Reorganization plan accepted, 6-1

Snyder Public Schools trustees voted 6-1 Thursday to approve an elementary school reorganization plan which calls for the closing of North Elementary and instituting grade-level campuses for grades 2-6.

"I'm excited about this plan; I look forward to putting this plan to work," said Superintendent Dalton Moseley, following the 25-minute board meeting.

The lone dissenting vote was cast by Trustee Geraldine Parker as an estimated crowd of 65 — many of them standing — looked on.

"I do not oppose the reorganization plan in its entirety," said Mrs. Parker, the board's newest member and a former West Elementary school principal. "I think that avenues have not been impartially explored. I think the expertise of key educators in our system has not been utilized to find a solution."

Voting for the plan were trustees Terry Martin, Billy Bob McMullan, Glen Clarady, Luann Burleson, Ann Walton and Sam Robertson, board president.

The plan, which will go into effect for the 1992-93 school year, will mean the closing of the North Elementary school campus. Prekindergarten, kindergarten and first grade students from that school will attend West Elementary. Each of Snyder's five remaining schools will contain kindergarten and first grade, in addition to one other grade. All second graders will attend Stanfield; all third graders will go to Central; all fourth graders to East; fifth graders to Northeast; and sixth graders to West.

The plan also calls for the reinstatement of full-day kindergarten.

Snyder ISD administrators have said that the plan will solve classroom and ethnic imbalance while saving the district over $800,000 annually.

Primary objections, voiced frequently during a Feb. 4 public hearing attended by some 950 citizens, included the effects that campus-level schools and busing might have on young students.

Despite the fact that 53 people spoke during the public hearing, no one addressed the board Thursday night. Some of those in attendance did wear ribbons, indicating whether they were for or against the plan.

"I'm going to work just as hard as I can to make the plan work and we've already made plans tonight to have principals, teachers and representatives of our parent councils to work with us in implementing this plan to make it work as smoothly as we possibly can,"

Ozone report

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) —A United Nations environmental report speculates that depletion of the earth's protective ozone layer could weaken peoples' resistance to the AIDS virus.

The report suggested that increased ultraviolet radiation from ozone depletion could speed up progression to the full-blown AIDS disease in those already infected with HIV-1, the AIDS virus.

The 45-page report from the Nairobi-based U.N. Environment Program was obtained today by The Associated Press.

"It is becoming clear that activation of HIV-1 by UV radiation is a cause for concern," said the report.

College to host speech tourney

Over 350 students from area schools will participate in the fourth annual Ben Brock Memorial Invitational Speech Tournament to be held Saturday at Western Texas College.

The tournament is named in honor of the late Dr. Ben Brock, who served as vice president of WTC and was an active supporter of literary events both at the college and public schools.

Competition in the tourhament allows area students to prepare for district contests.

Registration for the all-day event will be 7:15 a.m. in the lobby of the Fine Arts Theatre. An opening assembly will be held at 7:45 a.m. with a welcome address by Dr. Harry Krenek, WTC president.

Judging of events is scheduled to begin at 8:30 a.m.

Events for the Brock Tournament include informative speaking, persuasive speaking, prose interpretation, poetry interpretation, ready writing, current issues and events, cross-examination debate, Lincoln-Douglas debate, duet acting, literary criticism and keyboarding.

The tournament is conducted under the rules of the University Interscholastic League, with sweepstakes trophies awarded to the top two schools.

According to tournament director Jan McCathern, students from 24 area high schools are scheduled to compete. Schools of all sizes, from 1-A to 5-A, are included.

Scheduled to attend the tournament are Andrews, Baird, Big Spring, Borden County, Brownfield, Clyde, Forsan, Guthrie, Hermleigh, Knox City, Lamesa and Levelland.

Others include McCamey, Monahans, Odessa, Pecos, Roby, Roscoe, Rotan, Smyer, Snyder, Slaton, Stanton and Sweetwater.

WTC speech students and faculty members will judge events and serve as event timers. The Snyder chapter of the Toastmasters Club will also assist with judging this year.

Tournament directors include McCathern, Mavis Brumelow, Jim Rambo, Scott Carothers, Dr. Edward Barkowsky, James Lewis, Sandy Patterson, Andra McKinney, John Gibson, Phyllis Smith and Linda Piel.

Prison prospects hopeful for Snyder, says Counts

State Rep. David Counts, during an appreciation day in his honor, said he is encouraged about Snyder's prospects for a second state prison.

Counts made the remarks during a session with students at Western Texas College and he repeated his optimism during a luncheon in his honor at Snyder Country Club.

David Counts Appreciation Day was hosted by the WTC Faculty Association and began Thursday morning with a public reception in the WTC student center.

Counts said a Snyder delegation recently had the opportunity to tell the Snyder prison story to Gov. Ann Richards. "I will be terribly disappointed if Snyder is not chosen," Counts said. He said the audience with Gov. Richards was made possible by Lena Guerrero, chairperson of the Texas Railroad Commission.

Counts praised local leaders for their efforts in cultivating working relationships with Texas Department of Criminal Justice officials in Snyder and throughout the state.

Counts, who is unopposed in seeking his fourth legislative term, told supporters that redistricting resulted in the loss of five rural legislators. "Howard County, with 30,000 people, was added to my district, so I will be spending a lot of time with those folks during the next few months getting acquainted with their problems and needs."

Counts added that the loss of representation in rural Texas makes the job that much more difficult. "For example, Houston alone has 23 state representatives."

"All we ask for (rural Texas) is a fair shake, but too often we're not dealing in fairness but with votes."

Counts said he recently accompanied Gov. Richards to Washington where they joined the Texas congressional delegation in meeting with top officials of General

Recovery project planned by Mobil

Downsizing by major oil companies continues to impact the local economy, but one positive note has surfaced with a planned enhanced recovery project in the Salt Creek Field.

Mobil, operator of the Salt Creek field in Kent County, said this week that approval for a CO2 injection project has been approved, starting in mid-1993.

Bob Bohot, Mobil regional manager in the Midland office, said engineering work has already begun as well as equipment and materials procurement.

The project will include a CO2 pipeline from Denver City in Yoakum County to the Salt Creek field. Currently, Salt Creek produces about 24,000 barrel of oil per day and 270 barrels of water.

Mobil currently has 45 employees at Salt Creek, and some employment increase can be expected as the CO2 project nears completion.

Bohot did confirm that Mobil had terminated all of its contract employees this month. "Like all the industry, our company is in a mode to cut expenses and to operate as efficiently as possible."

H. J. Payne, Chevron's SACROC superintendent, said this week that Chevron's interest in the unit remains for sale, but that the process would take time. "We'll definitely be here through 1992."

Payne said that SACROC would be affected by Chevron's plan to cut its company-wide work force. Payne said some early retirement packages as well as transfers can be expected over the next few months. Payne said the workforce reduction is a corporate decision unrelated to SACROC.

Also pending in the Scurry County oil patch is Oryx's offer to sell its interest in both SACROC and two gas plants. Mike Post, manager of the Snyder Gas Plant, said offers are currently being evaluated.

Morales to ask court to halt Senate election

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas Attorney General Dan Morales has asked the U.S. Supreme Court to halt the state Senate primary next month, saying there is a "dark cloud" hanging over the election.

In an emergency motion sent to the court today, the state asked Supreme Court Justice Antonin Scalia to halt the March 10 Senate primary. The request would not affect the other elections scheduled in Texas on that date.

The delay is necessary, Morales said, because his attempts to overthrow the state Senate redistricting plan drawn up by federal judges in Austin have yet to be ruled upon.

"A dark cloud hovers over the district court's purportedly self-crafted Senate redistricting plan," the emergency motion said. "Very real and substantial questions have been raised about the district court's jurisdiction."

The state is fighting the judges' map on several fronts — the U.S. Supreme Court, a federal three-judge panel in Washington, D.C., and in federal court in Austin.

Separately, the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans has ordered a committee of judges to investigate allegations that U.S. District Judge James Nowlin of Austin acted in a partisan way when ordering a state Senate redistricting map.

EPA sued by Louisiana AG

MONROE, La. (AP) — Louisiana Attorney General Richard Ieyoub has sued the Environmental Protection Agency, saying it broke the law by allowing lead contaminated soil from Texas to be dumped at a landfill near here.

"We believe the Environmental Protection Agency is violating its own laws .... The EPA did not prepare the appropriate environmental impact study as required by federal law," Ieyoub said in a written statement Thursday.

Ieyoub filed suit Thursday and is seeking to permanently block the soil shipment to Waste Management's landfill in Ouachita Parish.

"Material derived from a removal or remedial action, whether it be hazardous substances or pollutants or contaminants, are required to be disposed in facilities permitted for hazardous waste disposal. That is the law," Ieyoub said.

"The EPA, by transporting material ... for disposal at a facility not licensed as a hazardous waste disposal facility, apparently intends to break the law."

Waste Management agreed Wednesday to comply with a restraining order halting renewed shipment of the soil, but reiterated its claim that the substance isn't hazardous.

And Craig Thomas, local manager for the company, said the contaminated soil may be taken elsewhere.

"We have a wide network of service facilities," said Thomas. "We will be examining each of them to determine ... if we have an environmentally sound alternative."

Waste Management owns or operates about 130 landfills across the United States.

Meanwhile U.S. Sen. John Breaux, D-La., stepped into the controversy.

In a statement from Washington, Breaux cited a 1991 study that he said could become the basis for Texas "relying upon Louisiana for its hazardous waste capacity needs."

Breaux asked Kai Midboe, secretary of the state Department of Environmental Quality, to review the Texas Water Commission study in light of the amount of waste Texas sends to Louisiana.

"Louisiana should not be the dumping ground for states which do not have the will or the desire to handle their own waste problems," said Breaux, who has introduced legislation to give states the right to refuse out-of-state solid waste.

The soil controversy has been raging since Feb. 3, when the EPA announced that 1,800 truckloads of "low level," lead-contaminated soil would be shipped from a Dallas Superfund site.

Both the EPA and the state Department of Environmental Quality said the soil is not hazardous when properly disposed of.

The first four truckloads arrived last week.

Striking the opening blow

By Phillip Alder

The declarer enjoys a considerable edge over the defenders. Though the defenders are allowed to make the opening lead, finding the best opening lead on all hands is a task that would have defeated even Hercules. Yet, assuming the rest of your game is OK, if you could find the best lead every time, you would be a big winner.

Information is given with the opening lead. One popular method nowadays is the lead of a nine, 10 or jack as promising zero or two higher honors in the suit. At trick one, sometimes this is valuable, but more often, it seems to me, declarer benefits from the extra data dispensed. I recommend using this leading system only after trick one.

Much more important, though, is to concentrate on finding the right play, not being distracted by your agreements.

North's three-heart cue-bid is asking for a stopper for no-trump, but usually includes club support to fall back on in case the opener doesn't have a top heart honor. Here, though, South was happy with his heart holding.

West led the heart jack, showing zero or two higher honors. Declarer played well, winning with the king. Next came the diamond queen: club two, diamond five, diamond king. Thinking his partner held the A-Q-J of hearts, East returned his second heart. Declarer claimed nine tricks. Who made the mistake, East or West?

It was West. He should have discarded the heart 10 to warn East that his suit wasn't running. Then East would have found the killing spade switch.

On the Issues

The issue: the peace dividend

Editor's Note — The Associated Press asks the major presidential candidates a question each weekday about their views on a particular issue and assembles their responses.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are the views of the major presidential candidates on the question: "What should be the top federal spending priority for any money derived from a 'peace dividend' reduction in defense spending?"

DEMOCRATS

—Jerry Brown: A spokeswoman said Brown's priority would be the infrastructure, building a high-speed rail system and developing ports for international trade.

—Bill Clinton: A spokesman said Clinton's top priority would be investing the money in "a national economic strategy to promote American competitiveness, create incentives for new jobs and new businesses and greatly improve worker training."

—Tom Harkin: "The peace dividend should be used to get America working. My plan would save $420 billion over a 10-year period. One-third of that would go to reducing our national debt — the remaining amount would be reinvested in America. We would use the funds for rebuilding America, investing in high-technology and bio-technology industries and building roads, schools and research labs."

—Bob Kerrey: "We must invest these savings in the things that boost productivity and improve living standards. We need investments in our people — national health insurance, innovative schools, worker training programs; our industry — a civilian research agency, tax credits for investment and research; and our foundation — highways and mass transit, a communications infrastructure."

—Paul Tsongas: "Money that is saved through defense cuts should be used to reduce our debt, to help stimulate investment in emerging new industries and to fund research which will restore our technological and scientific leadership. Though there are many worthwhile uses for these funds, the way to ensure jobs, and to make sure our social needs are met, is to invest in rebuilding the industrial base of our economy."

REPUBLICANS

—George Bush: The Bush administration initially said the surplus would go to help reduce the budget deficit, but President Bush indicated in his 1993 budget that he would be willing to discuss how to spend it with Congress. "Frankly, I'd like to put it into the pockets of the American taxpayer, if I possibly could," he told reporters in Singapore.

—Patrick Buchanan: "Depending on the amount, any significant savings from defense reductions could be used to reduce the deficit, or returned to the taxpayer. The 'peace dividend' must not be used as an excuse for increased federal spending."

—David Duke: "Rebuilding our infrastructure and educating our children."

Tigers face Levelland in crucial 2-4A battle

The Snyder Tigers will try to throw a wrench into the District 2-4A playoff machine today when they travel to Levelland to face the Lobos.

Levelland is fresh from a 58-50 win over Estacado Tuesday that lifted the Lobos to a second-place tie with the Mats with two games remaining.

Both teams sport 5-3 marks since the beginning of district play.

The Lobos bring a 19-7 overall record into tonight's fray.

The Tigers come in with a 17-12 slate in all games played and a 3-5 record in loop games, including Tuesday's 86-69 loss to the powerful Lamesa Golden Tors.

Snyder seniors Hayward Clay, Jeff Wortham and Barron Wesley, as has been the case for much of the year, supplied most of the offensive production for the Tigers in the loss.

Clay put in 21 points while Wortham added 19 and Wesley contributed 14.

Levelland topped the Tigers, 59-53, in an overtime decision when the two teams met earlier this year at Scurry County Coliseum.

The Lobos are led by senior Cleveland Dawson, who scored 21 points in the upset over Estacado, and sophomore sensation Sedric King, who canned 16 against the Mats.

Game time is 6:30 p.m. for the JV squads followed at 8 p.m. by the varsity teams.

Elsewhere in the loop today, Lamesa is at Frenship and Estacado hosts Dunbar.

NMJC T-birds top Westerners

HOBBS, N.M. — Jon Gaston hit eight three-pointers for WTC on his way to a 36-point night in the Westerners' 96-89 Western Junior College Athletic Conference loss to New Mexico JC.

"It was a much closer game than the score indicates," said WTC coach Kelly Green.

"We lost the game, basically on free throws and defense.

"NMJC is a team of runs," he continued. "They play on so much emotion. They get a dunk and their level of intensity rises 100 percent.

"I've seen teams that pick up the pace a notch, but nothing like them.

"We scored about every time down," the coach continued. "But we had a stretch where we turned the ball over three consecutive times that put them on one of their runs. Then we closed to 75-72 and before I could call a time-out, we were down 83-72."

The Westerners trailed just 62-60 and held the ball in the second half before missing a three-on-one break attempt that led to a 7-0 surge by NMJC.

"We just didn't execute on those few trips down the court," Green said. "We played them real tough and real even for 37 minutes."

The Westerners hit 38 field goals to just 35 from the T-birds, but New Mexico made 33 trips to the free-throw line, converting 22, while Western Texas managed just four of eight.

Trailing Gaston for the Westerners was freshman Brent Murphy with 12 and Ricardo Hamilton's 11.

James Inman's 21 was tops for NMJC. Pete Lewis and Dell Savage each tossed in 20 and Greg Brown was good for 17.

The loss drops WTC to 13-14 on the season and 5-8 in WJCAC games. New Mexico maintains its third-place standing in the conference with a 21-4, 9-3 slate.

In other Western Conference games Thursday, Midland knocked off South Plains, 70-66, in a battle of No. 1 and No. 2; Odessa dropped Clarendon, 80-65; and Howard outlasted Frank Phillips, 129-108.

The Westerners will be off for a week before hosting the 11-1 Midland Chaparrals at Scurry County Coliseum.

Lady Dusters lose to New Mexico JC

HOBBS, N.M. — A hot first half by the eighth-ranked New Mexico Junior College Lady Thunderbirds led to an 83-61 defeat of Western Texas College Thursday in a women's Western Junior College Athletic Association matchup.

"Everything they shot went in," said WTC coach Kelly Chadwick. "They were just ungodly hot in the first half.

"We played them pretty well in the second half," the coach continued. "In fact we outscored them 37-33. They just had such a big lead on us."

The Lady T-birds jumped out to a 51-24 halftime advantage.

WTC's sophomores led the Duster charge as Del Rio's Merry Brown scored 15 and La Shunta Jackson, from Navasota, added 12.

Brown hit six baskets and was three-for-four from the free-throw line and Jackson managed four buckets while going four-for-six from the stripe.

New Mexico's leading scorer was sophomore forward Neisha Williams, who canned 14 points, including two three-pointers. Ericka Crittenden, Sandra Williams and Cami Williams each added 10 for the Lady T-birds.

The loss drops Western Texas to 9-16 for the season. The Dusters are 3-7 in WJCAC competition.

The Lady Thunderbirds, second in the conference standings, are 23-3 and 8-2.

In other games within the league Thursday, fifth-rated Howard remained undefeated in Western Conference play, knocking off Frank Phillips College, 57-40; and Odessa hammered Clarendon, 82-44.

The Dusters' scheduled Monday game against Ranger JC has been cancelled. Their next appearance will be Thursday when they take on Weatherford Junior College in a non-conference tilt.

ALBERTVILLE, France (AP) — Christopher Bowman was no showman. Todd Eldredge's train of thought was derailed in mid-axel.

The two-time U.S. champs were chumps, they admitted, with the Olympic figure skating title up for grabs. As a result, the Americans' streak of gold medals in the event may be over at two — apologies to darkhorse Paul Wylie in third place.

"I'm sorry things didn't work out better," said Bowman, who knew his big chance was gone the moment his hand hit the ice on a triple axel.

Viktor Petrenko, a Ukrainian competing for the Unified Team, was the only one of the top medal favorites to perform well and can earn the gold with a solid performance in the free skate Saturday night.

While the top American men's skaters failed to live up to expectations, Austria and the U.S. hockey team continued to exceed theirs at the 16th Winter Olympics, and Germany moved into the medals lead.

Germans won three medals today for a total of 13 — one more than Austria, which has already matched its all-time best from Innsbruck in 1964. The Unified Team was next with 10, host France had seven and Norway six. The United States had three, including two golds.

The latest medal for the French team was a surprising gold in a sport long dominated by the old East bloc.

France won the women's 3 X 7.5-kilometer biathlon relay, a skiing-shooting combination through the woods of Les Saisies. Germany was second and the Unified Team, the pre-race favorite, third. The United States finished 15th, next to last.

Inclement weather in the Alps disrupted the Olympics today.

Thick fog delayed the start of the men's luge doubles but not the outcome, where favored Germany and Italy swept the medals. Stefan Krausse and Jan Behrendt edged teammates Yves Mankel and Thomas Rudolph by .186 seconds over two runs, and World Cup champions Hansjorg Raffl and Norbert Huber of Italy took the bronze.

The top U.S. team, Wendel Suckow of Marquette, Mich., and Bill Tavares of Lake Placid, N.Y., finished ninth, matching the best previous American finish in the event.

A Norwegian cross-country skier, Vegard Ulvang, 28, who arrived at the Olympics having never won a major title, became the first double gold medalist Thursday by winning the 10-kilometer race in a snowstorm.

The United States was still just halfway to its dismal 1988 total of six medals, but its hockey team — short on National Hockey League talent but not on toughness — passed a stern test with ease.

The Americans clinched the medals round for the first time since 1980, the year of miracle gold, and closed in on a top seeding by beating Finland 4-1.

Acrobatic goalie Ray LeBlanc turned in another stellar performance with 29 saves, including a couple of spectacular ones in the third period when Finland trailed only 2-1. Scott Young scored twice and the U.S. team played its savvy game of checking with gusto and seizing opportunities.

SHS to face Midland Lee in scrimmage

Snyder will face the Midland Lee Rebels in the Tigers' second preseason baseball scrimmage Saturday at 1 p.m. in Midland.

The meeting was originally planned as a double-header, but the teams have decided to play a single nine-inning game, instead.

Starting on the mound for SHS will be junior Michael Fields, followed by seniors David Patrick and Jason Rios.

Snyder coach Albert Lewis expects Rios, who has been bothered by a sore arm lately, to be one of the strengths of the Tiger pitching staff.

The Tigers' first outing was a 21-1 practice-game loss to Abilene Cooper Tuesday.

"The game wasn't nearly as bad as the score indicates," said Lewis. "We gave a good effort and I saw a lot of things that I really liked."

The Tigers will be back at home Thursday for the Exes benefit baseball game then will travel to San Angelo Lake View for a scrimmage against the Chiefs Saturday, Feb. 22, before beginning the regular season at home Feb. 29 against Monahans.

LOCAL BOXERS — The Vasquez Boxing Team of Snyder will be competing in the weekend Golden Gloves Tournament at Ector County Coliseum in Odessa. Team members include, back row from left, trainer Johnny Vasquez, Louis Suarez, Fernando Martinez, Hugo Jaimes, Ignacio Martinez, Jesse Lara and Greg Hererra. Network TV report said false

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A San Antonio woman says that she still believes that a photograph discovered by an MIA hunter is that of her former husband who has been missing since the Vietnam War.

Carol Collins, former wife of Capt. Donald G. Carr, said Thursday that she does not believe a report broadcast this week by ABC News that claims the photo is actually that of a man who is now living in Germany.

The report is "a blatant lie," Mrs. Collins said.

The network had reported that the picture was that of a man believed to now be living in Germany who resembled Carr.

"They have not discredited that photo," Mrs. Collins said.

MIA hunter Jack Bailey revealed last summer that one of his contacts took a picture of what he says was an American in a Laotian prison camp. A search by U.S. military personnel turned up nothing to back up the report.

The network reported that the original snapshot was that of a German named Gunther Dietrick.

Mrs. Collins told the San Antonio Express-News that the man the network identified as Dietrick shown walking down the street in Germany looked neither like Donald Carr nor the photograph brought out of Thailand by Bailey, a retired Air Force colonel who now spends his time searching for missing prisoners of war.

Mrs. Collins said Pentagon investigators told her about Dietrick in November and said they could not find him. She also said the Pentagon has the fingerprints of the man in the photograph and has access of the prints of Dietrick because of his police record.

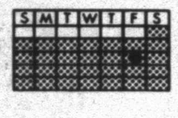

"All they have to do is compare the two sets of fingerprints," Mrs. Collins said.

The woman said her co-workers, many of whom saw the broadcast, told her, "We believe the man in the photo is Don Carr. You just hang in there, Carol."

Moseley said.

Robertson requested that the District Educational Improvement Council continue to work on the plan. He asked that principals and board members Parker and Walton be included on the council. He also requested that the council meet on a regular basis and report back to the board during its March 12 meeting.

"Furthermore I'd like to ask our community to work with us on this, to continue to have input, and direct that input to this committee," said Robertson. "I would ask that everyone help us work through this and make sure that whatever we do is the correct thing to implement this plan."

This morning, Supt. Moseley said Improvement Council members, including principals, presidents of parent council organizations and trustees Parker and Walton will meet each Monday. The first meeting will be held at 4 p.m. on Feb. 24. A meeting site has not yet been determined.

Board members took no action during their executive session concerning the discipline of a student. In other business, the board approved one-year contract extensions for elementary principals Wayne Kennedy, Jim Erwin, Bob Travis, Lee Presswood and Ray Courtney; two-year contracts for athletic director David Baugh, SHS assistant principal Larry Scott and special programs director Barbara Granato; and a one-year contract for assistant manager of transportation and maintenance Bill Denson.

The board also ordered the May 2 trustees election, which calls for the election of two at-large positions, currently held by Robertson and Burleson.

In other action the board approved bids for cafeteria food, bakery products and laundry/linen service; okayed a budget amendment to reclassify the Hobbs Co-op budget; and accepted a policy revision involving grading at the kindergarten and first grade levels.

The board also heard from Courtney, who gave a campus report on North Elementary.

Jack Ruby's hat sells at auction

NEW YORK (AP) — The hat Jack Ruby was wearing when he shot John F. Kennedy assassin Lee Harvey Oswald sold for $12,100 at auction Thursday night.

The shoes Ruby wore sold for $1,320, said Herman Darvick, who ran the auction of historical memorabilia at the Sheraton New York.

The buyer is an anonymous New Jersey collector who paid $220,000 at Darvick's December auction for the gun Ruby used in the Oswald shooting, Darvick said.

The size 71/4 gray hat with a black band was seen by 20 million television viewers when Ruby rushed from a crowd on November 24, 1963 and shot Oswald.

The hat, by Cavanagh Hats, New York, was bought by Ruby from James K. Wilson of Dallas for $16.50. "JACK RUBY" is imprinted in gold on the right side of the inner hat band.

Judith Remy notified the department at 10:47 p.m. that someone had taken a car radio and speakers from her vehicle while it was parked at 2000 22nd St. Officers filed a report for burglary of a vehicle in the case.

Officers were also notified at 12:50 p.m. that their investigation of a runaway, reported Wednesday by the girl's mother, could be cancelled. The girl has returned home.

Ten Commandments Point The Way to Happy Marriage

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1992 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR READERS: Here it is, St. Valentine's Day again.

Some years ago, when I was less savvy about equal rights for women, I unabashedly wrote a St. Valentine's column on "how to keep your man happy." I called it the Ten Commandments for Women — and soon it was followed by a Ten Commandments for Men.

Then an early feminist, Mandy Stillman of Milwaukee, wrote, demanding equality for the sexes and insisting that there should be only one set of commandments for both genders. Well, Ms. Stillman won and here they are:

TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR A SUCCESSFUL MARRIAGE

Put your mate before your mother, your father, your son and your daughter, for your mate is your lifelong companion.

Do not abuse your body with excessive food, tobacco or drink, so that your life may be long and healthy, in the presence of those you love.

Do not permit your business or your hobby to make you a stranger to your children, for the most precious gift a parent can give his or her family is time.

Do not forget that cleanliness is a virtue.

Do not make your mate a beggar, but willingly share with him or her your worldly goods.

Remember to say, "I love you." For even though your love may be constant, your mate yearns to hear those words.

Remember always that the approval of your mate is worth more than the admiring glances of a hundred strangers, so remain faithful and loyal to your mate, and forsake all others.

Keep your home in good repair, for out of it come the joys of old age.

Forgive with grace. For who among us does not need to be forgiven?

Honor the Lord your God all the days of your life, and your children will grow up and bless you.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am in my late 60s and have medical problems that dictate that I move on to whatever follows life in the very near future. But this letter is not a letter of sorrow. It is a celebration of life and all that it offers to us.

I have had the singular honor of feeding oats to the milkman's horse. I have spent lazy summer days wading in the creek and catching crayfish. I have had my knuckles rapped by the teacher for talking too much in class. I have seen days during the Depression when, as hard as they tried, my parents could not provide us with the best of food or clothing. I have been blessed with good parents who cared. I have been to war and seen men die. I have had the wild times of my late teens and 20s. I have watched my children, and their children, grow — and I am proud of them. And I have had a wonderful wife to share the good times and the bad.

When I check out of this world, whoever takes my place had better do it right. It has been a darn good place, and I don't want it fouled up. That doesn't mean not making mistakes. I have done a lot of things right in my life, but I probably did a lot more things wrong. I don't regret any of them; I've learned a lot from my mistakes. I've learned that happiness does not come in a bottle, a pill or a needle. It comes from friends and family who believe in you. I have loved and I have known love. Sign me ...

Valentine's Day more expensive

HOUSTON (AP) — Alas, the days of free love are long gone. And as anyone getting ready for Valentine's Day can tell, the cost of being sweet to one's sweetie is higher this year than ever before.

According to the "Cost of Loving Index," compiled by Houston Asset Management Inc., prices for a romantic Valentine's Day gifts have gone up 11.9 percent since last year and nearly tripled over the past two decades.

A lavish Valentine's Day including a dozen long-stem roses, Godiva chocolates in a Valentine heart, and a one-ounce bottle of Chanel No. 5 perfume would run at least $360. Add a romantic candlelight dinner and movie, and the tally rises by $156 to $516, the investment advising company said.

The total is up $40 over 1991 and $372 from 20 years ago, when the same evening would have cost $144.

Dr. Gott

By Peter Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm incarcerated in a penitentiary for life because of an alcohol- and drug-related crime. I feel peer pressure of the 1960s drove me to chronic alcoholism yet wonder if I could be tested to determine if inherited genes contributed to my condition. I was a B+ student, an all-around athlete, an Episcopal church server, reliable worker and had a steady girlfriend. All of that ended as soon as I started drinking. Am I out in left field, or is there a connection?

DEAR READER: You are a tragic example of the way alcohol and drug abuse can ruin a life. I am sorry you have to pay such a price. However, I believe you are misdirecting your focus by looking for a scapegoat. Whether you had extreme peer pressure or rotten genes is of no consequence. You drank, you drugged, you committed a crime, you're paying for it. This is reality. I don't want to be too hard on you, but I think you could begin your recovery by taking responsibility for your actions.

Look, we all had peer pressure as kids. All our parents had some deficiency or other — they're only human. We can't afford the luxury of blaming our peers or our parents for our wrongdoing. You CHOSE to drink and drug. No one "made" you do it. And, unfortunately, you CHOSE to commit a crime. All this happened and you can't take it back.

What you can do, however, is to start the first day of the rest of your life. Begin to examine your own attitudes. Do you suffer from "stinking thinking"? In what ways can you turn your life around — or over to the care of a higher power, as suggested in programs such as Alcoholics Anonymous? You may need help in getting started, as well as continuing support in your endeavor. A prison counselor or clergyman may be helpful. Perhaps there is a regular AA (or other 12-step) program available in prison. Check out your resources.

In my opinion, you ARE out in left field. But the inning is almost over and, with help, you may get to bat yet.

To provide additional information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Help II — Mental-/Substance Abuse." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

Minority enrollment increases

AUSTIN (AP) — Growth in minority enrollment at Texas public universities accounted for all of their student growth between fall 1990 and last fall, the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board has reported.

The figures released Thursday do not include international students.

"Historically, blacks and Hispanics have not participated in higher education to the same degree as other groups. These new data, however, suggest an encouraging new trend for them and the state of Texas," said Betty James, the Coordinating Board's assistant commissioner for educational opportunity planning.

The number of Hispanic students increased to 61,297 in fall 1991, a 4.3 percent jump. The number of black students grew to 34,473, an increase of 3.4 percent from fall 1990.

The number of Asians grew nearly 7 percent to 14,549, and the number of Native Americans increased by 19 percent to 1,376.

The figure for whites fell by 1.7 percent during the same period, but still far outnumbered that of other groups at a total of 276,019.

"The growth in our minority college enrollments underscores the effect minority recruitment and retention programs are having in our universities as many of our minority populations grow," said Higher Education Commissioner Kenneth Ashworth.

Texas Southern University in Houston and Prairie View A&M University, two predominantly black schools, led other public universities in fall 1991 black enrollment.

Other top universities in black enrollment were the University of Houston, the University of Houston-Downtown and the University of Texas at Austin.

Two predominantly Hispanic schools, UT-Pan American in Edinburg and UT-El Paso, led in fall 1991 Hispanic enrollment. Others with high Hispanic enrollments were UT-Austin, UT-San Antonio and Texas A&I University in Kingsville, the Coordinating Board said.

Also Thursday, the board reported that salaries for professors and instructors have increased slightly over last school year.

At public universities, average salaries for 1991-92 are $56,297 for professors, up 2.1 percent; $41,314 for associate professors, up 1.9 percent; $35,047 for assistant professors, up 2.3 percent; and $26,126 for instructors, up 1.8 percent.

The average annual salary for the first three faculty ranks in the higher education system is $45,254, up from $44,305 in 1990-91.
