'DAGGER' PRUITT DIES FOR SLAYING DALLAS BOY

Affidavit In Congress Describes 'White Liquor' In Creager's Hotel Room

SWORN STORY OF AMBULANCE DRIVER BARED

Senator Brookhart Forces Introduction of Dallas Man's Story

PROTECTION CHARGED

Poisoning of Woman Guest Of G. O. P. Head Retold At Capital

WASHINGTON, June 5. (UP)—An affidavit by an ambulance driver, describing bottles of a "white liquor" he saw in the Dallas, Texas, hotel suite in which a woman guest of R. L. Creager, Texas Republican national committeeman, inadvertently took poison, was placed in the congressional record today by Senator Brookhart, Republican, Iowa.

"I think the evidence is sufficient," Brookhart said, "to warrant the department of justice in investigating Creager's activities in Texas. I also want to call the president's attention to this situation."

Brookhart said Mr. Hoover has removed some of the southern "patronage referees," but has not yet seen fit to remove Creager, who is Republican national committeeman."

"Protection" Recited

Brookhart read from testimony in the senate patronage investigation testimony of one Colonel Hill to the effect that a prohibition officer said he "protected" some hotels, including the Adolphus in Dallas. It was in the Adolphus that the poison incident occurred.

Brookhart said the testimony indicated "that Mr. Creager was protecting certain hotels in liquor violations."

Brookhart inserted first a newspaper account of the poisoning of Mrs. R. L. Works, Brownsville, Texas, and when Senator Connally, Democrat, Texas, suggested that an "unsubstantiated newspaper article" should not be placed in the official record, Brookhart produced the affidavit, signed by Frank Bryant, Emergency hospital ambulance driver.

Liquor in Room

"This affidavit shows that Mr. Creager had liquor there in his room," Brookhart said. "He seems himself, from all these circumstances, to have cut the screen and thrown a lysol bottle out into the street after this transaction."

Bryant's affidavit, dated May 29, at Dallas follows:

"On May 21, 1930, at 12:30 a. m. the Emergency hospital received a telephone call from room 1507, Adolphus hotel. The surgeon on duty got in the ambulance with me, and I drove to the hotel. The room clerk and other employes at the desk in the lobby knew nothing of the incident, and we caught the elevator. When we arrived at 1507, Mrs. Works was lying on the bed.

Aftermath of Cannon's Defiance Left In the Hands of Committee Chairman

Action Deferred Until Caraway Decides Whether the Bishop Is in Contempt of the Senate

By EDWARD L. RODDAN

WASHINGTON, June 5. (US)—Dry committee members must face the issue and decide whether Bishop James Cannon Jr., of Virginia, committed contempt of the senate by walking out on the lobby committee today.

Evidently piqued by the bishop's attitude, Senator Walsh, Democrat, of Montana, acting chairman, announced the committee will take no action until the expected return of Senator Caraway from Arkansas next Tuesday.

When asked his personal opinion if Cannon's action constituted contempt, Walsh replied emphatically: "I have no doubt of it."

Unprecedented

Meanwhile the defiant attitude of the bishop, who stalked out of the room a few moments after taking the witness stand, created an unprecedented situation.

While witnesses frequently decline to answer questions, never before in memory has a witness deliberately left the room after the committee declined to excuse him.

Cannon based his refusal on the fact that he was a voluntary witness and hence was at liberty to leave.

"I shall now withdraw as a voluntary witness. If the committee desires to subpoena me, that is its right," was his angry parting shot.

Stalks Out

Plainly agitated, the bishop gathered up his hat and brief case, tucked his crutch firmly under his arm and strode from the room while Senator Blaine was addressing him.

A few minutes later, Senator Borah, of Idaho, entered the room and gazed in surprise at the empty witness chair. The incident brought a burst of laughter from the crowd in which Borah joined.

It was the third successive day the bishop had defied the commit-

Circus Fat Lady Blames Cruelty for Reduction

LOS ANGELES, June 5. (AP)—Viola Barton, weight 370 pounds, former fat lady of the circus, obtained a divorce today from Arthur C. Barton, circus novelty salesman, because his alleged cruelties caused her to "dwindle away" until she lost her job.

Mrs. Barton said she weighed 512 pounds when she was married six years ago, but that her husband's mistreatment wrecked her figure. Intoxication and attention to other women were among the specific allegations.

Bodies of Missing Pair Found on Vacant Farm

ROCHESTER, Mich., June 5. (AP)—Bodies of Marjorie Clemons, 13, and Henry Clouse, 46, boarder in the Clemons home, were found this evening lying within 200 yards of the charred wreck of Clouse's automobile on an abandoned farm near here. They had been missing since Saturday. The girl had been shot in the back of the head, and Clouse through the mouth. A warrant charging Clouse with abduction was issued yesterday.

SHOWERS SEND MERCURY DOWN

High Wind at Burkburnett Damages Homes

Ushered in by a heavy sand storm, scattered showers that fell in and around Wichita Falls Thursday afternoon lowered unusually high temperatures and benefited young cotton and feed crops. The precipitation here amounted to .23 of an inch and sent the mercury down from its maximum of 96 degrees.

A high wind that tore porches from several homes and did other minor damage accompanied the rain at Burkburnett. Hail fell at Seymour and at Henrietta where the precipitation was heaviest.

The highest temperature in the section was reported at Vernon where the thermometer rose to 104 degrees in spite of a light rainfall in the morning Thursday.

Rains were reported all the way from Iowa Park to Fort Worth along the Denver. The Katy dispatcher reported a heavy fall at Frederick, Okla.

At Petrolia an inch and a half of rain fell within a short time.

The Dallas to Wichita Falls plane of the S.A.F.E. lines was delayed nearly two hours by the wind and rain when the pilot landed east of Henrietta. The plane was brought down in a pasture when it became apparent the ship would not reach here before the heavy wind, the pilot choosing to land rather than battle a possible storm. The ship was staked to the ground and its motors covered. The journey was resumed after the rain and wind had ceased.

Gold Star Mother Hurt In Fall at French City

RHEIMS, France, June 5. (US)—Mrs. D. J. Smith, of Billings, Mont., one of the party of Gold Star mothers visiting world war graves and battlefields in this section, today suffered two broken ribs in a fall. Mrs. Smith was taken to her rooms at the Hotel Crystal, where she is now under the care of a physician.

John Alsup Murder Trial Goes to Jury

FORT WORTH, June 5. (AP)—After five hours of argument by state and defense attorneys, the case of John Alsup, former policeman, charged with slaying two negroes in the attempted robbery of the First State bank of Polytechnic April 10, went to the jury at 10 o'clock tonight.

'REBELS' SCORN INVITATION TO JOIN YANKEES

Proposed Relegation of Stars and Bars Arouses Ire of Veterans

OFFICERS ELECTED

Montgomery, Ala., Chosen As 1931 Confederate Reunion City

BILOXI, Miss., June 5. (AP)—Yankees and Rebels won't meet in a joint reunion.

When that proposal was made today at the fortieth reunion of the United Confederate veterans, it was rejected unanimously by the veterans, who in turn adopated a scorching resolution by Major General John R. Kennedy, of Tuscaloosa, Ala., expressing their sentiments over the offer of the Grand Army of the Republic to march with the southern army provided the Confederate flag was placed in a museum first.

Adopt Hot Resolution

If any marching is to be done it is to be done behind the stars and bars, declared the veterans of the gray in adopting this resolution:

"When the association in time has passed away, we will place to the care and keeping of our daughters and sons, our beloved Confederate flag, emblematic of all that is good and holy—that has never been polluted by the touch of German Hirelings, Italian dagoes, European wharf rats of African slavery, but always raised for the purpose of the freedom of liberty and love of our beautiful Southland.

"Such a meeting does not meet our approbation and no good can come of such a joint meeting."

Stephens Elected

General L. W Stephens, of Coushatta, La., commander of the army of Tennessee, was elected commander-in-chief of the Confederate veterans to succeed General R. A. Speed, of Oklahoma City, who did not offer for re-election.

Charles T. Norman, of Richmond, Virginia, was elected commander of the sons of Confederate veterans.

A resolution was adopted by the veterans thanking President Hoover for sending the United States Marine band to the reunion.

The veterans chose Montgomery, Ala., as their meeting place in 1931, confirming a previous tentative agreement. No choice was made as to the reunion city for 1932, and the matter was not brought before the meeting. Houston, Texas, had been mentioned as the gathering place two years hence.

Department Heads

Department commanders elected were, General Homer Atkinson, Petersburg, Va., re-elected commander of the army of Northern Virginia department, comprising South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia and Maryland.

General R. D. Chapman, Houston, Texas, re-elected commander of the army of trans-Mississippi department, comprising Texas, Oklahoma, Missolurl, Arkansas and Pacific states. Major General J. W. Hollis, Little Rock, Ark., commander Arkansas division was nominated but name was withdrawn after announcement he was ill at his home.

Vote Acclamation

Brigadier General C. A. Dessaussure, Memphis, Tenn., quarter-master general on staff of commander-in-chief, elected commander of the army of Tennessee department, comprising Louisiana, Tennessee, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia and Kentucky. All were unanimously elected by acclamation.

Adjutant General Harry Reve Lee, Nashville, Tenn., of the commander-in-chief's staff was reappointed for the sixth year.

Retiring Commander-in-Chief Richard A. Sneed was elected life part commander-in-chief.

Moslems Defy Plea For Halting Disorders

BOMBAY, June 5. (US)—Despite Viceroy Lord Irwin's appeal to the Moslems to side with the government against the Indian Nationalist independence campaign, the Moslems of Bombay today joined the Hindus in declaring another general hartal (walkout).

The cessation of work observed the first month of the imprisonment of Mahatma Gandhi, spiritual leader of India's current revolt, in Yeroda jail as a prisoner at "the pleasure of the government." The stock exchange remained open only an hour.

Son-in-Law of Il Duce Made Shanghai Consul

ROME, June 5. (US)—Count Ciano, son of Premier Mussolini's minister of transportation and recent bridegroom of Edda Mussolini, has been appointed Italian consul general at Shanghai, it was learned exclusively by Universal Service today. It is understood that the young count and his bride will reach their new residence within the next month.

Texan Fatally Burned In Gasoline Explosion

PAMPA, Texas, June 4. (AP)—L. L. Weigman, 25, died today of burns suffered when a can of gasoline at his home exploded last night. Mrs. Weigman, also badly burned, was expected to recover.

Postal Receipts For May Show $1,230 Increase

Postal receipts for the month of May, 1930, showed a $1,230.66 increase over that for the month of May, 1929, it was announced Thursday by O. P. Maricle, postmaster.

Such a decided increase indicates that business among the merchants and industries has been particularly good for the past month, Mr. Maricle pointed out. The figures for the current past month were $26,651.04 while those for 1929 were $25,420.38.

CHARGE NAMES MOB'S GUNMAN

Chickasha Laborer Faces Murder Case

CHICKASHA, Okla., June 5. (UP)—Mob violence was incited by 16 men and one was named as a murderer in testimony before a coroner's jury investigating rioting which occurred here Saturday resulting in the death of Henry Argo, a negro.

Jud A. Brown, a laborer, accused by witnesses of firing the fatal shot which resulted in Argo's death, was arrested. He will be charged with murder in addition to charges of criminal homicide, inciting rioting and incendarism which 15 others face, county authorities said.

Three witnesses testified they were told by Brown that he had fired the shot which resulted in the prisoner's death. The charges against Brown and others will be filed by B. F. Holding, county attorney. In addition Gen. Edward Crossland, assistant state's attorney, said homicide charges will be brought against 10 men named by witnesses.

John Lee of Chickasha, was accused by Ed M. Frye, assistant United States district attorney, as being the one who destroyed a national guard truck during the riot. The information charged Lee with buying a gallon of gasoline which was thrown on the machine when it was fired.

Argo died in an Oklahoma City hospital after being taken from the Grady county jail. The prisoner was fatally injured and the jail wrecked by a mob which defied county and city officers and Oklahoma national guardsmen.

TEXAS LYNCHING SCARE DIES OUT

BELLS, Texas, June 5. (UP)—Threats of mob violence that rumbled this afternoon when an unidentified negro approached a farm home near here and frightened children had quieted tonight.

A small posse of Bells citizens still were searching along the Choctaw creek for the negro who opened the door of the L. E. Elliott home and started to enter. He was frightened away by the screams of the Elliott children, however, and officers said the man probably had intended only to steal food from the house.

Here's Why California Population Shows Gain

FRESNO, Calif., June 5. (AP)—Several reasons why the center of population is moving westward came to light here today.

JAMES M. COX URGES REPEAL OF PROHI LAWS

18th Amendment Can't Be Enforced, Ohio Demo Leader Says

BOTH EXTREMES FAIL

America Must Find Middle Ground of Temperance, Party Is Told

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 5. (UP)—Repeal of the 18th amendment "because prohibition cannot be enforced," was advocated by James M. Cox of Dayton, Ohio, newspaper publisher and Democratic presidential nominee in 1920 at a state-wide Democratic rally tonight.

"From the intolerable conditions growing out of the saloon," he said, "came the impracticable resort of prohibition. We swung from one extreme to the other. Lacking in a substantial public opinion, prohibition cannot be enforced and until we find a way out the country will continue in moral stagnation.

"We must find a solution. None is in sight but the American people have always found their common sense and they will again. We have tried both extremes in vain."

"I unhesitatingly favor the repeal of the 18th amendment as between the old saloon order, with its brewery controlled politics and what not, and the present set-up. I would prefer the latter, but we all prefer not being compelled to choose between those two extremes. Both are impossible."

Cox said he believed the people would never change the existing order of things by bringing back the saloon. Nor would private interests ever again be permitted to "become selfishly allied" on any side of the prohibition issue.

"The middle ground where the pendulum usually finds rest," Cox concluded, "is temperance, the end of hypocrisy and bootlegging—the complete overthrow of organized crime which can be blamed directly on liquor."

Williams Made Head Of Missouri University

COLUMBIA, Mo., June 5. (AP)—Dean Walter Williams, founder of the schol of journalism at the University of Missouri, today took office as the institution's 12th president.

He will be acting president until Dec. 31, while President Stratton D. Brooks is on a leave of absence. When Brooks' resignation, requested by the board of curators, becomes effective Dec. 31, Dean Williams will become permanent president.

Kansas Officers Seek Fleeing Bank Bandit

SALINA, Kan., June 5. (AP)—Local officers wearing bullet proof vests and armed with sawed off shotguns were guarding roads leading into Salina today following receipt of word from Manhattan authorities that a man bearing resemblance of Jake Fleagle, alleged bank robber-killer, for whom a nationwide hunt has been carried on, stopped at a garage this morning. No trace of the man had been seen by officers here.

Senate Passes Bill For Narcotic Bureau

WASHINGTON, June 5. (US)—The senate struck a smashing blow at the dope menace today. By unanimous vote, it passed the Porter bill to create an independent bureau of narcotics in the treasury department. Narcotics and prohibition enforcement are now combined. As two amendments were adopted by the senate the bill returns to the house, where a motion will be made to concur in the senate amendments.

Arrest of Bank Bandits Expected by Police

DALLAS, June 5. (UP)—Following arrest early today of three suspects in the robbery of the Grand Avenue State bank, police officials tonight announced that they soon would apprehend the pair that committed the actual holdup. Two of the suspects held were released but the third youth, believed to be the driver of the bandit car, was held for further questioning.

Five Ministers Serve On Election Committee

DONNA, Texas, June 5. (UP)—An honest count in the July Democratic primaries was guaranteed Donna today when five ministers were appointed as the election committee. Rev. Herbert McDermont was chosen presiding judge; Father James Smith, assistant judge; and Rev. C. C. Richards, Rev. Garland Farmer and Rev. C. S. Stewart were named clerks.

Committee Approves Border Patrol Measure

WASHINGTON, June 5. (AP)—Almost completely revised, the administration bill to set up a unified border patrol was approved today by the house interstate commerce committee.

RIVER SURGERY

Northwestern Stream in New Course After 'Operation'

ABERDEEN, Wash., June 5. (AP)—The boisterous Hoh river on the Olympic peninsula roared through a new channel today after state highway engineers perormed a bit of plastic surgery on mother earth.

Mountain fish flapped in a series of shallow pools left after power shovels opened a new course for the stream.

The surgery was for practical rather than aesthetic purposes. The river had eaten away a quarter of mile of new highway and was threatening an additional stretch. The new channel, 30 feet wide and 15 feet deep, leads straight across a big bend.

GRAF NEARING JOURNEY'S END

Mighty Zep to Reach Home Port Early Today

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, June 6. (Friday) (AP)—The Graf Zeppelin, flying here from Seville, Spain, radioed early today it flew over Cape Degata, Spain, at midnight. Cape Degata is the southernmost point of eastern Spain and it was presumed that from there the dirigible would strike across the Mediterranean to the Rhone valley of France.

GIBRALTAR, June 5. (UP)—The Graf Zeppelin passed Gibraltar at 9:40 p. m. today (4:40 p. m. eastern standard time) on its way from Seville to Friedrichshafen.

CADIZ, Spain, June 5. (UP)—The Graf Zeppelin, en route from Seville to Friedrichshafen, flew over Cadiz at 7 p. m. today (2 p. m. eastern standard time). It saluted German warships in the harbor and then proceeded southward, apparently taking a circuitous route to its home base in Germany.

LINER HALTS AT SEVILLE BRIEFLY

SEVILLE, Spain, June 5, (US)—The Graf Zeppelin on its return from the Americas was moored at Cebolla airport at two minutes after 5 o'clock this evening, (1:02 p. m. New York time). Twenty-three minutes later, at 5:25, the big air liner again took off, hoping to reach its own base at Friedrichshafen early tomorrow.

The Spanish Infante Alfonso, who boarded the Graf at Seville for the trip to America, and who was the first member of any European royal family to cross the Atlantic by air, returned on the Graf and remained here, enthusiastic over the unusual journey.

Despite the storms of yesterday and the weather bureau's prediction of probable new disturbances tonight, the Graf landed in beautiful weather and resumed her journey to Germany without hitch long before sundown.

Los Angeles Census Stands at 1,231,730

LOS ANGELES, June 5. (AP)—The population of Los Angeles tonight was announced as 1,231,730, an increase over 1920 of 655,057 or 113.59 per cent. Census officials said the growth probably was the largest of any city of major size in the United States.

Los Angeles county's population was announced as 2,199,557, an increase over 1920 of 1,263,102 or 134.88 per cent.

Acquitted of Murder, Youth Held for Robbery

SHREVEPORT, La., June 5. (UP)—Roy Delatte, 21, acquitted here of murdering his young bride, probably will be returned to Birmingham, Ala., to face charges of robbery, officers here said tonight.

After deliberating only 16 minutes, a jury late last night acquitted Delatte of the murder charge. He had testified that his bride, drinking while on their wedding party, had shot herself. He admitted robbing a Birmingham store of $90, however.

SHEPPARD RUSHES BILL

WASHINGTON, June 5. (US)—Demand that the Volstead act be amended so as to make the buyer of illicit liquor guilty of lawbreaking was urged by Senator Morris Sheppard, Democrat, of Texas, before the senate judiciary committee today.

STATE TAKES LIFE OF YOUNG 'CRIME WAVE'

22-Year-Old Killer and Hijacker Calm Until Last Breath

FINAL EFFORT MADE

Attorney Meets Failure in Plea for Hearing on Pruitt's Sanity

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, June 6. (AP) (Friday)—The state prison electric chair took the life of William (Dagger) Pruitt, 22, convicted slayer of William Mann, 17-year-old Dallas high school boy at 12:17 a. m. today.

Pruitt went calmly and with a half smile to his death. He entered the chair at 12:05 a. m.

"Have you anything to say," an official asked him as he entered the death chamber with a robed priest.

"Nothing. I have made my statement, but I would like to say that I appreciate what Father Finnegan here has done for me."

Directs Preparations

As they began fitting the helmet to his head he smiled and whispered something apparently advising them how to turn it.

Just as the mask was fitted on his head he said: "Just a moment. I'd like to tell him goodbye," and he shook hands with a man nearby. "Tell my mother that I am thinking of her."

As the motors started whirring a man just outside the door whose name was not learned fainted. He was carried away and revived shortly and the murmur of those working with him could be heard down in the little room.

Pruitt's case had been affirmed by the court of criminal appeals, which had refused a rehearing.

His mother appealed to Governor Moody, but the executive rejected the pardon board's recommendation for a 30-day stay.

Taken After Fight

Pruitt was arrested in a Dallas house, where he had barricaded himself, only after a long gun fight with a squad of officers. The police once called him the "one-man crime wave."

Mann was killed in downtown Dallas in the presence of his young high school girl companion.

Pruitt, according to the evidence, boarded Mann's automobile as it stood waiting for a traffic light to change, and sought to shove the boy out. Mann fought back and was shot to death.

Chicken for Lunch

Chicken, that delicacy which condemned men select so often for the last meal, Pruitt had at lunch.

Pruitt's father, mother and brother came to see him today in his death cell. They talked about an hour and left him alone.

Pruitt was sentenced to die by a jury which found him guilty of the murder of William Mann, 17-year-old Dallas boy shot down before his sweetheart when he resisted a hi-jacker, in January, 1929.

Appeal courts having affirmed the conviction, Pruitt's last hope for clemency was abandoned when Governor Dan Moody, after hearing his mother and reading the pardon board's recommendation for a 30-day reprieve, declined to act.

Last Hope Lost

Mrs. Alice Pruitt, mother of Pruitt, was informed tonight by Oscar Calvert, a Dallas attorney, that District Judge C. A. Pippin had refused to accept an insanity affidavit in Pruitt's behalf.

Pruitt's last chance to escape electrocution for the murder of William Mann thus was lost.

The mother, a slight gray woman, talked to Pruitt for nearly an hour late today, telling him of her hopes to save him. She sat with bowed head in the warden's office later when she learned that hope was gone.

"Are you going to see the boy again and tell him what has happened?" a newspaper man asked.

"No, I won't see him again."

When mother and son talked this afternoon for the last time, "not a tear was shed," a prison official said.

those things men discuss when a former comrade prepares to die.

Since Dagger went down to Huntsville, court rulings have saved the only two others who faced the electric chair—Dewey Hunt, a particular friend of Pruitt in the jail, and Ardell Landers. The others in death row are the life termers, awaiting disposition of their appeals.

Hunt, Landers and Pruitt together watched two other men, Bennie Aldredge and Lee Roy Merriman, leave for Huntsville and the death chamber.

Has 99-Year Sentence

As well as the death sentence for the murder of William Mann, the youth was under 99-year sentence for robbery. Police held him responsible for what was called a "one man crime wave" in Dallas in January, 1929.

Reconstructing the trail of Pruitt's alleged depredations, police first connected him with a series of holdups the night of January 3. They started with the hijacking of a motorist of his car. Shortly after this was reported to police came the report of a drug store holdup, quickly followed by a filling station holdup in which the attendant was clubbed and the robber escaped under fire from a motorist who drove in as the robber was leaving.

From the filling station, Pruitt allegedly went to another drug store, got $250, and then forced a motorist to drive him out of town to a nearby settlement. On the way, Pruitt gave the motorist $30, in exchange for which he took the man's overcoat. Another hijacking was attributed to him two days later. The next night, Mann and a girl companion, Miss Mildred Drennan, were driving home from church. Pruitt boarded the running board of the car and ordered Mann to get out. In the fight, Mann was mortally wounded.

Cab Driver Wounded

The next night, a taxi-cab driver was seriously wounded when he refused to surrender his car to the youth. Pruitt was not located until June 13. He has consistently denied slaying Mann.

A letter from him, received by a Dallas newspaper man, was published in the Times Herald today. In it he said he believed he would go to the chair afraid, but showing his fear to no one.

"I can truthfully say," he wrote, "that I haven't much fear of death, that is, a babbling terror of it, but I do hate to leave everything. One thing I'm certain of, though. I can hold my head up. If I'm scared, I'll be the only one who knows it. This may be pride or conceit, but it's a fact, and I'm proud of it."

DEATHS

CHARLENE PUTNAM

Bus Passengers Narrowly Escape as Car Turns Over After Hitting Horse

A test of the strength of the state stock law, which was brought under fire in Clay county several days ago following a highway accident said to have been caused by a stray mule, seemed likely to appear in Wichita county Thursday following a similar accident on the lake road near Call field about 1 a. m. Thursday, in which several persons were slightly injured when thier machine turned over three times after striking a horse.

Only one of the persons in the car, a seven-passenger sedan bus of the Southland Greyhound lines, was injured to such an extent as to necessitate hospital treatment. This was Mrs. Opal Atchison of Breckenridge, who suffered injuries to her leg. She was reported resting well at the Wichita General hospital late Thursday night. The other occupants of the bus received only slight scratches and bruises, although the bus was badly damaged.

The party, all from Breckenridge, had been visiting in Wichita Falls, according to their report to police. The bus had been used to bring them here, although it was not on a line operating out of this city. The driver said a horse suddenly appeared at the side of the road near the Call field crossing and the accident occurred both as a result of striking the animal and because of the sudden turn made in an attempt to avoid the collision.

Dynamite Used To Halt Fire

100 Made Homeless in Kentucky Blaze

LOTHAIR, Ky., June 5. (AP)—Four buildings were dynamited here today to check a fire which destroyed 20 houses and the storage plant of the Standard Oil company and caused damage estimated at $100,000. Approximately 100 persons were left homeless.

The fire, attributed to sparks from a smokestack, spread rapidly, and the intense heat melted the safety valves of the tanks and released oil which spread out in a blaze. The plant contained eight large tanks, and it was estimated that 60,000 gallons of gasoline, 20,000 gallons of kerosene and 40,000 gallons of engine oil were consumed.

The houses destroyed were occupied by employes of the Algoma Coal company. Some residents saved their household belongings but many had to leave them.

The hazard fire department and Louisville & Nashville railroad employes aided in fighting the fire, which was near the business district of this town of approximately 2,500 persons. Dense smoke from the burning oil hampered the fire fighters. Coal miners brought dynamite to blow up the houses and block progress of the flames.

Oklahoma Students At R.O.T.C. Camp

Special to The Record News.

LAWTON, Okla., June 5.—A total of 162 men, fresh from the University of Oklahoma and A. & M. college at Stillwater were assigned uniforms and quarters at the reserve officers training camp Thursday and will undergo 30 days training.

Drill work starts Friday. It will not all be routine. The program provides for many athletic exercises such as baseball, tennis, swimming, boxing and other forms of contests. A program of entertainment has also been provided in the form of dancing and vaudeville, at regular periods. Major Edwin Parker of Ardmore is in charge fo the camp.

In connection with a plan to tunnel under the Straits of Gibraltar a shaft has been sunk on the Spanish side and a detailed survey of the ocean bed begun.

It is said that it required 2,000 men three years to carry a single stone from Elephantine to Sias for use in one of Egypt's pyramids.

TAX BOARD TO MEET FRIDAY

Valley View School Values To Be Studied

Special to The Record News.

VALLEY VIEW, Texas, June 5.—The equalization board of the Valley View Independent school district will meet Friday evening for the purpose of organizing preparatory to making final valuations of property in the district to be taxed for school maintenance. The board is composed of E. H. Sutterfield, J. G. Childers and S. W. Wood.

The final say of the board as to valuations of this district's property is looked forward to with interest in view of the fact that the board's findings last year created a problem which finally was solved only after the matter had been taken to the courts. Oil operators, mainly of Wichita Falls, who own property in the district, complained that the valuations were high, and finally an injunction restraining the tax collector from collecting the taxes was secured. A plea was taken to district court, where a compromise was reached on the amount of taxes to be paid.

Martin Opens Special Archer County Court

Judge P. A. Martin of the 89th district court Thursday morning convened a special session of the 30th district court at Archer City for trial of the suit brought in behalf of Archer county against Turner Richardson on a claim to about $12,000 in delinquent taxes on oil property. Attorneys waived a jury and presentation of testimony to Judge Martin was begun, it was said. The case is expected to continue several days. Judge Martin occupied the bench in the absence of Judge Allan D. Montgomery, who is in session with the regular June term of the 30th court at Graham.

The suit grew out of Richardson's alleged refusal to pay taxes on oil property for the years 1927, 1928 and 1929 claimed by the county. His contention was that the county had placed an excessive valuation on the property for the purpose of taxation.

Woman Cab Driver and Passenger Disappear

TULSA, Okla., June 5. (AP)—Police and officials of a taxicab company today were searching for a woman cab driver and a man passenger, missing since Wednesday morning. The woman was Mrs. Lois Marshall, 35, employed by a cab company whose drivers are women and the passenger was believed to have been Walter Richards, about 35, formerly employed by a paper sales company.

CANNON TURNS BACK ON QUIZ

Virginia Bishop Walks Out On Committee

tee by declining to reveal how he handled funds in the 1928 campaign against Gov. Al Smith.

Record Secured

The committee had in its possession a mass of evidence on which to question him, including the records of Kable and company, defunct New York bucket shop, with which the bishop traded.

These records were secured at the instigation of Senator Caraway, committee chairman, who later startled his colleagues by issuing a statement from Arkansas saying the committee had no authority to question Cannon about his political activities.

This statement proved especially embarrassing to Senator Walsh and Senator Blaine, Republican, of Wisconsin, who were left behind by Caraway to question Cannon about his lobbying activities.

Without criticizing him, it was apparent today they were determined Caraway must face the issue of Cannon's recalcitrance. They desire also to place the same issue before Senator Robinson, Republican of Indiana, who has consistently refused to attend hearings since Cannon took the stand.

Bishop May Leave

It was Robinson who insisted upon issuing a subpoena for the records of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment after officials of that organization had raised the same legal objection as Bishop Cannon raised.

The fact that Bishop Cannon is reported ready to leave the city may complicate matters if the committee decides to subpoena him next week.

In declining to testify, the bishop once again blamed his troubles on "wet and Catholic elements, and those who worship party regularity."

He charged the committee with being unfair by failing to investigate organizations which supported Governor Smith for president. In reply, Senator Walsh said:

"If you are aware of any individuals or organizations who have been placing legislation before congress or the action of any administrative officers of the government, we should be very glad to have any information of that character that you can give us, and you may be assured that his committee will prosecute the inquiry to the limit.

"If any of the organizations to which you have adverted have, as you will tell us, been engaged in lobbying activities, the committee will take the matter under consideration and will try to discharge its duty with respect to it.

"Of course, the remark you now make, and this that you inject into our record, we understand perfectly well is made for the purpose of defying this committee."

12 INJURED IN PLANE CRASH

One Death May Result From Boston Accident

BOSTON, June 5. (INS)—Twelve persons were injured, one perhaps fatally this afternoon, when a giant tri-motored Colonial Airways, Inc., airplane, en route to New York crashed into the channel at the southeast end of the Boston airport when the right wing motor cut out at the take-off.

Perl Thorson, of Brookline, was removed from the water unconscious and efforts were being made to revive him.

Val R. Chick, co-pilot of the plane, sustained a broken arm. He was removed to East Boston Relief hospital.

The huge plane, carrying 12 passengers and two pilots, with Pilot Owen J. O'Connor of New York at the controls, had just gone into the air when the right motor stopped. The plane jerked, tipped to one side and then nosed down into the channel. It sank nearly out of sight.

The passengers, most of them hurt, scrambled onto the wings and got to shore. Workers at the field called an ambulance. All those injured were taken to East Boston Relief hospital.

Search Ends in Arrest Of Counterfeiting Ring

DETROIT, Mich., June 5. (UP)—Trailed by secret service agents for 10 months, five men were under arrest here today as the leaders of a $1,000,000 counterfeiting ring recently discovered in New York. The suspects are John Bitonti, 34; Frank Tocco, 37; Phillip Beller, 44; Dominick Costada, 35, and Frank Salamoni.

PORTLAND, Maine.—Mrs. Bessie Edna Staples doesn't mind working for her husband, but she does object to working like a horse. She recently claimed in court in a petition for divorce that her husband had teamed her with a horse to perform field labor on his Windham farm.

Alchemist's Plan to Pay Germany's Debts With Fake Gold Revealed

BERLIN, June 5. (INS)—Another project to pay the German reparation debt of some $8,000,000,000, with artificial gold has brought embarrassment and financial loss to prominent industrial and political leaders and landed the self-styled alchemist in jail.

The "alchemist" was Hans Kurschildgen, who has been arrested in Duesselldorf in charges of fraud.

Kurschildgen maintained he could make gold and "demonstrated" his process at his laboratory in Duesselldorf before an amazed audience. He put sand and water in a bottle, passed an electric current through it and—lo and behold—the sand was full of gold.

Though he had been declared mentally unbalanced, Kurschildgen found many believers who backed him with money, advice and introductions. One Cologne banker alone advanced him 50,000 marks and the total he is supposed to have collected is put around a half a million marks.

Some prominent financiers even got in touch of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, then Reichsbank president, in order to interest him in the process as an easy way to pay the German reparations.

Experts who watched Kurschildgen's experiments charged that he smuggled gold chloride into the bottle and that this was the source of the actual gold found in the sand.

These charges, together with Kurschildgen's failure to produce the promised heaps of gold, finally led to his arrest.

JEWEL OWNERS IDENTIFY LOOT

Claimants to Stolen Gems Recover Property

NEW YORK, June 5. (AP)—Out of each of three hoards of jewels in the last fortnight in a roundup of stolen gems and their possessors, identifications were made today.

Mrs. Freedrick Desberg of Cleveland picked out of $30,000 worth of jewelry, seized at the Hotel Commodore a week ago Monday, two rings and a bracelet taken from her last winter at the Hollywood Beach hotel in Hollywood, Fla.

Police identified from $500,000 worth of jewelry found in the safe deposit box of Robert Nelson, race track man, a platinum watch which they said was one of eight stolen in 1925 from a mail man in Newark, N. J.

Harry Reger of Alden Park Manor, Pa., identified 35 pieces of jewelry found in the safe deposit box of Max Madel, pickpocket, as articles worth $7,000 which were stolen from his home last Tuesday.

Mrs. Desberg's jewelry was stolen while she and Mrs. Louis Kaufman, who lost gems in the same robbery, found her jewels in the $300,000 cache several days ago.

No details of the attempt were contained in the message with exception of the fact that it was unsuccessful.

BRIDGE TRIAL SLATED TODAY

Highway Commissioners Asked to Attend Session

MUSKOGEE, Okla., June 5. (UP)—Invitation was extended to the Oklahoma highway department to attend the federal court hearing tomorrow in the condemnation proceedings of the state against the Red River Bridge company.

After hearing on the condemnation suit by which the state is attempting to condemn the company's toll bridge, Federal Judge Pollock of Kansas City ordered the recess and invited the highway commission to participate in the hearing. Assistant Attorney General Lewis was instructed to communicate with the highway commission officials.

Although Judge Pollock did not overrule the motion to remand the case to district court, such action was seen the development. Attorney said that settlement probably would be attempted tomorrow.

OCEAN PHOTO DEVICE TESTED

'Flying Photographs' May Be Next 'Miracle'

By DAVID P. SENTER

NEW YORK, June 5. (INS)—The ocean is about to be spanned again—this time by flying photographs, handwriting whizzing through the ether and other forms of aerial imagery.

The liner America today was on its way to Hamburg with the first floating photo radio receiver aboard. The device, a part of the furniture in the ship's smoking room, will record pictures, stock market reports, bulletins and other facsimile material by word.

The future of the device may permit:

Business men to transact important business at sea.

Banks to verify signatures on checks.

Advertisers to address transcontinental travelers.

Moving picture actresses to send autographed photographers to deep-sea fans.

Separated lovers to correspond with the personal touch.

In the dull days aboard ship to come, time may be passed pleasantly by analyzing the handwriting of friends. Ma may photoradio pa for monetary touch with added emphasis and "having a fine time—will write you again tomorrow" may become so much small talk at sea.

Of course, these developments may appear to be but in the miracle stage as the present facsimile transmission to the America will be of an experimental nature, according to Maj. Richard H. Ranger, engineer in charge of photoradio activities for the Radio Corporation of America.

However, Ranger believes it is entirely practical to maintain a regular facsimile service to ships over distances of 3,500 miles.

The new service will be officially inaugurated with the sending of a photograph of President Hoover when the America sails from Hamburg for New York on June 18th.

Other material to be transmitted will include photographs of Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, Dr. F. W. Von Prittwitz, German ambassador to the United States, cartoons, daily weather maps and important news items.

The receiving instrument combines the results of experiments by engineers of the General Electric company, the Westinghouse company and R. C. A.

It carries forward the recent successful test of a visible recorder designed by Charles J. Young, son of Owen D. Young, in which copies of the front page of a newspaper were transmitted from Oakland, Calif., to Schenectady, N. Y.

Noted Parachute Jumper Killed in Plane Crash

GLENCOVE, N. Y., June 5. (INS)—Henry Bushmeyer, noted parachute jumper died today as a result of injuries received last night in an airplane crash.

Bushmeyer had made 500 successful parachute jumps without accident.

He made his first flight last night without a parachtue and the plane cracked up.

Bushmeyer's left lung was punctured and the pilot, Clifford Muchmore sustained a fractured skull and internal injuries.

'ONE-EYED' AGAIN

Notorious Gate Crasher Steals Ride Aboard W. A. E. Plane

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 5. (INS)—"One-Eyed" Connelly, notorious gate crashed, crashed the gates of the Western Air Express company and stowed away aboard one of their planes, according to word reaching the local office of the air company today.

Connelly, according to the message from the pilot of the plane, was discovered aboard the ship shortly after it left Amarillo, Texas, at noon today.

Officials of the air company here believed Connelly took to the air in an effort to reach New York in time for the Sharkey-Schmeling prize fight June 12.

Fort Worth Oil Man Dies in St. Louis

FORT WORTH, June 5. (AP)—R. S. King, 48, Fort Worth oil man and former president of the Exchange club here, who died in St. Louis last night after a two-day illness, will be buried in Pittsburgh, Pa., friends here were advised today.

Stricken in the lobby of a St. Louis hotel Monday night as he was preparing to leave for Chicago, King never regained consciousness.

King came here four or five years ago from Thurber, where had been an official of the Texas Pacific Coal and Oil company. At his death he was president of the Blackstone Oil company, the King Properties company and the Keystone Royalty Oil company.

No More Piles

Quick Relief—No Cutting

External treatments cannot permanently end Piles. Nor does cutting remove the cause.

The cause is internal—bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel. The veins are flabby—the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles an internal medicine should be used to heal and strengthen the affected parts.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, after years of study, discovered a real internal Pile remedy. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1,000 patients, with the marvelous record of success in 960 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer should be able to get HEM-ROID from their own druggist with a rigid money-back guarantee.

Before thinking of the pain and expense of an operation, get a package of HEM-ROID from Allison Drug store with their guarantee of money-back if it does not end all Pile misery. —Adv.

Younger Society Set Is Entertained Wednesday

In a pretty colonial setting carried out in all details, Mrs. C. W. Stevenson entertained Wednesday afternoon at her home on Avondale with a surprise party honoring her daughter, Gladys, who is spending two weeks at home after attending San Louis private school in Colorado Springs since February. Little Miss Stevenson will leave on June 18 for a girls camp in Estes Park, Colo., where she will remain two months.

Quaint colonial decorations were used and miniature cherry trees were given as favors. The afternoon was spent in a series of delightful games. The high score prize, a handsome colonial plaque, was presented to Elizabeth Smith and Anna Catherine Howard received a box of Martha Washington chocolates for low.

A dainty ice course was served to the following representative sub-debs: Phoebe Jane Chenault, Lucy Bratton, Margaret Louise Boller, Janet Sims, Juanita Harrison, Charlotte Maer, Gwendolyn Voelcker, Phoebe Lou Sehmann, Margaret Morris, Louise Nickell, Helen Clayton, Jane Clayton, Anna Catherine Howard, Jean Bowie, Mary Ellen Shaw, Olive Daugherty, Lucile Graham, Margaret Staniforth, Anna Cline, Myra Jane McMahon, Beatrice Hathorn, Christine Burton, Mary Ann Walker, Ruth Grisham, Catherine Smith, Catherine Biedenharn, Pauline Jane Art, Elizabeth Perkins, Maurine Boardman, Elizabeth Smith, the hostess and Miss Elna Stovall.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

We have heard the expression "What a beautiful gift of words," used as a compliment when an audience listened to an original thesis. But though words may be strung like jewels and sound as music to the ear, there must be spirit back of them to wake the thrill that answers a touch of genius.

"What a gift of words" has been used to describe verbosity. There is a habit of putting long syllabled parts of speech together that echo of erudition, but that surely is not art.

Short, simple words, hewing straight to set lines, picturing a thought in briefest manner—these are marks of genius recognized by many of us who lack that divine fire.

Shakespeare remarked "He jests at scars that never felt a wound," and we have known pens that might have written, "The man who has never confronted enemies in the vicissitudes of war and knows nothing of the anguish of suffering that might be inflicted, makes mockery of the seriousness of possible physical violence."

"What's in a name? A rose by any other name would smell as sweet," might enter modern print as "The title bestowed upon a thing is not comparable to its definition. The acquisition and enjoyment of a rose is not alone in the unostentatious name. Its fragrance would be as sweet were it given any other nomenclature."

We are altogether on the side of the masses who take to their hearts and memories the sweet and simple phrases of genius.

We have ourselves walked out beneath the deep blue star studded sky and had echo in our memory, "On such a night—" and "Look, how the moon on yonder bank," etc.

When we wish learned dissertation on themes demanding verbose treatment, we will go to our library shelves and get out our big volume of I. D'Israeli, or it may be a book of synonyms and antonyms, which really at times delights our ear.

And when we wish to get the thrill of the work of genius, whether in poetry or prose, journalism or mere reportorial work, we reach for that talented writer who knows that "Brevity is the soul of wit."

Qualities of Good Mother Defined By Dorothy Dix

A Good Mother Is One Who, While They Are Young, Teaches Her Children to Be Good; Who Tempers Discipline With Sympathy, and Who Gives Her Children Strength of Character to Build on Through Life.

A correspondent asks me if I will give my definition of a good mother.

Well, I think a good mother is one who has just as much brains as heart; who has both a backbone and a funny bone; who has a right arm like Gene Tunney's, the tact of a diplomat and the justice of the supreme court.

There is something about being a mother that seems to turn a lot of women feeble-minded. With the advent of the first baby they appear to take leave of their senses, and thereafter they never show the slightest intelligence in dealing with the child, or any situation in which it is involved.

They become afflicted with some peculiar mother astigmatism that makes them see their children as they want them to be, not as they are. Their ears register their children's howls and shrieks as the music of the spheres that is a treat to any one to listen to. They regard their children's malicious mischief as a proof of originality and energy, and they ruthlessly sacrifice every one, even their husbands, to their children's pleasure.

My idea of a good mother is a woman who doesn't let her children upset her sanity. She loves them too well to want everybody else to hate them because they are unmannerly little brats. She sees them clearly, and that enables her to correct their defects and thereby saves them from going through life handicapped by physical and moral blemishes that can be cured.

She removes Benny's inferiority complex as well as she does Sally's adenoids, and straightens out Maud's temper as she does Tom's teeth. Remembering that her children will soon be grown and leave her, instead of being a hundred per cent mother and a total loss as a wife, she makes it a fifty-fifty proposition and gives as much time and petting and consideration to her husband as she does to her children.

My idea of a good mother is one who is on the job and who doesn't turn over her task to hirelings, nor pass the buck of forming her children's characters to school teachers. She doesn't consider it more important to keep up with her bridges games than to keep up with her children, nor leave her youngsters to run the streets while she is off golfing or motoring or sobbing over some picture of mother devotion at a movie.

She knows that the thing that settles what we do in any crisis, the thing that makes us yield or stand up and fight under temptation is not some abstract philosophy, but the principles that were bred in us at our mother's knee, and so while her children are still in the cradle she impresses on their plastic minds the ideals of clean living and duty to themselves and their fellow creatures.

And she doesn't think that some miracle is going to happen to change the children that she raised up to be little devils into little angels. She doesn't think that you can pamper and spoil a child and indulge it in everything it wants for 16 or 17 years and not make it into a monster of egotism and self-centeredness. She knows that you have to teach a child from its earliest conscienceness to play fair, to respect the rights of others, and to be generous, if you expect any altruism from it when it is grown.

The good mother teaches her children to respect her and their father. She establishes discipline in her home and she enforces it with her good right hand if necessary. She doesn't make a doormat of herself for her children to walk over and kick about. She puts herself on a pedestal so that they have to look up to her. She never lets them talk back to her, and when they are grown they would no more dream of insulting her than they would a queen on her throne.

So mother, who has added the wisdom of the serpent to the cooing of the dove, is big sister to her children instead of domestic tyrant. She keeps herself young and dolled up so they are proud of her looks. She pals with them so they confide in her. She laughs them out of their follies instead of having hysterics over them. She doesn't stay at home and pray for them. She goes along with them and finds out what temptations they are exposed to, what dangers they meet, and so she is able to counsel and guide and restrain them.

And, finally, the good mother does not try to make perpetual babies of her children, nor hold them tied to her apron string. When they are grown she sends them about the business of life with her blessing and her love that always follows, but never hinders them. —DOROTHY DIX.

Will Appear in Recital

Sue Allyn Stripling, the four and one-half year old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Stripling of Nocona, will appear in a talking, stepping musical farce comedy in the Knickerbocker studio recital at the Woman's Forum clubhouse Friday night. She takes four parts in the farce and changes her costume on the stage.

Chamber of Commerce Secretaries Open Annual Meeting at Plainview

Special to The Record News

PLAINVIEW, Texas, June 5.—Approximately 125 chamber of commerce secretaries were in attendance at the 24th annual conference school of the Texas Commercial Executives association when the convention opened in Plainview Thursday morning. The officials included representatives from every section of Texas and a portion of New Mexico.

Featuring the business sessions of the secretaries was the discussions during the day led by prominent officials in chamber of commerce work. Following the address of welcome extended by R. Q. Silverthorne, president of the Plainview Chamber of Commerce, and the response made by Hubert Harrison, manager of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, the president's annual address was delivered by J. E. Bell of San Benito who will preside throughout the gathering.

Boswell Speaks

Beginning with a discussion on "The Machinery of the Organization," led by John Boswell, manager of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, the business session of the convention got off to a lively start when Boswell's paper brought forth comments from several secretaries. The well managed chamber of commerce is marked by the precision of its work, Boswell stated and stressed the importance of the budget and the program of every chamber.

At the noon luncheon Albert Evans, disaster relief director of the American Red Cross, spoke on disaster preparedness.

Aviation was the subject handled by Mike R. Fuvell of Dallas. Lieut. J. Allen of Dallas appeared on the program on the subject of putting the small town on the aviation map.

Highway promotion was discussed by Egbert Thompson of Gainesville, and Richard Knight of Crockett led the discussion on bond issues and right of way.

Meet Closes Saturday

The convention will continue throughout Friday and Saturday. Friday Bryan Blaylock of Marshall will discuss dairy development, and B. Frank Johnson of Paris will talk on poultry development. Grady Shipp of Vernon will handle the subject of farm marketing and at noon Frank P. Holland Jr., editor of the Farm and Ranch, will speak on livestock and chambers of commerce.

The officers of the association are J. E. Bell of San Benito, president; C. C. Patterson of Cleburne, vice president and Paul T. Vickers, Midland, secretary. Houston is bidding for the next annual meeting.

Golf Association Has Regular Thursday Game

Mrs. W. P. Bolding was winner of low ball when the Woman's Golf association met at the country club for the regular weekly game Thursday morning.

A delightful summer luncheon followed the game and the table centered with a large, low bowl of pink radiance roses and sparkling with green crystal service made a cool and lovely spot for the guests' enjoyment.

Covers were laid for Mesdames C. O. Davis, J. Waggoner Caldwell, Jr., Fred Couper, W. P. Bolding, J. T. Waggoner, J. B. Hatchitt, R. L. Hargrave, H. L. Ruehl, Helen Kendall, H. P. Ledford and Misses Catherine and Margaret Kendall.

The Silk Stocking Age

To Europeans, silk stockings are synonymous with Americans and if they were to imagine an American girl without silk stockings she wouldn't be the typical American any more. So says the French economist, and he's quite right.

As a group we demand the best of everything. And more than most people we are able to pay for it. But never up to the point where price ceases to be a consideration. And so it is that this store is selling fashion at a price—the smartest fashions faithfully interpreted at charmingly moderate price.

Pretty Recital To Be Given on Chenault Lawn

An out-of-door program designed to fit a charming setting has been arranged for Friday evening when Ella Merle Mathis Bristol will present her expression and dancing pupils on the grounds of the N. B. Chenault home in Indian Heights at 8 o'clock. Arrangements have been made to light the grounds for the occasion and chairs will be grouped about a platform raised against the natural back drop of the rose garden with its garlanded trellises.

If it should rain on Friday, arrangements have been completed to give approximately the same charming numbers in the auditorium of Crockett school at 8 p. m.

An ensemble number that promises to be one of the most effective parts of the evening's entertainment is an interpretation of the well known "Wedding of the Painted Doll," in which 10 of the talented young students will participate. A charming climax to the program will be a colorful May pole dance in which diminutive dancers will take part.

Miss Katherine Sue Ralston, assistant, is associated with Mrs. Bristol in the presentation and Miss Jewell Thompson is accompanist in the dancing and sketch numbers. The entertainment is open to the public.

The pupils to be presented include Doris McKinney, Irvene Roberts, Mary Frances Reaves, Katheryn Sue Reaves, Charlotte Noble, Mary Jo Denny, Frances Gauntt, Marguerite Ralston, Jeanette Van Horn, Fay Marie Ralston, Cleo Wilson, Thomas Fenton Dale, Bryan Turner Jr., John Noble, Stephen Noble, Gordon Louis Turner, James O'Donohue, Jimmy Richards, Patricia Pond, Charlotte Rose Marantz, Frank Jones, Gordon Jones, Margaret Ross, Martha Clark, Ruth Mary Connor, Cornelia Connor, Martha Ann Medders, Betty Ann Morrison, Eloise Curtis, George Mytinger, Frank Kell Mytinger, Margaret Harvey, Gwendolyn Rogers, Paul Stuckey, Bruce Steward, Johnny Sue Barclay, Peggy Mathis, Martha Lou Harvey, Peggy Jo Pond, Katherine Biedenharn, Nadene Steward, Rex Curtis, Mary Margaret Hall and Betty Jo Hall.

Mrs. Spragins Speaker At First Methodist Meeting

Mrs. C. A. Spragins was the speaker Thursday morning when members of the First Methodist W. M. S. met in the church parlors in the fourth day of their semi-annual missionary week. An open discussion of her subject created deep interest in the audience.

Mrs. Q. B. Lee led the devotional lesson comparing the problems of ancient Athens, with its unknown gods and people from all countries to modern cities and stressing the fact that Christianity helps solve the most difficult problems.

"Remaking the City" was the subject of Mrs. Spragins' talk and she discussed the division of cities into parts and the functioning of the parts. City planning has made so powerful an appeal that a great number of women are interested in it; environment is a result of city planning. The point was made that city planning is based on the police force of a city and in connection with the problem of zoning, Mrs. Spragins read excerpts from supreme court decisions in the Dallas and local papers. She called on Mrs. A. D. Duck for "The History of Zoning," and discussing this subject, Mrs. Duck said that zoning was as old as Belshazzar and stressed the point of necessary community cooperation. The purpose of zoning and cooperation was defined as one to better the citizens of a city.

Mrs. Spragins stated that one problem met in city planning is the constant moving of people from one area to another and the development of suburbs. She quoted one student of sociology who remarked that the thing wrong with the city was that one third too many farmers, who should live there, still lived in the country and also quoted Henry Ford who believes the exact opposite of this.

Mrs. E. F. Bohmfalk, who was to discuss "The Need for Community Cooperation" as a correlated topic of the day's lesson, read an excerpt from a Texas editorial, "What's Wrong with Texas?" which brought a ripple of amusement into the discussion. The only thing wrong with Texas seemed to be that a Texan got up in the morning, dressed in clothes made in other states, ate at Grand Rapids furniture and used manufactures from other states all through the day until at night he crawled under a New Jersey blanket and was kept awake by a dog — the only Texas product on the place.

Charity and social service work were defined by Mrs. Spragins in answer to the many questions asked her. She made this comparison: if a child should fall into a mud hole in the street, charity would take her out, clean and redress her; social service would fill the mudhole. She stated that people were often victims of social wrongs and that not all the victims had fault in themselves—that environment and the things that went before their time had influence. Church solidarity was stressed as a thing necessary to accomplish work in areas of deterioration in a city. The final point was that material building is an important thing, but the building of humanity transcends that.

Mrs. C. Y. Tully told the story of the song, "Where Cross the Crowded Ways," and sang it with a depth of feeling. Mrs. J. E. O'Brien accompanied her.

Announcement was made of the unusual program prepared for Friday when the study is to close, and several out of town visitors were named who are to be present at that time.

Members who registered Thursday were Mesdames A. D. Duck, E. F. Bohmfalk, S. S. McKenney, L. C. Ulrich, J. R. Welch, Q. B. Lee, C. A. Spragins, W. W. Cook, J. E. O'Brien, C. Y. Tully, Homer Lee, W. B. Hamilton and J. C. A. Guest.

"A GIRL'S MOST ALLURING CHARM?"

Famous Screen Stars say: "Lovely Skin"

Nothing attracts people as irresistibly as skin that is utterly soft and smooth. This is a secret every screen star knows.

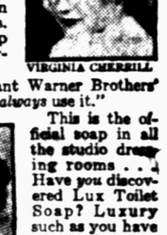

For without it . . . say 45 Hollywood directors . . . no girl ever reaches stardom. The close-up demands skin that is breath-taking in its loveliness.

MARIA ALBA

Like 9 out of 10 charming screen stars, vivacious Maria Alba, of Fox Films, guards her skin with Lux Toilet Soap. "Its lather is so soothing, it leaves my skin like velvet," she says.

Delightful Virginia Cherrill, of United Artists, also uses this white, delicately fragrant soap. "The close-ups magnify everything so that we must have skin that is flawless. Lux Toilet Soap keeps mine perfectly smooth."

Every Headache Is a Warning

What is a headache? Physicians tell us that headache is "the cry of over-taxed nerves for rest." The cause of simple headache is high nerve tension or strain, which leads to high blood pressure and serious injury to the nervous system.

The next time you have a headache, neuralgic or rheumatic pains, or periodic pains, try the improved method of relief—two teaspoonfuls of Capudine in a little water. Being liquid, Capudine gives relief almost instantly—much quicker than tablets and powders. It relieves by soothing the tense nerves—not by deadening them. Contains no opiates and does not upset the stomach, therefore, is the ideal remedy.

For over thirty years Capudine has been bringing relief to those who suffer from nervous pains. You, too, will find it a joy and comfort when your nerves are unstrung and when you suffer from pain. At drug stores in 30c and 60c sizes.—Adv.

KEEN and ALERT at "FOUR"

the day's grind demands men of unusual Vitality

"Oh! fine"

you want to feel the same way

BUSINESS today requires that the successful man be physically fit and mentally alert.

Men, especially, forget themselves physically. Their work demands practically all their time. They do not exercise enough. They get little or no sunshine. They are robbed of a good appetite . . . and when their red-blood-cells fall below normal their flesh becomes flabby, their nerves unsteady. Their strength must be reinforced.

Soundness of body and peace of mind depend upon the proper number of red-cells in the blood—5,000,000 to the cubic millimeter. They give blood its color and are carriers of nourishment to every part of the body. It is dangerous to let the red-cell count remain below normal.

With an increase in the red-blood-cells, you will be on the right road to Health. This is Nature's way to body power and to clear skin. Naturally, with your strength restored, it is easier to fight disease and infection; to enjoy your food and to sleep soundly. When firm flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby, you will feel strong—your nerves will become steady—more happiness and friends will follow.

S.S.S. has been a blessing to millions who have taken advantage of its wonderful medicinal properties. It helps Nature build rich, red-blood-cells. It promotes healthy body building.

You will be pleased to know that S.S.S. is made from strictly fresh vegetable drugs. It is easily assimilated. Pleasant to take.

DONLEY BUYS HOME PRODUCE

Clarendon Bankers Push Marketing Plan

Special to The Record News.

CLARENDON, Texas, June 5.—Working in cooperation with the county agents and chamber of commerce of this county the local key banker, W. H. Patrick, has called a series of meetings of bankers of this county and has worked out a marketing plan for home canned products.

The local chamber of commerce has sold to local citizens several hundred cans of products grown in the county, and the clubs of the county have agreed to deliver this produce in the fall at the prevailing market prices.

The plan is an experiment to try to find market for products that can be produced in abundance in this county. Most of the products will be put up in pressure cookers under 4H labels and the plan is to increase the amount to the extent that local consumers will use home grown products produced by the clubs of the county in sufficient quantity to consume the surplus that is produced on the farms in Donley county each year.

The purchaser has the privilege of ordering through his grocer or direct from the producer to the home. The plan so far has met with good results. Local bankers believe the plan will help round out a live-at-home program for Donley county.

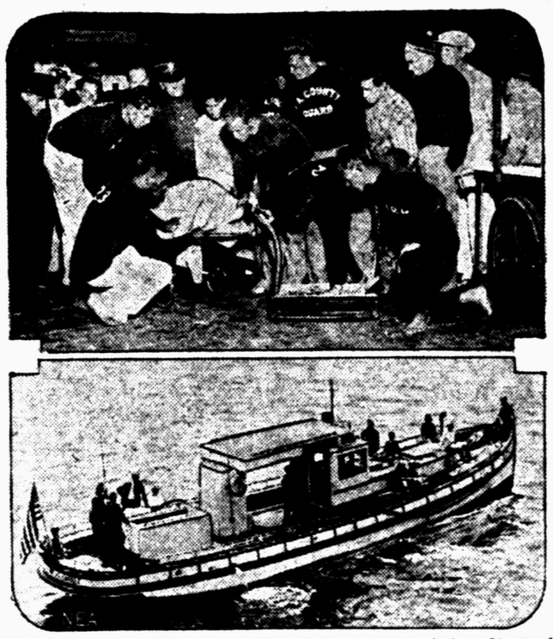

Rule Man Injured in Automobile Accident

RULE, Texas, June 5.—J. G. Todd, en route to Aspermont from Rule was injured when his car turned over twice. The accident was caused from a blowout. M. D. Dawes Speech Refers Caustically To Americans Bent on Social Honors

CAMBRIDGE, England, June 5. (AP)—Ambassador Dawes tonight addressed a dinner given by the Masters and fellows of Trinity college in which he paid tribute to the American gold star mothers and made caustic reference to American social seekers in Great Britain.

The ambassador was responding in behalf of 17 noted persons who had been given honorary degrees by Cambridge earlier in the day.

The ambassador himself received the honorary degree of doctor of laws.

He referred only indirectly to those Americans who seek social preference, bringing this up in connection with the recent visit of the gold star mothers whom he referred to as "the best representatives of my people."

"We have recently had in London," he said, "a body of American travelers representing a cross section of the American people, representing the heart and soul of the American people, representing the bone and sinew of the American people—a body of travellers not self invited, with their minds unoccupied by thoughts of society reporters or fashionable dressmakers."

Mrs. Lawca Clooney

Texas Lady's Life Takes New Turn

"When I think of how I used to wake up morning after morning with a headache, I feel like I have just started living," says Mrs. Lawca Clooney, popular manager of the Telephone Exchange Cafeteria in San Antonio.

"I did not know what it was to be without a headache, the kind which make you weak and nervous until you tremble all over, until I heard my brother's family telling about how good Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is. I took the first one and liked it. I have been taking them ever since. Everyone wants to know what I have taken because I am so well now."

Results like this is what makes Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) so popular. More than 3 million are used a day. Any druggist will tell you to use them if you suffer from sour stomach, biliousness, tight bowels, sick headaches, indigestion or rheumatism. They are 25c a box.—Adv.

Cities Blamed For Poor Government

LOS ANGELES, June 5. (US)—"Most American cities do not want good government. If they did they could get it, providing enough citizens were interested."

Clarence A. Dykstra, chairman of the department of political science at the University of California at Los Angeles, today delivered this indictment of American municipal government almost on the eve of his departure for Cincinnati, where he has been chosen city manager.

Dykstra, who is also director of personnel and efficiency for the Los Angeles Municipal Department of Water and Power, pointed out that too many specialized interests as well as frequent inexperience of city administrative heads combined for bad government.

"And the citizenry does not want good government, either because it is not sufficiently interested or impressed with the importance of wanting it," he declared. "Many groups, in fact, prefer mediocre government."

TEXAN TO WED GAMBLER'S GIRL

Marriage License Issued at New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, June 5. (AP)—Records in the Gretna courthouse today revealed that a license was issued there on May 31 for the marriage of Miss Jessie McBride, fiancee of the late Oakley B. Harris, slain New Orleans gambler, and Sam Maceo, 36, of "Buccaneer hotel, Galveston, Texas. The bride's age was given as 24 years.

Harris was shot and fatally wounded by Mrs. Sara Kelloway about two years ago in a turbulent windup of their relationship of years standing. A jury acquitted Mrs. Kelloway of murder and she subsequently wed another.

Harris was widely known for years in New Orleans gambling circles.

TRAINMAN DIES FROM INJURIES

Rites for Victim to Be Said At Lawton

ALTUS, Okla., June 5. (UP)—B. H. Jones, 45, Frisco railroad brakeman, died early today in a hospital after his legs had been cut off when he fell beneath a moving freight train last night.

Jones was attempting to connect two cars when he was brushed from the side of a car by a loading dock. He fell under the wheels. The accident occurred 200 yards east of the Frisco passenger station.

Jones was returning to Oklahoma City from Quanah, Texas. He had been with the railroad 10 years.

He is survived by the widow and two daughters who were with him when he died. The body was taken to Lawton Thursday where funeral services will be held. The family recently moved from Oklahoma City to Lawton.

Soldier Held For Murder of Steno

WASHINGTON, June 5. (INS)—Howard L. Brewster, until yesterday a private in the army, was lodged in Arlington county jail, Virginia, today formally charged with the murder of Mary Baker, navy department employe, April 11, last.

Whether the authorities really believe Brewster killed the girl was somewhat doubtful, but Brewster confessed to the crime early in May just about the time the police were in a blue funk over the case. The murdered girl's body was found in a culvert near Arlington national cemetery April 12, after her abandoned automobile had been found a few hundred yards away.

She had been outraged and three bullets had been fired into her body.

An automobile thief alarm, invented by an Australian, sounds a bell and switches on an electric sign, "stolen," when an unauthorized person attempts to drive the car away.

Five New Cardinals To Be Named in June

VATICAN CITY, June 5. (INS)—Five new cardinals of the Roman Catholic church will be created at the next consistory which Pope Pius XI has scheduled for June 30, it was learned today.

Three of those scheduled to be raised to the rank of prince of the church are monsignors, one is a bishop and the fifth is an archbishop. The monsignors are Marchetti Selvaggiani, secretary of the congregation for the propagation of the faith; Rossi, counsellor of the consistorial congregation; Giulio Serafini, secretary of the congregation of the council.

Leme Da Silvira Cintra, archbishop of Rio de Janeiro, and Bishop Lienart of Lille, are the other two, who will receive red hats.

House Delays Action On New Federal Judgeships

WASHINGTON, June 5. (INS)—Bills for the creation of 15 additional federal judgeships probably will not be acted upon by the house because of its enactment yesterday of the crime commission's proposals to expedite the trial of prohibition cases, Rep. Graham, Republican, Pennsylvania, chairman, judiciary committe, said today. A measure introduced by Rep. Crail, Republican of California, for the appointment of another federal judgeship in Southern California may be acted upon as it was introduced before those calling for the 15 judgeships.

MEXICAN ACE READY FOR HOP

Fierro Starts New York Flight Today

SAN ANTONIO, June 5. (AP)—His ship repaired from damages received when forced to land on a ranch near San Angelo, Monday, Col. Roberto Fierro, Mexican aviation ace, will leave San Antonio early tmorrow for New York, starting point of his non-stop flight to Mexico City.

Accompanied by Arnulso Cortez, mechanic, Fierro plans to make the trip to New York without a stop, providing weather permits. He will fly through Shreveport, Memphis, Nashville, Charleston and Trenton before alighting at Mitchell field.

Approximately 50 gallons of gasolone and 30 gallons of oil had been stored in the plane for use in the 10-hour hop to New York.

Fierro said today he would attempt to complete his non-stop flight from New York to Mexico City in 16 hours, leaving the United States at Galveston, crossing Tampico and alighting at Mexico City.

The maximum speed of the plane is 180 miles an hour.

Large animals such as cougars, lynx and even bears, very often lose their lives as a result of an attack on a lowly porcupine. Quills lodge in the animals mouth, swelling it to a size that makes eating impossible and the victim slowly starves to death.

Brother Against Brother
That's Prohibition
Who Owns the Air?
Saving on $20 a Week

By EMILE GAUVREAU

Leagues formed to combat vice and corruption are themselves charged with vice and corruption. The latest arc in the vicious circle is the Anti-Saloon league, charged with "misusing the confidence of the temperance people and the funds of the cause," according to Emmett McBride, brother of General Superintendent S. Scott McBride. Emmett offers to give the senate lobby committee the "whole inside story," brother turning on brother. No wonder the backbone of prohibition has cracked.

The next question coming up for settlement is: Who owns the air? Already, with the increasing use of airplanes, several cases of this nature have come up in court to determine proprietorship. Mr. Smith of Grafton, objects to the noise airplanes make when flying over his grounds and seeks legal redress. A judge should tell him he has no right to enjoy the privileges and advantages of this remarkable age in which it is his good fortune to live.

At the Long Island university, Dr. Richard H. Paynter, professor of social and abnormal psychology, conducts an experiment which will interest lawyers and judges. From a class of 141 the professor secures 100 different versions of one incident after the members of the class had been forewarned and forearmed. If testimony is woven of such loose fabric, what becomes of the validity of our decisions and the justice in our courts?

The Y. W. C. A. determines, after a careful survey, that a girl in Chicago, with a $20 a week salary, can get along comfortably—and save $1.15 a week besides! Here's how:

Room rent with two meals	$8.25
Luncheons	1.30
Carfare	1.20
Laundry and cleaning	1.60
Clothing	5.00
Cosmetics	.35
Church	.20
Gifts	.20
Education and recreation	.75
Savings	1.15

All other items might conceivably pass, but cosmetics at 35 cents a week would start a considerable debate among the ladies.

The Graf Zeppelin arrives as precise as an ocean liner and its passengers alight as unconcerned as those getting off a boat. A small crowd greets the dirigible this time. Its feat has been accepted. A miracle that is repeated ceases to be a miracle. Human nature is so exacting it will not be astonished twice over the same phenomenon. The tributes and plaudets are reserved for more astonishing flashes of genius. The cry is forever "onward." There is no law of life more despotic, but there is no law of life that is more necessary.

American mothers weeping over the graves of their sons in France may wonder whether the price paid to make the world safe for democracy was not a bit exorbitant—especially as the world is no more safe today for democracy than it was before 1914. You will notice that the mothers who weep are not rich mothers. The next beefy profiteer who shouts for war should be put on a ration of bread and water for the duration of the murder and, if he has sons, be compelled to send them into the front lines first.

Venezuela commemorates the centenary anniversary of its independence by paying off its entire national debt. European nations might draw an object lesson from that little country.

LOANS INCREASE

NEW YORK, June 5. (INS)—Brokers loans increased $79,000,000 to a total of $4,101,000,000 during the week ended June 4, according to the weekly report released by the federal reserve board today. This compares with $4,022,000,000 on May 28, and with $5,284,000,000 on June 5, 1929.

Where the Past Lives

TO GET the real flavor of Memorial day it is necessary to get out in the country. The city, of course, puts on a celebration, and generally does it in good style. But it is the small town that does the job in the traditional manner. It is in the small town that one really feels the inner meaning of the holiday pulsing beneath the festivities that have overlaid it.

There isn't, in fact, any better way to get back into touch with the old America—the America that began to evolve into something new about the time that Henry Ford started to flood the country with cheap automobiles—than to take a little motor trip on the 30th of May.

It is always worth while to drive out into the country, on Memorial day or any other day. The artificiality of city life shrinks to its proper proportions when you have rolled along through a quiet, green stretch of farm land for an hour or so. But all of this is especially fitting and proper on a holiday that dates back right to the middle of our reign as a land of farmers. It puts you into the proper frame of mind.

Then you come to one of those diminutive country towns, identical the country over; a white frame church, a couple of stores, a school house, a little cluster of houses, a water tower, a grass-grown public square and a little cemetery, all embowered in that peculiarly American atmosphere of combined untidiness and peacefulness. There is a small crowd in the public square. A little band, generally clad in uniforms that do not match, toots away at the old, familiar tunes. Three or four gray beards in civil war regalia walk slowly to the cemetery, followed by the townspeople and a detachment of school children, all carrying flags.

There, at the cemetery, there is a word of prayer, and the graves are decorated. It is all very simple, very modest—and, somehow, very effective. It hits the heart in a way that the elaborate, highly organized city ceremonials do not always do. There is a flavor of old times in it; a flavor of the days before automobiles, hard surfaced roads and swiftly growing cities changed America from an agricultural nation to an urban nation.

We are changing faster and more profoundly than we usually realize. The small town is not what it used to be. An excellent way to dip one's self into one of the most characteristic currents of this vanishing era is to drop in on one of these rural celebrations.

Dawes Forsees a Banking Monopoly

HENRY M. DAWES, brother of Ambassador Charles Dawes of upside down fame, foresees a monopolistic control of banking in the United States. He is a former comptroller of currency and reputed to be an eminent financier. Addressing a conference of business men in Wisconsin, he said:

"No plan has been devised by which chain banking can be stopped after it becomes a menace. Its ultimate result will be the substitution of centralized and, I fear, eventually monopolistic control of banking as contrasted with the present system of local independent nationally coordinated."

He predicted the independent banks would not survive the competition of the chain and explained that the question of chain banking is correlated to the government temperament and extent of the United States.

He further said that centralized groups made for safety and efficiency "will not stand up under analysis," as a comparison of the chain bank and the chain store cannot be made "because one deals with commodities and the other with credit."

In the long ago Hickory Jackson had the battle of his civic life with old Nicholas Biddle, the Mussolini of the bankers and the banking system of the Jacksonian period. Old Hickory won his battle.

Perhaps if the Dawes menace appears and seeks control, another Hickory Jackson will come to the surface, and there will be another battle royal for the control of currency and credit.

Now is the time for a Texas candidate, gifted with a wild imagination and a glib tongue, to turn loose a new issue.

An Ineffective Gesture

RAYMOND DUNCAN, who goes about clad in Grecian robes and sandals as a means of expressing his disapproval of modern industrial civilization, drew a curious crowd when he went down to the battery in New York City the other day, dipped a bucket of salt water from the harbor and carried it home to make some salt as a gesture of sympathy for Mahatma Gandhi.

Of practical, utilitarian value the stunt had nothing whatever. As a gesture it is probably very fine; but one doubts, somehow, if the whole thing will make very much impression anywhere.

A New York newspaper irreverently suggests that some Englishman now ought to distill a flask of alcohol from potato peelings and send it to some American scofflaw who is in jail for violating the prohibition law; and it is probable that Mr. Duncan's act will arouse more jocular comment of this nature than genuine sympathy for the famous Indian rebel.

Foiling the Racketeer

ONE WAY to foil the racketeer, evidently, is to refuse to be afraid of him. Two "tough guys" from Detroit dropped down to Cleveland the other day, looking for a little easy money. They looked up a well-to-do merchant, found that he had a 6-year-old son, and proceeded to call the merchant up by telephone. Unless he paid them $10,000, they said, they would kidnap his son and bomb his store.

This scheme usually works, but this time it didn't. Instead of getting scared, the merchant called the police. The two "tough guys" were arrested within 12 hours, and now cells in Ohio's terrible penitentiary are being prepared for them.

The racketeer's method of operation is chiefly bluff. If the bluff is called promptly it is the racketeer that gets into trouble, not the victim.

WALTER WINCHELL

On Broadway

(Copyright, 1930, Daily Mirror, Inc.)

Man About Town

"Dear Mr. Winchell," writes a nurse of the Carnegie hospital, Cleveland, Ohio, (whose name is omitted here because it is none of your business). "It is 1 a. m., and you are hunting the secrets of the Great White Way. I have night life, too, but oh, how different! You take the pulse of the gaiety-mad crowd and listen to moaning saxophones in an expensive night club, while I take the pulse of those that have had to stop from life's grand march for a while, and listen to the moaning of those who are ready to take that longest journey of all.

"What wouldn't I give for just a two-week slice of that life that you call yours, and forget the worries and the problems of the sick-room. To smell exotic perfumes instead of ether and disinfectant. I've never been on broadway, and never expect to ever get there. Fairy tales just don't happen in real life, and that certainly would be a fairy tale.

"I am weary and discouraged and blue, and hate myself and the world in general and crabby mothers of patients in particular. Nurses are supposed to feel lofty and noble, but—you can believe it or not—they don't. I really did not write this to tell you my troubles, but to tell you why I and others like what you write. Because it gives us a glimpse of the make-believe land, the fairy-tale land of the working girl's dreams.

"It takes us around the corner and lets us peep into the magic box called Stage, and see the glamourous personalities that occupy it. Because we are in awe of those whose names are in electric lights, we like to find someone who isn't and dares to say so.

"I suppose that from this letter you'll consider me a sentimental idiot or some silly thing with a schoolgirl crush on you—but I'm neither. I am old enough to know what I am doing is very silly, but what is the difference, for I never expect to meet you. I've lived long enough (oh, not so terribly long, Mr. Winchell) to quit believing in fairy tales and Santa Claus. I am no old maid or a bachelor girl, either, for I've (how do you say it?) 'middle-aisled it,' and I've told it 'to a judge' five years ago.

"Isn't human nature grand? Are you bored to tears, or don't you know what tears are? They are a watery secretion of lachrymal glands, slightly salty to taste, that runs down from the corner of your eyes, and makes your nose red and cheeks white, and wrecks your appearance in general.

"And, Walter Winchell, the glamour of Broadway may be tinsel to you, but have you ever noticed how pretty tinsel looks from far away and in electric lights?

"This is my first fan letter and I suppose it will be my last, for I don't often get brain storms like this. Wishing you luck, success and happiness. Sincerely yours."

Dear Nurse: I print your letter, sans your name, because I believe that your letter will interest the young men and women who, like yourself, think they would be happier if they could swap jobs with me. A managing editor of a newspaper once said to Paul Whiteman (when Mr. Whiteman was starring on the Ziefeld Roof): "What is there about this Broadway column stuff that you like, if you read it at all. People seem to want it. What's there to it?"

Mr. Whiteman later told me what he said to the editor: "I read it," replied Mr. W., "because it offers information about people I know, but I imagine others are interested because nine out of ten people are fascinated by the theatrical profession and the newspaper game. Winchell writes about newspapermen and actors and actresses. Nearly everyone at some time or other has aspired to be a reporter or has been stage-struck. He takes them behind the scenes."

Mr. Whiteman's theory interested me a lot. I never thought of that angle before. And I never thought of it again until your letter came. You are one of the crowd that gets a kick out of the drivel I jot down, because the grass on Broadway looks greener to you out there in Cleveland, where you probably have trees and other genuine things.

The only tree in the Broadway Sector, nurse, is in the backyard of a 46th street speakeasy. But you probably don't care about trees. You want to hear the moaning of saxophones in expensive night clubs, you say, instead of the moaning in the sick-room. Why, nurse, haven't they any saxophone fiends in Cleveland? Surely Cleveland has its Rudy Vallees and its expensive night asylums. When I roofed it ten years ago at the Keith-booked theater in your town — Cleveland appeared pretty gay to me.

You say you would rather smell exotic perfumes instead of ether and disinfectant. I don't doubt that, at all, nurse. But haven't you any chums, pals, or anyone out in Cleveland who do their whoopeeing after hours? And why are you not invited to join them? Are you a party-spoiler or what? Really, my dear, we have very little on Broadway that you haven't in Cleveland. And that goes even if you came from Madison, Wis.; Huntington, W. Va., or from the other towns in which this pillar of chatter appears.

At any rate, your proposition intereats me. I like my job, nurse, because there isn't anything else I can do to make a living, but I would like a change from the so-called "playground of the world," too. It is wearying me a little, honey. When it was all new to me, I got quite a kick out of it, but I can't keep up with the pace set by some peasants who infest Broadway. I come in contact with so much treachery, so much cut-throating and so much two-timing that I am a little discouraged, also.

The gangsters I know on Broadway, believe me, nurse, aren't half so bad as most of the "honest" natives. The gangsters know that I couldn't do anything to keep their illicit activities out of the paper, and they know that I wouldn't try to do so, anyway. The "honest" mob is the mob I fear. The spurious men and women who go to any extreme to bask in the spotlight for a brief time, or to fatten their purses. Some day, when I write the book I contracted to write a year ago, maybe I'll be very interesting.

So, I am considering your proposition, nurse. It depresses me, as it does many others, I suppose, to visit a hospital, but it might give me another angle on people and things. I'm so tired of the locals who fall others when the crises comes. Tired of observing the counterfeiters ffom my box-seat. And I'm not having (how do you say it?) a brain storm.

I've written these things in magazines before, but the mob imagine I'm gagging, because there's coin in it. And this is a good time to get it off my chest, again. And to repeat a favorite crack: The honest people on Broadway may be counted on the hands of Venus. Everything goes—from murder to blackmail. And, lady, I know! So I'm warning you! If you want the Broadway lights, you've got to take the Broadway lice. You see, stranger, we have very little on Broadway that you haven't in Cleveland.

"SHEILA"

Love and Mystery
Humor and Tragedy
A Story of Wichita Falls
By GORDON TURNER

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Maizie Brown writes this story for practice in a story-writing correspondence course, never intending it to be published. She intersperses it with notes to her instructor. She is confidential secretary of Frank Sheridan, wealthy young lawyer, whose hobby is the solving of crime mysteries. Sheridan is called in by Joseph Hedley, assistant prosecuting attorney, to find a burglar who robbed a safe at the home of William Oliver Wilber. Hedley is engaged to marry Wilber's daughter, Sheila, whose cousin, Andrew Masters, is a frequent visitor at the Wilber home. A diary of Wilber's wife, now dead, has been stolen from the safe. The diary holds a secret of Sheila's birth. Sheridan inserts a $500 reward want ad in The Record News for the return of the diary. Wilber sees another Record News want ad, seeking the whereabouts of a girl secretly adopted 22 years earlier and reveals to Sheridan that Sheila is the girl sought by her real mother of whom Sheila knows nothing. Andrew Masters wants to marry Edna Rogers, Sheila's chum, but is entangled with Mercedes Riverton, a stenographer employed by his friend, Homer Menton, a criminal lawyer.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IX

Mercedes Riverton had lived in the borderland of poverty up to the time she became self-supporting. Her father was a plodding refinery worker whose small wages barely provided the necessities of life for his family; her mother was a nervous, complaining, discontented household drudge, whose entire vision was clouded by the always-present need of making both ends meet.

Mercy had been denied those little luxuries that mean so much to the self-conscious, adolescent girl. She felt strongly her social and economic status in contrast with that of her schoolmates. They were better dressed, they always had a little spending money for sodas or an occasional visit to the movies. Even these were denied Mercedes by the more pressing home need of salt pork and cabbage on washday and a possible beef toast on Sunday.

"We're poor but we're respectable," her father would say smugly when Mercy gave voice to her dissatisfaction. "Anyway, I ain't no bootlegger. I ain't got no money, but I ain't afraid to look any cop in the eye and tell him to go to hell."

"Respectable!" Mercy would retort passionately, "if this is being respectable, I'd rather you'd be a bootlegger with more money and less respectability. It's a crime to be poor, that's what it is! I want to be rich, rich, rich! You just watch, I'm going to have money and nice clothes and good times and I don't care how I get them!"

"Mercy, Mercy!" her mother would reprove her, "you hadn't ought to talk to your Pa that way," but she secretly sympathized with Mercy in the girl's desire for a broader life. Jerry Riverton would retire into his shell and mentally wash his hands of his troublesome womenfolk.

Such was the environment in which Mercedes Riverton grew to young womanhood. Philosophers advance the theory that privation and sacrifice in early life make for good character. That may be so if sacrifice becomes a habit of mind and thus is voluntary, but in Mercy's case every enforced sacrifice brought inner if not outward rebellion. Self-willed Medcy's strong desire to be and to do as the Joneses had little patience with any principle or precept that would thwart her ambition. Her conception of an ideal life was a full indulgence in all those things which had been denied her—rich food, expensive clothing, luxurious surroundings, gay parties and ceaseless, pleasure-bent activity.

When Mercy, after a night school business course, had found employment, she realized she had not yet attained her goal. True, she had her own money to spend, and for a time she was happy in being able to dress as well as other girls of her limited acquaintance. But that was only an interlude in her day of discontent. She wanted finer clothes than her money could buy; she wanted the gay times of her dreams, the companionship of folk who spent life and money lavishly and counted not the cost.

Through her employment, she came in contact with men and women who enjoyed all of these desirable things. It was thus she met Andy Masters. Andy's breezy "collegiate" manners and his free-handed way of spending money made him in her eyes an incarnation of the god of wealth and pleasure at whose altar she long had worshipped. Andy, in turn, was captivated by the pertly pretty little senographer. His vanity was touched by her very evident interest. Here was a new playmate to romp with for a time, but, of course, not to be taken seriously.

She backed against the wall, her whole body rigid and tense.

Mercy in her relations with Andy never lost sight of her fixed goal, the putting behind forever of the sordid poverty of her childhood.

She shrewdly perceived she could not advance much further with her notebook and typewriter and she quickly came to the conclusion that the easy way out was a marriage of money, with love if possible, without it if necessary. Andy loomed up as a means to this end. He was young, handsome, and likeable—and wealthy. Deliberately she spread the net of her charms for his entanglement.

But while herding Andy to the net, Mercy overlooked no opportunity of enjoying life as she wanted to enjoy it. She accepted the attentions of other men—if they were of the tribe who did not keep too tight a grip on their pocketbooks. This, she found to her delight, excited Andy's possessive instinct and drew him closer to her.

She developed all of her artifices of the coquette; she learned how to adapt herself to the moods of men, to play up to their vanities and to stimulate sympathy in their real or fancied wrongs. In Rome, she was a Roman: if the occasion demanded petting, drinking or smoking, she petted, drank and smoked, if more decorus conduct was on the boards, she played the part.

Expert researchers, who can get you any information on any subject, are at your command, without charge to you. A two-cent stamp will bring you a personal answer to any inquiry of fact you may make. Thousands of newspaper readers use this great service. Try it today. Make your inquiry easily read and easily understood, and address The Record News Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C.

Q.—Does an automobile use more gas when pulling a heavier load?—M. E. G.

A.—The bureau of standards says that it does. That is, a car will travel further on five gallons of gas with one passenger than it would with the same amount of gas carrying 10 passengers.

Q.—Are more football players injured or more baseball players?—G. J.

A.—A special committee undertook a survey for the Carnegie foundation of the entire question of the hygiene of athletic training. The common notion that football was the more hazardous sport was substantiated by the fact that there were 649 football injuries and 166 baseball injuries, notwithstanding the fact that there were 5,400 men playing football and 6,955 playing baseball in the 22 universities and colleges selected to represent conditions over the United States.

Q.—What proportion of the manuscripts submitted to them do magazines actually buy?—S. H. J.

A.—That would depend upon conditions. The editor of one national weekly states that his magazine purchases approximately .004 per cent of the manuscripts submitted to it from year's end to year's end. He adds that from 80 to 90 per cent of fiction submissions comes from people of no professional experience or training whatever.

Q.—How long has Turkey been a republic?—R. C. N.

A.—The Republic of Turkey was proclaimed Oct. 29, 1923.

Q.—Did Benjamin Franklin die a rich man?—J. M. F.

A.—He left an estate of $150,000, which in those days was a considerable fortune.

Q.—How long has paper been made?—M. T. K.

A.—The art of making paper seems to have been known to the Chinese at a very early period. Different writers have traced it back to the second century B. C. Paper first became available for the rest of the world in the middle of the eighth century. It was probably first brought into Greece from Asia. There is record of its use by the Empress Irene about the end of the 11th century. The manufacture of paper in Europe was first established by the Moors in Spain in the middle of the 12th century.

Q.—Who is the most prolific writer of juvenile fiction?—N. A. L.

A.—Probably Edward Startemeyer who died recently in Newark, N. J., could have claimed this distinction. During the 40 odd years of his writing life he produced more than 800 juvenile books among which are the Old Glory books, Soldiers of Fortune series, the Putnam Hall series, and the Frontier Boys. Writing under a variety of pen names and with numerous secretaries, this author brought out, in addition to the above mentioned, boys' lives of many great men.

Q.—What did strafe mean during the war?—W. J. F.

A.—The German word straff literally means to punish. During the war this was Anglicised into strafe and meant to punish or damage as by gun fire.

Q.—What is meant by the salt law which is mentioned in connection with the rebellion in India?—W. T. R.

A.—Under the salt monopoly imposed by England on India, no Hindoo may so much as pick up a salt crystal by the sea and give it to his cow, without paying the penalty of a jail sentence. If he evaporated a bucket of sea water and served the residue of salt in the food of his children, he would be performing a crime. One of the reasons for the salt monopoly is the necessity of providing cargo for the bottoms of British ships on their way East. The tax on salt in India, since it is a tax on a necessity, is one which must be paid by practically every one in the country.

Q.—How old was Marie Bashkirtseff when she died and when was her diary published?—G. M. B.

A.—Marie Bashkirtseff died at the age of 24. Her diary was published in 1887.

Q.—Why was the bird sanctuary in Florida established by Edward Bok?—J. G. M.

A.—The purpose for which this sanctuary was established and the tower built is to create symbols of pure beauty and to express appreciation and gratitude of Edward Bok to the American people for their kindness and generosity. The motto chosen for it was "I come here to find myself; it is so easy to get lost in the world" by John Burroughs.

TARIFF VOTE AGAIN HALTED

Battered Bill Sent Back to Conference

WASHINGTON, June 5. (US)—Once more the badly battered tariff bill was shunted back to conference today by the senate, with the prospect a passage next week by the closest of margins.

Constant hammering on the measure in and out of congress has reduced the majority for the bill down to two votes at the most, and created the possibility of Vice President Curtis casting the deciding ballot, a canvass revealed.

Authority Exceeded

The measure was sent back to conference when the vice president upheld three points of order that the conferees had exceeded their authority on the cheese, cattle and rayon rates. Curtis also said he doubted the authority of the conferees in dealing with the watch and cherry schedules and these also will be corrected.

While the conferees meet tomorrow, Senator Smoot of Utah, chairman of the finance committee, announced that the report will not be made until Monday. At that time, administration leaders plan to combine the two conference reports and settle the question of final approval with a single vote.

Protest Planned

Before that is done, however, another attempt to send the bill back to conference as a protest against the new compromise flexible schedule probably will be made. If it succeeds, the final vote in the senate it may be delayed several days longer.

When the question of agreeing to another conference was brought up in the house, Democratic Leader Gagner moved to instruct the conferees of that body to insist upon shoes, hides and leather going on the free list. This motion was defeated 181 to 140, with 30 Republicans supporting it.

Thousands of Nails Sucked From Texas Road by Magnetic Sweeper

Special to The Record News

CANYON, Texas, June 5.—Approximately 1,550 pounds of nails, tacks and various kinds of metal was picked up from the highway between Amarillo and Hereford, through Canyon, a distance of 50 miles, last week. A magnetic nail picker was run over the highway by T. W. Ziegler, county supervisor of state highways, who expressed himself as being highly pleased with the amount of metal picked up on the one trip. The machine returned through Canyon Thursday, covering the other side of the highway.

Mr. Ziegler stated that very little iron was picked up between Amarillo and Canyon on the pavement. Most of the 1,550 pounds was picked up between Canyon and Hereford.

The nail picker was made in the state highway department shops in Amarillo. It is a large magnet, which has power sufficient to lift a nail buried three inches in the dust. The machine moves along the outside of the highway, where most of the metal is to be found, and covers a width of nine feet on each trip. Mr. Ziegler states that tire troubles have been greatly lessened on all of the highways over which the picker has gone.

WRIT TELLS OF LIQUOR IN ROOM

Affidavit Describes Creager Hotel Suite

She appeared to be unconscious. I saw four bottles of milk in the room in which she lay. In a glass I found a mixture of milk and liquor. We pumped out her stomach. While we were in the room working on Mrs. Works, a man walked into the room. He said: 'More doctors and less publicity.' I then went after a policeman downstairs.

Bottle Found

"I told a policeman someone had taken lysol, and he said he had found a lysol bottle and a glass on Akard street. They had been thrown from a window of the hotel after Mrs. Works took the lysol. When I returned alone a few minutes later, I went into the next room to 1507, which was connected by an open door. The room was one of three in Mr. Creager's suite. I saw two full pints of white liquor on a desk. I saw part of one pint on a dresser. Several glasses and two ginger ale bottles were on the dresser. Two women and three men were in the room. They were sitting down. Then they all walked into the room where the surgeon was working on Mrs. Works."

CREAGER'S NAME ON DEMO TICKET

DALLAS, June 5. (AP)—R. B. Creager of Brownsville, Republican national committeeman for Texas, tonight was an "official" Democratic candidate for governor, pending receipt of a request from him that his name be omitted when the state Democratic executive committee draws up the ticket at Austin Monday.

The application for a place on the ballot for Creager was received today by Albert Sidney Johnson, secretary of the committee. It had been forwarded by D. W. Wilcox of Georgetown, chairman of the committee, and had been mailed at Dallas Monday. Thirty persons signed the application, the name of H. C. Williams of Dallas heading the list.

Creager thus was given the same official status as Gov. Dan Moody, Lynch Davidson of Houston, and Senator Pink L. Parrish of Lubbock, whose friends drafted them for the race and who have not announced their intentions.

Planes Direct Fire Fighting

Hundreds Battle Forest Conflagration

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., June 5. (AP)—Preceded by three scouting planes to direct their movements, a small army of fire fighters was dispatched into the forests northwest of here today to subdue the flames which have ravaged the country for a week.

Taking advantage of the respite offered by scattered rains and drying winds, the forestry department planned to seek out and extinguish the fires burning in remote sections before they again assume menacing proportions.

Flames which had burned their way to the outskirts of this town and had for several days threatened the destruction of Sioux Lookout have been extinguished.

More than 25 families of homesteaders have been made homeless by the fires with the loss of their farm buildings and live stock. At Pass lake eight families were burned out. A group of 35 was housed in a community hall at Ignace.

Albert Trebaine, a lumberjack, is in a hospital suffering from burns, incurred when he with a gang of 75 were driven from their camp in Jaqueh township west of here and forced to take refuge in a stream.

Settlers at Forget, a small hamlet in northwestern Ontario, were forced to flee when flames destroyed their village. They took refuge in a nearby town.

G. R. Hicks, Ontario air force pilot, returning from Sioux Lookout said that 14-year-old boys worked day and night shoulder to shoulder with the men of the community in the battle to subdue the flames.

Birmingham, Ala., Area Has Big Census Gain

WASHINGTON, June 5. (US)—An indication of the industrial expansion that has been taking place in the South during the last decade was seen today in 1930 population figures announced by the census bureau for Jefferson county, Alabama.

This county, of which Birmingham is the principal city, is the center of the South's iron and steel industry. Its growth during the 10 years was 38.46 per cent. It increased 119,247 from a 1920 population of 310,054 to a 1930 total of 429,301.

1,500 ATTEND FIRST VODVIL

Summer Programs Opened By Park Department

The popularity of the free vaudeville programs given here each summer by the city park department was demonstrated Thursday night when 1,500 persons turned out in spite of threatening clouds to witness the first of this summer's programs at the auditorium grounds. The feature of the vaudeville was the Sewanee River minstrels, presented by George H. Hodgins and Milton Gaines, KGKO artists, and the introduction of the new public address system of loud speakers, making the entire program audible to persons in all parts of the audience.

Music for the program was provided by the Playground band, directed by Paul Seeds, which won first prize in the contest held at the recent West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention in Abilene. In addition to the numbers given by the minstrel artists, the Holland Fiddle band presented several numbers and George Taylor entertained with comedy songs. The vaudeville was under the supervision of C. C. Bunneenberg, city park superintendent.

Edwards to Teach Grant Street Class

A. F. Edwards was introduced as the new teacher of the Men's Bible class of the Grant Street Methodist church at the monthly banquet of the organization held at the church Thursday evening. Mike Anglin presented his resignation as teacher of the class at that time. Approximately 150 persons attended.

Judge P. A. Martin acted as toastmaster and Dr. C. A. Spragins gave the invocation. Addresses were given by L. V. Abernathy, Roy J. Daniel and Doctor Spragins. Music for the program was provided by a string trio composed of Tom McGinty, Bill Potts and Tom Potts. Dr. Austin F. Leach brought the greetings of the Men's class of the Floral Heights Methodist church. The banquet was served by members of the Women's Missionary society of the church.

'Grads' Flood Job Markets

Colleges Toss 437,500 Into Business World

NEW YORK, June 5. (UP)—This is the time of year when Robert Ulysses Cadwallader, '30, accepts the A. B. degree that theoretically has ben his goal for four academic years, and steps forward into what valedictorians are wont to call "the great adventure of business."

Robert, leaving the ivy strung walls of Siwash behind him, wants to know whether he can get a job. The gaisty of commencement is marred unless one knows when and how he's going to commence. By the end of this month there will be approximately 100,000 Roberts looking for work.

In addition, according to figures given the United Press today by the Association of American Colleges, there will be 25,000 graduates of professional schools, 12,500 graduates of graduate schools and an army of some 300,000 students who, by faculty request, or their own desires or circumstances, will not return to school next September.

Thus into an economic society where already unemployment is such as to awaken considerable anxiety there soon will be thrown some 437,500 young men and women hitherto dependent or at best only limited wage earners. Small wonder the youths and their parents are eager to learn whether there are any "openings."

Directors of the employment bureaus of three large eastern universities were interviewed today and their views varied widely.

A. B. Caldwell of Yale, for instance, said he had been surprised to note the number of positions offered Yale men this year was fully equal to that of any previous year.

Nicholas McKnight of Columbia university, on the other hand, has found that the placements this year were approximately one-third less than in 1929. This percentage applies not only to holders of baccalaureate degrees but also to school of journalism graduates. As for law students they are facing an even worse market for their services a drop of 75 per cent being noted.

Lawrence Zimmer of New York university, announced his bureau had made more placements than last year but he was inclined to think the quality of jobs inferior. He as yet has no figures on the general employment situation, he said.

DICKSON HEADS CREDIT GROUP

Grantors Association Names New Officers

A. T. Dickson, credit manager for the W. B. McClurkan company, was elected president of the Wichita Falls Retail Credit Grantors association at the annual election of the organization held Thursday evening at the Kemp hotel.

Other officers elected were Floyd Randel of the Fox Chevrolet company, vice president; Mrs. Atchie Huffines, secretary of the Retail Merchants association, re-elected secretary and treasurer; E. L. Buelow of the Municipal Gas company, chairman of the board; and Jack Jeffus of the City National bank, director to complete the board of five members.

Mr. Buelow, as retiring president of the association, was presented with a fishing outfit as a token of the appreciation of the membership for his work.

Reports of committees for the past year were made by the following chairmen: G. W. Sosebee, legislative; Alvah Conner, complaints, investigations and prosecutions; M. J. Goldstucker, mercantile agency, service and trade reporting; T. E. Durrett, auditing; Miss Frances Brooks, reporting on membership, entertainment and reception in the absence of Chairman W. H. Bailey; Mrs. Atchie Huffines, reporting on the executive committee in the absence of Chairman R. J. Fletchner; and D. C. Littlepage, publicity. Reappointments to committees will be made by the new president at the meeting next week, it was said.

Mr. Littlepage, in reporting on the publicity committee, extended the appreciation of the association for the assistance of newspapers in the Wichita Falls territory, especially to those at Lubbock and the Wichita Falls Record News and Daily Times.

Do you like ORANGE-PEKOE TEA?

If you do it is important that you know these facts.

★ This Map of India appears on the labels of tea packets containing the world-famed India Tea.

ORANGE-PEKOE is not a kind nor a flavor of tea. It is a trade name given to a size of leaf resulting from the sifting process which tea leaves undergo during manufacture.

Orange-Pekoes are as various as thumbprints. Quality depends on whether the leaves were grown, picked and manufactured under favorable conditions and what country they came from.

Therefore, when you buy Orange-Pekoe tea, it is important that you know you are getting India Orange-Pekoe. Ask your grocer for India Orange-Pekoe. And to be doubly sure you are getting genuine India Tea, look for the Map of India trade mark (shown above) on the package of tea you buy.

The brands of tea listed below contain India Tea. And they cost you no more than the price you pay for ordinary tea.

Further Study of Mental Conflicts

There are people who refuse to accept a word of reality, and who live as children in a world of their own imagination. These people are not well adapted for the struggle of the commercial world. There are some people who find it difficult to accept authority of any kind, either of their parents, or of the law, or of social conventions, and when the authority becomes severe, these people many actually openly rebel against it, or they may be crushed by the authority and become pessimistic and morose.

Psychoanalysis originally laid great emphasis on the sexual instinct as being the primary driving force for most of our actions, but the tendency now is to include many other primary motives, such as the ego instinct and hunger.

People sometimes find themselves divided between conflicting emotions, as when desire to accomplish a duty comes in conflict with the fear of injuring a loved person. Usually the weak or sentimental quality is hidden behind a hard exterior. This form of conflict prevents a satisfactory action.

It frequently happens that when two emotions come in contact and conflict with each other, one of them is repressed and hidden in the subconscious mind. One may only feel the love or hatred and be unaware of the repressed or opposite emotion, ideas, feelings and wishes. From this we obtain the clue of a person often saying one thing while actually doing the exact opposite. Because of this repression, there may be an exaggerated development in the opposite direction of the repression. For example, a judge in endeavoring to be stern, and is repressing his tendencies toward sentimentalism and leniency, may actually become oversever and seem cruel in some of the penalties which he inflicts. A cynical person may be a sentimentalist at heart; or a person while repressing a feeling of inferiority may develop conceit and aggressiveness; or, a person, by repressing his sensuality, may actually become prudish and censoring of other's actions. One should endeavor to guard oneself against this over-accentuation of the emotions. Whenever one feels an unduly strong like or dislike, one should endeavor to discover whether or not this is simply an effort to compensate for something repressed within themselves. Frequently, people blame others most for weaknesses which they, themselves, feel. Gossipy people almost always condemn in others what they, themselves, would like to do but fear to try.

Repressed tendencies usually have a way of finding an escape in some eccentricity, slip of the tongue, forgetfulness, or nervousness. One can avoid repression and its many undesirable consequences by trying to accept facts in their true light, and making the best of one's own abilities.

Society offers us many outlets for our emotions, and it is up to us to sublimate them to our best advantage. For example, if one desires to fight, one can use the same desire by engaging in a political contest or game. One can sublimate any of the powerful emotions in the manner which will be beneficial rather than harmful, and when one learns to do this he will be happier and healthier mentally.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Mercury and Teeth

Question: Mr. N. D. A. writes—"I have been troubled lately with pains in my shoulders and arms. They bother me more at night and prevent me from sleeping. They have a sore feeling, and sometimes the joints in my hands hurt also. Have been told that my trouble is caused by the mercury in the fillings of my teeth. Do you think I should have my present fillings replaced with gold?"

Answer: I do not believe that the small amount of mercury used in silver fillings could affect your health as you state. Of course, if there is an infection in the roots of the filled teeth this should have attention. I would advise you to have an examination made and if you will send me a copy of your doctor's report I will be pleased to give you advice concerning the treatment.

Meat

Question: J. G. asks—"Do you believe in the theory of excluding meat, fish and eggs from the dietary, owing to the highly putrefying nature of these foods in the intestines, thereby letting into the system various parasites, bacteria and poisons, with deleterious effects upon the human body, as being a sane and sound view of biological diet?"

Answer: I believe that most people should use some meat, fish or eggs at least once a day. Such foods should always be used in proper combination with other foods so they will be thoroughly digested. If the bowels then move three times daily there will be no danger of putrefaction or of harmful bacteria developing. All foods of high caloric value are liable to cause trouble if they are not digested, but allowed to remain too long in the intestines.

Officials Check Flier's Altitude

WASHINGTON, June 5. (INS)—Lieut. Apollo Soucek, the navy's record holder for altitude in a seaplane, probably will know by tomorrow whether he has regained from Willi Nuenhofen, of Germany, the land plane crown.

His altimeter reading 42,000 feet after two hours and 10 minutes in the air yesterday afternoon, Soucek must have attained a barograph reading of 42,122 feet to be credited with breaking Nuenhofen's record of 41,794 feet made at Dessau, Germany, in a Junkers monoplane May 25, 1929. Under the rules of the Federation Aronautique Internationale, in order to break an existing record, an altitude 100 meters (328 feet), higher than the record, must have been attained.

Soucek's barograph is being checked today at the bureau of standards, and a report is expected tomorrow.

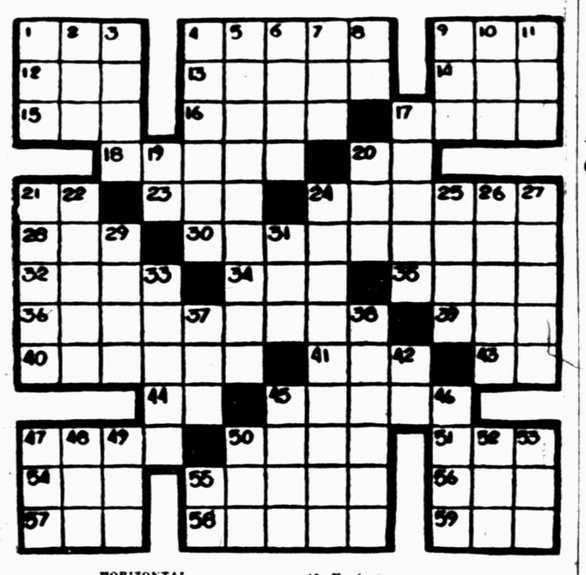

Electra C.-C. Supplies Grasshopper Poison

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, June 5.—The Electra Chamber of Commerce has several hundred pounds of white arsenic, suitable to kill grasshoppers that are beginning to appear in this territory, that will be given free to those who call for it. County Agent G. C. McGown gives the following formula to kill the pests: 25 pounds of coarse bran, one quart of molasses, one pound white arsenic, one ounce amyl acetate or six oranges or lemons ground fine.

Mix two gallons of water and one quart of molasses together. Mix white arsenic and bran together thoroughly, dry. Pour the sweetened water over the bran and arsenic and add the amyl acetate. Sew it broadcast around the field eight to ten feet from the ends and sides, either late at night or before sun up in the morning.

Sam Love Turns Explorer On Strange Quest

By PAUL W. WHITE

NEW YORK, June 5. (UP)—Sam Love, slight, prematurely gray and an incorrigible romanticist who somehow never sees things as they are commonly seen, announced today that he had turned explorer.

A varied newspaper career behind him, which included several years as a well known staff correspondent of the United Press, Love and his wife, Virginia, will pilot a 27-foot cruiser up the shallow and little known Guayas river in Ecuador. He chose Ecuador, he said, because there are no tourists.

Rare Reptile Sought

But his choice of scenery, he added later shortly after the christening ceremonies for his small boat had ended, was in reality occasioned by quite a different factor. It has to do with a snake, a particularly rare snake, so rare indeed that it may not exist at all.

The particular habitat of this reptile, if any, is in the Adean foothills bordering the Guaya. You won't, by the way, find that river on any ordinary map. It is the Guayas, all right, just outside of the city of Guayaquil but before it comes to an indeterminate conclusion some 300 miles northward it has a dozen different aliases. No pleasure boat has ever before attempted to navigate it.

Wants Book Title

But this is getting away from the snake which after all is the object of the expedition. It has no name, but it is nevertheless vicious, the legend is, in fact, that one bite means instant death. A number of other explorers have brought back tales of the reptile but no tails. The distinction is tremendously important.

Sam and Virginia Love intend to seek out this slinking species and kill it. The object is to supply a title for the book that Sam already has signed to write upon his return. Bearing the carcass of his victim the author will be able to name his volume, "Ex-Snake." That, he believes, will bring an end to all of the "ex" books and make worth while the three-month journey into aboriginal country.

Noted Writer

The "byline" of Sam Love was long familiar to readers of newspapers served by the United Press. Among the stories he covered were the "Daddy" Browning trial, the Snyder-Gray trial and electrocution, and the revolution in Haiti last year. At the time of the revolution he was well launched on an air tour of Central and South America and his itinerary landed him in Port au Prince in time for the hostilities.

Love is 34 years old. His newspaper experience included work on the Boston Post, the Huntington, W. Va., Herald Dispatch, the Huntington Advertiser, the Charleston, Va., Gazette, the Chris Huntington Advertiser, the Charleston, W. Va., Gazette, the Christian Science Monitor and the Chicago Daily Journal.

Amendment Added To Veterans Relief Bill

WASHINGTON, June 5. (INS)—The Rankin amendment, extending until Jan. 1, 1930 the period in which ailments of "world war veterans may be presumed to be of service origin," was added to the pending veterans relief bill today by the senate finance committee. The bill would provide $73,000,000 a year in compensation for world war veterans.

DIET FOR SUMMER SHOULD INCLUDE COOL BEVERAGES

A Sparkling, Sweet-flavored Drink Is Enjoyable and Invigorating

Summer-time thirst can be sensibly satisfied at the soda fountain or at home. The carbonated and bottled beverages which can be so readily obtained are made in accordance with the most rigid rules.

A cool, flavored milk drink is often recommended by doctors for city workers on their way home. The nourishment restores energy and when the evening meal is eaten later, it is calmly enjoyed instead of being bolted to satisfy nervous hunger.

Many delicious beverages can be made at home such as iced tea, coffee, milk shakes, lemonade and fruit punches. Sweetened to taste, they "hit the spot" on a hot day.

For those who feel that their summer meals should be light, sugar is of value in making such meals satisfying. A generous salad of fresh vegetables, raw or cooked, gives one a comfortable, "well-filled" feeling if a dash of sugar has been included in the salad dressing. Likewise, many vegetables can be improved in flavor when seasoned during their cooking with a dash of sugar to a pinch of salt. And ready-to-eat cereals are more taste-appealing if sprinkled with sugar. Most foods are more delicious with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

Pupils Make Own Music Instruments

Orchestra Cut From Boxes and Bowls

HOUSTON, June 5. (AP)—Using the most humble of instruments, two sets of which they made of cheese boxes or mixing bowls and strips of wood, 400 school children here in grades from the first to fifth have formed a big orchestral ensemble producing music of a weird but pleasing sort.

The more accomplished in the group—those capable of handling such compexties as glass tumblers and small, simple harps, spent less than a dollar for their equipment and the rank and file spent nothing at all. They are being trained in creative music under the direction of Miss Mildred Sage, assistant supervisor of music for city schools, and the fashioning of their instruments was part of the course.

There are drums, flageolettes ocarinos, marimbas, psalteries and water glasses. The drums, made by first and second graders are old cheese boxes, candy buckets or mixing bowls stretched with drum heads furnished by a local music house from worn out drums. The flageolettes (tin whistles), ocarinos (which look like sweet potatoes), psalteries (small harps) and tumblers, of course, were purchased at 5 and 10 cent stores.

The making of the marimba, an all-wood instrument resembling a xylophone, was the most difficult operation the young musicians faced. First the base had to be cut and then the keys prepared. These were cut from long strips of wood and each child had to make his decisions as to how long to cut a given strip to make it productive of a given note.

When he wanted a lower note, he sliced more from the strip and he shaved it down for a higher one.

But the hardest job of all was finding the notal points—that is the points on each strip where holes should be made for holding the keys fast. This was accomplished by sprinkling sawdust on keys, tapping them lightly and boring the holes where the sawdust finally deposited itself.

Two schools—Harvard and Southmore—have bands and combined they are capable of producing great volume. Numbers are substituted for notes and home made Indian rattlers sometimes are brought into play. When they are, simple Indian folk songs are played and work in that connection is correlated. The rattler consists of a stick, a bag tied on end and filled with navy beans from the grocery.

Experts have found the ensemble renders melodies in a pleasing though highly unorthodox fashion.

Miss Sage, gratified at the progress her pupils have made said she intended to have them write their own tunes next year.

TEXAS TO GIVE 700 DEGREES

Graduates Get Sheepskins Monday, June 9

AUSTIN, June 5. (AP)—Nearly 700 students will receive degrees at the 47th commencement and graduation exercises of the University of Texas June 8 and 9.

The Rev. Francis P. Lyons of St. Mary's Chapel of Chicago will deliver the baccalaureate sermon Sunday morning.

The invocation will be by Rev. Harris Masterson, Jr., rector of All Saint's chapel of Austin, with Scripture reading by Rev. William F. Blakeslee of St. Austin's chapel. The services will be in charge of Rev. S. E. Frost, Jr., of the First Congregational church of Austin. A special musical program is being arranged by E. C. H. Bantel, chairman of the commencement committee.

The exercises Monday will be preceded by a procession of university officials, guests, members of the faculties of the various colleges and the candidates for degrees. The invocation will be by Rev. Samuel L. Joekel of the Austin Presbyterian Theological seminary. Degrees will be conferred by Dr. H. Y. Benedict, president of the university, and the benediction will be given by Rev. Ernest C. Webb of the Westley Bible chair.

All candidates, with the exception of those from the College of Law, will wear caps and gowns. The law graduates will wear light colored suits with yellow sunflowers in the lapel.

French Economists Rap U. S. Tariff Provisions

PARIS, June 5. (UP)—The national association of economic expansion added its protest to those of other European groups against the proposed American tariff increases in a letter to Minister of Commerce Pierre-Etinne Flandin today.

"If America continues this stubborn attitude of closing its doors and developing its export, can it be astonished if France, with other nations, resign themselves to the necessary protective measures?" the letter said.

A Story of Wichita Falls By GORDON TURNER

ton, her employer, save as a provider of bread and butter, but she did not refuse the cake if he offered it. She accepted his attentions with her fingers crossed, not only as a policy of insurance on her employment, but also because their occasional out-of-office-hours companionship usually meant contact with Andy.

She soon discovered that Andy moved in two widely differing circles, the rather questionable one with which she and Menton were identified—a fast wild-living set in which no hard and fast social lines were drawn—and the more conventional group composed of Andy's relatives and their friends. She was intensely jealous of this better group and resented Andy's very apparent desire to exclude her from it. But she bided her time; if she could win him to marriage, that obstacle would be surmounted; if she failed . . . oh, well, the ocean was full of other fish!

The Rivertons lived in a second-floor flat above a storeroom on a Wichita Falls side street.

The dinner dishes had been cleared away and Mercy was in her tiny bedroom when the clamorous honking of an automobile horn resounded in the street.

"Oh, suffering saints!" she cried, I'll bet that's Andy, and I'm only half dressed." She opened the door and called out, "Tom, Andy's outside. Go down and tell him to wait a minute, but don't invite him up here to this sloppy flat."

"Aw, go tell him yourself," came the answer. "I ain't your messenger boy and anyway that sheik gives gives me a pain."

"Tom, you ought to be ashamed of yourself," sharply reprimanded his mother. "You go right down and tell Mr. Masters Mercy will not keep him waiting long and don't forget to be polite to him, either! You ought to be proud your sister's got such a nice young man."

"Nice young man, huh!" Tom said contemptuously, but he lumbered down the narrow stairway to do her bidding. When he returned a few moments later, he went directly to Mercy's room.

"Say sis, you don't want to go out with that hunka cheese," he called thru the half-open door, "that ginny's all lit up."

"He's not! You say that because you don't like him and to get pa down on him. You just keep out of my affairs!"

"Aw, I know him," Tom retorted, "and I know when a man's drunk. I know more than that, too," he continued loudly. "I know he's nothing but a piegirl chaser. I don't work 'round the garage where he keeps his car with my eyes shut. You ain't the only chicken on his string."

"Tom! Tom!" his mother admonished, coming into the hall and clutching his arm. "He'll hear you; the window's open!"

"Who cares?" he demanded. "Just 'cause he's lousy with money you all fall for him." He swung his arm belligerently. "It's time somebody put a crimp in his game and I'm the kiddo to do it. I'll hang a black curtain on both his eyes!"

He started toward the stairway as Mercy, her eyes blazing, burst from her room and hurled herself upon him.

"You—you—you!" She gasped, beating at his burly chest with her clenched hands. "What do you know about men like Andy Masters? You don't know a gentleman when you see one.

"If he's a gentleman I'm the Prince of Wales," Tom replied. He seized Mercy by the wrists and pushed her away. She backed against the wall, her whole body rigid and tense.

"Here, here, what's this?" inquired Jerry Riverton in an accent of authority, pushing his way into the little hallway.

"Mercy's going out with a drunk," Tom volunteered.

"I'm not! Don't you listen to him!" Mercy cried. "Oh, you're all down on me. None of you want me to have a good time! I won't stand it. I wont live with you! I'm of age and my own boss; you can't tell me what I can do. I'm going to move out of here tomorrow."

Another series of strident honks came from the auto. Mercy dashed down the steps and slammed the door to the street.

Where Trees Wear The Clothes And Nobody Is Poor

HONOLULU, June 5. (US) — A land of over-dressed trees and half-dressed women; where poverty is unknown and riches are a jest.

Such is the picture painted of American Samoa by Dr. Margaret Meagi of Honolulu, who reached here today from an extended vacation in the fascinating South sea island group.

"Samoa is one place in the world where there is no poverty," enthused Dr. Mead.

"Those too old to work are provided for by community funds, as are the blind and sick. No one goes neglected. It is a land of perpetual summer, with the trees wearing most of the clothes.

"The Samoans literally sing and dance their way through life."

American Samoa consists of six small islands of which Tutuila is the largest. It is 24 miles long and 6 miles wide. On this island is located Pago Pago (pronounced Pango Pango), the principal seaport, so remote from civilization that it is reached by only one steamship company, the Matson line plying between San Francisco and Sydney.

WACO CUBS HERE TODAY; RAIN CANCELS LAST WITH SHIPPERS

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED D. THOMPSON

Well, the Exporters may feel lucky or unlucky about the cancelation of yesterday's game on account of rain, but personally we believe they should feel lucky. For to all appearances the Spudders before the rain Thursday afternoon were well primed to give Mr. R. L. Stewart, president of the Beaumont club, and Jack Zeller, behind-the-scenes operatives of the club, the resounding farewell we hoped the Spudders would give them. A farewell, in fact, in the form of another sound drubbing of the shipyard loiterers. The sort of farewell we spoke of the other day when we mentioned the glorious reception we gave the Beaumonters their first day here. Since we welcomed them to our city with a crushing defeat, it would have been in keeping with the tradition to maul 'em as a farewell gift, and we sincerely believe, as we have said, that the Spudders were primed to administer that defeat.

Because the exporters somehow dropped a notch in our eyes when they succumbed in Wednesday's double-header. In the first game, the Shippers did play good baseball, but they showed up mighty poor in the second. Recalling the story of how George Stallings ordered Mallett to burn his uniform, as told in this column Thursday morning, we think it would be quite appropriate for for him to do so again. For he pitched wild baseball in that second game Wednesday.

A little less than a week before the world heavyweight championship bout between Jack Sharkey and Herr Max Schmeling of Germany finds thousands interested in the outcome, but the atmosphere is not any too hot. There is none of the panicky feeling manifest that once marked a coming battle in which the Manassa Man Mauler figured. The reason being that the majority hasn't much respect for Sharkey as a fighter, and about as much for Schmeling. Take the world title element out of that fight and it would amount to little more than a new Packard for the promoter and a six months meal ticket for the principals. But since the two scrappers are to heave and hit for the honor of being called champion of the world, the arena will be surrounded by thousands who will have paid a boat load of shekels to see the bout.

And of course, we in America think that Sharkey will win the fight. It would hurt our pride to have the title carried to a foreign land. But the probability is that if Schmeling wins the title, it will have a good and not a bad effect on America so far as boxers are concerned. This country, not having produced an up and coming fighter since Dempsey was in his prime, the transfer of the title to a foreign country might stimulate our big-fisted boys to do a little better fighting in an attempt to bring it back. Certain it is that if the title does leave America next Thursday night, it will take a brawny boy to get it back to these shores. Having won such a prize, the Germans would be loathe to part with it. And in America's efforts to produce that brawny boy, the public would be treated to some better boxing matches than they have seen in the last few years.

Del Pratt's humble Cubs are in town today for a three-game series, minus the pitching arm of Hank Thormahlen, who with Thurman constituted the backbone of the Waco pitching staff. But even if the Cubs are decidedly weakened by the loss of Thormahlen to the Fort Worth Cats, it would be folly to assume the three-game series here will be a snap for the Spudders. This we have learned from bitter experience. Remember when the Cubs were here last time, how they trimmed the socks off the Williamsmen in the series opener? These second division clubs have a way of taking the foremost clubs by surprise. Look at Houston's terrible weakness before the charge of the cellar-ridden Steers!

Well, mates, with the Spudders driving more and more into the lead in the Texas league race it's beginning to look like we'll have to defeat New Orleans for the Dixie series title.

Tarantulas shed their skin once a year and, should they lose a limb at any time, the following year, when the molt takes place, a new leg will appear.

TWO GAMES BILLED SUNDAY

Tickets for Bargain Day Now on Sale

Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock the skies were beaming smiles, but an hour later they were drenching the meadows, the rain being good for the crops, doubtless, but it rusted the turnstiles down at Athletic park so far as the final game of the Spudders with the Beaumont Exporters was concerned.

So the Spudders took a day of rest, awaiting the opening of the series with the Waco Cubs here Friday. Four games are scheduled with the lowly pack, a double-header having been arranged for Sunday to dispose of an encounter postponed from the last series. Tickets for the Sunday bargain bill are now on sale at Renfro's drug store, club officials announced.

The rain Thursday permitted the Shippers to leave town holding the sack all too firmly, having dropped all three contests in the wake of blistering hitting attacks.

Cope Stars as Dealers Defeat P. B. M., 7 to 4

Jelly Cope, Furniture Dealer outfielder, covered himself with glory Thursday afternoon by driving in four of his team's runs in their 7 to 4 victory over the P. B. M. nine of the Merchants league on Wilson field. In the second inning Cope found two mates on the paths and slapped a single to right scoring both. Again in the fourth he repeated the trick with a crashing blow to left. Babe Horsley, Furniture Dealer second sacker, poled his fourth home run of the season in the first inning with Riddling on the bases. Score.

Two Players Added in Steers' 'Daily Deal'

DALLAS, June 5. (AP)—Signing of two new players was announced today by Bob Tarleton, business manager of the Dallas baseball club.

Frank Tobin, catcher, formerly with the Shreveport club, was hired as a free agent, with the expectation that he would replace the veteran Claude Robertson. Al Williamson, right-handed pitcher formerly with Shreveport, farmed out to the Sports' Alexandria farm in the Cotton States league, was the other acquisition.

Joe Huarte Drives in Two Runs

SHREVEPORT, June 5. (AP)—Joe Huarte, subbing for Cecil Stewart at second base, brought sufficient power into play to give the Sports a 5 to 4 win over the San Antonio Indians. He singled in the ninth after two were out to score McClanahan who had doubled. He also drove in a run in the third. Score:

Von Elm Reaches Finals in Tourney

VERSAILLES, France, June 5. (INS)—George Von Elm, one of the crack members of the American Walker cup team, today entered the finals of the French amateur golf championship by defeating Andre Gobert on the 19th hole of a bitterly-contested match.

Three down at the 14th, the American player staged a magnificent rally and won three out of the next four holes, squaring the match at the 18th. A birdie three at the extra hole to Gobert's par four gave Von Elm his victory.

18,000 Watch Primo Carnera Kayo Akron Heavyweight in Fourth Round

DETROIT, June 5. (AP)—Before 18,000 fans who paid $75,000 for the privilege of watching him perform, Primo Carnera, giant Italian, knocked out Meyer (KO) Christner of Akron, Ohio, in the fourth round of their 10-round bout here tonight.

The fourth round had gone one minute and 20 seconds when Carnera landed a terrific left hook to the point of the jaw and Christner went down and out. Carnera worked up to the grand finale most systematically after losing the first round by a wide margin on points.

He made plenty of play for that bad left eye of Christner's and at the close of the third round had it swelling. He sank in a brace of left jabs to start the fourth round and blood flowed so that Christner could barely see. The finishing touch was then merely a matter of course.

Christner put up a game struggle all the way but the odds were against him in most every way. Carnera entered the ring at 265 pounds and Christner at 201. The Italian made exceptionally good use of his extra inches of reach, time and again holding Christner off at arms length with one hand while he peppered him with the other.

In putting Christner down for the long count Carnera accomplished something that outstanding heavyweights of the country have tried and failed to do. It was the first knockout of the Akronite's career. When he fell to the mat it was with a heavy thud and he lay there well after the final count of Referee Slim McClelland.

IOWAN FAVORED IN TULSA MEET

Three Women Enter Finals In Golf Tourney

TULSA, Okla., June 5. (AP)—The trophy representing the 1930 championship of the Women's Trans-Mississippi Golf association will rest either in Iowa, Arkansas or Oklahoma.

As the annual tournament for the women players west "of old man river" reached the semi-final stage at the Tulsa Country club, the prevailing odds, conservatively speaking, were about 3 to 1 that the cup would grace the Sioux City, Iowa, Country club house, home of Mrs. Dorothy Klotz Pardue.

The next hurdle in the path of the long driving Iowan whose clubs continue to pound out a par tune on the little white sphere is Mrs. Stanley Alexander of Camden, Ark.

If the Iowan defeats Mrs. Alexander, she then would meet an Oklahoma woman, either Mrs. Tom Wallace, Sapulpa, state champion, or Mrs. Hulbert S. Clarke, Oklahoma City.

Mrs. Pardue today gained the semi-final birth in a thrilling match with Mrs. R. E. Drennan of Tulsa, who for four years reigned supreme among Oklahoma's feminine stars. The score was 3 and 1. Mrs. Alexander won the right to compete against the nationally known Iowa golfer by a 1 up victory over Mrs. R. J. Kohn of St. Louis, in a match that was not decided until the 19th green.

Mrs. Clarke advanced to the semi-final round by defeating Miss Virginia Pepp of St. Louis.

The Sooner state titlist won from George Hipple, Hutchison, Kan., 3 up and 1 to play. Mrs. Wallace, a newcomer to regional championship glof, won from a woman who has held the Sunflower state trophy for the past four years.

Alexander May Return To Nebraska to Pitch

OMAHA, Neb., June 5. (UP)—Grover Cleveland Alexander, the country boy who left Nebraska to establish an all-time record as a big league baseball pitcher, may close his baseball career playing for a Nebraska team.

Barney Burch, owner of the Omaha Western league club, announced today he was attempting to sign the veteran pitcher who yesterday was released from the Phillies. Burch is optimistic regarding chances of getting Alexander's signature.

Hemsley's Out at Plate in Ninth Starts Row

BROOKLYN, June 5. (AP)—Glenn Wright, star Brooklyn shortstop, returned to action today to take the key position in a fast double play that ended the final game of the series with the Pittsburgh Pirates in a 6 to 5 victory for Brooklyn and in a scuffle at the home plate as the Pirates protested the umpire's decision on the play.

Brooklyn went into the ninth with a one-run lead but the Pirates put two men on base. After one man had been retired, Paul Waner grounded to Flowers, whose throw to Wright forced Mosolf at second. Hemsley tried to score from second on the out and Wright caught him at the plate.

Hemsley dashed at Umpire Ted McGraw and jostled him about while Manager Jewel Ens and Coach Max Carey joined in the protest, which lasted until a special policeman came on the field and escorted the umpires to their dressing rooms.

The play came as the climax of an exciting game in which the Pirates staged a futile uphill battle. The Robins drove Jess Petty from the mound in the fifth inning to score four runs that gave them the victory. Score:

'Shower of Gold' Expected From Forthcoming British Sport Events

LONDON, June 5. (US)—A veritable shower of gold which is expected to total more than $65,000,000, is counted upon by England as a result of various social and sporting amusements in June and July. The season is expected to be one of the most brilliant on record.

Apart from increased expenditures by tourists and home folks on amusements in the West end—theaters, movies, dances and restaurants—a tremendous amount of money will be spent at sporting events, including racing, boating, tennis, golf, and the royal air force pageant.

The Epsom Derby this Wednesday, the Oaks and the Ascot meeting will attract more than 250,000 spectators, and the fees from the turnstiles at these meetings will amount to more than $400,000. Catering will bring in another half million dollars at these events, it being estimated that the royal enclosure ad paddock at Ascot alone will gather from $50,000 to $75,000 for food and wine.

The tennis championships at Wimbledon annually draw more than 200,000 people with admission fees amounting to that many dollars. Cricket at Lords attracts over 300,000 visitors during the season and more than a quarter of a million dollars is netted in entrance fees.

The daily attendance at the Henley regatta exceeds 20,000 and more than $250,000 is spent by spectators in the four days of the famous river races.

The Royal Air Force pageant will take about 150,000 out to Hendon in July and more than $100,000 will be spent for refreshments in addition to $65,000 for fares, and the cost of seats at the spectacle.

Steamship companies will bring over 200,000 visitors from the United States, the dominions, the colonies and the continent. These visitors will spend more than $5,000,000 in pasasge money alone.

Extra provisions for entertaining all these hosts have been made by the hotels. Accommodations at the height of the season will cost from $50 to $125 a week, with some of the more expensive hotels offering suites with sitting rooms and private bath rooms at as high as $500 a week.

Good Neighbors

MARION, Ohio.—When Benjamin C. Randall, farmer of Big Island township, contracted pneumonia during the middle of the plowing season, he didn't have to worry about his land being plowed. He had good neighbors. Fifteen of them took time off during their busiest season to plow his land for him so he could sow it as soon as he recovered.

Rain in Second Halts Chisox-Yanks Battle

CHICAGO, June 5 (AP)—The game between the White Sox and the New York Yankees today was postponed after only two innings had been played when a shower interrupted play at the start of the third frame and left the field in unplayable condition. Each team had scored a run in the first inning.

ENDICOTT, N. Y., June 5. (AP)—Max Schmeling took his ease today, getting into trouble on the golf links instead of in the ring with his sparring partners, while a small army of war correspondents speculated on the physical condition of the carefree young German.

The boys are worried over the fact that Max has decided to rest for two days at the most critical point in his training for the 15-round heavyweight championship duel with Jack Sharkey in the Yankee stadium next Thursday night and they fear he has gone stale from overwork. In his last workout Wednesday he had trouble subduing his usually wobbly sparring partners.

SHARKEY REDUCES IN BRISK WORKOUT

ORANGEBURG, N. Y., June 5. (AP)—Jack Sharkey had his weight down to 198 pounds after five rounds of boxing in the Tourdoor arena here today. Following his usual routine, Sharkey worked out against his three sparring partners, shortening his punches and perfecting a fast countering style. He rocked his mates frequently with hard straight rights and well timed uppercuts.

The American heavyweight will continue to box until Monday, then taper off with light exercises Tuesday, to conclude his training for the fight at the Yankee stadium June 12.

Cubs Beat Braves to Win Eighth Straight

BOSTON, June 5. (AP)—By winning, 10 to 7, over the Braves today, the Chicago Cubs ran their winning streak to eight straight games and took their third and last game of the series here. The Chicagoans continued their heavy hitting, getting 11 bingles for a total of 22 bases. Score:

Von Porat Suspended For Breaking Agreement

CHICAGO, June 5. (INS)—Otto Von Porat, Norwegian heavyweight was suspended for six months today by the Illinois boxing commission for failing to go through with an alleged agreement to box W. L. "Young" Stribling at the Chicago stadium on June 16.

The commission ruled that although no contract had been signed, Von Porat's manager, Ed Stevenson had legally agreed to the match through letters, telegrams and similar correspondence.

The suspension was the maximum provided by rule 33, which Von Porat was charged with violating. The minimum is 60 days.

Present at the hearing were Stevenson, Nate Lewis, matchmaker at the stadium, and Sidney Strotz, president of the stadium corporation.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK. June 5. (AP)—Further selling on reports of continued favorable weather in the south was absorbed on a comparatively moderate decline in cotton today. New October sold up from 14.18 to 14.42 and closed near the top with the general market closing firm at net advances of 8 to 21 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 4 points to an advance of 1 point. Active months sold about 4 to 8 points net lower right after the call. Offerings seemed readily absorbed and there were rallies later in the morning accompanied by talk of a firmer technical position. The bulge brought in a renewal of liquidation promoted by the detailed weather reports with July selling off to 15.73 while later months eased back to about the early low levels. The offerings were not heavy and the market rallied on renewed covering. Prices for all months made new highs in the late trading with July selling at 15.94 and the new December contract at 14.49 or about 15@21 points net higher on active months. Closing quotations were a few points off from the best on realizing.

Liverpool cables reported liquidation and Bombay selling in Liverpool and continued depression in Manchester.

Exports today 8.498 bales, making 6.509.461 so far this season. Port receipts 7.616. U. S. port stocks 1.731.389.

Market Reacts Sharply to Bank Weakness and Important Selling

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK. June 5. (US)—Persistent pressure against the entire stock market today resulted in the sharpest reaction in several weeks. Considerable selling on the exchange was influenced by sharp declines in various bank shares weakness of which was coupled with rumors of sizeable liquidation by a leading investment-trading corporation. At no time did prices threaten to get out of control, but it was evident that a plentiful supply of stocks were available for sale not all of which could be attributed to professional bears although they contributed materially to the weakness. The volume of trading for the day, over 2,380,00 shares compared with 1,694,000 shares Wednesday, was proof of outside selling. Tired out holders of stocks, influenced by recent inability of the market to accomplish much on the upside, liquidated, thereby swelling the total volume.

The market evidenced absence of active demand except at concessions in price, but investment demand continued in the highest-grade issues, being content to take such stocks on setbacks. The market is witnessing almost daily reversals of the professional element's attitude toward the market with resultant confusing price movements. The public is a small factor in current stock affairs. The $79,000,000 increase in loans probably was being discounted in the day's decline.

At the opening the market had to contend with disappointment over maintenance of the Bank of England rate which followed, after the close, by similar action at the local federal reserve bank. Money, however, is in plentiful supply at prevailing rates and the further drop in bankers' bills makes a reduction in the reserve rate below 3 per cent more than a possibility. This is the lowest rate since the reserve system was established but a still lower rate may be inaugurated before long. It is almost a certainty that open market rates for money will go even lower. Sooner or later this will undoubtedly exert some influence on investment issues, perhaps first inaugurating a revival of the bond market and gradually spreading into stocks.

Leadership was notably lacking in the market. Steel Common, Can, Consolidated Gas all sold off. Union Carbide, a favorite sale of a powerful group of bears, was under persistent pressure but yielded grudingly. This company's business can turn for the better in remarkably short time but its earnings thus far this year may be somewhat disappointing when compared with similar periods last year. Motor stocks yielded only fractionally. General Motors selling off less than a point as people friendly to the stock forecast earnings this quarter larger per share than in the first three months. The Motors, like the Coppers, however, are being influenced by expectation of further dividend reductions. The Copper shares likewise continue under pressure, although people who turned very bearish on the group last year when they were making "whoopee" now see no reason for the extreme bearishness. Certainly, they point out, such stocks cannot suffer any further break comparable with what they already have passed through.

Radio was a particular target of selling, a good deal of which was attributed to a house with international affiliations. The bear crowd have been pounding at Radio ever since it became apparent that the corporation has been withholding its first quarter's report. This statement, the corporation now states, will be issued around the middle of this month. Well informed deople would not be surprised if a deficit were disclosed, since it is well known that the corporation has been endeavoring to work off its large inventories during the first half of 1930. The best buying of Radio is for the long pull by people who visualize tremendous earnings from Television and other similar developments.

Oil stocks failed to hold their slight gains. Standard of New Jersey yielding over a point in the general setback but good buying was reported in this stock. The New Jersey Standard enjoys not only sizeable earnings from the oil business but likewise is developing additional sources of income from allied products. Vanadium declined over four points but the stock was taken by interests who believe that eventually the company will be absorbed by a leading chemical enterprise, in which connection the name of Union Carbide & Carbon is frequently heard. Railroad and Utility stocks were less active than the industrials, but were unable to resist the selling pressure. Stone & Webster was reported taken by well-informed interests.

Grain prices were all higher and cotton was improved. Foreign exchange was featured by strength of sterling and the far easterns, the English money reflecting the easier money tendencies in this country and the Asiatic funds responding to a sharp upturn in silver.

Grain

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH. June 5. (AP)—Fair demand was reported for wheat on the cash grain market here today with the lower prices definitely established and buyers not so nervous. Bidding at the close of the market was on the basis of $1.08@1.10 for ordinary No. 1 hard delivered Texas common points. Corn was in good demand as were sorghums. Oats were slow and barley was not wanted.

Bids and offers on coarse grains ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid: Corn—No. 2 mixed 96@97c; No. 2 white $1.01½@1.02½; No. 2 yellow $1.00½@1.01½.

Oats—No. 2 nominally, 53@54c.

Barley—No. 2 nominally, 61@62c.

Sorghums—No. 2 milo per 100 pounds, $2.12@2.15; No. 2 kaffir $1.90@1.93.

Dealers also quoted as follows, basis delivery Texas group one points: No. 2 mixed corn 94@95c; No. 2 white 99½@1.00½; No. 2 yellow 98½@99½c; No. 3 white oats 51½@52c; to which add 1c for delivery group three.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO. June 5. (AP)—Suggestions that Europe will harvest 25 per cent less wheat this season than usual led to a decided upturn in wheat prices late today. Contributing also to the rise of values were messages saying first threshing returns from Oklahoma were a disappointment and pointed to yields much smaller than expected. Reports that farm board allies are to make new crop wheat loans on a basis of about 75 per cent of market prices were generally construed as bullish.

Closing quotations on wheat were firm at almost the day's top level, and ⅝ to 1¼c higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed ⅛ to 1¼c advanced, oats ⅛ to ¼c up, and provisions showing 2 to 35c gain.

The general trend of prices was steady to firm most of the time from the start. Liverpool quotations were relatively strong except at the finish, and traders here took particular note of an official announcement that Italy now promises to harvest 14,000,000 bushels under last year's total.

Bear speculators at times put stress on statements that Russia is likely to prove a disturbing element and also emphasized that with Russia extensively importing tractors and other farm machinery it is essential that serious crop reduction must occur in other countries to advance and maintain wheat values. On the other hand, comprehensive advices which were circulated near the end of the day predicting heavy curtailment of 1930 European wheat production was much more than a counterbalance. The bullish European crop reports were accompanied by predictions of large demands on United States, Canadian and Argentine shippers to make up the deficit.

Enlarged shipments of corn from Chicago, together with falling off in the volume of receipts here, helped to strengthen the corn market. Oats sympathized with the advances both of wheat and of corn.

Provisions were responsive to firmness of hog values and of the grain markets as well.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO. June 5. (US)—Indications that low prospective yields in Europe will put import buyers in a better frame of mind are becoming more pronounced. There is little doubt that foreign requirements will be larger and the carryover in North America will be smaller. Hence, any possibility of damage on this continent would prove very bullish.

Should further increases in country offerings appear on further price advances in corn a broader trade will be required to sustain the upturns unless shipping demand continues on the greatly enlarged scale of today.

Russian grain shipments for the week were 816,000 bushels of wheat, 453,000 bushels of barley and 153,000 bushels of rye.

The Iowa weekly corp report said all crops in that state were in need of rain. Corn planting there is practically completed but there are indications that considerable replanting must be done because of damage by grubs, wire and cut worms. Wheat is heading in southern counties of the state.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY. June 5. (AP)—(U.S.D.A.)—Trade in fed steers and yearlings was slow again today and values ruled mostly weak to 25c lower. Well finished heavy steers were very scarce and a few that were offered sold about steady with the best on the Chicago market at $13.75 scaling 1400 lbs. Medium to good grades predominated at all markets and met a very dull outlet. Receipts at the eleven markets totaled 24,500, against 24,603 a week ago and 23,936 a year ago.

An active trade prevailed in the hog market. The day's top reached $10.50 at Chicago and $10.20 at Kansas City and St. Joseph. Offerings 83,800 or 8,000 less than last Thursday and 11,000 short of the same day last year.

Fat lambs strong to higher at some of the river markets while at Chicago and St. Louis 25@50c declines were registered. Best native lambs $12.75 at Chicago. Choice Idaho offerings $12.50 at Omaha. Western lambs at the central markets $11.50@12.25. Mature sheep steady to 25c lower. Arrivels 35,725, against 28,213 a week ago and 38,295 a year ago.

DRY GOODS MARKET

NEW YORK. June 5. (AP)—Cotton goods were in a little better demand but bids and prices continue low and unsatisfactory. More business is coming forward on finished goods. New fall gingham prices are unchanged from last season. Silk weakened here and abroad and prices were higher due to strong statistics for May. Silk goods continue moving steadily to cutters. Burlaps were virtually unchanged. Wool goods are being bought in small lots for quick cutting.

PERMIAN WORK TAKES SPURT

19 New Locations Made During Week

SAN ANGELO, Texas, June 5. — New drilling for oil in the West Texas Permian basin registered a further increase last week when nineteen locations were made in ten counties, four more than were staked in eight counties during the preceding week. This swelled the total number for the year to 319.

Pecos county led with seven locations, Crane, Irion and Ward counties gained two each and Ector, Glasscock, Loving, Mitchell, Presidio and Upton counties one each. The list follows:

Crane—Gulf Production company No. 1 University-Lassiter, 330 feet from the south and east lines of section 33, block 30, University land; drilling.

NORTH OF THE GUSHER

Nash & Windfohr No. 3 John Ware located north of the McCloud gusher in the Graham pool of south Young county is drilling at 3720 feet and should hit the top of the 3757 foot sand by Friday morning. This test is of special interest to the operators in the field as tests to the northwest and south after reaching the Nash-Windfohr pay horizon failed to make producers.

SOUTH OF HARMEL POOL

Lee Flowers & Barkley No. 1 P. K. Keats located in section 1591, T. E. & L. survey northwest Young county, and one mile south of the Harmel pool in south Archer county, is running casing to test out a good looking sand topped at 1220 feet.

NORTH OF ORTH

King Royalty company & L. C. Heydrick No. 3 Carpenter located in section 164, T. E. & L. survey, north of Orth in north Young county, has spudded in and is drilling at 600 feet. The same interests' No. 2 Bailey in section 165, T. E. & L. survey, in the same pool, is rigging up and will start drilling the end of the week.

BAYLOR COUNTY TEST

The Consolidated Oil company-Petroleum Producers No. H-1 W. T. Portwood in the northwest corner of southwest quarter of section 1573, T. E. & L. survey, a wildcat test, has re-set pipe after losing the seat on the regular 1370 foot pay.

BAYLOR COUNTY TEST

W. W. Silk & Charles V. Chenault No. A-1 W. H. Portwood located in the southwest corner of the north half of block 3141, T. E. & L. survey in southeast Baylor county, is drilling at 700 feet.

SOUTH OF THE GUSHER

T. B. Slick & Pitzer-West No. 1 Morrison, a south offset to the Nash & Windfohr gusher in the McCloud land, Graham pool south Young county, is drilling at 3760 feet and will place a 1200 quart shot of nitro in an effort to make a producer from this deep formation.

MONTAGUE COUNTY DEEP TEST

American Refining Property-George King No. 1 Roland located in section 2882, T. E. & L. survey, about four miles southwest of the town of Bowie in Montague county, spudded in Thursday. This test, an absolute wildcat, is contracted to drill to a depth of 3500 feet unless oil or gas in paying quantities is encountered at a lesser depth.

Rival to Monte Carlo

DUBLIN.—Ireland is to have a gambling casino which will rival Monte Carlo, it is said. Backed by a group of English financiers, it is to be located at Bray, the seaside resort about 12 miles from here. It is to be pretentious, will have a "paradise" garden, and amusements which are not found at the island resort. Present plans call for the expenditure of more than $300,000 in preparation, grading and surveying of the site.

She Fooled 'Em

MEXICO CITY.—Juanita Rosada, beautiful Guadalajara girl, had lots of suitors, but couldn't see a one of them. So she decided to have some fun. She made dates with each of them for a certain spot in the city at the same time. When 30 of her lovers arrived at the spot, they couldn't find Juanita. They got to quarreling and finally the police had to be called out to quell a lively fight between them.

Standard Groups Plan Pipe Line

NEW YORK, June 5. (UP)—A joint subsidiary to build a new crude oil transportation system for Mid-Continent territory to Illinois has been formed by the Standard Oil company of New Jersey and the Standard Oil company of New York.

The company will be named the Ajax Pipe Line company, and Ford, Bacon & Davis engineering specialists in the construction and operation of pipe lines, are reported to be concerned in the deal which will involve expenditure of approximately $15,000,000. The project concerns the initial construction of a double line of 10-inch pipe from a point south of Tulsa, Okla., to Wood River, Ill., where it will be connected with the lines of the Illinois Pipe Line company, controlled by the Standard Oil company of Indiana. Details of the plan will be announced in a few days.

Short Skirts Safe

LONDON. — Another argument for short skirts has been advanced here by the bishop of Barking. He says that short skirts and cream colored silk stockings promote safety on highways. When girls are walking along roads, headlights of oncoming motorists catch the reflection of stockings as revealed by short skirts, thus enabling them to avoid the young ladies.

Russians in France

PARIS.—France is now the home of more than 200,000 "white" Russians who fled to this country when the Bolsheviki seized the government at the end of the world war. For the most part these are members of the aristocracy of Russia. Now they are reduced to working with their hands in agriculture, clerical work and other occupations.

There Are Just Two Things—

THAT convinces us without the question of a doubt that Daily Times and Record News Classified Ads produce results—

(1) Satisfied Classified Advertisers.

(2) Satisfied Classified Readers.

THE reader of the Classified Columns who located a piece of real estate, or merchandise, or an opportunity in which he is interested—gets in touch with the advertiser—and closes the deal is SATISFIED. And the advertiser is satisfied because his Classified Ad has accomplished its purpose.

What's On The Air Today?

Friday night's broadcast from radio station KGKO promises an unusual variety of entertainment, according to the program announced Thursday by Jack Gross, studio director.

Soloists who will give individual programs throughout the evening include Miss Lorene Tucker, who will be heard from 7:10 to 7:30; Miss Monterey Lewis, violinist, with Mrs. J. H. Crouch as accompanist from 8:45 to 9 o'clock; and Zack Hurt, with his guitar, from 9:35 to 10 p. m.

The evening's broadcast will be concluded with a 30-minute period given to reproductions of Stephen C. Foster's songs—"Old Kentucky Home," and others comprising America's choicest group of folk-songs.

The day's program follows:
7:30 to 8:30—Miss Lorene Tucker, piano and voice.
8:30 to 8:45—Vocal program.
10:00 to 11:00—Church of the air.
12:00 to 1:00—Highnooners, orchestral program.
6:45 to 7:00—Baseball results.
7:00 to 7:10—Mose and Hambone.
7:10 to 7:30—Miss Lorene Tucker.
7:30 to 7:35—Your English, record.
7:35 to 7:45—Hokum band.
7:45 to 8:00—Studio orchestra.
8:00 to 8:15—The Revelers.
8:15 to 8:30—Society string quartet.
8:30 to 8:45—Song story.
8:45 to 9:00—Miss Monterey Lewis, violin; Mrs. J. H. Crouch, piano.
9:00 to 9:10—Cecil and Sally.
9:10 to 9:30—Studio orchestra.
9:30 to 9:35—Reproductions.
9:35 to 10:00—Zack Hurt, voice and guitar.
10:00 to 10:30—Folk songs of Stephen C. Foster, reproductions.

Learned Flying Fast

LONDON.—The gunner riding with Flight Lieutenant Hillman at Basra recently, although knowing nothing about flying a plane, learned in one lesson. While high in the air the plane the two men were in took a sudden dip and Lieutenant Hillman was thrown out and forced to make a parachute landing. The gunner climbed into the cockpit and succeeded in bringing the ship to a safe landing.

CANDIDATES TO TOUR COUNTY

Meeting Called Monday to Arrange Rallies

A meeting of all candidates for precinct, county and district offices has been called for Monday evening at 7 o'clock at the Wichita county courthouse at which time plans for a speaking tour will be discussed and arranged.

According to several of the candidates for contested offices, the majority of those who seek nominations at the Democratic primary in July are in favor of speaking engagements.

Committees will be selected at the Monday night meeting. These committees will have charge of arranging for speaking dates and places and the time to be allotted to each of the candidates.

The meeting will be held in the 78th district court room and candidates are urged to be present at 7 o'clock so that all business can be disposed of at an early hour.

London police are experimenting with bullet-proof shields carried on two-wheeled trucks that can be moved quickly.

STRAND: "Safety in Numbers," with Charles (Buddy) Rogers, Carol Lombard and Josephine Dunn. Musical comedy romance. Talking shorts. Sound news.

MAJESTIC: "Street Girl," last day, with Betty Compson, John Harron, Jack Oakie and Ned Sparks. An acceptable way to kill time. Krazy Kat on a rampage. Sound news.

STATE: "The Big Party," with Dixie Lee, Frank Albertson and Whispering Jack Smith, baritone. Short comedies. Sound news.

MELBA: Al Jolson in "The Singing Fool." Comedy.

GEM: Bob Custer in "Covered Wagon Trails." Last chapter of "Final Reckoning." "Time to Expire," comedy.

Just such a story as Elinor Glyn might write for the use of Alice White forms the pattern for "Big Party," which opened at the State Thursday. For Dixie Lee, the virtuous little shop-girl in this case, very greatly resembles Alice not only in face and figure, but is equally destitute of ability to sing. Qualifications for feminine leads in musical comedy and revues, however, consist of shapely slenderness, a cute face, and roguish coiffure. And that's the sort of a role which was put into "Big Party" for Dixie's blonde comeliness.

It abounds in wisecracking and typical back-seat repartee of the torrid younger set. Sequences of the rooming house boys and girls killing time in the girls' apartment around the old piano accomplish a rare degree of amusing realism. Incidentally, many Wichitans will recognize Jack Smith at the piano—he whispered 15 minutes' worth of his ballads at the Majestic on one of his last vaudeville bills given in the spring of 1929. Which suggests one of the advantages which the talking-singing screen has in furnishing large-scale entertainment. In his appearance here last year, Jack was visible to all those in the house, but certainly not audible. With mechanical means of amplifying his sentimental whisperings, his words and the tune when he stays on it—at least are carried easily to all the audience.

"Big Party" is not one of the "Little Women" series, but cannot be charged with any alarming degree of sophistication. It will prove highly enjoyable to those for whom jumble seats were created—in proof of which, witness the two amorous couples snuggled into the wheel seat of a Ford in the fadeout. Pat Rooney and family in one of the most entertaining shorts they have made support the "Big Party."

Friday night's "bonus" addition at the Majestic, taking the screen at about 10:30 o'clock as a house treat, will be Harry Green's best effort, "The Kibitzer." The story is unusually successful in maintaining interest at high tension, and carries Green through the entire range of emotion from raucous comedy to stark tragedy. He is assisted by Mary Brian, Neil Hamilton and a racial brother who has one line: "Yes-Sure-Certainly!"

PERMIT FOR SCHOOL ISSUED

Two Buildings Add $24,900 To City's Total

A total of $24,900 worth of permits was granted Thursday by City Engineer F. M. Rugeley. The largest for $14,900, was issued to the school board for the purpose of making additions and improvements at the Fannin school. B. O. Howle will be the contractor. J. D. Thweatt was given a $10,000 permit to build a brick veneer residence and garage at 2710 Speedway.

Man Arrested After Burk Women Complain

A complaint charging a Burkburnett man with driving while intoxicated was filed in district court here Thursday following the man's arrest in Burkburnett earlier in the day by Warren Belcher, deputy sheriff, according to information given by Sam B. Spence, district attorney. A number of Burkburnett citizens had complained to the sheriff's department here that a man was stopping women drivers and searching their automobiles on pretense of being a prohibition agent, Mr. Belcher reported. Following investigations Thursday, the man was arrested and brought here.

Park Music Lessons To Start Monday

Lessons in harmonica and ukulele playing will begin Monday afternoon at the Myles O'Reilley park for all children between the ages of 5 and 15 inclusive, according to C. C. Bunnenberg, park superintendent. The lessons will be given under the direction of Miss Dorothy Parnell who has charge of the play activities at that park.

All children are asked to bring their own instruments and the lessons will be given free of charge. If sufficient interest is shown in the project, a club will be organized, Mr. Bunnenberg said.

From Maine to Porto Rico nearly 300 lights aid navigation.

Junior C.-C. To Hear Candidates

Open forum for all candidates to political office residing in this community will be held by the Junior chamber of commerce at its biweekly luncheon at the Kemp hotel Friday noon, it was announced Thursday.

Arranged by the committee on political education, of which Gus Hecht is chairman, the program will include an address by B. Y. Cummings, local attorney, and a short talk by J. S. Bridwell, president of the chamber of commerce. Following Mr. Cummings' address, various aspirants to political honors will be given the floor, and according to proceedings intimated Thursday, will be asked to declare their respective positions on sundry issues, serious and otherwise.

Musical numbers by Misses Celia and Ann Sawyer, the "Harmony Sisters" from Brownwood, will be given at the luncheon. The two young ladies are guests of their sister, Mrs. Arlene Gant, during this week.

ROTARY LUNCHEON

Local Rotarians departed at their weekly luncheon Thursday noon from the usual procedure, substituting informal visiting for the prearranged program which usually is given.

Following a half hour of friendly chatting, members of the club heard a brief talk on "Friendship" by Father Patrick J. F. O'Beirne. A singsong led by R. E. Shepherd with Mrs. Shepherd at the piano, was included in the hour's proceedings. Clark S. Cate, manager of the Kemp hotel, was welcomed to membership by Dr. Q. B. Lee.

YOUNG COUNTY JURY REPORTS

23 Indictments Returned at Graham

The grand jury for the June term of the 30th district court at Graham Thursday returned 23 bills of indictment in its complete report to Judge Allan D. Montgomery, according to information given by Sam B. Spence, district attorney, who returned Thursday after three days in Graham presenting cases to the grand jury. A total of about 40 cases, most of them on liquor charges, were presented.

Of the number of bills returned, one was for a misdemeanor and 22 for felonies, Mr. Spence said. Seven were on whisky charges, three for driving while intoxicated, two for statutory offenses, three for forgery, three for theft over $50, two for burglary, two for chicken theft and one for burning stolen property, the last being a misdemeanor. Despite the large number of cases presented, comprising one of the largest criminal dockets to have been brought before a Young county grand jury for several years, none of the charges are of capital nature, Mr. Spence said. Trials on the indictments will begin Monday, June 16.

Shriners Leave For Toronto Meet

En route to Toronto, Can., where they will attend the imperial council meeting scheduled to be held June 10, 11 and 12, 50 Shriners and their wives left Wichita Falls Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The group will stop off a day at Chicago, St. Louis and Detroit where they will be entertained by the various temples. They are expected to return Sunday, June 15.

YOU HAVE A DOCTOR'S WORD FOR THIS LAXATIVE

In 1875, an earnest young man began to practice medicine. As a family doctor, he saw the harm in harsh purgatives for constipation and began to search for something harmless to the sensitive bowels.
Out of his experience was born a famous prescription. He wrote it thousands of times. It proved an ideal laxative for old and young. As people saw how marvelous the most sluggish bowels are started and bad breath, headaches, feverishness, nausea, gas, poor appetite, and such disorders, are relieved by the prescription, it became necessary to put it up ready for use. Today, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as it is called, is the world's most popular laxative. It never varies from Dr. Caldwell's original effective and harmless formula. All drug stores have it.—Adv.
