The biggest smile in town Friday morning unundoubtedly belonged to Bill Nabors. It is not often that the Snyder manager for Lone Star Gas Co. has a snowstorm to contemplate in early November. But there it was, and by local standards it could be classified as a "big one." If the snow had not melted so rapidly at the outset, it probably would have piled up six or seven inches deep before it started tapering off shortly before noon. There were reports of better than four inches anyway.

The thermometer, influenced by the accumulation of snow, played tag with the freezing mark for a while Friday morning, but I recall that "F-Day" (date of the first genuine freeze of the season) was called for Nov. 10 by Dean Cochran, and the last I heard he had not hedged on his forecast. So, if we're having a Sunday freeze, credit him with predicting it several weeks ago. Otherwise, he can claim a "margin of error" like the political pollsters.

The snow, a very wet, clinging type, dealt misery to some trees, especially pecan trees. Wire service reports indicated that the same mischief was experienced around Brownwood, where pecan trees were hard hit.

K. O. Pitner, city secretary, used a fishing cane in efforts to knock snow from branches of the pecan trees at City Hall. However, the heavy snow still broke some branches on the trees there.

Andy Torchia, an Associated Press staff man in London, reported to his superiors that the "antiwar" rally in London several days ago really turned out to be more like a picnic. Newsmen were trying to get to the U. S. Embassy after they heard a major demonstration was likely.

Torchia described his experiences in trying to move about as follows:

"Discovered all cabs in area immobilized by police. Saw young man and woman on side street fixing midget car as ambulance for demonstrators. They agreed to take me to Grosvenor Square if I bought half a gallon of gas to keep gauge off 'Empty.' Spent 10 minutes dodging in car about various streets trying to find filling station (all closed) and gap in police lines. Girl drove, and her technique at wheel was, probably, wilder than her politics. Finally let me out half a mile from Square and I walked rest of way."

Sounds like a very serious and sophisticated demonstration. —WACIL McNAIR

Troops Moved To Block Offensive

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today it has moved an 18,000-man division from the northern frontier to the Cambodian border northwest of Saigon to root out 15,000 to 20,000 enemy troops reported massing for an offensive.

U.S. Headquarters said the 1st Air Cavalry Division will be fully operational by the middle of this month in Tay Ninh, Binh Long and Phuoc Long provinces, all next to the Cambodian border ranging 50 to 70 miles northwest of Saigon.

Already units of the division have killed 109 North Vietnamese troops along the frontier and the eastern fringes of War Zone C, the spokesmen said. The clashes occurred in the last few days, but news of the divisions's move was withheld for security reasons.

Radio Hanoi, meanwhile, said that North Vietnamese gunners shot down an unmanned U.S. reconnaissance plane 53 miles south of Hanoi. The broadcast said it was the first U.S. aircraft shot down over the North since President Johnson ordered the bombing halt of North Vietnam Oct. 31.

A spokesman said Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, decided to move the division from its post below the demilitarized zone because he felt the enemy threat along the northern frontier had lessened, while the threat in the border provinces remained substantial.

The 1st Air Cavalry Division, commanded by Maj. Gen. George I. Forsythe, has 300 hellcopters that can airlift troops and artillery pieces through the jungles and rubber plantations that dot the invasion routes northwest of Saigon.

Enemy base camps in the area have been pounded almost continously for the past two days by U.S. B52 bombers. The eight-jet Stratofortresses dropped 750 tons of bombs along the border Friday night and today.

Elsewhere in South Vietnam ground fighting picked up. The U.S. Command said 83 enemy soldiers were killed in a series of sharp clashes Friday. U.S. losse were four killed and eight wounded.

Element of the U.S. 9th Infantry Division, Riverine Force fought four skirmishes about 40 miles south of the capital in the Mekong Delta. The command said 51 enemy were killed, mostly by artillery and helicopter gunships. No U.S. casualties were reported.

About 50 miles north of Saigon, artillery and helicopter gunships supporting elements of the U.S. 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment helped account for 17 enemy dead. Four U.S. soldiers were wounded.

Working with the South Vietnamese regional forces, the U.S. 25th Infantry Division reported attacking an enemy force of unknown size 25 miles northwest of Saigon. Fifteen enemy were killed at a cost of four U.S. soldiers killed and four wounded. South Vietnamese casualties were termed light.

Freeze Follows Snow

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Freezing temperatures extended across the northern half of Texas early today after a surprise snowstorm dumped up to 9 inches in some parts of the state Friday creating icy havoc on highway.

Late Friday night, the Weather Bureau posted heavy snow warnings for northern and northwestern portions of Southwest Texas, predicting that rain in the area would turn to snow and leave up to six inches on the ground during the night.

Extreme caution was advised for motorists in all narthern sections of the state.

Before dawn today, the weather had begun clearing in the Hill Country west of San Antouio where light snow was reparted Friday night and over central and east portions of the state which reported light rain, drizzle and fog.

North Texas remained clear and precipitation began pushing southward into the Gulf and eastward into Louisiana.

Temperatures early today ranged from the 30s over the west and northern half of the state to the 40s in the south. Freezing temperatures extended from the Panhandle eastward across Northwest and North Central Texas.

Late Friday, snow fell in large wet flakes at Waco and Killeen in one of Texas' earliest snowfalls in history. Temperatures, however, remained above freezing.

Heaviest snow was reported near Owen in Brown County. In the same general area, May had 8 to 9 inches and Comanche 8 inches with a half-foot of snow on the ground.

High winds swept the middle and upper Texas Gulf Coast into the night. Winds gusted up to 50 miles per hour across Galveston Island. Small craft warnings remained in effect.

Rains continued from 30 miles west of Killeen to Kilgore and Waco. Showers and light rain along the Gulf Coast from Galveston eastward extended 180 miles offshore.

The snow came out of the Rockies, through New Mexico and onto Texas' South Plains.

By late Friday morning it had reached Dallas and Fort Worth and Waco by early afternoon.

Highways were slick and conditions hazardous for travelers.

The Weather Bureau said it expected snow conditions to end today at the latest.

Severe Tremors Rock St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP) — An earth tremor shook a wide area of the Midwest today about 11:05 a.m. (CST). St. Louis police said they had unconfirmed reports that two buildings had collapsed in St. Louis.

The tremor was felt in Missouri, Tennessee, Illinois and Ohio.

The Missouri Highway Patrol said it also was felt in Michigan and Arkansas. The patrol said the tremor started at 11:03 A.M. (CST) and lasted about 30 seconds.

The patrol said some utility lines were down in St. Louis County.

Calls flooded the Associated Press office in Kansas City, and newspaper switchboards and fire and police phones. Reports came from as far apart as St. Louis and Popular Bluff in southeast Missouri, and Salina in north centrl Kansas, and Springfield, Litchfield and Sullvan in Illinois.

Large buldings swayed noticeably for about 10 seconds in St. Louis.

The Weather Bureau said the shock was felt as far south as Little Rock, Ark., and Tulsa, Okla., and Memphis. It was reported as far north as Omaha and Davenport, Iowa.

One of the heaviest earthquakes ever felt on the North American continent was at New Madrid, Mo. in 1811. That quake changed the course of the Mississippi River.

Elaborate Plans Of Firemen Go Astray

JACKSON, Mich. (AP)—Elaborate plans of the Southern Michigan Association of Fire Chiefs and Firemen to demonstrate fire fighting and rescue Saturday and Sunday have come to naught.

The 2½-story wooden frame house they planned to use as "a training laboratory" for 150 to 200 firemen burned down Friday night.

New Round Of Talks On Nigeria

By ARNOLD EITLIN
Associated Press Writer

LAGOS (AP) — A third round of negotiations to try and end the 16-month-old civil war in Nigeria is expected to begin within a few weeks, informed government sources said Friday.

The meeting, to be attended by members of the Heads of State Consultative Committee on Nigeria of the Organization of African Unity, probably will be in Monrovia, Liberia, the sources said.

A Nigerian government source said that the OAU committee probably would invite the Nigerian head of state, Maj. Gen. Yakubu Gowon, and the Biafran leader, Lt. Col. C. Odumegwu Ojukwu, to separate conferences.

The two leaders held fruitless talks in Addis Ababa in September.

Nigerian armies, meanwhile, were reported losing some ground to the Biafrans, who have grown stronger because of increased arms deliveries.

In Geneva, the International Red Cross Committee said today international aid has helped reduce infant mortality among the 1.5 million refugees in the Nigerian-Biafran war.

But it said the need for relief supplies was increasing daily. It called its Nigerian effort, the biggest aid program it has launched since World War II.

CRMWD PROJECT MOVING

New Lake Near Completion

The drive by the Colorado River Municipal Water District to deliver water from its new lake at Robert Lee by the end of 1969 is moving steadily forward on several fronts.

The 33 miles of 36-in. line from Big Spring to the Martin County pump station is now complete. Within a month the district is due to ask bids on a section of pipeline from the Martin County station to Midland to be ready to deliver water to this new customer.

Wittman Construction Company has pushed for eight miles from the Sun Oil water supply line in Mitchell County westward toward Moss Creek Lake which will become a big terminal storage basin in eastern Howard County. Another three miles will complete this stage, permitting the contractor to build 16 miles of line north eastward from the Sun Line juncture to the side storage on the river above Colorado City. The final phase of Wittman's $2,765,000 contract will be 10 miles of 42-inch line from Big Spring to Moss Creek Lake. Over-all, Wittman is 17.8 per cent toward completion.

Lyles and Lyles is now 98 per cent complete on the side terminal storage reservoir just above Colorado City, and the CRMWD is preparing to install a pump to take out the mineralized normal low flow of the river and impound it in the reservoir. This is part of a million-dollar program to reduce brine pollution in the river so the new lake will not suffer.

At the Robert Lee lake, Clement Bros., prime contractors, list the project at 93.9 per cent of completion. So far, 12,528,230 yards of material have been moved, including, 12,342,845 cubic yards in the dam. The rest is in riprap to protect the face of the dam.

The City of San Angelo is due to receive bids Nov. 15 for construction of a pump station on Wildcat Creek at the southend of the lake. This will call for some 25 feet of excavation to attain a level equal to that of the Colorado River Channel at the dam. The station will be capable of lifting some 30 million gallons of day at capacity.

Roland Scherer has now completed his $465,058 contract for a dozen and a half huge oil well mounds. Work is almost complete on five other mounds in shallower parts of the lake. Price construction company is doing this work.

Terry Construction company is 29 per cent toward completion of a gas drip - trap in-

Snow Hikes Moisture

Snyder reaped over half an inch of moisture from Friday's heavy snowfall.

The snow itself was estimated at five to six inches, although it melted so rapidly for a time that the actual amount on the ground at any one time was nearer three to four inches.

Snow that remained on the ground Friday night helped send the temperature downward after nightfall. It reached 29 degrees at one point, but was up to 35 degrees early Saturday.

Snowfall during the day Friday produced .35 inch of moisture, making a total of .57 inch. The official gauge had logged .22 before 7 a.m. Friday.

Events Slated Here For Veterans Day

Veterans Day activities will be conducted here Monday by the Scurry County Memorial Post 8321 Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Layne - Kite Post 181 American Legion Post.

The activities will be held at the VFW Post Home, and all veterans have been urged to attend.

The program for the day will begin at 9:30 a.m. with a flag raising ceremony.

Open House for all veterans will be observed from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the VFW Post Home, and a social hour is set for 4:30 to 6 p.m. A meal will be served between the hours of 6 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.

The day's events will close with a dance beginning at 8:30 p.m. and continuing till midnight. All 1969 members of both the VFW and the American Legion will be admitted to the dance without charge.

Members of the Ladies Auxiliaries of the two veterans organizations will be on hand to sign up veterans who wish to join either or both of the organzations.

"Every eligible veteran is urged to come out and visit with us Monday," said T. V. Early, VFW Post Commander. "Each post reflects the image of its organization through community betterment and such activities as this helps us build membership. We need the united strength of all veterans to re-affirm our faith in basic principles for which our founding fathers fought — love of God, flag and country," said Early.

Hanoi's Rejection Tangles Talks Plan

By STEPHENS BROENING
Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) — Hanoi's rejection of a new peace talks formula proposed by South Vietnam posed more problems for the United States, but one neutral Western diplomat today predicted a breakthrough in "a matter of days."

The peace talks tangle centers around how President Nguyen Van Thieu's Saigon government and its guerrilla enemy, the Viet Cong, will be represented.

Thieu insists he will not join talks where the Natonal Liberation Front, the Viet Cong's political arm, has an independent status.

He proposed Friday that there be just two sides to the talks, an allied side, led by Saigon, and a Communist delegation headed by Hanoi with the Viet Cong playing a subsidiary role.

In Saigon, U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker met with Thieu today for the first time since Oct. 31 when President Johnson announced the bombing halt, the U.S. Embassy announced.

Informed sources said the meeting was a continuation of Washington's efforts to get Thieu to join the talks with the NLF.

Earlier, in Paris, as members of the U.S. delegation consulted with Washington and the American Embassy in South Vietnam, Xuan Thuy, Hanoi's chief negotiator, rejected Thieu's plan.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband, who is an honest, hard-working man, lent a man $200. My husband was so sure of this man's character that he didn't ask him to sign a note or anything. He didn't even charge him the regular interest.

This man has made no effort to pay back a dime of it, and it's been nearly 3 YEARS! Now listen to this. This deadbeat's sister is married to one of the richest men in this town. Everyone knows him. He has given away MILLIONS!

I told my husband to get in touch with this millionaire brother-in-law and ask him for the money, or I'd do it. Two hundred dollars doesn't mean any more to a millionaire than 25 cents. My husband refuses to do it. Should I?

BURNED UP

DEAR BURNED: No. No man (regardless of how "rich" he is), is responsible for his brotherin-law's debts. It is a good bet that this "rich" brother-in-law has already given his deadbeat relative all the financial help he intends to, and has washed his hands of him, which is his privilege. Stay out of it.

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl, 14, who sits for a lady who has twin boys, 2, and a girl, 6. She also has a son, 15. When I sit there, I have more trouble with the 15year-old boy than I do with the other kids, if you know what I mean. He is all the time talking dirty and like that.

I don't want to get this boy in trouble but I really don't care to sit there again if I know that boy will be home. The lady is very nice and the baby sitting money sure comes in handy, so how do I solve my problem without getting the boy in trouble?

"CRESTVIEW 3"

DEAR "CRESTVIEW": Maybe the boy needs to get into "a little trouble" now in order to stay out of a lot of trouble later. The next time you are asked to sit there, tell the lady of the house to tell her son to behave himself, and I doubt if you'll have to stand for any more of his nonsense.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I am a man of 40 and I recently met a very nice woman of 34 at a dance. Dancing is my favorite hobby and I would rather dance than eat. This lady is very nice in every way, but she is quite a bit on the heavy side; dancing with her is like dancing with a Sherman tank.

I like my partner to be light on her feet. Do you think it would help is she took some dancing lessons? Or should I hint that maybe she should lose some weight? I have an interest in her.

LOVES TO DANCE

DEAR LOVES: Size has very little to do with how "light" a dancer is on her feet. Some of the best dancers (men as well as women) are as wide as they are tall. Lessons might help, but if you have an "interest" in her, you're old enough to know that life is not one long waltz.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow in my late 40s and am considered quite attractive, if I do say so myself. I own my home, drive a late model car, and run a small business.

About a year ago I met a retired officer about my age who had lost his wife. We share many of the same interests and enjoy just being together. I know he cares for me, but I'm not any nearer to matrimony now than when we met. In fact, he said from the start he didn't plan to marry.

Abby, I just live for the hours we spend together, but I can't go on indefinitely like this. It's expensive to hire help so I can leave my business to be with him. I know a man doesn't like to be pressured, but I have to know if he will ever marry me. How can I find out?

WANTS TO WED

DEAR WANTS: Ask him. Your alternative is to be an available playmate. And time marches on.

Small School Study Group In Session

GAIL — Dr. O. R. Douglas, Executive Director of the Region XVII Education Service Center located in Lubbock, discussed the services available to pupils, teachers, and administrators, through the use of the Service Center, at an in-service training meeting of teachers and administrators of schools who participated in the South Zone Pilot Study Group of Texas Small Schools Association Thursday afternoon in the Borden County School at Gail.

Dr. Weldon E. Day, Director of Planning, Evaluation and Research, and Larry Morton, Field Consultant in Special Education, both of whom are staff members of the Service Center, and Davis Pounds, County Superintendent of Hockley County and secretary of the North Zone Group, were on hand to offer their services to those present.

James McLeroy, of Gail, heads the study group; A. L. Alford, of Klondike School, is vice-chairman; and E. A. Deering, Dawson County School Superintendent, is secretary-treasurer. They were elected at the organizational meeting held in October this year.

Dale Choate, of Gail, welcomed the group; Bo Barkowsky, of Klondike, offered the invocation; and McLeroy introduced Dr. Douglas to approximately 100 persons in attendance.

Gerald Rogers, Director of Media and Technology of the Service Center, demonstrated the use of the audio - visual media, available through the Service Center, in a workshop held in the auditorium prior to the groups separating into various sectional meetings for indvidual group sessions.

Ray Lanier, Director of Fiscal and Contract Services of the Service Center, led a discussion in the administrator's session on fiscal Accounting of the Federal Package Program."

Mrs. Juanta Carbon, of Ira, headed the group session for those interested in grades 1-3; Bill Dunlap, of Fluvanna headed grades 4-6. Language Arts chairman was Mrs. Ronny Gandy, of Sands; Social Studies, Ben Jarrett, of Borden County; Science, Gerald Harper and Bruce Land, both of Fluvanna; Math, Dave Briggs of Borden Co.; Business, Mrs. Grace Morse, of Klondike; Reading and Teacher's Aids, Mrs. Fred Minter, of Union; and the Administrator session was headed by M. B. Maxwell, of Sands.

Future meetings will be held at the Borden County School on Jan. 30, Feb. 20, and April 17, 1969.

Transpolar Flight Set

BOSTON (AP) — Seventy-eight persons left Logan International Airport Friday on the start of a 26-day jet flight that will cover both the North and South poles.

Billed as the first commercial transpolar world flight, the trip was planned to coincide with the anniversary of the late Adm. Richard E. Byrd's November 1929 flight over the South Pole.

The flight leader is Cmdr. Fred G. Dustin of Revere, Mass., a former advisor to Byrd.

Dustin said the group making the trip, mostly business executives, will investigate commercial and industrial exploration of the polar regons.

Texas Took Rare Stand For Loser

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Vice President Hubert Humphrey, a loser nationally in his quest for the U.S. presidency, was a winner in Texas — the first time in more than 40 years the state did not vote for the winner.

Humphrey defeated Richard Nixon by 40,118 votes, the Texas Election Bureau said Friday after completing its unofficial tabulation of the 3,076,233 ballots cast in the state.

Final totals in the state's top races were:

President — Humphrey, 1,267,317, 41.1 per cent; Nixon, 1,227,099, 39.8 per cent; George Wallace 581,717, 18.9.

Governor — Preston Smith, 1,659,478; Paul Eggers, 1,252,952.

Lt. Governor — Ben Barnes 1,976,021; Doug DeCluitt, 759,455.

Attorney General — Crawford Martin, 1,880,125; Sproesser Wynn, 768,410.

Comptroller — Robert S. Calvert, 1,819,150; John Bennett, 816,011.

Treasurer — Jesse James, 1,910,725; Manuel Sanchez, 739,991.

Land commissioner, Jerry Sadler, 1,860,181; Millard Neptune, 764,020.

Agriculture Commissioner — John White, 1,812,525; E. G. Schuhart, 784,845.

Railroad Commissioner — Jim Langdon, 1,785,719; Jim Secrest, 806,768.

Miniskirts To Stay

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Major James J. Kelly of Lackland Air Force Base, soon to assume command of Saglek Air Station, Labrador, says he will support the Saglek Non-commissioned miniskirts.

Officials of the tiny station's club voted to make miniskirts—and even "micro, micro" miniskirts—legal for women visitors after learning that enlisted men's clubs at Wethersfield Air Base, England, had banned them.

"Let style set the pace," said Maj. Kelly, who assumes the Saglek command in January. "The miniskirt policy will stay in effect."

Only 30 women have visited the remote Labrador base in the past three years.

It is capable of carrying up to 490 passengers nonstop for 6,000 miles at 625 mph, making it the biggest and fastest jet in the world. First deliveries are scheduled for late 1969. (AP Wirephoto)

Deliveries Of Water Ease Off

Water deliveries by the Colorado River Municipal Water District eased off slightly in October from a year ago, reports from Paschal Odom, assistant to the general manager, show.

The total for October was 959,967,332, 2.77 per cent less than for the same month last year.

The cities used 570,685,000 gallons, only 1.62 per cent off. Oil companies took 389,261,832 gallons, or 4.41 per cent less than October 1967.

Municipal deliveries showed Odessa 290,010,000 gallons, down 12.78 per cent; Big Spring 219,639,000, up 9.50 per cent; Snyder 56,841,000, up 21.01 per cent; and Stanton, a new customer, 4,195,000 gallons.

For the first nine months of the year the district has delivered 10,331,874,612 gallons, or 5.88 per cent under the pace for the comparable period a year ago.

Two Texans On New Casualty List

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eighteen servicemen killed in action in the Vietnam war were named Friday in a Defense Department casualty list.

They included two Texans: Marine Corps Cpl. Ardon Halt, husband of Mrs. Fannie L. Halt, 714 E. 20th St., Apartment 2, Houston; Pfc. David B. Henderson Jr. son of Mr. and Mrs. David B. Henderson Sr., 503 Popular St., Italy.

El Paso To Reduce Rates

WASHINGTON (AP) — The El Paso Natural Gas Co. will reduce rates to utility customers in five state by $7,949,177 a year, the Federal Power Commission said Friday.

It was the first reduction to result from the commission's producer rate setting in the Permian Basin production area.

Rates will decrease to utility companies in Texas, New Mexico, Nevada, Arizona and California. The commission made the cut effective last week, Oct. 31.

The rate cut may not stand, however, if the FPC grants an El Paso rate increase request amounting to $29.7 million. El Paso hopes to increase rates March 7.

The U.S. Supreme Court upheld the FPC's right to set prices on natural gas sold by producers to interstate pipelines on a uniform basis for a producing area.

New Directors Of Federal Reserve Bank

DALLAS (AP) — A. W. Riter, Jr., of Tyler and Hugh F. Steen of El Paso are new directors, effective Jan. 1, of the Dallas Federal Reserve Bank, an official said Friday.

Riter succeeds Ralph A. Porter of Denison and Steen succeeds J. B. Perry, Jr., of Lufkin.

Report On Drilling

AUSTIN (AP) — Fifteen wildcat gas wells, including 14 in the two San Antonio districts, and one wildcat oil well were drilled in Texas during the past week, the state Railroad Commission reported Saturday.

There were five wildcat gas wells drilled in San Antonio's Dist. No. 1 and nine in No. 2. The other wildcat gas well was in the Houston district. The lone wildcat oil well was also in the Houston district.

For the year, 229 wildcat oil wells have been drilled, compared to 407 a year ago. There have been 375 wildcat gas wells drilled, compared to 460 a year ago.

The commission said 69 oil wells were completed during the past week, running the yearly total to 4,338, or 1,088 fewer than a year ago. A total of 53 gas wells were completed in the week, hiking the yearly total to 1,885, or 257 fewer than a year ago.

The commission said 116 wells were plugged last week, including 43 dry holes.

Election Decided By Flip Of Coin

ELENDALE, Minn. (AP) — A flip of a coin won a seat on the Ellendale Village Council for Don Marcus, who finished Tuesday's election with a 134-to-134 vote deadlock with Russell Nelson.

Mayor Leroy Miller tossed the coin Thursday night in front of the Ellendale Canvassing Board. Marcus won on the fourth flip of a three-out-of-five toss.

State law provides that in local governmental elections, a tie is broken by some air means.

Luci Leaves For Hawaii

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's daughter Luci leaves her Austin home well in advance today for Hawaii and a week's reunion with airman husband Patrick J. Nugent who will be on leave from Vietnam.

Luci plans to arrive in Hawaii with her 16-month-old son Lyn next Wednesday after visiting friends on her way to the West Coast, the White House said Friday.

It gave no details on itinerary except the arrival day.

Airman Nugent is to join his wife and son Nov. 20. He has a week's rest and rehabilitation leave from duties as loadmaster with a C123 cargo plane that shuttles supplies to the front lines.

The President's older daughter Lynda and her husband, Marine Maj. Charles S. Robb who is also in Vietnam, plan a similar reunion when she and her new baby daughter are able to make the trip.

Studies Martins

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Olin S. Pettingill Jr., a Cornell University researcher, doubts that purple martins eat 2,000 mosquitoes —their own weight—each day as some claim. But he said its nice to have the martins around because "they do eat vast quantities of insects, many of them annoying or obnoxious," with mosquitoes as a sort of entree.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED — Mr. and Mrs. Leo Schattel, Route 2, Snyder, announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda Kay, to Larry Edward Schwarz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Schwarz, Route 1 Loraine. A November wedding is planned. (Photo by Craft Studio)

MR. AND MRS. C. B. (Butler) BARNETT will be honored on November 24 on their golden wedding anniversary with a reception at Ira community center. The couple were married in Snyder on November 25, 1918 and have lived here all their married life. Hosting the occasion will be their three children, Mrs. Carl Fambro of Big Spring, Harold Barnett of Canyon and Mrs. W. T. McEwen of Andrews. Friends and relatives are cordially invited to join the couple between the appointed hours of 2 and 5 p.m. Also to be present are eight grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Mrs. Nixon Likes To Entertain

NEW YORK (AP) — When the Richard Nixons move into the White House they will bring with them a style of entertaining that is a unique blend of California casualness and New York sophistication.

It won't be Camelot, but it won't be Main Street either. It will reflect a nonswinging middle class America that has taste and friendliness.

Social Washington embraced the John F. Kennedy administration's entertaining, as purveyed by beautiful Jacqueline of the cultural interests. It coexisted with the Lyndon B. Johnsons' variety.

The President-elect is believed to favor a little more formality in dress and manner of entertaining than his immediate predecessors. But the next First Lady will see to it that every visitor, whether it's the littlest Girl Scout or the most regal potentate, is made to feel welcome.

Slim, blonde Pat Nixon, 56 is an admitted introvert who has overcome a basic shyness in meeting people. She has no difficulty in putting guests at ease.

She once said that a First Lady's greatest contribution is "to make friendly contact with leaders of other nations." She has been doing that for years.

When her husband was vice president she had experience acting as official hostess at state functions). "On-the-job training" she calls it now.

Accompanying Nixon on goodwill missions around the world during the last decade and a half has given herd a formidable first-hand knowledge and woman's-eye view—of the people of at least 60 nations.

Mrs. Nixon likes small, candle-lit sit-down dinners, with guest lists well seasoned with people in the arts, professions, business. These will provide at dinner, along with open houses for young people which she loves to give for her daughters Julie, 20, and Tricia, 22.

The rose garden may be a setting for dinner occasionally, since the next First Lady is a devoted gardener.

The Nixons like well-cooked but simple American fare a favorite menu includes tenderloin, green peas puffed potatoes zucchini and tomatoes, popovers. But Mrs. Nixon is fully aware of the "importance of serving gourmet food to distinguished guests.

In New York Mrs. Nixon's favorite entertainment for out-of-town guests is to take them to art galleries—the Frick collection is her favorite. Now the Washington galleries can expect frequent attendance from the White House ladies.

Entertainment at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue will draw from the best in American culture—dancers, writers, musicians, actors, singers with possibly an emphasis on classical music, which the piano-playing President-elect prefers. Mrs. Nixon likes lighter music.

Chicken-Pineapple

2½-pound broiler-fryer cut up
¼ cup regular unsifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon celery salt
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon garlic powder
¼ cup butter
1 can (1 pound, 4½ ounces) pineapple slices
2 tablespoons soy sauce

Wash and dry chicken. On wax paper stir together the dry ingredients; dip chicken in mixture to coat. In a large skillet, in the hot butter, brown chicken. Mix syrup from pineapple with soy sauce; add ½ cup of the mixture to the skillet; cover and simmer, turning chicken as necessary, until tender — about 25 minutes. Remove chicken to a platter and keep warm. Add remaining pineapple syrup mixture and pineaple slices to skillet; gently heat, turning once. Place pineapples slices around chicken. If necessary, boil liquid in skillet to reduce slightly; spoon over pineapple. Makes 4 servings.

Glazed Pork

Smoked boneless pork shoulder butt, 2½ to 3 pounds
Light brown sugar
Prepared mustard

Choose a butt of a shape that will fit into your steamer; remove all wrappings from butt. Place it in steamer's top insert — it can have perforations on bottom or sides. Fill bottom of steamer with boiling water, but if perforations are on bottom of top insert do not have water touch meat. If insert comes too low to make this practical, improvise by placing a metal bowl half-full of water in steamer insert, then place a round rack on top of bowl and put butt on rack. Cover tightly. Bring water to a boil; boil gently, replenishing water if necessary, until meat is tender when a fork, inserted in center, can easily be turned — 35 to 45 minutes per pound. Drain butt and slice ¼-inch thick. For each 6 slices mix 1 tablespoon brown sugar and 1 teaspoon prepared mustard; spread a little over each slice. Place on broiler pan (without rack) or on heavyweight foil and broil a few inches from high heat just until bubbly — a minute or so. Watch carefully.

MEXICAN INDIAN COSTUMES. By Donald and Dorothy Cordry, University of Texas Press, $15.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cordry who are as much at home in Mexico, or perhaps more so, as in the United States have produced a book, "Mexican Indian Costumes" that spans 30 years in the making and centuries in scope.

Some of the types of costumes photographed 30 years ago already have disappeared with bought cloth and city styles penetrating even remote areas.

The book is large and detailed with 276 pictures, all excellent, with 16 of them beautiful color plates.

Most of the models—the people who used the costumes—are posed, deliberately so, to display the details of the clothing. But this does not detract from the book.

The book tells of the history of cloth making from before the Conquest. It shows how women then, and still, spin the fiber, prepared it for the looms and weave it. The instruments used are pictured and in some cases Cordry has made diagrams for better understanding.

The book is none too soon, for the costumes are disappearing year by year. The Cordrys have divided the costumes by sections of Mexico to show the difference from place to place.

The Cordrys are artists and have shown their works both in the United States and Mexico. The AP.

NEW MEXICO IN 1850: A MILITARY VIEW. By Col. George Archibald McCall, edited and with an introduction by Robert W. Fraer, University of Oklahoma Press, $5.95.

Col. George Archibald McCall, a West Point graduate, went to New Mexico in 1850 under orders of Secretary of War George Crawford.

Crawford told McCall to urge the New Mexicans to organize and apply for statehood. But in the middle of this mission, he was instructed to report what New Mexico was like and on military installations there.

New Mexico really was unknown country, only recently acquired by the United States. Europeans and their descendants had been there for three centuries, but the country was underdeveloped and little explored. What little information was available was in Spanish or Mexican archives in Madrid or Mexico City.

The colonel found the potential in New Mexico which eventually developed. But he didn't find much that was encouraging to Washington at that time.

There were upwards of 100,000 Indians in the state. Some were in pueblos and contributed nothing to the general economy. The remainder were wild, raiding Indians and state development had about stopped because of fear of the natives.

The military was no help. Col. McCall's reports to the secretary shows the posts were so understaffed they could not take the field against the Indians and could not even stop them from stealing the Army's horses.

Officers who could get out did so. The rosters show large numbers of officers on sick leave, absent for other reasons and some simply AWOL.

The book, outside its general interest, is a vast storehouse of detailed and properly attributed history. Among other things, it has an appendix listing all the military officers in New Mexico.

The author, Robert W. Frazer, is professor of history at California State College.—The AP.

The number of parks in the National Park System is now 35, with the newest being Redwood National Park, North Cascades National Park, National Wild and Scenic Rivers System and National Trails System. The country's scenic rivers and historic trails are under federal protection for the first time.

MRS. KENNETH WAYNE WOOD

Miss Stewart, Mr. Wood Wed In Baptist Church

The First Baptist Church of Snyder was the setting for the marriage of Brenda June Stewart and Kenneth Wayne Wood on October 11 at 7:30 p.m. Rev. Robert Jerry Stewart officiated at the candlelight doublering ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Stewart and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wood of Snyder.

Mrs. Virgil Mott presented traditional organ music and Mr. Virgil Mott sang "Oh Promise Me."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white peau de soie gown fashioned with a Sabrina neckline, natural fitted bodice and long sleeves ending in petal points. The bodice was enhanced by appliques of Chantilly lace accented with tiny seed pearls and irridescent sequins. Her detachable train was of chapel length and attached to a semi - bouffant skirt. A rosette pouf, trimmed in Chantilly lace held her four tiered silk illusion waterfall veil. She carried an arrangement of white carnations and English ivy.

Althea Schwartz was maid of honor and Miss Jeannette Hodges was bridesmaid. They wore identical pink dresses with pink overlace flowing from the waist. They carried white carnations and English ivy nosegays. Nancy Zajicek, niece of the bride was flower girl. She wore a miniature bridal dress.

Ken Thompson served as best man. Groomsmen were Jimmy Farmer and Richard West. David Zajicek was ring bearer.

The bride's mother was attired in a white bonded knit suit with orange accessories. The groom's mother chose a gold Alaskene dress with matching hat and black accessories.

A reception followed in fellowship hall. Hazel Lewis presided at the three tiered wedding cake, and Betty Zajicek registered guests.

For her wedding trip the bride chose a white bonded knit dress with yellow accessories.

The couple reside on the Colorado City highway.

The bride attended Snyder High School. The groom graduated from Snyder High School and attended Howard County Junior College. He is employed by Feather Printing Co. of Snyder.

Out-of-town guests were from Nacogdoches, Brownwood and Odessa.

A Day In The Life Of The Russian

THE RUSSIANS. By Leonid Vladimirov.

We've had frequent examples of deepdish analyses of Soviet ideology by ex-Russians intent upon explaining what's what in the devious machininations of Moscow. This book is different. Vladimirov has skipped most of the theoretical jargon and has concentrated on telling what everyday Russian life is like.

His background is unusual. In his youth he was indoctrinated with some unorthodox (hince subversive) ideas by his father, a mathematics professor in Leningrad; and he served several years in a Stalinist prison camp before 1953 for some ontoward remarks. Yet in the post-Stalinist era he rose to a favored and comfortable position as a journalist and could have continued there; in 1966, on a visit to London, he took political asylum.

The book is quite personal and informal; without ranting, touched with humor. Here is a quick rundown on his topics: the life of the city worker, the iron vice of Soviet education, the calculated evasions of bureaucratic rule in the factories, patterns of marriage and divorce, the distrotions of the press and its censorship, religion, crime, class distinctions in a "classless" society, party membership, the ferment in literary and art circles, the condition of Soviet farming and the increasing restlessness among Soviet scientists.

So this is a book by a Russian about Russians, providing some homely examples of how things go for Ivan and his friends in that strange land today.

At this time of the year special attention is called to the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund. This Fund is made up of dimes and dollars contributed by Girl Scouts of all ages, starting with "Dimes for Daisy" by Brownie Scouts.

This money is spent to weave a network of friendship among girls around the world. Every year, Senior Girl Scouts are sent abroad to international gatherings at Our Chalet in Switzerland and Our Cabana in Mexico. Every year, across our country, girls are offered national opportunities in Scouting. Two Senior Scouts from Snyder were participants in conferences this year. Gayle Beckham attended the National Intercultural Conference in San Antonio and Marsha McGlaun went to a Dramatic Arts Workshop at Camp Edith Macy in Pleasantville, New York.

JLWWF also helps new troops in other parts of the world by providing books and training for leaders. The Fund buys useful things for Girl Scouts who have suffered catastrophes, such as the earthquake in Alaska in 1964.

Juliette Low's birthday was on October 31st and Girl Scouts honor her memory by contributing to HER Fund. She said: "Scouting and Guiding can be the magic thread which links the youth of the world together."

Tuna Stuffed Eggs With Lettuce

6 hard-cooked eggs, shelled
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Salt and white pepper to taste
1 can (3½ ounces) solid light tuna, undrained

Cut eggs in half lengthwise; remove yolks to a bowl and mash with mayonnaise, Worcestershire, salt and pepper. Add tuna (including all the oil) and mix enough to have tuna in flakes. Pile yolk mixture back into egg white cavities. Serve with lettuce, sliced tomatoes and cucumber and pass extra mayonnaise. Makes 4 servings — 3 egg halves for each portion.

ELECTRIC DRYER DEALERS OFFER SPECIAL WIRING ALLOWANCE NOW

A two-month program to promote the sale of electric clothes dryers in this area has been launched by Texas Electric Service Company in cooperation with appliance dealers.

Startling Nov. 1 and continuing through December, advertising and promotion will call attention to special money-saving installation offers to purchasers of automatic electric dryers during the campaign period.

"For the love of your life. . . get an electric dryer" is the theme of the promotion, and electric appliance dealers have been supplied with window banners and drop-in ads to tie their advertising into the promotion. Newspaper, radio and television advertising will be used.

The company's enclosure mailed to all electric customers with their electric service bills also will feature the dryer program.

Local Snyder dealers participating in this promotion are: Montgomery Ward, Mixon Supply, Roe's Furniture & Appliance, King and Brown and Sears Catalog Store.

Live Carefree Electric Way

The carefree electric clothes dryer makes permanent press ready to wear.

Permanent press clothes come out of an electric dryer ready to put right on, because electric dryers "relax" wrinkles.

What else makes the electric dryer the 20-to-1 choice of women? It costs less to buy, is economical to operate, and the few moving parts mean low maintenance. Another thing with an electric dryer, there's no flame, pilot or flue.

Can you think of any better reasons to ask your appliance dealer about an electric clothes dryer?

Buy Flameless Clothes Dryer

Hanging's just not good enough or the wonderful new permanent press clothes. It takes the gentle tumbling action and automatically controlled heat cycles of a flameless electric clothes dryer to keep the "permanent" in permanent press.

Permanent or durable press clothes are impreganted with a shape - setting fluid which is activated by heat after the garment is made and pressed.

Creases and pleats will remain sharp, seams pressed open and flat area unwrinkled without ironing if the garments are tumbled dry in a flameless electric dryer. But as the clothing manufacturers will tell you clothesline hanging just won't do the job.

Permanent Press Shirts Finest For Good Looking Men

One of the finest things that has happened for men in a long time is the advent of permanent press shirts.

No more stiff-starched collars. No more wrinkled fronts and cuffs.

And they not only feel soft and comortable but they look like new day after day. . .that is if they are dried after washing in an electric dryer. And that's the trick of keeping permanent press shirts like new.

Dried correctly in an electric dryer at just the right heat and then put on a hanger immediately when they are taken out of the dryer will keep them looking like the day they came from the store.

Death Is A Way Of Life In The World's Worst War

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
APSpecial Correspondent

UMUAHIA, Biafra (AP) — Among the living in Baifra, death is an everyday way of life.

Like the vultures constantly circling in the cloudless tropical sky, it casts its shadow everywhere: on soldiers, on civilians, most of all on children, who are dying at a rate unprecedented even in the madness of modern warfare.

"Last week 15 children died here, now even some of the adults are beginning to fail," said Sister Miriam de Paul at the feeding center at Uboma, where the line of mothers and children waiting for the once daily distribution of relief food stretched for nearly a mile own the dusty road and where guards with red cross arm bands on their sleeves and bamboo switches in their hands beat of those who tried to crash the line or come back twice.

"In my parish last month 902 people died, most of them of starvation; of these, 517 were children," said Father Aengus Finucane of Limerick, Ireland, a handsome, strapping Holy Ghost father, whose parish church almost marks the end of the runway at "Airstrip Annabelle," the stretch of highway cutting through the jungle that is the last remaining airfield in the hands of the secessionist Biafran forces.

"Of the 144 children admitted last month, 40 have die, and we try to take only those cases that seem to have a chance," said Matron E.A. Bert of London, head nurse at the Queen Elizabeth Hospital in Umuahia, a 184-bed hospital that now has nearly 800 patients, most of them wounded Biafran soldiers stretched out on the lawns and in the corridors waiting to share a bed.

No one knows for sure at what rate the Biafrans are dying, from the war, from starvation. Father Antony Byrne of CARITAS, the Catholic Relief Agency, puts the figure at 6,000 a day. Dr. Herman Middlekoop, a Dutch physician who was bombed out of his hospital at Itigidi and now heads Biafran relief for the World Council of Churches, says it may run as high as 25,000 a day, counting the Ibo tribesmen who have fled into the bush where relief supplies can't reach them.

And yet, Biafra goes on fighting. More desperate now than a month ago, more determined now than a month ago. Why? What can possibly be gained if all the people are lost?

The question was put to Lt. Col. Chukwuemeka Odumegwu Ojukwu, the bearded, Oxford-educated soldier who serves as Biafra's head of state and who has become a hero-figure of George Washington proportions to his eight million fellow Ibo tribesmen trying to wrest a separate nation from the Federation of Nigeria, once considered the most promising country among the emerging African nations.

Oukwu raised his sad eyes toward the distant jungle, where symbolically or not the sun was setting, and spoke in a voice almost as low and throbbing as a tribal death drum: "The only reason why we are alive today is because we have our rifles in our hands, but for that the massacre would be complete."

And nearly every Ibo tribesman you meet, soldier in the field or school boy with no school to attend, really believes that if he stops fighting, he must start running, because to fall into the hands of the federal troops means certain death.

"I'm not prepared to say whether there is genocide or not," said Father Kevin Dohney, who saw a MIG sweep low over a soup kitchen where nuns were feeding 8,000 children, then drop a bomb on its second pass. "All I know is that the people believe it. They abandon their homes and villages and flee into the bush at the approach of federal troops."

Armed with British armored cars and heavy mortars, Russian MIG fighters and Czechoslovakian Ilyusian bombers, the Nigerian federal forces set out 17 months ago to crush a rebellion by Ibo tribesmen in eastern Nigeria which threatened to tear apart the federation of 250 diverse tribes, speaking 36 different languages, that won independence from Great Britain in 1960. The war that was supposed to be over in a month, dragged on to become the tragic, heart-tearing thing it is now, prolonged by the fierce determination of the Ibos, made more ghastly than anything Vietnam has experienced by a phenomenal outbreak of kwashiorkor, the protein deficiency disease that always has been prevalent in west Africa but now reached epidemic proportions.

As the Baifrans fell further and further back into a land-locked circle of rai n forests, abandoning their arms and villages, shut off from food supplies by a lack of ports, a shortage of lorries and gasoline and the loss of airfield after airfield, more and more children fell victim to kwashiorkor, the Ghanian word that means "red man." Thier hair turned orangy-red, their legs began to swell, the skin over their matchstick bodies turned scaly and hard, they became listless and indiferent to food, falling into a somnambulant. torpor and eventual death, usually while asleep.

Even now with church flights from the Portuguese island of Sao Tome and Red Cross flights from the island of Fernando Po in equatorial Ghana braving the Nigerian ack-ack to fly in 100 tons of relief foods a night to airstrip Annabelle, the dead and the dying are everywhere. They're not dropping on the roads, as they were a month or so ago, but every backwoods sick bay, every feeding station, every refugee camp presents the same sad spectacle of hollow-eyed children with washboard ribs and skeleton arms and legs curled up on mats in the shade, their throats capable only of making low croaking sounds, their shrinking bodies already encased in a leathery coccoon of scaly sores.

In answer to the charge of systematically starving the civilian population, the Nigerians with some justification argue that Ojukwu has condoned and abetted the plight of his people both as a propaganda weapon to win world sympathy and as a cover for importing arms, along with relief foods, into the airstrip at Anaabelle.

A month ago Biafra seemed on the verge of capitulation. now even the doctors and priests who want to stop the war and the civil servant class that have grown weary of it are convinced that a majority of the Ibos will turn to complete guerrilla warfare and fight on even after the last town falls.

There is growing evidence that there has been a startling improvement in the ammunition situation. By conservative estimates, for every 100 tons of relief foods and medicines landing at Annabelle, at least 40 and perhaps as much as 80 tons of arms are flown in.

Rumors are strong that in addition to flying arms into Annabelle, the Biafrans have been using the kerosene lamp lit highway strip to fly out members of Col. Rolf Steiner's Fourth Commando Division to Libreville, 100 at a time; for special guerrilla training by French paratroopers. Sterner, a former German army sergeant and member of the French Foreign Legion with a mercenary background in the Congo and the Algerian war, is typical of the middle-aged mercenaries who have turned up to help the Biafran cause.

In addition to a transfusion of arms, Biafra, once on the point of fiscal collapse, reportedly has had a recent bolstering of its treasury. Mercenaries don't come cheap in this part of the world: the lowliest private gets $1,000 a month in U.S. green, payable in cash, plus 30 Biafran pounds. Pilots and officers can command three times as much. Biafra, according to the mercenaries, has never missed a payment.

Where does the money come from?

Sources at the British Foreign Office and the Nigerian High Commissioner's office in London hint darkly that the oil companies are supporting the war. Yet all of the major oil fields and refineries—Shell, Royal Dutch, British Petroleum—are in the hands of federal troops. The only exception are some oil firm, that straddle Biafran and Nigerian territory.

Whitehall also gives credence to a constant rumor that a large international banking firm headquartered in New York recently loaned the secessionist government four and a half million pounds sterling in exchange for Biafra's urnaium and columbite rights.

The Bifarans, almost to a man, are equally convinced that the United States has been less than neutral in the war.

Part of the anti-Americanism is disillusionment with the failure of the Unted States, where many of the Ibo intellectuals went to college, to help out even with relief supplies to the starving children. Ojukwu and other Biafrian leaders sarcastically write it off as the price America has to pay for England's support of the war in Vietnam.

"The Biafrans have a saying," said Father Doheny sadly one night. "Osundu Agwuike—which means when a man is running for his life, he never gets tired."

Business Slackens In Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas business activity slackened in September for the second straight month but there is no imminent danger of a recession, the Bureau of Business Research reports.

A regular monthly report from the University of Texas agency said that Texas business activity reached an all time high in July, declined 8 per cent in August and dropped another one per cent in September.

"This decline suggests that the rate of growth of the state's economy is slackening, a conclusion supported by a two months' decline in crude oil production and a three months' decline in crude runs to stills," said Dr. Francis May, professor of business statistics in the report. "This is not to say that a recession is imminent . . . It is just that the state's economy is a little less vigorous."

May said that "despite signs of a slowing of the rate of growth, the Texas economy is healthy and likely to remain so. There is no reason to expect a recession during the next half year. On the contrary, inflation will continue to be a major problem."

Among 20 selected Texas cities, there were five reporting a monthly decrease in business activity but only one, Abilene, showing a decrease for the first nine months of 1968 compared with last year.

The reports included: Abilene, up 3 per cent for the month, down 4 per cent for the year; Amarillo, up 2 and up 2; Austin, up 25 and up 26; Beaumont, down 2 and up 2; Corpus Christi, down 7 and up 11; Corsicana, up 12 and up 7; Dallas, up 2 and up 17; El Paso, up one and up 5; Fort Worth, up 13 and up 16; Galveston, up 25 and up 13; Houston, up 11 and up 13; Laredo, down 9 and up 12; Lubbock, up 2 and up 9; San Antonio, up 2 and up 15; Texarkana, up 5 and up 10; Waco, down 2 and up 10; Wichita Falls, down 3 and up 5.

University of Southern California and Jackson State College of Mississippi each had 11 seniors selected in the 1968 pro football draft.

Junior Editors Quiz on BLIMPS

QUESTION: Who made the first blimp and what are they used for?

* * * *

ANSWER: Our picture illustrates the kind of aircraft which can remain afloat because they are lighter than air. Certain gases, like hydrogen and helium, being lighter than air, will lift upwards when enclosed in an airtight bag. The familiar toy balloon, as well as the larger balloon which can carry men high into the sky, works on this principle. An aircraft with an elongated balloon body, provided with motors and propellers, is called an airship or dirigible. If built with framework inside the bag, it would be a rigid airship; but small airships can be made where the pressure of the gas inside is all that holds the bag in shape. These last, first constructed in 1898 by Albert Santos-Dumont, were highly developed during World War I. They were called limps by the British because they went limp when the gas was let out. Since a type-B ship was being used, the name soon became blimp. In World War II, blimps were used to attack submarines; after that they were used for coastwise patrol and advertising purposes.

WITH TREMENDOUS FIRST QUARTER

Bengals Sock Lobos 23-21 For Third District Victory

LEVELLAND—Snyder's Tigers hit Levelland's Lobos like a bolt of lightning to build an early 23-0 lead in the first quarter, then saw several other scoring opportunities go awry in the second half as they had to settle for a 23-21 victory here Friday night in a District 3AAA grid clash.

Quarterback Lee McNair hit fullback David McGinnis for a 15-yard touchdown pass to cap a 69 yard drive after Snyder took possession on the opening kickoff. David went on a fast slant left, took the strike from Lee, and raced on into the end zone in a play that was perfectly executed. Mitch Rambin kicked extra point. Both boys were outstanding for the Bengals.

McGinnis racked up 183 yards rushing on 23 carries. He lugged the leather six times in that first drive, getting all but five yards of the distance. His longest run in the first thrust was for 29 yards. The strong senior carried several defenders the last 15 yards in the burst. The only pass in the march was the payoff pitch.

Four minutes later, with 4:44 showing on the clock, Mitch Rambin kicked a 40 yard field goal to boost the count to 10-0. Snyder got good field position on a brilliant 52-yard punt return to the Lobo 23 by Randy Levens, who almost broke down the east sidelines on the play.

Twenty seconds later, the Lobos must have thought they were playing Estacado again. The Bengals came up with a fumble recovery at the Levelland 44, and on first down, McNair faded back and lofted about a 24-yard spiral to Levens, who had circled wide and long on a fullback pattern. He made the reception at full stride at the 20 and had clear sailing into the end zone. Rambin's conversion kick was wide left.

Taking over after another fumble at the Lobo 41, the Bengals thrust to pay dirt again in seven plays, getting the TD with 10 seconds remaining in the period. McGinnis set it up with a determined 22-yard charge over right tackle, and he scored it on a right end sweep from the two. Rambin's kick was accurate and the Bengals had themselves a 23-0 lead.

The Lobos were unable to reach their 40 yard line in the first period, but they proved they can move the ball in the second frame by moving 68 yards for their first touchdown. Tailback Justin Lane, who gained 109 yards on 24 efforts, sliced across guard from the one for the score. Lanny Modawell's kick was wide. Levelland hurt the Tigers up the middle in this drive, and they consumed seven minutes of time. By the time the Black and Gold got its hands on the ball again, they had cooled considerably.

Snyder did drive to the 30 late in the second period. At this point McNair fired to Merce Hernandez at the 15, but a penalty moved the line of scrimmage back to the 45. Still, the Tigers would have scored, but it appeared that on a subsequent play one of the defenders pushed Levens just when he was about to make a reception and go in for another score.

Snyder took the kickoff opening the second half and drove to the 12 before relinquishing possession on a short field gal attempt. Willis Harrison, who played an outstanding game for the Bengals, made a good return of the kickoff, and McGinnis registered a 36-yard run to get good field position in this drive.

Levelland took over and drove 80 yards in 14 plays to get back in the game with fullback Darrell McKnight, a 190-pount senior, blasting over from the three for the TD. Modawell's kick was good.

Snyder made another drive from its 27 to the Lobo 30 with McGinnis contributing another nifty 20-yard gainer, but the Lobo defense stiffened.

On its next possession, Levelland drove to the Tiger 30, but Willis Harrison made an interception at the six and returned it all the way to the Lobo 35. He almost broke on the play, but the safety managed to make the save. Seemingly stalled by numerous penalties, McNair connected with McGinnis again on a 45-yard run and pass play that carried into the end zone, but the officials ruled Snyder had five men in the backfield. The penalty nullified the play. McGinnis had made the reception at the 20 and outran the safety.

Levelland took over and spanned 93 yards in 13 plays for its last touchdown with quarterback Mike Stagner connecting with right wingback Larry Harder on a 34 yard pass and run play for the TD. Stagner hit right end Harold Pigg for the 2-pointer with three seconds left.

Snyder threatened to break open the tilt on numerous occasions and was clearly in command all the way. There was never any doubt who would win, caions and was clearly in Comside kick following the TD that pulled them within two points. However, a Lobo was caught slugging on the play, and the Tigers took over in host territory and ran out the clock.

It was perhaps the best offensive performance of the season for Snyder. The defense can still stand some improvement, but the boys came through with the chips down. Tommy McDorman looked good at his middl e linebacker post. Efran Cervantez, Delbert Hirst and Valvin Garcia did some good blocking. But then, they all fired out well on offense. Mark Gilstrap also made an interception.

Next week, the Tigers journey to Brownfield.

THE STIFF ARM — Levelland's Justin Lane (20) gives Snyder's Willis Harrison the stiff-arm during the thrilling 3-AAA battle in Lobo Stadium Friday night. Lane led Lobo ball carriers with 109 yards on 24 carries. Harrison was a defensive standout for the Tigers, getting in on numerous tackles and returning an interception 59-yards in the fourth period. Snyder's Eddie RayMcClain (67) comes up to help.

Davis Match Pits Ashe Against Lall

By JOAQUIN MARTINEZ

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — Premjit Lall, India's No. 2 player, faced the booming service of U.S. star Arthur Ashe today in the opening singles match of the Interzone Davis Cup finals, with the heavily-favored American team expected to breeze into next month's Challenge Round against Australia.

Ashe, 25-year-old U.S. Open champ from Richmond, Va., was a topheavy choice to handle Lall, 27, and Clark Graebner of New York also was favored over India's ace, Ramanathan Krishnan, in the day's second singles test.

Stan Smith and Bob Lutz, both of Los Angeles, were expected to go against Krishnan and Jaidip Mukerjea in Sunday's doubles match, with Ashe taking on Krishnan and Lall meeting Graebner in the final two singles pairings Monday.

The Americans, bidding for their first challenge in Australia since 1963, when they last captured the Cup, were confident of a strong sendoff in the singles competition.

"I am certain that Graebner is happy to play Krishnan in the second match," said Donald Dell, the nonplaying U.S. team captain. "We expect to have a 1-0 cushion and he will be more relaxed."

Although his squad's upset chances appeared slim, Raj Khanna, India's non-playing captain, promised an all-out effort by Krishnan, a cunning 31-year-old veteran of international play, and the younger Lall.

"Of one thing all of you can be sure," said Khanna. "No matter what the situation is, our boys will be playing their best up to the final point."

Bob Farrington led harness drivers in victories in 1967 with 277.

Ira Hands McCaulley Second Loss

IRA — The host Bulldogs posted 14 points early in the first quarter here Friday night and the lead held up as tough McCaulley suffered its second loss in Six-Man circles Friday night by a 14-12 count.

Terry Sterling sprinted 40 yards to pay dirt early in the contest for Ira's first touchdown, then Joe Briseno went three yards to cap a 45 yard drive a couple of minutes later. Billy Payne made good on a conversion kick following the second TD.

With only a few seconds remaining in the second period, McCaulley scored when Donnie Gann shook loose on a 20 yard run. Most of the night, Gann, who is perhaps the best runner in the district, found it tough sledding as the Bulldog defenders kept him pretty well in check.

The three quarter was scoreless, but McCaulley managed to click again later in the fourth quarter with Bobby Austin ripping across from the two to climax a 30 yard drive. Neither of the McCaulley conversion attempts was successful.

The Bulldogs put forth a great effort defensively, and their offense was handicapped by snow on the ground, which contributed to eight fumbles. Actually, the game was not as close as the score indicates as Ira held the upperhand throughout.

This week, Ira will get a 1-0 forfeit victory over Divide.

Oilers Stand In New York's Title Path

New York is a slight favorite to turn back a loser to become a winner for the first time, but the Western Division race is expected to remain as tight as ever in American Football League activity Sunday.

The Jets, 6-2, who have never won an Eastern Division crown, can just about sew it up when they play host to suddenly-revived Houston.

The Oilers have only a 4-5 record—but that's good enough for second place in the mismatched Eastern race. A victory would almost certainly assure New York the title since that would give Houston four more losses than the Jets with only four games to play.

Things are just the opposite in the Western chase, where Kansas City, 7-2, holds only a half-game edge over Oakland, 6-2, and San Diego, 62.

And, the complexion of that race isn't expected to change much Sunday because all three are paired against weaker foes—Kansas City travels to Cincinnati, 2-7; Oakland is at Denver, 4-4, and San Diego is at Boston, 3-5. Miami, 2-5-1, goes to Buffalo, 1-7-1, in the day's other game.

Over in the National League, Pittsburgh, 2-6, is at St. Louis, 5-3; New Orleans, 3-5, at Cleveland, 5-3; Baltimore, 7-1, at Detroit, 4-4-1; Washington, 3-5 at Philadelphia, 0-8; Green Bay, 3-4-1, at Minnesota, 4-4; Los Angeles, 7-1, at Atlanta, 1-7; New York, 5-3, at Dallas, 7-1 and San Francisco, 4-4, at Chicago, 4-4.

Despite their poor record, the Oilers have been coming on strong of late thanks to former Baylor star Don Trull, who has moved from the taxi squad to the No. 1 quarterback role.

Trull, traded away by the Oilers to Boston last year then reacquired when the Patriots dropped him, has been an impressive replacement for the ailing Pete Beathard and ineffective Bob Davis.

He has started in Houston's last two victories, and has fired six touchdowns passes in 10 quarters. Two of those makers came three weeks ago in the final quarter of a game with the Jets. New York needed a dramatic last-minute drive, directed by Joe Namath, to win that one.

Meanwhile, Namath has been troubled with interceptions all season, and he hasn't thrown a touchdown pass in five games. But New York hasn't missed him much—the Jets have won their last four.

Kansas City, stunned by Oakland 38-21 last week in losing its six-game victory streak, shouldn't have much trouble with Cincinnati, although quarterback Len Dawson, who has a bruised thigh, is a questionable starter. The Chiefs whipped the Bengals 133 earlier.

Oakland, however, may have some difficulties with Denver, which has developed a winning combination now that quarterback Steve Tensi, receiver Al Denson and halfback Floyd Little are recovered from injuries.

The Broncos have won four of their last five games. The Raiders also have quarterback troubles—Daryle Lamonica is hobbled with a knee injury.

Boston undoubtedly will have a frenzied afternoon trying to contain San Diego's explosive attack, guided by John Hadl.

The Chargers are the league's highest scoring outfit with 253 points in eight games and are averaging 423.6 yards per outing.

The only thing at stake in the buffalo-Miami match is last place in the Eastern Division. The two played to a 14-14 deadlock in an earlier meeting this season.

Game, Not Name Counts

HONOLULU (AP) — Spiro T. Ellsworth? Or maybe Kenny Tufts?

Well, Ken Ellsworth's name may not exactly be a household word—hardly surprising since he never played in a pro tour golf tournament before—but you will find it leading the pack at the halfway mark of the Hawaiian International today.

Young Ellsworth, of Los Angeles, a month out of PGA school, husky, handsome and single, posted a 67 Friday in the second round over the 7,000-yard par 72 Waialae course on the slopes of Diamond Head, and took a one-stroke lead with a total of 133. He had 66 Thursday.

A stroke back was another Californian, Dick Lotz, who shot 69 after an opening 65. That gave him 134, the same total recorded by opening-round leader George Archer, another Californian, who shot a 70 Friday after a course record-equalling 64 on Thursday.

New Home Overtakes Hermleigh

NEW HOME — Stanley Gill and Jimmy Fillingim, New Home's 1-2 punch, teamed up here Friday night to lead the host Leopards past Hermleigh's tough Cardinals 28-14 in a District 6-B skirmish.

Gill got the Leopard's first score on a 35 yard touchdown run, in the second period, then Fillingim passed to Roy Smith for the extra points.

Hermleigh tied it up on a nifty 60-yard run by All-District candidate Tom Chorn just before intermission, and a two point bonus ran by Burton Sandefur.

The visiting Cardinals grabbed the lead in the third period when Sandefur got loose on a 30-yard touchdown run, but the bid for conversion points missed.

New Home went ahead, 16-14, late in the third quarter when Fillingim scored on a 4-yard burst, then passed to Dennis Fenton for two points.

Gill got the last touchdown on a 12-yard run.

The pros drafted a total of 38 seniors from the Southeastern Conference in the 1968 pool of college players.

BIG GAINER — Determined runs like these by Snyder's David McGinnis put the host Levelland Lobos on the ropes early in their District 3-AAA gridiron clash. The Tyger senior fullback scored two touchdowns and gained 183 yards on 23 runs. On this play, David dragged an unidentified Lobo tackler 10 yards before Larry Harder (14) could come up with an assist.

Bearkats Nip Gail 30 To 16

GAIL — Garden City's Bearkats took advantage of its opportunities for a 30-16 triumph over the Borden County Coyotes in a game that was much closer than the score indicates.

There were four inches of snow cleared off the field prior to kickoff and wet turf contributed to some fumbles.

After a scoreless first period, each team crossed the goal twice in the second frame. Gail got its TD on an 8-yard pass, Guy Zant to Gary Wilkerson, then Zant passed to Jimmy Hodge for extra points. The Bearkats got six points on a 3-yard run by David Hillger and a run for bonus points by Steve Hirst.

Hillger ripped off a 6-yard scoring run and a 4-yard scoring blast in the third period. Hirst added the two-points on a run after the 6-yarder.

Gail scored in the third quarter on a 52-yard pass and run play, Zant to Wilkerson, and Hodge caught an aerial from Zant for extra points.

Trailing 16-22 going into the final frame, Gail saw their hopes vanish when Garden City recovered a fumble on the Coyote 20 after a punt. The visitors drove in from there with Hirt passing to Roger Lange for 16 yards and the touchdown. Hillger ran over for the extra points.

Defensively, Glenn Perry, an end, and guard Frank Carreno played outstandingly. Carreno had perhaps the best game of his career.

Next, the Coyotes visit Klondike.

LONG RUNBACK — Snyder's Randy Levens returns a punt 53 yards during the explosive first period by the Tigers at Levelland Friday night. Closing in for the tackle are Mike Stansifer (64) and Darrell McKnight (34). Randy also took a pass from Lee McNair on a 44-yard scoring play in the same period as the Bengals racked up 23 points in the opening frame to take a 23-21 decision in the District 3-AAA football tussle.

Minnesota, Chicago Share Central Lead

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

With Green Bay in the unusual position of playing catch up, the Central Division holds the spotlight in Sunday's National Football League play as the other division leaders are favored. The defending champion Packers, stung with a 3-4-1 record, figure to have no easy task when they travel to Minnesota, a team which has always given the Packers rough treatment and upended them in the second week of the season.

The Vikings presently are 4-4, a record good enough to tie for the division lead with Chicago in the tangled race. The Bears also are expected to have their hands full against visiting San Francisco, 4-4. Detroit, 3-4-1, must face Baltimore and that makes the Lions an underdog.

With only a half game separating the four teams, any one-two could wind up on top alone after this ninth week of the 14-game season.

In the Coastal Division Baltimore and Los Angeles each stand at 7-1 and are expected to finish the day still tied with the Rams ruling a solid favorite at Atlanta.

Dallas, 7-2, can all but wrap up the Capitol Division title with an expected victory over the visiting second place New York Giants, 5-3.

Cleveland and St. Louis, each 5-3 in the Century Division, are favored to remain that way with the Browns hosting Alex Webster's Giants and St. Louis entertaining Pittsburgh.

Washington plays at winless Philadelphia in the other contest.

In the American League the New York Jets entertain Houston, San Diego travels to Boston, Miami is at Buffalo, Kansas City plays at Cincinnati and Oakland invades Denver.

As if the Vikings and their 3-2 record against Green Bay since 1961 isn't enough for the Packers to worry about, they also are troubled by kicking problems, which have helped cost them several victories this season. Booted are Don Chandler has been mentioned as a solution, but still hasn't signed.

Green Bay still has a healthy Bart Starr throwing and he might have his hands full solving Minnesota's tough defense that featured seven defensive backs in obvious passing situation against Washington last week.

Chicago once again will start rookie quarterback Virgil Carter, who with plenty of support from Gale Sayers and kicker Mac Percival, guided the Bears past the Packers last week. The defense will have to stop San Francisco's John Brodie to Clifton McNeil passing combination.

Earl Morrall will start again for Baltimore against one of his old clubs and will be aided by one of the league's best defenses along with the absence of the Lions' injured Mel Farr.

St. Louis with four straight victories behind young Jim Hart, can expect plenty of problems with the rejuvenated Steelers, who have won two in a row with Dick Shiner after six losses. Although the Steelers have won only one of the last nine meetings between the clubs, most of the battles have been cliff-hangers.

New Orleans will have Karl Sweetan replacing injured Bill Kilmer at quarterback while the Browns have won four of five behind Bill Nelsen and Leroy Kelly.

Hulme Is Best Bet

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — If qualifying runs mean anything, Denis Hulme has the $40,000 top money in the Canadian-American Challenge Cup race series locked up.

Hulme raced his McLaren M8A Chevrolet to a course record Friday to lead qualifiers for the $80,000 Stardust Grand Prix, last race on the six-race Can-Am tour. The winner here gets $9,000.

But Hulme has 24 points and leads the Can-Am series by three points over boss Bruce McLaren and Mark Donohue.

Teammates Hulme and McLaren, New Zealanders who race out of Bucks, England, drive the same type of car. Donohue, of Media, Pa., drives a McLaren M6B Chevrolet but all three have aluminum 427 cubic inch engines.

McLaren turned 119.36 m.p.h. for second in Friday's runs and Donohue was third with 117.20.

Jim Hall, Midland, Tex., who drives a new Chaparral 2H Chevy, had mechanical trouble early and qualified later in 12th spot. He trailed such name drivers as Dan Gurney, Mario Andretti and Jerry Titus.

Gurney, who normally waits until the last minute to qualify, was out on the course early Friday and was 9th in the field.

The 210-mile road race Sunday will be 70 times around the three-mile, 10-turn course. All but six of Friday's top 20 cars were Chevrolets.

Colts Blank Baylor 10-0

DALLAS (AP) — Gordon Gilder's three-yard touchdown run and Randy Dossett's 32-yard field goal gave the Southern Methodist Colts a 10-0 mud-splattered Southwest Conference freshman victory over Baylor Friday.

The Colts are now 2-2 for the season and the Cubs are winless in four games.

Favorites Triumphant

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dallas South Oak Cliff, Henderson, Iowa Park, and Poth—the first-ranked teams in the top four divisions of Texas schoolboy football—emerged victorious Friday night.

Dallas South Oak Cliff, the top-ranked Class AAAA had a scare from Dallas Sunset on a muddy field before prevailing 14-8. Second-ranked Galveston all scored an impressive 45-10 victory over Lamar Consolidated and stands an excellent chance to press the Golden Bears for the top spot in the rankings next week. Third ranked Austin Reagan, the defending state champion, eased past Austin Johnston 10-0.

Tough Henderson, the No. 1 Class AAA club, smashed Nacogdoches 26-0 while second-ranked Refugio kept pace with a 21-0 victory over Pleasanton. Third ranked Alvin and fourth-ranked Lubbock Estacado did not play Friday night, but the fifth-ranked Ennis Lions shined with a thorough 47-0 drubbing of Terrell. Sixth-ranked Mission was in a 76 squeaker over Weslaco.

Top-ranked Iowa Park of Class AA ripped Quanah 28-0 to put a strong anchor on its top position. The stunner in Class AA was second-ranked Crane's 12-6 loss to Reagan County. Third-ranked San Antonio Randolph rolled 40-0 over San Antonio Cole. Fourth-ranked Phillips blasted Spearman 55-14 and fifth-ranked Olton defeated Friona 28-0.

In Class A, the mighty Poth Pirates thundered on with a 41-0 smearing of Stockdale. A stunning upset occurred in Dist 2A where third-ranked Clarendon was slapped 13-7 by Wheeler.

SUPERSONIC STAR

Rule Handles Russell

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

BOSTON (AP) — Bill Russell, the Boston Celtics' player-coach who revolutionized pro basketball with his defensive play way back when, still may be able to psyche some newcomers but not Bob Rule of the Seattle SuperSonics.

Rule, who averaged 21 points in seven games against the Celtics last year, once again showed Russell little respect Friday night as he led Seattle to a 114-112 National Basketball Association victory over Boston.

The 6-foot-9 pro sophomore from Colorado State U. manhandled Russell as he scored 37 points, including 26 in the second half and 11 straight as Seattle was coming from behind in the final period.

In other NBA games, Detroit nipped San Francisco 122-118 in overtime, Atlanta whipped San Diego 101 and Los Angeles edged New York 102-100. There were no games in the American Basketball Association.

With Boston in front 110-109 and 59 seconds left, Rule cashed four straight free throws to lift the Sonics to only their fourth triumph in 13 starts.

Russell, who scored 12 points, was credited with 20 rebounds, five more than Rule, but most observers agreed that the Seattle center had control of the backboards.

Baskets by Jimmy Walker and Dave Bing in the final two minutes of overtime enabled Detroit to squeeze past San Francisco. Walker had tied the game 112-all with 45 seconds remaining in regulation time.

Lou Hudson's 29 points carried Atlanta past San Diego, ending the Rockets' three-game winning streak. Elvin Hayes scored 26 for the losers. The Hawks were aided by Jim Davis, who filled in for the injured Zelmo Beaty with 17 points and 18 rebounds.

Jerry West drilled in the last nine points—including a pair of free throws with three seconds left—to give Los Angeles its victory over New York and firmer hold on first place in the Western Division.

The Knicks watched a 52-48 halftime lead disappear, then used a brilliant fourth quarter shooting exhibition by Dick Barnett to roar from an eight-point deficit to a 93-93 tie wth 3:09 left.

Willis Reed and Barnett traded baskets with West until it was tied 100-100. Then Howie Komives fouled West with three seconds left as the Lake guard drove in for a jump shot.

West finished with 29 points and Elgin Baylor contributed 16. Barnett and Reed each had 22 for New York.

They Ain't Left Footed

JOLIET, Ill. (AP) — Bill Allen of Orlando, Fla., paced a quartet of southpaws Friday in the opening day of the $30,000 Joliet Open of the Professional Bowlers Association.

Allen, who has a record of 13 tournament victories including four this year, took the lead with a toal of 2,687 including a top game of 289.

Don Glover of Bakersfield, Calif., was second with 2,633 followed by Mike McGragh, El Cerrito, Calif., with 2,584 and Paul Cevgolis, Hopewell, Va., with 2,568.

All four leaders are lefthanders. The tournament continues Saturday with 12 more games. The top 16 bowlers vie for the top prize of $3,000 in Sunday's match-game finals.

Garza Leads Blackwell Past Hobbs

BLACKWELL — Rudy Garza led Blackwell's Hornets to their eighth straight District 3-B Six-Man gridiron triumph here Friday night, as the hosts turned back Hobbs' Panthers 35-8.

Rudy scored on runs of 71, 28 and 31 yards. The Hornets' other touchdowns resulted from a 24 yard run by Layne Jackson and an 18 yard run by Wayne Poehls. Kenneth Crane and Jimmy Brewer added the extra points, which included two successful kicks and a run.

Doug Pierce sliced over from the nine in the second period for Hobbs' only touchdown.

New Variations Of The Pill Being Studied By Scientists

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

Today's advanced new science of birth control is giving birth to its own large new family of scientific "children."

The Pill and the IUD—intrauterine devices—are top results from this modern contraceptive science.

But already on the way is a second generation of new approaches—at least five of them—that may bring safe and sure newer methods of birth control:

—Micro or mini-dose pills that may cause fewer unwanted reactions than the present pills.

—Single-shot injections or implanted hormone capsules that might prevent pregnancy for months to a year or many years.

—"Morning after" pills for women who don't take or who forgot regular pills.

—Contraceptive pills for men.

—Vaccinations for women, or even men, against conception.

These promising developments are based upon deepening understanding of the intricate and delicate processes through which within a woman's body, an ovum or egg is prepared and released each month for possible fertilization, and upon numerous other conditions that contribute to a successful marriage of the ovum and viable sperm.

"Considering the myriad steps and interdependent actions which must take place for conception, it is almost unbelievable that the (human) species has been able to reproduce itself at a rate which threatens world safety," says Dr. Harry W. Rudel of the Population Council in New York City.

The better insights being won into these complicated actions offer now new and different ways of interrupting the process.

The IUD—for reasons not yet clearly known—prevents pregnancy, perhaps by preventing a fertilized egg from becoming implanted in the lining of the uterus or womb. IUD's are plastic or stainless steel coils that are inserted into the uterus.

The present pills are either a combination or a sequence of synthetic forms of two key female hormones, estrogen and progesterone. These pills prevent ovulation, the monthly release of an egg.

Here is an accounting of five major lines of research:

Micro- or mini-dose pills:

These contain only a progestin, one of the synthetic forms of progesterone. The woman taking them still releases an egg at the usual time in her monthly cycle, but she does not become pregnant.

Taken every day, such pills do not interfere with her normal balance of natural hormones Dr. Rudel explains. But her fertility is affected in a desired way.

Exactly how the small daily doses of potent progestin do this is not known. But egg and sperm, when and if they meet, do not start new life.

This mini-dose technique, first demonstrated in animals, has been proved out in tests on women by several research teams.

A drawback to the mini-dose pills is that they frequently cause irregular bleeding and irregularities in the monthly cycle. Advantages are that hopefully they do not produce changes in the bloodclotting mechanism that might bring on dangerous blood clots, nor do they cause as many other side effects as present pills.

With mini-dose pills, a woman doesn't have to keep the calendar in mind. She takes them every day, not for 20 or 21 days and then a week's halt.

"Shots," and Hormone implants:

Since mini-doses work, another approach is to put the doses all together into a long-lasting single injection or implant.

At the Population Council, Dr's Rudel, Sheldon J. Segal and Howard J. Tatum are developing a Silastic capsule filled with a progestin. This kind of porous capsule permits steady, daily release of a little bit of the hormone.

Sealed at both ends, the Silastic capsule is about an inch long and about twice the diameter of the lead in a pencil. It can be placed under the skin with a needle under local anesthetic.

The capsule could contain enough hormone to prevent pregnancy for a year or even many years. It could easily be removed when a woman decided she wanted to have a baby.

Hormonal balance studies to determine the proper dose of progestin to put into such capsules are starting soon, and human tests with capsules may begin later this year.

Morning-After Pills:

On the horizon, from testing in animals and with some women, are morning-after pills in case of oversight or forgetfulness. Dr. John M. Morris of Yale University and Dr. Gertrude van Wagenen have been among leaders in this quest.

They are studying pills containing large doses of estrogen, or synthetic estrogens, or drugs that have similar effects. If taken within three or four days after the time when conception might have occurred during a women's fertile period, these pills apparently prevent the fertilized egg from becoming implanted in the uterus.

Male Pills:

Safe drugs that men could take that would prevent production of spermatazoa, or that would make sperms less vital, are being sought, and some potential candidates are looming from newer animal experiments.

A few years, ago, prison volunteers took drugs—diamine compounds — which were found to stop sperm production within six to 10 weeks time. Normal fertility was restored five to 12 weeks after they stopped the pill-taking.

Vaccination:

One curious finding of newer research is that some women become immune to pregnancy because they produce antibodies to their husbands' sperms. This reaction is similar to that of faccination, with living or killed viruses or bacteria, against diseases.

This line of investigation holds two potentials. One is to help some few baby-less women achieve their dreams of becoming mothers. The other is to use this phenomenon as a means of vaccinating women or men, against having more children than they want and already have.

CAREER CORNER

By F. J. LAIN

Miss Lain awards a Mercury portable, courtesy of the Royal Typewriter Co., to R. Horner, Sioux City, Ia., for his request:

Please discuss the occupation of stockbroker — education needed, daily work procedure, earnings."

A — "Stockbroker" is another name for the securities salesmen or saleswoman who puts the market machinery into operation when an investor buys or sells stocks, bonds, or shares in mutual funds. Whatever he's called — customers' broker, registered representative, account executive — the smart stockbroker who is a people-liker can have a blue chip career in the money game.

BROKERAGE BOOM. Brokerage revenues (about $5 billion this year) and profits are so healthy that the Government wants to whack commissions on large orders and eliminate entirely the fixed minimum commission system. "Nay, nay," Wall Street spokesmen reply, "it's ok like it is." However the controversy turns out, barring an unexpected economic slump, the future looks bullish for brokers.

IT'S UPHILL AT FIRST. You may need a little subsidy while becoming a broker because it takes awhile (say. . . five years) to build a clientele. The turnover tends to be high among beginners. The brokerage firm provides a training salary, and later a draw against future commissions, but it's rarely over $500 a month, and frequently less. Because it's pleasant work and contacts are helpful, this field's a magnet for "coupon-clippers," the money fringe, and sports figures. Even after you're established, the securities industry reacts to the national economy's ups and downs.

JOBSCOPE. A broker relays a buy or sell order to the department in accordance with firm's order room or trading department in accordance with the customer's wishes, notifying the customer when the transaction is completed. The broker also gives information regarding securities, market conditions, history and prospects of various corporations to customers. To the neophyte, the broker may explain the meaning of market terms and trading practices. To the seasoned money game player, he may offer suggestions about the purchase or sale of a particular stock.

OTHER DUTIES include furnishing customers with the latest quotations as well as information about the activities and financial postions of corporations. The broker must spend considerable time doing research as well as climbing over paper mountains. Although he is usually in the office during the stock market hours (10:00 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Eastern time), he may arrange his own working schedule.

EDUCATION. Although some senior partners of major firms started as messenger boys sans schooling, most men and women becoming securities brokers today are college graduates. A bachelor's degree in business, economics or liberal arts (with business courses) is one preferred preparation; a liberal arts education in undergraduate school topped with a master's degree in business or finance is ideal. Almost all States require securities brokers to be licensed, and most firms have on-the-job training programs of six months or longer. Trainees must pass written exams and character investigations.

CAPITAL GAINS. Earnings are mostly through commissions, although some firms pay salaries and-or year-end bonuses. In 1967, full time brokers generally earned between $8-17,000, while crack salesmen earned $25,000 and up. Highly successful brokers command very large incomes.

JAMES E. DELANEY

K-F To Hear Fitness Specialist

It may seem paradoxial that members of a dinner club would invite a physical fitness specialist to be their guest, who would tell them what to eat, how to eat and not to eat, but that is exactly the situation next Thursday at 7 p.m. when the Scurry County Knife & Fork club gets together at the Snyder Country Club. Their guest is James E. Delaney, who now makes his home in Sherman Oaks, Calif., near Los Angeles.

Delaney has been a physical fitness specialist for a number of years and one of his most consistent tasks is to keep the working personnel of big corporations in good condition. Among his clients are Rocketdyne, a division of North American Aviation; Douglas Aircraft, McCullock Motors, Fairchild Engines and other large industrial firms.

Delaney is a natural in his profession and has been engaged in the work ever since graduation from Marquette University in 1950 where he majored in Industrial Relations with a minor in Speech. It is this combination which has made him among the nation's most highly desired lecturers on the subject of better living through diet and exercise.

Delaney is also an author and his book "The Key to Physical Fitness Through Planned Exercise" is now in its fourth printing. It has been the "bible" for thousands who believe exercise is the best way to keep physically fit for a better and longer life.

Delaney also is a fellow who believes in "taking the medicine I prescribe for others." He is a man of unbounded energy and enthusiasm.

His subject here, fittingly, will be "How to Be a Ball of Fire."

Reservations may be made by calling Ruby Anderson at 572-9975.

Gun Dealers Face More Paperwork

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's gun dealers face even more paperwork when selling firearms and ammunition after Dec. 16 than Congress called for in the Gun Control Act of 1968.

The statute as it passed Congress requires that dealers record the name, age and address of every purchaser of a gun or ammunition.

The Internal Revenue Service charged with enforcing the law, says in proposed regulations issued this week that the information is enough for ammunition purchasers, but not for buyers of weapons.

When selling a gun, storekeepers must also record place of birth, height, weight and race.

The proposed regulations will go into effect with the law Dec. 16 unless the IRS changes them.

The dealers also will occasionally have to do a little over-the-counter lawyering.

The new law prohibits selling a weapon to a person from an other state, unless it's an adjoining state.

Even then the sale is permissible only if the dealer knows a similar sale back in the buyer's home town would not be against the laws of his state or a county or municipal ordinance.

To guide them through this legal thicket, IRS will furnish every licensed dealer with an IRS-produced book that is touted as an encyclopaedia of every weapons law and ordinance in the country. Estimated thickness: 200 pages.

Candidate Doubts Honesty Of Voters

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — J. P. Strom, chief of South Carolina's state law enforcement division, says, "A man who ran for office and got beat Tuesday phoned me and wanted to use our lie detectors for a few days.

"He told me that beore the election everybody he saw said they were going to vote for him. He said he wanted to put them all on the lie detector to see who was lying.

"I had to turn him down. That could really start something."

Sen. Morse Out After 24 Years

By GORDON G. MACNAB
Associated Press Writer

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Oregon voters turned Sen. Wayne Morse out of office after 24 years and replaced him with a vigorous young Republican but it took three days of ballot-counting to learn it.

The election of Robert Packwood, 36, became definite Friday.

Packwood's victory had seemed probable since shortly after the polls closed Tuesay but not until Morse's home county finished its counting of absentee votes was the outcome certain. He needed overwhelming support there and did not get it.

Even now the challenge is not ended. A recount demand by Morse is almost sure.

Packwood wound up with 405,573 votes to Morse's 402,035. The lead of 3,538 is .43 of one per cent of the votes cast.

It was Oregon's closest senatorial race since Democrat Richard Neuberger ousted Sen. Guy Cordon in 1954 in a cliff-hanger that took 48 hours of counting to reach a decision.

Packwood, a Portland lawyer, served three terms in the Oregon Legislature but was not widely known to the voters when he announced last February he was after the Republican senatorial nomination.

Few thought in the early campaigning he had a chance to beat Morse. But Morse had trouble in the primary with a popular opponent, ran into bitter opposition from some Democrats who thought he had let them down by supporting Republican Mark Hatfield for the Senate two years ago, and lost some of his labor support.

After a televised debate in October it was apparent that Packwood, an articulate speaker, had caught the fancy of many independents and Democrats.

As ballot counting started Tuesday night, Packwood jumped in front. His lead sometimes wavered but never disappeared.

The outcome was finally decided by the slow tallying of absentee ballots. Some 1,800 of these remain but they cannot now affect the outcome.

The official canvass, to be announced Dec. 5, or the recount Morse is sure to ask, are the only hopes left for the senator whose bushy eyebrows, biting tongue, liberal views and maverik ways made him one of the Senate's most widely known figures.

Morse was one of the two senators to vote against the Tonkin Gulf resolution which President Johnson says gave him the authority to wage the Vietnam war. However, Morse's opposition to the war was not a major issue in the campaining.

Packwood capitalized on what he called Morse's intemperate attacks on all who opposed him. He said on one occasion he was less opposed to some of the things Morse did than the way he did them. He said Morse had alienated his friends and was no longer an effective senator.

Cape Readies For Lunar Orbit Trip

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —Apollo 8's three astronauts are expected to get approval next week for a 250,000-mile Christmas season trip around the moon.

The final word will come possibly Tuesday from Dr. Thomas O. Paine, acting administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Paine said the decision would be made "after a thorough assessment of the total risks involved and the total gains to be realized in this next step toward a manned lunar landing."

Other space officials have said all studies up to date indicate there is no barrier to attempting a moon orbit journey. Preparations at Cape Kennedy have been directed at a lunar orbit mission.

If the green light is given for the moon, Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr., and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders will blast off at 7:51 a.m. EST Dec. 21.

The Saturn 5 is to boost the astronauts on a so-called "free return" path which would enable the space travelers to come back to earth if their en inge back to earth if their engine failed during the quarter-million-mile coast to the moon.

On this course, they would loop around the moon and come home without orbiting.

If all went well, the astronauts would near the moon 69 hours after launching and would fire the engine to inject Apollo 8 into an orbit ranging between 69 and 195 miles above the moon's surface. Four hours later they would change the orbit so that both high and low points would be 69 miles.

The spaceship would orbit the moon 10 times in 20 hours, with its course calculated to take it over the five sites being considered for the first manned lunar landing.

The astronauts would take several hundred pictures of the sites to give future moon explorers a closeup look at the areas they will explore, hopefully next year.

Some time Christmas morning, 89 hours after launching, the spacemen would trigger their engine to start the long voyage home, climaxed by a fiery re-entry through the earth's atmosphere and splash-down in the Pacific Ocean.

Screwworm Infection Kills Woman

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Gregoria Castillo, 41, died today of what doctors said was infection by screwworms—a fly-caused ailment normally confined to livestock and some wild animals.

Officials said it was a very rare case of screwworms in a human. The infection was confirmed by laboratory methods.

Mrs. Castillo, wife of a Pleasanton, Tex., laborer and mother of two, was admitted to Santa Rosa Medical Center here Sunday night after physicians failed to halt recurrent nosebleeds that began while she was working in a field late last month.

The victim lapsed into a coma shortly after she entered the hospital. She also was a diabetic.

Only Friday, an eye, ear, nose and throat specialist treating Mrs. Castillo said her chances for survival were only one in five.

The doctor said any drug strong enough to kill the screwworms probably would be fatal to the patient.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

By JOHN ABNEY

HACIENDA VISTA HERMOSA, Mexico — The morning sun scatters fresh gold across the gardens of this ancient sugar mill. Birds set up an early song in the trees outside my window.

I am thinking seriously of buying this place if I ever become a millionaire. But someone beat me to it.

A few years back, some sharp operators discovered the ruins of the old hacienda. It once belonged to Hernam Cortes, the conqueror of Mexico. He operated it as a huge sugar plantation, according to the story.

So these gentlemen bought it and began making some repairs. Stoned up the walls where they were fallen. Patched roofs and put in glamorous colonial-type rooms.

They landscaped the grounds and it now is like an osasis in the midst of arid country.

The old aqueduct no longer carries water to the fields. But it arches pleasantly through the big swimming pool. One crumbling section has a huge prickly pear cactus growing out of it. A favorite with the photographic ladies and gentlemen who come here.

The dining room used to be a storage section for cut sugar cane. There are trees and plants growing out of the walls and the roof is partially gone.

This was left as is for atmosphere. You sit at heavy wooden tables in heavy wooden chairs. The waiters pad softly around and serve you like ghosts from the day of Cortes.

Outside the hacienda is the world. Separated from us by the thick stone walls surrounding the place.

The huge gate with the brass bells stands guard over the peace and quiet of the inside. In the old days they rang the bells to call the workers from the fields at sunset. Or to sound the alarm in case of an attack.

Everyone came scurrying up and entered through the heavy iron bar gate. For inside was safety as it is today.

The safety today is from what is going on in the world. Outside, you have all sorts of things.

Inside there is no war, no crisis, no political situation and nothing in the line of problems.

Gorgeous maidens leap in and out of the cool, blue waters of the swimming pool. They lie on the grass on straw mats and pick up a golden tan. Sit up occasionelly to rub on a bit of oil. Turn over and baste the other side.

Waiters step smartly around the swimming pool and take orders for tall glasses of vitamin.

The cantina doe a brisk busines and keep the clienta happy.

In the back is a pint-size bull rung where rodeos and occasional bull fights are held. The bulls are small and the fighters are mostly long on ambition but short on talent. Still, it is fun.

Sitting around the ring in the rows of concrete seats you have a view of the gentle valley that spills downhill. Once a mass of cane field from which Mr. Cortes squeezed his sugar.

Today it is just scenery. There are patches of growing green from the evening thunder showers that come with plays of lightning after dark. The time when you can sleep like an infant while the thunder rolls and echos off the mountains.

Small wonder nobody ever wants to go home.

One Absentee Ballot Couldn't Be Counted

ST. LOUIS (AP) — There was one absentee ballot the St. Louis Board of Election Commissioners didn't count Friday.

"Help," pleaded a note in a ballot envelope mailed from a serviceman. "I am being held prisoner against my will in an Army duffel bag."

Johnson Cabinet Appointees Quit

By G. DAVID WALLACE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert C. Weaver, first Negro Cabinet member in history, is expected to be the next top ranking official to quit President Johnson's service, following Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach and Secretary of Treasury Henry B. Fowler.

Katzenbach and Fowler handed in their resignations Friday becoming the first to follow the traditional practice of high presidential appointees whose boss is leaving office.

Weaver, secretary of housing and urban development, reportedly is planning to leave before the end of the year to become president of the Bernard Baruch School of Administration in New York.

Nearly all of the other top men say they plan to stay on until the inauguration of Richard M. Nixon or—as Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark put it—"until the bell rings."

Nixon has not disclosed any of his Cabinet choices, but he said during the campaign that they might include a Democrat or two.

No member of the Cabinet in recent times has been held over by an incoming administration of a different party.

Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman one of the three holdovers from the original Kennedy Cabinet, plans to join EDP, a Washington-based computer consultant firm. Secretary of State Dean Rusk, who joined the Cabinet from the Ford Foundation, has told friends he wants to relax for awhile.

The other eight-year-man, Interior Secretary Stuart L. Udall, couldn't be reached.

Katzenbach, who left a specific date for his departure up to the President, is going to become vice president and general counsel for IBM, State Department officials said.

Fowler, whose resignation becomes effective about Dec. 20, said, "I wanted to have an opportunity to explore and negotiate definitively with persons I haven't had a chance to talk to in firm terms."

Wilbur J. Cohen, secretary of health, education and welfare, told a news conference Friday he plans to return to the University of Michigan to teach, but added he'll stay till the end of Johnson's term.

Cabinet members who have indicated they'll stay to the end but haven't revealed their post-inauguration plans yet are Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz, Transportation Secretary Alan Boyd, Postmaster General W. Marvin Watson, Commerce Secretary C. R. Smith, and U.N. Ambassador J. R. Wiggins.

Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford, a key man in the Vietnam war strategy "has every intention of staying until Jan. 20," aides said.

City Plans New Dog Control Vote

NEWBERG, Ore. (AP) — They are planning a new dog control vote in Newberg.

The ballot last Tuesday carried this question:

"Check one:

"For dogs running at large—Yes.

"Against dogs running at large—No."

The no box was checked by 1211 voters, the yes box by 437.

But City Atty. George Layman said: "The votes do not mean a thing. No matter how residents voted, they were in favor of dogs running at large.

"The ballot must have been written by a dog lover."

CAREER HAS NEW DIRECTION

Kate Smith - A Star Reborn

EDITOR's NOTE—When President Franklin D. Roosevelt introduced her to the king and queen of England, he said("This is Kate Smith; this is America." Kate Smith, born Kathryn Eliabeth Smith, was "America" since her first radio broadcast in 1931. Now, television variety shows have given her career a new direction.

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Kate Smith, after five decades of reaching hearts and lifting spirits with her rich singing voice, now finds herself in what she calls "the most rewarding period of my life."

Television's current passion or variety shows in assorted forms has given her long, successful entertainment career new direction and fresh stimulus. The songbird of the South, the woman who has moved that moon over thousands of mountains, has become a jet-age wandering minstrel.

With the television season still young, she already has appeared as guest star on "Music Hall" and "The Beautiful Phyllis Diller Show." Now it's "The Smothers Brothers" and on Nov. 27 there comes the "Jonathan Winters Show."

Later there will be "Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In"—"I don't know what they'll want me to do, but it probably will be fun"—"Hollywood Palace" and, perhaps her favorite work-week of the season, "The Dean Martin Show."

It was only four years ago that Kate, crushed and feeling inadequate after the death of her long-time business partner and manager, Ted Collins, was seriously contemplating retirement.

The "new" Kate—maybe not all new but a Kate Smith who is 57 pounds lighter than last season's model — is so busy that her public relations man, George Bennett, complains mildly that he only sees her when she's being interviewed.

She flies to the coast for a week or two of television work with the casual air of a suburban commuter catching his morning train. She makes a minimum of three record albums a year. She takes on a concert date when the spirit moves her or the place interests her. She has no money problems.

After Collins' death, Kate—Kathryn to her friends—decided to leave New York and its memories and take up residence near the place in which she grew up. She took a long lease on an apartment in a Washington suburb and moved—furniture, wardrobe and her collections.

"Then, all of a sudden, I started working so much that I never had time to get there," she said. "In the two-and-one-half years I had the place, I spent 16 weeks there. I figured it had to be the most expensive closet space in the world—and I was stuck a lot of the time in hotel rooms in New York. So I moved back."

In her off-hours, she prowls the antique stores of the city and also manages to reserve plenty of time during the warm months to spend at her beloved second home on an island in Lake Placid, N.Y. Much of her time, too, is spent handling the financial affairs of Kated, the corporation she formed with Collins, which owns not only Kate Smith, performer, but real estate and other properties.

Two years ago Kate was invited to tape a TV show in London's Palladium and Miss Smith, at 57, made her first trip abroad. Later she flew to Rome for an audience with Pope Paul VI—the high point of her visit since she was converted to Roman Catholicism some three years ago.

Over the years she introduced some 700 songs that became hits, but the one most closely associated with her is "God Bless America," Irving Berlin's patriotic number which she introduced 30 years ago.

Miss Smith, who will be 60 next May, has been singing before audiences since she was 9. She became a professional at 18. Appearing in her second Broadway show, she was spotted by Ted Collins, a record company representative, who signed her to a recording contract. Two weeks later, with merely a handshake, they formed their long partnership.

She made her radio debut at 22 and the show went on for years. She starred in a TV show for five years, quitting the medium in 1955. A year later, after an Ed Sullivan guest shot, the network was deluged with almost 400,000 letters imploring her to return to regular broadcasting.

What, after all she has had, does she want from life?

"Just to keep the pace I have now," she said. "I am very happy."

SMU Science Courses To Be Televised

DALLAS (AP) — Southern Methodist University has agreed to share engineering and science courses for degree credit with five other schools through television, a spokesman has announced.

Dean Thomas L. Martin of the SMU Institute of Technology said the arrangement may produce from 100 to 200 more bachelor's degrees in engineering each year.

The new program, called Metrotech, will make it possible for students who work and live outside the area to complete their degrees, the dean said.

Schools participating are SMU, Austin College at Sherman, The Southwest Center for Advanced Studies in Richardson, University of Dallas at Irving and Texas Christian University at Fort Worth.

The dean said Texas Wesleyan College at Fort Worth and Bishop College at Dallas may ask for membership by January.

He said the University of Texas at Arlington and East Texas State University at Commerce were considering participation. The state schools must get the approval of the State Coordinating Board for Higher Education.

Most of the schools in Metrotech also are members of TAGER, an existing program for sharing instruction through television that includes area industries.

Texas Will Rate Low In Welfare

By JACK KEEVER

AUSTIN (AP) — Texans, by defeating a welfare proposal in Tuesday's election, have anchored the state at or near the national tail end in providing aid to the needy.

The proposed constitutional amendment would have raised the present $60 million limit annual welfare grants to $75 million next September.

It lost by 235,752 votes out of 1,602,988 cast, making it the most unpopular of the 14 proposed amendments on the ballot. Five years ago Texans voted 330,922 to 192,050 to raise the welfare ceiling from $54.5 million to $60 million.

"The welfare board couldn't come to any conclusion why the amendment was defeated this year," said Bee Grissom, assistant welfare commissioner in charge of finance. "But my personal feeling is that people felt taxes are too high, so to hell with it."

The Welfare Department was counting so much on passage of the proposal that it had based its budget for the next two years on the $75 million limit.

There will have to be some fast reshuffling before the legislature convenes in January.

"Point blank, we don't know the effect" rejecting the amendment will have, Grissom said, but he was talking about specifics. "The true effect is that we will have to try to figure out how to handle it to hurt the people the least."

There appears to be a warming in the stratosphere over the Arctic in late January.

Death Claims Film Star W. Corey

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Wendell Corey, who was adept at playing the good guy as well as the villain in his 30-year acting career, is dead at the age of 54.

Corey died of a liver ailment Friday in the Motion Picture Hospital in suburban Woodland Hills.

Friends said he had been ill since returning two weeks ago from making a movie in Europe.

Corey's versatility marked his career on the stage, in films and on television. He played the tough detective or the sympathetic psychiatrist, the crazed killer or the devoted husband, the cynical newsman, the brutal gangster.

The actor began acting in 1938 with the depression-spawned Federal Theater Project but it was not until 1945 that he clicked, in Elmer Rice's "Dream Girl" on Broadway.

Corey came to Hollywood in the late 1940s and piled up motion picture credits, including "The Rainmaker," "Rear Window," "Sorry, Wrong Number" and "The Search."

He had major roles in three television series, "Harbor Command," "Peck's Bad Girl" and "The 11th Hour," "Climax" and "Alfred Hitchcock Presents."

Corey became an active campaigner in national politics the 1950s and was master of ceremonies at the 1956 and 1960 Republican National conventions.

In 1965 he was elected to the Santa Monica City Council and was a councilman until his death. He ran for Congress in 1966 but was defeated in a primary.

He had served as president of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences and was a member of its board of governors.

Corey was born in Dracut, Mass., son of a Congregational minister. He sold washing machines in a department store before becoming an actor.

Corey is survived by his widow, Alice, three daughters and a son.

SHOWING ANGUISH at the news that her police-detective husband has been killed, Inger Stevens is held sympathetically by Harry Guardino in Universal's drama: "Madigan," starting Nov. 17 at the Ritz Theatre.

The Federal Reserve Bank in New York City handles more than 86 million checks and money orders a year, with a face value of almost $620 billion.

Homecoming At Hermleigh

HERMLEIGH — Homecoming has been set for Nov. 16 at the Hermleigh High School.

Registration will begin at 3 p.m. at the school. No formal program has been planned, but the evening meal will be served between the hours of 5:30 p.m. and 7 p.m.

The homecoming celebration will be climaxed with the traditional football game at 7:30 p.m. The Hermleigh Cardinals will meet Jayton in the homecoming clash this year.

Plans For Garbage

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill. (AP) — A Southern Illinois University professor says large urban areas should ship garbage to strip mines. George R. Arnold of the engineering faculty said this would eliminate the need for urban incinerators and large dumps, provide a means for filling the ugly mines and even permit the generation of electricity by burning some of the trash.

Even Best-Behaved Dogs Will Be Dogs

BOCA RATON, Fla. (AP) — Fritz, a 10-month-old German shepherd, was rated best among 10 dogs in a city canine obedience class, but between the time his diploma was placed in his mouth and he returned to his owner, Fritz had chewed the diploma into three pieces.

The owner, Mrs. Gene Tyldsley, said, "I guess dogs will be dogs."
