ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said Saturday he would not be a presidential candidate.

"This decision is definite and final," the New York governor said.

Rockefeller also said he would not "entertain any thought of accepting nomination to the vice presidency even if the honor were offered."

The unexpected decisions was announced in a statement passed out to newsmen by a Rockefeller aide at the state capital.

The Republican governor had made wide-ranging tours of the country in what was regarded as a sounding out of his chances for completing with Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the GOP presidential nomination.

These trips, Rockefeller said, had made it clear to him that the majority of the potential delegates to the 1960 GOP convention are opposed to any contest for the nomination.

"Therefore," the governor said, "any quest of the nomination on my part would entail a massive struggle — in primary elections throughout the nation—demanding so greatly of my time and energy that it would make impossible the fulfillment of my obligations as governor of New York.

"My conclusion, therefore, is that I am not, and shall not be, a candidate for nomination for the presidency," he declared. "This decision is definite and ninal."

Rockefeller was in Philadelphia Saturday visiting his wife's family.

The governor said he was deeply grateful to all of those who had urged him to run for the presidency.

"I hope and trust they will respect my decision and its reasons," he said.

"I hope my friends will respect this absolutely definite resolve," he added. "I believe I have chosen the right course. I shall do all in my power, as citizen and as governor, to make it a creative and constructive one."

As to my party: I am a Republican—seriously concerned about the future vigor and purpose of my party. I believe that we live in an age that challenges representative government and the two-party system that is its American expression. In such an age, neither of our great parties can hope to meet the issues and opportunities of the future merely with the devices and programs of the past. The vitality—the sense of realism and the sense of purpose—of so great an institution as the Republican party is, therefore, quite truly a matter of national interest and national need. To the invigorating of this party's spirit, and to the clarifying of its purposes and policies, all of us who are Republicans should devote our thoughts and energies. n this spirit, I expect to support the nominees, as well as the program, of the party in 1960.

As to our country: The national and world issues before us, I deeply believe, hold omen of both menace and hope, both danger and opportunity. We all know the range of these issues: world policies, military defenses, economic growth, educational excellence, racial relations, social needs, public morals. Not one of these spheres tolerates complacence toward the future. Every one of them invites scrutiny. Such a scrutiny must be full and foresighted. For such a time as this calls for a profound and continuous act of national self-examination.

I shall contribute all I can to this political act. I shall speak with full freedom and vigor on these issues that confront our nation and the world.

To all those who have urged upon me a different course with respect to candidacy, I am deeply grateful. I hope and trust they will respect my decision and its reasons.

Quite obviously I shall not at any time entertain any thought of accepting nomination to the vice presidency, even if the honor were offered, for this would clearly run counter to all the considerations inspiring my present decision.

I hope my friends will respect this absolutely definite resolve.

I believe I have chosen the right course.

I shall do all in my power, as citizen and as governor, to make it a creative and constructive one.

Here is Rockefeller's statement:

I have come to a definite decision with respect to my candidacy for the Republican nomination for the presidency. I have done so after long and serious reflection. Any my decision has been dictated by clear and sharp convictions.

These convictions bear upon the two political roles that prescribe my responsibilities. The first of these is the position of governor of New York State. This is an office and an honor plaigly commanding my full respect and utterly deserving of my faithful service.

The second role that I must serve is that of any American, namely: responsible citizenship on the national scene. And this responsibility assumes a particularly keen and explicit form when our nation confronts issues and challenges of truly historic size and seriousness.

If I were not profoundly concerned with these issues, I would have no reason to be in public life in any capacity.

I have had to weigh, however, and to decide how best to express this concern. This question has largely inspired the several trips I have recently made through the country. For only by meeting and talking with many citizens of many states could I form a reasoned conclusion as to how I may best serve both the State of New York and the nation.

These trips have made it clear to me, as I believe they have to others, that the great majority of those who will control the Republican convention stand opposed to any contest for the nomination.

More Delays Are Seen For Summit Opening

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Further delay in opening a springtime summit conference was foreseen Saturday by U. S. officials seeking a new date acceptable to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

The summit timing problem is one of two urgent issues President Eisenhower is expected to discuss Monday with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter. If decisions cannot be reached by telephone consultation, Herter may make a flying visit to Augusta, Ga., Tuesday or Wednesday. Eisenhower will fly to the Georgia golfing resort Sunday for a week's rest.

The other major problem now awaiting top-level U. S. action is expiration of the 14-month-old ban on nuclear weapons testing. The suspension is set to expire at the year's end next Thursday midnight.

High administration officials said Saturday they are certain Eisenhower will order an extension into 1960 but that a final decision has not been made. In particular, the form of any announcement and the duration of the extension are considered important. Tentatively however, Eisenhower is expected to:

1. Order the moratorium continued indefinitely. No new deadline would be fixed. This would keep the way open for resumption of testing any time Eisenhower considers this necessary to U. S. security.

2. Put the Soviet Union on notice that in negotiations at Geneva steady progress toward an international inspection system will be required to keep the ban in effect.

The effect of these steps would be to continue the moratorium from week to week, with the Geneva negotiations under constant review. The big issue among the United States, Britain, the Soviet Union at Geneva, ever since the negotiaions started 14 months ago has been to get agreement on an inspection system that would discourage cheating on a test ban treaty.

If—as now seems certain — the projected summit conference is sufficiently delayed, the test ban issue may come to a climax coincident with the meeting of Eisenhower, Khrushchev, President Charles de Gaulle of France and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain.

The best prospect, informants said, is for an opening date in middle or late May.

In Paris last weekend the Western Big Three agreed on April 27 and proposed it to Khrushchev. They suggested Paris as the site for what would be the first of a series of summits.

Khrushchev accepted everything but the date. He objected that it would keep him away from Moscow's huge May Day celebration.

Khrushchev countered with either April 21 or May 4 as opening date. But Western diplomats here and in Europe said those would conflict with Allied commitments. De Gaulle plans to visit the United States and Canada for several days beginning April 17 or 19.

As for May 4, Macmillan will be tied up then in a British Commonwealth meeting that may last a week or 10 days. Other meetingscluding a Khrushchev visit to Paris and a De Gaulle trip to England now make any summit timing prior to late April virtually impossible, so that a meeting at Paris in mid-May now seems most likely.

SNOW STALLS CARS—Try as he might, this hardy and optimistic auto owner can't seem to make any headway as deep snow on a street in the Bronx, New York, clogs the wheels of progress. Less optimistic car owners leave their autos to the snow that almost hides them. Scenes like this were common in the metropolitan area as the seven-inch fall blanketed the city. (AP Wirephoto)

HOWARD GIBBONS

Gibbons Is Candidate For Sheriff

Howard Gibbons, well-known Scurry Countian and former peace officer, has announced his candidacy for Sheriff of Scurry County, subject to the action of the Democratic Primaries on May 7 and June 4.

Gibbons, 51, now is engaged in the floor sanding and finishing business, which he operates from his home address, 3101 Forty-first Street.

Gibbons said he was basing his qualifications for sheriff on his previous experience in law enforcement and other vocations. He pointed out that he served as a deputy sheriff for four years, from Jan. 1, 1953 through 1957 under former sheriff Homer Whisnand. During his role as peace officer, Gibbons received special training and successfuliy passed a course for Texas Sheriffs and Deputies conducted by the Texas Department of Public Safety at Camp Mabry near Austin.

Prior to his service as a deputy Gibbons resided most of his life in Scurry County, serving as a dynamite foreman for construction concerns in Texas and New Mexico, where he was responsible for the safety and labor operations of large numbers of men.

Reared in a Scurry County farm community, Gibbons is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Gibbons, long-time farm residents of Scurry County who now live near Carbon. He is married to the former Miss Myrtle Mae Day, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Day, long-time Snyder residents, his father-in-law being a former commissioner in Precinct No. 1. He and Mrs. Gib-

County Logs 7th Fatality In Week

Two one-car accidents, one resulting in the seventh traffic fatality in Scurry County in one week, occurred over the Christmas Eve-Christmas day period.

Mrs. Norma Norene Johnson of Taxarkana, Ark. died of injuries received when she lost control of her 1959 Ford which overturned eleven miles east of Snyder on US 180 about 3:45 a.m. Christmas morning. Investigating officer Will Cleveland said that the roads were wet and the weather was cloudy.

Taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Bell ambulance, Mrs. Johnson died 45 minutes later. Her husband, J. C., suffered a broken arm among other injuries. Their three sons escaped with minor cuts and bruises. They were enroute to the Union community to spend Christmas with Mrs. Johnson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Lundy.

Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. Grady V. Keith of Slaton were injured when their car overturned as Keith swerved to evade a car pulling onto the Colorado City Highway eight miles south of Snyder. Mrs. Keith suffered a serious back injury and Keith's front teeth were knocked out. Their three children were uninjured.

The Keiths were on their way to spend Christmas with their parents in San Angelo. They were taken by Bell Ambulance from Cogdell Memorial to St Joseph's Hospital in San Angelo Friday morning.

Funeral services for Mrs. Johnson will be held Monday afternoon in the Macodonia Baptist Church. Burial will be in in Macedoni Cemetery under the direction of Bell Funeral Home.

Born December 9, 1928, Mrs. Johnson is survived by her parents; her husband; three sons, Wayne, David and Troy; four brothers, Albert W. Lundy, Eugene Lundy, Rayford Lundy and Terrell Lundy, all of Louisiana.

Backers Are Disappointed

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — George Sallade, chairman of a nine-state group supporting Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York for president, said today "naturally I am disappointed at his decision" not to run.

Sallade, a state Republican representative, said "I think his experience and record in New York fully qualified him for the presidency."

Rockefeller announced today a "definite and final" decision not to seek the Republican nomination for the presidency.

Sallade headed a "Citizens for Rockefeller for President" group with branches in Michigan, Massachusetts, Iowa, Illinois, Alabama, Indiana, Florida, Connecticut and Colorado.

"I am certain Vice President Nixon not only will be nominated now, but elected the next president of the United States," Sallade said.

He said his organization now will turn to GOP organizational work in general and specifically support Nixon for the presidential nomination.

Annexations Are Up For 2nd Reading

The second reading of 10 separate annexation ordinances will compose the formal agenda for the Snyder City Council at its meeting Monday night in the city hall.

The session is set for 7:30 p.m.

Involved are nine ordinances which would annex territory in various sections of town, plus one other to annex a proposed new development southwest of the city.

The nine ordinances listed as No. 252 through 260 were the subject of extensive hearings conducted by the council several weeks ago.

The other ordinance embraces 22.5 acres petitioned for annexation by Scott and Browning, who are planning a residential development on the property involved. That area is located north of Thirty-seventh Street immediately west of the West Elementary School grounds.

Ordinance No. 252 includes an area on the East Highway; No. 253, an area along Avenue E from Twentieth Street to the Snyder Cemetery; No. 254, an area along the proposed new highway and north of Eighth Street; No. 255, principally the P. W. Cloud property; No. 256, an area around Towle Memorial Park and the Cogdell Memorial Hospital area; No. 258, an area in Northwest Snyder around Radio Station KSNY; No. 259, an area east of the Clairemont Highway and west of Avenue Q; No. 260, an area along the Lubbock Highway.

Scientists Say New Life Is Being Created Spontaneously

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

The cradle for life to start from basic chemicals could be in hot springs, or near volcanic areas under the seas, suggests Dr. Sidney W. Fox, Florida State University chemist.

Dr. Fox is one of the researchers trying through laboratory experiments to determine how life on earth might have begun originally.

By scientific theory, man evolved from primitive glimmerings of life which first began perhaps two billion years ago.

But perhaps life was not just a one-time thing, Fox says.

"Although we can with certainty say only that life arose at least once, there is increasing reason to believe that it is possible or even inevitable in many places at many times," Fox said in a report to the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science.

The AAAS opened a six-day national meeting Saturday to hear hundreds of reports in many different fields of science.

Would this new life be strikingly different from forms present today?

The new units of life might be so much like the lineal descendants of the earliest life, that we couldn't tell, Fox says.

Fox and his associates find that heat could be one of the key elements in forming complex protein materials which began living, carrying on life processes and reproducing themselves.

Hot springs or warm areas under the sea floor could provide such conditions now, he thinks. Widely separated hot springs are known to have similar types of certain bacteria and blue-green algae.

Life is thought to have begun when proteins were formed out of simple building blocks known as amino acids. It is proteins which make up flesh, muscle, and chemical regulators of life.

Fox and his associates tried to produce proteins by heating 18 different amino acids which are common to all proteins.

Heat usually destroys amino acids, turning them into messy tar.

But heat of even more than 300 degrees produced protein-like material when the Florida scientists started out with a large proportion of two particular amino acids, aspartic acid and glutamic acid.

This material could be eaten by some bacteria as nutritious foodstuff and even be digested by enzymes.

A temperature of only 212 degrees—when water boils — produced the same result when polyphosphoric acid was added.

The protein-like material forms into billions of tiny spheres if it is dissolved in hot water and then allowed to cool.

These round objects have some of the properties of membranes of simple bacteria, Fox said. This suggests how early life could have organized itself into cells, the basic structure of all life.

Leath Rites Held Here

Funeral services for Mrs. Ola Bibbee Leath, 2612 Avenue R, who died Thursday morning at Cogdell Memorial Hospital, were held Saturday afternoon in the First Baptist Church. Rev. Bill McGaha officated, assisted by Dr. Andrew Baker.

Born in Snyder Oct. 23, 1896, she is survived by three daughters, Mrs. R. L. Brice of Snyder, Mrs. O. B. Truelock of Colorado City, Mrs. Billy Joe Athey of Oklahoma City; seven grandchildren; and two nephews.

Pallbearers were Fred R. Kaizer, Wm. E. Raborn, Guy Stoker, Lyle Alexander, Leland Herod, and Benny K. Norris.

Burial was in the Snyder Cemetery under the direction of Bell Funeral Home.

One-Car Accidents Take Big Toll On Highways Of Texas

By The Associated Press

A rash of one-car accidents pushed the Texas Christmas holiday traffic death toll to 17 Saturday. A total of 28 persons died from all types of violence.

Since the holiday death count began at 6 p.m. Thursday, one-car accidents have accounted for 15 of the 17 traffic deaths. The count will end at midnight Sunday.

The worst holiday accident killed four teenage boys near San Antonio Saturday morning. Their car crashed into a concrete abutment on U.S. Highway 81 and the Pan American Expressway 4 miles south of the city. The car burst into flames and the four victims were burned beyond recognition. A fifth occupant of the car was critically injured.

Killed in the accident were two brothers, George, 17, and Floyd Valdez, 18; Jerry Johnson, 16, and Denny Comte, 16.

Mrs. Mattie Arnold, 34, and the mother of 10, was shot to death Christmas night when she and her husband, Jesse, 36, checked a noise at their hen house in Houston. Arnold told police he and his wife bumped into each other and his shotgun discharged accidentally. The children are aged from less than one year to 15.

Ascension Ramirez, 27, of Harlingen died Christmas night when his car hit a palm tree one mile west of Harlingen.

Edward Washington was stabbed to death Friday night at a cafe south of La Grange.

Herman Masters, 48, of Carrizo Springs was killed Friday in a 2-car collision on U.S. Highway 81 in New Braunfels.

Preston Smith, 48, a Beaumont laborer, was shot to death in a cafe fight at Beaumont Friday.

Ernest Stewart, 27, a Negro, died Friday night when his car overturned in a Houston ditch.

Henry Williams, 30 and also a Negro, was shot to death Friday night at a Longview cafe. Police arrested a Negro, 21.

David Champlin, 4-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Champlin of Fort Worth, was found asphyxiated in his home Saturday. Firemen said an overheated heater apparently was to blame.

WEATHER

SNYDER TEMPERATURES: High Thursday, 52 degrees; low, 30 degrees; reading at 7:30 a.m. Friday, 32 degrees. High Friday, 57 degrees; low, 32 degrees; reading at 7:30 a.m. Saturday, 34 degrees; precipitation, trace.

Northern Texas: Partly cloudy and colder with scattered showers through Sunday.

Beef Gains Popularity

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—Beef, the nation's favorite meat, is growing in popularity but there will be plenty to meet the demand, according to a survey released Saturday.

The two-year survey was directed by Herrell F. De Graff, professor of food economics in the Cornell University Graduate School of Nutrition.

De Graff said improved blood lines and feeding practices for beef cattle were producing more and better animals. The numbers of beef cattle increased 56 per cent or more than 9 million head, the survey said.

City Jail Bulges After Christmas

The city jail was bulging Saturday afternoon as Police officers kept bringing in persons who had celebrated the holiday season to the point of intoxication. Eighteen men were charged with intoxication and put in city jail from 12:03 a.m. Christmas Eve to 9:30 p.m. Christmas night.

All this was in addition to the regular duties of calming down family affairs (without personal injury), trying to locate little boys and girls who have wandered off, referring court matters to the county attorney, getting complaints of all kinds about dogs-dead dogs, barking dogs, nosy dogs, sick dogs, dogs that missed their visiting family and went out looking for them. The same goes for cats opossums, and even skunks.

The department also investigated five wrecks inside the city limits:

No. 1-Thursday at Avenue C and East Highway. Damages were $200 to a 1956 Chevrolet driven by David Gan, 430 Twenty-eighth Rock, Ark.

Street and $100 to a 1952 Pontiac drive by Oliver Noble, 405 Twenty-eight Street.

No. 2-Thursday at the A&W Root Beer Stand. Damages to the cars were $10 to one car.

No. 3-Friday at Avenue S and Twenty-seventh Street. Damages to the cars were $350 to a 1959 Simca driven by Ronald Mack McNabb, 2811 Avenue S and $150 to a 1956 Olds driven by Stanley Kruse, owned by Roland Davis, Route 3.

No. 4-Friday at Avenue G and Twenty-fifth Street. Damages to the cars were $200 to a 1957 Olds Driven by Howard Shoemake, Missouri, and $250 to a 1957 Chevrolet driven by Martin Benitez, 505 Fifteenth Street.

No. 5-Friday at Twenty-first Street and Avenue S. Damages to the cars were $200 to a 1959 Plymouth driven by Thomas Greenham, Dallas, and $300 to a 1955 Olds driven by Lary Raymon, Little

Rock Is Due A Vital Role

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon said Saturday Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller will play a key role in the Republican party even though the New York chief executive announced he will not seek the GOP presidential nomination next year.

A few hours after Rockefeller announced his decision—"I'm not, and shall not be, a candidate for the nomination for presidency," Nixon's office issued the vice president's brief statement.

Cuba 'Crime' Strange To U. S. Reporter

Editor's Note—Miami Herald reporter James Buchanan was expelled from Cuba last week by the Castro government. He was given a 14-year suspended sentence after convictions by a military tribunal of "concealing information about an interview with an anti-Castro fugitive. Buchanan, imprisoned for 12 days without charges, was tried on the 13th day and released on the 14th. This is the first of his thought-provoking reports of Cuban justice under Fidel Castro, released exclusively through The Associated Press.

By JAMES BUCHANAN
Miami Herald Staff-Writer
Copyright 1959, Miami Herald Publishing Co.

Miami, Fla. (AP)—If you're uncertain but concerned about the road the new Cuba is taking, come with me inside one of Fidel Castro's secret police jails.

Let me introduce you to some of the Cuban citizens who have lost their liberty, their property, and may lose their lives—because of a "crime" we in the United States wouldn't recognize.

Their crime?

Nothing more than being accused of anti-Castro activity or displaying anti-Castro sympathies.

Not all the stories I heard night after night lying in a secret police cell block are true, of course.

Some were deliberately planted by cell "stool pigeons" to gain my confidence and see if I'd confide my thoughts about Castro's new regime.

But the stories I'll relate of neighbor spying upon neighbor in a campaign of fear and suspicion are the ones I have been able to check and authenticate since leaving my Cuban jail.

Cuba isn't yet a police state, but the network of spies and jails is being organized in a pattern that threatens to smash the hopes and prayers of thousands of Cubans.

I first began to know and love Cuba and her people two years ago, when a tyrant named Fulgencio Batista held an iron grip on the island and two Castro brothers were trying to rally support in the hills of Sierra Maestra.

Eighteen months ago I lived as a newsman in those hills with Raul Castro and his troops—heard them talk of their dreams and ideals.

I was on hand in happy Havana last New Year's Day, when Batista at last had fled and the people prepared to welcome a new leader with hope in their hearts.

During the past 12 months I have visited Cuba often as a reporter and noted an increasing concern that she may have traded one dictator for another, though a much more popular one.

That concern was emphasized during those first few hours after my arrest on Dec. 10, after I had found and interviewed Austin Frank Young, an escaped anti-Castro adventurer before Cuban authorities knew his whereabouts.

I sat and waited for what I expected to be my early release.

As I waited, I got the shock of tactics once used by German SS police under Adolf Hitler getting a replay in this Cuban secret police headquarters just 90 miles from Key West, U. S.A.

I saw long lines of informers patiently waiting, as they did night after night, to tell stories about their neighbors to Castro agents.

I saw a 14-year-old boy thrown into my cell and confined for four days because a woman had accused someone with a similar name of being a member of the hated "Tiger" army, the private strong arm of ex-dictator Batista.

I watched tears come to the eyes of once respected businessmen-prisoners, as they saw their property confiscated by the government because they had spoken out of turn about the Castro regime.

Let's look first at the case of 14-year-old Armando Cruz Gonzalez. His name was supplied by a woman informer and his address given as a certain block in downtown Havana.

Armando was picked up at home and tossed in our cell. His protesting parents simply were told Armand had been a longtime member of Batista's Tigers.

I look at our cellmate Armando and wondered. He was a scared, fuzzy-cheeked 14-year-old.

For four days he was in our cell. No charges. No attorney. No visitors. And no questioning by police.

Finally on the fifth day, he was released.

"We have been unable to find your accuser," secret agents told him simply.

There are other, more frightening cases I'll discuss later.

But as I looked at Armando I wondered—does Fidel Castro himself know how far his subordinates have gone in carrying out his every emotional whim?

It did not make me bitter, only disturbed that the men the world had hoped could lead Cuba from the tyranny of Batista are feeding their revolution with the old fires of hate and distrust.

They are fires that are starting to kill free speech, cripple the free press, and may set Cuba back where she was in 1958 under Batista—afraid to talk, afraid to listen, afraid to act, and almost afraid to live.

NEXT: How neighbors spy on neighbors for Castro.

Outstanding Young Texans Are Selected

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce selected Saturday five men whom they called the Outstanding Young Texans. They are:

Sam Burris, 35, Alice district attorney.

Angus Dickson Jr., 35, Comanche County farm agent.

Noah Kennedy Jr., 33, of Corpus Christi, Nueces County judge.

Porter Loring Jr., 31, of San Antonio, president of the Porter Loring Mortuary.

Thomas Mackey, 29, of Texas City, general manager of the Wah Chang Corp. tin smelter.

They will be honored here Jan. 9 at a banquet.

The awards go to men aged 21 to 35.

Selections were made from nominations made throughout the state.

Burris, the first man to secure a criminal conviction against George Parr, longtime political boss of Duval County, was named the state's outstanding prosecutor in 1956.

Burris was Jim Wells County attorney in 1953-54 and was elected district attorney in 1955.

Since becoming Comanche County agent in 1957, Dickson has organized a 4-H Club in Newburg and an adult 4-H Leaders Assn. in the county.

Kennedy was named Corpus Christi's outstanding young man for 1959. He was the youngest county judge in Texas when he was sworn in Jan. 2 after six years as county attorney.

Business at the Porter Loring Mortuary has increased 45 per cent in four years since Loring became president and general manager of the family firm.

Mackey took over the government owned tin smelter in Texas City three years ago for the Wah Chang Corp. and raised its output to record levels with 10 per cent of the number of employes used by the government.

His production record is free of strikes and shutdowns, and a tungsten production process he developed will be put into use shortly.

The revenue to the State of New Jersey from Monmouth Park's 1959 racing season was $7,913,724.

Jockey Mack Garner, who rode 1,317 winners during a 23-year career, died of a heart attack Oct. 28, 1936, after riding in four races at River Downs, Ohio.

50 Rural Schools Opened In Cuba

HAVANA (AP) — The government has opened 50 new rural schools in the province of Havana.

Speaking at inauguration ceremonies, Education Minister Armando Hart said plans call for 200 such schools in Havana province and for similar projects on an islandwide basis.

Gibbons is active in civic and church affairs, being a member of the First Baptist Church here, where is secretary of the BTU Adult 2 group, and is an usher. He is a past executive vice president of the Baptist Brotherhood activities and group Sunday School captain, and member of his churchs house and grounds committee. He also is an active member of the Masonic Lodge.

"My entire interests are in the welfare of Scurry County and if elected sheriff I shall serve all citizens on an equal basis," Gibbsons said in referring to his candidacy. "My policy in office if elected, will be to work toward prevention of law-breaking equally as hard as I shall work toward apprehending lawbreakers. I shall endeavor, particularly, to cultivate good citizenship among our youth, whom I think are the finest to be found anywhere.

Gibbons said he would conduct an active campaign, endeavoring to see as many Scurry Countians as possible.

"My campaign will be on my own merits, and I shall wage an active and clean campaign, with respect to all other show are candidates or who have another choice in selecting your Scurry County Sheriff. I shall appreciate your investigation of my qualifications to become your sheriff," he concluded.

Indonesia In Red

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — A government note to Parliament disclosed today the government is winding up the year's budget 22 billion rupiahs in the red. At the official exchange rate that is $488,400,000. The note said regular expenses totaled 46 billion rupiahs against revenues of 24 billion.

Announcement No Surprise To Solon

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson said Saturday he was not surprised by the decision of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York not to seek the Republican presidential nomination.

Johnson, a potential candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, predicted the Democrats will elect a President next November and "should give serious consideration to asking Gov. Rockefeller to serve the Democratic administration in some high official position."

Johnson's statement:

"I am not surprised at Gov. Rockefeller's findings as stated today.

"It has been obvious for some time that there is no place in the national Republican Party for the able and progressive governor.

"I think Vice President Nixon has earned the Republican nomination and will be the Republican nominee.

"I think the Democratic President to be elected next November should give serious consideration to asking Gov. Rockefeller to serve in the Democratic administration in some high official position.

"Since he has stated definitely that he will entertain no thought of the vice presidency, I think the Democratic party will ask him to serve his country by serving the next Democratic administration.

"Gov. Rockefeller, it seems to me, has always put his country first."

Two Gifts Go To College

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — Two $100,000 gifts to Hendrix College were announced Saturday by Dr. Marshall T. Steel, president of the school.

Donors were Mr. and Mrs. Graham R. Hall of Little Rock and the T. H. Barton Foundation of El Dorado.

Dr. Steel said the hall gift is in honor of retired Methodist Bishop and Mrs. Hiram A. Boaz of Dallas, Tex., parents of Mrs. Hall. Boaz was presiding bishop in Arkansas and Oklahoma in 1926-30.

The other donation was one of many made by the Bartons to Methodist-supported Hendrix College during the past 25 years, Dr. Steel said.

CHURCH NOTES

Union Baptist

Services at the Union Baptist Church will begin at 10:50 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. today.

At the morning service, the Rev. R. N. Tucker will speak on the subject, "Do You Have A Vision?"

A period of congregational singing has been scheduled for the evening worship service, under direction of Elmo Favor. A sermon by Rev. Tucker will climax the service.

The Sunday School begins at 9:45 a.m. and Training Union at 6:30 p.m.

• • •

Avenue D Baptist

Student Night will be observed tonight at the Avenue D Baptist Church. There will be testimonies by students, and Nancy Wiman, Baylor University student, will present the special music.

The pastor, the Rev. A. J. Martin, will be speaking at both the morning and evening services. J. A. Wiman will be in charge of music in the absence of Norman Burgess, minister of music.

Rev. Martin will be speaking on the Good News broadcast at 7:45 a.m.

The Wednesday night services have been moved to Thursday night and will be merged with the Watch Night service. Teachers will meet at 8 p.m. and organizations at 8:30 p.m. There will be a "singspiration" from 9:45 p.m. to 10:15 p.m., fellowship from 10:15 to 11 p.m. and worship and prayer service from 11:15 p.m. to 12:05 a.m. Friday.

• • •

Grace Lutheran

"The Desire of All Ages for Every Age" will be the sermon subject of the Rev. Walter L. Lentz at the 10:45 a.m. service of the Grace Lutheran Curch today. The Sunday School begins at 9:45 a.m. All services are held in the West Elementary School auditorium.

Every Saturday at 11:45 a.m. Rev. Lentz presents "Religion in the News" over KSNY.

• • •

Colonial Hill Baptist

"The Danger of Drifting" will be the subject of the Rev. Jimmie Nelson, pastor, at the Colonial Hill Baptist Church for 8:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. services today.

Rev. Nelson will speak on "Be Thou An Example" at 7:30 p.m. when the church observes Student Night. Several college students who are home for the holidays will participate in the evening service.

Rev. Nelson announced that Colonial Hill Church had received over 50 per cent of its goal for the Lottie Moon Christmas offering. They hope to reach the goal of $1,625 before Jan. 1.

No Clues In Slaying Case

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — Police held a former gambling house girl as a material witness today but reported they had no definite lead on who shot and killed Bill Duffin, a casino owner.

Six slugs were fired into Duffin's back Christmas Day as he climbed into his car on the main street here, just two blocks from the state Capitol.

The burst of gunfire came during a light snowfall just outside the Silver Spur Casino. Duffin, co-owner of the Senator Club, was killed almost instantly.

Police Chief Bob Humphreys said Ruby Barker, 34, was with Duffin. After questioning, the former Senator Club employe was held as a material witness, "for her own safety." She formerly had made change for customers at the casino.

"She says she heard the shots and heard Bill moan," Humphreys said. "But she claims she saw nothing."

The chief said Mrs. Barker's husband, Eldon, also was questioned but that lie detector tests seemed to discount any love-triangle motive.

Cigarette Sales Set New Record

NEW YORK (AP)—American smokers bought more cigarettes than ever before in 1959, despite the continued controversy over possible links between cancer and cigarettes, Printers' Ink magazine reported today.

The annual report of Harry M. Wootten, consultant on the tobacco industry, in the magazine estimates U.S. consumption at about 436 billion cigarettes, up 4.5 per cent from a little over 436 billion last year. Consumption per capita (15 years of age and over) rose to 188 packs (more than half a pack a day), a gain of 2 per cent over 1958 and 15 per cent over 10 years ago.

Pace Family Is Moving To Arkansas

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Pace and family plan to leave tomorrow for Searcy, Ark., where Mr. Pace will be minister for the Downtown Church of Christ.

For the past 26 months, Mr. Pace has been Minister for the Twenty-fifth Street Church of Christ here.

"On Monday my family and I plan to move to Searcy, Arkansas, to begin labor with the downtown church. In moving from Snyder we feel that we are leaving behind one of the great churches in our brotherhood, blessed too with the finest leadership," Pace stated.

"It's going home again for us; as we are natives of Arkansas but more, too it seems like a work for which we are best suited," he continued.

Pace added that "the church and the people of our city have treated us like home folks- the way we wanted to be treated. To one and all we say 'thanks and come see us!'"

Tuesday night members of the Twenty-fifth Street congregation gave a farewell party for the Paces and presented them with a Christmas tree of silver dollars.

Mother Of 10 Is Shot

HOUSTON (AP)—A mother of 10 children was shot to death Friday night because, her husband said, of a noise in their henhouse.

Jesse Arnold, 36, told detectives that the death of his wife, Mattie, 34, was an accident.

The husband told detectives that he and his wife heard a noise in their henhouse.

After loading his shotgun, Arnold said, he and his wife began creeping from their bedroom into the living room.

But they bumped together, he told detectives, and the gun went off.

The children range in age from less than a year to 15 years.

Methodists Mark 175th Anniversary

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Religion Writer

It was the Christmas season, 1784.

A youthful United States was taking its first uncertain steps as an independent nation.

The man of the hour was young, too — the Marquis de Lafayette, at 27 just completing a triumphal tour of the land he had helped to free.

And so were the 60-odd ministers who gathered in conference at the Lovely Lane Church in Baltimore.

Their average age was only 35, but their mission was one that went beyond their years.

They were to organize the Methodist Church in America.

Beginning Sunday and for the next week, American Methodists will observe the 175th anniversary of that organization meeting.

The center of the celebration be the Lovely Lane Church where about 3,000 young Methodist ministers, all under 35, will take part in the observance.

The selection of the church and the youthful clergymen is significant.

The Lovely Lane Church has changed — it's a mile and a half from its original site now — but Methodism has never quite lost its youthful vigor.

Since 1784, its membership has increased from 15,000 to nearly 10 million, making it the largest Protestant denomination in the country.

The startling growth was due, particularly in the early days, to the "circuit rider," an institution which Methodism did not invent but brought to its fullest flower.

The rider was an itinerant minister, his saddle bags stuffed with scriptures and tracts, who served a circuit of some 20 or 30 points of ministry.

Francis Asbury, the first bishop ordained on American soil, was a circuit rider who estimated that he covered about 6,000 miles a year on horseback, preaching and exhorting.

So many of the early Methodist ministers were circuit riders that the denomination's clergymen seldom lived to a ripe old age, for the circuit was a gruelling experience.

The success of Methodism, especially in the early West, also has been attributed to its ability to match the pioneer spirit of the pioneer spirit of the times. The circuit riders can take a good deal of credit for this, too.

They tell a story of Jesse Walker, one of the early riders of note, who was working inside an enclosure one day when a local tough rode up.

"Parson," snarled the man, "you gotta lick me or git!"

The burly Walker picked up the man by the scruff of his neck and the seat of his pants and heaved him over the fence.

"Now, parson," said the man meekly through a crack in the fence, "if you'll toss my mare over, too, I'll be agoing."

The young ministers who gather Sunday at the Lovely Lane Church have a lot of hardy tradition to live up to.

Rev. Martin On Daily Devotions

The speaker on Daily Devotions for the coming week will be the Rev. A. J. Martin, pastor of the Avenue D Baptist Church.

Daily Devotions is presented daily at 9:15 a.m. Monday through Friday, over KSNY. The program is scheduled by the radio committee of the Snyder Ministerial Alliance.

Between You And Me

By Jerry Jackson

If your picture tube isn't in tip-top shape, then it might be a good idea to call out the emergency repairman in one quick hurry and have it tended to. Not for the bowl games, of course. They're still several days away. So what's to look at today, you ask?

Nothing more nor less than the year's "grid biggie"— the football classic to top all others. It's the pro championship game betwixt the New York Giants and the Baltimore Colts, which is a re-match of last season's crowd-pleaser eventually won by the Colts in an unprecedented overtime session.

The clash of last December is treated with awe and even reverence by those who witnessed and immortalized it. It was called, simply, The Greatest Football Game Ever Played, and it is generally conceded as being so.

The Colts came out on top in that one, although they had to borrow a page from the baseball book and go an "extra inning" to turn the trick. Things were all knotted up at 17-all at the end of the regulation time, thus facilitating the overtime. From that point the Colts took the kick-off and sent the Giants reeling back on their cleated heels as they tried to stop the goalward march. But there was just too much offense at Baltimore's beck and call, with Alan Ameche crashing over from close-in to unknot the count and win the game.

Now, who will win today's game is anybody's guess. Those who should know loudly proclaim that the two teams are as evenly matched as any two teams could possibly be, and that, whoever is fortunate enough to get the "breaks" when needed should cruise the winner's circle.

Both teams have as a backbone of their offense a powerfully proven passing attack to go along with a strong ground game. Ageless, gray-thatched Charlie Conerly tends to the bulk of the Giant chunking chores, and has capable receivers in Frank Gifford, Kyle Rote, and Bob Schnelker.

However, the Johnny Unitas to Ray Berry passing combination with which the rival Colts are blessed is no doubt the most bearaided and probably the most feared of the two. The Unitas-Berry feats are perfection personified. Both are diligent taskmasters who will settle for nothing short of the best on the gridiron, and their brand of play very definitely reflects it.

Berry Sets Woods On Fire

BERRY IS THE pass-snatching prodigal who, although hampered by physical handicaps, has managed to mount the pinnacle of pro football fame. He didn't make any headlines at SMU, being just another squadman while playing college ball there. But there was a radical change when the Mustang became a Colt. He worked at fever's pitch to become the best and has attained that dizzy height even though one leg is shorter than the other and he is forced to seek out passes thrown his way through a pair of contact lenses.

Unitas' Blessed with built-in radar, he is able to hit Berry...or Lenny Moore... or Jim Mutscheller with equal aplomb. He's the best in his trade and he— as do also his opponents— knows it. That fact might be a drawback to performers of lesser stature, who could very easily acquire "big headedness" under such circumstances. But it fails to snuffle the Unitas feathers...the self-assurance only makes him that much better.

One very big factor is in the Colts' favor, and that is that the game is being played in Baltimore. Normally, the site of a game is little more than a fairly insignificant psychological something which can swing a close contest in the home team's favor.

But Baltimore's fans aren't what you would call average run-of-the mill spectators. They are fanatical in their support of the revered Colts, but most important of all they are LOUD fanatics which are the worst kind as far as visiting signal-callers are concerned.

Cain't Yuh Get 'Em To Shuddup, Ref?

IN OTHER WORDS, they yell like crazy. They are, voiceful, vocally virile, vociferous people who can— and probably will— make a babbling Babel out of Conerly's calls, then unite in a mouseful silence when it comes Unitas' turn to run the plays. It's happened on more than one occasion.

On the other hand, Giant fans won't be in line for any sportsmanship awards or good conduct ribbons this season. Many, many hundreds of them showed themselves to be a bit on the violent, rambunctious side of things in the waning moments of the Giant-Cleveland Brown melee of a few weeks ago.

Sympathy was what the Browns needed most at the time. Behind by forty-some-odd to thirteen, their spirits were so low that they would've had to reach up to touch bottom. But those hundreds of fans, the majority of whom were pretty well "tanked up" with assorted brands of 90-proof anti-freeze, proved to be in an un-sympathetic mood.

Failing to be content with a child-like tearing down of the goalposts, they next converged on the Brown bench in an effort to finish off what their beloved Giants had started and perpetuated to such advantage on the field—complete and unconditional annihilation of the hated Clevelanders. Might've done it, too, had not Coach Paul Brown and his already sufficiently maimed proteges quickly hurled their battered bodies into the nearest dressing room.

Brown must've felt a lot like General Custer did at his Last Stand. Or maybe Demetrius.

So the vote from this corner must go to the Colts, strictly on the strength of their fans' assorted vocal chords and the airlift wizardry of said Unitas and Berry. It should be a really fine brawl.

Houston Buzzes With Tournament Hopefuls

HOUSTON (AP) — The skyscrapers in short pants flock into Houston Sunday for the ninth Southwest Conference pre-season basketball tournament with the spotlight on Texas A&M and Southern Methodist.

There will be workouts on a quiet Sunday afternoon but all will be turmoil Monday when Arkansas and Baylor open the tournament at 2 p.m. SMU and Texas Tech clash two hours later. Texas A&M makes its move at 7:30 p.m. against defending conference champion TCU, which hasn't been able to do much defending this season. Rice and Texas wind up the day's work at 9 p.m.

The Aggies, who won the tournament last year by swamping TCU in the finals only to lose out in the championship race because of late season injuries, will be the top choice mainly because of an unbeaten record in five games. A&M, however, has not been really tested playing teams in this area only.

SMU, with a 5-2 record on the other hand has played some of the top teams of the country. The Methodists beat Georgia Tech, rated eighth in the nation, their last time out.

Texas, with a 5-1 record and the leading scoring team in the league with 86 points per game, is considered the dark horse of the tournament.

Texas has two men among the top six scorers, Jay Arnette leading the conference with 155 points in 6 games. Brenton Hughes has 90 points.

The Rice-Texas clash will match the No. 1 and No. 2 scorers—Arnette vs. David Craig, the Rice flash who has piled up 139 points.

A—M is the second scoring team with a 76.4 points average but the long suit of the Aggies is defense. They have given the opposition only 47.8 points per game. This is far and away the best defensive mark in the league.

The team that gets the ball the most, however, is Southern Methodist. The Methodists have grabbed 363 rebounds. The Aggies have managed only 280, which ranks sixth in the conference. Top man on the rebounds for SMU has been giant Steve Strange, who has averaged 10.06 per game.

The hottest shooting team from the floor is Texas, which has cashed in on 546 per cent. Rice, a hot-and-cold outfit, has been the most deadly along the free throw lane. The Owls have done .733.

The draw has made it possible for Texas A&M and Southern Methodist to meet in the finals. Tuesday night the Arkansas-Baylor winner meets the Southern Methodist-Texas Tech victor while the A&M-TCU winner clashes with the Rice-Texas winner.

The finals are Wednesday night.

This might be the last tournament. The coaches are divided on whether it should be continued, pointing out that it brings too much competition inside the conference. It means each team will meet the other three times, since they play each other twice in the championship race.

However, a decision on whether the tournament is to go on will be made at a meeting of conference officials at the NCAA convention in New York next month.

Several Tigers Lead Statistics

Lots of individual stars have been making their presence felt in Tiger cage wars to date, with a variety of leaders nailing down the various statistical categories.

Top pointmaker is Roger McMennamy, with a total of 65, but he is being pressed in this department by Mike Moffett, who has tallied 63.

McMennamy is also running a close race with Alex Cross and Steve Free in percentage of shots made from the field, hitting for 34 per cent as stacked up against their 35. He has seen quite a bit more action and lofted more attempts than either Cross or Free over the span, however.

Bubba Fleming leads the way in free throws, having hit a very commendable 16 of 20. Moffett and McMennamy trail him in this statistical area, each having hit approximately two-thirds of his attempts.

A pair of boys are waging a close race in the important area of rebounding. Charlie Gladson having grabbed off 40 and Jim Robinson snitching 33.

Gladson may also be tabbed "chief workhorse" for his work thus far, as he has appeared in every quarter of every game the Tigers have played up until now, being the only Snyder player to hold that particular distinction.

Complete statistics through games played to date follow:

'FANATICAL' EFFORT URGED

Texas Is Established A Two Touchdown Underdog

By JOE BENHAM

AUSTIN (AP) —The University of Texas resumed Saturday the workouts in which Coach Darrell Royal hopes to inspire the Longhorns for a "fanatical" effort against Syracuse in the Cotton Bowl.

Royal admits it will take such an effort for Texas—a two touchdown underdog to the Eastern champions—to win Friday's clash before 75,000 in Dallas.

The temperature climbed into the high 60s and clouds thinned after three days of damp, cold weather.

Royal planned loosening-up and timing drills and "a little" contact work in the afternoon session.

More contact work will come in the two-a-day practice periods Monday and Tuesday, and at least one more workout will be held before the team leaves for Dallas Wednesday afternoon.

Drills Saturday were aimed primarily at determining how well a half dozen Longhorns have recovered from a rash of minor late-season injuries.

Also present for the workout was Don Allen, hard-hitting senior fullback and defensive specialist who underwent a knee operation near the end of the regular season.

Royal said he gave the team an eight-day break in workouts to take off some pressure from the past season.

"Every team was up for us Saturday after Saturday," Royal said. "Six coaches said their teams played their best games against Texas."

"I was getting tired by the end of the season and I think it was beginning to show on the staff and players," he said.

Royal and his staff spent much of the holiday week looking over films of 6 of the 10 victories this year which propelled Syracuse to top national ranking.

The size of the New York team impressed him more than anything else, although Royal said Syracuse "does everything well."

He described the Orangemen as "huge."

Texas, outweighed three pounds per man, will count primarily on its speed and spirit in the team's ninth bowl outing. Texas has a 5-2-1 in earlier post-season play. The last venture ended in a 39-7 loss to Mississippi in the 1958 Sugar Bowl.

North's All-Stars Clip Gray, 20-8

By REX THOMAS

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A hard-hitting squad of Northern all-stars that performed equally well on the ground and in the air hammered their way to a 20-8 victory over their Dixie rivals in the Blue-Gray football game Saturday.

It gave the Yankees their second triumph in a row, an achievement never before accomplished by the Northerners in the 21-game intersectional series. A crowd of 20,000 sat through the game in 60-degree weather under cloudy skies.

The Blue attack was engineered chiefly by quarterbacks Ross Fichtner of Purdue and Jack Lee of Cincinnati, who handled the passing chores, and Jim Joyce of Maryland, a pile-driving workhorse who ripped through the Gray line time and again.

The Northerners scored twice on short line plunges from the 3 and once on a pass. The Rebs' touchdown came, too, on a pass.

Iowa State quarterback Dwight Nichols put the Blues out in front early in the second period with a 21-yeard scoring pass to Doug Asad of Northwestern in the end zone. Lee kicked the first of two extra points.

Joyce made it a two-touchdown lead later in the period by driving over from the 3 to climax a 77-yard drive.

Leonard Wilson, Purdue halfback, scored a third Yankee touchdown as he dashed across from the 3 in the third quarter.

Vanderbilt's Tom Moore grabbed a 23-yard touchdown pass from Harvey White of Clemson later in the third quarter for the Rebels' only score, then took a pass from quarterback Charlie Milstead of Texas A & M for a two-point conversion.

Conservative Bowl Games Are On Tap

Strong defenses and special incentives indicate hard, conservative football for this weekend's major bowl games.

The program:

Jan. 1

Cotton Bowl — Syracuse (10-0) vs. Texas (9-1) (TV—CBS, 3:30 p.m. EST).

Sugar Bowl — Mississippi (9-1) vs. Louisiana State (9-1) (TV — NBC, 2 p.m. EST).

Rose Bowl—Wisconsin (7-2) vs. Washington (9-1) (TV — NBC, 5 p.m. EST).

Orange Bowl — Missouri (6-4) vs. Georgia (9-1) (TV—CBS, 1 p.m. EST).

Jan. 2

Gator Bowl—Arkansas (8-2) vs. Georgia Tech (6-4) (TV—CBS, 2 p.m. EST).

East-West—All-star teams (TV—NBC, 4:50 p.m. EST).

National champion Syracuse collides with fourth-ranked Texas in a showdown test of its vaunted defense. Despite the fact the Orangemen lead the major schools in scoring average (39 points per game), total offense (451.5 yards) and rushing offense (316.6), it was the toughness of the defense which carried Syracuse to its first unbeaten record in history.

Syracuse's pacesetting figures in total defense (96.2) and rushing defense (19.3) proved second lowest in modern times.

The powerful line led by All-Americas Roger Davis at guard and Fred Mautino at end faces exceptional speed in the Longhorn lineup.

Texas Trains Like Ingo For Syracuse

DALLAS (AP) — Texas has trained for the Cotton Bowl about like Ingemar Johansson did for the Floyd Patterson fight. The Longhorns hope they come out as well.

Johansson, it is to be recalled, knocked out Patterson for the world's heavyweight championship. He did it by uncovering a right hand nobody thought he had. And he was in top condition although being quite unorthodox in his training.

Texas has been quite leisurely about its training while Syracuse, on the other hand, has gotten in every day possible. The Orangemen grudgingly took Christmas Day out for a little party.

Texas, on the other hand, has had only seven days of intensive training and has four more to go. The Longhorns may be hiding a secret weapon much as Johannson did.

Coach Darrell Royal said he gave his team an 8-day break in workouts to take off some of the pressure of the past season. But the coaching staff has been quite busy all the time, studying films and worrying about the nation's college champion, Syracuse, which is undefeated, untied and not too worried.

Texas returned to practice at Austin Saturday and started checking up on what manpower will be available next Friday when the Longhorns meet the Orangemen in the Jan. 1 gridiron classic before 75,504 fans in the Cotton Bowl.

The Longhorns have had aash of minor injuries.

Don Allen, senior fullback who underwent a knee operation near the end of the regular season, is back working out and may get to see some service in the Cotton Bowl game.

Orangemen 'Ready' For Bowl Clash

By JIM KOCH

HOUSTON (AP) —"We're ready to play the game," Syracuse Football Coach Ben Schwartzwalder said Saturday.

As Syracuse marked time for the Cotton Bowl battle against Texas at Dallas next Friday, Schwartzwalder still was concerned at minor but nagging ailments that slowed four key runners.

But the situation had brightened considerably with the sunshine that sent the mercury soaring into the 70s at the University of Houston training camp.

Sophomore Halfback Ernie Davis had some pain from muscle soreness in his upper left thigh, but he was able to run lightly in the morning and afternoon drills.

Swelling in Wingback Mark Weber's twisted right knee has lessened. Pete Brokaw, the second unit tailback, is expected to play against Texas despite a still-unhealed chipped bone in his right forearm.

Doctors aren't quite sure what is wrong.

Nichols, from Cortland, N. Y., soaked the foot today, as he did last night. He was the only one of the four who missed the double drill.

Quarterbacks Dave Sarette and Dick Easterly whipped the squad through passing formations in the morning session. Schwartzwalder concentrated on running plays in the afternoon. The bantam-size coach said his team was well advanced at this stage over last year, when Syracuse was readying to beat Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl.

Olmeda Wins His First Pro Match

MELBOURNE (AP)—Alex Olmedo, the Peruvian star of the last two U.S. Davis Cup teams, won his first match as a professional tennis player Saturday, defeating Australia's Frank Sedgman 11-9, 6-1. Olmedo's victory came in the first round of a $13,440 pro tournament at Kooyong Courts. Olmedo lost his first two pro matches, both to Lew Hoad.

Filchock May Be Denver Club Coach

CALGARY, Alberta (AP)—The Calgary Herald says Frank Filchock is being considered as head coach of the Denver entry in the new American Football League.

Filchock, an assistant coach of the Calgary Stampeders of the western Canada Interprovincial Football Union, said the story is "news to me."

Colts, Giants In Collision Today

By GEORGE BOWEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts and New York Giants come together Sunday with the force of two express trains on the same track.

Rarely has a championship sports event matched such explosive ingredients as their return go for the kingpin of the National Football League.

As teams, the Colts stalk on stage as the most irresistible goalline crosser of the 12-team league this season. The Giants shape up opposite them as the most immovable on defense.

Out of the abundance of individual stars, in the spotlight are quarterback Johnny Unitas of the Colts, elected the outstanding player of all during the last campaign, and linebacker Sam Huff of the Giants, voted the best lineman.

On top of all that, there is the memory of last year's never-to-be-forgotten championship playoff between the same antagonists, which the Colts won in football's first overtime, 23-17.

Such prospective fireworks has sold out Baltimore Memorial Stadium's 57,557 seats, and will keep millions more with their eyes glued telvision sets on NBC-stations in 44 states.

The TV warm-up starts at 1:45 p.m. (EST) and the playing at 2:05. If the length of the show has to go beyond the regular four 15-minute quarters because of a tie, the same sudden-death rules as last year's historic event will apply.

After a three-minute rest, they'll toss a coin for kicking off and start playing 15-minute quarters again. The first team to score will win.

Goals will be changed after each 15 minutes if there is no score, but there will be no kick-off in a necessary third quarter—such as the second half of a normal game.

The Colts, winner in the West with a 9-3 record, are 3½ point favorites over the Giants, conquerors of the East with a 10-2 performance.

Matthews-Busso Bout Postponed

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Promoter Herman Taylor announced Saturday the Jan. 25 fight between Philadelphia's Len Matthews and Johnny Busso of New York has been postponed until Feb. 1. The promoter said the switch was made so the nontelevision bout would not conflict with the annual Philadelphia Sports Writers Assn. dinner scheduled Jan. 25.

Total mutual handle at Balmoral, Arlington Park and Washington Park race meetings during 1959 was $108,844,432, a decrease for the Illinois tracks from 1958 of $150,379.

Sun Bowl Contest Doubly Important To Herring Family

Two of the outstanding southwestern grid titans will clash in El Paso's Sun Bowl on December 31, as North Texas State and New Mexico State take the field against each other.

It will also be a time for the renewing of friendships, however, as the W. G. Herring family of 3006 41st Street, Snyder, travel to the Border City to see their son play and to once again see and talk to head coach Warren Woodson of New Mexico State.

Their son, George, is an outstanding tackle for the North Texas Staters, having bolstered the Eagle line for the past three seasons and nailed down a slot on the All-Missouri Valley Conference team of the past two seasons.

It was back in the year 1930, though, that Woodson was just beginning what was to be a most successful coaching career, and one of the individuals who helped him along during that time was W. G. Herring, who played fullback at Texarkana Junior College in that period.

Several years after that the Herrings set up residence in Snyder, where both George and his older brother Bill grew up both physically and athletically.

Bill eventually chose Hardin-Simmons University as the college of his choice, with Woodson playing a big part in the decision, as he was coaching there at the time.

Woodson also kept in contact with the younger George while he was a junior in Snyder High, but the next year found him leaving H-SU in order to take over the coaching job at the University of Arizona, with George heading in the other direction and enrolling at NTSC.

The Bill Herrings, also staunch North Texas followers, now live in Peoria, Illinois, and have one daughter. They, along with mom and dad Herring, plan to be in El Paso for the big post-season clash, at which time they will all be able to visit with Woodson again and re-live past gridiron feats.

Player Finally Wins From Bolt

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — British Open Champion Gary Player of South Africa finally won a match from former U.S. Open king Tommy Bolt in their pro golf challenge series Saturday.

Player, who lost the first three of the five-match series, scored a 7 and 6 victory at the Bemoni Country Club. Player was nine under par for the 36 holes played.

Palcic Signed For Plainview

KANSAS CITY (AP)— Michael John Palcic, 19, first baseman from Des Moines, Iowa, has been signed by the Kansas City Athletics to play with Plainview, Tex., of the Sophomore League.

The 200-pound, 6 foot 3 athlete, lettered in football, basketball and baseball at Dowling High School in Des Moines.

Legislature Provides Top Texas Story

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Staff Writer

Texas newspaper editors named the sound and fury and the solemn deliberations of the Texas Legislature the top news story in the state in 1959.

But the legislators barely nosed out a pair of spectacular happenings.

Voted the No. 2 story were Louisiana Gov. Earl Long and his antics during his mental treatment in Galveston and his later vacation through the state.

Named the No. 3 story was the Braniff Airways disaster in which 34 persons died.

Here were the top stories the editors selected:

1. The Legislature.
2. Gov. Long in Texas.
3. The plane crash.
4. Mad bomber kills six persons, including three children in Houston.
5. Sen. Lyndon Johnson's campaigning apparently to test his chances for the Democratic presidential nomination.
6. The fires and explosions aboard the Amoco Virginia in the Houston ship channel which took eight lives.
7. Quintuplets born to Lt. and Mrs. Charles Hannan in San Antonio.
8. Hurricane Debra, which caused extensive damage on the Gulf coast.
9. The troubles of John Milton Addison, uranium upgrader promoter.
10. Tornadoes, floods, cold and other weather.

The legislative session had a special, built-in drama—the conflict of forces on taxes and expenditures and the race to keep the state from technically going broke. It didn't solve all its problems as attested by the current discussion of a possible special session.

Gov. Long was taken from Baton Rouge on what his relatives and friends hoped would be a hush-hush trip to Texas for mental treatments. Even the plane's flight plan was faked.

But they discounted the enterprise of the Galveston News and Tribune staff, which dug out the story.

From that point on his antics and the maneuvering of the politicians in Louisiana were front-page material.

So was his July 11 flight to Fort Worth on a vacation, when he startled newsmen by appearing with his head hooded so photographers could not take his picture. It made an even better picture.

The plane crash which took 34 lives occurred over Buffalo, in Central Texas Sept. 29. Witnesses' stories show the plane exploded or came apart in the air. Federal authorities still have not issued their final report on what their detective methods have disclosed as to the cause.

September was a tragic month. In the same month as the plane crash, an obvious madman detonated a homemade bomb on the grounds of Edgar Allen Poe Elementary School in Houston. He was Paul Orgeron, 47, a tile contractor. He killed himself, his son, redhaired, second-grader dusty Paul Orgeron, 7 two other youngsters, a teacher and a custodian. Eighteen other persons were hospitalized, and two of the victims suffered leg amputations.

On Sept. 29, a school bus and a truck collided near Cooper, killing eight teachers and pupils.

Also that month, three state leaders died. They were federal judge and former Gov. James V. Allred, oilman Sid Richardson and Houston Chronicle Managing Editor Rod Watts.

The Lyndon Johnson for president campaign was set off by Speaker Sam Rayburn. Johnson has not yet formally announced. But after a lengthy speaking tour through Texas, he invaded other states, and reports indicate he received much encouragement.

The Amoco Virginia, a tanker, caught fire and burned in the Houston ship channel Nov. 8. The captain, six crewmen and a city fireman died. The channel was blocked to traffic for days because of gasoline on the water.

The birth of the quints in San Antonio occurred Oct. 20. They had small chance for survival and the last one died the next day.

Addison was accused of theft, conspiracy and violation of state security laws in connection with his obtaining a million dollars from about 500 persons in 24 states. In a trial in San Antonio, two of the charges were dropped and he was acquitted of the third. But he still faces Federal Securition.

Many other stories received votes in the annual poll. But insufficient to place them in the top 10.

They included:

Flash floods in the Hill Country Oct. 3-4.

The McBirnie case—a minister who ran away with a parishioner.

The three-way Southwest Conference football tie and the football campaign.

Crash of a DC3 with Idaho national guardsmen Feb. 1 with loss of three lives.

Visit of Fidel Castro and his brother to Texas April 27-28.

Collision of two cars which took 10 lives near Alamo Feb. 15.

Jimmy Hoffa's threat of a nationwide strike if anti-trust laws applied to unions, made in a speech in Brownsville.

Frank Windsor kills one man and holds four hostage before being captured in a Dallas gun battle May 25.

Two women embezzle $130,516 from Jacksonville bank, disclosed Aug. 13.

One of the major continuing stories of the year was the illness of Walter Williams, last survivor of the Cvil War. He died Dec. 19, shortly after the news poll was taken.

Joke Leads To 7 Lbs.

NEW YORK (AP)—Sometimes you get joshing about something you maybe are going to do—and bingo, you're roped into it.

That's the way Lynn Porter said he came to have Chirstmas dinner in London after a jet flight from New York earlier in the day.

Porter, 44, a restaurant owner from Penn Yan, N.Y., ate a meal at London's fashionable Mayfair Hotel.

Porter weighed 193 pounds when he took off from Idlewild Airport. When he returned Christmas night he weighed 200 pounds. This was what he had for Christmas dinner: 16 creamed oysters, two dover soles, roast Norfolk goose, a two-pound pudding smothered in brandy, black English tea, champagne and liqueur.

On the return flight, Porter said, he "dined lavishly."

The whole affair including two-way transportation, set him back $840. Porter said the trip was a result of "just making small talk, then it became kind of a joke, and then I was committed to it."

Ike-Herter Talks Due

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower wants to discuss with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter a possible new date for a East-West summit conference suggested by Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

Associate presidential press secretary Anne Wheaton reported this Saturday but said she was unable to say when the Eisenhower-Herter discussion may be held.

Herter is out of Washington for the holiday period and the President is scheduled to leave for an Augusta, Ga., vacation Sunday.

Khrushchev Friday accepted a western invitation to a conference in Paris but rejected the proposed April 27 date. He suggested instead that the conference be held either April 21 or May 4.

DICKY HARDEE

Scurry Youth Wins Honors

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Hardee, Route 1, Hermleigh, have been informed that their son, Dicky Hardee, was named recently to Who's Who In American Colleges and Universities at Texas Tech.

Hardee, a 1956 graduate of Snyder High School, was one of 24 students receiving the honor, based on excellence in scholarship, leadership, character and service to the student body.

Highlights of his college activities include serving as president of the Agronomy Club for 1959, vice president of Alpha eta for 1959, member of the 1958 crops judging team, recipient of Western Compress and Storage scholarship, member of Phi Eta Sigma and Phi Kappa Phi. His overall grade point average, based on the 3.00 system of grading, is 2.56.

Hardee is married to the former Patricia Ann Gage, a 1958 graduate of Snyder High School, and they have one son, Steve, two months old.

Youth Held In Slaying

HIGH POINT, N. C. (AP)—A 20-year-old youth was held on a first degree murder charge today after telling police he had shot his father for choking his girl friend in a Christmas Day argument.

The youth, Aaron F. Tucker, said his father had been drinking moonshine whisky and began squabbling with his girl friend over use of the telephone in the father's home.

Young Tucker said his father had seized the girl and begun choking her. He said he and a brother, Ronnie Lee, 17, had tried to stop their father but were unable to do so. Then, he said, he got his father's .38-caliber revolver and shot him.

The father, J. C. Tucker, 52, died of 11 bullet wounds in the back and head.

Young Tucker told officers he had taken his girl friend, Ruby Faye Thomas, 27, to the house for a Christmas visit. After their arrival, he said, his father went out and bought a gallon of moonshine. The argument ensued after about half had been consumed.

Grain Futures Finish Firm

By GIL MAYO
AP Business News Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — One brief burst of buying provided the margins by which the grain futures market finished the week in a steady to firm range.

Until a border dispute between Iran and Iraq hit newspaper headlines Wednesday with a possible threat of armed conflict between the two nations, the market dragged along generally in small price fluctuations, rye and soybeans excepted.

The appearance of the headlines brought active general short covering into the market and advances of a cent or more developed in all pits.

Rye and soybeans were up and down on mixed influences, none of which appeared likely to establish a trend either way. Dealers explained the market behaviour by saying it had headed into the usual dull holiday business.

Corn was the only general loser for the week and the setbacks there were in minimum fractions. Wheat, with the March delivery up two cents, was the broadest gainer although rye and soybeans were strong in spots.

Wheat derived most of its support from a good volume of export business and word the Department of Agriculture had boosted its estimate of overseas shipments for the year by 15 million bushels to 425 million.

Corn continued under moderate pressure because of the government report which showed a disappointly small volume of that grain going into the government loan during November. However, some dealers pointed out that could have been expected since much of the crop at harvest time contained far too much moisture o be eligible for government loan until it had been dried out. They predicted the next report or two would show heavy loan commitments.

At the end of the week, wheat was ⅛-2 cents a bushel higher, March $2.03⅛-¼; corn unchanged to ¼ lower, March $1.13; oats ¼- higher, March 75½; rye ¼ lower to 1½ higher, March $1.28¾; soybeans ⅛-1¾ higher, January $2.11¾-½.

Outstanding JP Is Dead At 81

ALCE (AP) — Judge Brown Daniel last year as the state's outstanding justice of the peace, died Friday of a circulatory ailment.

He was born on July 4th in 1878 and died on Crhistmas day. He had lived in this South Texas city 65 years.

A son, Sam Fuller, and two daughters, all of Alice, survive. They are Mrs. Lillian Stetle and Mrs. Pauline Klegg.

Texas Solon Says Cost Of Troops Abroad Can Be Cut

AP Special Service

WASHINGTON, (AP) — West Texas Rep. J. T. Rutherford, a World War II combat Marine, says the high cost of maintaining U.S. forces abroad could be greatly reduced without sacrificing security.

One way, he says, would be to keep Army and Air Force wives and children at home— a policy followed by the Marines with respect to its personnel overseas. Another would be to cut down or eliminate what he called "luxury frills and teen-age canteens."

"We are required by our own people to keep up these costly practices," he said.

Although not a member of the House Armed Services Committee Rutherford, a resident of Odessa, keeps himself informed on the military situation. A captain in the marine reserves, he attends a weekly reserve meeting when Congress is in session. He recently returned from a two-week active duty tour which took him to American military bases in Germany, Spain and Turkey.

A consistent foe of foreign aid, Rutherford said he saw nothing abroad which would cause him to vote for such appropriations next year.

"That isn't in my field of study, however," he continued. "I did not go into the expenditures of European countries with military aid money we appropriate. My tour was limited to operations at our own bases."

Acknowledging that the idea of requiring families of Army and Air Force personnel to remain at home would stir protests, Rutherford suggested this objection could be partially met by reducing the length of time a man is required to serve abroad.

Under the present order of things, he said, location of a large Air Force or Army base abroad results also in creation of a virtual American city...housing for the families, schools for the children, hospital care, and services found in any community.

He said still another reason for the high cost of maintaining American forces overseas is because "foreign powers where we locate requires us to spend much more than we should. We over-build and we take up lands in excess of our needs."

He would get around that cost by putting more money into combat-ready naval units, such as the Mediterranean fleet.

"The seas are free," he declared. "We would have to ask permission of NO one, pay NO rent.

"There are also some other advantages in addition to economy. A moving fleet would NOT be fixed the target as is a fixed installation. Yet, with missile launching ships it constitutes a powerful striking force."

Suit Settled By Liberace

LONDON (AP) — Liberace's British attorney has announced settlement of a legal action brought by the American TV entertainer against a London revue.

Liberace claimed he was libeled and slandered in the Apollo Theater show "For Amusement Only" which closed last fall. Writs were issued against comedian Jimmy Thompson, who appeared in a Liberace skit, scriptwriter Peter Myers and the theatrical production firm of Linnit and Dunfee.

In a Christmas holiday statement, attorney David Jacobs said the British defendants have apologized to Liberace, paid his costs "and at his request made a donation to the Actors' Benevolent Fund."

Stock Market In Decline For Week

NEW YORK (AP)—In light pre-Christmas trading, the stock market declined this week for the first time in five weeks.

The trend was confused most of the time as yearend transactions continued to create cross currents. Volume declined progressively from Monday to Christmas Eve which produced the smallest turnover in more than two months.

The week's volume of 11,447,114 shares was not comparable with the previous week's volume of 16,093,722 shares because the Christmas holiday cut this week to four trading sessions. The daily average of 2,861,778 shares, however, was the smallest since the week ended Oct. 24 when the average was 2,777,361 shares.

A scattering of stocks had some wide moves but the most significant development from the technician's angle was the fact that the Dow Jones industrial average failed again to keep above an intra-day high which would have put the closing average at a new record top. The Dow industrials recorded a similar failure the week before.

The Dow made this move on Monday, the only three-million-share day of the week. It took but a moderate gain to push the Dow above the historic high of 678.10 reached last Aug. 3 and at 2 p.m. Monday it stood at 678.63. By the close, however, it was down to 675.92 and no record was made.

This average took a net loss on the week of 5.96, closing at 670.69.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell $1.30 to $228.00.

Of the 1,430 issues traded during the week, 724 lost ground while 533 advanced. New highs totaled 52 and new lows for the year 115.

Volume on the bond market for the holiday-shortened week declined to $25,845,000 par value from $33,410,000 a week ago. Trading for the corresponding week in 1958 was $17,741,000.

Bye Bye Byrd was the leading money winning pacer at the Yonkers, N. Y., track in 1959. He earned $84,875.

Johnson Happy With Busy Political Slate

Editor's note—Can the middle of the road lead to the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination? Some think it can, and that Lyndon Johnson may be the man to do it. Here's an assessment of the Senate majority leader's position, personality and prospects. ?—?

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

With a sly smile, Lyndon Baines Johnson told an audience of home folk in Texas recently he seldom thinks of politics more than 18 hours a day.

This was by way of admission that the Senate's Democratic leader is up to his chin in the kind of activity he hopes will give him another six-year term in Washington, solidify even more firmly his party command position and—perhaps—lead to the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination.

Johnson's chief political aim right now is to cinch renomination for the Senate next year. If a whirlwind barnstorming tour into every section of Texas can do it, he hopes to scare potential opponents off the senatorial range.

In January, Johnson leaves the cow country trappings behind and steps back into the arena of the Senate. There his strategic direction of a Democratic majority festooned with presidential hopefuls may call the turn on his own political future.

There will be no easy going for Johnson. He will be the bobbing, weaving man in the middle between liberals demanding a strong civil rights law and Southerners fighting a stubborn rear-guard action.

He must handle with gloves three presidential aspirants in Sens. John Kennedy of Massachusetts, Stuart Symington of Missouri and Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota.

He will be under fire from liberals such as Sen. William Proxmire of Wisconsin, who doesn't like what he calls Johnson's high-handed dictation of majority policy. He will rub up against the sandpaper opposition of other liberals like Sen. Paul Douglas of Illinois, who says that, as a Southerner, Johnson won't do for the party's presidential nominee.

He will face almost certain disagreement from the Democratic Advisory Council for the middle road course he has made it clear he will continue to pursue.

But Johnson, the lanky, dark and handsome grandson of an Indian fighter, has proved himself alternately a fighter when he needs to be and a pacifier if that course beckons.

Pushed into the presidential race by Speaker Sam Rayburn, Johnson smiles and says nothing beyond the statement he made on a national television program recently that if the July convention should ask him to serve as its nominee, he would "have a look at it." Most friends think it wouldn't take a long look, either.

As a country-born poor boy who worked his way through a small college and got into politics after a brief teaching career, Johnson has a rich political background.

He served as a New Deal liberal in the House for five terms before he was elected to the Senate in 1948. That controversial battle, where he beat former Gov. Coke Stevenson by 87 votes out of a million cast, is a part of Texas political legend.

In the Senate, Johnson swung back toward the center politically, becoming as he likes to call it a "moderate."

He still believes, he says, that the great majority of Democrats are "tired and weary of the loud voices on the fringes of our political life." He thinks most Democrats want—and this is the area in which his chances for the nomination lie—to stay within a "broad middle ground of reason and sanity."

This is the Johnson approach to the Senate leadership to which he was elected in 1953 as the youngest man ever to occupy that important and powerful job. This is his reasoning in his running battle with the party's liberals who want to make issues with the Republicans through wide-ranging congressional proposals.

But Johnson believes there are times when party matters must be transcended in the interest of national good.

"I am a free man, an American, a United States senator and a Democrat, in that order," he says. "I am also a liberal, a conservative, a Texan, a taxpayer, a rancher, a business man, a consumer, a parent, a voter and not as young as I used to be or as old as I expect to be—and I am all those things in no fixed order."

At 51, Johnson appears fully recovered from his 1955 heart attack. At 185 pounds he is still a little heavier than the doctors would like him to be. Neither has he paid any attention to their advice to slow down a bit. His inner drive keeps him going at top speed all day and it is only after sundown, when cronies gather for a few quick ones, that he ever seems to relax.

Johnson is a man of many prides. He is proud of his pioneer ancestors, of his family, of his ranch, of Texas and of the United States. He brags about the business acumen of his attractive, dark-haired wife, Lady Bird. He is proud of their two daughters, Lynda Bird, 15, and Lucy Baines, 12.

In Texas, Johnson lives the life of the modestly rich man that he is. His ranch on the usually placid Pedernales River near his hometown of Johnson City, Tex., is a showplace.

On any warm day when he isn't out campaigning, Johnson can be found floating in the tepid water of his kidney-shaped swimming pool. And usually he will be talking long distance on a telephone equipped with a shockproof extension cord.

Johnson's critics in Texas and beyond accuse him of inordinate, self-centered ambition and oversize personal vanity. Some of his Senate colleagues think him overbearing. Others are lost in admiration for his efficiency.

In any event, Johnson has formidable assets in his personal charm, his capacity for logical argument, shrewd timing, and a sure political sense amounting to a touch of genius at times.

Population Of Texas Up 23.4 Per Ct.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Census Bureau said Saturday that Texas' population has increased by July 1 23.4 per cent to 9,513,000 since 1950. The national population increased 17 per cent.

The bureau estimated that the total population was 176,365,000 July 1. This compared with 150,697,361 at the time of the last big census April 1, 1950.

Another census will be taken next april 1 and that will show a population of about 180 million.

Nevada showed the greatest population growth between the 1950 census and mid-1959. Its populace expanded by 74.9 per cent. Florida was second with a 71.8 per cent gain.

The West once again showed the greatest rate of population gain among the four major regions. Its population increased by 32.3 per cent, or nearly double the national average. For other regions, the gains were: north central states, 16.7 per cent; the South 15.5 per cent, and the Northeast, 11.2 per cent.

New York 16,495,000; California 14,639,000; Pennsylvania 11,323,000; Illinois 10,205,000; Ohio 9,700,000 and Texas 9,513,000.

Other population increases showed Oklahoma with 2,276,000, up 1.9 per cent from the 2,233,315 of 1950; New Mexico, 879,000, up 29 per cent from 681,187 in 1950; Louisiana 3,116,000, up 18 per cent from 2,683,516 and Colorado 1,682,000, up 26.9 per cent from 1,325,089 in 1950.

Arkansas at 1,744,000 was down 8.7 per cent from 1,909,511 in 1950.

MRS. ROBERT N. JAMES

Miss French Weds Robert N. James In Hamlin Ceremony

HAMLIN — Laveta Mae French of Arlington and Robert Norman James of Snyder exchanged wedding vows in the First Methodist Church Tuesday, Dec. 22, on the wedding anniversary of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. French of Stamford.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm James of Snyder.

The Rev. Edmund Robb, pastor, officiated at the 6 p.m. double ring rites. Wedding music was presented by Mrs. Clara Dwiggins of Anson, organist, and Dorothy King of Snyder, soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street length sheath dress of white satin, designed with a scalloped bateau neckline, cummerbund and satin overskirt. Her veil was shoulder length.

She carried a cascade arrangement of white orchids and stock on a white Bible. For something old she wore her mother's old wedding ring.

Ushers and candlelighters were Marlin James of Snyder, brother of the bridegroom, and Andy French, Jr. brother of the bride.

The reception was in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stephens. Members of the houseparty were, Janell Mitchell and Jane Johnson of Arlington, Ann Richey of Hamlin and Linda Dwiggins of Anson.

The couple will reside at 317 Jeanette Street in Abilene.

A graduate of Hamlin High School and McMurry College, the bride is a teacher at J. I. Carter Junior High School in Arlington. She was a member of Gamma Sigma social club at McMurry.

The bridegroom was graduated from Snyder High School and attended Ranger Junior College. He is a senior at McMurry College, Abilene.

The bride's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner Monday evening in the City Cafe in Hamlin.

Frank Wilson's To Be Honored

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilson will honor them with a Friendship Shower Tuesday evening at 7 p.m.

The event will be held at the Ennis Creek school house. All Scurry County friends of the couple are cordially invited.

The couple recently had the misfortune of losing their home and all their clothing in a fire.

PUMPKIN CUSTARD

INGREDIENTS: 1 large egg, 1 cup canned pumpkin, ½ cup firmly-packed light brown sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, ¼ teaspoon ginger, ½ cup undiluted evaporated milk, ½ cup heavy cream.

METHOD: In a medium-sized mixing bowl beat egg enough to blend yolk and white. Stir in pumpkin, brown sugar, salt, cinnamon, nutmeg, ginger, milk and cream. Turn into four 6-ounce heat-resistant glass custard cups set cups in a pan of hot water; have water come up to about the height of the pumpkin mixture. Bake in a slow (325 degrees) oven 40 to 50 minutes or until set-looking; knife inserted near center will not come out clean. Remove from hot water; cool, cover and chill. Serve in cups with topping of chipped cream or small scoop of vanilla ice cream. Makes 4 large servings.

PEPPER STEAK

INGREDIENTS: 1 pound boneless flank steak (trimmed of fat and partly frozen), 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 2 tablespoons imported soy sauce, 1 clove garlic (crushed), 1 teaspoon sugar, 1 tablespoon dry sherry, 2 tablespoons salad oil, 3 medium-sized green peppers (cut in wide strips), ½ cup water.

METHOD: Slice steak into strips about 1 inch wide and ⅛ inch thick. Coat with mixture of cornstarch, soy sauce, garlic, sugar and sherry. Heat 1 tablespoon of the oil in a 10-inch skillet; add the green peppers and cook a few minutes; remove with slotted spoon. Add remaining tablespoon of oil to skillet; heat. Add meat and brown quickly, turning with a wide spatula. Return peppers to pan; add water. Cook and stir gently until small amount of sauce thickens. Peppers will be bright green and crisp. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

MRS. MELVIN H. DELANEY

Ann Freeman, Melvin Delaney Exchange Vows In Abilene

Wedding vows were exchanged by Ann Kathryne Freeman and Melvin H. Delaney in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Freeman of Abilene, Thursday, December 24, at 4 p.m. The double ring ceremony was read by Joe Marshall, associate professor of education at Abilene Christian College and minister of the Church of Christ at Hermleigh.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. William H. Delaney of Breckenridge.

Music was provided by a group from Abilene Christian College, with Paul Smith of Tuscaloosa, Alabama, as soloist.

Te bride was given in marriage by her father. She was wearing a short gown, an original model of ice-blue rosepoint lace over satin designed with a fitted bodice and bouffant skirt. Acents of satin were at the neckline and waist. Her hat of white velvet was accented with pearls and iridescent sequins. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis.

The bride's attendant was Aleen Broyles of Abilene. Her gown was styled similarly to that of the bride's, and was fashioned of imported satin in Dior blue. She wore matching accessories, and carried a nosegay of white frenched carnations.

The groom was attended by his brother, Pfc. Dewey Don Delaney, of Fort Ord, California.

A reception followed the ceremony. The table was laid with an imported ivory linen cloth, and appointments were in silver and crystal.

The ceremony was attended by realtives only. Guests from Stamford, Crane, Lueders, and Fort Ord, Clif, were present.

The bride is a graduate of Abilene Christian High School and Abilene Christian College, where she was a member of the Campus Service Organization, Student Education Association, Kappa Delta Pi, orchestra, A Cappella Chorus, and Pandora social club. She is employed as a teacher in the Syder schools. The bridegroom was graduated from Crane High School and Abilene Christian College, where he was a member of the Wildcat band, Student Education Association, orchestra, Orphesian Society of Music, and Music Educators National Conference. He is employed as band director at Wilson High School in Wilson, Texas.

For going away, the bride chose a royal blue wool suit, and a matching satin hat. Her accessories were black, and her corsage was an orchid from her bouquet.

After a wedding trip to East Texas, the couple will make their home in Lubbock.

The Ninety and Nine Were Safe; — But One!?

Yule Cards May Point To Trend

NEW YORK (AP) — If the Christmas cards of the television stars are any indication of a trend, they point in the direction of earnest — often religiously inspired — messages of good cheer.

Few nowadays are moved to use photographs of themselves and even fewer send comic cards for the holiday.

The cards of both Garry Moore and Perry Como, for instance, are strongly religious in theme — Moore's, an angel and Como's, the three kings of Orient.

Robert Taylor sent a card with a nature scene — he is a sportsman — while Eydie Gorme's and Steve Lawrence's card was a simple and elegant expression of season's greetings — no decoration.

Shari Lewis' card was illustrated by a cartoon of Lampchop, her little puppet, and that of Tony Bennett was decorated with a drawing of phonograph records whose centers are sparkling gilt.

Betty Furness sent a card covered with traditional Christmas tree decorations; Sid Caesar's was a handsome orange, pink and gold design of Oriental flavor.

George Gobel chose a card with a dancing, gay Santa Claus figure, simple card of red and gold blocks.

David Jansen's card was a picture of the three wise men; Paul Winchell's also had a religious theme; Gene Barry's carried a "Peace on Earth" message, Shelley Berman's, a pair of cute angels, and the McGuire Sisters, of course, three little singing angels.

Jackie Gleason either ordered too many cards last year or liked them enough to reorder: his red plush and gold card was a repeat of 1958.

On NBC's live report of the President's homecoming Tuesday night, it looked as though Vice President Richard M. Nixon was so eager to greet his chief that he was ahead of Mrs. Eisenhower at the foot of the ramp. NBC, a lot of young hopefuls will be interested to learn, is so anxious to find new talent that it will start holding screen tests: Sounds more like an answer to CBS' talent search than a brand new concept. Pat Boone's choice of the big song hits for the 1950s include "Everybody Loves a Lover," "April Love," "Too Young," "Stranger in Paradise" and "The Whole World." At least those are the ones he has chosen for his yearend show Dec. 31.

Ben Flynn, CBS producer of its radio "Hidden Revolution" series had no sooner finished the Jan. 5 show, exploring the peripatetic habits of Americans — one out of five families move each year — than he was transferred to Washington. Hasn't been able to find an apartment.

Killed In Car Crash

HARLINGEN (AP)— Ascension Ramirez, 27, of Harlingen, was killed late Friday night when his car struck a palm tree about a mile west of here.

AMUSEMENT

BREATHTAKING—That's the word for Walt Disney's latest feature, "Third Man On The Mountain," starring Michael Rennie and Janet Munro. It starts Sunday, Jan. 3, at the Palace Theater.

Girls Air Pet Gripes About Boys

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

A list of pet gripes boys have about girls appearing in this space made some girls fighting mad. Now according to the girls, boys have so many faults it is a wonder the girls ever give them a second glance.

A group of girls from Erie, Pa., has composed a list of gripes entitled "Our Opinion of Boys." They'd like to see it passed on to other girls and boys, they say, and hope the boys will take the hint. Here goes:

FAUX PAS: There are boys who spend all their time when out with a girl talking about their old flames.

IRRESPONSIBLE: When a fellow gets mad for some reason or other he's likely to drive like a demon.

MOOCHER: On the first date a boy spends a little money on a girl and expects her to give it back to him in tons of affection.

IMMODEST: Some of the beach trunks boys wear simply should not be allowed.

COMPLAINERS: They often take off on the topic of girls who wear lipstick but that doesn't keep them from trying to date the girls.

INCONSISTENT: There are boys who will offer a girl cigarettes and when she takes one (to be a good sport) they talk about her.

RUDE: They never open the car door on dates.

ROMEOS: Some boys want their dates to park all the time. If the girls refuse to park, the boys tab them as "squares."

ENIGMA: There are boys who telephone you at the last moment for a date, and then expect you to accept.

THOUGHTLESS: They never help you with your coat.

The point is that young girls should realize that nobody forces them to go out with boys who do not measure up to their expectations. But it is hard to convince a young girl that she should wait for the right boy to come along.

Some boys do try to make a girl jealous by talking about their old girls. And some do call at the last moment for a date because often they don't get around to it until then.

But a boy who insists on parking and mooching against a girl's wishes or demands affection because he has dated a girl should be dropped from her golden book. Ditto the speed demon.

Boys consider themselves good critics of women, and love the role, so the fact that he says he doesn't like lipstick just puts him in a class with his Dad who probably complained about the same thing in his dating days.

The fact that boys do not open car doors or help a girl with her coat can be understood because they probably have never been taught to do it. Once reminded in a nice way, a young man could be more considerate.

Their beach trunks could come in for some criticism, no doubht, but so would many bathing suits worn by girls, particularly the scanty Bikini type suits.

And there is no reason to smoke a cigarette just because he offers you one. He would naturally get the impression that a girl smokes all the time if she accepts one from him.

50's Mark Panic By Film Industry

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — After years of great prosperity, the film industry started to panic as the 1950s began.

Folks were beginning to stay away from movie theaters in large crowds. They had a new gadget in their living rooms—television. Imagine seeing pictures on a little box right in your own home!

Of course, what they saw was nothing special. It was largely visual radio with the best and worst of vaudeville thrown in. But the novelty was enough to intrigue a public that was fed up with the formula of the Hollywood product.

Within two years after bigtime TV came in, movie attendance had dropped one-third. Foreign receipts were up, but not enough to absorb the shock of the domestic decline. And much of the overseas money was frozen.

The studios were in trouble. There was a wave of layoffs and shutdowns. Then the industry found a new craze to put life back into the theaters — the third dimension.

the New York debut of "This Is Cinerama." The new process aimed three projectors at a giant wraparound screen. It made viewers feel they were really riding the roller coaster they watched on the screen.

Two months later, a quickie called "Bwana Devil" opened in Hollywood. It was a sensation because it featured an almost-forgotten stunt of creating a three-dimensional effect by use of two screen images and polarized glasses.

Inspired by the interest in new screen dimensions, 20th Century-Fox boldly converted all its production to Cinemascope. The process used one camera and squeezed a wide-screen image onto normal-size film.

Paramount brought out Vistavision. Mike Todd came along with Todd-AO and other processes followed. They helped business, but still weren't enough to bring back Hollywood's oldtime economy.

The old regimes began to fall. Louis B. Mayer was eased out of MGM by his old foe, Nick Schenck. Then Schenck himself stepped out as president, and MGM had a bitter proxy fight. The Warner Brothers sold out to a combine headed by Serge Senenenko, though keeping production control.

One-man rule at Columbia ended when Harry Cohn died. Darryl anuck departed as boss of 20th-Fox and was succeeded by Buddy Adler. Howard Hughes gained full ownership of RKO, let it drift, then sold out to General Tire and Rubber Co. for 25 million.

The RKO sale broke the solid front against selling old films to TV. The firm's 740 features were poured into the TV market. Needing immediate assets to bolster their economies, the other major companies followed suit. They also began selling off real estate. U-I sold its vast lot to Music Corporation of America for 11 million, then leased back space for filming.

These measures helped restore black ink to the ledgers. But they were only stopgaps. Much more was needed to keep the studios on a paying basis.

Panel Truck Hits Couple

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Edwin Dunhoff lay in a hospital bed Christmas Day and talked about the hit-and-run accident that put him there and, though he didn't know it, killed his blind wife.

"I was selling pencils, hoping to make a few extra dollars to buy Christmas gifts for our nieces and nephews," said the 50-year-old Dunhoff, himself blinded shortly after birth.

"Last thing I knew that darn fool came out of nowhere," he added. "He must have been going damn fast. That's all I remember."

Dunhoff and his wife, about 50 and crippled by polio, were run down by a panel truck Thursday night in the city's Lawrenceville section. The vehicle then sped away.

"If things would've worked out all right last night we would have had Christmas with my nieces and nephews," he went on. "We looked forward to Christmas. It's a nice holiday."

A reporter at his bedside didn't have the heart to tell him that his wife was dead. Neither did a Catholic nun standing nearby. A relative broke the news later.

Urges More City Planning

WASHINGTON (AP)—The federal housing chief called today for intercommunity urban planning to head off a trend toward "musclebound metropolises with stranded suburbs, overtaxed to maintain minimum service."

Housing Administrator Norman P. Mason, in making the plea, also announced that his agency will base its aid to communities on the degree of areawide cooperation shown by the individual localities.

This policy, Mason said, is in accord with the 1959 Housing Act which authorized 20 million dollars to help state and urban planning activities. Mason said it directs that such grants "to the maximum extent feasible, cover entire urban areas having common or related urban development problems."

How this will be implemented was explained in a separate statement by Federal Urban Renewal Commissioner David M. Waters. He said states applying for planning assistance for smaller towns will be required to show that such planning will embrance the total urbanized area, including fringe areas and adjoining localities.

Man Charged In Holdup

ABILENE (AP)—Officers charge William Raymond Dougherty, 35, with armed robbery Saturday in the holdup of a dress shop and the kidnaping of a young woman in Haskell last Wednesday.

Sheriff J. D. Woodward said Dougherty had admitted the holdup in which $250 was taken. The woman was released unharmed two blocks from the shop.

Officers of Taylor and Wichita counties said Dougherty served a prison sentence about 10 years ago for the slaying of an Electra man and another sentence for a burglary conviction.

New Business Record Seen

AUSTIN (AP)—The Bureau of Business Research said Saturday that 1959 likely will establish another record for Texas business.

The bureau said despite unfavorable results recently from the steel strike the expansion phase of the business cycle will continue at least during the first half of 1960.

For the first 11 months, business soared 12 per cent higher than for the same period of 1958.

For the United States, primary metals, mining and transportation showed substantial increases in November reflecting the resumption of steel production. But transportation equipment, including automobiles, fabricated metals and machinery industries declined sharply as shortages of metals forced cutbacks in production. Personal income hit an all-time high in November.

Agriculture continues to be one of the weakest spots in the Texas economy, reported the bureau.

Total crop production will be slightly below 1958 but will still add to the bulging surpluses. Prices received by Texas farmers in November declined 2 per cent from October and were 8 per cent below November 1958.

The report said there is no immediate prospects for an improvement in agriculture with estimates nationally that farm income for the year will be 15 per cent lower than a year ago.

Retail sales totaled 7 per cent more for the first 11 months. In November, nondurable goods sales dropped 6 per cent and durable goods stores dropped 19 per cent. In spite of the irregular movement of Texas retail sales, it seems likely that 1959 will set a new record for spending by consumers.

The estimated value of building authorized in Texas declined 29 per cent in November, leaving the gain for the year at 5 per cent. Both residential and nonresidential building permits exceeded last year.

Industrial electric power consumption rose two per cent from October.

"It is rather unanimously agreed that if the steel strike is not resumed the level of industrial production can be expected to reach rather promptly the high levels prevailing before the strike," the report said.

Spending for new plant and equipment is expected to increase in 1960.

Slayer Of Cab Driver Calls Police

NEW YORK (AP) — Patrolman Thomas Dunn heard the woman say over the telephone: "Do you know about a taxicab driver being killed on Lincoln Place? Well, that driver who was killed, I did it."

Replied Dunn: "Look, lady, this is Christmas. Stop fooling."

But Kathleen Perry, 19, wasn't fooling. She designated a street corner in Brooklyn where she could be picked up. She was there when a police car arrived, and she told how she shot cabbie Nathan Hyman, 56, in the head during a $13 holdup. She surrendered a .22-caliber revolver from which one shot had been fired.

Hyman, driving on Christmas morning for the first time in his 36 years of hacking, picked up Mrs. Perry and a woman known only as Jerry.

Mrs. Perry said she shot Hyman as he sat at the wheel of his cab because he made a motion as if he were about to turn around. "I was nervous and the gun went off," she told police.

The young woman said she has been separated...two years from her husband, who has custody of their child. She was charged with homicide. Police are looking for Jerry, whom Mrs. Perry termed a chance acquaintance.

Turkey Adjourns Americans' Trial

ZMR, Turkey (AP)—The trial of four American sergeants charged with violating Turkey's currency laws was adjourned today until Jan. 19.

The 10th session of the trial which began last August lasted five minutes.

It was adjourned when financial experts, summoned to give an opinion on the seized correspondence of one of the sergeants, reported that their study is not yet completed.

The accused are Army M.Sgt. Dale McCuistion, Van Nuys, Calif.; and Air Force sgts. James King, Lawrence, Miss.; Joe Proietti, Mount Kisco, N. Y.; and Jack Reevevuta, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Warfare, champion 2-year-old colt, has been ridden by seven different jockeys in 1959.

Top Tycoon In Nevada Dies At 83

RENO, Nev. (AP) — George Wingfield, a cowboy and roulette dealer who became Nevada's most influential tycoon, died Christmas night at the age of 83.

Death came to the banker, hotelman, mining investor and political figure after an undisclosed but lengthy ailment.

Thousands lost most of their savings when his 12 banks closed during the depression. Many years later they got 40 cents on each dollar deposited.

Wingfield came to Nevada as a 19-year-old cowboy with a drive of 2,900-head of cattle from Lakeview, Ore., to Winnemucca in 1885. After working at local ranches he became a roulette dealer.

As an associate of U.S. Sen. George Nixon, he invested in banking and mining in Tonopah on the threshold of its 1905 gold boom.

He financed the first successful prospectors at Goldfield and then persuaded miners, who were quibbling over claims, to sell their property to the Goldfield Consolidated Mines Co. The miners went to work on their own claims as employes of the firm headed by Nixon and Wingfield.

Tanks Patrol In Kandahar

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — Army tanks today were reported patrolling the streets of Kandahar, Afghanistan, as an aftermath of rioting Monday.

Radio Pakistan, attributing its information to reliable sources, said authorities of the neighboring kingdom fear another riot may be imminent and south Afghan towns have been reinforced by radio-equipped troops.

The broadcast said the governor of Kandahar Province had been forced to flee Monday to escape mobs which surrounded and fired on his home. The demonstrators also were reported to have burned a movie theater and three shops and sought to march on the local prison to free its 400 inmates.

Kandahar is Afghanistan's second city. With a population of about 77,000, it lies 285 miles southwest of Kabul, the capital visited by President Eisenhower Dec. 9 on his peace-in-freedom goodwill tour.

"Certain seditious elements instigated a number of people not to pay taxes to the government," it said, "and they held demonstrations."
