Investigation Shows There Are At Least

13 Texas Bond Firms Interested If Pampa Asks Competitive Bids

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the fourth and last in a series of articles dealing with bonds and bond issues, published in an effort to give readers a better understanding of the City of Pampa's proposal to float approximately $750,000 worth of revenue bonds in the event plans are carried through for a municipally-owned light and power plant in Pampa.

Preceding articles in this series have supplied readers with an explanation of bond issues, a history of bonds and bond interest rates in Pampa, and a look into the future of bond possibilities in connection with the City of Pampa's announced intention to buy the privately-owned light and power plant here.

The Pampa News believes that, in the best interests of all the people of Pampa, no bond issue should be sold by the city without competitive bids.

City officials have stated to The Pampa News that there is believed to be an unusual situation existing among bond houses in this area—a situation in which the city can find only one bonding company that is willing to furnish enough money to finance the city's proposed purchase of the light plant, and a situation in which no other bonding house is interested in bidding on Pampa municipal bonds. They stated, at the same time, they had heard of one bond company in Nebraska that might be interested in bidding and that a member of the fact-finding committee was trying to make a contact.

Surprised at this statement, made only last week by city officials, the editor of The News on Feb. 21, sent the following telegram to 15 accredited bond houses in Texas, each of them a member of the Investment Bankers Association of America:

Telegram Brings 18 Replies

"CITY OF PAMPA TEXAS IS CONTEMPLATING ISSUE OF ELECTRIC LIGHT AND POWER REVENUE BONDS IN AMOUNT OF APPROXIMATELY $750,000 FOR PURCHASE OF EXISTING PLANT KINDLY WIRE WHETHER YOU WOULD BID ON ISSUE IF CITY OF PAMPA SHOULD CALL FOR BIDS."

This telegram produced ten telegraphic replies, three long distance phone calls, and five letters within a period of three days.

Only two of the bond houses—James, Stewart & Davis, Inc., of Dallas, and Gregory, Eddleman & Abercrombie, of Houston, replied that they were not interested in bidding on Pampa bonds at this time.

Following is a list of 13 Texas bond houses who state definitely that they are interested in bidding on the Pampa light and power revenue bonds if and when the City throws the issue open to competitive bidding:

William N. Edwards & Co., Fort Worth; The State Investment Co., Fort Worth; Beckett, Gilbert & Co., Dallas; R. A. Underwood & Co., Inc., Dallas; Rauscher Pierce & Co., Dallas; Dallas Union Trust Co., Dallas; Barcus, Kindred & Co., Austin; The Ranson Davidson Co., San Antonio; Milton R. Underwood Co., Houston; A. W. Schneider Co., Houston; Garrett & Co., Dallas; Moroney & Co., Houston, and Paul H. Aves & Co., of Houston. Undoubtedly, there are other firms willing to bid if given the opportunity. Reproductions of letters and telegrams from these companies will be found on Page 12 of today's Pampa News.

These replies would indicate that there is a misunderstanding among city officials in their belief that only one bonding house in this area is interested in bidding on Pampa municipal bonds or that only one bonding house could furnish funds for an issue as large as three-quarters of a million dollars.

Competitive Bids Get Best Deals

A searching investigation reveals the information that in cities where there is competitive bidding on bond issues for any purpose, the interest rate is low. That is only natural.

By the simplest of logic it can be figured that the best interests of all the people cannot be served where

2 Leap Year Parties Gross Around $300

By THE ROVING REPORTER

Hundreds of Leap Year celebrants helped reduce the Top O' Texas Fiesta deficit last night by about $200.

They attended parties which were notable for their sobriety, good humor, good manners. The crowd at the Southern club, especially, was nice and well-behaved. People of all social positions attended.

Some women wore evening dresses, others didn't. Dancers came from all nearby towns.

The "Best Leap Day Dates" on the floor were Hoyt McCharen and his girl friend, a blonde. Mr. McCharen is an employe of the Chemical Process company of Borger.

The old-time party at the Red Brick was also a success. There Harry Kelley auctioned off boxes for around $50. The less than a dozen boxes women brought to the South-

28 Calves Will Be Sold Here Tomorrow

The annual Gray County Junior Calf Show and Sale, sponsored by the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, will be held here Saturday. Judging of 28 choice beef calves will be at 10 o'clock in the morning with the auction at 1 p. m., both events in the sales pavilion at Recreation park.

Auctioneer of the day will be Tom Cox of Pampa with W. A. Rankin of Pampa clerk of the sale. Bidding will be open to everyone. Many Pampa merchants have agreed to be bidders.

Only choice calves will be admitted for sale. A sifting committee composed of Roger McConnell, Mel Davis and Mack Graham is inspecting entries to insure their coming up to specification before they will be admitted for sale.

The calves to be sold were raised by club boys of Gray county under supervision of their FFA or 4-H club instructors. Nineteen boys have entered 28 calves. Half of them will be placed in the junior division and half in the senior division, according to weight.

The public is urged to attend the judging and also the sale and to bid on the calves.

Woman Mayor, Girls Make Front Pages

Thirty Pampa "smile girls" yesterday and today made front-page news all over Texas and in many large city newspapers all over the nation.

They made news because they took over the city mayor's office, and because they arranged dates for bachelors and unattached women, and because they served summonses for 200 prominent citizens of Pampa, including both men and women.

Incidentally, the girls sold $60 worth of tickets to the Leap Day parties last night, proceeds of which will go to help pay off the Fiesta deficit.

Star of the feminine show in the mayor's office was Mayor Katherine Barrett, ash blonde, who wore a navy blue frock and a corsage of pink carnations. Her 30 assistants each were given a red rose corsage.

The girls brought scores of Pampans before Her Honor, the mayor, and no matter whether they pleaded guilty or not guilty, or whether they wanted a trial by jury, or wanted to see a lawyer, each paid a fine which was the purchase of two tickets to the parties.

Nobody Jailed

Katherine Barrett presided over her court with a firm hand, and standing back of her was Policeman Slim Dillman who rattled the keys several times when protesting citizens considered whether they'd rather be thrown in the clink or buy the tickets. Nobody preferred to go to jail.

Several men and women professed to be too busy to appear before her honor, and they bought tickets on the spot, and other men did not make any hit at all with the pretty bailiffs, refused to come at all or buy the tickets.

City Attorney Walter Rogers sat at the left hand of Mayor Barrett and explained various trumped up charges, like, for instance, accusing H. C. Coffee, democratic county chairman, of voting the Republican ticket. Miss Barrett took the law in her own hands and capably administered justice, and only two persons brought before her escaped. One was a youth who brought her a box of candy and the other a woman who Mayor Barrett admitted "outtalked me." Mayor Barrett entered the box of candy as a "bribe."

Finns Struggle To Hold Viipuri

HELSINKI, March 1 (AP)—Finnish defenders struggled today to hold Viipuri, bomb-blackened Gulf of Finland port, from Russian forces closing in almost at its gates.

A reinforced Red army sought to strike the knockout blow of its drive against Finland's key city on the Karelian Isthmus. Some sources said the Russians had sent nearly 300,000 men into the isthmus fighting.

The Finns fell back to stronger positions, mined Viipuri bay and massed artillary in an effort to stave off encirclement.

(A Red army communique today said the Russians were only a little more than a mile from Viipuri and were closing in from the south and east.

(In its advance, the communique said, the Russian armly captured 270 more Finnish fortifications.)

While the Finns struggled to stem the Russian tide on the western side of the isthmus, they coped with flames and casualties from air raids which struck many cities.

Fleets of Russian bombing planes, which raided some cities in waves and appeared to have left almost no area unscatched, blazed a train of death and flames over a wide area. The attacks yesterday and included three alarms, but no bombs, in Helsinki.

Many civilians died and many others were injured. At least 10 were killed at Savonlinna.

In three months the Russians have advanced in Karelia about 38 miles in the western sector and about 12 miles in the east, mostly during the heavy offensive of the past month.

Magician To Be Nailed In Box On Stage

For the benefit of the student activity fund of Pampa High school and Pampa Junior High school, two performances will be given by Birch the Magician in Pampa Monday.

The show will be held in the high school auditorium, at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon and at 8 o'clock that night.

The night performance is an hour longer than that of the afternoon.

A strong packing box, built by a local concern, was on display this morning at the high school. Later it is to be exhibited in a down-town store window. This box is to be brought to the stage and Birch is to be nailed inside by a committee from the audience. Birch manages to escape from the box within a few minutes.

Among the feats that Birch will perform are the famous Hindu rope trick, the slicing of a beautiful girl into four parts, shooting a live canary into a burning light bulb, walking through a sheet of solid steel, and causing a live pony to disappear in mid-air.

Mabel Sperry will head the staff of Birch's assistants. She was featured as the xylophone soloist with the 100-piece marimba band at the Chicago Century of Progress.

Did March Come In As Lion Or Lamb?

Whether March came in as a lion or a lamb was a hotly debated question in Pampa today.

The lion school vehemently declares that the dust storm that winged into Pampa propelled by a 40-mile and hour wind makes March's entry here a blustery one and hence, like a lion.

"Where's your cold weather? Where's any snow, hail, or rain?" cry their opponents in rejoinder.

"Look-it what the wind did to a sign in front of a theater here—it was one of Clark Gable—now it's "Gone With the Wind," roar the "lions" in rebuttal.

"Isn't the weather today lamb-like?" counters the "sheep" bloc.

Temperatures in Pampa remained warm for the third successive day today, with 63 degrees recorded as the highest this forenoon. Thursday's maximum was 83.

Whether it was a lion's roar or the faint bleat of a lamb, March's entry into Pampa was accompanied by a 40-mile an hour wind, starting at 2:20 a. m. and ending at 3:09 o'clock, with velocity ranging from 17 up to 40 miles an hour, and wind direction changing from south southwest to west southwest.

Welles Talks With Hitler, Ribbentrop

British Tyranny Described In Long Arguments

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER

BERLIN, March 1 (AP)—Germany is not prepared even to discuss peace until and unless Britain's "stranglehold on the economic life of the world" is broken—this in effect is understood to have been the central thesis of the first talk today between President Roosevelt's fact-finding emissary and Adolf Hitler's foreign minister.

Moreover, foreign minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop is understood to have told undersecretary of state Sumner Welles that until Britain's dominance is ended Germany is unready to entertain secretary Hull's ideas concerning elimination of autarchy, regimentation and totalitarianism from the post-war economic world.

Sources in Von Ribbentrop's confidence developed this idea so strongly to this correspondent that there can be little doubt that Ribbentrop himself gave this line of talk to Welles, with whom he was closeted soon after the American's arrival this morning.

Welles, arriving from Rome, where he already had conferred with Premier Mussolini, was greeted here this morning with the shrieks of air raid sirens which were unintentionally martial—it was a regular alarm rehearsal.

It was understood Welles' talk with Von Ribbentrop was to prepare the ground for the American's meeting with Furher Hitler probably tomorrow.

In developing the thesis that Britain has a stranglehold on the world, Von Ribbentrop was believed to have told Welles that British censorship of American clipper mail at Bermuda was a mere pinprick for the United States compared to what all Europe as well as Asia feels all the time.

Tree Branches Save Four From Flood

MERIDIAN, Calif., March 1 (AP)—Four of the five persons who were thought to have drowned in a flood here early today, were found safe in the branches of a tree which was surrounded by swirling water.

Six persons were thrown into the flood when their automobile overturned as they fled when a river dike burst.

Of the six, only one, Mrs. Frank Fleharty was missing, and members of her family believed she had drowned.

The other members of the party were Frank Fleharty, Ray Carnegie, his son-in-law; Mary Fleharty Carnegie, Ray's wife; Elsie Fleharty and a child of the Carnegies.

Frank Fleharty was rescued by another motorist.

Rescue workers said the other members of the family clung to the tree branches from 2 a. m. until 8:15 a. m.

Auto Driver Kills Girl, Hides Body

CHICAGO, March 1 (AP)—"I was excited and didn't know what to do. But I was sure she was dead so I took her body to the garage."

That was the explanation an automobile driver gave the police for not taking a five-year-old girl to a hospital after she had been fatally injured yesterday by his car.

The body of the child, Beverly Joan Frank, was found under two heavy tarpaulins in the corner of a private garage owned by Walter Bradshaw, 45, a meat market proprietor.

Dr. John Cunningham, summoned from a nearby hospital, examined the body and opined the child had been alive for two hours after the accident. However, Dr. Jerry Kearns, coroner's physician, said the girl might have been dead before being placed under the tarpaulins.

Police Capt. Thomas Duffy said Bradshaw explained he intended to take the body to the child's home as soon as he learned her identity.

Bradshaw was arrested while washing his car at the rear of his shop. He had been traced through his automobile license number.

Sparks From Welding Torch Cause Fire

Fire from an unusual cause partially destroyed a garage at the M. G. David residence at 533 South Ballard street at 4 o'clock this morning, Fire Chief Ben White reported.

The fire, acording to the chief, was caused by sparks from a welding torch used during the evening, lodging beneath the garage floor where they finally caused the boards to burst into flames.

When the fire was discovered the flames were shooting from the building. An old trailer and the hose on the welding machine were destroyed.

Big British Planes Wing Over Germany

Neutral Vessels Go Down In Sea Warfare

LONDON, March 1. (AP) — Britain and Germany fought a bitter give-and-take air and sea warfare today in which neutral vessels went down with those of the belligerents.

While Britain was announcing that her big reconnaissance planes had flown over Berlin and other German cities during the night in the most extensive scouting flight of the war, German bombers attacked shipping off Britain's east coast from Yorkshire to the Thames estuary.

An authoritative source said a convoy had been attacked but "no ships were hit." It was understood the attack took place "some way out" over the sea—too far for British fighters to go into action effectively.

(The official German news agency, DNB, asserted that Germany bombers had attacked "numerous" British warships, convoys and armed merchantmen today, dispercing a convoy and sinking several large ships.)

Caught in the bomb and machine-gun attacks on trawlers which the British said were fighing craft was the Norwegian steamer Brott, 1,583 tons, bombed from the air and escorted listing badly into an east coast port. Six of her men were adrift on a raft, and two others were picked up.

(Norwegian Foreign Minister Halvdan Koht said only yesterday that Norway was protesting against German attacks on Norwegian vessels).

The 5,340-ton Italian steamer Mirella, plying normally between Rotterdam and Italy, sank within two minutes after striking a mine 14 miles off the Suffolk coast last night, and today two of her lifeboats reached the coast, bearing 14 men suffering from exposure and the body of one of their mates who had died. Eleven other members of the crew were missing.

Guns Open Fire

The Nazi raids on the coast brought anti-aircraft guns on the Thames estuary into action, but at the moment the headlines in all evening newspapers were telling of attacks there the air ministry denied there had been enemy activity in that region today.

An officially approved statement said of the flights over Germany that they were the longest of the war, ranging from six to ten hours. All craft returned safely without encountering enemy opposition "either in the air or on the ground," the statement said.

The captain of one plane reported that he had identified an "important railway junction" south of

Roy Mannon Claims Innocence To Last

McALESTER, Okla., March 1 (AP)—Roy Mannon died in the electric chair early today just as he said he would die—with a smile on his face and without altering his plea of innocence.

Even as executioner Rich Owen adjusted the death mask, Mannon, convicted of the murder of Jake Skelly, 67-year-old Wagoner recluse, shouted so the 200 spectators could hear:

"I want you all to know I am going down for another man."

Mannon contended to the last a man named "Clarence" killed Skelly and gave him the old pensioner's personal effects.

A Dallas woman's story yesterday that she knew "Clarence" was refuted by Mannon himself, who said the description she gave did not fit the "Clarence" he knew.

Soda Fountains Spouting Optimism

The "men of iron" you so often hear about, especially in Europe, are actually "men of calcium" because emotional swings from optimism to pessimism are caused by acidity, in other words, by a lack of proper calcium balance. Too much calcium and, zowie! you're emotionally off base but at the same time, very optimistic. So when you feel depressed, off with you to the drug store for a couple of chocolate sodas and get some calcium in your blood. Or else, just read The Pampa News classified ads. Improvements Planned By Gray County HD Clubs

"We need a new living room suite but since we are not able to get the one we want, I think we will enjoy making over the one we have now," said Mrs. Curtis Schaffer of Bluebonnet Home Demonstration club while discussing her living room demonstration with Mrs. Julia Kelley, county home demonstration agent.

"We have found some good car springs which we will use in the center seat of the divan in remodeling it. When this is finished the divan will be a combination seat and book shelf, which will serve as an ideal reading center," continues Mrs. Schaffer.

In further improving her living room Mrs. Schaffer plans to add a floor lamp, table lamp, radio table and end table; finish three chairs and revarnish all the woodwork.

"I need more light in my dark living room," comments Mrs. O. G. Smith of Kingsmill Home Demonstration club.

She plans to make this possible by using a very light wallpaper and refinishing her woodwork and floors in a light color.

"My antique leather couch is built well but the top of it is in a deliapidated condition. This means a big problem in upholstery work which my husband and I will do with the help of the home demonstration agent," continues Mrs. Smith.

"I'm worried about my living and dining room floors," said Mrs. Otto Gross, living room demonstrator of Back Home Demonstration club. "I want a light inexpensive finish and something to protect my floors."

To make this possible she plans to sand the floors, add a commercial filler, then several coats of clear varnish and last to wax the floors, which will give a lasting servicable finish and cost an average amount.

Mr. and Mrs. Gross are planning to install a new lighting system in their home and refinish the entire background of their living and dining rooms. Mrs. Gross says she can depend on her husband to help her as he is very handy with the tool box. He has unusual and clever time saving conveniences in the kitchen cabinets and storage spaces. One of these devices is a vertical sliding rack on one side of the kitchen cabinet for pot lids.

"I have already upholstered a chair and Ottoman for a reading center," says Mrs. J. S. Fuqua of Wayside Home Demonstration club. "I will add two refinished and upholstered rockers and purchase a living room writing desk for my living room. I also plan to rearrange my furniture to add to the convenience and comfort of my family and friends.

Officers Of Dorcas Class Have Business Meeting At Church

Dorcas class officers of the First Baptist church met at the church Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Tom Duvall in charge.

The meeting was opened with a prayer by Mrs. G. H. Covington. Mrs. R. W. Tucker led the devotional in which she stressed enlistment. She pointed out that visiting and enlistment are perhaps the hardest tasks of the average church worker but that they bring about the most satisfying results.

Her scripture was taken from Matthew: 25. "For I was an hungered and ye gave me meat; I was thirsty, and ye gave me drink; I was a stranger and ye took me in. Naked and ye clothed me; I was sick and ye visited me; I was in prison, and ye came unto me."

Mrs. H. B. Landrum taught two chapters from the book, "What Baptists Believe." Mrs. B. E. Bard presided over a business session in which reports for February were given. An announcement was made that the Easter party for the class will be held in the home of Mrs. B. W. Rose on March 13 at 2:30 o'clock. On the social committee are Mmes. W. M. Voyles, J. P. Wehrung, R. Skellytown P-TA Unit Observes Founders' Day

Special To The NEWS

SKELLYTOWN, March 1—The annual National Founder's Day program was observed this week by the Skellytown unit of Parent-Teacher Association with a pageant, "As Told By Candles," in the school cafeteria.

The meeting opened with prayer by the Rev. B. J. Osborn, pastor of the Community church of Skellytown. A group of songs were sung by the Girl's Choral Club accompanied at the piano by Miss Fredda Charles Bills.

The 7 objectives of the Parent-Teacher Association were portrayed in a candle lighting ceremony. A huge candle representing the Mother Congress of Parents and Teachers was placed at the center front of the table and the candle bearers formed a semi-circle around it. The large candle was lighted by Mrs. H. E. Crocker, president, as she paid her tribute in poetry.

In the candle lighting ceremony Mrs. S. C. Dickey represented the red candle of health, Mrs. Elmer Tiffany, the purple candle of home; Mrs. G. F. Morris, the gold candle of learning; Mrs. A. Simmons, the yellow candle of citizenship; Mrs. A. E. Imel, the blue candle of home; Mrs. C. W. Moote, the green candle of leisure time; and Mrs. Chester Strickland, the white candle of character. "The Lord's Prayer" was sung by Miss Fredda Charles Bills with Miss Lillian Davis as accompanist to climax the pageant. A candlelighting effect in connection with the lighted candles added a soft glow to the setting in the darkened room. The candle bearers were girls of the Coral Club representing Youth, attired in white robes with black ties and holding white candles, who marched in pairs to the table holding the huge candle where they lighted their candle and took their former position thus making a background for the impressive pageant.

During the business session presided over by Mrs. H. E. Crocker, president, it was voted to buy a Boy Scout uniform to be earned by a deserving Boy Scout who would be unable to obtain one otherwise.

The following nominating committee was elected: Mrs. J. A. Arwood, Mrs. Bill Price, Mrs. G. F. Morris, and Chester Strickland. A report of the executive committee was read by Mrs. S. C. Dickey and Mrs. S. W. Beck gave a treasure report.

Miss Dorothy Jean Blahm, Miss Adaline Henry, and Mrs. H. E. Crocker attired in formal dresses, presided at a lace covered table centered with a white bowl of sweet peas, snapdragons and bridal wreath in pastel shades, with two lighted candles in crystal holders on each side, and served tea, cake, and coffee to those attending.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 1 (AP)—Wheat prices tumbled more than two cents a bushel today to the lowest level in two weeks. This wiped out all but a fraction of the market's advance scored since the sensational upturn of February 16.

Selling was associated with prospects of rain in some sections of the southwestern wheat belt and a preliminary private crop report showing improved condition of winter wheat.

Wheat closed 2¼-2⅝ cents lower than yesterday, May $1.00½-⅝, July 98⅜-⅝; Corn ⅝-⅝ down, May 56¼-⅜, July 56⅝; Oats ⅛-⅜ lower.

July	1.00⅝	98⅜	98⅜-⅝

Mrs. Luker Gives Review Of Book

Special To The NEWS

WHITE DEER, March 1—"A Half Inch of Candle" by A. Hamilton Gibbs, was reviewed by Mrs. Cyril Luker of Amarillo, before a small, but appreciative audience, at the grade school auditorium this week, under the auspices of the eVnado Blanco club.

This is the story of a World War veteran and a Russian refugee who seek security in a small village near Nice on the Riviera. The German invasion of Czechoslovakia and Poland thrusts the horror of war upon them again and the book ends with a dramatic plea for neutrality and peace.

Billions For Nothing

One of the stock alibis for our enormous Federal debt is that much of the money has gone to create valuable assets—that, in other words, it has been invested in things which will pay out in the future.

That makes a good story until you go beneath the surface. There is no denying the fact that the Federal debt has increased over $24,000,000,000 in the past few years. The National Economy League now publishes a statement showing that only $3,336,000,000, or 13.4 per cent of that vast sum, was spent for purposes which increased the nation's assets. The rest of the money has simply disappeared, leaving behind it only a gigantic burden for the taxpayers of today and tomorrow to meet.

This shouldn't surprise anyone who has given even passing attention to the financial conduct of the Federal government in recent years. Billions of dollars have been oppropriated for relief, to be spent as soon as received by the beneficiaries. This money created nothing permanent. Other billions have been spent for pump priming projects which didn't work, and created little save havoc. Still more billions have gone for farm relief schemes which flopped. And so it goes, down the long tragic list.

This country has spent all those billions and about all it has gained is the knowledge that you can't spend yourself into prosperity any more than you can drink yourself sober. And now, if the spenders have their way, more billions will be spent in an identical manner, thus throwing good money after bad. Is it any wonder that the principal factor which is holding us back today is fear and uncertainty as to what the future will bring?

Congratulations, Oklahoma!

Some states are blessed with unusually progressive managements in their electric utility companies and in their state regulatory bodies.

An outstanding example is Oklahoma. In that state, the Corporation Commission recently announced that a voluntary reduction in rates had been made by the Oklahoma Gas & Electric Company which would save the customers of that utility $500,000 annually. This reduction, which was worked out in a harmonious manner between the Commission and the company officials, eliminates the expense, delays and discord that generally result from long and costly investigations and rate hearings. This reduction follows a similar reduction of approximately $700,000 made in January 1937.

Oklahoma is to be congratulated for having public officials and corporation executives who can act intelligently and fairly on questions such as this which are of such vital public interest in the progres of a state.

Behind The News

WASHINGTON—There used to be (maybe there is yet) a character in the funny papers known as Gloomy Gus. Gus's face was recalled to us vividly when we saw Senator Joe Guffey of Pennsylvania after the double-edged trimming he has had in the last few days.

Gloomy Guffey's chin seemed to be dragging the floor. The ill feelings which had accumulated for two years or more in Pennsylvania politics had arisen to put in his path more snares than you could find in a rabbit run.

First, the Pennsylvania state Democratic committee had refused to indorse his candidacy for the Senate. Second, his hope of stiring up enthusiasm for the party by having the national convention in Philadelphia was blasted. Chicago got it. Third, both situations so discouraged Democratic workmen in Pennsylvania that many took it for granted that once again Pennsylvania would go back into Republican columns next November. Their only hope, they said, was for Roosevelt to run for a third term with a sweep similar to 1936.

NOW IT CAN BE TOLD

Until two years ago Guffey was happily confident that he was the Democratic kingpin in Pennsylvania. Then a hitch developed. The story is only now available.

Just before the 1938 meeting of the Pennsylvania Democratic central committee, Guffey and a group of party officials had a conference with President Roosevelt. Guffey had let it out that he wanted to be the candidate for governor, or at least to name his man. At the White House he was talked out of that. Leaving the White House the conferees announced that the President wanted Guffey to stay in the Senate. What was not announced seems to have been an agreement to have Ambassador William Bullitt return from Paris and run for governor.

The plan fell through. John B. Kelly, Philadelphia city Democratic chairman, and Matthew McClosky, contractor and heavy voice in the party, had not been consulted. Information coming to us now is that they balked at Bullitt. Moreover, it seems Bullitt had not been taken into the picture. He, too, balked.

Guffey felt he had been slicked out of the governorship and decided to plug for his own man, Thomas Kennedy, a CIO candidate. It was a frantic move. Guffey's Democratic friends, who had counted him as a regular for years, became furiously bitter. Their own candidate, Charles Alvin Jones, won the nomination in the primary against Guffey's choice, but the party split was so damaging that the Republican candidates, earlier considered almost pushovers, won both in the Senate and for governor.

BULLITT TO RUN?

Guffey made efforts to heal the breach. Jones was a possibility for appointment to the Federal circuit court. So was Michael Musmanno. Guffey presented both to the Attorney General. When Jones got the nomination, Guffey okayed him for confirmation in the Senate.

But when the state central committee met to pass on candidates for 1940, including Guffey's senatorship, there was a solid move to deal out Guffey and put in Kelly of Philadelphia. Guffey threatened to run independently in the primary, thus threatening a new party split. So the committee, for the first time in years, backed away without indorsing anybody for the Senate.

But even now it is by no means sure Guffey will have the field to himself. On the eve of the state committee meeting, it was announced Bullitt was coming home from Paris for a brief consultation. Rumors brewed that he would enter the race against Guffey. Offhand, the rumors sound groundless. It would amount to repudiation by President Roosevelt of Guffey, in the face of his faithful support of the New Deal. Besides, while Guffey may lose the election, he would be no easy candidate in the primary. He has packed Pennsylvania full of patronage.

KEEPING POSTED

If one wants to know what will happen in the future, the best way to find out is to keep in touch with what is being taught in the public educational institutions. Of course, it takes courage and a steady nerve to face hard facts and really know what is taking place in public education and be able to stand quietly and calmly while the foundations of our government, our democracy and our capitalistic system are being subtly torn to pieces by education directed by the uniformed multitude.

The other evening, I attended one of these public educational affairs on the subject of religion and its influence on democracy. It should be a very interesting subject. The speaker defined religion and showed a great deal of courage in his presentation of the effects of various kinds of religion. When, however, he got over into the methods of perpetuating democracy, he had the popular ideas of how it was preserved.

As to Christianity, he made the startling statement that Jesus was not a Christian. His interpretation of a Christian was a follower of Christ. He said that Saint Paul was a Christian but not Christ. According to this definition, it would seem that Christians are worshipping an individual, or a God rather than principles.

According to this interpretation, Mathew Tindall, in his great book, the Bible of Deism called, "Christianity as Old as the Creation," was absolutely wrong in his conclusions. Jesus certainly wanted people to be devoted to His principles and not to Him as an individual or a God as indicated when he said that he came not to save the righteous, but the sinners. Evidently Jesus believed the principles he was advocating existed before his time.

To worship a man or God without defining his principles and / or his attributes is certainly not enlightening or developing of human understanding, to say the least. And to define his principles is then to reverence the principles. Certainly Jesus was standing, preaching and living principles.

The speaker seemed to think that democracy could not be a religion while Fascism and Communism could. He seemed to believe that democracy was not an end. Evidently he believed that the greatest possible freedom is not an aspiration or an end; that the natural and undoubtable sequences of liberty are not worthy of devotion.

The speaker seemed to think that the capitalistic system was not equivalent to democracy and the philosophy of Christianity. He even contended that capitalism could be instrumental in destroying democracy.

He had the usual belief of professors and men without practical experience that corporations bought up patents that were valuable and suppressed them. It is strange that so many people can actually believe this kind of nonsense. The only explanation that I can think of is that they want to believe that bigness in the form of corporations is wicked. The wish is evidently father of the thought.

It is just as reasonable to believe that successful business firms (and if they are not successful they do not stay in business long) would buy up something that would reduce the labor to produce a thing and suppress it, as it is to believe that a farmer would buy a cow that he believed was a better milk producer than anything he had and kill it for beef. Or it is just as reasonable to believe that a housewife would buy an electric sweeper and still continue to use a broom.

So education of this kind can only lead to a more rapidly deterioration and destruction of the fundamental principles of democracy, of the philosophy of Jesus and of capitalism. This kind of education destroys freedom because it teaches the hatred of those who create wealth. As Bastiat wisely said, the great mass of people do not want liberty or we would have it. They do not want democracy, capitalism, competition and a free market and a high standard of living or we would have it. Majority rule education on these subjects, instead of preserving democracy, hastens its downfall.

OUR FIRST JOB

The first thing the people of this country should do, if we are to return to prosperity, is to reeducate the publishers of the country. They, together with the most of the preachers, have done as much to mislead the public as anything else. They have both been pandering to the public. The publishers have taken a shortime view, in order to make the cash register ring, the preachers to get power and influence and prestige. The desire for material things is probably not as dangerous to society as the desire of the mediocre man to be popular and important with the masses.

If the publishers could be educated on some of the simple, fundamental principles of how liberty is preserved and how wealth is created and willy nilly distributed, they would then be able to be a clearing house and help the great mass of readers to understand these simple fundamentals.

And the fundamentals that will bring about prosperity are not complicated and difficult to understand, as most people believe. They can be understood by the very ordinary mind. They are just simple axioms.

So any time the readers of this paper believe this column makes any statement that is not consistent with the right of each and every man to create and freely exchange what he thinks society most needs, then let it be challenged and explained.

HOW'S THIS FOR AN INCOME-TAX CARTOON?

Around Hollywood

By ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood, March 1—"Pinocchio." A Walt Disney feature production. Based on the story by Collodi. Photographed in technicolor.

It's worth all the adjectives that will be dug up in its praise. It is—as one of the very young members of the preview audience pronounced—a "super."

Digging up adjectives for a Disney production is pretty much a waste of time. It's enough to say that those familiar attributes of the Disney world of creation—artistic beauty, whimsey, quaintness and charm of character, humor both broad and subtle—are all demonstrated anew and glowingly in "Pinocchio."

The story doesn't need summarizing either. Everybody knows, or will know soon, about the kindly woodcarver Geppetto and the little wooden boy Pinocchio who became a real, live boy after assrted vicissitudes. Nobody can know or appreciate what the Disney genius has done with the picture until he has seen the picture.

Technically, "Pinocchio" marks a great advance over his first feature "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs." Most obvious improvement here is the sharper projection of the human characters — Geppetto might be a fairyland version of the character actor Christian Rub, whom he resembles. I thought the sense of three-dimensional life on the screen, too, was far advanced over that of "Snow White," and there are new wrinkles in the photography which are eloquent of the work the Disney staff has done since "Snow White."

The opening, spotlighting the narratory Jiminy Cricket, the ebullient hearth-haunter due, I think, for the popularity that was "Dopey's" in "Snow White." The chorus of the clocks in Geppetto's shop. The first view of the sleeping village. The materialization of the Blue Fairy from the evening star. The camera's cricket's-eye view (hop, hop) as Jiminy leaps to the window of Geppetto's home. The antics of Figaro, the cat. The alure of Cleo, siren of the goldfish bowl. Jiminy's technicolored blush at the Blue Fairy's smile. His dance on the violin strings. The swashbuckling villainies of the Fox and the Cat, Giddy. This pair's song and dance with Pinocchio, and Jiminy's eavesdropping under the rainspout. The ham-acting of Stromboli, the wicked puppet-master. Pinocchio and Lampwick, the toughie of Pleasure Island. The beauty of the underwater scenes, when Jiminy and Pinocchio go in search of Geppetto who has been swallowed by Monstro, the whale. Jiminy's cry to "Break it up, boys," to the barnicles that have attached themselves to Pinocchio's ballast rock. The pathos when Pinocchio lies still, apparently dead, after his rescue of Geppetto. The joyful excitement of Pinocchio's eccession to life as a Real Boy—and Jiminy Cricket's cocky reception of his gold badge as an Official Conscience.

The Family Doctor

Dr. Morris Fishbein

When relief agencies, in one of our large cities, prepare a basket of food with the idea of giving the citizen on relief the minimum essentials of a well-balanced diet, they find it necessary to prepare extra quantities of certain ingredients for certain sections of the town.

Persons of Norwegian and Swedish descent like herring; salt pork is especially appreciated in the negro districts and Italians use quantities of macaroni and spaghetti far beyond the amounts consumed by people of other nationalities.

Central European countries incline more toward noodles. Our national consumption of macaroni, spaghetti, vemricelli and noodles makes these products one of the largest food industries in the United States. In 1935, more than 600,000,000 pounds of such food were produced. Our production of macaroni and spaghetti was second only to that of Italy.

The federal government has set up certain standards for macaroni and noodles, and producers of these substances must comply with these standards. Macaroni is merely dough, prepared by adding water to cemolina, farina or wheat flour, and may contain added salt.

Noodles are dried dough, prepared from wheat flour and eggs, with or without water and salt.

Since eggs constitute an added food factor, it has become recognized as a violation of the Food and Drugs act to use artificial coloring in plain noodles or in macaroni so that people will think that they are getting egg noodles or egg macaroni.

Semolina, which is used in the macaroni, consists of the middlings of drug wheat. This product has more protein and less starch than farina.

Since macaroni products are largely carbohydrate in character, they are excellent sources of food energy. Such products are particularly adaptable to the diets of laborers or those doing heavy work. One pound of macaroni will furnish 1,600 calories, which is about all the calories required by the average woman or man doing light work. The amount of protein provided in macaroni is not significant.

'Gone With Wind' Sweeps Prize Field

HOLLYWOOD, March 1 (AP)—For the moment Clark Gable is Hollywood's "forgotten man."

But for Mr. Gable "Gone With the Wind" would have swept the field last night in the Motion Picture Academy of Arts and Sciences' eleventh annual selection of premier film accomplishments.

"GWTW" did all right, anyway. To the surprise of no one, it walked off with eight of 16 awards. Not since "It Happened One Night" grabbed off all the top honors in 1934 has a picture done as well.

But "Gone With the Wind" were the hopes of many another producer, actress, director and photographer for fleeting fame and the cheers of an ermined, evening-coated audience of filmdom's famous, which crowded the banquet room of the Ambassador hotel for the season's swankiest affair.

Only Robert Donat, among the principal contestants, survived the Big Gale. It was he who edged out Gable as the outstanding actor. The industry — from mighty producer to obscure electrician—named him for his masterful portrayal of 50 years in an English schoolmaster's life in "Goodbye, Mr. Chips."

Neither Donat nor Gable was among those present. Donat is in England and Gable left Hollywood yesterday for a short vacation.

England Sweeps Field

Vivien Leigh made the top acting awards a sweep for England. The British girl was on hand to happily accept her "Oscar."

Victor Fleming, whose direction of the film brought him top honors in that class, was ill in bed with influenza. Producer David O. Selznick, who accomplished what many said was impossible when he made Margaret Mitchell's novel of the Civil War South into a picture, took the Irving Thalberg memorial award for "the most consistent high quality of production achievement by an individual producer."

Negro Also Wins

Hattie McDanliel memorable "Mammy" in "Wind," captured the prize as the best supporting actress and with it became the first negro ever to be honored by the academy.

Other awards:

Thomas Mitchell in "Stagecoach" as the best supporting actor;

Lewis R. Foster, for the best original motion picture story, "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington."

Bernard B. Brown for the best sound recording in "When Tomorrow Comes."

Gregg Toland for the best black and white photography in "Wuthering Heights."

Herbert Stothart for the best original musical score, in "The Wizard of Oz."

E. Y. Harburg and Harold Arlen for the best song, "Over the Rainbow" from "The Wizard of Oz."

Walt Disney for his cartoon, "The Ugly Duckling"; Paramount for the best one-reel short, "Busy Little Bears," and Warner Bros. for the best two-reel short, "Sons of Liberty."

A special award was given in honor of the late Douglas Fairbanks, Sr., first president of the academy, and presented to Doug, Jr. Another special honor went to Judy Garland, young singer, for work as "an outstanding juvenile."

Texas' First Wool Washing Plant Opens

SAN MARCOS, March 1 (AP)—H. C. Rea picked up handfuls of clean fluffy fleece and silently realized that their dream of seven years had come true.

The first batch of wool ever to be scoured in Texas came from new machines yesterday, bringing a new epoch in the industrial history of Texas.

The brothers Rea attended the formal opening of their new plant here and watched a consignment of wool from six Texas growers, amounting to 10,000 pounds, put through the 180-foot scourage machine at the Cen-Tex Wool and Mohair Company.

The big boiler was fired up, water was run out of the 55,000 gallon storage tank into the water softener, electric motors were turned on and the chute was opened allowing raw wool to pour down from the main floor bins into the hopper and conveyors which started the first batch of wool through a series of three long bowls filled with a cleansing solution where the wool was stirred and agitated by fork-like prongs; then into a rinsing bowl; and finally into the immense dryer where live steam in coils of pipe raised the temperature to a point which thoroughly dried the wool and turned it out a fluffy, snow-white fleece.

It was more than seven years ago that two brothers living up at Granger conceived the idea of a wool scouring plant for Texas.

L. B. Rea is executive vice-president of the company while his brother, H. C. is field representative.

In the beginning, they were told by everyone from the grower to the mill men that wool could not be profitably processed in Texas. All that was done in the northeast and had always been done there. So it could not be done in Texas.

The Rea brothers continued their study of the wool industry from the grower to the mill owner. They studied the marketing of wool. They studied freight rates and differentials. They visited scouring plants in the Boston section. They talked to mill owners and manufacturers. Nearly everyone told them it could not be done.

More than a year ago, they selected San Marcos as a location for a plant. It had good rail facilities. It was close to the Texas ports and at the same time close to an area which produces vast quantities of wool and mohair. San Marcos had a good factory building already standing; an unlimited water supply, a people who were friendly to the establishment of industry, an adequate supply of labor, and many other facilities which made the location a good one.

Price Fixing May Aid Farmers, Says Jones

WASHINGTON, March 1 (AP)—Chairman Jones (D.-Tex.) of the house agriculture committee raised the idea today that a form of government price-fixing to aid farmers might be better than any other form of federal assistance.

"I'm not advocating it," he said during committee discussion of Secretary Wallace's certificate plan for self-financing benefit payments. "I'm just talking. But we are going into consideration of a plan that in a sense carries this phase. We might as well lay our cards on the table and discuss the whole thing."

Jones prefaced his remarks by saying that in view of recent Supreme Court decisions that "we can regulate commerce even to the point of prohibition" a price-fixing plan might be considered constitutional.

"So might it not be simpler to forbid more than a certain amount of any of these major commodities going into commerce at all?" he asked.

He cited this example for cotton: Compel manufacturers either to buy the staple from farmers at, say, 15¼ cents a pound or from the government at 16 cents.

"What difference is there between your proposition and price-fixing?" Representative Cooley D.-N. C.) asked.

"Well, it's about the same thing," Jones replied. "It is in effect price-fixing. But why isn't the certificate plan price 'fixing?'"

The present farm program, he said, "has done some mighty fine things and unless we get something better I'm not in favor of chasing rainbows."

R. M. Evans, AAA administrator, who was called to explain the certificate plan, said the idea Jones advanced might lead to a form of regimentation which the people would oppose.

15,000th Charge On Police Docket Today

More than 15,000 persons have "told it to the judge" in city police court here since 1928. The 15,000th case was heard this morning by Judge C. E. McGrew. The charge was intoxication and the fine was $10.

The present system of keeping police records was set up in 1928. Books recording all charges and receipt books have been kept by numbers since that time.

Recently all police department records were taken by the Works Projects Administration card index project and a card index system and loose leaf record made of every case on file.

Now the desk sergeant can easily check whether a person has been charged in city police court and the type of the offense since 1928. So, there's no more "fooling the judge" about never having been charged.

Long Blames U. S. Probe For Defeat

BATON ROUGE, La., March 1 (AP)—Governor Earl K. Long, whose political machine was wrecked in the Feb. 20 Democratic runoff primary, today pondered calling a special session of the Louisiana Legislature after charging the federal government with taking sides in the recent campaign.

In a bitter 2,000-word review of the campaign, in which he was defeated by Attorney Sam Jones in his fight for return to office, Long asserted federal prosecutors had shattered "every precedent" by the manner in which they conducted their "scandal" investigation.

When the newly nominated Secretary of State, E. A. Conway, died Feb. 19 Long had himself nominated to the post. Jones' forces are now striving to unseat him, and Long's special session plan was interpreted as a move to strengthen his claim to the post.

"Just one week or 10 days before the election," Long said, "for the psychological effect, it would seem, federal investigators returned from Washington and made headlines again to scare, stampede, intimidate and harass the citizens of this state. . . .

"That the federal government had a right to come in to a local state primary or against any one group of candidates was never heard of in any state in the union before this time."

Assistant Attorney General O. John Rogge, on his return to Washington from Louisiana Feb. 26, said the justice department "helped to give the state back to the people."

Long Calls Another Special Session

BATON ROUGE, La., March 1 (AP)—Governor Earl K. Long called the Louisiana legislature to meet in special session at 4:30 p. m. today.

The governor, in a telegram to members, said:

"We must finance social security, the hot lunch (school) program, and the building of the tuberculosis hospital which has been started."

The governor's action followed reports he was considering calling the special session to solidify his claim to the office of secretary of state in the new administration to be headed by Governor-Designate Sam H. Jones.

Long made no mention of this, however, in his legislative call.

When the newly-nominated and incumbent secretary of state E. A. Conway died Feb. 19, Long had himself nominated by the Democratic state central committee to the post. Jones rejected the action.

Long in a bitter 2,000-word review of his campaign and defeat, last night asserted federal prosecutors had shattered "every precedent" by the manner in which they conducted their investigation of Louisiana "scandals."

BOND ISSUE

one bonding company has a "corner" on the City's bond business, and where bonds are sold by the City entirely without competitive bidding.

An Unbusinesslike Situation

When this unhealthy situation was pointed out to city officials by The News on Tuesday, Feb. 20, they stated that the City is under no obligation to the one bonding company and that, when the time might arrive, if the interest rate of Crummer & Company is "not in line" it will be rejected.

City officials state further that they have no binding agreement with Crummer & Company on the electric light and power revenue bond sale. They say that it is merely a commitment in which the bonding company informs the City that it stands ready to furnish necessary funds for the purchase of the plant. They stated they could not promise now to ask for competitive bids because it would jeopardize their commitment with Crummer & Company.

Whether City officials believe it or not, the opinion is well supported that the City of Pampa does have a legal and binding agreement to sell the bonds to Crummer & Company, of Dallas, if and when the City finally concludes the purchase of the light and power plant. Representatives of a number of Texas bonding companies share this opinion—among them companies which have copies of the agreement. Certainly, if there is a commitment, there must be a contract.

What's Best For The People?

The best interests of all the people of Pampa will be served only when matters such as buying a utility plant are decided by a vote of the people. The taxpayers will get the best premiums and the lowest interest rates only when the City of Pampa calls for competitive bids on all bond issues.

Some may try to argue that the interest rate in one town is no criterion of what it should be another. That, in a measure, is beside the point.

It was the purpose of this series of articles to point out to the people the dangers of dealing with only one company without competitive bidding.

There just isn't any argument against advocating sealed bids from any reputable firm that wishes to bid.

There just isn't any argument against opposition to non-competitive deals.

There just isn't any argument against trying to get the best bargain for the people.

If there is, The News would like to hear it.

A Review Of The News' Attitude

At the very outset, The Pampa News insisted that a step so vital as the purchase of a power plant should not be taken without a vote of the people.

After much editorial insistence on this point, city officials made public announcement by resolution that the deal would not be consummated without a vote of the people.

Next The Pampa News expressed the editorial opinion that the city's business was the public's business and that there was too much secrecy manifest in City Hall affairs, especially in connection with the power plant program. There were too many secret meetings.

The News gave publicity to the fact that a newspaper reporter was barred from a meeting of a "taxpayers' committee" with the city commission. He was told he could not stay as a representative of the newspaper.

Publicity on this act brought forth statements of promised cooperation by City Hall officials on the release of news. The newly organized "fact-finding committee" also announced its meetings would be open and there would be no secrets.

And, now—

The Pampa News again believes it is right in urging that there be competitive bidding on bond sales.

It is the only way taxpayers can be assured of getting the best bargain for their money, and the only way to eliminate possibilities of abuse and extravagance in the conduct of city business. Turn to Page 12 and read what the Texas bond houses have to say.

One man was killed and eleven persons were missing after an unnamed Italian steamer was mined in the North Sea.

The attacks off Yorkshire came at daybreak.

Planes Over Berlin

The British air ministry announced that Royal Air Force scouts had reached Berlin during the night on the third such excursion within a week.

British fliers also reconnoitered Hamburg, Bremen, Hanover, Kiel, Luebeck, Cuxhaven and Brunsbuettel and maintained patrols over Helgoland Bight, the air ministry said.

Burgeoning of aerial activity in the half-year-old war lent point to the comment of a British aviation source which said German air attacks on shipping "apparently are part of a long-term attempt to bleed Britain white."

"The essence of the German plan," said the British aviation authority, "seems to be to strike at Britain in a way in which Germany cannot well be struck in return and to refrain from measures which would invite immediate and overwhelming counter-attack."

German hopes for success of such a program may be dispelled, however, he said, in recalling that last month Lord Chatfield, minister for coordination of defense, declared British air power would be brought into play at the right moment.

Failure of Germany to launch mass attacks has bolstered confidence in the nation's anti-aircraft defense and has permitted expansion of the British air force without the disturbance of major fighting.

Choir En Route To Pampa Stalls Near Oklahoma Prison

The following story from Denton tells what happened to the Denton A Cappella choir which was scheduled to give a concert in Pampa about two weeks ago. This story is the first news received locally from the choir since they failed to arrive in Pampa for the concert.

DENTON, March 1—Forty singing collegians, teeth still chattery from their dramatic bout with a recent West Texas blizzard that made weather history two weeks ago, are back on the North Texas State Teachers college campus after a choir tour which was cut short and a stopover in Oklahoma snow that was much too long.

Singers, members of the college A Cappella choir on tour with their director, Dr. Wilfred C. Bain, and Mrs. Bain, were en route from Oklahoma City to Borger, Texas, when their bus with some 30 other cars became jammed on the snow-banked highway near El Reno, unable to turn around or go forward.

Although the wholesale stall occurred just outside the gates to a reform school, law prohibited the frost-nipped travelers from entering for shelter. After an hour of watchful waiting in the snowbound bus, the 18 men of the choir and Dr. Bain lifted the snowbound cars, turned them around, and shoveled snow to make a passage for the cars to return to El Reno.

At intervals, the boys returned to the bus to change into dry socks and to thaw out their heads, frozen over with a concoction of ice, snow and hair oil. Choir girls in the comparatively warm bus donated their coats to the boys and took the linen covers from the bus seats to make head coverings for the boys.

After digging out, the group was forced to turn back to El Reno, for a thrill-packed two and one-half miles, during which the members say the bus nearly turned over into a snow drift. With all Panhandle roads blocked, the choir was forced to cancel appearances in Amarillo and Pampa, returning to the Denton campus early Sunday.

tar and the Suez Canal, for example—so Von Ribbentrop is suposed to have argued—there is no security for the rest of the world. According to the German view England uses economic strangulation as one of her chief weapons for holding the rest of the world in submission, and therefore Germany is rendering a service to civilization in challenging Britain's right to such a practice.

Germany, in the foreign office view which undoubtedly was communicated to Welles, would rather fight to the bitter end than to agree to a compromise by which after some years, when England is in control of strategic control points governing raw materials and the world's business, she "decides to get enemies and neutrals by the throats again."

Von Ribbentrop, according to reliable sources, also pointed out that Germany established a protectorate over Bohemia and Moravia (heart of the former Czecho-Slovak republic) and seized Poland only because England and France tried to use these areas as operating bases against Germany.

If the present grip on Bohemia and Moravia is tight and if Poland at present is ruled with a firm hand, Von Ribbentrop was represented as ready to say to Welles this is due solely to the fact that the British and French even now have not ceased trying to incite these little nations to rebellion.

The foreign office lays claim to being in possession of evidence that the British are busy in Lithuania, stirring up trouble there, and especially encouraging the Poles there to create a disturbance in the so-called "governor's area" or Poland administered by Germany.

Top speed of a bombing plane in the World war was about 75 miles an hour. Today bombers are capable of attaining speeds of 250 to 300 miles an hour.

Boy Tired Of Mush Commits Suicide

KANSAS CITY, Kas., March 1 (AP)—Screaming "I'm tired of living on corn meal mush" 11-year-old Harry Larsen ran into his bedroom and slammed the door. A short time later he was found strangled to death.

Members of the family said Harry had taken his own life because of lack of variety in his food. Holly Palmer, city detective, said "it looks like suicide" but police and Dr. L. S. Fisher, deputy coroner, ordered an inquiry.

Mrs. Agnes Larsen, 45-year-old widow, discovered the body last night after repeatedly calling to her son "come to supper."

Harry's body was slumped on the floor, a cloth attached securely around his neck at the two ends tied to door knobs.

Five minutes later, an older brother walked in, his arms loaded with groceries bought with an unemployment insurance check.

Mrs. Larsen said she, six sons and daughters and a daughter-in-law had been living on meager rations for several months. Two sons who formerly worked in a bakery now are jobless.

Police said an insurance policy with a paid up value of $25 or $30 on Harry's life had lapsed but had been extended to April by the company. Premiums were only 5 cents a week.

FDR Will Face Three Questions On His Return

WASHINGTON, March 1 (AP)—Returning from his vacation cruise tomorrow in time to observe the new deal's seventh anniversary, President Roosevelt will find three questions paramount in the capital:

1. Politics: Will the Chief Executive run for a third term, and when will he make known his decision?

2. Foreign affairs: What will Undersecretary of State Welles report on his visits to the European belligerents?

3. Congress: Will the President make any new legislative recommendations, or will he urge the lawmakers to quit early?

It will surprise everyone in Washington if he proposes any important new laws at this time. He probably will favor adjournment of Congress between May 15 and June 1.

That would give Congressmen time for a brief rest—or an early-to-the-ground survey at home—before the national conventions pick the Presidential nominee.

Many politicians argue that the Democratic convention will be in session July 15 before Mr. Roosevelt discloses his third term views. Some predict he will be renominated—and then will decline to run.

On the other hand, an important segment of political Washington contends he will make an announcement soon—perhaps on Monday, the anniversary of his first inauguration in 1933.

Still others believe the President will keep silent until after the Illinois and Wisconsin primaries in April. His name has been entered by supporters, in opposition to Vice President Garner.

LeFors-Alanreed Road Promoted In Chamber Meeting

A second meeting of the Alanreed and McClellan Creek Chamber of Commerce was to be held at Alanreed today in the interest of furthering construction of a road from LeFors to Alanreed.

The road was to have been part of a highway project for which county bonds were voted at an election held on March 28, 1931.

While other roads under the program were built, the highway from Alanreed to a point intersecting the LeFors-McLean road, was not constructed. Last autumn, Alanreed citizens began voicing their complaint on the matter.

County Judge Sherman White said that Alanreed citizens had a just cause for their complaint and promised that the commissioners would fulfill this county obligation.

C. M. Carpenter of McLean, county commissioner of precinct 4, met with the Chamber of Commerce Monday night when a discussion was held on means of getting the paved road.

At the meeting, R. M. Gibson was named chairman, F. E. Smith, secretary, and a committee appointed, consisting of F. B. Stubbs, Paul M. Bruce, L. L. Palmer, S. T. Greenwood, and W. J. Ball.

Methodist Bishop Speaks To Lions

Bishop Ivan Lee Holt of Dallas, who has been conducting a meeting of laymen and pastors of the 10 pastoral charges in the Clarendon district of the Methodist church, was the principal speaker on the luncheon program of the Lions club, held at noon Thursday at the church.

Attendance at the luncheon, including pastors and laymen conference members, and other guests, was 100.

"How To Remember Names and Faces" was the title of a motion picture, in charge of J. G. Teeters.

Guests of the club were Frank Monroe, T. F. Smalling, Harold Wright, Ernest Reynolds, Tom Dawson, Farris Oden, James Matley, Mr. Teeters, all of Pampa, and Dr. W. C. House, Amarillo.

British Skeptical Of 'Peace' Plan

LONDON, March 1 (AP)—A document purporting to embody German peace terms was published today by the British press, which described it as "amazing" and "dubious."

The Daily Herald said officials were unable to regard it as a genuine peace offer from Germany. It said the document was sponsored by the British council for Christian settlement in Europe, was supposed to have come through the German minister in Dublin, and contained the following terms:

Agreement by Germany to an independent "reconstructed" Poland; freedom for reconstituted Czech and and Slovak states; General disarmament; membership in a re-formed League of Nations; return of all or some of Germany's former colonies or some other method of providing Germany with adequate raw materials.

Worms Seek To Turn

SOUTH BEND, IND., March 1 (AP)—Four Worms are seeking to turn—their last names.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley W. Worm and Mr. and Mrs. Everett A. Worm filed a petition to change their names to Warren because their present monnickers "have constantly exposed us to ridicule and embarrassment."

The male Worms are twins.

Thumbing Lanes Asked

EUGENE, ORE., March 1 (AP)—A committee of university of Oregon students asked the city council to create "thumbing lanes." Students would stand in the lanes while attempting to catch rides to and from campus.

Harvesters And Dimmitt To Battle Tonight

Harvesters Favored To Take Opener

Pampa will be a slight favorite over Dimmitt's district two championship basketball team when the Harvesters clash with the boys from Castro county at 7:30 tonight in the opening game of the regional meet at Canyon.

Lubbock and the most highly-touted team of the tournament, Crowell's Wildcats, will battle for survival in the second game which will begin at 8:45 o'clock.

A delegation of Pampa fans will be in the stands cheering the Harvesters, but a larger delegation is expected from Dimmitt which is a "hotter" basketball town than Pampa.

It will be curtains for the two teams that lose tonight. The two victorious clubs will fight it out tomorrow night for the regional championship in a game beginning at 8 o'clock. Pampa and Crowell are favored to go to the finals. However, it is useless to point out that an upset would be the most natural thing in the world. Lubbock is determined to win the region. So is Pampa and the other teams, and Crowell is confident to a greater extent than the others.

Coach Mitchell will take his string of Bearden and Seth Cox, forwards; Terrell, center; Dunaway and Carlisle, guards, who will start the game. The coach will also have on the bench his reserves who will be ready to replace any Harvester that falters.

Reserves who will make the trip are A. C. Enloe, Tom Cox, forwards; Billy Mounts, Durward Mitchell, guards; Junior Frashier, center; Thomas Dewey, guard. Cletus Mitchell, guard.

Dimmitt nosed out Canyon in an overtime period in the district two meet, after Canyon had led most of the way. Canyon beat Pampa on a night when the Harvesters were not themselves. Tomlinson, six foot six Eagle center, was Canyon's star player who made most of the points.

Follett Boxers Invade LeFors Gym Tonight

Special To The NEWS

LEFORS, March 1—Follett is sending boxers to LeFors Friday night with a strong desire to break the winning streak of the Pirates.

There will be 16 to 18 fights and all of them are expected to be good. Many of the LeFors boys that have not seen action for some time will be boxing again. Many new boys that have been working hard for two weeks or since basketball may enter the ring. Ralph Earhart and Charles Nipper are two of these boys and they both look like champions.

The Pirates have cleaned their slate now and they plan on keeping it that way. The defeat of Amarillo at the hands of the Pirates was quite a surprise to a lot of people but the "Our Boys" boxers knew they could do it. The 9-2 win over Amarillo adds another lopside win to the column and makes the sixth straight win.

A big crowd is expected Friday night. Standing room was used by many fans last Tuesday night.

12 Teams To Enter Catholic Tourney

SAN ANTONIO, March 1 (AP)—Twelve teams will be here this afternoon for the start of the sixth annual state Catholic basketball tournament.

Cathedral High school of El Paso, defending champion, meets St. Edwards of Austin in a first round game tonight.

St. Joseph's academy of Laredo and St. Joseph's academy of Yoakum play the opening game.

Other teams entered are St. Mary's of Port Arthur, Kirwin of Galveston, St. Joseph's of Dallas, St. Anthony's of Beaumont, St. Henry's of San Antonio, St. Joseph's of Victoria, Central Catholic of San Antonio and St. Joseph's of Brownville.

Seitz, Dilbeck, Vannoy Already In Good Shape

It's not going to take Manager Grover Seitz of the Pampa Oilers long to get in shape this season. The big center fielder is nearly 10 pounds lighter than he was at this time last year. He's determined to get down to 200 pounds and at that weight he should be even faster than last year, although he'll be a year older.

A couple of other Oilers are just about ready to go after a winter of hard work, the type that keeps a fellow in shape.

Rex Dilbeck, elongated lefthanded curve-ball artist with the control, has been working for Clyde Ives at the Plains Electric company. He has been stringing wire and rolling wire which has kept his left arm plenty loose and he's been running up and down ladders that has kept his legs in prime condition.

"I'm ready now, let's go throw a few," Dilbeck was heard to remark yesterday as the mercury soared past the 80-degree mark.

The other Oiler ready for the wars is Milbert Vannoy who has spent the winter working for Mahan, McCarty and Besse, contractors. The chunky Vannoy has been swinging a hammer with his trusty right arm and running up and down oil derricks for leg action.

Also spending the winter in Pampa, working for the Magnolia Petroleum company, were Bob Bailey, first baseman, and Lloyd Summers, catcher, but it has been rumored that they will be missing from baseball circles this year. On the doubtful list is Harvey Hutton, veteran pitcher, who has been working for Danciger Refineries Inc.

Bailey's contract was returned to Business Manager Harold Miller yesterday, unsigned.

Although contracts were not returned, letters were received this morning from Gus Hallbourg, pitcher, and Dilbeck, asking for more money than specified on the contracts.

Most of the Oilers were paid top money for Class C baseball last year and as a result little difference can be posted this year. The league added one player to a team roster but hiked the salary limit only $100 or to $1,200.

HUBBELL PULLS ON SPIKES

Pulling on his spikes for the first time this year, Carl Hubbell, New York lefthander, began training with the Giants at Winter Haven, Florida. He won 11 games and lost 9 in 1939.

Training Camp Briefs

(By The Associated Press)

LAKELAND, FLA.—Freddie Hutchinson, the $70,000 pitching bust of the Detroit Tigers last season, has taken off weight during the winter and hopes this will mean more victories.

"I didn't do any serious exercising," he explained, "but I stayed away from the dining table."

SAN ANTONIO—Joe Grace, heavy-hitting outfielder, was the 33rd of the St. Louis Browns' 40 players to sign a contract and will report to come here with the second squad Monday.

S. PETERSBURG, FLA.—Jimmie Foxx, the Boston Red Sox' big blaster, looked over the New York Yankees' in training yesterday and gave a frank appraisal:

"If the Yanks are any better than they were last year we might as well all go home now."

Lefty Gomez returned the compliment, telling bystanders as Foxx came near:

"I don't have to see him now; I'll see enough of him this summer."

PASADENA, CALIF.—Between veterans such as Ted Lyons, 17 years with the Chicago White Sox, and a squad of impressive rookies, dour Jimmy Dykes is happy over prospects. "We can count on 12 victories from Ted," Dykes said. Lyons won 14 and lost 6 on a once-a-week schedule last year.

ANAHEIM, CALIF.—The Philadelphia athletics staged an intra-squad game yesterday and Benny McCoy drove in two runs with a single his first time up. The "Earles" beat the "Connies" 5 to 3 in six innings.

Wilkerson Leads Southwest Scoring

DALLAS, March 1 (AP)—The individual scoring honor is all that remains contestable in the Southwest Conference basketball campaign and even that seems to be pretty well sewed up by Virgil Wilkerson of Southern Methodist University.

Tonight Wilkerson, 32 points ahead of the field heads the Mustangs against Baylor. It will close the season for both teams.

Frank Bryski of Baylor is one of the players having a remote chance of catching up with Wilkerson.

Bobby Moers of Texas is the other. His team closes the race tomorrow night against Texas A. and M. at College Station.

Wilkerson has a total of 152 points.

Bob Kinney of Rice has 138 points but his team has ended the conference season with the championship.

The Siamese have a double-reed musical instrument called "No."

Dallas Youth Hopes To Set Mile Record In State Meet

DALLAS, March 1 (AP)—On an afternoon in May a stocky, sandy-haired young man will break with the gun in a race he's set his heart on winning.

District meets, invitation meets, regional meets—all will come as a matter of routine, but the big moment will be at Austin when Ralph Schrimpf, Highland Park's mile runner, toes the mark in his greatest claim to athletic glory.

For three years he's pushed himself through sunshine and rain and cold with the idea he would win the mile and set a record at the Texas Interscholastic League meet.

Last season he almost won it. He was nipped in the closing spurt by Murell McGlothlin of Bartlett. The time was 4:37.4. But Schrumpf had beaten that mark before. He felt he could have beaten it that day if illness had not kept him away from the track half the week of the meet.

This is the last season with Highland Park and he's in better form than ever. Yesterday he whipped out a 4:42.2 mile in a triangular meet and when he finished he wasn't even breathing hard.

But McGlothlin is back, too. And that's what Schrimpf wants.

"I can win—I mean, I think I can win the mile and set a new record," the Dallas youngster said grimly.

The state mark is some five seconds under what Schrimpf did at Austin last year but he says he can break it.

Highland Park has most of its hopes centered in Schrimpf. It may place with its relay team but doesn't expect to win the meet.

"Guess that'll be Brady again," Schrimpf said.

Brady is the town that sent a five-man team to Austin last season and carried off top honors.

Brady is back with another strong team, favored in most quarters to repeat.

But Schrimpf isn't worried about who wins the team title.

He's thinking of that afternoon in May when he dives into the tape then looks to see what's become of McGlothlin of Bartlett.

He hopes he has to look backward instead of forward.

BITS ABOUT BOWLING

Standard Food and Behrman's made clean sweeps of series in the women's bowling league last night at Berry alleys. Standard dropped Modern Pharmacy while Behrman's won from Coca-Cola.

Mrs. Bert Howell set up a score for the rest of the bowlers to shoot at when she rolled games of 153, 200 and 217 pins for a total of 570 pins.

Demaret Has Won $6,077 Since January

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 1 (AP)—A game which smiling Jimmy Demaret says he plays for fun has netted him $6,077 since January 1.

That's the amount the Houston, Tex., golf professional has won on the winter circuit, and includes $700 top prize money for copping the 54-hole St. Petersburg open yesterday with a score of 211.

"When I start worrying over my shots and getting mad at myself I'm going to give up tournament golf and go back to work," Demaret declared.

And the young pro demonstrated, in the final round that he meant what he said about not taking the game too seriously.

Galleryites stood with mouths agape as Jimmy invited anyone to step up and sink the four-foot putt that meant first money, his third consecutive links conquest and his fifth in nine tournaments this year.

As Demaret and Byron Nelson, national open champion, teed off on the last hole, only one stroke separated them.

Nelson put his iron approach within eight feet of the cup, and Demaret, four feet from the hole.

After carefully lining up the putt Nelson sent it squarely into the hole for a birdie three, giving him a 69, two under par, and a 54-hole total of 212.

"Would somebody like to sink this one for me?" asked Demaret, the brim of his hat at a jaunty angle. There was no response and the Texan lined it up, took his stance and stroked the ball into the cup for 71, even par, and 211.

But success doesn't impress Demaret, except that it's a lot of fun. And as long as he can keep from taking himself too seriously he will continue on a vacation from his combination job of head pro and greenskeeper at the Braeburn Country Club in Houston and play tournament golf.

"I'm going down to Miami for the four-ball, then I'm heading home to go to work," he said.

Miami Boxers To Invade McLean On Friday Night

Special To The NEWS

McLEAN, March 1—Coach Cricket Christian's McLean boxers will meet the Miami boxers here tonight at 8 o'clock. Admission charges will be 15 cents for students and 25 cents for adults.

It is thought that Miami will have only six men in the fights, and arrangements are being completed to finish up the evening's card with Alanreed fighters. Plenty of action is promised, if last week's fights with Pampa are any criterion.

Other home fights for the season will be with Shamrock, Memphis, and LeFors. Definite dates have not yet been set for these bouts. Interest is high for the LeFors fights, since they defeated the Tiger gloversin a previous meeting. It is expected the local boys will do better on their home grounds.

Missouri Hopes To Clinch Big Six In Lawrence Tonight

KANSAS CITY, March 1 (AP)—Missouri's Kansas-bound basketball delegation totals 13 members, but the Tigers, far from being superstitious, are confident they'll defeat the Jayhawkers at Lawrence tonight.

If they do, they will clinch their second Big Six championship under genial George Edwards, who piloted the Bengals to the title in 1930 and the co-championship, with Oklahoma, last season.

If Kansas wins and then defeats third-place Oklahoma March 8 the Jayhawks become champs. In that event, Missouri would finish second.

12 Pampa Boys Will Box Stinnett Team Tonight

Coach Oscar Hinger will take 22 boys to Stinnett tonight but only 12 of them will battle Stinnett boxers in a dual meet. Two new boys, Shields Mitchell at 65 pounds and N. C. Carter at 95 pounds, will don mitts for the first time for the Harvester team.

Roy Ray will again be missing from the card, the popular 135-pounder being confined to his home by illness.

On Tuesday night the Harvesters will go to LeFors for a return engagement. In a meet here, LeFors won six out of nine bouts.

Pairings for tonight's bouts have not been announced, Coach Hinger sent a list of his boys to Coach Coy Palmer at Stinnett but the Stinnett list was not received here.

Pampa boys scheduled to box are: Shields Mitchell at 65 pounds; Johnnie Campbell at 75 pounds; Murry McPhearson at 85 pounds; N. C. Carter at 95 pounds; Lester Stephens and Everett Sparks at 105 pounds; Doug Loveless and Wendell Stanley at 115 pounds; L. V. McDonald and Gene Winget at 125 pounds; Lefty Pendleton at 145 pounds. The other Pampa boy has not been named.

Kitts Favored To Become Coach At Washington U.

By FELIX R. McKNIGHT

DALLAS, March 1 (AP)—Silence cloaking Jimmy Kitts' movements may break out in a rash of announcements from St. Louis soon. . . . Washington University is without a coach. . . . Kitts, popular deposed Rice Institute coach, is sitting on the front row, grapeviners report.

Virgil (Country) Wilkerson, the picture of calmness who plays center for Southern Methodist, is a cinch to win high scoring honors in the conference race. . . . He's 32 points in front of Bobby Moers of Texas and Frank Bryski of Rice and has one more game to go. . . . One of the Arkansas boys missed a recent Texas Aggie game because someone stole his basketball breeches en route from the Ozarks.

Columnist Weldon Hart's word-picture of Bobby Moers in the Austin Statesman: "I don't suppose there is another basketball player in America who can thrill a crowd like Texas' bounding Bobby Moers. . . . Yes, I know—he loves that roar from the galleries; he likes for the spotlight to play over his sturdy, strong-legged body. You can tell that from the cocky turn of his head, his confident swagger, his sweet and innocent surprise when the referee catches him fouling. Sure, he's chesty.

"What of it? If it takes that to play his brand of basketball, what we need around here are more busted vests!"

Lanky Dennis Lavender, the former state amateur golf king who turned professional and found it to be a cruel game, is temporarily located at Big Spring after trying to horn in on some of the winter tournament trail cash. . . . Some of tennis' brightest names will go after Frank Guernsey, defending champion, in the annual River Oaks Country Club invitation meet at Houston April 15-21. . . . Committeemen say Charles Hare, English champion; Bitsy Grant, Elwood Cooke, Gardner Mulloy, Hal Surface, Bobby Riggs, Don McNeill, Henry Prusoff and Ed Alloo have been given invites.

Many golfers will swing for the state title at Galveston on June 22 and 23 in a 72-hole medal affair. . . . Stocky Jimmy Lawrence, the old TCU fullback, has caught on as catcher for Longview and has a future in pro baseball.

Official correction: Bob Carpenter, the East Texas State Teachers College center, fell a couple of points shy of tying the league scoring record. . . . First figures placed him at 129 points, which would have tied Marshall Matteson's mark while with Stephen F. Austin last season, but digging around in the records showed Carpenter hooped only 127.

Said Coach Cleo Clements of Paris' Dragonettes when asked to play a game for the Finnish relief fund: "We plan to play for our own benefit. My sympathy is with the Finns, definitely—but after all, the Finns are winning. We're losing."

Scrap Over '18-Year' Rule Scheduled To Flare Again

By AMOS MELTON
Star-Telegram Sports Writer

For some weeks now, there has been no public outburst in the bitter controversy over the Texas Interscholastic league's new 18-year-old rule. But there seems to have been some heavy hitting in the quiet clinches and the report is that something is about to pop.

Roy Bedichek, veteran league official whom opponents charge with attempting to dictate in high-handed manner, gave a complete picture of his side of the case in the February "Leaguer." His views were set out in a long two-column editorial and a series of charts compiled by Athletic Director R. J. Kidd from the 1939 eligibility blanks.

These charts purported to show that more boys would be made eligible for football by removing the semester rule than by keeping the 19-year-old age limit. Both the meaning of these charts and Secretary Bedichek's editorial are being attacked heavily—point by point, argument by argument.

As it was from the start, the league membership seems divided along natural lines. Teams that will be hurt in 1940 are against the rule; those that will not be hurt are for it. But now the fight is going a bit deeper.

After all the discussions, all the probing of hazy points, the big dispute still seems to boil down to one important question: Does the league membership have the right to vote on its own rules?

Most schoolmen, steeped in the democratic way, believe that the majority should rule, that "regulation without representation is tyranny." But apparently the league bosses do not trust a majority of their members to know what's good for them. Bedichek puts the matter thus:

"Since it is the definite policy of the state department of education to transform the state's system from 11-grade to 12-grade, do you think the league should place itself in opposition to this policy, and enforce a rule that retards this transformation? We do not think so. Neither does the university administration. . . . Here you see, we are up against a matter of university policy and you will note that our constitution and rules provide for this contingency by saying that the state committee has the power to reject a measure not in conformity with such a policy. In short, as much as we like this job of carrying out the work of the league, we should have to give it up if we were forced into a position of administering a rule which is in violation of the educational policy of the state and the university's policy of supporting same."

He then points out that there has long been a demand for a referendum on a girls' state basketball tournament but since authorities on girls' athletics have agreed that this would be bad, no such vote has been asked.

In short, league members have the right to vote only on questions that the committee decides are in conformity with the idea of some "experts." The same men who helped build the league in the early 1920's are now incapable of even voting on such important matters as the 18-year-old rule since they might ballot in something against "University policy."

But even aside from that important point, opponents claim that they are in possession of written statements from officials of the state departmenet of education to the effect that a football age limit will in no way affect any of its policies, including that of the shift to the 12-grade setup. Either 18-year-old or 19-year-old will have no bearing on such questions, according to these statements.

Frankly, we don't know which age limit would be best—not only for boys but for Southwest football. There are many good arguments on both sides. At first we opposed the 18-year-old limit for fear of what it might do to Southwest conference football—among other things. But there's little evidence to support the contention that the younger limit would hurt our college play. We don't see how it could help it.

Director Kidd's charts in the February Leaguer looked impressive but even they are now being attacked successfully. There are some mighty big assumptions in his reasoning—for instance, the supposition that ALL of the boys who have had eight semesters already but are still under 18 will not graduate or quit school but come back for football.

There are many other hotly disputed points and as we say, we can't make up the old pondering department as to who is right. But the one clearcut fact is that a rule is to be clamped on the league without the members' consent. That's still the crucial point and the one which may rip the thing wide open.

Armstrong-Garcia Fight Is Tonight

LOS ANGELES, March 1 (AP)—Seeking to advance still another rung up pugilism's ladder of fame, Welterweight Champion Henry Armstrong climbs into the ring tonight and faces Ceferino Garcia, claimant of the world's middleweight crown and one of the deadliest punchers in the business.

The bout, slated for 10 rounds with Garcia's New York-California recognized 160-pound title at stake, is to begin around midnight, (Central standard time).

Promoter Charlie MacDonald predicted gate receipts would flirt with the $100,000 mark.

Armstrong, the only man ever to hold three world's championships simultaneously, faced a momentous task in his attempt to wrest Garcia's share of the middleweight title.

The feared bolo-puncher from the Philippines rates as one of the few men who ever hurt Armstrong with a punch.

Boxing experts think the match will turn out to be a gruelling duel between the short-range, ever-punching style of Armstrong, and the long distance shots of Garcia.

Comiskey Family Still Owns Sox

CHICAGO, March 1 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox will be playing baseball for the Comiskey family this summer just as they have since the birth of the American league.

The first national bank, executor of the estate of J. Louis Comiskey, tried unsuccessfully yesterday to get court approval for a proposed sale of the property.

Hence, the bank will continue to operate the club for Mrs. Grace Comiskey and her three children, all of whom opposed the contemplated sale.

The bank sought for permission to call for bids on the White Sox on the grounds that ownership of a baseball club is a "hazardous" business from an investment standpoint.

In denying the bank's petition, probate judge John F. O'Connell said:

"The court does not have the power to order sale of the stock without consent of the widow.

"If this property can be conserved in its entirety it is possible its value would become greater than it is now because of continued association with the Comiskey name."

Tallest Team Beats Stephen F. Austin 54-50 For Title

EL PASO, March 1 (AP)—West Texas State's "tallest team on earth" paid no attention to the seedings in the third annual Southwestern Intercollegiate basketball tournament.

The Buffaloes were not even listed in the first four yet they won the championship with a 54-50 victory over Stephen F. Austin cagers last night.

Kansas Wesleyan won third place, beating New Mexico State Teachers of Silver City 53-52 in the consolation play-off.

Central Baptists Will Begin Young People's Month

A young people's month will begin at the Central Baptist church on Sunday, March 3, when the youth of the church will lead the various activities.

Sermon subjects to be discussed by the Rev. John O. Scott, pastor, during the month are "Spiritual Athletics," "I Dare You," "Selling Birthrights," "The Value of Choice," "Achieving Life's Leadership," "Youth on the Wing," "Out on Third Base," "He Went Away," "In the Garden of God," and "Taking Sides."

At the close of March the church will enter into a special loyalty and soul winning campaign, in which all members are urged to take part.

From April 7 through April 21 a revival will be conducted with the Rev. T. J. Doss preaching after which the Rev. E. B. Joseph, the converted Jew, will have charge of a two-weeks evangelistic campaign.

Sermon Subject To Be "Christ Jesus"

"Christ Jesus' is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 3.

The Golden Text is: "God, who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, hath shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ" (II Corinthians 4:6).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "No man hath seen God at any time; the only begotten Son, which is in the bosom of the Father, he hath declared him" (John 1:18).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Our Master taught no mere theory, doctrine, or belief. It was the divine Principle of all real being which he taught and practised" (page 26).

Eight Charged In Slayings At Rally

Two of Almazan's followers were killed.

Meanwhile, the attorney general's office is pressing to bring to trial four members of the Hidalgo State Legislature accused of complicity in the attack.

● SERIAL STORY

$15 A WEEK

BY LOUISE HOLMES

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Ann moves to her new home. En route, she runs into Paul Hayden. He insists upon helping her, carries her luggage to the elevated, trails her to her station. She is delighted, but when he tells her he is afraid of girls because they all want to get married, she calls him a conceited fool.

CHAPTER IX

PAUL said roughly, "Take your hands off those bags." They walked in silence for half a block, Ann fuming inwardly.

"For your own peace of mind," she said at last, "I'll tell you that you have met one girl who definitely does not want a husband. Are you too stupidly conceited to realize that a girl might take pride in doing something for herself? Can you feature a girl who desires to reflect her own success rather than the defeat of a $15 stock man?" Ann's voice became more heated with every word. He thought every girl wanted to marry him. The idea—

"There may be such a girl," he admitted doubtfully. "So far it has not been my good fortune to meet one."

"You've met one now." She whirled around in front of him, bringing him to a halt. She shook a finger under his nose. "When I marry," she said clearly, "it will be to a man of whom I can be proud, a man who is smarter than I, not a—"

"A stock man," he interrupted grimly. "You said that before."

"And I say it again," she snapped.

"Would you mind giving me a few details of your so-called success?" he inquired coldly.

"Well—I—"

"You make over hats, I believe. You work from dark to dark on old, dirty hats—"

"How do you know?"

"The elves, of course."

"Oh, rubbish. Your particular elf is Clara Brooks and she talks too much."

THEY were walking again. Paul nodded at a house so much like the one Ann had just left that it might have beaten her there on a flying carpet.

"That's your new home," he said. Putting her bags on the porch, he removed his hat. "Good night. Any time I can be of service—"

"I've a good mind to tip you."

"Better not. I have my pride."

He opened the door and held it wide while she carried her trappings inside. He bowed. She dropped her bags to the floor and turned back.

"We don't get along very well, do we, Mr. Hayden?"

"Not very."

"But I do thank you." Ann could be very sweet. She was very sweet then.

"How do you know my name?"

"The same little elf."

"Good little elf," he laughed. "I believe you are Ann."

"Yes. Ann Brown."

Paul looked down, twisting his hat. "I think you got me wrong, Ann. "I didn't mean that all the girls want to marry me. It's simply that they seem to be out for husbands—any old husbands." He laughed embarrassedly.

"Well, I'm not."

"In that case—how about a movie some night?"

"I'd like it. Just to prove that I'm harmless I'll pay my way."

"I'll pay when we go to a movie," he said firmly.

"Are we off on another quarrel?"

"Heaven forbid. May I see you soon?"

"Would tomorrow night be too soon?"

"Stay down town. I'll meet you at the notion counter."

"Lovely."

"Good night, Ann."

"Good night, Paul."

A LANDLADY, hearing voices in the hall, came from a rear door. She was an acid-visaged person with hard eyes and a tight mouth. She viewed Ann's bags with something like distaste.

Ann said, "Good evening."

"Good evening." Her lips scarcely moved when she spoke. "Do you want a room?"

"Clara Brooks asked me to come. I'm to share her room."

"Can you give references?"

"Well—you may call Mrs. Pringle at the Pringle hat shop or Mrs. O'Brien on Harrison street."

"Got a steady job?"

"Yes."

"All right. Go up to the third floor." As Ann started up the stairs the landlady called after her. "I keep a decent, respectable house," she warned. "No drinking, no smoking in bed, no boy friends in your apartment after 12."

Ann smiled down at her. "I'll try to be a good tenant," she said.

"Hm-m—see that you are. My name is Mrs. Follet—if you want me for anything."

"Thank you, Mrs. Follet. I am Ann Brown."

A voice wafted down the stairs. "Is that you, Ann?"

"Yes. Coming."

Clara appeared in the upper hall. "Wait," she called. "I'll help with your things."

Two young men, coming down the stairs, stood against the wall as Ann slowly climbed upward. They appraised her insolently. "Hello, baby," one of them said.

"Good evening," she answered, not looking at them.

"Welcome to our modest rooftree."

"Thank you."

Clara relieved Ann of the suitcase. "Those fresh mugs," she muttered. "If Mrs. Follet keeps a respectable house why does she rent rooms to guys like that?"

THEY climbed another flight of stairs, arriving in a square hall Doors stood open and the hall appeared to be filled with girls. Clara made an informal introduction.

"This is Ann Brown," she announced, pointing with her finger as she went around the circle. "Teddy and Neddy Jones—" At this two identical girls, wearing identical pajama suits, smiled identically.

"And Myrtle Follet—her husband is Mr. Follet's son—" Myrtle was a scraggly little thing with a beaten look. She said, "Hello Ann," in a timid, breathless tone.

"Hey, Florabelle," Clara called and an apparition appeared in one of the open doors. She was ash blond and languorous and poised. She held a long jade cigaret holder between two fingers. A plume of smoke floated upward. She wore an orchid satin housecoat. She nodded lazily.

"Ah," she said throatily, "another little bird comes to our happy nest." She placed the holder to her lips and threw back her head, observing Ann through narrowed eyes.

"I'm glad to know all of you," Ann said.

The hall emptied itself into the various doors.

"Gotta dress for a heavy date," Neddy remarked, tapping gracefully on the wooden floor.

Teddy fell into step. "Heavy date," she echoed.

"They've always got heavy dates," Clara said in an aside.

Florabelle leaned decoratively against the door casing. "That's a snazzy hat you're wearing, Ann," she said indifferently.

"Thank you—I made it myself."

"Snazzy." Then, "Got a steady boy friend?"

"No."

"Like to step out?"

"Why—yes—"

"I'll fix you up." She floated into her apartment and closed the door. Ann looked after her, wishing that she had declined Florabelle's patronizing kindness. Later she was sure that she should have declined, but that was when Florabelle kept good her word.

Arrow Shot At Home Of Prime Minister

LONDON, March 1 (AP)—Joseph Green, 22, today was held for trial on charges of insulting behavior and wilfully damaging a pane of glass valued at five shillings ($1) after he alleged shot an arrow bearing a piece of paper at a window of No. 10 Downing street, the prime minister's residence.

A sheet of paper attached to the arrow Green was accused of firing was handed to Magistrate Sir Robert Dummett at the police court hearing. Sir Robert said it was a reference to "social credit and so on."

The shooting incident occurred earlier today.

"I regret having to play Robin Hood in Downing street," Green said.

"Today I am supposed to be joining his majesty's forces to serve my king and country. I think people here should fight Hitlerism at home as well as in France."

Sir Robert replied:

"If you join the forces and beave yourself you will be doing your best to end Hitlerism. Afterwards you can talk about social credit to your heart's content."

Plans To Eavesdrap Detailed At Hearing

DALLAS, March 1 (AP)—Plans made to overhear possible conversations between employes of the Ford motor company here and CIO representatives were detailed today at a hearing of NLRB charges of alleged unfair labor practices.

Edward A. Bailey, an employe of the plant, said he was made captain over a group who were to contact him if they were aproached by CIO agents. He added that meetings were to be held so that the employes and their wives might become better acquainted.

"What plans did you and other squad members have in case a member was contacted by the CIO," NLRB attorney L. N. D. Wells, Jr., asked.

"We would get in a back room at the man's house, listen to the conversation and if it didn't run to suit us, we would ask the CIO men to leave. We never did this, however," the witness responded.

Ford attorneys renewed their objections that there was no evidence to connect the company with the testimony, and that gatherings of the groups characterized by the witness as "get-togethers" were entirely innocent social sessions.

The Panama Canal Zone, having nearly 200 miles of fine highways on which all traffic travels to the left, is reported to be the only part of the Americas where traffic drives in that manner.

During 1939, according to records of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, more than 17,000 miles of highway of all types were completed.

Can City Get Competitive Bids On Bond Sales? Here's Answer:

The letters and telegrams reproduced below were received by the editor of The Pampa News in reply to a telegram the editor sent to 15 accredited bond houses in Texas, members of The Investment Bankers Association of America, to determine if other bond firms would be interested in bidding on Pampa municipal bonds. There are undoubtedly still others who would bid if given the opportunity.

The telegram was sent after city officials stated they believed a situation existed in which they could get only one bonding company to bid on Pampa city bonds. City officials also stated that they had heard there might be a bond house in Nebraska that would bid if it could be located.

Here is the telegram sent by The News:

"CITY OF PAMPA TEXAS IS CONTEMPLATING ISSUE OF ELECTRIC LIGHT AND POWER REVENUE BONDS IN AMOUNT OF APPROXIMATELY $750,000. FOR PURCHASE OF EXISTING PLANT. KINDLY WIRE WHETHER YOU WOULD BID ON ISSUE IF CITY OF PAMPA SHOULD CALL FOR BIDS.

LETTERS

Houston, Texas.
February 24, 1940.

Editor,
The Pampa News,
Pampa, Texas.
Dear Sir:

This will acknowledge receipt of your February 21 telegram reading as follows: "CITY OF PAMPA TEXAS IS CONTEMPLATING ISSUANCE OF ELECTRIC LIGHT AND POWER REVENUE BONDS IN AMOUNT OF APPROXIMATELY SEVEN HUNDRED FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS FOR PURCHASE OF EXISTING PLANT STOP KINDLY WIRE WHETHER YOU WOULD BID ON ISSUE IF THE CITY OF PAMPA SHOULD CALL FOR BIDS."

We understand that the City of Pampa may have entered into a contract to sell the proposed bond issue. If such a contract has actually been consummated, we of course do not care to disturb it. If such a contract has not been consummated, or if it should be rescinded in the future by mutual agreement, then in that case we will most certainly be interested.

You might be interested to know that our firm, for some years, has specialized in the purchase and sale of "Revenue Bonds" of cities in Texas. We are thoroughly familiar with the different kinds of "Revenue Bonds"—Electric Power, Water, Gas, Sewer, etc.—and we have developed an excellent sales outlet for them.

Especially are we now interested in purchasing sound revenue bond issues of cities in West Texas. The City of Pampa has sufficient population to give considerable sales appeal to an issue of Electric Plant Revenue Bonds.

You may therefore put us down as being very definitely interested, subject to the above-mentioned condition. If your City Council is willing and able to negotiate, we shall be very glad to get down to brass tacks on 24 hours' notice.

Very Truly yours,
MORONEY & CO.

Mr. Tex DeWeese, Editor,
The Pampa News,
Pampa, Texas.
Dear Mr. DeWeese:

This will confirm my conversation with you this afternoon, in reply to your wired inquiry to Mr. Moroney of Moroney and Company at Houston, in which you ask whether or not he would be interested in approximately $750,000 of Pampa, Texas Electric Light Revenue bonds.

Mr. Moroney and ourselves have been associated on quite a few bonds of this character, and knowing Pampa as we do, we certainly would be interested in the purchase of any of your city's revenue bonds. As soon as the city is ready to negotiate for the sale of these bonds, we would appreciate your letting us know, and we will respond immediately.

In the meantime, I would like to have some up to date statistics on your city, including debt, income, assessed valuation, and most of all, a gross and net income for your electric light system for the last five years if possible, together with the number of meters and consumers.

It is our understanding that the present utilities franchise expires in the next year, and it would be your intention to buy the present electric light system, issuing therefor a revenue bond.

I might say that Mr. Moroney and ourselves, together and separately, have handled revenue bond issues in Texas for several years, and believe that we have an excellent outlet for this type of security.

Awaiting your further information, and with best regards, I remain,

Yours, sincerely,
(Signed) P. B. GARRETT, President.

Dear Mr. DeWeese:

Confirming our telephone conversation this morning, we shall await complete details from you concerning the proposed issue of Pampa Electric Light Revenue Bonds

You may rest assured that your cooperation is appreciated and that every effort will be made on our part to place a favorable bid for the bonds in question.

With best wishes, we are

Editor,
The Pampa News,
Pampa, Texas.
Dear Sir:

We have your recent inquiry as to whether we are interested in bidding on your approximately $750,000 Electric Light and Power Revenue Bonds, which your City contemplates issuing to acquire the existing plant, should the City of Pampa call for bids.

We are always interested in bidding on Municipal issues and consequently would have such an interest in this issue if there are no commitments with other parties and if the past and present earnings are in line and seem to justify the issuance of such bonds. It would of course be necessary to study the situation carefully before entering such a bid.

Thank you for your inquiry, and with kind regards, we remain,

Very truly yours,

Mr. Tex DeWeese,
Pampa, Texas.
Dear Sir:

Since receipt of your wire yesterday, which was promptly answered, I have learned from very good authority, that the City of Pampa already has a contract covering the proposed $750,000 bond issue for the purchase of the electric light plant. Under the terms of this contract, of course, the city could not advertise the bonds for sale as they are already sold. Occasionally, however, such contracts are amended to permit the bonds to be advertised for sale, with the contracting house having an option to take the bonds at the highest bid received by the city. The city of Abilene tried this procedure about two years ago.

If there is a contract or if any house has an option on the bonds to purchase at the highest price bid, we would not be interested in bidding, as it takes quite some time and money to cover a bond sale and make the necessary investigations to determine what price you can pay for the bonds. We are very muchly interested in these bonds and would, of course, be only too glad to make our investigation for the purchase of the bonds if they are to be offered at public sale. If on the other hand, the bonds are already under contract, we will, of course, respect the contract and not attempt to use force or pressure to have the contract broken.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) JAMES C. TUCKER

Ross Hardin Announces For Rail Office

DALLAS, March 1 (AP)—Ross Hardin, state representative from Limestone county for six years, today formally announced his candidacy for Railroad Commissioner.

"The time has come," said his statement, "when the citizens of Texas should wrench this high important office out of the hands of a group of professional lawyers and place it in the hands of a representative of the masses of the people of Texas."

Hardin will seek the post now held by Lon Smith, chairman of the powerful commission.

Hardin's statement read in part:

"Every citizen within the confines of this great state can be assured that when they put Hardin in the harness, it will be a partnership of he and the people of Texas and we will all pull together. My friends of Texas, Ross Hardin is a county lawyer and a farmer. My wife and I live in the house in which I was born at Prairie Hill, in Limestone county.

"Ross Hardin is approaching his 29th birthday, I am in the morning of life and my opponent is in the evening of his life. When the citizens of this state are in search of a man to head their state agencies, they should be looking to the rising sun and not to the setting sun. When Ross Hardin comes into your county to speak, he will not have some professional politician on the stump to introduce him to you, he will introduce himself.

"I wish it were possible for every voter in Texas to visit our capitol city and see the homes of some of these lawyers who are practicing law before the R. R. commission. They are far more beautiful than our governor's mansion in Austin. After you have gone through their elaborate homes go into some of their offices in the fine office buildings in Austin when you walk into their office, you will see the finest furniture that money can buy, and the expensive rugs will tickle your ankles. The expensive pictures that are hanging upon the walls are far more beautiful than the average citizen of Texas will ever have the opportunity to see. The chairs in the office with the fine leather cushions cost more money than any 3 sets of good leather harness. The offices are steam heated in the winter and air-cooled in the summer. Everything is complete except their library and not a law book can be found.

"We must realize that the Railroad Commission, composed of three members, has directly under its supervision all the oil and gas industry of Texas; and Texas is one of the greatest producing oil and gas states in the union and has in its bosom the greatest oil field on earth. Other than those two great industries the commission controls all forms of transportation such as motor buses, trucks, and railroads of the state. It is easy to understand the great responsibility of this all-important commission. x x x When Ross Hardin is elected your railroad commissioner he will not cast any vote for the sole purpose of persecuting his enemies or befriending his friends. He believes that all votes should be cast based upon the principles of right and that the Railroad commission of Texas should be a three-man commission working in the interest of the people of Texas to see that the natural resources are conserved and freight and utility rates are properly adjusted in the interest of the masses of the people.

47 Attend Abilene Birthday Banquet

ABILENE, March 1 (AP)—Dan Cupid didn't have a look-in on leap year festivities here last night when 47 West Texans who were born Feb. 29 feasted at the second party of the Abilene Leap Year Birthday club.

It was strictly a birthday festivity, to the tunes of "Happy Birthday, Leap Year Babies" and "Auld Lang Syne"—until Feb. 29, 1944.

The club, believed by members to be the only one of its kind, made big plans for 1944. Persons who have birthday only every four years will be invited from throughout the country to the next party. Already membership has grown from 40 in 1936 to 60, although some could not attend last night. Mrs. Gray Wooten, Abilene, was elected president; George D. Graves, Abilene, vice-president; and Mrs. Joe P. Taggart, Rotan, secretary.

Mrs. R. M. Cumbie, Bronte, who was 88 years old yesterday, cut the big birthday cake—the first slice for J. W. Smith of Tye, who was having his "19th" birthday and his "12th" wedding anniversary, and the second slice for Mrs. Smith, an honorary member.

Applause went most to announcement of the birth during the day of two new members—Nona Elizabeth Cash at 10:30 a. m. in Abilene and Janice Lou Standard at noon in Tuscola, Taylor county.

Children And Widows Aided By SSB Plan

It is estimated that 200,000 children will be protected by the Federal old-age and survivors insurance system in 1940 because monthly benefits will be paid to the families of insured workers who die.

In case an insured worker dies leaving a widow with young children, she will receive regular monthly payments for herself and for each child under age 16 or 18 if in school. The widow's monthly payment will be three-fourths the amount due her husband, and each child's monthly payment will be one-half.

Example: A widow and two children survive an insured worker. It is found that his average wages were sufficient at the time of his death to give him a monthly benefit of $24. His widow's monthly payment would be three-fourths of $24, or $18; and each minor child would get one-half of $24 or $12 per month.

The total monthly payment to a wage earner's family cannot be more than twice the amount of his basic benefit and never more than $85. after the youngest child reaches age 16 (18 if in school), payments to the widow will stop until she reaches age 65. After her 65th birthday she will again begin to receive monthly payments amounting to three-fourths her husband's basic benefit.

The famous "Long Parliament" in England met on November 3, 1640, and finally dissolved by Cromwell April 20, 1653.

It is reported that more than 35,000 hours have been logged by the 9,310 students in the Civilian Pilot training program, without a serious accident of any kind.
