award winner. Joe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Henard and will be a senior this year. At right is Danny Garcia, ag teacher in Wellington high school, who received the Honorary State Farmer Degree, which carries with it honorary membership in the Texas Association of Future Farmers of America. He also was elected public relations officer from the Greenbelt District to work in the state organization during 1963-64.

Cotton Stripper Meeting Set at Quail Monday

Information on what's new in cotton strippers coming on the market will be discussed by Elmer B. Hudspeth, agricultural engineer with the Lubbock Experiment Station in a meeting at Quail Monday night.

This is a regular meeting of the Young Farmers, but because of the general interest it is open to the public, according to Loyd Langley, president. The meeting will be at the ag building of the school and will start at 7:30 p.m.

"The new developments in cotton strippers are machines that separate the green bolls from the white cotton as it goes in the wagon," Langley said.

Water Records Fall Again in August

Wellington water users in August broke the record they had set in July, and more than 25,000,000 gallons went through the pumps, City Manager Bura Handley revealed this week.

For 10 days—one-third of the period—more than a million gallons per day was used, with the top figure being approximately 1,050,000 gallons, Handley said.

There were 1338 water users during the month that just ended.

The water use month ends on the 20th. During the period ending July 20, 23,500,000 gallons was used.

First Bale of 1963 Cotton Delivered on August 15

Collingsworth's 1963 cotton season opened Thursday, Aug. 15, when Charles Cason Jr. delivered the first bale at 4 p.m. to the Farmers Co-op Gin.

The bale was grown on his farm two miles east and a mile and a half north of Wellington. This was dry land cotton, according to Jack Kopp of the gin.

Cason had 2330 pounds of hand-pulled seed cotton and got a 467-pound bale. He also had 960 pounds of seed.

Dub Marchant, gin manager, reported the cotton was middling white 15/16. The Farmers Co-op bought the bale, paying the premium price of 40¢ a pound and $75 per ton for the seed.

As is traditional, the ginning was free.

This was early cotton, planted in April.

This is one of the earliest dates on which cotton has been delivered in Wellington, if not the earliest. Last year, the first bale was delivered Aug. 16, one day later.

Most years, however, the first bale does not come in until after Aug. 20, and usually about the 25th.

Ginners and growers still are making no predictions about the 1963 crop. Those who got good rains last week are considerably more optimistic, but moisture in the next few days still will determine how the crop goes.

Collingsworth has a cotton allotment of 62,894 acres. Staff members of the county ASC office said this week that cotton measuring has not been completed and the actual acreage will not be known until then.

Man Held on Check Charge

A Lakeview Negro, identified by Police Chief Troy Marsh as Earl Williams, Jr., is being held in connection with passing a check stolen here recently.

Arrest of the man at Lakeview Saturday about 11:30 a.m. followed investigation by Sheriff John Rainey and Marsh. The police chief said the check, along with a small amount of change, was taken in the burglary of Steve Owens recently.

The check, Marsh said, in the amount of $21, was originally given by John Dodge to Marvin Manuel, who in turn used it to pay Owens for gas.

The name of the bearer was not filled in on the face of the check, Marsh continued, and Williams wrote in a fictitious name, then used a fictitious endorsement to pass the check at City Grocery.

Williams was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Claude McKinney and bound over for the grand jury. He was unable to make $2,500 bond and is being held in jail.

The Desire to Win Is There

55 Rockets Report as Grid Practice Starts on Monday

"As long as I have been coaching, this bunch is showing the greatest desire to win of any team I ever had!"

This is Coach Don Beck's assessment of the 55 Skyrockets who came out Monday, Aug.

19 for fall practice. Twice-a-day workouts are now routine for the boys who will wear the red and white this fall under coaches Beck, Harold Lamb and James Stavenhagen.

There will be a scrimmage with Sunray Monday, Aug. 26 at 7 p.m. at Powell Field, and all Rocket fans are invited out.

The season opens Friday, Sept. 13 in a game with the Hollis Tigers at Hollis.

The Rockets' schedule includes chalk talk from 9 to 10 a.m. and work on the field in shorts from 10 to 11, to go through play timing and teaching.

The boys return to Powell Field for chalk talks from 4 to 5 p.m., then go on the field in full uniform to work out until 7:20.

"We lost eight lettermen from last year and have 17 back," Beck said. Ten of last year's starters on either offense or defense are back: Tim Bailey, Jennings Wells, Glenn Thomas, Billy Clubb, Joe Rudy, Skippy Duncan, Bobby Hudson, Gary White, Danny Martin, Bryan Hatch, Ronnie Nix and Chester McLain.

"We have pretty good experience this time, with most experience in the line."

"Our greatest weakness is speed. We don't have any of these 10-flight sprinters in the backfield, but overall speed has increased greatly since last track season. They came a long way during track season," Beck continued.

"We have two good boys pushing for almost every position," Beck revealed. "We have real good pass receivers and if we can develop a passer, we'll be in good shape."

"We'll be as big as anybody we play, but I don't think we will be any larger. Some of the bigger boys have lost weight during the summer—some as much as 25 pounds."

Here is the Rocket roster as it stands this week. Some of the boys, Coach Beck pointed out, are playing two positions

Theda Martin Weds Charles Wright in Chapel Ceremony Sat. Evening

The chapel of First Methodist Church was the setting for the wedding of Miss Theda Martin and Charles Wright at seven o'clock Saturday evening, August 17.

The Rev. J. F. Michael officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Martin are the parents of the bride, while Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wright are the parents of the bridegroom.

A white arch covered with jade leaves was at the center of the altar and on each side seven-branched candelabras held lighted tapers.

Miss Arlene Key of Kirkland, organist, presented the wedding music.

Mr. Martin gave his daughter in marriage.

She wore a white delustered satin gown with a scoop neck. Covering the sleeveless bodice was a Chantilly lace waist-length jacket with long sleeves that pointed over her hands. The bell-shaped skirt was street length.

Her lace pillbox held a circular shoulder length veil. The bride's bouquet was a white orchid surrounded by baby mums on a white ribbon.

Miss Mary Martin, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore an aqua pima cotton mist dress with a scoop neck and cap sleeves. The street-length skirt featured unpressed pleats for fullness in back, and a flat tailored bow held her nose veil. She carried a silver fan topped by aqua carnations.

Herbert Hutchins was the best man, and ushers were Boone Martin, brother of the bride, and Lester Paige, the bridegroom's brother-in-law. All are from Amarillo.

The candles were lighted by John Robert Colson.

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Martin were hosts at the reception in the church parlor. Members of the house party were Miss Pam Bearden of Paducah, Miss Jolene Groves, Miss Judy Glenn and Miss Elaine Karnes.

Style Show of Cottons Slated as a Highlight of County Fair Sept. 6

A high fashion wardrobe combining the newest in '63 styles with the latest retail cotton fabrics will be presented in a fashion show at 3 p.m. Sept. 6 in the Church of the Nazarene basement by the 1924 Study Club. This new feature of the Collingsworth County Fair caters especially to the women and is in the general area of the other exhibits.

The fashion collection, known as "Cavalcade of Cottons, 1963" consists of twenty-four 'round-the-clock, 'round-the-calendar garments created by the National Cotton Council and McCall's patterns.

Among new fashion trends to be featured are the shift dress, drawstring waist, skinny coat and western-style sportswear. New cotton satin print, double knit, and seersucker with multi-color border are among the latest developments in cotton fabrics used to make these garments.

The fashion showcase includes women's wear ranging from sportswear to afternoon dresses to evening attire. Both the fabrics and musical interludes will stress our Texas heritage and farm-city relationships. Cotton growers of this county are anxious to promote the use of cotton fiber items; the garments modeled will stress one of the prettiest outlets for cotton.

In this fashion show, members of the 1924 Study Club are to be assisted by members of Ti-i-ca. Both clubs urge the women attending the fair to view this gratis, hour-long "Cavalcade of Cottons" in the cool Church of the Nazarene basement.

Bert Lisman of Vernon was in town one day last week attending to business.

About the USA
Student Loan Plan

We are pleased to announce that in cooperation with USA Funds we are now making loans to college students which will enable them to continue their college education.

Students getting loans under the United Students Aid Plan will be able to borrow $1,000 a year — or a combined total of $3,000 for their undergraduate or graduate education.

The requirements for securing such a loan are relatively simple.

1. The student must have completed one year of college with satisfactory grades.

2. The student must be a resident of the local area although he or she may attend any college in any state that is approved by United Student Aid Fund, Inc.

3. The student must provide the bank with a certificate from his college attesting to his or her grades and character.

After these requirements have been met a student may borrow on his or her individual signature without collateral if they are 21 years of age. The interest rate is low. Repayment does not begin until 4 months after the student leaves college — and may extend the next three years.

This will enable deserving students to complete college on credit and pay later from career earnings.

Student borrowing makes sense. The average college student earns $100,000 more in his lifetime than the average high school student. In addition there are educational priceless non-monetary advantages.

If in need of such a loan come in and consult with The City State Bank today.

SAFETY REST STOPS ON NEW SUPER-HIGHWAYS IN TEXAS

AUSTIN.—Driving east from San Antonio on Interstate Highway 10 a motorist will come upon what looks not unlike rockets poised for takeoff on each side of the superhighway.

But it's only an optical illusion. What he really sees are the roofs of the arbors for the first Safety Rest Area or roadside park, designed and built to Interstate standards in Texas.

Texas Highway Department men in the San Antonio district refer to the new rest area as the "Jet Park." It does have a jet-age look. The design certainly belongs to the area because just to the north lies a big jet base—Randolph Field, a landmark in the air age.

The huge new rest area is really two parks, one on each side of the road. Each one is 1200 feet long and 107 feet wide with four, "bat wing" arbors spaced to allow for future additional arbors. Each arbor contains a fireplace, fire wood, an incinerator, a concrete table and benches, and a planter box.

Safety rest areas on the Interstate Highway System are generally larger than older roadside parks previously built by the Highway Department, and contain more arbors per park with an area on each side of the highway and parking space for trucks. Distance between rest areas will average only 37 miles throughout the state when the Interstate System is completed in 1972. So if you're traveling along and find one rest area filled, it will only be a few minutes to the next spot.

The new rest area was dedicated formally this spring by Chamber of Commerce officials from Seguin and San Antonio and members of the Texas Highway Department. Herbert C. Petry Jr., chairman of the Texas Highway Commission, was principal speaker.

The primary purpose of the safety rest area is to provide a safe place for a motorist to stop in pleasant surroundings to relax, refresh himself, or to eat something before continuing his drive. An alert driver has fewer accidents, and the highway department says providing rest areas is just one of many efforts to reduce the accident toll on highways. There are now more than 1,000 rest areas and turnouts throughout the state for this purpose.

The Texas Highway Department was one of the pioneers of the rest area or roadside park. In the early 1930's the department began its roadside park program, and it wasn't long before experience and public demand showed department engineers that the areas should be an integral part of the highway system.

When the Interstate Highway System is completed in Texas there will be about 85 rest areas for the motoring public. The highway department has already selected the sites for half the areas and about one-fourth of the 85 parks are in various stages of construction. The average distance between rest areas will be 37 miles—so the motorist will be able to find a place to rest and relax no matter what part of the state he travels.

There are between 16 and 20 different designs for safety rest areas. Landscape architects in the highway department design each facility to its surrounding countryside, incorporating native stone and other materials.

Highway department maintenance crews clean the parks at least once a week, water the plants and grass, and also plant trees and shrubs as part of the landscaping service.

POPULATION VS. ORGANIZATION

Theory that a large population produces a greater volume of business activity than a small population is not 100% true.

This is revealed by the University of Texas' population research center. It surveyed 30 Texas cities for the 20-year period—1940 to 1960.

Cities surveyed were Alpine, Angleton, Aspermont, Boerne, Borger, Bracketville, Burnet, Cotulla, Del Rio, Denton, Eastland, Grapevine, Hillsboro, Italy, Humble, Killeen, McKinney, Menard, Merkel, Olney, Paris, Port Lavaca, Runge, Rusk, San Diego, Seagraves, Seymour, Somerville, Van Alstyne and Willsboro.

Nine of these—Bracketville, Eastland, Hillsboro, Italy, Menard, Rusk, Seagraves, Somerville and Van Alstyne—had a population decline.

Runge, Italy and McKinney all saw a decrease in the number of business organizations. Bracketville and Hillsboro were the only ones that had a decrease in the number of governmental organizations.

Only city that had a decrease in the number of organizations, but grew in population, was Runge.

San Diego was the only place that failed to produce additional volunteer associations. In general the survey proved that businesses and other organizations multiply even when population growth does not occur. Smaller cities usually support a greater number of organizations per 1,000 population than do the big cities.

MONEY MEN BALK —OCCASIONALLY

AUSTIN.—The Legislative Budget Board, lawmakers who make the Legislature's financial decisions between sessions, recommended $4,644,000 worth of state building to Gov. John Connally.

Plans approved included one by the State Hospitals Board to equip a genetics lab and follow-up clinic on mental retardation in the State Psychiatric Institute at Houston; new dormitories for Gatesville School for Boys, Gainesville School for Girls and Crockett School for Negro Girls; and several prison system units.

Authorization was recommended for $25,000 worth of partitioning to provide 23 new offices in Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr's department.

But the Board balked at Texas A&M University's request to spend some $100,000 on a home—exclusive of land and furnishings — for A&M President Earl Rudder, to replace the one destroyed by fire. A compromise recommendation of about $60,000 for a 4500 square-foot home was the outcome.

Mrs. F. R. Hitchcock of Amarillo has been visiting in the home of her parents and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Emory Hunter and Stevie.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Morris and family of Hartley visited last week with her aunt, Mrs. R. L. Tension, and also at Dozier with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Shields.

Miss Rose Shadid and her brother, Mr. and Mrs. John Shadid of Memphis are attending the holiday market in Dallas this week.

BABY OIL

Shotgun shells sometimes stick in the gun barrel or magazine at the most inopportune time.

You can prevent this, and also add more waterproofing to your shells, if you put a thin coat of baby oil on each shell before leaving home.

Cards of Thanks

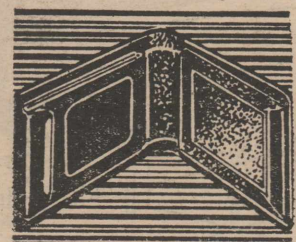

I wish to express my sincere thanks to everyone for the kindness shown following my accident. I'm especially grateful for the flowers, gifts and cards and many prayers offered in my behalf while I was in the hospital.

I especially thank Dr. C. B. Jones and the hospital staff, and a special thanks to Mrs. Rhula Ketchum.

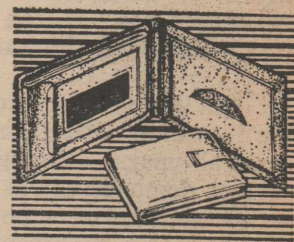

May God bless each of you. Tillie Alexander.

Farm Research Puts its Findings on Display as the Season Advances

Changes in agriculture continue to unfold and Collingsworth has always been in the vanguard in adopting those changes adaptable here.

This work has been done quietly, and there is always a tinge of surprise to realize that we are so active a part of the farming revolution of the 1960's.

A note comes too, of the High Plains Research Foundation concerning its annual field day September 10.

Interest will be concentrated on flame cultivation, something in which area farmers have been interested for several years, although we have never gone beyond a few demonstrations.

Results of the use of a chemical hormone on cotton to reduce water requirements is another experiment that will be looked at closely. Results of other demonstrations studied will include the affect of asphalt mulch and stubble mulch on crops, a rotation program, and bench leveling.

At a time when the expense of farming steadily rises, it is well to look at everything that might increase production or help lower the cost of any phase of the farming operation.

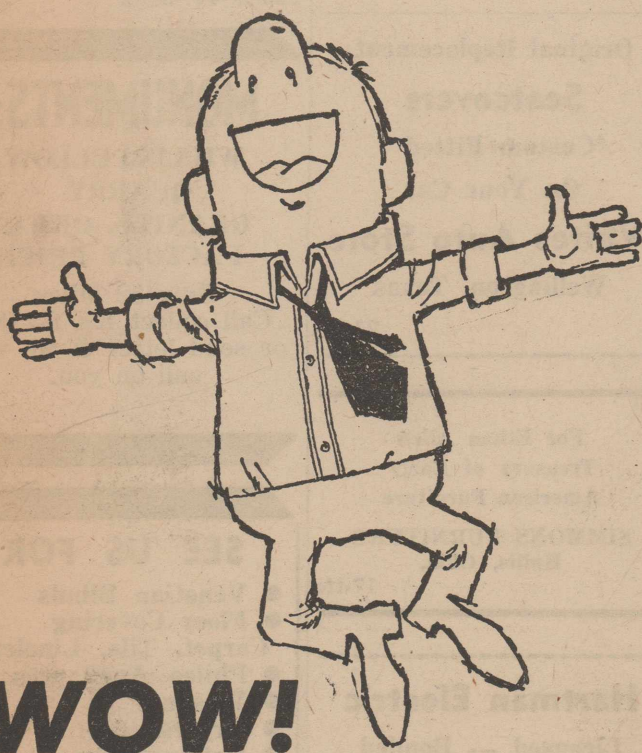

President Kennedy's recent order—issued without the consent of Congress—may open up more troubles than it will solve. The President has ordered that all companies engaged in government contracts, and all contractors doing government work, must hire more negro workers . . . The President or anybody else can issue edicts, but he can't make (a) skilled person out of an unskilled person in a minute. That takes time, and if the President starts to put white men out of a job just to put negro workers in those jobs, then we might see a few demonstrations of the majority. They could be more dangerous than the demonstrations of a minority.—Bedford, N. C. Enterprise.

If the way to a man's heart is through his stomach, it explains why we see so many stout-hearted men.

New Worlds to Conquer

NEWS LETTER

from Congressman
WALTER ROGERS

WALT ROG EARS— MOMENTOUS DECISIONS TO COME

History will remember this First Session of the 88th Congress for decisions it will make in the weeks to come.

Up to now, Congress has not acted on any legislation of an unprecedented nature. Measures enacted so far, in the main, provided for the continuation (or abandonment) of programs established in past sessions, met the financial obligations of the government, taken care of the government's "housekeeping" responsibilities.

That pattern is changing. Now the focus of Congressional activity is on legislation of a momentous nature—legislation of such scope that decisions made will have a bearing on the Nation's very security and its economic well-being and on the future course of Federal-State relations and personal liberty.

The three most important pending legislative matters—and certainly there are many other vital matters of national importance—are the nuclear test ban treaty, the tax code, revision, and a tax cut, and civil rights.

The test ban hearings are making daily headlines. The Senate, which Constitutionally is the only body of Congress empowered to act in ratifying treaties, will explore the treaty provisions thoroughly.

Tax legislation has been the subject of prolonged hearings by the House Ways and Means Committee: a bill is likely to be submitted to the full House in a matter of days. The Senate will then begin its own work on the tax bill.

And meanwhile, both houses of Congress are in the committee stage of considering civil rights legislation. The Senate will dominate the coming Congressional drama. It alone holds the power of "yea" or "nay" over the test ban treaty. It will be in the spotlight also because Senate rules permit unlimited debate on measures reaching the floor. The debate may continue until each Senator has had his say. It can be cut off only by exercise of that rarely invoked Senate procedure called "cloture," by which two-thirds of the Senate must concur in a motion to end debate.

By contrast, debate is limited on the floor of the House. A major bill coming before the House is presented along with a "rule" adopted by the Rules Committee—a resolution (which the full House may either adopt, amend or reject) establishing in part the number of hours during which debate is to be permitted and whether or not amendments to the bill may be submitted during debate.

There can be no filibusters in the House; once the bill has reached the floor a decision on it cannot long be delayed. The Senate, on the other hand, can devote weeks to debating the provisions of a bill. Oratory is more common to the Senate, once called "the world's most exclusive debating society" since its rules permit prolonged discussion. Now, it's anyone's guess as to what will happen in the Senate on the nuclear test ban treaty, the tax bill, or civil rights.

But with the shadow of a bitter civil rights showdown looming over every Senate action, I would say that the country is assured of a very thorough airing of all measures coming before it.

Senate opponents of civil rights legislation, with an eye on the calendar, may attempt to forestall action on civil rights by prolonging debate on all controversial issues presented to the floor.

Those who expect Congress to be in session until the snow flies aren't going to be far wrong, I'd guess. It may happen that the First Session will not end until the Second Session is ready to begin in January, and that this will be the first continuous Congress since World War II.

Again, however, predicting coming events on Capitol Hill is like forecasting rain in the Texas Panhandle; you can find yourself all wet when you least expect it.

I don't look for the Aug. 28 civil rights "march" on Washington to have much impact on House or Senate consideration of civil rights legislation. It will be business as usual in my office.

While I believe the rank-and-file of those who are coming here to demonstrate believe their action may have an effect on the legislation, their leaders know better. The leaders, I believe, are simply giving their followers a chance to let off steam. I doubt that the demonstration will produce more support for civil rights legislation than it otherwise would have; on the contrary, if the march gets out of hand, if violence occurs in the Capitol, votes in the House and Senate will turn against civil rights legislation.

While Congress is responsive to public opinion, it has a low regard for pressure tactics and threats.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where some of our self-amazed, all-purpose experts have divined that the more we arm the less secure we get, so we had ought to hold back and let the Russians get ahead.

And another sample of this bold new reverse twist on homemade luck is the happy doctrine that the more we spend the richer we get.

My factitious neighbor reckons that this inverse payoff principle also works in other areas, as it seems like the more postage we pay the slower mail we get, and the more guaranteed world-fixers we assemble in Washington the less solved our problems get.

I see where it is getting very popular these days to run down all forms of bias, such as racial bias, Kennedy bias, etc., and to brag about having an unbiased, or neuter type mind.

My high-bias neighbor says it takes considerable mental labor to think up a well-biased opinion and defend same, and so he figures anybody with an unbiased mind is really either lazy or chicken.

Says about the only real deplorable kind of bias he sees is these foreign potentates, who come running to Washington, hollering "Bias a new steel mill," "Bias another dozen assorted wives," etc.

I see where in some places the people have thought up a very simple scheme to get a proper color balance in their schools.

The way it works, they have a school that is long on colored children, so they round up a few bus loads of white children from off some place else and haul them in to the over-colored school and blend them in, or vice versa.

My hyper-sportsman neighbor says there is also considerable imbalance between schools in sports, and in the interest of equality, he figures the government ought to integrate his local school with about two bus loads of good football players.

I see where the Suckertary of Commerce says most of us mere citizens are economic boobs, so he is having the government publish a book on Economic ABC's for us.

Learning about economics from this 20¢ book had ought to be lots less nerve-racking than the usual on-the-job learning while supporting a family and a rich Uncle Sam.

My do-gooder neighbor is wanting to get up a fund to buy two or three carloads of these Economic ABC books and hand them out to the several Washington officials who think all there is to Economics is Spending.

KEEP UP WITH THE BROWNS

They really do it up brown—at Lake Brownwood—in Brown county—near Brownwood, Texas.

And you'll get a nice brown suntan while you go boating, fishing or swimming at this fine lake in the northwest part of Central Texas.

There's a wonderful 538-acre public park right on the lake, too. It has cabins, picnic areas, a dining room, lunch counter, grocery store, dance terrace, and loads of playground equipment.

Don't miss it next time you are out that way. Or better still, make your friends "brown" with envy by making your next pleasure trip a Brownwood vacation.

Rhode Island would fit into Texas 220 times.

Nearly 200 Attend Loco-Arlie Reunion Held Here Saturday

Almost 200 attended the Arlie-Loce reunion held Sunday, August 17 in the American Legion Hall.

Some of the friends and neighbors were re-united who had not seen each other for 45 to 50 years.

It was the first time a reunion of the two communities has been held. Prior to this, there have been two reunions of former Loco residents.

Much visiting and re-living the early days and taking pictures filled the afternoon.

Two prizes were given, one to the person traveling the greatest distance and the other to the oldest person who had lived in the community.

Mrs. Jacob Lemley of Ashland, Oregon, traveled the longest distance to the reunion. She is 79 and formerly lived in the Loco community.

The other prize went to Jess Hunsaker, 88, who has lived in and around Loco 56 years.

Approximately 100 were present for the basket lunch served at noon. The Rev. Claude Hunt of McLean, former pastor of Arlie Baptist Church, gave the invocation.

Hosts this year were Mr. and Mrs. George Patterson and Mr. and Mrs. John Bevers. Mrs. Bevers was master of ceremonies.

Hosts elected for next year were Mr. and Mrs. Clair Lawrence of Hollis, formerly of Arlie, and Mr. and Mrs. Pat Bouchelle of Loco. Miss Estelle Adkins, secretary-treasurer, was re-elected for the second year. Plans are already being made for a larger meeting place for next year.

During a short program, the Rev. and Mrs. Bill W. Adkins of Amarillo played the guitar and sang religious songs.

Jennifer Bouchelle presented selections on the piano. Rev. Adkins is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Adkins of Wellington and Jennifer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Bouchelle.

Several former teachers in the Loco school were present, including Mrs. Naomi Hunt Thompson, Mrs. T. L. Greer, Mrs. W. M. Durfee and Mrs. C. B. Carter.

Those from out of town who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Price and grandson, David Stroud and Mrs. Ola Brown Tyler of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Woods of Childress; Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Greer and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Thompson of Morton;

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Williams and children, Miss Diane Keith, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Carroll, Miss Nita Painter, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brown and children, and the Rev. and Mrs. Bill W. Adkins and children of Amarillo;

Mrs. Cora Brown Howell of Raymondville; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Calcote of Oklahoma City; Mrs. Olean Bearden of Carey; Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Carter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Crawford, Mrs. Edna Crow, Mr. and Mrs. Clair Lawrence, of Hollis;

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Bouchelle and son of San Antonio; Ellis Savage, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Savage, and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Guinn of Muleshoe, Mr. and Mrs. Othal Savage of Stratford, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Guinn of Friona; Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Hager-

Restrictions Off Sugar Beets in '65

COLLEGE STATION.—The U.S. Department of Agriculture removed acreage restrictions this year, and announced none would be established for the 1965 crop of sugarbeets.

At the same time action was taken by the department to increase 1963 domestic sugar requirements from 9,800,000 tons to 10,400,000 tons.

USDA also announced at the same time that 1964 sugarbeet plantings would not be restricted. It was observed that beet sugar production would have to exceed marketings sufficiently to create safe and reasonable stock levels before any acreage restrictions would be reimposed.

The 1963 quota for the beet area was established at 2,990,127 short tons, and reemphasizes the need for additional beet stocks to permit the area to meet future marketing opportunities.

VA Operates Nursing Home for Veterans

The President has authorized the Veterans Administration to activate and operate facilities and beds to care for 2000 nursing home type veteran patients.

The authorization was reported recently by John S. Gleason Jr., administrator of Veterans Affairs, according to Robert W. Sisson, manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Lubbock.

Sisson said the 2000 nursing home beds would be operated in addition to the 125,000 hospital beds now authorized in the VA medical system.

The Presidential action, Sisson said, will greatly help in relieving the adverse effect on VA's acute medical programs by the influx of older veterans who now comprise one-third of all VA hospital admissions, and who generally require long-term care.

In his authorizing memorandum to the VA Administrator, the President said in part:

"The changing characteristics of our veteran population, particularly those who served in the first World War, are resulting in an adverse effect on the acute medical programs administered by the Veterans Administration. Nearly 1,000,000 war veterans are aged 70 and over. The number will increase 50 per cent by 1966.

"Older veterans account for one-third of your hospital admissions and they comprise the bulk of the long-term care patient load."

Miss Sherman Gets Degree

UT Has Program to Aid Study in Engineering

AUSTIN.—A curriculum revision designed to aid high school and junior college students planning to study engineering at the University of Texas will go into effect this year.

Under the new plan, all engineering students will have a common curriculum for the first two years, thus eliminating the necessity for freshmen to pick any specialized area of engineering.

College of Engineering faculty members have unanimously approved the move.

"The engineering student just entering the University cannot be expected to choose his field without experience," College of Engineering Dean W. W. Hagerty said.

Dean Hagerty said the revision will enable a student to "have a better view of the requirements for and the opportunities in the several areas of engineering before making final selection of his major field of activity."

The new plan will also form a guide for junior colleges in planning a common two-year "pre-engineering" curriculum, Dean Hagerty said. The proposal was discussed with and enthusiastically approved by a junior college education specialist, Acting Dean C. C. Colvert of the University's College of Education.

Although the curriculum is to be flexible, a typical freshman might enroll for two semesters each of general chemistry, English composition and calculus, one semester each of analytical geometry, engineering drawing, engineering mechanics and descriptive geometry, and a special orientation course on use of electronic computers.

The sophomore year might include two semesters each of English, either American history or government, physics and engineering mechanics and one semester each of an advanced mathematics course in differential equations and an additional engineering course.

In subsequent years the student engineer would work toward a degree or degrees in one or more of nine areas: aero-space, architectural, chemical and civil engineering, civil engineering with an option in environmental health engineering, electrical engineering, engineering science, mechanical engineering, and petroleum engineering.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Reeves and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Reeves of Canyon left Tuesday for Odessa to visit their daughter and sister, Dr. and Mrs. Ed Dempsey.

The 23-year-old officer was graduated from Shamrock high school in 1958 and from A&M College, College Station, in 1962.

GREAT LAKES, Ill.—Calvin W. Tyson, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Tyson of Wellington is undergoing nine weeks basic training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

The intensive training program includes naval orientation, history and organization, military law, ordnance and gunnery, damage control, seamanship and shipboard routine, sentry duty, military drill and physical fitness, swimming, first aid and survival.

During their training period, recruits receive tests and interviews which determine their future assignments in the Navy. Upon completing the program they are assigned to service schools for technical instruction or to ships or shore stations for on-the-job training in a Navy rating specialty.

Birds of India Come to Texas

AUSTIN.—Texas may have another game bird if the release of 192 hatchery-raised francolins proves successful.

After considerable study, the birds, which originally came from India, were taken to an area of northern McCulloch county and set free.

Wayne Bohl of the Fish and Wildlife Service and Rod Marburger with the Game and Fish Commission, selected the release site. That part of the state is predominantly large ranch country with very little cultivated land and corresponds favorably to the bird's native habitat in India.

The few people living in this area have shown considerable interest in the project. This, of course, is always important to the success of restoration work.

The 192 gray francolins were divided into flocks and released at four separate sites in the project area. The area is apparently acceptable to the birds. "Swede" Johnson, game warden for the area, and Marburger were very optimistic about this release. Johnson reported later that the birds had scattered out nicely after only three days of liberty. This scattering and occupying of the range is desirable, according to Marburger, especially at this time of the year.

Over the years many exotic birds have been released in Texas in attempts to find a species that would survive, reproduce and provide additional game for the sportsmen. Most of the introductions have not provided the hunting desired.

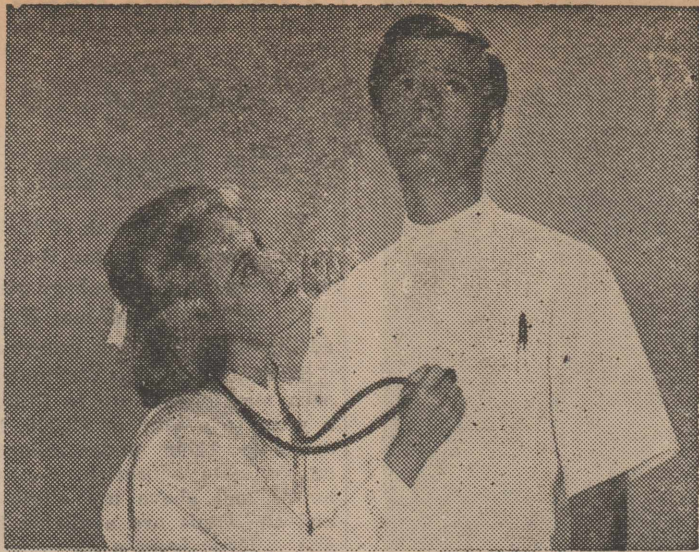

Biologists and wardens will make periodic checks of this newest release. The original release of wild-trapped birds did not become established in this area. It is hoped that the new birds are better acclimated to Texas' climatic conditions.

A Community Builder at work

IT may not SEEM very important . . . just one little purchase you make over the counter in some store. But it makes you an active Community Builder . . . because the growth and prosperity of ANY area is determined by the sum of the large and small business transactions that take place within it. When its Trade Volume goes up, so does the strength of its schools, its churches, and other civic facilities, and its business firms can offer better service, and a better selection of goods.

And . . . since your everyday buying makes you a Community Builder . . . isn't it smart to do your building in YOUR OWN community . . . so YOU can enjoy the benefits of it?

I now dry clothes the EASY way with flameless ELECTRICITY

Electric drying is so simple my wash days are cut in half. My clothes appreciate it, too. They come out soft and fluffy — are really easier to iron.

Yes, dearie, I'm through wasting my time on a clothesline when I can spend more time with my grandchildren.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

You might call this a travelogue instead of a column. We took our vacation as planned which means we had no plan except to head for the bright lights and the air-conditioned comfort of the big cities. We rode in air conditioning, ate in it and slept in cool beds.

Our first stop was Denton where we visited the campuses of Texas Womens University and North Texas University. Texas Womens University has a beautiful campus with so many new buildings that people who went there in the twenties and thirties would have a hard time recognizing they were on the grounds of that famous institution once known as C.I.A. Somehow I liked the old buildings better, but the new ones are magnificent. They simply do not have that aura of history that lingers subtly in the old structures as reminders of great teachers and students who went to become famous.

North Texas University was also a busy place with summer students, construction and preparations for the fall term. It is too crowded to be a beautiful campus which is also true of The University of Texas. One of the first people we saw at NTU was John Alvin Horton and we had a nice visit as we drove him from one class to another. He claimed he had a car on the campus, but since he lost it about once every day he said that he generally walked from one class to another. We drove nearly a mile to get him to his next classroom. Due to street construction there was no direct way of getting him from where he was to where he was going.

From Denton we went to Fort Worth and put up at the Texas Hotel and that brings up another drastic change that has come about in the last twenty years. Formerly it was a sweating, nerve tightening chore for a country driver to get to the downtown hotels in either Fort Worth or Dallas. Now it is easier than finding a parking place on the square in Wellington. They have arranged the freeways, expressways and one-way streets so that it is no trouble at all if you have ever been there before. It is about as complicated as going from the courthouse to Owens & Scott Grocery. For instance, going from Fort Worth to Dallas we turned off the toll road at the Commerce Street exit and drove down a one-way street right into the Adolphus garage. It was so simple I could have done it myself without any advice from Henry and his map.

In Fort Worth we went to see a live musical "Carnival" and since a new show is now on I will say that Carnival was not much at $3.50 a seat. Everything else in Fort Worth was wonderful. We visited the Amon Carter Museum of Western Art, the Civic Art Center, the Botanic Garden, and the campus of Texas Christian University.

The Amon Carter Museum of Western Art is a must for people who like either art, history, the open range, forests, mountains or anything connected with the old West that is gone. It contains hundreds of original paintings and works of sculpture by Frederick Remington and Russell M. Clark as well as some younger artists who followed in their tradition. We stayed for over two hours and if I had it to do over again, I would plan it for a full half day. The museum is located in the vicinity of the Will Rogers coliseum and commands a most impressive view of the city. You might know that it would if the late Amon Carter had anything to do with it.

The Civic Art Center contains a bunch of abstract, impressionistic junk and daubs which I neither understand nor appreciate, but it also has some beautiful paintings that make sense. If I am going to spend my time looking at a picture of a woman I want it to look like a woman and if it is supposed to be a horse I want it to look like a horse.

The Botanic Garden is worth a half a day of anybody's time whether you want to take pictures, paint or admire the flora and vistas or simply want to relax in an atmosphere of serenity and beauty.

This was the first time that any of us had set foot on the TCU campus. It is one of the truly beautiful campuses of Texas. Swarms of high school girls dressed in shorts and

Skyrockets Rated Third in District 2-A

Wellington's Skyrockets are rated third in the six-team district by 2-A coaches, Don Beck, the Rockets chief mentor, said this week.

They received this rating in an informal poll of coaches at the 31st annual Texas High School Coaches Association Coaching School at Houston recently.

Two district coaches, however, thought the Rockets should be on the top of the heap.

When the voting was over, however, the Lefors Pirates were ranked as top in District 2-A and the McLean Tigers second.

Memphis Cyclone ranked 4th, the Clarendon Broncs 5th and Canadian Wildcats last.

"In non-conference games, we look for Tulsa and Shamrock to be real tough and we'll have to play real good ball to beat the other teams we meet," declared Coach Beck, speaking for himself and the others on his coaching staff, Harold Lamb and James Stavenhagen. "We consider Hollis, Paducah and Price College all much tougher than they were last year," he added.

Lefors won the district title last season, although they lost their final game to the McLean Tigers. This gave a three-way second place of McLean, Memphis and Clarendon. Wellington finished third and Canadian fourth.

This year's top three teams are all well equipped with last year's regulars. The Rockets have ten men who started either offensively or defensively during the season. McLean has nine and Lefors eight, including Guard Don McCool at 185 pounds, Center Wayne Coleman at 183, and Tackle Marvin

City State Bank Sets up College Loan Program

The City State Bank of Wellington announced today that it will make loans to college students under the national United Student Aid Funds program.

Students from the Wellington area may borrow up to $1,000 a year, to a total of $3,000, to complete their undergraduate or graduate education. Sophomores and above are eligible, and the loans are available to any student from a participating college. Top scholarship is not required. The student need only be making normal progress toward graduation. The loans, issued to the students themselves, will be repaid following graduation.

Zook Thomas, vice president of The City State Bank said, "We are delighted to bring this urgently needed help to our deserving young men and women. Many of our young people must meet a large portion of their college costs on their own. We are proud to make it possible for students to help themselves. The self-reliance and confidence they develop may prove as valuable as their academic accomplishments."
