Marines in Lebanon...

Tentative compromise plan reached

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional and White House negotiators have hammered out a compromise proposal allowing President Reagan to invoke the 1973 War Powers Act to regulate how long U.S. Marines will remain in Lebanon, sources say.

The tentative agreement reached late Monday would quell a confrontation that had been building between Congress and Reagan over U.S. military involvement in the Lebanese government's battle with Syrian-backed Druse militia.

House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., who was not part of the negotiating team, was considering the compromise today. He has been intent on getting a war powers resolution passed, but sources warned that he already has killed one compromise effort.

The sources, who spoke on condition that they not be identified, said the president had agreed to a war powers resolution which would state that he should have invoked the act once two U.S. Marines were killed by fire from Lebanese religious factions on Aug. 29.

The Vietnam era War Powers Act sets a 90-day clock running after which U.S. troops in danger of being caught in hostilities on foreign soil must come home unless Congress has given its approval to their continued presence overseas.

Another key provision of the compromise calls for Congress to declare its approval of Reagan's decision to maintain a force of 1,200 Marines as part of the multinational peacekeeping force now in Beirut.

The tentative agreement gives Reagan 18 months before any additional congressional endorsement would be required, sources said.

That puts off any further controversy over the Marines' presence until after the 1984 presidential election.

Reagan originally balked at setting a deadline or triggering the act, saying the Marines are not the specific target of any of the religious factions.

Council okays Borden County fire protection

Borden County will pay the City of Snyder on a "per fire" basis following an agreement approved Monday by members of the city council.

The charge for this service will be $500 per fire run — a figure which council members agreed seemed equitable to all concerned.

While a year-end breakdown of fire service expense indicates rural fires cost the department as much as $1,400 per run, the council has asked City Manager John Gayle to discuss a fee "which we all can live with" with Borden County Judge Van York.

It had been noted that the fire service would be offered in a "neighbor helping neighbor" approach and that as now projected local fire units would be required in the neighboring county fairly infrequently. As few as three fires per year had been mentioned.

Other stipulations of the new fire contract include that Fire Chief Terry Don McDowell will retain all decision making powers regarding the priority of fire coverage in the event of multiple fires in Scurry and Borden Counties.

In addition, fire runs will be initiated by a request from Borden County officials and only six individuals have been authorized to make such a request.

These six are County Sheriff Norman Sneed and each member of the county commissioner's court to include York and Commissioners Herman Ledbetter, Larry D. Smith, Vernon Wolf and Ed Rinehart.

While on fire runs in Borden County, local fire units and firemen will be covered under liability insurance provided by Borden County also.

Borden County is expected to reach an agreement for fire protection in its western half with Dawson County. This protection will come from fire units based in Lamesa.

In addition, the county currently has an agreement with the O'Donnell fire department for fire run protection and Borden also owns a part interest in a fire truck based in Fluvanna.

Fires which would likely prompt a call to the local department include large grass fires and oil field blazes, it has been noted.

Zone change clears hurdle for apartments

An initial go-ahead was given here Monday which will allow the proposed construction of a 52-unit apartment complex just south of 37th St. in the Noble Heights Addition.

The council approved on first reading a zone change requested by the proposed builders for the project and the current owner of the land.

Meeting with the council was Len Dockum, owner of L&W Developers in Sweetwater, and Betty League, property owner.

They requested a 4.6 acre area which runs along the southern edge of the city limits south of 37th St. be changed from an R-1 zoning area (single-family dwellings only) to C-1. The C-1 designation allows such structures as apartment complexes.

No objections to the zone change were voiced Monday. In such cases, surrounding property owners are notified that a zone change request has been submitted. The affected area is located just south of the 1500 Block of 37th St.

Before the zone change is final, a second reading and public hearing is required. It is now tentatively scheduled for the October council meeting.

At Monday's session, the council also heard a request from local C.L. Minton for city intervention regarding a fence being constructed by an adjacent landowner across both Minton's property and a legally dedicated alley and street. The affected area is located in far east Snyder just north of where 37th St. runs into East Highway.

The council had considered a related matter to the fence question at the last council meeting Sept. 6. Landowner Robert (Shorty) Montis has asked the council to abandon a dedicated alley and street which would comprise an extension of 36th St. across his property.

He made the request so that he could construct a fence across the area to protect a garden and fruit tree orchard he has planted there.

Soviets to offer debris

WAKKANAI, Japan (AP) — The Soviet Union informed the Japanese Embassy in Moscow today that on Sept. 26 it will hand over "items and documents" from the South Korean passenger plane shot down by a Soviet interceptor, a Foreign Ministry official said.

The official, who asked not to be identified, said the Soviets did not elaborate on the kind of material to be given to the Japanese.

He said the Soviet government asked the Japanese to come to Nevelisk, on the west coast of Sakhalin Island near the area where the Korean Air Lines jetliner is thought to have gone down, to receive the material. The Soviets also specified that the Japanese are not to use a warship. The kind of vessel to be used in the transaction is under discussion, he said.

The Soviet ambassador to Japan, Vladimir Pavlov, said Sept. 8 that the Soviet Union would turn over items from the downed Korean aircraft "in the near future," and that his country would report on its search in accordance with "international practices."

However, the Soviet Union has since provided no details of its exhaustive search of waters off Sakhalin.

In those northern waters today, U.S. and Soviet vessels weathered a storm that momentarily halted search operations for the plane, which was shot down Sept. 1 with a loss of 269 lives.

In Washington, U.S. Navy sources said the search vessel Naragansett picked up "pings" from the Korean jetliner's "black box" Monday but later lost the signal. They said the ship heard the sounds on an underwater microphone trailing in the water.

U.S., Japanese and South Korean vessels are taking part in what appears to be an increasingly frenetic search for the "black box" — the flight recorder — of the Boeing 747 jetliner.

Officials hope the recorder would shed light on the incident, perhaps explaining why Flight 007, on a flight from Anchorage, Alaska, to Seoul, flew into restricted Soviet territory. The jetliner was hit by air-to-air missiles and crashed in the Sea of Japan near tiny Moneron Island, off the Soviets' Sakhalin Island.

Turkey Shoot to aid research

The local chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation will sponsor its third annual Turkey Shoot here Saturday. All funds will go towards disease research.

Volunteer workers will be circulating in Snyder this week selling advance tickets. Heading up the effort is local Renee Floyd.

The shoot will be conducted at the Canyon Gun Club range ¼ of a mile north of the Northeast

Community Center on the Camp Springs Rd.

For a fee of $3 per round, entrants will compete for either turkeys or cash. The shooting competition will be both trap shooting with shotguns and stationary target shooting using either deer rifle, .22 cal. or black powder weapons.

Those choosing to shoot trap will be placed in groups of five in both beginner and advanced shooter classes.

Ask Us

Q. — Is it always this hot here during September?

A. — While pointing out that the first half of the month is usually warmer than the last half, National Weather Service personnel say this September has been hotter. Until Tuesday's cold front, temperatures daily rose to around 95 degrees. The average high here during September is approximately 86 degrees. For October, however, locals can look forward to an average high temperature of around 79.

The Senior Citizens Center is one of the most popular places around. It is extremely popular about lunch time, and we understand why because we've had opportunity to eat there on several occasions.

For those who are unable to make it to the center, a Meals on Wheels program is conducted, and some of the men at the center see that shut-ins get at least one hot meal per day.

Monday morning's cool weather was welcomed by many in Snyder including two of the chaps who make delivery of the meals.

On one recent day when the mercury peaked past the century mark, Senior Center Director Gloria Shaw cautioned Ray Summers and Pete Glass that the food must be maintained at 145 degrees.

Town prisoner to Lucas case

MONTAGUE, Texas (AP) — Henry Lee Lucas may have achieved nationwide notoriety with his claims to have murdered 150 women, but to residents of this North Texas town where he sits in jail, his presence means a possible tax increase.

The costs of bringing the Virginia-born drifter to trial are adding up to 1 percent of this rural county budget.

"They ought to just kill him without a trial. After all, he confessed to all those killings," one woman told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. "... We're already taxed too much in this county."

County Judge Tom Brown acknowledges that he has heard similar sentiments.

"A lot of people don't understand the system," he said. "They don't understand why, if somebody confessed in public to all these murders, we're here spending all the taxpayers' money to defend him. We have some people who have had a hard time adding all that up."

Brown and the county commissioners must decide within the next few weeks whether to raise county taxes to pay for Lucas' defense and other costs expected from his murder trial in the slaying of 80-year-old Kate Rich of nearby Ringgold. The case is one of six Texas slayings in which Lucas has been charged.

The commissioners had set aside $3,225 in their 1983 budget to pay legal fees of all indigent defendants.

But in the first two months after Lucas was arrested, the county paid about $7,600 in fees and expenses to Donald Maxfield, the Wichita Falls attorney appointed to represent Lucas. Commissioners, anticipating another bill from Maxfield, last week amended the county budget by $3,000.

Those costs, however, don't include the hotel bills, meals, gasoline and other costs the county will have to pick up when the trial is moved out of Montague on a venue change. State District Judge Frank Douthitt has said he probably will move it to Amarillo or his own base of Henrietta.

Brown said there's no doubt as to where Montague County will raise the money. "There ain't but one place to get it, and that's the taxpayers," he said.

But while Lucas's presence has changed this town, it is the hordes of reporters he draws that residents notice more than the man himself.

"The little store on the corner runs out of cheese and bologna now, and the helicopters stir up the dust on people's clothes out on the line," Brown said.

"We're tired of it all," said Becky Williams, who with her husband owns the general store. "I think it's a shame ... for something like that to be what brings publicity here."

I've probably bought more diet books than any other person alive.

In one year alone, I ate the bindings on five of them. Looking through my extensive library, it occurred to me they have always had one thing in common ... well, two if you count starvation. They have always been big on incentive.

If you lose weight you can look like the chippie on the cover. You can fit into all your old clothes. You can feel better. You can make your mother happy. You can cross your legs in hot weather. You can be more popular. You can have more energy. You can attract the opposite sex. You can raise your self-esteem. You can get rid of guilt. You can attract more than flies at the beach. You can live longer. (Or without whipped cream, it just seems longer.)

One out of every three people in this country is overweight according to someone's chart. Obviously, we need new incentives.

spa if she would do the same thing. She didn't make it.

Earlier this year, there was a third baseman in Atlanta who carried a few extra pounds and was promised $7,692.13 for each of the 13 Fridays they played at home that he maintained his weight. If he pulled it off, it would have amounted to something like a $100,000 bonus. The verdict is still out.

The point is no one can give a dieter an incentive except himself. I attended a series of weight-loss sessions in which the instructor tried to motivate me to lose the ten pounds that I had been working on for 17 years.

"Wouldn't you like to step on the scales and weigh ten pounds less?" Didn't she realize all I had to do was to put the scale on the shag carpet and tilt one side against the comode?

"How about hearing panting and heavy breathing when you walk into a room?"

Nonsense, all I had to do was to start jogging.

"Suppose someone told you you'd be fired from your job as a housewife/mother?"

She hit a nerve. I'm thinking about that one. And that was 12 years ago.

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 91 proposes a constitutional amendment which requires a county with a population of 30,000 or more to be divided into not less than four nor more than eight justice of the peace precincts. A county with a population of 18,000 or more but less than 30,000 shall be divided into not less than two nor more than five justice of the peace precincts. A county with a population of less than 18,000 shall be designated as a single justice of the peace precinct or, upon a finding of necessity by the commissioners court, shall be divided into more than one justice of the peace precinct but not more than four. The amendment provides further, that in any precinct in which there is a city with a population of 18,000 or more, two justices of the peace shall be elected. The amendment allows a justice of the peace, constable or commissioner to continue in office until the expiration of his term, although a change in precinct boundaries results in the officer no longer being a resident of the precinct for which he was elected or appointed and allows a justice of the peace or constable to continue in office until the expiration of his term even though a change in precinct boundaries results in the officer no longer being a resident of the precinct or more than one justice of the peace or constable serving the precinct. Vacancies in the office of justice of the peace or constable that result from a precinct boundary change shall be filled by the commissioners court until the next general election. The amendment would take effect on January 1, 1984, and counties with populations of less than 30,000 and with more than four justice of the peace and constable precincts would have until January 1, 1987 to comply with the amendment.

Deliberations near in trial

MOUNT PLEASANT, Texas (AP) — A defense attorney called six alibi witnesses to testify that Calvin Loyd Padgett was working 220 miles away when three employees of a Pizza Hut restaurant here were slain.

Final arguments in Padgett's capital murder trial were scheduled to begin today.

Defense attorney Jerry Birdwell rested his case Monday after the witnesses testified that Padgett was at work at J.D. Bray's Paint Co. in Healdton, Okla., on May 10, 1982, the day of the killings.

But Jerry David Westberry, the bookkeeper for the paint company, said there were no records that Padgett worked May 10, and said that he was paid for 10½ fewer hours than usual that week.

Another defense witness, Michael Earl Davis, a former patrolman for the Mount Pleasant police, said that he concluded from his investigation that one person could not have committed the murders.

Padgett, 28, is charged with the murders of George Dwain Landrum, 42; Howard Leroy McClaffin, 25; and Shirley O'Bier Thompson, 24.

Their bodies were found in or near a walk-in cooler at the rear of the restaurant. All had been shot, and Landrum had also been hit in the head with a hammer, authorities said.

Padgett was arrested later last year with his girl friend and 15-year-old brother in Oklahoma, where he was charged with the November aggravated robbery of a service station-restaurant. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to life in prison, authorities said.

Snyder's tennis matches with Lamesa, scheduled here Thursday, have been moved to Nov. 3, Coach Charlie Chrane reported Monday afternoon.

The Tigers are to play Lake View High School in San Angelo today and will face Brownwood and Sweetwater teams in Sweetwater on Saturday.

Underclassmen play Thursday

Snyder junior varsity and freshman football teams will play Thursday. The seventh grade will also hold intramural games.

Snyder's JV will bus to Lubbock to meet Dunbar in a 4 p.m. ballgame.

At home, Snyder ninth grade B squad will take on Sweetwater B at 4:00 while the ninth grade A-team faces Coahoma at 6. Both games will be held at Travis Field.

Raiders hook Dolphs, 27-14

LOS ANGELES (AP) - By his own admittance, Lyle Alzado is a little different, as are his teammates on the Los Angeles Raiders' defense.

Different, perhaps, but very, very good.

The Raiders defeated Miami 27-14 and joined the Dallas Cowboys as the National Football League's only unbeaten teams.

"Each of the guys on the defense is a little off-center and there's a great deal of pride," said Alzado, a 34-year-old defensive end. "Your teammates beat you up trying to get to the ball. It's a very overpowering defense."

The Raiders have given up only three touchdowns and just 30 points overall in beating Cincinnati, Houston and Miami. All three of those TDs came after Los Angeles had assured itself of victory.

The Dolphins, who had only nine first downs until the final few minutes Monday night, got their touchdowns on a 6-yard pass from rookie quarterback Dan Marino to tight end Joe Rose with 2:29 remaining and a 2-yard pass from Marino to Mark Duper with 20 seconds left.

Probably the key play of the game occurred late in the third quarter. Naturally, it was provided by the Los Angeles defense.

The Raiders led 13-0, but the Dolphins were in a third-and-six situation at the Los Angeles 21-yard line. Miami quarterback David Woodley went back to pass, but was separated from the ball by blitzing linebacker Rod Martin.

Rookie Los Angeles defensive end Greg Townsend scooped the ball up at the Raiders' 34-yard line and dashed 66 yards for a touchdown, making it 20-0 and all but sealing the outcome.

"I saw all these black jerseys (his teammates) and the ball and somebody yelled 'Pick it up,'" recalled Townsend, a fourth-round draft choice of the Raiders who attended Texas Christian University. "And I did."

Morgan celebrates birthday with four hits, two homers

by The Associated Press

Joe Morgan is one person who really knows how to celebrate a birthday.

Turning 40, the Philadelphia second baseman slugged four hits, including two home runs, and drove in four runs to power the Phillies to a 7-6 victory over the Chicago Cubs Monday night.

"I'm sure glad it was his birthday," said Phillies' Manager Paul Owens. "Joe was pepped up before the game. It was like he knew that he would hit a homer."

The victory boosted the Phillies' lead in the National League East to two games over the Pittsburgh Pirates and Montreal Expos. The Pirates dropped a 5-4 decision to the New York Mets in 10 innings and the Expos climbed into a second-place tie with Pittsburgh with a 3-0, 6-3 sweep of the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Los Angeles Dodgers, meanwhile, beat the Houston Astros 9-2 and improved their lead in the West to four games over the idle Atlanta Braves. In other NL action, San Diego tripped San Francisco 4-2.

Morgan's second homer of the game, a leadoff shot in the eighth inning, made a winner of reliever Ron Reed, 8-1. The blast was Morgan's 16th of the season, but his 10th since the All-Star break. He hit his 15th homer in the fourth inning, a two-run shot, and also had a single and a double.

"I said in Houston last trip that Morgan would help us down the stretch," said Owens. "This is what he likes, a battle. He is the kind of guy you want on your side in a race like this."

Morgan's game-winning blast was set up by a Phillies' rally in the seventh that tied the game 6-6 on Ivan DeJesus' two-run single. Mets 5, Pirates 4.

In New York, Hubie Brooks singled home the winning run in the 10th inning to lead the Mets over the Pirates.

With one out, Mookie Wilson started the Mets' winning rally with a single off Kent Tekulve, 7-5. Wilson then stole second just ahead of a strong throw by catcher Tony Pena.

Brooks then followed with a single to short center field, scoring Wilson from second and making a winner of reliever Carlos Diaz, 3-1.

Losing 4-2, the Mets had tied the score with two runs in the ninth. Ron Hodges' single delivered the tying run.

'No surprise,' says coach...

Donley gives star performance

IRVING, Texas (AP) - A new star may have emerged for the talent-rich Dallas Cowboys in their 28-13 National Football League victory over the New York Giants Sunday.

The name on the lights of the Texas Stadium scoreboard was Doug Donley, a second round draft pick from Ohio State in his third year as a Dallas wide receiver.

Subbing for injured Tony Hill, Donley caught six passes for 88 yards and displayed the speed that earned him his nickname: "White Lightning."

"It was no surprise how well Doug played because he has been doing that all summer," said Dallas Coach Tom Landry.

What was a surprise is that Landry used Donley instead of Butch Johnson to substitute for Hill, who had a sprained arch.

Donley said "I've played in the Rose Bowl and been in a lot of big games but this one tops it all. I think I proved I'm not the No. 4 receiver."

Donley, the fastest of the Cowboys, only had five receptions in two years playing in the shadow of Drew Pearson, Hill and Johnson.

Johnson had no comment on his "demotion." He caught one pass during the victory which was fashioned by a strong effort from the Dallas defense particularly Dexter Clinkscale.

Clinkscale had no visions of touchdown when he intercepted a Scott Brunner pass in the fourth period.

"I knew I was gone, I didn't know how far but I knew I was gone," said Clinkscale.

It turned out an ex-

PIERCE CITY, Mo. (AP) - A 13-year-old girl who sued to be allowed to play on the boys' junior high football team saw limited action in the team's first game Monday.

Nichole Force, a 5-foot-4-inch, 110-pound seventh-grader, was not involved in any major contact in Pierce City's 18-8 loss to Marionville and emerged from the game with a clean uniform.

She appeared as a secondary blocker on three kickoffs, and two passes thrown her way while she played tight end fell incomplete.

After the game, she refused autographs and told reporters, "No comment."

"My coach told me to say, 'No comment,'" Nichole said after the game.

School officials and Coach Brad Stewart had ordered team members not to speak to the throng of media gathered for the game. The contest drew a standing-room-only crowd that spectators said was larger than the average crowd for a local high school football game.

Stewart, 26, ordered reporters away from the players and also refused to comment.

A federal judge in Kansas City ruled last month that Nichole must be given a chance to play with 25 boys on the junior high team in this southwest Missouri town of about 1,400. The judge ruled on a suit filed by the girl's parents after the school board voted 6-0 against letting her play.

Nichole's friends rushed to congratulate her after the game ended. She appeared embarrassed when photographers and television crews crowded around her as she walked off the field, and she turned away several small children who requested her autograph.

haunted Clinkscale lasted 68 yards for a touchdown which kept the Cowboys the only unbeaten team in the National Conference.

"If it had been 10 more yards he wouldn't have made it," said cornerback Everson Walls.

On the ensuing kickoff, the Giants fumbled and Michael Downs picked up the ball and strolled 10 yards into the end zone.

The Cowboys scored two touchdowns in 12 seconds.

"We were in a full blitz and I read the play, caught the ball and struggled ahead," Clinkscale said.

Dallas is now 3-0, having come-from-behind in each victory.

Here's a great way to get the most out of your shampoo: for a regular eight-ounce bottle of any commercial shampoo, add a half-packet of plain gelatin (mixed with water as the directions indicate). This increases the protein content and your shampoo will last much longer.

Here is the sort of slam that almost any declarer will make. He starts with 11 tricks. The twelfth must come from his fourth heart or dummy's fourth diamond. If either suit breaks 3-3, he is home. An opponent holding four cards in both of them is automatically squeezed. Or is he?

South wins the diamond and leads a club toward dummy. East takes his ace and leads back a diamond. (He can also let dummy hold the first club and then take the second.)

Either way, South simply cashes his black suit winners. West has to chuck a red card on the last spade. Chucking a heart establishes South's fourth heart; chucking a diamond establishes dummy's fourth diamond.

Now let's look at super defense. West follows with his deuce to the first club to show an odd number. East lets the first club hold and, if he is a wide-awake expert, lets the second club hold also. South can't lead a third club or East will get two quick club tricks. South cashes his three spades, but West has his last club to discard and can keep all eight of his red cards.

Is your heating/cooling system gobbling up too much money?

If electric bills are taking too big a bite out of your budget, consider equipment with a higher energy-efficiency rating. The higher the rating, the less electricity it takes to heat and cool your home. And using less electricity will help hold down your bill.

High-efficiency equipment costs more, but when the equipment qualifies, Texas Electric will give you a bonus check to help pay the difference. So if you're planning to install a room unit, or replace central air conditioning or a year-round heat pump, ask your dealer about equipment that qualifies for a bonus check from Texas Electric.

And put money back in your pocket.

French jets are joining reconnaissance missions

— French and U.S. jets streaked over Lebanon today and the government said it repulsed a new Druse attack on the strategic mountain town of Souk el-Gharb. The action came a day after the U.S. Navy for the first time opened fire in direct support of Lebanon's army.

The state radio said French Super Etendard fighter-bombers took off from the carrier Foch on reconnaissance flights around noon. U.S. F-14 Tomcat fighters from the carrier Eisenhower flew similar missions before dawn in what was believed the first nighttime mission by planes from the U.S. task force.

Beirut radio said Druse militiamen trying to move into Souk el-Gharb were beaten back this morning, with six of the attackers killed and several others wounded. The radio said fighting around the strategic town had raged through the night.

Meanwhile, the independent Kuwait newspaper Al-Qabas said Soviet officers headed by a Red Army general were in Damascus helping the Syrians monitor the war in Lebanon. Another Kuwait paper, Al Anbaa said the Soviets were prepared to fly 52,000 troops into Syria if Israel attacked Syria. There was no confirmation of the reports, which cited unidentified diplomatic sources.

Lebanese military officials said one of their reconnaissance planes crashed Monday near the Druse mountain town of Alei, "and the fate of the two pilots is still unknown."

Elsewhere in the mountains, fighting reportedly died down today, and the Lebanese media attributed the lull in part to the funeral of moderate Druse leader Majid Arslan, who died of natural causes Sunday. Arslan, 79, headed the Islamic sect's Yazbek clan, which has sought reconciliation with Christian President Amin Gemayel's administration.

On Monday, U.S. Navy ships off the coast opened fire on anti-government positions near Souk el-Gharb. It was the third such shelling since civil warfare broke out Sept. 4, but the first in which the firing was in support of the Lebanese army rather than in response to shelling of the Marines.

Syria's Soviet-backed government declared Sunday its Lebanon-based forces would fire back if attacked by American forces but there was no Syrian retaliation for Monday's naval bombardment.

Druse spokesmen in Beirut claimed the U.S. shells landed in several towns around Souk el-Gharb and said civilians were killed. But U.S. officials insisted the guns fired at military positions.

The destroyer John Rodgers and the guided missile cruiser Virginia fired repeated barrages as the Lebanese army's 8th Brigade fought with Druse and Palestinian guerrillas attacking Souk el-Gharb. The town overlooks the U.S. Marine base at the Beirut airport.

U.S. Embassy spokesman John Stewart said the naval gunfire supported "defensive actions" by Lebanese forces which were "vital to the safety of U.S. personnel."

"I think we have made clear our concerns about Souk el-Gharb and our intent to assist militarily to see that that does not fall into the hands of people who could shell our Marines," said John Hughes, a State Department spokesman in Washington.

Another State Department official, who requested anonymity, said control of Souk el-Gharb was "vital" and its loss could spell a major defeat for American policy.

The White House said last week that the Marines in Beirut had been authorized to request naval fire support when they and other troops of the multinational force were threatened and when the Lebanese army was in danger of losing a position from which the Marines could be attacked.

Previously U.S. officials ordered retaliatory shelling after the Marine camp or other American installations were shelled.

Druse leader Walid Jumblatt told a news conference in Damascus that the U.S. bombardment blocked his militiamen from overrunning Souk el-Gharb and forced most of the attacking units to retreat to other positions in the central mountains.

"If this direct American intervention continues, then no one will be able to put any limits or restrictions on my alliances, whether with Palestinians or others," Jumblatt said.

In Washington, sources said congressional and White House negotiators hammered out a compromise proposal Monday night allowing President Reagan to invoke the 1973 War Powers Act to regulate how long U.S. Marines will remain in Lebanon.

The sources, who asked not to be identified, said

Reagan agreed to a war powers resolution which would state he should have invoked the act once two U.S. Marines were killed in Beirut on Aug. 29.

The War Powers Act sets a 90-day clock running after which U.S. troops in danger of being caught in hostilities abroad must come home unless Congress determines otherwise.

Another provision of the compromise calls for Congress to approve Reagan's decision to keep 1,200 Marines in the multinational force in Beirut.

The tentative agreement gives Reagan 18 months before additional congressional endorsement would be required, sources said.

Educators not happy with Snoopy poster

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (AP) — Charles Schulz, creator of the Peanuts comics strip, concedes educators might have had a point when they became irked by a poster depicting a pizza-eating Snoopy saying he'd rather party than study.

But Schulz added that "it's always a mystery to me" why people complain so much. "We live in an age of complaining," he said.

William Johnson, spokesman for the poster producer, Hallmark Cards, said Monday in Kansas City, Mo., that Hallmark "is not in the business of making people unhappy," and so the message will be changed.

Donald Virtue, a high school principal in Hanover, Mass., had complained about the poster's message.

Since state funding is involved in the project, the council also passed a resolution indicating to the state it will provide a local "match" to include curb and guttering for the project as well as the right-of-way agreements.

—Accepted the city tax roll as prepared by Scurry County Appraisal District personnel.

—Authorized a preliminary design for the widening of 30th St. just east of College Ave. The work is planned to align both sides of 30th St. at the College Ave. intersection.

The only council member not attending Monday's meeting was Gale McPherson. Those in attendance included Waller, Thrift and Gressett in addition to Councilmen Truett Bryan, Mickey Nunley and Don Osborn.

Passerby dives into torrent, rescues lone man

HOUSTON (AP) — A passerby who happened to be a certified diver plunged into cold floodwaters and persuaded a man clinging to the underside of a bridge to submerge himself so he could be pulled to safety.

Jesse Owens, 26, held his head in an air pocket for nearly an hour Monday after falling off an inflatable raft in Brays Bayou about 10:30 a.m.

The southwest Houston bayou, which usually flows 20 feet below the bridge, had risen to within inches of the structure as a downpour dumped as much as seven inches of rain on the city.

An off-duty policeman somehow noticed Owens' plight and clung to his hand through a drain in the bridge, firefighter Gary Bourgeois said. Bourgeois said several people ran to a nearby fire station and told officers of Owens' plight.

Bourgeois said he did not learn the policeman's name.

Firefighters were calling to Owens through the drain when Van A. Vick, a Harris County surveyor, saw a crowd gathering at the bridge and went to investigate.

Vick said he offered to help.

"There was another man there who had some scuba equipment," Vick said. "I said, 'Hey, I'm a certified diver. I've been diving for 12 years now.' I said, 'Hey, I'll go.' The idea, Vick said, was for him to dive into the water, swim a few feet through the thundering current, and tie a lifeline around Owens' waist. But firefighters said the job was as much psychological as physical — he would have to per-sue a man who was out of the water and breathing to re-enter the torrent.

"If he panics, all he's going to do is swallow a whole lot of water and we may lose him," Bourgeois said he told Vick.

Vick took four tries and 15 minutes to cover the six feet from the side of the bridge to Owens.

"I tied a rope around his waist. I explained to him what we needed to do, how the people above would pull him out," Vick said. "I was scared the water was going to rise up and the air pocket was going to vanish."

Owens was pulled ashore easily as a crowd of about 100 people broke into cheers and applause.

"That diver, he did a tremendous job," Bourgeois said.

Vick was complimentary toward Owens.

"He was pretty calm, surprisingly so," Vick said. "I think he was more scared of him drowning me than he was of drowning." Owens was treated for hypothermia at Southwest Memorial Hospital and released, hospital officials said.

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Overweight youth

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am 14 years old and have a bad problem. I'm 30 pounds overweight and it upsets me very much. I'm 5 foot 2 and have a very strong build. I have four brothers and live on a farm and usually do a lot of lifting and carrying. I love athletics such as volleyball, softball and gymnastics.

My sister is about 50 pounds overweight and my mother is more. When my sister comes home for the weekend she sits in my room and says she hates herself and puts herself down all the time. I also do the same thing, such as telling jokes about myself, but really I'm hurting inside. I'm known as one of the funniest and friendliest girls in school. But I'm still hurting inside. I've tried two or three diets but nothing has helped. Please help me.

DEAR READER — It is not uncommon for a person to compensate for something that upsets him by joking about it. But being significantly overweight is not a laughing matter at any age.

However, you will need to make much of the effort yourself. Your home environment is probably not conducive to losing weight. Good farm cooking in a family that apparently likes to eat makes it difficult to diet.

I'm sending you The Health Letter 4-7, Weight Losing Diet, which will enable you to lose weight if you follow it. It is a balanced diet. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Do not go on any fad diet or any diet that is not a balanced diet. You need to learn about nutrition while you are still young to correct your problem and stay at a healthy weight all your life.

Your exercise habits will help. Daily exercise will enable you to lose weight without having to be on too strict a diet. Do not expect miracles overnight. Count on taking at least 30 weeks to lose your 30 pounds. Slow is best.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 12-year-old girl and very out of shape. I have tried to correct this but it is very difficult for me to stick to an exercise plan.

I have no serious physical problems. I weigh around 115 and am 5 foot 4. Could you please suggest a proper exercise plan for me?

DEAR READER — For people of all ages who are not physically active and are "very out of shape," I recommend beginning with a walking program. Start walking a little each day. Perhaps 15 minutes at a time at first. Gradually build up your walking until you can walk at least two miles twice a day without undue fatigue.

As your walking program progresses, you might also want to start a general exercise program to include sit-ups and push-ups. I'm sure you are in school and have access to some exercise programs or equipment. Ask your physical education teacher to help you with your special program. If a pool is available, swimming is a great exercise for all your muscles.

When you can walk two miles twice a day, then you may wish to start jogging. You can do that by jogging a few steps in the middle of your walk. Then gradually increase your jogging steps about 10 steps a day. Keep a record of your progress as you increase your walking, then your jogging and other exercises.

Speculate about royal birth

LONDON (AP) — It's most popular guessing game in Britain: is Princess Diana expecting her second baby or isn't she?

One London newspaper says she is, another says she isn't and the one person who knows for sure isn't saying.

So, did the 22-year-old princess, as widely reported, slip away from the royal retreat in Scotland on Sept. 4 for a secret visit with her gynecologist in London? Did she then break the happy news to the royal family, which celebrated with champagne?

These are questions Britons have been asking for the past two weeks. And the answers vary in the press.

On Monday, The Sun, Britain's best-selling newspaper, assured its 4 million readers that the whole thing is a mistake. "Princess Di Is Not Pregnant, Says Aide," ran a headline.

The story underneath it read: "Reports that she is expecting her second baby in April were dismissed as 'rubbish' and 'pure speculation' by her personal press secretary, Victor Chapman."

He said no such thing, Buckingham Palace spokeswoman Sarah Brennan told The Associated Press.

"I can tell you he didn't make those quotes," she said. "If they asked him, he would have said what we have been saying all along — and that is that an announcement will be made if the princess is pregnant. But that doesn't mean she is."

Chapman himself couldn't be reached to set the record straight. He was at Balmoral Castle with Diana, her husband Prince Charles, 15-month-old Prince William, Queen Elizabeth II and other members of the royal family.

Back at The Sun, a man on the news desk said the paper stood by its report.

"As a journalist involved in the story, I say we talked to him yesterday (Sunday) as he was leaving church with the princess," said the man, who would not allow his name to be used.

But did Chapman say she wasn't pregnant?

"Of course he did," the man answered. "That's what we quoted him as saying. What do you think we are here?"

This follows an "exclusive report" Saturday in the Daily Mirror, The Sun's biggest rival with 3.4 million readers. It said Diana revealed she was pregnant during a royal dinner party at Balmoral after returning from a visit with Dr. George Pinker, the London gynecologist who delivered William on June 21, 1982.

"The royal family was delighted and called for champagne to celebrate," the Mirror quoted "palace sources" as saying. "There was a lot of kissing at the same time."

The Mirror said palace press officers have not been told of the pregnancy to spare Diana, for as long as possible, the kind of publicity that preceded William's birth.

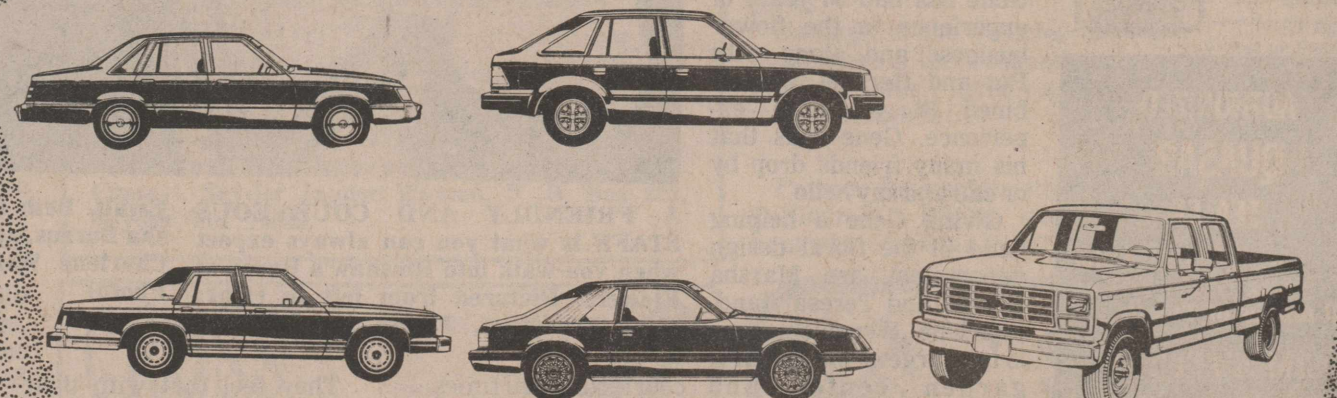

Actor Bruce Dern played the part of Bette Davis' murdered lover, John, in the thriller "Hush Hush Sweet Charlotte."

Tom's Marine stocks Kero-Sun heaters exclusively in Snyder

Cool mornings and cool evenings are just around the corner, and when you just need to take the chill off a room, the perfect solution is a Kero-Sun portable heater. The Kero-Sun heater delivers enough heat to make an average-size room really comfortable with easy operating features.

Efficiency is the key word to describe a Kero-Sun heater. These portable heaters give out instant heat for only pennies an hour. And since the Kero-Sun uses only clean-burning kerosene fuel, you get over 30 hours of warmth on less than two gallons of fuel. That means more pennies in your pocket!

Tom's Marine is the exclusive carrier of Kero-Sun heaters in Snyder, and Tom Machen offers 10 different models of heaters to choose from. From the Model K cookstove, to the most popular Omni 15, on up to the newest model, The Sunstream, Tom Machen can find the Kero-Sun heater to fit your needs and your pocket-book.

All Kero-Sun heater models have been tested for combustible by-products. They can be operated continuously with complete safety. What's more, they burn with no annoying odor and no soot or smoke. And for complete peace of mind every model is equipped with a unique shut-off device which instantly puts out the flame in the event of a tip-over.

NOT LOOKING FORWARD TO CHILLY WEATHER? David Cunningham of Tom's Marine is ready to help keep you warm with a Kero-Sun heater tailored

Another feature of the heater is the push button lighting system. Press a button and a battery powered electric igniter automatically starts glowing right above the heater's wick. Each heater comes complete with batteries and a fuel syphon pump for easy filling.

With all these features: easy to start, clean operation, advanced safety features, no chimney installation, long running, easy to fill, economical kerosene fuel, and extremely simple maintenance, what could be a better way to stop the cool weather this winter?

Let Tom Machen and David Cunningham of Tom's Marine set you up for the chilly autumn and cold winter nights ahead with a Kero-Sun heater, or they also have all the accessories for Kero-Sun heaters if you are in need of parts.

Governor pledges to lose excessive weight

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Mario Cuomo, confessing to "jowliness," has pledged to wage a campaign to free himself from excessive weight — by walking or running up to three miles a day.

"Matilda (Cuomo's wife) and the kids told me this weekend they saw the beginning of jowliness," the 51-year-old governor said Monday.

Aides said Cuomo has not run regularly since November when the weather turned cold and as governor-elect he was preparing for the transition to office.

"This week I'm going to lose some weight and start running again on Sunday," Cuomo said. "Thursday I'll walk two miles, Friday walk two, Saturday walk-and-run three and run three on Sunday."

The world's worst mine disaster took place at Honkeido, Manchuria, in 1942, killing 1,549 men.
