City Council Adopts Budget of $707,783

The City Council this week adopted a budget of $707,783 for the fiscal year that begins Oct. 1. This compares with a budget of $655,460 for the fiscal year just ending.

Mayor Delmar R. Hiller said he was pleased that the city was able to prepare a budget for the coming year with no increase in taxes and with plans for expansion and improvement in city services.

Aldermen Charlie Garrett, Joe "Pepe" Zambrano and Mrs. J. W. "Tony" Harden voted in favor of adopting the new budget. Alderman N. F. Jackson voted against it, stating that he was unwilling to approve the budget for the police department.

The new budget provided for a salary increase for Chief of Police E. D. Taylor when President Nixon's price-wage freeze is lifted.

Estimated revenues listed in the budget include: general fund, $198,295; general obligation bonds, $37,910; street maintenance and drainage fund, $58,220; water and sewer revenue account, $362,678; and garbage account, $50,680.

The budget provides for sufficient funds to enable the city to institute a retirement plan for all city employees starting as soon as the President's price-wage freeze ends. Under the plan, set up by the Texas Municipal Retirement System, 7 per cent of each employee's salary will be set aside for his retirement and the city will put in 4.4 per cent of the salary.

Prior to the budget hearing, three representatives of the Rockport Volunteer Fire Department-- Gilbert Hill, Sr., Gene Howland and Coy True-love--told the Council that the Fire Department is in desperate need of new equipment.

They pointed out that their old 1953 pumper "had just about had it" and the Department should have a new fire truck, estimated to cost between $21,-

Pirate Football News

by Bob Crawford

The final countdown is in its last stages for the launching of the 1971 football season for the Pirates of Rockport-Fulton. Beginning this afternoon unless a cancellation takes place, the Pirate Freshmen and JV are slated to get the season underway with games against Aransas Pass on the home field of Pirate Stadium.

Tomorrow night in Aransas Pass, the RF Varsity will square off with the Panthers of Class AAA, with kick-off time at 8:00.

The Pirates will be trying to put it all together as they seek to catch the offense up with the tremendous pre-season defense that has allowed only one touchdown in two scrimmage contests. The offense has yet to cross the goal line, but beginning Friday night there will be no more false starts, or sputters; it should be strictly high gear and six points.

This past Friday night the Pirates entertained the Bloomington Bobcats in a controlled scrimmage with every aspect of the game except kick-offs and punt returns. The Pirates yielded 160 yards as the Bobcats knocked on the scoring door a number of times, even once for a field goal attempt, but the Pirate defense did not bow under, preserving the 0-0 score.

The Pirates put together the first series of plays and marched across mid-field, but the drive stopped with a pass interception. The Pirate offense rolled up nearly 100 yards, but managed only the one time across the 50 yard line into Bobcat territory.

The stage is set, the players are ready, but only the script writer knows the final outcome. If you are from Rockport, make plans to back this 1971 team. Schedules are posted all over town and the thrills of those long forgotten high school days can be brought back to light if you join in.

PILOT PRINTED BY NEW METHOD

This is the second issue of The Rockport Pilot printed by the offset method instead of the old letter press method that had been used since the paper was established in 1869.

We hope you like it. The new paper is a little bit wider and longer. The type is easier to read. The printing process makes it possible for us to print pictures the same week we receive them, if we get them on Monday or Tuesday morning. Also, the pictures look better.

In the new system, an operator uses a composing machine called a recorder to record a typed news article, or ad, onto a roll of paper tape. The recorder looks like a huge typewriter and is operated in about the same manner as a typewriter.

Next, the roll of paper tape is affixed to a reproducer which looks like another large typewriter. This machine automatically produces a long tape of paper with the stories spaced exactly in the right width as they will appear in the paper. After the columns of printed material are checked for accuracy, they are pasted on newspaper-size sheets of paper, along with photos, in the manner in which they will appear in the finished newspaper.

When the layouts of all pages are completed, they are taken to Sinton where each page is photographed and negatives made. The next step is the final printing. Early Thursday morning, the papers are picked up in Sinton and returned to Rockport for distribution.

The offset method, among other things, will enable us to have the papers ready for distribution earlier on Thursday morning than in the past.

The new system does mean that we have to receive news items and ads EARLIER than in the past. Our deadline now is TUESDAY NOON. We hope you will be able to get your material in on time so we can publish it.

PUBLICITY IN LIFE

The September 3 issue of LIFE magazine has an interesting article and a number of beautiful color photos describing and illustrating some of the wildlife that can be viewed at Aransas National Wildlife Refuge.

Sheriff's Department Clears 17 Cases

Sheriff Bob Hewes reported that his department had cleared 17 major crimes in Aransas County in August. In his monthly report to the Federal Bureau of Investigation concerning major crime, Hewes stated that 17 major crimes were reported and 17 major crimes were cleared.

Several of the cases were last month's cases but this is the first time that his department has ever cleared as many cases as had been reported. There were 9 burglary cases reported and 7 cleared, 8 thefts reported and 10 thefts cleared.

Hewes stated that his department had been clearing approximately 52% of its cases in the past and as far as he knows the August report is the best report Aransas County has ever sent to the FBI. The statewide average clearance rate is 24 per cent.

Sheriff Hewes said that two reasons for the excellent clearance rate in August was the hard work of his deputies and also the cooperation his department is receiving from the citizens of Aransas County in reporting suspicious persons and cars. "With this kind of cooperation, we can all help make Aransas County a better place to live," Hewes said.

Highway Work Set for County

On August 31, 1971, the Texas Highway Commission approved a $40.4 million program for the improvement of more than 4,800 miles of Texas highways.

The 1972 State Highway Safety and Betterment and Farm to Market Improvement Program includes 797 projects in 195 counties.

The work in Aransas County will include 7.3 miles of seal coating on Highway 35 from Rockport to Aransas Pass for $25,300, and three miles of leveling of Highway 35 between 1781 to a point three miles south for $3,000.

The program is aimed at enhancing traffic safety by modernizing and rehabilitating highway facilities which are becoming obsolete due to age and increased traffic.

Fifty-four percent of the program includes projects on US and State-numbered highways and 42 percent of the work is scheduled for FM roads. The remainder of the programmed funds are for right of way and relocation assistance costs for a reserve for future assignment.

Approval of the program earmarks funds for badly-needed improvements on the non-interstate systems maintained and operated by the Texas Highway Department.

The work will make a significant contribution to highway safety. Modern highways are markedly safer than obsolete facilities, so the program represents an investment in highway safety.

Types of work include reconstruction of roadways, drainage structures and approaches; widening, additional surfacing, seal coating to protect the highway and to give pavements improved skid-resistant qualities; improvement of shoulders, sodding of slopes and miscellaneous work.

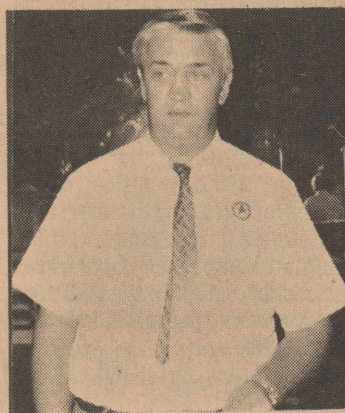

District Engineer Travis A. Long of Corpus Christi advised that the portion of highway improvement in your county is as indicated in the attached sheet.

Sheriff Bob Hewes Addresses Lions

Sheriff Bob Hewes spoke before the Rockport Lions Club Sept. 2 at the Sandollar Colony

Room and gave a detailed explanation of the duties, functions and operation of the Sheriff's Department.

The text of his talk follows: "I have been sheriff for almost 3 years. For the five-year period prior to that I was chief of police of Rockport. Including my military service I have had 23 years experience as a law enforcement officer.

The next man in the department is Chief Deputy E. A. Chief Stautzenberger. He also is an ex-chief of Police of Rockport. As a matter of fact someone told me that they were going to make any future chief of police sign a statement that he would not run for sheriff. Chief Stautzenberger has a long career in law enforcement both here in Rockport and in San Antonio.

The next two men are Deputies Vernon Duke and Jerry Lindsey. Both of these young men came to work for me with no law enforcement experience but both have come along way and are both making good law enforcement officers. All four of us have been certified by the Texas Commission on Law Enforcement standards and education as required by the state law passed last year.

"In the office there are three dispatchers, Mrs. Virginia Shivers, Mrs. Theo Johnson and David Vasquez. A sheriffs department is no better than its dispatchers as this is where the action starts. These are the people who must take the complaints and make sure they have the proper information so that a deputy can act on that complaint.

"If you have time when you are in the courthouse, stop by and see them in action. I (Continued on Page Two)

A delegation from the Rockport-Fulton Motel Association this week recommended that their group and the Chamber of Commerce pursue the possibility of raising enough money to employ an experienced, professional Chamber of Commerce manager.

The motel representatives were guests at the C of C Board of Directors' monthly luncheon meeting in the Sandollar Motor Hotel Colony Room on Tuesday.

Joe Lister, owner of Sea Gull Cottages, was spokesman for the motel people. He said his group had contacted a few local business establishments and had been encouraged by the indication of financial support necessary to hire a professional C of C manager and expand promotional efforts and local recreation activities for visitors.

The Chamber directors voted to explore the proposal in cooperation with the Motel Association.

Other motel representatives present were Gene Miley, Anglers Motel; John Gravell, Oleander Courts; A. D. King, Sun Tan Motel; Ruth Koch, Sea Foam Motel; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hanzlik, Tropics Motel; Billy B. Dunlop, Las Brisas Hotel.

Other guests were Dick Fox, chairman of the Board of Commissioners, Aransas County Navigation District; Bob Hewes, sheriff; Raymond Owens, Aransas County commissioner; the Rev. Lester Hill, president, Aransas County Ministerial Association; Mrs. Ruby Hart, County Clerk.

C of C directors present were Bill Kelsay, Jack McDavid, R. L. Eckman, Mrs. (Continued on Page Two)

Mission River Pollution Found

The Coast Guard and Environmental Protection agency have launched an investigation of pollution in the Mission River, north of Rockport, a Coast Guard spokesman said Tuesday.

Lt. (j.g.) Jim Vance, Coast Guard port operations officer, said the pollution is in the vicinity of a number of oil-field settling ponds and apparently consists of oil and an emulsion of some kind.

Vance said the condition has apparently "existed for some time." He said the pollutants were discovered last week by a Coast Guard patrol.

The Mission River flows into Mission Bay, a small bay on the edge of the larger Copano Bay.

Bob Hewes—

believe that you will be surprised to see just how much goes on in Aransas County. They dispatch for county and city officers. They also dispatch for the highway patrol, the ambulance service, the wreckers and fire trucks.

"They answer four different telephone lines and dispatch on the fire alarm alerting system that the city of Rockport has installed. They must monitor two burglar alarms, one for the bank and one for the United Savings.

"They must keep a complete log on all complaints coming into the office by telephone and in person and must maintain a radio log, logging each and every item coming in over the radio. The dispatchers can handle a lot of the complaints themselves but must have to have action taken by a city patrolman or a field deputy.

"In the evening the dispatchers are sometimes assisted by one of the junior deputies who is trying to learn some of the police procedures. There are 40 of these young men ages 12 to 17 in the organization and are very active.

"At times the dispatcher is on the telephone for hours trying to locate a visitor to our area for an emergency message. Most of the time the only information we have is the person's name and the fact that he is staying in Rockport somewhere.

"This means that all trailer parks and motels must be called until we locate the party. In addition to these, the dispatcher must monitor three radio frequencies. With our new one hundred watt radio station recently purchased by the commissioners court we have radio contact with Aransas Pass, Ingleside, Portland, Port Aransas, Corpus Christi, Sinton, Robstown, Refugio and Port Lavaca. So you can see that we have very good radio communications with the adjoining departments.

"The dispatcher must interview each person that comes to the sheriff's office and must know where each officer is so that he can get in contact with them immediately.

"The field deputies are charged with the responsibility of protection of life and property. They handle death investigations, burglaries, thefts, rapes, robbery, assault and larceny. They make routine checks of places where alcoholic beverages are sold and must also make many disturbance calls to these places.

"They assist with the escorting of ambulances when asked. They help load patients into the ambulances and when they are first at the accident or a serious illness they must administer first aid. They work traffic, especially at accident scenes.

"Two of the hardest calls they must make are the family disturbance call where the deputy ends up with both parties making up and both being mad at him. The other call is delivering death messages.

"They must make sure that all animals are off of the roadway so that accidents will not occur. With as many horses and cattle as we have in this county this sometimes gets to be a problem. Another problem is horses being tied to the fire plugs.

"An article was published in the Rockport Pilot on this subject, and honestly it was not put in the paper to be a humorous article as we really had a problem, turned out to be quite an article. I heard from boys in Vietnam, with the armed forces in Germany, from friends in seven different states and from a person in Alaska. It was on Paul Harvey news from Chicago and my sister-in-law in Florida heard about our horse and fire plugs down there.

"The deputies have to serve all civil papers and criminal warrants issued out of the Justice of the Peace Court, the County Court and the District Court. They must act as bailiffs in the term of both civil and criminal court. They transfer patients to the state mental and alcoholic hospital in San Antonio and Austin. When time permits in cooperation with the Veterans Service Officer, Jimmy Hunt, they transport veterans to the Veterans Hospital in Houston and Kerrville. They also have to go out of the county occasionally to conduct criminal investigations.

"You might wonder how they get all of this done. Well for one thing most of these men average between 75 and 90 hours of duty per week. These men must be dedicated to their job and to the people of Aransas County or they would not put in this many hours for no extra pay.

"We have at our call many outside agencies. We do not hesitate to use them as they have all extended their assistance to us at any time. Some of them are the Texas Rangers, the Texas Liquor Control Board, the State Narcotics Officers, and the Parks and Wildlife officers. There is a helicopter at our disposal from the Department of Public Safety as well as a riot control squad from the department. The helicopter is in Rockport once each month and we make an aerial survey of the county at that time.

"For the past three years for which I have been in office, here are some figures that I think will be interesting to you. There were 335 major criminal investigations conducted by our office. There was an increase of 88 cases in 1970 over 1969. We had a clearance rate in 1969 of 43 per cent and 49 per cent in 1970. The statewide average last year was 24 per cent.

"While we would like to clear all of our cases we feel that we are maintaining a good average. In the two-year period, 1,060 persons were placed in the county jail and there were 15,405 meals served at the jail. The average cost to feed per meal was 39.33 cents per meal.

"While we are on the subject of the jail I would like to invite each of you to come look at our jail. Last year the State Health Department inspector stated that our jail was in excellent shape. We have room for 39 prisoners and have very seldom had over 20 prisoners confined at one time, so, our jail is built for the future.

"Over 109,000 miles were driven last year by the sheriff's department personnel. Our vehicle maintenance costs were cut considerably by the addition of a gasoline pump behind the courthouse, cutting the cost per gallon of gas by about eleven cents.

"In the past year the demand for more law enforcement has hit our office as has the demand for more services hit all our governmental agencies. I am pleased to state that commissioners court has recognized this need and makes sure that we have some of the finest equipment available to law enforcement agencies.

"Just recently you may have noticed in the paper that the Commissioners Court had decided to raise the county's ratio of assessment from 20 per cent to 25 percent. This was as a result of the demand for more services from the public.

"Just recently the residents of Lamar petitioned the court for a deputy sheriff to live and work in the Lamar area. This petition was signed by approximately 285 persons who are residents of that area. We do check that area several times a day but cannot get out there as much as we would like to."

Kinsey also reported that the C of C plans to again place advertisements in the travel sections of such newspapers as the Des Moines Register, Kansas City Star and Minneapolis Tribune, emphasizing the many attractions of the Rockport area to attract winter visitors. Last year, one ad in the Des Moines Register produced more than 100 queries about motel accommodations and other facilities in this area.

Local Attractions Bring Out Labor Day Crowds

Bird Expert Connie Hagar Recovering from Illness

"Hurry up and get strong, Connie. Our club wants you to give us a talk on birds." Almost every day someone calls the home of Mrs. Connie Hagar, 85, Rockport's nationally known ornithologist, with this message.

Nurse Eve Cook thanks the caller and explains that although Connie is making satisfactory progress following a serious illness and a four-month stay in a hospital, it will be some time before the tiny bird expert will be up and around again.

Connie herself says, "My doctor tells me that as soon as I put on 11 more pounds, I will be able to start moving around again. You see, I only weigh 74 pounds now."

To Rockport and, for that matter, to ornithologists throughout the entire country, Connie is much more than just an amazing, wonderful little lady. She's an institution.

Born in Corsicana, Texas, June 14, 1886, Connie all her life has loved birds and flowers and nature in general. When she and her late husband, Jack Hagar, moved here they purchased the Rockport Cottages and operated them for many years. Her husband died 10 years ago.

Throughout her life Connie has never stopped learning about nature. Among other things she has identified more than 300 species of birds seen in South Texas, 20 of them being species that noted ornithologists had been unaware of as being migrants in Texas.

As the years passed by and Connie's findings increased, one scientist remarked, "If Connie Hagar reported a Great Auk in her front yard, I'd believe her."

Many honors have been bestowed on her. Here are a few:

--National Council of State Garden Clubs, met in Kentucky in 1947, white ribbon for outstanding contributions as an ornithologist.

--Texas State Parent-Teacher Association certificate, March 21, 1960 for help to children.

--National Audubon Society citation awarded 1962 in Corpus Christi, Texas. Citation reads in part: "You stood so straight among the wind-bent trees of your coast".

--Official memorandum from State Sen. William N. (Bill) Patman, Governor of Texas for one day, March 28, 1967, naming Rockport Wildlife Sanctuary the Connie Hagar Wildlife Sanctuary "with deep appreciation from all Texans".

--Recognition of her contributions to conservation and ornithology in 1960 at District Ornithology Meet. Gift of a silver bowl presented by Corpus Christi Outdoor Club, Corpus Christi Caller-Times, Corpus Christi Junior Museum and Del Mar College.

--Named 1966 "Outstanding Citizen of the Year" by Rockport Chamber of Commerce and awarded plaque.

--Author, with Fred M. Packard, of "Checklist of the Birds of the Central Coast of Texas". Mrs. Hagar's contributions to the field of ornithology also has been acknowledged by the authors of numerous books on birds.

DRESSEL - WIGGINS ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick B. Dressel of Fulton announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Lynn, to Donald L. Wiggins, also of Fulton.

Miss Dressel is a student at Rockport-Fulton High School. Wiggins is a graduate of Galena Park High School, Houston, and is associated with Western Auto Store in Aransas Pass. The couple plan a June wedding.

More than 54 million people live in rural communities of up to 2,500 population.

Ladies of 1909 Continue Work

Considerable interest has been expressed regarding articles in the last two issues of the Pilot relating the accomplishments of a group of ladies who in 1909 organized the Civic Improvement League to help bring about improvements in the Rockport area.

The information was uncovered in documents located by Dr. A. Ray Stephens, professor of history at North Texas State College, who was commissioned to write a history of Aransas County from 1871 to 1971.

Continuing our review of the ladies' efforts, the minutes of Sept. 16, 1909 reveal the following:

"The committee appointed to appear before the City Council reported a rather discouraging reception. Some of the gentlemen were in favor of enforcing the stock law compelling owners to keep their animals corralled, and others thought it would work too great a hardship on those whose living partly depended on their milk cows.

"They said the matter was really under control now--an indefinite statement which hardly appeals to those who view the unsightly appearance of our streets and sidewalks.

"A motion was made and carried that Sept. 20 be set aside as "Weed Pulling Day" and that every person in town be invited to cooperate in cleaning their own premises or adjoining streets and vacant lots; also that superintendents of Sunday schools come after school and help improve the church yards."

From the minutes of the Sept. 28, 1909 meeting, the following was recorded:

"Dr. Bailey reported that the park committee had met at his office on the 18th and decided to concentrate their present attention on the improvement of the beach park adjoining Mr. Bracht's home. After surveying and leveling the park, a fence of iron piping with concrete posts would be put up, and in the course of time be followed by the planting of oleander trees and other shrubbery and flowers. The crowning effort would probably be a pavilion in the center to be used as a resting place for band concerts.

"The weed pulling day was not as generally observed as the League could have wished. However, there were many good excuses such as excessively warm weather, lack of help, and some misunderstanding that the city would furnish help.

"On applying to the mayor and sheriff with regard to enforcing the 'vagrant' law. They said if the ladies could find any man unable to explain his method of earning a living, they would at once 'throw him to work or leave town."

"Mrs. Glaeser took up the hotel subject and spoke very earnestly of recognizing it as the paramount necessity, advising that the League bend all of its energy to securing outside capital to invest in a modern, up-to-date building.

"She also thought the citizens should offer a bonus or secure a site for the building and offer it as an inducement to anyone who would undertake the investment. As certain parties are already looking over Rockport and its future prospects for just this purpose, a plan was evolved by the ladies to rent the buildings recently vacated by Mr. Herzfeld and use one of them as a hotel until the new hotel is finished.

"This idea met with favor and a committee of the whole was appointed to meet at Mr. Hooper's office and look over the buildings, observe what repairs are needed, and open negotiations with the late tenant and owner.

"The lack of interest of the men of Rockport was variously commented upon. Some thought it might be a good plan to offer them a banquet in order to draw them out to hear our propositions, knowing by past experience that 'something good to eat' always appeals to the masculine mind quicker than any other argument.

"The bribe of a banquet was not lost sight of--it may be used in the future--but for the present it was the consensus of opinion that perhaps the gentlemen were only waiting to be shown that the League had organized for something else than mere discussion of visionary topics."

Minutes of the Sept. 30, 1909 meeting stated:

"The hotel proposition was taken up and Mrs. Hoopes reported that the ladies had examined the buildings lately vacated by Mr. Herzfeld and found them to be badly in need of repair.

"The owner, Mr. Henion of San Antonio, was present in Mr. Hoopes' office and stated his willingness to put the property in excellent order, including numerous improvements, with the understanding that the League take a lease for either three or five years at a rental of $100 per month. A tenant had been found by the committee who would pay $50 per month for the saloon building which he wanted for a hotel.

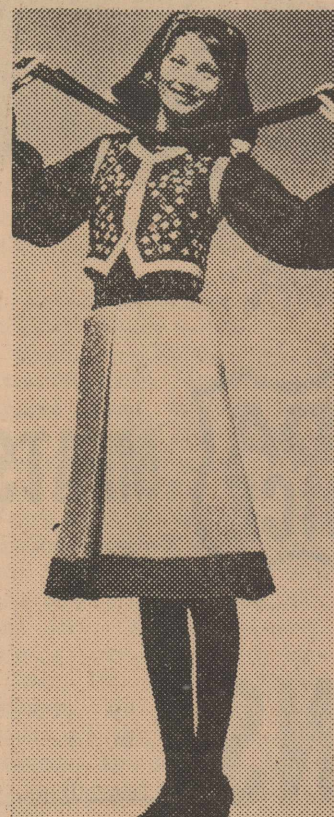

"A lively discussion followed which wound up by a motion made by Col. Traylor that the League offer to rent the property for one year with an optional five-year extension at a rental of $75 per month, provided that satisfactory improvements were made. The motion carried and the committee was authorized to confer with the owners.

"Those present felt the importance of securing the pavilion for the use of the city to entertain visitors and provide certain lines of amusement from time to time.

"Mr. Stevenson made some valuable suggestions and gave the addresses of parties connected with moving picture shows. It was thought by Mr. Bracht and Mr. Hoopes that it would be well to get in touch with the traveling shows that make regular circuits through the coast towns."

All this is typical of the interesting look into the past that will be revealed in Dr. Stephens' History of Aransas County, 1871-1971, which will cover all aspects of local history.

BALKAN PEASANT fashion was the inspiration for this costume from the Italian house of Balestra featured in the Florence fall and winter showings. It features a black-bordered orange wool skirt, a black waistcoat with orange embroidery and a black satin blouse.

Aransas Wildlife Refuge To Open For Bowhunters

Deer, javelina and wild hogs will be fair game for bowhunters during the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge archery season Sept. 17-30, according to Charles Ward, public use specialist at the refuge.

Ward said the gate to the refuge will open to hunters at noon, Sept. 17. All hunters must be out by 9 p.m. After the opening day, the refuge will be open at 5 a.m. each day of the hunt.

All archers who show up will be allowed to hunt on designated portions of the refuge as long as they hold a valid Texas hunting license.

The standard fee of $1 per car will be charged, an information leaflet will be provided and a deer tag will be issued each hunter entering the refuge.

The bag limit has been reduced this year to one deer per hunter. Hunters may also kill one javelina and as many wild hogs as they can.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission had provided the framework for the early hunt by allowing a three-deer season for the Blackjack peninsula in Aransas County from Sept. 1 through Sept. 30 as listed in the Texas Hunting Guide. The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service which administers the refuge, however, set the Sept. 17-30 dates of the hunt and established the one-deer limit.

Ward says there are plenty of deer on the refuge, and they appear to be in good shape. Mosquitoes, which plagued hunters unmercifully last year, are bothersome but are not expected to be as numerous as last year since there is not as much standing water.

Camping will not be permitted in the refuge, but there should be sufficient camping just outside the gate along the road right-of-way.

More information about the hunt may be obtained by writing the Aransas National Refuge, P.O. Box 68, Austwell, Texas 77950.

Different Ways To Dress Up Fish

Austin - Fish is so versatile that it can go casual or elegant and fit into any meal. By taking advantage of commercially prepared salad dressings which create a savory sauce, fish gets "dressed up" even in simple-to-fix dinners. You can follow a recipe, or you can improvise a bit.

Here are some ideas to get you started.

Dip fillets into Caesar salad dressing and sprinkle with a mixture of crushed potato chips and shredded cheese. Oven-fry this at 500 degrees, F., for 10 to 15 minutes.

French dressing and crushed cheese crackers also team up to add spice and crispness to another oven-fried fish dish.

You can dress up fish with garnishes such as lime slices to add color and flavor. Citrus fruit -- from lemon crowns and cartwheels to orange slices -- is a natural combination with fish because the tangy flavor offers contrast to the flavor of seafood.

A "Fast Fish Broil" uses a combination of dressing, spices and garnishes.

FAST FISH BROIL

2 pounds fresh fish fillets
1/4 cup garlic French dressing

3 tablespoons soy sauce
3/4 teaspoon ground ginger
Lime slices

Place fillets in a single layer, skin side down, on a bake and serve platter, 16 x 10 inches. Combine French dressing, soy sauce, and ginger. Pour sauce over fillets and let stand 10 minutes. Broil about 4 inches from source of heat for 10 to 15 minutes or until fillets flake easily when tested with a fork. Baste once during broiling with sauce in pan. Garnish with lime slices. Makes 6 servings.

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS

Bertram S. Brown, M.D., Director
National Institute of Mental Health

Sleep and Learn?

Mankind has long been intrigued by the possibility of developing ways and means of learning while sleeping; and now scientists at the University of Florida have reported studies that they say represent the first clearcut evidence of some possibility that this can be done.

In the studies, high school and college students tried to learn 12 pairs of Russian/English nouns while asleep. None of the students had any prior knowledge of Russian, and the pairs of nouns used had been shown to have a zero chance of being guessed correctly.

Just before the students fell asleep on two "adaptation" nights, a "conditioning" tape was played. It began:

"You know that your ability to learn while you are asleep depends entirely on your willingness to cooperate . . . it will be very easy for you to learn to fall into a very deep sleep and you will learn. . ."

Following this, five nights were devoted to actual sleep learning. Before a recording of the pairs of nouns was played, the sleeping students "heard" these words:

"This is your Russian teacher . . . you are asleep and relaxed and you can hear my voice and you will not wake up . . . you will remember these words and their meanings forever. . ."

The students then heard the "training" tapes for five nights. In one part of the study, the average recall over all nights for deep sleep learning was approximately 13 percent. When the students heard the tapes during light sleep late in the night, their scores ranged from 12 percent to 30 percent retention.

The pattern of scores over the five nights indicated that the ability to learn while asleep improves with training and practice. Although we are a long way from the science fiction portrayals of people getting a complete education while sleeping, this research does add to our knowledge about the mind and sleep.

The work was supported by HEW's National Institute of Mental Health, Health Services and Mental Health Administration, under a special small grant program to foster pilot studies along interesting avenues of science and to encourage younger scientists in mental health research.

TEENAGERS MAY PREFER UNCONVENTIONAL BREAKFAST

College Station -- Do you have a normally active teenage girl in your home-- one who doesn't like to eat a conventional breakfast?

She could choose to eat a sandwich for breakfast, according to Frances Reasonover, Extension foods and nutrition specialist at Texas A&M University.

Why not? Miss Reasonover says the important point is that you eat as you like, as long as the foods you choose for the entire day include specified amounts from the basic four food groups, and as long as you meet calorie needs.

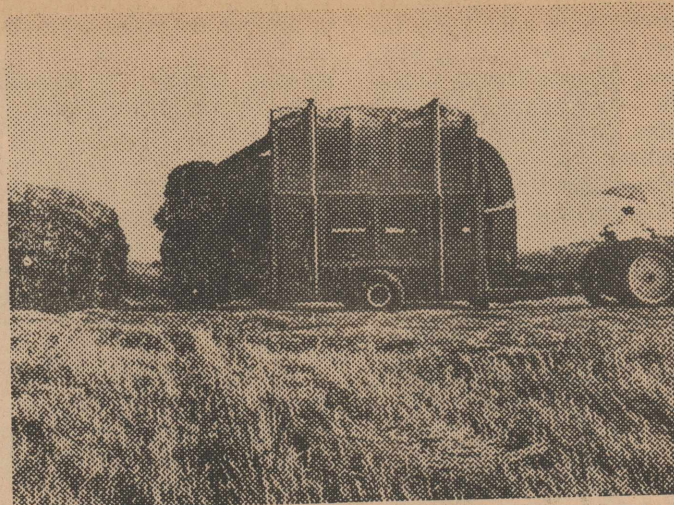

She explains that a day's eating might start like this: a cheese sandwich for breakfast along with a banana and a glass of milk. If that doesn't appeal, you may want to begin the day with spaghetti, chili, baked beans or deviled eggs.

For a normally active girl of average height--5 feet 3 inches--weighing 117 pounds, multiply 117 by 20 calories and you find that she needs approximately 2,300 to 2,400 calories each day.

Her food intake should include 4 cups of milk or the equivalent; 4 servings of fruits and vegetables, making sure to include those rich in vitamins A and C; 4 or more servings from the bread-cereal group; and 2 servings from the meat group.

The guide is flexible. The specific foods chosen from each group and the time when eaten, either as meals or snacks, is largely a matter of food preferences and family meal routine, she says.

But, the specialist adds, remember to choose right and maintain a desirable weight.

HAYSTACKS BY AUTOMATION is what Louis Welti of Monroe, Wis., achieves with this one-man rig. Cut hay is blown into a wagon and compressed into layers by a hydraulically operated top section. When full, a haystack equivalent to about 115 bales of hay is ejected.

Happy Homemaking

By BARBARA BAKER

If you do your clothes at a coin laundry, take along big plastic bags for each member of the family and put each one's clothing in a separate bag. Then, if you do not get all of your ironing done immediately, you won't have to dig through a big clothes basket to find a certain item that someone needs right away.

The basket of your percolator will serve as a makeshift strainer if you need one with small holes in it.

An unused pipe cleaner kept at the sink comes in handy to quickly remove eggs and other food that sticks between the prongs of a fork.

Rusty sewing needles become sharp and smooth as new after they have been punched in and out of a cake of soap a few times.

If you have a toddler in your home, put a bell on the medicine chest door and you will know he is where he should not be when it rings. This will help avoid accidents.

FACTS CONCERNING RE-RECORDING OF BRANDS IN TEXAS

All brands and marks on Texas livestock must be re-recorded with County Clerks after August 30, 1971, according to a new law passed during the last session of the Texas Legislature. Producers will be given a six-month period (Aug. 30, 1971 through February 29, 1972) in which to register these brands and marks and the location on the animal which they are currently using, after which time any unrecorded brand will be available for use on a "first-come" basis.

The law further states that all such brands and marks must be re-recorded every 10 years. Each County Clerk records for his given county only, so many producers may need to record their brands in additional counties if their operations are extensive.

The owner shall have the right during this six-month period to file the mark and brand now recorded in his name. In the event it cannot be determined from the records who first recorded the brand and mark in the county, then the person who has been using such mark and brand the longest shall have the right to have the brand and mark recorded in his name.

It should be noted that it is illegal to brand livestock with out first properly recording the brand with the County Clerk in the county in which the livestock are held.

When the brand or brands are recorded, the location on the animal on which the brand is to be applied must be designated. If the brand is to be applied to more than one location on the animal, it must be so recorded and each additional location for the brand on the animal shall constitute a separate recording of that brand.

There is no limit to the number of brands and/or marks which may be recorded in a county by a person as long as requirements of this law governing the recording and re-recording of livestock brands are met. Minors may have marks or brands separate from that of the father or guardian, which must be recorded or re-recorded as provided by the new law.

The County Clerk of each county shall have this act published in some newspaper of general circulation in the county for a period of 30 days. The act shall be published on the effective date, August 30, 1971, and thereafter for 30 days.

It is the obligation of the County Clerk to assure that no more than one brand of a kind be recorded on the same location on the animal in each county. Therefore, no two people in a county may record the same brand in the same location. It is also the responsibility of the County Clerk to make certain that in recording any brand for a person, that the part of the animal on which the brand is to be placed be designated. Failure to do so is punishable by a fineable offense of not less than $10 or more than $50 (Article 1486 P.C.)

The law as outlined above applies to all counties in the state of Texas and shall take precedence over any special statutes heretofore applying to individual counties pertaining to recording and re-recording of brands.

War Protests: Still More to Come

By RALPH NOVAK

WASHINGTON (CEF) Though President Nixon's recent speeches have given evidence that he considers the Vietnam war to be over and done with for all practical political purposes, the nation's antiwar (or propeace) groups don't seem to be agreeing with him.

The National Peace Action Coalition and the People's Coalition for Peace and Justice, the two major antiwar organizations, are both planning demonstrations for this fall, both here and elsewhere around the country. There has been considerable squabbling within the groups in trying to decide what tactics are appropriate, with the chaotic, fruitless antiwar outing of this April still fresh in everybody's mind.

The President's China diplomacy, his wrestling match with the economy and U.S. troop withdrawals have to some extent upstaged the antiwar campaign but the peace groups still can use the Vietnamese elections and the fact that Americans are still dying in the war as weapons in their grim public relations contest with the Establishment. The degree of support this fall's demonstrations draw will be a good indicator of who is winning.

The debate over potential economic effects of ending the war continues, meanwhile. Some economists contend that there will be no "peace dividend"—that much of the money to be saved from ending the war has already gone back into circulation and that what remains will not be saved but will be shifted to other areas of defense spending and to programs to help the Vietnamese government survive without us.

Now two University of Pittsburgh economists, Earl W. Adams Jr. and Michael H. Spiro, have concluded a study which argues that any sizable reductions in defense spending could add to unemployment and depress the economy in general.

They say that unless ways of shifting the spending are planned far in advance of the time the money becomes available, there will be a painfully long lag between the cut in defense spending and the introduction of the funds into other areas. Part of this is due to the tortuous process of decision-making in government, which creates a considerable gap between the making of a decision and the implementation of that decision. Another part is the gap between the time the government acts and the time that action has its impact on the economy.

President Nixon's economic offensive, if it works, could forestall some of the problems of any cuts in defense spending but voices advocating more careful preparation may well become louder anyway.

Rockport Firemen Hold Meeting

The Rockport Volunteer Fire Department met Sept. 2. President Gilbert Hill, Sr., called the session to order and 23 men answered the roll call. The treasurer's report was read and approved. The maintenance chairman reported that the trucks were in running condition except the Ford and Dodge brush trucks. The Fire Department's by-laws which had been read two times before were adopted.

The members thanked Mrs. Gwynne Howland and Mrs. Bill Gray for furnishing cookies and cake for refreshments. Mrs. Helen Braffett was thanked for donating a sectional couch for the new fire station coffee room.

The efficiency of the Department was discussed and it was agreed that the Department is operating as effectively as possible, considering the equipment the men have to work with.

Benny Bloomer asked the Department to take part in directing the parking of cars at Rockport-Fulton High School football games and to help keep order along the sidelines and in the stands.

In the future, the public relations committee will publish a bi-monthly report on the Fire Department which will be approved by Fire Chief Benny Bloomer and Richard Fox.

Gene Howland and his officers discussed further a drill to be conducted by members of the Department.

Fix-It Tip

MUSHROOMS IN SOUR CREAM

1 lb. fresh, cultivated mushrooms
2 tbsp. butter
1 tbsp. flour
1/2 cup beef bouillon
1 cup sour cream
Dill weed

Wash and trim mushrooms and add to butter in a chafing dish or electric skillet. Sprinkle with the flour and blend. Add beef bouillon and heat until steaming. Stir in sour cream and sprinkle with dill weed.

Despite what you hear about "lifetime" electric light bulbs, the best buy for general use is the standard bulb. It uses less electric power and converts more of it into light. The standard 100-watt, frosted bulb burns for an average of 750 hours, the equivalent of 31 days around the clock. If you're paying 2 1/2 cents a kilowatt hour for electricity, for every 10 hours you don't burn one 100-watt bulb, you save only 2 1/2 cents.

STUDENT NEWS

Ann Marie Rozzell is one of the students who made the first honor list for the summer session at the University of Missouri-Rolla. To make the first honor list, a student had to have a grade point average of 3.00 or above out of a possible 4.00.

Lenora Mae Irwin, graduate of Fulton High School and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raulie Lee Irwin, is attending Southwestern University in Georgetown where the fall semester began August 27. Preceding the start of classes, new students participated in a series of orientation programs under the general theme "Becoming the International Man" designed to provide intellectual stimulation, entertainment, and an acquaintance with important aspects of life at Southwestern.

The Kinsey Report

In behalf of The Rockport Pilot staff, I want to thank those readers who commented on the improved appearance of the paper since we converted to offset printing.

In discussing this with one well known local man (who shall remain nameless), he said he liked the Pilot's "new look" and was particularly pleased to see three local pictures on page one.

But then he commented, "I do hope this doesn't mean that you are going to discontinue publishing those occasional bathing beauty pictures apparently sent to you from Hollywood and Miami."

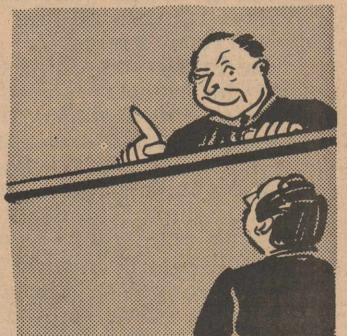

I told him that at great sacrifice and in an attempt to maintain the Pilot's policy with regard to art, I will do my best to be on the lookout for local beauty even if it means taking a picture of a beautiful girl in a bikini, and possibly positioning her for the best angle.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Barbs From the Bench

On trial for burglary, the defendant was trying to explain why he had been observed near the scene of the crime at three o'clock in the morning. But the judge was skeptical.

"Honest people," he said caustically, "are in bed at three o'clock in the morning."

Was the judge's remark prejudicial? Indeed it was, ruled an appellate court, granting the defendant a new trial. The court said the judge had no right, even by wisecrack, to blacken the defendant's reputation.

The appellate court was concerned not about the feelings of the defendant but about the minds of the jurors.

"The jury," said one expert, "can be easily influenced by the slightest suggestion from the (trial judge), whether it be a nod of the head, a smile, a frown, or a spoken word. It is imperative that (he) conduct himself with utmost caution in order that the unusual power he possesses shall not be abused."

Unfortunately, a new trial is costly in both time and money. Accordingly, even if a judge has said something to disparage the defendant, the appellate court will usually overlook it if there seems to be no great harm done.

Often a judge who realizes his mistake can "take the sting out" of what he said by instructing the jury to ignore it.

Nor is a judge expected to be superhuman. In the heat of a trial, he may understandably show flashes of nonjudicial emotion.

In one case, while the judge was talking with a lawyer, the defendant kept interrupting. Finally the judge burst out:

"Please keep quiet. I don't like it. You are here to answer questions. If there is any more of that kind of talk, you will be in jail for contempt of court."

But this time, an appellate court found no grounds for a new trial. The court said that, even though the judge should not have lost his temper, he could be excused for a natural reaction to a stressful situation.

The United States Supreme Court once summarized the matter as follows:

"A defendant is entitled to a fair trial but not a perfect one."

Strictly Fresh

When it comes to giving until it hurts, most of us have a very low threshold of pain.

Unless the office loafer gets with it, he'll find he's working for a leaving.

Hearty laughter is a sign that the boss is telling the joke.

Greatest excuse ever invented for a sloppy office routine is the computer.

One of the secretaries just lost her glasses and she's having an awful time keeping track of five o'clock.

IN MEMORY OF Helen Erickson Muschiveck

Personally

MISSING YOU

There's something lacking in my world Since you have moved away--

There were so many kindnesses I could not quite repay-- It seemed to me you always came

When I had need of you-- You seem to sense the inner torment That I was struggling through--

I hope you're settled comfortably And like it very much-- But still my world is lonelier Without your friendly touch!

Class of 1961 Tenth Reunion

The graduating class of 1961 of Aransas County High School held its 10-year reunion August 7 in the Neptune room at the Sea Gun Sports Inn.

The evening began at 7 p.m. with the former classmates visiting with each other and introduction of spouses or guests. A display, provided by class member Kathy Kelm, consisting of old annuals, senior photographs, school papers and class play programs, was the interest center. Everyone enjoyed viewing and reminiscing.

The head table was adorned with a centerpiece of lavender and white mums donated by class member Pam Beck. Another class member, June Gregory, made individual table decorations carrying out the pirate theme.

Kelly McGlamery showed films that he had taken on the class senior trip. These proved to be most interesting.

Dinner was served later on in the evening after which a "Do You Remember" type program was presented. Mistress of ceremonies, Linda Campbell, recalled some events that had long been forgotten. Information (such as occupation, children, hobbies etc.) was given on each class member in order to bring each up to date.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kelm, Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Gregory, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Beck, Mr. and Mrs. Boy Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Willis, Mr. and Mrs. Kelly McGlamery and son Ken, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Ankele, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McLester. Others were Mrs. Buddy McLester, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Baldwin, Mr. and Mrs. Matt Scott and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Casterline and Lanny McGlamery.

Camping Sessions Attract 534

San Antonio - Five-hundred-thirty-four campers attended sessions at Camp Capers, Waring, Texas, and Bishop Elliott Conference Center, Rockport, this summer, the Rt. Rev. Harold C. Gosnell, D. D., Bishop of the 60-county Episcopal Diocese of West Texas, has announced.

Full or partial scholarship aid was given to 25 of the campers, the bishop said. The only sources of scholarship aid are memorial gifts to the camps, individual gifts, and offerings received at the camp chapel services, the bishop added.

The camp did not run to capacity, there being 178 vacancies in the nine sessions, 92 vacancies for girls and 86 for boys.

Mrs. Virginia Serrem, director of Camps and conferences for the diocese, reported that 130 persons were on the staff of the camps during the summer in various capacities, several serving for more than one session. They included 24 clergymen as directors, chaplains or faculty members; 11 lay persons and college students as faculty; 19 two-team and all summer staff members, including the camp manager, dietitian and activities coordinator; and 76 cabin counselors.
