Madrid Mobs Protest Resignation Of Primo de Rivera And His Colleagues

'IRON MAN' OF SPAIN AT LAST DROPS REINS

King Accepts Resignation Of Brilliant Military Dictator

ADMITS 'BLUNDER'

Bitter Enemy of Rivera Named to Form New Government

By REGINALD A. CALVERT
(Copyr't, 1930, by Universal Service, Inc.)

MADRID, Jan. 29 (Wednesday). —"No more generals!" "Carry on with the republic!"

These cries struck fear into the heart of Madrid's peace-loving folk last night and early today as sporadic riots broke out in the principal streets as a consequence of the resignation of Gen. Primo de Rivera as premier and dictator, and the appointment of Gen. Damaso Berenguer by King Alfonso.

Police Scatter Mobs

Led by agitators bearing firebrands, crowds shouted exultantly through the streets until early this morning, and police were forced to draw swords to scatter the mobs. Several arrests were made, and ill feeling toward not only De Rivera but also his successor was apparent.

The demonstrations, however, are thought not to be serious by authorities, although Berenguer's choices for the new ministry may meet with some popular resentment today.

Friend of Tillers

While most of Madrid, in which the great majority of De Rivera's enemies are centered, was jubilant over his resignation, what the rest of the country thinks cannot be said. Primo's friends were the tillers of the soil; the people of the hills. He did much for them, and one of Spain's homely proverbs is ringing through the hills with the dawn:

"They ring bells today; they may wring hands tomorrow."

Nevertheless, the dictatorship is ended, only to begin again, it is believed, when the military Berenguer takes over the reins. What Primo set up as a government of "90 days," after extending itself into six years and four months, is at an end.

Rivera Is Changed

The dashing cavalry officer, who, Sept. 15, 1923, assumed control of the government by a military coup, was a changed man today. He acknowledged his "mistake" in asking whether he had the confidence of the military group; when he went into cabinet session at 6:30 o'clock tonight, he knew his reign was at an end.

The rumor that he would resign was prevalent in Madrid long before the cabinet session began, but all efforts to confirm or deny the report were in vain. The dictator himself refused confirmation or denial, merely saying:

"After the cabinet meeting, I may have an important announcement."

Makes Announcement

The session lasted from 6:30 until 10 o'clock, and when General de Rivera emerged, he was free from his self-assumed governmental duties. He said:

"I have resigned, and the king has accepted my resignation."

No further statement could be elicited from the deposed "iron man," save that he was again free to enjoy "private life."

The announcement followed that General Berenguer had been asked to take over the office of premier by King Alfonso, and had accepted the work of forming a cabinet. Count de Guadalhorce, minister of public works, had previously been mentioned as the new premier, and there is no doubt that he would have accepted the task had Berenguer refused.

There is little doubt that the new cabinet under Berenguer will be of military character, but it transpires that the resumption of constitutional government in the near future may again give Spain a civilian governing body.

Iron Rule Ends

Primo de Rivera, Spain's "iron" dictator for more than six years, and his cabinet have resigned. During the past few years Rivera has many times announced plans for his resignation, only to change his mind in each instance.

SNOW FALLS IN SMALL SECTION

Precipitation Restricted In City and Vicinity

Apparently disgusted that the recent thaw muddled things up considerably, Dame Nature Tuesday sought to cast the ugly picture from her range of vision by tucking it gently under her elder down of snow.

But, according to cold statistics, Dame Nature was too gentle and didn't provide enough snow, the downfall, instead of spiraling over the vast muddied expanse of all of Northwest and southern Oklahoma, being confined to a limited area in the vicinity of Wichita county.

The heavy downfall that started in Wichita Falls about 10 a. m. Tuesday extended only as far north as Chillicothe and as far south as Decatur, the Denver dispatcher here reported. Only slight flurries were reported from Childress, and the Katy dispatcher reported snow at Tipton, Okla., was negligible, and that none had fallen at Altus.

Temperature over the area was reported as about the same as that here, which was 26 at 1 a. m. Wednesday.

Snow was still falling here early Tuesday night and threatened to turn into sleet as the mercury slumped. At other nearby points the storm was not so intense. At Electra snow fell from noon until 2 p. m., and the temperature at 5 p. m. was 24 degrees. At Petrolia snow fell from 11 a. m. until 5 p. m., and previous to that a slow rain fell, which later froze on the ground.

10 JURORS SELECTED IN SHOOK TRIAL

Special Venire Exhausted By Questioning Of Attorneys

ED PRYOR SUMMONED

Former Electra Constable Called as Defense Witness

With 10 jurors chosen from 89 men questioned, the selection of a jury to try Tom Shook, former Electra police chief, on charges of murder was temporarily halted at 3:20 Tuesday afternoon by the exhaustion of the special venire.

Other Veniremen Sought

Judge P. A. Martin announced a recess until 9 o'clock Wednesday morning and requested Sheriff W. G. Bralley to attempt to reach members of the venire who have not yet reported for service in the 89th district court. The venire called for 150 men. Meanwhile a group of talesmen brought in by the sheriff's department were prepared for questioning at 10 o'clock Wednesday if the two jurors needed are not obtained from the special veniremen. The talesmen were not used Wednesday because of objections from defense attorneys who insisted that efforts be made to call in the men already summoned before other prospective jurors were questioned.

The three men chosen Tuesday were J. I. Perkins, 70, a retired Wichita Falls business man; E. B. Clarke, Wichita Falls oil man, and C. V. Shelton, farmer from the Friberg community. During the day and a half in which the work of

Sleepless Man Aids Cabarets

(Copyr., 1930, Universal Service, Inc.)

BERLIN, Jan. 28.—A man who has not slept for 15 years, and who is compelled to spend 12 hours nightly in night clubs and restaurants to round out his 24-hour-day, is puzzling brain and nerve specialists of Berlin and central Europe.

The man is Capt. Paul Kern, former Hungarian army officer, now employed by the Hungarian national insurance department, in Budapest. He has visited Berlin physicians on the insistence of friends. The doctors hold that when he was wounded on the Russian front in 1915, a bullet lodged in his brain, destroying the nerve center which controls sleep.

According to Kern, he is never fatigued, never wants to go to sleep, never drinks alcoholic beverages because they give him a headache, and seldom rests at full length. His only complaint is that his enforced night club visits "for something to do" cost him more than his budget allows for food.

C.-C. TOURISTS DEFY WEATHER

200 Travel New Highway To Breckenridge

Special to The Record News.

OLNEY, Texas, Jan. 28.—In weather which would have made travel impossible over last year's dirt roads, a caravan of around 40 automobiles journeyed Tuesday between Wichita Falls and Breckenridge and back again, completing a Junior chamber of commerce goodwill tour over the recently completed paved highway. Around 200 residents of the section, gathered from Wichita Falls, Archer City, Olney, Newcastle, Graham, South Bend and Breckenridge participated in the celebration.

When the final program of the day was completed at Breckenridge, the travelers turned back toward Olney where they danced through the evening, each group breaking into smaller motorcades of their own on the last lap of the trip. Charlie Stewart's orchestra furnished the music for the dance, sponsored by the Wichita Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce, hosts of the trip.

Ignore Weather

Assured of a paved highway all the way to their destination, the pilgrims ignored the sleet and snow of the morning and started from Wichita Falls, 150 strong, early Tuesday. After an exchange of greetings between B. D. Sartin of Wichita Falls and W. C. Young of Archer City, 20 new members joined the group at its first stop.

The visitors lunched at Olney during the noon hour, with M. A. Bundy of Wichita Falls and A. D. Cooper, chairman of the Olney highway committee, as the principal speakers. The luncheon was served at the American Legion hall by women of the First Methodist church. The caravan was enlarged by 20 new members before it moved out of the city.

At Newcastle, reached early in the afternoon, Paul Hines extended the greetings of Wichita Falls and Mayor J. H. Watson responded. Introductions were conducted by Jerry Vinson, president of the Wichita Falls Junior chamber. Half a dozen residents of Newcastle were welcomed into the motorcade as the tourists went on to Graham.

Caravan Grows

There another 10 pilgrims were received into the group. R. E. Shepherd of Wichita Falls was the visiting speaker. He was answered by Dr. H. E. Griffen, head of the Graham Chamber of Commerce. On the way to Breckenridge the group

IOWA PARK C-C MEMBERS HOLD ANNUAL MEET

New Board of Directors Elected to Guide Organization

HARRY HINES TALKS

Wichitan Suggests Goal For 'Gate City' Civic Efforts

By W. P. HOOD
The Record News Staff

IOWA PARK, Texas, Jan. 28.—Eight new directors were elected to the board of directors of the Iowa Park Chamber of Commerce at the annual banquet and meeting held Tuesday evening in the First Baptist church. The new directors and those held over from the previous board will hold a meeting at 3:30 o'clock next Monday afternoon for the election of officers for 1930.

More than 200 persons attended the meeting. Representatives from Electra and Wichita Falls attended the affair in addition to the members of the Iowa Park chamber and their guests. C. E. Birk acted as toastmaster.

Directors elected Tuesday evening were Gordon Clark, E. C. Knox, J. C. Murphree, A. L. McGuire, J. G. O'Donohoe, H. R. Overbey, T. J. Pace and J. C. Searl. Those held over from the previous board, completing the membership of 20 directors, were C. E. Birk, M. B. Cain, Carroll Duke, W. L. Hodges, J. E. Rogers, E. J. Wilson, B. L. Bradford, T. M. Clark, A. C. Golden, L. L. Kuntz, Carl Williamson and J. W. Yarbro.

Harry Hines Speaks

The principal speaker of the evening was Harry Hines of Wichita Falls, manager of the Deep Oil Development company, who made an address on "That Which Is Good for Iowa Park."

"Skepticism never built a great fortune. Neither did it ever build a city," Mr. Hines said. "We must have faith, vision and courage to forge ahead with our hopes and plans for the future. In analyzing the many things that would be good for this city in the future, I realize that the greatest of all is oil—deep oil.

"We are conscious of the fact that we are capable of a greater volume of business in this territory than we are now doing," Mr. Hines said. "We can create that needed additional volume of business by originating a new oil enthusiasm and it is a recognized fact that this district has excellent geology for deep drilling.

"It has been asked what would happen if we found no deep oil. It is reasonable to believe in the company's explorations for deeper sands it will encounter many oil sands which will be productive in an amount sufficient to justify full development and place the company on a paying basis.

"I have faith that you will in your 1930 program of work set up machinery to make this goal a reality."

Goal Suggested

Pointing out the increased interest and progress of the territory which would result from a renewed oil development, Mr. Hines suggested a goal of $50,000 for the citizens of Iowa Park in order that

National Anthem Bill Considered by Congress

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. (INS)—Nearly every European nation has its stirring national song, the movies have their theme songs galore, but the world's greatest nation has no official song at all.

And because a lot of Americans want one, the house judiciary committee today announced it would reopen hearings in the old fight to make "The Star Spangled Banner" the official anthem of the nation.

Two bills, sponsored by Representatives Linthicum, Democrat, of Maryland and Celler, Democrat, of New York, provide this recognition, and a host of patriotic organizations support them.

Avenger of Father's Death Silent On Slaying at Temple, Oklahoma

Charge of Murder Filed Against Jim Graham Following Fatal Shooting of Harry Adair

Special to The Record News.

WALTERS, Okla., Jan. 28.—The usual legal aftermath, the filing of charges, late today closed the first chapter of the story of the death of Harry Adair, a story which set Southwestern Oklahoma agog as it traveled far and wide from Temple, scene of the shooting, this morning.

The charges name Jim Graham, son of the late J. D. Graham, Temple city marshal who was slain last April 28. Adair was convicted of the slaying and given a 40-year sentence. At the time of his death this morning he was awaiting the outcome of an appeal.

Prisoner Noncommittal

The peace officer's son and avenger sat tight-lipped in his cell here today, offering no comments. A preliminary hearing is scheduled for Feb. 7, County Attorney C. S. McCuistion announced.

Adair was shot to death as he was being shaved in a Temple barber shop. According to witnesses, when Graham entered he did not know Adair was in the place. When the towel was removed from the latter's face, however, witnesses said Graham started shooting. Five shots took effect, and Adair was killed instantly.

Surrenders to Sheriff

Graham, it was said, spoke no word during the fatal meeting. After the shooting he got in his car and drove here, where he surrendered to Sheriff C. O. Hooper.

Graham's father was shot to death at midnight, April 28, after he had ejected Adair, said to have been drinking, from a pool hall. Testimony at a later trial developed that Adair returned to the pool hall armed with a shotgun. The officer, witnesses at the trial said, was shot without warning, the charge from a gun virtually decapitating him.

ALIENISTS TO TESTIFY FOR KNIFE SLAYER

Four Witnesses Further Insanity Contention Of Defense

IDEALS DISINTEGRATE

Mrs. Brady Was Told By Husband and Girl Of Their Affair

COURT ROOM, AUSTIN, Jan. 28. (AP)—Through the testimony of John W. Brady's wife and three other witnesses, the lawyers defending him here against a murder charge sought today to show that within this former jurist there had been a slow disintegration of moral fiber and the death of a great intellect before Miss Lehlia Highsmith, 28, whom he is accused of slaying, was stabbed to death on the night of last Nov. 9.

They drew out this testimony to lay a predicate for an insanity plea, and revealed that Drs. Joe and Goodall Wooten, both alienists, the latter the Brady's family physician, would testify for their cause.

Defendant Breaks Down

Brady wept when his wife broke down and cried as she described him as a man once remarkably brilliant, who through greatly excessive drinking, had become enfeebled physically and mentally, had turned away a lucrative practice and had changed every thing from their yesterday "when we were very happy."

The others, who went on the stand for the ex-civil appeals court judge were Rev. Valentine Lee, an episcopal rector of Dallas, who formerly lived next door to the Bradys here; Mrs. D. T. White, of El Paso; Brady's sister, and Mrs. Sam Pondrom, his ward until the time of her marriage.

Married 30 Years

Mrs. Brady told they had been married 30 years and that years ago he was not addicted to liquor and was "very bright." She said his defeat to a judgeship, which she did not identify, 10 years ago, first started him drinking immoderately and that in the last two or three years he had been using liquor "almost continually."

"Before he began immoderate drinking," she said, "he was a man of high ideals but later his moral principles became very lax. He didn't care what anybody thought."

She testified she knew her husband and Miss Highsmith were having an affair.

Girl Asked Mercy

One night, she said, she went to Miss Highsmith's room and Brady was there. He told her, in substance, "this is ours." Then, she testified, they both said they wanted to "break off."

"She (Miss Highsmith) pleaded for mercy," the wife went on.

"Both of them," the gray haired woman went on, "begged me to help them. They said they wanted to be kind to me. I put my arms around her and told her I wouldn't push her in the gutter."

Then, she testified, Brady and the girl were not together again for some time except at the Brady home where the girl took his dictation.

She said she believed him insane. On the night of the killing, she said, Brady came home "very drunk and stumbled up stairs," to fall across the bed. About 10:30 o'clock, he went out again, but when he left there were no cuts or bruises on him. The defense will attempt to show that sometime dur-

GIRL OF TWELVE ACCUSES MAN

Plumber Jailed for Alleged Attack on Child

Charges brought by a 12-year-old school girl who described an attack in her home after school hours Tuesday afternoon, resulted in the arrest of a Wichita Falls plumber who was held in the county jail to await the action of the 30th district grand jury when it reconvenes here Thursday.

According to Sheriff W. G. Bralley, to whom the attack was reported, the little girl returned to her home after school to find the plumber at work alone in the house. She lives with her married sister and brother-in-law, both of whom were at work downtown at the time, the sheriff said.

In her resistance to the man's attack, the child was almost stripped of her clothing and was in a hysterical condition when she finally made her escape, the officer was told. She ran first to call her sister by telephone. The older woman called her husband who in turn reported the attack to Mr. Bralley. The arrest followed within a few minutes, the officer said.

Because of the girl's nervous condition, no exhaustive investigations were undertaken Tuesday afternoon, but finger prints of the defendant revealed a former criminal record, investigators reported.

Mr. Bralley said the prisoner would be held in the county jail until the child's testimony is laid before the grand jury Thursday. He made no statement Tuesday evening.

Hasty Dismantling of Wrecked Plane Brings Call for Inquiry Into Crash

KANSAS CITY, Kan., Jan. 28. (AP)—While aviation officials today sought the cause of the crash of a Central Air Lines passenger plane which cost five lives here late yesterday, County Coroner Ben F. Coffin late today ordered an inquest and declared that evidence, which might have supplied the answer, had been wiped out in hasty dismantling and moving of the wreckage.

Officials of the airline denied that there had been any attempt to destroy evidence and defended the action of employes in having the wreckage pulled apart and taken to a hangar shortly after the removal of the burned and crushed bodies of the victims.

E. A. Watkins, president of the Central Air Lines, who arrived from Wichita, Kan., to take charge of the company's investigation, said "it is going to be difficult to determine the cause of the crash," but promised a full report "as soon as the facts can be determined."

Watkins, said Dyke Laudeman, pilot, killed with his four passengers, one a woman, had been flying since 1922 and that he was found to be in splendid physical

BRADY WEEPS AS WIFE TALKS

ing or after the stabbing of Miss Highsmith, Brady sustained such injuries.

Not Cross-Examined

District Attorney Henry Brooks did not cross examine Mrs. Brady, nor any of the others called except the Reverend Lee.

The pastor was the only witness who did not say he thought Brady insane. He declared that at times when he had seen "the judge" intoxicated the latter was "not rational." He told of having been called to the Brady home by Mrs. Brady and of having gone there of his own accord when he heard a "commotion." On one occasion, he testified, Brady was walking about like a mad man, kicking over furniture and muttering that somebody had "double crossed him."

Mrs. White said that in addition to having lived in Brady's home for years she had been with him twice in California, while relatives were ill, within the last few years."

Conversation "Silly"

On the last occasion, while they were returning to Texas and Brady, as far as she could tell, was "sober," she testified what he had to say to her was "silly" and that it was difficult to get into any sort of coherent conversation with him.

"I was bitterly disappointed," she went on, "because years before he had an unusually bright mind."

Here visiting in the Brady home, she testified, he had accused his wife of telling her that he had a "girl in town." When Mrs. Brady denied this, the sister continued, Brady tried to drive her from the room.

One of the things Brady did, Mrs. White said, was to take her to the capitol and "gleefully" introduce her to Miss Highsmith.

Mrs. Pondrom, who called Brady "Uncle John" and brought tears to his eyes again, said that up to the time she married and left the Brady home in 1923 "he had the highest of principles," but that subsequently in visits here she saw a "terrible change."

"Decidedly Insane"

"I've seen him twice since (since 1923) in a terrible condition. He was crazy—he didn't know what he was doing when he was drinking."

"He is decidedly insane now," she called out, her eyes on "Uncle John."

The prosecution, which began its swift course yesterday, had rested before noon today at the conclusion of the testimony of its sixth witness.

Two of these witnesses had been eye-witnesses to the killing; another had seen Brady draw out a knife and the fourth had wrested that knife away from him.

When the doors were opened, the crowds rushed them and filled every available inch.

District Attorney Henry Brooks asked Mrs. Crider what her father did in West Texas. She said he was a preacher and defense chief, E. A. Berry, protested. The objection was sustained.

Mrs. Crider said a Mr. Baker of Houston had come to see Miss Lehlia Highsmith for whose slaying Brady is on trial "not long before the murder."

She said Brady had asked her if the visitor stayed with Miss Highsmith "that night." He did not, she testified she told Brady.

Cross Examined

On cross examination she said she called the police after she saw "Judge Brady strike Miss Highsmith."

Mrs. Crider is the operator of the rooming house where Miss Highsmith lived and in front of which she was killed.

"How often did Judge Brady come to the apartment to see Miss Highsmith?" Berry asked.

"Pretty often."

Then she added, "he was coming against her will."

Berry took her to task for making this latter statement and Brooks objected, telling Berry, "You are arguing with this witness."

"Did Miss Highsmith have any other men friends come to see her?"

"Well, Mr. Baker came once."

"Didn't she go out of the room quite often at nights?"

"I never did see her out at night with other men—I seen her with girls."

She said Brady told her he was not living with his wife. This was her answer to Berry's question, "Didn't you know Judge Brady was a married man?"

"Haven't you heard that Mrs. Brady traded at your husband's store?"

"I didn't know."

Asked About Drinking

"Did you ever see Judge Brady and Miss Highsmith taking drinks together?"

"I don't know."

"How many times have you seen him in her room?"

Several times, the witness replied. She said she "couldn't tell if Brady was drinking "on the night of the killing."

"Mrs. Crider," Berry asked, "do you remember when Miss Highsmith went to Baytown to visit her parents?"

"I don't remember."

"Isn't it a fact that she left your house a week or 10 days last August?"

She said she didn't remember.

"Isn't it a fact that you addressed some envelopes to Miss Highsmith at Baytown and turned them over to John Brady so the family wouldn't recognize the handwriting?"

"I don't remember giving any envelopes to Judge Brady."

"Now Mrs. Crider do you want to tell the jury—"

"I addressed two envelopes to her, but I gave them to Miss Highsmith."

"The police," she said, had taken him (Brady) "away from her house three or four times for being drunk."

A short recess was ordered.

Physician Testifies

Dr. H. A. Scott of the emergency hospital where Miss Highsmith was taken was called and asked to describe her condition.

"She was semi-conscious, acutely pale from loss of blood and highly nervous and died about two minutes after 1 a. m. on the morning of Nov. 10.

"There were several wounds—on the left forearm," and he went on to describe others.

The state called A. G. B. Highsmith next, father of the slain girl.

He testified to nothing beyond a description of her size and the fact that he had met Brady through Lehlia, who told him Brady was a "nice man" who helped her get a job.

The defense didn't question him and as soon as he left, Brooks called out "state rests."

The defense asked for a recess until 2 p. m., and Brooks muttered "that's getting to be a habit."

The defense lawyers protested loudly and Judge J. D. Moore instructed the jury not to consider the remark "whatever it was."

The judge then ordered the recess.

The sheriff made a man give up a chair a lawyer wanted, so the former, with quite a flourish, reached beneath him and pulled out a folding camp seat upon which he plumped down.

Judge Moore made a speech, pointing out that though this "is a public trial," the spectators must at least open up to let the jurors in and remember that "other people have some rights."

"Mr. Sheriff," Berry said, "call Mrs. John W. Brady."

She came in and sat down in the witness stand, wearing dark clothing.

She had known Brady 32 years and was married to him June 18, 1901, she said slowly.

"When you first knew Judge Brady, was he a man addicted to liquor?"

"He was not."

When she first knew him, she said, his "intellect was very bright."

Began Drinking

"About 10 years ago—really more so after he was defeated for the judgeship—he began to drink immoderately."

Within the last two or three years, she added, he had been drinking "almost continually."

It was "bootleg," she added.

He would drink a pint or pint and a half a day, she went on.

"After he began this did you notice any change in him morally?"

"Before he began immoderate drinking he was a man of high ideals, but later his moral principles became very lax. He didn't care what anybody thought."

Up until this period, she said, a catch in her voice, Brady had been kind to her "and we were very happy."

She was half crying now, and Brady wiped tears from his eyes.

As she told of her husband's change toward her, he was holding a handkerchief to his eyes steadily.

In the mornings, she said, he would be moody and morose.

She described how a pastor came to the house once when Brady was creating a disturbance. She said he came over because things were so wrong.

He (Brady) was drunk and didn't know what he was doing. He apologized the next day.

Practice Neglected

She said Brady began refusing to take legal cases and that he even refused to act in the Rev. Frank Norris case "in this courtroom."

She exhibited several letters which had come to Brady and he had failed to open.

Mrs. Brady said he could not carry on a "consecutive conversation like he once did."

His general physical condition had been greatly weakened, she testified, and his meaning and sight were impaired. "He couldn't smell anything," she said.

She went on to say that her husband frequently could not sleep and that his body, face and arms sometimes would "twitch."

"He is very nervous. Likewise he suffered neuralgia," she declared.

Ordinarily florid of face, she said, "when he was on a drunken spree his face was pale."

Calls Him Insane

"Based on your knowledge of him would you say he was sane or insane?"

"Insane," she replied.

He was more than unusually unbalanced, she swore she believed, when he was drinking.

The night of the killing, she said, she saw Brady. He came in around 10 p. m., "stumbled upstairs and drank out of a bottle, then stretched himself on the bed. He breathed rather heavily and I thought, you know, that he was going to sleep.

"Previously he had phoned me to come to East Tenth street (where Miss Highsmith lived) for him."

She said she didn't go and when Brady came home later in a taxi, he was "very drunk."

She said she heard him get up off the bed.

She said Brady left again about 10:30 and "had no bruise on his face or any cut on his hand."

"Had he manifested any unusual antics around you at night time, around home?" Berry asked.

"On a number of occasions I was awakened by him coming down to the door and looking down at me with a kind of a grinning smile. It made me nervous. I would lock the door between our rooms and the one in the hall. This has been a little over a year ago."

"Mrs. Brady, did you know Lehlia Highsmith?"

"Yes."

"Did you know of her relations with John?"

Told of Affair

She replied, "Yes," they "both told me together."

Mrs. Brady said she was called to 210 East Tenth street one night. "That was the first I knew of it. He (Brady) told me there that they had decided to break up."

Brady said, she added, that the place "belonged" to him and the girl.

"I didn't know what I was going to do, you know, so I went to the police station and asked for an officer to keep him off the streets. They couldn't spare one."

Once she said when Brady was intoxicated and she finally got him home, he said he didn't want to go home, but wanted to go to Miss Highsmith's.

"When we got there she told me all and pleaded for mercy. Both of them said they wanted to break off. They begged me to help them."

Dayton Moses of the defense got up to say Wooten, an alienist, would be put on the stand.

The lawyers went up to the bench, as close as they could considering the crowds, and conferred with Judge Moore, who sustained the state's objection.

Mrs. Brady left the stand a short time later.

THE NEW GAUGE OF MOTOR OIL VALUE:

"Penetrative Lubricity"*

What it Is... What it Does

PENETRATIVE lubricity is the new gauge of motor oil value that is agitating the oil world. And this unique term can be applied to only one motor oil in North America: Conoco Germ-Processed!

Under test, this oil reduces motor friction to a greater degree than does any competitive oil . . . that's lubricity!

The microscope proves that this oil penetrates the very "pores" of the metal . . . and there deposits millions of tiny oil reservoirs . . . that's penetration!

What Penetrative Lubricity Means in Every-Day Driving

It is Penetrative Lubricity that gives Conoco Germ-Processed oils that motor-saving "carry-over" film that prevents your driving an oilless motor, no matter what the operating conditions. The most frequent abuse of automobile motors, all unintentional by their owners, comes during the first 5 to 15 minutes after starting. Engineers agree that 40% to 60% of all motor wear occurs then, due to this fact.

You will be glad to know that in those crucial moments, this "carry-over" of Germ-Processed oils . . . the reserve lubrication in those millions of tiny reservoirs . . . protects your motor adequately.

This "carry-over" feature of Germ-Processed oils, the result of Penetrative Lubricity, protects your motor from wear when driving at high speed . . . on long pulls . . . under all climatic conditions . . . and even if the supply of oil should become very low.

Moreover, the extra "oiliness," or lubricity of this new Conoco product by tests on friction testing machines shows a reduction of 15% in friction, hence you can realize what that means in increasing your gasoline mileage and reducing motor operating temperatures.

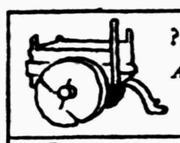

Only Conoco Oils are Germ-Processed

Conoco Germ-Processed Oils bring you the first fundamentally new lubricant of the century. The isolation of the Germ-Essence by Wells and Southcombe, was the long-needed step to make a mineral oil capable of withstanding the stress of modern motor design. As automobiles have changed since 1901, so have the demands for better oil. Germ-Processed oils supplied that demand, with the amazing characteristic:

Penetrative Lubricity.

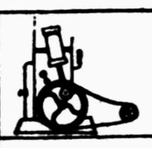

Go now to the Sign of the Red Triangle, and give your motor the lubricant it deserves.

Others elected for office include Mrs. D. R. White, secretary; Mrs. Roy I. Carter, treasurer; Mrs. Sarah Daniels, chairman of the advisory board, with Mesdames A. W. Burnside and Guy Raley as associate members.

Following the business meeting a luncheon was enjoyed in the colorful setting of the Spanish team room. Mrs. Guy Raley presided as toastmistress and Mrs. A. W. Burnside toasted the out-going officers and introduced the new ones. Mrs. J. Wilkie Talbert, the new president, responded. The only number on the program was a very interesting description of "The Miracle" which was given by Mrs. P. P. Langford.

Covers were laid for Mesdames A. W. Burnside, J. Wilkie Talbert, P. P. Langford, G. D. Rigsby, J. F. Boyd, E. R. White, Paul Steed, Bert King, B. B. Craft, Guy Raley, Paul Putty, R. L. PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

Strongly tempted as we are to talk about the weather, we nobly refrain.

Now that is telling the truth. And truth is one of the things, when you come to think about it, that isn't told all the time.

It is a marvelously good thing that it is not. In juxtaposition with everyday life, absolute truth would be dynamite.

Wouldn't people be horribly disagreeable if they refused to tell nice little polite lies when they were asked personal questions?

Fancy Mrs. A. asking Mrs. B. how she liked the new frock Mrs. A. so proudly wore and Mrs. B. answering, "Well, I think it is wretchedly unbecoming; the color does not suit you and you are too bow-legged for a dress that length." Would Mrs. A. and Mrs. B. ever again be friends?

And when some one stepped on your toe and said in a distressed tone, "Oh, I am so sorry; please forgive me," if you should answer as you feel, "You're the clumsiest thing on earth—a regular cow," instead of saying, "Why, that's all right of course"—would not your future relations be strained?

We refrain from telling the absolute truth many times because we have known a woman whose motto was "Tell the truth and shame the devil." And she didn't wait to be asked questions; she went about seeking out ways to tell unpleasant truths.

The way you feel affects your idea of truth, also. If you have a jumping toothache, or if you happen to have a head sore from a dentist's work, it would be much better for people not to ask you questions.

If a woman doesn't thank her hostess and tell her it was a lovely party, she isn't a mannerly being, when if she told the truth, she would acknowledge often that she was bored to death.

And if, when one is invited to a function she doesn't wish to attend she answered, "No, I don't want to come to your house and I don't care for your crowd of friends," she might be long on truth, but she would be short on friends.

That truth for which men always strive—that vague, elusive, beautiful thing so rarely found, is not the truth of which we speak.

We would not mock at that. It has been pursued since the beginning of time; a faint far dream of idealists, who still ask, "What is truth?"

We only question what might happen if men answered just as they thought, the questions put to them.

Mediocre Mates Not Expected To Produce Genius

When Average People Wed, Do They Doom Their Children to the Same Mediocrity?—What Can a Wife Do to Make Her Husband Companionable?

Dear Miss Dix: I am an average young man madly in love with an average young girl. Would it be quite all right for us to marry with the prospect of visiting the mediocrity of the average couple upon another generation? Is not eugenics the most important question of the age? —A. L. T.

Answer—Certainly eugenics is an important question, but, as a matter of fact, it is a subject about which we know very little that is authoritative as yet. Scientists are delving into the effects of heredity and trying to tabulate the results of what they have found out, but the most they seem to have done is to dissipate a lot of the old superstitions about the inevitability of children "taking after" this one or that one of its parents who might happen to have some sort of disease or red hair or a high temper, or what have you.

Animals can be bred up, more or less, to a desired type, as is seen in race horses and prize cattle and fox terriers, but in the mating of men and women the spiritual equation enters and it is yet to be shown that the marriage of two movie stars produce a living picture, or that the offspring of college professors are any more highbrowed than the millrun of children.

On the contrary, some of the homeliest fathers and mothers I know have had the handsomest children, while some of the finest-looking couples have had the runtiest ones. It is no uncommon thing to see a radiantly beautiful girl who has a mother who looks like a chromo, and to behold a regal-looking mother with an ugly little mouse of a daughter. And any walk down the street will show you tall, broad-shouldered, husky fathers towering above their half-portion sons and little wizened men trotting along in the wake of huge, beefy, athletic sons.

And it is the same way about brains and talents. It is an axiom that a great father seldom has a great son. Sometimes very intelligent people have superintelligent children, but it is by no means the rule. The star pupils in school are just as likely to be the children of ignorant fathers and mothers as they are of highbrows.

The men and women who sing in opera, who are great actors, who write books and plays, who pile up great fortunes, who make great inventions, are almost invariably the children of just plain, ordinary people and there is nothing in their heredity or their environment to account for their achievements.

So just because you and your sweetheart are average young people there is no reason for you to refrain from marrying for fear you may bring average children into the world. Your children will have just as good a chance to be geniuses and do wonderful things as any one else's. When you give them good, clean, healthy blood and a happy loving home to grow up in and do your part toward training them to be useful citizens, you have given them all the chance that any children need in life.

And suppose they are not geniuses and don't set the world on fire? Their part in life is not less important. We can do with very few geniuses, but we need a lot of honest, capable men and women.

"God must have loved the common people. He made so many of them," said Abraham Lincoln.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—If a man is not companionable, is there anything a wife can do to make him so? I married a man very much older than I am and find myself very miserable with him because we have nothing in common. When he comes home of an evening he greets me casually, then grabs a paper or magazine and reads until bedtime. He even carries his paper to the dinner table and reads while he eats. He had lived alone for many years before we were married and this was his habit. His friends are too old to be congenial with me. Mine are so young they bore him. I am an educated woman only 24 and can easily support myself, but I hate the idea of divorce. I have tried to make my husband see how a little attention would mean so much to me, but he calls me foolish and says I should be satisfied because I have a home. What can I do?

—LONELY WIFE.

Answer—A man of his age never changes and so the only thing that you can do is to either leave him or else adapt yourself to his ways.

It is certain that he will never adapt himself to yours, because his habits are fixed and unalterable and because he belongs to the old type of husband who believes that all a woman needs to make her perfectly happy is a wedding ring and a house, and that when a man has given his wife these he has done his full duty toward her and he doesn't need to bother about her any more.

But all of that does not settle your problem, nor make your long evenings less dull, and at 24 it is a dreary prospect to look forward to—years upon years of sitting up with a paper worm for one's only company—but I do not know what you can do about it unless you find solace also in reading, or else draw about you a circle of young people who will give you the companionship your husband refuses you.

Favorite Books of Wichita Women

MRS. A. H. CARRIGAN

In a day when so many readers scorn to profess a liking for any but the most "highbrow" literature, it is refreshing to hear a woman known and admired by an entire city, say that if she reads a good book, the last one is usually the favorite. This is the way in which Mrs. A. H. Carrigan answered a query as to her favorite book.

She has just finished Richard Halliburton's "New Worlds to Conquer," and declares it has been a long time since she enjoyed anything so much. She likes Halliburton because he is so full of "pep."

Mrs. Carrigan says as one grows older, one wishes for action and pep, and that she has always liked these qualities. Halliburton, besides being full of them, pleases her because he is vivid in description. Mrs. Carrigan also said as long as she can't travel, she does the next best thing and reads Halliburton.

And Mrs. Carrigan would get as hearty a laugh as anyone out of a recent reviewer's remark that Halliburton should be put on the automobile page instead of the book page because he can go further on a little gas than any car.

Lecture at Forum Friday Regarded As Outstanding

Members of the forum will enjoy one of the best artist's programs of the year when they hear Mrs. Percy V. Pennybacker deliver her address on "September in Geneva," at the Forum clubhouse Friday afternoon at 2:30. And husbands of forum members are invited to attend the lecture free of charge.

Mrs. Pennybacker is a lecturer permanently engaged to give a course of lectures at Chatauqua each summer. Always an inspiring speaker her last lecture is her best by all reports. Small in stature, she has a dignity that impresses itself on her audiences; her voice is mellow, musical and resonant, and her deep thinking impresses members of both sex who hear here.

She has just returned from a conference called in Washington where she was elected one of six women representatives to attened the disarmament conference in London but was unable to attend. Mrs. Pennybacker is one of the American women always recognized by a president when the opinion of women is wished on national questions.

Mrs. Ben G. Oneal, president of the first district, urges all forum members and all the clubs of the district, especially federated clubs in this and adjoining towns, to take this opportunity to hear Mrs. Pennybacker on probably the only visit she will make to this section of Texas for some time. Members will be admitted free on their white cards and Mrs. Pennybacker's lecture would repay the year's dues necessary to secure the white card, it is announced. Non-members will be charged $1.25.

Life Saved by Friend's Tip Licks 13 Years' Handicap

One of the "Ladies of Hell" goes over The Top in Harder Battle than any in War

Private David Loughnan of the famous 16th Battalion, Canadian Scottish.

PRIVATE LOUGHNAN'S story is a simple one, after all. He was one of those Canadian Scottish heroes who, in what Foch called the finest act of the war, counter-attacked in the beginning of the second battle of Ypres after being thoroughly gassed. Severely wounded in the abdomen, he lived two days on morphine and water, and ended up in Canada after the war with a bride who believed in him, and a digestive apparatus that just naturally wouldn't work. It was literally "all shot to pieces."

His great problem was to discover a safe, natural, gentle way to keep his enfeebled body cleaned out. No ordinary laxative could be used. He was enduring intense cramps, fainting spells, and acute pain. "During one of these attacks," he writes, "a friend advised me to try Nujol because of its gentle, harmless, yet certain action. His explanation of Nujol's absorbing and cleaning process sounded like good common sense, so my wife got a bottle for me at once. That was thirteen years ago. I don't know how many bottles of Nujol I have used since then, but I do know I probably owe my life to it. That Nujol does its work under the physical handicap I have related, is proof that even the most delicate person may use it in comfort and with complete success."

Please remember, Nujol is not a medicine. It is simply the most widely used and harmless means of giving your body the lubrication it needs, like any other machine. Normally, easily, naturally, Nujol sweeps your body clean of the waste poisons (we all have them) so you will feel bright, energetic, happy, full of pep. Nujol contains no drugs, forms no habit, can be used by the tiniest baby. It is not absorbed, is non-fattening. It is as tasteless and colorless as pure sparkling water. "Bottled sunshine," many call it.

So many millions of people have put happiness into their lives this easy way—why don't you? Get a bottle today at any drug store. It costs but a few cents, and it makes you feel like a million dollars. You too can be well and happy. Prove it yourself—today!

Helped at Change of Life

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a wonderful medicine at the Change of Life. I would get blue spells and just walk the floor. I was nervous, could not sleep at night, and was not able to do my work. I know if it had not been for your medicine I would have been in bed most of this time and had a big doctor's bill. If women would only take your medicine they would be better."—Mrs. Anna Weaver, R. F. D. No. 2, Rose Hill, Iowa.

THE TOILS AND SPOILS OF VICTORY

Daily Editorial

ENGINEERS in charge of the vehicular bridge now building across the Hudson have ascertained that wire cables, even under the negligible heat of January suns, expand one inch in four thousand feet.

Therefore, to obtain absolute precision in their work, the human spiders, delegated to spin those tremendous threads, now begin their task at 3 a. m.

There's no such word as good-enough in the lexicon of physics.

The scientific mind takes nothing for granted. Which is one reason why universities plan to discourage the tendency of students to follow purely cultural courses.

Collegiate education increasingly protests against the preference of undergraduates for superficial finishes. Literature, the classics and philosophy aren't stern enough drill masters—they're too indulgent with unpolished mental buttons.

The future has constantly less opportunity to offer individuals, who know a phase of everything and nothing much of anything.

Its blueprints won't be intelligible to smatterers. There are no big jobs waiting for sloppy thinkers, approximators and detail-neglectors.

We've entered business partnership with the electron, the atom and the ether. Industry is knocking piths, gases and essenses apart, to recompose them into cheaper and more efficient structural materials.

Tomorrow's calculations are splitting hairbreadths and molecules, and persons who don't know what it's about must abandon front-rank hopes.

Last week we learned how to manufacture better steel at less cost and a 15 per cent reduction in waste.

PAROLE RENEWED

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 28.(UP)—Governor Holloway has reinstated the parole of W. B. Ward, sentenced to three years in the penitentiary from Harmon county for second degree burglary.

Probably it's all right to be a self-made man, but why do so many self-made men make themselves so fat?

President Hoover doesn't have to tell the firemen that business is good, anyway.

Motorists get a lot farther if they don't try to make the grade too often.

We Need to Be Jarred

IT IS ANNOUNCED at Washington that the unemployment crisis has passed. The country is "out of the woods," says a high government official; all of us may breathe more easily now.

Just the same, there are occasional bad spots that have not yet been wiped up. Your daily paper gives you hints about them. They are worth thinking about.

The other morning there were two such hints in the daily news report.

In Chicago, at the peak of a sharp cold wave, a woman was found sitting by an empty stove in the barren kitchen of the house she called home. There was no fuel in the house. The stove contained no fire. The woman had frozen to death.

In Cleveland a man was released from jail after being acquitted of a charge of embezzling money from his former employers. He returned home to find his family destitute. Gas had been shut off because the gas bill was unpaid. The youngest child had pneumonia and was being cared for by a neighbor. There was nothing for the rest to eat and no way for them to keep warm. A welfare organization refused to extend any help because the breadwinner was out of jail now and could do his part; but the breadwinner could not get a job.

Now those two little items, quite unrelated, are not, of course, enough in themselves to refute the government's optimistic reports about the unemployment situation. Such things will happen even when times are booming. But they are rather terrible, even so.

It is terrible that a woman can freeze to death, in her own house, in the middle of the second city of the nation.

It is terrible that a strong, capable man who wants to work has to remain idle and watch his family slowly succumb to cold and hunger in a great industrial city of a million inhabitants.

These things are not anybody's fault. They are not matters that concern any presidential unemployment conference. They simply happen, that's all; in good times and in bad, in prosperity and in depression, there are always some spots that are dark, cold and utterly horrible.

What can we do about them? Not a great deal, except open our hearts and resolve that we will be, after all, our brothers' keepers. For efficiency is not enough and never will be. Such things will continue to happen until all of us make up our minds that we cannot be snug and well-fed and contented unless our neighbors are the same way, too; until we reach the point where an unknown stranger's misery is our own misery, too.

That day is a long way off. We are still fairly selfish and indifferent. And that is why it is good for us to read of these incidents. Every time a news story of this kind jars our complacency and comfort, it moves us a little bit nearer to the era of brotherhood.

The Diplomats' Suspicion

SUSPICION and jealousy are hard things to eradicate, once they get a firm hold. It is reported from London that one of the American delegation's chief tasks at the naval conference will be persuading France and Italy that the United States and Great Britain are not really forming an alliance that will mean a new menace to other nations.

As a matter of fact, the United States and England, so far from entering into an alliance, were driven to begin these negotiations because thoughtful men in each country felt that they were drifting straight toward war with one another. And anyone who knows our senate ought to know that this country will never enter into an alliance with any European nation.

But jealousy and suspicion are ingrained in European diplomacy. A diplomat can never realize that a thing can be done without some ulterior motive.

A Needless Tragedy

IT IS IMPOSSIBLE to take the news of Ohio's newest motor bus tragedy calmly. Nine school children were killed because a bus driver piloted his car out on the main line of the New York Central railroad, right in the path of a speeding mail train.

There can be no real excuse for an accident of this kind. If the windows of a bus are frosted, as seems to have been the case in this instance, so that the driver's view of the crossing is obscured, there is nothing on earth to keep him from stopping his bus, getting out and walking to the tracks to see for himself whether the way is clear.

No motorist should ever take a chance at a railroad crossing; and this rule applies with tenfold effect to the man who is driving a bus full of school children. Let every bus driver in the country pay attention to it.

When the Road Is Icy

ICY ROADS put an extra responsibility on the shoulders of every motorist; and nowhere is this responsibility heavier than in the neighborhood of railroad crossings.

In Ohio recently a motorist approached a grade crossing very carefully. An automatic signal was heralding the approach of a train. The driver put on his brakes. But there was a slight incline down to the tracks, and the road was very icy. His car slid down the hill and went on the track just in time to get hit by an express train—and the motorist, for all that he had been driving carefully, lost his life.

Ordinary care isn't enough when the roads are paved with ice—especially when you come to a grade crossing. The driver's vigilance needs to be tripled under such circumstances.

Plaint

My nights are constant in their lassitude,
I know betimes the way that they will go;
A ripe relit—a silly book reviewed
A glass of wine, which stirs old memories so.

There was a spell I had no need for this,
I read your eyes and found the answer sweet;
And wine enough was hidden in your kiss
To speed the hours by on dancing feet.

Now I am free—my key turns in the door,
No letter there in your familiar scrawl;
No phone call makes my heart pound anymore,
But why go on—you're through with me, that's all.

You've quite forgotten that we ever met—
And I've forgotten, too—how to forget. —44 Sydney Place.

Hebelseh

In the forthcoming Ruth Selwyn revusical called "The 9.15 Revue" there is a tune offered by the merry magdalens to show that terpsichorines need not be beautiful to get by so long as they have intelligence. Part of the lyric, it appears, goes like this: "You don't have to be a Marilyn Miller, if you know your Goethe and Schiller."

During the rehearsals one of the chorus femmes said to an undressing roommate: "What the hell is a Schiller?"

"Oh, you know," was the reply, "one of those English coins."

Always Belittlin'

Observed under the glass top of a Broadwayite's desk: "Cave men used to knock girls senseless. That, of course, isn't necessary now."

A White Lie

Sardi's, one of the museums in the fourflushing forties for bacon and ham, has been making a bid for a larger patronage, it seems. The restaurant, best known for its walls, which are lined with framed likenesses of this actor or that actress, has been sending out letters to the casts appearing in the various shows. The letter screams in huge type: "Dine at Sardi's, where you won't meet any of the Dumbardos!" The postscript explains the meaning of the coined word. "Dumbardos," it says, "are uninteresting people!"

Meaning, one presumes, that the pictures of the alleged celebrities on the walls are not of uninteresting people, which they are.

Repartee in a Gay Place

Peggy Joyce: "Oh, come now, confess it, you men like the dumb kind as well as the others."

Flipcracker: "What others?"

Poor, but Honest

Among other things that startled us in the lit'rary world was discovering that the Readers Digest, a fascinating magazine, refuses to pirate material for its fillers. Instead, the Digest selects tid-bits or bon mots from such delightful publications as the New Yorker and forwards a check for same. Thus, this letter from the New Yorker: "As you may not know a magazine called the Reader's Digest reprints occasional paragraphs from our Talk of the Town department. Each month they send us a small check to be divided amongst the authors concerned. In their December issue they picked up an item you had a hand in, so I am enclosing a check for $1."

Complaint

Admitting that "they" stand for nothing—such as Gershwin stands for "jazz"—admirers of the Messrs. DeSylva, Brown and Henderson, cry out that they are weary of hearing the incessant praises of the Berlins, Gershwins and Kerns. The literati, grumble the fans, are the ones who keep reminding us that Gershwin, et al, are the greatest of the song writers. Yet, the trio of De, B. & H. have never, never written a flop song or show in their illustrious careers.

"Besides writing such hit shows as 'Follow Thru,' several 'Scandals', 'Good News', 'Hold Everything,'" writes an admirer, "they've written numerous song hits such as 'The Birth of the Blues', 'Varsity Drag', 'Cream in My Coffee', 'Button Up Your Overcoat', 'It all Depends on You', 'Aren't We All' and dozens of other great hits!"

Quiteso, quiteso, but DeSylva, Brown and Henderson also wrote "Sonny Boy!"

Description

And Harry Reichenbach describes an N. G. G. (Broadway for no Good Guy) as "a human parenthesis—you know what parentheses are—something you can get along with or without!"

Puns Without Coffee

Clemantha Carr can make up a sentence containing "Don Juan" like this: "I Don Juan to play in your yard."

Oop!

He is a well known star, now rehearsing in a new show. For the first time in a long spell he violated one of his own laws, permitting members of the chorus to watch him rehearse his sketches, blackouts, etc. Calling the boys and girls of the ensemble together the other day he said: "My little friends. I will let you all remain to watch me rehearse some of our funny skits, but, I beg of you, please do not talk about them outside the theater. The last time I let the chorus watch me rehearse they told some of my best gags to those columnists, who ruined my material by printing it." They all promised not to talk about them and the rehearsal went on.

But one of the girls couldn't resist unfolding the funny skits to some of us last night, and the poor thing was embarassed no end because the columnist present told the answers or punch-lines before she did.

Add Similes

Robert Garland's: "As dead as a discharged columnist."

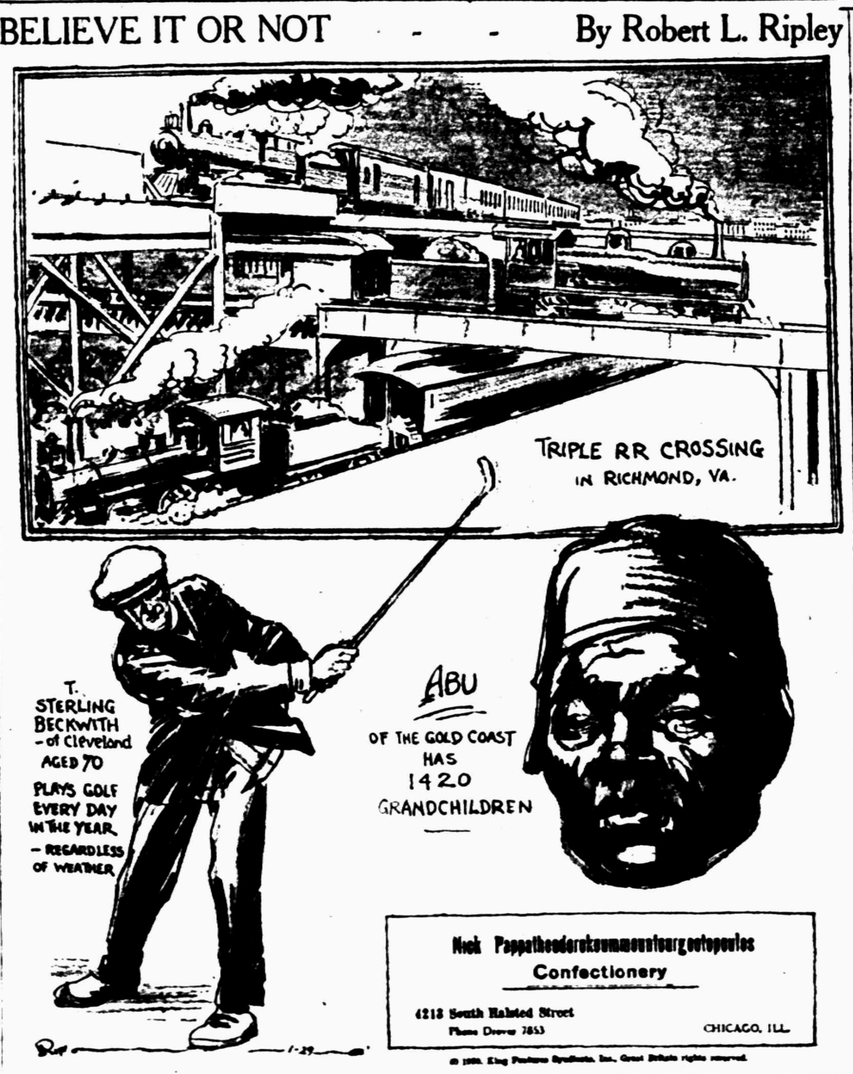

Of All Things!

The censors still are editing the movies so that our morals won't be blemished. In Canada recently "The Pagan" sub-titles were blue-pencilled, one of which was: "A pagan's only god is nature; a pagan's only law is love!" In Pennsylvania the censors eliminated this from Lenore Ulric's "Frozen Justice" flicker: "He's after furs and women."

The Pennsy censors, incidentally, being the same dear persons who once objected to the sub-title: "She's a streetwalker!"

Which was changed to: "She's an actress"!

"LOVEJOY" : By : Beatrice Burton

What Has Happened Before

Tom Nicholson and his young and beautiful wife, Lovejoy, have reached the bitter stage of marriage. Tom's earnings as a bond salesman do not warrant the maid that Lovejoy has hired to look after the baby and housework. It is rich Aline Alderson's influence that has changed the happy atmosphere of the tiny Nicholson home. She tells Lovejoy married women should have "affairs" to keep them young. She herself has one with "Jack" who writes to her at Lovejoy's address. Tom's suspicions are aroused. Lovejoy has Steve Oglebay, an old sweetheart, to dinner, also Norrie Shane, a nurse who is fond of Tom. Later, in a heated quarrel, Lovejoy says she is sick of the monotony and drudgery of married life. When Tom goes to a stag party, Lovejoy makes a date with Steve Oglebay. Upon her return, she learns from the maid that Tom has discovered her absence. He questions her. The next night, when he stays out for dinner, Lovejoy again meets Steve. Tom sees a telegram and asks Lovejoy whom it is from.

Now Go on With the Story

CHAPTER XXII

Tom held out his hand for the telegram.

"I insist upon seeing that thing," he said.

But Lovejoy shook her head firmly. She simply couldn't show that wire to Tom! She couldn't let him know that she had been acting as go-between for Aline and the man in South Port . . . She couldn't give Aline away.

It is a favorite saying of men that women do not know how to stand up for each other.

But that's not true. Women can have friendships as strong as the friendships that very often exist between men. And there is honor among women just as there is honor among men—and among thieves!

And not for a second did Lovejoy even dream of letting Tom know what Aline was doing outside the safe walls of her home.

"No. I'm sorry, Tom, but you can't see this telegram," she said. "You'll just have to trust me this once."

Tom's face had gone white under the lights of the room. His lips were pressed together in a straight narrow line, and his hands were clenched at his sides.

"Listen to me, Lovejoy," he said so quietly that Hilda, putting away her paper and ink in the kitchen, could not have heard him. "I don't know whether I trust you any more or not. You went out Saturday night the minute my back was turned and you've refused to tell me where you were. You went out again—Heaven knows where! And while you were gone you get this telegram that you refuse to show me. Something's all wrong somewhere."

Lovejoy nodded, her eyes suddenly blazing.

"Something is all wrong with you. That's what's wrong!" she snapped. "You run out two or three nights a week and leave me here alone to amuse myself . . . Well, listen, I am going to amuse myself and I'm going to do it in my own way. So just broadcast that to yourself, Tom Nicholson!"

Tom caught her by the wrist as she turned away from him.

"Whose fault is it that I've been going out with Al Alderson lately"—Who insisted upon being friends with them because they had money and might buy some bonds from me? Because they might know people who'd buy bonds from me? You did! I never wanted to know them. I never wanted to run with a lot of people who can buy and sell us 10 times over—"

"Don't talk to me!" Lovejoy interrupted him. She wrenched herself away from him. "Don't talk to me! . . . You're like all the rest of the men, blaming your own misdeeds on your wife! You don't have to run every time Al Alderson lifts his finger if you don't want to!—And don't think I don't know it! I'll bet anything that you and he were out with a couple of girls this very night!"

She did not believe what she was saying for even one second.

She knew that Tom was decent. She had always known that he was honest and loyal and good. Good all the way through . . . and she was going to keep him that way. She wasn't going to let him get away with a thing!

Aline came home on Friday, and Lovejoy took all of the South Port letters to her late that afternoon.

"There ought to be another one, Aline," she told her. "Mrs. Bennett says a special delivery came to her house last Saturday night and she sent the mail-man over to my house with it. But Hilda says it didn't come there. It must have been taken back to the postoffice."

Aline nodded absently. She had opened one of the letters and she was reading it, lost to the world.

"I imagine it'll turn up," she murmured presently. "Anyway it will never fall into Al's hands, addressed to you. So I'm not going to worry about it."

Before Lovejoy left she went upstairs and brought down a present that she had brought for her. It was a white princess-slip, made of strips of lace and chiffon and caught here and there with tiny pearl flowers.

"I saw it in a shop and it looked like you, so I bought it," she said in her friendly sweet way. "Will you come over here for lunch tomorrow? I'm going to have some girls in to play cards."

By the first of May, Lovejoy was playing cards with Aline's crowd once or twice a week.

She had bought a wide black afternoon hat with the money that Tom had won at Al Alderson's first poker party. And she kept five dollars out of her grocery allowance every week to pay her bridge debts. Aline and her crowd played for money always.

"I'll have to have the girls at my house pretty soon," she told Aline one afternoon early in May when they were driving home from a game at Jane Goodsell's flat on the north side.

"But I'm not going to until we move," she added, and Aline shot her a puzzled glance.

"Yes, we're going to move into that house they've just finished building at the corner of our street and Tudor road." Lovejoy went on. "Tom doesn't know it yet. But I found out that it was for rent, and I've told the owner I'd take it for a month, so Tom will just have to speed up and make some more money for the rent."

Aline gave her a look of great approval.

"Well, good for you, Lovejoy!" she cried. "I'm glad to hear you talk sense at last!—I've always told you that the only way to make a husband stir his stumps is to insist upon having a good house and plenty of clothes and things! Any man can make money if his wife just tells him he's got to do it!"

That night at dinner Lovejoy decided to break the news about the new house to Tom.

But while she was still wondering how to begin, he tossed a little colored catalogue across the table to her.

"I'm going to buy a new machine," he said.

Lovejoy's face brightened as if someone had lighted it from within with a hundred-candle-power lamp.

"Oh, Tom, a new car!" she exclaimed. "How marvellous! Now I can drive Aline to the bridge club once in a while!—We'll keep the old one, too, won't we?"

Tom was laughing at her. "I didn't say I was going to buy a new automobile," he said. "I said I was going to buy a new machine. I meant a mowing machine, honey."

She saw then that the little catalogue had a picture of a lawn-mower on its bright cover. She gave it a scornful little push with one pointed finger-nail.

"Oh, Tom, how mean of you to try to fool me like that!" she said. "I thought you meant a new car, of course."

Tom reached for the catalogue.

"I bought a lot of grass seed today, too," he told her, "and a lot of plants to set out. I'm going to have a garden here this summer."

"Not here." Lovejoy's voice was hard and cold, and her eyes were like polished gray stones for a moment. "We're going to leave this beastly little hole on the first of June . . . You're making a lot of money now, and it's time we had some furniture of our own and a decent house. I've just about promised Dunbar, the man who's building the house at the corner, that we'd take it—and I've been picking out furniture for it for two weeks."

She picked up her glass of iced tea, and kept her eyes on it as she drank.

"But we can't afford to move at this time," Tom objected after a minute or two. "And anyway the smart thing for us to do is to buy this house instead of renting another one. We could soon get this little place paid for and then we'd have something."

Lovejoy opened her lips to give him some sort of sharp answer.

Then suddenly she closed them again.

It came to her that she was going about this in the wrong way. It never did any good to club and drive a man like Tom into doing things that he didn't want to do. He could never be driven. But he could always be coaxed into submission.

She walked around the table to him and sat down on his knees with her soft powdered cheek against his cheek.

It was weeks since she had made love to him. Weeks of quarrels and misunderstandings and angry silences.

She put her arms around him now and kissed him with tenderness and passion. She meant all the tenderness and all of the passion, too, as she did it . . . She really did love Tom, and it was wonderful to be in his arms again like this.

"All right, darling, if we can't afford the house we'll just have to stay here," she murmured into his ear.

But 'way underneath all her tenderness, she hadn't changed her mind at all. She still meant to have that house on the first of June!

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Gentlemen, the King!

"Lester!"
"Huh?"
"Get up!"
"Go away. What's the matter?"
"You've gotta get up."
"It's the middle of the night. Don't be silly."
"It's 6 o'clock."
"What of it? Lemme sleep."
"You told me you wanted to be sure to get up and hear him."
"Who?"
"The king."
"What king?"
"King George. He's here now."
"Tell him to come back in a couple of hours."

PHILLIPS

"Lester, snap out of it! You'll miss him."

"Miss who? What's this all about? What's the trouble?"

"His Royal Highness!"

"What about him?"

"He's coming over. You don't want to miss him. Get up!"

"Tell him I'm not in . . . Ask him if he wants to leave a message. . . Heigh ho!"

"Lester Gilleykin, you told me last night not to let you miss King George . . . He's here now . . . Listen! . . ."

"Huh. . . Oh! . . . King George. The English King George. . . . Why didn't you say so?"

"Hurry!"

"Okay, dear. . . . What'll I put on? . . . I can't receive him like this."

"Of course you can."

"Receive the King of England in a pair of blue pajamas with white polka dots!"

"Hurry! . . . He's nearly through!"

"Have you no regard for decent conventions, woman? . . . Where's that robe? . . . Where's my black coat? . . . What's become of my shoes? . . . My slippers?"

"You'll miss him entirely."

"Where's that damned electric button? . . . Look! . . . What a face? . . . I need a shave . . . Why didn't you get me up sooner?"

"Please, Lester . . . the king is . . ."

"Have you so little respect for him you would let me receive him with a beard like this? . . . I look like a bum!"

"There! He's finished. I warned you."

"That's all right. What did he say?"

"He said he hoped the conference would be a big success."

"Well, I could have told you so. Phew!"

"Are you going back to bed?"

"Naw. Boil me two eggs . . . four minutes. . . . And no more kings before 7, I don't care who they are."

"But," asks Wallace Cox, "can she cook?"

Now that King George has spoken over the radio it would be no great surprise to hear of a program in which the time signals would be given by Premier Mussolini, the weather forecast by Mustapha Kemel, the stock tables by King Alfonso and a style talk by Queen Marie of Rumania.

DAVID BRANCH'S DAILY FILOSOFY

"He who will not care for or use his possessions, forfeits his right to ownership."

If one should cease to bathe or use an arm, it would wither and decay. Should we apply this law of nature to all possessions, there would be much changing of ownership of many things.

ROUGHAGE IS ESSENTIAL IN REDUCING DIETS

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Is Ideal Roughage

If you are following a reducing diet, it is doubly important that you take a regular amount of roughage into the system daily. Most reducing diets do not contain a sufficient amount of roughage. The result is constipation—chief of both health and beauty.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is recommended by many doctors and dietitians because it contains the bulk necessary to insure proper elimination.

Also, because it contains the iron needed to help prevent anemia—another danger in reducing diets.

ALL-BRAN is not fattening. Its bulk sweeps the system clean of poisonous wastes—helping to promote glorious health and beauty.

A popular way to eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is soaked in fruit juice. Try it! It is delicious with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over cereals, salads and soups. It adds flavor to cooked foods and is equally effective. Your grocer has Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. It is served in restaurants, hotels and dining-cars. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

CARAWAY GIVES LIE TO FAUBEL

Lobby Witness Raises Ire of Arkansan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. (INS)—Charged with "retailing a manufactured story," Arthur L. Faubel, secretary of the American Tariff league, high tariff organization, was rebuked by members of the senate lobby investigating committee today.

He testified his organization's employment of Edward Nelson Dingley, tariff expert for the senate finance committee majority membership, was all right and "just like Senator Caraway making a speech before importers for $500 or something like that."

Senator Caraway, Democrat, of Arkansas, the committee chairman, interrupted:

"You know that isn't so; that's a lie."

Senator Walsh, Democrat, of Montana, remarked the rebuke was "richly deserved."

"You had no right to retail such a story here," Walsh said.

"Who gave you that information?" Caraway asked.

"Nobody told you—you manufactured it," Caraway said.

"No, I didn't," the witness said.

Herman A. Metz, president of the General Dyestuffs corporation, of New York, will be called before the committee tomorrow.

He will be questioned in connection with charges by Samuel Russell, former secretary of Senator King, Democrat, of Utah, that Metz contributed $1,000 to the election campaign of King in 1922 and another thousand in the 1928 Democratic campaign in Utah.

King told newspaper men he had "never heard of the $1,000 Russell said was contributed by Metz in 1922 and that the $1,000 contributed by Metz in the 1928 campaign was never used."

The committee will not take up charges made in a deposition of Francis E. Garvan, in Boston, to the effect Senator Moses, Republican, of New Hampshire, worked in collaboration with German dye interests in opposing a chemical embargo.

"There is nothing in the deposition or in the letters which to my mind reflects in any manner whatever on Senator Moses or which it seems to me is a proper subject for investigation by this committee," Senator Walsh, Democrat, of Montana, declared.

South Plains Banks In Best of Condition

LUBBOCK, Texas, Jan. 28.—A check up recently made reveals that 43 banks in the South Plains have total assets of $24,685,849.43, with $21,949,286.42 deposits, the best financial condition that the banks have ever had.

The checkup was made by G. P. Kuykendall, automobile dealer, a director of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and a former banker, with the assistance of Roy Riddle, cashier of the First National bank here. Banks at Muleshoe, Sudan, Amherst, Littlefield, Anton, Lubbock, Slaton, Post, Plainview, Hale Center, Abernathy, Wilson, Tahoka, O'Donnell, Lamesa, Crosbyton, Idalou, Ralls, Ropesville, Meadow, Brownfield, Seagraves, Seminole, Levelland, Lockney, Floydada and Petersburg were called.

The statement shows the section to be in the most healthy financial condition it has ever been in, Kuykendall declares.

Pastor Uses Pennies To Pay Speeding Penalty

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. (US)—The Rev. Edgar Beckett was hurrying to a bank yesterday to deposit his Sunday collection. He was in such a hurry that Policeman Wright arrested him for speeding.

Taken to court, he was requested to post $10 to guarantee his appearance today. With a smile the reverend gentleman handed over a bag of pennies, from which the clerk was forced to count 1,000.

Today the Rev. Mr. Beckett was fined $5 for speeding, so the clerk was forced to dole out 500 pennies for change.

White Russian Chief Is Sought in Paris

PARIS, Jan. 28. (UP)—The best detectives of Paris today were searching for the recognized leader of the so-called white Russian army, General Koutepoff, who has been missing since Sunday. Fear was expressed that he had been kidnaped by bolshevists.

Koutepoff, who succeeded to leadership of the white Russian or czarist military emigrees two years ago, attended services at the Russian church here Sunday and disappeared.

Texas Tech Fire Causes Loss Of $10,000 in Campus Dairy Barn

Special to The Record News.

LUBBOCK, Texas, Jan. 28.—An estimated loss of $10,000 was sustained by the Texas Technological college early today when fire destroyed part of a $35,000 dairy barn on the campus.

The fire was discovered about 3 o'clock this morning and only quick work of the Lubbock fire department saved the main part of the building.

Two pure bred dairy cows and a calf, belonging to students paying their way through college by selling milk were burned to death.

The boiler room where the fire originated was completely destroyed. The roof of the milking shed will have to be rebuilt and the main barn will have to be painted throughout the first floor to cover the smoke-charred walls.

One of the principal losses of the fire was the destroying of all equipment of the department of dairy products and manufacture. A milking machine costing several hundred dollars was to have been installed in the barn yesterday and would have been destroyed. It was not installed and was therefore saved.

Rail Consolidation Rehearing Is Asked

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. (AP)—Reopening of hearings on the Interstate Commerce commission's plan for consolidation of railroads so as to permit allocation of the Waco, Beaumont, Trinity and Sabine railway to the Missouri Pacific instead of the Southern Pacific was asked today by the former road through its president, R. C. Duff.

In an application to the commission the Waco road said that after receiving notice of the commission's assignment an offer had been made to sell the Waco to the Southern Pacific, but this offer had been declined. In effect, the Waco's petition said, the Southern Pacific refuses to carry out the consolidation plan of the commission.

QUAIL SURVIVE

Death Due to Cold Not As General as At First Thought

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 28. (UP)—Death toll of quail during the recent snow storm will not be as large as first expected, Sam H. Harris, state fish and game commission chairman, said today.

Reports received by the commission said food distributed the past week saved thousands of birds from starvation. Depredations of hawks and "pot hunters" probably accounted for more birds dying than the cold, Harris said.

Reports indicated more birds died in Craig, Ottawa and Delaware counties than in any other section of the state.

JURY INDICTS RUM RUNNERS

22 Men Named in Galveston Report

GALVESTON, Jan. 28. (AP)—A grand jury indictment charging an organized rum runner's ring, which purchased foreign liquors and delivered to small points along the Texas coast in the vicinity of Galveston island was returned here today. Twenty-two men, 14 of whom have been arrested, were named.

Two violations specified were the landing of 350 cases of liquor in the Sea Hawk in April, 1928, and 1,600 cases from the C. M. Lawrence last september.

W. R. Schultz, former commander of a coast guard patrol boat, was arrested today. Schultz formerly commanded a patrol boat off the cutter Comanche.

Actress' Mother Seeks Marriage Annulment

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 28. (UP)—Thanks, said Loretta Young's mother, for the airplane ride you gave my daughter, and then she signed the complaint today asking annulment of the girl's marriage to Grant Withers.

The young screen players were married in Yuma, Ariz., Sunday after an aerial elopment. They returned to Hollywood that afternoon and the actresses' mother, Mrs. George Belzer, promptly interrupted the romance.

In the complaint prepared today, Mrs. Belzer set forth that her daughter was only 17 years old and that the marriage in Yuma had been obtained by mis-statement of the girl's age as 19 years. The complaint was filed in superior court.

Best Remedy for Cough Is Easily Mixed at Home

You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough or chest cold can be conquered, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in millions of homes, because it gives more prompt, positive relief than anything else. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to make a full pint. This saves two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough medicine, and gives you a purer, better remedy. It never spoils, and tastes good—children like it.

You can actually feel its penetrating, soothing action on the inflamed throat membranes. It is also absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. At the same time, it promptly loosens the germ-laden phlegm. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief even in severe bronchial coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

SILENCE WRAPS FLOODED AREA

Fears Held That Refugees Have Starved

VINCENNES, Ind., Jan. 28. (INS)—Silence that foreboded disaster prevailed over sections of the Southwest Indiana flood region today, according to fliers and relief workers who fear that many refugees have starved to death as they huddled in farmhouses surrounded by flood waters.

Red Cross officials directing relief work in the area have broadcast urgent appeals for assistance as the need for communication with isolated points grows more acute.

More than 500 persons in the area near the mouth of the Wabash river below Mt. Vernon are still cut off from food and supplies. Conditions in this community are appalling, according to aviators who have flown over the territory.

A general lack of smoke from homes in this area causes apprehension. Communities which formerly showed signs of activity now appear lifeless, the airmen report.

Airplanes using Vincennes as a base dropped food to 40 families suffering from lack of food and fuel near the White river. Their plight was learned after a man and his son made their way over treacherous fields of ice and water.

PRODUCT OF GENERAL MOTORS

THE NEW OAKLAND 8

GENERAL MOTORS'— Lowest-priced Eight— $1045 AND UP

In view of what the New Oakland Eight offers, its price is attractively low. This becomes increasingly evident the more intimately you know this lowest-priced General Motors eight.

PRODUCT OF GENERAL MOTORS

A Background of Sixteen Years

Three years of actual designing and testing preceded the announcement of the New Oakland Eight. In addition it incorporates General Motors' sixteen years' experience in building fine eight-cylinder automobiles. This mature background accounts for its sound basic design and for the many new features which contribute so greatly to the qualities of eight-cylinder luxury which it provides.

Superior Performance

The New Oakland has an 85-horsepower engine. This is the highest power ever employed in a car of Oakland's size and weight, racing cars excepted. Oakland develops one horsepower to 37 pounds of car weight. That's why few cars are as fast. That's why few, if any, can pass it on the hills. That's why it accelerates so rapidly in traffic. In fact, that is the reason for its superior performance.

Eight-Cylinder Smoothness

With its high speed and fast acceleration, the New Oakland combines the smoothness resulting from the overlapping power impulses inherent in eight-cylinder design. This smoothness is intensified by such exclusive features as its complete down-draft fuel distribution, its patented laminated spring and rubber engine mountings and a new type of cylinder head which assures uniform combustion.

Only a close inspection and a demonstration will enable you to understand fully the many advantages provided by the New Oakland Eight. And only when you know its advantages can you appreciate how reasonably it is priced!

The New Oakland Eight, $1045 and up, f. o. b. Pontiac, Michigan, plus delivery charges. Lovejoy Hydraulic Shock Absorbers included in list prices. Bumpers, rear fender guards and spring covers extra. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

A FAMOUS NAME— A Finer Car— $745 AND UP

Once again Pontiac has improved upon a car already noted for its excellent qualities. To the hundreds of thousands who own Pontiacs, and to everyone who is interested in low-priced automobiles, this announcement is important. For it introduces the New Series Pontiac Big Six—a new and finer car with a famous name.

New Beauty, Smoothness, Safety

Smart new bodies by Fisher make the New Series Big Six a more beautiful Pontiac. A new belt moulding which encircles the car emphesizes its stream-line length and lowness. There is a choice of attractive new Duco colors at no extra cost. Pontiac's smoothness is increased by a new type of rubber supports for its 60-horsepower engine. Improved non-squeak four-wheel brakes and a new sloping non-glare windshield add to the car's safety.

Time-Tried Performance

When these and other improvements were being made, however, all of Pontiac's basic big car excellence was retained. Owners of the New Series Pontiac Big Six are assured of Pontiac's impressive speed, power and acceleration. They will find its economy and long life, as always, a source of saving and satisfaction. And they will have the pleasure of owning a car whose style is enduring and whose basic excellence accounts for its high resale value.

Health and Diet Advice

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper.

Disorders of the Skin

Dryness of the skin or astaetosis is caused by too little oil being secreted by the glands. This may cause the skin to crack and scale, giving it a harsh appearance. First cleanse the skin with warm water and soap, which should be rinsed off, after which a small amount of olive oil or almond oil should be rubbed in. Dry skin is benefitted by the application of a good cold cream. In an over-dry skin the circulation is not normal, and the cells are starving for fat or lubricating oil. Any exercise which tends to quicken the circulation of the skin, such as slapping, will tend to bring on the normal secretion of oil. A large quantity of oils and fats may be added to an otherwise balanced diet.

Pimples or Acne

This is a very persistent trouble frequently occurring at adolescence. The best treatment for pimples is change of diet, using lots of oranges, apples, melons and other fruits, and plenty of vegetables for both luncheon and dinner and using at least one large raw salad daily. All rich fatty foods must be avoided, including such foods as chocolate, nuts, cheese, ice cream, etc.

It is a good plan to use a daily warm shower followed by cold, and a brisk rubbing over the entire body with a rough towel, especially over the areas affected by the acne. For the face, steam the skin gently then open the whitehead of the pimples with a sterile needle, which has been sterilized in a flame and gently press out the pus with the pressure of the fingers upon a clean towel at each side of the pimple. Where there is a severe case of acne, it would be well to write in for detailed information about treatment.

Chapping

Chapping of the skin often occurs with dry skins where there is a lack of the normal lubricating oil. The skin may roughen and crack painfully, and small bleeding fissures may develop. During the warm weather the oil glands function more thoroughly than in cold, and this is why cold weather brings on chapped hands and lips. Some of the causes are exposure to cold and biting wind, washing too often with harsh soaps, and not drying the skin thoroughly after washing. Use mild soap and warm water, and do not rub the skin too vigorously. After drying thoroughly, be sure to rub in a protective cold cream. Almond or olive oil may also be used.

Cold Sores and Fever Blisters

The cold sore probably got its name from the fact that it is often found with people who have colds. It is a little blister generally occuring near the mouth. Although it may develop on the eyelids, it appears suddenly and is tender, although without great pain. Sometimes the sore dries up and a scab may form over like a crust. After the crust falls off, a reddish spot is left. Indigestion as well as a cold may cause these. Children have them more frequently than adults and women more frequently than men. A cold, brisk wind may bring them out. Cold sores are a digestive warning. It is a good plan to keep the sore clean and use nothing but acid fruits for several meals. Put pure borated vaseline over the blister.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Peritonitis

Question—W. A. D. asks: "What is the cause of peritonitis, and how long can a patient have same before death takes place?"

Answer—Peritonitis means inflammation of the peritoneum which is the smooth covering inside of the abdominal wall. All of the abdominal organs, such as the intestines, bladder, uterus, etc., come directly in contact with the peritoneum, and so an inflammation of any of these organs may extend to this abdominal lining. Most people have peritonitis in at least a mild form many times during their lives. The most serious form comes after an abdominal operation, when septicemia takes place around the site of the incision. This is not necessarily fatal, and the prognosis of any case of peritonitis varies of course with the severity of the inflammation.

Milk for Adults

Question—Mrs. H. asks: "Does the adult require milk? If so, when should he drink it?"

Answer—Milk is a very good food containing many valuable food elements, but is not at all necessary for an adult if other foods are used to take the place of milk. When milk is taken it should be used by itself or in combination with fruit or with some of the non-starchy vegetables. It is not as easily digested if mixed with proteins or starches and seems to interfere also with their digestion.

Losing Voice

Question—Mrs. K. asks: "What could cause one to gradually lose the voice? For the past two years mine has been failing, and is now almost gone. I am very nervous."

Answer—Your loss of voice may be due to some nervous trouble, or it may be due to tuberculosis of the throat. Any good diagnostician should be able to tell you the cause of your trouble. Knowing the cause then suggests the methods which might effect a cure.

'Red' Demonstration At Funeral Dropped

NEW YORK, Jan. 28. (INS)—The Communist demonstration at the funeral of Steve Katovis, striking "Red" who was slain by a police bullet faded to a light pink spectacle today when leaders abandoned their plans to defy police orders as to the line of march.

As the hearse bearing the red-draped casket of Katovis moved along a prescribed route, anti-radical feeling burst forth among the spectators.

The marchers were greeted with jeers and hisses as they tramped toward the Long Island cemetery where Katovis will be buried.

In one case, a husky citizen with a war veterans' button, called upon several near him. They dashed into the streets and tore down the flaming placards carried aloft by the marchers.

DAWSON NOW HEADS FIELD

Pros Swarm to Rainy Green At San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 28. (AP)—The curtain goes up for the opening act of San Antonio's ninth annual golfing show at Willow Springs Wednesday morning. The act will be the qualifying round. One hundred and thirty-eight Simon pure club swingers will comprise the cast.

Heading the field is Johnnie Dawson, semi-finalist in the last British amateur event. Also in it are such leading lights of Southwest as Logan Vanzandt and E. B. Hill of Tulsa. Texas' best will be on hand, including Dold of Houston, winner of the event last year; Al. Barnes of Waco; Bud McKinney of Del Rio, and many others.

San Antonio's entry list will include Louis Levinson, George Menefee, T. C. Wheat, Lieut. W. D. Herring—and on down the list of top notchers.

The winner of the event will get a gold medal. Low scorers in the round will qualify for play in the amateur-pro event at Brackenridge park Thursday, as many to qualify as there are pros entered.

Rain today did not hit the Willow Springs course as hard as it did the downtown section of the city, golfers reported.

Manager Joe Hyman announced today that there would be no postponement, rain or shine.

More pros arrived in the city today, including Joe Turnesa, former Texas open winner; W. B. Glass of Dallas; Horton Smith and Jack Burke of Houston. Wild Bill Mehlhorn, winner of the open for the last two years, will arrive Wednesday morning.

Special to The Record News.

LUBBOCK, Texas, Jan. 28.—Vic Payne's Tech Matadors won another ball game when they defeated the Abilene Christian college Wildcats Monday night, 40 to 21, making the eighth straight victory for the Matadors this season with an undefeated record.

Maxwell and Fisher, Tech stars tied for high point honors with nine points each while Pippen of the Wildcat squad followed together with Tadlock, Tech, with eight.

The Tech took advantage of many free throws, 9 of 14 of which came in the first half. The Matadors took the lead from the beginning and were never threatened.

S. M. U. Star Cleared Of Ineligibility Charges

DALLAS, Jan. 28. (AP)—Charges that Bruce Kattman, sophomore football and basket ball star, was ineligible for participation in Southwest conference athletics were found to be without foundation, an official of Southern Methodist university said today.

Kattman will rejoin the Mustang basket ball squad this week. Coach Jimmy St. Clair dropped the sophomore sensation from the cage squad several weeks ago when he was advised by a friend that Kattman had played basket ball at Texas College of Mines, El Paso, two years ago.

It was found that Kattman did not enroll at the El Paso school, but worked out with the Miners on several occasions and played about five minutes with them against an independent team.

Old Home Town Hails Return Of The Great Shires

ITALY, Texas, Jan. 28. (AP)—Preceded by several large trunks with "The Great Shires" painted all over them, Art Shires, first baseman and fistcuffer extraordinary, returned today to the plaudits of his old home town.

Several hundred citizens of Italy and nearby towns, who knew the White Sox celebrity "when," were on the station platform when he alighted. Also there was a flock of photographers.

"This is about all I've done for the last month," he asserted modestly, as he posed for the cameramen.

It required almost an hour for the great one to greet old friends who swarmed about him. Then he was off for home. He said he would remain with his family, resting, until opening of the White Sox spring training camp at San Antonio.

Italy, however, has insisted upon giving the hometown celebrity one "blowout" before permitting him to remove himself temporarily from the public eye. He will be guest of honor at a dance and banquet tomorrow night at the country club.

GRAHAM PLANS GOLF TOURNEY

Handicap and Challenge Bouts Arranged

Special to The Record News.

GRAHAM, Texas, Jan. 28.—Although the annual meeting of the Shawnee Country club of Graham is not scheduled until the second Thursday in March, the present board and committees are planning a big year's program. The golf tournament committee is planning, first, a club tournament which will be a handicap affair of either tombstone or flag variety, and second, a challenge affair with the club divided into two teams with the losers putting on a feed for the winners. The "piece de resistance" will be an invitation tournament inviting the clubs of Archer City, Ellasville, Olney, Jacksboro and Jermyn.

This year the ladies will be invited and provisions made for entertaining them during the day. Luncheon for visitors and members will be held at the clubhouse as usual.

Tentative date for the invitation tournament has been set for July 4.

The tennis committee has planned to hold the biggest tennis tournament ever held in Young county, this year. Four large silver, three-year trophy cups for men's doubles, singles and ladies doubles and singles are to be played for. The courts have been especially prepared this winter and new nets have been ordered. The additional netting erected last year has added greatly to the equipment.

The entertainment committee is planning both dances and bridge tournaments to begin with the spring months.

Mickey Walker Faces Battle Over Forfeit

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 28. (AP)—The Illinois state athletic commission will wage a legal battle to force Manager Jack Kearns and Mickey Walker, middleweight champion, to pay a $10,000 forfeit to the Shriners' hospital for crippled children at San Francisco.

Before agreeing to allow Walker to meet Tommy Loughran for the light heavyweight championship here last year, the Illinois commission forced Kearns to post a $10,000 forfeit with the California commission, guaranteeing that Walker would defend his title at Los Angeles, preferably against Ace Hudkins. Walker failed to meet Hudkins within the time limit and the Illinois commission ordered the California body to pay the $10,000 to the Shriners' hospital. Manager Kearns stopped the order by gaining a temporary injunction.

Britons Demand That Scott-Sharkey Bout at Miami Be For Championship

By FRANK GETTY
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—It's "fists across the sea," now.

I mean to say, our British cousins are taking this little business trip of Phil Scott's quite seriously, doncher know.

The British boxing board of control has made a formal demand upon our own N. B. A., that the Scott-Sharkey bout at Miami a month hence be declared officially as for the world's heavyweight championship.

Now That Was Quaint

This is rather pathetic because the National Boxing association has nothing to do with the Miami affair; nor with the heavyweight championship, for that matter.

Appealing to the N. B. A., in this instance is rather like asking a girl's parents for her hand without consulting her in the matter. It's quaint.

The British assert that Max Schmeling "ran out" on a match with their Philip last fall. They assert that Maxie is not even the heavyweight champion "of his own home town," whereas Philip is monarch of all the Britons.

Trevor Wignall, British boxing expert, waxes indignant on the subject.

"Persons behind Schmeling attempted to convince people that the world's championship is not at stake when Scott and Sharkey meet," Wignall wrote recently. "Anything sillier, even in professional pugilism, has not been invented for some time."

But We Feel Differently

Which just goes to show what a variable thing is opinion. Now in this country we feel that anything sillier "even in professional pugilism" than the idea of Phil Scott fighting for the championship couldn't be invented.

The boxing expert of the Daily Mail feels strongly on the subject, also.

"There is no doubt," he says firmly, "that the Sharkey-Scott fight on Feb. 27 carries with it the world's heavyweight championship."

Here's one for the book. He says that a British news agency cabled over to Jimmy Johnston, Scott's manager, and Jimmy explicitly confirmed the fact that Philip was indeed fighting for the title laid aside by Gene Tunney. The British probably do not know that Jimmy would confirm the authenticity of a Rafael signature on a college boy's raincoat—if he had 10 per cent of the college boy.

They All Are Wrong

There is no doubt that Wignall and his colleagues represent the sentiment of most Britons. So I guess 50 million Britons must be wrong.

It's pathetic, but the British just want a heavyweight champion of the world so badly that they don't care if he turns out to be Phil Scott.

T. C. U. STAR TO RACE ELDER

Cy Leland to Go East For Track Carnival

NEW YORK, Jan. 28. (AP)—Cy Leland, crack sprinter and football backfield ace of Texas Christian university, has accepted an invitation to race Jack Elder, Notre Dame's famous sprinting halfback, in the Millrose A. A. track carnival at Madison Square garden Feb. 8.

Millrose officials announced Leland's acceptance after the New York A. C. had obtained the entry of George Simpson, Ohio state's holder of the world's 100-yard record of 9 2-5 for its indoor meet at the garden, Feb. 7.

Within a week, New York thus will be host to a group of the fastest dash men in the United States.

Their gridiron exploits made both Leland and Elder famous last fall. Leland was a big factor in Texas Christian's first victory in the Southwest conference race. His specialty was running back kickoffs or punts for touchdowns.

Leland won the national junior 100-yard championship last year and has been clocked in 9 3-5 for the century.

THE NEW WAXFREE HAVOLINE

SPECIFICATION CERTIFICATE

The New Waxfree Havoline #30

VISCOSITY STANDARD ESTABLISHED BY the Society of Automotive Engineers

FLASH POINT 450° F.
FIRE POINT 520° F.
VISCOSITY @ 130° F. 220
VISCOSITY @ 210° F. 58
COLD TEST 5 below Zero F.

CERTIFIED, INDIAN REFINING CO.
BY [signature]

Havoline No. 30 is chosen as typical because it is recommended for summer use in such cars as Buick, Chevrolet, Chrysler, Dodge Brothers, Hudson, Nash, Studebaker. Havoline dealers have the correct grade for every car. Any imperial oil expert can tell you these specifications show that the New Waxfree Havoline surpasses all previous standards of quality in oil.

They Said It Couldn't Be Done

BUT HERE IT IS, A WAXFREE PARAFFIN BASE OIL

For many years, expert refiners have said that the ideal motor oil would be a paraffin base oil containing no wax.

But they said it could not be done!

But it has been done by the new Govers Process invented and perfected by the Indian Refining Company. This ideal oil is the New Waxfree Havoline.

WAXFREE
Wax turns water-thin under heat. Wax turns candle-hard under cold. Now, for the first time, you can get a waxfree paraffin base oil for the best year-round lubrication.

Everyone knows that wax turns water-thin under heat. Wax turns candle-hard when cold. As any man who knows oil will tell you, these specifications mean the following definite advantages:

1. Better heat resistance than any other oil of the same viscosity at 210° F. or above.
2. Better cold weather lubrication than any other oil.
3. The only oil that meets all specifications, because—
4. It is not a blended oil.
5. "Oiliness" at every temperature.
6. The only paraffin base oil (recognized as the best in heat resistance) with all wax removed.

Of course, such an oil means better protection—at every driving speed and under every driving condition.

In summer—on long trips—it easily resists temperatures which would "burn up" an ordinary oil.

In winter—at zero and below—it flows so freely that the engine starts without stiffness.

But the advantage of "oiliness at every temperature" also protects your car between these two extremes. In the first few critical moments of starting—this oil protects the pistons, the bearings, the cylinder walls.

The Govers Process which makes this protection possible was developed, at a cost of millions of dollars, by the makers of Havoline Oil. All rights to the process are held by this Company—and this process alone makes it possible to remove all wax from paraffin base oils, and secure the other advantages shown by Havoline specifications.

Give your engine this protection. The next time you have the crankcase drained—go to the dealer who handles the New Waxfree Havoline (Govers Process)—the pure lubricant which is all oil.

Patrons of the talking pictures who received a high-powered wallop from Winnie Lightner's antics in "The Gold Diggers" here last week probably will tune in on the CBS chain for this star at 9 o'clock Wednesday night.

Even without her clowning being visible, the singing of "Still They Fall in Love," "Mechanical Man," and "Keeping the Wolf From the Door," would have comprised some of the best humor in the recent screen show. She will give a 30-minute program from station WABC, New York, Wednesday night.

Concert numbers for violin and piano will be featured on Wednesday night's program from radio station KGKO, when Mrs. Flora B. Greenwood, Mrs. Alfred Miller, and Miss Annette Walsh will present a 20-minute program from 9:10 to 9:30 o'clock.

The following program will be given:

"Angels' Serenade," (Braga), Mesdames Greenwood and Miller, violins; "Schon Rosmarin" (Kreisler), Mrs. Greenwood; "Largo," (Handel), Mesdames Greenwood and Miller; "Arabesque," (Debussy) Miss Walsh, piano; "Prayer" (Schubert), "Minuet in D Major," (Mozart), Mesdames Greenwood and Miller.

Miss Walsh will play accompaniments for the violin numbers.

The complete program for Wednesday follows:

CHARGES FILED IN BURGLARY

John Ivy Accused of Cigaret Theft

Burglary charges were filed in the district court Tuesday afternoon against John Ivy in connection with the loss of $740 worth of cigarets from the Summers Cigar store at 610 Tenth street at 8 o'clock Monday evening. The charges were entered by Mike Anglin, assistant district attorney, on complaint brought by Homer Bently and Earl Brooks, arresting officers.

The goods, including 11 cases of cigarets, were recovered in an automobile driven by Ivy near Henrietta within 20 minutes of the time of the alleged burglary. The cases were stored in the back end of a Ford sedan from which the seat had been removed, the officers reported. The arrest was made by the city police officers after a quick chase through Henrietta and after the car driven by Ivy had slipped off into a ditch. The defendant declined to make any statement.

MID-WESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 28. (P)—(U.S.D.A.)—Livestock around the 11 market circuit was featured by a continued broad demand for hogs. Trade was active on opening rounds at 10 to 35c higher prices but the late market to packers at some centers was slow at the advance. The day's extreme top of $10.55 was realized at Chicago on light butchers. Total offerings were around 118,000, a decrease of 21,400 from last Tuesday but 19,500 more than the corresponding day a year ago.

Another decline of 25 to 50c was enforced on fat lambs while matured classes of sheep ruled steady to easier at most markets. Choice light weight fed wooled lambs in Chicago cleared from $12.75 to $13.15. The supply approximated 62,800 against 52,292 a week ago and 61,590 the same day last year.

Aggregate receipts of cattle estimated at 33,300 were 8,000 short of a week ago and 11,000 less than a year ago. Fed steers and yearlings of strictly good and choice quality were firm to slightly higher. Best fed steers in Chicago cleared at $15.15, while good 958-pound Colorado yearlings at Kansas City brought $13.25. Replacement stock was comparatively scarce at most centers with demand somewhat improved. Bulk of desirable stockers and feeder steers sold from $9.50 to $12.00 with stock steer calves up to $12.00 and above. Late Monday a nine-car string of choice 946-pound feeders on the Kansas City market cleared at $11.25.

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 28. (P)—(U.S.D.A.)—Hogs: Receipts 10,000; 15 to 35c higher; top $10.20 on 190 to 225 pounds.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Jan. 28. (P)—Cotton was lower today under a continuation of yesterday's selling movement, which seemed to be promoted by small consumption figures, reports of a decline in the Bombay market for Indian cotton, and complaints of a poor spot demand prices made new lows for the season on all active months with May selling off to $17.15 or 15 points net lower and 66 points below the recent high level. May closed at 17.21 with the general market closing steady at net declines of 2 to 12 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 1 point to an advance of 2 points. Prices steadied during the early trading.

Early offerings were absorbed with active months showing net advances of about 4 to 8 points during the middle of the morning when March sold at 17.15, July at 17.56 and October at 17.58. The demand tapered.

March declined to 16.90, July to 17.35 and October to 17.40 making net losses of about 10 to 17 points but offerings tapered off after the execution of stop orders and last prices showed rallies of 5 to 8 points from the lowest on a renewal of trade buying and covering.

The weekly trade report of the New York cotton exchange service estimating the world's consumption of American lint cotton for December at 1,042,000 bales subject to slight revisions and consumption for the first five months of the season at 5,905,000 bales compared with 6,271,000 for the same period last year, came in for considerable comment. The report stated that present indications point to a world's consumption of 7,100,000 bales for the first half of this season but said that consumption for the second half will run somewhat higher than this.

Exports today 23,656, making 4,895,974 so far this season. Port receipts 15,965. U. S. port stocks 2,444,525.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 28. (P)—Cotton traded to new low levels for the season here today. Under renewed liquidation and selling on a bearish private consumption report May contracts broke through the 17-cent line to 16.95. There was a moderate rally during the afternoon and the option closed at 17.01 or net 14 points lower. The general market closed steady at net declines of 6 to 14 points.

The market opened easier in response to relatively unfavorable Liverpool cables. Initial trades showed losses of 1 to 2 points and prices continued to ease in early trading on selling induced by the easier cables and active positions sold off 3 to 5 points under the previous close. Trade buying was encountered at the lower prices and the market rallied to 16.94 for March and 17.20 for May or 5 to 7 points above yesterday's close.

Later the market weakened and prices receded rapidly under selling on an unfavorable private world consumption report and rather free liquidation. Before the offerings were absorbed active positions showed declines of 24 to 25 points from the highs with March at 16.70 and May at 16.95.

In the afternoon an unconfirmed report that the cotton cooperative association was buying futures steadied the market and a recovery of 4 to 6 points was maintained to the end. March closed at 16.74, May 17.01 and July 17.24, or 13 to 14 points net lower.

Internal Market Conditions Push Stock Prices Down Precipitately

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Jan. 28. (US)—After displaying additional strength in the early hours of today's session the stock market was subjected to considerable profit-taking and renewed professional selling which brought about the largest setback of the last week. Notwithstanding the seeming strength of numerous prominent issues in the morning it was noticeable to keen observers that selling was taking place following the rather brisk advance of the market in recent sessions. In a limited group of issues outright liquidation was apparent, but the main body of the market evidenced a desire to at least rest and consolidate its recent gains. Volume of transactions was substantially lower and in all but a few stocks the lessened dealing was more noticeable on recession in prices. It was obvious, too, that the short interest had been materially reduced during the recovery. Industrial leaders showed a net loss for the day averaging over three points with smaller average decline in the railroad and utility groups.

Internal market conditions alone accounted for the setback, since developments during the day of business nature were exceedingly optimistic, particularly from the Steel industry. The Steel Corporation's production has been further enlarged this week to 77 per cent of capacity, from 72 per cent a week ago, it was announced, and independents in the trade likewise have stepped up activities. There was also the expectation of an encouraging Steel statement in the afternoon to discount, but Steel common proved a poor leader of the bulls for the day at least. The Steel report was even better than the most optimistic estimate, showing within a few cents of $20 a share direct from earnings and more than $21 if year-end adjustments be included.

Pressure was first noticed in International Telephone & Telegraph and the selling spread to other recently vulnerable issues, including U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Air Reduction and Radio. The Telephone company is known to be contemplating sizeable new financing and the bears have been utilizing this together with knowledge that the company's earnings may not come up to expectation as a basis for their persistent selling. Alcohol and Air Reduction continue to reflect nervousness and Union Carbide's development of a new process for producing Industrial Alcohol. Officials of the former companies have repeatedly stated they have nothing to fear from the new process, but apparently their stockholders are not thoroughly satisfied that Carbide will not injure their earnings. Alcohol's management will probably be satisfied if net income come this year equals 1929, when between $11 and $12 a share was earned. Carbide proved an exception to the general heaviness, holding a point gain to the close. Radio's weakness was an anticipation of a poor earnings statement for last year. It is unlikely that bullish operators will be resumed in Radio until this report is out of the way.

Office equipment shares as a group enjoyed probably the best buying. International Business Machines scoring a 6-point net gain, as did also Underwood Elliott-Fisher, while Remington-Rand and National Cash Register also were in demand at higher prices. Attempt to revive activity at rising prices in issues recently quiet was unsuccessful. American International had a brief spurt but quickly yielded to light offerings. Waldorf System, on the other hand, scored a recovery to a new high on the move as buying continued from sources which believe the company's earnings this year will show further improvement. Revival of outright manipulation in the lowest grade issues was demonstrated in Kolster, which advanced despite lack of definite indications that any value exists for the common shares.

Commodity prices generally were lower, cotton continuing under steady pressure, and wheat yielding fractionally, while corn showed a slight gain. Foreign exchanges were again irregular, sterling reaching a new low.

Grain

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Jan. 28. (P)—Jolts that resulted largely from 4 cents a bushel break in the rye market unsettled all grain values today, but late rallies counterbalanced most losses. Heavy selling was witnessed especially in the rye market, after circulation of reports that not within memory has there been such a distracted state of affairs in the rye trade of Germany as prevails at present owing to huge surplus stocks in Germany and Poland. Narrowing of wheat price spreads between Winnipeg and Chicago was also a special disturbing influence, as tending to give Canada preference in wheat export dealings, compared with the United States.

Chicago closing quotations on wheat were irregular, at ⅛c a bushel below yesterday's finish to ¼c over. Rye closed 1⅛c to 1c down, corn ⅛c off to ⅛c up, and oats showing ⅛ to ⅜c decline, with provisions varying from 5 cents setback to a rise of 15 cents.

Corn owed part of its weakness to larger receipts of corn here and to auspicious weather for promoting the crop movement. Oats were influenced by reports of good sized rural holdings.

Provisions averaged higher, responsive to upturns in the value of hogs.

102. LEGAL NOTICES

Wichita Falls, Texas, Jan. 27, 1930.

To the honorable board of aldermen, city of Wichita Falls, Texas. Gentlemen: I submit an ordinance granting the Fort Worth and Denver City Railway company a franchise over and across a portion of North Broadway street in the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, and recommend same for passage. Before final passage, however, it is recommended that a public hearing be ordered held at 7:30 p. m., in the council chamber at the Memorial auditorium Feb. 10, 1930, at which time and place any protests should be given due consideration. Respectfully submitted, G. D. Fairtrace, city manager.

ORDINANCE NO. 1032

An ordinance granting the Fort Worth and Denver City Railway company, its successors, lessees, and assigns, the right to construct and maintain a standard gauge side railway track upon and across North Broadway street in the city of Wichita Falls, Wichita county, Texas: Be it ordained by the board of aldermen of the city of Wichita Falls, Texas: Section 1. That the right and permission is hereby granted by the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, to the Fort Worth and Denver City Railway company, its successors, assigns, and lessees, to enter upon, in and along North Broadway street in the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, and to construct, lay and maintain a standard gauge side track upon, in, and along the said North Broadway street as is indicated in the blue print attached hereto and made a part hereof, marked "Exhibit A," showing in green, yellow and red the location of the proposed side track and where the same crosses said North Broadway street. Section 2. The right and permission is hereby further granted to the said Fort Worth and Denver City Railway company its successors, assigns, and lessees, to operate trains, engines, and cars in, upon, and over the track so constructed and maintained, and to use the same as a side track and for any and all other and further purposes for which said side track may be needed. Section 3. Be it further ordained that the said Fort Worth and Denver City Railway company shall have the right in so constructing said railway side track to remove such portions of the concrete pavement in said North Broadway street as is reasonably necessary for the construction and maintenance of this said side track, but they shall each time and in each instance replace the said concrete excepting over the rails of said track, with what is commonly known as "One-two-three mixture of cement, sand and gravel concrete" seven inches thick, adequately reinforced, 18 feet wide so as to conform substantially with the concrete now in place in said street. Section 3a. The Fort Worth and Denver City Railway company, its successors, assigns and lessees, shall hold the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, harmless from any and all claims for damages, whether for personal injury to persons, or damage to property, arising by reason of the construction of said side track and by reason of the operation of cars and trains thereon. Section 4. The Fort Worth and Denver City Railway company, its successors, assigns, and lessees, shall construct and maintain said crossings across said track under the supervision and direction of the board of aldermen of the city of Wichita Falls, Texas, and it is so ordained. Passed and approved this the —— day of ———— A. D. 1930. J. W. Akin, mayor. Attest: W. E. McBroom, city clerk.

Pursuant to the above recommendation of the city manager, a public hearing will be held in the council chamber in the Memorial auditorium at 7:30 p. m. Packard Leads Revival In West Virginia City

Dr. Paul Henry Packard of Wichita Falls, former pastor here, is conducting a revival meeting in the historic Christian church at Wellsburg, W. Va., according to information received by his friends in the city. The services are attracting large crowds and the first fortnight of the meeting brought 125 new members to the church.

Doctor Packard, who returned to the evangelical field after his three years pastorate here, will continue his campaign in Kentucky during February, his friends were informed.

Nelson Leaves Friday For State C.-C. Meet

All officers, members of the board of directors and committeemen over the state are expected to attend. Mr. Nelson will return to Wichita Falls Monday.

Tom Love Promises To Fight in Court

AUSTIN, Jan. 28 (UP)—With the Democratic executive committee scheduled to meet here Saturday to pass on the request of Tom Love that his name be placed on the primary ballot as a candidate for governor, the state senator announced today he would carry his case to court if barred.

A member of the committee said a poll of the body showed Love probably would be barred because he supported Hoover in the last presidential election.

IOWA PARK C-C HOLDS BANQUET

Wichitans Main Speakers At Meeting

they might cooperate in the project which is destined to bring a re-creation of commercial activity to Wichita county.

The listeners were startled in many instances by the concrete suggestions of Mr. Hines, who avoided references to the abstract and confined his address to reality and advisability. Pointing out the rapid development of aviation in this country and the progress of cities in which the industry has been fostered, he told the members of the chamber of commerce they should bring an airplane factory to Iowa Park. He described the opportunity open to the citizens of the territory in this field, reminding them that they possessed better flying conditions, greater open space and more facilities adapted to aviation than perhaps any other section of the country.

Colonization Plan

Another suggestion was that of bringing to the Wichita valley and the irrigated lands a large colonization company which could accomplish what its residents could not—the populating and scientific development of the farming lands available. Cooperation between the chambers of commerce of the several cities in the valley toward such an accomplishment was named as one of the largest and most important projects for the future.

The program Tuesday night was opened with the singing of "America" by the entire assembly. Dr. Paul Martin gave the invocation. The dinner was served by the ladies of the First Baptist church.

Knox Reviews Year

In reviewing the work of the chamber during 1929, E. C. Knox, president, pointed out as the major accomplishment the successful staging of the Wichita county fair, in which other cities in the county participated. Principally sponsored by the Iowa Park chamber, a special bill before the legislature last year provided a dairy expert for the county, he said. The chamber also assisted to a great extent in providing cotton pickers for farmers and in the pooling of a car of turkeys. A financial report given by Mr. Knox showed a substantial balance on hand at the close of the year, total receipts having amounted to $7,102.59 in 1929. Appreciation for the cooperation of the Wichita Falls chamber in the work was expressed.

For the future, Mr. Knox named development of the dairying interests and deep oil as the two outstanding projects in the program of the chamber.

Nelson Speaks

"A chamber of commerce is a voluntary organization in which business organizations by cooperation, work and endeavor attain the proper development of the commercial activities of a community," Walter Nelson Jr., of Wichita Falls, in an address on "Why a Chamber of Commerce in My Town," told the assembly.

"Vision, purpose and a plan" were the key words of an address on "City Beautification" delivered by Mrs. W. W. Silk of Wichita Falls. The geographical conspicuousness of Iowa Park was pointed out as one of the best reasons for beautifying the city. Planting of trees and shrubs was urged by Mrs. Silk for approaches to the city, lines of trees for the railways and proper disposal of all waste paper on the streets as some of the things necessary for beauty.

Following Mrs. Silk's talk, it was announced that a meeting of Iowa Park women would be held at 3:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon for the purpose of forming a Civic league to put into effect the suggestions and plans offered by her.

R. E. Shepherd of Wichita Falls, who made a flying trip from his home to this city immediately upon returning from a good-will tour of cities south of Wichita Falls, sang several numbers accompanied by Mrs. Shepherd at the piano. String instrument numbers were given by Fielder and Stapp and two readings by Miss Katherine Sue Ralston.

C. C. Hudson, editor of The Iowa Park Herald, made a short talk urging all citizens to pay their poll taxes.

The benediction was pronounced by Rev. George A. Weems.

Those present from Wichita Falls included Judge Allan Montgomery, Judge John P. Marrs, B. D. Sartin, J. D. Bright, Jacob B. Price, E. L. Buelow, Walter Nelson Jr., J. W. Lyle, F. W. Works, Harry Hines, P. M. Cordell, Roy Jones, Earl Kuntz, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Silk, and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. George.

NICHOLS SPEAKS AT PADUCAH
Special to The Record News.

PADUCAH, Texas, Jan. 28.—The Paducah Chamber of Commerce tonight entertained 175 of its members and guests at the annual banquet, despite adverse weather conditions. which kept many from attending. The banquet was held in the gymnasium of the local school, and was served by members of the home economics class.

R. H. Nichols, Vernon publisher, was the principal speaker of the evening. His address was witty and humorous, for the most part, and was well received.

W. B. Hamilton of Wichita Falls, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, scheduled to be the principal speaker, was prevented from coming here by weather conditions.

LEOPOLD SPEAKS AT CLARENDON
Special to The Record News.

CLARENDON, Texas, Jan. 28.—Clarendon was busy with chamber of commerce activities today, beginning with the meeting this afternoon of the Panhandle Secretaries association, and culminating tonight with one of the most successful annual banquets ever held here. About 250 people, the largest crowd ever entertained by the local organization, was present at the event tonight.

The principal speaker was Joseph F. Leopold, Dallas, manager of the southwest division of the United States Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Leopold reviewed the history of commercial organizations in the world, focusing his later remarks on conditions in America today. The speaker declared business in America was at its height.

Nine towns were represented this afternoon at the meeting of the Panhandle secretaries when President Guy Hill of Shamrock called the meeting to order. An orphans home for the Panhandle was discussed to take care of dependents in this section, but no definite action was taken. The regular meeting of the secretaries was set for March 25 in McLean.

Moody Enters Prison Debate

Governor Speaks to Senate On Compromise

AUSTIN, Jan. 28. (AP)—The legislature was up to its eyes in penitentiary reorganization legislation today, with the house following the lead of the senate, resolving itself into a committee of the whole to consider the five measures on the subject before it.

The senate has three bills under consideration, there being six separate and distinct plans represented in the eight measures before the two houses.

Senate Hears Moody

Governor Moody, one of 40 persons, including former Gov. James E. Ferguson, invited by the senate to discuss penitentiary centralization and reformation, created talk of a possible "compromise" between factions, when he told the upper house that while he wanted the central plant in "Central Texas," he might give from the majority prison centralization commission recommendation that it be within 20 miles of Austin. He also hinted at other concessions.

He said it would be all right with him to go as far as 100 miles from Austin, or farther, just so it was kept within the bounds of that section known as Central Texas.

Report Today

It was announced today that Moore Lynn, state auditor and efficiency expert, whose office was created by the first called session of this legislature, would have his report ready for submission to the legislature tomorrow. There was much interest in what it will contain.

Also, Governor Moody sent up the names of some 50 persons appointed to office during recess of the senate, and these must be confirmed. Included in the list are the names of District Attorney John Valls of Laredo, District Attorney Clem Calhoun of Borger and State Auditor Lynn, against confirmation of whom protests have been filed.

THREE HURT IN ACCIDENTS

Wichita Workmen Victims In Mishaps

Three Wichita Falls workmen were injured, two of them seriously, in accidents at the Taxman Refining company plant on the Iowa Park road and at the Keystone yards here Tuesday morning.

The injured are S. I. Conant, 1818 North Eighth street; O. A. Brant, 1304 North Fourth street; and Albert Cobb.

Mr. Conant was seriously injured and Mr. Brant suffered severe bruises when they fell from the top of a 15-foot tank on the Taxman property about noon Tuesday. The workmen, employes of the Smith Engineering company, slipped when a fixture upon which they were working suddenly broke beneath their wrench, it was explained. They were rushed to the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital where Mr. Conant is reported suffering from internal injuries in addition to cuts and bruises. The condition of Mr. Brant is not regarded as serious.

Mr. Cobb, an employe of the Standard Pipe and Supply company of Dallas suffered serious injuries to his hand when it was crushed beneath the weight of a section of four-inch pipe as he was loading a truck at the Keystone yards about 10 o'clock Tuesday morning. Examinations at the Hargrave-Walker hospital revealed several broken bones and severe lacerations. The patient was reported resting quietly late Tuesday.

Chemicals Halt Refinery Blaze

Fire that broke out in a machine plant at the Orient refinery on the Iowa Park road at 9:20 o'clock Tuesday night was brought under control by chemical apparatus on hand at the plant, officials at the fire department here announced. The department here responded to an alarm but found the blaze effectively checked before their arrival. No damage was reported.

10 NAMED ON SHOOK JURY

Sheriff Told to Summon Missing Veniremen

getting the jury has been in progress 89 men have been questioned; 13 have been challenged by the defense; eight by the state; and 56 have disqualified because of fixed opinions.

Defense Challenges 13

Forty of the number were called to the stand before the early recess Tuesday afternoon. The defense has used all but two of the peremptory challenges allowed by law, six having been used during the questioning Tuesday. Attorneys expected the jury to be completed before noon Wednesday.

Shook is accused of the fatal stabbing of Oscar Daugherty, truck farmer, in the home of Ace Speery in Electra in August, 1928. Sam Spence, district attorney, has announced that Speery, an eye-witness to the killing, will be his first witness. Ed Pryor, one time Electra constable accused with Shook as a robbery accomplice and now under an eight-year prison sentence, has been subpoenaed by the defense and was present in the courthouse Tuesday.

Questioning of the prospective jurors has indicated that Shook will plead self-defense. Capital punishment has not been made an issue in the case. The district attorney is being assisted in the conduct of the case by Fred Weeks, special prosecutor and George W. Anderson, assistant district attorney.

He Had Never Seen Its Like In His Life

Abilene Contractor Was Sometimes In Bed for Days at a Time on Account of Bad Health

"If I could speak with everybody personally who has stomach trouble and gall stones I would tell them to take Orgatone, for I have tried it myself and have never seen anything like it," was the statement made by G. W. Matthews, residing at 774 Merchant street, Abilene, Texas, recently. Mr. Matthews, who is a well known contractor, and has been for the past 20 years, is now constructing a new church building in Abilene.

"About 30 years ago," he continued, "I began suffering from stomach and gall bladder trouble and kept getting worse in spite of all I could do. I would have headaches and dizzy spells that would almost drive me crazy. Sometimes pains would strike me in the small of my back and I would be in bed for days at a time. I also suffered agonies from gas which seemed to affect my heart, felt tired, worn out and no account all the time. I simply got to where I had to be as careful as a baby about my eating, in fact, food sometimes acted just like poison in my stomach.

"A few weeks ago some of my friends began to tell me about Orgatone and recommended it very highly and I decided to see if it would help me as others said it had them. My stomach soon got in shape to where I could eat just anything I wanted without the slightest trouble afterwards. So I kept on taking Orgatone and when I finished my second bottle, my gall stones and all other troubles had disappeared and I haven't a pain in my body. I feel better than I have in 30 years. No doubt there are lots of people today suffering like I did before I took Orgatone and if I can show them the road to health I think it is nothing but right that I should do so."

Perusal of the numerous reviews written for New York papers following the premiere of "The Love Parade" a few weeks ago will suggest quite definitely that the several hundred nocturnes who swarmed to the Majestic last Saturday night at 11:30 p. m. knew their night-shade.

Proof of the fact that the New York reviewers were not inoculated with the spirit of charity toward a beginner is found in their frank delineation of weaknesses though they were few. Which lends more weight to the highly complimentary comment with which Maurice Chevalier, Jeannette MacDonald and Ernest Lubitsch were appraised. In that order, for Chevalier generally is given credit for one of the most appealing performance offered by musical comedy productions of recent years. Jeannette receives special mention not only for clever acting, but for the best singing voice thus far projected from the screen. And Lubitsch accomplished the expected—a near flawless exhibition of directing.

Due recognition is given to the fact that Chevalier's appearance as the Prince Consort to the Queen of Sylvania has by far its greatest appeal to the sex which dreams of handsome, gallant prince consorts whose trousers are always neatly pressed. Fear is expressed, in fact, that his oo-la-la delicacy in love making—perpetual love making, in this instance—may cloy with many a hairy-chested male.

Musical comedies produced in New York's many play-houses during the 1929-30 season are unanimously consigned to ratings below that of "The Love Parade." Credit for its construction is divided between Victor Schertzinger, who wrote the music, and Ernest Lubitsch, the resourceful Teuton director. A good idea of the type of story involved is conveyed by recording that the play originally was designed for Adolphe Menjou, under the title of "The Prince Consort." Since Adolphe's retreat in defiance of talking-films, the piece was converted into an operetta for the more recent Parisian star.

"The Love Parade" will be subject to the same criticism as the "Desert Song" from some quarters: plot development, the sequence of action, often hesitates by the roadside for no other reason other than to permit the principal character to pour forth his sentiment of the moment in song. And in light opera, or musical comedy, that privilege must be granted the actor just as it always has been given on the speaking-singing stage. Full appreciation of its catchy melodies, its lightsome humor, and the delicate finesse with which Chevalier excessively sophisticated bits will require remembrance that it is an operetta rather than a spoken drama.

The American movie-going public learned several years ago to respect the genius of Ernest Lubitsch in direction. "Passion," and other of more impressive silent films of a few years back definitely established Lubitsch as the premier builder of screen drama. Von Stroheim and DeMille notwithstanding. Well, it will be here Saturday, to abide for a week, and we may draw out our own conclusions.

"The Love Parade" has this distinction, too. It has not been shown by instalments through the use of trailers during the past month.

stopped for an exchange of greetings at South Bend.

The travelers reached their Breckenridge goal before 4 o'clock in the afternoon, having traversed the entire route over icy roads without mishap. The snowing stopped at Graham, but the road on to Breckenridge was already ice covered.

The group went first to the Breckenridge city hall where the mayor of the city responded to greetings brought by Mr. Vinson and Mr. Gruver, head of the Olney Chamber of Commerce. Later the whole body paraded through the streets to the Petroleum club where the final address of the day was delivered. W. D. Cline of Wichita Falls paid a tribute to the vision of the builders of the past and expressed the hope that the foresight of the present generation will rival that of the pioneers throughout the district.

"West Texas needs folks who can see as far ahead as the people of the past have seen" Mr. Cline declared. "And a part of this vision we need for state building is an understanding of the significance of highways in the development of our towns and cities everywhere."

The Wichita Falls Junior chamber and its officials were thanked for the entertainment all along the road before the party started back on its way to the dancing at Olney.

condition when he received his last monthly examination.

W. H. Ellis, an aviation mechanic and friend of the dead pilot, said, however, that Laudeman had complained recently that he was tired and had been flying too much.

"Everything seems to go all right when my ship isn't heavily loaded and the air is smooth, but when I've got a load, it's hell," he quoted Laudeman as saying.

Richard H. Lees Jr., supervising aeronautical inspector of the department of commerce, who conducted an investigation today preparatory to making a report to Washington officials, authorized the removal of the wreck from the scene of the crash.

"I do not believe there was any attempt to cover up anything of a criminal nature," Coroner Coffin said.

Lees said he would report his findings to the department of commerce, without making them public.

TAXES DELAYED

Deadline for City And School Payments Set March 1

Taxpayers in Wichita Falls may pay their city and school taxes at any time before March 1 without assessment of a penalty for payment after Feb. 1, the usual deadline, according to the announcement of city officials following action taken by the city council and the school board.

The extension of time was granted following the action of the school board at their meeting Monday afternoon, concurring with the decision already reached by the council. The extended period for payment is final, officials said, and any payments after the end of February will be subject to a 10 per cent penalty.

AUTO DEALERS HOLD MEETING

McFall Bros. Host to Dodge Agents

A meeting of the Dodge Brothers dealers of the Wichita Falls territory was held Monday at the Wichita club by McFall brothers, local distributors for Dodge Brothers cars and trucks.

The meeting was called for the first showing of the Dodge Brothers six-cylinder and eight-cylinder cars. Good hard surface roads made it possible for all dealers but two to attend. The cars were given a good reception by the motoring public and received more comment and praise than in any previous showing of Dodge, said Julian McFall.

The following out-of-town dealers were present: R. F. Henry and K. C. Gray, Vernon; W. H. Stepp, Quanah; P. M. Nicolett, Graham; H. K. Smith, Olney; E. L. Blum and Frank Clemmons, Burkburnett; L. R. Reynolds, F. H. Lalk and Bob Andrews, Electra; C. L. McNulty, Dallas; H. R. Parker, Seymour. R. J. Doggett, S. W. Gibbs and Julian McFall of McFall Brothers also were present.

McFall Brothers announced at the meeting that C. H. Hobern has joined their sales organization.
