Hereford's CSF holiday charity campaign gets underway Monday

Volunteers will begin accepting applications for assistance from the Christmas Stocking Fund Monday and will continue through Friday, Nov. 12.

The Hereford Brand, collection point for the holiday charity, is now taking donations to CSF. These may be made in person at the newspaper offices, 313 Lee St., or mailed to CSF in care of Box 673, Hereford.

Sign-ups for the assistance from CSF will be from 1 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday of this week in the west end of Hereford Community Center. applications will be taken by volunteers who are not affiliated with CSF, but who are giving their time to help. Completed applications will be passed along to the anonymous CSF committee for screening and action deemed appropriate.

All applications are reviewed by the anonymous committee and priority is given to providing help to those most in need. Help may come in the form of food boxes, or vouchers for the purchase of clothing, utilities or medicine.

Applicants must bring some form of identification and proof of their residence in Deaf Smith County. They should provide copies of any utility or medical bills that they are seeking help with, and should provide their interviewers with full information on account numbers and names of doctors or pharmacies if they are seeking help with medical bills.

The CSF effort to help the community's less fortunate during the holiday period is being launched almost a full month ahead of last year's schedule. The sign-up period is shorter this year, and deliveries of food and vouchers will be made on Dec. 17.

CSF is operating on the earlier schedule in order to allow volunteers to enjoy the holiday with their families.

A toy drive aimed at assisting the Red cross Christmas toys' campaign is also being sponsored by the CSF committee. The drive will be conducted on elementary school campuses throughout Hereford during the week of Nov. 15-19.

Students at these schools are being asked to donate toys in good working condition that can be cleaned up and presented to needy children. No stuffed toys are solicited. The donated toys will be picked up Nov. 19 and taken to the local Red Cross office, allowing time for them to be cleaned and repaired.

Hereford Junior High students will be assisting CSF by collecting toiletry items for distribution to needy residents. Included among these items are toothbrushes, toothpaste, soap and paper goods. The drive at HJH will be conducted Nov. 15-19.

Football Queen
Heather Kleuskens carries the instruments of her office, a bouquet of flowers and a football helmet, after being named Football Queen at a pep rally on Friday. Heather was chosen queen by the varsity Whiteface football team. She was also introduced prior to Friday night's game.

Lawsuit filed here against five Amarillo doctors and hospital

A wrongful death lawsuit has been filed in 222nd District Court against five Amarillo doctors and a hospital by a Hereford man whose wife died in October 1992.

Robert L. Simpson filed the suit on behalf of himself and his daughter, Nell Simpson Cotten. His wife, Maymie Jannetta Simpson, died after undergoing two operations.

Defendants in the lawsuit are George Marck, M.D.; Charles M. Maliha, M.D.; Pedro R. Hernandez-Lattuf, M.D.; Henry Martinez, M.D.; Joaquin Martinez-Arraras, M.D., and High Plains Baptist Hospital.

Although no specific monetary figures are asked in the suit, plaintiffs are seeking damages within the jurisdictional limits of the court as well as cost of medical care and treatment and of funeral and burial expenses.

In addition, the plaintiffs seek actual and exemplary damages for the negligence and gross negligence of defendants and court costs.

The suit alleges that after Mrs.Simpson entered High Plains Baptist Hospital on Oct. 18, 1992, she underwent two surgeries and "her care before surgery, during surgery, and after surgery were far below the limits of ordinary care and diligence."

In the pleadings filed in 222nd District Court, medical symptoms and treatment given Mrs. Simpson are detailed.

"Decedent was subjected to excessive risk and faced a very poor chance of survival when she was returned to the operating room in severe pulmonary edema just two days after the first surgery," the pleadings claim.

Defendants "failed to use reasonable care" and "failed to properly and thoroughly document decedents treatment and condition" both before and after surgery, the suit claims.

The suit further alleges that defendants failed to respond to obvious clinical difficulties and that they subjected Mrs. Simpson to a high risk and questionable second operation without proper preparation.

New physician assistant expands services of clinic

In health care, many highly-trained professionals are taking on new roles and assuming new responsibilities, and physician assistants are a primary example of this.

Ron Brock is the newest PA in Hereford. He assists Dr. Jesse Perales at the Hereford Health Clinic. Dennis Wier, the other PA in the community, came here in June to work at South Plains Health Providers.

"Our country's demand for health care has outgrown the supply of physicians in many areas," according to Ron Rives, CEO of Hereford Regional Medical Center.

Rural communities who have a difficult time recruiting physicians are depending more and more on this relatively new professional--the physician assistant, to help provide primary care, adds Rives.

"The PA always works under the supervision of a physician," said Rives. "Although the profession is somewhat new to many people in this area, there are 1,200 physician assistants practicing in Texas, and more than 21,000 in the United States."

PAs can provide a wide range of primary medical care, such as taking medical histories, preforming physical examinations, ordering diagnostic tests, making preliminary diagnoses, assisting in surgery, managing medical emergencies, and developing and implementing a treatment plan.

Brock attended Sommerset Community College where he received an associate degree in applied science in 1982. He received his BS degree in Health Science along with a PA certificate in 1985 from the University of Kentucky at Lexington.

The PA training is either a two or four-year program, which includes classroom and clinical work. The four-year program leads to a BS degree. Graduates of the program are eligible to sit for a national certification test.

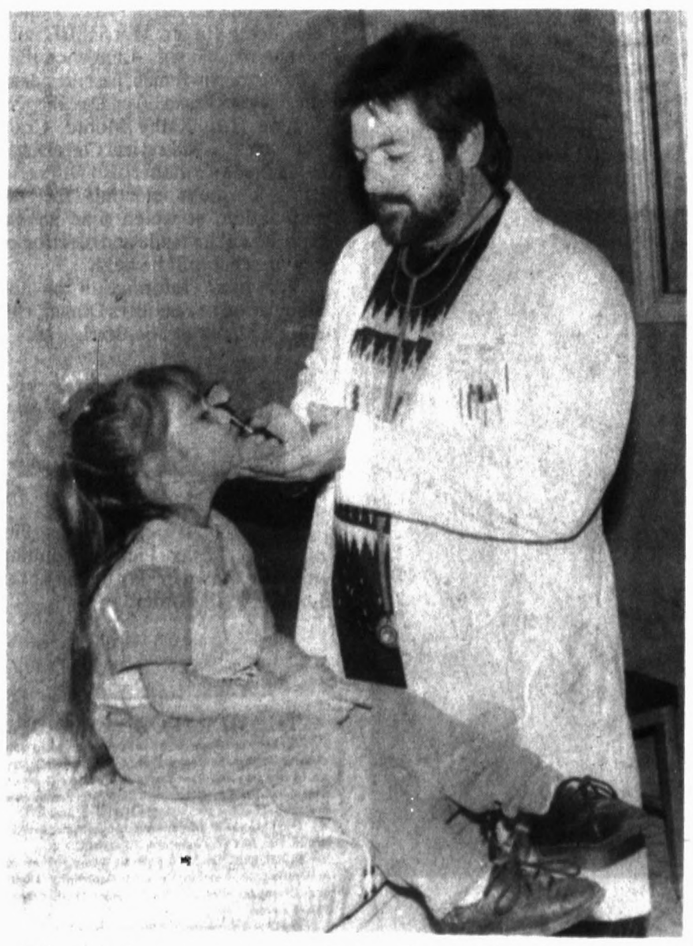

Rives says the physician assistant "will be an important component of any health-care reform package, because rural health clinics across the state are using PAs to expand the service they can offer to their communities."

Although the concept of a physician assistant is not new, the profession was not officially recognized until 1973, when the first national certification exam was given. The first formal training program for PAs was established in 1965.

PAs are really an outgrowth of the Vietnam War. The medical profession encouraged the training and accreditation of these veterans because they relieve the doctors of many essential but time-consuming tasks.

In 1977, the U.S. Legislature enacted the Rural Health Clinic Services Act, which required utilization of a mid-level practitioner--such as PAs, nurse practitioners, and nurse midwives.

In more recent years, PAs in Texas have been given limited powers to write prescriptions. Their services can now be compensated by Medicare.

Bishop is keynote speaker at King's Manor Founder's Dinner

By GARRY WESNER
Managing Editor

For nearly 30 years, the Founders Association of King's Manor Methodist Home has been raising money for the home.

Those efforts will reach their annual peak this week when United Methodist Church Bishop Alfred L. Norris Sr. comes to Hereford to deliver the keynote address for the annual Founders Dinner.

The Founders Association was founded in 1966 with a three-fold purpose -- to raise money for the facility, to educate the public about it and to generate publicity for King's Manor.

Each year, the Founders Association holds two major fundraisers to benefit the Methodist Church-affiliated facility, which offers a variety of care to senior citizens.

The first event is a barbecue in July, followed by this week's dinner.

The dinner is set for 7 p.m. Thursday in the Lamar Room of King's Manor.

BISHOP ALFRED L. NORRIS

Lanny Wheeler, director of pastoral care at King's Manor, said the barbecue "was the most successful" ever and hopes that the dinner is as well.

It is open to members of the Founders Association only. Cost to join the association is $25 for a year, which entitles members to admission to the dinner.

Memberships will be available at the King's Manor office prior to the dinner or at the door.

Wheeler said all proceeds from the Thursday dinner will go toward subsidies for King's Manor residents.

"We care for people regardless of their ability to pay. When people come here to live, we make a commitment to take care of you for the rest of your life," he said.

The average age throughout the King's Manor complex -- which includes the retirement cottages and apartments and full nursing home unit -- is 86 years.

"People are living long enough now to outlive their savings," Wheeler said. "We offer them financial assistance with the cost of their care, based on their ability to pay."

Because the average resident age is increasing and people are living longer, Wheeler said, the amount of money needed for subsidies is increasing rapidly.

Some money comes from the United Methodist Church, but those funds only cover about 25 to 30 percent of the subsidies.

As a result, the Founders Association must raise the remaining monies -- or face a situation they want to avoid at all costs.

"We don't ever want to say to somebody, 'you can't pay, so you'll have to move,'" Wheeler said.

Thus the need for fundraisers such as Thursday's dinner.

The meal will be catered by K-Bob's, with a menu of steak, baked potatoes, salad bar, tea or coffee, fried okra, whole wheat rolls and cherry cobbler.

Entertainment will be provided this year by Pamela Pauling of Friona.

Mrs. Pauling attended Friona High School, then graduated from McMurry University in 1980 with a bachelors degree in Elementary Education.

She is a teacher and a member of Friona United Methodist Church, where she sings in the choir, is Stewardship Chairperson and helps with the Children's Cantatas.

Norris is Bishop for the Northwest Texas/New Mexico area, having been elected to the Episcopacy at the South Central Jurisdictional Conference in 1992.

The 55-year-old Norris has a bachelors degree from Dillard University in New Orleans and a Master of Divinity degree from Gammon Theological Seminary in

Police academy graduation set

The Hereford Police Department's first-ever Citizens Police Academy will graduate from the 9-week program this week after learning about police life from the officers themselves. The invitation-only ceremony for the 17 participants who completed the course will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Hereford Community Center. The academy curriculum included an overview of state law and police procedures, as well as presentations on street gangs and drugs, a trip to the firing range and a real-life scenario session. A new Citizens Police Academy will be held sometime next year.

Jail issues on agenda

Food service in Deaf Smith County jail and health care for inmates are among items to be discussed by Deaf Smith County Commissioners' Court at a 9 a.m. meeting Monday. The court also will receive a report on the inspection of the jail made Thursday and open bids for purchase of vehicles for the sheriff's department. Returns from last Tuesday's election will be canvassed.

Community band to rehearse

The Hereford Community Band will hold its first rehearsal on Thursday to begin preparation for a Christmas concert. The practice will be from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. in the Hereford High School band hall. Members need to bring instruments if they have them, but those who want to play but don't have an instrument should show up anyway, as arrangements are being made to provide some instruments. Tryouts to join the band will not be required and anyone with high school or college band experience is welcome to join.

UWSA chapter to meet

The Deaf Smith County chapter of United We Stand America will hold a meeting Tuesday, beginning at 7 p.m. in the west lounge of Hereford Community Center. The agenda includes adoption of bylaws, consider selection of committee to attend local governmental meetings, and adoption of a chapter membership fee.

Obituaries

HELEN GAY WOMBLE
Nov. 5, 1993

LUBBOCK -- Helen Gay Womble, 80, of the Pringle Community, died Friday in Lubbock after a lengthy illness. Among her survivors is a daughter, Donna Nell Smith of Hereford.

Services are pending with Minton-Chatwell Funeral Directors of Borger.

Mrs. Womble was born in the Pringle Community. Her husband, R.E. "Boy" Womble, preceded her in death in 1972. She was a past president of the Pringle Elementary School PTA, a supporter of the 4-H Club and served in other civic positions.

She was a member of the First Baptist Churches of Morse and Stinnett and the Order of the Eastern Star.

Survivors include five daughters, Donna Nell Smith of Hereford, Peggy Fondren of Lorenzo, Louise Lyons of Houston, and Betty Anderson and Kathy Ann Balser, both of Lubbock; two sons, W.C. "Dub" of Morse and Bill of Dallas; 12 grandchildren; three great-grandchildren; and three sisters, Iola Hazelwood of Amarillo, Obera Darnnell of Long Beach, Calif., and Hazel Lasater of Stinnett.

SILAS SHAW
Oct. 31, 1993

Graveside services for Silas Preston Shaw, 69, of Boswell, OK., were Wednesday. Shaw died Oct. 31 in an Antlers, OK., hospital.

Mr. Shaw's survivors included a brother, Loranza of Hereford.

Born April 3, 1924, in Hugo, Mr. Shaw was a construction operator and a U.S. Army veteran of World War II.

He was also survived by another brother, Doyle of Amarillo, and five sisters, Jo Hardy of Shallowater, Retha Mae Leatherwood of Gorman, Nadine Beatty of Monteca, CA., and Ruth Teal and Eva Lois Sanders, both of Clovis, CA., and two grandchildren.

County jail passes state regulations for 5th time

For the fifth consecutive year, the Deaf Smith County jail has been found to be in compliance with Texas Commission on Jail Standards regulations.

County Judge Tom Simons reported the Thursday inspection brought a commendation from Jail Inspector Paul Scarborough for "cleanliness and neatness" of the jail.

"The jail was not found in non-compliance on any part of the inspection," said Judge Simons. "David Castillo, jail administrator, and his staff are due a lot of credit for this." He said the inspector commended the jail staff for the "neatness and cleanliness" of the facility.

Although 97 inmates were in custody on the day of inspection, 47 of them were persons who have been sentenced to terms in state prisons but the Texas Department of Criminal Justice institutional division has no space for them, Judge Simons reported.

"We are certified for 93 inmates but we passed with 97 because of the TDCJ-ready prisoners and the classifications of those in jail," he added.

The report will be given to Deaf Smith County Commissioners' Court at the regular meeting Monday at 9 a.m.

Gramm, Stenholm offer 'best' health care reform plans

DALLAS (AP) - Various sides in the congressional debate over health care reform Friday sought support from physicians for their plans while trying to undermine support for a reform package pushed by the Clinton Administration.

Sen. Phil Gramm and Rep. Charles W. Stenholm, both of Texas, were among speakers at a health care forum by the American Medical Association.

Gramm, a Republican, is sponsoring a reform plan along with other conservative Republicans that backers say relies on the free market to fix health care problems plaguing America.

Stenholm, a Democrat, is backing a "managed competition" plan billed as more affordable and "jobs friendly" than anything now on the table. The proposal has been touted as middle-of-the-road, and has been endorsed by both conservative Democrats and moderate Republicans.

"The only way we're going to have health care reform is it must be bipartisan, bicameral and seek majority support of what we're trying to do," Stenholm said. "This plan combines the best ideas of all parties."

Stenholm said the managed care proposal also would allow the market to dictate competition in the medical industry and allow for less government involvement.

"This plan provides a more level playing field of competition with government as a referee, but not as referee, coach, player and fan," he said.

Gramm said his plan would give Americans more choice by allowing them to continue with their current policies rather than being forced to buy through a government collective.

He also lambasted the president's plan for its standard benefits package, which Gramm said consists of a mishmash of items that strive to appease special interests.

"Shouldn't we let people put their own policy together to meet their own needs?" he said. "This plan can't help anybody because in the end ... everybody's going to pay more because government can't do it better."

While Gramm received the majority of support from the AMA, the association has yet to endorse a specific plan.

"AMA is looking at each plan for how well it meets the criterion for taking care of our patients. No one plan is without both strengths and weaknesses," said Dr. Nancy Dickey, a member of the association's Board of Trustees.

The AMA, which has 300,000 members nationwide, has scheduled another regional health care meeting Nov. 19-21 in Philadelphia.

White House taking risk in debate against Perot

WASHINGTON (AP) - Short on votes and time, the White House is taking a calculated risk and putting Vice President Al Gore up against Ross Perot for a cable TV debate on the North American Free Trade Agreement.

"The more discussion of the facts, the better," asserted Gore, who asked to take on the administration's chief NAFTA nemesis.

"The American people know this is a terrible deal for our country," countered Perot.

Each man will have a chance to lay out his arguments in detail in a 90-minute edition of CNN's "Larry King Live" on Tuesday.

The handicapping was in full swing Saturday, even before details of the debate had been finalized after a day of public sparring and behind-the-scenes negotiations between the Gore and Perot camps.

"If we get a genuine discussion of the issues, I'm very confident that he'll do fine," President Clinton said of Gore.

"Ross Perot will kill Gore," predicted Republican consultant Ed Rollins, a NAFTA supporter who for a time served as Perot's campaign manager. "This is mud wrestling and nobody beats this guy at mud wrestling."

Administration officials conceded that giving Perot - a tenacious and outspoken critic of the free-trade agreement - such a visible stage was a risky move but were willing to gamble that it might win some converts to NAFTA.

Gore said members of Congress had told him they like the trade pact but were "getting a lot of political pressure on the other side."

With a showdown House vote set for Nov. 17, the administration is turning to the public in hopes that voters will persuade their members of Congress to vote yes.

As for raising the profile of the opposition, Gearan said there wasn't much danger of that since Perot already was traveling the country speaking out against NAFTA.

Perot and organized labor contend the pact, to end tariffs and other trade barriers among the United States, Canada and Mexico over 15 years, would cost hundreds of thousands of U.S. jobs.

The Clinton administration argues that breaking down trade barriers will only strengthen the economies of all the countries involved. While Clinton is waging a strenuous last-ditch effort to win votes for the pact, the critics got out well ahead of him and still have the upper hand.

By most counts, Clinton is 40 or more votes short in the House and a heavy White House lobbying effort over the past few days has produced few converts.

The administration made public Friday proposed legislation to implement the agreement, along with details of its last-minute deals to protect U.S. producers of a half dozen products from Mexican competitors.

The late deals were designed to protect U.S. sugar and citrus farmers, wine and brandy makers and manufacturers of flat glass, home appliances and mattresses.

Firefighters mop up fire in Malibu

MALIBU, Calif. (AP) - Firefighting helicopters dipped their huge buckets into the Pacific while surfers paddled nearby as signs of normalcy returned to an area devastated by deadly wildfires.

More than 6,000 firefighters remained in Malibu today to mop up the arson fire that killed three people, ravaged hundreds of homes and forced more than 2,000 to flee.

City officials anticipated long lines at a disaster relief office, and planned a community picnic to help rejuvenate battered residents, said Mayor Carolyn Van Horn.

'It's a healing process. We've done it before out here. We will do it again," she said, referring to mudslides and previous wildfires that have hit the star-studded seaside community.

The fire that raced over 18,500 acres was 80 percent contained Friday night, said Fire Department Inspector Dan Ertel. It destroyed or damaged more than 360 buildings, most of them homes, causing $170 million in damage, he said.

Hot, dry Santa Ana winds had fanned the flames in past days, but today's forecasts called for mild winds and cooler temperatures.

Investigators have said the fire was started Tuesday by an arsonist's match or lighter at the top of Old Topanga Canyon.

Arson has been blamed for 19 of 25 fires that destroyed 1,150 buildings, blackened more than 200,000 acres and injured nearly 200 people across Southern California since Oct. 26.

"This has to be one of the biggest tragedies ever attributable to arson," said Larry Cornelison of the federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms arson bureau in Los Angeles.

In truth, the only difference between those who have failed and those who have succeeded lies in the difference of their habits.-Og Mandino

Forming habits is part of being human, but how often do we think about the habits we have formed or those that our youth are forming?

Many activities at school can lead towards forming good habits. An activity in Sherry Walker's art class shows a concern for others-a good habit to form. They are working on Christmas card designs for the Annual Christmas Art Contest for the Harrington Cancer Center's Circle of Friends "Caring Touch Collection" for 1994. Cards are sold through Neiman Marcus and Hastings with proceeds benefiting cancer patients and their families.

Beginning Woodworking classes have finished making Tic-Tac-Toe games and are ready to begin Thanksgiving projects. The Power and Energy classes have completed spaghetti bridges and will begin CO2 cars. Mr. Zimmerman plans for projects from each class to be shown during the Education Fair. These classes, as well as those of Mr. Nall, next door, are exciting classes to visit--if you want to see a variety of activities and everyone busy! Mr. Nall's classes have been creating wooden name plaques for each teacher at HJH.

Several students are "making headway" with their History Fair projects. Jim Moudy and Justin Landrum have begun receiving answers from some of the over 100 requests they made to Chambers of Commerce on Route 66 from California to Illinois. Andrew Carr and Andrew Del Toro are working on a POW project while Kris Friel and Kyle Flood are seeking information on the Dust Bowl era.

Students interested in entering the Conservation Essay contest should plan to have their first draft ready December 3rd and the final copy ready by December 10. See Mrs. Waters for details on this contest.

Michael Hall was the first place winner in the recent Water Matters poster contest. Michael Pesina won second and Jessica Mejia won third. Some of the posters will be displayed during the Education Fair.

David Radford and Briar Baker were selected as Students of the six-weeks. Congratulations to two fine young people.

Hal Urban in 20 Things I Want My Children To Know titled one chapter "Habits Are The Key to All Success." He states, "If good habits lead to success in school, they'll lead to success in other areas of life." It's too bad that bad habits get more attention than good ones. Let's begin putting more energy in giving attention to good habits and see the change it will make!

Belief in innocence died with British boy

LONDON (AP) - For many Britons, a belief in childhood innocence died along with 2-year-old James Bulger.

"How can kids that age do such a thing," said Mary Alexander, who with other patrons at an old pub talked about the horror of the toddler's death.

When James was lured from a suburban shopping mall and stoned and kicked to death near abandoned railroad tracks in February, allegedly by two 10-year-old boys, juvenile crime had been rising for years in Britain.

Attacks by teen-agers on old ladies, and mindless vandalism and killings were no longer front-page news. The Bulger case seemed to hit a new depth in depravity and rouse a new sense of guilt and despair among Britons.

"We are all affected in some way ... (it) has had a sobering effect," said Leo Gribbens, 21, as he drank a pint at Ye Olde Cheshire Cheese.

"How can this situation take place, how can social and moral and ethical barriers be broken down?" asked Gribbens, a law student at Manchester University.

All the gory details have emerged this week in a Preston, England, courtroom where the boys, now 11, are on trial. They are the youngest children ever to be charged with murder in Britain.

"I just hope that they will get the sentences that grown-ups do, because it is a grown-up crime," said Alexander, a 23-year-old accountant trainee.

Gribbens interjected: "It is hard for us to judge."

The boys, who can be identified by the media only as Child A and Child B, apparently came from poor homes.

"Here ... two children stand accused - and the whole of society is on trial," wrote columnist Anne Diamond in the Daily Mirror on Wednesday.

Prosecution details of the killing have provided lurid headlines.

"Stoned To Death and Cut In Two," blared the Daily Star.

The Sun, among the raciest of Britain's sensational tabloids chose: "Journey to Hell." Inside, its columnist Richard Littlejohn complained the trial coverage "bordered on the pornographic."

"It has been trial by tabloid," Gribbens said. "But then, the evidence has been gory."

WHEN YOU PURCHASE A NEW HOME...

You know exactly what you are getting: bare walls, and whatever carpeting or flooring, kitchen cabinets and other amenities the builder spelled out in your contract. But once you have lived in the home for a while and are ready to put it up for sale, just what are you selling? You must spell out the contents of your real estate "package," just as clearly as the builder you bought it from. The difference is there are certain amenities included in the offering, while others are moving with you and the rest are open to negotiation. Obviously you are leaving the kitchen cabinets, but what about the stove, refrigerator and laundry appliances? Are the room fans staying, what about the drapes and the fireplace andirons, are they going with you? As professional real estate agents, we can help you in many ways and sort out what stays and what goes. You can count on us to help you present an attractive package to the prospective buyers.

If we've told you once, we've told you 8.6 MILLION TIMES!

Twenty five years ago this weekend, Hereford State Bank provided a unique and special service to Hereford -- a 24-hour system that offered local residents time and temperature information.

It has been a very popular service. The phone ringing off the wall so to speak. Since that November weekend in 1968, we've averaged about 347 thousand calls per year. If we took each call which lasts about 15 seconds, multiplied by an average of eight million six hundred thousand calls, we've had one call every second of every day for about 4 1/2 years.

Old timer: A person who remembers when people stopped spending when they ran out of money.

Another definition of an old timer is a person who remembers when no one mentioned Christmas until after Thanksgiving.

Those days are long gone as the big chain stores kept moving up the start of Christmas shopping to try and beat their competitors to the punch. Soon, the local merchants had to keep pace and now the holiday season starts well before Thanksgiving.

There are some advantages to getting an early start, and it would sure help some folks to be in a holiday mood for a longer period of time!

Hereford raises the curtain on the holiday season today(Sunday) as many merchants hold "open house" and offer gift ideas. You'll find special ads in today's "Brighten Your Holiday" section of the newspaper.

The retail merchants association also has an ad and entry form for a special giveaway. Clip that out and get your entry validated with 15 of the participating merchants. You could be a winner!

Personally, even though I'm an old timer, the earlier start doesn't bother me. The way time is flying, it's not very long from paying the Christmas bills, to paying the income tax, to the start of the Christmas season.

o0o

Why do customers quit shopping at a store? Studies show that 1 percent die; 3 percent move away; 5 percent develop friendships with other business owners; 9 percent change for competitive reasons; 14 percent claim product dissatisfaction, and 68 percent quit because of attitude or indifference toward customers by an employee or owner.

West Texas has been snubbed and ignored for years by both the state and national governments. Folks in Austin gladly accept the revenues generated by oil and agriculture in West Texas, but only on rare occasion would a politician view a trip west of I-35 as worth the time and effort.

For years, we blamed it on the sparse population in the vast majority of West Texas, but the real culprit has been sniffed out, according to Roy McQueen of the Snyder Daily News.

The Dallas-Forth Worth area is 25 percent above the national average; Austin and San Antonio are 30 percent above, and Houston is 18 percent above the average.

However, purchases of deodorants by West Texans is 8 percent below the national average--which makes us 38 percent below the amount of "smellum" used by the city slickers in Austin.

Next time some Panhandle group heads for Austin seeking a favor from state government, maybe we'd better use more than a little dab.

Out of the Blue

By Garry Wesner

Welcome, ladies and gentlemen, to the Liberal World of the 1990s.

Here, you will no longer hear any more such politically-incorrect words as "ladies" or "gentlemen."

Neither will you hear "gentlepersons," "gentlebeings," or other similar terms, since the word "gentle" implies there are people who are not gentle and the use of that word would be offensive to them.

Now, since we are living in the Liberal World of the 1990s, we wish to introduce to you a brand new concept in entertainment -- Ecotourism.

That's right fellow Homo Sapiens living upon this Glorious Orb, you can now Love The Earth at the same time you take your mandatory two weeks vacation from stabbing your boss in the back.

When thinking about Ecovacations, remove from your mind such things as standing on the rim of the Grand Canyon or watching the thunderous majesty of Niagara Falls.

Both of those "attractions" cannot be considered ecotourism destinations, since it is obvious they are both colossal wastes of water and thus harmful to Our Home Among The Stars.

I mean, think about what some starving person in Somalia could do with the water that washes down the Niagara River every minute.

Think about the valuable layers of topsoil that were washed away creating the Grand Canyon, and the large numbers of Fellow Planet Dwellers who were displaced from their homes and natural environs just so a large hole in the ground could be built.

No, what we mean by Ecotourism, fellow beings, is a way to get in touch with your inner self -- your real animal essence if you will -- while at the same time being kind to Our Earth and protecting it from any kind of harm such as the using of its water, cutting of its trees or spoiling of its foliage.

What, you say? You are not a Fellow Environmentalist and are not sure an Ecovacation is for you?

Why, what could be better than taking a boat trip to watch the whales, walking quietly through the forests, or listening to inspiring lectures on how to properly dispose of Polaroid film packs and plastic soft drink rings?

How can you say your heart is unmoved by the plight of the Spotted Owl, the Gila River Silverfish, the Purple-bellied Trash Digger and many others, all of whose very existence among the Community of Galactic Beings is threatened by Ecologically-unsound vacations?

How can you claim to enjoy a trip across country to visit the Smithsonian Institution, Disneyland, or the Everglades (which are hopelessly polluted by all those water craft darting about and thus unable to be categorized an Ecoattraction) is better than standing in silence on the Continental Divide, listening to the wind as it weeps aloud of the ecological abominations it carries in its once-pristine wings?

After all, that cross-country jaunt is more damaging to our Precious Ecosystem than anything ecologically-sensitive, as you are pumping precious fossil fuels into your gas-guzzling, metal destroying, ozone-eating automobile, then expelling them out into our Glove of Atmosphere.

Our Fair Jewel of the Galaxy is worth far more to us zillions of years from now than it is today, so put away your car and seek alternate forms of transportation.

Try a bicycle. Oops, sorry, its tires are made from rubber, the production of which is damaging to trees, which renew our atmosphere.

How about just strapping on your backpack and taking a hike? Sorry, I just realized. The backpack is made of nylon, an environmentally-unfriendly, artificially-created product that damages the ozone. The shoes leave footprints in the Mother Soil.

Well then, just sit on your front porch and listen to the sounds of the Earth? (Well, I guess that wouldn't be much of an Ecovacation, since all you'd hear would be the sounds of everyone else driving around in their Recycled Dinosaurmobiles.)

Okay, so just stay inside and don't bother anybody. But you can't turn on the air conditioner, because of the ozone-destroyers in the refrigerant. Don't watch the television, because of harmful radiation. Don't eat, either, because many products are packaged in non-recyclable packages or were produced in environmentally-unfriendly plants.

In fact, now that I think about it my dear Fellow Beings ... ooops, can't use "dear" -- it might sound sexist.

In fact, now that I think about it gentle ... oops, promised not to use that word again.

In fact, now that I think about it folks ... oops, that sounds like I'm trying to be "Country," which might offend our Rural Neighbors.

Oh, to heck with it.

There's no such thing as an Ecovacation, Ecotourism is a farce and I'm going to go crazy trying to be politically correct.

I'm just going to give up on Ecowhatevers.

So there you bunch of liberal geeks.

Election change?

BY JIM HUDSON
The Perryton Herald

With the amendment election now past, I was thinking about how we hold elections in this country and I have a new idea of how to change the process--at least for electing our representatives.

As evidenced by low voter turnout, people do not get excited about such dry items as changing the Texas Constitution. They are driven to the polls by personalities and people.

Too many Americans vote for the most familiar name on the ballot. Billions of dollars of campaign funds are spent making the name of the candidate as well known as your favorite toothpaste.

As a result, we comparison shop candidates for office in the same way we compare consumer goods. Many people vote for a particular person because they like the way they look or the advertising that they produce.

When they reach the ballot box, those voters simply look for the familiar name on the list and check the box. The candidate that has the most ballots marked wins the race.

A better method would be to change the way the ballots are produced. Instead of neatly typeset names and party affiliations for each office, we should only have a blank sheet of paper as the ballot.

Voters would be required to write the name of the candidate and the office they are running for on the piece of paper. The person who has the most correctly spelled and identified names on the ballots would be the winner.

This change would accomplish a number of good purposes. First, a voter would not only have to know who he wants to cast a vote ballot for, but also for which office the candidate is running. Second, the voter would have to know how to write and possibly how to spell.

The increased cost for people to interpret the scribblings on the ballot would be offset by the cost reductions from not printing ballots. Also, any polling place would never run out of ballots during an overflow election. They could just open up another ream of paper.

If this small change were made, it would drastically alter elections in this country. There would be a much smaller, but better informed vote cast in each election.

Politicians would have to explain issues to the voters and not rely on consumer marketing techniques of jingles, catch phrases and other Madison Avenue methods. It would eliminate people voting in races just because they did not want to leave a blank box on the ballot.

Probably this ballot change will never be made, but it does give pause for thought on what kind of elected representatives we would get with such a different election plan.

State tax impact

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) - It might seem obvious that state income tax increases, always imposed in the name of fairness or need, may produce negative economic effects, but the lesson nevertheless must be relearned.

It is a painful one, as an examination of the fortunes of 20 states reveals. Ten raised taxes in the period 1989-1993, ten avoided doing so or cut taxes.

Economist Stephen Moore, author of the study, concluded that "virtually every state that is experiencing economic difficulty today enacted a major tax increase in 1990, 1991, or 1992." He offered these specifics:

-The tax avoiding states created 653,000 new jobs over the period vs. 3,000 in the tax increasing states, although the tax increasing states have a far larger total population.

-The jobless rate rose 2.2 percentage points in the 10 tax hike states, but rose only 0.6 percent in the states avoiding higher taxes.

-Income for an average family of four dropped by an average of almost $500 in the tax increasing states, but rose by $300 per family of four in the states that avoided taxes increases.

-The 10 income tax increasing states lost nearly 200,000 jobs in the period 1989-1993, but the states that cut taxes or avoided increases created nearly 1 million jobs.

Moore, GOP staff economist of the Joint Economic Committee, made the study at the request of Rep. Jim Saxton, R-N.J., and Christoper Cox, R-Calif., who wondered why some state economies remained depressed while others resumed growth.

Theories were advanced - disparate defense spending cutbacks, energy price changes, droughts, floods and understandable regional economic differences, all having some merit. But the role of taxes apparently was forgotten.

While Moore and this study are identified with a political point of view, he is hardly a political creature, having earned the respect of economists for many forays into the entrails of taxation and budgetary matters.

What he found over the past few years wasn't at all surprising. He and other economists, such as Richard Vedder of Ohio University, had published earlier studies that should have left no surprise at the results.

That such results are forgotten, he says, reflects the tendency of humankind to repeat its errors. Or, perhaps, the lessons might never have been understood or, more cynically, obscured by an insatiable thirst for revenue.

Income tax increases that often are said to be aimed mainly at those who can afford them, said Moore, often fall on the backs of middle-income workers in the form of lost jobs and declines in household incomes.

As was the case in the 1980s, he says, "in the 1990s, businesses and the most productive workers have tended to flee states with high income taxes for low-tax states."

Tax-increase states in the study are Connecticut, Montana, Massachusetts, Kentucky, Vermont, Maine, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, California, West Virginia and New Jersey. The contrasting states: Hawaii, Wisconsin, Kansas, Virginia, Iowa, Arkansas, Michigan, Louisiana, Florida and Indiana.

Lest the lessons be forgotten again, Moore concludes with a reminder he says emerges from this study and the ones he has made before: "High marginal tax rates are destroying jobs, income and wealth."

Never forget it, he says.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Throughout the nation on Nov. 11, there will be parades, patriotic cremonies and memorial services honoring all America's vetrans, both living and dead. These are tributes to the brave men and women who served our nation with honor when the "call to arms" was sounded on behalf of freedom's cause.

I hope your readers will pause on Veterans Day to salute the gallantry of those who for more than 200 years have left their jobs, their schools and their families to risk disability and death in defense of America's freedoms.

I ask you join me in thanking a veteran: whether it's your Dad or Mother, a grandparent or a brother or sister, thank them for serving America with distinction, and thank them for the freedom we all enjoy today.

Yours respectfully,
Phil Gramm
U.S. Senator

Dear Editor:

It is apparent that Senators Richard Lugar and Dan Coats and other congressmen, through their support of the North American Free Trade Agreement(NAFTA), have forgotten about the American Dream. The dream used to be owning a home, but now it is to keep a job.

Could it be with all the political contributions and over $30 million spent by the Mexican government to promote NAFTA that has fogged their vision, or have they forgotten how the average JOE lives?

When it comes time for our senators to vote on NAFTA, they had better keep in mind this story about the average "Joe."

On the day before election, Joe started the day early, having set his alarm clock(made in Japan) for 6 a.m. While his coffee pot(made in Japan) is perking, he puts his hair dryer(made in Taiwan) to work and shaves with his electric razor(made in Hong Kong). He puts on a dress shirt(made in Taiwan), his designer jeans(made in Singapore), and a pair of tennis shoes(made in Korea).

After cooking up some breakfast in his electric skillet(made in the Philippines), he sits down with his calculator(made in Mexico) to figure out how much he can spend today. Listening to his radio(made in Hong Kong), he sets his watch(made in Japan). He goes out to his car(made in Japan) and goes looking, as he has been for months, for a good paying American job.

At the end of another discouraging and fruitless day, Joe decides to relax. He puts on his sandals(made in Brazil), pours himself a glass of wine(made in France), turns on his TV(made in Japan), and watches our politicians(bought in the USA) telling the American people what a "good deal" NAFTA is. He leans back in his recliner(made in Canada), and once again ponders why he can't find an American job. At that moment, he realizes who he is going to vote for tomorrow.

I feel whether or not NAFTA is passed, that the first ones to lose their jobs should be any Congressman or Senator who votes for the trade agreement.

Corpus Christi Caller-Times, on the North American Free Trade Agreement:

It was an intriguing spectacle. There were three well-connected Washington politicos holding forth at a Capitol Hill breakfast, bashing American business for a performance they described as "pathetic" and "dreadful," and throwing strong support behind one of Bill Clinton's key initiatives.

What's intriguing about that? Merely the fact that the three were Republicans, not Democrats...

House Republican Whip Newt Gingrich of Georgia, Arizona's U.S. Rep. Jim Kolbe and former U.S. Rep. Bill Frenzel of Minnesota, who is now Clinton's GOP lobbyist for NAFTA, voiced varying degrees of frustration at the way American business has stood silently by in the face of a groundswell of "populist" opposition to NAFTA from labor and such ill-assorted critics as Patrick Buchanan, Jesse Jackson and, of course, the ineffable Ross Perot ...

There are any number of explanations as to why matters have come to this pass - the misinformation about NAFTA being put out by Perot and others prominent among them - but perhaps the most pertinent is the failure of the Clinton administration to get behind NAFTA in a big way from the outset. Now the administration is playing catch-up - and here are Gingrich and friends trying to save the president's bacon. Strange bedfellows? You bet.

Catholic bishops formulate marriage message

By DAVID BRIGGS
Associated Press Writer

Men, submit to your wives: Share your tears - as well as the laundry and the bathtub scrubbing.

Women, be not afraid to get mad at your husband, or to tell him to spend equal time with the kids.

A committee of U.S. bishops is proposing a document on marriage that encourages Roman Catholics to move beyond the sexual stereotypes they grew up with.

The bishops draw from their own failed effort to develop a pastoral letter on women, and from the growing men's movement, to encourage Catholics to strive for equality of the sexes in dividing household and parental responsibilities.

"Marriage is a partnership of a man and women equal in dignity and value," the bishops state in "Follow the Way of Love: A Pastoral Message of the U.S. Catholic Bishops to Families."

Three years in development, the statement from the prelates' Committee on Marriage and Family will be presented to the full National Conference of Catholic Bishops at its annual meeting in Washington Nov. 15-18.

If approved, Cardinal Joseph Bernardin of Chicago will formally present it to the United Nations on Dec. 7 as the bishops' contribution to the U.N.'s 1994 International Year of the Family.

Its central theme is the importance of friends, family and the parish community in helping married couples in the 59 million-member church to work through difficult times when possible.

The bishops also encourage married couples to seek not only pastoral but other professional counseling at the first sign of trouble.

Some of the document's strongest language comes in a separate section on "mutuality" that encourages men and women to move beyond gender stereotypes.

The issue of sexual equality has been a difficult one for the bishops.

"It's said in a way people may be hearing it for the first time," said Joan Wagner, a consultant to the Center for the Study of Family Development at the University of Dayton. "They take the Scripture and apply it to the contemporary experience."

Many conservative Christians - hearkening to the fifth chapter of The Letter of Paul to the Ephesians - espouse a hierarchical view of the family, with the husband as "the head of the wife just as Christ is the head of the Church."

The bishops instead hold up Paul's letter to the Galatians and the apostle's statement "there is not male and female" in the "new creation" made possible in Christ.

"Sharing feelings and a willingness to be vulnerable can be difficult, particularly for those of us raised in the 'strong and silent' tradition. Men in all walks of life seem to have been influenced by this unwritten norm," the bishops said.

"Women who accept their own self-worth are more able to express their beliefs, ideas and feelings, even painful ones such as anger," the bishops said.

The Rev. James J. Gill, a priest-psychiatrist and editor of the magazine Human Development, expects the document to strike a deep chord among Catholics.

"The irony is that many women growing up in Catholic families found mother was more compassionate, more inclined to understand and forgive," said Gill, who also helped write the draft.

"Men, by being less available, perhaps more silent, perhaps less involved, left the closeness, the tender interaction and the inspirational guidance, pretty much to the mother to achieve."

A's and B's out in Houston, 'expanding,' 'connecting' in HOUSTON (AP) - Houston school officials say an experimental report card that substitutes "connecting" and "expanding" for A's and B's is working well. Some puzzled parents, however, give the new system an F.

The unconventional grading was expanded this year to 57 schools in the Houston Independent School District. Officials hope the system, being tried out in schools nationwide, assesses student performance more meaningfully.

Students can be pegged in one of eight stages: discovery, exploration, developing, expanding, connecting, independent, application and synthesis.

The district has held workshops to help parents understand the complicated terminology. A nine-page guide also has been printed to explain the new critiques.

Still, the system has baffled some parents accustomed to an A-through-F grading scale.

"I'll bet you the majority of parents of HISD kids will be hopelessly lost," said Peter Cook, whose son is in kindergarten at Herod Elementary School. "They'll probably throw their hands up and say the heck with it."

"I thought it was some Ph.D. person who put the words together," said Donna Gilger, whose daughter also attends Herod. "My husband went through the roof. He was furious. He thought it was stupid, and we couldn't tell anything from it."

School officials say the new system is meant to eliminate the arbitrary nature of traditional grades.

It's also supposed to give parents a better idea of how their children are developing socially, emotionally, academically, aesthetically and physically in the early grades.

The report card was developed by HISD teachers, and committees of parents, teachers and administrators at each school involved voted to adopt the scale. It was used by 23 schools last year.

Janice Heffer, who directs the district's early childhood program, said the system continues to evolve with help from parents and teachers.

"It's in the process of being improved," Ms. Heffer said. "We're not saying this is perfect, but it is much better than what we've had."

Ms. Heffer said children in the early grades develop at different rates, making it unfair and potentially damaging to dole out F's to students who are simply at an earlier stage of development.

Many slow-developing kindergarteners suddenly blossom into brilliant students in first or second grade, she said.

"This kind of reporting to parents shows progress over time," Heffer said.

Some parents, such as Renu Hodgson, think that's a good idea.

"Part of the reason I like it is it seems more positive than trying to fit everybody in a bell-shaped curve," said Ms. Hodgson, who added that she wasn't confused by the system.

"For me, it was the first report card ever. After we figured what it was all about, we decided it was not a bad way to grade."

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - For piano virtuoso Ignat Solzhenitsyn it wasn't just another concert, it was a chance to go home.

This month, the 21-year-old son of exiled novelist and poet Alexander Solzhenitsyn made his first trip back to Russia since his family left when he was 18 months old.

"When I got off the plane in Moscow, I was home," Solzhenitsyn said recently.

Solzhenitsyn was born in Moscow, but his family settled on a Vermont farm in 1976.

When he isn't performing with the National Symphony Orchestra or the Philadelphia Chamber Music Society, Solzhenitsyn studies piano and conducting at the Curtis Institute in Philadelphia.

Herd ends season by holding off Demons

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

Gabriel Medrano did it last week, so he knew he could do it again this week.

The senior linebacker for the Whitefaces intercepted a Dumas pass with 1:25 to go, preserving an 18-16 win for Hereford Friday in Whiteface Stadium.

The win ended Hereford's season with a 4-6 record.

Medrano also picked off a pass in the last minute on the Friday before, scaling a 17-9 win over Caprock.

"The whole ballgame I was looking for an interception after (what happened) last week," Medrano said. "I happened to put myself in the right spot."

Herd safety Michael Brown put himself in right spot, too. He recovered at least two Dumas fumbles in the first half. Two of Dumas' three fumbles in the first half led to Hereford touchdowns.

"I got to give it all to Coach (defensive coordinator Mike) Purcell - harping on me all the time, making me go after it," Brown said.

"The coaches are great, the seniors are great, we're really going to miss 'em," said Brown, a junior. "We didn't have the kind of season we wanted, but that's all right: we ended it right."

Hereford started the season with a six-game losing streak, though Tascosa later had to forfeit a season-opening win. The Herd finished strongly, though, winning three of its last four and tying for third in District 1-4A. The Whitefaces were in the playoff hunt until the end.

"I'm very proud of each and every one of these players," said Andrew Tijerina, the starting center and a senior captain. "We put a lot of hard work into the season. It didn't show in the record, but we put a lot of hard work into it. I wouldn't trade any team. This is the team right here."

Herd coach Danny Haney had praise for his troops.

"I think this team deserves lots of credit, because they faced more adversity than most people have to face," Haney said. "They kept getting better and better and better. They never quit. They never let down."

Turnovers were the death of Dumas. Besides Brown's fumble recoveries, Brandon Gearn had a interception late in the first half.

Haney said a key to the game was the turnovers, but also how Hereford was able to capitalize by moving the ball against a tough Dumas defense.

"The turnovers hurt them bad, and you've got to give credit to our offense," Haney said. "We did drive the ball on them, and nobody's been able to do that. The offensive line had another great game."

Dumas' first turnover came on the first play from scrimmage, and Hereford capitalized. Demon running back Armando Venzer coughed up the ball and Brown fell on it at the Dumas 37-yard line.

Hereford only needed five plays to score. One was an 18-yard pass to Marc Haney from Elias Reyna, and one was a 16-yard run by tailback Marquise Brown. A play later, Reyna found Hayden Andrews in the front right corner of the end zone for a three-yard TD pass.

Terance High's extra point kick missed, but Hereford led 6-0 with only 1:58 gone.

The teams traded punts twice without any first downs. Then Dumas quarterback David Stone fumbled on the third play of its fourth possession. Coaches could not tell on film who recovered it, but it was a Hereford player who fell on it at the Hereford 46.

The Herd drove 55 yards in 12 plays, moving entirely on the ground. Fullback Justin Wright ran three times for 25 yards and tailback Marquise Brown ran six times for 30, including the final two yards on the second play of the second quarter.

Reyna's pass for two points was intercepted, so Hereford's lead was limited to 12-0.

Dumas got its first first down of the game on a pass interference call--the Demons gained 31 yards in the entire first quarter--but another fumble and a 13-yard return by Michael Brown set Hereford up again.

The Demon defense stiffened though, and High's 29-yard field goal try was barely wide right.

Dumas's next two possessions were stopped by a fumble--it was recovered by Dumas, but it was kicked around for a 19-yard loss, forcing a punt--and Gearn's interception.

Gearn's return into Dumas territory gave Hereford several opportunities to throw to the end zone before halftime, but all fell incomplete. Michael Brown did hit Marc Haney in the end zone for an apparent TD, but it was called back by an illegal man downfield penalty.

Dumas changed quarterbacks at the half, as sophomore Gary Hurst replaced Stone, a senior. The strategy paid off immediately, though fullback Joe Dan Rogers did most of the work, turning a short pass into a 70-yard touchdown play. James Charles' extra point kick cut the Herd lead to 12-7.

Dumas immediately threatened again, driving as far as the Hereford 10, but Charles missed a 33-yard field goal try. Hereford responded to the threat with a nine-play, 80-yard touchdown drive. It included completions of 25 and 17 yards to tight end Mark Kuper. The second of those came on fourth-down-and-two and got Hereford down to the Dumas three. Marquise Brown ran it the rest of the way for the touchdown.

The pass for two failed, but Hereford

Finding the open man
Hereford quarterback Elias Reyna rolls out and looks for a receiver in Friday's 18-16 win over Dumas at Whiteface Field. Reyna threw for 115 yards Friday, raising his season total to 1,126 yards in 10 games. Marquise Brown (2) provides a block for Reyna.

Randall, Borger triumph, Hereford must stay home

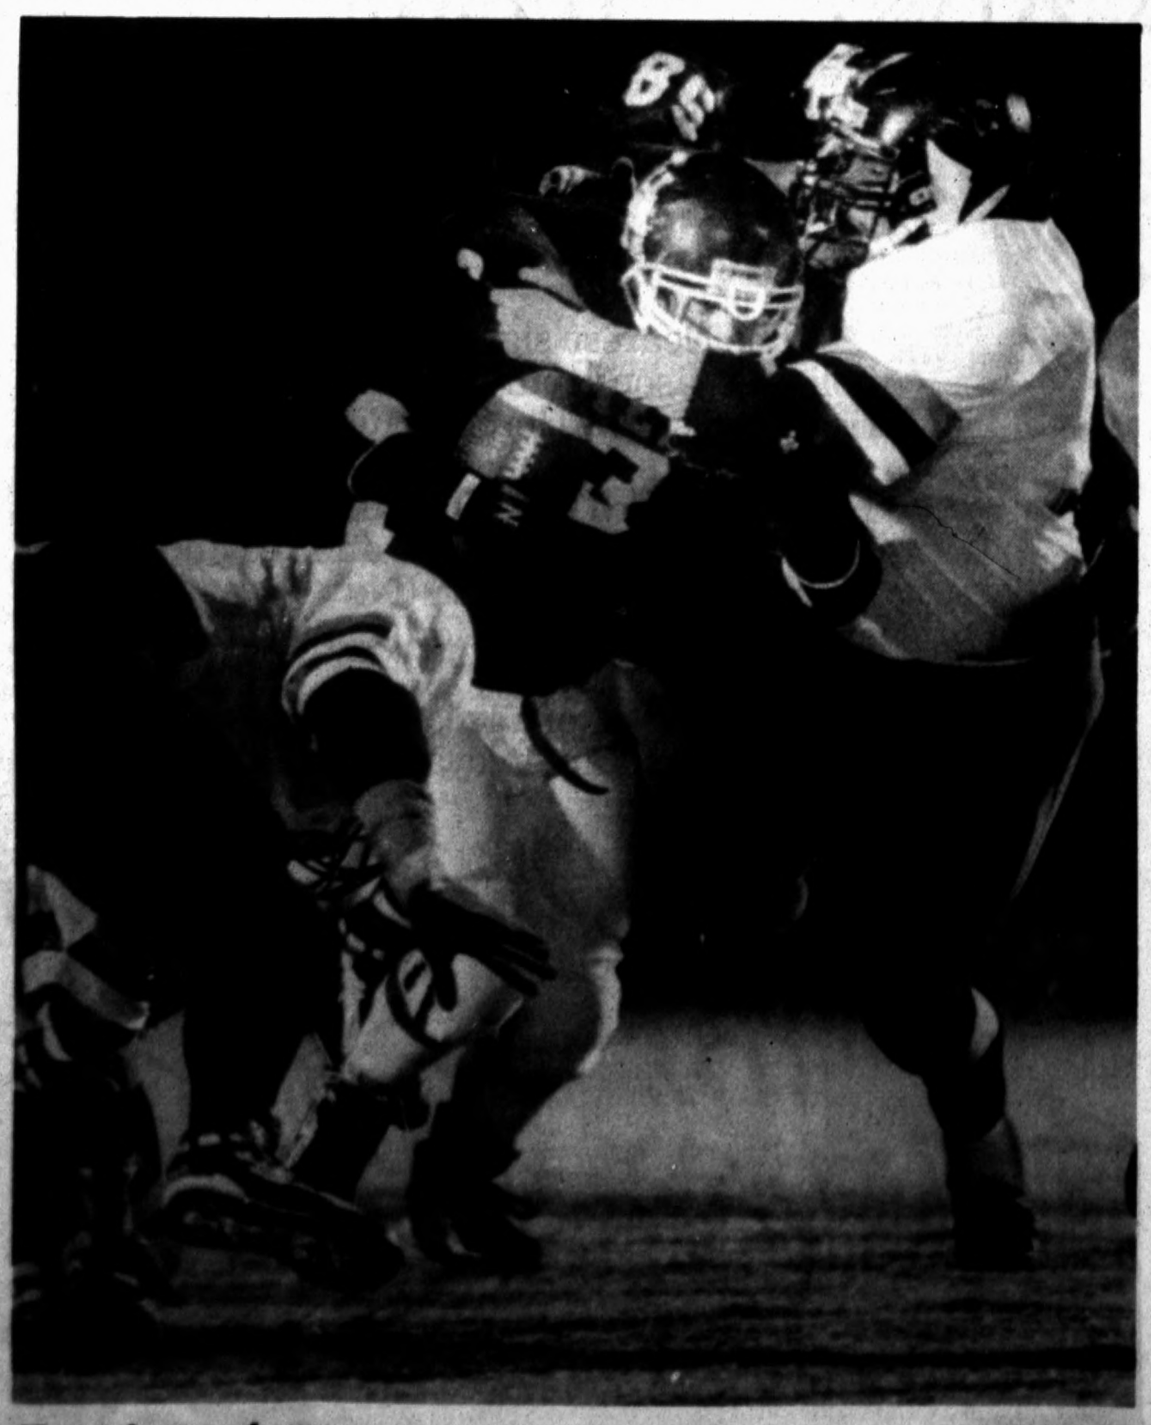

Hereford held up its end of the bargain, but Pampa and Caprock dropped the ball.

To get in the playoffs, Hereford needed a win over Dumas, a Caprock win over Borger and a Pampa win over Randall. But Caprock lost 48-0, and Pampa lost 30-10.

Randall's win gives it a share of the District 1-4A title at 4-1, along with Pampa. The win also gives Randall the district's top playoff seed and the right to play Frenship (8-2) in bi-district, instead of fifth-ranked Plainview (10-0). Pampa gets to play Plainview.

Hereford's win puts it in a third-place tie with Borger at 3-2. Dumas is fifth at 1-4; Caprock is last at 0-5.

Overall, the teams record s are: Randall, 8-2; Pampa, 8-2; Borger, 6-4; Hereford, 4-6; Dumas, 2-8; and Caprock, 1-9. Hereford's and Borger's overall records include a forfeit victory over Tascosa.

Judson RB sets state mark

By JAIME ARON
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP) - The 1993 high school football regular season ended the way it began, with Converse Judson's Jerod Douglas and Southlake Carroll taking center stage.

Douglas, arguably the state's best player, and Carroll, one of the most dominant teams in state history, each capped successful seasons Friday night in record-setting fashion.

Douglas gained 159 yards in No. 3 Judson's 35-0 victory over San Antonio Madison, giving him 5,330 career yards - beating the previous Class 5A record of 5,370 set by Lewisville's Paul Rice from 1972 to 1974.

The Dragons, Class 3A's top-ranked team and the defending champs, defeated Lake Worth 35-0 to extend their state record of regular season victories to 71 and tie a national mark with their seventh straight undefeated season.

They became the sixth team to have such a streak, the first since Pittsfield, Ill., from 1966-72.

Douglas, 5-9 and 170 pounds, also holds the 5A single-season rushing mark with 2,967 yards. He did that last season as the Rockets won the Class 5A Division I title.

His pace this season was slowed by a deep hip bruise suffered on the first day of contact practice. The injury forced him to miss several early games and limited him to only a few quarters in other games.

Other than the records, the final weekend will be remembered for the loss by Class 1A's top-ranked Crawford and by violence that marred a few games and even caused another to be canceled.

The Crawford Pirates fell 9-7 to Riesel, meaning they won't still be No. 1 when the season's final Associated Press high school football poll is released Monday.

Joining the Pirates in the slide down the 1A rankings will be No. 3 Collinsville, a 35-18 loser to Lindsay. Lindsay became the District 17-3A champ.

There also was a 15-15 tie between No. 4 Tenaha and No. 6 Overton.

The reshuffling likely will vault No. 2 Gunter, a 58-0 winner over Prosper, into the top spot entering the postseason.

Waco University, ranked 10th in 4A, was the only other ranked team to lose.

The Trojans missed a chance for their first-ever perfect season by falling 42-7 to Belton. The loss also cost University its first outright 25-4A title since 1956.

At halftime, there was a huge brawl among University fans. Four shots were fired underneath the stadium press box.

In Arlington, a 5A game between Irving Nimitz and Arlington Martin was stopped with 1:24 to play after the second of two bench-clearing fights. Nimitz won 27-20.

Rumors of violence forced school officials in Laredo to call off a game between rivals Laredo Martin and Laredo Nixon three hours before kickoff.

"It was a hard decision to make," said Laredo Independent School District Superintendent Vidal M. Trevino. "But after talking to both principals and both coaches, it was decided to cancel."

Trevino said bomb threats and rumors that some students planned to bring guns to the game sparked the decision to cancel.

The only threats Southlake Carroll made is to never lose again.

Dragons coach Bob Ledbetter again has retooled his squad and come up with a team unstoppable to 3A foes. Maybe in the interest of fairness the UIL will consider sending Carroll to 4A, 5A or the NCAA's Division I-A in its next realignment.

Mark Byarly scored three touchdowns, Dane Johnson ran for 104 yards and two scores, and the Dragons' defense forced five turnovers.

All other ranked 3A teams won, although No. 2 Sweeny squeaked past Stafford 14-13 behind a missed 21-yard field gaol by Stafford with 2:31 left in the game.

The sixth through 10th-ranked teams in 2A all won by shutouts, as did No. 2 Honey Grove. Top-ranked Boyd needed a fourth-quarter touchdown and a strong defensive stand for a 28-21 victory over Jacksboro.

Waxahachie capped a wire-to-wire season atop 4A with a 37-3 victory over Midlothian. The Indians are the class' defending champs.

Class 5A's marquee game featuring top-ranked Dallas Carter and No. 5 Dallas Kimball was to be played Saturday.

Paydirt

Hereford tailback Marquise Brown (2) goes around a block by Elias Reyna (8) for a first-quarter touchdown. Dumas' Armando Venzer (21) won't be able to tackle him. Brown ran for 142 yards Friday, giving him a season total of 1,121 in eight games.

Hereford's 'Scat' Russell inducted into Hardin-Simmons' sports HOF

L.B. "Scat" Russell, a Hereford sports star in the 1930s and a football coach in the '50s, was inducted on Friday into the Hardin-Simmons University Athletic Hall of Fame.

When Russell was a star for the Hardin-Simmons football teams, it was in his second try at making the team. After Russell graduated from Hereford High School in 1935, Hardin-Simmons coach Frank Kimbrough told him he was too small to play. After a year and a half at Paris Junior College, Russell tried out again at Hardin-Simmons, and this time he made it.

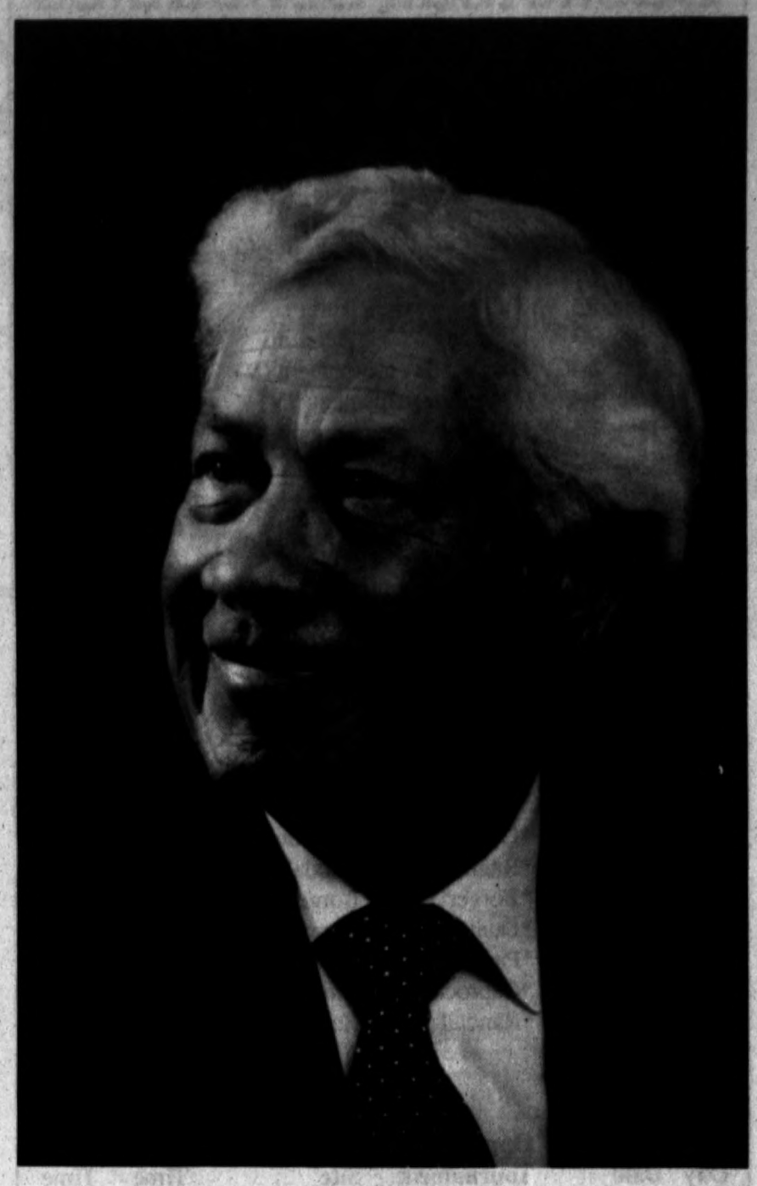

By 1940, he had become a star on a Hardin-Simmons team that finished undefeated and ranked 17th in the nation in the final Associated Press poll. He and Owen Goodnight became known as the "Touchdown Twins." An 88-yard pass from Goodnight to Russell against Catholic U. of Washington D.C. is still the school record.

Russell was drafted in 1941 by the NFL's Philadelphia Eagles, but he never played for them.

Russell served in the Army during World War II and retired as a captain in 1947. His decorations include the Purple Heart and two Battlefield Stars.

After two-year coaching stints at both Baird High School and Cisco Junior College, he became the head football coach at Hereford High School. From 1952-56, he compiled a record of 21-25-4, including an 8-2 campaign in 1955.

He later served as the assistant principal for Shirley school, the principal of HHS, and as a member of the school board. In 1967, he became the Superintendent of the Walcott school district in northwest Deaf Smith county. He also became the basketball coach at Walcott and served in that position for 10 years.

Hereford to host other teams' playoff games

Hereford will host three high school playoff matchups this week in volleyball and football.

In volleyball, Sanford-Fritch will meet Brownfield in a 3A bi-district matchup at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in Whiteface Gym. Brownfield at 15-12 is the champion of District 2-3A; Sanford-Fritch (13-12) is the runner-up in 1-3A.

Whiteface Stadium will host two bi-district football games this weekend. Happy and Sudan will meet in a Class 1A clash at 7:30 Friday. Happy (9-1) is the runner up in District 1-1A, while Sudan (7-2) is the champion of 2-1A. Sudan outscored its five district opponents 261-0 this season.

Class 3A schools Littlefield and River Road will meet at 7:30 Saturday. Littlefield, the champion of District 2-3A, is undefeated at 10-0. River Road, the runner-up in 1-3A, is 9-1.

In 1970, Bobby Murcer hit four home runs in consecutive times at bat over a two-game spread for the Yankees.

Ex-coach Landry to join Cowboys' Ring of Honor

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Tom Landry finally comes back home on Sunday.

He will become the eighth inductee into the Dallas Cowboys Ring of Honor. It took years for Landry to decide to do it.

"My last hurrah," Landry called it this week in an interview.

Landry didn't want to be near new owner Jerry Jones after the night of the long knives at Valley Ranch in February, 1989. Jones treated Landry like a day laborer, something he was later to admit "was my biggest mistake when I took over the Cowboys."

led 18-7 with 2:06 left in the third quarter.

Runs of 27 and 12 yards by Dumas' Frank Chacon set up a 34-yard field goal by Charles, which he dumped over the crossbar on the second play of the fourth quarter.

Dumas made a tight game of it when-set up by Wright's fumble at the Hereford 38--Hurst sneaked one yard into the end zone with 6:59 left to play. Dumas went for two and the tie but fumbled on the play, and Richard Hicks recovered for Hereford, preserving the 18-16 lead.

Dumas kept threatening, forcing two punts out of Hereford. Cameron Betzen first punt of those two went sideways for only eight yards, but Dumas failed to capitalize, throwing three straight incomplete passes.

Betzen's next punt went 36 yards for a touchback. Dumas ate up Hereford's breathing room as Hurst found Drew Duffer over the middle for a 25-yard gain to the Hereford 45. Two plays later, though, Medrano ended the suspense by stepping in front of Dumas receiver Joseph Marers and picking off Hurst.

—YOUR EYES—

TV HABITS POINT TO EYE PROBLEMS

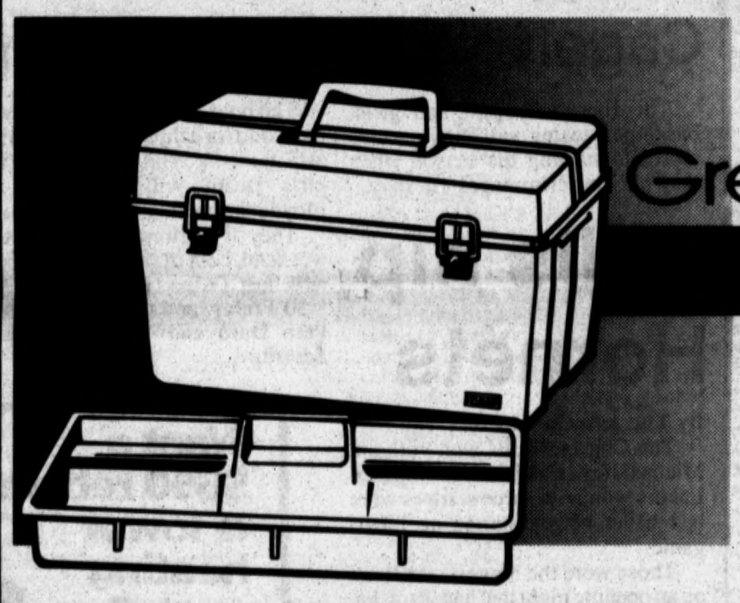

Now that kids are indoors more -- doing homework and probably watching more TV -- it's a good idea for parents to keep an eye on them and their viewing habits. Children are usually unaware of any vision problems -- however they see, they think they're supposed to see . It may be the parent who first notices that a child is squinting or frequently rubbing his or her eyes.

If a child complains that he can't read the print on the screen, it may be an indication of nearsightedness. Number confusion -- when 8 is mixed up with a 3, or 4's and 5's look alike -- may signal an astigmatism.

Parents serve as the first protectors of their children's vision, the first to notice wandering eyes, excessive blinking, an inability to focus, chronic tearing, red eye or other problems. Any signs of visual problems should be brought to the attention of the optometrist during a complete eye examination.

Practicing for the season

Hereford's Robin Simons looks to pass upcourt during a fast-break drill in basketball practice Thursday. The Hereford boys' and girls' basketball teams will play in their first scrimmages Tuesday, with the girls in Floydada and the boys hosting Palo Duro and Estacado, starting at 5 p.m.

Cagers' scrimmages set

The Hereford boys' and girls' basketball teams will move a step closer to starting the season when they play in scrimmages Tuesday.

The boys will host Palo Duro and Estacado for a three-way scrimmage at 5 p.m. in Whiteface Gym. The girls' team will scrimmage in Floydada, starting at 4.

They'll scrimmage again this weekend, both in Hereford. The boys will host Dalhart and Muleshoe at 5:30 Friday, and the girls will host Palo Duro and Vega at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Bulls nip Hornets

By The Associated Press

The Chicago Bulls won without Michael Jordan and the Los Angeles Lakers won with three starters who had never before started an NBA game.

Those were the biggest surprises on an opening night that had 26 of the 27 teams starting their seasons.

Nick Van Exel scored 23 points as the Lakers combined veteran and young players to defeat the defending Western Conference champion Phoenix Suns 116-108.

Charlotte played host to the three-time defending champion Bulls. B.J. Armstrong matched a career high with 28 points and Scottie Pippen had 23 points and 16 rebounds as Chicago won 124-123 in overtime despite Johnny Newman's 28-footer at the end of regulation that forced an extra period.

Elsewhere in the NBA, it was New York 111, Boston 108; Philadelphia 94, Washington 82; Atlanta 116, Indiana 110; Milwaukee 94, Cleveland 91; Detroit 104, Minnesota 99; Houston 110, New Jersey 88; Orlando 116, Miami 96; San Antonio 91, Golden State 85; Utah 102, Dallas 86; the Los Angeles Clippers 97, Portland 95; and Sacramento 109, Denver 100.

Lakers 116, Suns 108

Van Exel was in the Los Angeles starting lineup with two other players who had never started a game - Trevor Wilson and Antonio Harvey - but they mahandled Phoenix down the stretch.

Clippers 97, Trail Blazers 95

Mark Aguirre, playing his first game for the Clippers, hit a 3-pointer at the buzzer, giving them and new coach Bob Weiss a victory over visiting Portland.

Kings 109, Nuggets 100

Sacramento rallied from a 17-point deficit to defeat Denver.

The Kings won their fifth consecutive home opener despite 25 points by the Nuggets' Mahmoud Abdul-Rauf and 23 points and 17 rebounds by Dikembe Mutombo.

Magic 116, Heat 96

Shaquille O'Neal scored 42 points and Orlando opened the season by winning at Miami for the first time in their five-year history.

Rony Seikaly led Miami with 21 points.

Rockets 110, Nets 88

Hakeem Olajuwon had 24 points and 19 rebounds, leading Houston over visiting New Jersey.

Derrick Coleman had 19 points and 13 rebounds for New Jersey.

LANDRY

as the new head coach, Jones forgot common courtesy. Instead of a private meeting with Landry to explain the coming changes, Jones hopped a private plane to fly to Austin to fire Landry on the Hidden Hills golf course.

To this day, Landry hasn't been back to Texas Stadium to see the team play.

He seen them twice, in New York and in Phoenix when he was on business trips.

"It's just worked out that way," Landry said. "I've been busy giving motivational speeches and making Fellowship of Christian Athletes meetings."

Landry insists he's not bitter.

"I moved away with very little animosity or hard feelings," Landry said. "I haven't really missed it very much at all. When I stepped away it was like I was supposed to do it. I don't sit in front of the TV and X and O football."

Former players like Roger Staubach, Lee Roy Jordan and Bob Lilly kept calling Landry pleading with him to bury the hatchet.

"I was sensitive to how they felt," Landry said. "If I didn't go into the Ring of Honor it would have been a reflection on it. I didn't want that to happen."

It was an uncomfortable situation for Jones and certainly for Landry, one of the most decorated coaches in NFL history with five Super Bowl teams, two NFL titles, and 270 victories from 1960 to 1988.

Not many coaches with that kind of record get handed their head.

Landry said he wanted only one more year to coach. But one of the winningest coaches in the history of the game didn't get to pick the time and place of his departure.

"That's the way it goes when you get a new owner," Landry said. "If they spend a lot of money, they have the right to do anything they want to with the team. I was probably going to coach the one year left in my contract and leave anyway. I wanted to get the team back to .500 before I did."

Don't look for Landry to be back to Texas Stadium.

"This is what I call a one-shot deal," said Landry. "I'm busy traveling with my businesses. I try to watch the Cowboys games on television when I can. It's too hard to battle the crowds when you are at the games."

It's ironic that Landry will be honored at halftime of a New York Giants game. He was a former defensive coordinator for the Giants before he left to become head coach for the expansion Dallas franchise.

The current coach of the Giants, Dan Reeves, played under Landry and was an assistant under him.

"It will be good to see Danny," Landry said. "That helps make this game and this honor even more special."

Landry will join a membership honor roll that includes Lilly, Staubach, Jordan, and Don Meredith, Don Perkins, Chuck Howley and Mel Renfro. All of them were expected to be on hand for Landry's day.

Will the man some called "old stone face" be emotional?

"Yeah, I expect I'll be a little emotional," Landry said. "Who wouldn't?"

USDA making new effort to require safe-handling labels on raw meat

By ROBERT GREENE
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Agriculture Department is making a second attempt to require safe-handling labels for all uncooked meat while fending off the sharpest criticism yet of its efforts to protect the food supply.

The new regulations were proposed Thursday as members of Congress and consumer and labor groups accused the department of moving too slowly to improve food safety.

"The department has stumbled and fumbled through this year with little progress to show for it," Rep. Mike Kreidler, D-Wash., told a House Government Operations subcommittee.

The panel examined a proposal by Vice President Al Gore's reinventing-government team to transfer meat and poultry inspection from the Agriculture Department to the Food and Drug Administration.

"Given USDA's past track record I want to be sure that we are progressing fast enough to protect Americans, and at this moment I cannot say that we are," said Rep. Edolphus Towns, D-N.Y., chairman of the human resources and intergovernmental relations subcommittee.

The department disputed those claims.

"We wished in our all our hearts that previous administrations, previous secretaries, had started this process - taken the steps that this secretary has taken in 10 months - eight years ago, 10 years ago, 12 years ago," said Steve Kinsella, spokesman for Agriculture Secretary Mike Espy.

A USDA statement laid the blame on "intense industry opposition and repeated attempts to bureaucratically delay any progress" and on a shortage of scientific information.

The labeling regulation issued Thursday will require the same information on safe handling, thawing, cooking and storing of raw meat and poultry as the first set of rules did.

Ground and chopped products must have a label once the rule takes effect. For all other uncooked products, a leaflet available at the meat or checkout counter may be substituted for labels until April 15, 1994, when all raw meat will have to be labeled.

To overcome objections of a federal judge who struck down the original rule last month, the proposed rule gives the public 45 days to comment.

After that, the Agriculture Department will issue a final rule, to take effect in 30 days. Department officials hope the labels on ground products will be required in early 1994. The deadline had been Oct. 15 under the rule that was struck down.

Bruce Gates, spokesman for the industry group that challenged the initial rule, said the 30-day implementation is less time than the first rule gave.

"You can't say we're having a legitimate notice and comment period and say we're open to changes while saying it's going to be the same rule as before," he said.

Language clarified on rangeland policy

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Clinton administration is trying to surmount a Senate roadblock to reforming federal rangeland policy by offering new language to protect state water rights.

Colorado Gov. Roy Romer dropped his opposition to pending legislation on range reform after Interior Secretary Bruce Babbitt offered clarifying language on water rights late Thursday.

But Sen. Pete Domenici, R-N.M., who is leading forces blocking a Senate vote on the administration-backed legislation, branded Babbitt's move "a smoke screen to hide other issues" contained in the bill.

"The fact that they're willing to wheel and deal on water underscores our point that no one knows the implication of a lot of these changes," proposed for federally owned rangeland, said Domenici's spokesman, Ari Fleischer.

Some Western senators had suggested the legislation could be interpreted to allow the federal government to supersede state water authority.

In reply, Babbitt issued clarifying language saying the pending bill is "pursuant to state law" on water rights.

"I am satisfied that this ambiguity can be corrected" by the language Babbitt issued, Romer said in a letter to Babbitt.

"I think it is in the best interests of all parties to get beyond the current deadlock," Romer wrote. "I support these changes, urge that they be adopted, together with the bill currently before the U.S. Senate."

The bill states that the federal government will be entitled to all future water rights on federally owned rangeland, reverting to the situation that existed before former Interior Secretary James Watt allowed ranchers to obtain the water rights.

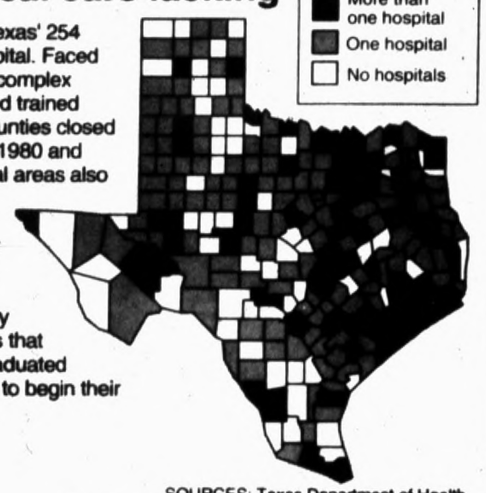

States generally govern their own water rights, and the federal government must apply for water rights like anyone else. Babbitt's new wording would not be part of the legislation, which the House already has passed, but would go into the legislative record as interpretative language.

Grazing fees for government-owned rangeland would be increased by the bill and environmental standards would be stricter.

Keeping an eye on Texas

Rural medical care lacking

About one-fourth of Texas' 254 counties have no hospital. Faced with the rising cost of complex medical equipment and trained personnel, 58 rural counties closed 66 hospitals between 1980 and 1992. Many of the rural areas also lack practicing physicians, dentists, pharmacists and other health care providers. The state is trying to address the problem by creating new programs that encourage recently graduated family practice doctors to begin their careers in rural areas.

Deer seem abundant for opening of season

SAN ANTONIO (AP) -- Experts predicted a high density of deer for the opening of deer-hunting season Saturday. The season opened in most regions of the state.

Despite an especially dry summer and a less-than-abundant supply of natural deer food, hunting observers are predicting the overall deer kill in Texas this season could set a record.

Texas Parks and Wildlife biologist Fielding Harwell of Kerrville said even though fawns "took a hit" during the dry summer in the Edwards Plateau, the crop of young deer this year still averaged .61 fawns per doe, slightly above the .59 average for the area.

Deer densities in the Hill Country average one for every 13 acres this year, which is about average. Harwell, quoted in the San Antonio Express-News, said that deer population still needs to be reduced.

"We could be looking for some hard times this winter," Harwell said. "If the deer population is not reduced and we get into a drought situation, we'll lose some deer. We need to get the population down in line with the food supply early in the season."

Compared to last year, when oaks produced the best crop of acorns in a decade, the acorn crop that deer feed on is only fair this year. That means deer are likely to head to feeders more often for food, experts say.

In South Texas, where deer-hunting season does not open until Nov. 13, state parks biologist Jay Williams of San Antonio said his field offices are reporting "no place where the deer look bad."

"Everybody said they are seeing a lot of good bucks," Williams said. "They aren't predicting the bucks to be quite as good as last season, but they are sure good, and the hunters can't complain."

Along with deer season, turkey-hunting season also opens Saturday in much of Texas.

Farm, ranch surveys conducted this month

The Texas Agricultural Statistics Service is contacting farm and ranch operators on the fall 1993 crop and livestock surveys.

Approximately 52,000 farmers and ranchers have been selected to represent Texas agriculture in the surveys.

Early survey results will be used to estimate final acreage and production for crops grown in 1993. Later surveys will help determine livestock inventory numbers on Jan. 1.

Information gathered in the surveys will represent not only the selected producer but other farmers and ranchers who have similar size and type operations. Individual reports will be expanded and summarized to provide state and county estimates.

"To obtain an accurate picture of Texas agriculture, we depend on voluntary cooperation of farmers and ranchers and we hope each operator contacted will participate in these important year-end surveys," said Dennis Findley, state statistician.

"All information received is strictly confidential and protected by law from any disclosure," he said.

Results of the surveys will be published in Texas Agricultural Facts which will be available to all survey respondents. The publication also will be provided on request by calling 1-800-626-3142.

REINKE IRRIGATION SYSTEMS
FIRST IN INNOVATION

No one in the industry today has more years of electric center pivot experience than Reinke Manufacturing Company. And no one has pioneered more engineering "firsts" in the development of the center pivot. Many of the Reinke innovations have been incorporated as "standard items" by other leading irrigation manufacturers, including V-Jack supports, rubber tires and worm gear drive.

Patented Reinke innovations include the unique Energy Saver Packages* option which makes the Reinke Swing Arm Corner System the only practical corner system. It allows water and chemicals to be applied evenly, circle times to be reduced by one-third and eliminates pumping peaks regardless of the Swing Arm's position.

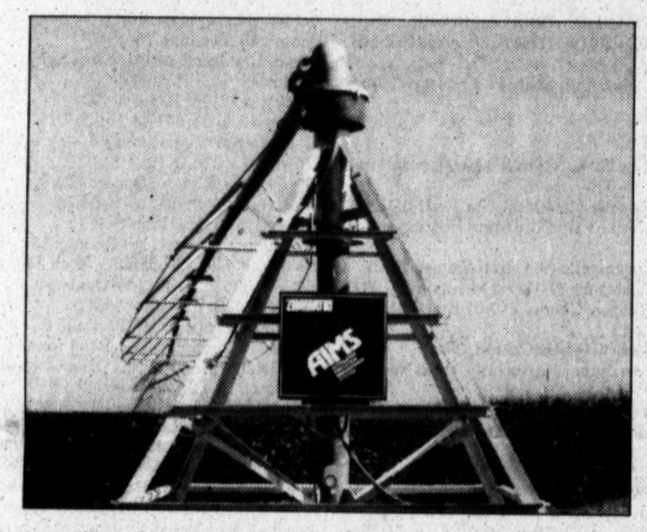

Reinke even offers optional solid state controls for "state-of-the-art" alignment control. To find out why Reinke technology and reliability should be your first choice for irrigation, give us a call today.

United States leaves recession ahead of Japan, Germany

By RICK GLADSTONE
AP Business Writer

Sales of American homes and cars are surging. Factories are busier. Government number crunchers say the economic outlook should improve even more next year.

In Japan, meanwhile, people are fretting about the demise of lifetime job security and the country's biggest bankruptcy in the postwar period. Germany's employers are cutting once-sacrosanct benefits and considering a four-day workweek to save money.

The United States, which once looked like a deteriorating powerhouse about to be overtaken by Japan and Germany, now seems to be enjoying a substantial growth spurt.

At the same time, its chief foreign competitors are stumbling and staggering through the kind of acute economic pain Americans began to feel years ago.

Some forecasters even see the makings of a U.S.-led global renaissance in the coming year, assuming American businesses and consumers grow more prosperous and confident.

Under that scenario, the United States will assume the role of the global economic catalyst, as it has done in the past, creating demand for goods and services needed to stimulate growth worldwide.

"You can look forward in mid-1994 to a world firing on all cylinders, where the U.S., Japan and Europe are all growing simultaneously," said William Sterling, an international economist at Merrill Lynch & Co., the big Wall Street investment firm. "The process of growth becomes self-amplifying."

To be sure, this is not a prevailing view. Signs of American weakness still abound, from a near daily diet of corporate "downsizings" to the persistent recession in California and the Northeast.

Many economists remain extremely cautious, tempering optimism with reminders of false starts in the economy that followed the Persian Gulf War and the election of President Clinton a year ago.

They point to American family incomes, which aren't growing significantly. Unemployment - or fear of it - is a common theme around the office, assembly line and dinner table.

A monthly layoff tally released last week by the Chicago job placement firm Challenger, Gray and Christmas Inc. showed that pink slip announcements surged 37 percent in October to an average of 3,200 per day.

"Workers at all levels, especially recent victims of mass layoffs, must be terribly confused by all the talk from economists about a growing economy while at the same time reading an increased number of layoff announcements," said James Challenger, the firm's president.

Still, anxiety over jobs has obscured signs of vibrancy. On Tuesday, for example, the government reported that sales of new homes hit a seven-year high in September, strengthened by the tonic of lower interest rates that made mortgages more affordable. The key U.S. forecasting gauge of economic activity also rose for the fourth straight month, pointing to healthier growth in 1994.

On Monday, a survey of industrial purchasing executives showed that U.S. manufacturing expanded in October for the first time in five months. Last week, U.S. automakers reported the strongest sales rate of cars and trucks all year.

Why are we growing while Germany and Japan are stagnating?

"Our interest rates came down earlier than foreign interest rates," said Sterling. "It's kind of a first-in, first out pattern. We went into recession earlier, interest rates came down, that helped restore growth."

The lower cost of borrowing in the United States, however, isn't the only reason for the reversal of fortune. Japan and Germany are confronting their own peculiar sets of problems.

The Japanese are suffering partly from the hangover of excessive real estate speculation in the 1980s, which inflated property values and made Japan look much stronger than it really was.

"We're still in a recession caused by the breaking of the bubble," said Arthur Alexander, head of the Japan Economics Institute, a Japanese government-funded group in Washington.

In Germany, the costs of reunifying east and west have led to a case of national economic indigestion marked by rising unemployment and the worst recession since World War II.

This may sound reassuring to Americans concerned over a loss of U.S. competitiveness. But many economists say this is a flawed assumption in an intertwined world economy. A weak Japan and Germany cannot buy American-made jetliners, computers and food or patronize American beaches and resorts.

Centenarians defy stereotypes by living alone, staying healthy

By LAURAN NEERGAARD
Associated Press Writer

ATLANTA (AP) - The year was 1908, the Cubs were playing the Giants and 15-year-old Phillip Robinson was in the stands.

Eighty-five years later, he remembers it clearly, reciting the starting lineup, recounting the inside-the-park home run. For the record, the Cubs won 3-1.

"I remember it very well, how it was so exciting," Robinson said. "They had the best double-play lineup, Tinker to Evers to Chance."

Robinson refutes stereotypes about the elderly. At 100, he's independent and sharp, with a memory that stretches back to when he was a mere 5 and watched troops go off to the Spanish-American War.

And he's one of a select few whose lives hold a secret the world craves to know: Why do some centenarians never lose their quality of life?

Psychology, answers Dr. Leonard Poon. Early results from his $3 million study indicate that optimism, the ability to cope and religion or some similar guiding philosophy link the healthiest, most independent centenarians.

"They are the ultimate survivors," Poon, a University of Georgia gerontologist, said. "They have seen two lifetimes."

The Georgia Centenarian Study is an in-depth look at more than 100 Georgians who are 100 or older, cogent and still live independently - the third of Georgia's centenarians who aren't institutionalized.

Begun in 1988, it's one of a handful of attempts to understand the lives of our oldest old. France, Sweden, Hungary and Japan are conducting similar projects.

The nation's 54,000 centenarians survived the Depression, two world wars, the creation and demise of the Soviet Union. Some drank the first Coke in 1892, popped that new wonder drug aspirin in 1899. They went from the horse-and-buggy era to cars to space shuttles.

It's enough to boggle any mind.

Then add that they've outlived relatives, and that their own life expectancy at age 100 is only 36 months.

But are Poon's centenarians depressed, anxious, overwhelmed? No way. They're optimistic, philosophical, opinionated. Mostly, they're satisfied with their lives.

"Their findings are confirming a lot of important things" about the role of psychology on well-being, Ilene Siegler of Duke University said.

And they could have major implications for how the nation responds to its burgeoning elderly population, Poon contends.

"We have had no reason to really pay attention to older people because they were a minority," he said. "Whether people like it or not, they are starting to dominate, and they can do it either as contributors to society or as burdens."

The best functioning centenarians have traits like optimism that help them cope with emotional trauma, Poon said.

The daughter of a sharecropper told Poon religion alleviates the sting of lifelong poverty. Robinson minimizes trauma, shrugging off the medal he won for bravery in World War I and discussing just the good times with the two wives he has outlived.

Advanced education and an imaginative, opinionated personality help, too, although Poon doesn't know why.

Robinson, a retired investment broker who moved from Milwaukee to Atlanta to be near his children, has his own theory about longevity: "Moderation in all things," he advised. "And have good friends, do what you enjoy if you can and be interested in things."

Robinson certainly is. Aside from his love of baseball and travel, he discourses on politics, history and authors from Conrad to Thackeray.

"In the short term there are a lot of changes, but really, over the long haul, society's not much different," he said. "But this whole aging process is changing the country. It's making a problem for society - what to do with these old so-and-so's.

"I have mixed feelings about being 100. But I have to say I enjoyed life really to the full. It's been a lot of fun."

Readerosaurus- (ree-der-OS-us, ree-der-o-SOR-us) - n. Any creature that's BIG on reading.

"Be a readerosaurus" is the theme for International Children's Book Week, November 15-21. To get in the spirit, we are giving away dinosaur bookmarks to the kids, and planning a big party for the 18th. We'll keep you posted.

There are three new displayers this month. Keeping with the dinosaur theme is Alfonso Abeyta, 11, with his collection of toy dinosaurs. Alfonso is the son of Alfonso and Rita Abeyta and is in the 6th grade at Shirley Intermediate. HIs favorite dinosaur is tyrannosaurs rex, and he enjoys any book about the creatures.

Holly Nanes has a collection of about 170 shells from tiny to hand size. Her favorite is the one she calls a "unicorn horn." Holly, 9, is the daughter of Robert Nanes, and is in the 4th grade at Shirley. She enjoys drawing, riding her bike, and writing stories.

As you may have realized, fiction to me is just so many stories, so this week I'm going to focus on non-fiction. It looks like the theme could be "what goes around comes around" as three of the new books are sequels of former works. The Book of Lists- - the 90s Edition carries on the tradition made popular a decade or so again by Wallechinsky and Wallace. The new edition includes such earth-shattering lists as: 11 men who cried in public (Jesus Christ, Jimmy Swaggart, Bill Clinton), Dr. Demento's 11 worst song titles of all time (too dumb to waste type space), and lawyers who became famous in other professions (Washington Irving, Fidel Castro, Hoagy Carmichael)...and, as they say, the list goes on.

Richard Lederer is following up his former hit with More Anguished English, "an expose' of embarrassing, excruciating, and egregious errors in English" culled from actual writings. Example: "Jesus was born because Mary had an immaculate contraption."

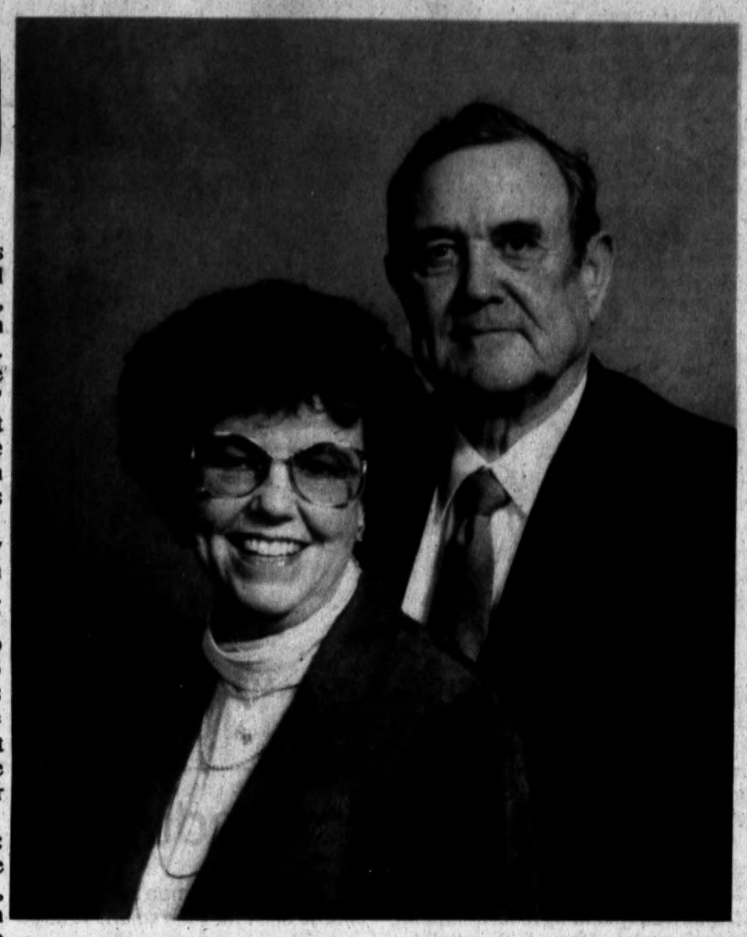

If you enjoyed Ralph Emery's first memoir, you'll want to read More Memories to get more of the lowdown on the Nashville scene. George Jones recommends it highly.

A couple of biographies you may find of interest. Hillary Rodham Clinton is the subject, and title, of one. Subtitled "A First Lady for Our Time," it details her childhood and rise to fame and power as she won the 1993 presidential elec...,OOPS! I mean as she helped her husband win the presidency. (Personally, I would just as soon she was a First lady for some other time, but why should I bother you with my politics.)

The other bio is Private Presley: The Missing Years in Germany. Here are many seldom-seen photos of Elvis, along with interviews and information generally overlooked. The book came with a CD which will be given away some time this coming week by KPAN. Keep listening to Captain Billy.

OK,OK, I'll tell you about one fiction book. A murder at the mission school reunites Leaphorn and Chee in Sacred Clowns by Tony Hillerman. The title refers to ceremonial dancers in Navajo ceremonies who ape the foolishness of mankind. (Sort of sound like politicians, don't they?)

Remember us when you're looking for something unique for Thanksgiving. We have recipes, devotional, plays, poems...what have you. We'll be looking for you.

JACK AND IRENE MCKINSTER

McKinsters celebrating 50th anniversary today

Jack and Irene McKinster will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary today, Sunday, with a family dinner in Fort Worth.

Their daughter and son-in-law, Sue and Allen Brown, will host the dinner at the Carriage House. In attendance will also be the couple's grandchildren, Greg and Keri Brown.

The McKinsters were married in First Methodist Church in Bennettsville, S.C. on Nov. 7, 1943. Mrs. McKinster is the former Irene Smith of Hobart, Okla. and her husband is a native of El Reno, Okla.

Jack is a retired cattle buyer for Excel and a World War II veteran. He was stationed at Camp Mackall, N.C. as a paratrooper in the 508 Regiment. He was decorated with a purple heart.

Irene is a retired director of marketing at Hereford State Bank and has been very active in the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Women's Division. She was named the organization's Woman of the Year. She is also listed in Who's Who of American Women.

The couple has resided in Hereford for 27 years and are members of the First Presbyterian Church.

The Nicaraguan capital of Managua fell to Sandinista guerrillas in 1979, two days after President Anastasio Somoza resigned and fled the country.

The Franco-Prussian War began in 1870.

ST. LOUIS (AP) - Donald Trump laid his cards on the table in this riverboat gambling town, proposing a grand, $300 million plan for a floating casino and more.

The plan is one of six vying for a coveted riverboat gambling spot at Laclede's Landing, a historic area of shops, restaurants and nightclubs along the Mississippi River.

Trump's plan, outlined Wednesday, includes a floating casino, a 1,000-room convention hotel, a 120-unit condominium, a marina and an aquarium.

"I want to bring the best - and some excitement - to St. Louis," he said.

Blowers, mulchers ease fall's tedious chores

Notice the comics page lately? Charlie Brown and the gang; Calvin and Hobbes; Nancy and Sluggo. Everybody's raking leaves...and hating it.

It's that fall rite, the great, albeit abhorred, tradition.

Too bad these comics kids don't have the latest equipment for leaf gathering, from leaf blower/ vacuums that actually mulch - no kidding - to rideable mulching mowers. Their antics might not be as funny, but their chores would become a lot easier.

Take the new generation of handheld electric blower/vacuums. They're more powerful and lighter than ever.

It's difficult to believe units less than seven pounds can produce 180-mile-per-hour jet streams. But they do, as well as convert to equally powerful vacuums. All for about $80.

However, these fun tools can do much more than blow debris into neat piles, says Tom Swain, a lawn expert with The Toro Company, a lawn equipment manufacturer. They can clear hard-to-reach areas such as flower beds, hedges, window wells or gravel-covered beds.

They are also good for cleaning gutters and down spouts, garages and driveways.

Swain demonstrated a model with a mulching fan, the SuperBlower, that shreds material entering the attachable bag, reducing an unwieldy eight bushels of debris down to one.

He advises against blowers with less than a 120 mph top speed. They often prove insufficient for the average user.

For maximum safety, Swain says, demand an interlock switch to prevent the motor from starting if the air-intake housing or vacuum tube is not installed properly.

Of course, as fun as a 180 mph blower might be, there are quicker ways to mulch those pesky leaves, such as a mulching lawn mower. Or, to really finish the job fast - a riding mower.

Military Muster

Eric Shane Davis, a 1992 graduate of Hereford High School, has joined the U.S. Army.

Staff Sgt. Don Smith of the Army's Recruiting Station at Amarillo, who recruited Davis, says he is scheduled to report Nov. 18 to begin basic training at Fort Sill, Okla. Davis has committed to three years' service and asked for advanced individual training as a fuel and electrical systems repairer.

Davis is the son of Elton S. and Patricia L. Davis of Hereford.

Human need; not profit.

KING'S MANOR FOUNDER'S ASSOCIATION
P.O. BOX 1999
HEREFORD, TEXAS 79045

Dear Friends,

To see residents sitting in wheelchairs in the dining room of a nursing home, mixing and pouring batter, flipping and turning pancakes, smiling, laughing and anticipating the treat they will soon consume (with the help of activity and social services personnel), is a deeply moving experience. Knowing that such a simple task of yesterday means so much today is the strongest encouragement for the ministry of King's Manor Methodist Home. Human need, not profit, is what motivates us to work as volunteers to assist King's Manor. Every dime we raise goes into services that support and sustain the physical, social, spiritual, and emotional happiness of people.

Please help us! The annual Founders Association Dinner will be held at 7 p.m., Thursday, November 11, 1993, in the Lamar Room at King's Manor. There will be great food and entertainment. We are also very pleased to announce that our keynote speaker will be Bishop Alfred E. Norris.

Our needs are great. As Paul says in Romans 12:8, "...if it is contributing to the needs of others, let him give generously..."

Sincerely yours,

Johnson, Williams wed Saturday afternoon

Amarillo residents, Holly Christine Johnson and John Chad Williams, were united in marriage Saturday afternoon in First Baptist Church of Amarillo.

Officiating at the ceremony was the Rev. Paul Land of First Christian Church in Amarillo.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Elliott Johnson of Amarillo. The bridegroom is the son of former Hereford residents, Mr. and Mrs. Arvell Williams, also of Amarillo. He is the grandson of Zoe Williams.

The church was decorated in colors of navy, mauve and ivory. Fresh greenery with baby's breath accented the candelabra and the aisle pews were marked with pew bows with mauve and ivory mums and greenery.

The bride's father presented her in marriage.

Bridesmaids were Shannon Griffon, Jolee Gwyn and Mrs. Cody Ann Rohland, the groom's sister.

Groomsmen were Brent Lee Crutchfield, Jay Dale Haggard and Jason Kyle Conaway.

Guests were escorted by the bride's cousins, Christopher Michael Melton and Shelby Dean Melton, and the groom's brother-in-law, Christopher Richard Rohland. The ushers also lit candles.

Tara Owens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brian Owens, was flower girl. Ring bearer was Chase Cossabone, son of Jaynie Cossabone.

Jim Garner accompanied Teela Malkuch as she sang "The Lord's Prayer," "The Parent's Prayer" and "I Will Be Here."

The bride wore a candlelight wedding gown fashioned with pleats on the sleeves, hips and train. The full skirt was accented with lace and was marked at the back waistline by a bow.

The candlelight netting was attached to a tiara. She carried a bouquet which was made by the groom's grandmother, Bettye Burnett. It was created with silk ivory roses, greenery, baby's breath and ivory pearls.

Bridal attendants were attired in midnight navy dresses designed with graduating hemlines and semi-puffy sleeves. They also wore pearls and carried mauve roses with greenery and baby's breath.

Amy Clawson invited guests to register at the reception at the Family Life Center at First Baptist Church in Amarillo.

The bride's cake was served by Lauri Anderwald and Mieke Keller, and the groom's cake was served by Amy Clawson. Teri Hand poured punch and coffee.

A white cake with ivory icing arranged on a spiral stand was placed on a table decorated with flowers and crystal candlesticks holding ivory tapers.

Leaving for a wedding trip to Jamaica, the bride wore a tea-length, straight designer's dress of ivory brocade and matching shoes.

The couple will reside in Amarillo.

The bride graduated from Amarillo High School in 1989 and will graduate from Texas Tech University in December. She is currently employed at Corporate Systems of Amarillo as a computer programmer.

The groom is a 1988 graduate of Amarillo High School. He graduated from West Texas A&M University with a degree in general studies. He is employed in the family business of auctioneering at Williams & Webb Auctioneers.

Out of town guests represented Hereford, other cities in Texas, South Dakota, Missouri, Ohio and Colorado.

Special thanks goes to Ashley, Stephanie and Dale Henson for their help with the Halloween booth.

Special thanks is also extended to Rachael and Cliff Ueckert, Sally Walker, Ruth Rodriquez and Lurline Cawthon for their assistance with giving clothes.

Applications for assistance from the Christmas Stocking Fund will be taken from 1-5 p.m. Monday through Friday at the Hereford Community Center.

A special Walkers Program will be held at 9:30 a.m. Thursday at Sugarland Mall. Volunteers will be taking blood pressures and Beverly Harder will be giving a program on eating right.

We are asking for comments from residents on how our chapter meets local needs such as helping in disasters and teaching first aid and CPR. Please mail those comments to P.O. Box 1371.

Disaster Services in California report that 16 shelters had 724 persons registered and 37,891 meals had been served. Over 1,298 volunteers and paid staff have worked helping 490 families. Donations for the California Fire Disaster may be made out to California Fire Relief American Red Cross and mailed to our chapter or brought by the local office.

Extra special thanks goes to the United Way volunteers who are out raising funds for agencies from our community. The Deaf Smith County Chapter of the American Red Cross is a United Way Agency.

In 1984, a gunman opened fire at a fast-food restaurant in San Ysidro, Calif., and killed 21 people before being shot dead by police.

Breakage can be reduced

If you're one of the millions of Americans planning to let a shipping service play "Santa" this holiday season, take note. Your carefully chosen holiday gifts can arrive at their destination on time and all in one piece if you take a few precautions and follow proper wrapping techniques.

That's the advice of professional shipping companies who all too often see holiday dreams shatter.

Newspaper, frequently the wrapping paper of choice among those who ship their gifts, was not meant for packaging. Modern packaging materials, on the other hand, are designed to cushion items. Having the right size carton is also important. A common mistake is to choose one that's too small. A large carton lets you cushion the item on all sides.

Many holiday gift givers will rely on a professional service to handle all aspects of shipping their gifts. Remember to mail early!

CHICAGO (AP) - Oprah Winfrey says her talk show may fade into TV history within 10 years, but she doesn't plan to.

"I want to expand myself in all ways - except the physical," she says in the November issue of Chicago magazine.

The 39-year-old Winfrey, who has waged a public battle of the bulge, will appear next year in the ABC movie "There Are No Children Here," in which she plays a welfare mother in a Chicago housing project.

Thanksgiving dinner set for Nov. 16

Plans for an annual Thanksgiving dinner scheduled Nov. 16 were made when members of the Hereford Rebekah Lodge #228 met Tuesday evening with 12 members present.

Under the direction of Noble Grand Leona Sowell, Rosalie Northcutt was chosen to be recommended as lodge deputy in 1994. Also, Joylene Thompson of Muleshoe Rebekah Lodge #114 was recommended as district deputy president of District 5.

Twenty-two visits to the sick, 42 cheer cards, 11 dishes of food and two flowers were reported.

Sowell served as hostess to Irene Merritt, Anna Conklin, Ben Conklin, Peggy Lemons, Susie Curtsinger, Faye Brownlow, Nan Rogers, Tony Irlbeck, Rosalie Northcutt, Ocie Bolton and Mary Lou Weatherford.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - She's met Harry and the guy in Seattle who couldn't sleep. Now Meg Ryan is ready for some serious drama.

In "Flesh and Bone," which opened Friday, Ryan plays a character she said is "just set up to be kicked around." She stars opposite her real-life husband, Dennis Quaid.

"Everybody's always talking about how few good roles there are for women, but for me, women don't always have to win," Ryan said. "It's much better and much more interesting if we can be what we are. We're just complex."

As for her biggest hits, "When Harry Met Sally ..." and "Sleepless in Seattle," the actress said, "The only challenge in those movies is maintaining the tone of the romantic comedy."

LONDON (AP) - Elton John is fighting a tabloid in court for saying he was on a "diet of death" in which he chewed his food and then spit it out.

The Sunday Mirror has admitted the story wasn't true but said it didn't know that last December when it printed it.

John, 46, said the paper acted recklessly by failing to check its facts.

Youth to compete

Hereford Cattlewomen President Lisa Klett, at left, congratulates Moriah Olson on winning the State Beef Ambassador Competition recently. The youth will be competing in the national competition Nov. 14-17 in Louisville, Ky. Moriah is the 16-year-old daughter of Steve and Ginger Olson.

Olson to compete in national competition

Moriah Olson, a member of the Deaf Smith County 4-H, will compete in the National Beef Ambassador competition Nov. 14 -17 in Louisville, Ky.

Moriah vied for the state winning position in August in Brownwood and won first place to be able to compete in the national competition. The Beef Ambassador program focuses on beef production, promotion and preparation.

The contest is sponsored by the American National Cattle Women, Inc., Beef Industry Council, Cooperative Extension Service and North American International Livestock Exposition and state and regional Cattle Women or Cowbelles.

Moriah is the 16-year-old daughter of Steve and Ginger Olson and carries main 4-H projects in beef, commercial steers, breads, clothing, nutrition and participates on judging teams. She serves as first vice president of the Junior Angus Association and has held offices of second vice president, secretary, treasurer and reporter. She also serves on the board of directors of the Junior Angus Association.

Studies find chocolate not a cavity culprit

"There are several studies in dental literature which demonstrate that chocolate, especially milk chocolate, does not increase dental cavities," noted Mark Haley, a leading authority on chocolate and president of Brown & Haley, a leading authority on chocolate.

Haley adds that the most positive evidence that chocolate may not be a cavity culprit was provided by a survey of 3,000 13-year-old Scottish children. The children were divided into five groups based on the amount of confectionery they consumed. The group consuming the largest amount--almost six times that of the group consuming the smallest amount--did not have more cavities.

In another study conducted at the Eastman Dental Center in Rochester, N.Y., milk chocolate and chocolate chip cookies were found to be among the snack foods contributing least to dental decay.

According to the researches, "Milk chocolate has a high content of protein, calcium, phosphate and other minerals, all of which have exhibited protective effects on tooth enamel. In addition, due to its natural fat content, milk chocolate clears the mouth relatively faster than other candies."

Additionally, 200 people between the ages of 15-25 in the British armed forces who had no dental cavities were interviewed. The most common factor in the group was the 94 percent were sweet eaters while only 71 percent brushed their teeth and 64 percent ate raw fruit or vegetables.

Haley says that Americans consume about 2.6 billion pounds of chocolate annually. That adds up to a lot of chocolate lovers who will be glad to hear the good news about their favorite confection.

Extension News

BY BEVERLY HARDER

If you're one of those older folks who thinks teenagers eat too much fast food and sweets, take a closer look at your own diet.

Many in the over-65 age group also have some bad eating habits which can affect their nutrition and health. Answer these questions and see if you fit in this group.

Are you salting your food more and more? We often get into the habit of heavily salting food to compensate for the loss of taste with age. This can worsen any pre-existing hypertension. It's better to learn how too use more herbs and spices for flavor.

Have you started eating mostly soft foods? When you restrict your diets to easy-to-chew foods, it becomes difficult to get adequate amounts of needed nutrients. Typically, poor teeth and gums makes the soft foods seem more attractive. But good dental care and well-fitting dentures may help you enjoy crisp foods again.

The softer, high-carbohydrate foods preferred by many elderly can also lead to an increased incidence of constipation since they contain little fiber. Adding cooked whole grain cereals to a "soft" diet will greatly increase its fiber content and help this problem.

Are you skipping meals because you're depressed, it seems like too much trouble to cook or you're just not hungry? It doesn't have to be this way! Try trading off with a friend to cook and eat at each other's homes.

Maybe your church or a senior citizens' center has a noon meal where you can eat in pleasant company. Or you may qualify for a "meals-on-wheels" program, where a friendly visitor will bring you a meal each day.

Keeping up good eating habits is a part of keeping up your health.

Cancer causing gene being studied

Studies of a gene that's been found to cause cancer may bring scientists closer to a cure--and a special research fund helps make such studies possible.

Mutant "src" is a cancer-causing gene with the ability to transform cells from many species. Studying "src" at the University of California-San Francisco is John E. Murphy, PhD. Murphy is a Damon Runyon-Walter Winchell Fellow, one of many young cancer researchers whose work is sponsored by the Cancer Research Fund of the Damon Runyon-Walter Winchell Foundation. Since 1946, the foundation has awarded more than $79 million in grants and fellowships to some 2,400 young scientists.

Dr. Murphy's research into substances that regulate "src's" enzymatic activity may someday prove relevant to brain tumors.

Help season's warmth last

Here's an idea for a gift that's likely to get a warm welcome: Give your friends and family a chance to cuddle up with an automatic heated throw.

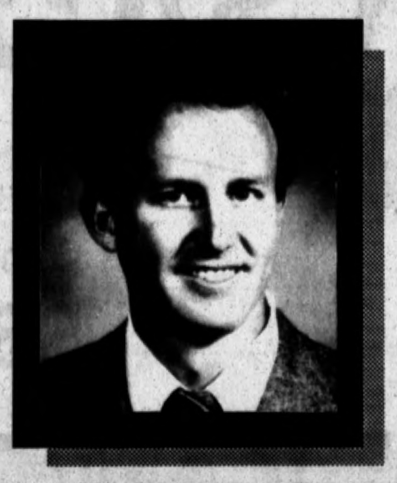

Automatic heated throws can bring a little extra coziness to dens, porches, family rooms, rec rooms and college dorms. They can also save energy by letting you turn the thermostat down, while keeping your comfort level up.

Aggie Moms hold meeting

The Panhandle Aggie Mothers' Club discussed fund raisers and made plans for "care" packages for the club's Aggies during a recent meeting at K-Bob's Restaurant in Hereford.

Denise Teel presided at the meeting with 14 members present. Care packages for the club's Aggies will be made Nov. 29 in the home of Shirley Wilson.

Information for the yearbook was presented by Cheryl Betzen, first vice president for membership. Active members paid their dues of $15. Dues for inactive members are $30 and must be paid by Nov. 29.

Fund raisers were discussed. The district Aggie Mothers' Club will meet in Amarillo March 5. The next regular meeting of the Panhandle club will be the last week in February.

Attending the local meeting were Teel, Betzen, Carol Gruhlkey, Jan Parker, Gretta Warren, Terri Johnson, Jo Lene Gleghorn, Rita McDaniel, Phung Emmons, Myrna Buckley, Joanne Bone, Terri Bennett, Eileen Alley, and Virginia Artho.

MINDING YOUR OWN BUSINESS

Don Taylor

IT PAYS TO ADVERISE

I built a better mouse trap. It was a sight to see. Because it was so clever, I knew the world would come to me.
My trap had bells and whistles and benefits galore, so I waited with anticipation for the world to find my door.
But my path was never beaten, the buyers never came. They knew not about my mouse trap and they'd never heard my name.
They knew no of its cleverness, its benefits and price. Nor of the iron-clad guarantee to rid their house of mice.
You must take your better mouse trap, to markets grand and glowing, with fireworks and fanfare and many trum pets blowing.
For no one will buy your mouse trap unless they know about it. You must advertise and merchandise and then you'd better shout it.

Do no rest upon you laurels is what I would advertise, if you want to sell some mouse traps, it pays to advertise.

I know Whitman and Frost have nothing to worry about. Though I was tempted to emulate Charles Osgood and write the entire column as a poem, better judgement won out.

However, I hope the poem got you attention and made this point: Promotion is important. Whether you are selling a better mouse trap or the same old widget as last year, you have to let the whole world know.

Effective advertising should be believable and point out real benefits. You should follow proven guidelines to increase your advertising effectiveness.

Advertising Tips

• Use a simple, uncluttered layout. A print advertisement should include a lot of white space. Limit the number of items in any ad to increase the visual impact. Simple ads with photographs or art work are more appealing than straight copy. Photographs increase recall by 26 percent over art work according to research. A common error is to overcrowd an ad with too many items. Stick with one dominant element to attract attention.

• Use a "grabber" headline. Studies show that 80 percent of those reading ads never go beyond the headline. Therefore, your headline must draw your reader into the body of the ad. Your headline must deliver a benefit, or promise a reward for wading through the rest of the copy. Make the most of your headline, it is the only chance you get to snag a reader.

• Deliver the goods your copy. Effective copy will expand on the headline and point out specific benefits. Don't mention the price without pointing out the savings and value. Remember that the readers of your ad don't buy product for the product, they buy for the benefits they will receive. Pointing out the benefits will help your readers understand what's in your offer for them.

• Ask for Action. An effective ad will inspire the reader to take action. As in all selling, it pays to ask for the order. Make it easy for your customers to respond. Every ad should include your business name, address and phone number. Use your logo in every ad and remember to include the hours you are open for business.

Look for Charlie Osgood. You clever poetic pro,
Others can rhyme, all the time, and now my readers know.

Four Bed Rooms And A Bonus Room

FEATURE HOMES

© BY W.D. FARMER, F.A.I.B.D.

Steps lead upward to a distinctive front porch and into the open foyer. Most any part of the home is accessible from the wide foyer. The traffic pattern is excellent through the entertainment portion of the home.

The family room is vaulted and columns separate it from an open hall leading to two of the bed rooms. These two bed rooms share a large central bath with a linen closet.

The living room and dining room are on opposite sides of the foyer, and are separate but yet remain available for daily use.

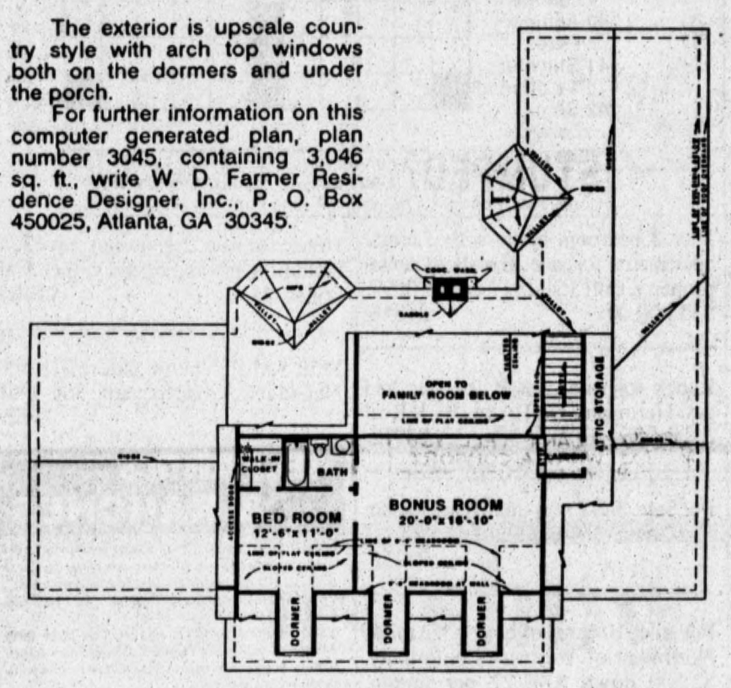

The kitchen is designed for convenience to the family chef. The sink overlooks the vaulted family room and a snack bar is located on the other side. The breakfast area with bay window overlooks the large sun deck. A laundry room and oversized pantry area are nearby for convenience.

Stairs up, located above stairs down to the basement, lead to a large bonus room with dormer windows and the fourth bed room with private bath and walk in closet.

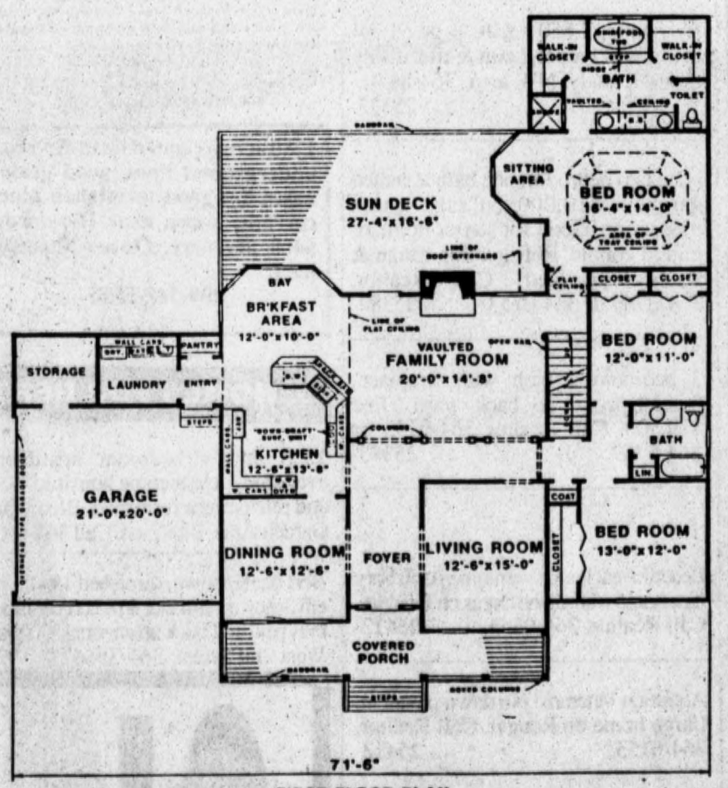

The master bed room suite is almost totally independent from the rest of the home. It is showcased with an octagonal tray ceiling and a bay window sitting area with access to the sun deck. The vaulted master bath is designed for convenience as well as comfort. The his and hers walk in closets flank a step up whirlpool tub. The twin vanity includes a knee space, and a shower stall is shown as well.

The exterior is upscale country style with arch top windows both on the dormers and under the porch.

CLASSIFIED ADS

Classified advertising rates are based on 15 cents a word for first insertion ($3.00 minimum), and 11 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy change, straight word ads.

TIMES	RATE	MIN
1 day per word	.15	3.00
2 days per word	.26	5.20
3 days per word	.37	7.40
4 days per word	.48	9.60
5 days per word	.59	11.80

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY

Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid-word lines-those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing; all capital letters. Rates are 4.35 per column inch; 3.65 an inch for consecutive additional insertions.

LEGALS

Ad rates for legal notices are same as for classified display.

ERRORS

Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notice. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers an additional insertion will be published.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When I married "Howie" 10 years ago, it was for better or for worse. Last year, I was hit with cancer, but the doctor caught it early. I am now in remission and feeling pretty good.

Howie was very supportive during the tough times, and he is terrific to my children from a previous marriage. I know I have a lot to be thankful for, but something is missing in my life. Romance.

I love Howie for all the wonderful things he has done for me and the children, but I am not in love with him. Last year, I met a guy I really flipped over. He is in prison now, and we write letters back and forth almost every day.

"Jake" says he is in love with me and wants me to leave my husband and marry him when he gets out. He knows I am not in love with Howie and never have been. He says I am cheating myself out of the best thing in life by staying in this marriage.

I really don't know what to do. Please help.--Chicago Question Mark

DEAR CHICAGO: I want to make sure I have this right. You have been married to Howie for 10 years. He has been wonderful to you and your children from a previous marriage. You had cancer, but the outlook is good.

You went bananas over a guy who is now in prison. He wants you to divorce Howie and marry him when he gets out. And now you want me to tell you what to do.

First, you should thank your lucky stars for Howie. Stop writing to the guy in prison. If he tries to contact you when he gets out, tell him to get lost. It sounds as if you now have a good chance for a really wonderful life. Don't blow it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I just had to respond to "Pickneyville," who said she does not believe in keeping the ashes of a loved one in an urn because it would require dusting and polishing every week and eventually the urn would end up in the basement.

Wrong, wrong, wrong. My mother and my wife, to whom I was married for 40 years, passed away within a few years of each other. Both were cremated, and their ashes were placed in urns which I keep in my bedroom on the dresser.

It is no problem to dust them once a week, which sure does beat driving out to the cemetery twice a year. Sign me--J.B. in N.Y.

DEAR J.B.: Since you have figured it out in a way that suits you, it should be of no concern to anyone else.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been seeing a wonderful man for several months. I have known for a long time that he is wearing a hairpiece. The reason I know this is because he has a picture in his office of his daughter's wedding, which was taken five years ago. In that picture, he has a great deal less hair than he has now. He could not possibly have grown it.

Our relationship is progressing to the point where I am sure we will be intimate soon. I am concerned about the hairpiece. Will he keep it on at all times? If he removes it, should I act surprised? If it needs combing, should I offer to do it?

Please give me some guidelines. I am at a loss as to what to do or say--TNT Situation

DEAR TNT: There is nothing you need do or say. Leave the ball in his court. If the time should come when he appears without the hairpiece, don't make a big deal out of it. Bald men can be very attractive.

Ann Landers' latest booklet, "Nuggets and Doozies" has everything from the outrageously funny to the poignantly insightful. Chamber to raffle items donated by local stores

The Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring two special giveaways to kick-off the holiday season.

The chamber is selling tickets for an American Airline round-trip for two to Orlando, Fla. In addition to the trip to be given away, shopping sprees from local merchants will also be given away.

Tickets for the raffle are priced at $5 each or five tickets for $20. For additional information, call 364-3333.

Comprehensive coverage of local news, social events, sports and happenings in Deaf Smith County is yours ONLY in The Hereford Brand. Good news and good advertising go together. Large ads or small ads pay off in The Brand!

Holiday open house today

The public is invited to attend this year's big open house as participating local merchants begin to kick-off the holiday season from 1-5 p.m. today, Sunday.

Merchants throughout Hereford will be open and offering everyone a chance to sign-up for various special giveaways. The open house will give the shopper a chance to preview and take advantage of many early holiday specials.

This event will be the beginning of registration for "Brighten Your Holiday" where local shoppers must validate their entry at 15 of the participating stores in order to be eligible for the drawings for $500 in prizes to be given away.

The Hereford Retail Merchants Association ad in today's paper has the entry form and list of participating businesses. Drawings will be held for five grand prize winners, each receiving $100 in Hereford Bucks.

Most businesses will have their stores and firms decorated in a holiday theme for this event, which is coinciding with newspaper and radio promotional advertising.

Application time starts today for Christmas Stocking Fund to help those in need in town

Hereford's annual Christmas Stocking Fund(CSF)gets underway Monday as the anonymous charity committee begins taking applications for holiday assistance for the less fortunate in the communnity.

The sign-up for assistance is scheduled Monday through Friday from 1 to 5 p.m. daily at the west end of Hereford Community Center. The sign-up period is shorter this year, and boxes will also be delivered earlier.

Applicants will be required to provide proof of county residence, and to furnish copies of utility or medical bills if they are requesting help with those items. Filing an application does not guarantee that assistance will be extended, since CSF operates on limited funds and attempts to reach the most needy first.

CSF serves the community's less fortunate, regardless of race, color, age, religion, handicap or natonal origin. The program is adninistered by an anonymous committee of volunteers who screen applications and direct assistance. CSF is not affiliated with any other organization, although the local Red Cross chapter helps by providing office space and volunteers to take applications.

The Hereford Brand is again acting as the fund-raising arm for CSF. Money contributions for the fund can be taken to the newspaper office, 313 N. Lee, or mailed to CSF, Box 673, Hereford 79045. The newspaper reports the funds collected and lists donors, including anonymous donations.

CSF also receives donations of canned goods from students at various school campuses. This year, CSF is also seeking to help the Red Cross with its toy program. Several elementary schools are being asked to help in this campaign.

Light up for holidays

Chamber hosts 'Light up Hereford' project

Holiday lights will brighten up homes, businesses in town

Homes, businesses and public buildings will put on their best face here in Hereford for the holiday season.

The festive atmosphere of Thanksgiving and Christmas translates into bright and creative lighting and special decorations.

City residents may add to the joy of the season by entering a home or business Christmas Lighting Contest sponsored by the Women's Division of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

The retail merchants association is also conducting an effort to sign up businesses for coordinated lighting this year. Many stores will be outlined with lights in the special "Light Up Hereford" project sponsored by the chamber. Commercial outdoor lights will be installed along the top contour of store fronts.

Public buildings will be readied for the season by each entity involved.

The lighting contest sponsored by the C of C Women's Division is divided into residential and business. Entries may be designated for a window or door, or the total building.

Deadline for entering the home and business lighting contest is Dec. 13 at 5 p.m. The chamber office is accepting entries. Judging will be conducted Dec. 13-15. Winners will be announced Dec. 19.

Hereford Bucks will be awarded to the contest winners.

Baking soda makes all holiday entertaining easier

Holidays are...entertaining...fun...-parties...friends...family. Treat all the special people in your life to a holiday season filled with lots of cheer. Get into the holiday spirit and enjoy!

As this festive season approaches, you will be busy buying presents and wrapping lots of boxes. The hustle and bustle of the season will leave you with little time to spend planning a holiday party.

The following helpful holiday secrets will make holiday entertaining a little easier:

-Begin by reviewing the plans for the party in your mind. Don't leave any details, not matter how big or small, to the last minute. Decide where you will store the prepared food before the party. Is there enough room in your refrigerator? Your freezer? If not, arrange to store it at a friend's or neighbor's house, and pick it up shortly before your guests arrive.

-All this food certainly will leave a mixture of odors in your refrigerator and freezer. Before you begin the food preparation, place a fresh box of baking soda in the back of your refrigerator to help neutralize odors and prevent taste-transfers. A second box in the freezer will keep ice cubes fresh-tasting.

-Develop a plan of how all the food will be arranged. What style are you serving? Buffet or sit down? Make sure your silver is sparkling and glass serving platters are shiny, by cleaning them with a baking soda paste (three parts baking soda, one part water). Rub until clean. Rinse and buff to a shining gloss.

-Often guests will offer to help in the kitchen, so make sure your kitchen is spotless. An easy way to clean off countertops and appliances is with a baking soda paste, which gently cleans surfaces without scratching. If spills such as juice, coffee or tea have stained your countertops, apply the paste and let it stand for half an hour. Wipe with a damp sponge, and rinse and buff dry.

-Instructions for ingredients in some of your favorite recipes may entail a great deal of chopping. Remove strong food odors, such as onions and garlic, from wood chopping boards by sprinkling baking soda onto a damp sponge; rub and rinse well and water.

-In order to make food a part of the atmosphere at a festive holiday dinner, add some colorful garnishes to your dishes. A few extra sprigs of parsley on a serving dish, or vegetables cut in a decorative manner and served with dip, will add the winning touch to any table.

-Your table is not the only thing that will be looking great this holiday season. Leave some time before the party to relax and prepare yourself for the party-you don't want to be exhausted when the first guest arrives. Treat yourself to some pampering by adding 1/2 cup of baking soda to a warm bath. Not only will you be able to relax, but your skin will feel smooth and soft

Good food practices made simple for turkey

We know how important it is to handle and cook poultry properly and safely. But on a hectic holiday, it's tempting to take shortcuts to get everything ready on time.

"Shortcuts are fine," say home economists, "so long as you don't skimp on safe practices with the turkey and stuffing."

They offer these simple safety tips for preparing that turkey:

-Thaw frozen, unstuffed turkey on a tray in the refrigerator (about 24 hours for every 5 pounds), or in the microwave oven (6 to 8 minutes per pound at 30% power). Never thaw poultry at room temperature.

-Do not thaw a frozen prestuffed turkey. Cook it in the conventional oven from the frozen state.

-Cook turkey and stuffing separately to reduce the risk of salmonella growth. Stuffing deep inside the turkey must reach 185 degrees F. to kill bacteria. While the rest of the bird reaches that temperature during roasting, the filled cavity may not. Stuffing cooks faster - and more safely - in a casserole dish.

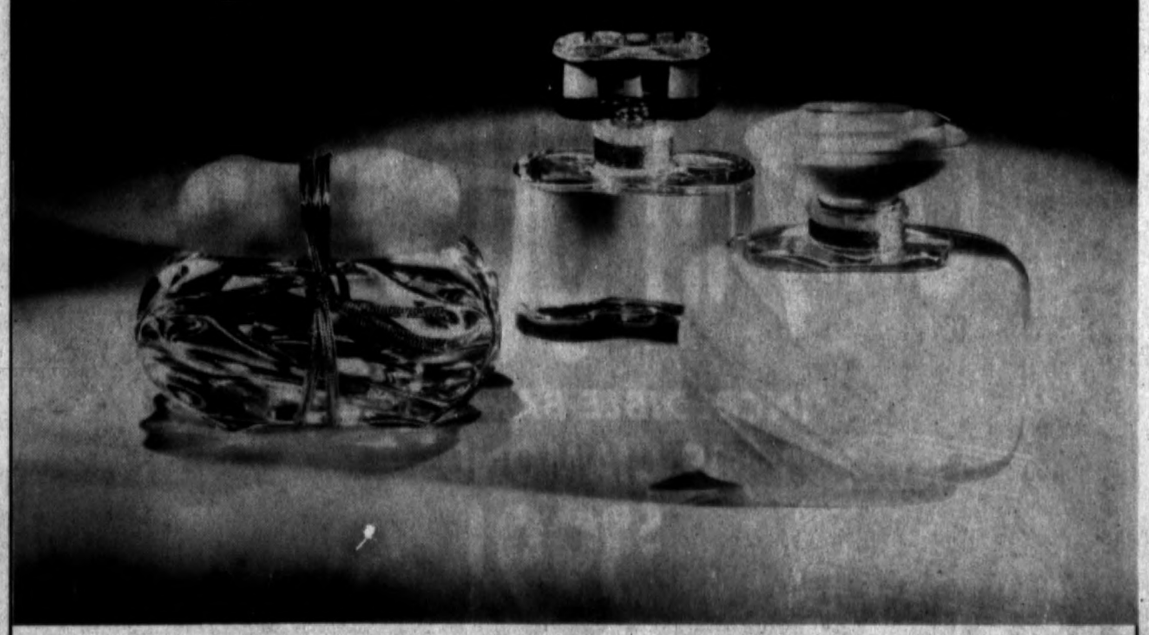

-Never stuff a turkey and refrigerate it or freeze it for later roasting. Bacteria grows rapidly with such practices.

Just before time to put the bird in the oven, prepare the stuffing, then wash and and dry the turkey outside and in. Fill the cavity loosely with stuffing (3/4 cup per pound) to allow room for it to expand. Roast stuffed turkey immediately.

All dressed up and going where?

Lavon Nieman, at left, and Glenda Marcum explain they have selected their ensembles, complete with diamonds and mink, to wear to the annual "Eat-Your-Heart-Out-Nieman-Marcum" Fun Breakfast slated at 6:30 a.m. Dec. 2 at the Hereford Community Center. John Stagner, at left, and Charlie Bell, co-emcees for the event, are a little perplexed. Don't the women mean the "Eat-Your-Heart-Out-Neiman-Marcus" Fun Breakfast? Oh, well, regardless of the title of the breakfast, the public is invited to attend the festivities as local merchants exhibit holiday gift suggestions and watch the antics of crowd.

Stocking stuffers for under $10

"Good things come in small packages." Try telling that to a kid who just found a box of cough drops in his Christmas Stocking.

Let's face it, choosing stocking stuffers that can--in any way--compete with the expensive goodies found under the tree is no easy matter. And finding them for under $10 is absolutely impossible, right?

Wrong. Here are six stocking stuffer ideas that will make kids happy--and won't put a pinch on your wallet.

Flip-Flex, ages 8 and up. The stars of "Beverly Hills 90210" and the National Basketball Association are just a few of the folks who may "pop up" while you're trying to figure out Flip-Flex. Flip the points and flex the panels to find six different hidden photos. From Golden Puzzles. Suggested retail price: $.99 per puzzle.

Compact Books, ages 10-14. They look like CDs, but they're books. A variety of 32 page titles to choose from featuring cutting-edge design, wild graphics and the hottest stars of movies, music and sports (including Nirvana, Axl Rose, Cindy Crawford and more). From Wave. Suggested retail $3.95.

Disney Tiny Movie Theatre, ages 3-8. Featuring ten Disney Little Little Golden Books and a plastic Mickey Mouse figurine packaged to look like a tiny theater, complete with a performance stage for Mickey. From Golden Press. Suggested retail $9.99.

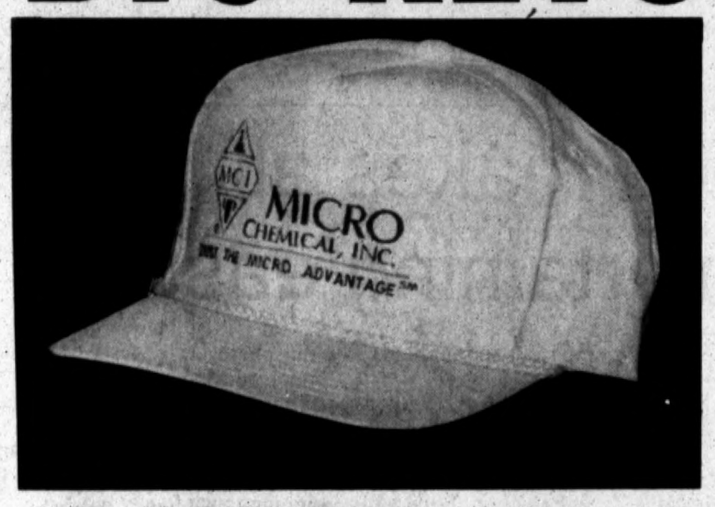

NBA Slam-Dunk Activity Books and Products, ages 6-12. MIchael Jordan and other basketball superstars come to life in a new line of books, activity books and puzzles, including: Slam-Dunk Paint 'n' Marker Book ($1.19); Slam-Dunk Sticker Fun Book ($1.79); 200-piece puzzles (four different puzzles), ($2.99) per puzzle); 300-piece Poster Puzzle, ($5.99); Slam-Dunk Poster Book ($3.95); Mark & See Books (two titles), ($3.95 per book); and Slam-Dunk Greats Look-Look Book ($1.69). From Golden Press

Glitter Fashion Fun, ages 4 to 8. A variety of fun projects in a book format. Kits create fashionable accessories using pages in the activity book, a glitter pen (included) and common household items. From Golden Press. Suggested retail: $1.99.

Golden Mini Activity Books, ages 3-8. Sixteen titles in four fun formats, including Activity Books, Sticker Books, Magic Pencil Books and Dool Books. In a 4"x5 1/2" size, the books feature Disney, Muppet, Precious Moments and Barbie characters. From Golden Press. Suggested retail price: $.99 per book.

Making tree decorations

Hereford Care Center residents Verl Miller (left) and Mattie Stovall put the finishing touches on giant replicas of peppermint candies. The ladies have been making decorations for the tree that Hereford Care Center is sponsoring for the Festival of Trees Nov. 18-21. Other decorations the ladies have made include Santa Claus dolls and gingerbread men.

Holiday health hints

The average American gains eight pounds during the holiday season - leading to the most common New Year's resolution - to lose weight/get in shape.

By following some simple guidelines, you can enjoy the festivities of holiday time without guilt or weight gain.

-Incorporate physical activity into your holiday traditions. In addition to baking cookies, why not have a family ice skating outing? An hour of brisk skating burns 400 calories - or two 4-oz. servings of egg nog.

-Consider fitness as a gift for yourself or someone special on your Christmas list. Schedule work out time into your busy calendar at one of the fitness centers. Exercise is also a great way to reduce the stress of the hectic holiday season.

-Add extra steps wherever possible - when shopping for holiday gifts, park at the far end of the lot, take the stairs rather than the elevator. A recent study shows that even moderate exercise such as walking has definite health benefits."

-make smart food choices/substitutions. Enjoy holiday parties without completely blowing your diet by choosing low fat snacks. Bring low fat goodies to holiday parties, and earn the reputation sa a gracious guest while salvaging your diet.

-Compensate for less than ideal food choices with extra physical activity.

'Season of Light' slated

With the holidays just around the corner, the Don Harrington Discovery Center is proud to be presenting its planetarium show, "Season of Light." This spectacular show may be viewed in the planetarium beginning Nov. 27 and running through Jan. 2, 1994. Show times are 1 and 3 p.m. on Saturdays and 2 and 3 p.m. on Sundays.

In addition, the show will also be given at 1,2 and 3 p.m. on Nov. 26, and at 1 and 3 p.m. Dec. 21-31.

"Season of Light" is appropriate for all ages; however, the presentation is geared toward adults and older children. Tickets are $2 per person, and Discovery Center members are admitted free. Discount rates are available for groups of 10 or more--reservations must be made in advance by calling 355-9548, extension 20.

One overriding symbol of the holiday season is light. In millions of homes across the world, evergreen trees are decorated with tinsel, ornaments and lights. Yule logs are burned, and the Jewish Menorah's candles are lit. Even the stars seem especially bright, as the nights become longer.

December is host to the longest night of the year, the Winter Solstice which falls on Dec. 21. The sun is also lower in our sky, resulting in colder temperatures. The astronomical reasons for these changes are explored in "Season of Light." Mankind has traditionally responded to these external changes by filling this season with the warm, comforting glow of lights.

For many, December is a cold month full of warm feelings. It is a time of celebration, family gatherings, and the exchange of gifts. For most, this is Christmas; for others, it is Hanukkah. "Season of Light" will emphasize our celebration of winter and will discuss the origins of some of our holiday traditions--including the ancient holiday practices of the ancient Egyptians, Romans, and Jews. Viewers will be treated to a live presentation of the constellations visible during the chilly evenings in December and will learn about the astronomical significance of the Winter Solstice. The show will conclude with the astronomical possibilities that may help explain the Star of Bethlehem. Christine Brunello, Planetarium Coordinator at the Don Harrington Discovery Center, states, "Season of Light" was enjoyed by many audiences last year, but we hope that even more families come out to see it this year. This year's show will have an improved soundtrack and even better special effects."

"Season of Light" may be viewed in the Planetarium Nov. 27 through Jan. 2, 1994, with special holiday shows Nov. 26, and Dec. 21-31.

For further information regarding the show, please contact Christine Brunello at 355-9548, extension 13. For group reservations, please contact Jennifer Poole at 355-0548, extension 20.

Gift buying tips for the holidays

For many, the bells of Christmas include the ring of the cash register. If you plan to purchase an electronic product for a family member, friend or yourself, it may pay to heed these helpful hints.

-Always keep your bill of sale as "proof of purchase." When you purchase a product, your sales receipt is the proof of how, when and where the sales transaction took place. Remember to hold onto it. Without the receipt, it will be very difficult to get a product fixed or replaced under warranty.

If you are giving the product as a gift, pass along a copy of the receipt to the recipient so he or she can get the necessary coverage on a product if a problem develops.

-Selecting extended warranty coverage. Before buying, ask what the warranty includes? How long the warranty lasts? Does the warranty cover whole products or just parts? When the product is serviced, will I have to pay labor costs? How does the extended warranty relate to the original warranty provided by the manufacturer?

Another issue to keep in mind is who honors the warranty. Some products must be returned directly to the manufacturer for service, while others must be brought to a local authorized servicer. A non-authorized local service store may be able to fix the particular product, but if they are not authorized by the manufacturer, they may not have access to the manufacturer's technical assistance, training and service manuals. This could lead to further problems.

Realizing that service plays an important part in the purchasing process, the Service & Parts Group of Sharp Electronics has developed a service program which provides post-sale support. Some 3,000 Sharp authorized service centers handle most of the company's consumer product line, offering customers the assurance that their products are handled by authorized technicians with access to the proper parts, technical literature and assistance.

To further ensure you are getting the best possible service, Sharp has set up a Customer Information enter (CIC) which has a toll-free number to give those who own Sharp consumer electronics and personal home office products direct access to top customer service representatives. They can answer questions on installing and operating products, provide documentation of warranty coverage or send replacement owner's operation manuals. They can also help resolve service problems by providing the address and phone number of a Sharp local authorized service center. The number is 1-800-526-0264.

More than 900,000 copies of The Hereford Brand were distributed in 1992. If your advertising message was not included in many of these issues, you need to call Mauri Montgomery or Julius Bodner, 364-2030, and let them put together an advertising schedule to fit your budget.

Old favorites reappear on Christmas toy shelves

There are some old friends waiting for you in the game aisle this holiday season. Like never before, classic board games are being updated and redesigned, ready to hook a new generation of game players.

To help you choose the perfect classic board game gift for everyone on your list, here's a look at a few classic games that are new and improved for 1993:

-Let's start with Pictionary--one of the best-selling board games in history, with more than 25 million units sold worldwide. Now, for the first time, Pictionary has been completely redesigned and updated. The result: a brand new version of the game that incorporates 2,500 new words and phrases with the most popular ones since its initial introduction.

To develop the new Pictionary, inventor Rob Angel added a host of "90's" phrases such as "Bill Clinton", "Desert Storm," "Ross Perot", "Bungee Jumping" and "Karaoke." Gone are such outdated "80's" words and phrases as "Ronald Reagan," "West Germany" and "Punk Rocker." Also removed were some hard to draw or obscure words and phrases.

If you've got any Pictionary fans on your gift list, you can scratch them off now. The new version is a must-have for any lover of "The Game of Quick Draw." Suggested retail price: $21.99.

So the kids don't feel left out of this renewed "Pictionary-mania," be sure to check out yet another updated winner--the completely reworked Pictionary Junior. Designed for children ages 8-14, Pictionary Junior now features game play identical to the adult version, but with 1000 all-new "kid-approved" words and phrases. Pictionary Junior is for ages 8 to 14. Suggested retail price: $14.99.

Remember Booby Trap? That's the game you play by carefully setting play pieces in a spring-loaded Booby Trap, then removing them one by one. One wrong move and the Booby Trap springs, sending the pieces flying.

One of the most beloved action games ever, Booby Trap makes a triumphant return for holiday season, 1993. It's as colorful, fun and fast-paced as ever. And here's a real plus for Booby Trap--it's one of those kids' games that just as much (or perhaps even more) fun for adults. So it's a great game for family gatherings or not-so-quiet nights together over the kitchen table. Booby Trap is for ages 6 and up. Suggested retail price: $13.99.

When Husker Du? first came to America it immediately charmed and challenged youngsters. But, unfortunately, the classic memory building game (its title is Danish for Do You Remember?) has been unavailable for many years. Now there's good news: Husker Du? is back in a completely modern, redesigned format.

In Husker DU? players (ages 4 and up) try to remember the location of 18 sets of pictures randomly scattered on the game board, with the pattern changing each time the game is played. It's a great workout for any memory, young or old. And the price is right too: Husker Du?" suggested retail price is only $7.99.

An outstanding game for girls--Barbie's Queen of the Prom Game--has returned. Updated to reflect Barbie's standing as a very 1990's woman, this new version of Barbie's Queen of the Prom Game is a fun fantasy of Barbie's special evening at the prom. A time-tested classic for girls ages 5 and up. Suggested retail price: $7.99.

When they're done getting Barbie ready for the prom, girls can play their own game of dress-up, thanks to Pretty Pretty Princess. Players spin to win colorful pieces of jewelry and a jeweled crown. If you win the crown and a complete set of jewelry, you're the Princess! Pretty Pretty Princess is geared for ages 5 and up. Suggested retail price: $14.99.

Electronic toys, gifts may be high tech, but they stress imagination, education

As you wander the aisles of your local toy store, surrounded by a maze of virtual reality, holographic 32-bit electronic megatoys, be comforted by this fact: kids don't really care about circuit boards and microchips--they just want toys that are fun.

That's why three toys tapped by analysts as among this year's hottest aren't especially high-tech (or especially high priced, either). Rather, they tap a child's imagination in creative and unique ways.

Here's a look at some great holiday gift ideas that are guaranteed to be big fun:

Bumble Ball is an amazing new toy from Ertl that provides hours of active fun for a youngster with a press of a button. bumble Ball is a brightly colored sphere with soft rubber bumpers. When a small button on the side of the ball is pressed, Bumble Ball's internal motor takes over, turning the toy into a jumping ball of fun.

The bumpers make Bumble Ball's motion totally unpredictable, causing it to bounce and hop all over. Kids can chase after Bumble Ball, toss it back and forth with a friend or even just try to hang on to it! And, with a limitless variety of games that kids can make up using their Bumble Ball, it's a toy that exercises both imagination and body.

Bumble Ball is designed for children 18 months and older (parental supervision is recommended), and is available in three colors. Suggested retail price is $14.99/$19.99.

Dino Den combines two things that almost all kids love--big cardboard boxes and dinosaurs--into one very unique product. DINO DEN is a fold-out dinosaur, approximately five feet long and three feet tall made of sturdy corrugated cardboard. The product assembles in seconds and folds away for easy storage or travel.

DINO DEN is a great play environment for kids, complete with peepholes to look through and lots of room to scramble inside. DINO DEN is uncolored so it can be completely personalized with crayon, paint, pencil, pen, stickers or just about anything.

DINO DEN is available in three very friendly dinosaur characters: Snort the Triceratops, Chomper the Stegosaurus, and Strider the Tyrannosaurus Rex.

For ages 3 to 8. The suggested retail price for each DINO DEN is $14.95. The product is available directly from Dino Pal Toys, Ltd. by calling 1-800-945-5229. (Phone orders add shipping and handling).

Another brand new items is the Six-Piece Thomas Set, an ideal start for any "Shining Time Station" fan. It's Thomas the Tank Engine, Percy the Small Engine, Toby the Tram Engine, Harold the Helicopter, Bertie the Bus and terence the Tractor packaged in a colorful gift box. Suggested retail price is $15.99.

Porcelain dolls ready for festival

It's almost time for the Annual Festival of Trees to be held at the Hereford Senior Citizens Center Nov. 18-21. In conjunction with the festivities, two hand-crafted porcelain dolls will be given away to a lucky ticket holder. Tickets, which may be purchased at the center or by calling 364-0471, are priced at $2.50 and each ticket gives two chances to win a doll. In addition to the two dolls which will be given away during the raffle, there will be other dolls for sale at the center.

Exercise to ease stress of holidays

The holiday season is upon us and with it the excitement, fun, and all to often, the tension of seasonal demands.

It seems that there are never enough hours in the day to share the holiday spirit with friends and family, or to fit in our regular workouts. Between shopping malls, parties, office functions and community events, it's easy to leave our commitment to exercise behind in the wake of the season's jubilation.

In making your personal choices that season, The President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports suggests that you consider the increasing evidence in support of exercise as a means of reducing stress and promoting relaxation. The holidays may just be a time when you need exercise the most.

Compared to the physical benefits of exercise, such as reduced body fat and increased flexibility, strength and endurance, the psychological rewards of exercise are elusive. Regular exercisers report a variety of benefits, such as feeling better, improved sleep patterns and less tension, depression and anxiety. However, these testimonies are often difficult to quantify and document. Research is just now catching up to the many personal claims that physical activity and fitness reduce stress.

When you feel stressed, you are reacting to the world around you and your body prepares itself to deal with the cause. Your heart rate and blood pressure increase, muscles tighten and yo may get headaches and back pain. Related emotional tensions such as irritability, anger and depression often follow.

Exactly how physical activity relieves stress is not completely understood. But, consider the responses to regular exercise-reduced heart rate and blood pressure, increased flexibility and reduced muscle tension. The benefits are exactly the reverse of some of the common stress responses.

One theory supporting the role of activity in reducing stress is that exercise burns up the hormones produced by the body when it's under stress. Possibly, the person who exercises is better able to resist these stress byproducts. Or perhaps, stressful situations do not represent as much harm to the athletic person as they do to the sedentary.

The extra energy boost from a well designed workout can add more vigor to your holiday season, giving you the stamina you need to get through your action-packed days.

Runners have long reported the "runner's high" feeling they get from their workouts. This has been tied to the production of endorphins, the body's natural pain killers produced during longterm endurance exercise which cause an overall feeling of wellbeing.

"Whether you are interested in the short-term effects of a workout in the reducing your daily anxiety, or the longterm effects of training to make your body better able to counter stress before it builds up, keeping up your exercise during the holidays will help.

However, don't let your workout become a source of stress. There is just so much you can do and if you're not enjoying your exercise program, it's time for a change. Don't be afraid to relax this season and have fun.

Tournament to help kick-off holiday season

Toujours Amis Study Club members have been busy preparing for their annual Benefit Bridge Tournament scheduled at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 16, at the Hereford Community Center. Tickets, which are priced at $5 per person, can be purchased at the door or from study club members. All proceeds will be used to provide a scholarship to a high school graduate. Also, club members will be selling tickets to potential players and those who wish to have a chance at winning the grand prize of a card table and chairs. Food will be served during the tournament. Discussing the annual event are club members, from left, Julia Laing, Donna West, Lisa Formby and Diana Griffin.

Electronic toys can teach kids to read

When you hear the phrase "electronic toy," you probably think of a video game that your child will play until you memorize the soundtrack and find the sounds of laser guns invading your dreams. Well, the good news is that not all of today's electronic wizardry is being used to help kids fight the evil Zorkmen of the planet Granok. In fact, some of the most remarkable technology is found din products that will encourage your children to do something you thought they might never do again: read.

The latest generation of electronic books and learning toys place an amazing array of sounds and music at a child's fingertips, and at very reasonable prices.

The wave began a couple of years ago with Golden Sound Story Books, with their combination of classic stories, favorite characters and zany sound effects. Today, Sound Story Books are more popular than ever, with a wide range of titles available. Here's how they work: As you read a story, you'll come to a picture. Simply press the matching picture on the touchpad and you'll hear silly noises, goofy melodies and even character's voices. These unique books also feature colorful full page illustrations so even the youngest readers can follow along.

For this holiday season, the success of Golden Sound Story has spawned a number of outstanding electronic products. They're lots of fun for kids, and offer parents the piece of mind that their children are learning while playing.

Terrific sound quality combined with a sturdy board book design make My First Golden Sound Books surefire hits. Durable die-cut pages feature the sound module as part of the bright illustrations, and whimsical sounds keep even the youngest reader entertained. Suggested retail: $12.95.

Young children can have musical fun with Golden Super Sing Along Books--Super Edition, which feature four preprogrammed songs, six sound effects and a ten-note, colorcoded keyboard. Kids can sing along with songs like "Rubber Duckie" from Sesame Street or play the song on the keyboard, adding in favorite sound effects. A total of eight songs in each colorful book. Suggested retail price: $22.95.

Interactive electronic fun for preschoolers is served up in Golden Seek 'n' Sound. The toy challenges the child to find various objects within the illustration through over 20 randomized questions. The child's correct response is acknowledged while an incorrect answer leads to encouragement to try again. Suggested retail: $18.95.

Electronic books enter the next dimension with Golden Talking Tales, a line of superinteractive books. Utilizing LED lights and colorful "SoundPictures," Golden Talking Tales offer multiple, seemingly spontaneous conversations between the characters in the story. Suggested retail: $24.95.

Golden Play Lights Books feature seven activities that are dependent on the colorful "light and music pad" that is attached. When the "Play" button is touched, an LED light jumps from one space to another until it stops, leading to a specific child-directed activity. Each two-page spread has a different activity to entertain and challenge a child. Suggested retail: $18.95.

Wedding information must be submitted by 5 p.m. Monday to be included in the next Sunday Brand. Wedding information forms, as well as those for engagements and showers, are available at the news office, 313 N. Lee.

Make a woodsy potpourri

Gather the ingredients for this colorful woodsy potpourri mixture from your backyard or form a nature walk with your kids in the countryside.

Then find the rest of the ingredients in your spice cabinet and even your fruit bowl!

If you discover tiny pine cones, acorns or a strip of bark burrowed into the seams and curves of your kids' pockets and backpacks, save these treasurers, too.

Here's how your family can blend woodsy potpourri from fall's bounty.

Mix your concoction in a large bowl. Try any of of these following ingredients:

-Pine cones;
-Pods;
-Wood shavings;
-Pressed colorful leaves;
-Seed heads;
-Dried orange, lime and lemon peels and dried orange slices (dry the peelings and fruit on a rack in a 200 degree oven for two to three hours or set items on a tray to air-dry for several days).

Add kitchen spices such as whole bay leaves, broken cinnamon sticks, cloves and whole all spice. Also add ground nutmeg, cloves and cinnamon.

With a big wooden spoon, let your school-age kids stir the ingredients. An adult may add several drops of clove, orange or cinnamon oil.

Store the mixture in a non-metal covered container for a week or two. Stir occasionally. Divide the woodsy potpourri into decorative clear containers such as antique canning jars, or use sparkling clear mayonnaise or maraschino cheery jars. Paint or cover the lids with fabric and tie with a ribbon.

Share with friends at Thanksgiving or during the December holidays.

Enjoy the woodsy potpourri in your home, too. Scoop it in a medium-size wooden bowl or a decorative dish and set on a small table.

Sorority chapter to man booth

Members of Xi Epsilon Alpha Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority will be manning a booth during the annual Country Christmas Bazaar planned from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Nov. 13 at the Hereford Community Center. The bazaar is sponsored each year by members of the Westway Extension Homemakers Club. The sorority chapter's booth will feature Christmas stockings, baked goods and other holiday gift-giving items. Members will also hold a raffle for a centerpiece (pictured above) made by Terry Sparks of Terry's Floral and Design. Raffle tickets may be purchased at the booth or from sorority members. Xi Epsilon Alpha members, from left, Susan Shaw, Gaye Reily and Connie Matthews, look at the centerpiece. All proceeds will be used for community projects.

Tips to make holidays easy, fun

When the holiday decorating is done, it's time to share the warmth of your home with family and friends.

These tips will make planning your holiday gatherings a snap:

* Make a list--guests, menu, groceries, table decorations, serving dishes and flowers.
* Be specific about time, dress and occasion on the invitations.
* Select a menu of dishes that can be prepared in advance.
* Complete shopping several days ahead.

The "broad stripes and bright stars" Francis Scott Key wrote of in the Star Spangled Banner each numbered 15 for the original 13 states plus Vermont and Kentucky.

Cook healthy during holidays

A holiday feast that's healthful may be one of the best gifts you can give your loved ones this yuletide season.

Many cooks who care about the health of their loved ones are starting a new holiday tradition, replacing the fatty ham and roast goose of Christmases past with a holiday dinner where hearthealthy fish, pasta, fruits and vegetables take center stage. Healthy cooking methods for holiday meals include roasting, baking, braising, stewing, poaching, grilling, boiling, sauteing, stir-frying, microwaving and steaming.

Great holiday gifts for yourself or a favorite cook could be utensils and cookware designed to keep healthy foods crispy, colorful and calorie-reduced and make meals easy to prepare. here are some items to shop for:

-An array for peelers, slicers, juicers and other items can turn ordinary produce into an art form. The twin juicer, for example, works for oranges, grapefruit, lemons and limes and includes a rind grater. there's also a bean slicer that strings and slices in one action and the original granny real-a-peel, which cores, peels, shreds and grates.

-Pasta makes a superb holiday main course and can be fun to prepare with the pasta maker.

-Great for salad lovers: vegetable brushes, peelers and slicers, lettuce crispers, salad spinners and colanders.

-Steaming vegetables and other foods retains minerals, vitamins and natural flavors. There are both stainless steel and bamboo vegetable steamers available as well as a microwave steamer that doubles as a pasta cooker.

-For those on special diets, the Foley Food Mill is a big help. Use it to prepare baby food, juices, special recipes, sauces, dietary meals and soups.

-Healthy cooking means lowfat cooking - less frying, more grilling. Great grill gifts include the triple fish grill, a BBQ grill topper for grilling shrimp, fish, vegetables and other small delicate foods; and a stove-top indoor grill.

-Stir-frying is another healthful cooking method and ready to help are various size woks and wok sets complete with utensils.

-Sensational stocking stuffers include a stainless steel strawberry huller, cherry pitter and the pedrini egg separator, a device that makes separating egg whites from cholesterol-laden yolks a cinch.

Britain introduced the concept of voting by secret ballot in 1872.

Holiday footcare tips

'Tis the season to be jolly, to party, and to devour holiday delicacies.

In the midst of seasonal festivities, diets are overlooked, nutritional concerns are out the window, and health priorities get sacrificed for the joys of "binge" eating.

Not so for diabetics, who can't afford to commit such dietary violations. They must continually be alert to their blood glucose levels which, if upset, can lead to serious medical emergencies.

And because diabetics frequently suffer circulation or nerve impairment, they are subject to serious foot problems and complications.

-Wash your feet daily.
-Avoid temperature extremes, such as exposure to sun or hot water.
-Avoid actions that restrict circulations, such as smoking and sitting with crossed legs.
-Wear properly fitted footwear.

Diabetics should have a podatric medical examination twice a year. The podiatrists will recognize changes in existing conditions.

Try these great holiday recipes

The countdown for the holidays has begun.

Much of the holiday activities center around home entertaining and delicious food.

Here are some great recipes that are easy to make and some than can be made ahead of time and frozen to leave the homemaker with more time to spend with family and friends.

CHOCOLATE SWIRL BREAD

3 1/2 to 4 cups of all purpose flour
2 packages quick rise yeast
1 cup milk
1/3 cup sugar
6 tablespoons margarine or butter
1 teaspoon salt
2 eggs
1 6.0 ounce package of chocolate morsels
1 1/2 cups sifted powdered sugar
1 tablespoon water
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

In a large mixing bowl combine 1 1/2 cups of the flour and the yeast. In a saucepan heat and stir the milk, sugar, margarine or butter and salt until warm and margarine almost melts. Add to flour mixture; mix well. Add the eggs.

Beat with an electric mixer on low speed for 30 seconds, scraping bowl constantly. Beat on high speed for three minutes. Using a spoon, stir in as much of the remaining flour as you can. Turn out onto a lightly floured surface. Knead in enough of the remaining flour to make a moderately soft dough that is smooth and elastic. Shape into a ball. Cover and let rest 15 minutes.

Divide dough into two equal portions. Roll out both portions of dough separately to form two 14 x 10-inch rectangles. Reserve two tablespoons of the chocolate. Sprinkle remaining chocolate morsels over dough rectangles. Starting from a short side, roll up each rectangle. Seal seams and edges. Line a baking sheet with foil; grease the foil. Transfer loaves to prepared baking sheet. Cover and let rise in a warm place until nearly double.

Bake in a 375 degree oven for about 20 minutes or until done. Remove to wire racks to cook. For icing, combine powdered sugar, water and vanilla. Spread over cooled loaves and sprinkle with reserved chocolate. Makes two loaves.

BANANA BRICKLE MUFFINS

1 beaten egg
1 cup mashed banana
1/2 cup cooking oil
1/3 cup milk
2 cups all purpose flour
1/2 cup packed brown sugar
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 7.5 ounce package of Heath Bits Brickle

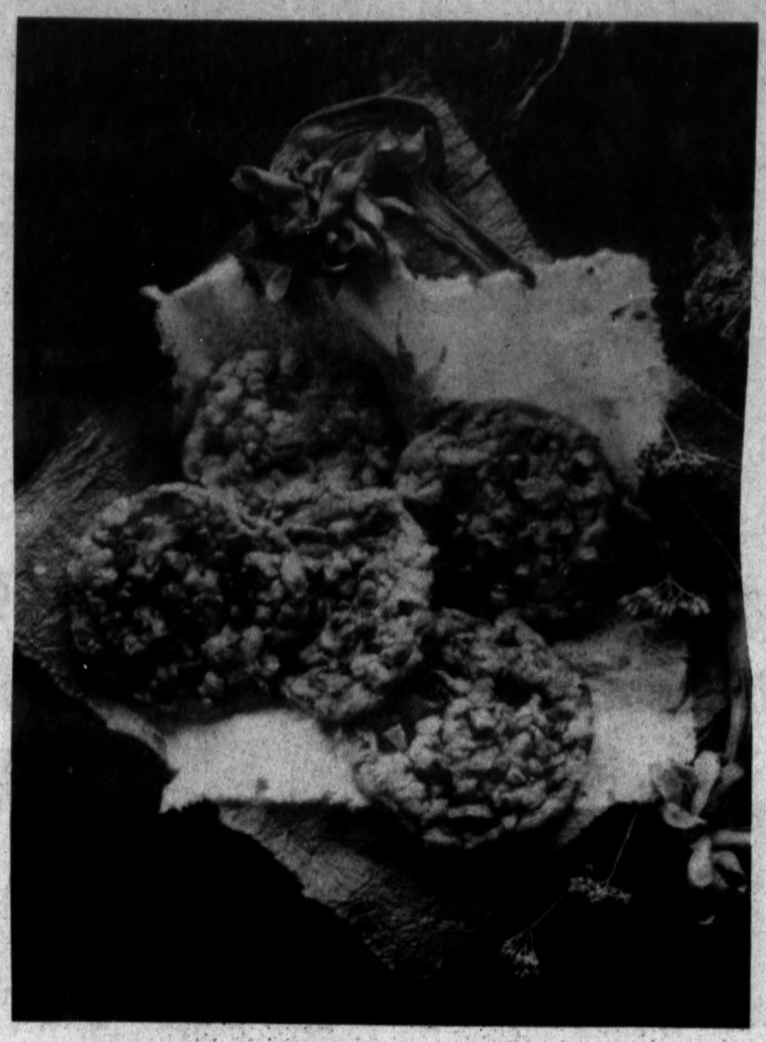

In a large mixing bowl combine egg, banana, oil and milk. Mix well. Add the flour, brown sugar and baking powder, stirring just until moistened. Set aside 1/4 cup of the Heath Bits Brickle. Stir the remaining Heath Bits into the batter.

Lightly grease 18 muffin cups or line with paper bake cups. Fill cups 2/3 full with muffin batter. Sprinkle with reserved Heath Bits. Bake in a 400 degree oven about 20 minutes or until a toothpick inserted in the center or a muffin comes out clean. Cool five minutes in pan on wire rack. Remove and cool on wire rack. Makes 18 muffins.

OATMEAL CLASSICS

3/4 cup margarine or butter
1 3/4 cups all purpose flour
1 cup packed brown sugar
1/2 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 teaspoon baking soda
2 cups rolled oats

In a mixing bowl, beat margarine or butter with an electric mixer for 30 seconds. Add about half of the flour, the brown sugar, sugar, eggs, baking powder, vanilla and baking soda.

OATMEAL CLASSICS

Beat mixture until thoroughly combined.

Beat or stir in oats.

Drop by rounded teaspoon two inches apart onto an ungreased cookie sheet. Bake in a 375 degree oven for 10-12 minutes or until edges are golden. Remove cookies to wire racks to cool. Makes about 40 cookies.

Tasteful tips for a terrific table

When the holidays arrive, entertaining takes on a special flair. No longer are simple candlesticks enough to bejewel your table. Your goal now is to make your table, and the food you present on it, as festive as the holiday season itself.

Fresh grapes from California can help you reach that goal. A simple cluster of fresh grapes makes an instant and tasteful garnish for almost any dish. The same cluster laid artfully at the bottom of your tried and true candlesticks with a bit of ribbon, or draped dramatically with others of its kind over the edge of a silver bowl makes a smashing centerpiece. Another stunning idea is easily created by a mixture of things you already have on hand, plus items easily (and inexpensively) purchased at your local grocery and craft stores. Try wrapping or painting a sturdy box and arranging it with a grapevine wreath, several boughs of cedar, a ribbon tied in a bow and several clusters of naturally decorative grapes.

Or, try the caterer's decorating trick for the season: create Frosty Holiday Grapes. It takes just a few minutes to dip small clusters of fresh grapes into a mixture of sugar and gelatin and in no time you have both a garnish and a light dessert.

Fresh grapes are a natural for many home-crafted holiday decorations. The reason is twofold: Not only are clusters of fresh grapes decorative in and of themselves, but most of the California grape varieties are available during the holidays-from Thanksgiving all the way through the New Year. Whether you coat them with sugar for a plate decoration, or place them in their natural state in a centerpiece, the elegance is there, courtesy of Mother nature.

FROSTY HOLIDAY GRAPES

1/2 cup sugar
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
10 small California grape clusters water

Combine sugar and gelatin; mix well. Dip grape clusters in water; shake off excess water. Sprinkle sugar mixture through a sieve over wet grapes. Place on waxed paper about 45 minutes or until completely dry. Makes 10 edible garnishes.

Pumpkin desserts add special flavor to the holiday season

Remember waking up to the spicy aroma of pumpkin pies baking for the holiday dinner? Pumpkin desserts are a holiday tradition. Here are two luscious pumpkin options to pie.

PUMPKIN CAKE ROLL

For easy rolling and neat serving, sprinkle the chopped nuts over the batter so they bake into the surface. Either walnuts or pecans will do.

3 eggs
1 cup sugar
2/3 cup canned pumpkin
1 teaspoon lemon juice
3/4 cup all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon ground ginger
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1 cup finely chopped walnuts or pecans
Sifted powdered sugar
2 3oz packages cream cheese
1/4 cup margarine or butter
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

In a large mixer bowl beat the eggs with an electric mixer on high speed for 5 minutes or till thick and lemoncolored; gradually beat in sugar. Stir in pumpkin and lemon juice.

Stir together flour, cinnamon, baking powder, ginger, salt, and nutmeg. Fold into pumpkin mixture. Spread in greased and floured 15x10x1-inch baking pan. Sprinkle with walnuts.

Bake in a 375 degree oven for 15 minutes. Immediately invert cake onto towel sprinkled with powdered sugar. Roll up cake and towel, jelly-roll style, starting from short side. Cool completely. Unroll cake.

For filling, in a small mixer bowl beat the 1 cup powdered sugar, cream cheese, margarine, and vanilla with electric mixer on medium speed till smooth. Spread over cake; reroll cake. Cover and chill. To serve, cut cake into 1-inch slices. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

FROZEN PUMPKIN MOUSSE

2 cups whipping cream
1 1/2 cups canned pumpkin
1 cup packed brown sugar
1 cup milk
1/4 cupbrandy or apple juice
3 tablespoons candied ginger, finely chopped
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon ground cloves

In a large mixing bowl combine whipping cream, pumpkin, brown sugar, milk, brandy or apple juice, candied ginger, vanilla, cinnamon, salt, and cloves. Stir till well mixed. Pour into a 13x9x2-inch pan.

Freeze till firm. Break frozen mixture into chunks. Turn into a chilled mixer bowl. Beat with an electric mixer till fluffy. Spoon into a chilled 6 1/2 cup mold. Cover; freeze till firm. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

It's 'A Matter of Justice' for Duke and Sheen

Patty Duke and Martin Sheen star as grandparents who battle to bring their son's killer to justice and win custody of their granddaughter (Kyla Pratt) in "A Matter of Justice," airing Sunday and Monday on NBC. Alexandra Powers and Jason London also star.

BY TED KUSIO

Many parents dislike their children's spouses. But for Mary and Jack Brown, dislike becomes suspicion that their daughter-in-law was responsible for the murder of their son. Their pursuit of justice and custody of their granddaughter is the subject of the fact-based, two-part drama "A Matter of Justice," which airs Sunday, Nov. 7, and Monday, Nov. 8, on NBC.

Patty Duke and Martin Sheen star as Mary and Jack Brown, parents who reluctantly allow their naive son Chris (Jason London) to join the Marines at age 17. He soon marries Dusty, a seductive older woman played by Alexandra Powers (L.A. Law), and they have a daughter.

But Dusty starts seeing other men. When she tells a new boyfriend that she wishes her husband were dead, Chris turns up brutally murdered.

From there Mary and Jack start a long and difficult battle to bring their son's killer and Dusty to justice and gain custody of their granddaughter.

This incredible story is filled with dramatic possibilities, but "A Matter of Justice" ultimately fails because it presents too many shallow and unrealistic characters and relies too heavily on the story's sensational aspects.

Worst of all is Duke's portrayal of Mary, which may not be a reflection on Duke's acting ability; the film is based on the real Mary Brown's story, and some bias may be expected. Yet her perpetual self-righteous determination for justice is excessive: She is never wrong, never goes too far, and everyone else is a heartless idiot in comparison. Some restraint in the script would have helped.

There are a few moments that shine, mostly involving Sheen, Powers and Charles F. Dutton ("Roc"), who plays a subdued, soft-spoken private investigator who considers using a gun in an unrealized "rescue" of the granddaughter.

Sheen says he could relate to Jack Brown. "He was a very interesting guy. I kind of like the fact that he was intimidated by his wife, and I don't mean this as a criticism. He was also an alcoholic, and I'm an alcoholic. He came to grips with it in our story, and I like that a lot." Sheen's familiarity with alcoholism seems to help bring Jack to life on the screen.

Powers, however, did not base her character on the real-life counterpart. "I wanted to meet Dusty," Powers says, "but the film's producers liked what I was doing based on the script, so they told me to keep following my instinct, and I never met her." She did, however, meet the real Mary Brown during filming. "(Brown) didn't know what to make of me. I mean, I was playing the role of the woman she believed to be responsible for her son's death."

Powers accepted the part because she thought it was one of the most substantial roles she has been offered. She also jokes, "I wanted to wear short skirts and kiss a lot of guys!"

Powers transcends the temptation to portray Dusty simply as a heartless and cruel woman. "I wanted to show her as having emotions, and maybe even having some regrets about what she did." The character of Dusty is the opposite of the fundamentalist Christian lawyer Powers plays on "L.A. Law," which she found challenging.

Beyond these performances there's simply not enough substance in "A Matter of Justice." Instead of depicting tragic events that actually happened to real people, it comes across as a collection of plot devices in a TV movie.

Nov. 7 - Nov. 13
HOROSCOPE

By C. C. Clark

Aries (March 21 - April 19)
Problems will make you feel like shutting down completely. Try to focus on the most positive aspects of your life. You will be busy at work.

Taurus (April 20 - May 20)
You may not think so, but you are on the verge of a new relationship. There is also a chance you will be working on a new project.

Gemini (May 21 - June 20)
Things may seem tough right now, but eventually you will surmount all obstacles and come out on top. Make time for the things you enjoy.

Cancer (June 21 - July 20)
A weird situation could turn into a lucky break for you. You may not be in control of the situation, and it might be best if you follow someone else's lead.

Leo (July 21 - Aug. 21)
You may have to make corrections to something you have worked hard on, and it will not be easy for you. You could make a change in careers.

Virgo (Aug. 22 - Sept. 22)
You may begin to feel lonely and sorry for yourself. Pick yourself up and do anything but sitting and brooding. Life is much better than you think.

Libra (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22)
You may find it hard to trust someone close to you. You may have to make some uncomfortable but necessary changes in your life.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 - Nov. 22)
You need to make a fresh start with financial matters. You may begin to think about traveling or changing your residence.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23 - Dec. 20)
Exercise your personal integrity in everything you do, and you will be successful. A disagreeable situation will soon end.

Capricorn (Dec. 21 - Jan. 19)
You could receive money or news concerning finances from an unexpected source. Things could work out very well for you.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)
You could find something you thought was lost forever. You will have mixed emotions about an unusual situation, and you will need time to adjust.

Pisces (Feb. 19 - March 20)
You may be caught off guard by someone close to you. You may need to find an appropriate outlet to vent your frustrations.

LET'S TALK

Shore and his chillin' mop; 'Exposure' Alaska really Washington

BY TAYLOR MICHAELS

Q: I am highly interested in Pauly Shore, the actor who starred in "Son-in-Law." Could you please tell me a little bit about him? Also, could I have an address where I can write to him? –S.M., McCook, Neb.

A: Shore, a popular MTV personality, was born and raised in Hollywood, Calif. According to MTV publicity, "he stands 5' 9 1/2" tall and weighs 145 pounds with a mop chillin' on top." Comedy is in his blood: His mother owns the Comedy Store nightclubs in San Diego, Las Vegas and Hollywood; and his father, comedian Sammy Shore, opened for Elvis Presley in the '60s and '70s. "I remember one time sitting on Elvis' knee," Pauly recalls. "That's how I got the scar on the side of my eye. Elvis was bouncing me. I said, 'Hey, Elvis, chill dude, your sideburns are twigging my eye area.'" The 19-year-old's first comedy album, "The Future of America," is due out soon, and will be the first of a four-album deal with CBS/WTG Records. Write to him in care of MTV, 1515 Broadway, New York, N.Y. 10036.

Pauly Shore

Q: I enjoy the game show "Caesar's Challenge." Where can I write to Ahmad Rashad, host of the show, and his sidekick, Dan Dordie? –Barbara Poindexter, Harvey, Ill.

A: Write Rashad and Dordie in care of the show, NBC Television Network, 3000 W. Alameda Ave., Burbank, Calif. 91523.

Q: I'm a big fan of "Days of Our Lives" and have been enthralled by the Carly story. I heard she has left the show for good. Please say it isn't true! –Angela Wilpula, Ashtabula, Ohio.

A: Weary of the rigors of acting, Crystal Chappell, who plays Carly, has indeed left the show. Whether or not she will return to acting is uncertain at this time.

Q: How can I contact Janine Turner? When is her birthday, and what else can you tell me about her? Also, where exactly is "Northern Exposure" filmed? –Michael Driggers, St. Matthews, S.C.

A: Turner, who was born in Lincoln, Neb., and raised near Fort Worth, Texas, broke into television on the long-running series "Dallas." Her first major role, however, was as Laura Templeton on "General Hospital." She also appeared on the television series "Mike Hammer," "The Love Boat" and "The A-Team" before landing the role of rough-and-tumble pilot Maggie on "Northern Exposure," which is filmed in Redmond and Roslyn, Wash. Her feature films include "Young Doctors in Love," "Tai-Pan," "Monkey Shines," "Steel Magnolias," "The Ambulance" and "Cliffhanger." Turner's birthdate is Dec. 6. Write her in care of CBS, 7800 Beverly Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif. 90036.

Q: I would like to know something about the actor who plays Cole on "The Young and the Restless." Where can I write to him? The ladies I work with and I are dying to have this information. –Diana Wilburn, Beaumont, Texas.

A: J. Eddie Peck, who plays brooding beefcake writer Cole Howard, was born in Lynchburg, Va., and grew up in Joplin, Mo. At age 18, he became host of a country and western radio show, a job which paid for his marketing degree at Missouri Southern State University. After entering acting, he starred in "Days of Our Lives" and spent a season on "Dallas" and "Dynasty." He has appeared on "Cheers," "Dark Justice," "Murder, She Wrote" and "Highway to Heaven," and his film credits include "Lambada," "Curse II: The Bite" and "Set the Night on Fire." Write to him in care of CBS, 7800 Beverly Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif. 90036.

Send questions to Let's Talk, Features Department, TV Data Technologies, P.O. Box 961009, Fort Worth, Texas 76161-1009. Because of the volume of mail received, personal replies cannot be sent.

Castle Keep ★★★ (1969) Burt Lancaster, Peter Falk. A Belgian castle that is filled with art treasures is protected from German attack by U.S. infantrymen. 2:20. November 13 1:40pm.

Catastrophe ★★ (1977) William Conrad. Some of history's most devastating disasters, including the Hindenburg explosion and the sinking of the Andrea Doria. 2:00. November 12 3am.

HOME BIJOU

That little mermaid swims into home video market

BY STEVEN ALAN MCGAW

First, there was Disney's 1989 Academy Award-winning hit, "The Little Mermaid." Loosely based on a story by Hans Christian Andersen, the movie focused on a mermaid named Ariel who longed to be human. Featuring the music of Alan Menken and Howard Ashman, the film was one of the most successful animated features in years, prefiguring the box office power of "Beauty and the Beast" and last year's "Aladdin."

Then came the Saturday morning series, a collection of "prequel" stories about Ariel and her undersea friends. Featuring many of the same vocal performers as the feature (including Jodi Benson as Ariel and Samuel E. Wright as that crazy crustacean Sebastian), the series also offered hummable tunes and engaging stories.

Now, the best of those episodes have been collected in a series of five 44-minute programs under the title "Ariel's Undersea Adventures." Available on videocassette and laser disc, the series includes adventures such as "Double Bubble," in which Ariel has her hands full baby-sitting twin troublemakers, and "Message in a Bottle," about a frightening encounter with Simon the Sea Monster.

The release of MGM/UA Home Video's "The Ultimate Oz," is set for Wednesday, Nov. 17. "Ultimate" is a deluxe collector's edition of "The Wizard of Oz," starring Judy Garland, Ray Bolger, Margaret Hamilton and Burt Lahr. Besides a restored Technicolor print of the 1939 gem, made from the original nitrate negative, the laser-disc-only release contains "The Wonderful Wizard of Oz: The Making of the Movie Classic," an entertaining documentary produced by Jack Haley Jr., whose father played the Tin Woodsman. Angela Lansbury serves as host.

"The Ultimate Oz" also allows viewers to see a reproduction of the film's original script, dated March 15, 1939, which contains several scenes that were deleted from the final film.

THURSDAY

Bill Gillespie (Carroll O'Connor, right), the new sheriff of Newman County, doesn't always agree with police chief Hampton Forbes (Carl Weathers) in CBS' "In the Heat of the Night" on Thursdays.

Natasha Richardson and Timothy Hutton star as Zelda and F. Scott Fitzgerald in TNT's "Zelda," debuting Sunday. The Fitzgeralds epitomized the carefree lifestyle of the Roaring '20s.

The Fitzgeralds portrayed in TNT's 'Zelda'

BY CANDACE HAVENS

It was the Roaring '20s, a time when liquor flowed like water, flappers were the rage, and the wealthy and almost wealthy competed to see who was the most outrageous.

One of the most famous and notorious women of the time, author F. Scott Fitzgerald's wife, Zelda, is regarded as the first American flapper. The Fitzgeralds thrived on living life on the edge, and their unusual antics are the focus of TNT's "Zelda," debuting on Sunday, Nov. 7.

F. Scott Fitzgerald first met Zelda Sayre when he was stationed in Alabama. He wanted to marry her, but she would have nothing to do with him until he could prove he could support her. It didn't take long for Fitzgerald to get his first book, "This Side of Paradise," published, and that is when the fun and the trouble began.

Natasha Richardson stars as the glamorous flapper, and she says she thinks Zelda was a pioneer for women. "It would be difficult for people, particularly women, not to feel for Zelda, with her extraordinary qualities and range of talents," says Richardson.

"Beyond being the material and inspiration for her husband's books, she was a talented writer and painter. In her time she was a sort of rallying cry for women who perhaps wanted to do more with their lives."

"Zelda" follows the Fitzgeralds from their first meeting to the time Zelda was diagnosed with schizophrenia and permanently institutionalized. Richardson gives a moving presentation of the mentally unstable woman. Hutton plays a compassionate F. Scott, a man who loved his wife so much it drove her crazy.

"She was not like any other woman to him," says Hutton, "yet her originality threatened him. In all of his writings it is clear that Zelda was always on Scott's mind. Their connection is as significant then as it is today, as it will be 50 years from now."

Perhaps Dorothy Parker summed up the Fitzgeralds best when she remembered meeting them the first time: "Striking? They looked as though they just stepped out of the sun."

'Teacher TV' looks at classroom discipline

BY SCOTT WHITE

"Students don't have the fear factor that we did," says Maryland middle-school teacher Shirley Alexis. "If someone told me that they were going to call my mother or father, that would have been it. Now, when you say, 'I'm calling home,' (students) sometimes say, 'Well, there's nobody there.'"

The growing problem of discipline in the classroom and the search for innovative solutions are the focus of The Learning Channel's Sunday, Nov. 7, episode of "Teacher TV." Though time-outs have ousted spanking as the top disciplinary measure in homes, greater social pressures have made classroom discipline more critical than ever.

"In the one-room schoolhouse," says school psychologist Stephan Silverman, "the teacher was hired to reinforce existing community values. Now, I think, we spend a good deal of time instilling values."

The program examines varied techniques and ideas for dealing with student apathy or defiance. Roland Kearns, a Maryland music teacher known for his no-nonsense style, suggests that educators look back to influential teachers in their lives.

"The teacher that I modeled my behavior after," says Kearns, "was a very frail, little gray-haired lady. And she would come in and let us know, 'I am not here to be liked by you, but I am here to be respected by you.'"

TRIVIA

HIGHLIGHTS

A concert by country music supergroup The Highwaymen airs on The Nashville Network Wednesday, Nov. 10. Waylon Jennings, Willie Nelson (pictured), Johnny Cash and Kris Kristofferson perform hits they popularized both individually and together.

Taped in New York City's Central Park, the concert was held as a benefit for the Central Park Conservancy, a non-profit organization that works to protect the park. The show also marked the grand finale of the first Country Takes Manhattan festival.

One of Elvis Presley's most satisfying moments in his movies was the title tune production in "Jailhouse Rock," which he choreographed.
