Threatened Rail Walkout
Postponed Fifteen Days

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson warned today that the railroad work rules dispute is a crucial test of whether collective bargaining can solve major labor disputes in America.

Johnson, who won a 15-day delay in a nationwide rail strike less than two hours before the strike deadline Thursday night, opened new negotiations between the railroads and the five operating unions with personal talks.

First, he invited them to meet at the White House.

Then, after a conference in his office with Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and four other federal mediators, Johnson made a direct appeal to the negotiators in the rose garden.

He told them that he wanted "an honorable solution—not a solution imposed by decree."

After the rose garden session, Johnson made another brief talk before the negotiators got to work laying down ground rules for the talks expected to proceed the next two weeks.

Press secretary George Reedy said that in this meeting Johnson emphasized again that the dispute was a test of free collective bargaining and that the negotiators had "a responsibility to continue to try to make the collective bargaining system work unless they know a better system they want to try."

Reedy said there were no plans for Johnson to propose solutions to the problem.

"We're trying to bring the people together around the table so they can resolve their differences themselves," he said.

At present, Reedy said, there are no plans to draft new legislation, similar to that enacted by Congress last summer for arbitration of two issues in the dispute.

He said the mediators were holding a session with the union representatives and would meet with the railroad spokesmen later.

In his rose garden talk, Johnson expressed confidence that See RAIL STRIKE, Page 4A

IN PLANNING REPAIRS

Caution Urged On Tornado Victims

By CARROLL COPELIN

The district director of the Federal Housing Administration Friday warned owners of property damaged in last week's tornado to "exercise caution" in dealing with repairs.

Adrian Henderson, Fort Worth district director of the FHA, told the Times "in the long run, it's better for a home owner to do business with a local, reliable firm." Henderson pointed out the extent of damage left in the wake of the deadly twister would attract "fly by night operators" who would set up temporary offices in Wichita Falls to solicit repair contracts and then disappear shortly afterwards.

Henderson pointed out that in almost all cases, persons with FHA loans on their homes here had hazard insurance protection. He suggested the first thing these owners of damaged property do was get in touch with the mortgage holder.

The FHA director explained that insurance payments would be made jointly to the home owner and the lender and repairs must meet with the lender's approval before such claim checks could be cashed.

Procedure
Henderson said the normal procedure would be for the mortgage holder (lender) to advise the FHA by letter of the damage to a home. If the damage is less than $1,000, the lender will certify that repairs made have restored the property to as good or better condition than before the storm.

If the damage to a home is more than $1,000, however, Henderson said the lender will notify the FHA of the extent of damage and ask if the administration wishes to make inspections before, during and after repairs.

Protest Lodged
As Americans' Travel Barred

By REINHOLD ENSZ

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government has accused four members of the U.S. embassy of improper activities involving espionage but hasn't expelled them from the Soviet Union.

Instead the Soviets barred the quartet from traveling in the Soviet Union outside Moscow for 90 days. There was no indication why they were not expelled, the usual penalty.

The U.S. Embassy said the senior British air attaché in Moscow, Air Commodore A. N. Davis, was involved in one of the incidents with the Americans. But the British Embassy refused to confirm or deny this or to say whether he also had been restricted to Moscow.

Rigged
The U.S. Embassy said the Soviets rigged incidents to make the Americans look like spies.

An embassy spokesman, confirming the travel ban today after news of it leaked out, said U.S. Charge d'Affaires Walter Stoessel had lodged protests with the Soviets and denied the Americans were engaged in any misconduct or spying.

The spokesman said the Soviets rejected Stoessel's request to lift the travel ban, which does not forbid the men leaving the country.

Americans
The Americans were two naval attaches, Cmdr. Stuart Savage of Alma, Kan., and Lt. Leonard Bracken of Philadelphia, Pa., and two air attaches, Lt. Col. Edgar Smith and Capt. Edmund Svetina, both of Dayton, Ohio.

The embassy spokesman said the Soviets accused Savage and Bracken of making illegal photographs and Smith and Svetina of penetrating military territory.

Johnson Sending

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is sending Secretary of State Dean Rusk to Saigon for conferences with South Viet Nam Premier Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh and U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge.

The Rusk mission is an extension of a previously arranged trip to Manila to represent the United States next week at the 10th anniversary conference of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

Rusk flies to the Far East by way of Anchorage, Alaska, where he is to make a quick tour of the area devastated by the March 28 earthquake.

after a last-minute conference and told newsmen Johnson had asked him to add the South Viet Nam capital to his itinerary.

Rusk described his visit as a demonstration of the full support the United States is giving South Viet Nam in its war against Communist guerrillas.

There have been rumors that the Khanh rule is shaky because of internal discontent. But Rusk said no special emergency or crisis prompts his visit.

Rusk smiled and replied in the negative when asked if he would carry a political message to Lodge, a Republican who has been doing well in GOP presidential polls while making no overt drive for the nomination.

While in Manila, Rusk hopes to get a better understanding of French policy in the Far East by way of conferences with French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville. All the foreign ministers of the eight-nation anti-Communist SEATO alliance are to attend. Although SEATO as an organization is not directly involved, the Red guerrilla campaign supported by Communist China poses the major present threat to the area which SEATO was formed to protect.

Firing At 'Burglar'

FORT SUMNER, N.M. (AP) — Kenneth Dorothy told a coroner's jury that he and his wife got up in the night to investigate the sound of breaking glass.

The two walked toward the source of the sound. Dorothy told officers he shouted, then fired a .22 caliber pistol into the darkness believing the disturbance had been created by a burglar.

The coroner's jury Thursday ruled the death of five-year-old Kenneth Kay Dorothy was accidental.

From Germany
Texas Soldiers
Due To Return

FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP)—About 1,400 men who call Ft. Hood in Central Texas their base will begin returning Sunday from Germany, spokesmen said today.

They were among Army units sent to Germany in the buildup during the Berlin crisis of 1961. In all, 5,100 men will be returned, the Defense Department announced in Washington.

The Ft. Hood units are the 1st Battalion of the 14th Artillery, the 1st Battalion of the 50th Infantry, and Battery B, 6th Battalion, 92nd Artillery.

The advance party of 72 men and officers is scheduled to touch down at Bergstrom Air Force Base at Austin at 2:55 a.m. CST Sunday. Five cargo planes will follow, and the 15 remaining personnel planes will come later with all troops scheduled to return by 6:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Ground Broken
For New Bank

Ground-breaking ceremonies were held Friday morning for the Southwest National Bank at its hilltop location on FM 369 just west of Fairway Blvd.

Construction of Wichita Falls' only suburban national bank is expected to be completed in mid-summer, according to W. Dean Stewart, board chairman and president.

On hand to witness the ceremonies were the bank's directors, contractor T. H. Cannon, and Pardue, Read & Dice, architects.

"Every effort has been made to design our bank facility for rapid, convenient and personal service to the people of southwest Wichita Falls," said Stewart. "We are gratified at the tremendous interest shown by the residents and merchants in this fast-growing area and we are equally eager to open our doors. The efficiency and versatility to be afforded by a suburban national bank are long overdue to complement the continued growth of this area," he concluded.

To be set upon a richly landscaped platform, the bank's exterior will combine expanses of glass and Sierra Sands brick to blend with the natural beauty of the surrounding area.

Executive vice president of the new bank is R. W. McBride, Willard J. Still is vice president and cashier. Directors are Donald L. Barnhardt, Eugene W. Brock, J. Phillips Cunningham, James T. Negro Hoodwinks U.S. Officials

DALLAS (AP) — His royal highness, Crown Prince Ademole Kawama Lapola, says the U.S. State Department welcomed him with pomp and ceremony when he arrived in Washington five years ago on a "goodwill visit" from the African kingdom of Upper Volta. They insisted he stay in historic Blair House, as a guest of the American people.

Now his royal highness will spend some time at the Texas prison in Huntsville.

Judge John Mead sentenced him Thursday to two years in the state penitentiary.

It developed that the prince was really Eddie Lee Woods, a 31-year-old Negro from Philadelphia.

"Everything went fine," Woods related. "I was paid to lecture in colleges about Africa and its problems. Then Upper Volta sent a minister to the United States. He pointed out Upper Volta was a democracy—not a monarchy—and, as a result, could not possibly have a crown prince."

Asst. Dist. Atty. Sam Paternostro, who recommended the prison term, said he doesn't know whether Woods actually duped the State Department or merely invented the story.

Paternostro said that Woods' 5-page police record, which lists arrests in 17 states, shows he was jailed in Washington for questioning by State Department officials.

The assistant district attorney said Woods boasted that he: Sold part of an Indian reservation to an Indian who lived on it.

Persuaded a tourist to buy Sequoia National Park from him.

Won $15,000 on a television give away show while posing as a Korean War hero.

"He's a real super salesman," Paternostro said. "I wouldn't be surprised if he sold the penitentiary to some of the convicts there."

Awards Presented Boys' Club Sets Sister Contest At Henrietta

By NEAL JOHNSON
Farm Editor

HENRIETTA, Tex. — Honoring outstanding youths who have carried out full project programs was the featured attraction here Thursday night during the Henrietta FFA Parent-Son Banquet.

Outstanding businessman that has supported the Henrietta chapter was Bill Glassford, editor and publisher of the Clay County Leader.

The event started at 7:30 p.m. in the V.F.W. Building and featured Larry Lefevre, chapter president, as master of ceremonies.

Following the invocation by Carl Bullinger and the meal, the 1963-64 chapter officers conducted opening ceremonies and Robert Lyde gave the welcome address.

Introduction of guests was conducted by Jim Boddy and a review of the chapter's activities was discussed by Jim Lemons.

Presenting the awards was Perry Woods, vocational agriculture instructor of the Henrietta High School and the chapter's advisor.

Woods recognized the following: Butch Hamilton, poultry; Alfred Moser, farm mechanics; Jim Lemons, livestock farming; Larry Lefevre, DeKalb's senior student award.

The Star Greenhand award was given to Carl Bullinger because of his outstanding first year program. His projects included swine, beef cattle and gardening.

When recognizing Keith Short as the Chapter Star Farmer, Woods noted his work had been outstanding on the radio and livestock teams and Short has served the chapter as a district delegate, an officer and attended the Texas FFA convention in Lubbock, Tex. last summer.

Weldon Sullivan presented Short with the scholarship award.

Selection of the Honorary Chapter Farmer completed the awards presentation. Glassford, was the choice of the chapter members as the businessman who has donated both time and effort to the group's program of work.

Royce Priddy was introduced by Lefevre as the featured speaker of the evening.

Ann Avis, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Avis was honored by Lefevre and presented to the banquet group as the chapter's sweetheart for the 1963-64 school year.

The annual event was ended with the closing ceremonies conducted by the 1964-65 officers. They are, Gary Scheer, president; Short, vice president; Clyde Prigmore, secretary; Jim Lemons, reporter; James Brasler, treasurer and Carl Bullinger, sentinel.

There will be singing until noon with time out for lunch then the second singing session until 4 p.m.

Boys' Club Sets Sister Contest

A "Little Sister" contest will conclude National Boys Club Week as members of Wichita Falls' four boys clubs show off their sisters. The annual contest will be held at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the Central Boys Club.

Judges will be Miss Alma Shepherd, Mrs. Dan Cutbirth, Mrs. Bill G. Hale, Mrs. Paul Coppock and Mrs. Frank Schram. Miss Barbara Baker, "Miss Photogenic" will crown the winner and two runners-up.

The three top girls, the queen and two "ladies in waiting" will be presented with dolls at the end of the contest. Other participants also will receive prizes.

Girls will be escorted across the stage by their brothers and will be introduced by Judge Arthur Tipps, master of ceremonies. The girls will be judged on general attractiveness and personality.

This event is the climax of National Boys' Club Week, which began Sunday and will end with the naming of the queen Friday night.

Farm-Ranch Club Hears Tax Laws

An estimated 85 members of the Wichita Farm and Ranch Club attended their monthly meeting Thursday when Flynn Stewart, local CPA and Angus breeder, explained new laws connected with the Internal Revenue Service.

The program opened at 7:30 p.m. at Underwood's Cafeteria in Southmoor Center with Paul Berend, president, serving as master of ceremonies.

A new program was proposed and accepted by the club. A membership drive will be conducted through the summer months and will end with the October meeting. Two teams were appointed in the drive with Neal Johnson and Roddy Peeples, chairmen. Members of the Johnson team are, George Krohn, Clarence Mahler, Leon Deaton and Roger Kerr. Peeples' team members include Gad Garland.

B. T. Haws, Ralph Swinford and Lee Mills Jr. Reports were given concerning the scholarship program being conducted by the Farm and Ranch club. Each year, members of the Wichita Falls organization have sponsored an agriculture student in his senior year at Texas A&M or at Texas Tech.

It was reported that last year's winner, C. E. Simpson of Winters, Tex., a Texas A&M student, is now completing his masters degree work in plant breeding. This year's winner at Tech will graduate in June with a B.S. degree in Agricultural Economics and is planning to continue in the graduate field.

Present plans call for the Wichita Farm and Ranch Club to sponsor an agriculture student during the 1964-65 school year in both Texas A&M and Texas Tech.

The scholarship winners have received $180 from the club.

For Welfare Center

Fund Drive

Totals $77,753

Total contributions to the Salvation Army Welfare Center Fund Friday morning amounted to $77,753, according to figures turned in at the first report session for the general gifts division.

At the meeting presided over by J. Howard Morgan, chairman of this division, the advanced gifts group headed by Al Horwitz reported $69,291.

General gifts amounted to $8,462 to bring the total to the above figure.

Workers are attempting to complete the drive for $150,000 by the end of this month, Bill Bass, campaign director, said.

"Sally Awards," miniature dolls clad like Salvation Army lasses, went to Dr. Joe Steed's team for the largest amount reported and to Grady Cantrell and Paul Robb for workers with the highest total. These two tied for the week's report.

Next report meeting is scheduled for Tuesday at 10 a.m. in the campaign headquarters on the first floor of the Hamilton Building.

Military Training Halted At Segregated Schools

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department has ordered a halt in training of military personnel at schools practicing discrimination.

It was disclosed that Norman S. Paul, assistant secretary of defense, sent a memorandum to all service secretaries and heads of major Pentagon agencies ordering such a halt in 60 days. The memo was dated March 25.

Paul's memo allows a number of exceptions, with authority to approve such exceptions to be exercised only by the service secretaries or the chief officers of the agencies.

Involved is tuition and other payments.

An estimated 100,000 service personnel are involved in a variety of educational programs.

Paul said that military people now enrolled in an off-duty educational program at "a discriminatory facility" shall be eligible for financial assistance through the semester in which they are enrolled.

Paul said military personnel now enrolled at a school or college practicing discrimination may be authorized to complete the course of instruction if, among other things, they are enrolled on active duty under a program of medical or allied health specialist training.

Kingman Brewster President Of Yale

NEW HAVEN, CONN. (AP)—When Kingman Brewster Jr. was elected president of Yale last October someone asked him to name the single, biggest problem he faced.

"Kingman Brewster Jr.," he replied.

That was only hours after he accepted—with "shaky and nervous hesitancy"—one of the top jobs in the academic world.

"I love it," he now says of the job that could be his until he is 68.

At 44, however, Brewster is not thinking of how long he might be president.

On Saturday, Yale will present him with the symbols—charter, seal and keys—of his office.

200 Delegates

Some 200 delegates from universities in this country and abroad have been invited to his inauguration. It will include a program on "the relationship of the university to the national government," and also will have a noticeable international tone.

The foreign delegates have been invited, says Brewster, who was a vocal isolationist as a Yale student, to show that Yale "is and wants to be a member of the international community."

As spokesman for a university that is older—263 years—than the nation itself, and as Yale's 17th president, Brewster is head of an educational complex that the Yale Daily News once described as a "huge and wonderful monster."

Great Dignity

It sits with great dignity in the very heart of New Haven. It now has 8,500 students in 11 schools, a faculty of about 2,000, and some 3,000 other employees. It has annual operating expenses of more than $40 million.

Brewster became president after the death of A. Whitney Griswold. He was chosen by the Yale Corporation, the university's governing body, after deliberation of more than four months.

Brewster, a 1941 Yale graduate, is a husband, a father of five, lawyer, teacher, author, sailor, and adviser, member or consultant, past or present, of numerous governmental and academic agencies.

He has no exalted view of his job.

"The academic community is a self-determining one," he says. "Any suggestion that you can be a sort of one-man band is foolish."

Old Friend

It was Griswold, an old friend, who persuaded him in 1960 to leave the Harvard Law School and return to Yale as provost, the university's second in command.

When it came to picking his own career after the war, Brewster chose the law.

He went to the Harvard Law School, was graduated with honors in 1948, and by the age of 34 was a full professor on its faculty.

He believes that one great need of our time is the creation of instruments of world law.

Brewster took a more narrow view of international affairs during his college days. As chairman in 1941 of the Yale Daily News he was perhaps the most articulate isolationist among the students. He was also a leader of the America-first movement here.

Lend-Lease

He testified against lend-lease before congressional committees, and defended his isolationism in an article published by the Atlantic Monthly.

After Pearl Harbor, however, he was in the Navy, flying anti-submarine patrols in the Atlantic.

He later described his college years as a period of "pre-war uncertainty" when "opinion was a spectrum which was tinged throughout by doubts and misgivings."

Brewster says that the competition among universities today "has a piratical zeal uninhibited by any SEC, FTC, NLRB, or even a common law against unfair competition."

But it's a good job, he says.

The water ouzel feeds upon freshwater mollusks which it captures underwater while walking along the stream's bottom.

LEM SMITH

Square Dance Set Saturday

A graduation dance sponsored by the Swinging Stars Square Dance Club will be held at 8 p.m. Saturday at 705 Travis.

Beginning Jan. 14, the dancers received 10 lessons in Square dancing, and are now eligible to join the club.

Lem Smith, Duncan, Okla., will be caller for the graduation dance. Smith began calling in 1959 in Comanche, Okla., and in 1960 became the chief caller for the Duncan Trailers. The next year he called for the square dance club at Ft. Sill, Okla., and started calling for the Swinging Stars of Wichita Falls in January of 1964.

Smith, besides calling for his own club, has called for the Oklahoma South Central District spring and fall festivals for the past five years. He also has called dances for the South East District and the North Central District Festivals three different times. For the past two years, Smith has been invited to call for the State Festival of Oklahoma held in Okla. City.

This summer, Smith, his wife, Mary and their two children, Nicky, 10, and Susan Dawn, 4 months, will be in Red River, New Mexico, where he will call for a dance at the Lewis Ranch, Aug. 23-29.

Expert Discloses New Cancer Steps

CHICAGO (AP) — A cancer expert outlined today new steps to improve the effectiveness of drugs aimed at killing human cancers.

One is to fire a broadside of two to four drugs simultaneously at the cancer. This method shows some early promise, said Dr. C. Gordon Zubrod of the National Cancer Institute in Bethesda, Md.

A second is to use drugs if possible to prevent a disease from becoming a cancer. And this has worked well in one rare form of precancerous disease, he said.

A third and still future goal is to use chemical bullets far earlier against cancer, if the drugs are safe enough.

Chemists have already fashioned a large number of anti-cancer drugs. The great goal is drugs acting like benevolent assassins — able to kill 100 per cent of cancer cells without hurting the patient.

Dr. Zubrod spoke to the American Association for Cancer Research on implications of drug treatment in medical practice, and amplified in an interview.

Cancer drugs have significant meanings for patients, for doctors and cancer researchers, Dr. Zubrod said.

For patients:
Drugs can often apparently kill all cancerous cells in a rare form of cancer affecting women. This is choriocarcinoma, arising during or after pregnancy.

Different drugs are extending the lives of many children with leukemia, but only very occasionally seem to have been 100 per cent effective.

In Hodgkins disease affecting lymph glands, drugs plus radiation "can approach 100 per cent kill in a fair percentage of breast cancer. But better drugs are needed for cancer of the lungs and brain.

For physicians:

Drug results might well be better if doctors didn't expect the chemical to "be a magic bullet," and so tried harder to combat other concurrent infections or malnutrition, Dr. Zubrod said. And it would help if doctors had more schooling about the action of drugs in general so they could figure out how to make the most effective use of a new drug.

For cancer research:
Combination use of drugs calls for a lot of objective and cooperative study to measure benefits and to detect any harmful effects.

RAIL STRIKE—

the outcome of the emergency bargaining sessions would be in the interest of all Americans.

In addition to top administration labor officials, Johnson called in two well-known private mediators, New York attorney Theodore Kheel and University of Pennsylvania economist George Taylor.

They join Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, Assistant Secretary James Reynolds and Chairman Francis A. O'Neill Jr. of the National Mediation Board in trying to settle the five-year-old dispute.

Court action, an act of Congress and seemingly endless talks have so far failed to bring the two sides together.

As part of the deal to postpone the nationwide shutdown, the unions agreed to lift a strike in which they had closed down the 14-state operations of the Illinois Central Railroad in an effort to break the industry's united front.

The railroads, in return, agreed to withdraw nationwide posting of work rules changes which are at the heart of the dispute.

Said Johnson:

"We appeal to the railroad officials throughout the land and to all the members of the railroad brotherhoods to act in accordance with this agreement and in the best of faith and we pledge our efforts to our dead level best to work out an agreement that will be in the public interest and satisfactory to all."

Both union and management spokesmen praised Johnson for his efforts.

Speaking for the railroad industry, Wayne Johnston, president of the Illinois Central said:

"We pledge ourselves to continue efforts to reach a fair settlement in the national interest."

Roy Davidson, grand chief engineer of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, said telegrams were being sent to members of all five unions to stay on the job.

Due to the late hour of the announcement, the word apparently did not reach all union officials and there were scattered reports of walkouts.

on the lender for advice on the amount of work which could be done and the selection of the firm to do this work.

In many of these cases, Title I FHA loans (up to $5,000 with five years to pay) would be available.

Henderson repeated his warning to home owners about being careful in dealing for repairs, explaining that if major repairs did not meet FHA specifications, the insurance on the home could be cancelled and the home owner liable to legal action by the mortgage holder for the cost of inferior repairs.

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The old soldier was home today, his last long journey at an end. General of the Army Douglas MacArthur lay in repose in a flag draped coffin on a catafalque over the crypt containing his tomb into which he will be lowered Saturday.

And this old Navy town turned out by the thousands to pay final respects to the warrior most known only by his glory and the symbols of his fame—the crushed campaign hat and the cornucopia pipe.

He will lie in state as the long lines pass through the pillared MacArthur Memorial until the Episcopal funeral services at the pink and black crypt.

The reason MacArthur chose to be buried in the memorial named for him is that his mother was born, raised and married in this seaport. The general, who always called himself a spiritual son of Virginia, actually was born in Little Rock, Ark., where his father, Lt. Gen. Arthur MacArthur, was stationed at the time.

President Johnson, head bowed and homing hat in hand, gave his final salute Thursday to the hero of three wars at the Washington airport.

The President will be represented at the funeral Saturday by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Three Plead Guilty To Burglary Charges

Three men pleaded guilty to burglary charges before Judge Arthur Tipps of the 30th District Court Friday morning.

John Decker, 19, Dallas, was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary; Norman Holmes, 27, Wichita Falls, received three separate sentences of seven years to be served concurrently; and Johnny Watson, 18, Amarillo, was sentenced to serve two terms of six years to run concurrently.

Charles Butts, assistant district attorney, represented the state in the hearings.

er or builder of their home before proceeding with any reconstruction or repairs in order for the home owner to get full advantage of the program of assistance offered.

Under a disaster clause, the Small Business Administration is able to loan home owners money to replace all property destroyed or lost at 3 per cent interest. This would enable a home owner who lost everything in last week's tornado to purchase clothing, major appliances and even automobiles which were lost.

Jeffus stressed that home owners should contact representatives of the firm holding the mortgage on their house before doing anything else. "Actually, their builder can help them more than anybody else," the banker observed.

mire, Don Wills, Bill Martin and R. W. McBride; front row, Don Barnhart, W. Dean Stewart, James R. Parkey, Willard J. Still, Phillips Cunningham, Jimmie Taubert, L. H. McCullough, Joe B. Wolverton and Hudson Meador.

Donald C. Kelly, commander of 3767th School Squadron adopted by the Rotarians; D. C. Bailey, manager of Fedway-Department Store; and Lt. Martin E. Aquilar Jr., commander of Fedway's adopted squadron, 3772nd School Squadron.

SQUADRON SPONSORS RECEIVE RECOGNITION

By LAURA T. DOING

Overall real estate damage on Sheppard Air Force Base from last Friday's tornado is "around $2 million," Col. Dalene Bailey, deputy commander, told guests at the annual Squadron Adoption Program luncheon Friday.

"We are putting no price tag on the damage from complete destruction or damage to buildings and facilities at the present because we have a team now in the process of surveying the overall damage, but on the face of things it looks like about $2 million," Col. Bailey said in his comments.

Maj. Gen. Robert M. Stillman was host to the annual luncheon honoring the 25 Squadron sponsors and representatives of the Wichita Falls businesses and organizations who have adopted them under this program started in 1959.

Award of Merit
A highlight of the luncheon was presentation of the Annual Award of Merit for Outstanding Participation in the Squadron Adoption Program to Fedway Department Store and Wichita Falls Rotary Club.

Accepting the plaque for Fedway was D. C. Bailey, manager, and for Rotary was Wymore Downing in the absence of W. A. Hotchkiss, president.

Fedway's adopted squadron is 3772nd School Squadron commanded by Lt. Martin E. Aquilar Jr., and Rotary Club's is 3767th School Squadron commanded by Lt. Donald C. Kelly.

These awards were based on a rating scale, with emphasis upon events given by the sponsoring groups for the entire squadrons. Fedway entertains nearly every week at some party for all its squadron and Rotary has sponsored numerous similar events, Gen. Stillman said in presenting the awards.

Warning Sirens

In reporting briefly on the storm damages Col. Bailey said after base headquarters had been called by the weather station at 2:45 p.m. last Friday, the warning sirens were sounded at 2:46 p.m. and people sought shelter.

"This probably saved us many calamities," he added.

The deputy commander said

146 buildings on Sheppard were damaged, suffering either complete destruction or partial damage.

Sheppard personnel lost 80 homes and 38 trailers, all off base, and only one person associated with the base, a sergeant's wife, was killed.

"The storm hit our base in the area of least population, but had it continued in the direction it was headed — for the Strategic Air Command area — our losses would have been severe," the colonel added.

Greatest loss was that of the base power station, he said.

Personnel
"The training center is back in business on a limited basis and the SAC area is continuing full operation as usual," he reported.

The fact that all personnel had been moved from the old hospital area, practically demolished in the storm, only five months previously into the new hospital was cited by Col. Bailey as a blessing.

The deputy commander paid tribute to people of Wichita Falls for their immediate assistance to the base after the tornado.

Miss Scheryl Weaver, Miss Missile of 1963, was introduced by Gen. Stillman who urged the squadrons and their sponsors to enter young women in the 1964 Miss Missile tryouts, deadline for which is April 25. This young woman will be honored during Armed Forces Week in May when she will represent Sheppard at all festivities.

Gen. Stillman announced also that the Squadron Adoption Program, internationally famed, had been entered for an award from Public Relations Society of America, results of which will be announced on April 17.

Rhea Howard, editor and publisher of the Wichita Falls Times and Record-News who has been honored for outstanding contributions to the adoption program, Col. (Ret.) Floyd Taylor, originator of the program, and John Estes, president of the chamber of commerce, were seated at the head table.

Program Praised

Mayor John Gavin read a resolution passed earlier by the City Council which praised the squadron adoption program and stressing its importance to military-civilian relations of the area.

Base squadrons and their adopting organizations represented at Friday's luncheon included the 3760th and Southwest Bell Telephone Co., 3761st and the Wichita Falls Lions Club, 3762nd and the University Kiwanis Club, 3763rd and McClurkin's Department Store, 3764th and the City National Bank, 3765th and the Southwest Rotary Club, 3766th and Texas Electric Service Co., headquarters squadron and the City of Wichita Falls, 3750th and Sears, Roebuck & Co., 3750th and Perkins and Supply Group and Perkins Timberlake, 3750th Techni-

PART FOUR:

Gen. MacArthur: Bravery Under Fire

EDITOR'S NOTE: In the final article of a four-part series, Pulitzer Prize-winning columnist Walter Winchell recalls the life of Gen. Douglas MacArthur that illustrates his bravery under fire.

By WALTER WINCHELL
Associated Press Writer

In July 1945, during the Allied attack on Balikpapan, the great Borneo oil center, Gen. Douglas MacArthur and an Australian officer were standing on a hill studying a terrain map.

Suddenly, a concealed Japanese machine gun chattered.

Bullets began kicking up dust around the spot where they stood and clipping leaves from the trees nearby.

MacArthur continued to stare at the map. Moments later, he folded it carefully and handed it to the Australian officer.

As they walked down the hill, he said: "By the way, I think it would be a good idea for a patrol to take out that machine gun before someone gets hurt."

There are many such incidents in MacArthur's story.

Never Showed

If he knew the meaning of fear, or ever considered the possibility of death, he never showed it. He exposed himself to danger in battle like a reckless platoon leader, although as commander in chief, he was by no means "expedient."

He had a saying: "You can't fight 'em if you can't see 'em."

After the Inchon landings in the Korean War, MacArthur took one of these "see 'em" trips. He said he wanted to look around Inchon and Wolmi-do, the island that sits in the harbor like a cork in a bottle. Fires still were burning on both, and occasionally there was gunfire as the Marines mopped up.

Adm. Arthur Struble, commander of the naval task force that supported the landings, ordered up his barge. MacArthur stepped into it with him. Several correspondents piled in behind them.

Left Snipers

When they retreated, the North Koreans almost invariably left snipers behind. Using the Japanese trick of the Pacific war, the snipers hid in "spider fox holes"—that is, a hole covered with a trap door.

Their special quarry was an American officer, especially a high ranker.

MacArthur asked to be taken close to the sea wall at Inchon, and then that the barge circle near Wolmi-do.

He came within easy range for enemy riflemen, or even for a grenade thrower.

On the destroyers riding at anchor in the harbor, gun crews waited tensely. They were ordered to "cover" the barge, but there was nothing to shoot at unless the Korean Reds fired first. And by that time it might be too late.

"We sure heaved a sigh of relief when that barge moved away from here," a young Navy lieutenant told me, later. "Mac-Arthur must be nuts to take chances like that."

Vacationer

MacArthur looked like a vacationer taking a pleasant morning boat ride. He sat talking with Struble in a casual, almost sleepy manner. As always, he wore dark glasses and his famous campaign hat with the "scrambled eggs" insignia above the visor. There was no mistaking his identity.

Luck was with him. No shots came from the shore.

He took an even more hazardous trip on the morning when the "home by Christmas" offensive kicked off.

This time, he flew deep into enemy territory.

After receiving firsthand reports from the Army corps commanders that day, he ordered his pilot, Capt. Tony Story, to warm up his plane. We all expected to start back to Tokyo.

Instead, one of MacArthur's aides passed the word: "The general wants to go up and take a look at the Yalu."

Expression

A blank, frozen expression settled over the officers' faces, the expression so typical of soldiers setting out on a dangerous mission.

The Yalu River was the boundary between Korea and Red China. Communist bases on the river, and the territory between there and the 8th Army, bristled with anti-aircraft. Moreover, Communist MIG fighter planes frequently swept out of the skies to duel with American fighters or shoot up positions on the ground.

As MacArthur's plane headed northwest, American jets came into formation flying "cover."

The combination—an unarmed transport with a fighter escort—was a sure sign. It spelled out "VIP" to the Communists.

MacArthur's plane had a huge window on the left side. On the flight, he sat there with a stack of terrain maps on his lap, studying the ground below. This was the territory over which the 8th Army infantry and tanks were fighting toward the Yalu.

Eventually, the river came in sight.

Two Cities

On the banks were two cities, Sinanju and Sinuiju, both ringed with anti-aircraft and protected by Red fighter aircraft.

MacArthur glanced casually at them. He seemed to lose interest in the terrain when his plane reached that point.

Then, instead of heading back toward the 8th Army lines, he instructed Story to fly eastward along the river. The plane banked sharply.

Shortly after, the fighter cover left it. The plane droned along—at a snail's pace, it seemed—following the river, across the bleak, chopped-up mountains on the border.

MacArthur's eyes were riveted on the ground. He was looking for Chinese troops. As it turned out, they were down there in large numbers, but well-concealed.

The rest of us kept scanning the sky for the sight of enemy fighters.

None appeared. As the plane finally banked again and turned away from the danger zone, an officer said, "That's what I call thumbing your nose at the enemy."

Opposes Fair Film Showing

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert Moses' opponent this week is the Protestant Council of the City of New York.

Fresh from a victory over a supermarket chain and one of its advertising signs, Moses has challenged the propriety of a council film about Christianity, to be shown at the New York World's Fair.

The council said it had received a letter from Moses, president of the fair, which said: "The staff of the fair have grave misgivings about the propriety, good taste and validity of the film presenting Jesus as a clown."

Present—For You and Yours... This is the psychological moment for solving a personal problem which has been plaguing you for some time. Others are ready to come to your aid if you give them the slightest hint that you will accept help. Social life flourishes this weekend, so spruce up and go out somewhere.

Past... In 1962, 102 American physicians lost their licenses to practice medicine. Of these, 18 were banned in New York and 15 in California—the two states with the largest number of doctors.

MINISTER IS MYSTERY STORY WRITER

By AMBROSE B. DUDLEY
ROWLAND, N.C. (AP)—The Rev. David Moylan, who feels ministers need an escape from anger and frustration, like to have his mystery story characters punch each other in the nose.

"Ministers as a whole have a lot of stomach trouble. They can take it out on their congregation on Sunday morning or they can do it otherwise," said the 33-year-old pastor-author who has sold three stories and is completing a novel.

"I find it pleasant to have my characters take a swat at each other," he said.

Same Reason

"People write for the same reason they read—to get away. I get wrapped up in the characters and forget about my congregation and its problems."

The Rev. Mr. Moylan, the father of three girls ranging from 3 to 7 years old, began his ministry in this tobacco and cotton farming community. He graduated from Davidson College in 1953 and earned a bachelor of divinity and master's degrees from Union Theological Seminary in Richmond, Va.

He left Rowland in 1959 to work at the South Carolina State Mental Hospital in Columbia under a National Institute of Mental Health grant. Five months later, he accepted a pastorate in Rock Hill, S.C.

His interest in mystery story writing blossomed there when he attended a night class in writing at Winthrop College in 1962.

He wrote 16 mystery stories, many of them as class assignments, before a magazine purchased the "Terror Trap" last summer. The publication date has not been set.

The Rev. Mr. Moylan finds ideas for stories in advice to the lovelorn columns, through conversations and readings.

"I have never drawn plots or characters from the local congregation," he said. But a pa-

Best Thespians Of 1964 Named

Three Wichita Falls High School seniors were named "Best Thespians of 1964" at the annual initiation banquet of the National Thespian Society of that high school at Villa Motel Spanish Room Thursday night.

These were Jim Powers, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Powers, 3509 Cumberland; Jerri Holder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Holder, 1570 Carol Lane; and Milton Powell, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Powell, 1415 Fillmore.

Runnersup were Raymond Wallander, Linda Watts and Charles Butts.

Honorable mention went to Mike Jenkins, Bernale Trout, Anne Harkey and Jan Huddleston.

Honorary membership was presented to four Wichita Falls school officials for their "meritorious participation in dramatic arts" and their special interest in Troupe 1164.

These first honorary memberships given in Wichita Falls were presented by the officers to Dr. Joe B. McNeil, superintendent of schools; O. T. Freeman, principal of WFHS; Miss Helen Grace Gould, dean of girls at WFHS; and Mrs. Laura T. Doing, school board member and education editor of Wichita Falls Times.

Officers

Officers for next year's Thespians include Don Roberts, president; David Acker, vice president; Beth Reeves, local secretary; Lynn Wilson, national secretary; Bill Cochran, business manager; Jerry Alexander, stage manager and Eddie Worrell and Shirley Steele, publicity.

Honor Thespians for the year included those who devoted 600 hours outside of class to the dramatics field. They were Pam Wolfson, Linda Watts, Raymond Wallander, Jim Powers, Milton Powell, Howard Morris, Deana Mattingly, Mike Jenkins, Jan Huddleston, Jerri Holder, Anne Harkey, Charles Butts and Linda Boone.

Invocation was given by Linda Watts and toastmaster was John Runge. Announcer for the program was Raymond Wallander.

A solo by Carolyn Crump was followed by a monologue by Charles Butts and a "hootenanny" by Lou Estes and Eddie Worrell. A duet by Jerri Holder and Deana Mattingly was followed by a poem by Beth Reeves and initiation conducted by Jan Huddleston.

History of the troupe was given by Jerri Holder and roll call was by Pam Wolfson. Presentation of certificates was by Mike Jenkins and presentation of honor Thespians was by Mrs. T. Richard Moss, society sponsor. Special recognition was by Jim Powers, president, who also was coordinator for the program.

Guests

Clever programs were designed and executed by Linda Watts and guests included parents of the officers. These were Dr. and Mrs. Powers, Mrs. M. P. Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Runge, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Holder and Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Wolfson.

Decorations were by Shirley Steele, Mary Ann Powers, Beth Reeves, John Peavler, Joe Wolfson, Joyce Reisinger, Nancy Bernhardt, Jerry Alexander and Carolyn Crump.

Music was by David Archer and Elizabeth White and the program was by Raymond Wallander, Carolyn Crump, Linda Watts and Don Roberts.

Music for dancing was by the Sandsliders.

Sponsors are Mrs. Moss and Miss Delenna Rogers.

Captains Show Afghan Hounds

Two captains at Sheppard Technical Training Center enjoy the hobby of training and showing their Afghan Hounds in dog shows throughout the country. They are Capt. K. C. (Klarika) Cote, a nurse at the USAF Hospital, and Capt. Barbara M. T. Williams, commander of the WAF Squadron, of 4741 Alamo Drive in Wichita Falls.

Their three are thought to be the only Afghan Hounds in this area. Capt. Cote owns Zardin of Scheherezade, a black and tan four-year-old dog that was born in England and has won ribbons both in England and on the Texas circuit in El Paso, Dallas and Fort Worth. She began this hobby about three years ago while on duty with the Air Force when she bought Zardin in London.

She also has a 16-month-old sable and white female, El Samantha of Scheherezade, which she co-owns along with Lt. Col. W. H. Pede, the well-known Afghan breeder and judge who is also in the Air Force and stationed at the Pentagon. This young "lady" already has 11 of the 15 points necessary to become a champion. She picked up most of these points on the recent Texas and Louisiana Circuit in Houston, Shreveport, Longview and Odessa.

Capt. Cote is especially proud of Samantha because she has the distinction of having gone Best Opposite Sex on three separate occasions during the circuit to the Champion Afghan Hound "Holly Hill Desert Wind." This handsome Hound took the breed at Madison Square Garden this year at the "World Series" of Dog Shows. "This is really quite a feat," the attractive young officer said, "for a dog so young." Samantha only recently placed fourth in the Afghan Specialty Show held in conjunction with the Madison Square Garden Show.

Capt. Williams' dog, Rama of Scheherezade, is black masked and cream in color, and received his championship on the Texas Circuit last year.

Capt. Cote became interested in this hobby while attending the famous Crufts Dog Show in London where Capt. Williams' Afghan Hound was among the prize winners.

The Afghan Hounds that compete in the shows with these three dogs come from all over the country — from California and Michigan.

These two captains, members of the Wichita Falls Kennel Club and Afghan Hound Club of Texas, enter the dogs in shows about once a month. In the near future they will show them in Amarillo and Beaumont, Texas, Albuquerque and Santa Fe, N.M.

Capt. Cote explained that the Afghan Hound is an aristocratic dog, quite large but graceful. It runs swiftly and has been clocked at almost 40 miles an hour. Originally, they chased gazelles and leopards. They hunt by sight instead of smell, and sometimes they are referred to as "monkey dogs" because of their tails.

STATELY SHOW DOG—Capt. K. C. (Klarika) Cote shows her dog, El Samantha of Scheherezade, one of three Afghan Hounds which she and Capt. Barbara M. T. Williams train and show as a hobby. AFTER TORNADO

Appliances For Victims Ready

Persons suffering household and clothing losses in last Friday's tornado are urged by the Salvation Army to come by their distribution center at 509 Seventh or headquarters at 830 Seventh to select new supplies.

"We have all types of new appliances, including refrigerators, cook stoves, dining room furniture, couches, and many more items which are available to those whose belongings were destroyed in last week's tornado," Brig. William T. Johnson, Army commander, said.

"In fact, we have one of most anything anyone would need," he added.

These items may be picked up without red tape or delay as soon as the persons identify themselves as having been affected by the storm, he said.

Third Of Four English Workshops Set Saturday

Third in a series of four English workshops for Wichita Falls area junior and senior high school teachers is scheduled for Saturday at 9 a.m. in Midwestern University, with Patricia Ingle and Henry Barton as speakers.

These two MU English professors, both recognized as outstanding in their fields, will lead the discussion on rhetoric and composition.

The workshop will continue until noon, with discussion periods following the talks. Consultants will be Claire Galbraith and Beryl Sullivan, also of the MU English department staff.

The workshops have been planned by the MU department under the leadership of Dr. Joseph Satin, head of the English section, as a means of assisting high school teachers of English in becoming more familiar with college English courses and college preparatory courses.

Prior Sessions
First was held late in February when John Nelson and Claire Galbraith spoke on grammar and linguistics, with Barton and Miss Ingle as consultants.

The March workshop was on prose, fiction and non-fiction, with Jerry Bumpus and Henry Herring as speakers and Eleanor Payne and Juanita Kyle as consultants.

The fourth and last of the workshops is scheduled for Saturday, April 25, with Miss Kyle and William Whipple as speakers on poetry and drama. Consultants then will be Herring and Bumpus.

Miss Ingle has just returned from the National College Conference on Composition in New York City where she served as a panel chairman and a consultant on a national level.

Her enthusiasm since her return, and the educational advances and current trends in English and in the teaching of English will be reflected in her talk to the secondary instructors Saturday, Dr. Satin said.

Background
Miss Ingle came to Midwestern in September, 1962, from University of Arkansas in Fayetteville, Ark. A native Texan, she graduated from Cleburn High School and attended University of Texas and Baylor University from which she has an A.B. and an A.M. degree.

A Ph.D. candidate at the University of Arkansas, Miss Ingle has done post graduate work at the University of Texas in music and drama. She was a Texas Fellow at Council of Southern University for two years. She is a member of Alpha Chi, National Collegiate Players and Pi Gamma Mu, all honorary organizations.

She was a Texas Fellow at Council of Southern University for two years. She is a member of Alpha Chi, National Collegiate Players and Pi Gamma Mu, all honorary organizations.

At the national conference she was chairman of the panel on outlining and composition, treating the particular problems involved in presenting such material to students at the college freshman level.

"This particular assignment, concerned with students just out of high school, has given Miss Ingle additional information to share with high school English teachers," Dr. Satin said.

A Wichitan

Barton, a graduate of Wichita Falls High School, has a bachelor of arts degree, with honors, from the University of Texas and a master of arts from Southern Methodist University, both with major in English. He also received a master's degree from the University of Texas in 1962 with a major in history.

The Wichitan joined the faculty of Hardin Junior College in 1940 and has taught under all the names of the institution which now is Midwestern. He has served as acting chairman of the English department and before joining the MU faculty he taught in schools at Celina, Llano and McAllen.

A colonel in the 49th Armored Division Artillery, Barton remains active here in military circles.

His wife, Helen Cline Barton, teaches English for the Wichita Falls Public School System.

In Hardeman County

Shell Oil Co. staked No. 201 W.T.U. as an 8800-foot Hardeman County exploratory test six miles southeast of Quanah. Location is 1000 feet from east and 2780 from north lines of section 105, block H, W&NW survey.

Wichita Field Wells

Garland Bishop potentialed three wells in the Wichita County Regular Field three miles northwest of Holliday.

No. 3 T. B. Michie, block 11, J. T. Lewis survey A - 462, pumped 18 barrels of 40 gravity oil, plus 10 per cent water, per day from 18 perforations at 1238-44 feet. The 4 1/2-inch production string was landed on bottom at 1251 feet.

No. 4 Michie, also in block 11, had a daily pumping potential of 19 barrels of crude from six perforations at 1782-84 feet. The 4 1/2-inch casing was cemented at 1814 feet, total depth.

Bishop's No. 15 Pearl Boyd, in block 12 of Lewis survey, pumped 17.37 barrels of 40 gravity oil per day from nine perforations at 882-885 feet. The 4 1/2-inch pipe was set at 914 feet after hole was bottomed at 1276 feet.

In the same field, S. H. Walton finaled No. E-3 D. E. Hooks, seven miles southwest of Iowa Park, for a 24-hour pumping potential of 16.91 barrels of 38 gravity crude from 18 perforations at 1201-23 feet. The 5 1/2-inch casing was cemented three feet above bottom at 1642 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 200-1.

Rumors Of Tornado Victims Unfounded

Erroneous rumors that bodies are being uncovered in the debris left on Sheppard Air Force Base following last Friday's tornado are growing daily, with no justification, base officials said Friday morning.

"These rumors are completely erroneous. The storm wrecked area has been searched thoroughly," Lt. Col. Raymond Seidel, information officer, emphasized Friday.

Col. Seidel said no military personnel has been reported missing and that no civilian people are reported missing, adding "Everyone is accounted for."

Cleaning up of the wrecked area is continuing and will be continued until all debris has been removed.

"Should anything unforeseen be discovered in the wreckage, it shall be reported immediately," Col. Seidel said.

Scouter Gives Blood Here

Don Monroe is a scouter who does a regular good turn at the Red River Regional Blood Center, Fifth at Baylor, by donating his blood to aid those who need transfusions. He recently became a Gallon Club member with the donation of his eighth pint of A positive type blood.

The Wichita Falls Times and Record News gave him a certificate of merit and the blood center officials awarded him a drop-of blood lapel pin for his service. Monroe, an army veteran, likes to fish and belongs to University Methodist Church and the Jaycees. He is sales representative for Lone Star Tool Co. and lives at 4610 Sierra Madre.

The blood center is open for donors each Monday and Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday hours are 1 to 7 p.m. The bloodmobile visits towns in an 18 county area in Texas and Oklahoma on Thursday and Friday.

Contrary to a widely held impression, there is really nothing very mysterious about bidding a slam. The methods employed are similar to those used for getting to game, however, in the case of a slam—the partnership must not only determine its ability to win 12 or 13 tricks, but also to assure itself that the opposition is not in position to sink the contract at the opening gun.

While the Blackwood convention may be useful in ascertaining the number of controls held, many slams depend on the possession of specific controls. Even all the aces and kings will not spell a slam without a long suit or some distributional values. A thorough exchange of information may be required, as in the case of today's hand, where North and South were able to go all the way once they had become aware of every feature held by the partnership.

South opened the bidding with one heart and West overcalled with one spade. The North hand was worth 13 points in support of hearts, and he decided in favor of an immediate jump raise in hearts in preference to making a temporizing response of two diamonds.

South's hand had an original valuation of about 22 points and, with all four aces, he knew that the partnership had enough for a small slam when North was able to jump in hearts. However, if the latter had sufficient trick taking power on the side, a grand slam might well be in the offing, and South resolved to embark on an extensive bidding campaign in order to determine the full potential.

Over three hearts, South made a cue bid in spades—the opponent's suit—North was obliged to sign off at four hearts since he had nothing additional to show at this stage. When South persisted with a further slam try by cue bidding the ace of clubs, North's holding took on a rosier hue. With a control in diamonds as well as in clubs, he decided to accept partner's invitation by bidding six clubs. This call conventionally shows second round control of the suit either the king or a singleton—since South's bid in clubs had announced the ace.

When South next revealed the ace of diamonds by bidding six diamonds, North became aware that his partner was trying to go all the way—an ambition which would not be fully warranted if South had only four bare aces. North reasoned that, in addition, South must have either a six card heart suit or additional secondary controls. On this assumption he bid seven hearts, and South was able to confirm his judgment by claiming the contract shortly after the opening lead.

FIRST ANNIVERSARY

Thresher Disappeared One Year Ago

EDITOR'S NOTE: One year ago today, the nuclear submarine Thresher disappeared in the waters of the Atlantic east of Boston. The loss of the Thresher and its crew of 129 was the greatest submarine disaster in American naval history.

By JAMES CALOGERO
PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP)—To many, this is a date of quiet solemnity, for a year ago today the United States suffered its greatest single submarine disaster.

On the morning of April 10, 1963, the nuclear submarine Thresher sank in the Atlantic 220 miles east of Boston with the loss of 129 lives.

In war and in peace, never have so many men perished in one American submarine. The Navy says that the men of the Thresher did not die in vain.

Out of her loss, say Navy officials in Washington, came new techniques in design and a new approach to underwater salvage studies.

Ocean Bottom

The Thresher and her men lie on the ocean bottom in water a mile and a half deep.

Debris from the Thresher has been photographed and even recovered and the Navy has an underwater picture of her prow—but the hull itself has never been located.

From Thresher's loss came the formation of the deep submergence systems review group under Rear Adm. Edward C. Stephan.

"Our ability to operate on the ocean floor and in its depths is at a level corresponding to that of aviation about 1910," he said.

"The entire undersea area will have a tremendous effect upon future military operations."

The Navy has but one vehicle which can reach the depth in which Thresher lies—a fragile-looking bathyscaphe.

Several Dives

The first of its kind, Trieste, made several dives in the area of Thresher's loss and came up with a number of photographs of debris, identified as from the broken submarine.

A new, improved bathyscaphe, Trieste II, is due from San Diego, Calif., next month to make new attempts to locate Thresher.

No public observances were planned for this first anniversary of the tragic loss, but the Navy remembered each family.

To each of the 129 families went special mementos—a specially published book, containing pictures, tributes and messages of condolences from all over the world; an 18-inch model of Thresher, and the ship's plaque.

The book will go only to the next of kin of Thresher's 129 victims.

129 Lost

Lost in the $45-million Thresher were 16 officers, 96 enlisted men and 17 civilian technicians.

The Navy considered Thresher the finest attack and killer submarine in the world when she was commissioned on Aug. 3, 1961.

She was built in Portsmouth and it was to Portsmouth that she returned for nine months of overhaul before the test dive that was to prove fatal.

Thresher cast off from Portsmouth on April 9 for dives in shallow water before heading for deep water.

Capt. John L. Holmes, administrative officer at the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard, recalled the day of Thresher's final departure.

Breakfast

"I was home helping fix breakfast when my telephone rang. It was 7 a.m. The call was from Lt. Cmdr. John W. Harvey, skipper of Thresher, calling from the submarine as it was preparing to leave.

"Someone discovered there weren't enough blankets aboard for the civilians.

"I drove to the base hospital, put 25 blankets in my car and drove them to the submarine. As I passed them to Capt. Harvey, I made some remark about using the blankets to keep warm."

Within a couple of minutes, Thresher pulled away.

From underwater, her only link with the surface world was the submarine tender Skylark. A wireless underwater telephone linked both vessels.

Ominous Report

A few minutes past 9 a.m. came an ominous report from

Thresher to Skylark: "Experiencing minor difficulty. Have positive (up) angle. Attempting to blow."

"Attempting to blow" is Navy usage meaning to force water from ballast tanks to increase buoyancy for surfacing.

Lt. James D. Watson, navigator on the Skylark, said the next message was garbled, but he made out the final two words: "Test depth."

He said the word that preceded the two-word phrase might have been "exceeding," a positive indication of trouble. The rest of the message, he said, was lost in what sounded like rushing air.

Watson continued that at 9:17 a.m., he heard over the underwater telephone the sound of "a ship breaking up—a dull muted sound."

No Word

There was no further word or sound from Thresher.

A naval court of inquiry came to the conclusion that the likely cause of Thresher's loss stemmed from a failure in one of the salt water piping systems.

Few of the widows of Thresher men still reside in the Portsmouth area. At one time, more than 30 families whose men served on Thresher, lived in the area. Now, most of them have gone back to their original home towns.

The only Thresher officer's widow still in the area is Mrs. Michael J. DiNola. Her husband was a lieutenant commander. She resides with her five children in nearby Rye, N.H.

Mrs. Samuel J. Dabruzzi, widow of the Thresher's electronic technician, had looked forward to going back to her native Minneapolis when her husband was scheduled to complete his Navy service—in August 1963.

No Choice

Another widow, Mrs. Bodil Hewitt, 34, said she and her two children had no choice of movement. A native of Oslo, Norway, she has no relatives in this country. She is remaining in Portsmouth.

Only one of Thresher's officers is alive today, Lt. Raymond B. McCoolle, 34, of Dover, N.H.

On the day before Thresher's departure, his wife, mother of their five children, suffered a kitchen accident which burned her eyes.

McCoolle reported to Thresher early in the morning of April 9, the sailing date.

On board he learned that the ship's executive officer had prepared a two-day liberty pass without his knowledge.

To McCoolle, the two days was a lifetime.

McCoolle told the inquiry board that even after Thresher's loss, he felt his place should have been with his shipmates.

On this anniversary date, McCoolle is serving aboard a submarine in Mediterranean waters.

Time For Morale-Boosting When He Shows These Signs

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
If the following indications seem to describe your husband, it's a sign that middle-age is creeping up on him.

FRIDAY LITERARY CLUB HEARS TWO BOOKS REVIEWED

Two books were reviewed for the Friday Literary Club at the home of Mrs. M. P. Albritton, 1656 Victory.

Mrs. B. L. Bryans reviewed "Cellist in Exile" by Bernard Taper, who describes Pablo Casals as "that rarity—an artist with a sense of commitment to humanity."

Mrs. Bryans said that the book reveals Casals as he is today—still playing the cello inimitably at the age of 85, and still stubbornly asserting the moral tenets which have shaped his life.

The book shows him in Puerto Rico, his place of exile, and without being a formal biography succeeds in recreating for the reader a vivid sense of his long, intense, rich and purposeful life.

Mrs. F. M. Hansen reviewed "What Time's the Next Swan?" an entertaining autobiography of Walter Slezak's life. The book contains accounts of home, school, travel and his fabulous movie career.

As the son of the great opera tenor, Leo Slezak, Walter traveled extensively with his parents, and with them explored nearly every phase of culture offered by the arts in the early part of the Twentieth Century. Mrs. Hansen said.

Luncheon was served to 18 members and one guest, Mrs. Alfred H. Kass.

Perhaps you had better exert some extra effort to let him know how much you love and admire him, if—

He suddenly starts picking out the brightest neckties he can find, or switches to bow ties.

He starts getting his hair clipped closer, especially over the temples.

He brings home a bottle of hair tonic and starts using it generously, though privately.

He complains about how little the bright young men coming into his business know and how much they think they know.

You catch him now and then in front of the mirror scowling at his receding hairline as he turns his head from side to side.

He decides his son hasn't a lick of sense because the boy is doing all the things he did when HE was the boy's age.

He doesn't talk so often about how things are going to be for the two of you some day, and the things you are going to have.

He tells you to stop cooking rich desserts, even though he goes right on ordering them in restaurants.

He complains that the cleaners have shrunk his suit when he discovers it doesn't hang as comfortably loose as it did last year.

He keeps talking about having to take more exercise, but does not do anything about it.

He worries about himself if he doesn't feel quite up to par.

He decides that the term "middle-aged" refers to men at least 10 years older than he is.

Color forecast for April has a rich staccato beat. Watch for pizzicato green (a primary green), staccato red, pizzicato brown and staccato blue—shown in suits and dresses of crisp cut linen.

Models Illustrate Work Done In YWCA Classes

A clever presentation of what the YWCA has to offer women of all ages made up the luncheon program Thursday for the YWCA membership kick-off program. Mrs. R. L. Thompson, program director of the YWCA, had charge.

Women from Mrs. Gordon Sawyer's sewing class modeled garments they made. Clothes modeled included a tailored suit, worn by Mrs. Aaron Ratliff; turquoise coat, worn by Mrs. J. D. Chambers; colorful square dance dress, worn by Mrs. Bernie Fry of the Y Promenaders; a silk print worn by Mrs. Paul Springer for YW bridge games, and Mrs. Frank Hood wore a peau de soie full length evening gown she made. It had a detachable top of gold metallic material.

Others in the parade of talent were Mrs. Jerry Neal, wearing a swim suit; Mrs. Wayne McManahan in slacks, representing the class in slimslacks; Mrs. George Turner in a yellow suit with a matching print blouse, representing the charm class and Mrs. Herbert Fleming carried an oil painting to indicate the class in painting.

Miss Claudia Johnston and Mrs. Joe Musgrave wore typical judo suits as they demonstrated methods of self-defense and the sport of judo.

Mrs. Turner also modeled a "jump" suit she will wear in the Powder Puff mechanics class to be held next Thursday at 10 a.m. at the Y.

"These models are a living proof that 'the YWCA belongs to you,'" Mrs. Albert H. Owen, membership chairman, said. "We have something to offer young adults, career girls, older women, teen-agers, and even the pre-school child."

"The YWCA program offers a wide variety of programs and fellowship. We invite women and girls to join during National YWCA Week, April 9-18."

Luncheon tables for the membership luncheon were decorated with imitation dress patterns titled "Pattern for Christian Living," made by the Blue Belles, girls' service organization of the YWCA.

MRS. GEORGE LEBEAU AND MRS. BRYANT PILLSBURY

Cotillion Club Honors New Members At Luncheon

New members of the Cotillion Club were honored at the club's luncheon Friday at the Wichita Falls Country Club.

The new members are Dr. and Mrs. Bryant Pillsbury, Dr. and Mrs. George LeBeau and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Burford. They also will be honored at a spring dance

April 17 at the Country Club. Scat Davis' orchestra is to play.

New officers of the club were elected. They are Messrs. and Mmes. Steve Gose, president; Johnny B. Allred, first vice president; Price Lowry, second vice president; Thomas J. Waggoner, secretary; Bobby Noble, treasurer and Dr. and Mrs. J. G. Holt, telephone chairman.

A vegetable garden theme was used in decorating for the luncheon, last for this season. A manzanita branch to which seed packets were attached was surrounded by miniature vegetables and wreathed with pepper plants for the centerpiece.

Hostesses for the day were Mmes. Allred, Hal Yeager Jr. and Morris Seydell.

Look Young By Using Eye Make-Up

What keeps a woman young? Not the secret fountain of youth, but the ability to stay in step with the current scene when it comes to fashion, make-up and ideas. One sure way to wear your birth certificate around your neck, for example, is to go without eye make-up. Shadow, liner, mascara are not only the trademark of the young and the chic, but actually can contribute to a youthful appearance.

A shadow in a soft blue can highlight brown eyes beautifully, making them appear young and sparkling, for blue has a tendency to make the whites of the eyes appear more clear and rested.

When it comes to eyeliner, draw a thin line next to the lashes and your eyelashes will appear slightly thicker. Extend the liner beyond the corner of the eye, tilt it upward a bit and your eyes will look larger, longer and take on a slightly pixie quality.

Eye brows, properly pencilled-in, can help to balance your face. Keep them going slightly upward for a young and happy appearance. Always use eye pencil lightly with feathery strokes in two shades of pencil (light brown and dark brown, for example) for the best and most natural results.

MRS. JENNINGS IS ELECTED BY WOMEN OF ROTARY

Mrs. Rex Jennings was elected president of the Women of Rotary at a luncheon Thursday at the Woman's Forum. She and the other new officers will be installed at the May 7 luncheon.

The other officers are: Mmes. J. H. Somerville, first vice president; James Story, second vice president; Tom Crane, recording secretary; Mel Breeley; historian; Robert Foley, parliamentarian; Jim McDonald, treasurer; Ed Bebb, club musician and McCharles Huff, Forum representative.

Chairmen named Thursday are Mmes. Crane, yearbook; E. G. O'Neill, fellowship; Lynn Darden, social; Glenn Tedford, publicity and Roy Hammond, telephone.

A timely and informative program, "The Unpredictable Weather," was presented by Tom Crane, a weatherman at a tv station here. He illustrated his talk with movies of last week's tornado.

Mrs. J. P. Tarry, president, conducted the business session. Bouquets of mixed spring flowers decorated the tables in the lounge of the Forum.

Rake Lawn Before First Spring Mowing

Before you give your lawn its first cutting of the spring, it's a good idea to rake the lawn first to remove stones, sticks and other debris which has gathered during the winter months.

A galvanized steel basket is a handy accessory for this preliminary raking job. Its light weight makes it easy to carry as you fill it with the accumulation of trash.

The same basket also is handy for transporting fertilizer, peat moss, flower bulbs, and even for transplanting small shrubs and plants.

Little Girls Deserve New Hair Styles

Every day is ladies' day in spring! That's when your favorite flowers bloom in all your favorite colors, when new fashions spark a new interest in clothes, when little girls and their mothers show their new hats and hairdos.

When you're planning your daughter's spring and summer clothes, take a fresh approach to the way she wears her hair, too. Probably it's time for it to be cut and shaped. You'll want her to wear it in a style that's becoming, one that is simple and easy to set. With a special home permanent for children, her hair will have body and a soft, natural looking curl. This will make it easily manageable and add versatility, too, so that she can wear it several different ways.

If you've never given a modern home permanent to your little girl, you'll be surprised at how quick and easy it is. You can do it at your own convenience in the privacy and comfort of home. It only takes about an hour's time. The body and soft curl will keep her hairstyle attractive for months.

A medium length page-boy with wide, curving waves is an easy-to-keep hairdo for school and play. A wide headband will help keep it in place. A pretty, perky way for a very young child to wear her hair is short, brushed up in fluffy, loose curls. Neat bangs stay smoothly in line; the crown hair is tied with a ribbon.

A party hairdo has something extra added to give it special charm. Here's one for medium length hair: catch all the top hair in a rubber band. Place a piece of cotton around the rubber band and then cover the cotton with hair to form a poufy topknot. Decorate the topknot with a garland of flowers.

A little girl with a permanent has so much more fun taking care of her own hair. It's easier for her to do herself and she enjoys combing and brushing her curls. When she's ten or eleven she can be taught to set her own hair. And she'll enjoy it just as much as setting her doll's hair.

Former Wichitans Move To Germany

Mr. and Mrs. David Chamberlin and children, Michelle, 7, and twins Chris and Connie, 4, left Wichita Falls Friday on the first leg of an interesting journey to Heidelberg, Germany, where they will live for the next year or two.

Chamberlin is field support engineer for Collins Radio and will head a general support team for the Communications Scatter System. He has previously served in that capacity in the Far East, but more recently was in charge of the Research and Development Program of the Pershing Missile Communications System. The family has lived in Burk Burnett since August.

Both Chamberlin and his wife, the former Miss Renee Kennedy attended Wichita Falls schools. They visited recently with the couple's respective mothers here, Mrs. A. V. Mahan, 1503 Bluff, and Mrs. S. H. Kennedy, 1708 McGregor.

The Wichitans drove to Dallas for business and pleasure over the weekend and are to drive to New York where the engineer will board a MATS jet and Mrs. Chamberlin and children will go TWA airliner to Heidelberg.

The goal of most brides is to acquire by the time of their wedding, a set of eight place settings. The six - piece place setting is the basic unit of service. When working with a limited budget, select fewer pieces in each place setting, such as four or five. Bridal consultants feel it is better to have more settings with fewer pieces than to cut down on the number of settings.

Merry Blue Birds of Crockett School met at the home of Mrs. Buford Rice, leader, Tuesday and from there went to Municipal Airport. Besides watching the planes take off and land, the group was shown through a passenger plane and toured the weather department headquarters.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Rice and Mrs. Johnny Watkins.

At an earlier meeting the group went on a penny hike with Mrs. Bob Woodley as hostess.

This Is Familiarity?

Remember You Started It!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: In our community there is a couple whom my husband and I have known for over half a century. He and my husband have been fast friends since their boyhood. The man had a heart attack, and when he came home from the hospital we called on him. He was as gray as a ghost, and I honestly didn't think he was going to make it so I called him by his first name. That is all. Well, he is recovering now and has started calling me by my first name, and I don't like it. I prize his wife's friendship highly, but don't appreciate her husband's undue familiarity. What do you suggest? — NEARING EIGHTY

DEAR NEARING: I don't know what you consider "undue familiarity" but it would appear that you are unduly aloof. And don't forget, you initiated the familiarity!

DEAR ABBY: What is a girl supposed to think when a boy falls asleep on a date? Could it be that I bore him? He is wide awake when we start out, but no matter where we are, if there's a chance for him to close his eyes, he falls asleep. I have told him to stay home if he likes to sleep that much, but he says he would rather be with me. Should I break up with him? — WIDE AWAKE

DEAR WIDE: Don't assume that you are a bore, or that the boy just "likes to sleep." It is entirely possible that the young man needs to see a doctor. Suggest it.

DEAR ABBY: Now that spring is here, the old problem we had last summer comes to mind. On our street the houses are rather close together. The man next door is a sun worshiper, so at the first hint of warm weather he puts on his swim trunks and stands around in his front yard sprinkling, weeding and showing off in general. His trunks are elastic, flesh-colored, and about as abbreviated as they can be without landing him in jail. He is far from a pleasure to look at, being skinny, bald-headed and a grandfather many times. I am ashamed to let my children play outside when he is out there. We don't want to call the police, but the whole neighborhood thinks he is a disgrace. What should we do? — SUN WORSHIPER'S NEIGHBORS

DEAR NEIGHBORS: Ask the chief of detectives or vice squad in your local police department to observe the sun worshiper and decide whether he is actually violating any ordinances about exposure or decency. If he is, the police will act.

CONFIDENTIAL TO SID: Anybody can write a love letter, but it takes a very clever person to get it back.

Get it off your chest. For a personal, unpublished reply, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

BRIDE, GROOM SHOULD REQUEST STERLING SILVER

Young couples who want to start married life with sterling should let close friends and relatives know what they have their hearts set on. Happily, sterling is among the gifts those close to the couple like most to give because it is a lifetime treasure, with sentiment and value.

Parents, especially, like to give their children wedding presents that have the family feeling associated with sterling flatware. Sterling is traditionally the gift of the bride's parents. The groom's parents, too, might like to collaborate with the aim of building a complete set for the young people.

During the engagement period, both bride and groom can supplement gifts of sterling with purchases of their own. There is special meaning in choosing and saving, together, for a possession that is as permanent and important as sterling flatware. If they wait until after marriage, other expenses may necessitate putting off the purchase of sterling for a long time, perhaps many years.

Shopowners Devise Ways To Prevent Shoplifting

(Final article in a series on shoplifting in Wichita Falls.)

By MARTHA B. STEIMEL
"Internal pilferage" is a fancy term for a merchant's loss because his employees steal from him.

And internal pilferage exists for practically every storekeeper in town, particularly the larger firms.

"We feel like this. Twenty-five per cent are honest; 25 per cent are dishonest; with the other 50 per cent, it just depends on what their opportunities are," one manager said.

His store, one of a chain, has its own security system. Other establishments are checked periodically by firms which do nothing but check-shop stores to see whether or not clerks are honest. They are completely impartial and no one, not even the manager, knows when his store is to be checked.

This is how it works. A "customer" will make a normal purchase. Then, just as he is leaving, he will decide to buy another item and pay for it with the exact change. Sometimes he does not wait for a sales slip or cash receipt.

A check of salesbooks or cash register tapes shows whether or not the employee pocketed the cash.

In addition, the individual stores have their own methods of checking. Some stores ask that employees charge all their purchases and the accounts are checked from time to time. Other make it a rule that a clerk can't buy something from himself. Others have used polygraph (lie detector) tests periodically.

In other cities, clerks in a store sometimes are employed by counter spies—undercover operators whose jobs are to rat on fellow employees. Jean Sprain Wilson, Associated Press Writer, tells of such women:

Chic, personable, and knowledgeable about nearly all aspects of retailing, these lady agents specialize in ferreting out personnel who in one way or another pocket the store's profits.

The length of time on a job varies from a few days to several months. The cases cover everything from the petty pilfering of a part-time employee to the grand larceny of the president's grandson.

Although the teen-age crowd works cheaper, says tall, shapely blonde Miss X, their fingers are stickier than their seasoned God-and-detective-fearing seniors. Their thefts are minor at first but they quickly grow into alarming and expensive proportions.

Nor are these charming counter spies particularly dazzled by success. To the contrary, the clerk with unswerving customer loyalty may very well be the object of their suspicions. Very often, says Miss X, the sales lady owes her popularity to huge, unauthorized discounts.

Their collusion with the customers is easily accomplished by remarking or switching sales tags. The clerk profits by her commission and the stores lose plenty.

Unfortunately, Miss X and the others in her unique occupation become extremely fond of some of the people they are paid to spy upon. Indeed, raving on the buyer boyfriend has wrecked some potentially beautiful romances.

"That's the really heart-breaking part of this job," says Miss X, heaving a sigh. "But our loyalty belongs to the store."

Coterie Club Hears Talk About Congo

Mrs. Floyd Taylor discussed the Congo Friday for members of the Coterie Club at the home of Mrs. B. A. Stayton, 1811 Ninth.

Mrs. Taylor described the people, customs, and daily mode of life. Her talk was based on personal letters she has received from the Congo.

A dessert plate was served. The next meeting will be April 24 with Mrs. E. B. Bailey as hostess.

Check-Water Level
In transit, most floral arrangements are in containers with low water levels to prevent spillage. Therefore, it is important to check gift floral arrangements to see if adequate water is available to the flowers.

Clothing Reflects Owner's Personality

To feel well dressed, say psychologists, our clothes must also reflect the way we feel about ourselves.

There are jokes about the hurried woman going from store to store searching for the right dress. She finally slips into one and exclaims: "It's me!" This search for psychologically satisfying clothes, however, is not exclusive with the fair sex. Men's clothes answer psychological demands with the "Ivy League look," and "conservative" or the "Madison Avenue look."

Once a garment has been purchased and the owner feels it really suits him, the psychologist says he emotionally places a high value on it, often in excess of its purchase price. As he becomes attached to his clothing, he looks on it as an extension of his own person.

He feels it is newer and better looking than a disinterested person might consider it. Drycleaners often hear such remarks as "Please be good to this dress" or "I bought this in Florida, and it's particularly becoming."

Scientists look ahead apprehensively to the time when customers may say:

"I'd like you to clean this dress and change it to this shade of frosty pink. I'm having my hair, lashes, nails and teeth that same lovely color next week."

Notice To Club Reporters

Please turn in your club and/or organization reports no later than the day following the meeting. A courtesy box has been placed by the entrance door to The Times for your convenience. All you need to do is drop your report in the box. Be sure the copy has your name and telephone number listed. The later your story is turned in, the less space it can be given.

BOP Group Sees Formosa Pictures

Group 2 of the BOP from the First Methodist Church met Thursday with Mrs. C. J. Cunningham, 1702 Buchanan, and saw pictures taken in Taiwan and other parts of Formosa.

The pictures were shown by Mrs. E. M. Hall and included scenes of the recent earthquake there. They were taken by her son, Billy Bob Hall, who is stationed there.

During the business session a report was given on the County Farm which is the class project.

A coffee plate was served to 16 members and three guests.

Hints from HELOISE

Canned Shrimp

Dear Heloise: Would you tell me how to fix shrimp for salads? I can't stand to clean them.—Hazel B.

Dear Hazel: I use canned shrimp! But... my husband is so particular when it comes to fish that he did not like the taste of it. So I experimented...

For six years now we have been serving canned shrimp to all of our guests and I have had many of them ask me how long it "takes me to cook and clean my fresh shrimp!" They won't know until this column that I use canned shrimp.

Here's how: Buy a good grade of canned, cleaned shrimp. Be sure it says "de-veined" on the outside of the can. I do not buy broken shrimp, nor do I ever buy the small size. I think the large, cleaned shrimp are worth the extra few cents you pay.

Open the can, and before completely removing the lid, drain off the fluid.

Put the shrimp in a big fruit jar. Set it under your cold water faucet. Turn on the faucet at medium speed and let the water run into the fruit jar at medium speed for a minute or so. This removes some of the canned taste.

Turn off the water faucet, pour out the water, add one tablespoon of salt and re-fill the jar with cold tap water.

The water will look cloudy. Never mind. The salt water-soaking is what removes the canned taste!

Put the jar in your refrigerator (with the salt water completely covering the fish) and leave it at least 24 hours.

These shrimp may be used for salads, as shrimp cocktails or eaten as is. And they do NOT taste as if they came from a can.

If you happen to have leftovers (bet a nickel you won't) drop them in some pickled beet juice for a few hours. "Purple-pickled" shrimp that really is tasty and dresses up your lettuce salad!—Just a little shrimp...

Dear Heloise: Here is something I thought of when my young son was learning to tie his shoes:

It seems as if those little guys have a difficult time seeing those last "twists." I tied one black and one white shoe string together and then laced the shoes as usual.

Then as I demonstrated the loops, etc., he was able to see better how it was done. The black and white shoe string show HOW! It only took him a few tries and he was tying his own shoes properly.—Mrs. Earl Harman

Dear Heloise: If you have embroidery floss which tangles and some leftover note paper envelopes... store your floss (one color per envelope) regardless of length or thickness and write the approximate color on the outside of the envelopes.

This way you can sort quickly through the box of envelopes to find the colors you want and they do not get tangled.—Mrs. J.T.R.

Dear Heloise: Putting moth balls in flower beds or anywhere else, helps keep the cat and kittens away! We did this and it is still working.—Velma Smith

Yes, we know it works, but BE CAREFUL if there are little children around who might eat them. I am sure that you are aware how DANGEROUS that can be.—Heloise

Area Sorority Conference To Be Held Here April 25

Schedules are nearing completion for the area Beta Sigma Phi workshop to be held Saturday, April 25, at Floral Heights Methodist Church. Sorority members in a 100 mile radius of Wichita Falls have been invited to attend.

INSTANT FASHION for smart mothers-to-be is seen in this one piece lined dacron dress. The print—muted splashes of Japanese inspired florals—comes in tones of mint or blue. A softly draped collar and tie bow add the perfect touch to this charming afternoon dress by Joni Lynn Maternities.

Job Hunters Must Be Well Groomed

This spring a fresh group of high school and college graduates will join the army of job hunters. For many it will be their first try at finding a job.

A good education, an alert mind, and a fresh initiative will be attributes many of them will have, but, according to Annette Tatelman, prominent employment agent in Washington, D.C., even some of these young people will have difficulty.

Why? A rumpled dress or baggy trousers or the wrong attire can spoil the important first impression, says Miss Tatelman. A personnel man interviewing a sloppy, unkempt job applicant is immediately put on his guard. The first thing he sees is that the applicant is inattentive to detail, careless about some things.

Miss Tatelman was asked just what is proper attire for a job applicant. Her answer:

"You're always safe in a nicely tailored suit or dress. For a woman, hat and gloves go with the tailored look, and she should not overdo with jewelry, color or style."

A clean, well groomed suit is best for men — and "absolutely no loafers."

Good grooming has a side effect that is most important. It gives a person a sense of confidence, and this helps greatly in making a favorable impression in a job interview.

An up-to-date report on the conference was made at Wednesday night's meeting of Faith City Council of the sorority at the YWCA. New council officers also were elected. They are: Mmes. Sam Johnson, president; Jerry Thomason, first vice president; Don Drake, recording secretary; Warren Humphries, treasurer; Billy Skidmore, reporter; Wayne Trotter, Children's Center representative; Miss Jackie Laster, second vice president and Miss Mary Matthews, corresponding secretary.

The area conference will begin with a coffee-registration hour from 9 to 10 a.m. April 25. The general assembly will be from 10:30 a.m. until noon. After lunch, individual forums for officers and committee chairmen will begin at 2 p.m.

Chapters who are planning the conference are the three exemplar chapters in the city. Xi Delta Zeta is in charge of the registration and coffee; Xi Zeta Omicron is in charge of the lunch and Xi Delta is arranging the program.

The spring banquet and dance will be May 2 at Maskat Temple.

MU Senior Art Exhibits Slated

Senior art exhibits of Mary Jo Hagemann and Dee Ann Adair Martin, both of Wichita Falls, will be shown in Room 209 of the Hardin Administration building at Midwestern University from Sunday through April 25.

The work in a wide variety of media represents their work during years as art majors. Both students are all-level art majors and hope to teach in the public schools. Miss Hagemann is listed in Who's Who in Art at Midwestern.

Aquatic Director Named By YWCA

Announcement of the appointment of Mrs. John Larsen as aquatic director of the YWCA swimming program for the next six weeks, and committee reports highlighted the YWCA executive board meeting Thursday at the Y. Mrs. Lyle Gill, president, conducted the meeting.

Mrs. Larsen, whose husband is stationed at SAFB, directed the CHAP (Children Have a Potential) swimming program at the Base last summer.

The swimming pool, a heated indoor pool, will open officially Monday, and classes will be offered for the next six weeks by competent instructors. The pool also will be available for private parties. A fee will be charged. Information about use of the pool may be obtained from the YWCA.

Sergeant Named 'Jaycee Of Month'

IOWA PARK, Tex. (Special)—Frederick F. Eke was named Jaycee of the Month here. Even though he has only been a member of the Jaycees for about a year, he has proved himself an enthusiastic and energetic member.

He took part in the annual coffee stop last Labor Day week end, the high school dances, was committee chairman for the "Citizen of the Year" banquet held in February, and is currently serving on the board of directors.

Staff Sgt. Eke is assigned to the 376th School Squadron at SAFB as technical instructor in the missile department. He and his wife, Barbara, and their three children, James, Steven and Diana, reside at 1005 Lincoln Drive.

Miss Vivian McPherson is to arrive April 15 to become director of the YWCA residence. Mrs. C. B. Johnson, residence chairman, said that applications are being taken for the residence. Mrs. R. O. Harvey reported that the residence is in final stages of redecorating for opening.

May 7 was set as the date for the Y-Teen banquet, at which time the "girl of the year" will be named. Mrs. Phillips Cunningham said. The girl of the year is chosen for her contributions to Y-Teens, her church, home and school, and on the basis of a written application for the honor.

Mrs. Albert H. Owen, membership chairman, said that 500 new members is goal for the drive which began April 9 and will close April 18.

Other reports were made by Mrs. Temple Driver, finance chairman; Mrs. Joella Terrill Butler, personnel chairman and Mrs. Olan Balch, adult program.

The Cook's Corner

By GAIL COOKE
A delightfully spring-like dessert to be prepared the day before (we think they're the best kind, don't you?)

Lemon Ice Box Cake
1½ tablespoons unflavored gelatin
6 egg yolks
¾ cup sugar
6 egg whites
¾ cup sugar
1 cup whipping cream
1-3 cup cold water
¾ cup lemon juice
1 tablespoon grated lemon rind
¼ teaspoon salt
24 Ladyfingers split
½ cup coconut

The day before soften gelatin in cold water. In double boiler beat egg yolks with lemon juice and stir in ¼ cup sugar. Cook over hot water, stirring until the mixture coats a spoon, remove from heat. Stir in gelatin and lemon rind until dissolved.

With electric mixer, beat egg whites with salt until they form soft peaks. Slowly add ¾ cup sugar continuing to beat until whites form stiff peaks. Fold in lemon mixture.

Line sides and bottom of 9-inch torte pan with split ladyfingers. Pour in half of lemon mixture and arrange rest of ladyfingers on top. Pour in remaining lemon mixture. Refrigerate. Just before serving spread whipped cream on top of cake and garnish with shredded coconut. Serves 8 gentlemen or 12 ladies.

Quite often an extra special small something will turn an unexciting meal into a treat. Next time your menu for dinner seems rather drab, bake some Corn Crispies to go along with it.

Corn Crispies
1 cup yellow corn meal
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons melted shortening
¼ cup sifted flour
¼ teaspoon baking soda
1-3 cup milk

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Sift together corn meal, flour, salt and baking soda. Mix in shortening and milk. On lightly floured board knead dough 6 to 8 times or until it holds together. Break off in pieces the size of a nickel and roll into very thin 4 inch rounds. Bake on ungreased cookie sheet 15 minutes or until golden. Just before serving, brush with melted butter and sprinkle with salt. Makes 24 crunchy munchy crispies.

Ladies, I think you are so clever. And, thank goodness, for without your ideas I couldn't have all the fun of writing this column. Saw the most attractive centerpiece the other day and my hostess was nice enough to let me pass it on to you. Core three holes in the top of a pineapple and insert three long tapered candles. Simple? You bet! And you'd be amazed how impressive.

Here's a do-ahead salad to go with your do-ahead cake. You're not going to have an excuse left for putting off that dinner party any longer! A little different version of one favorite chilled bean salad.

French Bean Salad
3 packages frozen french style green beans
2 tablespoons salad oil
Dash pepper
¼ cup cold water
2 tablespoons minced onions
1 tablespoon salt
1 tablespoon sugar
¼ cup wine vinegar

Horticulture Group Visits Azalea Trail

Discussions on growing methods and visits along the Founders' Azalea Trail comprised the program for the Founders Horticultural Group of the Woman's Forum Garden Club when members met Thursday morning in the Art Room of the Forum.

Mrs. Robert Roth, group chairman, conducted a brief business session during which members voted to make a monetary contribution to the Woman's Forum for the President's Breakfast May 12. Mrs. Bailey Meissner asked that artistic horticultural specimens be entered for display in the Wichita Falls Garden Club's Flower Show April 25. She also announced that placement artistic arrangements will be viewed in the homes of Mrs. Joe Bashara, 2201 Ellingham, and Mrs. Landon Cultum Jr., 3026 Kirk.

Mrs. A. L. McAllister, program chairman, directed the azalea trail tour to the gardens of Mrs. Charles Reid, 3208 Martin, Mrs. Rhea Howard, 2105 Berkeley, Mrs. Gaylord Swartz, 2202 Avondale, and the patio garden of Mrs. J. L. Jackson Jr.

Drive-by beauty spots suggested were the gardens of Mrs. Harold Knotts, 1626 Hursh, lush with thrift; Mrs. P. K. Smith, 2110 Wenonah, tulips; and Mrs. Jasper Ferguson, 2019 Clarinda, azaleas.

Mrs. J. E. Gill displayed horticultural specimens of kerria, calycanthus and viburnum, and a display of pink hibiscus was brought by Mrs. Theibert Martin. Twenty-five members were present.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. John C. Murphree, 2307 Miramar, May 14.

Way To Retire

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—William Roever, a former New Jersey state employee, has enrolled as a Florida State University freshman at the age of 71.

He says the best way to spend retirement is "doing what you've always wanted to do but never had time for."

Roever is studying theatre arts. He's also enrolled in a beginning swimmers' course.

He is a former field investigator for the New Jersey division of employment security.

American Look

The American look in international hotels emerged in 1946 when President Harry Truman and the State Department became concerned about the economies of Latin American countries. They agreed that an increasing flow of dollar-bearing tourists would help—if there were adequate hotels to accommodate them.

Student Teaching Director Named

Appointment of Dr. Thomas Barlow Hill, director of curriculum in the Richardson Independent School District, as director of student teaching at Midwestern University effective September 1, has been announced.

Dr. Hill has served as the first director of curriculum in Richardson Independent School District and has seen the Dallas County school district mushroom from 9,000 students and 350 teachers in 1961 to the present 15,000 students and 600 classroom teachers.

Prior to his appointment in Richardson, Dr. Hill, a native Texan, was associate professor of government and education at Lipscomb College, Nashville, Tenn., and previously held positions as teacher and football coach in Amarillo and Archer City, high school principal at Holaday, and instructor at North Texas State.

Dr. Hill completed his doctoral work at North Texas State in June, 1961, with a major in administrative leadership and a minor in government. His dissertation, a statistical study involving 374 teachers from 33 Texas public schools, was titled, "The Relationships Between Teacher Morale and the Ability to Establish Rapport with Pupils and Other Selected Variables."

He also holds a master's degree in public school administration from North Texas State and a B.S. degree in history and secondary education from Midwestern University.

Coyote Captain

A graduate of Wichita Falls High School, Dr. Hill was Coyote football co-captain in 1947 and was selected on the All-Southern team named by the Atlanta Journal.

During his tenure in Richardson, Dr. Hill has served as director of KRET-TV, educational television which is broadcast to the school district on UHF frequency, and has worked in areas of school accreditation, in-service training, guidance, special classes, summer school, and general program development in grades 1-12.

The Richardson board of trustees in 1962 approved a three-year development plan which includes 17 curriculum items. These include the addition of junior high school reading specialists, choral and instrumental instructors, addition of more counselors at the secondary level, and expansion of the secondary curriculum.

An accelerated program for capable students extends from grade four through high school and enables students who are gifted in certain areas to gain advanced standing in college. College level subjects are offered in biology, chemistry, mathematics, and physics, with languages soon to be added. Summer school has been expanded to include enrichment courses in creative arts and science in addition to regular remedial work.

Activities

Dr. Hill holds membership in Texas State Teachers Association, state and national Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development, Phi Delta Kappa, and is a past vice president of the Richardson Optimist Club. He and Mrs. Hill are members of the Church of Christ. Dr. Hill has long been interested in creative and professional writing and is the author of one novel, published in 1957.

Dr. Hill served for two years in the United States Field Artillery and worked as a forward observer with the 40th Division in Korea. He participated in the Triangle Hill and Heartbreak Ridge campaigns and was awarded a Purple Heart for wounds received near Kong Dong in 1952.

Dr. Hill stated, "It will be good to return to college work, and I'm looking forward to renewing past school acquaintances in Wichita Falls and area districts. Midwestern University has a great future in state education, and it's good to be a part of that future."

Dr. Hill, his wife, Norma, and their children, Russell, 8, Shannon, 5, and Marcus, 2, presently reside at 705 Gaylewood Drive, Richardson.

Dalquest To Tell Of African Trip

Dr. Walter Dalquest will speak at the Midwestern University Faculty Forum at 8 p.m. Friday in McCullough Hall where he will report on his recent trip to Africa and show specimens then held a question and answer session.

The meeting is open to the public as well as the entire student body.

New Fain Pastor Will Be Installed

Rev. James Wiley Mosley, new minister of Fain Memorial Presbyterian Church, will be installed as pastor Sunday night by a commission acting for the Central Texas Presbytery.

A reception for Rev. and Mrs. Mosley and members of the commission will be held in Fellowship Hall following the installation service.

The service will begin at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the church sanctuary at Speedway and Martin.

Rev. John W. Cunningham, general presbyter of Central Texas Presbytery, will preside and propound the constitutional questions to the pastor-elect and the congregation.

Dr. Stuart D. Currie, professor of church history, Austin Presbyterian Seminary, will preach the sermon, taking as his text Acts 9:31.

Others

The service also will include: Christian greeting, Dr. George J. Seibold, ruling elder of Fain Church; Psalm reading, Earl Scott, ruling elder of Trinity Presbyterian; prayers of thanksgiving, intercession and supplication, Dr. Earle W. Crawford, minister of First Presbyterian in Wichita Falls and visiting brother from the Presbytery of Brazos, U.P.S.A.

A native of Conway, Ark., he received a B.A. degree from Hendrix College in 1952 and a B.D.

SAFB Invites Building Bids

The Sheppard Technical Training Center procurement office this week issued invitations to 17 prospective bidders to bid on conversion and alteration of Building 644 for a dispensary, and to 15 others to bid on construction of a test stand at Sheppard.

Work on Building 644, which housed the dental clinic until its inclusion in the new USAF Medical Facility here, will include dismantling, demolition, and salvage work, and carpentry, asphalt tile flooring, gypsum wallboard, general painting, hardware, plumbing, gas fittings and interior electrical work.

This conversion work is to be completed within 75 calendar days. Bids will be opened at 2 p.m. April 24 in the center procurement office.

The test stand project, to be completed in 90 calendar days, will include excavating and grading, installing concrete, construction of pre-engineered metal building, interior electrical conduits, wire and fixtures, and painting.

Bids on the latter project will be opened at the procurement office at 2 p.m., May 8.

Both projects have been set aside exclusively for small business participation, according to Major Walter B. Sloan, center procurement officer.

DEADLINE NEAR

23,500 In Area Have Not Filed Tax Returns

Approximately 23,500 taxpayers in the Wichita Falls area have not filed their income tax returns—with less than a week before the annual deadline—according to Omas Roberts, administrative officer of the Wichita Falls Internal Revenue office.

He estimated that about the same number of taxpayers in this area have already received refunds, averaging $123 each. Some 4,700 are anxiously awaiting their refunds to be processed.

Roberts further pointed out that about 12,500 of the 23,500 taxpayers in this area who waited until the last minute to file have a refund due them rather than owing tax.

Roberts had this word of advice for taxpayers who have not filed:

Check your arithmetic.
Be sure to sign your return (both husband and wife on joint returns).

Make your check payable to "Internal Revenue Service." Mail your return to: "Internal Revenue Service, 2101 Pacific Avenue, Dallas, Texas 75201." Be patient about your refund. At this time of year it takes at least two months to process—and possibly longer.

Collectors Plan June Coin Show

Members of the Wichita Falls Stamp & Coin Club heard plans for a North Texas and Southern Oklahoma coin show, scheduled in June, discussed at their meeting here Thursday night.

Pat Halverson explained the importance of the show to club members and said an appraisal table would be set up at the show where the public could have coins appraised without charge.

Roger Paulk, club chairman in charge of special exhibits, reported on displays planned in financial institutions for observance of National Coin Week, which begins April 18.

William Rust Sr., president of the group, said several members would attend the state coin collectors' convention in Dallas April 10-12 and would have displays there.

Mrs. H. H. Hallmark, membership chairman of the club, reported a paid membership of 59 at present.

Carr Files Slant-Hole Civil Suit

AUSTIN (AP) — For the first time Thursday, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr filed a civil penalty suit involving an allegedly slant-hole oil well operations in East Texas involving three wells in Rusk County and one in Gregg County. Named in the suits were E. A. Major, Oliver M. Garvin, H. L. Long, all of Rusk County, and H. G. Lewis of Gregg County.

That brought to 106 the total suits filed since an investigation began in June, 1962 into wells drilled at an angle to take oil from under neighbors' leases.

Two-Foot Difference

A year ago about this time Lake Kickapoo, the city's source of good water, contained storage within three feet of spillway level. The following period of peak consumption during the summer marked the first time the city's second filtration plant was in operation, meaning that enough filtered water was available to meet all of the municipality's demands. Such a situation had not been in existence for years, since Wichita Falls outgrew its original and frequently enlarged filter plant.

In comparison to the year-ago level, Lake Kickapoo is down about two feet to a level five feet below spillway and Wichita Falls therefore has about 60 to 70 per cent of the water supply in storage when the lake is filled.

This city is not facing a prospective water shortage. No plans or programs are underway by the city, so far as we know, to seek water conservation out of the ordinary. Lake Kickapoo has an ample supply for the rest of this year and another year, with normal usage and even subnormal rainfall.

But the fact remains that Lake Kickapoo holds less water now than a year ago. Further, while rainfall figures so far this year are about normal, there has been no appreciable runoff in the lake's watershed drained by Kickapoo Creek and the North Fork of the Little Wichita River. These contribute to at least a slight feeling of unease.

Good rains in the next six weeks can be anticipated if there is normal precipitation. The biggest flood Wichita Falls has experienced occurred in June 1915 after excessive rainfall in May and early in June. There is hope that nature will, in the immediate future, correct the declining level of Lake Kickapoo.

Wichita Falls has not been sitting idly by on meeting its water requirements. A new lake on the Little Wichita is closer because the legal complications that have tied up the Halsell project are running their course. Within a few years, a two-foot difference in the level of Lake Kickapoo as the season of peak demand is entered will be deemed inconsequential. Until then, it can be slightly disquieting information.

Stay Home But Send Your Wife

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Henry Morgan came up to me in Sardi's... "I want to talk to you about your wife," said Henry... "Yes?" said I.

"Your B.W.," said Henry, "came to that birthday party for Dong Kingman and me at 21 that you didn't come to because you were goofing off somewhere." "I told her to go," I said.

"So she told me," he said. "When we introduced her as Mrs. Wilson, a lot of people were unimpressed. When we said 'Mrs. EARL Wilson,' they were even more unimpressed. But she was so charming and so wonderful that they all wanted to meet her again. Therefore I have a request to make to you."

"Yes?" said I. "The next time you're invited to a party, would you please send your wife... and you stay home?"

Send Your Check

While Richard Burton and Liz Taylor were having scrambled eggs the other a.m. at Michael's Pub—with four detectives at the bar protecting them—I heard this true tale about a girl who's been taking calls for tickets to Burton's "Hamlet."

"Just send your check to the Lunt & Fontaine Theater," she said. "Yes, that's right, Lunt & Fontaine." (Finally, a bit impatiently): "ALFRED LUNT AND JOAN FONTAINE!"

So he got another doctor who said "5 holes." He kept seeing doctors till he finally was playing 40 holes with his swollen toe sticking out. Result: His toe hurts more and he cancelled a date at Town & Country after two nights and Charles Manna stepped in. "Decided I'd better stop fooling around and take care of this toe," he said. "It's the only toe I got except my other one."

Parallel With Korea

One of the questions about the outcome of the war in Korea that will never be answered is whether Gen. Douglas MacArthur was correct in the assumption the North Koreans should be pursued as far behind the Yalu River as they offered any resistance.

History yet to be unfolded will add to the debate from the vantage point of looking backward in time, but a positive conclusion will never be possible.

The Korean situation appears to be repeating itself in South Viet Nam. Only this week, a Viet Cong raid 15 miles south of Saigon wiped out a Vietnamese defense post. There were 26 dead, including two civilians; 36 men were wounded; 37 more were missing, presumed captured but some might have deserted and voluntarily followed the guerrillas. Most of the dead were shot to death in their beds.

The Communist infiltration in South Viet Nam has been so extensive there is no immediate hope the Viet Cong can be pushed out of the country's boundaries. For months, the belief has persisted in some quarters that forces ought to enter North Viet Nam as well as engage the enemy within South Viet Nam.

Here there is a parallel with Korea, and again an issue to be resolved is whether the war should be carried to the enemy's stronghold.

Viet Cong Pose Trouble Like MacArthur Faced

By CHARLES O. GREDLEY
Times Washington Bureau

When the late Gen. Douglas MacArthur gave his report on the circumstances which led to his being relieved from command of United States and United Nations forces in the Far East before the combined Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees in early May 1951, no two senators followed the questioning with greater interest than Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, now President of the United States, and Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, now U.S. Ambassador to South Viet Nam.

Some of the general's testimony in reply to Johnson's questions is undoubtedly recalled today as having distinct bearing on U.S. attempts to roll back communism in Southeast Asia almost 13 years later.

Resembles Obstacles

Today the problem of driving the Viet Cong forces out of South Viet Nam resembles the obstacles which MacArthur faced in his attempt to push the Red Chinese across the Yalu River and back into North Korea. Instead, his recall from Korea ended the drive of the United Nations forces and resulted in a stalemate, which in world opinion was a defeat for the United States.

During the MacArthur hearings, Sen. Johnson asked, "Assume we embrace your program and suppose that the Chinese were chased back across the Yalu River, and suppose they refused to sign a treaty and to enter into an agreement on what their future actions will be, what course would you recommend at that stage?"

Gen. MacArthur said that he could not see the possibility of "the enemy being driven across the Yalu and still being in a position of offensive action."

If Depredations Cease
"If he ceases his depredations across the Yalu, the main purpose that we have is accomplished," said the general.

Military experts have commented frequently in recent months of the similarity of the positions in which the United States found itself in Korea and now in Viet Nam. Thirteen years ago, Gen. MacArthur said: "I can't visualize an enemy who had been cleared of Korea staying in a state of belligerency. I believe he would fight to hold his line along the Yalu until he was convinced he could not do so."

That can be compared with the strategy now put forward by Secretary of Defense McNamara and also by Ambassador Lodge. Committee Reassured

The general also reassured the joint committee against fears that American action against Red China would result in China calling the Russians to her aid. He thought it most unlikely that China would want to "invite into her interior any more Russians" than were there already. Since this was at the time when the Soviets were supplying the Chinese with arms and equipment for use in Korea with no indication that the two Communist powers would ever be at swords points, the general's conclusion was perceptive.

Speaking of the shortages in men and equipment exposed by the Korean invasion, the future president urged the general to "do what you can to contribute to our peoples' awareness of the deficiencies which now exist."

Observation Repeated
At that point, General MacArthur made an observation repeated since many times, in one form or another.

"The first blow in the next war may well be a decisive blow... As long as you have a maverick running loose in the world, it means that your necessity for preparedness increases unless you can find the formula to settle the whole matter."

At that time the Soviet's nuclear power was in the early stage of expansion, and the United States still comfortably believed that its nuclear strength was much superior.

Theory Advanced

That was also a time when Sen. Kenneth Wherry, R-Neb., with the support of former President Herbert Hoover, advanced the theory that there should be very little if any commitment of American ground forces abroad. "There is a school of thought," Sen. Johnson said, "which believes that we should confine the bulk of all our ground forces to the continental United States and that we should provide other nations with nothing but sea and air support in the battle against communism."

"I believe," said Gen. MacArthur, "that it is the gravest possible mistake in the use of the armed forces of a nation to draw the line of demarcation between ground troops, air troops and navy troops."

GOP Council Works Beyond Position Papers

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — The Republican Critical Issues Council, headed by Dr. Milton Eisenhower, is aiming to do far more than to issue position papers on critical issues.

This is the declared purpose—to set out Republican thinking on the vital matters which will figure in the campaign. Judging from the first sample, on what went wrong in Panama and what to do about it, the council is going to say things worth listening to without any super-heated campaign oratory.

Reach Extended
The undeclared purposes reach farther. It's all to the good to try to stimulate public opinion by well-formulated policy pronouncements. That's useful in itself. But the goals of the Critical Issues Council reach to:

Shaping the 1964 platform substantially in the image of Eisenhower Republicans—moderate, internationalist, not extremist. Strengthening the presidential wing of the Republican party so that it can exert the maximum influence at the convention.

Providing a set of policy positions on the big issues which voters can put alongside the competing Republican presidential candidates so as to see where they would be taking the party and the country.

Influencing the voting of Republican congressmen and senators on the ground that how the party votes prior to the campaign is more important than what it says during the campaign.

Made Potent

This is what makes the Critical Issues Council a highly potent and significant group which knows where it is going and how to get there. The council was brought into being at the initiative of former President Eisenhower. Its work is being directed by

Gen. Eisenhower's widely experienced brother, who was one of his most trusted counselors during his eight years in the White House.

Its top personnel of 25 includes a wide array of former Eisenhower cabinet members and other leading Eisenhower administration officials, such as Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates, Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, Secretary of the Treasury Robert Anderson (who just resigned from the council to help President Johnson negotiate with Panama), Secretaries of HEW Oveta Culp Hobby and Marion B. Folsom, Chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission Lewis L. Strauss, Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, and Keith Glennan, NASA administrator.

Position Reflected

The forthcoming position papers on the major issues—14 in all—will reflect the consensus of the presidential wing of the Republican party and the leading candidates for the Republican presidential nomination except Sen. Goldwater.

But they are not likely to please some of the Republican leaders in Congress who constitute the authoritative Republican voice when the party does not control the White House. The Panama report, for example, is known to have infuriated Sen. Everett Dirksen, Senate minority leader, and some others because it didn't charge President Johnson with being an "appeaser"—a slogan they planned to carry into the campaign.

Issues Carry Over

These differences over issues between many of the GOP congressmen and the Critical Issues Council carry over into the choice of the presidential nominee.

Most of the time the congressional wing of the Republican party has supported the most conservative candidate. Sen. Bricker was their choice in 1944, Sen. Taft in 1948 and 1952 and Sen. Goldwater is their choice today. But the Republican congressional wing has always turned out to be speaking for the minority at the national conventions.

The position papers will undoubtedly fit Lodge, Nixon, Scranton, even Rockefeller, most comfortably.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—Were any of our presidents married in the White House?
A—One. Grover Cleveland.

Q—How large a commercial ship can pass through the Panama Canal?
A—The ore carrier San Juan Prospector, largest commercial vessel ever to go through the Panama Canal, squeezed into Miraflores Lock with less than 2 feet to spare on each side. The ship is 106 feet, 4 inches wide, the locks, 110 feet.

Q—Which is the nation's largest National Monument?
A—Katmai National Monument, Alaska—4,125 square miles.

Q—Did Robert H. Harrison serve as an Associate Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court?
A—Harrison was nominated, confirmed by the Senate and commissioned as an Associate Justice. There is nothing affirmative to show that he ever accepted the commission or took the oath.

Q—What trees are usually propagated by bud grafting?
A—The stone fruits—peach, plum and cherry trees.

Treasured Existence

Among the tributes paid to the late Gen. Douglas MacArthur the sorrow his death brought to the people of Japan stands out as a special mark attesting his greatness.

The Japanese are a people Gen. MacArthur humbled in war. Yet, having brought them to their knees, he restored them with the essentials of life from the ashes of defeat and starvation.

More than a conqueror, Gen. MacArthur supervised the rebuilding of Japan into a democracy whose economy has recuperated long ago from the ravages of war and become vigorous and strong.

In his own country Gen. MacArthur is remembered mostly for his military ability. In the Philippines, he is regarded as a savior. In Japan, his image of conqueror was quickly replaced by that of builder. These varied facets of the general's lengthened life reflect like a diamond—a treasured existence.

How's Your Spring Conversation Skill?

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Spring is the season for self-improvement.

It is a good time to hold a double-talk drill to brush up on your conversational skill.

Double-talk is the old banana oil that greases the social gears in our creaky civilization. It is the art of saying something without disclosing what you are really thinking.

Here are a few examples of double-talk in action—followed by their literal translations:

"Heavens, dear, it's been ages and ages since I last saw you." And then my luck had to change.

Yummy Dish

"Um-m-m-m. What a really yummy dish! You simply must give me your recipe." While you're at it, lend me a stomach pump, too.

"Oh, professor, your lecture was absolutely enchanting—I carried me away." If I don't pass in this course, I'll never get initiated into my sorority.

"Don't tell me you're 35 years old. I'd never have guessed it." I'd have guessed you already were drawing Social Security.

"With me, your word is as your bond." It has to be—after all, what company would bond you?

"Jim, you've got the neatest looking hair on any man I know." Why is it you never can put your toupee on straight?

"The main thing is that every citizen go to the polls and vote—regardless of which candidate he favors." If you're not going to vote for me, stay home.

'Of Course'

"Of course I want to take you to church today, Martha." Only a nut would play golf in this kind of weather.

"I believe every man has a right to stand up on his own two feet and say what's on his mind." If you'll ever shut up, I'll tell you what's on mine.

"At first we considered sending Leonard to Harvard, but then we decided that a small college would provide him with closer social contacts." And besides the small college was the only one that would take him.

"Don't tell me you knitted that lovely sweater all by yourself." The way it fits you, it looks like you did it while wearing boxing gloves.

'Charming'

"Such a charming little restaurant, Henry. And so inexpensive. However did you find it?" He must have followed a bowery bum here.

"Stop worrying. I wouldn't breathe a word of this to anybody in the world." Now, who'll I tell first?

"No, I'm not angry with you. Live—and let live—that's my motto." So please drop dead.

Oscar Awards Set For Monday Night

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Next Monday is the night for the annual Academy shenanigans, and the glitter will be there, if not the winners.

One half or less than half of the actors nominated for movie-dom's big prize will be present at the Santa Monica Civic Auditorium when the Oscarcast begins at 7 p.m. local time. And most of the favorites appear to be among the missing.

But Oscar will carry on, as he always has.

Come what may, Dick Dunlap will be prepared. This is his fourth year of directing the big bash, and he has 12 cameras ready to catch the action. This year he'll even take to the air.

Helicopter

"We'll start the show with a helicopter shot, coming in over the ocean right up to the auditorium as the cars are driving up," he said. "It should be effective. We'll have to prepay it at 6 because there won't be enough light an hour later."

Other parts of the show will be prepay due to the number of no-shows. Dunlap went to England recently to shoot some of the nominees who won't be able to attend: Patricia Neal, who is 8 months pregnant, and Rachel Roberts, wife of another nominee, Rex Harrison.

"I taped three of the supporting actress nominees because they aren't familiar to most television viewers," he added. They included Diane Cilento and Margaret Rutherford, who are making films in England, and Joyce Redman, who is in a play.

Excuses

There are several other no-shows with varied excuses. Paul Newman is opening the same night on Broadway in "Baby Want a Kiss" with his Oscar-winning wife, Joanne Woodward. Albert Finney is in Tahiti or someplace on a world tour. Hugh Griffith is playing Falstaff at Stratford on Avon.

Nominees who have made definite acceptances are: Sidney Poitier, Richard Harris, Leslie Caron, Shirley Maclaine, Natalie Wood, Nick Adams, Bobby Darin, Lilia Skala and Edith Evans.

Producer George Sidney has lined up a cast of presenters that will help fill the stellar gap: Julie Andrews, Steve McQueen, Edward G. Robinson, Frank Sinatra, Anne Baxter, Donna Reed, etc., as well as all of last year's winners—Anne Bancroft, Gregory Peck, Patty Duke and Ed Begley.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

Religion Doesn't Exclude Enjoyment

QUESTION: Can a teenager be saved without giving up part of his social life? — J. S.

ANSWER: Yes. He doesn't need to give up that part of his social life which is good and wholesome.

Some young people have the idea that God is a joy-killer—that anything that is fun is wrong. This simply is not true. The word "joy" occurs over and over again in the Scriptures, and in the New Testament particularly. There is every indication that God wants us to enjoy life—in fact, it indicates that the only true pleasure is enjoyed by those who have accepted Christ.

And another thing: to be a Christian doesn't mean that you become a religious nob and shun your former friends. Your circle of friends is your opportunity to "let your light shine for Christ."

They, like you, are looking for real meaning in life, and it is your privilege and duty to share your new-found faith with them.

I know you will be reluctant to do this. So was I. But I found that when I dared to put in a word for Christ that it struck a response with my friends. From that day to this, I have made bold to put in a good word for Christ, and when I do, I find that people appreciate it, and rarely resent it. We have a notion that religion is a private and secret matter. But our Lord said: "Let your light shine before men, that they may see your good works and glorify your Father which is in heaven."

BETTY FURNESS SAYS

Tv Makes Women Look Ridiculous

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"Women are being made to look like absolute idiots by television," said Betty Furness, "and I think it is a very serious situation."

Miss Furness, who quit her position as TV's top saleswoman a few seasons back to return to other performing areas and now has a daily CBS radio network show, points sadly to the situation comedies and to the commercials.

"The situation comedies show wives who are constantly trying to outsmart their husbands—and of course, the big joke of 'Father Knows Best' was that he never did know what was best."

"It's like a battle of the sexes, with nothing to gain for the women. I have never caught a television show in which a woman was trying to be darling to her husband except 'The Dick Van Dyke Show.' It is almost as if the people at the top of the pyramid had decided to degrade women and never to let them be seen as real people."

Miss Furness says that she is "deeply offended" by commercials showing attractive girls "who can't even keep their houses clean."

"They constantly suggest that the American woman is totally incapable of doing the simplest household chores and they have them learning from men—repairmen and even delivery boys. Calvin has cleaned just about every sink in America and it is ridiculous. Imagine a grocery delivery boy teaching a middle-aged woman how to clean her kitchen floor."

What network television really needs, she insists, are some intelligent programs dealing realistically with women, shows directed to women and dealing with what women are really doing—moving out and meeting the needs of a world that demands so much of them.

"That's an area to be filled—and I'd like a chance to do it."

EDUCATOR INITIATED INTO HONORARY GROUP

C. J. Gay, long-time employee of the Wichita Falls Public Schools, was initiated into Beta Beta Chapter, Phi Delta Kappa, at North Texas State University Wednesday night.

Gay is one of the few Negro educators in the state to be so signally honored. C. E. Jackson, principal of the junior high, said Friday.

The Wichitan has served as a teacher, visiting teacher on a part time basis and as a full time counselor in the city schools.

He is driving to Denton each Wednesday night to take special courses at North Texas as he works toward his doctorate.

Banquet

Initiation into the honorary fraternity was held at a banquet on the North Texas campus where Gay is working toward his advanced degree in counseling psychology and personnel administration.

Gay holds a bachelor of science degree from Wiley College and a master of education degree in guidance and administration from Wayne State University. He holds both the counselor's and administrator's certificate.

He also attends classes on Saturdays summer session.

Gay has been with the Wichita Falls schools 18 years and his wife, Mary, is a teacher at Booker T. Washington Elementary School. The couple belongs to Antioch Baptist Church and lives at 1100 Leffall Circle. Gay also frequently preaches in a Baptist Church in Childress.

Activities

The educator is a past member of the USO Board and he was chairman of the Redwood USO three years and is a past member of the board of North-west Texas Mental Health Center. He currently is a member of the Eastside Community Development Association, the committee of management of the East Branch YMCA and was chairman for three years. He is a board member for Wichita County Tuberculosis Association, having served there for 16 years. He has been cited for meritorious service by the USO, Salvation Army and TB Association, and has received the YMCA "Service to Youth" award. Gay holds membership in the North Texas District Teachers Association, parent-teacher association, Texas State Association of Teachers, a life member of National Education Association and is executive secretary for the District Association of Student Councils.

Khrushchev Prefers To Keep Prosperity

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Premier Khrushchev's desire for goulash explains why a man in this country can be radical at 19 but conservative at 45.

He had nothing to lose at 19, but a lot at 45: a house, wife, kids to put through school, ambitions to be company president and a pension if he lives long enough.

As Khrushchev said in a jibe at the war-minded Red Chinese who defame him for not being war-minded enough: "We didn't fight the revolution in order to live worse."

Goulash was his way of saying he prefers prosperity to revolution. It's a reflection of Russia's growing affluence, which is a good, practical reason for being less belligerent and reckless.

Isn't Anxious

Like the man of 45, Khrushchev isn't anxious to risk a nuclear war which would wipe out all the Russians have struggled to achieve—a better life—since the Bolshevik Revolution of 1917.

This makes the Russian-Red Chinese split in a very deep sense a difference between the haves and the have-nots of communism.

The Russian masses in their revolutionary days, like the Chinese now, didn't have much to lose but their lives and must have felt, as their acceptance of communism showed, that anything was better than nothing.

In time this may prove true with the poor of Latin America and elsewhere for, where there are impoverished millions and the wealthy few resist reforms, communism has an excellent talking point.

Two Generations

Now after two generations of work and privation the Russians, as a nation and individually, through the acquisition of possessions have won a sense of domestic security, a condition that can dampen revolutionary ardor.

At least it can by this reasoning: Revolution disturbs, peace preserves.

This doesn't mean, and Khrushchev's words can't be interpreted as meaning, the Russians have become too placid to encourage revolt where it suits them if the revolt doesn't risk all-out war.

While he has preached all-out war, he considered as acceptable the so-called "liberation movements" which can take in everything from guerrilla wars to uprisings.

Best World

The Soviet leadership has to feel, by its doctrine, that the best world is a Communist one, and the sooner the better. But even here the leaders must have some misgivings about believing it totally.

They have learned from their unhappy experiences with those renegades from Soviet control—Yugoslavia, Albania, Red China—that a Communist world might not necessarily be a peaceful one after all.

Such divisions in a Communist world might put Moscow in a new jeopardy, but this time from its ideological brothers instead of from capitalism.

This is what Red China would like, judging from its hostility to Moscow now, and what she apparently has been seeking in her attacks on Khrushchev and her appeals to the Russian satellites to cut loose.

Has Irony

This condition has its own irony: If Red China became the center of a Communist world, no doubt, judging from Russia's troubles with her one-time allies, there would be fresh divisions and hostility to Peking.

The reason: Nationalism has been a stronger force than communism, even within the Communist states. So long as this is true, and it shows no signs of diminishing, it will assert itself to the disadvantage of Red harmony.

Young People To Fill Church Posts

Youth Week will be observed at First Baptist Church April 12-19.

During this week, the youth will assume places of leadership in the church.

The youth staff includes: Johnny Girdley, pastor; Bobby Stagg, minister of education; Joe McGuire, minister of music; Larry English, business administrator; Janey Mitchell, youth director; Pam Gilchrist, elementary director; Ruth Harr, receptionist; Martha Barker, educational secretary; Donna Daniel, WMU president; Raymond Wallander, Brotherhood president; Charles Goss, chairman of ushers; Ty Elam, church clerk; Jerry Rogers, chairman of deacons; Nancy Knight, librarian.

At close of the Sunday morning worship service, the pastor, Dr. Landrum P. Leavell, will present the key to the church to youth pastor, Johnny Girdley.

Youth Training Union Workers will be in all Training Union departments at 6 o'clock Sunday evening. Other Youth Week officers will participate in the evening worship service. An all youth fellowship will follow the worship service.

At 6:30 p.m. Monday, the Brotherhood will sponsor a youth supper. The "Singing Steers," a group composed of 28 young men from Graham High School, will present a musical program. Gil Stricklin, well known speaker and entertainer will be featured speaker at the supper.

Youth week officers will be in charge of the Wednesday night prayer service at 7:30. Jimmy Maroney will bring the message and other young people will bring special music and testimonials.

Friday the youth will leave the church at 4:30 p.m. by chartered bus for an overnight retreat at the Vernon Baptist encampment.

Teacher's Newsletter Describes Alaskan Earthquake And Damage

Seventy-five hours after the earthquake rocked Alaska, a school teacher there compiled a newsletter to send to friends telling of the experience.

One of those to receive the vivid description of the quake from Mrs. John W. Reinke Jr., who teaches first and second grade at Nunaka Valley Grade School in Anchorage, was Chastene Frazier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Frazier, Burkburnett. The Fraziers formerly lived in Alaska.

Mrs. Reinke's letter, for the most part, follows:

"A few hours after the quake we felt quite humble, lucky and thanked God we were alive. The devastation is terrible and how lucky we are to have a home, yes and heat in it plus our well and lights. We felt we camped out in the house the first night and following day as electricity was at a premium. We used and are still using our furnace oil sparingly. We had plenty of food and most stores that could, opened, and you can always get the necessities — milk and bread seem to be the hardest to find.

In Five Minutes

"We will remember for a lifetime the experience one went through during those five minutes (it seemed at least an hour). I can assure you many more went through far worse than we. Yours truly was at home and withstood the ordeal hanging on to John's truck outside.

"John and a friend who had dropped in for a cup of coffee took it weaving back and forth in the kitchen, taking turns holding up the refrigerator and vice versa. As I was running out of the house, I picked up the glass coffee pot, found some paper to set it on, on the garage floor and then ran out to John's truck.

"My car was actually dancing jigs and swaying back and forth. I did glance up to the two men, begging them to come out with me and I have never seen such two scared and white-livered (so to speak) men. It seems it would never stop, just waiting for the earth to open up. I tried to look for the boys as they had both left, a good half hour before, to go on their paper route. John described it as looking out of our large dining area window, a 100 mile wind raging. The trees seemed to bend in half, the telephone and light poles actually bent 20 to 30 feet each way.

Escape Loss

"We were extremely lucky as to damage — one bone china cup, a jar of dried up currants spilled and broke into a million pieces, one lamp broken and our file case of four drawers tipped over which is a mess — nothing more — everything intact. Our basement was just as we had left it before the quake.

"Again and again we count our blessings to be alive and feel so very selfish as homes in the Turnagain area were actually engulfed in fissures which closed up, others still standing precariously, which ever way the earth shifted. Many seriously injured, many lost lives either in these fissures or homes which were destroyed, some not even a trace as to whereabouts.

"The nearest damage came to our area was five miles, we just can't believe it. It was and has been very upsetting; of the many tremors or shocks which we had had (lost count at 42 by Saturday afternoon) there were ones, maybe three to four, that were quite strong so consequently we all felt alarm. I believe you all realize how strong the main quake was — eight plus, at least a point and a half higher than San Francisco quake in 1906. But what saved the majority, the fault not zig-zagging inward toward the east farther and carrying us all out to the ocean. Had this been longer than the five minutes I might have not been here telling it. Oh, we were so lucky!

So Why Worry

"Gregg's (No. 2 son) reaction — a mile from home, among trailers in a trailer court which were dancing jigs and swaying from one side to another, said, 'Sure, I was scared when I found it wouldn't stop, but why worry, I couldn't do a thing to stop it.'

"Johnny (No. 1 son), who had two friends with him on foot and three other friends on their horses, just stood and swayed, wide-eyed thinking why it didn't stop and wondering if the world was coming to an end.

"We realized, even four hours later, and 'Friday's Fury' at 5:36, the news that was unfolding to the south 48. Our loved ones, relatives, friends, what a shock it must have been — we felt so very helpless — how to let everyone know we were alive — that so many had survived — it was agony to even talk about.

"According to our news, the only port that seems to be intact is ours, which too, is unbelievable. Valdez port along with the town is wiped out — Cordova, Whittier and Seward have nothing left along the water front as they were twice damaged, the latter being the tidal wave. No doubt you have the news in picture and story form so won't go into details as of now.

Will Rebuild

"Everyone's clock stopped at the same fatal hour but even through this darkest hour, our hearts, stamina, strength and confidence knew we would all stay to see another city rebuilt, help each other to get back on our feet, stronger and even better than before.

"Our life up here is so different, because we are so new but everyone was in there, helping to make the Last Frontier a place to live as serene, scheduled, unified and comparable to yours. We went back many a year but we'll be back as long-range planning is already in process.

"We feel the reason for less damage in our area was the gravel and sand which makes up what most of us are sitting on. So much of the land near the inlet and any on hills or bluffs the soil was made up of sand and clay. The clay which was frozen broke up or just slid into any position taking everything in its way. Another thing which so far has been in our favor is we have had no fire. Our city water supply is nil, contaminated and the lines are long for typhoid shots — diphtheria and tetanus begins in another few days. We are so thankful that we had a well drilled last fall — our water is tops — helping out others in our vicinity. We are sure now that the city will move out our way much sooner than we expected.

Ghastly Damage

"Took a tour late this afternoon. I was aghast as to how deep the chasms were, the tops of buildings even with the streets, how cement and steel and wood were formed into grotesque shapes, many buildings leaning or at angles that were incredible, the inlet loomed as though it had been churned with an egg beater and to say nothing about the homes of many, it seems almost insurmountable.

"The sad part for us are a few we know are dead, some still missing but most very close friends came through the ordeal with little to complain about.

"Then there are the lighter moments and oddities on L Street. A car straddling an enormous fissure has a 'For Sale' on it — a sign over a once business place, 'Closed, due to early break-up' — then a bank that moved into two trailers at their drive-in branch calls themselves 'The Earthquake Bank!'

"I do hope this won't panic everyone to the extent they won't still come to Alaska to visit us."

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Befuddled political pros are wondering what's happening with the American electorate. Something is going on, but they're not sure what.

When the segregationist governor of Alabama walks off with about 35 per cent of the vote in a Democratic presidential primary in nearly all-white Wisconsin, the politicians have all kinds of explanations but most of them have a hollow ring.

Depending on their own position, the politicians attribute the vote to: Republican crossovers, Wallace's appeal to states' rights conservatives, opposition to civil rights, expensive advertising campaigns and local issues. There is some feeling that maybe the voters are just independent-minded this year.

Shaken
The political pros already were shaken up by the bad guesses most of them made in the New Hampshire Republican primary. In that contest Henry Cabot Lodge, the man who was not there, won a write-in run-away over Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

At first the pros shrugged this off as a gesture to Lodge, a Massachusetts resident. Now, however, they are beginning to hedge their bets with predictions that Lodge will do it all over again in the May 15 Oregon primary, where the name of the U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam is on the ballot.

Democratic strategists in Washington were giving Wallace 10 per cent of the vote before Tuesday's election.

Favorite Son
Wisconsin Gov. John W. Reynolds, elected head of a favorite son delegation pledged to support President Johnson for the Democratic presidential nomination, had said in advance that a vote of more than 100,000 for Wallace would be "catastrophic."

After Wallace polled 261,000 to his own 508,000, Reynolds called the outcome satisfactory. He added that it only showed "what we've known all along, there are prejudiced people in the North as well as the South."

The White House got into the matter with press secretary George Reedy's interpretation that the outcome was "not in the slightest" a repudiation of the administration's civil rights program.

Administration spokesmen attributed much of Wallace's showing to a Republican crossover into the Democratic primary. But Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., a former GOP national chairman, said it just wasn't so.

Some of the confusion of the pros over what the Wallace showing meant may be cleared up in the May 5 Indiana and May 19 Maryland Democratic primaries. There will be no Republican cross-overs to complicate matters in these contests.

Teenagers Swarm Liz At Opening

NEW YORK (AP) — A crowd of about 500, mostly teen-age girls, pressed against a police barricade Thursday night to get close to Elizabeth Taylor, attending her husband's opening night in "Hamlet."

Miss Taylor, smiling, got into the Lunt Fontanne Theater untouched. In some of her recent public appearances she has been shoved around by over-enthusiastic crowds.

Her husband, Richard Burton, slipped into the theater in late afternoon almost unnoticed.

After the performance the actor and his actress wife talked to newsmen and photographers inside the emptied theater.

Burton, asked if his wife would come on-stage and pose with him for photos, answered: "My wife, what part is she playing?"

Junior Editors Quiz on FISH

QUESTION: Why and how do flying fish fly?

ANSWER: Almost all flying fish glide rather than fly; after lifting themselves above the water's surface they taxi along to pick up speed, much as a plane does before it takes off. Notice that the lower tail fin is longer than the upper one. The tip of this fin remains in the water while the fish picks up speed by vibrating it. Then, with the enormously-enlarged pectoral fins spread out like wings, the little flying fish takes off for a glide through the air, from 150 to as far as 1,000 feet. It is possible for them to come down and by vibrating take off a second and even a third time. During the flight the wings remain stationary, like those of an airplane.

Does a flying fish fly just for the fun of it? No, this is his way of escaping from certain large fish, such as the bonito, which are his deadly enemies. When such a big predator goes for him, the smart little flying fish can take off and land so far ahead that there's little chance for the other fish to catch up. In the rivers of South America, a kind of fish has been reported which actually does fly, for short distances, by flapping his caudal fins up and down.

FOR YOU TO DO: Skip some light thin stones on the surface of a pond, and see how they shoot along.

Emotions Can't Be Pledged

By GEORGE W. CRANE, M.D.
CASE 5-435: Martha T., aged 38, has been married 18 years. "But now, Dr. Crane," she tearfully exclaimed, "I find that my husband is running around with a girl at the office who is only in her early 20s."

"Yet I have tried to be a spotless housekeeper."

"And I belong to the P-T-A and am active in our church."

"So what could make a man desert his wife and family? When we were married, he faithfully promised to love me till death do us part."

Impossible Promises
That idealistic promise in the wedding ceremony is just not realistic!

For emotions cannot be pledged successfully for future dates.

Motions, however, can be pledged and then delivered. For example, you can promise to write me a letter tomorrow.

When the fixed future time arrives, you can sit down and write me.

But you can't froth at the mouth in rage tomorrow, nor shed tears of grief or quiver in fright, even though you pledge today that you will do so.

Emotions can't be effectively promised for future delivery but muscular action can.

The only thing that makes you experience a certain emotion at a later date, is the situation in which you find yourself then.

So you brides who tend to grow lazy and think you have a man's love forever, because of that idealistic pledge in the wedding ceremony, better wake up fast.

Your husband will not love you tomorrow or next year UNLESS you evoke his love afresh tomorrow or next year!

Emotions must thus be reinitiated by the appeals you offer your mate at those future times.

love me till death do us part."

Well, I told her she isn't the same "me" right now that she was when he made that wedding vow.

"Look at yourself in a full length mirror," I rudely suggested.

"Contrast your present 'me' with the 'me' he married."

"Then you weighed 124. Now you tell me you weigh 164."

"Then you smiled adoringly, were perfumed and seductive."

"Now you are tired, harassed, fat and unattractive of his feeble attempts at humor, for you've heard his jokes hundreds of times."

"So the 'me' you offer him today is definitely NOT the same 'me' he married."

"That's why he searches for some more stimulating female to serve as a better tonic for his own waning erotic fervor."

If you wives would quit spending so much time on new recipes in the kitchen and devote that salvaged time to whetting his appetite in the boudoir, you'd never need fear divorce.

Besides, a man doesn't care what kind of food you serve him in the dining room if you offer him the right "dish" in the bedroom.

Women, alas, worship food. They never tire of new recipes, though men are usually satisfied with a few standard menu items.

Jesuit Priests Live As Hindus

POONA, India (AP)—Two Jesuit priests are pioneering a movement within their church—they are living like Hindus.

The Rev. G.A. Deleury, of Paris and the Rev. Matthew Lederle of Munich, Germany, spend much of their time sitting cross-legged on the floor, talking with Hindus and learning about the Hindu religion and way of life.

Father Lederle is writing part of this thesis for his doctorate at Poona University.

The Christian church has been in India for nearly 2,000 years, since the days of St. Thomas the Apostle, the "doubting Thomas" of the gospels. Yet the progress of Christianity has been very slow here. Christians make up about 2½ per cent of India's 450 million population.

Because of this, the church has decided to use different ways to get across its message.

Priests living with, and like, Hindus is one of these.

Both Father Lederle, 37, and Father Deleury, 42, have permission of their Jesuit superior and the bishop here to live in this manner.

Their simple, three - room apartment is in an area of Poona called the Brahmin section. The Brahmins, who number about 150,000 here in this section of Poona, are the highest caste of the Hindus.

"The church," Father Lederle said, "had had some success among the lower castes of Indians but there is very little dialogue or understanding of Christianity among the higher caste. Our apostolate is to serve as a bridge between Christianity and Hinduism."

Choral Festival Teachers To Hear Iowa Humorist To Be Sunday

A choral festival featuring choirs from all four city high schools, Hirschi, Rider, Wichita Falls and Washington, will be presented at 3 p.m. Sunday in the WFHS Coyote Fieldhouse.

Approximately 250 voices will join in this festival for which there will be no admission fee.

Each choir will sing a group of songs and then the combined a cappella choirs from all the public high schools will present a group of selections. Mrs. Eddie Lake Bunton, supervisor of music in city schools, announced.

The program will begin with the audience and choirs singing "Star Spangled Banner."

The Hirschi A Cappella Choir, under the direction of Thurman D. Davis, then will sing "He Watching Over Israel" by Mendelssohn; "Early One Morning," an Old English folk song; "Going Home on a Cloud," a spiritual and "Bill Bailey" by Cannon.

The Rider choir, directed by Donald Cowan, will sing "They Who Grieving Soweth" by Schen; "Beauty and Humility" by Christiansen; "Early in the Morning" a spiritual and "A Lot of Living to Do" by Warnick.

The Washington A Cappella Choir, directed by Mrs. C. E. Jackson, will sing "Lincoln's Prayer" by Gaul; "I've Been Baked" by Johnson; "I Got Rhythm" by Gershwin, and "Ole Man River" by Kern.

The Wichita Falls High School Choir, directed by Thomas Shaw, will sing "He Who God's Suffering In Honor Holds" by Schutz; "All My Heart's Desiring" by Brahms; "Once Upon a Time" arranged by Warnick and "Live-A-Humble" by Harrison.

The combined choirs will sing "Gloria Patri" by Palestrina, with the WFHS and Hirschi High Choirs singing group one and the Washington and Rider choirs group 2. All four will join in singing "O God Our Help" by Christiansen and "Born To Be Free" by Williams.

An Iowa humorist, church lay leader, school board member and civic leader, Ed Grooms of Menlo, Iowa, will be the speaker at the annual Wichita Falls City Teachers Association banquet at 6:30 p.m. Monday in Woman's Forum clubhouse.

Grooms was asked to speak in Wichita Falls by school people who heard his talk before more than 1,000 board members and school administrators in Austin last fall. His Monday night subject will be "The Boards and the Bees."

The Monday night banquet marks the annual affair given by the city teachers in honor of the Wichita Falls Board of Education.

Grooms' column, "The Boards and the Bees," in the Iowa School Board Bulletin has received high acclaim and praise from its readers throughout the nation.

groups; is a member of the Guthrie County Board of Education; a director and past president of the Iowa Association of School Boards; past president and director of radio for the Iowa Council for Better Education; director of the Midwest Work Conference on Education.

Grooms has lived all his life on an Iowa farm in a typical midwest rural community. He was named Iowa Master Farmer in 1962, thus receiving one of the highest awards an Iowa farmer can earn. He is a member of the State Extension Advisory Committee and is a member of the National Farm Institute Committee.

A philosopher, Grooms' philosophy is based upon a sincere interest in and a keen understanding of people and their experiences.

Program

Students of eight city schools will provide decorations which they have made in their art classes. The table arrangements will feature clay pots holding gay paper spring flowers, with miniature bees in each to carry out the theme. Students in Austin, Carrigan, Jefferson, Fanning, Harrell, McGaha, San Jacinto and Fowler Schools are making these arrangements. Walter Ehler, director of art instruction in city schools, announced.

Joe K. Reed, president of the teachers association, will preside at the dinner with Dr. Lois Martin as program chairman.

Scholarships will be awarded high school students by three chapters of Future Teachers of America, these in Hirschi, Rider and Wichita Falls High. Making the presentations will be Miss Judy Haddon, Rider teacher.

Dinner music will be provided by Mrs. Carolyn Johnson, organist, who is a Fair teacher. E. B. Fincher, director of instruction, will give the invocation and three groups of songs will be led by Thomas Shaw, a cappella choir director at WFHS. Musical numbers will be given by Mrs. Margaret A. Crosslin of Alamo also.

Fireman Joins Gallon Club

A Wichita Falls fireman with rare O negative blood has donated a gallon and a pint to spare to help save lives through transfusions. James F. Roberts, 3216 Glenwood, shares his blood type with only six other people out of a hundred.

He and his wife, Johnetta, are the parents of Balinda and Lisa. Roberts belongs to University Methodist Church and the Masonic Lodge and likes skiing and boating.

For his donor service, he received a certificate of merit signed by Rhea Howard, publisher of the Wichita Falls Times and Record News. The Red Cross gave him a drop of blood lapel pin.

CANCER BATTLE BELIEVED WON BY NAVY EMPLOYEE

BREMERTON, Wash. (AP)—The apparent remission of lung cancer in a 42-year-old Navy employee, who describes himself as a medical oddity in whom cancer has disappeared with little treatment, has been confirmed by a Seattle physician.

The physician said use of the word "cure" might be a "little exaggerated."

"We used to use the word 'cure' if there was no recurrence after five years," he said. "Now we talk of 'survival' and if a patient has gone five years he might go 10, but we can't guarantee that."

Cancer was first diagnosed in Joe Mayerle, a guard at the Keyport Naval Torpedo Station, in March 1959. His case was widely publicized earlier when it appeared he was making a recovery.

Mayerle returned home two days ago from the Veterans Administration Hospital at Seattle and said he had been pronounced "cured."

He has smoked heavily for some years and continues to do so. But after the 1959 diagnosis he "willed" himself to live and practiced his beliefs that good food, plenty of exercise and "good spirits" would bring recovery.

A VA Hospital physician at Seattle, who asked not to be identified, said Wednesday: "As far as we can tell, Mr. Mayerle has no evidence of cancer at the present time."

AAU Boxing Heads Into Finals Today

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The 1964 National AAU Boxing Championships head into the final stages Friday with a cast of talent that ranges from massive Buster Mathis and lethal puncher Larry Tatom to the slender defender of the bantam-weight title, little Gerry Lott.

Forty boxers, survivors of an original field of almost 160, compete in the 10-division semifinals starting at 2 p.m. (PST) in the Las Vegas Convention Center. The finals go on at 8 p.m.

Olympic Hopes

Most of the crop have Olympic Games aspirations. Their efforts mean much in competing in the U. S. team tryouts in New York next month.

The 19-year-old, 287-pound Mathis, from Grand Rapids, Mich., goes against Jim Hall, Muncie, Ind., in the afternoon.

Victim

His victim, Ernie Lomphey, Henderson, Nev., was belted unconscious in 1:07 and carried from the ring on a stretcher. Nevada ring physician Donald Romeo said later there appeared to be no injury.

Tatom, disposed Wednesday night of Mike Cornell, Butte, Mont., in 42 seconds. He was to face Pete Esquibel, Clovis, N. M., Friday.

Tall, baby-faced Lott, from New Orleans, jabbed and danced his way to a decision over the Air Force's Louis Johnson in the 119-pound class. He meets rugged and shorter Dave Contreras of Los Angeles.

Ballots Out On Rule Changes

AUSTIN (AP) — Ballots go out today to Texas Interscholastic League members on two athletic rule changes.

One proposal would permit spring training in junior high school when the boy is to play with a Class AAAA senior high school. Students in the ninth grade have spring training if at the site and time as the high school squad practices.

This will be voted upon by Class AAAA only since they are the only ones holding spring training.

The other proposal would permit district basketball games postponed by weather of public disaster (not including illness) to be made up. Such games would be an exception to the two - matched - games - a - week rule, provided they are played on non school nights (Friday or Saturday).

The voting is to be concluded by April 24 and if the rules pass they will become effective next fall.

MASS CHARGE FOR LEAD

Arnie's Smoking Less And Enjoying It More

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Arnold Palmer, smoking less and finally enjoying it, mustered the deers back to Arnie's Army today after he opened his bi-annual charge at the Masters Golf Tournament title with a first round 69.

It was good for one-fifth of the opening round lead, as the five tied for the lead composed the largest bunch at the top since the tournament began in 1934.

Gary Player of South Africa, who won the Masters in 1961 and lost to Palmer in a playoff the next year, also had 69. So did Kel Nagle of Australia, who nosed out Palmer for the British Open title in 1960.

The other two in the five-man cluster were Bob Goalby, a tour veteran who said he "has been in a slump for a year and a half," and Davis Love Jr., a bespectacled club pro who looks more like a baffled bookkeeper than a golfer.

Jack Nicklaus, defending champion and favorite to be the first man ever to win twice in a row, almost made it a six-way tie when he rapped his second shot to within 12 feet of the pin on the 18th hole.

Nicklaus needed the putt for a birdie three and a 69, but he hit the hole and skidded four feet past, missed that one coming back and finished with a 71. "I had 37 putts," Nicklaus said. "You can't win tournaments with 37 putts."

Palmer, who won the Masters in 1958, 1960 and 1962, picked up recruits for his gallery army—enlistments had been falling off during his long slump since late last summer—when he smashed during-wood shots over the water on the 13th and 15th holes and collected birdie 4s on each. Part of the blame for Palmer's cold spell had been laid to his decision to give up smoking, probably the most public habit-kicking since they put Prince Albert in the can.

"I'm smoking less, in fact, not at all," he said. "And I'm finally enjoying it."

In all, 19 players in the field of 96 hit par 72 or better. Ten of them were foreigners.

Four shot 70, among them Billy Joe Patton, the witty and exciting amateur player from Morganton, N.C.

Patton, who shot a hole-in-one and missed tying for the title in 1954 by one stroke, made an eagle three when he chipped in from off the green on the 15th hole and came to the last hole needing only a par for a tie for the lead.

He hit his approach badly, finished 50 feet from the cup, and three-putted.

Also at 70 were Don January, Gene Littler and Dave Marr. January had an eagle on the par five 13th.

Strange Things Do Take Place

Strange things do happen. I was writing a column Wednesday concerning the aspect that golf courses are becoming too long, but decided to chuck it in the waste basket after reading it again Thursday.

Well, this morning I was hit in the face with a press release from Sports Illustrated with the title "New Courses Turning Golf Into a Game for Power Hitters."

To boil the article down it simply states that an average hitter doesn't have a chance of winning many tournaments unless he plays four perfect rounds, but this is near impossible because the courses are so long.

A quote came from former PGA Champion Jerry Barber, "Golf course architects, drunk with sand, length and big undulating greens, are running the little man right out of the game. They're not changing the size of tennis courts, they're not putting the baskets any higher, and football fields are still the same size. But they feel they have to make changes in golf courses."

Ponds-Bunkers

"They are building courses so long and putting in so many ponds and bunkers that the short hitter has to play a defensive game. He suffers tremendously, because he has to be so careful to avoid the hazards that he doesn't dare hit the ball with all his strength."

I could have cried because I didn't run my column sooner to get a big scoop, but I'm glad to see that someone else is concerned about the trend toward "monster" golf courses.

Take the Masters, for example. Why should a tournament as important as it is have a field of favorites that just includes the power hitters. A small player who has worked just as hard at controlling the ball as the strong player has on belting the ball a mile just hasn't a chance.

This isn't right. Golf is a game of skill and finesse. Golfers should have to learn to maneuver the ball around the course rather than just power it around.

Another quote from the SI, "Where power was once a luxury, it is now a necessity."

Area Golf

It won't be long before the amateur golf tournaments begin in this area.

This 13th annual Jaycee Invitational is scheduled April 24-26. Bill Randall of Wichita Falls is defending champion. Matter of fact, the four finalists were from Wichita Falls.

Runner-up was your cheerful reporter who edged Bill Holstead Jr., by one stroke and who finished one behind Randall. Fourth was Don Russell, the smiling mailman.

Some old familiar faces won't be brightening the winners circle this year.

Jerry Holmes, who won practically every tourney in this area, is in the Army. Rocky Thompson, always one of the favorite when he entered and who has also won nearly everything around here, has turned pro.

There are two more in the Army who always placed high in the tourneys, Hugh Rixford and Ronnie Phillips.

With these golfers gone, it will make breathing a little easier in the championship flight.

WHO IS DAVIS LOVE JR.?

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Who is Davis Love Jr. and what's he doing playing in the Masters?

That was the reaction among virtually all of the thousands who swarmed over the sparkling green acreage of the Augusta National Golf Course for Thursday's first round of the Masters golf championship.

Love, a slender, bespectacled 29-year-old professional from Charlotte, N.C., was in fast company starting today's second round.

He, Arnold Palmer, Gary Player, Kel Nagle and Bob Goalby were tied for the lead with three-under par 69s. Shortly after he jubilantly retrieved his ball from the 18th cup and tossed it to the crowd. Love reacted this way:

"This just wasn't supposed to happen. Imagine a club pro tied for the Masters lead with great players such as Arnold Palmer and Gary Player."

Love won his Masters invitation by tying for 14th place in the U.S. Open Tournament last summer. His 302 total for 72 holes was nine shots back of winner Julius Boros and brought him $900.

Russia Refuses Game With U.S. Cage Pros

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia has turned down a proposed visit by some of America's best professional basketball players even though the welcome mat is out for them in satellite countries.

The suspicion here is that Moscow regards Bob Pettit, Bill Russell and co. as too good and as a source of potential embarrassment.

Moscow did invite the United States to send along amateurs, however, lending support to the belief that Russia would be glad to pit its state subsidized stars against less than America's best.

The offer for a tour of American professionals was weighed for three months before it was rejected. In reporting the turn-down Thursday, Washington sources said Moscow claimed the Russian athletes would be violating their amateur status if they played the National Basketball Association squad.

U.S. officials discount this, noting that other countries do not feel their amateurs will be sullied by competing against American professionals.

The whole thing came as a surprise to Red Auerbach, Boston Celtics' coach who is scheduled to coach the touring pros. "I didn't know we were supposed to go to Russia in the first place," Auerbach said in Boston.

As things now stand, the NBA stars will travel next month to Communist Poland—which initiated the invitation—to Romania and then to Yugoslavia and the United Arab Republic.

The American amateurs are heading for Poland next week and will go on to Russia to play an eight-game schedule. If Moscow had not turned down the American professionals, Russian fans would be seeing in addition to Pettit and Russell: K.C. Jones, Tommy Heinsohn, Jerry Lucas, Oscar Robertson and Tom Gola. Bob Cousy, who quit the professional ranks last year, also is going along and Red Auerbach will serve as coach.

LOVES THE LEAD—Augusta—Dave Love Jr. reacts with enthusiasm as his putt drops on the 18th during first round of the Masters Golf Tournament Thursday. Love, a relative unknown, came in with a 69 to share the lead with four others. (AP Wirephoto)

Merc 110 is the lightest outboard in the 10 hp class ever built. Yet, it performs like a 12 hp, weighs like a 3 hp and weighs like a 5 hp outboard.

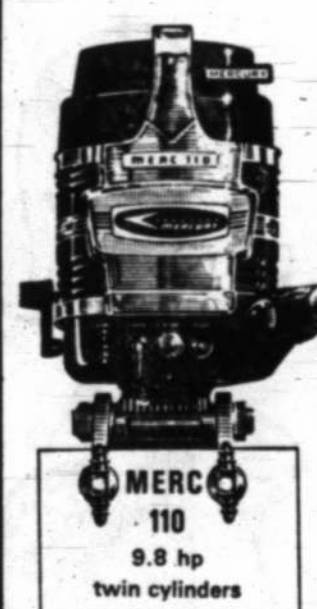

Merc 110 balances perfectly on the transom. You don't have to lean over the back of the boat to clamp it on...risking the chance of falling in the drink. Merc power plants are high enough to be at least as high as the transom. Unlike competitive outboards, it keeps its power dry.

Merc 110 has a tilted powerhead that prevents fuel "puddling" at any speed. It idles and trolls smoothly without flooding or misfiring on "raw" fuel. The fixed-jet carburetor is on the front of the motor toward the boat...not on the back. You don't have to get in the water when normal service is required.

Merc 110 has a unique Glide-Angle design that lets it slide up and over unseen obstacles...over sandbars and through shallows. No need to tilt it by hand. It corrects itself when you hit deep water again. There's no protruding nose on the front to harvesting weeds, snag rocks or plow sand. It has no shear pins...a live rubber safety clutch protects the prop on impact.

Merc 110 has a Jet-Prop exhaust system. The exhaust is fired through the center of the propeller hub...burying the fumes, and with it the sound, far behind the boat. The exhaust fills the vacuum pocket that forms in back of propeller hubs, resulting in increased thrust and improved breathing of the engine.

There are many other features to COMPARE on a Merc 110...and your Mercury dealer will be happy to have you make the comparison. See him soon. See how you get more RUN for your money with Mercury...100, 85, 65, 50, 35, 20, 9.8 and 3.9 hp outboards and MercCruiser Stern Drives...110 to 310 hp gasoline; 60 and 100 hp diesel.

Craig Gets Big Chance

Washburn To Minors; Rog Into Rotation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ray Washburn, whose right arm—when sound—is thought to be big enough to lift St. Louis' pennant chances, is on his way down to the minors for at least the first 2½ weeks of the season.

The Cardinals said Thursday they were sending Washburn to Jacksonville of the International League where they hope he will strengthen the arm that hasn't been sound since the early part of last season.

"We've been using some caution with him," St. Louis Manager Johnny Keane explained Thursday night. "As a result he hasn't got quite as much work as we wanted him to get. We're leaving him in warm weather whereas we might run into bad weather elsewhere."

Explains

Keane explained that the 25-year-old hurler must remain, under baseball rules, with Jacksonville for at least 10 days after its season starts. Washburn, therefore, won't be available to the Cards until May 2.

With his return, the Cards hope their pennant chances will soar.

Until the 6-foot-2, 200-pounder again can become a starter, Roger Craig, the erstwhile Met, will join the other three in St. Louis' regular rotation.

Washburn, tore a shoulder muscle after winning his first five games in 1963. He lost three games before taking a trip to Tulsa of the Texas League where he recorded a 7.80 earned run average.

The injury broke up a solid starting rotation of Washburn, Bob Gibson, Ernie Broglio and Curt Simmons. The Cards finished second, six games behind Los Angeles. Some think a well Washburn would've put the Cardinals into the World Series.

Doubts

"When he reported this spring," Keane said, "we had some doubts that he could help us at all if the arm was in the same injured condition it was when the season ended. But after two or three turns, he said he had no soreness, and he was throwing freely. He evidently has a sound arm."

Keane isn't certain how he'll use Washburn once May 2 comes. He said he'll probably put him in middle-inning relief first. But he added:

"We're counting on him now because we know his arm is sound."

Developments

In other developments, the Los Angeles Dodgers traded relief pitcher Larry Sherry, star of the 1969 World Series, to Detroit for minor league outfielder Lou Johnson and $10,000. Milwaukee sent catcher Bob Uecker to St. Louis for catcher Jim Coker and outfielder Gary Kolb.

Exhibition play saw Houston batter the Cards and Gibson 7-1. Cincinnati beat the Chicago White Sox 5-2 while Baltimore clubbed Milwaukee and Warren Spahn 5-2.

Camilo Pascual hurled Minnesota to a 4-1 triumph over the New York Mets, the Chicago Cubs defeated Boston 9-4, San Francisco crushed Cleveland 9-3 behind the pitching of Juan Marichal, Washington whipped the New York Yankees 7-3 and Kansas City got by Detroit, 6-4.

Hitters Can Smile, Juan Not Perfect

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP)—Concerned National League hitters won't find this cause for rejoicing. But Juan Marichal did not have a perfect spring.

Granted, the San Francisco Giant right-hander had a 0.00 earned run average. However, he did allow four hits in his 13 innings of work. A couple of them were hard hit.

Marichal finished his exhibition stint Thursday in Modesto with five no-run, two-hit innings against the Cleveland Indians as the Giants defeated their American League cousins 9-3 for the 10th time in 11 games. Marichal walked none and struck out three.

Juan's next assignment is the Candlestick Park opener Tuesday against Warren-Spahn and the Milwaukee Braves.

Marichal hopes for some help from strong-stroking Giant hitters who performed today in Stockton against Cleveland.

Rookie Jim Hart, slated to open at third base, went four-for-five in Modesto, including a two-run homer off loser Pedro Ramos in the third. This boosted Hart's batting average to .373.

Orlando Cepeda moved to .457 with two singles and a double. Willie McCovey advanced to .390 with a perfect three-for-three—two singles and a double. Rookie right fielder Jesus Alou climbed to .388 with two of the Giants' 16 hits.

All three Cleveland runs came off Ron Herbel, who moved in for Marichal. The Indians scored on a two-run homer by Al Luplow and a one-run shot by Leon Wagner.

Jimmy Davenport and Willie Mays were the only two regulars who missed action. Davenport flew to Alabama for his mother's funeral.

Mays acted as first base coach. His right wrist was taped as a result of being hit by a pick-off attempt Wednesday by Indian hurler Dick Donovan.

Davenport is expected back for opening day. Mays could play this weekend in Sacramento.

Shea Stadium—Fan's Dream

Until Houston unveils the domed stadium, the last word in the ultimate ball park is Shea Stadium, home of the New York Mets and Jets.

The entire layout is designed with one item in mind: Please the fans and keep the 56,000 seating capacity full as possible.

To please this many fans is a neat trick in any league, especially if all you can offer the paid admissions is the Mets and Jets.

Richard Praeger, who designed the stadium, had enough judgement to visit the other ball parks in the nation to copy the best and leave the rest.

For instance, Shea Stadium is as colorful as they come (like Houston's present park) with more colors in the stands than a rainbow.

As in Houston, Shea Stadium's seating colors match both the colors of the ticket for that section and also the escalator which transports the masses.

Can't Get Lost

Says Praeger, "To get lost here you have to be color blind and illiterate."

Somehow, and somehow ushers will probably spend most of their time directing some poor lost non-New Yorker to his seat.

For those who shy away from mechanical gadgets such as escalators, Praeger also installed 24 ramps (also in color to match the seating and tickets) for the hikers.

Building such a stadium wasn't an easy job, but Praeger knew what he wanted and wouldn't settle for less.

Praeger after studying Chavez Ravine in Los Angeles wanted the stadium built into the side of a hill to make it possible, for fans to park cars on the space level of their seats.

At Flushing Meadows, N.Y., site of Shea, no such hill existed so escalators were installed.

Not only were hills non-existent, but the ground at Flushing Meadows was so flabby, supporting piles sank 60 feet into the ground under their own weight.

They later were pounded down an additional bit to average 125 feet per pile and insure support enough to hold a dome if Houston's worked out as it did on the drawing board.

No Columns

The support was also sufficient enough to make the stadium without a single column in the way of any spectator.

Lighting? The best, Shea's lighting is on the roof in continuous strips. Only two towers, beyond right and left field, are needed.

The lights themselves are also the latest thing, a combination of quartzite and mercury vapor that appears close to daylight and eliminates the yellow tinge of ordinary lights.

Even the seats are custom built for the fans. Each seat is built on a circular construction. And each seat, regardless of where you sit, faces a spot just behind second base. In football, the seats are facing the 50-yard-line.

Shea can do this because it is completely round in shape. Even Houston's dome may not outdo Shea.

But despite the crystal palace effect, some have pointed out that it was like going to the Coronation of the Queen and finding the chamber maid.

The Mets just aren't the Yankees.

Stocks To Run At Speedrome

Between 30 to 40 cars are expected to participate in more than 100 laps of stock car racing Saturday night at Red River Speedrome on Farm Road 309.

Since races were called off last week because of the weather, the Saturday night races will be the second program of the season on the big fast clay track. Claude Tanner, Wichita Falls racing promoter, says the track is in top condition and compares favorably with the finest quarter-mile clay tracks in the nation.

Stock cars must be signed in by 7:30 p.m. and races will start promptly at 8 p.m., with three heats, a trophy dash, two semi-finals, an oval track feature and a figure-eight feature.

Wings Can Cop Cup Some Year

CHICAGO (AP) — "If they keep giving us this Stanley Cup thing we're going to win it one of these days," said a happy Sid Abel after his Detroit Red Wings had dumped the Chicago Black Hawks in their semifinal series.

The Wings, who will get their third shot at winning the Cup in the last four years, defeated the Hawks 4-2 Thursday night in the seventh and decisive game of the series.

The triumph followed a 3-1 Toronto victory over Montreal. This sets up a best-of-seven series which begins in Toronto Saturday night between the Red Wings, who finished fourth in the National Hockey League, and the Maple Leafs, who finished third.

Goals by Floyd Smith and Gordie Howe in the first five minutes of the game gave the Wings a lead they never relinquished although the Hawks fought back within a goal twice.

The Red Wings sealed the victory with a power play goal by Parker MacDonald in the final period while the Hawks were trying to ride out their second five-minute penalty of the game.

"We beat the best team in the National Hockey League and we'll take our chances against Toronto, which really leaned on us all season," said Abel.

Abel's reference was to a Detroit record of three victories, eight losses and three times against the Leafs during the season.

In the celebration of their victory, the Wings were too excited to worry about their battered goalie, Terry Sawchuk.

Sawchuk was knocked to the ice in the second period by Roggie Fleming when the Detroit goalie went behind his net to clear the puck.

He finished out the period but was replaced for the final 20 minutes by Roger Crozier. Sawchuk, who has been bothered by a bad shoulder, didn't start one of the games and on three occasions had to be replaced during a game.

The Hawks were dejected but Coach Billy Reay and General Manager Tommy Ivan both agreed that the two quick goals and the last five-minute penalty killed their chances.

"Don't bother the players," said Reay. "They gave it everything they had and I guess it wasn't good enough."

Reay felt that the Hawks' drive for the NHL title which found them finishing one point behind Montreal took a lot of the club.

HAPPY ENDING—Chicago—Detroit defenseman Bill Gadsby (4) gives a bear hug to substitute goalie Roger Crozier as Norm Ullman (7) skates up to start a celebration as they won seventh and deciding game of Stanley Cup semi-finals series from Chicago Black Hawks, 4-2, last night. Detroit will meet Toronto Maple Leafs in the finals starting Saturday. (AP Wirephoto)

Cleveland Williams To Get Shot At Jones

HOUSTON (AP) — Managers of fifth-ranked heavyweight boxer Cleveland Williams say No. 1 contender Doug Jones of New York has agreed to fight Williams for $50,000.

Williams, who fights out of Houston, is managed by Hugh Benbow and K.S. (Bud) Adams, who said Jones' Manager, Alex Koskowitz, agreed to the fight in a telephone conversation Thursday.

Benbow said he is awaiting confirmation of the bout. He said the bout would be held in Houston June 2 and would be 15 rounds.

Benbow said he sent the following telegram to Koskowitz in New York:

"... Pursuant to our agreement on phone we agree to pay Doug Jones $50,000 to box Cleveland Williams 15 rounds here June 2, with three round trip plane tickets but with no other privileges. You must wire confirmation within 24 hours."

The telegram was signed by Benbow and Adams.

Benbow said Koskowitz set the $50,000 figure in agreeing to the bout.

"He told me," Benbow said, "that was what it would take to get Jones to box Williams. He said 'if you'll pay $50,000, we'll fight him.'"

"We've had so much trouble getting opponents for Williams I asked Koskowitz if he was serious about making the match. He said 'I'll give you my word. I'll give you confirmation within 24 hours.'"

Benbow said he is confident Williams can beat Jones.

"We went for Jones over other contenders because Jones is ranked number one," Benbow said. "If Williams can beat Jones, and I'm sure he can, then nobody will be left standing in our way of boxing (Cassius) Clay for the title in the domed stadium next spring."

"The money will be up for Clay too."

Williams has a 58-5-1 record and has more knockouts to his credit with 49 than any other heavyweight. He won his 58th fight last Tuesday by taking a 10-round decision from Tommy Fields of Los Angeles.

Jones has beaten such fighters as Zora Folley and Billy Daniels and lost a close 10-round decision to Clay a year ago.

It's Official Isn't It Gomer?

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. (AP) —The University of Oklahoma's Board of Regents, persevering to the end, hung in there Thursday and named Gomer Jones as head football coach and athletic director.

Some folks were mildly surprised at Thursday's action since it was widely reported they did it a month ago. As it turned out, some of the regents thought they did it a month ago too—but they didn't.

Apparently, it's not as easy to hire a football coach as the layman might think.

Some people think Gomer was hired Jan. 19 to replace former Coach Bud Wilkinson, who entered politics. But what really happened on Jan. 19 is the regents said they were going to hire Gomer.

Back on Feb. 13 the regents met and were about to make it official but a technicality arose. It seems they hired Gomer before Wilkinson's resignation was effective. A committee was appointed to find out when Wilkinson quit.

A month later they met again. After the meeting, several regents told reporters a four-year contract at $23,400 a year had been approved for Jones.

Auerbach Shouts To World: 'Russell, Russell, Russell'

BOSTON (AP)—"There's my man," said Celtics Coach Red Auerbach, rolling a big cigar around his mouth in obvious glee. "Bill Russell. You can have all those other guys."

"The big factor was when Russell laced on his shoes," said Coach Jack McMahon of the losers.

Both comments summed up the feeling Thursday night after Boston had won its eighth straight Eastern Division playoff title by beating Cincinnati 100-95.

Mopped Up
The Celtics mopped up the best-of-seven National Basketball Association series in five games and now await the outcome of the Western Division final between St. Louis and the Warriors, which continues at San Francisco Friday night. The teams are tied 2-2.

For his 47 minutes, Russell grabbed 35 rebounds, scored 20 points, had seven assists, six blocked shots, two interceptions, one steal and countless unnerving leaps which forced Royals shooters to aim off course.

"Boston is simply great," said McMahon. "They forced us into errors and always moved the ball to the open man.

"But that Russell," he added, pointing emphatically at the game summary sheet. "Our leading rebounder, Wayne Embury, got 10. And he got 35."

"This has been a fantastic year," Auerbach said. "This season has been worth everything and more. You can't lose a guy like Bob Cousy and not be hurt. Then we lost our first draft choice, Bill Green. Yes, this was my best series ever.

"This ought to shut them up for awhile, too. I was sick of hearing about the fact Cincinnati beat us seven out of 12 during the regular season. The times they beat us we were 10 games out in front and Tommy Heinsohn missed three games.

Defense
"It was five defensive games and Russell got more help in the playoffs than he normally does. But tonight we just were not letting them by us at all.

"That first win in Cincinnati, the third game, was the key to the whole bit."

In the rugged final game, Jerry Lucas of the Royals got a lump on the back of his head and an injured elbow after colliding with K.C. Jones in the fourth minute of the game.

McMahon said, "I hope so," when asked if he thought he would be returned as Royals coach next year.

Sam Jones scored 23 points and Heinsohn 19 for Boston. Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson got 24, only nine of them in the first half when Boston spurred out to a 33-19 first quarter edge.

MU Golfers Even Season Dual Mark

Surging Midwestern hit the 500 mark Thursday afternoon by winning its golf dual with Austin College, 4-2.

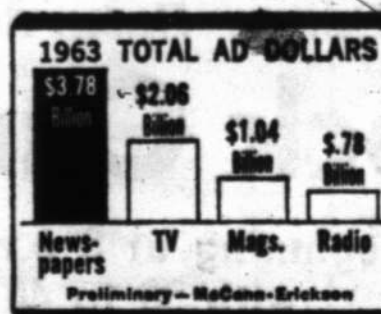

The Indians, who lost their first three, are now 4-2 for the season in dual competition.

The results:
John Barnett (MU) def. Phil Hunkle, 4-3; Jim Castledine (MU) drew with McKee Yantz; Barnett-Castledine def. Hunkle, Yantz, 4-2; Ted Norwood (MU) drew with Ed Davis; Larry Hanvey (MU) def. Roger Huns, 4-3; Davis-Huns def. Norwood-Hanvey, 2-up.

"I saw it in the paper..."

...means she has faith in what she reads there. You've said it yourself many a time. You have confidence that it's true, if you read it in the paper. And that's a good place for an advertiser to be, surrounded by news and editorial features that people feel are authoritative. According to an actual survey, 8 out of 10 people felt that newspapers are "reliable" and "dependable;" more than 7 out of 10 felt them to be "believable." This receptive frame of mind extends to the advertising messages. In the same survey, newspaper advertising is rated high in positive, and low in negative feelings. So whatever you want to sell them, tell them about it in the newspaper.

Brisk Trading Hits Stock Mart Trading

NEW YORK (AP)—Relieved by postponement of the railroad strike deadline, the stock market moved higher early this afternoon in brisk trading.

Gains of key stocks went from fractions to about a point.

Rails rallied from their losses of the past two sessions when uncertainty prevailed over the likelihood of a strike this weekend.

The trend was generally higher among motors, cigarette issues, electrical equipments, coppers, chemicals, office equipments and utilities.

The list moved higher from the start and was aided by some good reports of corporate profits.

Airlines backed away from their latest advance as traders took profits.

Grains Mixed In Slow Trade

CHICAGO (AP)—Losses were a little more numerous than gains most of the time today in the grain futures market as transactions became mixed in rather slow activity on the Board of Trade.

Brokers said speculators appeared reluctant to make additional large commitments either way in wheat pending release of government regulations for implementation of the new certificate plan and a report after the close of the market on probable acreage this year.

An unconfirmed report that the government would raise the support price of soybeans contributed to the firmness in that pit.

Carlot receipts today were estimated at: wheat 2 cars, corn 94, oats 1, rye none, barley 9, soybeans 2.

Wheat finished 1/4 cents a bushel lower to 1/2 higher, May $2.04 1/4-1/2; soybeans unchanged to 1/4 higher, May $2.58 1/2-1/2; corn 1/4-1/2 lower, May $1.22 1/2-1/2; oats 1/4-1/2 lower, May 64 1/2 cents; rye 1/4 higher to 1/4 lower, May $1.31 1/4-1/2.

EDUCATOR REPORTS

Poor Attendance Leads To School Dropouts

By PETER HINCHLiffe

"One of the primary causes of school dropouts is poor attendance in the earlier years," G. H. Kirby, assistant superintendent of Wichita Falls Public Schools, told Friday's meeting of the chamber of commerce's public education action group in Action Hall.

"The problem begins in the fifth, sixth and seventh grades," Kirby said. "It gets worse and worse. The children find they are dropping further and further behind in their work, until eventually they quit school. Undoubtedly, in many cases this poor attendance is accountable to a lack of parental concern. We must make all parents vitally aware of the importance of seeing that their children should attend school."

Kirby presented a detailed statistical survey of high school dropouts in Wichita Falls which showed that 372 students left the city's four high schools during the first six months of the current school year. However, 183 of these had left Wichita Falls with their parents and would be continuing school elsewhere, so they could in no way be considered genuine dropouts, and compared with many other cities, the dropout problem here is not serious.

Breakdown

A breakdown of the reasons for withdrawal from school of the remaining 189 students produced the following facts:

Failure to adjust — Hirsch, 22 students; Rider, 2; Wichita Falls High, 16; Booker T. Washington, 1.

Leaving to go to work — Hirsch, 24; Rider, 0; Wichita Falls High, 16; Booker T. Washington, 1.

Electra Holds Democrat Meet

ELECTRA, Tex. (Special)—A number of candidates for public office in Wichita County were present at a meeting of the Electra Democratic Club at the City Hall Auditorium there Tuesday.

A. F. Edwards of Wichita Falls, who has spent 40 years in the teaching profession, was the principal speaker and talked on "The Future of Our Country Rests Upon the Young People Who Walk Our Streets."

Mrs. Lyle Cherry announced that the Wichita County Democratic Women's Organization will have a luncheon at the Women's Forum in Wichita Falls April 23 where Mrs. Barefoot Sanders will be the speaker. Reservations may be made with Mrs. L. H. McCulloch in Wichita Falls.

T. Leo Moore, presiding at the meeting, introduced visitors and announced that the next regular meeting will be held May 5 at the City Hall Auditorium.

Electra Resident Suffers Broken Arm

ELECTRA, Tex. (Special)—Mrs. J. L. Castleberry, 82, 610 East Franklin, is a patient in the Electra Hospital, being treated for fractures of her right arm above the wrist.

Mrs. Castleberry, resident of Electra more than 50 years, fell and broke her arm at her home Tuesday night.

She is the mother of Mrs. W. E. Archer Sr., 1712 Collins, Wichita Falls.

Parole Is Revoked By Pardons Board

AUSTIN, Tex. — The Texas Board of Pardons and Paroles has announced revocation of parole for Charles W. Barr, convicted of forgery in Wichita County, May 10, 1962. Serving a two-year sentence, Barr had been paroled November 14 of last year.

He was recalled to custody for absconding.

WELCOME, "BIG JIM"

We at Bill Waites Ford are happy to have "Big Jim" Davis with us . . . and, rightly so.

During his 16 years as a professional Ford salesman, Big Jim has acquired literally hundreds of loyal friends and customers by giving thoughtful, faithful service. Because of this, he has achieved membership in Ford's exclusive "500" Club for the last 13 years and is holder of the coveted Ford Medallion award. We're mighty glad to have Big Jim Davis on our team. Come see him.

ULTRA-MODERN SHOP — The newly-established shop of Judy's Hair Designs at 802 Seventh has ultra-modern equipment such as air conditioned hair dryers that require no net and is furnished in French and Italian Provincial. With central air conditioning, the new shop that opened for business this week, has hydraulic chairs for comfort of the customers and efficiency of the operators. Telephone 723-5312 for an appointment.

Judy's Hair Designs Opens Next Door To Jack's School

Judy's Hair Designs opened Wednesday at 802 Seventh, next door to Jack's School of Beauty Culture at 804 Seventh, with ultra-modern equipment and the finest in hair stylists.

Operated by Judy Vest, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Warden of Jack's Beauty School, and a top instructor and hair designer in her own right, assisted by Betty Nix, a one-time graduate of Jack's who became an instructor and then operated a shop in Bowie for a time before returning here, the new shop assures each customer of custom styling to fit her personality and looks.

Telephone 723-5312 to make an appointment or an inquiry.

Finished in French and Italian Provincial lines, Judy's Hair Designs is completely air conditioned, has hydraulic chairs for customer comfort and operator efficiency, has air-conditioned dryers that require no nets and to not leave the customer hot just to get the hair dry. Finished in white, gold and blue, with model indirect lighting and inter-com music, the new shop has a coffee bar as well as no-glare mirrors that reflect you as you really look.

Mrs. Vest, who will continue to instruct classes at Jack's School of Beauty Culture, is considered one of the leading hair stylists of this area, having attended consecutive showings of new styles at Denver, Colo., last January and previously at Lubbock, Dallas and Houston in Texas; Minneapolis, Minn., and at Fort Worth.

Assisting Mrs. Vest is Miss Nix, an outstanding graduate of Jack's School of Beauty Culture who became a top instructor in beauty care and has had wide experience in hair styling. Their experience will assure each customer of individual styling best suited to her features and hair texture.

Observing regular 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. hours and until 9 p.m. on Thursdays, the shop will be available for late appointments at any time.

Mr. and Mrs. Warden said Judy's Hair Designs was established as a model shop to serve the public.

For beauty training career or beauty care at student prices, telephone 723-9681; and for the finest in hair styling and beauty care at Judy's Hair Designs telephone 723-5312.

SKIN CONSULTANT — DermaCulture, a skin beauty care designed to give you a youthful and healthful appearance at nominal cost, is available at 4006 Rhea Road, just off Call Field Road. You will find consultation with Mrs. F. T. (Lila) Johnson, who operates the franchise business, most gratifying. Youthful good looks are within your means by telephoning 692-2984 or visiting the handy clinic at 4006 Rhea Road and making inquiry into DermaCulture.

DermaCulture Can Provide Lovelier Skin For Summer

DermaCulture, a specialized skin care available at 4006 Rhea Road, just off Call Field Road, can provide you a lovelier skin for the summer months.

Telephone 692-2984 for a discussion of this new skin care that can keep you looking younger longer and add a healthful freshness to your complexion. You will find the nominal cost places this beauty aid within your reach, whether you are a matron or a working girl.

The franchised business, operated under a franchise by Mrs. F. T. (Lila) Johnson and her husband, Jack Johnson, operates on a long-recognized principle of skin care that has been reduced to a painless and speedy method.

DermaCulture is a revolutionary painless treatment that firms the tissue underneath the skin to even wrinkles and soften lines. It begins with a thorough vacuum cleansing of the skin to remove blackheads, whiteheads and blemishes. The system permits regrowing of underlying tissue by a process of ionization to tighten sagging muscles and stimulate circulation. The treatment is painless — even restful — and with added directions for care, any woman can improve her appearance immeasurably to even the closest scrutiny.

"We don't make a woman of 40 to 60 look 20, but we do make her radiate her maturity gracefully in a manner to belie her years," says Mrs. Johnson, who with her daughter, Mrs. Vee Howle, are licensed operators in the business.

A series of DermaCulture treatments will bring the kind of comments a woman likes to hear and she is never too young to begin preserving her youthful skin.

For an exciting discussion of the benefits of DermaCulture or the scheduling of treatments for yourself or your family, telephone 692-2984 or drop by the handy salon of DermaCulture at 4006 Rhea Road, just off Call Field Road.
