Midland Girl Wins Title Of Rodeo Queen

Miss Ballenger, choice of the judging committee for the honor of queen, received a silver trophy from the hands of Benny Reynolds, Montrose, Mont., cowboy who has been a favorite of the rodeo fans here this week.

Bashful Benny, who skyrocketed to national fame by his appearance on a television quiz show last year, is equally famous in the world of rodeo for his amazing climb to the top of the ladder as an outstanding contestant.

Also presented to Miss Ballenger as a second reward for her victory

Apes Pioneer Man In Space

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

WALLOPS ISLAND, Va. (AP)—Monkeys soon are going to pioneer man's safe return from trips into space, officials said Saturday.

They will be rocketed 100 miles up inside the full-sized capsules being developed as man's home while in space. Then the capsules will parachute down for recovery at sea, or on land.

On May 28, the monkeys Able and Baker rode 300 miles into space on a 1,700-mile-long trip in the nose cone of a rocket. But their compartment was just big enough to hold them, not like the man-sized compartments in which other monkeys will ride in the projected tests.

The goal is to prove out absolutely reliable methods for recovering the capsule and its human or animal occupant—every time. It is one more step advancing the day of man in space.

This is one project at America's third and newest space-port here at Wallops Island, the others being Cape Canaveral, Fla., and Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

Benny Kisses Queen, Cops Top Rodeo Money

Benny Reynolds, nationally known rodeo cowboy, kissed the queen and copped top money in the 26th annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo. Reynolds took the biggest single purse, $480.86, from the over $7,000 total prize money in the event concluded Saturday night.

A record crowd, estimated at nearly 6,000 attended the final evening of the rodeo that saw bashful Reynolds shake hands with the two queen runners-up and finally break down and kiss the newly crowned Rodeo Queen, Lynda Ballinger, Midland.

From there, he went into the arena and captured first place in the steer wrestling event and fourth place in the bareback riding event to win the title of "best all-round cowboy" for the show.

A surprise feature of the show was five visiting Australian cowboys who received their first taste of the American style rodeo. They landed in San Francisco Wednesday and have been trying to catch up with the circuit ever since. They arrived in Big Spring early Saturday morning and entered the saddle bronc riding and bull riding contests. It was the first time they had seen the American brahma bulls. Their performances were wildly applauded by the large crowd.

Two Big Springers placed in the finals. Herschel Romine won second and J. D. Armstrong was third in the calf roping contest.

And another successful Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo went into the record books.

Legislature Races Session Deadline

Hopes Up For Tax Trouble Solution

By DAVE CHEAVENS

AUSTIN (AP)—New hope that the Legislature will work out the state's money crisis without another special session blossomed Saturday.

Swiftly-developing compromises in tax and spending conference committees and blunt word from Gov. Price Daniel that another special session will cost taxpayers money fed the optimism.

Daniel said "The people of Texas are tired of deadlocks, delays and expensive special sessions." If efforts to meet the state's fiscal needs deadlock, he said, he will call a new special session Wednesday.

Ten-member House and Senate conference committees worked late Friday night. They were back on the job early Saturday. They will continue Sunday morning.

We will have a tax bill and a spending bill ready when the Legislature comes back Monday.

The big question still is:

Will the House and Senate be able to agree on a fiscal program that will dissolve the general fund deficit, appropriate operating funds for 1960-61, pass a tax bill that will in one package furnish the money?

Gov. Daniel said:

"The main point of difference on the tax bill is that the Senate upset the balance voted by the House between taxes on individuals and taxes on natural gas and interstate corporations.

"I believe even a partial restoration of this balance in a conference report would receive the approval of a majority of the House and Senate."

In essence, the original House tax bill called for about a 50-50 balance between taxes on big business-natural gas and specialized sales levies. The Senate bill made it about 80 per cent sales tax.

Will a strong House faction dedicated to increased natural gas levies take any compromise that may be worked out? No final answer is possible until the last vote is counted.

C. D. Matheny, Long Time Resident, Dies

Chester D. Matheny, 50, a resident of Big Spring for more than 27 years, died in a hospital here early Saturday.

In ill health for several years, he had suffered a heart attack early Thursday on the heels of recovery from a previous attack two months ago. He died suddenly at 5:45 a.m. Saturday.

Services will be held at 10 a.m. Monday at the Nalley-Pickle Chapel with Dr. H. Clyde Smith, district Methodist superintendent, officiating. He will be assisted by the Rev. Wesley Deats, and burial will be in the City Cemetery.

Mr. Matheny was born April 24, 1909, in Theodore, Ala. and moved with his parents to Waco when he was only three months of age. Completed school there, he had started work when his health obliged him to seek a higher climate, and he settled here in 1932. On Dec. 24, 1934, he was married to Eleanor Rix, and they made their home at 604 W. 5th Street.

When he came to Big Spring, he was with Montgomery Ward and served that company for 20 years, part of the time as department head. He later was in business and since 1955 has been associated with Cosden Petroleum Corporation's marketing division.

Surviving him are his wife; two brothers, W. A. Matheny and W. L. Matheny, both of Waco; five sisters, Mrs. E. L. Manogue, Rosenberg, Mrs. S. B. Dunson, Vernon, Mrs. Beulah Deal, Waco, Mrs. D. L. Herring, Mrs. Ola Taylor, both of Fort Worth, and several nieces and nephews.

Pallbearers will be L. B. King, Henry Carpenter, J. T. Wilkinson, Doyle Bynum, W. T. Abbott, and W. B. (Preach) Martin.

Appreciation To The Boss

Tollett Is Honored By Cosden Employes

Cosden's 25-Year Club dedicated its first official party to an esteemed 20-year man—the boss.

Raymond L. Tollett this year completed 20 years with Cosden, 19 years of them as president. In tribute to leadership that lifted a struggling company to one of the most virile and progressive in the industry, the old timers had Mr. and Mrs. Tollett as their guests of honor at an informal buffet dinner at the Cosden Country Club.

OUT OF TOWN GUESTS

Several out-of-town guests such as Federal District Judge James V. Allred, Corpus Christi, who grew up with him, were on hand to share in the occasion. Among them were C. J. Davidson, Fort Worth, Tom E. Neal, San Antonio, Henry Zweifel, Granbury, O. H. Allred, Fort Worth, C. T. McLaughlin, Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kelly, Colorado City, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Phillips Jr., Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle R. Sproles, Fort Worth, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. Story, Dallas.

Tollett responded briefly to tribute paid him by visitors and others who had known him even before his Cosden association. He was honored, he said, that the new 25-Year Club would single him out for its first function.

Marvin Miller, senior vice president of the company and president of the club, presided and expressed appreciation for Mr. Tollett's management of the company and for his personal guidance during the past 20 years.

As Douglas Orme, master of ceremonies, introduced the visiting guests, each took a few minutes to tell of an interesting or memorable experience they had with Tollett. Many added their appreciation of his overall influence in the business world and of his activities in his home community. Henry Zweifel who hired Tollett for Cosden in 1939 and who later recommended to the board that Tollett be made president, was the final speaker.

SURPRISE TO BOSS

The surprise climax was the presentation of a leather bound "Book of Appreciation" letters written by the 25-year employees and others. The book was presented by Mrs. Alma Gollnick, the first Cosden employee to complete 25 years of service. Mrs. Tollett was presented with a bouquet of roses by Mrs. Velva Mullinex in behalf of the 25-year group.

Even the musical entertainment for the party came from the ranks of the 25-year Club. J. D. Sitchler sang and A. L. Carlile gave a violin solo, both accompanied by Mrs. Helen Green. Three veteran Col-Tex Refining Company employes, Richar Lange, W. L. Watson and E. L. Stagner furnished the dinner music.

There are 40 who have made the 25-year Club, and two of them are deceased and three retired. The club is headed by Miller, with Orme as vice president, Mrs. Green as secretary, and V. A. Whittington as treasurer. Invocation was by W. L. Sandridge.

Officers Seek Gunman After 2 Big Spring Stores Robbed

A search, so far fruitless, was under way Saturday night for a lanky, sandy haired gunman, who held up two liquor stores here Friday night in the space of half an hour.

Victims of the hijacker's work were Vicky's Package Store, near the Webb Air Force Base turnoff on W. Hy. 80, and Uncle Tom's Liquor store, half a mile further west.

Vickey's was looted of $120.94 and a pint of gin. Uncle Tom's place was hit for $61. Uncle Tom's Liquor Store is located at 3511 W. 80.

ATTENDANT ALONE

At Vickey's he entered the store from the front. Margie Shafer, the attendant, was alone in the establishment. The hour was 9:15 p.m.

"I want a pint of gin," the stranger said. When the attendant had taken a gin from the shelf and turned back, she found herself facing an automatic pistol.

"This is a stickup," said the bandit, "give me the money in the cash register." He stepped behind the counter near the register. The clerk handed him all of the cash in the drawer—$120.94. The hijacker snatched up the bottle of gin from the counter, pocketed the money and disappeared in the darkness. Miss Shafer heard no car depart nor did she see one in front of the store.

She called officers and Chief Deputy Fern Cox and Bobby West, special investigator for the district attorney answered the call. They were at Vickey's questioning the clerk when the call came telling of the holdup at Uncle Tom's Liquor store, further west on the highway.

Tom Higgins and Mrs. Higgins were alone in their establishment. At 9:45 p.m. they saw a late model station wageon—believed to be a 1958 model—colored red, pull to a stop in front. The car was headed east at the time.

A man, tall, about 38 years old, sandy-haired and reddish complexioned, needing a shave, came into the store. He asked for a pint of gin. When Higgins had gotten the gin and faced back around, he was staring into the muzzle of a pistol.

SAME METHOD

The same dialogue ensued as at Vickey's place half an hour earlier. The bandit took $61 in bills and change and left the place. He did not take the gin this time. The car drove away from Uncle Tom's to the east.

Mrs. Higgins told officers Friday night she believed she saw the shadowy figures of a woman and a child in the car. However, Saturday she had decided, according to officers, that the other occupant was someone slumped down in the seat.

Roadblocks were thrown up and other counties alerted. No trace of the red station wagon was sighted.

Officers Saturday were convinced that the perpetrator of the two stickups here was the same bandit who had pulled two holdups in Abilene on Thursday night. The places hit there were a drug store and a service station. Total loot was only $60. In each instance, the victims described the bandit as being tall, sandyhaired, aged about 38, and armed with an automatic pistol. This, local officers said, matched closely the description provided of the local bandit.

Uncle Tom's Liquor store was held up about two years ago by a shotgun-packing bandit who walked into the establishment at night. No arrest was ever made in connection with this job.

Bible Class Fund Increases Again

The Bible Class Fund increased to $1,669 Saturday with receipt of two more contributions.

The Big Spring Junior Women's Forum gave a cash contribution of $10 to the fund. In addition, the forum made the class part of its project for the year and pledged $5 a month for the nine-months period that the classes will be held. Thus, the Junior Woman's Forum is actually making a $55 contribution. This would have the effect of boosting the fund to $1,714.

Another $10 check was received from Harvey Clay, accounting for the substantial increase Saturday.

Reviewing The

Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District provided the major news of the week when they instructed officials to file for a water permit to impound another lake on the upper Colorado River. Precursory estimates place it at 2½ times the size of Lake J. B. Thomas, which is some 40 miles upstream. The project is vital because this is the last remaining source of potable surface water in the area, said E. V. Spence, general manager.

* * *

There are many, many hurdles to a project of this magnitude—like a permit, land, finances—and fruition within two to five years would be considered good. The effort will be worth it if an additional 75 million gallons of water per day can be tied down for this portion of West Texas.

Driver Flees Police In Wild Chase, Caught When Car Flips

Four city police cars chased a suspect wanted for traffic violations, over 70 city blocks and at speeds up to 90 miles per hour here Saturday evening, before the fleeing vehicle overturned. The driver was not injured.

Operator of the car was identified by city police as Raymond W. Grubbs, 37, Lamesa.

Saturday night, as a result of the episode, city police prepared 17 charges against Grubbs. These have been filed in corporation court. He will be brought before the city judge on Monday morning.

Police filed six charges of running red lights, eight charges of running stop signs, two charges of speeding at 90 miles per hour and one complaint of operating a motor vehicle without a driver's license against him.

The chase began when a police patrol car spotted Grubbs run a red light at W. 4th and San Jacinto intersection. This was shortly after 6 p.m.

Sheriff Henry Mayfield, Dawson County, said that the man is wanted in his county for four traffic violations—one of which is a charge of enhanced speeding, lodged in the Dawson County court. He said that Grubbs is presently at liberty on $1,000 bond on a charge of forgery.

Sgt. L. A. Hiltbruner, who saw the man first, gave chase. This was the beginning of a wild race that covered 70 city blocks, leaving one car wrecked and two others damaged before it came to an end at 17th and Gregg. At that point, Grubbs lost control of the car as he sped into a dip in the paving.

The car left the slab, mowing down 15 feet of picket fence and knocking a pickup truck into an alley. It then overturned. The fence and pickup were the property of J. E. Stokes, 1701 Johnson.

Hiltbruner said he chased the fugitive at speeds up to 90 miles an hour and that officers saw the man with a gun in his hand at one time. However, no gun was found when he was arrested. Police believe he threw it away as the race progressed.

Four police cars took up the pursuit, including Chief C. L. Rogers' vehicle. At 11th and Gregg the suspect's car rammed the front fender of Hiltbruner's vehicle, which was overtaking it.

Sheriff Mayfield said last night

B. Hall pulls in on the tail of the suspect's car; (4) the suspect's car rams into side of police vehicle; (5) the fleeing car goes out of control in a dip at the intersection of 17th St. and Johnson, crashes picket fence, and overturning collides with the parked pickup and utility pole near the alley.

She 'Cried Too Much'

Mrs. Willie Jean Flores, 22, looks down at her daughter, two-months-old Linda Sue, who was treated at San Jose, Calif., County Hospital for multiple bruises. The baby's eyes were so swollen she could hardly see. Police said the father, Arthur S. Flores, 23, a Moffett Field sailor, admitted hitting the child with his hands and steel belt buckle. He said he beat the child because she "cried too much." Flores was booked on a beating charge.

World Has Plenty Of 'Methuselahs'

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK, (AP)—At age 116, our last Civil War veteran is far shy of the record for human longevity.

If, that is, you accept claims of some past and present oldtimers.

The Soviet Union proudly reports a raft of ancients, including a few aged 130 to 166. An Iranian gentleman declares he is 185.

Then there was a Dane, Christian Jacobsen Drakenberg, who married a widow of 60 when he was 111 and outlived her. He was reputed to be 146 when he died in 1772.

Despite doubts over reliability of records, a couple of facts about longevity stick out.

One is that the American woman is the longest-lived mammal on earth, with an average lifespan of 73 years.

Medicine now is helping the longevity climb of Walter Williams of Houston, Tex., last Civil War survivor. Perhaps he could live even longer than he will if he had had the benefits of present medical knowledge all his life.

Again, perhaps not. His amazing age could stem primarily from heredity — Williams says his grandfather reached 119.

Heredity and good luck will take one of every 33,000 Americans to the century mark or better, authorities estimate.

In perilous caveman times, average life expectancy was a cut-on-the-bloom 18. Romans reached the low side of 30. Americans born in 1900 could expect only 50 years, average.

Always there have been long-lived individuals — Methuselah aside.

By its word, the Soviet Union houses the greatest number of remarkable oldsters. Moscow reports 30,000 Soviet citizens over the century mark, and (three years ago) listed the king of them as a Caucasus farmer reported to be 166 years old then.

In the province of Dagestan, says Moscow, are 2,000 persons aged 100 to 147. Two years ago, Moscow reported the death of the "oldest man in the world," 157-year-old Igor Koreyev, a kitchen boy in a Russian army that battled Napoleon.

Unlucky Bank Bandit Doesn't Get Very Far

HOUSTON (AP) — An armed man robbed the Airline State Bank Saturday but police arrested the man and recovered the $7,000 loot a few minutes later when the escape automobile crashed into a police car.

Police placed the amount stolen as $7,000 nearly two hours after the robbery. A bank official earlier had said only a modest amount was taken.

The vehicles collided two blocks from the bank.

The man had barely missed crashing into a customer's vehicle as he fled from the bank's drivein window.

The man gave his name to police as Charles Wood, 26, and said he was a citizen of British Honduras.

Both Wood and Patrolman Glover Seale were rushed to a hospital after the collision. Wood was treated for a head cut, Seale for chest injuries.

W. S. Pobworth Jr., president of the bank, said the amount taken was modest.

E. M. Hudson, a witness, chased the robber until the automobile collision and told reporters an FBI agent had placed the loot at $7,000. Eugene Hawkins, FBI agent in charge, agreed with Pobworth that the amount had not been determined.

Hudson said he had just made a deposit and was in his pickup truck in the bank parking lot when he saw the man get in a large automobile and speed away. Hudson said he decided to chase the man.

A short distance from the bank, the robber changed to a smaller automobile. Hudson said the man threatened him with a gun as he pulled up beside him during the vehicle change. He said he began the chase again and reached speeds of 70 to 80 miles before the escape automobile crashed into the patrol car.

Mrs. Elise Miller, 34, said she was working in the teller's cage with seven other women when the man walked inside the cage.

"I thought he was a workman or repairman or something," she said. "I jokingly asked him, 'you going to rob us?' he replied: 'Yeah, that's right'."

Short Shorts Are Puzzle To Police

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—How short are short shorts?

The city commission didn't say when it banned them, and the issue is still unresolved.

So when police arrested Lise Fournier, 21, of Montreal Thursday, they had her husband measure her shorts on the spot.

Now it's up to Judge Irving Goldman to decide whether 12½ inches is too short. While he pondered the matter, he released Mrs. Fournier on $5 bail.

Son Held In Woman's Death

CHICAGO (AP)—The body of a housewife, killed by a broken tomahawk, was found in her Chicago home Friday night. More than 12 hours later state police in Sterling seized a youth believed to be her missing son.

The victim, Mrs. Geraldine Nesius, was found in her Northwest Side home, her skull bashed by the stone. The tomahawk head is part of a family rock collection.

A search was started for her son by a previous marriage, David Pickles, 14, when he failed to appear home at dinner time.

Sheriff Henry Hamilton of Whiteside County said the youth identified himself as the son of Mrs. Nesius but denied having anything to do with her death.

He said the youth told him he was heading West when picked up.

Philip Nesuis, 29, service manager for an auto agency, told authorities he found his wife's body, clad in a housecoat, on the living room floor when he arrived at the apartment.

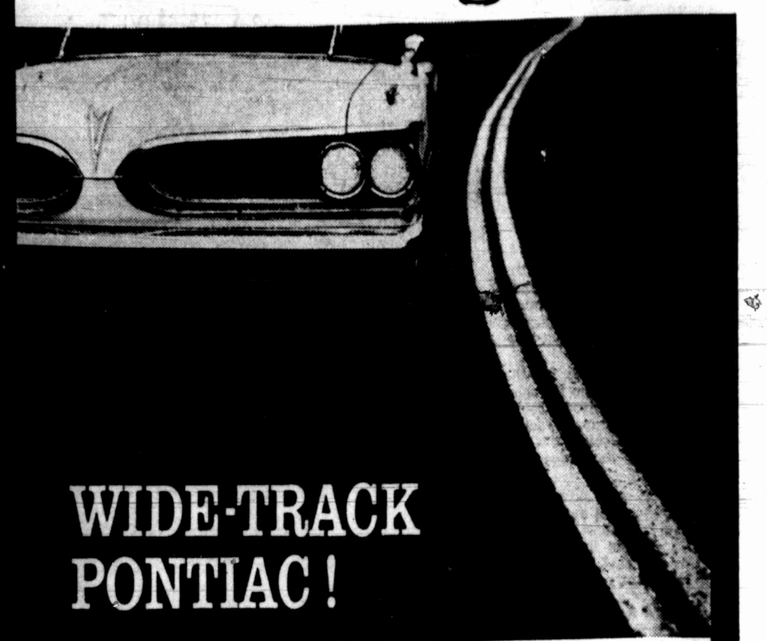

A woman's stocking was twisted around her neck, police said, apparently in an attempt to strangle her. The victim's underclothing also was found near the body.

July Docket Is Proposed

The next jury session of county court will probably be in July, the county attorney announced.

Because of the jury condemnation case handled last week in county court, plus a session of civil trials in 118th District Court beginning June 22, Wayne Burns, county attorney, said that the June county court session was being canceled.

Devoted Worker
In Aiding
Crippled Children

Sacrifice and devotion, along with time and interest in helping others, are hallmarks for Mrs. W. G. Teague, rated as one of the community's most faithful workers in aiding crippled children.

Since last August, Mrs. Teague has—twice every week—escorted four and more youngsters from here to Midland, where they are being benefited at that city's Cerebal Palsy Center through regular therapy. Each Monday and Thursday, using the local Crippled Children Society's car, Mrs. Teague takes the children for a period of treatment, where they are directed by a physical therapist, an occupational therapist and a speech therapist.

Mrs. Teague became interested in this volunteer work because her own son Guy, 5, is a cerebral palsy victim. But he, along with others, is showing remarkable improvement thanks to the therapy made available through the Midland center and the local Crippled Children's Society.

Mrs. Teague picks up other children—those who have no other means of transportation to the center. There are as many as 15 or 20 other Big Spring youngsters benefiting from this care, but Mrs. Teague's devotion has been in escorting children of those parents who cannot afford their own transportation.

Mrs. Teague is a Big Springer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hill. Her husband is an Airman first class at Webb AFB, functioning as an engineer-draftsman. They reside at 705 Aylford, and have another child, Tina, who is 3, a gay youngster in perfect health.

Leaders in the Crippled Children's Society count Mrs. Teague as one of those whose labors bring hope and happiness where most needed.

Denison Newspaper Provides Big Help To Classroom Study

By JIM BOWMAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

The tow-headed junior high teenager took a deep breath and rattled off to his classmates his views on what the prospects of the Big Four were in Geneva.

His arguments rang with authority. Classmates studied him intently.

The boy was well prepared. His assignment, a report on current international affairs, came straight from his daily newspaper.

He is one of thousands of Texas school children taking part in the "Newspaper in the Classroom" program sponsored by the Texas Daily Newspaper Assn.

Educators throughout the state hail the program as a multi-purpose aid to the classroom.

At least 20 Texas newspapers provide thousands of fresh copies free to schools from Beaumont to Amarillo daily.

The TDNA states as its purpose "to relate what the student is learning to what he is talking about at home and in the street. It aims to give vitality to learning and to train the child in habits of newspaper reading and discussion that will be useful long after he has left school. . ."

O. A. Barnes of the Belton public schools put it this way in a letter to the Temple Daily Telegram:

The program, he wrote, "is one of the best ways that has been tried to strengthen the instructional (program) in recent years. Textbooks serve a worthy purpose but it is impossible for them to be current in every respect."

Bob Burns, Tyler principal, was more specific.

"We don't have any textbooks on the recent Cuban revolution," he wrote to the Tyler Courier-Times-Telegraph.

The Milwaukee Journal launched the program during World War II. School children, it reasoned, were not properly equipped to interpret the tremendous impact of war on both the community and the world.

It brought newspapers into Milwaukee classrooms to explain why dad was in Europe and mom worked in a factory.

Texas newspapers accepted the idea with enthusiasm three years ago. More enter the program annually.

John H. Murphy, executive director of the TDNA, says "the (Texas) program involves more schools and more newspapers than any other such program in the country that we know of. That is indicative of the interest which daily newspapers in Texas have in education."

Teachers channel the use of newspapers in school through a variety of means.

Students at the former Elizabeth Nixson Junior High in Amarillo participated in a quiz show "Tic, Tac, News," borrowing the title from television. Contestants attempted to answer simple-to-difficult question gleaned from newspapers by class members. And competition was keen.

Some teachers were skeptical at the outset but were convinced quickly.

"The pupils love it," said Miss Jerry Herod, seventh grade teacher at Amarillo's Sam Houston Junior High.

"They discuss things that are in the paper almost every day. Frankly, I was very surprised that it went over so well."

Teachers everywhere emphasize that young minds are eager to learn and need only the opportunity. Some, they say, never picked up newspapers at home simply because nobody suggested it.

A Tyler school survey of 90 pupils showed at least 54 now read a newspaper daily, browsing throughout the edition.

At least 22 of the youngsters, the survey showed, spend at least five minutes a day, 15 spend 10 minutes and 30 spend 15 minutes.

Most pupils, teachers learned, don't stop at the comics but eagerly study the newspaper from the front page through the financial. One group started following the stock market and eventually wrote to the New York Stock Exchange for information.

Last year the three Houston newspapers, the Chronicle, Post and Press, joined in a pilot program to supply newspapers to classes in a limited number of schools in the state's largest public school system.

In Beaumont, where 30 schools are participating, plans are under way to expand the program next year.

It is "extremely valuable as an aid to English, social studies and home economics teachers and students," Supt. Fred Hunter of Beaumont said.

Newspaper Is 'Textbook'

Students in the Denison Senior High civics class read copies of the Denison Herald, supplied without charge, so that students may take advantage of the latest information on governmental matters around the world in their studies. Pointing out Berlin on a map in the classroom is Jerry Lover. Miss Elizabeth Bledsoe, teacher, holds a paper which carries the story about the current critical governmental situation in that German city.

Couple Opens Home To 5 Needy Children

LUBBOCK (AP)—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Francisco Gonzalez has become a haven for five children who once needed love and help.

Brenda was lonely. David was lost. Robinette was sullen. Jose and Antonio could look forward only to a life of hardship in Mexico.

In a few years, these children came together to live under one roof and to learn that the cohesive force of any family comes not so much from blood relationships as from mutual love and understanding.

Brenda, 8, was the first of the three children adopted by Francisco and Mary Alice Gonzalez from a San Antonio welfare agency.

The couple next adopted Robinette, now 13, who at first was defensive and sullen.

"After a while, she began to smile," Mrs. Gonzalez recalls, "and from then on, she found it easy to accept our love."

David, now 13, was adopted two years ago.

"I consider myself very lucky," he said. "They took me when I was 11 and that's older than most children who are adopted."

The other two boys, Jose Vera, 15, and Antonio Vera, 13, are wards of the Gonzalez family.

Pig Stamp Plan May Be Attempted

By OVID A. MARTIN
Associated Press Farm Reporter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Next year's squealing pigs may do much to put Uncle Sam into a broad food dispensing program, possibly by way of a food stamp plan.

Some hint of the probabilities along this line may come from a government survey of livestock farmers' production plans for this year's fall crop of pigs, to be made public June 19.

Many signs point to a further expansion in hog production this year and next, and to a decline in prices that could force many producers through the financial wringer.

Meat counters overflowing with pork — and farmers squealing about low prices — could well lead Congress to enact a food stamp plan to channel surplus foods to lower income groups.

Such a dip in hog prices would come at a strategic moment for sponsors of a stamp program. It would hit markets at a time when the stage was being set for the 1960 presidential and congressional campaigns.

Hog prices at election time often exert a strong influence on rural voting in the broad corn belt, extending from Ohio westward into Nebraska. This area, once strongly Republican, has become pivotal in recent elections.

The last time hog prices plunged was in 1955. At that time they dipped to $10 a hundred pounds, which was a decline of more than 50 per cent from the peak of a year or so earlier. Many farmers lost heavily. Some were forced off the land.

But a decline in production in 1956 brought an improvement in prices. Hence, the full impact of the low prices were not felt on the presidential election that year.

Hog prices advanced in 1957 and 1958, bringing new increases in production. A 17 per cent increase in last year's fall pig crop was followed by a $5-a-hundred pounds lower price for hogs this spring marketing season.

Overproduction of hogs next year, coming on top of this year's overproduction of eggs and poultry products, plus the prospect that the beef cattle industry may be building up to a price bust, might well put strong pressure on Congress to do something about stabilizing the livestock and feed grain industries.

In the past, efforts were made to stabilize both feed grain and livestock industries by stabilizing grain supplies and prices. But efforts to control grain production have failed.

It is with this experience in mind that some farmer leaders — aided by some nutritional authorities — are urging the use from time to time of a food stamp plan as a stabilizing device.

Annual Farm Unit Queen Contest Set

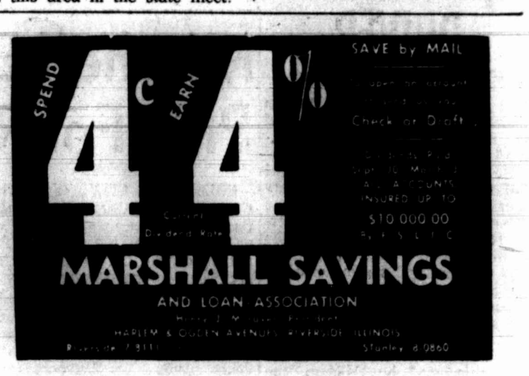

The Howard County Farm Bureau chapter will stage its annual queen contest on July 30.

Mrs. Morris Molpus asked all prospective entries to contact her at the Bureau offices here.

Young ladies between the ages of 16-21 and who have members of their family who are also members of the Farm Bureau are eligible to take part.

Winner of the county contest will represent Howard County in the district eliminations. Last year Fan Barber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Barber, won the county and district contest and represented this area in the state meet.

Big Ship To Aid Seaway's Opening

By The Associated Press

A graceful and expensive lady of the sea is coming 3,000 miles from England to lend her elegance to the official opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

She's the Britannia, floating palace of the Queen of England. And from the time she eases into the St. Lawrence's first lock at St. Lambert's near Montreal, the Brittania will rule the waves of the Great Lakes.

And from the decks of the blue-hulled Britannia, President and Elizabeth and Prince Philip, will participate in the June 26 ceremonies.

They'll have luncheon in the state dining room—big enough to seat 50—that's furnished with a Hepplewhite table and blue leather chairs. Perhaps they'll use the beautifully appointed royal apartments or guest suites on the uppermost deck, outfitted largely with fine old pieces taken from the predecessor, the Victoria and Albert retired in 1951.

Only six years old, the Britannia will have logged more than 100,000 miles over most of the world's sealanes by the time she sails into the St. Lawrence for her first taste of fresh water. She has taken the Queen or other members of the royal family to many European countries and Africa.

For the Great Lakes jaunt, the steam turbine powered ship will be boarded in Quebec this weekend by the royal couple who plan to fly over from England. The yacht will carry them inland as far as Chicago, for a one-day visit on July 6, and then up to Canada for their six-week tour.

When anchor is dropped in the United States, the ship will represent an investment of $6,918,000. This includes the original $5,880,000 and two expensive refits. It costs $19,600 a week to operate her, counting $11,200 to pay and support the crew of 271 officers and men.

The completely air conditioned vessel of 5,769 tons has an overall length of 412¼ feet and a beam of 55 feet.

Built into the Britannia is a two-car garage, capable of accommodating limousines if the Queen fancies a drive ashore.

But there is a royal rumor that, for all its good looks, Britannia acts like a lively bronco when she's at sea and that the Queen prefers airplanes.

Old Livestock News Service Builds History

FORT WORTH (AP)—Depression-hit farmers turned loose their hogs to the market at 2.95 cents a pound in May 1932. The high price for good fed steers that month was 5½ cents. In July that same year, choice slaughter lambs were worth 4¼ cents.

It was located here just eight months after the U.S. Department of Agriculture established livestock market news reporting. The Fort Worth office marks its 42nd anniversary Tuesday.

But marking historic highs and lows are not the main business of the service.

It provides day-to-day reports on movement, supplies, quality, demand, price trends and quotations on cattle, calves, hogs and sheep.

The information from the service is invaluable to everyone from the rancher or farmer with livestock to sell on up through the processing to the supermarket manager looking ahead for supplies.

The Fort Worth stockyard is the oldest and largest terminal livestock market in the Southwest, having been a major market for more than 60 years.

In the 1958 survey of receipts at 59 terminal markets, Fort Worth ranked third for sheep, seventh for calves, 13th for cattle and 28th for hogs.

END OF A WILD RACE

that Grubbs had been in Dawson County only a short time. He said the man is now at liberty on $1,000 bond for a forgery charge.

He related that Deputy Earl Calhoun of the Dawson County sheriff's force, jumped the same driver early Friday north of Ackerly. He gave chase, because of the traffic violations he said the man was committing. The chase led to within three miles of Lamesa. Calhoun was never able to quite force the speeding fugitive to a halt.

At this point the car swung away from Lamesa and before the chase was abandoned by Calhoun, the two cars had travelled over 40 miles and had covered parts of Dawson, Lynn and Borden Counties.

Mayfield said he had filed a charge of enhanced speeding which he said was a county court case, against Grubbs and two justices of peace complaints, alleging driving on wrong side of the road and no driver's license.

"I want him," he said, "and I'll come after him as soon as Howard County is through with him."

Mayfield said that the car the fugitive was driving on Friday was a 1959 model. He added that his staff has not been able to locate the car.

QUEEN

was a huge bouquet of roses. Ed Cherry, president of the Howard County Mounted Patrol, made this presentation.

Miss Ballenger, who is a spring graduate of Midland High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Ballenger, Midland ranchers. She was editor of the Midland high school year book and a popular member of her class.

She was selected by the judges on four points — personality, poise, appearance and horsemanship.

Chosen as second from the field of nine young ladies representing as many communities in West Texas, was Miss Fort Stockton—Betty Baggett. In third place, was Miss Brady—Susan Sorrell. These contestants were each presented with an ornate silver belt buckle.

The nine girls have been featured at each performance and rode in the big parade which opened the show.

They have been entertained at numerous functions during their stay in the city, including a swim party at Cosden Country Club, a theater party, an informal dinner at the Desert Sands Restaurant and a barbecue picnic at the rodeo grounds. They also appeared on television.

Bill Quimby, manager of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, declared Saturday that he had never encountered a more cooperative and charming group of young women.

"They made the contest one of the pleasantest experiences in many years," he said.

Minor Accidents

Police records show three minor accidents in the city Friday.

A one-car accident was reported about 6 p.m. in the 1700 block of Kentucky Way. Driver of the vehicle was Jesse Pearl Watson, 802 E. 15th.

About 8 p.m., George Ross Hailey, 710 Edwards Blvd., and George B. Gutierrez, 1004 NW 1st. were drivers in a mishap in the 300 block of NE 3rd.

Mitchell Endorses Plan For Reservoir

COLORADO CITY (Spl)—The Commissioners Court of Mitchell County went on record here Saturday endorsing the proposal for a lake on the Colorado River in southern Mitchell County.

Terming it a project that would help secure the economic growth and development of West Texas, as well as Mitchell County, the court pledged its support and urged others to join in cooperation with the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

The CRMWD announced in Big Spring Thursday that an application for a water permit is being filed with the State Board of Water Engineers.

"The economic opportunity of Mitchell County and West Texas depends upon the development of available water resources," the resolution said. The economic growth and development of Mitchell County and West Texas would more than justify the project and make it a sound venture as well as offering the area the security of a water supply, it continued.

The order was passed unanimously, said County Judge Elmer Martin. Voting for it were Commissioners Sam Thompson from the Lake Colorado area, J. C. (Jake) Northcutt from the Spade area, N. (George) Bacon of Westbrook, and Moody Richardson of Loraine.

"The commissioners court, realizing the necessity and importance of water to the present and future of West Texas, hereby adopts this resolution this 13th day of June 1959," the document reads "and endorses the idea for an additional water reservoir storage on the upper Colorado River basin and urges continuing study and support for the project and urges individuals and communities of Mitchell County to give this important project serious consideration for the development of this area and to work in cooperation with the Colorado River Municipal Water District."

Fenn Resigns Post At Gay Hill School

Doyle Fenn, principal of Gay Hill school for the past five years, has submitted his resignation to the school board. He plans to accept a position with the Deer Park schools, near Houston.

"Our years at Gay Hill have been very enjoyable and filled with many educational experiences," Fenn said in his letter of resignation. Mrs. Fenn also will be employed by the Deer Park school district.

The Fenns have four children, Larry, 8, Brenda 6, Marlin 2, and Mark 1.

The principal explained that Deer Park offers a chance for professional advancement and will give him a chance to resume graduate work at the University of Houston.

The Fenns came to Gay Hill in 1954. He has served on the Texas Small Schools Association as vice-president and is currently a member of the Howard County Tuberculosis Board. He planned a school expansion program and a student health program, while at Gay Hill.

The Fenns are members of the Wesley Methodist Church where he is chairman of the building committee, a Sunday School teacher and a member of the official board.

Thefts Reported, Stolen Car Found

Two thefts were reported to city police Friday and a stolen car was found.

The car was found stripped, police said, near Lincoln Blvd. and Cherry. The car was taken Thursday near the Veterans Administration Hospital.

T. G. Harris told officers a man took $35 from his cash register at the Chevron Service Station, 1511 S. Gregg. He said the customer apparently took the money while his car was being serviced.

AFROTC Opens Summer Work

Vanguard of 190 students from numerous colleges and universities, members of the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps, are arriving in Big Spring for the summer training program at Webb Air Force Base.

Officially the new students will be accepted at the base on Sunday. The AFROTC members, however, are arriving for the most part by private car and several groups were on hand Saturday.

The students will be at Webb through July 11. Graduation exercises are to be on that date. The AFROTC will participate in all phases of training and will serve in numerous positions on the base.

Lt. Col. Henry G. Tillman is training unit commander for the group. He will be assisted by a sizeable staff. Eleven regular Air Force officers and three airmen will be his aides in the summer training program for the young students.

THE WEEK

day could have gone still higher. After all, this is over-doing it.

* * *

This year's rodeo got a warm hand from the fans. The show was well attended and excellently produced. After threatening before the first show, the weatherman dished up near ideal conditions. Local rodeo officials have been batting in hard luck in recent years and a good break is certainly welcome.

* * *

Fishermen, boaters and water skiiers all descended on the city commission last week asking for a share of time or area at Moss Creek Lake. The commission named a committee to make recommendations — but short of three lakes, nothing probably will work.

* * *

Last weekend violent death came to two people. Little Jerry Don Dodson was hurt fatally when he fell off an elevator in a downtown store, and then Willie Lee Seale was killed in northern Sterling County on U. S. 87 when his car overturned.

* * *

Howard County's new airport will be operated by Roy Neal Jr. and Dick Standifer of Lubbock. The latter will actually be in charge here. The proposition accepted by the commissioners court is due to be self-sustaining.

* * *

People who once were in the teaching profession and who would like to give their talents to a humanitarian project should contact the Big Spring State Hospital. School for young people in the hospital is needed urgently, but there are no funds. Only if enough big hearted people volunteer for this exceptional service can the need be met.

* * *

Another stride in expanding facilities to meet growing church population is being observed today by Baptist Temple with dedication of a $55,000 educational wing. Last week Hillcrest Baptist, once a First Baptist Mission, became a full-fledged congregation. Also, the First Baptist congregation voted to make an offer on a potential church site.

* * *

If you think somebody doesn't read every line in the Herald, you're wrong. The "Devotional for Today" on the editorial page incorrectly quoted Matthew 9:38, in saying that the "Lord of the harvest. . .will not send forth labourers. . ." Of course it should have been "will send," and we heard about it.

* * *

City reports showed that 69 stray dogs were picked up last month, and another 69 dead dogs and cats were hauled away by the city sanitation department. The only trouble is that cats and dogs work harder at increasing their tribes than all the forces aligned against them.

Indignant Investors Stand By Pair Accused Of Theft

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Indignant investors stood by Saturday in a show of support for two men indicted in a million-dollar uranium deal.

Ending a statewide search, the pair turned up here Friday night, surrendered to sheriff's officers and went free under $40,000 bonds.

The men are John Milton Addison, 36, and Dan Nance, 32. Officers had sought them since Wednesday afternoon, when county grand jurors indicted the two on charges of stealing more than $50.

One of those voicing anger over the indictments was John Crow, former Texas A&M All-American who played professional football last season with the Chicago Cardinals. Crow declined to say how much he had invested but said he was positive he would get his money back.

Homer Garrison Jr., who heads the Texas Department of Public Safety in Austin, said reports from investigators indicated as many as 400 persons "may have been victimized by false representation regarding uranium ore mines and production schemes."

Garrison estimated up to one million dollars in investors' money was involved.

On the basis of records seized in the $150-a-day hotel suite here of Addison and Nance, Asst. Dist. Atty. Harold Hall placed the amount at more than one million dollars. He said the documents indicated they obtained money from 300 to 400 persons in 18 states.

Addison flew back to San Antonio from Dallas to surrender. Officers had spotted his private plane there. Associates said Nance was here all the time, contrary to reports he fled with Addison shortly before the grand jury reported two indictments against each.

The pair first went to a meeting of investors at the hotel, Wally Henderson, a district attorney's investigator, said 50 to 60 attended the conference, called to arrange bond for the pair. All have loaned money to Addison and Nance, Henderson said.

Three San Antonio men signed the $40,000 bonds posted by each. They are Leon Luksa, construction firm owner; Marion Chelhowski, owner of a radio—television repair business, and Marion E. Drew, a salesman.

Henderson, new on the job as an investigator, had been waiting at the hotel since morning on a tip the investors would get together.

He entered the room, he related, told his name only and an unidentified man watching the door shook hands warmly.

"It's good to see you again," this individual told the investigator.

Nance, whom officers had not expected at the meeting, arrived. Henderson asked the identity of Nance from a man seated at his side. Staring in surprise, the man responded:

"That's Dan Nance — and you don't know who he is, you don't have any business here."

Henderson quickly stepped from the room as the conferees started to gather about him. One repeatedly called him a "little runt" and "squealer," he said.

Hall said officers had found Addison and Nance, moving in the best circles, dropped hints they had a machine which would make it profitable to operate abandoned uranium mines. They let it be known that loans would be necessary for their operations, he said, and never accepted less than $1,250.

"We think they are broke now," the assistant district attorney said.

Hall said one man in South Texas put up $105,000 to back the pair. Addison and Nance used several teams in their fund raising, Hall said, and officers are looking for three persons in the Kerrville area.

"That burns me up. Do they have proof he (Addison) defrauded anyone?"

Crow said his uncle, Lamar Walker of Houston, recommended the deal and he loaned Addison money on that basis.

Walker, another of those at last night's meeting, said he likewise invested.

"The sole terms were my money back and 10 per cent interest annually," Walker said. "I consider it a good move. Where can you get 10 per cent on your money these days?"

Jim Dier of San Antonio told reporters he had been working full time for Addison and Nance. He said he loaned them $1,250 and helped raise $6,000 more.

Dier said Addison advised that he controlled, through several companions, about 200,000 acres of mineral-rich land in Utah, Wyoming and Colorado; that he owned or controlled 20,000 acres of nickel deposits, and that he had blueprints already drawn for a multi-million-dollar hotel at Golden, Colo., a West Denver suburb.

Investigators reported Addison at various times had identified himself as from Denver, Dallas, and Norfolk, Va. He was freed at Raymondville, in South Texas, last February on charges of selling unregistered securities and a charge of sales by an unlicensed securities dealer.

OFFICERS REMEMBER

Nance-Addison Well Known Here

A considerable number of Big Springers are included in the list of persons who invested money with John Milton Addison, 36, and John Nance, 32, according to local officers.

The two were indicted in San Antonio Friday for a million dollar uranium deal. They have posted $40,000 bail and have been released from custody.

Gil Jones, district attorney, Miller Harris, sheriff, and other officers are well acquainted with Nance and Addison. The two men were questioned at great length here several weeks ago by officers who were investigating their investment practices.

The officers were unable to proceed with the filing of any charges, Jones said, because none of the Big Spring and Howard County residents who had invested money with the pair were willing to sign complaints.

The local investors—like their fellows in San Antonio—were highly indignant at the suggestion Addison and Nance were engaged in any enterprise not above the board. They protested to Jones and the other officers that interrogating the pair was not just and bluntly refused to believe they had been swindled.

No accurate estimate of the Big Spring dollars turned over to the pair could be made but it was believed it would reach a sizeable total.

The men were here for some time, Harris said. They flew into Big Spring in their private plane and held many conferences with their local investors.

Jones dropped the investigation when he discovered there was no hope any of the persons who had turned money over to the pair would agree to prosecute.

One questioning session conducted by Jones in his office in the court house covered most of a day and well into the night.

83 Tax Suits Settled; Many Still Pending

Eighty-three tax suits have been dismissed by District Judge Charlie Sullivan. These are part of the multitude of tax suits filed recently by the city and school district.

In the cases, the defendants have paid their delinquent taxes and penalties and the taxing agencies have asked that the charges be dropped. Over 400 tax suits have been filed in district court, Wade Choate, district clerk said, in the past two months.

The dismissals were in cases filed against the following: T. G. Allen, Ted Gross, J. F. Blair, Robert E. Rogers, W. D. Wilbanks, Leandro Juarez, G. W. Glass, R. H. Holbrook, Tommy Pool, Mrs. Alveria Henry, and Mable Robinson.

Also R. L. Collins, Samuel Clements, C. W. Martin, J. R. Trevino, Glen L. Person, T. P. Gross, Robert Holbrook, Nathan Langford, A. G. Pruitt, Wayne L. Dewey, J. B. Kirby, Kelly Mize, Chona Rodriquez, Armey Rhymes, Bertha L. Payton.

O. W. Patterson, W. T. Sharp, E. H. Posey estate, Buster G. Weaver, Tom and Era Belcher, Edna Christian, L. E. Christian, Mickie J. Stewart, J. M. Barrera, Mrs. A. S. Smith, Jose Canas, Edward Charario, Cleto Barrera.

Also S. P. Corcoran, Miquel Marquez, David Mendoza, Mieuel Pineda, Paul Lee Thomas, Mrs. George M. Hanks, Antonio Hinojos, Juan C. Parras, C. W. Chapman, S. S. Sipes, L. S. Hollis, Rudy Williams, Rudy Tilliaro, Lee Cotton, I. W. Rackley.

Geronimo Gonzales, W. D. Blythe, Wayne Johnson, Mrs. M. M. McCauley, Clyde Huff, H. S. Gwyn, A. J. Blackman, Billy Joe Kilpatric, Rosie V. Vetow, Marion Ransom, C. W. Martin, Wallace Miles, Andrew Cenicerios, Mrs. R. R. McCraney, J. E. McNeese, Cuca Sanchez, H. F. Crawford, D. A. Jones and Corine Bishop.

Some of the suits were filed by both agencies, while other complaints were for either the school or city.

41 Cars Inspected For Soap Box Derby

Forty-one soap box derby cars were given first official inspection Saturday and all came through with flying colors. Only minor changes were required by the inspectors. All of the cars were described as the "best in the five years the derby has been held," by Elbert Boullion Jr., chief inspector.

Loyd Wooten, public relations man for Tidwell Chevrolet Co., sponsor of the derby in cooperation with the Big Spring Daily Herald and Big Spring Lions club, said only three of the cars were overweight. The car and boy must not weigh in excess of 250 pounds. None of the overweight cars were far from the mark and can easily be pulled to the level specified. Several of the boys propose to increase the weight of their entries. They must make the addition as fundamental part of the car's construction.

One perfect car was found—that of Ward Booth, who is sponsored by Texas Electric Service Co.

Thirteen other cars are to be inspected early this week. The inspectors will go to the boys' homes and check their entries.

Final inspection will be June 25—the day of the big race itself. The place will be the block between 15th and 16th on Lancaster and the inspections begin at 8 a.m.

The races will get under way at that time.

The common faults found with the 41 cars checked at 1501 4th street Saturday were of no major importance, Wooten said. Some of the boys had failed to fasten cotter keys or misused other material.

"Actually," Wooten said, "most of what we found would probably have been corrected by the boys themselves before racing days. However we gave each a checklist of the matters needing attention."

Elbert Boullion Jr., is inspector in chief. He was assisted today by James Tidwell, Avery Faulkner, Wesley Deats and Wendell Clark.

This will be the sixth annual race of the Big Spring Soap Box Derby.

Fine Weather Blankets Texas

By The Associated Press

Fine weather blanketed Texas Saturday. More of the same was in store for the weekend.

A few coastal points reported overcast. Most other skies have enough clouds to take the sting out of the sunrays.

Cantrell Rites Set For Lubbock

Funeral services and interment for Norman Cantrell, 75, will be held at Bonham. The River Funeral Home shipped the remains there today. He died in a local hospital Saturday morning.

Survivors include his wife, Katy, of Midland; three daughters, Mrs. Lucille Roberts of Tonkawa, Okla., Mrs. C. F. Williams of Tonkawa, Okla., Mrs. Sybil White of San Antonio; three sons, Roy Cantrell of Tulsa, Jack Cantrell of Tonkawa, Okla., and Kenneth Lee Cantrell of Midland.

Two Alarms For Fire Department

The fire department answered two calls Friday and Saturday.

Friday afternoon about 4:30 p.m., a car fire was reported in the 1000 block of Johnson. The 1955 model car belonged to Bill Watts. Firemen said the blaze was caused by a short circuit in the wiring. The damage was limited to burned wires.

Early Saturday, a truck was dispatched to the 2000 block of West 3rd. to squelch a fire apparently started by smoking in bed. A mattress was destroyed and there was some smoke damage in the motel, the firemen's report said.

State Asks Jury To Forget Race Bias, Convict 4 Youths

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The state Saturday night asked the Tallahassee rape jury to reject racial bias and convict four white youths in an alleged attack on a Negro coed. The defense urged acquittal.

In a dramatic final summation State Atty. William D. Hopkins said he was leaving it to the jury to decide whether to condemn the defendants to death.

Earlier, the defense had suggested that the four white defendants were being made whipping boys for "pent-up emotions and feelings."

Defense attorney F. Gunter Toney told the jury: "The fact that we have a race situation here is a factor in this case."

Hopkins, shortly before the case was due to go the jury, asked the panel what would happen if four Negroes had taken a single white girl at gunpoint and raped her seven times.

"If you're going to convict on facts in one case you've got to convict on facts in another," he added.

Hopkins continued, "I'm sorry the defense counsel saw fit to bring anything in, even by inuendo, about the difference in the races. I'm sorry they brought the race question into it. I don't think it's right."

The state had charged that the Negro coed victim would not be alive today if she had not submitted to the four white defendants.

In its summation after the testimony ended, the state moved strongly in an effort to counteract the defense position that the girl offered no resistance during a mass attack last May 2, and thus in effect gave her consent.

Defense Atty. Harry L. Michaels opened the summation for his own client, Patrick (Gene) Scarborough, 20. He also spoke for the other three white youths, Willion Collinsworth, 23, David E. Beagles, 18, and Ollie Stoutamire, 16.

"There is no testimony from this witness stand that Scarborough forced his way onto her in an act of sexual intercourse," Michaels told the jury.

"There has not been one iota of testimony anywhere that—the victim—was tied or bound or gagged.

"There is no testimony from this witness stand to bear out the material allegations of this indictment."

The indictment charges that the girl was attacked against her will and consent.

Replying for the state, Asst. State Atty. Harry Morrison told the jury: "The victim talked these defendants into halfway thinking she had forgiven them that act in order to save her life.

"She wanted to get out of that situation. There wasn't the slightest chance on the face of the earth for her to escape there and get away in those thick woods.

"And if she hadn't convinced them in the way she did, this jury knows she would have been out there yet."

All the youths are on trial for their life. Collinsworth is pleading insanity, the only one to do so.

No white man, as far as Florida records reveal, has ever been executed for the rape of a Negro. But a finding of guilty without a recommendation of mercy by the male white jury would mean a death sentence for the four.

Trial began Wednesday in the second-floor circuit court room of Judge W. May Walker in the Leon County Courthouse. It has drawn a capacity crowd of more than 300 spectators daily with Negroes in the balcony and whites downstairs.

Farmer Says His Wife, Cash Gone

LAMESA—Dawson County officers said tonight they are looking for the 48-year-old wife of a well-known Lamesa farmer.

They said the husband reported his wife had disappeared Saturday morning and that she took $12,000 in cash, which he had hidden on his farm, with her.

Police related the farmer told them that he and his wife quarreled some weeks ago over the number of checks she was writing.

As a result, he withdrew all of the cash from the bank, hiding it at his house.

Several days ago, he went to his hiding place to get some money. He says his wife followed him and threatened him with a pistol. He struck her with a crutch, he told officers, and she left home.

However, he reported, she returned and then Saturday she vanished again.

He said the $12,000 was gone, too.

Valley Texans Had A Hand In First Mail By Missile

HIDALGO, Tex. (AP) —A handful of Lower Rio Grande Valley Texans say the firing of a mail carrying missile from a submarine off the Atlantic coast last week wasn't the first missile mail shipment.

In fact, they say it came 23 years earlier. They fired a successful international mail carry-rocket July 2, 1936, from Texas into Mexico across the Rio Grande.

"However, our rockets were kinda mis-guided missiles and some didn't go off as smoothly as the one last week," one old-timer recalled.

The Regulus I, fired last week from the USS Barbero, carried 3,000 letters to Mayport Auxiliary Naval Air Station near Jacksonville, Fla. It traveled more than 100 miles.

The Lower Valley group actually fired 10 rockets in all and each contained 300 envelopes. Five were fired from the U.S. side and a like number from the Mexican side. One of the rockets traveled about a mile.

The rocket firings were sponsored by the McAllen American Legion post as an attempt to raise money for a new building. The covers were to be sold at $1 each.

Keith Rumbel, now director of the Chemical Engineering Division of the Atlantic Research Corp. at Alexandria, Va., designed the rockets. He was then 16.

The rockets were 7 feet long and 12 inches in circumference. They were made of card and fiber board. The fuel was a solid much like the kind used to fire toy sky-rockets.

The firing was cleared with both U.S. and Mexican authorities. It was approved and supervised by the U.S. postal officials. The late Harry Merts, then McAllen postmaster, was on hand for the event.

It zoomed into the air about 100 feet and then exploded over the river. Mail and pieces of the rocket flew in all directions.

When the second rocket was placed in the launching tube, McAllen Mayor A. L. Landry lit the fuse.

Across the swollen river, the Mexican border town of Reynosa was quiet and peaceful on the warm summer afternoon. Some residents hadn't heard of the stunt. Some were taking their afternoon siesta.

The second rocket screamed across the river and smacked into the tavern. Reports were never clear just what happened next. Some say beer sippers took off at a speed much greater than the rocket. Other reports said many swore off drinking for life. No injuries were reported.

A third rocket left the U.S. side. The group held its breath as it headed for a group of shacks in the Reynosa area. It struck a shack and sent children and adults scattering like quail. But again no damage or injuries occurred.

Two more rockets were fired without incident.

Then the group crossed the international bridge and fired five back to the U.S. side. Four went well but one landed in a corn field and set it afire. The group rushed back and helped a farmer extinguish the blaze.

"It's funny now...but it wasn't so funny then," Bolton Hyde, McAllen real estate man and then commander of the Legion post, remembered.

About 1,000 of the covers were recovered from the flight into Mexico and were taken to the Reynosa postoffice. Slightly more than 900 were recovered from the return flight and taken to the McAllen post office.

One set of covers has been preserved at the Smithsonian Institute and others at the Texas Memorial Museum and the Legion Memorial Hall at McAllen.

San Angelo Family Injured, Odessan Killed In Crash

FORT WORTH (AP)—A Negro truck driver was killed and three members of a San Angelo family were injured at about 6 a.m. Saturday in a collision on Highway 121 about 15 miles northeast of here.

The dead man was identified as E. J. Pullins of Odessa. He was driving a pickup truck.

In fair condition at Harris Hospital were Joe W. Carr and his wife, both 52; and their son, Allen, 14, al lof San Angelo.

They had spent the night in Fort Worth with Carr's brother Rhom Carr. The family was on its way to visit a cousin of Carr's in Cookeville, Tenn.

They told hospital attendants that the truck driven by the Negro overturned in front of them and that their car hit the truck.

Rat Invasion

TOKYO (AP)—Aomori Prefecture in northern Honshu pushed its farm frontiers out in the past decade by hacking fields from the wooded mountainsides. Now the farmers report expanding swarms of rats estimated between 500,000 and 600,000 are ruining soy bean, red bean and corn crops.

Chevy Gives You Smarter Style Today...

FOR HIGHER TRADE-IN TOMORROW !

Don't take it from us—take it from independent experts and from facts and figures that are now a matter of record. POPULAR SCIENCE sums up Chevy's unmistakably modern style this way: "The fact is, in its price class Chevy establishes a new high in daring styling . . ." This is one more reason your new Chevrolet will bring a higher allowance at trade-in time, as Chevy has over the years. A look at last year's used car prices* shows Chevrolet averaged up to $128 more than comparable models of the other leading low-priced two.

Based on official Guide Book figures of the National Automobile Dealers Association.*

PLUS 5 MORE BIG BESTS OVER ANY OTHER CAR IN CHEVROLET'S FIELD!

Best Brakes. Chevy showed the best brakes of the leading low-priced three in repeated highway speed stopping tests conducted by NASCAR.* And no wonder. Chevrolet's brakes, built for up to two-thirds longer lining life, are the biggest in the low-price field.

National Association for Stock Car Advancement and Research.*

Best Engine. Every motor magazine has given Chevy's standard passenger car and Corvette V8's unstinted praise. As SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED puts it: "Indeed, this device is surely the most wonderfully responsive engine available today at any price."

Best Economy. No doubt about this: a pair of Chevrolet sixes came in first and second in their class in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run—getting the best mileage of any full-size car.

Best Room. Official dimensions reported to the Automobile Manufacturers Association make it clear. Chevy's front seat hip room, for example, is up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars.

Best Ride. A few minutes behind the wheel will leave no doubt about this. MOTOR TREND magazine sums it up this way: ". . . the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class."

NO WONDER MORE PEOPLE ARE BUYING CHEVROLETS IN '59 THAN ANY OTHER CAR!

U. S. Military Planners Bring Minds To Bear On Space War

By ELTON FAY
AP Military Affairs Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's top military planners are beginning to blueprint the weapons needed to fight a war in space.

Among other things, they are exploring the possibility of setting up an attack warning and surveillance system in space.

These are the major developments expected to unfold in the military high command's latest revision of what is known as the "Joint Long-range Strategic Estimate" covering a 12-year-period extending to 1971.

The annual revision, prepared by the Joint Chiefs of Staff, presumably will include a fairly specific definition of the types of weapons and techniques that would be used in space warfare.

The long-range strategic estimate is one of three constantly and routinely revised by JCS. A medium-range estimate, called the "Joint Strategic Objectives Plan," embraces a period from three to seven years from date of revision. The short-range estimate —the "Joint Strategic Capabilities Plan"—is for use in event of war within one year of revision.

The Air Force, which has major responsibility for space weapon planning, has already assembled some data on what probably would be required in weapons and the intricate systems for their support and use.

In normal procedure, these Air Force recommendations either have or shortly will be passed on to the JCS and, incidentally, to the Advanced Research Projects Agency, for technical study.

But what the Air Force or the JCS or ARPA or the Defense Department proposes to do in preparing for space war is subject to approval by the White House and the State Department. There rational policy is established.

Up to now, the emphasis from top administration levels, including statements and speeches by the President, has been on the use of space for peaceful research and exploration. The military still seems to be uncertain what role it will be permitted.

Nevertheless, the Air Force has assembled general requirements on types of weapons and is working on plans to provide training for crews and ground support personnel.

Certainly, the training of the seven astronauts selected by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the armed forces for the first manned space excursions will provide the basis for training the space crews of the immediate future.

The broad requirements for a military space system, as seen by Air Force officers and scientists, include these:

1. The most urgent need, the highest priority, should be given to providing an attack warning and surveillance system in space, to provide alarm not only of enemy space weapons but of conventional ballistic missile activities. Reconnaissance and surveillance eventually will be carried out by both unmanned and manned vehicles and possibly from land positions in space, such as the moon.

2. Navigational check points are of high value in aiming ballistic missiles. Such bench marks could be mounted in space and used for precise triangulation in measuring distance and direction between launching points and targets.

Present maps are known to be inaccurate, in some instances by many miles, on locations of coast lines, islands and cities.

3. Weather prediction, for use in conventional missile and aircraft operation, could be improved with the use of satellites.

4. New communications systems, required for terrestial as well as space military activities, are a vital necessity.

These are the initial requirements foreseen by the Air Force. Looking further ahead, some years into the future, new situations requiring new techniques and weapons could be required.

The Soviet Union might object to being watched by an American "fixed position" satellite, put into high orbit and its speed adjusted to synchronize with the revolution of the earth—making it hover above a given point on earth. So the Soviets would send up an intercepting vehicle, to drive away or destroy the American surveillance vehicle. The problem of defending the surveillance satellite would arise.

The proposal for establishing missile launching bases on the moon, with targets "zeroed in," has been widely considered.

How many Air Force personnel would be needed to operate space weapons?

Because it does not yet know how extensive its role in space will be, or precisely the hardware to be used, the Air Force has no immediate estimate. Officials prefer to make no comment beyond a guess that the number of men would be far fewer than the approximately 850,000 in the present Air Force organization. However, the Air Force still would require men for its conventional operations. Air Force experts insist that "we will have an adequate pool of entirely qualified men" to train as space crews and ground support personnel.

Yale Men Plan Second Singing Trip To Russia This Summer

By ANGELO NATALE

Editor's Note — Next week a chorus of young Yale men will take off for the Soviet Union on their second summer visit to spread goodwill on wings of song. Here's what the unofficial Ivy League ambassadors think will happen.

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — The group of young Americans assembled swiftly, seemingly from out of nowhere, in Red Square. Just as suddenly, they burst into song.

The startled Muscovites didn't stop immediately, but kept walking by, looking over their shoulders. But soon one of them paused to listen to the Negro spiritual. Then another.

The Soviet militiamen, equally as startled as the passersby, did nothing to stop the concert only a stone's throw from the Kremlin's walls.

That happened less than a year ago, and the scene was repeated often in Soviet cities from Kiev to the Red capital.

More of the same will take place this summer when the Yale Russian Chorus revisits the Soviet Union for a month-long stay.

There were 18 in the group last September. Perhaps two dozen or more will make the trip this time. It depends on how much money they can muster.

But the plans are made. They intend to leave the United States June 15, arrive in Moscow June 23, and travel to Riga, Lvov and the Black Sea resorts of Sochi and Yalta.

The chorus members feel their visits are a form of cultural exchange between the two countries, but on a man-in-the-street level.

They don't travel as a unit and they apply for their visas as individuals. There is no spokesman as such, for the group. They are not a delegation.

"Be at Mayakovsky Square at 8 tonight," is a sample of the informal instructions under which the chorus operates.

The Americans show up at the designated hour, two or three at a time. When enough of them are on hand, the singing begins. Latecomers merely stroll up to the rest of the singers, and join in.

When the concert is over, the real fun begins. Most of the Soviet people are curious about America and Americans.

The Americans will break off into groups of two or three at the most. And they'll engage in lengthy conversations with the Russian people.

The Americans give a picture of life in the United States. They answer all questions put to them by the Russians. The Russians do the same for them.

And they've already got plenty of pleasant memories tucked away from a year ago. They've visited Russians in their homes, and had serious discussions with them.

The chorus members feel they have helped dispel, on a small scale, the notion that Americans are warmongers and exploiters.

The chorus director and arranger, Denis Mickiewicz, is a graduate student in comparative literature. He was born in Riga—one of the cities the chorus plans to visit—but he says he has no relatives there.

The setting for the jam session was the Mayakovsky Library in Moscow. It was going along fine—Americans and Soviets playing "taboo" jazz together — until someone at the library called a halt because the noise was getting out of hand. And jazz, as soon as it shows a modern trend, is condemned in the Soviet Union as a sign of "bourgeois decadence."

Only in one spot—the Republic of Georgia — did the chorus fail to make a hit with their Russian songs. In Tiflis, the Georgian capital, the chorus was cheered and applauded when they sang American folk songs and spirituals. The crowd wasn't pleased with the Russian songs.

Probably this can be explained by the fact that many of these hot-blooded people are quick to point out to foreigners that "we are not Russians, we are Georgians."

Rodeo Star Club Guest

Benny Reynolds, the cowboy who made a name for himself on the network television program, "Name That Tune," appeared briefly before members of the American Business Club at their regular Friday luncheon at the Settles Hotel.

Reynolds gave no formal speech but instead participated in a questions-and-answers session in which he discussed his career at length.

The boyish grin which identified him to local video audiences was there but the shyness was gone.

Merrill Creighton, Justin Holmes, Paul Meek and Tom South were elected to the board of governors for the ensuing six months.

City Reports On Financial Status

The city of Big Spring ended May with $25,092.33 in the general fund, according to the financial report prepares by C. R. McClenny, city secretary.

Expenditures for the month totaled $100,421.82. Receipts were $56,135.86 and the balance at the beginning of the month was $69,378.29.

Taxes accounted for $7,176.26 of the receipts. Fines and court costs totaled $5,291.00 and the city received $4,904.59 from the gas franchise.

Income from the swimming pools was $732.75 for the month. Only $101 of the total came from the north side pools.

Water metered to customers in May was an increase over May, 1958 and the previous month. There were 154,221,400 gallons recorded by the meters which was 12,883,500 gallons more than in April and 16,314,700 gallons more than May of last year.

In dollars and cents, the water bills totaled $68,631.78. The total billing was $2,539.89 more than in April and $8,831.03 more than a year ago.

The city's bonded indebtedness stands at $1,102,000 in tax bonds and $1,396,000 in revenue bonds.

Angelo Lawyer In Tungsten Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—A spokesman for the U. S. Court of Claims said Saturday arguments are now expected to be heard early in October on a suit against the government by a Portuguese company represented by Col. Lawrence Westbrook, San Angelo attorney.

The suit arose over cancellation by the General Services Administration of a 1952 contract for purchase of tungsten.

Originally set down for hearing early this month, a postponement until October was granted at the request of government attorneys.

Help For Patients

Richie Arnold, occupational therapy aide, sees that this elderly patient has something to put his mind and hands to during leisure hours at the Veterans Administration Hospital (TOP PANEL). Painting, as this patient is doing, is only one activity of one division in the large rehabilitation program at the VA Hospital. CENTER PANEL —Rex Bishop, corrective therapist, developed this training brace to help an amputee learn to walk again. Re-developing and correcting the muscles and limbs are aims of this department. LOWER PANEL—This patient can keep in condition by daily exercise on the stationary bicycle used in the physical therapy section. A healthy body goes with a healthy state of mind.

THE PMR TEAM

Rehabilitation Playing Role With Actual Treatment

By BOBBY HORTON

There are no operations, no risk of blood, no dramatics in PMR.

And yet, this effort at caring for the chronic long-term patient is assuming increased importance in private and government hospitals throughout the United States, says Dr. Jackson Friedlander, manager of the Veterans Administration Hospital.

PMR—physical medicine and rehabilitation — is set up for the elderly people. Basically, it is to prevent the deterioration of the patient because of isolation and inactivity by giving him something to think about, something to do.

It also includes providing a social environment which helps the patient to mingle and become active with his fellow patients.

Because of improved surgical discoveries and techniques, says Dr. Friedlander, the life expectancy of man is longer now. Consequently, there are more people living into the 60s and 70s, and this is particularly true of the veteran population, the doctor adds.

CAN'T DESPAIR

"We can cure a case of the flu with a shot of penicillin or appendicitis by an operation. But we can't just throw up our hands in despair about these aging people who may be dying with some incurable disease."

The physical medicine and rehabilitation program at the Big Spring VA Hospital has been going on quietly for many years. However, it has been concentrated more in the past three years.

PMR consists of (1) Physiotherapy: This includes all types of treatment such as whirlpool, ultra-sonic wave treatment, massage and exercise; (2) Occupational and manual therapy: It provides physical and mental activity that is tailored to fit the individual patient's needs. This may include anything which can be done with the hands—gardening, crafts of various types such as weaving, leather work, pottery and painting; (3) Corrective therapy: This is aimed at keeping the patient "in shape"; maintaining his muscle strength and retraining little used muscles.

SOCIAL WORK

Also, the special service maintains a good social atmosphere and concerns itself chiefly with recreational facilities to make hospitalization more pleasurable.

Concurrently, the social work service of the hospital looks into a patient's home environment—with his specific needs in mind—and tries to set him up socially after his release.

This is not a spectacular program and the average citizen is usually unaware of it, despite the fact that 333 volunteers of WOC's —workers without compensation— assist.

It is not an inexpensive program, however, because departments and personnel are involved in keeping the operation going for a full seven days per week.

The full week is a necessity to bridge the inactivity of the weekend. All patients participating in the activities, however, must receive medical clearance from their physician so that the degree of exercise is not harmful.

Reddick Is Texas Journalism Chief

AUSTIN (AP)—Dr. Dewitt C. Reddick was named director of the University of Texas School of Journalism Saturday.

Regents also employed Frank H. King, former Associated Press executive, as consultant in journalism and communications.

Dr. Reddick has been a journalism faculty member since 1927 and acting director of the school since Sept. 1 upon the retirement of Paul J. Thompson.

King, former Dallas bureau chief and general executive of the Southwest for The Associated Press, retired Dec. 31 at 65. He will be consultant of the university on programs in journalism and communications generally, said Dr. Harry Ransom, vice president and provost.

Awed Guests Watch Proud 49th Parade

NORTH FORT HOOD — The proud 49th Armored Division today paraded its armored punch before some 1,500 Central Texans and military dignitaries.

It was the annual Governors Day review for the National Guard unit which honored former division commander, Lt. Gen. Albert S. Johnson of Dallas.

The vehicles — ranging from jeeps to lumbering tanks—rolled past the reviewing stand for two hours in a stirring show of military might.

General Johnson inspected the 9,100 Lone Star Division Guardsmen before the parade. He was accompanied by Maj. Gen. Clayton P. Kerr of Dallas, Division Commander.

Special guests at the parade included Top Army brass of Fort Hood and the Fourth U. S. Army plus civic leaders from the 81 home towns of the division units. Maj. Gen. L. S. Griffing, Deputy Commander, Fourth U. S. Army and Maj. Gen. K. L. Berry, the adjutant general, State of Texas.

Gen. Kerr also crowned the 1959 division sweetheart—Miss Sandra McIlroy of Denton—and presented trophies to the finalists of this year's beauty contest.

The 49th's major commands moved down the parade field in this order:

Division troops from Dallas and Fort Worth, Combat Command "C" from Houston and South Texas; Division Artillery from Wichita Falls, Temple and other West Texas cities; Combat Command "B" from Dallas and East Texas; Combat Command "A" from Fort Worth and North Texas and Division trains from larger cities in North, South and Central Texas.

The Guardsmen of the 49th Armored Division were dismissed for the weekend after the parade. They will return for another week of rugged field training next Monday.

Men's Wear Of Character

SENATOR CLEM McSPADDEN

Job Combination Calls For Speaking Talents

By DON HENRY

Clem McSpadden, who announced the rodeo here last week, has another job and it also involves speaking.

He is a senator in the state of Oklahoma.

And today, he is winging his way back to Oklahoma City so as not to miss debate on the vital liquor control bill now under consideration. He was excused from Thursday's session so he could announce the rodeo here.

McSpadden lives in Nowata and is senator from the 33rd District, composed of Nowata and Rogers counties, in the northeastern part of Oklahoma. He is now serving his second term. At the time he was elected, he was, at 27, the youngest man to serve in the senate.

He also is the only man to be re-elected from his district.

McSpadden said about half of the liquor control bill had been passed, and he expects it to be finished and the legislative session to close July 1. In Oklahoma, one legislative term is held every two years and the legislature works until it finishes.

PIONEER FAMILY

Coming from a family which had been in the Nowata area since before the Civil War, the McSpadden name was familiar with voters when Clem decided in 1953 to enter politics and began stumping for election. He was successful, winning from a field of five.

McSpadden holds a business degree from the University of Texas and an animal husbandry degree from Oklahoma State—Oklahoma A&M when he graduated in 1948.

He began his announcing work in 1948 while on the rodeo circuit in Iowa. Being broke brought it about—that, and the fact the regular announcer failed to show up for a performance, Clem says.

He continued to combine rodeo competition and announcing until 1953 when he dropped the competition. "I never did beat anybody anyway," he wryly observed.

His announcing work is sandwiched in on weekends during the legislative session and is only handled between May and October. The remainder of the time is spent ranching with his father; they run about 400 head of cattle.

WIDE EXPERIENCE

Clem has worked for several rodeo producers and has announced in 17 states. He said about 20 announcers handle about 75 per cent of the rodeos over the nation. His average is about 90 performances per year.

Speaking to a rodeo crowd is completely different from speaking in the legislature, the senator said. Whereas a microphone is used in the rodeo arena, Oklahoma senators don't have microphones and thus have to raise their voices or shout to be heard.

McSpadden is casting glances toward Washington and a possible representative seat in the future. The present representative from his district is Ed Edmondson, of Muskogee, who is the brother of the current Oklahoma governor.

Until then, it's "coming out of chute No. 2" and "fellow senators, I declare to you. . ."

Studio Plans Open House

An air of fun and gaiety pervades to Topper Health Studio, 419 Main, as inches melt away or are added, according to the wishes of the client, and improvements are made in the feminine figure.

The salon is holding open house Monday from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m., and the public is invited to view the equipment for active or passive exercises.

There are facilities for Swedish massages following a steam bath, there are tables where you may brown yourself "to a turn," if that's the shade your prefer. For the steam cabinet, about 10 minutes are required, and another 30 minutes for the massage.

Various machines are at spots in the exercise room, where friends gather and work together to refashion their appearance.

Bicycles and row trims provide active exercise, while a v-belt may be placed as "strategic spots" for the vibration which will break down fatty tissues.

To reduce or build up thighs, there is a leg press, operated by lifting a bar with the feet and legs while you lie on the floor. A graceline will improve posture, and a weight cincher provides opportunity for active exercise beneficial for the waist and thighs.

Weights for lifting are available.

If reading about exercise makes you tired, there are other units which are used for relieving tension.

Long Favors Lyndon For President

Long expressed his preference in a talk prepared for radio broadcast in Louisiana.

He said Johnson is "probably the ablest man in public life in America."

"I think he would make a great president and I imagine if I had anything to say about it — which I perhaps will not — he would be the man I would look to," Long added.

Long said he will decide in about three weeks whether he will run for governor of Louisiana this year.

He said he wanted to wait and see what happens to Gov. Earl Long's health.

The governor, an uncle of the senator, recently was committed by relatives to a Galveston hospital for psychiatric treatment.

LEGAL NOTICE

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING AN ORDINANCE ENTITLED "AN ORDINANCE PROVIDING FOR ONING" PASSED AND APPROVED ON THE 8TH DAY OF JULY 1947, BY CHANGING THE FOLLOWING DESCRIBED AREA FROM A "B" RESIDENTIAL DISTRICT TO A "GV" INUSTRIAL DISTRICT WHICH IS A TRACT OF LAND BEING THE NORTH HALF OF BLOCK 116 AND ALL OF BLOCK 117 OF THE ORIGINAL TOWN OF THE CITY OF BIG SPRING, HOWARD COUNTY, TEXAS.

High Plains Farmers Get Break In Spotted Cotton

Light spotted cotton on the Texas High Plains is going to be worth several million dollars more to farmers this year.

Separate price support rates for split grades are a feature of the 1959 cotton law and represents attainment of one of the major goals of the Plains Cotton Growers Inc., according to W. O. Fortenberry, president.

"It took nearly three years of hard work negotiating with the U. S. Department of Agriculture, other producer organizations, and leaders throughout the cotton industry as well as with congressmen and senators before the PCG saw light spotted cotton recognized for its true value," he said.

HEAVY PERCENTAGE

Records show that the Texas High Plains crop sometimes averages as much as 50 per cent light spot during the crop year. Previously the Commodity Credit Corp. did not recognize light spots as a separate grade. A producer putting light spotted cotton into the government loan received only the value for full or heavy spotted cotton. The cotton trade has at times given substantial premiums for light spots over the full spot, which accounted for the fact that light spotted cotton was nearly always the first cotton from the Plains to move into trade channels. However, the producer had no real price protection on light spots other than the full spotted loan.

"The loan difference between spotted and white cotton has been widening rapidly the past several years. In 1956 the difference between a bale of middling inch white cotton and a middling inch spotted or light spotted bale was 440 points or $22 per bale. In 1957 this difference had widened to 575 points or $28.75 per bale, and in 1958 had widened still further to 725 points or $36.25 per bale," according to George W. Pfeiffenberger, executive vice president of the PCG.

"Since all spinning records and experience show that light spotted cotton is practically equal to white cotton in value and the physical difference in classing is often quite small, this difference of $36.25 per bale has become ridiculous," Pfeiffenberger stressed.

UP 355 POINTS

Recognition of light spots in the government loan this year guarantees the farmer a loan on light spotted cotton 355 points above the spotted loan price.

In 1956 light spotted cotton accounted for 47 per cent of the High Plains crop; in 1957 for 50 per cent of the crop; and last year there were about 500,000 bales or 25 per cent of the crop that was light spotted. Last year the light spot penalty lost Plains growers $6,675,000.

Cotton mills have found that light spotted cotton is practically identical with white cotton for most purposes and since it will still be considerable cheaper than white cotton, it has every opportunity for sale in the market.

While the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., led the fight for recognition of light spots, other producer groups elsewhere assisted in the struggle. Congressmen George Mahon, Walter Rogers of Pampa and W. R. Poage of Waco also played vital roles in securing passage of this part of the new cotton bill.

7 In Family Die In Crash

HELENA, Ark. (AP) — Seven members of a Negro family were killed when a Missouri Pacific passenger train crashed into an automobile at a rural crossing near here.

State Trooper Dwight Galloway said the train dragged the car 400 feet along the track after hitting it broadside Friday.

Killed were Orange Jones, 64, of West Helena, his 37-year-old wife Willie, and their five small children ranging in age from nine months to seven years. Two of the children were by previous marriages of the couple.

That's Different

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)—A 17-year-old youth was hauled into juvenile court Thursday for driving through a stop sign.

A traffic policeman told the court: "He said the reason he didn't stop was because his sister was getting married and he was rushing home to get her bra."

Said Judge Leo Britt: "Case dismissed."

Bill Casper Leading By 3 In Nat'l Open

By WILL GRIMSLEY

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (AP) — Bill Casper shot into a three-stroke lead over Ben Hogan Saturday at the three-quarter point of the rain-delayed U.S. Open Golf Championship. He fired a third round 69 for a score of 208.

A drenching thunderstorm twice delayed play Saturday morning and finally forced postponement of the fourth round until Sunday.

Hogan, the man they said was through, remained in powerful contention for a record fifth Open victory by shooting a pin-pointed 71 for 211.

In a drama-packed day before a crowd estimated at 20,000, Sam Snead, who never has won the Open, stormed back into the picture. He fired a three-under-par 67 which placed him in a tie for third place at 212 with Arnold Palmer, 1958 Masters champion, and bespectacled Bob Rosburg, who matched Snead's 67, best score of the tournament.

Par for the 6,873-yard Winged Foot course is 35-35—70.

Casper, paunchy, 27-year-old touring pro from Apple Valley, had his eye on the back of the cups. He rang in putts from 8 to 15 feet as if they were "gimmes" in a spectacular round of 36-33—69.

Doug Ford of Paradise, Fla., former Masters champion, made a strong run for the lead but he went 5-6-5 on the par 4-4-4 finishing holes to take a 72 for 213. This placed him in a tie with Mike Souchak, the ex-Duke footballer, and Claude Harmon, the Winged Foot's host professional.

Souchak took bogeys on the final two holes for a 72. Harmon shot a steady 70.

Young Gary Player of South Africa, bidding to become the first foreigner in 39 years to win the event, couldn't control his driver and wound up with a 76 for 216 which apparently put him out of contention.

Ernie Vossler, from Midland, Tex., remained within hollering distance of the lead with a 72 for 214. He is only six strokes back of the lead.

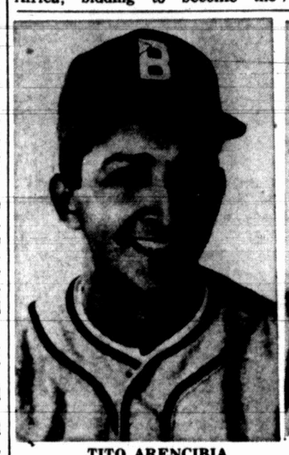

Shortly after Casper finished, the course was hit by a lashing electrical storm which drenched the greens. A dozen or so players —including champion Tommy Bolt—were caught in the downpour.

Play was suspended a third time.

TIGERS TO PLAY OJINAGA TODAY

The Big Spring Tigers challenge the Ojinaga, Mexico, Crowns in a double header at Steer Park this afternoon, with the first game due to begin at 1:30 p.m.

Present plans call for the two teams to play a seven inning contest as an opener. If it's possible, the clubs will then square off in a nine-inning joust.

This will, no doubt, be the toughest assignment of the season for the locals. Ojinaga brings a 14-2 won-lost record here and has been cleaning up on teams all across the border.

The Tigers have won nine of ten starts. Webb AFB split a doubleheader with the Big Spring sandlotters a couple of weeks ago.

Ronny (Chubby) Moser, a left-hander just out of high school, will get the starting mound call for Big Spring in the opening engagement while Danny Valdes, a transplanted Cuban, is due to mount the knoll in the afterpiece.

Other starters for the Tigers in the opening game will be George Martinez, left field; Jackie Jennings, third base; Aramis (Tito) Arencibia, center field; Pat Martinez, first base; Marion Tredaway, shortstop; Bill Weatherall, right field; Charles Fierro, second base; and Ignaio Rodriquez, catcher.

Spot Cockrell and Joe Cadenhead will be insterted into the lineup somewhere in the second go.

Admission has been pegged at 50 cents. Last week, more than 550 paying customers saw the Tigers win two here and that crowd could be bettered this afternoon. A concessions booth will be in operation at the park.

Eddie Arcaro Will Be OK

NEW YORK (AP)—"I never ate so much mud in my life," said jockey Eddie Arcaro Saturday night as he lay in a hospital bed two hours after being thrown from his horse in the Belmont Stakes.

Eddie was smiling. Dr. Alexander Kaye had just told him that apparently there was nothing serious wrong and that he should be up and around in a couple of days.

"Boy, that's good news," said the 43-year-old veteran who was thrown to the ground in the rich race won by Sword Dancer, "I've got a little headache and the back of my neck is sore from where that other horse hit me.

"But it's not nearly as bad as when they rolled me into here on a stretcher a while ago."

Arcaro was hit by Lake Erie, handled by Walter Blum, when Black Hills went down. Lake Erie was right behind and plowed into him.

Dr. Kaye said the first examination showed no fractures but that as a precaution Eddie's neck was placed in traction.

Arcaro has been the victim of more than a dozen spills in his career but always has come up for more.

District Tourney Set For El Paso

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—The National Baseball Congress said Saturday a district championship tournament at El Paso will be held July 14-28 with 16 teams competing.

Eagles Bombard Drillers, 17-3

The Eagle Transport Eagles flogged the Drillers, 17-3, in an American Minor Little League game played here Saturday afternoon.

L. Hollar experienced a shaky start but settled down to pitch the win. T. Loving and R. Bright each scored three runs for the winners. Score by innings:

Drillers	210 00— 3

Hollar and Baker; Lea and Boren.

BOY IS BORN TO H. DOES

A future catcher has been born into the family of Mr. and Mrs. Frank (Huck) Doe. Huck is the one-time star backstop of the Big Spring professional baseball team who now manages a team in the Teen-Age league here.

The youngster, born at Medical Arts Hospital, weighed 7 pounds 3½ ounces. Both mother and child are reported doing well.

The boy is the second child born to the Does.

Kansas Sweeps To Second NCAA Track, Field Title

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Kansas' Big Eight champions swept to their first team title and two meet records were shattered, another tied, in the 38th NCAA track meet Saturday. One performance which bettered a world mark, and one which matched a world record were disallowed because of an aiding wind.

The closing event, the 220-yard low hurdles, brought the most spectacular performance, a 22.5-second victory by Hayes Jones of Eastern Michigan, the meet's only double winner.

However, this clocking which would have been a new world mark around a full curve, was disallowed because of a 5.248-mile-per-hour wind.

Another brilliant effort, a 9.3-second victory by Kansas's Charlie Tidwell in the 100-yard dash which matched the world and meet record for the distance, was cancelled because of a 10½-mile-an-hour wind.

Second behind Kansas was San Jose State with 48 1-10 points, 18 of them coming when Ray Norton and Bob Poynter finished one-two in the 220-yard dash.

Houston, capturing first in the 3,000-meter steeplechase and hop-step-and-jump was third with 38, followed by Oklahoma with 31, Oklahoma State with 22 1-10, Boston University with 20, and Eastern Michigan, also with 20, all scored by Jones.

Round Table Wins Citation Feature

CHICAGO (AP) — Travis M. Kerr's mighty Round Table put on a great stretch run to overtake Etonian and win the $56,800 Citation Handicap Saturday by equaling the Washington Park track record set by Swaps in 1956.

Round Table, racing's all-time top money winner, picked up $33,750 and boosted his earnings to $1,396,939. He whipped off the mile in 1:33 2-5.

Sacrifice Fly By W. Mays Propels Giants By Phils

PHILADETPHIA (AP)—A seventh inning pinch hit sacrifice fly by Willie Mays gave the San Francisco Giants a 2-1 victory over Philadelphia Saturday night in a tight pitching duel between Johnny Antonelli and the Phils' Ray Semproch.

The Giants broke a 1-1 tie in the seventh on singles by Daryl Spencer and Ed Bressoud and the sacrifice with Spencer on third. Mays batted for catcher Hobie Landrith and sent a fly to left field, Spencer scoring after the catch.

The victory was Lefty Antonelli's ninth against three losses. Semproch, an on-again off-again starter who has run into tough pitching luck, lost his fifth game in seven decisions.

Antonelli gave up two singles in the ninth inning Phil uprising but a double play and a strike out wrapped it up.

Former Gridder Is Bull Fighter

REYNOSA, Mex. (AP)—Baron Clements of Kilgore, former Texas high school football star turned bullfighter, takes on two bulls here Sunday.

The program will climax open house ceremonies at El Texano Ranch across the Rio Grande from here near Hidalgo, Tex.

Jose Banuelos of Jalisco, Mexico, will also appear on the program and fight two bulls.

This will be the fifth Mexican appearance for Clements and his second Reynosa start. Two weeks ago he won the ears and tail of one of his bulls here.

Clements, who turned bullfighter after his graduation from high school, expects to be elevated to a full-fledged matador later this year, possibly next month in Juarez.

This would make him the second U.S.-born bullfighter to achieve this honor. His veteran trainer, Sidney Franklin of Brooklyn, is the only other one.

Franklin, suspended by the Matadors Union last week, said the suspension apparently has been lifted. The suspension stemmed from the program here two weeks ago. Both Clements and Franklin appeared with Banuelos and the union said there should be the same number of Mexican fighters on the card as U.S. fighters.

Frank Elder Wins Lefty Tournament

Elder, who plays with a metal brace from the shoe to the calf of one leg, was just one over par for the 34 holes needed to eliminate Mose.

Tomy Lee Is Upset By Whitney Filly

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Silver Spoon the lone filly in the field, scored an easy victory in the $52,700 Cinema Handicap Saturday as the heavily backed Tomy Lee failed to revert to his winning Kentucky Derby form.

Jockey Bill Boland ushered the queen of the C. V. Whitney stables across the finish line by three or more lengths before a crowd estimated at 51,000 at Hollywood Park. The pace-setting Friar Roach was second and Civic Pride third.

Fred Turner Jr.'s Tomy Lee finished sixth in the field of eight 3-year-olds in the mile and one-eighth attraction.

Silver Spoon, who ran fifth to Tomy Lee in the Kentucky Derby, paid $6.40, 4.20 and 4.00.

The time was 1:47 3-5.

Tomy Lee, a rather fragile but powerful little English-bred importation, drew a warm reception from the fans on the parade to the post. It was his first appearance at Hollywood Park since he racked up three stakes wins here last summer.

Tomy Lee, with Don Pierce in the saddle, trailed in a tightly knit pack about third and at the club house turn swung sharply to the right and carried Ole Fois wide for several strides.

Silver Spoon, a daughter of the great Citation, kept within hailing distance of the Helbush Farm's Friar Roach as the race progressed down the backstretch. Tomy Lee ran along in fourth place.

At the far turn Friar Roach, with Ray York up, had it by a length and a half, with Silver Spoon next, followed by Ole Fois and Tomy Lee.

Friar Roach still held the front end entering the stretch but the pretty chestnut filly, who whipped most of this same bunch in the Santa Anita Derby last March—Tomy Lee was not in that field—soon closed ground.

Then she flew on ir. to win with ease.

Cleveland Tribe Wins 8-7 Joust

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ray Webster's ninth inning triple and a sacrifice fly by pinchhitter Jim Piersall Saturday gave the second-place Cleveland Indians an 8-7 victory over Washington and moved the Tribe to within a half-game of the American League-leading Chicago White Sox.

The ninth inning run off Hal Griggs broke up a long-ball duel which saw the Indians outhomer the Senators, 4 to 2.

All of Cleveland's runs before the ninth were driven in by homers. Vic Power connected with one off Washington starter Pedro Ramos in the fourth. Granny Hamner hit a solo homer off Tex Clevenger in the fifth. Rocky Colavito his his 19th homer, a grand slam off Clevenger, in the sixth. Webster homered with none on off Murray Wall in the seventh.

Washington's Harmon Killebrew maintained his American League home run leadership by hitting his 20th in the fifth inning with one on. Bob Allison hit his 15th in the seventh with none on.

BOYD'S HOMER HELPS ORIOLES TO VICTORY

BALTIMORE (AP)—First baseman Bob Boyd's first homer of the season in the eighth inning carried the Baltimore Orioles to a 6-4 victory over the American League leading Chicago White Sox Saturday.

The Orioles moved within one game of the White Sox on Boyd's smash into the right field bleachers with Willie Tasby on base.

The White Sox had tied the score 4-4 in the top of the eighth on Nellie Fox's second homer with two runners in front of him.

The circuit by Fox was hit off pitcher Billy Loes who came out of it with his fourth victory against two defeats. Loes had relieved Skinny Brown in the eighth.

Catcher Gus Triandos of the Orioles jumped his team off to a 2-0 lead in the first with his 14th homer behind Al Pilarcik's double. The Orioles scored two more runs in the third.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

ALEXANDER

MARION

KRAMER

Billy Roger, last year an all-district baseball player for the Big Spring Steers, this season is coaching a Nipponese Little League team in Japan . . . He's stationed there with the Armed Forces . . . Wayne Hardin, the new head football coach at the Naval Academy, successor to Eddie Erdelatz, was a second string halfback while attending the College of Pacific at Stockton, Calif. . . . At COP, he was used almost exclusively as a place kicker and a defensive player . . . Witty Quintana, the one-time Big Spring baseball hero, is hitting Mexican League pitching at a better tan .330 clip . . . He's with Monterrey . . . The pari-mutuel handle at Ruidoso Downs, N.M., fell off to $451,965 last weekend, after reaching $700,000 the previous week . . . Attendance for the three day program amounted to 13,000 paid . . . Jerry Currie of Big Spring fielded a winner in Jar Sunday afternoon there after his Dandy Deedie finished second to Precioso in a $1,000 claiming race a week ago Friday . . . Only other Big Spring horse to get 'in the money' was Windy Puff, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Bud Tucker, which wound up third, back of Little Adie and MacDan, in a thoroughbred race for maidens a week ago Friday . . . Odessa Junior College will again serve as host of the 1960 National Junior College golf tournament . . . This year's National Juco golf meet there cost Odessa College only $480 . . . The San Angelo baseball club, which threw in the towel recently, could have expected trouble when it sold less than 350 of the $10 book tickets it made available to the public . . . Bob Milburn, the San Angelo writer, says the financial loss was much more than the $3,000 to $4,000 reported . . . One wonders about the football recruiting program at SMU, where Coach Bill Meek signed only 28 boys this spring . . . Four of those players were from District 3-AAAA—Lubbock Monterey's Arlan Flake, end Richard Harrison of the same school, Pampa's Paul Brown, an end; and James Clayton of Amarillo High, a guard . . . None was from 2-AAAA, yet 2-AAAA schools consistently beat the sox off the 3-AAAA teams . . . Meek justifies the limited campaign by pointing out that his school recruited more than 60 gridders last year . . . What effect will such a program have on the school's athletic fortunes, however, when the 28 signed this year become seniors?

* * *

Forsan Coach Managing Swim Pool

James Blake, the head coach at Forsan High School, and Merritt Romans, the girls' volleyball mentor here, have the job of managing the Forsan swimming pool this summer . . . Two of Blake's athletes, Sammy Barnett and Tommy Gilmore, serve as lifeguards . . . Blake says his 1959 Buffalo gridders will be shy of weight and experience but should be a little faster. . . . Forsan opens against Dawson in Forsan Sept. 4 and then plays Sands Consolidated School, Jayton, Gail and Union Terry before opening conference play . . . Ronald Gandy, the junior high school coach at Forsan, is attending Sul Ross College, working on his master's degree, this summer . . . You can bet your bottom dollar that there will be a second all-star baseball game played in the big leagues next year and it will be in San Francisco . . . The gravy such a contest offers for the players' pension fund is too good to pass up . . . Sammy Giammalva, the Texas tennist who never realized his potential as an amateur netter, joins Jack Kramer's touring pros this summer . . . Big Spring's R. L. Lasater never ran the 100 faster than 9.7 the past season but many sports bureaus, including the Track and Field News, have him down for a 9.6 clocking. . . . Buddy Turman, the Tyler heavyweight who fought with some success around Dallas, gets his first Madison Square Garden main event fight July 17, at which time he takes on up-and-coming Alonzo Johnson . . . Johnson recently cooled off Nino Valdes . . . Turman fought the semi-windup on the Johnson-Valdes Garden fight, defeating Robert Cleroux of Canada . . . New nickname of the Permian High School athlete teams in Odessa will be the Panthers. . . . The school colors will be black and white . . . Chubby Moser and Jackie Thomas, the local schoolboy baseball players, may wind up at Sul Ross, although Moser has signed an athletic letter of intent with Texas A&M . . . Chubby says he hasn't completely recovered from that ankle injury he suffered in the Big Spring-Abilene District 2-AAAA game here last season.

Houston Already Wooing BS Gridder

One of the Panhandle's biggest athletic rivalries will, no doubt, be made bigger still now that Royal James has been hired as head coach at Spur . . . James' contract was bought up by the Abernathy school board . . . The two schools are now in different districts but James will, no doubt, try to keep Abernathy on his schedules . . . Gil Guerra, the former Big Spring pitching hero, now with Veracruz of the Mexican league, plans to visit here when his team appears in San Antonio. . . . George White, the Forsan athlete, is still looking for a place to go to school . . . White tried out at Howard Payne College this spring but the Jackets have an abundance of quarterbacks and George's lack of height (6-1) may handicap him in college basketball . . . He'd make some junior college a fine hand, no doubt . . . The playing roster of the Big Spring Tigers now numbers 22 men, more than it has in years, with others seeking to try out . . . The Bengals paid that Villa Acuna, Mexico, team $100 and fed its members two meals for appearing here last Sunday and still showed a profit of more than $100 . . . The local sandlotters lost a dozen baseballs, however . . . Marvin Wright, the local golfer, says no one was more surprised than he when he went to the finals in the recent Colorado City Invitational tournament before losing to Bobby Bluhm . . . Marvin, no doubt, would be one of the area's finest linksters if he could work out regularly . . . The daughter of Marty Marion, the former big league shortstop, will enroll at SMU this fall . . . The University of Houstin is already wooing Big Spring's Mackie Alexander, the 240-pound center who appears to be the Steers' best bet to rate all-district and all-state honors this year . . . Big Mack, father of the stout young man, had counted on Mackie enrolling at his alma mater, Hardin-Simmons . . . Oliver Jackson, the ACC track coach, is telling friends his school fared poorly in the recent track recruiting wars.

Pigs Decision Colts, 14-7, In American

The Pigs scored seven quick runs in the initial inning and matched the Colts six runs for six in the last three to take a 14-7 decision Friday night in American Little League baseball.

Jerry McMahon was the winning pitcher and his brother, Tommy, was a leading slugger with a single, double and home run. The homer came in the third with no one on base. Jerry himself had three singles.

Johnny Arrick started and lost for the Colts. Teammate Larry Broughton had three doubles and a homer in the sixth with one aboard, for a big night.

Optimists And Reporters Win

The Optimists gave away six runs in the third inning and the KP Tigers proceeded to make off with a 10-5 verdict in the first game of a Teen-age Baseball league doubleheader here Friday night.

The Daily Herald shot down Cosden in the second game, 8-3.

Centerfielder Arrick had a double and two singles for the winners, and batted in three runs.

The Herald nine got only four hits but were able to rely on winning pitcher Cunningham, who gave up only two hits.

The victory pushed the Herald team into the win column for the first time and sent Cosden down to its third straight defeat. The KP Tigers have won all their three games and the Optimists are winless in a pair.

Thursday night First Federal had tromped the Elks, 16-1, and the night before, the Kiwanis bounced the Optimists, 14-8.

Don Hoak's Blow Tips Los Angeles

PITTSBURGH (AP)— Steady Don Hoak's two-run bases-loaded single in the eighth earned the Pittsburgh Pirates a 5-3 triumph Saturday over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Hoak's smash to left followed singles by Dick Stuart and Bob Skinner and an intentional walk to Billy Mazeroski.

Ronnie Kline survived 11 hits by the Dodgers and five walks to post his sixth victory against three setbacks. The loser was Art Fowler, now 3-4.

The Pirates jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the fourth. They added another in the fifth.

Duke Snider's single with two aboard in the fifth gave the Dodgers their first run and Charlie Neal batted across two more with a bases-loaded single in the sixth.

Big Turnout Due For Scotch Play

Possibly the largest tournout of the year will take part in today's scotch foursome at the Big Spring Country Club, which starts at 1:30 p.m.

Men and women of the club, of course, are encouraged to play in the competition, which extends over 18 holes.

Musial Drives In Four Runs As Cardinals Win

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Larry Jackson, backed by Stan Musial's four runs batted in, blanked the Cincinnati Reds on eight hits Saturday 7-0 as the St. Louis Cardinals posted their fourth victory in five games.

Jackson, boosting his record to 5-6, struck out six and walked one. He was helped by three double plays.

After pounding a two-run homer in the fourth inning off Orlando Pena, Cincinnati starter and loser, Musial drove in two more runs in the fifth with a bases-load single off Willard Schmidt. Musial's homer was his fifth of the season.

Gino Cimoli blasted a solo homer, his sixth, in the first inning. Ken Boyer drove in the other two St. Louis runs with singles in the fifth and seventh innings.

Boston Sox Snap Losing Streak

BOSTON (AP) — Tom Brewer threw a snappy six-hitter at Kansas City Saturday as the Boston Red Sox broke a three-game losing string with a 6-1 victory over the Athletics.

Brewer, a right-hander from Cheraw, S.C., retired the first 16 men in order, but tired in the late innings.

The Red Sox jumped on starter and loser Ray Herbert and two successors for 13 hits, including Pete Daley's first home run of the season. Pete Runnels, Don Buddin and Frank Malzone had three hits apiece.

Daley's solo clout featured a three-run Boston uprising in the seventh that broke a 1-1 tie and chased Herbert. They added two more in the eighth off Tom Gorman.

Three Circuit Blows Push Yankees Past Tigers, 6-4

NEW YORK (AP)—Home runs by Mickey Mantle, Marv Throneberry and Tony Kubek helped the New York Yankees defeat Detroit Saturday 6-4 in a game stopped by rain in the first of the ninth.

After Frank Bolling led off the ninth with a single, it started to rain.

Mantle's 13th homer, following a single by Norm Siebern, gave the Yanks a two-run lead in the first. After Lou Berberet's two-run homer in the second tied the score, the Yanks took the lead for keeps on Marv Throneberry's homer leading off the third.

The third Yankee homer off loser Jim Bunning was hit by Tony Kubek after Bill Skowron singled in the fourth.

Dempsey Awarded Share Of Field

JEFFERSON, Tex. (AP) — A jury awarded a share of a Marion County oil field Saturday to Jack Dempsey, the former world heavyweight boxing champion.

Dempsey filed a cross action against Davis. The jury found in favor of both plaintiffs after several hours of deliberation.

Judge Morris Ralston has not yet filed an official judgment.

The oil property is a 1-16th override on a 1,200-acre plot in the Vicky Lynn Field six miles west of Jefferson. The field is reported a wealthy one.

Davis had entered a contract with Manziel to provide funds in oil operations. Dempsey entered the case with the claim that Davis had promised him a share of any producing properties because it was Dempsey who first introduced Davis and Manziel.

Dempsey, now a New York restaurant operator and Texas oil man, attended the hearing throughout the week.

Bucs Sell Smith To Detroit Team

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates Saturday sold southpaw pitcher R. G. Smith to the Detroit Tigers for the waiver prices. Smith appeared in 20 games with the Pirates this season but had no won-lost record.

The Pirates rebuilt their roster to 25 players by claiming pitcher Bob Porterfield from the Chicago Cubs. Earlier this season, the Pirates handed the veteran right-hander his release and the Cubs signed him as a free agent. The Cubs asked waivers on him this week.

Wheeler Promoted

ABILENE (SC)—Les Wheeler, former coaching aide at Lamesa High School, has been elevated to the post of first football assistant at Abilene Christian College, it has been announced.

Spahn Shelled But Racks Up 8th Victory

CHICAGO (AP) — Don McMahon Saturday saved veteran southpaw Warren Spahn's eighth win of the season as the Milwaukee Braves defeated the Chicago Cubs, 4-2, for their fifth triumph in the past 12 games.

Inheriting a one out situation—with Chicago runners on second and third in the ninth—McMahon retired pinch batter Jim Marshall on an infield pop up and watched Billy Bruto gather in Lee Walls' long fly for the game-ending out.

Most of Spahn's trouble was not of his own making.

Dale Long threw a leadoff walk. Then Hank Aaron lost Earl Averill's pinch fly in the sun as it fell for a single.

Long moved to third after pinch batter Moose Moryn flied to Bruton. Tony Taylor followed with another high fly. Aaron caught up with the ball and was set to catch it when he turned back and the ball fell for a double, scoring Long and sending Averill to third.

Rosebuds Boast Leading Hitters

By The Associated Press

Victoria led the Texas league standings last week and a look at the individual averages showed why.

The Rosebuds led in team hitting and the individual leaders in five divisions were Victoria uniforms.

The worthy Clint McCord led the regulars in batting and doubles in official averages through Wednesday. He had a strong .377 average, a big help to Victoria's team batting average of .300.

McCord also had 15 doubles.

Frank Howard, the Victoria fence-buster showed 27 home runs and 56 runs batted in for the lead in those departments.

Howard Bedell of Austin led in triples with 10.

Wish U Well Is In Big Event

RUIDOSO DOWNS, N. M., (SC)—The Mike London and the Fort Stanton Allowances carry the 'Down' racing card today. Contention runs deep in the former feature with Fleet Gayle, representing Greely and Conner of Great Falls, Montana, and Wish-U-Well, carrying the hopes of Jess Wilbanks of Big Spring, Texas, the probable favorites—both were easy winners here. Little Ike, owner-handled by D. B. Plummer of Pleasanton, California, was a game winner his last out.

In the second allowance, Redway Nip, lessee-trained by B. E. Meadows of Baytown, Texas, came here vastly under-rated but, after running a good race Saturday and winning Sunday, may prove to be the best three-year-old on the grounds.

Sword Dancer Edges Bagdad In Belmont

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Sword Dancer outslugged Bagdad in a bitter stretch duel and captured the $145,500 Belmont Stakes Saturday by three-quarters of a length as two horses fell on the final turn, throwing jockeys Eddie Arcaro and Walter Blum into the mud. Royal Orbit was third by 12 lengths.

Arcaro was taken off the track in an ambulance and when he regained consciousness complained of neck pains. Blum walked off unaided.

Bagdad took the lead midway of the final bend in the 1½-mile race and Arcaro, aboard Black Hills, and Willie Shoemaker, riding Sword Dancer, moved up to challenge.

Black Hills, owned by the King Ranch, was directly behind Howard Keck's Bagdad with Sword Dancer on the outside. Black Hills suddenly lurched, head down and tumbled into the mud. A short time later the King Ranch colt was destroyed. He suffered a compound fracture of the right shin bone.

The spill marred the 91st and richest running of the famed finale of the Kentucky Derby-Preakness-Belmont triple crown series for 3-year-olds.

Arcaro was seeking a record seventh Belmont victory.

Sword Dancer, a Virginia-bred colt owned by the Brookemeade Stable of Isabel Dodge Sloane, had finished second in the Kentucky Derby, nosed out by Tomy Lee. He also was second in the Preakness, four lengths behind Royal Orbit.

Sword Dancer, the slight favorite, paid $5.30, $3.00 and $2.30 in earning $93,525.

Dodgers Edge Cards, 5 To 4

The Dodgers repelled a last inning rally on the part of the Cardinals to win a 5-4 National Little League decision here Friday night.

The Red Birds scored two runs and had a runner on base in the last frame when the end came.

Donnie Hall scored what proved to be the winning run for the Dodgers in the sixth when he singled with one out and rode home on an infield out.

V. T. Whatley drove out three hits in three trips to the plate, all of them singles, for the winners.

ABC Star Best Texas Has Seen, Insists Brown

COMMERCE (SC) — James Baird, who coach Delmer Brown calls the best broad jump man in Texas, will represent East Texas State in the National AAU meet June 20 in Boulder, Colo.

The Dallas junior erased four broad jump marks this year besides winning the Lone Star Conference event. Baird set records at the Border Olympics (24'-10"), Recreational Meet in Fort Worth (23'-10"), ABC Relays in Big Spring (24'-11") and NAIA meet (25' 3¾").

It was at the ABC Relays that Baird won the outstanding performance award over Glenn Davis of Ohio State. Baird has been defeated only three times this year—by the national champion, Ernie Shelby of Kansas.

Coach Brown who owns a broad jump mark of 25' 7", says Baird is the best jumper Texas has ever seen.

"He's even better than I was," chuckled Brown. "He's more consistent."

Six times this season Baird leaped 26 feet only to scratch each time.

And he may need it at Boulder where he will jump against the nation's best, including old foe Shelby.

Sidney Garton, E. T. freshman who amazed track fans this year, will not make the trip. Family obligations have forced him to put away his track shoes for the summer and go to work.

Aces Auto Slams Newsom's, 17-13

The Aces had to overcome a half-dozen run spurt by Newsom in the second inning, and did so with eight tallies in the sixth.

Broncs Turn Back Bear Nine, 17-16

The Big Spring Hardware Broncs nudged the Hull and Phillips Bears, 17-16, here last week in an American Little League minor division match.

Gene Morris gave over to relief man Carl Lawson in the top of the fourth, who preserved the win for Morris. The losing pitcher was Jimmie Jones who had three singles for his team offensively.

Jake Trantham executed two double-outs by himself in the game. On both occasions he caught a fly in short centerfield and put out a runner on second base.

Local Legion Team Opposes Odessans

Defending champion in District 6, the Big Spring American Legion Junior baseball team tangles with the rugged Odessa entry in its 1959 league opener at 3:30 p.m. today in Odessa.

The contest was originally to have been played at the Odessa College field but has been moved to the American Legion Stadium, it has been announced.

D. R. Gartman, manager of the local team, is due to start either Zay or Jay LeFevre against the Odessans. The twins experienced fine success in Legion ball last season.

Other starters for the locals will include Wilson Bell at first base, Tommy Whatley at second, Jerry Dunlap at shortstop, Bobby Branham at third, Homer Mills, Bob Andrews and Donnie Everett in the outfield and Jimmy Roger behind the plate. Bowman Roberts, Mills and Whatley are other pitchers with the team.

Among players who will be action for the Odessans include Gary Crain, Jerry Tyson, Wilson Blakeley, Jackie White, Ken Scott, Frankie McCoy, Duke Sampson, Roger Reid and Joe Stephenson, all of whom performed for the Odessa High School squad; Belmont Westbrook, Carroll Golden, Eddie Gardner, Don Frazier, Ralph Kennedy and Jerry Venable.

Ted Dawson, the new football coach at Odessa's Permian High, is manager of the Odessa squad while Frank Gee serves as the coach.

The local Legionaires have been working out every evening under Gartman at Steer Park. D. R. Gartman says he is shy of experienced right - handed mound strength but expects his boys to make a strong showing.

The conference is made up of teams from five cities. Lamesa, Monahans and Andrews are other communities fielding clubs.

Mike McCormick Says He'll Take 'Cheap' No-Hitter

That was bonus left-hander Mike Mike McCormick's reaction Friday night after he pitched the San Francisco Giants to a 3-0 no-hit victory over the Philadelphia Phillies in a game halted by rain in the Phillies' sixth.

Actually, Richie Ashburn touched McCormick for a clean single over second in the sixth, but the hit was wiped off the record books when the umpires called the game. The contest reverted back to the fifth inning and went on the record books that way.

"I was lucky," McCormick said calmly. "I'm just glad I won. I've been having my troubles lately. You know I lost my last two."

McCormick said that it wasn't his best performance this year.

"No," he declared, "I'd have to say my best performance was against the Phillies the last time we met them on the coast. I had a no-hitter going for 7 1-3 innings until Granny Hamner touched me for a double. They got two more hits in the ninth but I ended up with an 8-0 victory."

In gaining his fourth victory against five defeats, the 20-year-old Los Angeles native pointed out that it gave him added confidence.

Manager Bill Rigney agreed.

"It gave him a big lift," Rigney declared. "He was just great out there. He's got to win if we're going to be a pennant contender."

As McCormick was leaving the club house, someone remarked: "That was the first no-hitter for the Giants since Carl Hubbell turned the trick in 1929."

Washington Sens Sign Bonus Boy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Senators Saturday signed their second bonus player in two days. He is center fielder-third baseman Lamar Jacobs, of Youngstown, Ohio, who has just graduated from Ohio University.

TOPICS FROM BIG LAKE

Thomas Shy Of Patrons Most Of The Past Week

By BOBBY HORTON

The crappie were ready for fishermen but the fishermen weren't there to get them last week on Lake Thomas.

Sportsmen reported good catches, as usual, of white bass and channel cat. The black bass were warming up to hooks, too.

There was, however, a noticeable lack of patrons on the lake despite the good weather. Even the skiing fans—who normally begin invading the premises on Thursday—were away.

The situation looked like this:

SPORTSMAN'S PARADISE — Fishing at night by lights is the favorite trick here. Calvin Studeville of Big Spring, Claud Hodnett, owner of the Paradise, and his helper, B. Warren moved offshore about 300 feet Tuesday night. They reeled in 75 white bass intermittently from dark until 2 a.m., weighing 1-2½ pounds each. Not to waste a good night, they dressed fish until 3 a.m..

Paul Winkleblack, Odessa, took 15½-to-1½ pound crappie with his rod and reel using minnows. Fish near the river channel, he also had six channel cat 1-to-1½ pounds each.

W. W. Griffith of Lubbock caught 16 crappie weighing ½-to-2 pounds each. Charley and Bob Greene, brothers from Vealmoor, found a 12-pound yellow cat on their trotline. It sampled either their perch or cut shad bait.

Eldon Appleton, Big Spring, pulled in 15 white bass Wednesday night with his rod and reel and also got a 5-pound channel cat on his trotline. A man from Houston took a dozen white bass that night, too.

* * *

LAKEVIEW GROCERY—Clyde Montgomery, proprietor, said Stevel Calverly of Garden City brought in a couple of pride-provoking channel cat-fish, one 24 pounds and the other 13.

L. L. Underwood, Luther, hooked a 4 3-4 pounds black bass while wading and using a cane pole. Elwood Carlisle of Big Spring used large minnows on a trotline to get a 14-pound yellow cat.

J. C. Billingsley, Lamesa, got a 5½-pound yellow cat on his trotline. Allred and Wagner, two men from Knott, landed 17 white bass averaging a pound apiece, three large and four small channel cat.

* * *

SHADY GROVE—Fishing was slow here at the Colorado River entrance, said Mrs. H. D. Smith. Ray Veach of O'Donnell unhooked a 2¼-pound yellow cat from a trotline and had three crappie on his rod and reel using small minnows.

* * *

JINKIN'S GROCERY — Harold Creswell of Artesia, N. M., had 12 bass 3-to-5 pounds, said Miss Jinkens Moreland, operator. He waded in the shallow water and used a cane pole.

J. B. Mackey, Brownfield, and several others in his party ran onto a good-sized school about halfway between Lem's Baithouse and the Bull Creek Channel. They came away with 96 white bass averaging 2 pounds each.

Willie Bingham, an assistant athletic coach at Snyder, and several school teacher friends caught 19 black bass on rods and reels. The fish were in sizes from 1½-to-4½ pounds.

* * *

BROWN'S GROCERY — Most sportsmen weren't boasting too loudly over their catches at this point, but Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Godlove and children, Lubbock, had several white bass and some catfish during the week.

* * *

LEM'S BAITHOUSE—Ernest Rhodes and Ross Woodson, Lamesa, had 40 pounds of fish—most channel cat including one 10-pound yellow cat and a few white bass—on their trotline check last week. The line dangled cut bait.

Van White, Littlefield, had a 3½-pounds and two 2-pound black bass. Several Levelland youths spent Saturday night on Lem's pier to get a 16-fish string of white bass.

Shorty Millican and Bob Poer, Tahoka, caught nine bass including two blacks weighing a total of 16½ pounds. Barney Barnett of Odessa had a good string of cat on his trotline.

* * *

S&L'S GROCERY—The black bass are being found near Bull Creek Channel and around the dam, says Mrs. L. P. Dent. J. T. McIntosh of Sundown had a 5-pound black bass and Jack Jackson and J. D. Blankenship had a string of 13 bass weighing 1½-to-5 pounds.

Harley Watson, Midland, reeled in four 1½-to-2½ pound black bass. Bill Merrick, Big Spring, with Dwain Williams, Archie and Milton Seagrest of Colorado City caught 18 1-to-3½ pound black bass.

Forrest Beaver, Snyder, had a 14-pound yellow cat on his trotline, and Jack Lawson, Hobbs, N. M., used a rod and reel for a 5½-pound black bass.

* * *

LAKE THOMAS LODGE—dragging a line on the bottom of the lake is getting good results, said owner J. C. Godwin. Fishermen are letting their boats drift with the wind and are baiting the dragging lines with worms.

Eddie Warren, Post, caught three black bass Tuesday at 2 3-4 to 3½ pounds each in the weedbeds of shallow water across from the lodge.

Jack Dunn, who lives on the lake, had five channel cat 2½-to-4 pounds each on a minnow-baited trotline. W. D. Berry, Big Spring, used worms on his rod and reel to pull in an 8-pound channel cat.

They're Biting Well

Buck Graham, lake patrolman on Lake Thomas, hooked this 19-pound yellow cat last week in the big reservoir. Channel cat were biting well, fishermen discovered, along with white bass that have been caught in abundance. Crappie catches were increasing and more black bass were reported, especially along the northeastern side of the lake.

One Of Two

Butane Boys Win By 17 To 4 Tab

The Butane Boys mauled the Stanley Texans, 17-4, here Friday evening to account for their second American Minor Little League victory in as many second half starts.

Kenneth Hamby was the winning pitcher. He allowed only two hits, walked three and struck out five.

Alex Olmedo Wins Kent Tournament

BECKENHAM, England (AP)—Alex Olmedo, U.S. Davis Cup star from Peru, won the Kent Lawn Tennis championship today by defeating Kurt Nielsen of Denmark, 8-6, 3-6, 6-4.

Earlier Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., downed Sally Moore of Bakersfield, Calif., 6-1, 7-5, for the women's title.

Lane Critical Of Decision To Stop Bout With Ortiz

NEW YORK (AP) — Carlos Ortiz and Kenny Lane were just settling down to a hard night's work when a cut over Lane's right eye gave the Puerto Rican-born New Yorker the newly revived junior welterweight title.

The controversy over the sudden ending probably will continue until Friday night's Madison Square Garden principals meet again in an Aug. 21 or Aug. 28 rematch.

Dr. Harry Kleiman of the New York State Athletic Commission advised Referee Harry Kessler to stop the bout between the second and third rounds. Under New York rules it went as a second round technical knockout. In National Boxing Assn. territory it would have been scored as a third round TKO.

"It was a butt," complained Lane, the talented southpaw from Muskegon, Mich., who is the No. 1 contender to lightweight king Joe Brown.

"It was a right hand punch," said the 22-year-old Ortiz. "But our heads met after the punch."

About 10 stitches were needed to close the gash.

Lane, bitterly disappointed, said "they should have let it go a couple rounds more. I was just getting to him. I would have knocked him out in the eighth or ninth."

Ortiz, who floored Lane for a four-count earlier in the stormy second, said he would welcome a rematch.

"I know I'll knock him out next time," he said. "I'll show everybody I would have won without any argument."

Two officials gave Lane the first and Ortiz the second. Judge Artie Aidala scored both rounds for Ortiz.

Explorations Still Testing

Cosden Petroleum Corp. No. 1 J. L. Whitmire, C NE NE 37-32-1n, T&P, was still testing on perforations from 9,542-54 and recovering an unreported volume of oil. The pay zone is in the Fusselman.

To the east and slightly to the south, U. S. Smelting, Mining and Refining Co. No. 1 Hutto, a venture drilled originally and deepened by Ray Albaugh of Big Spring, perforated the Mississippian from 9,044 to 9,058 and washed with 500 gallons of mud acid preparatory to testing.

This exploration is 330 from the south and east lines of the northeast quarter of section 4-31-1s, T&P.

Previously it had tested and recovered some oil in the Fusselman from 9,184-94.

In Dawson County, Texas Crude No. 1-20 Clay, 660 from the south and west lines of labor 20-266, Kent SCL, 2½ miles west of the Forest No. 1 Harris, a Fusselman discovery, penetrated to 11,000 feet.

HOW DEEP?

Engineers Predict 50,000-Ft. Holes

From 1859, when Col. E. L. Drake drilled the 69½-foot well that marked the beginning of the petroleum industry, 39 years passed before a drilling bit penetrated 5,000 feet into the earth.

Another 33 years passed before the 10,000-foot mark was reached in 1931. But it took only seven years more to reach 15,000 feet, another 11 years to reach 20,000 feet, and nine years after that to reach 25,000 feet. The present record of 25,340 feet was established in 1958.

This is typical of information contained in an illustrated leaflet entitled "How Deep Can a Well Be Drilled?" published by The National Supply Company. Issued in connection with Centennial of Oil, the leaflet gives particulars on all world's record depth wells below 15,000 feet. Copies may be had from National Supply, Two Gateway Center, Pittsburgh, Pa.

After Col. Drake completed his well at Titusville, Pa., other men drilled deeper wells, but there was still plenty of oil near the surface, so nobody had to drill very deep, the text points out.

"Eventually, though, as rigs and methods were improved, some enterprising operator drilled a well 1,000 feet deep. Plenty of people must have said: 'They'll never go deeper than that.' But if drilling had stopped at 1,000 feet, or 5,000 feet, or even at 10,000 feet, much of the oil that is used today would still be locked underground," the text states.

Looking to the future, the leaflet quotes a panel of engineers who stated American drillers "can reach 50,000 feet if the necessity arises."

"Fortunately, there is no need today to drill to 50,000 feet in order to obtain adequate reserves of oil. And because of the enormous costs, nobody is likely to drill a 50,000-foot well just to 'prove it can be done.'

Basin Wildcats Are Announced

Two wildcat locations were announced in the Permian Basin area Saturday.

Vaught Drilling Co. and Gulf Oil Corp. No. 1-B-31 TXL, 330 from the south and east lines of section 31-57-3, T&P, 11 miles southwest of Orla, will go to 3,200 with rotary.

In Andrews County Exploration Drilling Company, Inc. (Rebel Oil Co.) No. 1 Lineberry Estate will be located 660 from the south and west lines of section 23-A-PSL, 23 miles west of Andrews. It will go to 6,000 with rotary. It is on a 320-acre lease.

COSDEN HITS BIG GASSER

Cosden Petroleum Corporation is in the process of completing a substantial gas discovery in Crockett County.

It is the Cosden No. 1 Hunt and is making its gas, estimated between 3,000,000 and 4,000,000 cubic feet per day from the Pennsylvanian section. Operator is continuing to test this wildcat venture.

Oil Industry Is Trailing Manufacturing On Earnings

TULSA—Earnings in the domestic petroleum industry are well below the average for all manufacturing industries, according to comparisons of rates of return for 12 major U. S. industries published by the Independent Petroleum Association of America.

In the fourth of its series on "Oil and Gas Depletion Facts," IPAA cited an analysis of statistics from the Federal Trade Commission, the Securities and Exchange Commission and the Chase Manhattan Bank. These disprove charges that the percentage depletion tax provision creates excessive earnings in the petroleum industry, it said.

These sources show that the average rate of return for the domestic petroleum industry for the years 1955 through 1957 was 9.97 per cent, whereas the average rate of return for all manufacturing industries was 11.92 per cent.

"It deserves emphasis that funds retained through percentage depletion are included in the earnings upon which the rate of return for the domestic petroleum industry is based," it added.

The association maintained that if percentage depletion did result in excessive earnings, these would be reflected in the comparison of rates of return on stockholders' equity.

In previous pamphlets on the subject the nation petroleum organization has emphasized that:

1). The domestic petroleum industry ploughs back into the search for new petroleum reserves two dollars for every dollar returned through percentage depletion;

2) Elimination of the depletion provision would result in an increase of about five cents a gallon for gasoline in order for the industry to maintain funds for the necessary search for new reserves, and;

3) Congress has recognized from the beginning of the income tax law (1913) that in computing taxable income, deductions must be provided for capital assets that are being worn out or exhausted in the process of earning the income which is subjected to tax.

KELLEY LAWRENCE

Lawrence Heads Solvent Sales

Kelley Lawrence, formerly sales representative, has been named manager of solvent sales for Cosden, R. M. Johnson, vice president in charge of sales, has announced.

Lawrence has been with Cosden seven years, starting as a billing clerk in the asphalt department. He transferred to the organic chemicals division as a clerk and later sales representative.

Originally from Bastrop, Lawrence has lived in Big Spring since 1941. He attended Howard County Junior College and the University of Texas, where he became a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity.

Turner Gets Good Well

C. D. Turner of Big Spring No. 2 Shannon Estate appeared Saturday to be another producer in the Revilo (Glorietta) field of Scurry County.

The test was bottomed at 2,875 with 5½-inch pipe set at 2,849. Operator fraced and the test was flowing back by heads with most of the load recovered.

Location is 330 from the east and 2,310 from the south lines of section 43-1-97, H&TC, 2 miles south of Dermott.

Lynn County Has Wildcat

A Lynn County wildcat, a new Welch field site in Dawson County and an amended location in Howard County headlined the new drilling reports Saturday.

The Dawson try is Tidewater Oil Co. No. 3-A J. F. Stokes, about two miles west of Welch. On a 320 acre lease it will go to 4,975 feet with rotary tools. Site is 660 from north and west lines, section 2, block C-39, PSL survey.

Burk Royalty Co. will dig the No. 1 Tomlinson as a wildcat a mile and a half northeast of O'Donnell on a 40-acre lease. Operator will go to 5,000 feet with rotary tools. Drill site is 660 from north and 1,980 feet from west lines, section 46, block 8, EL&RR survey.

Humble No. 10-B E. W. Douthit is an amended Howard-Glasscock field location, 22 miles south of Big Spring. It is on a 960 acre lease and will go to 1,500 feet with rotary tools. It is staked at 1,980 feet from south and 1,650 feet from west lines of section 121, Block 29, W&NW survey.

National Rotary Total Increases

Rotary drilling in the United States has increased sharply in the past week, according to reports of Hughes Tool Company to the American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors.

On June 8 there were 2,245 rigs going, a gain of 79 over the previous week and 107 more than a month ago. The figure also compared with 1,803 rigs turning on June 9, 1958.

Basin Activities Show Sharp Increase On Latest Survey

The Permian Basin had a sharp increase in rotary drilling rigs last week, halting a two week decline as reported by the Reed Roller Bit Co.

Friday, the total rigs working in the Basin were set at 397, 11 more than the previous week's total of 388. May 29 the number was pegged at 396 and the May 22 report had 401 rigs turning.

Andrews County had the highest increase in new rigs with a total of 43, five more than last week's 38. Lea County, N. M., still held the lead in total rigs operating with a steady 58.

Howard County reported an increase for the week with a six total, one more than the five of last week's report. The increase stopped the steady decline in activity in the county for the past few weeks. On May 29, there were six in operation with 10 turning May 22 and 12, May 15.

Dawson County had a decline of one rig, reporting four this week and five last week. Borden County increased its total by one, reporting nine this week and eight last week.

Garza picked up two rigs for the week, with nine against seven last week. Glasscock lost a rig, dropping down to only two from the three of last week.

Martin County held the pace with the same four as reported previously. Mitchell added another rig to the field with a total of four from the three of last week.

Counties included in the Reed survey (with June 5 totals in parentheses) include Andrews 43 (38), Borden 9 (8), Cochran 5 (5), Chaves 10 (10), Crane 21 (21), Crockett 1 (2), Coke 2 (2), Culberson 3 (2).

Also, Dawson 4 (5), Dickens 1 (1), Ector 29 (31), Eddy, N. M. 15 (15), Fisher 2 (2), Gaines 23 (23), Garza 9 (7), Glasscock 2 (3), Hale 1 (1), Hockley 3 (4).

And HOWARD 6 (5), Irion 2 (1), Kent 1 (1), Lamb 1 (1), Lea, N. M. 58 (58), Loving 5 (8), Lynn 0 (1), Martin 4 (4), Mitchell 4 (3), Midland 8 (8), Nolan 2 (3), Pecos 15 (20), Reagan 3 (2), Runnels 4 (4), Roosevelt 2 (2), Reeves 6 (4), Scurry 4 (5), Schleicher 5 (5), Stonewall 5 (5), Sutton 1 (1), Tom Green 2 (2), Terry 2 (3), Terrell 5 (5), Upton 8 (11), Val Verde 2 (2), Ward 16 (12), Winkler 24 (22), and Yoakum 15 (14).

The total for the Permian Basin was 397 (388).

Canadians Challenge U.S. Consumption Per Capita

HOUSTON (AP)—Canadians are challenging the United States for top ranking among oil consumers.

The United States per capita rate is 18.8 barrels or only 14 per cent more than Canada. In 1939 the United States averages were twice that of Canada.

A Canadian oil executive said he believes his country soon may be the largest per capita consumer of petroleum-based energy in the world.

On a recent visit to the United States, the president of Canadian Oil Companies Ltd. said Canada is one of the world's few remaining frontiers of petroleum exploration.

Rea said the Canadian oil industry is comparatively small but already places his country on an equal footing with the United States in proven reserves on a per capita basis.

Canada has a population of 17 million, the United States about 170 million. Canadian crude reserves now approximate 3.6 billion barrels or about one-tenth that of the United States.

Fuels Tailored For Modern Use

NEW YORK (AP) — Modern gasolines are being tailored to meet the demands of modern automobiles.

The performance and efficiency of both have kept pace with each other. Future progress will depend on the success of coordinated research now under way.

Two oil scientists said recently advances in gasolines the past 10 years have exceeded any other comparable period in the 70 years of motor fuel demand.

They said future advances are promising but will have to be justified by economical prices.

W. J. Sweeney and J. F. Kung of Esso Research and Engineering Co. predicted, however, that demand for gasoline will continue to boom.

They told the division of refining of the American Petroleum Institute the nation's registered vehicles have jumped from 38 to 67 million in 10 years. They said registrations in 1967 will approach 86 million.

Gasoline demand rose from 28 billion to slightly less than 52 billion gallons per year. The 1967 requirements should be in the range of 67 billion gallons.

Assuming the average motorist gets 12.5 miles per gallon, vehicle travel in the United States in 1967 is expected to approach 840 billion miles. The 38 million vehicles of 1947 traveled an estimated 350 billion miles.

$1,000 Bond Made In Bad Check Case

Charges of defrauding with worthless check have been filed against a man in county court, and he has been released on $1,000 bond.

Charges were brought against Jack A. Kruse, with the complaint filed by John Price. The case was filed on June 6 with the complaint alleging that Kruse passed a worthless check on March 23.

He was arrested Friday and the bond set the same day.

Garza Gains 4 Locations

Four new locations have been announced for Garza County.

Two are in the Northwest Justiceburg (Glorietta) pool and are: McCrary and Franklin No. 1-E Mrs. B. Young, 990 from the north and 820 from the east lines of section 131-5, H&GN, 14 miles southeast of Post; also McCrary and Franklin No. 2-E Mrs. B. Young, 330 from the south and 990 from the east lines of the northeast quarter of section 131-5, H&GN, and both are projected to 2,900.

C. T. McLaughlin No. 6-C Dorward, 330 from the north and east lines of section 137-5, H&GN, will be a Dorward pool test to 2,800 feet five miles southeast of Justiceburg.

In the O. S. Ranch (Glorietta) pool, Sierra Corp. Ltd. No. 3-B Connell will be 330 from the south and east lines of the northeast quarter of Section 59-5, GH&H Survey, 15 miles southeast of Post. It is projected to 3,000 feet.

News Expansion

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP)—The Texarkana Gazette and Daily News will begin immediately the expenditure of $750,000 for the improvement and expansion of their production facilities, Walter E. Hussman, publisher, announced Saturday.

France Seen As Oil Pacer

HOUSTON (AP) — A French Oilman predicts his country will be Europe's leading producer of oil and gas by 1962.

Fernand Leca, 55, said that in the next three years France's annual oil production will jump from 1½ to about 20 million tons. He is a geologist, professor and author of many books in his field.

Leca also is executive vice president of the National Society of Research and Exploitation of Petroleum in Algeria. He said the society and the Companies Francaise des Petroles will have in operation by 1961 the largest gas field in the world.

The field, in the north of the Sahara Desert, was discovered by Leca in 1957. He said it is expected to have a production capacity of nearly one billion cubic meters of gas.

In 1956 Leca discovered the Hassi Messaud Field whose reserves, he said, exceed 500 million tons.

He said the combined output of these and other French—owned fields will push France ahead of Germany in oil production and benefit the French economy "tremendously."

Mitchell Project

Grayridge No. 2 Langley, a Westbrook pool operation in western Mitchell County, drilled ahead at the end of the week. Saturday it was at 1,530 feet in anhydrite and shale. This 4,300-foot venture is five miles northeast of Iatan.

Garza And Mitchell Counties Share In Field Completions

Five field completions were reported Saturday, four in Mitchell and the other in Garza County.

The Garza project is the McCrary and Franklin No. 1-130-B McCrary and operator found production at 2,000 feet in the Justiceburg, Northwest (San Andres) field. The hole is bottomed at 2,620 feet with the five and a half inch casing going to 2,615 feet.

It was plugged back to 2,000 feet and operator reports the top of the pay at 1,948 feet. Perforations between 1,952 and 1,958 feet yielded an initial pumping production of 63.71 barrels of 36.8 gravity oil per day with 42 per cent water.

Operator fraced the perforations with 21,500 gallons of fluid. The gas-oil ratio was too small to measure. Location is 380 feet from south and 990 feet from east lines, 130-5 H&GN survey. Elevation from ground level is 2,255.3 feet.

MITCHELL WELLS

Completions in Mitchell County were in the Iatan East Howard, Sharon Ridge and Turner Gregory fields.

Magnolia No. 54 Mary Foster finaled in the Iatan East Howard field for an initial pumping production of 127.23 barrels of oil per day plus two per cent water.

Depth of the hole is pegged at 2,845 feet and operator plugged back to 2,805 feet. The five and a half-inch casing goes to 2,845 feet and perforations are between 2,650-2,779 feet which operator fraced with 70,000 gallons. Top of the pay is set at 2,650 feet. The gas-oil ratio is 345-1 and gravity of the oil is 31.9.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and 660 from west lines southeast quarter, section 8, block 29, T&P Survey. The elevation from ground level is 2,299 feet.

Two completed projects in the Sharon Ridge (1700) field are the M. L. Melton No. 1 C. C. Mills and Melton's No. 2 C. C. Mills.

50 Bbl. WELL

No. 1 Mills had an initial pumping production of 50.40 barrels of 30 gravity oil with 50 per cent water. Operator fraced perforations between 1,616-25 feet with 12,000 gallons and 48,000 pounds of sand. Depth of the hole is 1,670 feet, the four and a half-inch casing goes to 1,670 feet and the top of the pay zone is pegged at 1,550 feet.

The gas-oil ratio was too small to measure and elevation at ground level is 2,130 feet. Location is 330 feet from south and east lines, J. P. Smith survey, subdivision 7.

No. 2 Mills has an initial pumping production of 54.60 barrels of 29.5 gravity oil from perforations between 1,627-36 feet. Operator treated the perforations with 12,000 gallons and 48,000 pounds of sand. The flow has 45 per cent water and the gas oil ratio was too small to measure.

The 5½-inch casing is bottomed at 1,670 feet. Location is 330 from south and 990 from east lines, J. P. Smith survey, subdivision 7. Elevation is 2,145 feet at ground level.

CLEAR FORK PAY

The other Mitchell production is from the Clear Fork in the Turner Gregory field. The site is Southern Petroleum Exploration Inc. No. 1 Louis Rees, staked at 330 feet from south and 2,310 feet from west lines, section 12, block 29, T-1-N T&P Survey.

Initial pumping production of 60.29 barrels of 24 gravity oil is 25 per cent water and from an open hole, 2,700-35 feet. The five and a half-inch casing goes to the top of the pay zone, 2,700 feet. The gas oil ratio is 100-1. Operator acidized with 1,000 gallons and fraced with 640 gallons and 400 sacks of sand.

Anniversary Sale

A little more than a year ago, thanks to your very fine patronage, we found it necessary to expand our facilities and it was with great pleasure that we announced the completion and the opening of our modern new Used Car Lot . . .

Auto Super Market

This past year we have made it a point to have on our lot the cleanest and most reasonably priced cars available.

Our goal has been to have our prices compare with the lowest, our quality be the highest. Whatever price you pay you can be confident you're getting the biggest value for every penny you invest at Auto Super Market.

We thank everyone of you that bought a car from us the past year. (Over 600 cars sold the past year). We want you to know that you're the people who made this Anniversary possible . . . and to show our appreciation we pledge ourselves to continue our policy of being absolutely certain any car placed on this lot is a good, safe, dependable car!

And we would like to remind you that during our big Anniversary Sale is the time for you to get an exceptionally nice car at a real bargain!

Many thanks,

"Quality Will Be Remembered Long After Price Has Been Forgotten"

Sale Starts Monday Morning At 8:00 A.M.

FROM PANAMA

Lamesa Ex-Residents Sail On Banana Boat

LAMESA — Many vacationing Americans will visit relatives and their former homes this summer, but few will make a five-day boat trip with 56,000 stalks of bananas to reach their destinations.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Slover and their three children, Jimmie Lee, Suzanne and Nancy, who have lived at Diablo in the Panama Canal Zone since 1953, took a banana boat from their home to New Orleans, La., last week. They are in Lamesa visiting Mrs. Slover's mother, Mrs. Nancy Dupree Johnson and friends.

The Slovers will be in the United States until August 25 when they will sail from New Orleans, La., for their home. Slover, who is an electrician on the locks on the Panama Canal, gets a three-month vacation from his job every two years, and the quintet plan a leisurely summer in the States. Before accepting his position in March, 1953, Slover was employed by Ashley Electric Co., Lamesa.

10 PASSENGERS

There were ten passengers in addition to the crew on the banana boat "Morazan" which brought the Slovers to New Orleans.

Although the family lives only four or five blocks from the canal, Mrs. Slover and the children had never gone through the locks on a ship until last week. They boarded at Diablo on the Pacific side of the canal, and lost a day's traveling time before they got to the Gulf of Mexico because of crowded traffic in the canal.

Diablo is a completely American community, Mrs. Slover says. The children attend a public school; Jimmy Lee will be in the 7th grade this fall, Suzie in the 5th.

One thing is quite different in Lamesa, though, if one is to listen to three-year-old Nancy, who was born in Panama. Nancy's grandmother took her to Sunday School. She was in the nursery department with other children from two to four and enjoyed herself immensely. The games she played and the way she was allowed to talk impressed Nancy. At the community chapel where the Slovers attend Sunday School and worship services, even the tiny ones are taught to be quiet during all services.

The Slovers have become accustomed to the climate in Panama. They find the dry heat of West Texas more exhausting than the humidity of Panama, which is comparable to that in Houston and other cities along the Gulf Coast. Temperatures range from 75 to 85 degrees the year around, and with the exception of March, April and May, which are the dry months, it rains almost continuously.

COLLECT SOUVENIRS

Mrs. Johnson has many art objects, gifts of her children in Panama; one is an ornate hand-carved Chinese table which she uses for a coffee table. It is called a "chow table" by the Chinese, and on each of its four sides, cleverly concealed are small drawers for chop sticks. The children have also given her a hand made gavel; its handle is of black palm and the gavel is of cocobala wood.

Slover brought with him a section of the sills off the gates of the canal. The sills, approximately 60 feet long, must be replaced every 20 years, he said as he displayed the section filled with holes. Worms eat the sills, which are made from lignum vitae wood. The material is hard and heavy.

This trip, the children brought their grandmother two evening bags, stone jewelry and figurines made in France.

Eleven-year-old Suzie had a surprise waiting for her when she got to "grandmother's house." When the family visited here two years ago, Mrs. Johnson bought Suzie a bowl of goldfish.

When time came for the return to Panama, and the fish were given to Mrs. Jack Mitchell and Lanelle, friends of the family. When the Mitchells learned that Suzie was coming, they took the fish back to Mrs. Johnson, and now—two years later—Suzie has her playmates back.

She plans to return them to the Mitchells for safe-keeping before she returns to Panama in August.

Capehart Now Has 200 Units Being Occupied

Two hundred and fifty of the 460 housing units at the Capehart project have now been officially accepted by the Air Force.

Two hundred of these are occupied. The remaining 50, already accepted, are being filled rapidly. Service families are moving into the area daily.

Fausto Ramirez, engineer in charge, working on the staff of Col. W. W. Lee, commander of the installation group at Webb, made the announcement of present status of the Capehart project Saturday afternoon.

Freak Accident

FRANKLIN, Mass. (AP)—Four-year-old Cheryl Mulvey was killed Friday in a freak accident. She was run over twice by the family car in the driveway of her home. Police said Cheryl was playing in the driveway when her sister Susan, 3, climbed into the car, the automobile rolled backward and passed over the child. Then it rolled up an incline that sent it forward again and ran over the little girl a second time.

Killed

Rev. Ralph J. Diefenbach, pastor of St. Theresa's Roman Catholic Church, in Houston, was one of four persons who died in the crash of his private plane. Rev. Diefenbach gained fame shortly after World War II when he returned the hand of St. Stephan, a religious relic, to Hungary.

'Ma' Ferguson Notes Birthday

Her birthday was not marked by any special celebration but she received well-wishes from family and friends. Mrs. Ferguson, a white-haired great - grandmother, was the first woman in the nation to win popular election as governor. This was in 1925.

She and her late husband, Jim Ferguson, were storm centers of Texas politics for a quarter of a century. She still keeps up her interest in politics, but takes no public part.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Northsider Protesting Building Of Warehouse

To the Editor:

This week a group of property owners on the North Side were asked to attend a meeting regarding the building of a new warehouse for the Planters' Gin on NW 3rd St. We were told not to seek the advice of a lawyer nor to air our grievance against the gin.

For years now it has been a constant worry to nearby property owners as to whether homes would be whole or reduced to ashes by morning, not to mention the filth that enters into the houses. No one wants to better themselves more than we do on the North Side, but how can we do so if we keep getting more and more of this sort of thing? If anything isn't wanted elsewhere, then it is put over here. Is it an absolute necessity to have the gins within the city limits?

Will we ever be able to make it a better place to live this way? I don't imagine so and yet if we were to decide we would like to move to a nicer neighborhood and could afford to do so—we would not be permitted to buy or build in Washington Hts. or Edwards Hts. —oh yes, we might be permitted in Jones Valley! But who wants to live there?

The people who attended this meeting all voted against the building Monday evening; on Tuesday morning, they were at work building.

Where, may we ask you, are the Four Freedoms exercised in Big Spring?

We do not want more lint, smoke and filth over here, and since we must live here, then why doesn't the City and County Authorities respect our wishes—we, too, are tax-payers since taxes are payable even over here.

Sincerely,
MRS. CHON RODRIQUEZ

'Y' Delegates Home From Big Youth Meeting

A delegation of eight girls and one boy from the Big Spring Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y have returned from a five day conference on leadership at Estes Park, Colo. The group arrived in Big Spring early Saturday travelling in chartered bus.

The conference encompassed nine states in the southwest area and western central area. There were 250 delegates in attendance.

Principal speakers at the conference were D. Evelyn, Mills Duval, Chicago; and Sanford Reese, secretary of the Older Youth Program on the National YMCA staff.

Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr., accompanied the local delegates to the meeting.

Symbolic Taper Lighted In Howard-Barr Wedding

Climaxing the Friday evening wedding ceremony which united in marriage Brenda Barr and Ronald O. Howard, was the tri-candle exchange of vows.

Signifying the blending of their two lives, the couple lighted one large candle from separate tapers as part of the double ring rite read in the First Baptist Church by the Rev. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Barr, 1707 Harvard; the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Howard of Forsan.

Tiered panels of white taffeta accented with fronds of emerald fern enclosed the embankment of emerald fern before which the bridal party assembled for the service. Hurricane lamps with seven-branched candelabra holding hobnailed devotion lights were combined with baskets of snow-mass gladioli, white stock and Majestic daisies.

WEDDING MUSIC

Darlene Agee, organist, included in the pre-nuptial selections Ave Maria, Liebestraum and other traditional music. She also accompanied Mrs. Carol Belton who sang Because, I Love Thee and The Wedding Prayer.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in white silk organza, taffeta-ized, over white taffeta. The portrait neckline of the basque waist was edged with re-embroidered Alencon lace medallions jeweled with seed pearls and iridescent paillettes.

Draped folds of the fabric followed the lines of the pointed basque and circled the aisle-wide skirt, culminating in a soft back bow which held a sweep of fullness for a court train.

A triple-tiered veil, extending the length of the train, was held in place by a queen's crown of pearlized lilies of the valley.

In the tradition of brides, the wedding attire was the something new; something old was a single strand of pearls which is an heirloom of Mrs. Barr's family. The bride had borrowed a blue garter from Sammie Sue McComb, and she carried a penny in her shoe.

A hand-styled bouquet of phalenopsis orchids was surrounded with petite Frenched carnations and complemented with handmade satin leaves outlined in silver; fantasy and picoted ribbon with pearl rings showered the flowers.

The attendants were Prissy Pond, who served as maid of honor, and Brenda Gordon, bridesmaid. The two, identically frocked in yellow organdy over taffeta, carried white reed baskets of white stock, yellow Majestic daisies and English ivy. Their dresses featured bell-shaped skirts; their slippers were tinted yellow and their headdresses were double brims of daffodil yellow net extending from velvet halos of pearl-centered yellow violets.

Howard Sheats of Big Spring served as the best man. Duties of the ushers were shared by the bridegroom's brother, Dewey Howard, and George White, both of Forsan, and Charles Ray Howard of Snyder, an uncle of the bridegroom.

TEA TABLE

Arrayed in a white satin cloth with white net overlay, with full ruffled skirt, the table was outlined with white satin ribbon. A nosegay confection of pale yellow embellished the three-tiered cake, with tiny columns separating the tiers; an epergne arrangement of white stock, daisies and carnations was accented with yellow roses, silvered foliage and natural gypsophila.

Stanton Girl Is Bride Of Homer L. Wilkerson

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Lee Wilkerson are on a wedding trip to Corpus Christi following their marriage in the Assembly of God Church Thursday evening.

The bride is the former Stina Tucker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Tucker of Stanton; parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Wilkerson, 202 Donley.

The approach to the altar was designated with white markers connected with white satin ribbons; these led to a setting of ferns and tapers in tall seven-branched candelabra on each side of a white wrought iron archway. This was centered with a basket of white stock, gladioli and asters, before which the couple knelt on a white satin prie dieu.

Vows were read by the Rev. Homer Sheats of Lubbock, pastor of the First Assembly of God; double rings were exchanged.

A prelude of traditional wedding music was played by Wanda Clawson and Mrs. S. E. Eldridge, who included Tenderly and I Love You Truly. Ed Wilkerson of Stanton, an uncle of the bridegroom, sang Always.

The bride's father escorted her to the altar and gave her in marriage. Her gown, designed and made by Mrs. Ed Wilkerson, was of white embroidered eyelet, featuring a sabrina neckline and empire waist over a cummerbund of white cotton satin. This culminated in a large flat bow at the back

Weldon Rainey Weds In Coahoma Saturday

COAHOMA — A double ring ceremony, read Saturday evening in the First Methodist Church, united in marriage Lee Ida Mason and Weldon R. Rainey.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Mason, Coahoma, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Rainey of Big Spring.

To form the setting for the bridal party, a white colonnade arch, entwined with greenery, was flanked by white blossoms. Seven-branched candelabra held cathedral tapers with large emerald ferns in the background. Pew markers led to the altar.

The Rev. Harld Martin, pastor of the church, heard the exchange of vows following the nuptial music of Sue Alice Beard, organist, and Donna Cramer, who sang O, Promise Me and The Wedding Prayer.

Lace and net fashioned the gown of the bride, who was given in marriage by her father. Of imported lace, the bodice featured a v-neckline, front and back, with the natural scallops of the lace emphasized. Long sleeves of the lace tapered to points as did the lace overskirt worn over three tiers of imported net.

In tiers of embroidery, the skirt tapered from street length to ankle length in the back. Gauntlets of eyelet complemented the short sleeves.

Repeating the bow at the back was a flat bow of the cotton satin, used with a shoulder length veil of illusion. The bride carried a white Bible on which were pink sweetheart roses with pearl leaves and tulle showered with picoted ribbon.

Pink carnations in nosegays were the flowers of the maid of honor, Evelyn Wilkerson, sister of the bridegroom, and Kay Leatherwood, who attended as bridesmaid.

Both were attired in blue organdy and organza, made with puffed sleeves scooped necklines and full skirts, street length.

Charles Miller was best man; groomsmen were George Head of Stanton, a brother-in-law of the bridegroom, Ray Hill and Herman Bouchard, both of Big Spring.

Tapers were lighted by the bridegroom's cousins, Carolyn Wilkerson and Linda Alton, both in pink organdy, made on similar lines to the frocks of the feminine attendants; they wore blue carnation wristlets.

RECEPTION

Following the wedding ritual, the garden of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Cooper, 1600 Wood, was opened for the reception.

The bridal couple and their parents, along with Miss Wilkerson and Miss Leatherwood, received guests.

White net over blue covered the table which held the bouquet of the bride and those of her attendants as a centerpiece. A three-tiered white cake, placed on a stand, was adorned with a small bridal figurine.

In charge of the guest register was Mrs. George Head, Stanton, sister of the bride. Members of the house party included aunts of the bridegroom, Mrs. Ed Wilkerson, Mrs. Fred Wilkerson and Mrs. R. O. Mealer, Nancy Eldridge and Mrs. Sheats.

From out of town came Mrs. Ernest Peeler and children of San Antonio; Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Shortes, Mr. and Mrs. Wendel Hahn, all of Odessa; the Rev. C. O. Wiley of Grapevine and Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Briggs of Seminole.

For the wedding trip, the bride donned a white sheath of cotton satin with the embroidered bodice in empire style marked with a cummerbund. Her accessories were white, and she wore the pink carnations from a bridal bouquet as a corsage.

The new Mrs. Wilkerson is a graduate of Stanton High School where she was the valedictorian of this year's class. She was a member of the National Honor Society and secretary of the student council. Prior to her marriage, she was employed in the tax office of the Stanton School District.

The bridegroom is a 1957 graduate of Big Spring High School, and he attended Howard County Junior College and Texas Tech. He is now associated with his father in the H. L. Wilkerson Trucking Company.

Returning from the wedding trip, the couple will make a home at 607 East 12th.

New NSA Members Installed

Mrs. Dalton Conway, at extreme right, prepares to install the three new members of the National Secretaries Association at the salad supper held Thursday evening at the Cosden Snack Bar. From left to right, they are Mrs. Billy Sheppard, Mrs. Linus Tucker and Mrs. Richard Wallace.

Three Join NSA Group

Three new members were added to the roster of the local chapter of National Secretaries Association Thursday evening at the salad supper given in the Cosden Snack Bar.

Mrs. Richard Wallace, Mrs. Linus Tucker and Mrs. Bill M. Sheppard were the additions to the group. Installation of the new officers was under the leadership of Mrs. Harold Kain.

Committee chairmen were appointed following the installation. They include Mrs. Sheppard as chairman of the achievement award committee; Mrs. Camille Patterson and Mrs. J. P. Curry, by-laws; Mary Archer, bulletin.

Also, Margueritte Cooper, chapter reporter; Mrs. Kain, publicity, education and Secretaries Week; Mrs. Henry Robinson, membership, and Mrs. J. R. Asbury, program. Mrs. Johnny Dismuke will head the ways and means committee.

It was decided to have the June 9 meeting at the Desert Sands; it will be a luncheon session.

Wool Swimsuits Owe Popularity To Improvements

While imaginative and appealing styling continues to boost the popularity of woolknit swimsuits still higher with each succeeding season, there are many hidden virtues contributing to the choice of knitted wool as the real swimmer's swimsuit. Elasticized legbands, flexible skirts and necklines keep their smooth line intact through lolling or wave-hopping and superbly constructed inner bras add their shapely influence to nature's endowments.

The woolknit is always geared for action with its streamlined fit and stay-put straps that owe their unmatched performance to the supple give and take of the flexible all-American wool fiber. The health aspect of the wool fiber is a consideration of paramount importance to every swimmer. Wool never feels cold and clammy even though soaking wet, because of its ability to absorb great quantities of moisture.

Technical progress has added another valuable plus to the woolknit assets—all wools are now being permanently mothproofed whenever the color is dyed in the yarn before knitting.

Health officers are concerned about the extravagant claims some door-to-door salesmen are making about the food supplements they try to sell. They sometimes promise that certain diseases can be cured by their products.

These people, who have no medical training, do not realize the harm they do. That is why all vitamins and other health-aids should only be obtained from a pharmacist. Vitamins, that are potent enough to cure disease, should only be taken according to a physician's specifications, after his diagnosis has indicated their need.

MRS. LEROY KENDAL MINNIX

Miss McClatchy Wed To Leroy Kendal Minnix

SNYDER, (Special) — Leroy Kendal Minnix of Ozona took Mary Beth McClatchy as his bride in a double ring ceremony at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the First Presbyterian Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil V. McClatchy of 3702 Rose Circle, Snyder, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Minnix of Lamesa are the parents of the couple.

The Rev. Charles Spivey, pastor, officiated for the exchange of vows; Mrs. James Rosser was organist, and the bride's cousin, Mrs. W. A. McClatchy, soloist for the wedding music.

Mrs. Minnix entered on the arm of her father. She wore a traditional gown of white silk organza and Chantilly lace, fashioned with portrait neckline and brief sleeves of lace encrusted with seed pearls. A fully shirred skirt with wide band of lace fell from the slightly elongated bodice, and her triple veil of illusion was caught to a regal crown of seed pearls. She carried a white orchid on a white Bible.

Susan Cockrell was maid of honor; Mrs. Ronnie Kidd of Lovington, N.M., matron of honor, and the bridegroom's sister, Sonja Minnix of Lamesa, bridesmaid. The three wore identical dresses of orchid silk organza fashioned with softly folded sabrina necklines. From fitted midriffs, their shirred skirts extended into harem puffs. They wore large picture hats with velvet trim to match their gowns and carried Colonial bouquets of pink elfe roses.

The best man was Ronnie Kidd of Lovington; ushering duties were shared by Bill Gilbreath and the bridegroom's cousin, Doyle Chapman of Lamesa.

The bride, who attended Snyder High School, wore a navy suit and white accessories for traveling. Minnix, a graduate of Lamesa High School attended the University of Denver, Denver, Colo.

The newlyweds will live in Ozona where he is employed by Dawson Geophysical Company of Midland.

Guests attended the ceremony from Junction, Menard, Copperas Cove, Eldorado, San Angelo, Lamesa, Seminole, Odessa, Midland, Dell City and ElFrieda, Ariz.

Miss Roman Will Work In Jal, N. M.

KNOTT — Wanda Jean Romans has accepted a summer position at the Recreation Center at Jal, N. M.

Mrs. P. P. Coker is receiving medical treatment in a Big Spring hospital.

Mrs. P. E. Little was named noble grand of the Knott Rebekah Lodge at a recent meeting; Mrs. Jewell Smith will be vice grand.

ding attire as something new; a mother-of-pearl droplet, a gift from her father, was something old. A blue garter had been borrowed from Mrs. Harold Morris, and for something old, another garter was furnished by Mrs. Richard Read. In the bride's slipper was a penny for luck.

Attending as maid of honor was Lyn Nell Mason, sister of the bride; bridesmaids were Dolores Lindley of Big Spring and Annette Porter of Coahoma.

The three attendants were identically frocked in bouffant style pink polished cotton, embroidered, and all used pink accessories. Flowers of the maid of honor were white carnations in a cascade bouquet, while the other two carried colonial arrangements of pink and white carnations.

Lonnie Anderson served his cousin as best man; groomsmen were Malcolm Roberts of Coahoma and Bobby Thurman of Big Spring. Guests were seated by Royce Rainey of Big Spring, a cousin of the bridegroom, and Dale Graves of Coahoma.

Tapers were lighted by Phyllis Anderson and Darlene Mason.

During a reception in Fellowship Hall, guests were registered by Glenda Denton, and serving was done by Sadie Nixon, Mrs. Ricky Phinney, Mrs. Richard Read and the bride's sisters-in-law, Mrs. B. L. Mason of Big Spring and Mrs. B. R. Mason, Coahoma.

On a white lace cloth, the maid of honor's flowers were placed as the floral decoration. A three-tiered cake held a miniature bridal couple.

Among the guests expected from out of town were Mrs. W. A. Woody of Fort Worth and Mrs. Odis Wade of Weatherford.

Upon their return, the Raineys will be at home in Coahoma, where the bride graduated from high school; she was a member of the Future Homemakers of America.

The bridegroom attended Big Spring High School and is now employed by the Coca Cola Bottling Company, Big Spring.

Nutritious Meal If You're Alone

COTTAGE EGGS

1 tbsp. butter
2 large eggs
Salt
¼ cup cream style cottage cheese (small curd)

Add butter; when it is melted and very hot but not brown, drop in the eggs straight from their shells; add a dash of salt. Stir constantly with a fork, holding tines flat, to mix yolks and whites.

MR. AND MRS. W. P. AVRIETT

Former Lamesans Will Observe Anniversary

GRAPEVINE (Spl.) — Honoring former Lamesans, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Avriett, on their 50th wedding anniversary, an open house will be held today. Hosting the reception will be their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Armstrong and children, Jimmy and Nancy Gail, in the Armstrong home on Old Keller Road here.

Mrs. Armstrong is the former Enid Avriett, who at one time was librarian in Big Spring High School.

Nancy Elizabeth Smith and William Pernell Avriett were married June 10, 1909, in the home of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Grogan in Abilene. They resided in Abilene until they moved to Lamesa in 1922, where they lived until June 1958, when they moved to Grapevine.

Guests will be greeted at the door by their grandson, Jimmy; and their granddaughter, Nancy Gail, will invite them to the registration table where they will register in the original hand-painted guest book which was used at the wedding.

An Episcopal prayer book which Mrs. Avriett carried and the antique white satin ring-pillow used in the ceremony will be displayed at this table. Dr. Muriel Stuart of San Angelo and Mrs. Webb Randall, both former Lamesans, will alternate at the guest book.

In the receiving line with the honored couple and Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong will be Mrs. R. E. McDonald of Dallas, formerly of Abilene and Lubbock, who was Mrs. Avriett's maid of honor. The late Mr. McDonald was Avriett's best man. Mrs. Douglas Patterson of Fort Worth, a niece of Mrs. Avriett, will also be in the receiving line. Friends from Lamesa present for the occasion will be in the house party.

Guests will be served golden punch, individual cakes topped with golden bells, mints and salted nuts, from the refreshment table covered with white net over satin. Gold satin streamers from an arrangement of white stock, carnations, ranunculas and gold tinted gypsophila in an antique gold epergne will form the floral arrangement for the table.

The center of interest will focus around the hand-painted china punch bowl and table appointments which were done by Mrs. Avriett prior to her marriage.

Guests from Lamesa, San Angelo, Angleton, Dallas, Fort Worth and Grapevine are expected to call with best wishes.

Your Living Room's Of Dual Purpose

This multi-purpose living room can be a picture of harmony and elegance during the day, a luxurious retreat at night. This is easily accomplished by the proper selection of dual purpose furniture on display in most furniture and department stores.

Whether your taste runs toward contemporary, French Provincial, Early American or 18th Century, you can purchase smartly styled convertible sofas to satisfy your needs and your budget.

By night, with a push of a button or a twist of a lever, the other side of your room's personality comes forth. Hidden in the clever lines of today's sleep-sitting units are comfortable springs and mattresses that assure a restful night's sleep. Some convert to twin beds, others to single, three quarters, full size and even to supersize.

Harkriders' Guests Feted By Congers At Recent Barbecue

FORSAN — Visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dub Harkrider include Mr. and Mrs. Roger Holder of Fort Worth and Mrs. N. H. Nichols and Nancy of Taos, N. M. During their visit, the guests were honored at a barbecue in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Conger. Also attending the party were Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Stockton and Jan.

SENSATIONAL

Cool Halter Adapts To Fabric Variety

The buttoned bodice has a side sweep, with well placed darts for a lovely bosom line. The halter itself has a natural drape and buttons in back.

Pleats, the skirt news of the season, make the most of the breezy skirt with inverted ones in center front and back, arranged side pleats.

Size	Bust	Waist	Hips	Nape of Neck to Waist
10	34	24	35	16½ inches
12	35	25	36	16¾ "
14	36½	26½	37½	17 "
16	38	28	39	17¼ "
18	40	30	41	17½ "

Size 12 requires 4⅛ yards of 36-inch material for dress and ¾ yard of 36-inch material for lining.

4-H Club Workshop Planned For Lamesa

LAMESA, (Special) — A 4-H clothing workshop for members of the Lamesa 4-H Club will get under way at 9 a.m. Monday in the Lamesa Junior High School cafeteria.

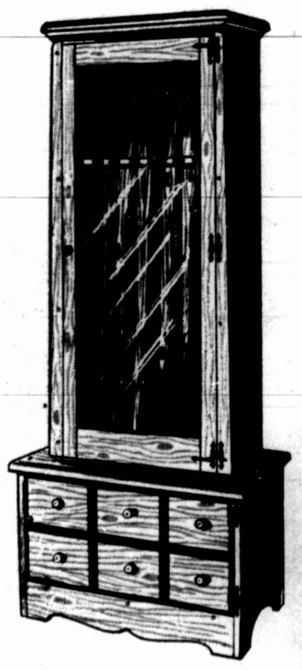

Instructions for beginning seamstresses and girls who have had sewing experience will be directed by Mrs. Rae Hartfield, Home Demonstration Agent. She will be assisted by adult leaders in the program and home demonstration club members of the county.

Girls who have never sewed before are requested to bring small equipment and three yards of material for a full gathered skirt. Those with experience are to bring patterns, material and small sewing equipment.

Match It

Is it hard for you when sewing with plaid material to match it properly? Try lining it up on the edges with masking tape then you have a perfect match when you cut.

Pre-Nuptial Tea For Bride-Elect

LAMESA—Marilyn Furlow, who is to marry Grant Lee Holladay in a ceremony Friday night, was the honoree for a gift tea at Lamesa Country Club Thursday afternoon.

Carnations and orchids and sage were combined to form the floral accent at the tea table where orchid and white predominated. Silver and crystal appointments were used, and orchid satin streamers were lettered with the couple's names and their wedding date.

The guests were greeted by Mrs. John Banta and presented to the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Lance Furlow. Others in the receiving line were the honoree; her sister, Mrs. Norman Jasper of Lubbock; her future mother-in-law, Mrs. Leroy Holladay; Kay Holladay, the bridegroom's sister, and Mrs. W. W. Holladay, his grandmother.

Hostesses for the courtesy were Mesdames Alton Addison, Jim Addison, Bill Mayfield, Emery Bean, Lavon Bean, John Banta, W. F. Shelton, A. P. Barton, Thad Reeves, Roy Love, Travis Dean, W. J. Stanfield, Leo Burkett, Thomas Howard Sr., Conley Esmond, Curtis Woodward, C. C. Beaird, T. L. Howard and Bill Lane.

L. Brown Home In Ackerly Is Scene Of Bridal Shower

ACKERLY — The home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Brown was the scene of a bridal tea recently honoring Carol Clark of Plainview, who is to become the bride of William Lee Lemon on June 21.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Clark of Plainview and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lemon, Ackerly. The ceremony will take place in the First Methodist Church in Plainview.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Marvin Dosier, and Mrs. Travis Russell was at the register. Serving was done by Judy Brown, Mrs. Joe Mac Gaskins and Sylvia Smith, who presided at a tea table centered witn an arrangement of daisies and white tapers.

About 11 other hostesses joined Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Gaskins in extending the courtesy.

Guest From Dallas Given Coke Party

LAMESA, (Special) — Jeanean Rule of Dallas, who is a houseguest in the T. F. Vaughn and Paul Morgan homes, was the honoree for an informal Coke party Friday morning in the Vaughn home.

Mrs. Morgan assisted Mrs. Vaughn with the hostess duties.

Amazing preparations made from the source of life give your skin a second start in beauty

Perhaps once in ten years there's a scientific discovery that revolutionizes the beauty world. Such a discovery had to happen before you could own these new preparations—DuBarry Crème Natale and Elixir Natale.

These amazing cosmetics act swiftly to soften, to tighten . . . they seem to smooth out tiny lines and wrinkles. They give your complexion a tone that's fresher, a texture that's finer, a look that's incredibly younger.

Their secret is as simple—yet as complex—as the secret of life itself! It is a vital substance DuBarry calls Placentine . . . a rich combination of the very proteins, vitamins, enzymes and esters that help promote skin cell growth before birth. Placentine penetrates to the cellular layer of the skin. Instantly, it starts to increase the flow of natural oil and moisture . . . coaxes a youthful elasticity into the skin . . . helps banish the drying, faded look of age!

No matter what else you use, smooth on the Placentine Preparations once each day. They help your other cosmetics do more for you. And they give your skin—immediately—a miraculous second start in beauty!

Crème Natale is a classic complexion cream actually compounded with the pre-birth vitamin and mineral ingredients that help promote the growth of healthy skin. It is formulated to wear by night. Price 7.50*

Elixir Natale is a lotion made with the same precious ingredients. It is formulated to wear by day, or as a lighter night-time treatment. Price 7.50* *plus tax

Safety Group Stresses Danger Of Plastic Bags

CHICAGO — Thin plastic coverings may suffocate your child. Treat them as you would deadly poison and keep them out of children's reach.

This emergency alert was issued to parents as suffocation deaths from improper use of plastic film bags continue to rise.

The threat to children has reached a point where the women's department of the National Safety Council has asked women's and parents' organizations to cooperate in spreading the warning in their local communities.

Reports from state health departments indicate 20 child deaths related to plastic coverings or bags in the first three months of 1959, the council said.

The Council fears that as many as 100 children may die this year in mishaps involving plastic coverings unless parents are alerted to the hazard and take steps to prevent such accidents.

According ot the Council, the flimsy nature of polyethylene film can cause the plastic to adhere tightly to a child's face, cutting off air intake by covering the child's mouth and nostrils.

In addition to the children who suffocated, two children died from choking on pieces of the plastic which lodged in their windpipes when they swallowed small pieces they were chewing.

Local Women Plan Tour Of Europe

Anna Smith, HCJC dean of women, will tour Europe and the Holy Land this summer. Arah Phillips will accompany her.

The two will leave Midland by American Airlines on June 24. They will fly to Montreal where they will sail on the "Ivernia" for a guided tour.

After sight-seeing in England, Belgium, Luxenburg, Germany, Italy, Switzerland, France, Holland and the Holy Land, they plan to have a side trip to Athens. In Munich, Germany, they will visit a nephew of Miss Phillips—Coy Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Truett Thomas.

Black And White

Against a tropical setting is Mrs. W. G. Davies, wearing one of the swim suits which she will model Saturday evening for the Hawaiian luau planned for Webb officers, their wives and guests. Not only comfortable as protection against the rays of the sun, but most attractive and flattering is the straw hat with its scarf which Mrs. Davies donned.

Radiance

Cosden Women Name Mrs. Davis President

Named to serve with Mrs. Davis are Mrs. Kelley Lawrence Jr., first vice president; Mrs. W. E. Gibson Jr., second vice president, and Mrs. Russell Christenson, secretary.

Mrs. Loy Carroll will be treasurer, and Mrs. Richard Grimes will be parliamentarian.

Announcement was made of the bridge and canasta party slated for Thursday evening at 7:30, at the club, which will honor the new officers.

Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. George Grimes, Mrs. Fred Stitzell and Mrs. Fred Beckham.

To Reheat Bread

Vinegar Variety

Boothe Oaks GS Camp To Open Today

Luau Slated For Group At Webb

About 15 models, chosen from the Officers Wives Club, will show swim suits Saturday evening at the Hawaiian luau planned for officers and their wives and guests at Webb AFB.

Set against the club pool, the women will show the latest in swim suits, which will be furnished by Swartz, as well as suits "through the ages."

Mrs. A. R. Holman will be the commentator as the parade extends over the water on a specially built ramp.

Hawaiian music will emphasize the mood, and exhitions of various diving skills are planned. Special prizes are being prepared to be giver during the evening.

Forsaners View Films Of Trip

FORSAN—Mrs. O. W. Fletcher and Sherrie were hostesses recently to a group who gathered to view the films taken on the seniors' trip into Colorado. About 18 were included in the group present for the showing by W. M. Romans and Leon Calley.

Guests of Mrs. Lucille Allen have been her son, Sgt. and Mrs. Stewart Merrick and children from Topeka, Kan.

Mrs. Roy Klahr was hospitalized in Medical Arts Hospital this week.

The B. R. Wilsons are spending a vacation period in Beaumont. Her two sisters, Mrs. Beulah Russell of Lewisville and Mrs. Ruth Minor of Fort Worth, accompanied them on the trip.

Indoor Sport Club Host To District

The guests and Big Springers were given a patio supper at the Girl Scout Little House Saturday evening, with the Good Sports assisting with the arrangements.

Business sessions this morning will occupy the time of the group, with a luncheon served at the Settles Hotel, headquarters for the meeting.

Speaker at the luncheon will be the chief of police, C. L. Rogers. New officers of the district will be installed, with Mrs. H. F. Jarrett serving as installing officer. Mrs. Nina James, president of the Good Sports Club, will assist her.

Did You Make That?

Seems that's the question in the mind of five-months-old David Lawrence Kelly, as his father, Bob Kelly, 1003 Nolan, inspects the end-table which he has made. The Kellys have recently moved from Alpine, where the future faculty member of senior high school was a student in Sul Ross College. He will give instruction in mechanical drawing and woodworking.

Kellys Are Newcomers From Alpine

Probably one of the busiest persons in this town this summer will be Bob Kelly who, with his wife and five-month-old son David Lawrence, has just moved to Big Spring.

The family has been settled in the home at 1003 Nolan for about two weeks, and Kelly is working in the oil fields while he waits for the opening of the local schools.

In the fall, he will be on the faculty of Senior High School as instructor in mechanical drawing and woodworking.

A native of Welch, the teacher and his wife met when they were in high school. A wedding in 1956 followed, and since then, he has been attending Stl Ross College in Alpine. Mrs. Kelly is trained as a beauty operator.

Both enjoy playing bridge, but golf is a game that only the man of the house engages in. Mrs. Kelly admits that young David serves pretty much as an all-time hobby.

Long Hair Not For American Style Of Living Says Expert

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — "Long hair is just not suited to the American way of living," says Miss Helen Ryan, a member of the official hair fashion committee of the National Assn. of Hairdressers and Cosmetologists.

Miss Ryan, a vehement advocate of short hair, says:

"The new trends are healthier, too. The days of blunt, heavy, bulky styling are over. Hair and scalp have never been healthier since softness, light and airiness have come into vogue."

LVN School Slated For Year In Lamesa; To Start July 1

LAMESA—An accredited school for Licensed Vocational Nurses will begin in Lamesa July 1, according to an announcement made Thursday by the Medical Arts Hospital and the Lamesa School system.

The two institutions will sponsor the 12-month course with Mrs. Virgil Matthews, R. N., as instructor and student supervisor. The training period will consist of six months class work and six months "in-the-hospital" practice.

At the completion of the school, all students passing their work will be eligible for an examination given by the State Nurses Board of Examiners. Those passing the test will become LVN's.

Applications will be received through June 20, and all women from 18 to 50 years of age are eligible to apply. Applicants will be considered but a maximum of 21 students will be accepted.

Inquiries concerning enrollment should be made in person to Mrs. R. G. Fleming, superintendent of nurses at Medical Arts Hospital.

Motor Cradle

Automation reaches the nursery with an electronic cradle which rocks baby to sleep when Mom pushes a button. Later the cradle may be converted into a rocking crib or an electric hobby horse for the play room. When junior outgrows all these things, Mom can use the motor as the basis for a reducing couch, to jiggle the pounds away.

Forsan HD Club Meets For Sewing Instruction

FORSAN — Mrs. Roy Walraven and Mrs. C. L. Draper were instructors for a session of clothing construction for each of three days this week, when they met at the school with the Forsan Home Demonstration Club.

The two were the club representatives who recently were given special training in the work under the direction of the HD agent, Mrs. Jimmie Dee Jones.

Ten women were in the class and learned the elements of putting in sleeves, sewing on collars and inserting zippers, along with other necessary knowledge of sewing.

Young Chaplains 'Intern' At State Hospital

Aerial Mapping Starts Monday

Aerial mapping of the city will probably begin Monday, George Melton, field survey supervisor for International Aerial Mapping Inc. said this morning.

All but two of the location panels have been placed, he said, and the aerial snapshots will probably be completed in a day if weather conditions are favorable. The two man crew has located about 40 of the panels.

The location panels are about 12 feet long and 18 inches wide, made of aluminum foil. These panels assist the engineers in making exact measurements from their location in the photographs.

One plane will be used to make pictures, Melton said. It will fly at about 7,500 feet and will make about five passes over the area to take the necessary pictures for the map.

Elderly Snails

AT STATE HOSPITAL

Five Chaplains Are Now Interns

Five chaplain interns will train for their regular pastoral ministry by working under Chaplain Marvin Berkeland this summer at the State Hospital.

The five young men—all in their twenties—receive no salary but get room and board from the State Hospital. They have had to pay $125 registration to the agency which conducts the program, the Council For Clinical Training Inc.

They are Sam Tomlinson, 23, of Jackson, Miss.; E. Marvin Compton Jr. 29, of Houston; Lee Block, 24, of Del Rio; Richard Connell, 28, of Chicago, Ill.; and Laurence Felice, 23, of Webster Grove, Mo.

The interns are not preparing particularly for work in mental institutions. Most will go into parish ministry. However, many churches, said Chaplian Berkeland, believe this type of training gives the trainees excellent experience, helping them to understand themselves as well as others.

"These young men, because of their enthusiasm and willingness to work, really improve the atmosphere of our hospital," said Dr. Preston Harrison, director of the hospital.

Connell, a Baptist, is from the Northern Baptist Theological Seminary in Chicago. Block, from the School of Theology of the South in Sewanee, Tenn., is an Episcopalian.

Tomlison and Compton, too, are Episcopalians. Tomlison attends the General Theological Seminary and Compton is in his second year at the Episcopal Seminary of the Southwest in Austin.

FISHERMAN VS. BOATMEN

Best Use Of Facilities At City Lake Discussed

The recreational problems on Moss Creek Lake again face the members of the Big Spring City Commission.

Several weeks ago, the commissioners approved an ordinance to settle the problems of fishing and boating rights. They set aside Monday through Thursday as fishing days and Friday through Sunday as boating days.

But as Tuesday evening's meeting brought out, the ordinance did not settle the problem. Apparently, other changes may be necessary to please a majority of the persons who use the lake.

STATISTICS QUOTED

Figures compiled from April 1, 1958 through March of this year indicate that revenue from fishermen is more than double that collected from boaters on the lake.

These figures were brought up when two delegations met with the commission to discuss the viewpoints of water skiiers and fishermen regarding the lake.

Annual fishing permits were reported at $305 and daily fishing permits were $4,266 for a total of $4,571. For the same period, annual boating permits were $500 and daily boating permits were $1,743 for a total of $2,243.

The commissioners suggested Tuesday that water skiiers be charged on an individual basis the same as fishermen. At the present, a water skiier pays only the boating permit and there is no limit to how many may ski from the boat. Each fisherman must pay the daily permit of 50 cents.

Water skiiers who attended the meeting agreed that this would be a fair practice.

One delegation suggested that the commission authorize some boatman who spends a lot of time at the lake to enforce the regulations. Another suggestion was that a policeman be stationed at the lake.

One proposal made by a member of one delegation won immediate approval from the council members. The suggestion was to build an all-weather sign on the lake listing the regulations for all who launch a boat. Although it doesn't solve the problem, it will give everyone who uses the lake an opportunity to become acquainted with the safety regulations.

TIME DIVISION

The council discussed several ways to divide up the time on the lake between fishermen and boaters. One suggestion was to reverse the present ruling and making the lake open to fishermen only on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. This would open the lake to boaters the other four days of the week.

Still another suggestion would make the lake open to fishermen every day and boaters could have lake privileges from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. each day, except Saturdays and Sundays. It was pointed out that the best fishing is early in the morning and at night.

The commission dumped the problem in the lap of a committee composed largely of men who appeared at the commission meeting supporting one or the other of these suggestions. Mayor Lee Rogers asked the committee to report to the commission at the next regular meeting, June 23.

The problems can probably best be handled by this committee, as they are men directly interested in the use of the lake. They are also familiar with the problems at first hand.

PROPOSED LAW

Schools Face Cut In Federal Funds

Texas, and in turn Big Spring, may lose some of the federal funds now being used to support local schools under an administration bill pending before the Congress. This was brought out Saturday by Texas Senator Ralph Yarborough.

The senator said that under Public Law 874 the federal government assists in the support of local school districts where federal installations bring additional children into local schools. The government also assists under PL 815 in construction costs where facilities must be enlarged to handle children from government installations.

Yarborough said the proposed administration bill would slash these funds to Texas by more than half.

Floyd Parsons, Big Spring superintendent of schools, said he had not received word of the pending bill. However, he said there are between 800 and 1,000 students in the Big Spring schools whose parents are connected with federal institutions here, Webb AFB and the VA Hospital. A cut in appropriations as reported by the senator would cost the district $30,000.

Parsons explained that the government pays the local school district $72.40 for each child of federally employed parents when the parents do not live on the federal installation. If the parents live on the federal base, then the government pays $144.80.

Parsons said the amount the government pays may fluctuate by a few dollars from time to time.

He said the proposed bill mentioned by Yarborough probably concerns only those children whose parents do not live on the installations. If this is the case, Big Spring would receive only $36.20 for each of these students under the administration bill.

About 95 per cent of the almost 1,000 students affected by the measure live off the base at the present time. However the new Capehart housing may increase the number regarded as living on the base.

Yarborough pointed out that if the schools lose this federal money will have to come from increased local and state taxes.

SAFE VACATION

Planning To Go On Summer Trip?

"Start early on your vacation, and don't plan to drive too far in one day," is advice for a vacation you'll enjoy from James Eubanks, executive secretary of the Citizen's Traffic Commission.

By being prepared, many troubles of the vacation road can be avoided, Eubanks said. He listed these tips for vacation preparation:

Put a first aid kit in your glove compartment and be sure the contents are not stale or missing.

Before leaving the house, there are other things that should be done, Eubanks pointed out.

Tell police how long you will be gone and where you can be reached in an emergency.

Cotton Chopping Is Source Of New Jobs

The Texas Employment Commission placed 31 workers in cotton chopping jobs in Martin County last week, said manager Leon Kinney.

A total of 82 non-agricultural placements was made, also, as compared to 118 the previous week when many students were finding sumertime positions.

Fifty-one new applications were taken, said Kinney, and there were 120 continued claims for unemployment compensation. Four filed initial claims.

One of the individuals finding a job placement was a female deaf mute, 34, who was able to begin working in a local cleaners. She will operate a presser, Kinney said.

The TEC will begin its annual wage survey on cotton chopping jobs in the week of June 22. Martin County will be studied during that week, Howard County the following week, and Mitchell, Fisher and Scurry in the next weeks.

The TEC gathers the information for the Bureau of Employment Security which determines what wage rates are proper for natives and for Mexican nationals in respective areas.

The survey does not usually affect cotton chopping wages but may have effects on the fall cotton pulling jobs.

A Devotional For Today

PRAYER: Dear Lord, help us not to be covetous of others' good fortune, but to rejoice with them. Keep our hearts free from all envy and spite and meanness. Help us to be like Christ in compassion and greatness of heart. In His name. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Good Time To Dress Up Again

The list of rentals is growing, although not to the degree that many feared once the Capehart project was occupied. It would be inconceivable that such a substantial shift in the population could take place without some dislocation and vacancies.

However, in the main those places which represent good rental values are still renting and will continue to do so. Even the more expensive places are still renting if they offer accommodations commensurate with the charges.

Some of the quarters which offer lesser accommodations and facilities are renting because there has been some modification of charges to bring them back down to levels tenants are willing or able to pay.

All of this is quite natural, for it is now a buyer's market and people are going to take the better bargain either in accommodations or price. The time may come when most places are again filled, but it is possible that the marginal units will be pushed out of the picture. Some of them shouldn't have been in the picture in the first place.

This would be a mighty fine time for owners to do some renovation and modification in houses and apartments that are temporarily vacant. When there was a pressing demand, there was never a convenient time for modernizing and refurbishing. But now with a temporary vacancy, the quarters can be put back into tip-top condition and thus be on the market for many more years. It will be a good thing for renter and landlord alike.

It's Too Hot To Struggle

Perhaps many things can't wait, and some community enterprises are among them. However, we'd like to see a realization of a host of things which can be done just as well a couple of months hence.

Not long ago the YMCA board of directors knocked off for the summer; the Chamber of Commerce board set up its meeting schedule on a once-a-month basis. Several clubs have suspended operations for the hot season.

It's a good idea. The pressure and the pace are great enough even in the fall, winter and spring without having to wear us out during the summer.

We submit that the summer, with its hot days, is no time to be battling for anything less than a mighty important cause. It's much better to relax, enjoy the cool evenings and use the season for a time of recharging for the civic and well-doing wars that will come with the return of school and the settling down to the regular routine.

It's One Thing To Talk—

U.S. Recovery Buoys World Outlook

LONDON—There is a feeling of genuine satisfaction in Europe over the economic trend in the United States. There is a sense of relief not only that America has weathered her recession without resorting to spending sprees but that the favorable effects of America's recovery have been so quickly felt throughout the world.

The crusade which President Eisenhower has led to attain a balanced budget has won admiration in economic circles everywhere. Europe's experience with inflation is still recent enough for apprehension to arise when a country as important as the United States appears to be yielding to the doctrine that mere spending of government funds is a panacea for economic ills.

Some British businessmen with whom this correspondent has talked are impressed with the recent tendency of American investors to ask about stocks in European companies. This is a rather surprising development, because of a tendency on the part of Americans for many years to ignore investments in European securities. There is curiosity here as to the probable cause of this trend. The most plausible answer, of course, is that margins of profit for many American companies will tend to become narrower and narrower as the labor unions inside the United States arbitrarily push costs upward and as the government uninterruptedly takes a 52 per cent share of the profits.

In Britain there are some significant warnings being issued to labor unions that they must watch their step—that they cannot indefinitely continue to press wage demands irrespective of the economic effect on the country as a whole.

It is interesting to note the discussion going on here about the alleged weakness of the American dollar, particularly since so much publicity has been given to the outflow of gold from the United States. Writing in the London "Sunday Observer," Alan Day says:

"A great deal too much play has been made recently with the idea of the weakness of the dollar.

"Obviously there is a strong temptation for us in Britain to take pleasure when sterling's international rival is under pressure while sterling is standing well in world esteem. But it would be wise to restrain any tendency to chortle at our friend's misfortunes: If they were really to become serious, the effects on us would be very unpleasant.

"Fortunately there is no reason to think that the dollar is at present under any real pressure . . .

"Sterling and the dollar must hang together. We cannot hope to let the dollar hang separately . . .

"As far as the flows of payment sent to and out of the United States are concerned, the current position is one which we should all regard as encouraging. America is playing the role of a good creditor which we have so long demanded of her, by lending abroad and making grants to poor countries. At the same time she is importing on an immense scale because she provides the most prosperous and one of the most wide-open markets in the world."

It isn't often that a British writer commends the United States for its tariff policies, but the same article goes on to say:

"A great deal is heard of American tariffs or import restrictions, but the fact is that her policies are remarkably liberal. Many of her tariffs, particularly on industrial goods, are low by the standards of the advanced industrial countries—as an example, cars pay 10 per cent going into the United States compared with about 20 per cent in Germany and 30 per cent in France and Britain."

It is further pointed out by Mr. Day that protection of American manufacturing and industry by quotas is so rare as to make headline news, whereas Britain and other European countries "still protect many sensitive industries in this way even though there are no longer any real balance-of-payment reasons for doing it."

Despite the alleged weakness of the American dollar, there is an optimism and a buoyancy in world economic affairs today which has not been noted since prewar days. The feeling is that even the smaller countries are beginning to show signs of industrial progress and that the interchange of goods is proceeding on a wider and wider scale each year.

All in all, the atmosphere in international business itself is decidedly on the optimistic side, and the only clouds on the horizon are those which arise from time to time when political developments threaten to disturb the new outlook for peace.

Knock Before Entering

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — Charles M. Anderson of Hastings, Neb., a winter visitor in Scottsdale, paid an unexpected visit to postmaster O. C. Wilson.

Anderson drove to the front of the post office building, hit the accelerator pedal instead of the brakes and his auto blasted through the wall of the postmaster's office. Wilson was knocked from his chair, but was not injured.

Versatile 'Brains'

EATONTOWN, N. J. (AP) — Electronic data processing machines at the Signal Corps' research and development laboratories here have been given nicknames.

Another computer is dubbed "the wise guy." Technicians have fixed it up so that, if a man is slow in working its keyboard, it sends this message: "If you don't press my button soon, I'll start swearing."

Plenty Of Matches

CLIFTON, N. J. (AP)—If someone asks Peter Cariou for a match, he is likely to find himself in a lengthy discussion.

Cariou has a collection of more than 32,000 match book covers and labels from all parts of the world.

An ex-Frenchman, Cariou began collecting covers with U. S. bond advertisements on them when Germany invaded France in World War II.

Since that time, he says, they have enabled him to learn history and make friends all over the world.

Treasury Priced Out Of Its Own Market

WASHINGTON — William Jennings Bryan versus William McKinley, the "common people" versus the cross of gold, full employment versus economic slack, inflation versus deflation, cheap versus dear money—all of these historical cross-currents, ancient and modern, resurge in the Battle of the Interest Rate now being fought in the sweltering heat of a Washington summer.

Congress is in full voice—praising, attacking, and reviewing the economic and fiscal record of President Eisenhower since 1953. Why? Because Mr. Eisenhower made what seemed a simple request. He asked Congress to untie Secretary of the Treasury Anderson in dealing with bankers, insurance companies, savings banks and savings and loan associations, and individual investors. He wants the Secretary to be able, if he thinks fit, to sell a long-term government bond—a bond which matures in more than five years.

Anderson has the legal power. The federal debt is two billion dollars under the debt limit of $288,000,000,000. Yet banks, insurance companies, and other bond buyers would shake their heads "no," if he tried.

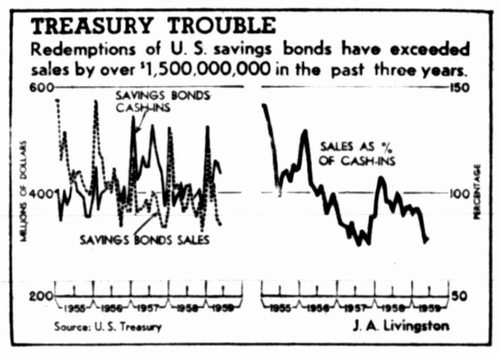

In 1918, Congress put an arbitrary 4¼ per cent ceiling on the interest rate the Treasury can pay on marketable bonds. Many government bonds are now selling to return more than 4¼ per cent. So, Anderson is in the position of a grocer who tries to sell the same brand of soup as his next door competitor but at a higher price. He is priced out of his own market.

DOUGLAS REMONSTRATES

Therefore, Eisenhower has asked Congress to do away with the interest ceiling altogether as part of a three-part program. The President has also asked Congress to raise the interest rate payable on E-bonds to 3¾ per cent and to increase the present debt limit by seven billions to $295,000,000,000.

Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill), an economist by training and one of the few persons in the United States with a genuine grasp of money and credit problems, launched an immediate attack. He would reluctantly vote for the proposal to raise the interest rate on E-bonds and to increase the debt limit.

"I believe," said Douglas, "that the President is using a short-run crisis — namely, the seasonal needs of the Treasury—to gain . . . higher interest rates."

The President and Secretary Anderson argue that if the Treasury can't sell bonds, its sole alternative in future financing is to sell short-term securities exclusively. This at a time when 74 per cent of the outstanding marketable issues mature in less than five years!

To that, Sen. Douglas answers that no long-term bonds come due until November, 1960. The senator's rejoinder is plausible only if the Treasury sells long-term bonds to refinance long-terms and short-term issues to replace short-terms. That isn't the case. It sells what it can when it can. And both Anderson and his predecessor, George M. Humphrey, have been criticized in recent years for not floating long-terms.

CURIOUS TIMING

The debate is completely offbeat. It would be a natural during a business slump. But this is prosperity! In May a record 66,000,000 persons were on the job. Unemployment dropped 238,000 to 3,289,000, or 4.9 per cent of the labor force.

Nevertheless, the President's opponents argue that even this unemployment indicates economic slack. The nation isn't growing at a maximum pace; the U.S.S.R. is gaining on us. Therefore, the Federal Reserve Board should buy government bonds and thereby lower interest rates. (Sen. Douglas doesn't go along with this.) Then Anderson could sell his bonds.

Easy money and lower interest rates, the argument continues, would foster economic expansion. States and cities would be more inclined to finance new roads, roads, schools, and other public works; corporations would be able to finance at lower rates their expansion plans for new plant and equipment. Result: Full employment.

ENGINE OF INFLATION

Anderson and Federal Reserve Board Chairman William McChesney Martin Jr., would reply that such a policy would convert the Reserve System into an engine of inflation. It would send prices of bonds up artificially. It would create an over-rapid industrial expansion, increase prices, and start another price-wage spiral, which, in turn, would scare prospective purchasers of bonds. They'd be leery of what's going to happen to the purchasing power of the dollar.

The proof is in what has happened. In the last three years, savings bond redemptions exceeded sales by $1,500,000,000 (see chart). For every $90 of E- and H-bonds sold, $100 have been cashed. So, in addition to financing a deficit, the Treasury has also had to raise money to pay off holders of savings bonds.

After all the shouting, hueing and crying, practical necessity is likely to prevail in Congress. The government can't finance freely in today's market. Everybody hep in finance, both here and abroad, knows it. It's not unreasonable to guess that uncertainty over the Treasury's program has been an important influence in the continuing slump in government bonds.

Bible Words for Today

JOHN 13:15 "For I have given you an example..." (KJV)

* * *

The disciples of Jesus were concerned about position and power. But He knew that the way to redeem was through humility and self-giving service. Therefore, He demonstrated the way of helpfulness by taking a towel and water and washing His disciples' feet. He asked them to duplicate His example to others.

To be an example to others is not easy. Too often we suggest, "Do as I say, and not as I do." If our world is to be a safe one in which to live—we must be examples of love, humility, unselfishness, and service.

Sir Charles Morrell once said, "The first great gift we can bestow on others is a good example." We may not leave behind us wealth, fame or popularity or other degrees of success—but each of us can be examples of Christ.

Scratching Saves Coons

Strange squealings and scratchings were heard soon after the family moved into a new home. They traced the noise to a wall and Bielski cut a saucer size hole. He reached through and pulled out five baby raccoons which had been inadvertently sealed in the wall by the builders.

Mobot On Moon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first "man" on the moon actually may be a mobile robot called a "mobot."

Planes-Aerospace, official publication of the Aerospace Industries Assn., says the "mobot" has been developed by a missile company for experimental tests in radioactive areas too dangerous for man.

The publication says the "mobot," equipped with flexible steel hands and television-camera eyes, is part of a full scale experimental program to measure effects of atomic radiations upon electronic components.

Around The Rim

When You Swim, You Gotta Be Pure

It has been my contention for some time that the bugs are going to conquer the universe. And maybe they already have.

They are at least dominant in the swimming situation.

Now nearly everybody who has more than a dime, or access to such, is building a fancy swimming pool. This is enviable, but what are the problems? Not just to dig a hole in the ground, pour some concrete around the edges, throw up a flexible board, pour in some water and dive in.

The problem is keeping the water pure enough so that the germs, viruses and-or varmints don't annihilate you while you are trying to enjoy a bit of aquatic exercise. Pools must have filter systems, chemical treatment, scum clearers, vacuum cleaning and all manner of sterilization just to keep humans ahead of the bugs.

This has not always been true. In my day, the business of going swimming was to slip off down to the creek, shuck off what clothes were required in the summer time and hit a belly buster in the little water hole.

Over on Lone Wolf Creek, and on the bends of the Colorado River, before civilization—or something—dried up these streams—there used to be a few swimming holes. If the water was standing brick red in color and molasses-thick, it was felt it was a bit muddy for swimming; oh, well, just a quick dip. But if it was a good, sound cafe au lait color, it was just right for a whole afternoon of dunking. What matter if a kid's hair was matted or his whole body sort of glooped over with slime? He'd had a swim, hadn't he?

Tadpoles, frogs, maybe a turtle or two and occasionally a small snake shared the water holes with the younguns, but they became playmates and pals rather than noxious varmints. Nobody thought about them poisoning up the place, and nobody seemed to care that assorted livestock waded in and out of the streams performing their natural rituals.

A swimmin' hole was a swimmin' hole, as long as it had water, and to heck with minor annoyances. The biggest problem wasn't sanitation, but to go exploring after the creek or river came on a rise, to find out where new depths had been washed out to give diving and paddling space.

Oh, it seems that there would be an abscessed ear occasionally, and maybe a swollen sinus. The remedy was to plug 'em up and go right back into the water the next day, even against parental forbiddance. Three or four more dunkings used to cure up these ills, creek water having its own therapeutic value, I suppose.

If nobody had risked bathing with the lower-life creatures, a lot of people of my generation would never have learned to swim, and certainly would never have known the summer delight of splashing around in water. There's no chance for this sort of life coming back, because the bugs have got us, or have at least convinced medical science that they have. A few more years, and the only fittin' place to go swimming will be in a glass tank of distilled water, and you yourself encased in a rubber suit, complete with snorkel. That's purity, which is a good thing.

Norman Vincent Peale

You've Got What It Takes

I like to spend my summers visiting places associated with the lives of great men who have been an inspiration to me across the years. I find as I linger at the birthplaces or scenes of the labor of these great men, that in some strange and mysterious way, they seem to come close to me and I feel that they are touching my life with their enduring influence.

One lovely afternoon last summer, Mrs. Peale and I drove from northern England across the border into Scotland to visit the little Dumfrieshire village of Ecclefecan. It was a picturesque and quiet place; few travelers seemed to visit it. Yet here was born and is buried one of the most colossal figures that England has ever produced—Thomas Carlyle.

I visited the poor stonemason's cottage—his father's house—where Carlyle was born. I stood looking down the long road to Edinburgh, a hundred miles away, along which Thomas Carlyle set off one day with scarcely a shilling in his pocket, walking the entire distance—and not knowing that he was walking to greatness, walking to immortality. I also sat by his gravestone, remembering that this great man might have been buried in Westminister Abbey, but chose instead to be laid to rest in the village of his birth.

Some men were mowing a field next to the cemetery. The odor of new-mown hay carried to where I sat along with the sound of rugged Scots' conversation. And it occurred to me that these men were very much like the fellow townsmen of Carlyle's day.

Carlyle admired the sturdy qualities in people. He described Sir Walter Scott in a splendid sentence: "No sounder piece of British manhood was turned out in the Eighteenth Century of time." These words are typical of Carlyle. Indeed the word "manhood" might be taken as the very keynote of his life and thought.

For, as Carlyle understood the paths of man upon this earth, life asks of each of us only one simple question: Will you be a hero or will you be a coward? And the essence of Carlyle's message is an answer to this question. It is equally simple: Never give up and never give in. No matter what, never give in. Fight it through. God will help you. Perhaps a chief reason for Carlyle's enduring influence is that he reminded people that "you've got what it takes."

Now, that certainly is a man-sized philosophy of life. And where did Carlyle acquire that philosophy? Why, he got it out of a book that was always present in every Scottish home, the most rugged book ever put together. To find the sources of Carlyle's philosophy, all you have to do is read the Bible. And it works the other way around, too, because, when you have read a man like Carlyle, you are better able to appreciate the greatness of the Bible.

Do some thinking about the attitude of never giving up and never giving in. Open your Bible to the Book of Joshua and you will find these words: "Be strong and of good courage; be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed: for the Lord thy God is with thee whithersoever thou goest."

And that is the technique of answering the great question life asks of each of us: Will you be a hero or will you be a coward? Read writers like Carlyle who teach strong thinking and living, and read the Bible, and you will learn that God has given us every faculty and power we need for achieving what Carlyle described as "manhood." The great fact of human existence is that each of us, really down deep, has what it takes for victorious, instead of unsuccessful, living, for strength instead of weakness. Really. . . you've got what it takes!

Man Responsible For Asian Policy

WASHINGTON — Shortly there will retire from the State Department one who went the whole way in loyalty and devotion to John Foster Dulles. Walter S. Robertson was the late Secretary's strong right arm in America's Asian policy.

As Assistant Secretary for Far Eastern Affairs for nearly seven years, he was tireless in the single-minded objective of maintaining the quarantine of Communist China as the base of American policy. Long after members of his family had urged him for reasons of health to retire to the peace and quiet of his Virginia estate he continued to work a 12-to-14 hour day as though his very life depended on it.

While he dissents it seems obvious to most observers that Robertson more than any one individual has been the standard-bearer of America's Asia policy. In one dramatic intervention in particular he helped to carry the day for the Formosa resolution which, as adopted by the Senate, gave the United States a far-reaching and in a sense irrevocable commitment in the Formosa Straits.

Before Congress met to adopt the resolution on January 29, 1955, Robertson flew down to Vienna (pronounced Vy-enna), Georgia, for a long talk with Senator Walter George. About to become chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, George was the veteran of the Senate whose stentorian voice awed and intimidated if it did not persuade.

One can imagine Robertson talking in the soft dusk of that small Georgia town as one Southern gentleman to another; talking with the conviction that is the core of his being of righteousness, justice, honor, courage, resolution. George led the fight for the Formosa resolution. He came down like an avenging Jehovah on anyone who dared speak against it. In the end only two votes, both Democratic, were cast against the resolution. It resolved:

". . .that the President of the United States be and hereby is authorized to employ the armed forces of the United States as he deems necessary for the specific purpose of securing and protecting Formosa and the Pescadores against armed attack, this authority to include the securing and protection of such related positions and territories of that area now in friendly hands. . ."

Related positions and territories was understood to mean the islands of Quemoy and Matsu just off the mainland of China. Chiang Kai-shek took the resolution as justification for stationing a large proportion of his effective troops on those exposed islands. In the face of all argument he said that the Senate of the United States had agreed at the request of the President to defend him there.

Currently, senators have been informed, a new and more determined effort is being made to get Chiang to move his troops back to Formosa. After the Quemoy-Matsu crisis precipitated by Red China last fall both President Eisenhower and Dulles said that Chiang had too big a share of his forces on the little islands exposed to artillery fire from the mainland.

Chiang refused to budge them. He is saying not this time to the argument that in an interval of relative quiet it would be good to move back from a vulnerable position. After all, he has what he considers an iron-clad guarantee.

Under the Eisenhower Administration America's China policy will not change despite signs of restiveness in the Senate. That assurance has gone out to every diplomatic post. When he steps out June 30 Robertson turns his office over to his deputy, J. Graham Parson, a career officer.

Even those differing most sharply from the extremes of the Robertson policy have respected his extraordinary human qualities of perseverance and resolve. If his faith in a free China and the downfall of the Reds had seemed fanatical it is a fanaticism that has not abandoned reason.

The Happy Fisherman

There was a fellow at the plant who was always asking me to go with him to church.

In a way this picture portrays his zeal. For there was something boyishly enthusiastic about his eagerness; something joyously genuine in his confidence.

And his fervor reminded one of the disciples of old who became "fishers of men."

Well, he brought my family to church. Not because he was a salesman or a saint. Simply because he encouraged us to seek the convictions he was so eager to share.

Betty and I, and little Ricky, really owe our cherished faith to the moment that fellow at the plant said, "I'LL STOP BY YOUR PLACE ON SUNDAY MORNING."

Now, we too, find happiness in bringing our friends and neighbors to church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

CINEMA COMMENT

Bloody War Story Heads Week Of Excellent Movies

PORK CHOP HILL, starring Gregory Peck. Produced by Sy Bartlett. Directed by Lewis Milestone. Written by James R. Webb, from the book by S. L. A. Marshall. Sunday through Tuesday at the Ritz.

There is none of the comedy relief, no Hollywoodian flashbacks to the soldiers' former lives, in fact very few of the usual gimmicks that mark Filmtown's war efforts.

"Pork Chop Hill" begins at the battle site, and ends there. The film begins as King Company moves out to assault a key Red Chinese position atop the hill, moves through an unrelenting and brutal assault, the equally brutal counter-defense, and the final victory.

Those who served in both World War II and Korea generally agreed that Korea was the most vicious war America ever fought. This was largely due to the fact that all the power of modern arms was concentrated on a tiny peninsula, whereas in World War II, such arms and the men who used them were usually spread over hundreds of miles of battlefront.

"Pork Chop Hill" is admirable in depicting the fury, desperateness and confusion that was Korea. In these realistic and exciting scenes, men fall in appalling numbers, grenades and artillery shells and machine gun bullets turn the Land of the Morning Calm into utter chaos.

Gregory Peck, as the commander of King Company, is due laurels for his dramatic endeavor. Most of the story is built around him, since there is hardly time to develop any other characters. They are killed too quickly.

Actually, thousands of men were involved in the battle for Pork Chop Hill, but the story follows only one company. Starting out in company strength (around 200 men), they fight their way upward through a dense chain of Chinese defenses, and there are only 35 left when they gain the top. But the Americans still must stand off the counterattack they know is coming.

"Mr. Lonelyhearts" isn't a bit like Dear Abby. That girl's sharp, and has good sense.

But the columnist in the film yarn is only one among a bevy of oddballs. In fact, that's all the kind of characters there is, and there's nothing solid to base the story on.

But for all that, "Mr. Lonelyhearts" turns out to be a good movie. The adaptation of the story is weak, but brilliant acting and direction tend to make up for this fault.

"Mr. Lonelyhearts" sees Montgomery Clift as a young reporter given the lovelorn column job by a cynical editor, acidly portrayed by Robert Ryan. The columnist is told that all who write in to the column are fakes and creeps, and the letters should be handled with contempt. But Clift is an idealist, takes an interest in his readers, and eventually get mixed up romantically with a woman reader, whereby a few screwballs meet their demise.

As I said, the acting and direction are superb; but being a newspaperman myself, I can't quite swallow the scriptwriter's conception.

THE JOURNEY, starring Yul Brynner and Deborah Kerr. Produced by Brynner and Anatole Litvak. Directed by Litvak .Written by George Tabori. Wednesday and Thursday at the Ritz.

Otherwise, it is as fine a film drama as you can ask for. Characterizations come out sparkling and human, and the situations are made to seem plausible. Mostly, this is due to the truly subtle performance of Yul Brynner, the fine direction and writing, and the case of uniformly good supporting actors.

The story is set against a burning Budapest during the Hungarian revolt against Russian rule. A busload of refugees heads nervously for the border, only to run afoul of a suspicious Brynner in the uniform of a Russian commandant.

The refugees and Brynner stay at an uncomfortable inn, and it is here that the facets of their characters emerge. Brynner is seen, not just as a Russian savage, but as a human being who believes his cause is right. He seems strange to a Westerner, this man who can be alternately cruel and kind, strange and familiar—and wonder why everybody hates him when all he's doing is trying to bring to everyone the blessings of Soviet culture.

Deborah Kerr's performance should not be downgraded. The plot centers around her love for a missing revolutionist, and the all too human desires and fears of her fellow refugees. Since the Russian officer obviously has fallen in love with Miss Kerr, her compatriots urge her onward to give herself to their enemy in a plot to allow all to escape.

She offers herself, but Brynner, although a Communist and therefore prone to treachery, also is a man of honor, and he turns her down.

Eventually, everyone escapes but Brynner, who must pay with his life for letting the people go.

It says there's "Thunder in the Sun," but it turns out to be little more than a rumble.

Jeff Chandler and Susan Hayward are the leading characters in what is, with one exception, a routine Western. All the usual cardboard characters are present, including the leads.

What makes the movie different is the presence of a group of Basques, immigrants from northwestern Spain on their way to California to plant their vineyards.

* * *

"The Fearmakers" is definitely off-beat.

It has just a touch of science-fiction—it deals with a public opinion research agency that has been taken over by a group of unscrupulous men, apparently in the pay of a foreign government.

Dana Andrews is the ex-prisoner of the Chinese who comes back home to the poll taking agency, still suffering from a brainwash. But the Chinese laundryman overlooked a few spots of capitalistic dirt, because Andrews catches the drift, and he's resentful. He goes into action and cleans up the joint.

It's not very exciting and certainly not to be classified as top-flight drama, but "The Fearmakers" is entertaining to those who like an off-beat subject occasionally.

Returning and recommended: "Stalag 17." Rollicking, humorous, yet filled with the pathos and drama of Americans imprisoned in Germany during World War II. Run was highly successful on Broadway, as a stage play.

"Teahouse of the August Moon." Glenn Ford and Marlon Brando team for one of the most memorable stories ever to portray the more likable side of the Asian spirit. It is exceedingly funny, and highly nostalgic to those who ever served in the Orient.

"Inn of the Sixth Happiness." Ingrid Bergman brilliantly portrays the missionary work of Gladys Aylward in this moving and dramatic film. The only bad part about it is the film's depicting of a purely fictional affair by Miss Aylward with a Chinese Army officer. The missionary is unhappy about it, and it could have been deleted from the movie.

"Thunder Road." Robert Mitchum in a rare action story that only he can handle in such an inimitable way. He plays the part of a rum runner who finally gets his just desserts, and I don't refer to liquid refreshment.

The Hollywood pipeline:

Stanley Kramer is a daring man. He's taking a long chance in filming the best-selling science chiller, "On the Beach," since there has never been any pioneering work of a major sort on this kind of thing, and there are therefore no guideposts to gauge possible public reaction.

Perhaps it is because of this that Kramer is not to be blamed for changing the realistic appraisal of human nature in Nevil Shute's book; indeed, Kramer has changed portions of the story to more familiar lines—those of the usual tried-and-true formulas.

In the book, there has been a nuclear war, and the atmosphere is laden with a fatal dose of fallout. The winds carry it from the northern hemisphere steadily southward and to all parts of the world. There is no escape, no sudden super-scientific developments that allow people to survive or escape to the moon. As the German scientists working with ICBM's would describe it, "alles kaput."

Kramer thought he saw "no overt religious action" in Shute's book, no mass religious rallies, no panic in face of the coming doom. Actually, there was a quiet cathedral scene in the book that reflected all the finer qualities of man against inevitable doom, but Kramer apparently missed it, or thought a hallelujah type of foxhole religion might be better suited to American audiences.

Also, the book's hero spurns the love of an Australian girl because he cannot believe his own wife and child in Connecticut are dead. Kramer apparently believed the American public to be incapable of realizing the fact that there are some things too big for a mere human mind to grasp—that even an intelligent Navy officer, serving aboard a nuclear submarine, could lose a tiny portion of his sanity in the face of the end of all things, while retaining his senses otherwise.

So, Kramer, in the film, has the hero and the Australian girl in the customary clinch. Not only that, but Hollywood Sex rears its head again, for the script calls for the girl to be clad in a water-soaked robe that "clings tightly" to her skin, just before the clinch.

Ah well, the investment must be protected.

—BOB SMITH

CRITIQUE

By Bob Smith

The Jaycees are still out beating the bushes for prospective entries in the Miss Big Spring contest.

They are having the same trouble this writer and his compatriot had in Odessa several years ago in a similar project. Actually, most qualified women and girls have mixed emotions on the subject. On the one hand, they would like very much to try for the title, possibly to go on from here to the Miss Texas and Miss America contests. On the other hand, they have a tendency to hold back, whether from stage fright, coyness, or lack of nerve.

They very definitely must be persuaded.

Three Jaycees corner a prominent lay church leader, explain the beauty pageant in detail. He's interested, knows of a girl that might be.

He phones. No soap. She needs persuading.

Errata:

Mrs. Ackerson's name ("The Seven Year Itch") should be spelled "Carole" not "Carol."

Pardon, I must have been sleeping.

The Battle of New Orleans was fought 145 years ago. It turned out as it did for two principal reasons — the Americans used highly accurate and long-range squirrel rifles, as against the ridiculous European makes the British used; and the British, being the excellent soldiers they were, kept right on charging into the American enfilade until they were wiped out.

Congratulations are in order for two Air Force men. S.Sgt. Curtis E. Lewis won first and third in the Webb short story contest, and Capt. Allen R. Robertson copped second. The prizes were $15, $10 and $5.

Congratulations to the Cootes family—they seem about ready to jump once more into the active column in the Civic Theatre.

It was Glenn Cootes who, as former Critique author, was responsible for birth of the theatre group. He had considerable help from his girl friend, Joyce, who is now Mrs. Cootes. Joyce was once assistant society editor of The Herald, before Glenn married her and took her off to Ohio.

The Cootes' have that rare kind of lively and friendly personality that gives a spark to any organization, and the Civic Theatre is fortunate to have them back.

At the readings for "The Four Poster," last of the theatre group's summer series, Bill Sandefur is reading with his wife, Jean, for the two roles. Their toddling son manages to fall off a chair, starts to scream. Finally gains Daddy's eye, points a finger at him, and all's well.

Director John Austin is impressed by the fine readings by several people, including married couples. Casting is a problem of difficult choice. He says, jokingly, "I'll just have to flip a coin" to decide who gets the parts.

The Sandefurs finally make the grade. Curtain time will be 8:29 p.m. July 30, 31 and Aug. 1.

* * *

"The Four Poster," made famous by Rex Harrison and Lili Palmer on Broadway, has but the two roles. The story follows a man and his wife from their marriage to the time their children are all grown and married off. It has literally thousands of highly entertaining and amusing vignettes that most any married person would appreciate. And unmarried, too.

Some of the scenes are pure humor, some are serious to the two characters concerned, but amusing to the onlooker. Examples:

She catches her husband, in undershirt, rubbing head with lotion. It's a horrible sight, and she's disillusioned. She's sure she doesn't love him any more, until he reminds her that every human being looks different when he lets his hair down, and furthermore, how does she look in pin curlers?

The wife resents being made a mother while she herself was still a child, looks back on the long years and decides her husband was selfish.

Now, she's facing the prospect of being a grandmother, and wishes she had had more out of life. The husband repents.

These and countless other vignettes of typical married life from "The Four Poster" are easily recognized, and the way they are scripted and acted makes them into two hours of the finest kind of human comedy.

French Drama Acquired For U. S.

NEW YORK (AP) — The French suspense drama, "Odd Man In," has been acquired for American presentation by the Broadway organization, Theatrical Interests Plan.

Actor Barry Nelson previously planned a production here but ran into casting difficulties. The play ran for three seasons in Paris and repeated as a boxoffice success in London in 1957.

Accuracy Prized

NEW YORK (AP) — The producers of "Legend of Lizzie" are being sticklers for accuracy in their Broadway version of the famous 1892 trial of Lizzie Borden for the murder of her parents in Fall River, Mass.

They are offering free seats to all comers who have authentic stories and memorabilia concerning Miss Borden which would be helpful to the cast in increasing the realism of their work.

American Favorite

NEW YORK (AP) — Gerry Jedd, an American actress who has yet to make her Broadway debut, has been named along with Dame Sybil Thorndike as the outstanding actress of the year in a British audience poll.

Miss Jedd is appearing in the English production of "Two for the Seasaw." She has appeared in several off-Broadway shows.

Graham's Royal Visit Questioned

LONDON (AP)—A British newspaper today asked what was so special about American evangelist Billy Graham that Queen Elizabeth II should invite him to tea.

Admittedly it was a private affair, said the Laborite Daily Herald, but amounted to an "unusual public honor."

The palace said the Queen wanted to hear first hand about Graham's successful tour in Australia. The evangelist and his wife had tea with the Queen and Prince Philip Wednesday.

Soviet Astronauts Are A Bit Older

Bygone Reminder

NEW YORK (AP) — Amid the backstage clutter of one small New York theater is the last trace in town of a bygone era — a gaslight control board.

The cumbersome array of pipes and valves enabled one stagehand to dim the houselights and illuminate the dramatic action prior to the advent of electricity.

The theater, used by the Blackfriars Guild for its annual season of plays, boasts another odd relic. The main curtain, a heavily tasseled golden affair, originally was used at the New York World's Fair of 1939 for a show featuring Gypsy Rose Lee.

The Baptist Temple congregation this morning will dedicate its new educational wing at the 11 o'clock worship. Open house for the new unit costing $54,000 with furnishings, will be held at 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. Space has been provided for several new departments. The church already is thinking in terms of more expansion.

Parsons Will Teach At H-SU

ABILENE—Floyd W. Parsons, superintendent of the Big Spring City schools, is one of the visiting teachers serving at the summer session of Hardin-Simmons University.

It was announced that enrollment for the first summer session stood at 496 when the registration closed Wednesday.

With the registration for a three-week term starting June 24 still to be counted, the enrollment is up more than six per cent, said Mrs. Madge Grba, registrar. The total last year was 467.

The university's second six-week summer term will open with registration July 15. Enrollment for the remaining three-week sessions will fall on June 24, July 15, and Aug. 4. The summer school will be concluded with commencement exercises at 8 p.m. Aug. 21.

Forty - seven regular faculty members and five visiting lecturers are engaged in the summer program, which is directed by George L. Graham. Visiting teachers in addition to Parsons are L. Wayne Campbell and Richard J. Giesse, both of the staff of the Abilene State School; Edward Vann Tapscott, Abilene South Junior High's assistant principal; Dr. Lloyd D. Huff, chairman of the English department at McMurry College.

DEAR ABBY

AWAIT A CHANCE

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 13 and am in love with the paper boy. He says he wants to be a newspaper reporter and is starting at the bottom. The trouble is there are two other girls who are also after him. They are both prettier than I am and have nicer clothes. They say they don't like him but the way they look at him, Wow! One night I was walking home alone and he was behind me. I could have slowed up but I didn't have brains enough. I got home and could have kicked myself. How can I get him to like me?

FRUSTRATED

DEAR FRUSTRATED: Next time you see him (be sure he's alone) say "HI" good and loud and follow it right up with a question about the newspaper business. ("How are collections? Are there any contests going?") Show an interest in HIS interest and watch him thaw out.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: How old do you think a man should be before he stops kissing his mother hello and goodbye? My husband is almost 40 and every time we go to see his mother (she lives 12 blocks from here) he kisses her hello and when we leave he kisses her goodbye. The man is my husband and I think it is time he stopped that little boy stuff. I have two sons and I am not raising them that way. Is my husband too old to change his ways now? WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I hope you are young (and wise) enough to change yours. There's nothing wrong with a man kissing his mother—at any age.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a man who is mature in almost every respect except in his driving. He is a very fast driver. He passes cars on the right and follows other cars too close and tries to make every green light. I have spoken to him about his driving habits but he gets mad and drives all the more reckless. In one year he's had four accidents, was arrested for reckless driving and has had his insurance cancelled. I do not drive myself so it makes it pretty tough on me and the kids. My heart is in my mouth every time I get in a car with him. Is there any cure for this?

RECKLESS DRIVER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Walk, take the bus, taxi, or depend on the generosity of friends, but do not ride with him unless he promises to drive carefully and is willing to heed your warning when he gets out of hand. The cemetery is full of drivers whose luck ran out before their gas did.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: My last letter to an Army friend with whom I have been corresponding for many years was returned marked NO RECORD. Perhaps you can tell me which office of the Army to contact for the present address of my friend? It would mean a great deal to me. MRS. P.V.

DEAR MRS. P. V.: Write to the Adjutant General's Office, Washington, D. C.

• • •
