Mrs. Forbis said the calf came from the side of the road onto the pavement and they were unable to miss the animal.

She added that she and Mr. Forbis were badly shaken for several days. Damage to the car amounted to around $600. The couple was returning home after attending the 50th wedding anniversary celebration of cousins of Mr. Forbis. They had also stopped in Hollis to visit her sister, Mrs. J.R. Beard.

Patrolman Doug Wright investigated the accident.

City-wide Clean-up Drive Planned for May 7 to 12

A city-wide clean-up campaign is slated in Wellington for Monday, May 7, through Saturday, May 12, aimed at being one of the most thorough the city has experienced in recent years.

Co-sponsoring the drive are the Collingsworth Chamber of Commerce and the City of Wellington.

The working committee in charge of this drive are Dan Hiatt, chairman, City Manager, Lyman Daniel and Robert Owens.

"With this drive, we hope to give Wellington the clean and neat appearance that will reflect the quality of life and the progressive thinking that is the real Wellington," said Mrs. Margaret Vines, Chamber of Commerce manager.

The city has set Wednesday, Thursday and Friday as special days for picking up all debris, trash, and whatever Wellington citizens may want to get rid of during this drive.

"Visitors and those passing through can judge Wellington only by the way it looks, and if we put ourselves in line for attracting new industry or promoting our present economy, we must improve every facet of our town, and full participation in this clean-up campaign by every citizen is one way each of us can do our part," said Don Welch, Chamber of Commerce president.

Complete plans for the drive will be announced next week.

Aggie Muster Held By Two-County Unit

Former students of Texas A&M University living in Collingsworth and Wheeler counties met Saturday, April 21, at Cherokee Inn Restaurant for the annual Aggie Muster. With this ceremony, begun at 7:30 p.m. they marked the passing of comrades and honored them.

Dan Henard, Jr., was Muster chairman for 1973. This marked the 70th year the muster has been held.

Opening the ceremony, Mike Smith presented "The Muster Tradition," then John Coleman read the names from Muster rolls made up of those who have died since April 21, 1972.

Following the ceremony, officers were elected for 1974, with Mr. Henard as president, Bill Brooks of Wheeler, vice-president; and Mr. Smith secretary-treasurer. Muster chairman for 1974 will be Max Hatter and co-chairman, B.F. Risinger, both of Shamrock.

More Rain, High Wind, Sand Strike County Through Week

Despite the wet condition of the land, high winds Thursday, April 19, brought the county the worst sandstorm it has seen in recent years, to be followed Monday night, April 23, by more high winds and drenching rain, estimated in some parts of the county up to 8 inches.

This night also saw the first possible tornado and brought an alert to Wellington residents.

The Thursday sand storm brought damage to fields and slowed highway travel. The greatest damage, however, was reported to the power lines by Greenbelt Electric Co-operative. System wide, between 15 and 20 power poles were broken off, and an estimated 1,000 customers were without electricity at one time or another. Most of these were for short periods only, reported Manager George Henry. Replacement cost of the poles he estimated at around $100 each.

Considerable difficulty placing long distance telephone calls was experienced during the day, since the sand storm was area wide.

Sheriff John Rainey reported that a possible tornado was sighted northwest of Wellington about 10:00 p.m. Monday night. While it was difficult to be certain, the general appearance of the clouds was such that officers called for the Fire Department to sound the storm warning, sending hundreds of Wellington residents to their cellars.

A two-car collision at the corner of 11th and Bowie Streets moments after the warning sent Tommy Campbell of the Campbell Ranch south of town to Collingsworth General Hospital for treatment of injuries. The accident was attributed to storm conditions.

Sheriff Rainey said the cloud believed to be a twister was traveling in a south-southeast direction when sighted.

WIND VICTIM

High wind and sand which struck the county Thursday, April 19, took this tall evergreen at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed White as a victim.

The heavy tree broke about a foot below the ground. Jo Ed White stands beside it.

Hospital Board Covers Variety of Business

The board of directors of Collingsworth General Hospital at its meeting Monday night, April 23, voted to set the tax rate at 70¢ per $100 valuation to keep the hospital on a sound business basis and cover unforeseen expenses.

This rate will produce about $10,500 additional revenue.

It was pointed out that although almost every thing the hospital must buy has increased in cost, the cost of hospital rooms and services has not been raised since the hospital district took ownership of the hospital, at which time the room rates were reduced.

The board covered a variety of business in this meeting and Garner Altom, administrator, has given this report.

Dr. Carter Holcomb gave a brief report on PSRO (Peer Standard Review Organization) which is a part of HR1 recently passed by Congress relating to Social Security, but in its amendments can, and will, have far reaching effects on the Health Care Field, both for Physicians and Hospitals.

The current and year to date board report was discussed with it being noted that Average Daily Census for March was 14.45.

Firehawk Safety Systems, Inc. of Amarillo was awarded a contract to install a Vent-a-hood in the kitchen with Automatic Fire Control System, duct and exhaust at a total price of $1,156.00. This vent is required by Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals, Texas State Board of Health Licensing Division and the hospital's liability insurance carrier.

Leukemia Treatment Progress Continues

Dr. Jeane Hester, who works with Larry Wright when he is in M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute for treatment of leukemia, flew up from Houston Thursday, April 19, to visit the Wright family, and this came as a climax to Larry Wright Day in Wellington.

"The outlook for leukemia patients is better than 10 years ago," she said. "Sometimes progress seems slow, but when you look at the longer segments, it is not slow." Cure is the ultimate goal, but there is still a lot of work to be done."

Dr. Hester, young, charming, and with a lively sense of humor, sat beside Larry as she greeted his friends, both adult and teen-age, in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Wright.

There is a spectrum of drugs that have activity in the treatment of leukemia, she pointed out, and as new drugs come along, they are used. While one person may not respond to certain drugs, he may to another.

"We do not know why one patient responds to a set and another with the same type of leukemia will not respond," she explained.

With the present methods of treatment, even when leukemia is active, patients can lead fairly normal lives, she said — a matter of which Larry Wright's friends are well aware.

Co-op Approved By Texas Air Control Board

The Farmers Co-op Gin has notice that its method of air pollution control has been approved by the Texas Air Control Board.

This notification came in a letter from Cecil L. Bradford, R.S., chief of compliance programs, Air Pollution Control Services to W.E. Marchant, manager of the Co-ops two gin plants.

An on-site inspection was made during the winter, while both plants were in operation. The letter read:

Daylight Saving Begins Sunday

Daylight Saving Time will go into effect at 2:00 a.m. Sunday, April 29, to remain in effect through October.

This means that getting up time will be an hour earlier, by the sun, on Sunday morning than it was on Saturday morning.

It is suggested that area residents move their clocks forward one hour upon going to bed Saturday night.

General discussion on the eve of the time change shows that most Wellington area residents like Daylight Saving Time no better than they did when it was first begun.

Raburn Goes to Mustang School

A former Wellington man, Randall Raburn, has been named assistant superintendent of the Mustang, Oklahoma, schools, beginning with the 1973-74 year.

Mr. Raburn has been coach and later superintendent of the Central High School near Marlow 9 years.

Mustang is a suburb of Oklahoma City, and its school has 95 teachers and approximately 2,000 students.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. O.B. Raburn, he and his wife have two children, Robin, age 10, and Kent, one year old.

He has the bachelor's and masters degrees from North Texas State University, where he also starred on the basketball team. In addition, he has completed some of the work toward his doctor's degree.

Airport was not visible here, the sheriff said, and officials there have decided this was a straight wind rather than a twister.

Although he had no way of determining the wind speed, Mr. Rainey called this the strongest wind the county has had this spring.

During and after the storm, he drove north to Elm Creek and reported water across Highway 83 in a number of places. East of Lutie, in the area where the Sheriff grew up, he said water just beyond the Marvin Knoll farm was the highest he had seen it in a long time, if ever.

The Wellington Fire Department has announced that, henceforth, any time the fire siren is sounded at night and there is unsettled weather, it is to be considered a storm warning and immediate shelter should be taken. Firemen are now notified of night fires by a plectron system and not the siren.

Dwane Scott, Weather Bureau observer, reported 1.26 inches of rain that night, along with .37 inches Wednesday, April 18, to give a total of 1.63 inches for the week.

The Quail area reported from 1.50 to three inches Monday night, with no damage from wind. County Commissioner Pat O'Hair, south of Quail, reported about two inches of rain at that time, with fields washing badly. In addition to the recent 14-inch show he received, Mr. O'Hair said approximately 6 inches of rain fell at his place in March and another 6 inches in April to date.

County Agent Don Reeves and Commissioner Cliff Hartman flew over the county Tuesday and report that south and east of town, all terraces are full and fields are beginning to wash badly. Washing is worst in the north part of the county, Hartman added, and roads are in bad shape county-wide.

Services were conducted in Ft. Worth by the Rev. Roy Finley at the Laurel Land Chapel, and burial was in Laurel Land.

Several reports have been received of southeast of town and in the Dodson area cutting terraces to release the water, in an attempt to dry out the fields.

South of Loco, two inches of rain was reported at the Pat Bouchelle place, with the high straight wind blowing over trailers, moving heavy farm equipment, and scattering irrigation pipe.

J.D. Baker of General Telephone Company brought in a ring box charred by lightning that entered the Ronnie O'Rear home near Rolla Monday night.

He estimated lightning struck and burned in two the phone line at least a mile and a quarter from the house, traveled along the line, blew a fuse and went through a protector into the house. The charge did not set fire to the wall, however.

Baker called it the worst charred ring box he had ever seen.

Airport News

Marian Airpark has been used by a number of flyers from considerable distance on business trips or to visit.

These included:
- J.E. Huff of Amarillo.
- Mr. Searcy of Littlefield.

Rain and general bad weather has held up work on the new runway lights. The city is working every day that is dry enough, but the ground has been too wet to lay the underground power cable and do the other installation work.

Dennis Cudd, who retired recently from the Army with the rank of captain, and returned to live in Wellington, has bought a Piper Cherokee, which he will use for business and family flying. His last assignment was in Panama.

The only agricultural spraying going on now is on the alfalfa for weevils. This is scattered over the county, and the infestation depends on the condition of the individual fields of alfalfa and other things.

J.C. Hartman of Wellington Flying Service was in Shamrock Tuesday to check the damage to the Shamrock Airport from the storm Monday night.

He reported that one of the three planes demolished belonged to Kenneth Phillips.

The other two were owned by Californians who were en route home from Alexandria, Minnesota, when they ran into the storm. They landed at Shamrock, hoping for shelter and safety. One of the planes was bought from the manufacturer in Minnesota and had only 9 hours flying time when it was destroyed. Both men had flown to Minnesota in the other plane and they were returning together.

Mr. Hartman also reported damage to the home of the airport attendant, adjacent to the field, but the hanger escaped.

Mr. and Mrs. Riley Dunson and Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Tarver were in Memphis Monday afternoon, April 23, to attend the funeral of Doyle Pytte.

Handsome door prizes will be awarded three times during the meeting.

The entertainment program this year will be presented by the Samnorwood High School Chorus, directed by Mrs. Gary Matthews. This all-girl group presents a wide range of vocal selections, mixing the contemporary with the standard and old but well-loved melodies.

Each year, Greenbelt Electric Co-op, Inc., selects an entertainment group from within the area it serves to present the entertainment program. Mrs. Matthews, a graduate of Hardin Simmons University, is completing her first year at Samnorwood.

The Greenbelt Electric Co-operative, Inc., observing its 35th anniversary this year, is one of the pioneer electric co-ops in this part of the southwest. In all of that time, it has had only two managers, Mr. Henry and Orval Couch, now manager of the electric co-op at Homer, La.

The Aggie Muster began April 21, 1903, when the A&M Cadet Corps - 300 strong - mustered together to observe the independence of Texas and the great sacrifices made by the men at Goliad, the Alamo, and San Jacinto. It was agreed that "Forever Afterwards" April 21 would be a day of mustering for Aggies where ever they might be.

It was also decided that, in addition to honoring the freedom of Texas, April 21 would be a time to pay homage to all A&M former students who have died and that some living comrad would answer "Here" when the roll call for the absent was read.

Aggies have mustered on board ships, in foxholes, on the battlefield, in the Swiss Alps, in airplanes, and on Corregidor shortly before the Japanese captured the island in World War II.

More than 350 Musters were held around the world on Saturday night. The ceremony is the same in every location.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Keith Smith and Mrs. W.W. McClaskie early this week were Mrs. David Armstrong and granddaughter, Tonya Dawn Spear of Lubbock, and her daughter, Mrs. Anson Parker and David Muri of Miami. Mrs. Armstrong is Mrs. McClaskie's daughter.

Fishing License Reminder Given

AUSTIN - Heading for the old fishing hole?

Yes, indeed, there is nothing like a little fishing to set your mind straight and add a little fresh fish to the family freezer.

Parks and Wildlife Department law enforcement officials remind springtime anglers of two common fishing violations which could spoil an outing and make for some expensive fish.

Got a valid fishing license?

Current laws require everyone between the ages of 17 and 65 to have a license to fish in Texas waters. This includes coastal waters out to a limit of 10 1/3 miles.

Exemptions are persons under 16 years of age and over 65 and county residents fishing in their home counties with cane poles, trotlines and throwlines.

A license is necessary no matter how you fish if you are between 17 and 65 years and leave your home county to fish.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Vaughan over Easter were their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Quentin Hancock, Jill and Vaughan of Lubbock.

Tommy Allen of Canyon spent the school Easter vacation with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. P.E. Starr.

Two Hundred Quail Exes Attend Reunion Saturday

Approximately 200 former students of the Quail Schools and their guests came home to attend the annual reunion, held on the evening before Easter, Saturday, April 21.

This was the largest group to have attended a reunion. The guest speaker was Dr. Glynn Breeden, a member of the class of 1943, who is now a medical missionary for the Southern Baptist Convention in Bogota, Colombia. He and his family are presently on a are living in Dallas.

The reunion was held in the school gymnasium.

Excitement for which no one had planned came near the end of the evening, when fire broke out in the near-by Home Economics Cottage.

Men among the reunion guests got the blaze out before the rural unit of the Wellington Fire Department arrived, but firemen stayed to be sure that all fire was out.

The blaze was believed to have originated from a short in electrical wiring in the attic. Damage, mostly from smoke, was believed to be not extensive.

Dr. Breeden told of Colombia, using slides to illustrate his talk. He stressed that this is a land of contrasts, of wealth and poverty, of modern transportation and horse-drawn carts traveling the same streets.

Vocal numbers were presented by Cliff Rogers, music and youth director of First Baptist Church, Wellington and Mrs. Rogers.

A skit was presented by Kara Sherrill, daughter of Jean Morgan Sherrill of Jal, N.M.

Mark White, association president, was master of ceremonies and Supt. James Stavenhagen welcomed the guests. Trudie Ogletree Peters, secretary of the association, introduced the speaker.

Table decorations were miniature "I Think I Can" trains. Pictures of former principals and teachers were in the cab windows, while the four cars were filled with Quails, school supplies, penants and Easter eggs.

Fix-It Tip

When water goes down the drain slowly it won't be long before it doesn't go down at all. Grease and soap may cause a drain to fill up and lint, hair and other bits of material will become trapped and eventually interfere with the flow of water.

Chemical drain cleaners are effective but extreme caution must be used as they are extremely caustic. Using them in small amounts at frequent intervals is often recommended to prevent stoppage, but you can do just as well by occasionally pouring some boiling water down the drain and allowing hot water to run for a minute or two.

Stoppage generally occurs in the trap, the U-shaped pipe below the drain opening. Purpose of the trap is to hold water which prevents sewer gas from seeping in back into the house.

DRAMA UNDERFOOT: Kitchen floors need no longer be bogged down by uninteresting practicality. Today there are rugs attractive enough to hang as art objects, yet practical enough to withstand the rigors of sloppy gourmet cooks. Real Rugs "Cozumel" is a case in point. The Acrilan acrylic Plus rug is machine-washable, which means its bright and sunny impact need not be dimmed by dirt.

COOL IT WITH COTTON SHADES—Save on air-conditioning costs this summer with cotton window shades. Studies show they keep out the heat and can reduce air-conditioners' drain on power by as much as 50 percent. In this beach house, a ceiling-hung shade laminated with a geometric cotton print provides a flexible means of dividing indoors and out. The shade can be pulled down to shield the room from the hot midday sun, or raised for easy access to swimming. Cotton-covered floor-to-ceiling panels on either side of the window act as connecting links to matching tie-back curtains.

Fr. Burke Turns Down Transfer

"Those Wellington folks must really be something."

This summed up the reaction of Bishop Lawrence DeFalco of the Catholic Diocese of Amarillo, when Father Pat Burke turned down the second offer of a transfer he has had in as many years.

This time, the Bishop was looking for a "trouble-shooter" to take over the fast-growing parish of Dumas. Dumas has two missions in opposite corners of Moore County, which are rapidly developing, and churches will need to be built very soon.

However, Father Pat decided his trouble-shooting days are over for now, and turned down the offer. He told the Leader that he might have accepted if the school in Dumas had not been closed, as his first love in the priesthood is teaching children. There was also quite an outcry on the part of

Bob Wills Day Important to Area Fiddlers

By Mrs. Bill King

On Saturday, April 7, we ate an early lunch and hurried down to Mangum, Oklahoma, to the Rattlesnake Derby and flea market.

The town was full of happy, festive, people, mingling around the carnival and shopping through the flea market "bargains".

Rattlesnakes were the main attraction and their angry buzzing could be heard mingling with the music, talking and laughter.

You wouldn't believe some of the things we bought at the flea market, but I did get one ruby red glass item to go with my collection.

Since we hadn't heard the weather forecast all afternoon, we agreed to stay on after night for the country music show, which we enjoyed very much. We renewed our friendship with Pat Wills and his group — very good entertainers.

After the show ended, we headed for Wellington, and in about 10 miles we met the blizzard! The wind and snow were so bad it was almost impossible to see to drive and we skidded a time or two, but gratefully eased into King's Inn Motel and safety.

So that brings us to our next fiddling adventure: the big Bob Will Day in Turkey on Saturday, April 28. This one is very special to us.

The activities will begin quite early, with the parade at 9:00 a.m. and the fiddle contest starting at 10:30 in the High School gymnasium. There will be $250 prize money and 10 prizes.

Barbecue lunch will be served from 12:00 noon to 2:00 p.m. then Bob Wills Memorial Monument will be unveiled, 2:00 p.m. then Bob Wills and the Texas Playboys will participate in a program of the most beloved music ever played in this western country.

At 3 o'clock, the Bob Wills Memorial Monument will be unveiled, then we will move back indoors for the finals of the fiddle contest.

We made many friends in Turkey at the Bob Wills Day last year and we were happy that we were asked to help with it again. I, Mrs. Bill King, will be the MC and I was glad to say "yes." So we invite everyone to join us in Turkey Saturday, April 28, for the time of your life.

Paul McKinneys Visit Here

Mr. and Mrs. Paul McKinney of Borger were here Wednesday, April 18, to visit her father, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Clement and other relatives.

They also were here to buy alfalfa for the Thoroughbred horses they raise. Last year they raced their horses at Phoenix, Arizona and El Paso in the early season, and then at Raton, N.M., through the summer.

SUMMARY
(1000 lb choice steer)

Dresses out 61.5% 615 lbs
Less fat, bone and loss 183 lbs
Saleable beef 432 lbs

Supply and Demand are not the only factors in the price you pay for beef. For instance, today's modern-type 1,000 lb choice steer produces an approximate 615 lb carcass which the packer sells to a retailer who trims away 183 lbs of fat, bone and waste... ending up with only 432 lbs of beef that he cuts, wraps and sells to customers.

Of that a surprisingly small amount is steak and a much larger quantity is roasts as shown in the chart above. Retail stores put a higher price on steak and a lower price on pot-roasts and ground beef so that they sell it all... not end up with only less-in-demand cuts like pot-roasts and short ribs left in the cooler.

Americans Should Be Thankful For Abundant Farm Products

Never in the world's history have so many been so dependent upon so few, or so ignorant of their situation, as Americans today. More than 95 per cent of the nation's people are dependent upon the less than 6 percent who man the nation's farms.

Agriculture is a modern Cinderella who labors hard for city dwellers, but who works without any appreciation because there is a knowledge chasm left unbridged by modern journalism. The vital information link, the farm beat, has been plowed under or sent out to graze on the south 40 on most urban newspapers today.

Big city newspapers and TV stations ignore the farmer or side with the city housewife because their subscribers and listeners are in the city. Journalism in the magazines and big dailies ignores or scorns the farmer. It tells which movie star is sleeping with another, but fails to tell the story of that segment of America putting food on the table.

True, a lot of big newspapers have farm editors, who write of things supposedly of interest only to farmers. The city people skim right on past the farm news toward something more interesting to them.

Nowhere is there more opportunity for the farm page to tell the story about agriculture than right now, in the flap over rising food costs.

The most prevalent and most inaccurate myth in America today is the "high" food prices legend believed by almost every consumer and promulgated by nearly every newspaper and TV station in America.

Why does almost everyone think food is expensive? Because today's news media fails miserably to understand agriculture and to report it accurately.

Agriculture has given America the lowest cost food bill in the history of mankind - 16 per cent of disposable income in 1971, compared to 23 per cent in 1950, according to USDA statistics.

Our great agricultural progress has reduced food costs by 30 per cent during the past 21 years. As a bonus, Americans get a far greater variety of food, a higher quality, less kitchen drudgery, and more meals eaten in restaurants.

In 1950, Americans spent 23 per cent of their income for food. Last year they spent 16 per cent, and griped about it.

By cutting the percentage down, Americans saved $51.7 billion less last year than in 1950 for food. So they spent this on a second car, trail bikes, boats, stereo equipment, fancy furniture, summer cottages, dishwashers, color television and a host of other consumer goods.

One reason the standard of living has risen so fast is because the efficiency of the American farmer has given Americans more disposable income to spend for things other than food.

Instead of complaining about high food prices, Americans should be on their knees giving thanks for their share of the $51.7 billion a year the nation saves on groceries.

Food prices respond to the marketplace and when supply and demand fluctuates. Beef goes up and it goes down. So do eggs and lettuce and every other food item. But we never hear much when they go down, only when they go up. This leads to the false assumption that food prices do nothing but go up.

Big, black headlines announce that food prices are expected to go up 4.5 per cent during the first half of 1973 and we get a boycott of meat.

But the President says a 5.5 wage increase is reasonable and George Meaney says nothing doing, 10 percent is a minimum. What reporters got excited about that?

This country faces a crisis unless agriculture gets a fair deal. Unless the farm-city information gap is bridged by the press, it may be that an urban dominated Congress could pass legislation which would wreck the American farmer.

All the social reform and anti-poverty programs in the world will pale into insignificance when food stops coming into stores and on tables of the American consumer.

When American goes on a binge of anti-farm legislation, banning vital agricultural chemicals, slashing farm programs, and arbitrarily siding against the farmers on national issues, the seeds of ruin will be sown.

It will be too late for soft city dwellers to find out where food actually comes from.

AUSTIN, Tex. — Car and home owners had encouraging promises of lower insurance rates from high-level sources last week.

* Gov. Dolph Briscoe threw his weight behind a modified form of competitive auto insurance rating, subject of an unsuccessful special legislative session last year.

* The State Board of Insurance issued new rules and regulations which it pledged would bring lower rates for fire, home-owners and extended coverage policies.

Basically, what both plans would do is permit companies to deviate from the standard rates issued annually by the Board.

A bill introduced in the House and Senate undertook to permit the auto deviations — either below or above the standard rate on showing that companies could make the change without endangering their solvency.

Companies would apply to the Board for deviated rates, and reductions (or increases) would be permitted if they meet tests of fairness to customers and financial stability for the companies.

While Briscoe expressed confidence the bill, if enacted, would mean substantial rate cuts, some remained skeptical that the so-called high-risk driver wouldn't pay more under it. Rate deviations on property insurance are permissible under state law and can be implemented by the Board's regulations.

Meanwhile, the House concurred in Senate amendments and sent to Briscoe HB 143 which would authorize $2,500 medical payment and loss-of-income coverage for auto passengers. The coverage would be included in all liability policies unless specifically rejected. Whether the new law would help lower or raise rates was a subject of debate.

MEETINGS LAW SIGNED — Governor Briscoe signed into law legislation (HB 3) to strengthen open meetings and predicted it will bring more "responsiveness and openness" to government. Stiffer fines and a jail term are provided for violators.

The newsman's shield bill to protect confidential sources of information went to conference committee, as expected, and an attorney general's opinion concluded parts of the Senate revision are unconstitutional.

A Senate committee version of a new lobby control act was rapped by House Speaker Price Daniel Jr. as a "step backward" and by "Common Cause," the people's lobby, as a "joke". Changes were predicted after critics said the Senate bill is weaker than the 1957 act.

The Senate, meanwhile, passed another of Daniel's so-called reform bills prohibiting "legislative bribery" in exchange for support of a candidate for speaker.

JOB DISCRIMINATION REPORTED — Minority group members who work for the state generally hold lower-paying jobs, even though their employment level has improved somewhat, Texas Legislative Council reported in a new survey on ethnic groups in government.

The Council found the percentage of Negroes working for the state has risen from 9.20 per cent of the total number of employees five years ago to 10.09 per cent, and the percentage of state employees with Spanish surnames from 7.8 per cent in 1968 to 9.02 per cent in 1972. Blacks comprise about 12.5 per cent of the state

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

Argument goes on about whether the U.S.A. is a democracy or a republic. Classic definitions are that a democracy is a form of mob rule, and a republic is where the mob hires representatives to milk the public treasury for them.

Historically, whatever you call this general type of government, it can survive only until its credit runs out.

Viewed semantically, it might be reasonable to say that we have a democracy when Democrats are running Congress, and might have a republic if the Republicans ever got it in their hands.

Dodson Exes from Across Nation Attend Reunion

The Dodson Ex-Students' Association met for the annual banquet Saturday night, April 21. The dinner was served by Mrs. Jessie Roberson in the Cafe Dining Room. One hundred and one registered.

After the meal, the group met in the American Legion for a program which many described as "hilarious," or "the best we've ever had." Using the theme, "Dodson School, This is Your Life," Mrs. Wanda Hightower Cardwell of Pampa was the director and master of ceremonies.

The school years of the 'teens, twenties, thirties, forties, fifties and sixties were illustrated with styles of clothes for each decade.

Mrs. B.B. Martin modeled for the 20's, and the preceding years.

THOSE of us who live in an area where the worst disasters are tornados and blizzards have little comprehension of the misery and misfortune people endure in the face of hurricanes, earthquakes and floods.

AN EARTHQUAKE is over in a matter of minutes although the disaster it causes may be felt for months and years. A hurricane lasts for days and its dire effects also remain. But floods do not end in days but last for weeks and months covering vast areas and affecting the lives of millions of people.

THE MISSISSIPPI River is expected to hit a new high of 43.5 feet when it crests at St. Louis this Thursday. The giant river crested at St. Louis earlier this month and the Army Engineers estimated the flood caused $40 million in damage at that time. Yet St. Louis is hundreds of miles north of New Orleans and other parts of Louisiana that have been threatened by floods since the last part of March. Between St. Louis and New Orleans mighty tributary rivers are flooding at their mouths because the waters of the Mississippi are so high they cannot drain into it. It is hard for us to realize the vastness and the duration of such a disaster.

ON THE editorial page is the reprint of an editorial from Editor and Publisher, which is the Bible magazine of all daily publications and many weeklies. It points out the evils committed by many of the metropolitan papers in the manner in which they print news concerning the process of farm products. It is worth reading closely and perhaps reading once again.

NOW IT is onions that have gone sky high. The shortage in the Rio Grande Valley has little to do with the steep rise in price. The shortage is world wide and the Valley farmers are shipping onions to Europe. In recent years the price of onions has been so low that growers on the Panhandle Plains left them in the fields and in some years it happened in the valley.

ONIONS have little nutritive value outside of being appetizers. They make many dishes taste so much better that people eat more because of the onion seasoning and in this sense the onion does have certain indirect nutritive values. However, if there is one thing the average American does not need, it is to eat more.

THIS IS the first big onion scarcity I can remember since some slacker cornered the onion market during World War I. I believe that onions at the grocery store went to something over the unheard of price of 50¢ a pound. Children went to school with onion on their breath to show that they were rich enough to buy onions. My father forbade the practice although we had some grown onions in the cellar and shallots in the yard. There was no smell of onion on my breath in those days for I had a greater dread of my father's wrath than I did of being considered poor.

I QUIT gardening three years ago due to my shoulder; but this spring for some unaccountable reason I decided to set out onions. That is all — just onions. I now have tomatoes and beans but the onions have been out for weeks and I should have spring onions in three weeks. It is not too late to put them out provided you can get hold of some sets or plants. They will become scarce also now that the price is high.

Rex Peeples Promoted to Reserve Major

Rex Peeples, superintendent of Samnorwood Schools, has been promoted to the rank of Major of the United States Army Reserve, effective Thursday, May 3.

He has served on active duty, with the National Guard or in the Reserve since 1958.

Major Peeples attended the Basic Infantry Officers Course at Ft. Benning, Ga., and graduated from the Advanced Infantry Officers Course there. He also graduated from the Communications Officers Course and the Field Artillery School at Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

After completing his tour of active duty, he served as Company Commander of the National Guard unit in Wellington; at Shamrock as Battery Commander and at Amarillo as Communications Officer for the Battalion. He finished his tour there as Headquarters Commandant.

Presently, Major Peeples is enrolled in the Commanding General's Staff College at Ft. Leavenworth, Kansas, via the Reserve in Amarillo.

Major Peeples' active duty, with which he began his military career, was spent as an Armored Rifle Platoon Leader at Ft. Hood.

He transferred from the National Guard to the Reserve in April, 1972.

to go out to the farm and look at the wheat, to try to estimate how much it might have been damaged by the late freezes. It was so tall they decided to walk out in the field to get a better idea of the condition of the grain. In the middle of the field, they came upon a lake with ducks swimming in it. There must be some kind of a lesson in this, such as — if you can't make money from growing wheat, try raising ducks.

DICK Pendleton, the Greenbelt maintenance man was raised on a farm with all the chores of taking care of the hogs, chickens, cows and plow animals. In addition to all this regular work that bordered on drudgery, there was also the closeness to nature and to all kinds of wild things. He says there are times that he misses it. But he adds that his father, who still owns that land, says that he makes more money by renting it out than he did the last few years he farmed it.

Coy Vaughan In Hospital

Coy Vaughan, owner of Vaughan's Cleaners, is in the intensive care unit of an Amarillo hospital for treatment of a heart condition.

Mr. Vaughan entered the hospital Tuesday, April 17, for surgery, when the heart ailment of which he was not aware appeared, according to his sister-in-law, Mrs. Joe Thompson. The surgery has been postponed indefinitely.

His wife is with him, and their son, Billy Vaughan of Lubbock has been there part of the time. A sister-in-law, Mrs. Ray Clubb who lives in Amarillo is also with them.

Student Art to Be Featured

Mrs. Gail Oswalt and son, Le Ed, of Holly, Colorado were here for the spring school vacation, visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edd Henard.

Mrs. Oswalt teaches art in grades three through six of the Holly Elementary Schools, and a picture of her 1972 Christmas Project is to appear in a future issue of School Arts, a magazine for art educators. It will be the feature of the student art page, Mrs. Oswalt said.

Approximately 175 youngsters participated in the Christmas project, she said, although she has 225 students in all grades.

She and Le Ed, who is in kindergarten, returned to their home Monday.

which Larry has participated was living in a sterile environment — popularly called the "bubble room" — for three months. This, Dr. Hester explained, was part of a research investigation to determine how much of an advantage might be, and which period of time might give best results.

The overall project is not yet finished, she explained. Leukemia differs from other types of cancer. It cannot be detected ahead of time, Dr. Hester pointed out. There is no lump that can be felt, as in breast cancer, no lesion that will not heal, or mass that can be detected by x-ray.

Probably the patient is ill a short time, with nothing that can be diagnosed easily. Then possibly a blood examination reveals the lack of red cells which when studied further can reveal leukemia, the young doctor explained.

Dr. Hester is a graduate of the University of Oklahoma School of Medicine and completed her internship at the University Medical Center. She has been in Houston two years. An internist, she is doing post graduate training in chemo-therapy. In September she will join the staff of M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute.

Couple Home After Southern Vacation

Mr. and Mrs. Milford Harris returned recently from a vacation through the Deep South and on to Florida.

Two of the highlights were their stay in Vicksburg and the site where her grandfather fought in the Civil War Battle of Vicksburg, and in Florida, where Mr. Harris was stationed in World War II.

They went to all parts of the Battlefield, now a National monument, identifying points of which the late Thomas W. Johnston had told his descendants. They traveled through Mississippi and Louisiana to Alabama, through the area where Mrs. Harris father, the late B. Johnston, was born.

In Atlanta, Ga., they visited Swan House, now open to the public under the auspices of a historical association. Here the azaleas were in full bloom.

Also of interest was Hay House, a 24-room ante-bellum mansion built by Wm. B. Johnston.

Reaching Jacksonville, the Wellington couple swam in the Atlantic Ocean on April 4.

"The Everglades are just what you always hear they are," said Mrs. Harris. "We saw alligators, flowers, bamboo hummocks, and other swamp life and points of interest. However, the birds, for which the Everglades are famous, had already begun their migrations northward."

They stopped at the site of Drew Air Force Base, where Mr. Harris was stationed 14 months during World War II. It is now a private airport, but by sheer co-incidence they found a woman who worked at the Commercial Hotel in Tampa, where Mr. Harris sometimes stayed on week end leave. The hotel was torn down several years ago to make way for a new Florida National Bank.

At Pensacola they visited relatives, the Seth Johnston family, and fished in the Gulf of Mexico.

On their return trip, they found rivers and sometimes highways flooded, with the Mississippi at its highest point in 30 years. This prevented their planned visit to New Orleans.

Hunter Safety Program Here

At present, Texas' program of hunter safety training is a voluntary one.

The Texas program is open to anyone 12 years of age or older.

Parks and Wildlife Department Hunter Safety Coordinator T.D. Carroll urges all parents with children interested in hunting to sign them up as soon as possible to beat the summer and early fall rush on hunting instruction.

"In 1972," said Carroll, "185 people were involved in 85 reported hunting accidents, 30 of which were fatal."

"Some 51 of the accidents involved hunters 16 years of age or younger."

Loaded guns in vehicles accounted for 17 of the accidents.

"This is only a slight increase over 1971's 127 accidents," said Carroll, "but the number of fatalities is up from 23 and indicates a need for more vigorous participation in hunter safety instruction."

Carroll pointed out that early instruction is particularly important to those planning to hunt in such states as Colorado which require training for youngsters before a license is issued. New Mexico also plans to adopt such a program in 1976.

Those interested in the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's Voluntary Hunter Safety Program are urged to contact their local game warden.

District Parks and Wildlife Department law enforcement offices maintain lists of all active hunter safety instructors in the vicinity.

Higher Court Affirms Verdict In Check Case

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals has upheld the finding of the 100th District Court in the case of the State vs. Clede E. Aldridge, who was convicted here in February 1972 on a charge of passing a forged instrument.

Mr. Aldridge was sentenced two years in the state penitentiary, and upon the filing of an appeal by his attorney, Charles Darter, he was freed on $2,500 appeal bond.

Aldridge was an employee of Turner Brothers Truck Co., Oklahoma City, and was charged with taking checks from his employer and passing them.

Mr. Darter said that his employer appeared as a witness in Aldridge behalf during the trial.

fire doors in halls at required locations was discussed. Bids on this required project are expected to be let soon.

The recent election for three directors was canvassed and J.C. Howell, Clyde Drake and J.E. Forbis were officially sworn in for two year terms. The Board was reorganized with C.T. Hubbard, president; Otis Emmert, vice president; and Tom Cunningham, secretary.

The revised budget for October 1, 1972 - September 30, 1973, as adopted in March meeting was discussed at length.

It was pointed out that with estimated hospital expenses totaling $304,851, and hospital revenue estimated at $275,400, a deficit to come out of Tax revenue of $29,451 remains, and with the bond payment of $25,000, would only leave about $2,581.00 for required hospital capital improvements.

With some foreseeable reduction in county tax roll valuation it was agreed that in order to keep the hospital on a sound business basis, and to keep from getting behind with these unexpected and unforeseen required changes by various agencies, the tax rate would be set at 70 cents per $100 valuation instead of 60 cents. This would produce about $10,500 additional revenue which should give the hospital a little cushion for required capital improvement contingencies.

It was pointed out in the discussion that on present cost of care in the hospital, an increase of one patient a day average census for a full year would increase hospital revenue $20,680. Thus the hospital operates on a very critical margin.

"The board in reaching the decision to increase the tax rate by 10 cents is well aware that this probably wasn't the most popular decision but after weighing all known factors felt it was something which had to be done in the best interest of the hospital. They praised Collingsworth County citizens for the past support and loyalty to the Hospital and request their usual unselfish wholehearted cooperation to the future of our hospital, that it may meet the needs of our people," said Mr. Altom.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Ressel of Dickens and Mr. and Mrs. Randy Motesbocker of Amarillo spent Easter week end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Peters.
