2,000 homing pigeons were released bearing dispatches to all sections of the French occupied zone, announcing the arrival of the American general.

General DeGoutte was host at a luncheon given in honor of General Pershing, who left later for Coblenz.

COBLENZ, Sept. 29.—On his return here from Mayence late this afternoon General Pershing reviewed the American forces in Germany at Island Field, at the confluence of the Moselle and Rhine Rivers. After the review, General Pershing delivered a short speech, saying:

"There has been some conjecture as to my mission here, mingled with reports of the withdrawal of the American forces in Germany and their return to the United States.

"Since most of you here seem to believe that it would be a good time to announce to you what I know concerning the recall of your boys.

"I have made up my mind to tell you now. I am going to tell you frankly, in all confidence, I know nothing about it."

General Pershing was the guest this evening at a dinner given by French High Commissioner Mirard.

MANUFACTURERS ASK FOR TARIFF

ASSERT PROTECTIVE TARIFF WOULD RELIEVE UNEMPLOYMENT

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—A demand for the immediate enactment of an adequate protective tariff bill was voiced tonight in resolutions adopted by more than 1,000 manufacturers from over eighteen states who attended the national conference of state manufacturers' associations.

"The remedy for unemployment is more work in our factories," the resolutions declared, "which is not to be expected as long as a large proportion of our industries are paralyzed by the failure of congress to complete the pending tariff legislation."

The resolutions then declared, "In view of the present depressed conditions of American industry, the abnormally low cost of production abroad, and the unprecedented depreciation of currency of countries seeking to sell their products in the markets of the United States, it is our solemn conviction that it is important that there be no further delay in the enactment of an adequate protective tariff bill and that congress and the administration proceed at once to complete the measures toward this end committed before the nation."

Marching With the Legion

Songs from the clangorous kitchen of a summer resort at White Bear Lake, near St. Paul, Minn., puzzled American Legion service men all during the season until they discovered one Harry Keynston Jones, five-foot Cockney Tommy, the joyous cook. Then they knew why the chef's refrains had sounded so familiar—he acknowledged authorship of the war's favorite, 'Rose of No Man's Land."

As a cook, first class, with a Winnipeg grenadier regiment, Jones wielded the private skillet of Gen. Sir Julian Byng, bivouacked along the Somme. While officiating for his line company, however, the cook became famous with his kitchen police by amusing them with a penny whistle, bought for the express cheer of the overworked culinary staff. Later when his fame as a cook had spread and he was drafted for the officers' mess, Lieut. Col. McRae, who was yet to write "In Flanders Fields," heard the cook's luted lays and the two became friends. Together they produced the words and music of the no man's land song.

Jones was wounded at Cambrai and passed several months in a Canadian hospital. After his discharge he began whistling and singing junketing tour of the States, plying his trade as cook, first class, to defray expenses. Soon after he was "discovered" at St. Paul he departed to see more of America before the summer was over.

For the return of an old army cape because of the war-time sentiment attached to it, the Rev. H. F. MacLane, secretary of the American Legion council at Toledo, Ohio, has announced that he will pay a liberal reward. As chaplain of the 147th infantry, Commander Galbraith's old regiment, Rev. MacLane carried the cape through France and Belgium and on many occasions used it to cover the faces of dead soldiers from the rain while graves were being dug for them. The cape, badly torn by barbed wire, was stolen from MacLane's automobile.

The last legal barrier to the erection of the proposed war memorial building in Indianapolis which will be the home of the American Legion national headquarters, has been removed and construction work will begin this fall. The G. A. R. national headquarters also will be quartered in the memorial building.

An entire company of Indians, members of the American Legion from the old Indian territory, dressed in full regalia of the tribe, will march with the Oklahoma delegation to the national convention at Kansas City, October 31, November 1 and 2. A Creek chieftain who is a post vice commander an dan Indian who once was a prisoner of war of the government will be in the party.

Local bankers and business men are aiding Rainier-Noble post of the American Legion, Seattle, Wash., in promoting the erection of a twelve-story home for the post. A fund of $4,500 for the project was raised at the first meeting of the post to consider the plan. Revenue will be obtained from the rent of eleven stories.

HOWAT WILL GO TO JAIL

By Associated Press.

PITTSBURGH, Kans., Sept. 29.—Alexander M. Howat, president of the Kansas Mine Workers' Union, upon his return here late tonight from Indianapolis where he has attended the international convention of the union, announced that he would not give bond but would go to jail tomorrow to begin serving a six months sentence imposed for violation of a criminal provision of the industrial court law by calling strikes in his district. August Dorchey, vice president of the Kansas union, under similar sentence announced he too would serve his sentence.

The sentences were imposed upon the two men July last and they were given the option of serving their time and of paying a fine of $500 each or to give bond for $2,000 that they would call no further strikes.

While the two union officials were making statements as to their intentions of going to jail preparations went forward in the coal field for a big labor demonstration when the two appear in court at Columbus, Kansas, tomorrow. Virtually every union in the district has declared the day a holiday and special cars have been chartered to take the crowds to Columbus.

In his statement tonight Howat declared to give the bond would constitute a recognition of the industrial court, a thing to which, he said, he would never agree.

SERAJEVO REVEALED TO WILHELM

(NOTE—Scribbled on a little note crammed into a cigarette case which was then flung high through the air from the bridge of a little launch to the deck of the imperial racing yacht; all this in the midst of the pomp and splendor of the famous annual regatta in Kiel Harbor; thus was conveyed to the Kaiser the first news of the assassination at Serajevo which was the spark that set the world aflame seven years ago! It is told here for the first time on this side of the Atlantic, together with other hitherto unknown prewar events. The story is a chapter from the memoirs of Jules Cambon, published in the Revue de France.)

By JULES CAMBON.
Last Ambassador of France at the Kaiser's Court.

PARIS, Sept. 29.—One day I called on Secretary of State (for Foreign Affairs) von Kiderlen-Waechter. With all his faults he had a certain urge for honesty, sometimes displaying even a somewhat brutal frankness; among all the Germans with whom I had official dealings there was scarcely another with whom, generally speaking, I got along so well.

One day, taking to him eye to eye, I said:

"What kind of a devil was it that drove you (Germany) into the Agadir affair? Why did you do it? What was the motive and what did it get you? It gravely compromised the relations between our two countries, almost caused a war, inflamed the nationalistic feeling in France to the exploding point, aroused suspicions in England and even sowed the seed of hostility there—and the result of it all? Even here (Berlin) public opinion is raging against you. Germany considers itself humiliated and is convinced that it has sustained a diplomatic reverse. Why did you send that warship to Agadir?"

He reflected for a few moments, then said:

"I shall answer your questions quite frankly. Last spring our Crown Prince was in England, for hunting. You know how the English are—how they interpret the duties of hospitality, how they captivate and charm a guest. The whole visit of the Crown Prince was one big feast. Politicians, ministers, society people, the most elegant women—particularly the latter—vied for the honor to be introduced to him and to be invited to his receptions.

Short-Sighted Hopes.

"All the speeches he heard fairly oozed with sympathy with and flattery for Germany. All these tributes, feasts and eulogies literally turned his head. He took everything on its face value and returned to Berlin with the conviction that no other prince or sovereign was as popular in England as he himself, that the majority of Britons loved Germany dearly, that England was ever ready to help her, and that France could never move, in the event of a conflict with Germany, to be assisted by England.

"All this he told the Kaiser, heartily underlining every detail, of course. Well, there you are at the very bottom of the Agadir affair."

It has never been accurately told how the Kaiser learned of the assassination of Archduke Francis Ferdinand at Serajevo. It was told to me a few days afterward by one who was present at that memorable scene.

The Kaiser was on his yacht, which he had entered in the Kiel regatta. He was, as usual, busy, excited: he gave orders and personally directed the boat maneuvers. Suddenly a little launch appeared, making straight for the yacht at full speed; she signalled that she wanted to say something to the imperial craft. The Kaiser tried to wave her off with an imperious gesture. The launch, ignoring this, steamed nearer.

Only a few feet separated her from the racing yacht when Admiral Mueller, standing beside the pilot, signalled by pantomime that he had something to deliver. He held a piece of paper high in the air and then placed it ostentatiously in his cigarette case and dexterously threw it upon the deck of the imperial yacht. A sailor picked it up and took it to the Kaiser.

Wilhelm opened the cigarette case, pulled out the crumpled-up telegram unfolded it, grew pale, let it drop, and merely said:

"Now I must begin all over again!"

Then he gave orders to turn and abandoned the regatta."

SAYS DRILLING SHOULD AWAIT $2.50 POSTED PRICE

By Associated Press.

ROMANCE OF BAGDAD WILL BE STOPPED

WASHIGTON, Sept. 29.—Importing a wife from a foreign country has its difficulties, according to Shimon Sargis, who, after paying for the transportation of his intended bride from Mespotamia, getting arrested for speeding and kidnapping, paying out good money for attorney's fees, and being involved in other ways, finds himself just as wifeless as he ever was. The secretary of labor has just given the final jolt to Sargis.

The story starts way back in the days before the World War, when Sargis left his home in Persia and came to the United States, leaving behind all the acquaintances of his youth. Among the friendships which he had formed was that of a family named Polos, consisting of a father, mother and a small daughter, black-eyed and pretty, but still a mere child. During the ten years that followed little Blandina Polos forgot that she ever knew Shimon Sargis, but not so easily was memory of the little child effaced from Sargis' recollection.

Meantime things had gone hard with the little family of Assyrians in Persia. The war came and with it renewed attacks and religious persecutions on the part of the Turks and Kurds. Father Polos was killed and the mother and little Blandina wandered from place to place with other refugees, arriving three years ago at Bagdad. Here they remained while many of their friends, fortunate in having relatives or others in America who had means to assist them, left for the United States.

Then one day Mother Polos received a letter from Sargis. He loved little Blandina, now approaching young womanhood, and he wanted to marry her. He sent money to pay her passage. Blandina did not remember him, but what did that matter? Times were hard in Bagdad and there was no relief in sight. Could anything be worse than the refugee camp in which they had been living for three years? So reasoned mother and daughter and the question was decided.

Wherein Sargis Wins.

The mother instinct to protect her child was strong in Mother Polos, and while realizing the good offer of Sargis, she thought to further safeguard her daughter by appealing to her nephew, David Jacobs, who had been in this country twelve years and who had become a citizen. In quaint, little-used language the mother wrote Jacobs asking him to send for Segis, then living in Bridgeport, Conn., and "if you like the young man you can use your judgment in giving the girl to him in marriage."

The next chapter in the little drama was enacted in the imigration section at Boston, where Blandina rived with friends. When they arrived they were dismayed to find that the 3 per cent immigration law prevented them from entering the country. Cousin Jacobs, meantime, had received the appeal of Mother Polos and was waiting blandian with open arms, nor did Sargis forget that his prospective bride was arriving on this steamer. Then, when the joyful news was received from Washington that the Assyrians arriving in excess of the quota were to be allowed to come into the United States, there were too many desiring that Blandina should make her home with them. Perhaps the mother's wishes would have been carried out from the beginning of the immigration authorities known of the trust that was given by the nephew David Jacobs, but they did not. Blandina was admitted in company with David Ellis and his family who were bringing her to her betrothed.

When the immigration station doors closed behind this immigrant party Sargis was awaiting with an automobile and away they sped. Upon learning that Blandina was slipping away Cousin Jacobs was furious. He hailed a taxi and started in hot pursuit. He caught the party and had the young lover arrested for kidnapping. It mattered little to him that he was arrested for speeding.

The court held hearings and meantime turned Blandina over to the House of the Good Shepherd. The action to be taken seemed to revolve upon the girl's age. Her passport showed that she was but fourteen; she looked sixteen, while Sargis claimed she was seventeen. Sargis' father was willing to keep the girl for his son until it was proved that she was old enough to marry, but the court, after admitting as evidence the two letters from Mother Polos to David Jacobs, decided that Blandina should be turned over to her cousin.

This decision did not satisfy Shimon Sargis. He appealed his case to Secretary of Labor Davis and insisted that something be done by the immigration authorities to secure to him the bride which he had imported. The Immigration Bureau ordered the girl arrested and returned to the Commissioner of Immigration, so that the case of her admission might again be heard, and the facts determined as to who had the best interest of the girl at heart. Both sides were heard—the life's history of each was told—stories of immigrants who years before had come to America and had partaken of its advantages and found them good.

The final result was the upholding of the court's decree that in view of Blandina's youth she be given into the care of the cousin who promised to care for her, and allow her some three or four years hence to decide whether she should or should not marry Shimon Sargis.

Wanted Regular Meals, Too.

Egbert, the "egg king," was about to make a contract with a new manager, who carefully pointed out the requirements of the situation.

"I understand," he said, "that you eat six dozen eggs at a sitting?"

"I do indeed," responded the applicant for the place.

"I suppose," said the manager, "that you know that we have four shows every day and six on Saturday, while on holidays we frequently give a performance every hour."

Egbert hesitated. "In that case," he finally said, "I must have something clearly understood before I sign a contract, and that is that no matter how rushing the business is I must have time to eat my regular meals at the hotel."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

His Courage.

Pearl had just become engaged and Phyllis was naturally dying to know all about it.

"Oh, do tell me, Pearl!" she said at last. "How did Mr. Timmidun ever pluck up enough courage to propose? He is so dreadfully bashful?"

"Oh," exclaimed Pearl, "he seemed to do it easily enough! I merely asked him if he didn't think moter would make an ideal mother-in-law, and replied at once."

"Oh, what did he say?" asked Phyllis.

"He said he thought she would," replied Pearl.

"What then?"

"Nothing. I just told him the kind of ring I wanted."—Answers, London.

AUGUST SHOWING OF PETROLEUM.

A total production of 40,964,000 barrels was recorded for August. Oklahoma led all states with a total of 10,217,000 barrels, an increase of 12,000 barrels. California showed a total production of 10,026 barrels, a drop of 221,000 barrels. Texas produced 8,105,000 barrels, an increase of 25,000 barrels. Arkansas produced 1,900,000 barrels, an increase of 500,000 barrels which is regarded as a remarkable increase. During the month decrease of imports registered more than 4,500,000 barrels and the increase in consumption was 1,250,000 barrels. This resulted in a substantial check to the accumulation of stock that had been in progress for many months. Stocks during August increased only 671,000 barrels. There appears to be money in pertoleum.

GOSS POINTED THE WAY.

According to the statisticians the United States has 36,617,584 cotton spindles. In the Southern States North Carolina has 5,228,266; South Carolina has 5,013,538; Alabama, 1,288,096; Georgia, 2,684,825; Tennessee, 415,593. Massachusetts leads with 11,810,563. North Carolina ranks second in number of spinners and South Carolina third. What of Texas the banner cotton producing state and the banner buying state, speaking of cotton goods. Well, George Robinson tells it in his intimitable way. He says that there are not enough spindles to be enumerated "save with other states." He says not a pound of cotton is grown in Massachusetts and yet the Bay state leads all the rest. He says the two Carolinas in combination are close contestants of Masachusetts and what is more to the point the Carolinas spin more cotton than they grow. Hon. D. F. Goss of Baylor County points the way; when Texas mills and factories consume Texas cotton and wool, Texas will be the richest and the greatest of all American states.

There is no justification for any world-wide rise in prices at this time, according to a circular issued by the National Bank of Commerce, New York, which adds the opinion that "retail prices can not go up without promptly curtailing buying. They must be reduced until they are in line with raw materials." Because of uncertainty as to what the consumer can and will buy, retailers generally are ordering with great caution, the circular says. The view is expressed that the adoption at any stage from manufacturer to consumer of a policy directed toward generally higher prices to the consumer will not only curtail buying, but will result in slowing down the gratifying progress already made.

A ten per cent reduction of wages of field and office employes of the Sinclair Oil Corporation has been announced, acording to Houston advice, with the understanding that wages are to be raised again as soon as the prices of oil justify. Oil prices advanced in Pittsburgh on the very day that the reduction was announced.

WORK OF THE POSTOFFICE DEPARTMENT.

With its 300,000 employes the postal establishment handles 1,700,000 letters an hour, says the magazine Nation's Business. It sells one stamp daily to every two million of the over one hundred million people, a total of 14,000,000,000 stamps sold annually. Besides these the postoffice sells 9,000,000 stamped envelopes daily.

The annual turnover of the postal establishment is $3,000,000,000, with expenses of nearly $600,000,000.

It satisfies debts to the amount of $1,500,000,000 through the sale of 150,000,000 money orders annually.

Over 2,500,000,000 parcels are handled annually by the parcel post.

The earth could be wrapped around thirty times with the twine we use in tying mail in bundles annually; 800,000 miles of twine is thus used.

How would you like to find $55,000 without any claimant. The Dead Letter Office does that every year. The careless public either puts no address on the envelope or only partially addresses it.

The Dead Letter Office handles 19,000,000 undelivered letters annually. The New York postoffice alone handles over 250,000 misdirected letters daily, re-addressing them from city directories before they can be delivered. It costs the taxpayers millions of dollars to correct their own carelessness.

The growth of the parcel post since its establishment in 1913 has been enormous. The estimated total number of parcels carried has increased, in round numbers, from 332,000,000 in 1913 to over 2,500,000,000 in 1921. With this increase in the number of parcels, there has also been a decided increase in the size and weight of parcels. It is now the greatest express facility in the world. One can well imagine how such a growth would affect the mail service, with its facilities never quite adequate and almost at a standstill during the period of the war. As a result of this condition, serious consideration must be given to providing additional buildings in the leading postal centers for the specific purpose of handling parcel post packages.

In order to prevent any delay to other classes of mail, such as letters, it has been suggested that parcel post be handled separately from other classs of mail in the congested transportation routes. This involves great expenditures of money for buildings and equipment, and with the great burden of debt on the government, which must be considered, the solution of this particular problem becomes doubly difficult. It is being approached, however, from every angle, and it is proposed, as rapidly as possible, to meet these conditions without too great a tax upon the public treasury.

ALFALFA SMITH—PUBLIC BENEFACTOR.

Col. R. E. Smith of Grayson county is dead. He came to Texas from Mississippi when he was nineteen. Sherman was his home for fifty years. He was a college bred farmer and known everywhere as Alfalfa Smith. At one time he had 1800 acres of alfalfa on his large farm near Sherman. He owned from 20 to 30 farms at one time. He was a successful farmer and he taught thousands how to farm properly. Alfalfa Smith was a public benefactor. He conquered the wilderness. He demonstrated the value of scientific farming. He was an apostle of diversification for fifty years, and wherever he planted the seed sprouted and blossomed. Texas lost a valuable citizen when Alfalfa Smith passed on to his reward. He was a doer of things. There is a vast difference between a doer of things and a mumbler of words. The doer of things creates or builds; the sayer or mumbler of words criticises and seeks to pull down the creation of others. Would that there were a hundred thousand Alfalfa Smiths in Texas.

William Slavens McNutt is a magazine writer and an American newspaper correspondent. He says good liquor is cheaper and more easily obtainable in the state of Washington than before national prohibition went into effect. It retails at $10 a quart and British Columbia bootleggers furnish the juice. There are no distilleries in the state of Washington; there are no breweries; there are no saloons and the men who can afford to pay $10 to a bootlegger every time they need a drink would not constitute a very large army in the state of Washington or elsewhere. John Barleycorn has been banished. He is an outlaw and outlaws under American skies travel a rock road.

Austria is bankrupted; the Austrian franc has declined further, reaching the mark of 2,000 to the dollar. There is no demand for the Austrian mark in this country. It isn't a good gamble.

Rippling Rhymes

OLD FRIENDS.

Old friends drop in from time to time, and to stale histories give tongue, and talk about the far-off clime wherein we dwelled when we were young. It always shocks me when I meet some friend I knew in days gone by, who used to walk on buoyant feet, and who was eager, strong and spry. For we remember old time friends as we last saw them, years ago, forgetting how time's passage lends to ruddy locks the sheen of now. Just yesterday James Foster Prigg came feebly hobbling to my lair; once he was strong and bold and big, and fit to whip a grizzly bear. And he excelled in manly games, untired he roamed the woodland ways; and thus I always thought of James, the hero of my younger days. And now he's bent and weak and ill; his voice a cackle, shrill and drear, and when he has to climb a hill he always shifts to second gear. I showed amazement as I stood and watched him creaking to my door; was this the hero who withstood the greensward champions of yore? "Great Scott," he cried, "can this be you, who once was pleasing to the sight? And now your girth obstructs the view, your piebald whiskers are a sight." We waked old memories that slept, and dragged them forth at bitter cost; and as we talked we sighed and wept, each found the other such a frost.—Copyright by George Matthew Adams.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

A SLICE OF LIFE.

He came to tea
His mother and sister gooy-lye.
The girl was very young,
She talked and talked
While the mother smiled
And said not a word,
But gazed adoringly into his eyes.
When the train gave its jerk of warning
She clutched his arm.
Jokingly he tipped her hat aside
And then walked nonchalantly off.
But soon he was at the window
Plaguing and teasing her.
As the car pulled out
She frantically called:
"Freddy, Freddy, drink only the water
That's on the ice,
And don't eat all them pies at once."

The fact that society has been shocked several times because rich men have "married beneath them" has caused us personally quite a bit of mental anguish. Saw three or four cases mentioned recently where this party and that wed out of their station in life. Wasn't that terrible? It always hurts our feelings to have society shocked like that. Also, several young women have married horsey men. One married a policeman. What are we coming to? Perhaps some of us are coming to our senses.

THE PARTING.

The waters 'mid their lilies slept;
Wood odors wrapt me sweet and wild,
Below, where trailing willows wept,
A mirrored haven smiled.

And as I watched the moveless tide,
Two birds met in the midmost blue.
A moment, touched, then circled wide
And from each other flew.

Flew far away, nor met again,
One winging east, one winging west;
And suddenly an ancient pain
Pierced my remembering breast.

Breakfast Stories

A London temperance orator was in the habit of holding forth in a workman's hall, and was constantly being interrupted.

The next time he lectured in that hall he engaged a prize fighter to sit in the gallery and keep order. He was contrasting the clean content of home life with the squalor of drunkenness.

"What do we want when we return from our daily toil?" he asked. "What do we desire to ease our burdens, to gladden our hearts, to bring smiles to our lips and joy to our eyes?"

As the orator paused for breath the prize fighter shook his fist at the unruly members of the gallery and whispered in a loud undertone:

"Mind yer, the first bloke what says 'beer,' out he goes!"

Two London actor-folk met in Maiden Lane.

ASKS FITTS TO DO WHAT HENRY CAN'T

Police Commissioners are supposed to know a good deal about the department of public safety but the head of the local department believes its going a little bit too far to expect him to do something to a Ford car that Henry himself couldn't do.

A feminine voice on the phone Thursday asked to talk to Commissioner Fitts.

When informed that he was out at the time, she let go of the following: "I wish you would ask him when he comes in how I can make the tail light of one of these old fashioned country Fords burn when it is parked without the motor running. I don't mind obeying the order against parking cars at night without leaving the tail light burning as he asked us to do, but I don't see how I can when my Ford just isn't built that way."

When Chief Morgan repeated the conversation, Mr. Fitts told him to advise her that the police were not mechanics and were chiefly concerned with cutting down accidents caused by automobile drivers running into cars parked without lights and that he would advise this lady to make a place in her yard or garage to keep the car.

"Or she might pick it up under her arm and carry it into the house with her," he added.

ARCHER CITY

ARCHER CITY, Texas, Sept. 29.—W. C. Young, president of the Archer County Hereford Breeders' Association, has issued the following call: "The Archer County Hereford Breeders' Association, composed of Hereford cattle breeders of Wichita, Archer, Young, Jack, Throckmorton and Baylor counties, will hold its regular fall show and public sale of registered Hereford cattle at Archer City on Saturday, October 29. While conditions are pretty hard in the cattle industry, the officers and directors of this association have decided that the show and sale be held. All cattle listed for sale will go to the highest bona fide bidders, the association having passed a strict rule prior to the sale last March against direct or indirect by-bidding."

CHILDRESS

CHILDRESS, Texas, Sept. 29.—Secretary Barron states that the total gross receipts for the Childress Fair will range around $10,000 and it is hoped that this will be sufficient to cover all expenses. Quite a large deficit was brought over from last year and if this year's business is all cleared off by the revenue the management will be well pleased.

Mickie & Jones made a hog exhibit at the Oklahoma State Fair and the fine herd boar Sensation Type was adjudged grand champion and other Childress hogs won fine distinction. This is regarded as a great triumph for the Texas hog as the Oklahoma swine show is one of the best that will be held in the United States this season.

DOCTOR OF CIRCUS IS BUSY MAN

The Hagenbeck-Wallace circus is a typical transient city. It carries its own physician, Dr. George Fox, a successful and popular physician and surgeon of Muncie, Ind. With the circus Dr. Fox is kept going from early morning until late at night, having some times fifty calls to make, frequently some are serious cases.

In former days a circus could have ployes, people and not know it until it was too late to avoid trouble, but the Hagenbeck-Wallace people are closely watched and scrutenized by the circus physician and management, and in case of any symptoms of anything contagious the condition of the victim is quickly discovered and arrangements made to place him or her in a hospital.

The circus carries a hospital tent where emergency cases are given prompt attention. Dr. Fox is employed by the circus on a straight salary for the protection of the employees.

The lure of the circus, especially one of the high character of the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus seems to appeal to professional men as well as to all other classes. The average person seems not to be immune from the circus microbe in some form. Not a season passes but that lawyers, editors, and physicians apply to the Ocircus management by the score. Of course these places are already filled by capable men and it is the rule of the management not to make changes in the staff unless absolutely necessary.

ARREST TWO FOLLOWING BIG FIRE

Said to have been connected with the supposed incendiary origin of the fire which destroyed Johnson Brothers' store at Breckenridge, on August 15, Drew Brown and H. L. Johnson were arrested here Thursday morning by officers from the constable's department and by C. M. Moline, deputy fire marshall.

According to Mr. Moline the two men are wanted in Stephens county on arson charges in connection with the burning of the Johnson Brothers' store.

Mr. Moline said the store burned carrying a total of $75,000 insurance.

The two men were returned to Breckenridge Thursday.

Who's Who

COL. MASON M. PATRICK.

President Harding has named Col. Mason Mathews Patrick of the corps of engineers to be chief of the air service, with the rank of major general.

It is said that army circles were not surprised at his nomination, for his name had been mentioned continually since it was known that Maj. Gen. Mencher had been asked to be released as head of the air service.

Col. Patrick is a native of West Virginia and was appointed from that state to the military academy in 1882. During the war he was first appointed a brigadier general of the national army and served in that rank as chief engineer, service of supply, American expeditionary forces, in charge of the gigantic construction program in the supply zones in France.

Later, when difficulty arose with the air program of the expeditionary forces, he was selected by Gen. Pershing as chief of the air service, and in that capacity served the remainder of that war. On his return to the United States he was assigned to duty as commander of the engineer camp at Camp Humphrey, Virginia, where he is now on duty.

Secretary Weeks said recently that Col. Patrick's services as chief of the air service in France had been of a very high quality and the war secretary warmly commended the officer's capacity for organization even ehfore it was known that Col. Patrick was to be named to succeed Maj. Gen. Mencher.

Col. Patrick is fifty-eight years old.

Acceptable.

"I don't know whether I'm acceptable to her or not."

"No."

If you drop soot on the carpet cover it with a coating of dry salt before you attempt to sweep it up.

When you need a cold cloth and haven't ice, try wringing a cloth out of cold water and shaking briskly in the air. The rapid evaporation will give you almost an ice-cold compress.

"PRINCESSES" FROM EVERY STATE TO ATTEND COTTON BALL

Three of the American "princesses." At left, Miss Mary John Overall of Nashville, chosen by Gov. Taylor to represent Tennessee; center, Miss Ednah Da Pron, Denver, chosen by Gov. Shoup to represent Colorado, and Miss Dorothy Richardson, Shreveport, chosen by Gov. Parker to represent Louisiana.

America has no titles but that doesn't mean Uncle Sam has no fair princesses within his borders. A princess was recently chosen by the governor of each state in the union to represent his state at the annual cornation ball at the Cotton Palace at Waco, Tex., where "King Cotton" is crowned yearly. Princesses from several Mexican states also were invited. Above are three of the American princesses chosen by the governors of their respective states.

With the Women of Today

Miss Sophie Boellert.

Here is one "woman boss" girls like to work for. She is Miss Sophie Boellert of Boise, Idaho. Miss Boellert is a stockholder and director of one of the largest department stores in the state. She has been connected with the institution for twenty years and during that time has built up four departments which are directly under her supervision. This achievement surely attests her right to speak with authority.

The question of liking to work under a "woman boss" is never heard of in Miss Boellert's establishment.

"Take an intrest in the girls' health and happiness and, above all, don't be condescending," is her recipe for success in supervising the work of other women.

"Too many women executives have the mistaken idea that they must continually assume a superior air with women employes. Personally, I think a sympathetic interest in a girl brings far better results.

"I do insist, however, that my girls show a desire for efficiency. They must have an ambition to better themselves. The woman in authority must possess and demonstrate those traits in her own work which she demands of others.

"I consider justice and sincerity the most important of all. A girl knows instantly and resents it if one becomes patronizing, and once her confidence is lost it is difficult to regain it."

Health for the business woman is one of Miss Boellert's hobbies. She believes it is quite as essential as appropriate dress.

"We have finally convinced men that we are their equal as far as mentality is concerned," is Miss Boellert's opinion, "but they usually say to us, 'You are not strong enough for the business strain.' Let us abolish this last barrier to our entrance into the business world as co-partners with men by giving the coming generation proper physical training."

Preserving Green Tomatoes—Select well developed green tomatoes. Wash, drain and pack them into containers which have been thoroughly washed and scalded. Cover with a weak brine made as follows: Three-fourths cup salt, one cup of vinegar to each gallon of water. Put in a moderately warm place to ferment. Then remove to a cool place and seal with paraffin. These may be kept the entire winter, freshened for use as a salad or made into a relish or green tomato mince meat.

String beans and cucumbers may be treated by the same method.

Meat Balls en Casserole—Put on to boil one carrot, one small stalk of celery, diced; one onion cut fine and one cup of dried lima beans which have been soaked thoroughly.

While vegetables are cooking, prepare meat balls as follows: One pound of ground steak, one onion cut fine, pepper and salt to taste. Mix thoroughly with one egg. Form into balls and pat with cold water until damp enough to hold their shape.

Drop into the cooking vegetables and pour over all small can of tomatoes. Allow to cook until thoroughly done and serve in casserole.

Creamed Shrimps on Toast.—Melt four tablespoons of butter in double boiler; add three tablespoons of flour, mix smooth; season liberally with salt and cayenne; pour in one and one-half cups of milk and stir until creamy.

Add one cup of shrimp meat finely minced and one cup of peas (home canned) from which all the juice has been drained. Bring to the boiling point and serve on toast.

Stuffed Head Lettuce With Dressing—Cut head lettuce in halves crosswise and trim. Take out heart of lettuce, leaving hollow shell. Chop the part which has been removed with a very little tarragon vinegar, a bit of onion and some parsley and one tablespoon of pimentos.

Mix with French dressing and return to lettuce cups. Garnish with bits of hard-boiled egg.

CONCERT STAGE AGAIN TO HEAR PADEREWSKI

Ignace Jan Paderewski is going back to the concert platform because that is the only way left for him to gain money for his beloved Poland.

Paderewski announced he had left the stage forever. He declared that even though he faced starvation, he never would play again. He forgot to consider what Poland's starvation would mean to him. Poland is bitterly poor. Recently he offered to sacrifice his one-half million dollar California ranch so he could answer the appeal for aid. The auction failed. Only one means to get money was left to him.

A few days ago Paderewski announced he was leaving to make plans for a tour. It was proof that he still holds his passionate love for his native land and, although 61 years old, he is willing to serve the cause of Poland as he would not serve for himself.

It has been Paderewski's life ream to see Poland free and its people happy. When a young man, he rejected the honor offered him in an invitation from the czar to go to St. Petersburg and play for the imperial court. He declared his reason for refusing was that Russia held Poland in subjection and he could take nothing at the hands of the czar or the Russians.

Some twenty years ago Paderewski had a fine chateau at Morges, on the shor eof Lake Geneva. He had a nephew who was a student in the nearby university town of Lausanne. American and English students promoted a rowing team and chose Paderewski's nephew to be coxswain.

The two-mile row to Morges made a good practice spin, and because Paderewski's nephew was in the crew the members always were sure of a welcome and a fine breakfast at the chateau. There, any talk by the great pianist inevitably led to an impassioned discourse on Poland.

With the opportunity offered by the World War, Paderewski threw himself heart and soul into the Polish cause. He declared he never would play again until Poland should be freed. He raised a Polish legion for service against Germany. With the armistice he became Poland's advocate for national justice. He became Poland's premier. He struggled against the wiles of continental politicians.

At last he despaired and resigned the premiership. He came back to America and retired to his California ranch. Mme. Paderewski said he had "forgotton how to play." Never would he play again, he declared with some heat.

Then came the appeal from Poland. He failed to sell his ranch. So, gray haired and worn, he is ready to go back to the public platform and all the sacrifice of personal comfort because his love for Poland still flames.

DODSON WARNS CALOMEL USERS

It's Mercury! Attacks the Bones, Salivates and Makes You Sick.

There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when a few cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone—a perfect substitute for calomel.

It is a pleasant, vegetable liquid, which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and cannot salivate.

Children and grown folks can take Dodson's Liver Tone, because it is perfectly harmless.

Calomel is a dangerous drug. It is mercury and attacks your bones. Take a dose of nasty calomel today and you will feel weak, sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone instead and you will wake up feeling great. No more biliousness, constiptation, sluggishness, headache, coated tongue or sour stomach. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tone acts better than horrible calomel your money is waiting for you.—Adv.

If the Bus Containing the Yankees Runs Into a Street Car En Route to the Philadelphia Ball Park Today—Well, Cleveland Might Win the Pennant Yet

KERR'S KURVES KREATE KRISIS IN KLEVELAND

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—With "Little Dick" Kerr pitching a masterly game, Chicago virtually ruined Cleveland in the American League pennant race today when he shut out the world's champions, 5 to 0, in the first game of the final four-game series.

To beat New York in the scramble for the flag Cleveland must win its three remaining games and the Yanks lose their remaining three. The margin between the pennant contenders tonight was two and a half games.

Kerr celebrated a day set aside in his honor by holding Cleveland to six hits and with the aid of sensational fielding did not allow a Cleveland player to pass second. The Indians threatened in the fourth, but Kerr started a double play which shattered their hopes.

After the Sox scored two runs in the first Cleveland played a listless game. In the first Johnson led off with a single and took second on Strunk's out.

After Collins had flied to Evans, Hooper drove a single to center, scoring Johnson, Hooper taking second on the throw to the plate. Sheely followed with another single over second, scoring Hooper.

With runners on first and second in the second inning, and two out, Manager Speaker sent Stephenson to bat for Pitcher Sothoron. Caldwell assumed the pitching burden in the second and fared well until the sixth, when, after two were out, Chicago scored another run. Mostil singled to left and Mulligan followed with a hit to the same place. Mostil raced home when Evans booted the ball.

The Sox scored another run in the seventh after two were out. Strunk hit to center and as a result of Speaker's slow fielding stretched it to a double. Collins scored Strunk with a single to center. In the eighth Mulligan grounded to Caldwell, who threw wide to Burns, permitting Mulligan to reach second. Schalk's triple scored him.

MICHIGAN U. POWERFUL IN GRID TIMBER

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Sept. 9.—University of Michigan has the best football material in years and its prospects for a winning team are bright, in the opinion of Fielding H. Yost, director of athletics at the University, and for many years mentor of the Maize and Blue gridiron squads.

Michigan's strength this year will be in the backfield, Yost believes. He has a number of men of proved ability for these positions. Steketee, Usher, Paper, Klinke, Roby, Bairbairn, Dean, Dunphy, Banks, Uteritz and Knobe are the more widely known players in this group. Landowski of Milwaukee also is looked upon as promising material in the department.

Two veterans of 1920, Frank Capron and Paul Goebel, will return for the end positions. Supplementing them will be Bernie Kirk, picked for the All-American when a member of the Notre Dame eleven of 1919, and Alexander Wood, who comes from Detroit Northern.

The tackling department will be the weakest part of the team at the start of the training season, according to present indications. This is because tackles of attested worth are lacking but Yost is hopeful that from the number of promising players on his list he will be able to develop first class material. Ted Weiman, one of Michigan's tackling stars last year, is a member of the coaching staff this season.

Among the tackles who show promise are Stan Muirhead, LeRoy Neiseh, Crawford, Johns and Rowland.

Ernie Vick, center for the past three seasons, may be switched to a tackle position.

As guards, Yost has Captain Dunne, Hugh Wilson, Swan, Kreinheder, Petro, Planck and Gunther.

If Vick is taken from the pivot position the place is likely to fall either to Johns, Kreinheder or Smith.

FAMOUS OLD PUGILIST DIES IN CALIFORNIA

AGGIES AND HOWARD PAYNE OPEN GRID SEASON TODAY

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Sept. 29.—Football training at the A. & M. College of Texas this week has had as its object the assembling of a smooth working, mechanically perfect team to meet the Howard Payne aggregation in the first intramural contest of the season on Kyle Field, Friday afternoon.

Bible has been working his squads out on the baseball field and contiguous grounds while the gridiron has been receiving the attention of the athletic gardeners who have been watering, cultivating and cutting the grass and otherwise preparing the field in the best way possible for the contest Friday.

At this game the huge steel grandstand, the first of its kind ever erected at a Southern College, which is 54 feet deep, and 360 feet in length and capable of seating 5000 people, will be opened for the first time to the public.

Bible has now advanced to the stage of training that he has a tentative eleven, a temporary second team and two strong reserve teams, from the squad of 65 men that reported for workouts at the opening of the training season on September 12.

That he has already definitely located strong material for his permanent eleven was evident from the strong scrimmage contest which was played against the reserve and freshman teams last week that resulted in a score favorable to the varsity to the extent of 50 to 5. Since that game he has cut out from the squad all men who did not show sufficient strength to continue as first string men and has devoted all his time this week to thos who showed their consistency with his idea of a fast fighting team capable of a continuous aggressiveness.

The Howard Payne team will not face a veteran aggregation at College Station this year, but the backbone of the powerful eleven that defied every team in the Southwestern conference except the University of Texas is the same again this year. There will be "Cap" Murrah of Plano, an all-conference guard for two years, "Puny" Wilson of Benham, an all-conference end last year; Carruthers of Fort Worth, who has played tackle for two seasons on the Aggie eleven; Dieterich of Dallas, guard on Bible's team last season; Wier of Georgetown, half back and captain; Morris of Cedar Hill, quarter. And in the vacant places Bible will use alternately several men that he has unearthed in the past weeks, most of whom came to the front in inter-organization games last year, Askoy of Corpus Christi, halfback; Sanders, Franklin, quarter; McMillan, Calvert, quarter; Pinson of Proctor, halfback; Buckner of Weatherford, fullback; Miller of Coleman, halfback; Ferguson of San Antonio, fullback; Gill of Dallas, halfback; Johnson of Beaumont, fullback; Keen of Dallas, tackle; Beasley of Dallas, halfback; R. G. Neeley of Barstow, end.

Great interest will attach to this game for all who are anxious to know something about what Bible has found to uphold the football record set at Texas A. & M.

BABE RUTH ILL IN BED WITH FEVER

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Babe Ruth spent a restless afternoon in his hotel apartment today while his Yankee teammates carried on the pennant fight in Philadelphia against the Athletics. The world champion hitter of home runs suffered from a slight attack of grippe and fever and had been ordered to bed by his physicians.

His condition, attending physicians, said, was by no means serious and they thought he would be out gunning for his fifty-ninth circuit slam tomorrow. Ruth is believed to have caught cold last night while motoring with Mrs. Ruth.

TROOPS TWO AND SIX, BOY SCOUTS, BATTLE SATURDAY

Troops Two and Sox of the local scout football league will clash Saturday morning at the Junior high school grounds in the second game of the scout schedule. Both teams won their games last Saturday, and this game promises to be hard fought.

Both teams have been practicing regularly and are considered to have developed excellent team work, considering the age of the scouts. Troop Two has perfected a number of forward passing formations.

Troop Six will depend upon straight football to carry them to victory. They have developed a hard-hitting backfield, and in the games thus far have been scored on only once. The two teams that have opposed them have made first down only six times.

The game will be called at 9:30 a. m.

WEEKLY SHOOT OF GUN CLUB AT 4:00 O'CLOCK TODAY

Four o'clock's the hour, today's the day for the weekly shoot of the Wichita Falls Gun club; but when it comes to prophecying who will win said weekly shoot, that's quite another thing, Mawruss.

With the advent of the fall hunting season, considerable interest is being shown in the gun club's weekly battles at the traps. Members of the organization find the shoots splendid practice for the more difficult task of bringing down game birds, and an increasing attendance has marked the holding of the weekly clay pigeon events.

The discovery is White Feather, full blooded Indian from the same tribe as the great Tom Longboat. White Feather is with the United States army troops in the canal zone.

YANKS SEIZE NINE-TENTHS OF A. L. FLAG

By Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 29.—By defeating Philadelphia today 5 to 0, New York tightened its hold on the American league lead. As Cleveland was eaten today by Chicago, the Yankees need only one more victory to cinch the pennant.

Shawkey allowed the Athletics four hits and these he kept well scattered. At no time was he in trouble. Such was not the case with Harris. The Yankees garnered nine hits, three of which were for extra bases.

New York confined its scoring to three innings, the second, third and seventh. In the second, Pipp was safe on Dykes' boot, went to second on Ward's sacrifice and scored on McNally's triple. Shawkey's single scored McNally.

Miller's triple and Meusel's single accounted for a run in the third. Peckinpaugh's home-run, scored Fewster ahead of him in the seventh.

Babe Ruth was not in the line-up owing to illness. He is expected to join the club tonight. Score:

YESTERDAY THE GIANTS WON THEIR SIXTH NATIONAL LEAGUE FLAG BUT HAS TAKEN WORLD TITLE ONLY ONCE

NE WYORK, Sept. 29.—The New York Giants have won six pennants in the National League, including and since 1903, but they have been victorious in only one world's series play. McGraw won the world's title with his team in 1905 against the Philadelphia Athletics, and though he has had greater organizations since, the American League champions overcame them.

The series of 1905 consisted of five shutout games, of which the Giants won four. Christy Mathewson turned in three of the victories. Only 91,723 persons saw all five of the games and the total gate receipts were a mite over $68,000, but it was a series that will stand as one of the greatest in baseball world series history.

New York won the first game, 3 to 0, and was turned back by the same score in the second contest. They won the third, 9 to 0, the fourth 1 to 0, and the fifth 2 to 0.

In 1911, the Giants again met the Athletics in the series and were defeated. They won the opening game, played on their home lot, by a score of 2 to 1, and lost the second, played at Philadelphia, by 3 to 1. The third game went 11 innings and was won by the Athletics 3 to 2. The Athletics won the fourth, 4 to 2, but New York made a great effort and won the fifth, at 10 innings, by 4 to 3. The Athletics pounded out enough hits to make 13 runs in the deciding game and New York tallied but twice.

Many believed the Giants should have won from the Boston Red Sox in 1912, but the lucky favored the Bostonians and they were acclaimed world's champions after eight games had been played, one a tie in 11 innings and the final, which Boston won 3 to 2, in 10 innings. Boston won the opener, 4 to 3, and the second was a 6-6 tie. New York won the third 2 to 1. Boston won the next two, 3 to 1 and 2 to 1 respectively. New York wo nthe sixth and seventh, 5-2 and 11-4. The result of the 8th game already has been mentioned.

For the third time the Giants were pitted against the Athletics in a world's championship in the games of 1913 and New York took but one game of the five. They won the second game 3 to 0 in 10 innings. The Athletics won the first, 6 to 4; the third, 8 to 2; the fourth, 6 to 5, and the fifth, 3 to 1.

The Giants met the Chicago White Sox in the series of 1917, and after losing the first two games, 2 to 1 and 7 to 2, won the third and fourth by shutouts, 2 to 0 and 5 to 0. The White Sox won the fifth and sixth, 8 to 5 and 4 to 2.

NEW BANTAM CHAMP IS FAMILY MAN

Johnny Buff, Mrs. Buff and their little Buff.

The first thing the veteran Johnny Buff did after he won the bantamweight title from Pete Herman was to dash home and announce to Mrs. Buff and their babe "the old man's two champions." Buff held the flyweight title when he entered the ring.

WISDOM and WORSE

By C. F. C.

"The tumult and the shouting dies, the captains and the kings depart," or words to that effect, as the w. k. poet sang—and them there New York Giants, piloted by one Dawn McGraw, have won another National League pennant. Hooray for the Giants! Hooray for McGraw! Hooray for the hull durn state o' New York! Raus mit Pittsburg!

And yet the dopesters had it all figured out back in June that unless a miracle happened, the Pirates would have the blooming fing won in August! The king is dead, long live the king!

But we cannot cheer the New York Yankees, even though we are forced to admit that yesterday they just about cinched the bally-American loop piece of bunting. No, we cannot cheer 'em. Like William Jennings Bryan, "our hearr is in the grave." Verily, we see where we must purchase a pair of shoes for Cecil O'Hara, doggone his luck feet!

On the day that the world series opens, the Louisville Colonels, winners of the American Association flag, will begin a four-game series against Dunn's Baltimore Orioles, cream of the International loop—and all we've got to say it: Lord help the Louisville Colonels!

The world is full of baseball series these days. The St. Louis Cards are even planning a five-game series with the St. Louis Giants, a negro ball team. That's a foolish move on the part of the Cards; in the first place, they may get in Dutch playing against a colored team and in the second place they may receive a sound trouncing. In these United States today there are scores of darkey ball players of greater playing ability than many of the stars of the major league world. Years ago we saw the Lenox Giants, a colored club, play in New York—and you can take our word for it that some of those African pill chasers and apple scakers certainly were wizards at the game.

A great deal has been made of the fact that Memphis started the season in one position, and never was displaced. The two Philadelphia clubs in the majors have records equally consistent. In fact, the only thing that can change the standing of the Phillies and Athletics will be—a typographical error!

Speaking of the recent national amateur golf championship, Howard Whitney, president of the U. S. G. A., remarked: "It was a great tournament, a great final between two great players, staged on a great course and under the auspices of a great club."

And if Whitney had not overlooked the opportunity to include the statement that two great caddies carried the bags of Guilford and Gardner, we would unhesitatingly declare he had covered the subject most thoroughly.

Yes, Wallace, you are quite right in your contention that the crime lies not in withholding the $35,000 from Johnny Wilson, but rather lies in the original intention to give it to him!

But we'll say that Johnny Buff earned all he received for whipping Pete Herman. At the age of 33, diminutive Johnny holds two ring championship titles, a distinction without parallel in modern boxing. No fair-minded sport begrudges Buff his laurels, for the leader of America's flyweights and the world's bantamweights has always been a credit to the game. With a wife and three youngsters to care for, Johnny Buff has made boxing his business, not a side line. He has fought his way upward steadily; has given his best to the public in every ring appearance; has lived clean; has never quibbled with promoters over the purse, the referee or the terms of a ring battle—in brief, Johnny Buff of New Jersey, proves there is some truth, at least, in the saying that "good things come in small packages."

Speaking of the football season now upon us, one cynical ex-collegian rises to remark that he understands the salary limit has been raised in the East.

When the officials of the United States National Lawn Tennis association hold their annual meeting this winter, we look to see one radical change made in the present rules of tournament play—a change affecting the so-called "blind draw." This form of draw made necessary the meeting of Tilden and Johnston in one of the early rounds of the recent national championships, with the natural result that when that match was settled interest in the tournament declined rapidly. This same form of draw worked a manifest injustice against Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen on her visit to the United States. If the French girl had not been forced to play Mrs. Mallory on the second of the women's championship, but instead had received the opportunity to develop her game gradually and to accustom herself physically to conditions in this country, her unfortunate experience here might have been avoided.

Many students of the game believe the draw in tennis should be based on rank; that is, that the players in a big event should be assigned before the draw in groups, according to their official rankings by the U. S. L. T. A.

Washer brothers offered a suit of clothes to the Fort Worth player who made the greatest number of base hits in the final game with Memphis Wednesday—and six Panthers tied for the day's batting lead. Solomon at his best may have been a curly wolf at handing down decisions, but we defy even Solly to split a three-piece suit among six men.

STRIKE UP TO GRIEVANCE COMMITTEE

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—If the 186,000 members of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, more than ninety per cent of whom have voted to strike, are supported in their demands by the grievance committee, a strike will be ordered.

With the parting declaration, President W. G. Lee dispatched fifty-seven general chairmen of the unions to their homes tonight with written instructions to call their grievance committees, get their approval or disapproval of the strike vote, and report back here next week.

Lee expects to act on the committee instructions before the brotherhoods of engineers, conductors, enginemen and trainmen and the switchmen's union of North America have completed the count of their 259,000 strike ballots, which will start here Monday. The strike call, however, he indicated today will provide for a walkout of the trainmen when the other unions strike, if they do.

That strike, even if ordered, will never actually take place, continued to be the prevailing impression in union circles today. While Lee has promised to call the walk-out if the committees direct, he bluntly told his men in a general letter on September 1, that he would be remiss in duty if he failed to point out to them that wages and working conditions established since 1918 were the result of a world war such as never before was known; that government reports indicate 5,000,000 men out of work; that nearly all classes of labor have been forced to accept some wage reductions; that the pay increases granted them last year by the United States labor board was based on the increased cost of living; and that government reports show a reduction of more than 16 per cent in such living costs.

The strike vote was taken on the question of accepting or rejecting the twelve per cent wage cut made July 1 by the labor board.

Tabulation of the vote had not been completed tonight, but the ballots already counted show from 90 to 95 per cent of the men on every railroad system in the country voted to quit work rather than accept the pay reduction. No system failed to return less than nine out of ten votes for the strike.

Lee's determination to announce his union's stand before the other brotherhoods complete their ballot count shifts the entire responsibility for the next move in the threatened general strike to the four unions which took a joint vote—Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Order of Railway Conductors, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen and the Switchmen's union of North America.

The affiliated shops crafts, by a vote of 35,000 to 48,000 have already gone on record in favor of a strike, but have postponed action pending decision of the other unions and action of the labor board on rules and working conditions.

As the situation stands tonight, if the engineers, conductors, firemen, enginemen and switchmen walk out, the trainmen and shopmen will join them, but the first four will have to assume responsibility for the move.

IRISH PLEASED WITH LATEST ENGLISH NOTE

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—"Wholly conciliatory," is the view expressed both in London and Dublin of Premier Lloyd George's latest note to Eamonn DeValera, in which the premier invites the leaders of the Sinn Fein to a conference in London October 11, in an endeavor to settle the Irish controversy.

Mr. Lloyd George makes as the basis of the note the offer of a conference "with a view to ascertaining how the association of Ireland with the community of nations known as the British Empire may best be reconciled with Irish national aspirations."

Unionists opinion in Ulster, according to Belfast reports, is that the note makes it easier for Mr. DeValera to agree to another meeting.

Informal discussions among the Sinn Fein leaders are said to have been held in Dublin this afternoon and this evening. That is considered as lending strength to the report that Mr. DeValera will have the draft of his reply to Mr. Lloyd George ready when the Dail Eireann cabinet meets tomorrow.

The scientist, Sir Archibald Geikie, although a Scotchman, was not above thoroughly enjoying a joke, even though it was against his countrymen. One he told himself is about an Englishman and a Scotchman who went to Egypt together and paid a visit to the pyramids.

The Englishman was lost in admiration of the wonderful sights, and presently asked his companion for his opinion. The Scotchman shook his head sorrowfully.

"Ah, mon," he said with a sigh. "What a lot of mason work not to be bringin' in any rent!"—Chicago Herald and Examiner.

MAY RATIFY PEACE TREATY OCTOBER 15

UNDERWOOD ASSERTS AGREEMENT WITH LODGE POSSIBLE.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Ratification by the senate in a fortnight of the administration's peace treaties with Germany, Austria and Hungary loomed as a prospect tonight after republican and democratic leaders during the day had discussed a proposed unanimous consent agreement drafted by Senator Lodge, the republican leader, to take the final vote October 14 or 15. Both expressed hopes of obtaining a formal order of the senate tomorrow providing for such a program and all factions expressed the opinion that the agreement would be reached.

Announcement of the negotiations was made in the senate late today by Senator Lodge and with the discussions showing evidences of success, the republicans dropped their plan for a night session tonight. Senator Lodge intimated, however, that should the agreement be blocked, he would return to the night session drive for ratification. Mr. Lodge said he had "every reasonable hope" of reaching an agreement and Senator Underwood, the democratic leader, also said an agreement had been "practically reached," and was ready for consummation tomorrow.

MINER OFFICERS SALARIES ARE CUT

CONVENTION IN UPROAR WHEN MOTION ASKS FOR REIMBURSEMENTS.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 29.—Disapproval of salary increases of approximately sixty per cent for officers of the United Mine Workers of America, was voted today by the union's convention, which later was thrown into an uproar that continued most of the afternoon by a motion to require repayment of the alleged excess in salaries paid since July, last year.

President John L. Lewis, opposing the motion, declared its adoption would brand the officers before the public as "a band of thieves." On a rising vote the motion was killed, 1,189 to 608, but protests that the count exceeded the number of delegates resulted in reconsideration by a rollcall, which will not be completed until tomorrow. Continuous session throughout the night that was ordered by the delegates was abandoned when the miners had to give possession of the convention hall to others.

DOCK WORKERS ACCEPT CUT OF 23 PER CENT

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—A wage reduction of approximately 23 per cent to take effect at midnight September 30, has been accepted by the International Longshoremen's associations, representing upwards of 15,000 men employed along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts. This announcement was made tonight at the Longshoremen's headquarters at the conclusion of a series of conferences which have been going on several weeks between representatives of the longshoremen and trans-Atlantic steamship companies.

The new contract provides that the 48 hour working week shall continue and that 65 cents an hour shall be paid for straight time and $1 for Sunday and overtime work. The former scale was 80 cents an hour for straight time and $1.20 for overtime. The new contract affects only men engaged in working trans-Atlantic shipping, and does not include coastwise traffic.

It was pointed out that the new scale is slightly more than double that of 1914, when the wage was 33 cents an hour for straight time and 45 cents an hour for overtime.

TEST WELL TO BE DRILLED AT CALL FIELD

There is to be a test well drilled on the Hund farm at Call Field. "A few years ago my attention was called to the Call Field geological structure and ever since then we have hoped to some day see a well drilled around Survey No. 9, South if the railroad," said Cyrus Edwards, a well known geologist to a representative of the Record News.

"Wells have been drilled north, west and south of this structure without paying results," continued Mr. Edwards, "but these wells by correlation point to the Call Field territory as one of the best oil prospects in the Wichita region.

"It is impossible to secure adequate lease acreage for drilling the test proposed by C. T. Boaz, a drilling contractor who lives on Call Field, is very enthusiastic over the prospect and is willing to drill the well by an economic method of financing, provided the people of this city will furnish $2,800 to pay freight and hauling bills and other incidental expenses.

"The following is the plan: Mr. Boaz will furnish the tools, casing and fuel oil. The $2,800 will cover the cost of the derrick, freight and hauling bills, the board of the crew and $2 per day to each of the men for their small incidental expenses.

"The drillers will receive 2-64 interest each and the assistants 1-64 each as compensation for the balance of their pay. Any one wishing to become financially interested in the well shall invest $500 in the proposition for a 1-32 interest in the well and forty acre lease. We will call on the bankers, lawyers and doctors and others of the city toward donations of the drilling.

"This is a semi-public matter and is in line with the wish of the people that oil prospecting shall be done near the city. In fact some years ago the Chamber of Commerce offered a bonus of $10,000 to anyone bringing in the first paying oil well within three miles of the city. We do not want this bonus but want help now from the people who have the welfare at heart.

"The First National Bank and the City National Bank of Commerce responded to our appeal and made liberal donations and we have pledges from several of the leading business men that they will make donations or become personally interested in the well. The derrick material is now being hauled to the location and the derrick will be completed in a few days.

"Many of the lumber companies were willing to donate the lumber but some few of the companies would not co-operate, so we ordered the lumber out yesterday and will pay for it out of the $2,800 to be raised. We are unable to obtain any co-operation owing to leases in the immediate vicinity.

"One thing is certain; Wichita Falls must have further oil development and production to maintain its present population and to call others here and although the great irrigation project will eventually be the center of a vast agricultural belt it will require three or four years to get the full benefit from this immense public work.

"We earnestly request the public to mail donation checks toward the drilling of the Call Field well, to W. E. Wilson, agent, care of Wilson & Walsh, attorneys, Morgan Building. I shall be glad to furnish the Record News with all information from time to time regarding the progress of this test well matter."

SMALL DECLINES AT NEW ORLEANS

NO PRESSURE SHOWN IN SPOTS, SAY REPORTS.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 29.—It was a session of small declines in the cotton market today. Mainly as the result of hedge selling arising from the large spot transactions of yesterday. More or less liquidation came from the long side and offerings for short account were stimulated by the weak tone of the market and also by reports of somewhat freer spot offerings in portions of the eastern belt, although spot messages did not even hint that there was any pressure to sell the actual stuff.

After advances of 4 to 8 points on more active months the market fell off and around mid-session was at its lowest, showing net declines of 22 to 30 points. Small recoveries came about but did not last and the close was 20 to 28 points under the close of yesterday. December traded up to 20.81, fell off to 20.50, and closed at 20.55.

The net advances of the day were confined to the first few minutes of trading, when the market felt buying encouraged by a better Liverpool than due. Almost immediately hedge offerings came in. The declining tendency was checked by large exports for the day and by the report that 54,000 bales, to be taken up on October contracts in New York, would be shipped out of that stock.

BOARD DISCUSSES WARD BOUNDARIES

Discussion of applications for changes of the boundary lines between the Austin and Barwise schools featured a short meeting of the school board held Thursday afternoon at the Wichita State Bank.

Action on the applications was deferred, board members being of the opinion that it will be necessary to first work out the distribution of pupils between the buildings before attempting to mark out new boundaries.

A TEXAS WONDER

Mere Man Gets Worst In Fight

The attempt of a man living on Bluff street to intercede in a fight between two women neighbors Wednesday evening resulted in a charge of aggravated assault being filed against the supposed "peace bearer" Thursday morning.

The complaint was filed by one of the women who alleges that he knocked her to the ground and broke her arm.

According to the investigation conducted by the county attorney's office, action started when the two women who are adjoining neighbors met on the side walk. One of the women is said to have used a quirt in the evenly matched encounter.

The man who was a brother of one of the women seeing the engagement from his home rushed out as he said to stop the fight. All parties gave evidence of having taken active part in the affair which caused considerable excitement in the immediate neighborhood.

ELASTICITY OF VANADIUM STEEL

The most remarkable thing about vanadium steels is their almost miraculous elasticity. Today the metal vanadium is comparatively cheap. Yet only thirty years ago it sold at $450 a pound, and was hardly more than a curiosity of the chemical laboratory. When a use is found for a rare metal, sources from which it may be obtained in quantity are sure to be discovered. Thus, when the value of vanadium for steel alloys was ascertained, the fact was soon disclosed that vast ore beds containing it existed in Colorado. It is from these beds that the demand is now supplied. The ores are sandstone, impregnated with vanadium, and are dug out in enormous quantities. A by-product of vanadium mining is uranium, from which radium is obtained.

Scientific Observations

The vast black mass, 20,000,000 times larger than the sun, demonstrated to exist in the heavens by the Dutch scientist, Dr. Pannekoek, seems to upset all earlier astronomical calculations. It is, comparatively speaking, so near us that Dr. Pannekoek suggests that the sun itself must move around it once in 2,000,000 years—drawing the earth with it. "We believe that the black body must consist of dust, and that this is the first stage in the birth of a star," said an expert. "As it condenses it gets hotter until it becomes luminous and visible. Sudden 'flares' or 'new' stars have been seen in our lifetime, but the black cloud of dust appears to be the real beginning. The amazing feature is the nearness of the body. It is relatively as close to the earth as a foot rule would appear to be if only two feet away from your eyes. It is quite possible that even vaster bodies of this kind exist." The nearness is relative. The body is 280,000,000,000,000 miles away.

COMMITTEE ABSOLVES NEWBERRY

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Opinions conflicting along party lines were presented today by majority and minority members of the senate privileges and elections committee on the Ford-Newberry 1918 senatorial election contest from Michigan.

The majority report cleared Senator Truman H. Newberry, the republican candidate, of corruption and all other charges, and recommended that he be legally seated. The democratic members on the contrary, asserted that Senator Newberry was elected by "corrupt and illegal methods and practices" and recommended that his seat be declared vacant.

With the filing of the reports the case now goes to the senate for final decision, which will probably not be made for several weeks. In the meantime, it is understood, Senator Newberry will not attend the senate sessions.

Agree On Ford

On only two major issues were the republicans and democrats in harmony in the reports filed today. They agreed that Henry Ford, the democratic contestant, had not been elected and was not entitled to the seat from Michigan. They also agreed that too much money had been spent in the Michigan primary. The democrats, however, contended Senator Newberry was responsible personally to rthe expenditure, while the republicans held he was not.

Ford Claims Denied

Claims of Mr. Ford to the Michigan seat were denied by both majority and minority members on the same grounds—that all charges against Senator Newberry related to the primary and not to the general election and that it was established conclusively that in the general election Senator Newberry had received a majority of the votes. Mr. Ford's charges of bribery, illegal voting, undue influence and intimidation of voters in the general election were declared by the majority to be without foundation.

Money expenditures in the primary was the point at issue in the conflicting recommendations. This was placed by the majority at approximately $195,000 and at least $188,508 by the minority. There was virtually total disagreement on partisan lines as to Senator Newberry's responsibility for and management of the expenditures.

Reserve Bank of Dallas on Wednesday, said in its foreword. Also, the increase in the price of cotton had an important psychological effect upon the cotton industry. Confidence caused by the better cotton prices is being communicated to other industries and channels of commerce, indicated by reports of revival wholesale trade activity, according to the statement. Federal Agent W. F. Ramsey is a very conservative financier. He is as cautious as he is conservative but he realizes what the advance in the price of cotton has done for the people of Texas and other Southern states. Now the advance in the price of petroleum should help the cause along.

Dawson county must be moving. Dawson had on January 1, 1920, 574 farms operated by 574 white farmers. Value of land and buildings $9,516,100 or an increase in taxable values in 10 years of $7,179,501. Dawson county land and building values in 1910 were only $2,336,668 and Dawson county percentage increase is 307.2 per cent. Dawson is something of a cotton county. Farmers picked and ginned 9,447 bales in that county in 1919. In that year Dawson county produced 476,357 bushels of kafir milo; 112,305 bushels of corn and 350 tons of hay. Dawson county farmers reported 2,796 horses, 1,215 mules, 18,604 cattle, 3,379 sheep and 2,267 swine. Donley county made a tremendous jump. Donley had 810 farms and 810 white farmers. Value of land and buildings $15,770,659 against $5,433,752 in 1910 or a per cent increase of 190.2. Donley in 1919 planted 18,240 acres of cotton and picked 10,211 bales or an average of more than a half bale to the acre. Donley produced in that year large crops of kafir milo, corn and wheat and reported 3,726 horses, 2,278 mules, 31,556 cattle, 164 sheep and 6,420 swine. It must be true that agriculture is the chief crop of commerce and the mainstay of civilization.

FIRE DESTROYS FIFTH STREET HOME

Fire of undetermined origin, breaking out about 9 o'clock Wednesday night destroyed the frame residence of W. A. Buchanan, 2400 Fifth street occasioning damage estimated by firemen to be approximately $3,500. The occupants were absent when the house was burned.

The flames were practically beyond control when discovered by a neighbor and the alarm telephoned to the fire department.

Flames which spread to a nearby repair shop were extinguished by firemen with but slight loss sustained.

The residence was practically destroyed when firemen arrived. Neighborhs reported that it is believed the loss is partially covered by insurance.

CHARTER ROLL OF AUXILIARY CLOSES TODAY

This morning, up to noon, is absolutely the last chance for new members to the Pat Carrigan Unit, Woman's Auxiliary to the American Legion, to be counted on the delegates which the department can send to the National Convention, and also to count as national charter members.

This final request, that all eligible women and girls send in their membership this morning, without waiting to be called upon, and given a special invitation, is issued by the Auxiliary president, Mrs. A. H. Carrigan. The membership committee is rather limited in number, and have been unable to see or telephone more than a few of those who should be in the auxiliary, because of the brief time, the absence from the city of some members and various other reasons.

Mrs. J. B. Hatchitt, 1313 Eleventh street, telephone No. 2056, is chairman of the membership committee, and will take new memberships over the telephone up to noon today, when the names and the membership fee, 75 cents at this time, until the first of the year, will be wired to state headquarters.

Wichita Falls at present has 130 members, second only to Houston, which has 188 members. It is the desire of the president that the local auxiliary lead the state in membership, if not at this time, then as soon as possible, and the co-operation of present members, and all others eligible this morning will help realize this desire.

Only 274 new members are necessary all over the state to give the Department of Texas nine delegates and alternates to the National convention, where it will be very important for the department to have as heavy voting power as possible.

Mrs. J. H. Weiler, county organization chairman, Mrs. R. C. Thaxton, local secretary, Zeb V. Nixon, post adjutant, and other officers and members have been doing valuable work the past two weeks in getting new units organized in the county, and they will finish their work today.

Mrs. Thaxton and others will go to Henrietta this morning for the purpose of organizing a unit of the Auxiliary.

The meeting is set for 10 o'clock, in the rest room of the court house. At least twenty charter members are promised for this new unit.

Ms Burdick will join the party from Wichita Falls for the Burkburnett meeting Friday night, on her return from Vernon where she will go today on Salvation Army business.

Not in Books

"I'll have to fire that new hired man," said Mr. Cobbles.

"What's he been doin'?" asked Mrs. Cobbles.

"Nothin'. That's just th' trouble. I found him settin' under a tree readin' a book when he outghter been at work."

"Maybe it was a book about farmin', father."

"No, it wasn't. It was a petry book. There ain't no information in petry that tells how to lift a mortgage."—Houston Post.

Ran in the Family

"You must have kept a great many people out of the penitentiary during your professional career."

"Oh yes," said the eminent criminal lawyer.

"Did you ever regret defeating the ends of justice?"

"Only once. I got a pickpocket acquitted and discovered later that he was a distant relative of mine."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

CITY OWNED CAR LINES FAVORED

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Consolidation of the city's subway, elevated and surface lines under municipal ownership, with a continued five cent fare for the first year of operation, was recommended by the state transit commission in its plan of re-adjustment made public tonight.

The commission concluded that until there has been ample demonstration of the general results of operation of the new plan, and until its changes and economies have been tested fully, there should be no change in the present rate of fare.

The plan calls for:

"Municipal ownership of all railway lines in the city of New York.

"Surrender by the companies of all existing franchises, including perpetual franchises.

"Unification of the entire transit system with a board of control, three members to be appointed by the mayor, three by the investors, and a chairman to be selected by the two groups.

"Genuine home rule by the city in administration of its transit affairs.

"Elimination of stock speculation in transit facilities by elimination of stock.

"An honest valuation of all properties to be taken over by the city.

"Payment for such property to be made on the basis of this valuation, irrespective of present capitalization and book values.

"Municipal ownership to be acquired without outlay by the city, retiring the purchase bonds of the revenues of operation.

"No increase of fare unless operation under the new conditions demonstrates the necessity.

"Rates of fare to be based on actual cost and automatically determined by the amount of a contingent reserve or 'barometer' fund.

"Substantial economies in operation of the unified system through consolidation and elimination of the numerous leasing and operating companies, with their unnecessary duplication of overhead, super rate action policies and independent purchases.

"Assurance of a fair return on securities of the new system.

"Reestablishment of free transfers as rapidly as the financial condition of the new system will permit.

"Proper and adequate service to the public.

"Participation by operating personnel, as well as new security holders in surplus profits resulting from efficient management and operations."

SUMMON 75 NEW VENIREMEN FOR SOUTHARD CASE

By Associated Press.

TWIN FALLS, Idaho, Sept. 29.—W. G. Thompson, assistant postmaster and former chief of police and deputy sheriff here, was this morning appointed elisor and instructed by the court to impanel a special venire of forty talesmen for service tomorrow at half post one o'clock in the case of the state against Lydia Meyer Southard, charged with the murder of Edward F. Meyer, a former husband.

The entire forty talesmen summoned under special venire order in the case of Mrs. Lydia Southard on trial here for first degree murder of her fourth husband, were this morning discharged by Judge Babcock on the ground that they had been summoned by Sheriff E. R. Sherman, signer of the complaint in the case, and that acceptance of the talesmen so summoned would be prejudicial to the interests of the defendant. The court recessed for twenty minutes while selection of an official to summon additional talesmen was discussed.

Stocks

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Sentimental and technical considerations entered into the better tone of today's stock market. Business prospects as viewed by federal reserve authorities, continued to brighten and additional favorable statements of August railroad earnings were issued.

Money rates remained steady and a more careful feeling was reflected in cables from London, albeit foreign exchanges were more or less unsettled. Closing subscriptions to the fifty million dollar Argentine government loan denoted increasing confidence in investment conditions.

Stocks in which the short interest recently renewed its aggressions led today's rally, notably oils and kindred issues; also equipments, steels, motors and the rubber accessories and shipments, these gaining 1 to 3 points.

Buying of rails embraced most of the transcontinentals, prominent grangers, coalers and secondary shares of roads traversing western and southwestern lines, Delaware, Lackawanna, and Western reacted from its best on news of the larger dividend.

Coppers strengthened in connection with higher prices quoted for the refined metal and specialties comprising chemical, textile, paper and mail order groups were appreciably better, highest levels marking the final dealings. Total sales amounted to 485,000 shares.

Confusion attended the lighter dealings in foreign exchange. British and French rates eased moderately, marks rallied slightly and Greek, Italian and Norwegian bills were lower by 8 to 20 points and Far Eastern quotations were unaltered.

Victory notes dominated the bond market at a new high mark for the movement of 99.58. Sales of this issue included one lot of five million dollars. Liberties were irregular; rails held steady, and the foreign flotations were featureless aside from weakness in Cuba cane sevens. Total sales par value were $18,875,000.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, Sept. 29.—South Texas supplied the trade with a fair quota of its cattle and calves today and the market was better on southern receipts than on stuff from above the line. Although generally steady prices were paid for the run of southern cattle, market conditions in the native yards were unsatisfactory, and the tendency of values was toward a 15 to 25c lower level on cattle and a 25 to 50c lower basis on calves. Good South Texas steers brought $5 and best south Texas calves sold at $6 to $6.25. Receipts amounted to 2,000 head of cattle and 4,500 calves.

Hogs averaged 10 to 20 cents lower and the market was slow at the decline. Shippers paid $7.60 and $7.50, but packers stopped at $7.40. Bulk sales ranged from $7.00 to $7.40. Pigs sold mostly around $6.50 to $6.65, the market showing strength. Fresh receipts reached 2,000 head.

Choice wethers in the two year old class brought $5.00, the market being called steady, quality considered. Quotations.

Grain

CHICAGO GRAIN

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Sept. 29.—Wheat took a decided upward swing today chiefly as a result of speculative buying based on opinions that a rally was overdue. The market closed strong 1 to 2 1-2 net higher, with December 1.23 to 1.23 1-4 and May 1.27 1-2 to 1.27 3-4. Corn finished half lower to half and five-eighths up, oats at 1-8 decline to 3-8 advance, and provisions unchanged to 55 cents lower.

At first the wheat market continued the decline which had been in progress for a week with a majority of traders giving attention to lack of important European demand for shipments from the United States. Bears put emphasis, too, on reports that Germany, Italy and France had raised much larger wheat crops this year than last. Word that flour business at Minneapolis was dull counted also as a depressing factor. In the last half of the day, however, persistent buying of wheat by professional operators forced values into a rapid ascent. The close was the topmost level reached.

Corn and oats fluctuated with wheat. On the downturn September corn touched the lowest price on record since 1906 for that month.

Later quotations on hogs weakened provisions, especially lard, in which liquidating sales were heavy.

Cotton

NEW ORK COTTON.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—A diminishing volume of business was accomplished by narrower, but nervous and irregular fluctuation in the cotton market with prices showing a tendency to work lower under selling and realizing for over the approaching government report.

December contracts sold at 21.03 early but broke to 20.70 and closed at 20.87 with the general market closing steady at net decline of 13 to 43 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 7 to 24 points. Liverpool was better than due and private cables reported a continued good trade demand owing to bullish crop advices. Yesterday's reports of a good spot demand in the South seemed to be confirmed by the large sales officially reported in leading spot markets and advices from the local goods market were considered more encouraging. These features however, were offset by heavier hedge selling by the south and a more or less disposition to secure profits on long contracts in advance of the government report.

There was further trade buying which held the reactions in check and caused rallies during the middle of the day, but hedge selling was more active, while commission house demand seemed to be tapering off and active months eventually sold about 27 to 40 points net lower with October touching 20.65 and January 20.50. The close was a few points up from the lowest on covering. Another private report issued by a local authority placed the crop condition at forty and one of the Southern authorities which published a report of 42 a week ago revised it to 41.

Rumors that a good part of the cotton represented by Tuesday's notices would be shipped out by Japanese interests helped the occasional rallies and there also was some buying on the larger exports for the day.

NEW YORK COTTON OIL

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Local selling on weakness in cotton and lard carried cottonseed oil lower. Shorts took offerings and prices steadied somewhat before the close. Closing bids were 8 to 17 points net lower. Sales 23,000 barrels. Prime crude 7.75@8.00; prime summer yellow spot 9.50; October 9.53; December 9.51; March 9.73, all bid.

PROPOSES REPEAL OF SPECIAL TAXES

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Retention of the corporation capital stock tax and repeal of all the special taxes such as those on brokers, proprietors of theaters, circuses, automobile building lines, shooting galleries and the like is proposed in one of a series of amendments to the republican tax revision bill offered today by Senator Simmons of North Carolina on behalf of the democratic members of the finance committee. The bill as reported to the senate proposes repeal of the corporation stock tax and retention of the other taxes.

Other proposals offered by the minority provided for repeal of the freight and passenger transportation taxes and the $2,000 exemption, allowed to corporations, and that persons whose net income exceeded $20,000 a year be not entitled to the normal exemptions allowed single persons, married men and to heads of families on account of dependents.

Of the total number of 1,277 characters in Shakespeare's plays, 157 are females.

EXECUTION OF AMOS RATLIFF IS STAYED

By Associated Press.

Suppression of Saloon in U. S. Real Achievement, English Solons Says; Predict Wines and Beer Here

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Sept. 29.—"The suppression of the saloon is an achievement for which the American people cannot be too thankful," declares a joint report of Charles H. Sitch and John E. Davison, labor members of parliament, who recently visited the United States to investigate the operation of prohibition.

"Prohibition, however, as we in this country were led to believe it prevailed, does not exist," adds the report, which also notes the development of home brewing wine making and illicit traffic in liquor.

The labor members continue:

"We are of the opinion that the American people will demand facilities for the purchase of light wines and beers and had the anti-saloon propaganda been in the direction of eliminating the more disgraceful features of the saloons, securing changed management and more effective control, concurrently with the provision of facilities for obtaining these simple beverages, the bitter animosity aroused by its more drastic efforts would not have been provoked."

The report declares:

"If it is sought to impose a similar law on our statute books, the electors must see to it that it is not 'planned' upon them in the dark, but its acceptance shall be only after a full opportunity is afforded for its adequate consideration and it is submitted for their approval and consent in a constitutional manner."

People who are in a position to know, continues the report, have described America as "a bootlegger's paradise" and goes on to say:

"We were constantly driven to the conviction that the resultant consequences on the morals of the peoples boded ill for the future, particularly as regards the rising generation."

SURPLUS OF WOMEN NOW IN ENGLAND

LONDON, Sept. 29.—The problem of England's "surplus" women, which has been causing much concern since the toll of war was revealed, has been increased in the public interest by publication of the 1921 census figures.

"Two million surplus women—what shall be done with them?" has been the general theme of the printed and spoken discussion of the problem.

The census, however, revealed that this was a popular round number, and the actual excess of females over males is one and three-quarters. The pre-war figures revealed a disproportionment of a million and a quarter. Hence it is proved that the problem of "surplus" womankind has only been increased by half a million, or, in other words, by the number of men who gave their lives in the great war.

Nature is correcting this inequality herself, experts point out, as the latest birth-rate figures show a marked increase in the "plurality" which boys register over the girl birth-rate. The anonymous author of "Women Adrift" contributing to the press discussion, points out that building the empire, fighting for the empire and undertaking its more hazardous occupations has caused the discrepancy in numbers.

"Nature see that there shall be a Jack for every Jill," she writes, "for she starts with a male balance that would cover all this extra wastage, if only one thing were done to keep the balance straight—and that one thing is that a more competent motherhood would keep the boy babies alive, for tality among the males, the male surplus disappears within the first five or seven years."

Recent "Surplus" Term.

The writer strikes out strongly against the dominant note of previous discussion, which has been that the solution from the point of view of women is that all girls be trained for vocations other than motherhood and home-making so that they may have an interest in life and live fully in the event that they are not selected for marriage. Such a procedure, the author of "Women Adrift" argues, would only make women less attractive and increase the number of men who remain bachelors.

The "surplus" woman h not rested passive under pro-ing and con-ing. She has spoken with no uncertain voice against being put under a microscope for public analysis. She denies the allegation, in fact.

So many letters of protest against the discussion were written by girls and women that two or three of the newspapers finally ran them in job lots, a daily feature for several days.

The denials of "surplosity" have made helpful reading for men folk. The general tone of the letters has been that the writer doesn't feel her self to be "surplus" in any way, she's having a perfectly good time with life, she has interests, and al manner of things. She cites bicycles, kodaks, flowers, fields, scenery, chums, cows, dogs—as filling her life fully and satisfactorily, and no need for men.

The controversy has produced an exceedingly human set of documents but the writer who wins the interest and good wishes of all readers is the girl who writes that she has decided, after grave consideration, to solve her own problems by mating with one of the war's victims, a man blinded in battle.

A Laplander who marries a girl against the will of her parents is deemed guilty of a serious crime, and the punishment for it is very severe.
