Senate Hears Plea For Sales Tax After Third Defeat Of Beer Levy Plan

BODY ADHERES TO HOUSE RATE ON MOTORCARS

BORAH LOSES DEBATE

Bingham Puts Idahoan On Defensive in Battle Over Beer Tax

WASHINGTON, May 25. (US)—Appeals for the general manufacturers sales tax rang on the floor tonight as the senate, after again defeating 2.75 beer, tackled excise taxes in the new revenue bill.

Predictions were made that the senate will finally approve the general manufacturers tax.

While the Bingham amendment taxing 2.75 beer was defeated, 55 to 26, the anti-prohibitionists mustered their greatest strength in the senate since passage of the dry law. On two votes last week, the highest number recorded for beer was 24 senators.

Bingham Beats Borah

The vote was taken following a spirited passage between Senator Bingham, Republican of Connecticut, and Senator Borah, Republican of Idaho, in which Borah was put on the defensive by Bingham's array of facts and figures.

Following the beer vote, the senate knocked $14,000,000 more out of the bill by overriding the finance committee's recommendation for a 4 per cent tax on passenger automobiles, and by a vote of 42 to 29 approved the house rate of 3 per cent.

Later by a vote of 52 to 18 a motion to eliminate entirely a tax on passenger automobiles was defeated.

The finance committee's recommendation for a tax of two per cent on automobile parts and accessories was approved, 38 to 34. The house had previously voted for a one per cent tax.

The senate picked up an additional $500,000 by placing a 10 per cent tax on yachts and motorboats. It then struck out the house 10 per cent tax on cameras and sporting goods.

Harrison Asks Showdown

Senator Harrison, Democrat of Mississippi, an opponent, brought the sales tax into the discussion by suggesting that it be called up at once and disposed of before the senate started wrecking the tax bill by reducing or eliminating various nuisance taxes.

Proponents declined his offer and replied that the proper time to consider the sales tax is after the senate has finished voting on excise taxes. A 1¼ per cent manufacturers' tax has been prepared by Senator Walsh, Democrat of Massachusetts, and will be introduced later.

Reed for Sales Tax

Senator Reed, Republican of Pennsylvania, declared.

"When we have finished the excise taxes, when we have put an unfair burden on a few industries, I think it will be obvious to the senate that a sales tax, spread evenly, offers a far better solution of the problem."

Senator Walsh described the sales tax as the "soundest, sanest, fairest, most equitable tax" and said the excise levies now in the bill are "indefensible."

Senator Reed warned that America might be driven off the gold standard unless steps immediately were taken to balance the budget. He pointed out that France is continuing to withdraw gold from the United States and that maintenance of the government's credit was essential.

Horace, however, was more interested in having his picture taken than in reading about himself. German Legislative Hall Wrecked In Free-For-All Fight By Diet Members

Smoldering Political Differences Flare Up to Cast Nazis and Communists Into Hand-to-Hand Battle

BERLIN, May 25. (AP)—Smoldering political passions in the new Prussian diet broke out in hand-to-hand fighting between National Socialists and Communists today with a violence unprecedented in the parliamentary history of Germany.

The legislative hall was wrecked and at least half a dozen members, including neutrals, were injured. Deputy Juergensen, a leader of the Social Democrats, who took no part in the fray, was carried unconscious to a hospital, one side of his face ripped open.

Ink Wells Fly

With fists, ink wells, chair legs and water bottles, the legislators fought their battle to the bitter end without police interference. Gen. Karl Litzmann, senior member of Adolf Hitler's National Socialist party, having declined the services of police several days ago.

The trouble started after Hans Kerre, a National Socialist, had been elected president of the diet and Ernst Wittmaack, a Social Democrat, had been elected first vice president. The session had been in an uproar since it opened for the second day of parliamentary business.

Nazis Sing Battle Song

Wilhelm Pieck, a Communist deputy, rose to a point of order and at the top of his voice shouted that there were murderers on the Nazi benches. The Nazis jumped up and made a mass attack on the Communist members, whom they out-

Army Of 'Bonus Wanderers' Given Free Truck Ride Across Indiana

WASHINGTON, Ind., May 25. (UP)—The 380 war veterans who have come this far from the Pacific coast without paying a cent for transportation triumphed again today in their jaunt to the capital when the governor of Indiana ordered 24 national guard trucks to take them to the Ohio line.

The trucks will arrive here from Indianapolis tomorrow, carrying rolling kitchens, food and tents for the veterans, whose apparently quixotic escapades in commandeering freight trains, calling out the Illinois national guard and obtaining free automobile rides have taken them more than half way to Washington. They hope there to appeal to President Hoover for passage of the soldiers' bonus bills.

Gov. Harry G. Leslie's decision to donate state trucks ended what might have become a serious conflit between the disciplined members of the "army" and special deputies of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad.

When the B. & O. refused to let the bonus wanderers ride in freight cars after they had soaped the rails near East St. Louis, Ill., to stop a train, six companies of national guardsmen hastened to the scene. The sheriff there persuaded business men, meanwhile, to donate

HOOVER FROWN FAILS TO HALT RELIEF BILL

Measure to Provide Large Fund for Unemployment Formally Introduced

ACTION DEMANDED

Garner Program Drafted In Bill Form and Will Be Offered Today

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP)—Senate Democrats pushed their $2,300,000,000 unemployment relief bill forward today despite President Hoover's emphatic opposition to its provision for a $500,000,000 public works bond issue.

The bill was formally introduced after receiving the unanimous approval of the combined Democratic steering and policy committees. It was referred to the banking commitee.

Hearings Next Week

Chairman Norbeck announced that committee would begin consideration of the bill next Wednesday and probably hold brief hearings at which administration officials and proponents of the measure would be called.

At the same time Speaker Garner said his $2,100,000,000 program had been drafted into a bill and would be introduced tomorrow.

Republicans on both sides of the capitol waited for the Democratic bills, determined if possible to reach a compromise acceptable to the president.

Increase for R. F. C.

The Democratic bill, which was presented to the senate by Chairman Wagner of the subcommittee which drafted it, provides in addition to the bond issue an increased capitalization of $1,500,000,000 for the reconstruction corporation for loans on self-liquidating projects and $300,000,000 for direct relief loans to states.

Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, who helped to frame the bill, said he would not agree to a recess for the conventions in June unless the bill was acted upon.

Wagner in presenting the bill denied President Hoover's contention that a bond issue for public works would result in the building of unnecessary and wasteful projects.

Justification Cited

Hesaid the government is spending annually $4,495,740 for postoffices on which the leases will expire before July 1, 1934. The average rental for each building, he added, was more than $6,000 a year.

"By every proper test," he said, "there is ample justification for a program of construction which would reduce this type of expenditure for the federal government."

Wagner told the senate "there is

BORGER, Texas, May 25. (AP)—A milk foraging venture last night resulted in the fatal shooting of Frank Akers, former employe of an oil company.

He and a companion, James Thompson, had gone to the Neeley dairy corral to obtain milk. Akers was carrying a bucket. Thompson said they had been in the corral about 30 minutes when Henry Neeley, dairyman, appeared.

Neeley was armed with a rifle. He ordered the pair to raise their hands. Thompson said he heard a shot and saw Akers fall.

A charge of murder was filed against Neeley after his arrest in connection with the killing.

E. O. THOMPSON ON RAIL BOARD

Amarillo Mayor to Succeed Pat Neff, Resigned

AUSTIN, May 25. (AP)—Pat M. Neff, former governor of Texas, today resigned his office of railroad commissioner to accept the presidency of Baylor university and Gov. R. S. Sterling immediately announced the appointment of Col. Ernest O. Thompson, mayor of Amarillo, as his successor.

Neff's resignation will be effective at noon, June 4. Thompson's appointment was made to be effective at the same time.

Thompson stated he would be a candidate in the primary elections to fill out Neff's unexpired term. If successful, Thompson would serve until Jan. 1, 1937. He previously had announced he would be a candidate for one of the congressman at large places. He withdrew from this race and stated he planned to start immediately on his campaign for an elective term on the railroad commission.

While mayor of Amarillo, Thompson was active in fighting rates charged by public utilities. In a campaign against rates charged by the telephone company operating at Amarillo, Thompson led the movement to discontinue telephone service until a satisfactory adjustment had ben reached.

Neff was elected president of Baylor university several weeks ago. He accepted the presidency without stating when he would assume his duties and had kept his plans concerning resignation from the commission to himself. Neff was appointed to the railroad commission by former Gov. Dan Moody to succeed Clarence E. Gilmore.

OIL LEADERS BACK BURNS MURRAY SAYS

Governor Declares Action Of Foe Prompted By F. D. R. Interests

SEES PRICE DROP

Bill Silent on Whether Or Not He Will Reorder Troops to Field

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 25, (AP)—Gov. W. H. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray declared today that the price of oil would descend and it would take months to bring it back if he leaves in effect the order of acting Gov. Robert Burns lifting martial law from the Oklahoma oil fields.

At the same time he issued a statement attacking Burns and charging the lieutenant governor was "playing in the hands of the big oil companies."

Accuses Roosevelt

The gaunt Oklahoma governor said he had received information from "a reliable source," that the New York headquarters of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic candidate for president, "through Pat Malloy of Tulsa, and others, was the cause of Burns' action" in lifting martial law and in halting work on the administration's subprison project in Atoka county.

He did not say, however, whether he would rescind Burns' revocation order and clamp martial law back on 3,000 oil wells. The acting governor revoked Murray's martial law proclamation last week while the governor, a candidate for Democratic nomination for president, was speaking in Hudson, N. Y.

Cicero Not Loser

His statement asserted that the report that Cicero I. Murray, his cousin, who has been in charge of military enforcement of proration, was put out of a job by the revocation, was erroneous. Cicero Mur-

Blaze Destroys Wichita Landmark

A landmark in Wichita Falls for more than a quarter of a century, the old Van Dyke home at 1107 Travis, was wrecked by flames at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday night. The house has been remodeled several times and was a modern five-room frame structure. The present owner is Buford Hambrick, now residing in East Texas, and the house was occupied by Odell McDuffey.

Nearby residents recalled that the Van Dyke family built the original house at the site as the first home south of Eleventh street and west of Lamar. Mrs. Mae Thompson, 1109 Travis, purchased the house in 1915, but later sold it. The Van Dyke family moved from Wichita Falls more than 20 years ago, neighbors said.

The interior of the structure was ablaze when neighbors turned in the alarm. No one was at home at the time of the blaze and Mr. McDuffey left the house about 6 o'clock, neighbors added.

A unit of the fire department answered a telephoned alarm to the scene of the blaze at 11:30 o'clock when flames broke out in the ruins of the house.

George Gordon Battle, Blackmer's attorney, said today he had received no intimation that the wealthy Colorado oil man would break his exile and come back from France.

MAYOR ADMITS HE PROFITED WITHOUT RISK

Dapper Jimmy Easily Takes Best in First Round Of Investigation

CONTINUES TODAY

Spectators Demonstrate Popularity of Huge City's Executive

NEW YORK, May 25. (US)—Amid a riotous climax to his long-heralded inquisition by Samuel Seabury, Mayor James J. Walker admitted today he made $246,692 profit from a joint stock account in which he invested nothing.

The dapper, witty mayor of America's biggest city virtually converted the entire session of the Hofstadter legislative investigating committee into an uproarious demonstration of his personal popularity among the packed spectators.

Parries Questions

Alternately suave, clownish, and peppery, Mayor Walker skilfully parried with Seabury, the white-haired chief counsel of the committee, as the latter sought to cast a sinister light on the mayor's financial affairs.

Mayor Walker admitteed without hesitation that Paul Block, wealthy publisher, has established as a matter of personal friendship the joint stock trading account from which Walker made $246,692 between Feb. 10, 1927 and Aug. 5, 1929.

He even volunteered the information that instead of banking his profits, he had placed them in a private safe in his home because his income taxes had already been paid through the joint account.

Dramatic Coup

When Seabury sought to introduce evidence that large blocks of stock in the I. R. T. and B. M. T. traction interests of New York were bought and sold at a profit by the joint account, Walker staged a dramatic coup.

He compelled Seabury to produce a letter to the committee from Max Block, of Paul Block & Associates Inc., explaining the traction stock was assigned to the joint account by error of a broker's office and later transferred to Paul Block's personal account.

Mayor Walker declared that Block had established the joint account voluntarily as an act of munificent generosity occasioned by their close friendship and desire to help Walker make money in the stock market.

Seabury Digs Deep

The disclosure of the $246,692 stock profit was not the only highlight in today's testimony.

Seabury dug deep in the Equitable bus franchise and the $10,000 letter of credit Walker received from one of the men interested in that franchise.

He also touched upon Walker's relationship with Russell T. Sherwood, the mayor's missing financial agent, and with State Senator John A. Hastings, "political contact man" who received more than $200,000 of the Equitable bus stock.

Wags Finger

Altogether, Walker was generally conceded to have carried the day with flying colors, frequently wagging an emphatic forefinger at the austere Seabury and meeting his questions with shrewd answers and clever quips.

But today was only the first round of Walker's battle with Seabury for the chief counsel of the inquiry announced tonight that the mayor will be on the stand again tomorrow morning.

The nationally significant political implications of the inquisition were emphasized at today's session when the sinister name of Tammany hall, an important factor in the Democratic presidential outlook, was dramatically interjected.

Seabury Exasperated

Exasperated by the boos and hisses he had been receiving from the spectators in contrast to their vociferous cheering of Mayor Walker after each of his witticisms, Seabury shouted at one point:

"I think I should be permitted to introduce evidence here without hostile demonstrations from the Tammany hall cohorts."

That brought a thunderstom of boos, hisses, shouts, and stamping of feet that completely drowned out the gavel-pounding of little bespectacled State Senator Samuel Hofstadter, chairman of the committee.

While Senator Hofstadter, per-

An application of District Attorney W. J. Carter for an order of nolle prosequi was granted by Judge George Taylor without comment.

The indictments were returned at Greenville, Tenn., more than a year ago following the failure of the Holston Union National bank in Knoxville of which Ramsey was president and Lea and Caldwell were stockholders.

Oklahoma Grain Dealers Protest U. S. Competition

ENID, Okla., May 25. (UP)—Oklahoma grain dealers, closing their annual convention, today passed resolutions calling upon the government to withdraw from business competition with private concerns and to balance governmental budgets.

C. T. James, Gage, was re-elected president. Other officers were J. W. Stewart, Chelsea, vice president; C. F. Prouty, Oklahoma City, secretary-treasurer; new directors are W. B. Johnson, Enid; Jake Remple, Gotebo; M. E. Humphrey, Chickasha; E. S. Bouldin, Muskogee; W. A. Teter, Muskogee.

The convention also went on record as favoring any gradual reduction in the tariff with a view to reviving foreign trade or creating employment.

As the result of Hungary's price commission's activities prices of farm supplies have dropped 8 to 24 per cent.

Herr and Frau Ulrich Richter, air-minded young German couple, are pictured above as they paused at Wichita, Kan., at their halfway mark on an aerial voyage around the world. Having crossed the Atlantic by ship, the newlyweds are flying to the west coast to embark for China. They expect a series of hops to carry them to their home in Munich by October. Incidentally, the Richters are after the 1932 Hindenburg prize offered the pilot of a light plane who covers the most distance during the year.

Jones County Leads Drive For State To Assume Payments Of Road Bonds

Special to The Record News.

ANSON, Texas, May 25.—The commissioners court of Jones county has taken the lead in a campaign launched in an effort to call the state legislature into special session to enact a law providing that road bonds indebtedness of counties, contracted for the construction of state highways, be assumed by the state highway department.

The proposal provides that the principal and interest of county bonds be paid out of the highway department funds derived from gasoline tax and automobile registration fees.

Jones county commissioners, in pushing the proposal, have forwarded letters to all county commissioners in the state, outlining the proposal and the benefits to be derived from legislative enactment of the plan.

Leaders in the drive declare that the legislature proposes to carry out the program at its January session. But, it is asked, why cannot such relief be provided "right now" when the people need it most?

Immediate relief through the proposal, it is pointed out, will enable tax payers to more adequately take care of their local and state taxes.

The Jones county plan calls for a one-day session of the legislature.

SEABURY IRED DURING PROBE

Inquisitor Exasperated By Walker Ovation

Threatened to Clear Room

Finally to prevent what threatened to develop into a more serious disorder, Chairman Hofstadter ordered a temporary recess after warning the crowds that if they continued their shouting they would all be barred from the room.

Only 250 persons could be squeezed into the densely packed courtroom but outside in the corridors and on the courthouse steps police had difficulties with a crowd of 10,000 that could not get in but just waited to hear the outcome.

Today's session began Mayor Walker's connection with the $20,000,000 equitable bus franchise which he signed on Aug. 10, 1927, just one day after one of the bus franchise backers obtained a $10,000 letter of credit for the mayor's trip to Europe.

Walker Turns Tables

Antagonized by what he termed Seabury's attempt to hint at a bribe Mayor Walker suddenly turned the tables on Seabury with a double-barreled shot at the silver-haired inquisitor.

In almost the same breath, he hinted at mysterious law suits to come which might be directed at Seabury and charged that the chief counsel once represented "special traction interests."

The first boisterous demonstration that greeted Walker at today's session came the moment he entered the hearing chamber—a dapper symphony in blue, dark blue suit, light blue shirt, dark blue tie and blue pocket handkerchief.

Sought to Aid Jimmy

Throughout the session, the three Democratic members of the investigating committee of seven sought to come to the rescue of their political colleague, the mayor.

But Mayor Walker with a confident air repeatedly urged them to let him defend himself.

Asked by Seabury how he spent the profits from his joint account with Block, Walker replied indignantly:

"Where I got the money I'm willing to tell you. But where I spent it, that's going a little too far unless there's an implication I tried to influence another public servant with it."

Put Cash in Home

Walker later explained that after he had checks representing his stock profits he put the cash in his home safe which he described as follows:

"It was not a bank, not a tin box (laughter and cheers), but a safe for the use of Mrs. Walker and myself."

Frequent attempts of Seabury to inquire into the financial affairs of Mrs. Walker drew heated protests from the minority members of the committee.

A roar of shouts, yells, boos and "Bronx cheers" directed against Seabury came after the three Democratic minority members of the committee jumped to their feet and Assemblyman Louis A. Cuvillier proclaimed the trend of Seabury's questioning as an inquisition into the private life of Mayor Walker and not into the affairs of the municipal government.

Cheers and Boos

His statement was greeted with cheers, followed by the boos against Seabury.

Chairman Hofstadter pounded his gavel for fully five minutes before order was restored and Seabury, face flushed with anger as the result of the antagonistic sentiment demonstrated by the spectators, shouted:

"I think I should be permitted to introduce evidence here without hostile demonstrations from the Tammany hall cohorts."

There followed a roar of rage from the crowd, more reminiscent of Madison Square garden prize fights than a legislative committee hearing.

Uproar Continues

In the midst of the uproar, the minority members again leapt to their feet, and Senator John J. McNaboe, yelling to make himself heard in the din, cried:

"We demand that you stop referring to Tammany hall and stick to the evidence."

There was another uproar, while bewildered sergeants of arms vainly struggled through the crowd of 250 or more, 50 of whom were packed standing in the rear aisle, trying to restore quiet.

Quiet Restored

Senator Hofstadter after prolonged banging of his gavel, finally restored enough quiet to make himself heard, and after warning that the chamber would be instantly cleared if there were one more demonstration, declared a 15-minute recess. That was late this afternoon.

The air and temperature of the courtroom, the largest in the county courthouse, was stifling and both Seabury and the mayor were wet with perspiration after their tense day.

The major part of today's testimony had to do with the $20,000,000 Equitable bus franchise deal, with Walker denying that he had urged his conferes to award the franchise, but admitting that he had favored and voted for it.

Don't Remember

The mayor persistently pleaded his inability to recall details of the negotiations for the franchise because of the time— six and seven years—which has elapsed.

When confronted by Seabury with facsimile copies of the $10,000 letter of credit signed by J. Allen Smith, an agent of the backers of the Equitable bus concern, Walker claimed that he, himself, had paid out $3,000 of the $10,000 total, the other members of his European travel party having contributed the balance.

He and Mrs. Walker, he said, spent only that $3,000 for themselves. The principal expenses of the trip, on which he was accompanied by a party of friends from the legislature, was paid by Rodman Wanamaker, and the $3,000 represented the "pin money" of himself and wife.

Denied Knowing Smith

As for his $3,000 overdraft on the letter of credit, Walker disclaimed any knowledge of how it was met.

He denied ever having been informed that Smith had made it good.

Walker declared he had never seen Smith and did not know him.

He admitted that he had heard of him and that State Senator John A. Hastings, the so-called "political contact man" for the bus franchise group, had obtained the letter of credit for the mayor and his party, explaining to the mayor's secretary that he was getting it form a man who wanted to furnish it "just for the prestige."

Walker was confronted with the record showing that on Aug. 10, 1927, he signed the franchise for the Equitable Coach company, and that the $10,000 letter of credit from the Equitable's agent was issued the previous day, Aug. 2.

Seabury's Hand Called

"In the face of those facts," Seabury asked, "isn't it in the province of the legislative committee to inquire into the suspicious circumstances involved?"

Walker, who had been nervously dangling his spectacles, put them on, assumed a grim expression, and shaking his forefinger at Seabury, declared:

"I object to these innuendoes. Let's have it out. If you mean you think there is bribery, say so."

Walker was questioned at length about 300 shares of stock in the Interstate Trust company and admitted the stock had been set aside for him, but that he had not elected to purchase or accept it.

Seabury declared that this block of stock had later found its way into the hands of Smith, the Equitable agent.

Didn't Want Stock

The mayor explained that he had told Senator Hastings and several other political associates that they could obtain some of the stock, but that he himself didn't want any.

The name of Russell T. Sherwood, Mayor Walker's mysteriously missing financial agent, was brought into the questioning late this afternoon when Seabury asked if Sherwood had been at the pier when Walker sailed for Europe on Aug. 10, 1927.

Walker replied:

"About 5,000 friends were kind enough to come down to see me off and I don't know whether Sherwood was there."

Sartorial Splendor

Walker was sartorially today a symphony in blue, with blue suit, light blue shirt, blue tie, and blue handkerchief.

Although many of his replies brought laughs, he was for the most part more solemn than he usually is, and was somewhat nervous.

At one point, his face flushed with anger, he shouted:

"Don't forget I'm still mayor of New York City. You are trying your utmost to destroy the reputation of the city."

When Seabury complained that the mayor was attempting to make a political speech, Walker "challenged" him to a speech-making contest in an open forum "on equal terms."

Owen Young Mentioned

Walker brought the name of Owen D. Young, author of the Young plan, and chairman of the board of the General Electric company into the proceedings when he said that he had asked him to come and see him to inquire whether guaranties Walker said the former chairman of the board, Anson L. Burchard, now dead, in reference to financing of the Equitable company, were to be carried out. What Young replied was not disclosed.

Walker also mentioned that he had attempted to get the support of Charles E. Mitchell, president of the National City bank, for the Equitable, but that Mitchell had said he did not believe the Equitable's franchise was attractive as an investment.

Friends Interrupt

During the hearing, Walker frequently asked the Democratic minority members of the committee to stop the interruptions they were making in his behalf.

Seabury began his examination by attempting to show that the offer of the Equitable, which Walker favored, was not as attractive financially, nor from the standpoint of terms as to fare, number of buses, and so forth, as an offer made at the same time by the Service Bus company, but rejected by the board of estimate.

no merit in the president's criticism that public works provide but transitory employment."

"Surely," he said, "transitory employment is better than none. Furthermore, federal public works do not differ in that respect from local toll bridges and tunnels which are agreed to by the president."

Conservative Program

Wagner said the bill he was offering for the Democrats "is as conservative a program of legislation as the severity of the present emergency will permit."

He pointed out that labor department figures show 700,000 families are living on charity in 123 cities. He predicted the bill would "quiet apprehension of actual distress during the coming seasons."

"As the federal and local construction programs get under way," he added, "they will release a stream of orders for merchandise and commodities which can confidently be expected to bring into activity the recuperative energies resident within industry itself."

Communists And Nazis In Battle

numbered 162 to 57, meanwhile singing their battle song, in which their sympathizers in the gallery joined.

Tops were broken off desks, drawers were pulled out and upholstery was ripped. Piles of books, card indexes and fragments of furniture blocked the entrances from lobbies after the air cleared over the Communist sector, where most of the damage was done.

Surgeon Attends Injured

The Communists were forced out of the hall during the battle, at the conclusion of which numerous deputies on each side were lying on the floor, bleeding profusely. Dr. Wester, Catholic Centrist deputy from Cologne, who is a surgeon, bandaged the injured.

Three Communist deputies, Kraemer, Kuntz and Gohlke, were seriously hurt. Sometime after the fight was over Herr Kraemer returned with bloody bandages about his head. Turning toward the Nazi members grouped at one side of the hall, he shouted:

"Twenty to one! You'll pay for this!"

A renewal of the fight was threatened when partisan spirit flared up in the public gallery. Spectators rushed down to the main floor, but were ejected by officials.

During the tumult Herr Kerre, the legislature's new president, left the hall, automatically closing the session.

Relieve Headache And Quiet Nerves In Three Minutes

When you have one of those violent, nerve-racking headaches, from inorganic causes, you can get soothing relief in three minutes with "B. C." a reliable, pleasant-to-take remedy. "B. C." is prepared by a registered pharmacist, compounded on a different principle, from most relief giving agencies in that it contains several ingredients, so blended and proportioned as to accomplish in a few minutes what we believe no one drug formula can do in so short a time. "B. C." should also be used for the relief of muscular aches and pains, common colds and neuralgia; for reducing fever and quieting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics, or such habit forming drugs. ray does not receive one cent for acting as "generalissimo of the military forces" but is paid as chairman and attorney of the oil states' advisory committee by the Petroleum Institute, the governor said.

The desire of his opponents, he charged, is to keep him in Oklahoma and prevent him from attending the Democratic national convention in Chicago next month. His duty was there, however, he said and he was going to Chicago in advance of the convention when the platform committee assembles.

Disputes Burns' Right

"If Burns wishes further to thwart my efforts in any way, he has the power to do it, but I dispute his right to do it," Murray said. "If he calls a legislatiure in session, I will call on the people to make their representatives stay at home."

The decision of the United States supreme court recently did not uphold all the Oklahoma proration law, he continued, but left the corporation commission only the power to fine for contempt in event of violation of proration rules.

A banker, he stated, "at whose bank the high binders do business and often congregate to discuss their political maneuvers," advised him they did not want him to make speeches out of the state. He received similar information from Dallas, Texas, he declared, and added that on his recent trip to New York he received "confirmation," that the Roosevelt headquarters was the cause of Burns' action.

Tom F. Hunter Rests From Long Campaign

DALLAS, May 25. (UP)—Tom F. Hunter, Democratic candidate for governor, conferred with local political leaders today on campaign plans and rested from his speaking engagements in North and East Texas.

Hunter will speak at Denton Saturday afternoon and at Gainesville Saturday night. From Gainesville he will go into headquarters at Wichita Falls to rest until Friday of next week, when he starts a third speaking tour.

Tests call for a run of approximately 45,000 barrels excess oil over the six day period.

The company aske dthat the Atlas Pipe Line company, recently enjoined from aiding in violation of the commission's proration orders, be allowed to take the excess.

trucks and automobiles to bring the "army" here before actual conflict became imminent.

The veterans arrived here today. They camped immediately in a cow pasture adjoining the B. & O., tracks. They said they would stop the first freight train that came by. C. W. Galloway, vice president of the road who has been worrying about them ever since they crossed the Mississippi river last Friday, saw to it that no freight trains appeared. He said he planned to get a federal injunction, have his agents sworn in as deputies and "proceed accordingly."

"Huh—injunctions don't mean anything to us," commented W. W. Waters, the Portland, Ore., commission merchant in command of the "army." "We're going to Washington and the B. & O., can't stop us."

He was sun-tanned, bewhiskered, and "at-ease" in the cow pasture where he and his cohorts munched food and smoked cigarets provided by citizens, who haven't had so much excitement in years.

Governor Leslie settled the argument with his announcement concerning the trucks and thus turned whatever future trouble there may be into Ohio's lap.

Adjt. Gen. Frank Henderson of the Ohio national guard told the United Press at Columbus that he would confer with Gov. George White over what steps to pursue when the veterans reach the Buckeye state, probably late tomorrow night.

Counsel Withdraws From Defense of Hawaiians

HONOLULU, May 25. (US)—Leaving the four natives accused of the brutal attack upon Mrs. Thomas H. Massie without counsel, Attorneys William Pittman and William Heen withdrew from the case today.

As a result, the date for their retrial, set for May 31, is uncertain. Judge Albert M. Christy may have to appoint an attorney to defend the four men, for Pittman and Heen gave as their reason for withdrawal the failure of the defendants to raise sufficient funds for their case.

Virtual Martial Law In Ohio Mine District

MELSONVILLE, Ohio, May 25. (INS)—Ohio national guard troops established a virtual military law today in the tense Hocking valley coal fields.

Two hundred and forty militiamen who were hurried into the valley by train and by truck last night under orders of Gov. George White, patrolled the mining region with watchful eye today to avert further warfare between strikers and non-strikers. Troops were called after an attack by pickets on two automobiles carrying employes to the Lick Run mine of the New York Coal company yesterday.

Lieut. Col. Herman Doellinger dispatched a corps of guardsmen to the Lick Run mine, located a mile southwest of here, to protect working miners.

A fire broke out in one of the miners' cottages at midnight. Guardsmen declared the blaze was started by strikers.

HAND, OR FOOT?

LONDON.—On whether a monkey's paws are feet or hands hinges whether or not duty shall be paid for their importation at Folkstone. There is no duty on quadrupeds, and the railway importing the monkeys claim they are in this classification. Customs officials, however, think the monkeys have no feet, but four hands, and are dutiable. The case may require court action.

Woman Attending Wrestling Match Stops Pop Bottle

TOPEKA, Kan., May 25. (AP)—An excited wrestling fan hurled a pop bottle at the ring and fractured the skull of Mrs. Hall Smith, wife of a prominent Topeka attorney, last night.

Mrs. Smith, who was witnessing the bout in which Referee Joe Carpenter was knocked out, was struck in the back of the head. Her condition was pronounced dangerous today.

A reward of $100 was offered for identification of the pop bottle thrower.

The referee was knocked out by an uppercut swung by Doc Reynolds of Texas, who was angered by the loss of a fall to Jean Callet of France.

Reynolds was putting the referee through an airplane spin when he was tackled and pinned to the mat by Callet. Carpenter landed on Reynolds' face and gave the fall to Callet. Reynolds then uncorked his uppercut.

Do you inhale?

Almost an "untouchable" subject in cigarette advertising

...yet 7 out of 10 smokers inhale knowingly—and the other 3 inhale unknowingly!

REALLY now—how often have you wondered why the subject of inhaling has been generally avoided in cigarette advertising?

Why the mystery? Why the silence? We all inhale—knowingly or unknowingly! Each and every one of us breathes in some part of the smoke from our cigarette.

Do you inhale? Lucky Strike has dared to bring up this vital question—for Luckies have the answer! Luckies assure you the clean, pure cigarette you want... because certain impurities concealed in even the finest, mildest tobacco leaves are removed by Luckies' famous purifying process. Luckies created that process. Only Luckies have it!

Hyde Approves New Cotton Lint Crusher

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP)—Secretary Hyde has approved a new method of using roller equipment for the compression of cotton lint or linters under the provisions of the pink bollworm quarantine regulations.

The process is accepted as fulfilling one of the conditions under which permits are issued for certain classes of interstate shipments from the pink bollworm infested areas of western Texas, New Mexico and Arizona.

It has been devised by commercial concerns for use at gins to reduce the bulk of cotton bales without incurring the expense involved by present methods of compression.

Experiments have shown that the new roller equipment is apparently effective in crushing any cottonseed and pink bollworms which the bale may contain.

The change will become effective June 15.

With the opening of the 1932 summer session of Wichita Falls' schools set for Monday, May 30, Director A. K. Presson pointed out Wednesday that summer courses are designed not only for students who wish to advance more rapidly or have failed, for some cause, but for students who wish to repeat courses to improve grades, who desire extra courses for cultural or practical purposes or for regular graduation work.

College courses are offered in English, history, education, psychology, chemistry, government, economics, mathematics and probably biology. Attention will be given to the needs of teachers for certificate renewals and for degree work. Arrangements of course are such that students may complete many degree requirements at convenient morning hours, Mr. Presson said.

Senior High school work is offered in English, history, mathematics, civics, economics, biology, chemistry, Spanish, Latin and other subjects as demanded.

Junior High school work offers both seventh and eighth grades for history, English and mathematics. Grade school subjects for all classes of primary and intermediate departments are offered. Grade school work will be at the Alamo building and the other classes at the Junior college. Registration will be held Monday with classes starting Tuesday.

Levenbaum explained that the fish had shrunk under the legal size during the interval between the catch and his arrest by the game warden.

Gas Plant Application To Be Heard June 6

AUSTIN, May 25. (INS)—Application of F. C. Henderson, Inc., for permit to construct a gasoline plant in the Panhandle, the extract gasoline from natural gas, today was set down for hearing before the railroad commission for June 6.

The petition cites that operation of the plant would be in the interest of public welfare and they request permission under that provision of the law. The law forbids use of gas for other purposes than lighting and heating except in the interest of public welfare.

This company was defeated in the courts in its attempts to prove gas conservation statutes invalid and unconstitutional, when they sought to enjoin the commission from interfering with operation of their properties.

The gasoline plant is at Sanford.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

"It's the time of the year, I suppose. I heard a voice saying "K 2 Cr 2 0 7 plus 4 H 2 S 0"—then a groan, "Oh, I've lost an atom!" When, as a pleasant response I suggested that it might be the atom that scientists had recently split, I was treated with scorn. But it has been ever thus. At one time biology was the bane of my existence; bugs, that I loathe, were pinioned all over my home; grasshoppers and insects of all kinds were of major importance. Of late, my only daughter is apt to look up in the midst of a meal—look up at the ceiling, I mean—and begin murmuring chemistry formula.

I am not a nagger by nature, so the only thing in the way of reproach I have said against last minute cramming is a sidewise remark that I never had to do it. I was such a good little girl and studied with such everyday force, though I did not emphasize that, I never had to do reviewing before exams. But such is life. "Did you have to take exams?" I was asked, doubtingly, after the former statement. And we did; even if we had 99 on every study, we were never exempt from the final exams.

"O tempora! O Mo'res!" (which by the way, is about as much Latin as I remember). But I'm not harking back to good old days. I only wish I might go to school again under present methods. Years after one has finished work in school, he begins to think what he might have done if he had been a little more ambitious. At least "she" does.

Was it just the other day that I said I gloried in people who said what they thought? I glory also in people who have courage to stick up for their rights. One's time certainly should belong to him—that time at least spent at home and not dedicated to business. All this leads to a trip I made to see a friend the other morning when windows were open and curtains blowing in the breeze. I went to the front door and saw on a neat little placard, "Please do not disturb." I giggled and went away. Wish I had one of the placards.

I went on, however, to other places. There was the home at 2014 Speedway, where two shining green cape jasmine shrubs were covered with the lovely white waxen flowers. Drive past and look. Speaking of cape jasmines, which naturally makes one think of odors, did you ever drive in a summer twilight beneath overarching blooming locust trees? They may blossom in Texas, but I think of Mississippi.

But coming back to Texas and to Wichita Falls, I'd advise you to see James Dunn, Linda Watkins and Minna Gombell in "Sob Sister," at the State. One wants to call James Dunn "Jimmy," he is such a likeable boy. We've never known a tabloid editor, so the hard-boiled man who directed Linda Watkins as "Jane," the sob sister, was out of our ken. We know human editors. Jane was a faker; that was her stock in trade. Minna Gombel, always clever, is worth a big part. As the wife of her third husband she feels herself equipped to advise Jane: "If you're in love, marry and get it out of your system." The picture has murders and suicides, abductions and a pretty romance. One notices that James Dunn is—or to this date—has been cast in clean plays. He seems to have a personality that doesn't choose to be paid to broadcast back-fence scandal.

Then, when you've seen the picture, try to get a peep at the pool Mrs. E. B. Bailey has built at her home, 1701 Huff. You know the pretty log house; the pool is as rustic in design. There's a green light in the bottom of the pool that makes its fairylike at night. The water runs through the rock wall and is thrown from a frog's mouth. The little bridge makes one think of Japanese pictures and the birdhouse that will look over it is just another example of the pretty artistry of which Mrs. Bailey is capable.

Mrs. Post Lists Proper Clothes For Weddings

By EMILY POST

The prefect "brides" no matter what the hour of the wedding, or whether 10 or 10,000 guests are to be present, wears a white dress, white slippers, a veil of lace or tulle, and carries a bouquet of white flowers. The dress can be simple as she pleases—moreover, if she selects carefully a dyeable material it can be dyed a more useful color afterwards. Nearly all silks dye perfectly, and so do white satin slippers.

Bridesmaids' dresses of light shade may be dyed afterwards, too. But when there is really no "bride," bridesmaids are a trimming with nothing to trim! If a girl simply wants to be married without any wedding she can do so, of course, and she can have any number of friends present. But a wedding, without a bride in her veil and white dress, is like a frame with the picture left out.

The bridegroom's clothes, which should be exactly duplicated by his best man, and as nearly as possible by his ushers, are as follows:

Most formal wedding; daytime: Cutaway coat, grey striped trousers, stiff white shirt—wing collar, black and white tie, black socks and shoes, white boutonniere, (grey gloves look gloomy, white buckskin preferred), (spats, if worn, must match the color of the gloves.)

Most formal wedding; evening: Full dress, white kid gloves, white boutonniere.

Less formal wedding; daytime: Dark blue suit, stiff white shirt—wing collar, blue and white tie; black socks and shoes, white boutonniere, no gloves, spats optional.

Less formal wedding: evening: Dinner coat (Tuxedo), white waistcoat, white boutonniere, no gloves.

Country wedding in midsummer: White flannel trousers, blue or grey flannel coats, white buckskin shoes, ties to match coats, white flowers as usual.

(Any urgent requests to which a personal reply from Mrs. Post is requested must be accompanied by a self-addressed and stamped envelope.)

Auxiliary Members Will Sell Poppies Saturday

The American Legion auxiliary of Pat Carrigan post No. 120, Wichita Falls is doing its part towards helping make Poppy day a success. Two thousand poppies have arrived and will be sold on the streets, Saturday, May 28. Approximately 20 women have indicated their desire to help in the work. They will assemble at 7:30 at 803 Indiana avenue, next door to Kruger's jewelry store, and will go through the city.

Every poppy made means a penny for a needy family. Although flat on their backs in government hospitals, disabled world war veterans are able to help support their dependents by making paper poppies for the American Legion auxiliary's memorial poppy sale, which is a national event May 28, the Saturday before Memorial day. Disabled veterans are making poppies this year in 53 hospitals and in convalescent workrooms in 34 different states. By "Poppy day" they will have completed more than 10,000,000 of the flowers and earned approximately $100,000 for themselves and families. The poppies will be sold by volunteer workers from the auxiliary and all money will go to the welfare of the disabled and their families.

General Pershing has his poppy. Mrs. Frederick C. Williams, national president of the American Legion auxiliary, pinned the first of the auxiliary's 1932 memorial poppies to the coat of the A. E. F. commander, during a recent ceremony in Washington, D. C.

Our Children

Washing

Little boys and girls who play heartily outdoors soon get dirty. Their faces and hands are smudged, their clothes are soiled, their hair flies hither and yon. By and by they go home and 99 of them are greeted with, "Go right upstairs and wash yourself. You're as dirty as you can be. Don't touch anything. Wash yourself thoroughly before you come down again. Why you are so dirty is beyond me."

The dirty child is made to feel at fault. He is told that he ought to be ashamed of himself. By and by he gets to believe it. Dirty hands and face, though won in an honorable calling, are a badge of shame. That's all wrong. One day's dirt will never harm a child. A man who works expects to have dirty hands. The child who works has the same right to them as any other worker. He has come by that dirt honestly.

Don't make a fuss about it. When he comes in soiled from the playground accept it as a matter of course. Tell him the warm water is ready and the soft towel is for him. He will wash his hands cheerfully and make himself presentable without feeling himself in the wrong. If we tie up clean hands and face with morality, if we make dirty hands a sin and a shame, we are laying up trouble and plenty of it.

It is not wrong to be dirty. It is unpleasant. Dirt on one's hands and face make one uncomfortable and the dirt is dangerous because it threatens one's health. Teach the child that everybody gets dirty if he does anything worth doing but nobody worth while stays dirty. Comfort, beauty and health call for cleanliness. They are a sufficient force without calling in morality. Save that for more serious matters.

Rearing a child calls for a great nicety of judgment. If you tell a child that dirty hands are shameful you exercise bad judgment. If you point out to him that they are a menace to his health, you display sound sense and good judgment. The point of view is what counts. We so often lose sight of that fact.

"Harry, go right to bed. Don't you see what time it is? Have I got to tell you that every night? You ought to be ashamed of yourself." Harry grumbles and growls and delays to the last possible moment.

Somebody else takes the other point of view. "Come along, Harry. It's getting close to bedtime. You want to be as fresh as a racehorse tomorrow morning. You have to get in 10 hours good sleep if you want to run faster than you did yesterday. You want to keep fit. Your bed's all ready."

That time Harry goes off without growling. He thinks perhaps this going to bed isn't so altogether hopeless. Maybe there is some sense to it.

Tell a child to wash himself because he is shamefully dirty and you get a sulky response. Tell him the warm water is ready, that he will be handsomer and healthier for a good wash, and he takes it in good part.

Flower Show To Feature May Garden Club Lunch

Thursday will be marked not only as the regular luncheon and program day of the Garden club but as the day set aside for the informal flower show when Garden club members will bring prize exhibits from their own gardens. Mrs. Floyd Randel, flower show chairman, will be in charge of the exhibit. Approximately 50 reservations reported Wednesday were proof of the enthusiasm of flower lovers and flower growers.

The table will be decorated with bowls of flowers brought from member's gardens. Garden club luncheons have been noted for the beautiful assortment of blossoms and for the delightful informality of the round table discussions.

Mrs. Peyton Gwynn, incoming president, who was delegate to the state Garden club federation in Mineral Wells, will make her report of that meeting and will describe the spring shows she visited in Fort Worth and Dallas. A group of members who attended the federation meeting, included Mesdames Frank Timberlake, Rhea Howard, Ed Howard, Ivan Murchison, Bert Bean, C. E. McCutchen, W. B. Hamilton, Luther Wright, Floyd Randel, Homer Lee, Q. B. Lee and S. S. McKenney, will give their impressions of outstanding features of the conference.

PROGRAM TO OPEN BRIDGE

Two States to Dedicate Red River Span Today

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Texas, May 25.—The bond of friendliness and cooperation between two major states of the Southwest, Oklahoma and Texas, will be drawn closer Thursday, when hundreds of citizens from both states gather at Red river to dedicate the recently completed free bridge linking Texas highway No. 23 and Oklahoma highway No. 24.

Final arrangements for the celebration were complete Wednesday night, with chambers of commerce of Vernon and Altus collaborating in the preparations of the program.

Begins at 4

The ceremony will be held on the bridge, 20 miles northwest of Vernon. County and state officials of both states, including Gov. Ross Sterling of Texas, will appear on the program, which will begin at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Bands from various towns, including Vernon, Sayre and Mangum, will provide music for the event, which is slated to be of several hours duration. Dancing, including old-time square dancing on the bridge, will feature entertainment Thursday night.

The welcome address will be delivered by County Judge J. V. Townsend of Wilbarger. C. W. Snyder of Altus, chairman of the roads committee of the Altus Chamber of Commerce, will respond.

Hawks to Talk

Addresses will be made by W. J. Milburn of Sayre, manager of the Western Oklahoma Chamber of Commerce, and Congressman J. V. McClintic of Snyder, Okla. The Texas highway commission will be represented by Judge Joe Wheat of Seymour. Sam R. Hawks, chairman of the Oklahoma highway commission, will be present, and both he and Judge Wheat will deliver talks.

Vocal numbers will be heard from the Altus Chamber of Commerce quartet.

Bridge Cost $122,600

W. F. Hearne, Mangum, president of the Canada-Gulf Highway association, will preside as master of ceremonies during the celebration.

Delegates from many towns in Oklahoma and Texas through which the Canada-Gulf route passes or approaches, will attend.

The bridge, completed recently at a cost of $122,500, is slightly under a mile in length, and was made possible through the cooperative financing of both Oklahoma and Texas.

WICHITANS TO ATTEND BRIDGE DEDICATION

Wichita Falls will be represented at ceremonies Thursday afternoon at the formal opening of the new Red river bridge 20 miles north of Vernon. The group will include members of the chamber of commerce highway committee.

Chairman J. S. Bridwell of the committee, President A. E. Kelly of the chamber, J. H. Allison, Manager John Boswell and others are expected to make the trip. Mr. Bridwell urged Thursday afternoon that as many Wichitans as possible make the trip, as the bridge provides an additional outlet for Wichita Falls to Altus, Okla., and other points in southwestern Oklahoma.

Demo Party Wins In Designation Suit

AUSTIN, May 25. (AP)—The Texas state Democratic executive committee today won its second court victory of the current political season when the Texas supreme court upheld its authority to require candidates for congressman-at-large to designate which of three places they sought.

The committee was sustained several weeks ago by the supreme court when the dry element of the party attacked the committee's primary elections that they would support the nominees in the general election. Thousands of Texas Democrats bolted the ticket in the 1928 election to vote for Hoover after taking part in the primary elections.

Nebraska Tornado Takes Woman's Life

TRENTON, Neb., May 25. (AP)—A tornado struck the country settlement of Cornell, 15 miles southeast of here late today, killing one person and injuring several others.

Meager reports reaching here tonight said farm buildings were destroyed and much damage was done. Telephone connections to that vicinity were disrupted and full details of the damage could not be learned.

Police Jail Negro In Hot-Check Swindle

Arrest of a negro man in connection with a hot-check scheme in Wichita Falls and recovery of stolen property headlined activity of the police department Wednesday. Detectives Luke Hart and O. A. Roberson placed one negro in jail after several merchants reported a number of hot checks received.

Detectives Hart and Roberson also were in charge of an investigation which resulted in recovery of a rear gear for a truck, valued at $100 and reported stolen from the Miller Brothers Transfer company Monday. Detective George Garrett reported recovery of carpenter tools valued at $10, reported stolen Wednesday, from G. O. Karr, 1107 Truehart.

Activity of county officers at Lubbock last week resulted in recovery of a sedan stolen in Wichita Falls last fall. The car stolen from the 1000 block on Tenth was owned by S. A. Swim of route No. 6, Wichita Falls, and was reported missing the night of Nov. 1, 1931, police said.

Loss of a set of windshield wing glass and brackets, valued at $12 was reported Wednesday by O. R. Lemaster, 2122 Yale. J. C. Duke of Burkburnett told officers here that two automobile tires had been taken from his trailer recently.

Presbyterian Men To Hold Banquet Tonight

A Texas history program will be presented Thursday evening at 6:45 o'clock by the men's club of the First Presbyterian church in climaxing the past year's work. Entertainment, music and an address by Frank Kell of this city have been arranged under direction of Raymond Myers executive committee to follow a dinner which will be served in the church basement. Paul Woodward is chairman of entertainment arrangements.

Present officers are Luke W. McCrory, president; Dr. Everett Jones, vice president; Larry Robertson, secretary; and E. A. Deaton, treasurer.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—A lot of people have written to Col. D. C. Chapman, chairman of New Found Gap park, requesting permission to erect hot dog stands in the gap, the highest spot in the park accessible by auto. Col. Chapman reports that "the government absolutely forbids it."

INCENDIARISTS COST HOUSTON

City Plans Drive Against House Burners

HOUSTON, May 25. (AP)—City and county authorities today planned a campaign against incendiarists suspected of extensive operations in Houston recently.

Services of two assistants in District Attorney O'Brien Stevens' office were tendered Mayor Walter Monteith to investigate and prosecute offenders.

John N. Steele, fire marshal, said Houston's fire losses for the first four months of 1932 totaled $600,000 as compared with losses of only $900,000 all last year.

If the losses continued at the present rate, he pointed out, the total loss for the year would be around $2,000,000. "And fully 75 per cent of the fires were of a suspicious origin," Steele added. "Approximately $400,000 of the losses were from fires where we made careful investigations and suspected some one of starting the blazes."

Bomb Wound Kills Jap Army Leader

SHANGHAI, May 26. (Thursday) (AP)—Gen. Yoshinori Shirakawa, commander in chief of the Japanese imperial forces here, who was wounded by a bomb on April 29, died today, Japanese military headquarters announced.

Steamship Mail Plane Lands While Search On

BOSTON, May 25. (US)—While airplanes, steamships and coast guard craft were searching the seas for the mail plane from the steamship Europa, reported in distress 400 miles off Cape Cod, the big metal monoplane roared over Boston airport and landed in Boston harbor at 6:45 tonight.

The crew of the plane sent no SOS messages, nor any other message, they said. Officials launched a probe into the series of distress signals received during the day which had reported the mail plane in difficulties 400 miles off Nantucket.

Police Nab Prowlers And Recover Clothing

Prowlers in residential Wichita Falls Wednesday night found members of the police department equally as active and two arrests were reported. An 18-year-old boy was arrested in the 1000 block on Mill street by Patrol Officers Tom Poe and C. C. Chapman and child's clothing stripped from a clothesline at the home of W. E. Walker, 2815 Jasper, was recovered at 10:45 o'clock.

Motorcycle Officers Harry King and Herbert Pogue arrested a negro man at Avenue F and Polk after prowlers were reported at 1513 and 1515 Taylor.

AUSTIN, May 25. (AP)—Two men, reported to be residents of Houston, were in the Austin jail today in connection with the seizure here early yesterday of a truck loaded with liquor valued at between $20,000 and $30,000. The men were detained by Texas rangers.

One of the men was said to be the driver of the truck who escaped when he jumped from the vehicle and ran and the other was reputedly the truck owner. No charges had been filed here.

The truck was seized after state highway patrolmen had stopped the vehicle to ascertain if its load exceeded the weight limit.

Switch Engine Crashes Negro Woman's Coupe

One negress suffered a minor bruise to her hip and the small coupe in which she was riding was badly damaged at 6:30 o'clock Wednesday night when a Missouri-Kansas-Texas railway switch engine caved in the side of the car at the Granger street crossing in Wichita Falls. Patrol Officers J. B. Flenniken and Frank Warfield investigated. The negress, Beulah Sauls of Clarendon, was accompanied by Jessie Foster, 815 Jalonie. The automobile was dragged about 60 feet by the force of the crash, officers said.

800 ATTEND SENIOR PLAY

Musical Comedy Presented By Students

High school students and friends to the number of about 800 roundly applauded an evening of wisecracks and light musical entertainment at the Junior college auditorium Wednesday night when the 1932 high school graduating class presented "In Hot Tamale Land" under the direction of Miss Juanita Kinsey.

Utilizing more than 50 members of the senior class in its cast, and devoting almost its entire book to smart conversational quips, the play afforded most of the participants an opportunity for fun-making in their own element. That the audience takes kindly to the light-heartedness of youth, and has been thoroughly Winchellized to enjoy wisecracking, was eloquently declared by the hearty response given.

"In Hot Tamale Land" professed no seriousness of plot nor thought, but with the structure of a musical show, progressed from one musical specialty to another throughout the two acts. Joe Witherspoon, in the leading male role, was conspicuous for his meaningful delivery of lines. Humor written into his speeches was unblemished by premature betrayal in his own bearing or tone.

Honors in comedy were captured by Nancy Campbell, as the spinsterly Agatha Fidget. Her characterizations were both convincing both in dialog and song. "Waiting at the Church" particularly drew a big hand.

Song features, however, found their most appealing delivery through Jean Hunter, cast as Dolores. Her numbers were sung—and with a clear, pretty soprano voice pleasantly modulated to the lightly romantic themes of her songs.

Paul Barnett Jr., Marvin Pierce, and Nathan Chenault supported Joe Witherspoon in his tentative adventures as a toreador. Other leads were played by W. A. Bachman, Herndon Chism and William Huff Jr. Nellie Ruth Smith was undeniably winsome as Eleanor—feminine half of the play's romantic action. Grace Warman, Maurine Adams, and Anna Bell Farley carried the other major feminine roles.

Approximately 40 additional members of the class comprised the remaining company of toreadors and other citizens of "Hot Tamale Land."

Miss Helen Smith served as piano accompanist, while the high school orchestra assisted under the direction of Miss Loraine Mathis, assistant conductor. Stage settings and costumes offered colorful support to the comedy.

Call Issued To All Sportsmen To Meet Tuesday

Further discussion of problems confronting sportsmen of this section of the state, and the nation as well, will be held at a meeting of the Izaak Walton league next Tuesday night.

This was decided at an assembly of Walton leaguers in session last night at the 78th district courtroom in the courthouse. About 20 members attended. Better attendance is hoped for at the next meeting.

The annual election of officers, scheduled for last night, was deferred.

Problems discussed specifically were the threatened shutdown of the federal fish hatchery at San Marcos, from which the local chapter recently received over 6,000 fingerling bass; and the proposed slash in the number of state game wardens.

President Ben G. Oneal requested all sportsmen in this section to be on hand at the meeting next Tuesday evening, if possible. The meeting will not be held for the purpose of raising funds, he said.

A.—Transportation allowances to members of congress are said to exceed $175,000 annually.

Q.—Is our persimmon a native fruit?—L. T. W.

A.—It is a native fruit and grows wild throughout the eastern United States from Connecticut to the Carolinas and westward to Missouri and Arkansas. The American persimmon is a close relative of the Japanese persimmon, or date-plum, which came originally from China. This tree bears a larger and much less astringent fruit than the American species, and is more tropical, having been grown successfully in Southern California.

A.—Franklin D. Roosevelt is a fifth cousin of the late Theodore Roosevelt.

Q.—Why are cups sometimes called mugs?—N. T.

A.—In early days the drinking cup was often made in the form of a face, and was therefore called a mug, an old term for face.

Q.—Did Phillips Brooks often quote poetry in his sermons?—G. M.

Q.—What became of the Sibylline books?—H. S. C.

A.—In the traditional history of the Roman kings, the Cumaean Sibyl sold to Tarquin the proud the Sibylline books. Tradition says that the books were preserved in a stone chest in the temple of Jupiter Capitolinus and were destroyed by the fire that consumed the temple in the year 83 B. C.

A.—The Star-Spangled Banner was made the national anthem of the United States by act of congress, signed by the president, March 3, 1931. Prior to this its only official recognition occurred nearly 100 years after it was written, when it was formally ordered to be played in the army and navy on occasions of ceremony. Its standing was undisputed in other lands, and whenever America was honored in music, this air was played.

The Record News Offers A Booklet on Modern Manners

Do not make a false impression. The world is a harsh judge and is perfectly willing to condemn us by outward appearances. In the street, at the theater, in the restaurant, every day people are judging us by what we do and say. They go away carrying an impression of us—and it depends upon our manners whether it is a good impression or a bad impression.

That is why it is important to give attention to the little courteous observances and social formalities that bespeak the true lady and gentleman, and make the world a better place to live in.

An etiquette booklet from our Washington bureau tells in a simple, direct way how to meet the every day problems of social conduct. Enclose 10 cents in coin or stamps for your copy.

All Right If It Works

HAVING the prohibition "question" brought forward by this or that political group as a "vital issue" is nothing exactly new. That maneuver has been part of the regular bill for many seasons. But at this particular time, the voter who blends serious thought with his sentiment is going to be a tougher subject for political hypnosis than formerly.

It can not be denied that national prohibition remains a question rather than a fact. That is true because so many people question their own responsibility to duly constituted law; and assert their doubts in promiscuous culture of an illegal liquor business.

Thinking voters are not going to deny that prohibition presents a serious problem. But they are not going to accord that issue paramount importance unless it can be shown that proposed action on the liquor question would serve materially to alleviate other pains from which the public is suffering acutely.

If all or any of the proposed legislative changes now being advocated by objectors to the Volstead act will effect a relief of widespread unemployment; will materially stimulate the flow of wealth resident within the country; will make possible to the average family a reasonable apropriation of comfort and happiness—if those amendments would produce such benefits, then the "prohibition question" will be accorded a place of supreme importance in the political program.

Unless it can be shown, however, that these really vital issues will find desirable solution through amendment of existing prohibition laws, much of the current ballyhoo on that subject will fall on deaf ears. It will be attributed to personal interest and sentiment rather than to a sincere study and profound knowledge of acute public need. The average voter is much more interested in better living opportunities for himself and his friends than in a cleverly-drawn platform plank upon which a given candidate may float into public office.

The Couzens Example

THE discovery that Senator James Couzens of Michigan has most of his big fortune invested in tax-exempt securities seems to have aroused public interest chiefly because his recent proposal for higher income taxes would not have affected his own income so very much. But there is, after all, something more significant about it.

Senator Couzens sold his bank, railroad and corporation stocks when he entered the senate—in order that he could pass upon legislation affecting corporations without being influenced in his personal investments.

That, when you stop to think about it, is exactly what every public servant ought to do. No lawmaker should have a monetary interest in any business which can be affected by laws that he makes. But few lawmakers besides Senator Couzens seem to have recognized the fact.

Illustrating a Fact

THE extent of the decline in security values brought about by the depression was never better illustrated than in the shrinkage of the estate of the late Samuel Mather, famous Ohio philanthropist.

Mr. Mather, who had extensive holdings in steel companies and in Great Lakes steamship lines, had an estate that was worth upwards of $40,000,000 in the summer of 1929. Last year he died; and when an inventory of his estate was filed in the Ohio probate court the other day, it was found that that $40,000,000 value had come down to about $6,500,000.

Could there be a more graphic example of the way in which values have contracted in the last two and one-half years?

Amelia's Flight

AMELIA EARHART seems to have made good in a very big way on her claim to the honor of being the first woman to fly the Atlantic.

It is quite a while since she first gained fame by crossing the sea in a ship flown by the late Wilmer Stultz and Lou Gordon. But that achievement was probably never quite as satisfying as it might have been. After all, she had been a passenger. The stunt took courage, but it did not stamp her as a great flyer.

Now, however, the triumph is complete. Utterly alone, she has conquered the Atlantic, hanging up a record that no other woman flyer and hardly any men have yet equaled. The flight testifies abundantly to her capacity as an aviatrix.

There is also a wire from Al Boasberg, reading: "Re my grandmother. . . . The Twentieth Century does stop at Buffalo. . . . But when I told her to listen on the radio and she would hear La Follette, she said, 'Who's singing it?' . . . Real truth is that she didn't meet the train at all, but left a note with the engineer. . . . Don't bother me. . . . Love." . . . I sent that wire to Ted Husing in the Harbor Hosp. . . . I also thanked Kathryn Parsons and Jack Bertell for their kind words. . . . Hugh Conrad, the radio announcer, wants it known he emphatically denies the story that he has stopped drinking. . . . He brands it a deliberate falsehood to undermine his good name. . . . The Nathan Connels (Sylvia Jana) will be heir'd tomorrow. . . . Danny Ahearn, who wrote "How to Commit a Murder," stopped in. . . . He left a copy of the book with the suggestion that it would come in handy in dealing with pests who annoy you around edition time. . . . He stayed so long I finally threw it at him. . . . The pencils were all sharpened this morning and the office boy thanked me. . . . They make swell darts. . . . Don't forget that private showing of "Love Is a Racket" at Rian James' repenthouse in the Village Thursdawning. . . . He said it would be a big party and I told him I'd come too.

Now they've got a song out called "Prying Paulie" . . . What's this Paulie stuff? . . . They don't know you that intimately. . . . Al Brackman specials he is writing a theme song for the col., and will call it "Yawitz Always Fair Weather" . . . Incidentally, that royalty check for the stock play you wrote 3 yrs. ago came this morning . . . I thought it was illegal to write a check under $1 . . . Ward Biddulph phoned to say you had been accepted for membership in the snooty Bath and Tennis Club at Rye . . . I was glad to hear it because for the past week I've been wondering where I could spend the week-ends . . . That English duke who left town in a hurry is making good some of his rubber checks . . . The head porter at that Park Ave. inn told a friend that when he dropped one of the nobleman's bags on the way to the taxi, it bounced six feet into the air . . . Phil Stong's new novel, "Anointed," has been accepted by Century . . . He's the fellow who wrote "State Fair," the current Lit'ry Guild selection . . . That Jules Levine pusson key-hoied on Garbo and heard her tell that Swedish fellow, who proposed to her: "Love me, love my dogs" . . . Vera ("Humoresque") Gordon wants you to mention the benefit they're giving for Willie Segal, the playwright, at the 2nd Ave. Theater Satiddy night . . . Sophie Tucker, Paul Muni, Belle Bennett, Bill Demarest and that funniest of funnies, Ed Lambert, will be there.

The Oil City Derrick full-columned its editorial protest vs. Fannie Brice's interview on one-night stands in a NY paper . . . It took exception to her statement that the leader of the orchestra there was in the way of a patron in the first row and that the annoyed gentleman booted the maestro right into the bass drum . . . It seems to me that Fannie's story was a boost for the Pa. townsman's intelligence . . . There's nothing worse than finally getting a front row seat and then finding the baton waver agitating himself directly in your line of view . . . Call Ham (Palooka) Fisher . . . Also Louis K. Sidney . . . Nicholas Schenck suggested to Charles Moscowits that they give you a special night at Palisades park . . . I told them you would accept if Jeanne Aubert and Marj. White, the Hot Charmer, could come along . . . If you don't mind my saying so, I think it's all a conspiracy to get you in the ferris wheel and stop it when you reach the top . . . The same thing that happened when the Cheese Club took Harry Hirshfield there a few yrs. ago . . . Only they added insult by turning the hose on him while he was prisoner.

Ham Thompson phoned a yarn . . . It seems one of the dinner guests of Warden Lawes last Sun. took home with him the prized gift of an autographed copy of his host's book, "20,000 Yrs. in Sing Sing" . . . A few days later a peddler chiseled his way into the guest's apartment . . . He was selling Oriental rugs and intimated they were stolen or smuggled . . . His first price was $15, then he came down to $10 and finally to five . . . While the lady of the house was trying to shoo him out, he spied the book, with its prison-striped jacket, on the table. His eyes lighted reminiscently and he exclaimed: "Here, give me this book and $2, and take the rug" . . . Velma bought you two pairs of house slippers . . . They're a little bit large for me, and, anyway, you will only need one pair . . . In fact, the office boy likes them, too, and ponits out that you're never at home to use them anyway . . . He says his fits perfectly . . . I tried twice to get you last night at 10 E. 62nd, but Charlie Lucas said you had disappeared into a mess of bacardis and Welsh rarebits and that the head-waiter, too, had been looking for you for over a ½ hour . . . I think it's unfair of you to make a fool of a headwaiter and keep him guessing what glass you are coming out of . . . That fellow who delivered the aspirin returned and said he took to his heels, but he still had a headache . . . Shall I turn him over to you?

—Your best friend, Paul Yawitz.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

PLAYING THE PIANO WITH MITTENED HANDS—Henry Scott of New York, who actually plays popular melodies on an ordinary piano with his hands in heavy, knitted, fingerless mittens, has performed before me many times.

A SINGLE FLOWER COST $25,000—The $25,000 orchid was named in honor of J. Gurney Fowler, the president of the Royal Horticultural society. It is a hybrid of cypripedium and is a result of horticultural experimental efforts extending over a period of years. The achievement can only be appreciated by a horticulturist, and the record of $25,000 for a single flower is not considered extravagant in professional circles.

THE PARROT THAT COULD SING—About a century ago a parrot was adopted as the favorite pet of the canon in the cathedral of Salzburg, Austria, and during its 10-year stay in the cathedral was given instruction regularly for two hours every day. The bird became very proficient in speech, and took part in conversations, whistled tunes, and was able to sing a number of popular songs, among them an entire aria from Flotow's opera, "Martha."

LONG ATTACKS LEADER RAINEY

Huey Threatens to 'Oust' Democratic Head

WASHINGTON, May 25. (AP)—Huey Long today extended his battle with congressional leaders of the Democratic party to Representative Rainey of Illinois, majority leader of the house.

The Louisianan, who has fought the senate leadership of Senator Robinson of Arkansas, issued a formal statement saying he had threatened to turn Louisiana's house delegation against Rainey's control, if the latter did not support the oil tax in the revenue bill.

"The statement credited to Mr. Rainey of Illinois does not state the facts," Long said. "I never told him that if the Democrats of the house did not vote for high tariffs the Louisiana delegates would quit the party.

"What happened was that I asked the Democratic conferees to stand by the house Democratic provisions for one cent per gallon tax against slave oil imported by the trust.

"Brother Rainey took occasion to spread himself when I made the request on behalf of Louisiana school children, whereupon I told the brother we had eight votes in congress that it took to keep him where he was and a little sassy talk from him and those eight could take him out; and further that Louisiana's eight votes would stand for Louisiana, including moving his kind out if he tried to serve the oil trust any further.

"We are tired of Hoover and Standard Oil Democracy by the house leaders."

Bank Bandits Kidnap Four Persons In $12,000 Holdup In Arkansas

PORTLAND, Ark., May 25. (AP)—F. P. Harvey, cashier of the Bank of Portland, his wife, their 18-year-old son and a woman guest, were kidnaped today by bandits who made him open the bank vault which was robbed of about $12,000.

The bandits made their escape in two automobiles, officers said, one containing the loot and other the abducted parties. The former was believed headed toward Little Rock where police were asked to be on the lookout, and the latter toward the Louisiana state line. One of the automobiles belonged to Harvey. Portland is located in southeast Arkansas, near the Louisiana border.

Officers were unable to say how many bandits were in the gang, but from what meager information they could collect, learned that the bandits drove up to the Harvey home this morning, forced Harvey and the others to accompany them to the bank. A negro witnessed the abduction from the home.

When they arrived at the bank, they forced the cashier to open the vault and after scooping up all cash in sight drove off in the two automobiles.

A search was immediately organized when the alarm of the robbery was given out, but up to late this afternoon no trace of the cars had been reported.

EAST TEXAS BANK ROBBED OF $873

TYLER, Texas, May 25. (AP)—The Winona State bank was robbed of $873 today by two unmasked men who forced President J. F. McClung to unlock the vault.

After obtaining the money, the robbers locked McClung in the vault, walked to a car parked in front of the bank and drove away. McClung was alone when the holdup took place. He said the men came to the bank yesterday and asked about having some money placed in escrow. He said he became suspicious of them and noted the license number of their car.

Officers checked the records and found that the car had been stolen two weeks ago from a Longview oil company.

However, when the robbers came back today they were using another car. They entered the bank about 9:30 a. m. and covered McClung with pistols. They at first tried to open the safe themselves. Failing, they ordered McClung to open it or be shot. In all, they were in the bank not over five minutes, McClung said. They took about $14 in small change from cash drawers.

J. A. Shuttlesworth, a grocer whose establishment was across the street from the bank, saw the robbers enter the car and leave.

FIVE BANK ROBBERS CAUGHT IN MISSOURI

FREDERICKTOWN, Mo., May 26. (AP)—A few hours after six men had held up the Security bank here and fled with $500, five of the sextet were captured by a posse headed by State Highway Patrolman Howard Turnbull.

Cecil Phillips, a garage mechanic working across the street, saw the robbers enter the bank and gave the alarm. Several persons armed with weapons began shooting at the robbers' car and the driver called to his compatsions to come out.

During the shooting one of the tires of the robber car was punctured, but the men drove west on highway 70. A short distance out of Fredericktown they stopped an automobile, removed the driver, Clarence Honea, and took his car, abandoning their own.

Patrolman Turnbull organized a posse and gave chase, finally catching up to the robbers and forcing their car into the ditch. The men took refuge in a wooded area. The posse surrounded the area and Turnbull lead a small group into the woods. Five of the robbers surrendered without resistance and a sixth was sought in the woods late today.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Governor Roosevelt's now famous radio remarks about the "forgotten man" at the bottom of the economic heap seems likely to go down as an important event history.

OSDEN L. MILLS

It riled former Governor Smith considerably, for one thing. It also stirred Secretary Pat Hurley, keynoting the Republican state campaign in Oklahoma, to wrathful rejoinder. But more than that, it drew the attention of Secretary Mills.

"Spokesman-in-Chief"

Since he took over the treasury from "Uncle Andy" Mellon, Mr. Mills has blossomed out as a sort of spokesman-in-chief for the administration on the present economic situation.

Mr. Mills long has been a popular figure with Washington news writers. He has a likable way about him and a skill, displayed even as under secretary, in dealing with press conferences that he has not lost since his promotion to full cabinet rank.

Talking at The Associated Press luncheon, Mr. Mills was holding a major press conference, a bigger one than public men often get a chance to address.

What he said and how he said it might be highly important. Nobody could foretell how wide the editorial as well as news reaction to his summary of the economic situation might be.

In the more temperate oratorical vein that is a part of the Mills make-up, the treasury head repeated in substance the hopeful outlook so graphically pictured to the house ways and means committee a day or two earlier by General Dawes.

They seem to agree that brighter times are close ahead, although Mr. Mills did not pose as a prophet. After all, a treasury secretary must watch his words carefully.

Yet it was noticeable with Mr. Mills—and frankly declared by Mr. Hurley in Oklahoma—that the Roosevelt remarks about economic under-dogs rankled.

The Mills reference to the "unknown man" was a sort of paraphrase of the Roosevelt "forgotten man." There could be little doubt at whom he was shooting.

Cacti 'Craze' Grips Nocona Housewives

Special to The Record News.

NOCONA, Texas, May 25.—For the beautifying of yards, a new scheme has recently been inaugurated at Nocona. While there may be similar ornaments for the yard in other places, the idea is new here. It's the "cacti and rock craze," and has reached the stage where a real contest is on. Those who have the largest assortment of both are leaders in the race for this honor trophy. No prize has thus far been offered, but may eventually, if interest picks up much more.

According to late researches, there are around 25 varieties of cacti in Nocona, and many more than that of the "rock species." These numerous kinds of cacti and peculiar rocks were gathered from a territory of hundreds of miles.

The cacti vary in size, shape, length and kinds of thorns, to a great extent, from the old fashioned "devil's pin cushion" to the tree cactus, which eventually grows several fet high. There are some of the vine variety.

Those in the real contest are Mesdames Ernest McCarley, J. W. Maddox, Melvine Wise, N. M. Flynt, Lee Holcomb, C. W. Giles, Bruce Porter, C. A. Hood, J. C. Durham.

Appeals Court Sets Yates Oil Hearing

AUSTIN, May 25. (AP)—The third court of civil appeals today set for submission July 27 the case of the Douglas Oil company against the state involving boundaries to land in the Yates oil field in West Texas. The motion to advance was filed by Atty. Gen. James V. Allred.

The oil company was given until June 29 to file its briefs.

The motion to advance stated approximately $50,000,000 was tied up in the litigation which could not be disbursed until the higher courts had acted. A large portion of the money held in escrow belongs to the public school fund and the remainder to private individuals.

The state was sustained in trial of the case in Travis county district court where it was styled state against R. B. Whitesides and others.

GUS MORELAND CAPTURES MEDAL IN TEXARKANA TOURNEY

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

Mrs. R. R. Fisk of Wichita Falls, runner up in the Texas Woman's Golf association tournament, is being praised for her sportsmanship in not entering a protest because her opponent in the finals, Mrs. Dan Chandler of Dallas, removed a rock from in front of her ball. Had Mrs. Fisk protested, she would have won the state woman's championship.

The same thing that happened to Mrs. Fisk happened to City Walker of Quanah last year in the Greenbelt tournament at Clarendon. Walker's opponent, Ira Merchant, of Clarendon swept a cigaret carton from in front of his ball on the 36th hole when he was one up.

Walker, unlike Mrs. Fisk, protested, had his protest upheld to square the match, and took the title from Merchant on the 37th green.

But Walker wasn't called a bum sport. They said he was smart, he knew the rules and stuck by 'em. Walker knew his game and played it according to Hoyle.

The question of whether a player should enter a protest under such circumstances depends on the individual golfer, and whatever decision is reached cannot be held up to criticism. The fact that Mrs. Fisk did not protest is probably due to her confidence that she would go on and win despite the obvious violation of a rule by her opponent. She is to be congratulated for such an attitude and her many friends here will hold her in even higher esteem as a tournament player.

Had Mrs. Fisk entered a protest, however, she would not have been criticized any more than City Walker has been for sticking to the rules in the Clarendon match. It's part of a tournament shooter's business to stick to the rules, and if while doing the best he can in that direction he calls down his opponent for not doing the same, a charge of unsportsmanlike conduct would not be warranted.

It is not often that the Rambler can cross up his esteemed rival on the local afternoon newspaper, meaning, of course, Al Parker—but we've got him up a tree this time; and since it is seldom indeed that this corner can find anything wrong with Al, you will pardon me for laying this on thick.

For old Al, who wrote a fine column the other day praising Mrs. Fisk for NOT protesting the match at Dallas, was one of the loudest orators last year in praising City Walker FOR protesting the Greenbelt match, and the situations that arose in both tournament were exactly alike.

Now I'm just recording those facts as a matter of history, and be derned if I'll take a chance of getting into another argument. So I hereby announce that the preceding remarks are not meant to be slams at either Mrs. Fisk or City Walker, both of whom are very much respected by this department both as individuals and as golfers. I've found my jumping off place now, and ladies and gentlemen, I've jumped!

Of Interest to Wellington

Louis Nowlin, 18-year-old high school youngster of Dallas who set a course record of 69 strokes on the first 18 holes of the qualifying round at Texarkana Tuesday, is a nephew of A. L. Nowlin of Wellington.

Louis' unusual brilliance was the feature of the outgoing 18 holes of play in the Texas Golf association's state tournament. It bettered the previous course record of 73 strokes posted only the day before by Gus Moreland of Dallas, a veteran campaigner, in a practice round.

Young Nowlin fell behind Moreland yesterday when he took a 77 on the incoming 18, to Moreland's 71. That gave Moreland a 144 for the 36 holes, to Nowlin's 146.

Nowlin is far the better golfer, when the experience of the two players are considered. Moreland has played in at least twice as many tournaments as he has won. On the other hand, young Nowlin, according to his uncle who dropped in this office yesterday, is playing in his third tournament. Last year he made his debut in the Fort Worth and Abilene invitation tournaments.

His uncle from Wellington informed us Louis is a cool-headed golfer and not likely to blow up when match play starts. If this is true, he should give his associate top flighters a mean battle. We would like to see him give Moreland a good beating in the finals.

Want a Ruler?

Speaking of tactics in golf, an amusing incident occurred in the second round of the British amateur tourney Tuesday. David Martin of California and Leonard Crawley, English champion, tried to tire each other, or start a case of nerves, with the result it took them three hours to play 18 holes, and had not rain descended they might have played longer.

Thomas C. Watson, Universal Service writer, describes their actions as follows: "They dropped prone to line up putts. They walked backward and forward, and sometimes sideward, for 40 yards to line up approaches. Both refused to comment when some one in the gallery suggested lining up their tee shots by walking up to the green first."

Be that as it may, Dr. W. B. Horned of Walters, who "won the hole with an 86" in a contest at Walters Sunday, ought to be acclaimed champion something or another.

Malones May Stay In

Mrs. W. L. Malone of the Malone Beauty shop, sponsors of the runner-up team in the Commercial league, called in to say her team had not withdrawn from the circuit because of the one-sided race caused by Noble-Little's string of 13 wins. She said her son, a member of the team, had other interests and could not devote much time to the game.

Officially the Malone team has already withdrawn, but when Mrs. Malone was advised the withdrawal might work a hardship on the circuit, and possibly might lead to its disbandment, she said she would keep the Malone team going rather than see such a situation brought about.

Mrs. Malone is sponsoring a fine team of players, and it is to be hoped she sees fit to keep the club in the circuit. It would mean much to amateur baseball in this city.

NOWLIN LOSES BY TWO LICKS

Even Par Score Fails To Stop Defending Champ

By BILL PARKER

TEXARKANA, Ark., May 25. (AP)—It was the old story of Gus Moreland in the qualifying round today in the 26th annual Texas Golf association state championship.

Moreland was medalist over the 36-hole route with a two under par card of 73-71—144.

Moreland left the starting tee on the final 18 holes today shooting for a 69, but the best he could get was a 34 on the front nine and a 37 on the back, two under par.

Shoots Four Birdies

The defending champion shot four birdies to come home today with his 71 that left him two strikes in front of husky Louis Nowlin of Dallas, who shot even par for the 36 holes, 69-77—146.

The long hitting Nowlin finished first, and was at the 36th green when Moreland dropped a putt for medalist.

Despite his losing medalist honors, Nowlin had the consolation of knowing that his 69 of yesterday was a new amateur course record for the Texarkana club.

Byron Nelson, the par shooter from Fort Worth, went out in 36 and took a 40 on the back nine. His 74-76 for the two rounds gave him third place with a total of 150.

W. R. Long of Austin shot consistent golf for a total of 78-75—153. He came home fourth.

32 in Top Flight

A qualifying score of 169 was the limit in the championship flight. This figure was eight strokes higher than last year.

Thirty-two players comprised the first or championship flight. As many were placed in the second flight. The remainder of the qualifiers were in the third flight, which was a smaller group than the other two.

Moreland will start defense of his crown tomorrow against Neil Smith of Dallas, who beat him in the playoff for medalist last year. Smith qualified with a 159.

WOMEN'S GOLF TOURNEY TODAY

Country Club Spring Title Meet to Open

With both Mrs. R. R. Fisk, defending champion, and Mrs. F. C. Rochon voluntarily on the sidelines, a lively fight for honors is promised today with the opening round of the spring championship tournament of the Women's Golf association of the Wichita Falls Golf and Country club.

A field of 28 entrants will go to the post this morning in the 18-hole qualifying round. The 16 low scorers will be grouped in the championship flight.

Those failing to make the championship flight along with several others will be grouped in the second flight, and will be given handicaps when match play starts, according to Polly Gebert, club professional. There will be no handicaps in the title bracket. In match play those in the second flight will play only nine holes.

Second flighters other than those who fail to make the grade in the qualifying round will include Mesdames L. V. Abernathy, Raymond Myers, W. P. Lowry, George Keith, F. T. Couger, and R. L. Hargrave.

Match play will start next week.

Pairings for the qualifying round this morning were announced by Gebert as follows:

Mr. J. R. Jarboe and Mrs. C. O. Davis, Mrs. J. L. Waggoner and Mrs. James E. McKanna, Miss Crystelle Waggoner and Miss Nell Gibbs, Mrs. W. P. Bolding and Mrs. L. W. McCrory, Mrs. H. D. Prichard and Mrs. E. Garonzik, Mrs. Earl Stilley and Mrs. J. L. Nelson, Mrs. H. L. Ruehl and Mrs. W. C. Witcher, Mrs. L. H. Estes and Mrs. H. P. Ledford, Mrs. J. B. Baker and Mrs. C. D. Golfers To Plan League Tonight

Golfers of the city interested in forming a local golf league, which will compete with leagues in other cities, are requested to meet this evening at 8 o'clock at the Weeks park clubhouse. All golfers are eligible, regardless of club affiliation, according to Bill Strachan, Weeks park professional who is sponsoring the team play plan.

This form of competition was given a good test in the recent Junior chamber of commerce invitation tournament here, and promises to become popular in golfing circles.

Martin Out Of British Meet

MUIRFIELD, Scotland, May 25. (AP)—Another American quest for the British amateur golf championship failed today as the three survivors of an original delegation of 11 went down to defeat in the third round.

David Martin, stocky young California champion on whom the greatest hopes were based, was the first to fall and he was followed shortly by the Sweeney brothers of Oxford, Charles and Robert.

Martin played two rounds today, defeating Bernard Drawn, the English golf writer, two and one in the morning, but lost his touch in the afternoon and fell before H. Shaw, a 25-year-old Manchester player who hasn't even a local reputation, two up.

He had a medal score of 82, Shaw 81.

6,000 Turn Out For Longview's First Home Tilt; Cannibals Beat Cats, 4-2

LONGVIEW, Texas, May 25. (AP)—Before 6,000 enthusiastic Longview baseball fans Longview formally opened the home stay here this afternoon by defeating the Fort Worth Panthers, 4 to 2.

A seventh-inning rally by Longview turned the trick when the ancient Tom Estell, one of the few remaining spitball pitchers, was touched for three hits and an error. Euller singled. Garms was safe on Dalrymple's error. Bejma singled to score Euller and Garms raced home on Fuss' blow to center.

White was invincible after the first inning when three hits and a base on balls accounted for two runs. J. Alvin Gardner was present and welcomed Longview into the Texas league.

Elaborate ceremonies preceded the game with each Longview player having a wreath of roses placed around his neck by pretty Longview girls. Score:

BUFFS 16, TRIBE 3

HOUSTON, May 25. (AP)—Lee Stebbins, hustling first baseman for the Houston Buffs, tied the all-time Texas league record tonight when he clouted three triples in a single game, and established what is thought to be a mark by getting those hits in successive times at bat. His hitting which included a double and a single along with three base wallops, featured Houston's 16 to 3 victory over the San Antonio Indians in the series opener.

Stebbins tried hard to place himself a notch ahead of the record by making it four triples in one game, but was thrown out at third when he tried to stretch a long hit to left center. His triples came in the first, third, and fourth innings. In all Stebbins drove in half a dozen runs. The last player to make three triples in a single game was Eddie Hock in 1929 against Waco. Nine players have accomplished that feat since 1902.

The victory marked the seventh of the year for Mike Cvengros, veteran left-hander.

CISCO HIGH FILES SUIT

Suspension From Football Taken to Court

EASTLAND, Texas, May 25. (AP)—The Cisco independent school district today filed suit in district court here against the Oil Belt football district executive committee as such and as individuals; against the state interscholastic league committee as such and as individuals; and against John M. Mouser of Eastland.

The petition, a six-page document, filed by Conner & McRae of Eastland, and Butts & Wright, Cisco, attorneys for the plaintiff, asks that the state committee's action in suspending Cisco High school from the next football race be set aside; and that the committee be enjoined from making any football schedule that does not include Cisco.

Cisco is asking also for damages as, with developments, the plaintiffs may show themselves to have been damaged; and for $5,000 as exemplary damages.

The defendants will be cited, after which the case will be set for trial.

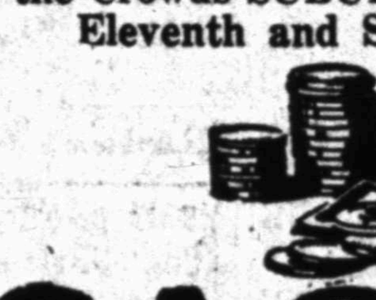

Action of the Cisco school board is the outgrowth of the Hightower case, most famous of Oil Belt schoolboy eligibility disputes. Cisco lost by forfeit its victory over Breckenridge, won with the aid of Fred Hightower, a transfer from Tyler, who, Breckenridge officials claimed, had been enrolled at Cisco less than 30 days when the game was played. Later, the state committee upon the recommendation of the Oil Belt body, suspended Cisco from the next race.

Temperature

Stewing meat differs from boiling in that it permits the juices to pass into the water, and, since the juices are eaten with the meat, none of the nutrition is lost. The best temperature for stewing meat ranges from 140 degrees to 170 degrees Fahr. It is best to allow the pan to simmer only instead of boil. Very little water should be used in stewing, and the saucepan should be closely covered.

You must avoid too high temperature if you wish to obtain the best food flavors. The food may be cut into small pieces to reduce the cooking time. This is quite adaptable to the cheaper cuts of meat, and always results in a good flavor to the foods. Very little fuel is used by this method, and the meat does not lose by drying out.

Frying

Frying is the most unsuitable method of cooking, since it causes the food to be much more difficult to digest. Butter contrary to popular notions, is a most unsuitable medium for frying, because it becomes separated at extremely low temperature. Olive oil, cottonseed oil, and corn oil are more preferable. The fat should be hot enough to immediately coagulate the outer portion of the food immersed so that the fat does not penetrate into the food. Frying in shallow pans is not as satisfactory as frying in deep fats, because, when the pans are not deep enough, the foods and fats are scorched and mixed in indigestible conglomerations.

Fireless Cooking

The fireless cooker offers another fine method of cooking food because it maintains the temperature below the boiling point. The toughest old rooster dropped into boiling what for about five minutes to coagulate the surface proteins and then put into a fireless cooker and allowed to stand overnight will be found to have a delicious flavor and the meat will be as tender as the tenderest of broilers, falling apart at the touch of a fork.

Fish can be prepared by the same process which I have described in preparing meat. The salt should not be added until after the cooking has been completed. As a rule, fish can be cooked in less time than meat. Fried fish is the hardest to digest; fish cooked in the skin is most easily digested.

Effect of Temperature

To cook properly it is necessary to have a clear understanding of the effects of heat on various foods. For instance, vegetable and animal proteins are coagulated at a temperature of 178 degrees Fahrenheit, far below the boiling point, which is 212 degrees Fahrenheit. When a piece of meat is heated far above this point, it is hardened and shriveled and its digestibility proportionately lessened.

Heat applied to dry starchy food will convert it into a soluble form of dextrin, and when applied to wet starch causes it to swell and burst the cellulose coverings which surround the starch granules so that the digestive juices of the saliva and pancreas may more readily penetrate. Even this process of breaking down cellulose may occur at temperature points below the boiling. 190 degrees Fahrenheit is sufficient to break down any starchy structure.

Fats are less affected by heat than the proteins and starches, but it is true that, when they are subjected to an excessively high degree of temperature, some portions of fatty acids are liberated which make them more irritating to the stomach than cold or uncooked fats.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Facial Rejuvenation

Question—Sylvia asks: "Do you approve of facial rejuvenation without surgery, same consisting of violet ray and electric treatment and lotions? Would you consider this treatment permanent or would they have to be continued? The skin under the eyes is loose and lines are forming."

Answer—There are many kinds of facial treatments which are beneficial in producing a better tone of the skin and muscles of the face. No treatment of this kind can have a permanent effect, but must be continued off and on through life, if it is ever necessary to start it.

Too Much Salt

Question—F. F. asks: "What is the cause of one wanting an excessive amount of salt in one's food?"

Answer—The cause of this craving is due to the fact that most people cook their foods too long, and also cook them improperly, so that all of the organic sodium, chloride and other salts are destroyed. Try the waterless cooking method and I am sure that you will find your craving for seasoning of food to be lessened.

What Makes People Happy?

Question—Joyce B. writes: "There is something that sets me to thinking and I would like to know your opinion about this: What makes people happy? Is it health?"

Answer—Yes, health is one of the things that makes people happy. Other things are success, achievement and love, but it is difficult to realize happiness through any of these unless one also enjoys good health.

Political Lists Close In Jackson

Special to The Record News.

ALTUS, Okla., May 25.—Fifty-eight candidates for office in Jackson county, 52 Democrats and six Republicans, have been filed with Frank Petree, secretary of the county election board. The final date for filing has been closed.

Thirty-seven candidates for county offices will enter the Democratic primary election on July 5, to determine which two candidates will go into the runoff primary on July 26, or which candidates will represent the Democratic party in the general election in the event that one candidate secures a majority vote over all other candidates. Other Democratic candidates are unopposed. No Republican primary will be necessary since no two are filed for the same office.

The list of candidates this year is almost double the number who sought office two years ago and exceeds the number who have announced for office in this county in many years.

Marine Airmen Kill 17 of Sandino's Men

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, May 25. (AP)—National guard headquarters reported today that United States marine airmen serving with the guard killed 17 Sandinistas with bombs in an action Monday near the Neptune mine in the department of Prizapolka.

While the airmen were operating the headquarters communique said, a guard patrol commanded by Lieutenant Gray attacked the insurgents on the ground. The guard suffered no casualties.

Earlier in the day there was a half-hour engagement between Gray's detachment and rebel troops commanded by Pedro Altamirano, one of the lieutenants of Gen. Augusto Sandino.

Advice To Investors

By Charles W. Storm—Editor of the "News Service of Wall Street"

Miss L. A. V., Dallas, Texas.—Bought 50 shares of Hupp Motor for which I paid over 12 about a year ago. Would you advise me to sell this or wait until we have a better market?

The Record News presents an Investor's Service to provide from the most authoritative sources, information for its readers. Inquiries of general interest will be answered on the financial page of The Record News.

Every letter of inquiry must contain the name and address of the writer and a two-cent stamped envelope. All communications will be held in strictest confidence. This service is entirely without charge. Write—do not telephone—because such inquiries can not be answered by telephone.

Address your inquiries to
Charles W. Storm,
Financial Department,
Wichita Falls Record News.

Answer—A sale at the present time would involve considerable loss, but where it will sell is anybody's guess. Reflecting a decline of about 29 per cent in domestic sales and large inventory and other adjustments, 1931 operations of Hupp Motor resulted in a loss of $4,249,127 against a loss of $992,765 in 1930. Substantial operating economics have been effected, but there is little indication of an early restoration of satisfactory earnings. Company is probably faced with keener competition this year than in the past on the basis of the radically improved models of manufacturers in the same price class. Financial condition at the year-end was strong, although net working capital declined over $4,000,000 during the year. Current assets of $11,926,000 (including $7,096,000 cash and marketable securities) compared with current liabilities of $1,808,000. Stock has paid no dividends since Aug. 1, 1930, and is considered wholly speculative.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, May 25. (AP)—A continuation of yesterday's selling movement promoted by a fairly favorable view of the weather news and early declines in the stock and grain markets, was followed by recoveries in cotton today on trade buying and covering.

July contracts rallied to 5.67 and closed at that figure, with the general market closing steady, net unchanged to 1 point higher.

December declined to 5.96 during the middle of the day, when active months showed net losses of about 7 to 9 points. Rallies in wheat were a contributing factor on the late bulge, which carried December up to 6.04, or back to yesterday's closing quotations. Last prices were the best of the day in most positions.

The weekly report of the weather bureau was considered about a standoff and unfavorable features appeared to have been pretty well discounted, while the day's weather news evidently made a favorable impression on sentiment, and there were private reports of increasing mill curtailment in the Carolinas. Reports from the Southwest indicated a slow spot demand, with the basis nominally unchanged.

Liverpool cables reported local continental and Japanese liquidation absorbed by trade calling and said the British home trade in cotton goods was poor. Exports today 10,570 making 7,868,252 so far this season. Port receipts 17,502. U. S. port stocks 3,875,481.

Futures closed steady, unchanged to 1 higher. Spot quiet; middling 5.75.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, May 25. (AP)—Cotton was only moderately active today and prices were rather erratic and fluctuating, closing at net declines for the day of 1 to 2 points.

The weekly weather and crop summary of the weather bureau issued at the end of the first hour was regarded as generally favorable.

The market rallied in the late trading owing to a sharp upturn in wheat and some improvement in stocks which caused shorts to cover. July advanced to 5.68 and October to 5.88 new highs for the session and 5 points above the lows. The close was at or near the top with the October position showing a net loss of 1 point for the day and July a net loss of 2 points. The May option expired at noon.

Liverpool is due tomorrow on New Orleans 2 penny points up.

Port receipts 17,502, for week 39,493, for season 7,716,042, last season 8,811,715. Exports 10,753, for week 51,225, for season 7,716,042, last season 6,103,276. Port stock 3,914,281, last year 3,335,994. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 89,121, last year 77,698. Spot sales at southern markets 4,288, last year 7,234.

Futures closed very steady at net declines of one to two points.

Liverpool Cotton

LIVERPOOL, May 25. (INS)—Spot cotton was quiet at the opening today with prices easier. Receipts totaled 1,000 bales, including 200 American bales.

At midday, middling fair was quoted at 5.51d, strictly good middling 5.06d, good middling 4.66d, strictly middling 4.56d, middling 4.51d, strictly low middling 4.46d, low middling 4.36d, strictly good ordinary 4.16d, good ordinary 3.86d.

Futures opened barely steady with July at 4.20d, October 4.22d, December 4.25d, January 4.27d, and March 4.35d.

CHICAGO COTTON

CHICAGO, May 25. (AP)—The cotton market was dull and eased slightly during the morning, but regained most of the loss in the afternoon and the close was steady unchanged to 3 points net lower. Cables were about 2 points lower than due and first prices at Chicago were 1-5 points down. Dull and lower stock markets and a lower opening in grain helped to shape sentiment in cotton. The weekly weather report was said to be slightly unfavorable. The demand for spots is dull over the South. Mill curtailment increases and cloth markets are dull.

Gloomy Feeling Spreads Through Wall Street As Prices Drop Again

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, May 25. (US)—Liquidation in securities continued at an accelerated rate today and price depreciation to new lows was unchecked. Bonds suffered with stocks. Only wheat offered a ray of sunshine during the day, which in Wall street was featured mainly by renewed general pessimism. An air of almost complete resignation is noticeable in numerous quarters.

There the opinion is just as certain now that collapse is just ahead as the same circles were convinced the sky was the limit in 1929. There is no argument convincing enough to such extremists to suggest that outstanding opportunities rather than disaster is ahead. Especially does such argument fall flat when referring to bonds. Admittedly, the common stock is almost extinct as an investment consideration these days, and in some instances, to be sure, there is sound reason for eliminating consideration of common stocks.

But the list's continued slump suggests that mental unbalancing accounts for a good deal of the prevailing selling wave; every suggestion or rumor is given undue prominence in market thought and is reflected in the selling.

Suggestion that the new prosperity groups being formed in all federal reserve districts may consider among their initial steps some sort of support to the bond market falls on deaf ears. A formal pool to support the bond market has not had the backing of powerful bankers, who are more inclined to favor an informal cooperative buying movement. Yet the very possibility, or consideration, of important buying in bonds has no effect now. The possibility that unusual opportunities may exist in well-secured bonds which have come upon evil days is entirely overlooked in the mad rush to unload even at fantastic sacrifice of principal.

Various bankers, of independent thought and action, nevertheless admit that the current price of many bonds, investment as well as speculative, are tremendously attractive even in the face of nearby uncertainty. With many bonds, one of the best-informed financiers of the nation declared, it is a case simply of holding through "any eventuality whatever, including receivership."

But for the time being those interested in stocks and bonds were dominated by the steady slipping of prices. News that electrical output had dropped more than 12 per cent during the week was accepted as proof that conditions have shown no betterment; the fact is that the decrease was smaller than the preceding week had shown.

The same stocks that have been under the greater pressure recently were the chief sufferers today, namely National Dairy Products, North American, the utilities and the tobacco shares. American tobacco "B" was down 2½ points.

The dollar weakened in the international market, and French francs reached the highest point of the year. The question is being asked in responsible quarters how much of the recent gold outflow represented actual takings by foreigners and how much was a flight from the dollar.

An embargo on gold exports is being talked of without any official reason for the rumor. The most responsible people who are nervous over conditions have been favoring U. S. government bonds, as demonstrated by their stability in the face of selling throughout the bond and stock lists.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 25. (AP)—Confident buying, coupled with the presence of two widely known speculative leaders, gave a fresh upturn to wheat prices today. Belief apparently grew firmer that the bulk of damage to winter wheat was permanent.

Wheat closed firm at the day's top ⅛@⅝c above yesterday's finish, corn varying from ⅜c decline to ⅝c advance, oats ¼@⅜c off to ¼c up, and provisions at 10c setback to a rise of 2c.

Reports that a Wall street pool was operating on the bull side of the wheat market were subject of considerable attention and served in some degree to encourage purchasing during the last hour.

The first truck load of new Texas wheat was reported today as having been marketed, and there were predictions the 1932 wheat harvest would be under way all over Texas within a fortnight.

Corn and oats swayed in unison with wheat, although lagging somewhat on account of signs of a bigger movement of corn after termination of the planting season.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—July 59⅝@59¾c, 61⅛@62c; Sept. 61⅝c, 63⅝@63⅝c; Dec. 63⅝@63⅝c, 65⅝c.

Corn—July 32⅝@32¼c, 32⅞@33c; Sept. 34⅝@34⅞c, 35⅛@35⅜c; Dec. 35⅝c, 36@36⅛c.

New Highway Mud Jack At Work

The top picture, taken at the south approach to the Holliday creek bridge, shows the state highway department's new mud jack in action, forcing a mortar of dirt, water and cement under the slab. The first slab on the bridge approach was raised two inches and the second four inches. Holes are drilled at regular intervals in the concrete to allow the nozzle of the mud jack to penetrate with its flow of mortar.

The lower picture shows the mud jack with Griffon Stowers, its operator in the Wichita Falls division of the department. The machine will begin operation next week on the Seymour road in restoring a smooth riding surface where uneven joints now mar motoring comfort.

Junior College Seniors To Hold Annual Class Night Program Tonight

CANADA'S BOND SET AT $3,000

Grand Jury to Hear Story Of Attempted Break

R. W. (Buster) Canada was bound over to the April grand jury, which meets again early in June, on a charge of robbery by assault and violence, at the conclusion of a preliminary hearing held Wednesday morning before Justice of the Peace R. V. Gwinn. Bond was set at $3,000.

Canada was charged in connection with the attack made on Night Jailer Sid Johnson about two weeks ago when the defendant and H. W. Bybee attempted to break jail. Johnson was seriously injured when struck upon the head as he passed a cell to the top of which Canada and Bybee had escaped. The officer's gun was taken, and was in possession of Bybee when the latter was overpowered a moment later by Deputy Sheriff Pat Allen.

Canada had been convicted of robbery and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary on the day before the attempted jailbreak. Bybee, under sentence of death, was being held here for Cotton county officers.

The charge against Canada was prosecuted Wednesday morning by Assistant District Attorney Mike Anglin.

The trial of W. T. Nichols Jr., charged with the theft over $50 in connection with the disappearance of furniture from a furnished house several weeks ago, was continued by Judge P. A. Martin in the 89th district court to June 13 at the request of the defendant.

The spade is the one used in ground-breaking ceremonies when construction of the Junior college was started.

A customary feature of class night at the college is the announcement of valedictorian and salutatorian of the graduating group. The program will include addresses by both honor students.

Optimists Hear Talk on Construction of Eye

Members of the Optimist club present Wednesday noon at the weekly meeting at the Kemp hotel learned from Dr. Otto C. Egdorf, local eye specialist, just what causes far-sightedness and near-sightedness.

Judges Named In Slogan Contest

Increasing interest on the part of retail merchants of Wichita Falls in distribution of "aviation week" slogan contest blanks was evidenced Wednesday in reports at the Wichita Fallas Chamber of Commerce office. Additional citizens throughout the local trade area are urged to secure the blanks at stores in the city and enter the slogan contest.

A request for three blanks was received Wednesday from Oklaunion. Merchants who do not have blanks and desire them may secure them by telephoning the chamber offices.

Joe Reed of Lawton, Okla., donor of the first place award for the slogan contest and owner-manager of the Reed Air Lines, telephoned chamber officials Wednesday he would arrive by air at 1:05 o'clock Saturday afternoon to assist in judging slogan entries. Mr. Reed will be welcomed at the municipal airport. He plans to return to Lawton at 3 o'clock. Other judges are Fulcher Armstrong, airport manager, Chairman C. E. McCutchen of the chamber aviation committee, Postmaster O. P. Maricle and C. R. Smith, representing the American Airways.

A committee was named at a joint meeting of the aviation committee with directors of the retail merchants division Wednesday morning to complete details for an air show to close "aviation week" on Sunday June 5. The group named includes Les Stringer, W. S. Abbott and Mr. Armstrong.

Drainage Area Vote Called for July 2

Land owners in Wichita County Drainage District No. 1 will vote on the question of changing the district's taxation from ad valorem to a per-acre basis in a special election called Wednesday morning by the commissioners court for July 2.

A public hearing was held Wednesday morning by the court on a petition filed several weeks ago asking that such a change be made in the plan of assessing drainage district taxes. Calling of the special election followed that hearing.

Voting is to be done at the home of G. B. Campbell in the Cameron gardens. Ben F. Greer will be presiding judge, with Mr. Campbell and Dan Lightsey as assistant judges. Mrs. Campbell and J. H. Wright were named as clerks.
